Beatles: Real or Fake?

The album Introducing the Beatles is a sought-after collectible, especially in stereo. However, it has been widely counterfeited. All of the photos below come from authentic copies of some of the many variations of the LP. That said, just because your copy matches one of the photos doesn't mean your copy is real. Looking at the label of the record is very important. Turn the page for more!

Cover with no banner and "LP 1062" in the lower right corner: Virtually all these covers are authentic.

Back cover that lists song titles including "Love Me Do" and "P.S. I Love You": If the front cover has a "STEREOPHONIC" banner or doesn't look like the other cover above, it's almost assuredly a counterfeit. (Check the labels on the next two pages to be sure.)

Back cover that lists song titles including "Ask Me Why" and "Please Please Me"; most of these covers are authentic.

Front cover with the word "STEREOPHONIC" added to it, as a substitute for a real stereo cover: These are virtually always authentic.

Back cover with photos of 25 other Vee-Jay albums: These are virtually always authentic.

Real Introducing the Beatles Labels

There is a dizzying array of label variations for Introducing the Beatles. Just because your variation isn't pictured here doesn't mean it isn't real. Be sure to check the next page for examples of fakes.

Oval logo at the top, and "Love Me Do" is at the end of Side 1.

Oval logo at the top, "Love Me Do" is at the end of Side 1, and "STEREO" is on the label. (Here's a hint: If your copy of the album has a "STEREOPHONIC" banner, lists "Love Me Do" on the back, and doesn't have a label with the word "STEREO" and an oval logo at the top, it's all but guaranteed to be a fake record in a fake cover.)

Brackets label at the top, and "Ask Me Why" is at the end of Side 1.

All-black label with "VJ" at the top of the label, and "Ask Me Why" is at the end of Side 1.

Brackets label at the top, "STEREO" on the label, and "Ask Me Why" is at the end of Side 1.

Oval label at the top, "STEREO" on the label, label is the same size as one that might appear on a 45, and "Ask Me Why" is at the end of Side 1.

Fake Introducing the Beatles Covers and Labels

Any cover with a brown border on all four sides, such as this one, is a fake.

Any cover that is unusually washed out, or contains the single word "STEREO" directly under the Vee-Jay logo on the front cover, is a fake.

Any label, often found with the washed-out cover, that has a color ring along the outside that has no green in it is a fake.

Though this may look legitimate at first glance, the size of the "VJ" logo at the top of the record, combined with the lack of a color ring around the outside, indicates that this is a fake. (Legitimate copies with an all-black label and a "VJ" logo at the top have a much smaller logo.)

Any label with the words "INTRODUCING THE BEATLES" above the center hole and "THE BEATLES" below the center hole is a fake – with no exceptions!

Here's another example of "INTRODUCING THE BEATLES" above the hole and "THE BEATLES" below it. Even though it has a color ring, it's still a fake.

More Fab Four Fakery

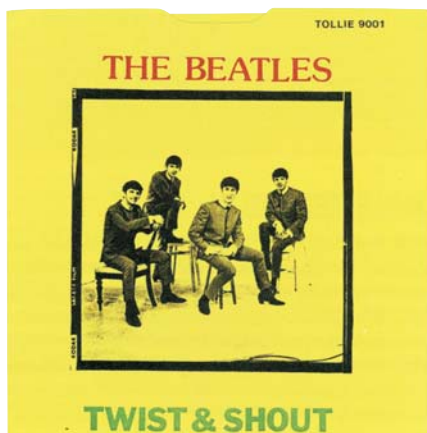

Introducing the Beatles isn't the only Beatles record on the market that can be a fake. Here are six more that sometimes come up, none of which are legitimate in any way.

Songs and Pictures of the Fabulous Beatles is a fake version of Songs, Pictures and Stories of the Fabulous Beatles. No copies with the former title were ever issued legally.

This is a picture sleeve from a fake Tollie extended-play single. No Tollie EP was legally issued.

No American picture sleeve was issued for "Twist and Shout," thus this item is illegitimate.

Any copy of the picture sleeve for "Do You Want to Know a Secret" that has the words "PROMOTIONAL COPY" under the Vee-Jay logo is a fake.

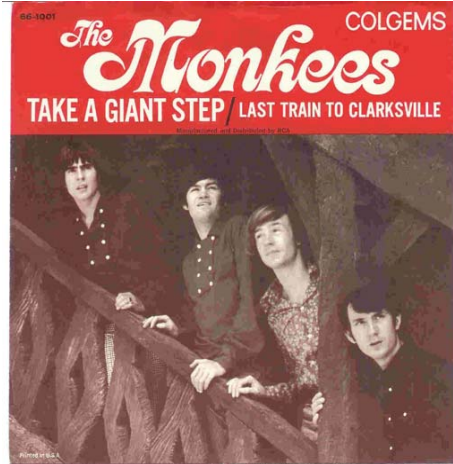

Any copy of the Decca single "My Bonnie" with the black label that Decca used from 1955-1960, and is not from Canada, is a counterfeit.

Certain copies of "She Loves You" containing white labels with red print are counterfeits. It's best to compare with an original, but even by comparing to other Swan 45s by other artists, one can see that Swan never legitimately used this typeface. Similar counterfeits exist with black labels and silver print.

Hey, Hey. We're the Monkees

From 1966 to the early part of 1968, no American band was more popular than the Monkees. Several revivals have helped keep them collectible. Most of their albums and 45s are common in average condition, but they aren't always easy to find in near-mint.

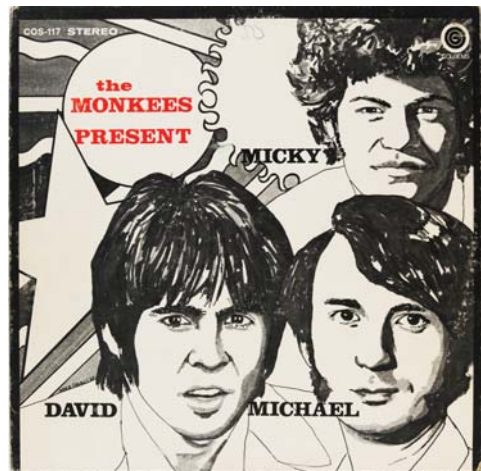

"Last Train to Clarksville," Colgems 66-1001, 1966, black and white version with no red strip at the bottom, $30.

"Last Train to Clarksville," Colgems 66-1001, 1966, color version, $20.
