Andrew M. Lobaczewski "Once the book was completed in 1984 and a suitable translation made into English, he was unable to get it published. The psychology editors told him it was 'too political', and the political editors told him it was 'too psychological'. He enlisted the help of his compatriot, Zbigniew Brzezinski, who had just previously served as President Jimmy Carter's National Security Adviser and who initially praised the book and promised to help get the book published. Unfortunately, after some time spent corresponding Brzezinski became silent, responding only to the effect that it was a pity it hadn't worked out. In Łobaczewski's words, 'he strangled the matter, treacherously.'" In Memoriam: Andrzej M Łobaczewski

"According to this 1998 interview with Zbigniew Brzezinski, the CIA's intervention in Afghanistan preceded the 1979 Soviet invasion. This decision of the Carter Administration in 1979 to intervene and destabilise Afghanistan is the root cause of Afghanistan's destruction as a nation."

Zbigniew Brzezinski gets questioned hard by 9/11 Truther Luke Rudkowski of Change in New York City. Luke interrupted a speaking engagement where Brzezinski was trying to pacify everyone on terror. Brzezinski is part of the Trilateral commission, Bilderberg and the Council On Foreign Relations. An all around scumbag globalist who looks at people as slaves and is a master at propaganda. He is part of the group working towards a New World Order. This criminal has a long history in the US. I got such a charge out of this watching that bastard Brzezinski get his. Everyone is waking up. Thanks Luke. http://www.calgary911truth.org/my_weblog/2007/04/zbigniew_brzezi.html

"The technotronic era involves the gradual appearance of a more controlled society. Such a society would be dominated by an elite, unrestrained by traditional values. Soon it will be possible to assert almost continuous surveillance over every citizen and maintain up-to-date complete files containing even the most personal information about the citizen. These files will be subject to instantaneous retrieve/review by the authorities."-- Zbigniew Brzezinski, CFR member, founding member of the Trilateral Commission, National Security Advisor to five US presidents

In 1970, former National Security advisor Zbigniew Brzezinski wrote in Between Two Ages, that:

"Technology will make available to the leaders of major nations, techniques for conducting secret warfare, of which only a bare minimum of the security forces need be appraised.....techniques of weather modification could be employed to produce prolonged periods of drought or storm."

In the technotronic society the trend would seem to be towards the aggregation of the individual support of millions of uncoordinated citizens, easily within the reach of magnetic and attractive personalities effectively exploiting the latest communications techniques to manipulate emotions and control reason. "In earlier times, it was easier to control a million people, literally it was easier to control a million people than physically to kill a million people. Today, it is infinitely easier to kill a million people than to control a million people. It is easier to kill than to control..." -

Zbigniew Brzezinski- Former U.S. National Security Advisor/Co-Founder of the Trilateral Commission/ Member, Board of Trustees, Center for Strategic and International Studies

It used to be so much easier to control a million people than to kill them, but today it is infinitely easier to kill one million people than to control them!

It is imperative that no Eurasian challenger (Europe/Asia) emerges capable of dominating Eurasia and thus of also challenging America. The formulation of a comprehensive and integrated Eurasian geostrategy (foreign policy based on geographical factors like oil) is therefore the purpose of this book. - pg. xiv

How America 'manages' Eurasia is critical. A power that dominates Eurasia would control two of the world's three most advanced and economically productive regions. A mere glance at the map also suggests that control over Eurasia would almost automatically entail Africa's subordination, rendering the Western Hemisphere and Oceania geopolitically peripheral to the world's central continent. About 75 per cent of the world's people live in Eurasia, and most of the world's physical wealth is there as well, both in its enterprises and underneath its soil. Eurasia accounts for about three-fourths of the world's known energy resources. - pg.31

Two basic steps are thus required: first, to identify the geostrategically dynamic Eurasian states that have the power to cause a potentially important shift in the international distribution of power and to decipher the central external goals of their respective political elites and the likely consequences of their seeking to attain them;... second, to formulate specific U.S. policies to offset, co-opt, and/or control the above. - pg.40

To put it in a terminology that harkens back to the more brutal age of ancient empires, the three grand imperatives of imperial geostrategy are to prevent collusion and maintain security dependence among the vassals (puppet governments), to keep tributaries pliant and protected, and to keep the barbarians from coming together. - pg.40

It follows that America's primary interest is to help ensure that no single power comes to control this geopolitical space. - pg. 148

In the long run, global politics are bound to become increasingly uncongenial to the concentration of hegemonic power in the hands of a single state. Hence, America is not only the first, as well as the only, truly global superpower, but it is also likely to be the very last. (NWO)- pg.209

Moreover, as America becomes an increasingly multi-cultural society, it may find it more difficult to fashion a consensus on foreign policy issues, except in the circumstance of a truly massive and widely perceived direct EXTERNAL threat (War on terrorism). - pg.211
