CORRESPONDENCE RECEIVED FROM

SENATOR JOSEPH R. McCARTHY'S OFFICE

January 10, 1953 INTERNAL SECURITY - C

PURPOSE:

The material mentioned in the attached memo dated January 12, 1953, has been divided into 49 exhibits. Prior to taking any action it is recommended the Records and Communications Division advise whether: (1) the original complainants can be interviewed, in the event investigations are instituted, and told that Senator McCarthy's office referred their correspondence to the FBI; (2) the contents can be disseminated to other interested agencies when necessary; (3) in the event such dissemination is authorized, can mention be made of the fact that the material came from Denator McCarthy's office; (4) the material was furnished for confidential Bureau use only with no dissemination necessary on our part.

DETAILS:

If this material had come to the FBI through routine sources dissemination to other agencies or FBI investigations would follow in some instances. For example Item Number 14 is a letter from Madrid, Spain, alleging homosexuality and pro-Communism on the part of U. S. Embassy personnel.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the Records and Communications Division advise as to whether there are any restrictions regarding FBI use of this material. In the event that follow-up communications are sent Senator McCarthy by his constituents or other inquiries arise, he might well take the position he furnished the material to the FBI. Therefore, it would appear incumbent upon us to stiate action wherever necessary knowing beforehand any strictions involved in our handling of the information.

"Surine states that we are authorized to use this material any way we see fit and to say that the material had been referred to the Bureau by Senator McCarthy to disseminate and to conduct any investigation that is suggested by the facts. Surine further stated that we should use good judgment in all the letters. SECT OF THE

Mon. Joe McCarthy, U.C. Senator, Washington, I.G.

Tear Senator:

I am enclosing an editorial and carton taking from todays "Houston Chronicle", which is self-explanatory.

Truman and his paid agents must feel cheap since your charges are now coming to the front so the whole World can see that our Government was run by a bunch of TRAITORS.

Do you think you will be able to call Truman on the carpet to tell why he has been protecting all these Communist. You know he will be just another citizen after Jan. 20th. So call him in-he had no pity for you.

Will you pick up your phone and call the accounting office and ascertain just how much money is being paid to one Mr A.J. Hayes, International President of the International Association of Machinist. This Mr Hayes sets across the deak from Ann Rosenberg in the Defence Department. This so called Union Leader has been very critical of you and other good Pepublicans. I want to find out how my Union President can carry water on both shoulders. In other words how much is he getting to support Truman and Atcheson—and he is do just that.

I am a member of the Machinist Union but I am gettin fed up on this man Hayes and have told him so in Nov. . 1950 when he was giving Taft hell in Ohio. My motto is: Thion for the Union and Politics for the Politicians.

In closing I want to wish you a VERY MERRY XMAS and a HAPPY NEW YEAR and that you will be able to rid the Government of all Communist.

ssociation with Communists.

Vincent and Lattimore accompanied the then Vice-President Henry Wallace on that fateful China mission in 1944. Service was a career diplomat attached to the late Gen. Joseph Stillwell's staff in China at the time. All three were close to Wallace or the China mission. The vice-president returned to the United States with a blissful attitude toward the Chinese Communists—they were merely agrarian land reformers and harmless, he said—and a hostile attitude toward Chiang Kaishek. It was the beginning of Chiang's downfall and our hopeless Far Eastern muddle that led us into the Korean war.

On March 14, 1950, Senator McCarthy charged that Service was a security risk. Service was United States consul at Calcutta, India, at the time, a dangerous spot for this country to keep a security risk. After much testimony from various persons before the senate subcommittee cast doubt on Service's loyalty to this country, the loyalty review board placed him in the category of "reasonable doubt" and he was fired on December 13, 1951. McCarthy also charged Lattimore with being the chief Soviet spy in the United States.

Early this year the former Communist, Louis Budenz, testified he had heard in official party circles in 1944 that Vincent and Lattimore were sympathetic to the Communists and would influence Wallace in that direction. That Wallace was influenced is a matter of history. Who did it has not been proved in any court, but the senate subcommittee has heard numerous witnesses name Vincent, Lattimore and Service as the guilty parties.

Although the evidence has been closely linked against all three, the loyalty review board seems to have been inconceivably slow in taking action and even then, it took each case individually and waited a year after Service's dismissal to get around to Vincent. Lattimore still has not been classed as a security risk by the board, although the State Department has indicated a loss of faith in him, particularly during the episode where he was reported planning a trip abroad and the department announced it would refuse him a passport.

It appears that if the loyalty board had enough time before President Truman leaves office, its would substantiate most of the charges made by Senator McCarthy of disloyalty among State Department employes. Yet, the Truman administration and even some of McCarthy's own fellow Republicans have continued to vilify him for his crusade.

Vincent Suspended, Lattimore Indicted

The President's loyalty review board has finally got around to branding the career diplomat, John Carter Vincent, a loyalty risk. This is a reversal of the board's stand on last February 19, when it cleared Vincent despite the charges by Republican Senator Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin and a wealth of evidence unearthed by the senate internal security subcommittee that the career diplomat was a doubtful case. In the meantime, Vincent has served for nearly a year as minister to Tangier in Africa. The fact that the State Department has suspended and recalled the minister does not mean that he is fired, however. The firing is up to President Truman and Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

The board's action means that two of the three American diplomats charged by Senator McCarthy and others with undermining Chiang Kai-shek in favor of the Chinese Communists have now been officially declared security risks. The three were Vincent, John Stewart Service and Owen Lattimore. Lattimore has now been under the consequent

The public records, files and publications of the Committee on Un-American activities contain the following information concerning Clark Forement

The name of Clark Foreman appears on the following pages of the enclosed Report on the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, released by this Committee, June 12, 1947: pages 1, 7, 11 and 14.

The Southern Patriot, official organ of the Southern Conferences for Human Welfare, in the issue of December 1946 (page 8) listed Clark Forement as President of that organization during 1947-1948; he was further identified as president of the Southern Conference... on a letterhead of the organization dated June 4, 1947; an undated leaflet, "The South is Closer Than You Think, published by the New York Office (received about February 1947); a News Releases of the organization dated November 15, 1947; and the "Daily Worker" of June 24, 1947 (page 3).

Paul Crouch, in sworn testimony before the Committee on Un-Americana Activities on May 6, 1949, had the following to say concerning Clark Foreman and the Southern Conference for Human Welfare:

Mir. Mandel: Was there any indication of subsidy for the work of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare

"Mr. Crouch: Yes. The district in Alabama at all times received varying degrees of subsidy from the central committee in New York. In 1938 additional grants were made * * * because of the expenses incurred by the Alabama district in its organizational work to build the Southern Conference for Human Welfare.
Prior to the Southern Conference, there was a small committee with headquarters in Birmingham, which included as its leading members Joseph S. Gelders.
Communist Party leader in Birmingham * * *

"Er. Mandel: Has Clark Howell Foreman in that group?

Wir. Crouch: He came into it later.

"Er. Wheeler: Do you have evidence regarding the membership of Clark Howell Foreman in the Communist Party?

"Wr. Crouch: I have no evidence of his membership in the Communist Party. I have spoken to him frequently. Re-knew I was an official in the Communist Party, and he was very anxious to discuss policy and so on, and he impressed me as being anxious to carry out the policies of the party.  (Testimony of Mr. Crouch, former member of the Communist Party, public hearings, page 190.)

The American Slav Congress was cited as subversive and Communist by the United States Attorney General in letters furnished the Loyalty Review Board and released to the press by the U. S. Civil Service Commission, June 1 and September 21, 1948. The organization was the subject of a report by the Committee on Un-American Activities released June 26, 1949 in which it was cited as "a Moscow-inspired and directed federation of Communist-dominated organizations seeking by methods of propaganda and pressure to subvert the 10,000,000 people in this country of Slavic birth or descent." Clark Foreman was a sponsor of a Testimonial Dinner held at the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York, October 12, 1947, under the auspices of the American Slav Congress, as shown on the program dated October 12, 1947 (page 2).

Clark Foreman was a member of the initiating committee of the Civil Rights Congress, as disclosed in a Report on the Civil Rights Congress released by this Committee September 2, 1947 (see page 21). It was pointed out in this report that "it is worthy of note that subsequent to the formation of the Civil Rights Congress in Detroit on April 27-28, 1946, and the enlistment of additional sponsors, the names of a number of members of the initiating committee, having served their decoy purposes, disappeared from the organization's letterhead, among them being * * * Clark Foreman * * *. This seems to be a favorite device of Communist-front organizations" (page 19).

Dr. Clark Foreman signed an Open Letter to Congress issued by the Civil Rights Congress urging defeat of the Mundt anti-Communist bill, as shown on a letterhead dated May 7, 1948. He was one of the additional sponsors of the Bill of Rights Conference of the Civil Rights Congress, as shown in the "Call" to the Conference, New York City, July 16-17, 1949 (page 5); his address was shown as Washington, D. C. It was reported in the "Daily Worker" of January 13, 1949 (page 2) that he was to be a speaker at the Freedom Crusade of the Civil Rights Congress in Washington, January 17. He has spoken under auspices of the Civil Rights Congress, as shown in the "Daily Worker" (issues of December 13, 1948, page 6 and January 18, 1949, page 11).

In its report on the organization, the Committee on Un-American Activities cited the Civil Rights Congress as "dedicated not to the broader issues of civil liberties, but specifically to the defense of individual Communists and the Communist Party" and "controlled by individuals who are either members of the Communist Party or openly loyal to it" (Report 1115, September 2, 1947). The United States Attorney General cited the Civil Rights Congress as subversive and Communist (letters released December 4, 1947 and September 21, 1948).

The "Daily People's World," in its September 10, 1948 issue (page 3), named Clark Foreman as a supporter of the National Council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions. A letterhead of the organization (received January 1949) listed him as regional chairman as did a letterhead of the organization's Southern California Chapter dated April 24, 1950 (a photostat). It was reported in the "Daily Worker" of October 21, 1949 (page 13), that Clark Foreman was a speaker for the National Council. The Conference Program (page 14) shows that he was a sponsor of the Cultural and Scientific Conference for World Peace, held in New York City, March 25-27, 1949, under auspices of the National Council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions.

On April 19, 1949, the Committee on Un-American Activities released a report on the Cultural and Scientific Conference for World Peace in which the sponsoring organization, the National Council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, was cited as a Communist front and the Conference as a "supermobilization of the inveterate wheelhorses and supporters of the Communist Party and its auxiliary organizations."

The National Committee to Win the Peace was formed at a Win-the-Peace Conference held in Washington, D. C., April 5-7, 1946. Clark Foreman was a sponsor of the Win-the-Peace Conference (Letterhead of February 28, 1946; "A Call to a Win-the-Peace Conference"; and "Daily Worker," March 5, 1946); he presided and spoke at the Conference, as reported in the "Daily Worker" of April 8, 1946 (page 3); and was Chairman of the Sunday Morning Session of the Conference (Summary of Proceedings, page 6). Mr. Foreman was listed as a Vice-Chairman of the National Committee to Win the Peace on a letterhead of the New York Committee dated June 1, 1946 and on the "New York Committee Call to a Win the Peace Conference, June 28 and 29, 1946." The same information was reported in the "Daily Worker" of May 9, 1946 (page 3) which listed him among the National Committee's Vice-Chairmen who backed the "drive for signatures to petitions calling for the enforcement of Potsdam decisions" launched by the organization.

The National Committee to Win the Peace was cited as subversive and Communist by the United States Attorney General (letters furnished the Loyalty Review Board, release December 4, 1947 and September 21, 1948).

Clark Foreman was listed as a sponsor of the National Committee to Defeat the Mundt Bill in a pamphlet, "Hey, Brother . . . there's a law against You!" (page 2) and was so listed in a release of the organization dated June 15, 1949 (page 2). He signed a statement against the Mundt (anti-Communist) bill, as shown in an advertisement which appeared in the Washington "Post" of May 18, 1948 (page 15).

The National Committee to Defeat the Mundt Bill was cited by this Committee as "a registered lobbying organization which has carried out the objectives of the Communist Party in its fight against anti-subversive legislation." (Report on the National Committee to Defeat . . ., released December 7, 1950 and made House Report 3248, January 2, 1951.)

A statement attached to a Press Release of the Committee for Peaceful Alternatives to the Atlantic Pact dated December 14, 1949 (page 12) contains the name of Clark Foreman among those who signed a statement released by the Committee which called for International Agreement to Ban Use of Atomic Weapons; he was identified in this source as former Federal Power Commissioner, New York City.

He signed an Open Letter urging defeat of President Truman's arms program which was addressed to Senators and Congressmen by the Conference on Peaceful Alternatives to the Atlantic Pact and was identified as Director, National Council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, New York (letterhead of August 21, 1949).

In a Report on the Communist "Peace" Offensive, released April 1, 1951, the Committee on Un-American Activities cited the Conference on Peaceful Alternatives to the Atlantic Pact as a meeting called by the Daily Worker in July 1949 which formed the Committee for Peaceful Alternatives . . . to further the cause of "Communists in the United States" doing "their part in the Moscow campaign" (pages 56 and 54).

The American Continental Congress for Peac+ was cited in the report mentioned above (page 21) as "another phase in the Communist 'peace' campaign, aimed at consolidating anti-American forces throughout the Western Hemisphere." The "Call" to the American Continental Congress for Peace, Mexico City, September 5-10, 1949, listed Clark Foreman as a United States Sponsor.

In a letter to Elizabeth Gurley Flynn concerning coordination of various activities on his behalf, Steve Nelson made the following reference to Clark Foreman: "I heard of Clark Foreman's Committee and that they are ready to do something." (Letter quoted in Elizabeth Gurley Flynn's column in the "Daily Worker," July 24, 1952, page 5.) Nelson is presently serving a 20 year jail sentence in the Allegheny County Workhouse at Blawnox, Pa., having been convicted of sedition.

Dear Verda.

We had a wonderful trip to Europe but have taken a little time to get settled back to living in this country. Now I am just about to take a job with the newly organised Emergency Committee for Civil Liberties. It is not even absolutely definite yet but in thinking about it I naturally thought about you. If I get into it I will certainly need your help and advice in some form.

Some finances are assured but a good part of the work will have to be fund-rassing and we will have to start modestly. About the only position now planned except my own is that of an all-ground assitant, which means writing the letters and keeping the books and doing all the other things that go with makeing an office function. I don't suppose you would be interested in that, but I would expect to pay about a hundred a week.

The new group in case you haven't heard of it is to be limited to a couple of hundred non-CPs with an executive committee of about nine and a director. The idea is to try to broadent the interest in civil liberties a little so that it won't be identified completely with the far left and yet will be move a little more militantly than the A.C.L.U. is.

Let me hear from you anyway and make any suggestions you like.

Mairi joins me in best regards,

Donl-Jorema

Careful examination of its official publication and its activities will disclose that the conference actually is being used in devious ways to further basic Soviet and Communist policy. Decisive and key posts are in most instances controlled by persons whose record is faithful to the line of the Communist Party and the Soviet Union.

In reporting to its constituents, the conference is extraordinarily vague as to the exact origin of the organization. "It was born in the hearts and minds of a large group of devoted southerners known as the Southern Policy Committee." No names are given. This nondescript group met several times early in 1938 in Birmingham, Ala. "Several other persons were asked to attend a meeting on July 21, and the idea of a Southern Conference was presented to them." The report does not say who presented the idea or who was present. "The persons present voted themselves in as sponsors and members of the arrangements committee" and subsequently a permanent organization meeting was called at Birmingham on September 6, 1938. (Report of the Proceedings of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, November 22, 23, 1938, pp. 3 and 4.) Its claim to represent any significant proportion of southern opinion is, therefore, entirely self-assumed.

While the conference has succeeded in confusing certain elements in the North by its pretensions, representative southerners harbor no illusions as to its real character. The Democratic Women's Club, of Alabama, an organization of long standing in the South, publicly demanded the disclosure of the names of the initiators of the con-demanded the disclosure of the names of the initiators of the conference, who provided the necessary finances and who appointed the delegates. They charged that the conference was of "questionable origin and purpose" (Birmingham News, November 25, 1938).

In their own inner circles the Communists were not nearly so reticent in claiming responsibility for the Southern Conference for Human Welfare. In his article in the Communist of January 1939, official monthly organ of the Communist Party, Robert Fowler Hall, then secretary of the Communist Party, of Alabama, and speaker at the April 1940 session of the conference, reveals the moves behind the scenes. Referring to an earlier speech of Earl Browder, at that time general secretary of the Communist Party, Mr. Hall wrote:

Comrade Browder's remarks thus anticipated the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, held in Birmingham, November 20-23 * * * Let us estimate the Southern Conference in the light of Comrade Browder's remarks at the tenth convention of the Communist Party * * In this sense, we can say that the Southern Conference was a brilliant confirmation of the line of the democratic front advanced by Comrade Browder at the tenth convention * * Court comrades * * naturally watched the conference preparations closely and helped wherever possible * * * Southern State organizations of the Communist Party were represented at the conference by five southern Communist delegates. Our party contributed in a modest but constructive manner to the success of the conference . In strengthening this movement, our party has before it a great task. On this basis, our party can and must proceed to recruit from the progressive ranks many hundreds of members (pp. 57, 60, 61,

In other words, the Communists were using the conference as a specific application of the so-called popular-front policy in the South. This line had been adopted by the Communist International at its seventh congress in Moscow in 1935 and was being applied by the Communist Parties throughout the world prior to the signing of the Steley Hitter pact. The hopest liberals drawn into the conference Stalin-Hitler pact. The honest liberals drawn into the conference were merely the most convenient guinea pigs.

While the Communist Party as such boasted of few delegates, it must be remembered that the bulk of the Communist supporters came from front organizations under their control, which participated in the conference. This was ultimately proven by test votes on various controversial issues.

Communist Party writers made every effort to emphasize the significance of the Conference for Human Welfare. Robert F. Hall, who today is Washington correspondent for the Daily Worker, called who today is Washington correspondent for the Daily Worker, called it a "representative of the new forces" in the South, working for the "development of a powerful movement of the southern masses for peace, democratic rights, and security" (Communist, August 1940, pp. 690 to 702). Thus the conference supplemented the activity of the American League for Peace and Democracy, the chief Communist front during this period.

James W. Ford, Negro Communist candidate for Vice President, speaking of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare and the Southern Negro Youth Conference, declared, with considerable pride that—that-

The Communists, through their pioneering work in the South, may justly colon to have laid the foundation for these great social movements (Communist, September 1938, p. 828).

In a radio address delivered on November 27, 1938, over Station WOL, Earl Browder expressed the opinion that the Southern Conference for Human Welfare was one of the signs of the awakening of the American people. In a public hearing before the Special Committee on Un-American Activities he identified it as one of his party's 'transmission belts."

"transmission belts."

Evidence before our committee indicates that the central committee of the Communist Party was intimately concerned with the affairs of the conference from its very inception. William Weiner, former treasurer of the Communist Party, testified that a subsidy of $2,000 had been paid to the Communist Party of Alabama in 1938, when the Southern Conference for Human Welfare was founded, that this conference had been discussed with Robert F. Hall, when he was in New York, and that it had also been discussed by the central committee of the Communist Party. Mr. Browder publicly admitted that the Communist Party had "suffered great hardships to maintain the growing southern movement." the growing southern movement."

COMMUNIST MANIPULATION

Not only do the Communists claim the conference as their own product, but they even disclose how they pulled the strings. Mr.

Hall, apparently the chief moving spirit, points out that the main work of the conference was carried out through sections or panels and that resolutions adopted in the panels were usually adopted by the conference as a whole (Communist, January 1939, p. 58). Here is how this plan actually operated.

A resolution on education was presented by Paul Crouch for the A resolution on education was presented by Paul Crouch for the Communist Party of Alabama and unanimously adopted (Daily Worker, November 22, 1938, p. 6). Crouch was a member of the editorial staff of the Southern Worker, official organ of the Communist Party in the South. Associated with him on this board were Robert F. Hall and Ted Wellman, Communist Party State secretary for Tennessee. Crouch was convicted for treasonable activities within the armed forces of the United State in Hawaii on June 8, 1925. He subsequently made a pilgrimage to Moscow where he paraded in a Red Army uniform (Daily Worker, May 1, 1928, p. 5).

Members of the resolutions committee of the November 20-23, 1938, conference were:

1938, conference were:

Chairman, Clyde M. Mills, Georgia Prentiss M. Terry, Alabama William Mitch, Alabama George Googe, Georgia R. R. Moore, Alabama Lucy Randolph Mason, Virginia Father Rambouts, Louisiana Donald Comer, Alabama Stanton E. Smith, Tennessee Virginia Henry Mayfield, Alabama Dr. Arthur Raper, Georgia

Myles Horton, Tennessee
Roy Lawrence, North Carolina
Julia F. Allen, Kentucky
Berry Bingham, Kentucky
Elizabeth Hawes, South Carolina
W. C. Kelley, Florida
Edwin A. Elliott, Texas
F. D. Patterson, Alabama
Leonard Logan, Oklahoma
Mrs. D. D. Terry, Arkansas
George McLean, Mississippi

There is no record in the proceedings or elsewhere of their opposition to the activities within the conference of such outstanding Communists as Paul Crouch, Robert F. Hall, Ted Wellman, John P. Davis, and Edward E. Strong. The committee adopted the following Communist Party line resolutions: Demand for the release of the Scottsboro boys, endorsement of the Communist-dominated Congress of Mexican and Spanish-American Peoples, and condemnation of the Dies Committee.

of Mexican and Spanish-American Peoples, and condemnation of the Dies Committee.

Joseph Gelders was active in the conference's committee on plans for a permanent organization. Representing the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, Gelders was also the secretary of the strategy committee in the campaign for the Geyer anti-poll-tax bill: He was formerly secretary of the National Committee for Defense of Political Prisoners, which has been cited as subversive by Attorney General Biddle. Gelders personally accompanied Earl Browder on a visit to the Scottsboro boys (convicted of rape in Alabama) (Daily Worker, September 15, 1936, p. 3). He raised his voice in protest against the arrest of Communists in Chattanooga (Daily Worker, April 6, 1938, p. 3). He was also leader of a lobby for the American Peace Mobilization which conducted a picket line about the White House and denounced President Roosevelt as a "war-monger" (Sunday Worker, September 8, 1940, p. 3).

John P. Davis, identified as a leading member of the Communist Party by testimony before our committee and former secretary of the National Negro Congress, cited as a subversive organization by the Atlorney Genéral, was a leading speaker in the panel on constitutional rights of the first conference in 1938 and the 500 delegates applauded his report. He was also vice president of the conference (Daily Worker, November 22, 1938, p. 6; April 17, 1940, p. 4).

Yelverton Cowherd, signer of a resolution against the Dies committee in 1939, who appeared before the La Follette committee in 1937 to defend the case of Joseph Gelders, was a member of the particular committee at the first conference, according to its official nominating committee at the first conference, according to its official nominating committee at the first conference, according to its official proceedings.

Edward E. Strong, described by James W. Ford, Communist Vice Presidential candidate, as "a coming leader of the Negro people," present secretary of the National Negro Congress, contributor to the Communist youth magazine, The Champion, and signer of a statement in March 1941 defending the Communist Party, was a prominent speaker in the panel on youth problems in the 1938 conference, together with Howard Lee, attorney for Oscar Wheeler, Communist candidate for Governor of West Virginia. Strong was elected a member of the executive committee of the Council of Young Southerness, described on its letterhead as having "its origin at the Youth Commission of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare." He has been cited as a member of the "special branch" of the Young Communist League.

las been cited as a member of the "special branch" of the Young Communist League.

Dr. Herman C. Nixon was elected executive secretary of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare in 1938. He had been forced out of Tulane University for his social views. He had been cochairman of the Citizens Committee to Investigate Vigilantism in Gadsden, Ala., an offshoot of the International Labor Defense, and a member of the National Committee for People's Rights and the provisional committee of the National Conference on Constitutional Liberties. The International Labor Defense, as well as the last two committees named, have been cited as subversive by the Attorney General. Nixon's book Forty Acres and Steel Mules, has been highly praised by Robert F. Hall, then Communist secretary for Alabama, in the New South of February 1939 (p. 10).

Two known Communist Party members who have supported the conference in recent years are Don West, poet and professor; Langston Hughes, writer. Paul Robeson, who has frequently defended the Communist Party and attended its meetings, voiced an appeal for the release of Earl Browder at the conference's meeting in 1942. His appeal was echoed by Frank P. Graham in a statement sent to the President.

the President.

JAMÉS DOMBROWSKI

At the April 1942 sessions of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, James Dombrowski was elected executive secretary. He was the signer of a statement defending the Communist Party in March 1941 and a speaker for the National Conference for Constitutional Liberties in 1940. The latter organization has been cited as subversive by the Attorney General.

Dombrowski, together with Myles Horton, a member of the present board of representatives of the conference, helped launch a joint Socialist-Communist united-front movement in the South in 1935. As Socialist Party leaders in Tennessee, the two men endorsed a united-front plan of action which included campaigns against the AAA and for a "rank and file" movement in the American Federation of Labor (Chattanooga Times, January 28, 1935, p. 5). They have both been charged with operating as stooges for the Communist Party within Socialist circles.

A clue to Dombrowski's political views is given in his book, The Early Days of Christian Socialism in America (1936). Dombrowski asserts that the Rev. George D. Herron, whom he considers "by farthe most able man" in the early days of the Christian Socialist movement, pointed out in the last decade of the nineteenth century:

that class lines were becoming more sharply defined, that the logic of the inherent contradictions within capitalism was leading inevitably to more and more concentration of wealth, to the enrichment of the few at the expense of the change. Peace at the expense of justice was not a religious approach to social change. Peace at the expense of justice was not a religious solution to social problems. And resorting to his social interpretation of the cross, according to which all moral progress is made at the expense of suffering and sacrifice, he looked upon a revolution by violence, provided it promised a more just society, as a possible technique for social change worthy of the sanction of religion (p. 193).

Dombrowski goes on to defend Herron's views on violence. Herron, he says:

In his acceptance of the fact of the class struggle went the implicit recognition of the necessity for coercion (p. 192).

Frank P. Graham, head of the University of North Carolina, was the first chairman of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare and today remains as its honorary president. He is not a Communist and no doubt on occasion has had some differences with the Communist Party. He is, however, one of those liberals who show a predilection for affiliation to various Communist-inspired front organizations.

Graham urged freedom for Earl Browder and served as sponsor for a dinner which the publication, Soviet Russia Today, held to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the Red Army. He also was associated with the International Labor Defense, legal arm of the Communist Party; American League for Peace and Democracy; American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born; American Committee for Democracy and Intellectual Freedom; American Friends of Spanish Democracy; China Aid Council; China Aid Council of the American League for Peace and Democracy; Committee for Boycott Against Japanese Aggression; Conference to Lift the Embargo; Coordinating Committee to Lift the Embargo; Medical Bureau; and North American Committee to Aid Spanish Democracy. tee to Aid Spanish Democracy.

OTHER OFFICERS

The roster of conference officers for 1947-48 shows that pro-Comnumists and fellow travelers still hold the reins of the organization. James Dombrowski continues to occupy his same key position under the new title of administrator. Serving as his associate and also as editor of the conference organ, the Southern Patriot, is Frank C. Bancroft, who has a lengthy record of Communist Party front activity. Bancroft defended the Communist Party on March 5, 1941, and April 26, 1947, and also defended Sam Darcy, a Communist Party candidate for Governor of California, who was convicted of perjury. Bancroft signed an open letter calling for closer cooperation with the Soviet Union and held the responsible post of managing editor with Foreman is associated with the Progressive Citizens of America, an allegedly liberal organization which believes in cooperating with Communists. He has also been affiliated with the following Communist-front groups: The Win-the-Peace Conference; the Washington Committee for Democratic Action, which defended Communist cases. Committee States Civil Service Commission; and the National Citizens Political Action Committee.

· FOREIGN POLICY

The most conclusive proof of the Communist domination of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare is to be found in the organization's strict and unvarying conformance to the line of the Communist Party in the field of foreign policy. It is also a clear indication of the Party in the field of foreign policy. It is also a clear indication of the fact that the real purpose of the organization was not "human welfare" in the South but rather to correct the account rehisles in suppose fact that the real purpose of the organization was not "human welfare" in the South, but rather to serve as a convenient vehicle in support of the current Communist Party line.

In 1938, when the Communist Party was advocating collective security of the democracies against the Fascist aggressors, a letter of greeting from President Roosevelt brought 2,000 conference delegates to their feet cheering (Daily Worker, November 22, 1938, p. 1). The conference voted to endorse—

The change of the Communist line resulting from the signing of the Stalin-Hitler pact invoked a bitter struggle in the Southern Conference for Human Welfare at its meeting in April 1940. Robert F. Hall, secretary of the Communist Party of Alabama, acting as the Communist whip, presented an eight-point program which demanded "an uncompromising peace policy." The liberals led by Frank P. Graham uncompromising peace policy." The liberals led by Frank P. Graham and W. R. Couch, of the University of North Carolina, supported the policy of the Roosevelt administration. At one stage in the battle policy of the Roosevelt administration. The thousand delegates denounced war and declared themselves "unalterably opposed to loans to the Allies and other belligerents" and denounced war appropriations "at the expense other belligerents" and denounced war appropriations "at the expense of the welfare of the American people at home." The only consolation which the liberals salvaged from the fracas was a mild resolution The change of the Communist line resulting from the signing of the liberty, and freedom.

condemning aggression by "Naza, Communists, or imperitate." The Communists could grant their opponents this convenient sop since in their eyes the Soviet invasion of Finland and Poland was not aggression but liberation (Daily Worker, April 17, 1940, p. 4).

The rift between the Communists and the liberals was quickly healed as soon as Hitler invaded the Soviet fatherland and the Communists suddenly relinquished their "unalterable" opposition to the war. Wholehearted agreement marked the sessions of the conference held on April 19, 20, 21, 1942 devoted to "the South's part in winning the war for democracy." The convention demanded that all "join in a great offensive now, to work, to produce, to sacrifice, to win" the war for democracy." The convention demanded that all "join in a great offensive now, to work, to produce, to sacrifice, to win" (Daily Worker, April 23, 1942, p. 3).

With the end of World War II, the attitude of the conference on foreign policy veered once more in line with the new policy of the ('ommunist Party. A resolution supported by the Southern Conference for Human Welfare and several other organizations, in April 1947 declared:

Monopoly corporations' profits are draining dry the Nation's purchasing power; and this lust for profits is not only threatening our Nation with early communic disaster but is leading, behind the smoke screen of the false issue communism, to imperialist adventures and more profit hunting abroad, and may vet pile a war on our heads as well as an economic depression (Daily Worker, May 6, 1947, p. 5).

Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the Communist Party in America, voiced exactly the same idea in his pamphlet, What America Faces, March 1946 (p. 14):

gressional coalition, aided by the administration, are reconverting. Theirs is a reconversion * * * as they hope, to union busting and the open shop, to soaring profits and prices and sinking wages and living standards, to aggression upon the democratic rights of the people here and upon the democracies abroad; upon the seconversion which, if they are permitted to pursue their course, is the their is a reconversion which, if they are permitted to pursue their course, is the out of capitalist crisis.

The new Communist Party doctrine is critical of any American "interference" in foreign politics but entirely favorable toward Russian expansionism. The conference organ, the Southern Patriot, clings closely to this line in its April 1946 issue. It quotes a leading conference spokesman as saying:

* * It was easy to gang up on the Russians * while the Czars were fighting the people of the country with their perfidious policies and police. It was easy to gang up on the Russians during the days of the Russian revolution. It was easy for the rest of us to gang up ever since. I do not want to be a It has been easy for the rest of us to gang up ever since. I do not want to be a party to such a process (p. 3).

* * It comes with ill grace from certain world powers whose troops are stationed in every nation from Egypt to Singapore to make a world conflagration out of the movement of a few troops a few miles into a neighboring territory to resist an oil monopoly which they enjoy. And if American foreign policy is resist an oil monopoly which they enjoy. And if American foreign policy is made the scapegoat for such imperialism it is more stupid than I thought it made the scapegoat for such imperialism it is more stupid than I thought it possible for it to be * * (p. 5).

* * Before us then is the choice, war or peace, poverty or plenty, hopelessness or hope. If this decision were left to a free choice of the people of America, lessness or hope. If this decision were left to a free choice of the people of America, lessness or hope. If this decision were left to a free choice of the people of America and friendship when one said "Amerikanski" to them, I know what the smiles and friendship when one said "Amerikanski" to them, I know what the decision would be (p. 5).

The Southern Patriot editor suggested that readers could get full copies of this "strong and brilliant" appeal from the National Council for American-Soviet Friendship—and went on to recommend the council's biweekly propaganda sheet, Report on American Soviet Relations, as presenting "many facts not ofter available in the daily press."

Relations, as presenting "many facts not ofter available in the daily press."

President Truman's foreign policy in Greece and Turkey came in for abuse at the annual meeting of the conference's Washington committee in Washington, D. C., on April 7, 1947.

J. Raymond Walsh, a "frank apologist for the Communist line" according to Prof. John H. Childs of Columbia University, speaking for the Southern Conference in Washington, flayed President Truman's foreign policy in Greece and Turkey.

Insisting that America is a "radical nation," Walsh called upon the members to "defy fear and defy the forces who made the empty tables here tonight." "Some were afraid to come," he admitted.

Entertainer at the Washington meeting was Susan Reed, employed by Cafe Society, a night club owned by Barney Josephson, brother of Leon Josephson, leading Communist, Soviet Secret Service operative, charged with passport frauds. Mrs. Leon Josephson also owns an interest in this enterprise. Barney Josephson has been a supporter of the New York branch of the Southern Conference.

Conference President Clark Foreman, as toastmaster at the Washington meeting, denied that "anyone is afraid of communism."

The Washington committee of the conference obtained Henry Wallace, foremost critic of President Truman's foreign policy, for a public speech in the Nation's Capital, June 16, 1947. The committee scheduled on the same program, Zero Mostel, a favorite entertainer at Communist affairs and member of the American Youth for Democracy, formerly the Young Communist League.

The Washington committee's executive secretary is Robert Ware Straus, information director for the Office of Emergency Management who tried to get an OEM job for Ruth McKenney, well-known writer for the Communist publications, the Daily Worker and New Masses. Sponsors of the Washington group include Morris and Samuel Rodman,' brothers associated with the pro-Communist Metropolitan Broadcasting Co.; and Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, a delegate to the Communist-centrolled Women's International Democratic Federation in Paris in 1945 Paris in 1945.

At the South-wide fourth biennial convention of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, held in New Orleans, November 28-30, 1946, the chief speaker devoted most of his talk to a defense of Russia 1946, the chief speaker devoted most of his talk to a defense of Russia as a "misunderstood" government which will continue to remain at peace with the United States (Washington Daily News, November 29, 1946, p. 3, and New York Daily Worker, November 30, 1946, p. 4).

In January of that year, the Southern Patriot listed a Senator who calls for a strong Germany as one of the "representatives of the South in Congress, whose abandonment of the program the people voted for in 1944 should be remembered by their constituents when they come up for reelection" (p. 7). This position is in line with the discredited Morgenthau plan which has received enthusiastic Communist support.

The stand of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare on various other issues in which the Communist Party has been primarily concerned, serves to clinch the charge that the organization is merely concerned, serves to clinch the charge that the organization is merely pliable instrument in the hands of pro-Communist wirepullers behind the scenes.

Public record fails to reveal that the conference had ever officially denounced communism or opposed Soviet policies.

The chairman of the committee for Virginia, Mr. Henry H. Fowler, The chairman of the committee for Virginia, Mr. Henry H. Fowler, after seeing the preliminary press announcement of the committee's report, requested the committee to include by any mention of his name in the report, a notation that he had resigned from all affiliations with the southern conference as of April 15, 1947, after a membership of 1 year. His letter of resignation was duly acknowledged on April 28, 1947, by James A. Dombrowski, administrator. The reason he assigned for his resignation was stated in his letter as follows:

The decisive factor in my present decision is the absence in the southern conference of any clear and positive stand against communism and the inclusion of Communists in the working organization and the unwillingness of my own State committee to initiate steps which would require a facing of this issue.

Elsewhere in his letter of resignation it appears that the State committee had rejected a resolution proposed by Mr. Fowler which expressed opposition to totalitarianism, be it Fascist or Communist, and would require each applicant for membership to assert by written pledge that he or she was not a member of the Communist Party, or the Ku Klux Klan, or any other group or organization which to his knowledge, is opposed to the purposes and ideals of the organization as stated in this pledge.

JOINT ACTIVITY WITH COMMUNIST FRONTS

The Southern Conference for Human Welfare has further revealed

The Southern Conference for Human Welfare has further revealed itself as a Communist front organization by its cooperation with other Communist-dominated front groups.

Among these groups following the lead of the Communist Party in support of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare are the University of Virginia Chapter of the American Student Union (Student Almanae, p. 44), International Labor Defense (Yearbook 1939-41, p. 25), New South (October 1938, p. 15), Workers Alliance (Daily Worker, November 21, 1938, p. 1), Labor Research Association (pamphlet, Southern Labor in Wartime, p. 22) and the American Federation of Teachers at that time under Communist control (American Teacher, December 1938, p. 7).

In recent years, cooperation has also come from these Communist controlled organizations: National Federation for Constitutional Liberties (April 4, 1946); United Office and Professional Workers of America, CIO (April 4, 1946); International Workers Order (February 1, 1947); League of Women Shoppers (September 8, 1946); United Public Workers of America, CIO (February 1, 1947); United Negro and Allied Veterans (September 8, 1946).

Samuel Neuburger, attorney for the Communist Party and for Leon Josephson, Soviet Secret Service operative charged with passport frauds, was one of the chief speakers at a mass meeting sponsored in Washington, D. C., April 4, 1946, by the local organizations of the Southern Conference, National Federation for Constitutional Liberties, and United Office and Professional Workers of America, The president of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare (Clark H. Foreman) was a member of the initiating committee of the Congress on Civil Rights, which met in Detroit, April 27-28, 1945, and which is now defending Gerhart Eisler, Comintern agent.

When the New York committee of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare held a 3-day street collection called Lend a Hand to Dixie Land September 19-21, 1946, the Communist-controlled American Labor Party of New York announced that its Bronx County clubs would held street rallies in support of the drive. (Daily Worker September 21, 1946, p. 5.)

Worker, September 21, 1946, p. 5.)

The Daily Worker of May 27, 1947, publicized with approval the stand taken on southern issues by the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, the New Jersey State secretariat of the Communist Party, Civil Rights Congress, and the Progressive Citizens of America. Activities of the Southern Conference are generally featured prominently in the Daily Worker.

It is also interesting that funds totaling $1,500 were received by the conference in 1942 from the Robert Marshall Foundation—an organical results of the results of t

zation which has donated heavily to the support of Communist front

The Southern Patriot gives publicity to activities of such other front organizations as the Southern Negro Youth Congress and the National Committee to Abolish the Poll Tax. groups

Committee to Abolish the Poll Tax.

In June 1947 the conference organ also urged readers to demand local radio station outlets for a new weekly union radio broadcast, sponsored by the Communist-controlled United Electrical, Radio, and Machine Workers of America, CIO (p. 7).

Other publications recommended to Southern Patriot readers significantly include Facts and Fascism, by George Seldes, who edits the pro-Communist gossip and scandal sheet known as In Fact. Seldes' views have received high commendation from the Soviet press. The Southern Patriot editor also has offered as reading suggestions: We Have Seen America, a collection of addresses by three Soviet journalists who toured America and bitterly criticized it, appropriately published by the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship; The Races of Mankind, a eulogy of Russia's treatment of minority groups that was condemned by the War Department; All Brave groups that was condemned by the War Department; All Brave John Beecher; and How Is Your Health? published by the Physicians Forum, a Communist front.

John Beecher; and How Is Your Health? published by the Physicians Forum, a Communist front.

The conference publication in addition has defended the book, Our Good Neighbors in Soviet Russia, which was taken off the Texas school textbook list because of its pro-Soviet bias. The Southern Patriot has printed quotations from War Department orientation fact sheet No. 64—a fact sheet so suited to the Communist cause that the International Labor Defense, legal arm of the Communist Party, had it reprinted. The War Department subsequently withdrew this pamplilet from circulation.

NEGROES

In allying themselves with the Communists and in permitting the Communists to control policy and strategic positions, the non-Communists in the Southern Conference for Human Welfare are wittingly or unwittingly promoting the following fundamental principles of the Communist Party in dealing with the Negro question:

1. The Communists are not interested in the long-range welfare of the Negro. They are interested rather in using the issue as explosive and revolutionary tinder in destroying American democracy.

2. They have placed themselves on record as favoring an indedependent Negro Soviet Republic in the southern Black Belt which in essence is a call to civil war in which the Negro population would be the unhappy victims and in which all their social gains made in recent years would be sacrificed.

DENOUNCED BY SOUTHERNERS

The pro-Communist bias of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare has been publicly attacked on several occasions. This committee formally cited the organization as a Communist front on March CIO leaders in April 1946 renounced the aid of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare in the union's southern organizational campaign, declaring: "No crowd, whether Communist, Socialists, or anybody else, is going to mix up in this organizing drive" (Baltimore Sun, April 19, 1946, p. 17).

The Daily Worker quickly sprang to the defense of the conference and denounced the CIO for a "red baiting" attack (Daily Worker, April 20, 1946, p. 5)

April 20, 1946, p. 5).

The Young Men's Business Club of New Orleans adopted the following resolution on November 14, 1946:

Be it resolved, That the Young Men's Business Club of New Orleans go on record as being opposed to the activities of the organization known as the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, that the press and city officials be notified that many of the national officers of this group have definite communistic tendencies.

INTERLOCKING WITH COMMUNIST CAUSES

One could reasonably conceive of a group of individuals motivated by a desire to form an organization to promote human welfare in the South and with no trace of Communist sympathy or affiliation. One could even conceive of a group of well-intentioned but non-Communist individuals being enticed by camouflaged Communists into an enterprise strictly limited to this humanitarian cause. In the light of the fact that a significant number of the leading lights of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare are associated with organizations or campaigns for the defense of the Communist Party or individual Communist, or with organizations defending the Soviet Union, or its policies—issues which have nothing to do with the South—one is forced to the conclusion that, by and large, the common bond among its supporters is a certain degree of sympathy for the Soviet Union and/or the Communist Party, rather than any primary interest in human welfare in the South. One is further forced to conclude that the professed interest in southern welfare is simply an expedient for larger aims serving the Soviet Union and its subservient Communist Party in the United States.

Conclusion

The Southern Conference for Human Welfare is perhaps the most deviously camouflaged Communist-front organization. When put to the following acid test it reveals its true character:

1. It shows unswerving loyalty to the basic principles of Soviet foreign policy.

2. It has consistently refused to take sharp issue with the activities and policies of either the Communist Party, USA, or the Soviet Union.

Union.
3. It has maintained in decisive posts persons who have the confidence of the Communist press.
4. It has displayed consistent anti-American bias and pro-Soviet bias, despite professions, in generalities, of love for America.

By memorandum dated February 7, 1953, Assistant to the Director L. B. Nichols advised: 'In Mr. Baumgardner's memorandum of February 3, 1953, inquiry was made as to how the Bureau may use copies of correspondence addressed to Senator McCarthy. I wish to advise that I have specifically raised this problem with Don Surine of Senator McCarthy's Office.

"Surine states that we are authorized to use this material any way we see fit and to say that the material had been referred to the Bureau by Senator McCarthy to disseminate and to conduct any investigation that is suggested by the facts. I told Surine we would do this and to avoid making inquiry in each instance, I inquired whether we could assume that this applied to anything else he might furnish us unless he specifically put a restriction on it. He stated that we could so assume and if there was anything they did not want known came from them, they would so advise us. However, Surine did state with reference to the dissemination of such letters to other Government agencies, that we not show the Senator's Office as the source but carry the source as "of unknown reliability." Surine further stated that we should use good judgment in all the letters. For example, if a writer asked the Senator to keep confidential the source of the information, we, likewise, should keep confidential the source of information and should it be necessary to interview the original complainant, we should not divulge that Senator Mc Carthy's Office has furnished man Aborn us the information."

Senator Joseph McCarthy United States Senate Washington, D. C.

REC'D DEC 8 1952

Dear Senator:

In reading the Times-Herald some time ago, I saw that a Neil J. Staebler, Chairman of the Michigan Democratic Committee complained that there were "irregularities" by Representive Potter in defeating Senator Blair Moody.

Unless there are two men of the same name in Michigan, this is the same Mil J. Staebler under whom I served for several months in 1942-1943, when he was Head of the Building Materials Division of the Office of Price Administration in Weshington, D. C.

Here is the information given to me st that time.

Neil J. Staebler had never had a job in his life. He had, however, been on his father's payroll at $300.00 per month. His father had a string of gas stations in Michigan as I recall it. Neil had gone to the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor for some nine (9) years, studying various sociological courses, advanced economics, etc, after graduation and lecturing occasionally at the University.

It was alleged (and never contradicted) that he was "Head of the Communist Farty in Ann Arbor".

While with the O. P. A., he associated with the extreme left wing element. One of his specialties was promoting "discussion groups" in his home. I was belatedly invited to one but failed to attend. However, I was told that the subjects talked about were with a distinct Communistic slant.

To help verify that this man is the seme, he was suddenly commissioned a lieutenant in the United States Navy in 1943 when the draft board was about to induct him as a private. From that date, I lost grack of him until seeing his name in the Times-Rerald.

Since it was popular to be a Communist and/or extremely left wing in the O. P. A. during its existence. I have no doubt that Mr. Staebler qualified handsomely. Needless to say, he knew nothing about building materials.

I pass this on to you for what it is worth and for use as you see fit.

Dear Senator McCarthy,

I am enclosing herewith a clipping from the L.A. Daily News -- an article by Senator Margaret Chase Smith -- which I feel needs some very thorough analysis and a vigorous reply in the public press. The attempt to smear the patriotic groups with the implication of "fascism" and the accusation that those who have resented the heavy Jewish percentage among communists are now "fellow-travellers", is more than a decent minded American can stomach!

We had had a warning that the leftwing would attempt this kind of smear for purposes which are clearer to themselves than they can possibly be to people with honest minds. The entire Czech "grand-stand play" is much too obvious and contrived to be convincing. It is evident that the "Master-Writers" are now at work trying to form the public mind into their own pattern of propaganda. Smith, Hans Habe, even Sokolsky, have taken their cue from a central office and are doing their utmost to prove that the evil-doers are but innocent victims.

I would like to answer Mrs. M.C.S., but in order to do so I must have a full report on her voting record in the Senate and in the House. Would it be possible for you to obtain this for me? It is my impression that she has travelled consistently with some pretty flagrant left-wing policies, but I would like to be sure.

My rebuttal to her accusations is that in fact, all those who have travelled leftward and Stalinward are now the real "anti-semites" and should be recognized as such. That would include herself.

The "lady" certainly doth protest too

With devoted admiration always;

Dec. 14, 1952

Benator Joseph McCarthy Senate Office Bldg. Washington, D.C.

Dear Senator McCarthy:

The shocking assassination of the hysterical citizen in New York City for refusing to go into the bomb shelter has an implication which should certainly not be overlooked by our good Senators and Congressmen.

It has been common knowledge that a very insidious military machine has been slowly set up under the guise of "civil defense", and the shooting of Flores in New York gives an indication of how ruthless its operation can be.

I am writing to you about this because you are one of the few men in the Senate we can absolutely trust to see things as they are and take action that is uncompromisingly honest and American.

The New York incident has frightened those of us who have been aware of what Mrs. Rosenterg has been building up during her tenure of office. The Huntington Park take-over by the "Military Goverment" forces here in California was a similar demonstration of "Our Growing Prussian Staff" at work.

If a man refused to conform to the drill, for reasons which he had every right to express as an American citizen, was it necessary to shoot him down? Even if he had a lethal weapon, which meant that he had lost his head, perhaps, and was not responsible -- could he not have been overcome with tear gas and taken into custody? This shooting down of a man in a "bombing drill" is like killing a child because it becomes hysterical in a fire-drill. It is much more serious than it may seem on the surface.

Please do something! We are growing desperate with anxiety for our country.

WASHINGTON.—Perhaps the most interesting development in the Czech Communist "trial"—and I put the word "trial" in quotes because such a proceeding in a Com-munist country should not be confused with the fine sense of the word we hold here under our American system of justice —is not in the paetic justice that came to these formerly trusted slaves SMITH of Stalin and the highest-ranking Communists of Czechoslovakia but rather in the fact that for the first time openly the Communist party line has embraced anti-Semit-

What a blow this must be to the anti-Semites—the Jew hatthe anti-Semites—the Jew haters and Jew balters throughout the world, who have masked their evil intent under false claims of patriotism. They are now practicing the Communist Party line in preaching hatred against and persecution of Jews. They are now, in effect, fellow travelers. They are now vulnerable to the accusations of acting like Communist-front organizations.

The anti-Jewish fone of the

The anti-Jewish fone of the "trial" in Prague was heavy

There was no attempt to cover it up. It came out blatantly in the open. Eleven of the 14 sentenced are Jews and the crime they were convicted of was "Zionism." They were charged with a vast "Jewish conspiracy" to make Czechoslovakia a "capitalistic tool" of the western "im-to make Czechoslovakia a "capitalistic tool" of the western "imperialists" and of conspiring to bring about Anglo-American domination of the whole world. It should now be crystal clear to even the most cynical that there is really no basic difference between those two foremost forms of totalitarianism—communism—and fascism. It most forms of totalitarianism—communism and fascism. It should be crystal clear that both Stalin and Hitler have had the same basic desire and objective and that they have used much the same tactics.

It should be clear to all people now that totalitarianism whether it be communism, fascism or nazism, is completely whether it be communism, fas-clsm or nazism, is completely cannibalistic. It should be crystal clear that communism can lead only to self-destruction. First, it destroys the soul and dignity of the individual man-the moral, spiritual and mental side of life. The Czech "trial" should make it clear that ulti-mately communism wreaks mately communism wreaks physical destruction of the inwreaks dividual man.

There is a great need for millions of Americans to wake up to this danger. We should profit by what we still read in a free press of the ghastly things that are happening in countries behind the Iron Curtain, and under the heel of Stalin.

But there is equally a great need for multions of Americans to wake up to the danger of fascism in this country. It is growing. It is just as dangercommunism - puthaps ous as even more dangerous because fewer people have been alterted to its danger.

There is no real difference between the two If you are on extremist on the left you call those who challenge you Fascists. If you are on extremist on the historical those who on the right you call those who

Hitler and the Fascists and Nazis whipped up circlical frenzies in Germany and Haly against the Jews just to further their own evil desires for power. Little Hitlerites are doing the same thing in this country now. The Czech "trial" slices that they are now joined by the Communists in the basic policy of Jew-baiting.

Of the eleven men hanged in Prague's Pankrac prison eight were Jews. While Rudolf Slansky, Otto Fischl, Andre Simone and other former Czech Communist officials strummed off-the-usual confessions and self-accusations, in neighboring Hungary the government dispensed with even the formality of a trial. There, five military men were simply executed in the courtyard of the Buda Military Prison. Two of them—Major Laszlo Balint and his brother Gyoergy—were also Jews.

It is hard to believe that this is pure coincidence. What then prompts the Soviets to follow in the anti-Semitic footsteps of Adolf Hitler, whom they had fought to valiantly and whom they now so slavishly imitate? whom they had fought so ter-revolutionary"

First, there is the widely over-looked resemblance between Com-nunists and Fascists—they both the intellectuals. Dictatorship and totalitarianism in all counand totalitarianism in all countries are based, in part, on the twin assumption that people are stupid and can be kept that way. While in the Western world intellectualism is by no means either a Jewish characteristic or privilege, in Eastern Europe the intelligentzia was primarily Jewish.

Although the Jews in countries like Hungary and Czechoslovakia were the first to salute the Russians, who had liberated them from the gas-chambers of Hitler; they were also the first to realize that the Red lerror and the Brown terror were closely related.

that the Red Ierror and the Brown terror were closely related. Soviet anti-Semiliam, like Hiller's, represents the know-nothing fight against the thinking man.
Second, the Jews of Eastern Europe in their majority belonged to the middle class. If communism would merely be a struggle against the rich, it would have ter-revolutionary" ideas but of Zionism as well. According to Karl Marx and his followers from Lenin to Stalin, Communist world revolution is a medicine which not only heals the wounds suffered in the fight of classes but any and all wounds of society. The ideological charlatanism of communism, like medical quackery, prescribes one dose for all ills. The Zionist claim that the Jewish problem is solved by the establishment of a natural home subvents the Marxist idea that no problem can be solved without communism and that, by implication, the Soviet world solves all problems anyhow.

Sixth, the Zionists have always problems anyhow.

Sixth, the Zionists have always been a great disappointment to the Sovicis. The fact that Russian prices and big land owners fled from Soviet Russia in the '19-'20s is a well known and much publicized fact. The Jews, not having as excellent a publicity machinnery as the "White Russians," are less known as exilea. It is, however, a fact that innumerable Jews were involved in the Karensky-government, and Karensky - government, Fourth, the longing of the Jews for the promised land constitutes a serious problem for the satellite governments. From the 150,000 Jews living in Hungary 135,000 have applied for permission to communism is directed against the "hittle man," the individual and the individualist. Anti-Semitism, as preached by Stalin's satellites at the moment, is not racial: under the mask of persecuting the Jews it oppresses all those who represent a non-proletarian form of living.

Third, the Communists have, under the flag of the Third Internationalism. Here, too, the similarity perfected the perioding, the Soviet Union has rutally sabotaged the UN; compared with them our own sabotaged the UN; compared with the them our own sabotaged the UN; compared with the ica, France and Great Britain.

Although these reasons might in themselves sufficiently explain Jewish persecution in Soviet-governed countries, the eighth and last reason is the most cogent. We must realize that anti-Semitism has always been a matter of expediency. Slumbering feelings of intolerance and prejudice are invariably awakened when a government believes that it can attain political advantages by attacking the Jews. Even Hitler's anti-Semitism was originally a means to full to sleep the questions about economic depression; later it was used as a sort of "Esperanto." a common language of the reactionaries of Europe.

At this moment, East and West fire competing for the favor of Araba. The traditions of democracy of decency and considerations for their Jewish electors prevent countries like America or England from supporting this courtabile through persecution of Jews at home. The Communists have neither decency nor elections. Even the official mouthpiece of Egypt's General Mohammed Naguib, otherwise anti-Communist, published last week a most favorable editorial analyzing the Pragua trials. This, then, is exactly what the Soviets are aiming for. Or to put it as bluntly as it is cruel: Hitler made soap from the bodies of murdered Jews. Stalin, more subtle but not less eynical, will pump oil from their blood.

There is one thing we are very corry for. We are not able to sign this letter with our names. There are reasons to believe that, besides the Russian consurchip in Eastern Austria, therefore has certain consurship activities secretly going on in the American fone, and we would not like being subjected to questions from the eart of the American CIC operating in Austria, this CIC - which overrules everything and everybody including the US Ambarcador here - being another example of what you would call the "built in the chinas hop".

By memorandum dated February 7, 1953, Assistant to the Director L. B. Nichols advised: 'In Mr. Baumgardner's memorandum of February 3, 1953, inquiry was made as to how the Bureau may use copies of correspondence addressed to Senator McCarthy. I wish to advise that I have specifically raised this problem with Don Surine of Senator McCarthy's Office.

"Surine states that we are authorized to use this material any way we see fit and to say that the material had been referred to the Bureau by Senator McCarthy to disseminate and to conduct any investigation that is suggested by the facts. I told Surine we would do this and to avoid making inquiry in each instance, I inquired whether we could assume that this applied to anything else he might furnish us unless he specifically put a restriction on it. He stated that we could so assume and if there was anything they did not want known came from them, they would so advise use However, Surine did state with reference to the dissemination of such letters to other Government agencies, that we not show the Senator's Office as the source but carry the source as "of unknown reliability." Surine further stated that we should use good judgment in all the letters. For example, if a writer asked the Senator to keep confidential the source of the information, we, likewise, should keep confidential the source of information and should it be necessary to interview the original complainant, we should not divulge that Senator Mc Carthy's Office has furnished us the information."

Hon. William Mc Carthy, U.D. Senate, Washington, D.C.

Dear Senator:

I uncerstand that the State Department has a practise of letting out contracts for investigating applicants for passports or for other reasons. One of the organizations enjoying this "nice" racket (and which has eften been criticized because it has been accused of partiality in its credit reporting), is Greater New York Credit Clearing Eureau of 350 West 4th Street, N.Y. I do not know just what their fee is for investigating this or that applicant, or other service rendered, but it appears to me that certainly the FLI or State Department agents in each city have facilities for checking. I care across this bit of information in a very odd way. I happened to question the accuracy of a certain report issued in connection with a matter, and incidentally, stated that I had returned from European trip. I was then told that their organization made a good profit checking for State. If this is so, and there must be innumerable other such agencies throughout the country, it would appear to me that this might properly be the subject of inquiry, Subsequently, I addressed an inquiry to the Bureau asking for specified in companion which must blumbuled. I now feel that it is your tun
