Withdrawal of Proposed Guidelines on African Elephant Sport-hunted Trophy Permits

AGENCY: Fish and Wildlife Service, Interior.

ACTION: Notice of withdrawal of proposed guidelines.

SUMMARY: The Fish and Wildlife Service (Service) announces the withdrawal of the proposed guidelines for the issuance of Scientific Authority advice on permit applications under the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species on Wild Fauna and Flora (CITES) for the import of sport-hunted African elephant trophies.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

At the seventh meeting of the CITES Conference of the Parties, held on October 9–20, 1989, the Party nations voted to transfer the African elephant from Appendix II to Appendix I, and this action became effective on January 18, 1990. As a result of this action, Appendix I import permits for the importation of the sport-hunted African elephant trophies are required under CITES.

Under CITES, Appendix I import permits can be issued if the Scientific Authority of the importing country has advised the Management Authority of the importing country that the import will be for purposes not detrimental to the survival of the species. Additional guidance for issuance of such advice was provided by CITES resolution Conf. 2.11 on "Trade in Hunting Trophies of Species Listed in Appendix I," which had been adopted at the second meeting of the Conference of the Parties in 1979. Paragraph c of that resolution called for the Scientific Authority to conduct a "comprehensive examination concerning the question of whether the importation is serving a purpose which is not detrimental to the survival of the species," including whether the killing of the animals whose trophies are intended for import would enhance the survival of the species.

In reviewing permit applications for the importation of sport-hunted African elephant trophies, the Service believes that the populations to be hunted should be of sufficient size and stability to allow for the projected off-take and that the country's management and enforcement authorities should have the ability to ensure adequate management of the species. In addition, the Service has considered whether the activity associated with the importation would enhance the survival of the elephant. For these reasons, the Service developed internal guidelines that described all of the factors that might be considered in issuing a Scientific Authority advice, especially if the expected off-take approached the maximum allowable to sustain a population. One aspect of the guidelines called for clear evidence that the sport hunting activities enhance the survival of the species.

In response to the Service's use of these guidelines, Safari Club International filed suit challenging the procedure and substantive adequacy of the guidelines, see Safari Club International v. Lujan, Civ. No. 91–2523 (D.D.C., filed Oct. 8, 1991). As a consequence, the Service voluntarily sought public review and comments on its guidelines through a February 9, 1993, Federal Register notice of proposed guidelines (58 FR 7813).

The U.S. Scientific Authority has issued general "non-detriment" advices covering African elephant trophies lawfully taken in South Africa and Zimbabwe and has issued "nondetriment" advices for trophies taken in
