

inhabited by this species are not uniform; several habitat types are distinguishable. The species inhabits primary dunes, interdune areas, secondary dunes, and scrub dunes. The depth and area of these habitats from the beach inland varies. Population surveys indicate that this subspecies is usually more abundant in primary dunes than in secondary dunes, and usually more abundant in secondary dunes than in scrub dunes. Optimal habitat consists of dune systems with all dune types. Though fewer ABM inhabit scrub dunes, these high dunes can serve as refugia during devastating hurricanes that overwash, flood, and destroy or alter secondary and frontal dunes. ABM surveys on the Applicant's property reveal habitat occupied by ABM. The Applicant's property contains designated critical habitat for the ABM. Construction of the project may result in the death of, or injury to, ABM. Habitat alterations due to house placement and its subsequent use may reduce available habitat for food, shelter, and reproduction. Further, the Applicant's property borders the BSNWR, and is considered Priority I lands for inclusion into the Perdue Unit (of BSNWR).

The Environmental Assessment considers the environmental consequences of several alternatives. One action proposed is the issuance of the incidental take permit. This alternative provides for restrictions that include placing landward of the designated ABM critical habitat, establishment of a walkover structure across that scrub dune, a prohibition against housing or keeping pet cats, ABM competitor control and monitoring measures, scavenger-proof garbage containers, restoration of dune systems impacted by the construction, creation of a mitigation endowment for offsite acquisition of suitable ABM habitat, and the minimization and control of outdoor lighting. The Habitat Conservation Plan provides a funding source for these mitigation measures. Another alternative is Service acquisition of the property for inclusion into the BSNWR. A third alternative is no-action, or deny the request for authorization to incidentally take the ABM.
