regulations. The Guides also describe certain conduct that may, in some instances, violate Sections 2 (a), (b), (c) and (d) of the Clayton Act. In addition, to the extent that certain conduct described by the Guides may substantially lessen competition in a properly defined antitrust market, it may violate Section 5 of the FTC Act. To the extent such conduct may tend to create a monopoly, it may also violate Section 2 of the Sherman Act. The conduct described by the Guides must be examined on a case-by-case basis to determine whether an applicable provision of law has been violated. Furthermore, in some instances, the Guides do not accurately represent current Commission policy and enforcement standards. Accordingly, the Commission has determined to repeal the Guides.

28 CFR Part 2

Paroling, Recommitting, and Supervising Federal Prisoners: Fraud Offenses That Involve Multiple Millions of Dollars in Losses

AGENCY: United States Parole

Commission. ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The U.S. Parole Commission is establishing a dollar amount range of $1 million to $5 million for Category Six fraud offenses in the paroling policy guidelines at 28 CFR 2.20. Frauds that cause losses of over $5 million will be rated Category Seven. At the present time, the Category Six offense severity rating is assigned to all frauds exceeding $1 million. In some cases, decisions above the Category Six guidelines are found warranted because the dollar losses greatly exceed those associated with ordinary cases of theft/forgery/ fraud that are rated Category Six. The conversion of the open-ended dollar criterion for Category Six offenses into a range of $1 million to $5 million will provide the Commission with an appropriate benchmark to determine when dollar amount losses are so excessive as to require the offender to serve more prison time than indicated by the guidelines. This will permit increased consistency in the Commission's decisionmaking. EFFECTIVE DATE: October 2, 1995.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Public comment was solicited by publication of a proposed rule at 60 FR 18379 (April 11, 1995). Some public comment argued that the guidelines of the U.S. Sentencing Commission are significantly less severe for theft, forgery, and fraud offenses committed on or after November 1, 1987. (The U.S. Parole Commission's jurisdiction is limited to offenders whose crimes were committed prior to November 1, 1987. See Section 235 of the Sentencing Reform Act of 1984, which appears as an Editorial Note to 18 U.S.C. 3551.) According to this comment, the revision of the guidelines is a step in the right direction, but has the effect of creating two classes of accountability from the same government, because significantly larger dollar amounts would be required for the sentencing guidelines to match those of the U.S. Parole Commission.

The Commission has compared the operation of its guidelines for theft, forgery, and fraud cases with those of the U.S. Sentencing Commission, as applied in actual practice. The conclusion is that the guideline ranges are, contrary to the public comment, roughly equivalent. This is because the parole guideline ranges are determined solely by reference to the dollar amount, whereas the sentencing guidelines begin with dollar amount but require upward adjustments for such typical aggravating factors (in large-scale white collar crimes) as "organizer or leader", multiple victims, multiple counts, and refusal to accept responsibility. Frauds that cause losses of $1 million or more usually involve some degree of organizational leadership, multiplicity of schemes and victims, efforts to deny responsibility, etc., sufficient to produce several upward adjustments. In this manner, the total offense level produces a guideline range, in most cases, equal to or greater than the parole guidelines. For example, a conviction-offense fraud of $750,000 with upward adjustments reflecting persistent fraudulent investment schemes by an unrepentant first offender can produce a sentencing guideline range of 46–57 months, which is greater than the corresponding parole guideline, even if the Parole Commission includes additional losses exceeding $1 million (40–52 months).

Accordingly, the Commission decided to adopt its original proposal to set a range of $1 million to $5 million for Category Six offenses, and to rate fraud offenses exceeding $5 million in Category Seven.

The Commission intends that the practical effect of this guideline revision will be to preclude decisions above the Category Six guidelines when the relevant dollar amount does not exceed $5 million, except when non-monetary factors in aggravation (e.g., unusually vulnerable victims) warrant a decision above the guideline range in individual cases. The Category Seven rating will, for the most part, include cases in which above-guideline decisions would otherwise have been expected.

Finally, the Commission decided to adopt conforming amendments to the other offense examples listed in the guidelines that are rated by dollar amount (i.e., property destruction, counterfeit currency, antitrust offenses, insider trading, tax evasion, and currency offenses).

Implementation

The revised guidelines will be applied at any initial parole hearing or revocation hearing conducted on or after the effective date set forth above. The revised guideline will also be applied retroactively to prisoners who were given parole or reparole decisions prior to that effective date, at the next statutory interim hearing conducted pursuant to 28 CFR 2.14, provided that application of the revised guideline results in a decision more favorable to the prisoner. For example, at a statutory interim hearing, a prisoner who was continued above the Category Six guidelines for a $4 million fraud offense could argue for a release date within the Category Six guidelines if he can show that no other factor continues to justify a departure from the guideline range.

Executive Order 12866 and Regulatory Flexibility Statement
