INTERNATIONAL HEADLINES: The U.S. and the Soviet Union achieve a nuclear test ban treaty. South Vietnamese President Diem is overthrown after months of Buddhist protests; by year's end more than 100 Americans have died in Vietnam. Britain's ruling Tories are rocked by the Profumo call-girl scandal. Pope John XXIII dies at 81, months after he convened the Second Vatican Council, which will dramatically modernize Catholic policies and practices.

NATIONAL HEADLINES: President John F. Kennedy is assassinated in Dallas. Vice President Lyndon Johnson takes over as the new president. More than 200,000 people take part in the civil rights march on Washington, D.C., climaxed by Martin Luther King's famous I Have A Dream speech; violent police tactics and a church bombing in Birmingham strengthen national sentiments for civil rights. Gordon Cooper makes America's longest spaceflight yet, 22 orbits of the earth.

TRENDS: For the first time, a majority of college-age Americans are enrolled in colleges or universities. Polaroid introduces 60-second color prints. Playboy magazine, at its peak as a symbol of The Good Life, tops two million in circulation.

FADS AND FASHION: The growing national popularity of parachuting is symbolized by the action TV series Ripcord, which becomes the hottest syndicated series since Superman.

SPORTS: Sandy Koufax leads the Los Angeles Dodgers to World Series victory over the New York Yankees. The Chicago Bears top the New York Giants for the NFL championship. Gordie Howe, professional hockey's most enduring star, wins his second scoring title and Most Valuable Player award.

MOVIES: The most expensive film ever made, Cleopatra (starring Elizabeth Taylor), is the year's top box-office hit but still ends up losing millions. The top Oscar winners are Tom Jones, and best actor Sidney Poitier in Lilies Of The Field. Ian Fleming's Agent 007, James Bond, comes to the screen in the person of Sean Connery in Dr. No. Other box office hits are It's A Mad Mad Mad Mad World and Irma La Douce.

TELEVISION: CBS and NBC expand their nightly news telecasts to 30 minutes. The fall's most popular series are The Beverly Hillbillies, Bonanza, The Dick Van Dyke Show, Petticoat Junction, and The Andy Griffith Show.

THEATER: Neil Simon's Barefoot In The Park is the year's comedy hit.

BOOKS: Happiness Is A Warm Puppy is a #1 best seller, signifying the popularity of Charles Schultz' Peanuts comic strip characters. Betty Friedan's influential The Feminine Mystique will become a symbol of the women's movement.
