The Book They Can't Refute

Published by Charles Darwin Research Inst. Hardcover, 358 pp., $16.00 postage paid.

his book lays to rest the fashionable view that race is only a social construct. Prof. Philippe Rushton, a top academic at the University of Western Ontario, has written the classic work on the systematic differences between whites, blacks, and Asians. The races differ not only in average intelligence—as Prof. Rushton explains in detail—but also in rates of maturation, criminality, brain size, and a host of other variables. Prof. Rushton offers a brilliant theory to explain these differences in this indispensable introduction to the most explosive issue of our time.

Experts' praise for a pioneering work:

"This brilliant book is the most impressive theory-based study . . . of the major racial groups that I have encountered in the world literature on the subject."

– Arthur Jensen, U.C. Berkeley

"Should, if there is any justice, receive a Nobel Prize."

- Richard Lynn, University of Ulster

"The only acceptable explanation of race differences in behavior allowed in public discourse is an entirely environmental one . . . . Professor Rushton deserves our gratitude for having the courage to declare that 'this emperor has no clothes.' "

- Thomas Bouchard, U. of Minnesota

"Perhaps there ultimately will be some serious contribution from the traditional smokeand-mirrors social science treatment of IQ, but for now Rushton's framework is essentially the only game in town."

- Henry Harpending, U. of Utah

"Anyone who wants to understand the world as it is, and to base policy on facts rather than on fantasies, must read this very important book."

– Jared Taylor, American Renaissance
