Massimiliano,

Good morning from a sunny UK.

- 1) Those possibly attending will come from Met Police, Home Office, Security Services, HMRC, (Customs and Excise) Serious and Organised Crime Agency and various other law enforcement and government agencies. It is anticipated that there will be around 25-40 people attending. The audience will consist of decision makers and more importantly technical people who will understand the product you are demonstrating.
- 2) The event will take place at a Metropolitan Police premises, Cobalt Square, 1 South Lambeth Road London SW8 1SU. The nearest underground station is Vauxhall on the Victoria line (light blue on the map). Vauxhall also has an over ground railway station. It is anticipated that you will need to be there around 12.30pm to enable you enough time to set up your presentation, the whole afternoon has been set aside for you.
- 3) I confirmed yesterday that there will be an internet connection not linked through the building system, it will be a direct connection for you. I will make sure that there is a projector meeting your requirements available for your use, will you be plugging a laptop into it?

To enable entry to the building and for security I will need the full details of those who will be coming from your company.

I will ask around to see what hotels might have a good rate.
