

Matthew Keys @MatthewKeysLive

22 Oct

My former manager was able to gain access to my Facebook page by improperly accessing my email without my permission from a work computer.

@MatthewKeysLive Did you leave your PC unlocked while you were away?

ExpandMatthew Keys @MatthewKeysLive

22 Oct

@WTWV No. The computer was turned off before I left for the day. Either way, it wouldn't matter.

@MatthewKeysLive How did you find out?

ExpandMatthew Keys @MatthewKeysLive

22 Oct

@ksavje I found out after @bmmercerc changed the password on my account. I wasn't able to access my page, and couldn't access my email.

The irony is not lost on me that a Tribune manager committed a computer crime, and then two months later accused me of doing the same.

At the time, I felt it was a gross violation of my privacy. Now, I understand it was also a violation of federal law.
