CYCLOPEDIA

OF

LAW AND PROCEDURE

WILLIAM MACK
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

VOLUME XIV

NEW YORK
THE AMERICAN LAW BOOK COMPANY
LONDON: BUTTERWORTH & CO., 12 BELL YARD
1904

J. B. LYON COMPANY
PRINTERS AND BINDERS
ALBANY, N. Y.

TABLE OF TITLES, EDITORS, AND CONTRIBUTORS

CITE THIS VOLUME

14 Cyc.

FOLLOWED BY PAGE.

DESCENT AND DISTRIBUTION

By George F. Tucker*

*Lecturer on International Law in Boston University School of Law; sometime reporter of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts; joint author of "Notes on the Revised Statutes of the United States"; author of "Attorney and Client," 4 Cyc. 889; "Constitutional Law," 8 Cyc. 695; "The Monroe Doctrine," etc.

CROSS-REFERENCES

For Matters Relating to:

Abatement of Action by Death, see ABATEMENT AND REVIVAL.

Absentee, see ABSENTEES.

Accounting by Personal Representative, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

For Matters Relating to — (continued)
Action:
By or Against Personal Representative, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
For Causing Death of Intestate, see DEATH.
For Specific Performance of Contract With Ancestor, see SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE.
Heir or Distributee as Party to Actions Against Administrator or Executor, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
On Administration Bond, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Relating to Community Property, see HUSBAND AND WIFE.
To Foreclose Mortgage, see MORTGAGES.
To Recover Land Sold by Administrator, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
To Set Aside Sales by Administrator, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Ademption, see WILLS.
Administrator and Administration, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Adopted Child, see ADOPTION OF CHILDREN.
Adverse Possession By and Against Heirs, see ADVERSE POSSESSION.
Agreement to Devise or Bequeath, see WILLS.
Aliens, see ALIENS; TREATIES.
Allowance:
Of Claim Against Estate, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
To Surviving Spouse and Children, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Ancillary Administration, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Appeal and Writ of Error, see APPEAL AND ERROR.
Appointment of Administrator, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Assets of Estate, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Authority of Administrator, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Bankruptcy, see BANKRUPTCY.
Bastard, see BASTARDS.
Bequest and Devise, see WILLS.
Claims Against Estate, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Community Property, see HUSBAND AND WIFE.
Compensation For Improvements Made by Ancestor, see IMPROVEMENTS.
Contract to Devise or Bequeath, see WILLS.
Conversion of Realty Into Personalty, see CONVERSION.
Covenant Running With Land, see COVENANTS.
Curtesy, see CURTESY.
Debts of Estate, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Devise and Legacy, see WILLS.
Devisees and Legatees, see WILLS.
Distribution and Settlement of Insolvent Estates, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Dower, see DOWER.
Election to Take Under or Renounce Will, see WILLS.
Entireties, see HUSBAND AND WIFE.
Escheat to State, see ESCHEAT.
Estate by Entireties, see HUSBAND AND WIFE.
Estoppel, see ESTOPPEL.
Executor, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Exempt Property, see EXEMPTIONS; HOMESTEADS.
Foreign and Ancillary Administration, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Funeral Expenses, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Guardian and Ward, see GUARDIAN AND WARD.
Heirs and Distributees as Parties to Proceedings to Enforce Liabilities Against Estate, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

For Matters Relating to — (continued)
Homestead Exemption, see HOMESTEADS.
Illegitimate Child, see BASTARDS.
Improvement, see IMPROVEMENTS.
Inheritance By, From, and Through:
Adopted Child, see ADOPTION OF CHILDREN.
Alien, see ALIENS; TREATIES.
Bastard, see BASTARDS.
Indian, see INDIANS.
Inheritance Taxes, see TAXATION.
Injunction Against Use of Decedent's Name, see PARTNERSHIP.
Internal Revenue Tax, see INTERNAL REVENUE.
Joint Tenancy, see JOINT TENANCY.
Lapsed Legacy, see WILLS.
Legacy and Devise, see WILLS.
Legacy Tax, see TAXATION.
Legatee and Devisee, see WILLS.
Letters of Administration, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Liability of Devisees on Covenants of Ancestor, see WILLS.
Paraphernalia, see HUSBAND AND WIFE.
Partition, see PARTITION.
Partnership Property on Death of Partner, see PARTNERSHIP.
Payment of Debts of Estate, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Possession and Control by Personal Representatives in General, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Proceedings:
For Payment or Distribution, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
On Death of Party, see ABATEMENT AND REVIVAL; APPEAL AND ERROR.
Property Constituting Assets of Estate, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Quarantine, see HUSBAND AND WIFE.
Revival of Action on Death of Party, see ABATEMENT AND REVIVAL.
Rights and Liabilities of Devisees and Legatees, see WILLS.
Sales by Executor or Administrator, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Settlement of Estates, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Specific Performance by Heirs of Contracts of Ancestor, see SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE.
Statutory Allowances, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Substitution of Parties on Death, see ABATEMENT AND REVIVAL; APPEAL AND ERROR.
Surety's Right to Contribution as Against Heirs of Cosurety, see PRINCIPAL AND SURETY.
Surplus Arising From Sale of Lands by Order of Court, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Survival of Action on Death of Party, see ABATEMENT AND REVIVAL.
Tacking Heir's Possession to Ancestor's, see ADVERSE POSSESSION.
Taxes, see TAXATION.
Tenancy in Common, see TENANCY IN COMMON.
Testamentary Succession, see WILLS.
Title and Authority of Administrator in General, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Treaties Affecting Descent and Distribution, see TREATIES.
Void Devise or Bequest, see WILLS.
Widow's Allowance, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Wills, see WILLS.

I. DEFINITION.

Strictly speaking descent is the devolution of real estate to, and distribution is the division of personal estate among, the heirs of an intestate; but in many jurisdictions the terms are now used interchangeably.[1]

1. Bouvier L. Dict. It was one of the principles of the feudal system that on the death of the tenant in fee the land should descend and not ascend. Hence the title by inheritance is in all cases called descent, although by statute law the title is sometimes made to ascend. Bouvier L. Dict. See 1 Woerner Adm. § 8.

"Descent," in its technical, legal meaning, applies to real estate only. It denotes the transmission of real estate or some interest therein, by inheritance or mere operation of law, on the death of the owner intestate, to some person or persons, called the heir or heirs, according to certain rules of law.

Illinois.— Hudnall v. Ham, 172 Ill. 76, 49 N. E. 985; Adams v. Akerlund, 168 Ill. 632, 640, 48 N. E. 454.

Indiana.—Rountree v. Pursell, 11 Ind. App. 522, 39 N. E. 747.

Mississippi.— Hamilton v. Homer, 46 Miss. 378, 395, quoting the language of Lord Bacon: "Property of lands by descent is where a man hath lands of inheritance and dieth, not disposing of them, but leaving it go (as the law easteth it) upon the heir. This is called a descent of law."

New Jersey.— Horner v. Webster, 33 N. J. L. 387, 400.

Ohio.— Brower v. Hunt, 18 Ohio St. 311, 338; Spangenberg v. Guiney, 3 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 163, 165, 2 Ohio N. P. 39.

Texas.— Barclay v. Cameron, 25 Tex. 232.

Virginia.— Jackson v. Sanders, 2 Leigh 109, 117.

England.— Bickley v. Bickley, L. R. 4 Eq. 216.

Canada.— Spafford v. Breckinridge, 1 U. C. C. P. 492, 502.

"Descent, or hereditary succession, is the title whereby a man, on the death of his ancestor, acquires his estate by right of representation as his heir at law." 2 Blackstone Comm. 201. See Kelly v. McGuire, 15 Ark. 555, 586; Donahue's Estate, 36 Cal. 329, 332; O'Byrne v. Feeley, 61 Ga. 77, 82; Santa Clara Female Academy v. Sullivan, 116 Ill. 375, 390, 6 N. E. 183, 56 Am. Rep. 776; Martindale v. Troop, 3 Harr. & M. (Md.) 159, 163; Van Beuren v. Dash, 30 N. Y. 393, 422; Freeman v. Allen, 17 Ohio St. 527, 531; Barclay v. Cameron, 25 Tex. 232.

"Lineal" and "collateral" descents.— "Descents are, as is well known, of two sorts; lineal, as from father or grandfather to son or grandson, and collateral, as from brother to brother, and cousin to cousin, etc." Levy v. McCartee, 6 Pet. (U. S.) 102, 112, 8 L. ed. 334. See infra, III, A, 9, 11.

"Mediate" and "immediate" descents.— See Furenes v. Mickelson, 86 Iowa 508, 511, 53 N. W. 416; Garner v. Wood, 71 Md. 37, 17 Atl. 1031; Levy v. McCartee, 6 Pet. (U. S.) 102, 112, 8 L. ed. 334; Gardner v. Collins, 2 Pet. (U. S.) 58, 89, 7 L. ed. 347. And see infra, III, A, 1, b.

"Descent" of personal property.— While in its technical sense, the term "descent" applies to the transmission of real estate only, it is often used in statutes, in its popular sense, to denote "the course of transmission, by operation of law, of both real and personal property when the owner dies intestate, or his estate or any part thereof is deemed and taken as intestate estate." Hudnall v. Ham, 172 Ill. 76, 84, 49 N. E. 985. See also Rountree v. Pursell, 11 Ind. App. 522, 39 N. E. 747.

"Single step in the scale of genealogy."— One of the meanings of the term "descent" is "a single step in the scale of genealogy or generation," and it was so construed in an English case where the custom of a manor was stated in a presentment of the homage to be that copyholds for the first descent after a surrender descended to the eldest son, and, if no surrender, to the youngest son. Bickley v. Bickley, L. R. 4 Eq. 216 [citing Johnson Dict.].

"'Alienation' differs from 'descent' in this, that 'alienation' is effected by the voluntary act of the owner of the property, while 'descent' is the legal consequence of the decease of the owner, and is not changed by any previous act or volition of the owner." Burbank v. Rockingham Mut. F. Ins. Co., 24 N. H. 550, 558, 57 Am. Dec. 300.

"Descent" is distinguished from "purchase" in that title by descent is acquired by mere operation of law, while title by purchase is acquired by the conveyance or other act of the owner. O'Byrne v. Feeley, 61 Ga. 77, 82; Allen v. Bland, 134 Ind. 78, 33 N. E. 774; Bennett v. Hibbert, 88 Iowa 154, 55 N. W. 93; Garner v. Wood, 71 Md. 37, 17 Atl. 1031; Martindale v. Troop, 3 Harr. & M. (Md.) 159, 163; Hamilton v. Homer, 46 Miss. 378, 395; Freeman v. Allen, 17 Ohio St. 527, 530; Spangenberg v. Guiney, 3 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 163, 165, 2 Ohio N. P. 39 (where it is said: "Descent is what takes place when land, or some interest in land or other realty, belonging to a person passes, on his death intestate, to some one related to him. Descent is opposed to what takes place when land, on the death of a person, passes to some one else by virtue of a gift or limitation to him as persona designata"); Starr v. Hamilton, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,314, 1 Deady 268. See also infra, II, E, 5, b; and PURCHASE.

"Descent" and "devise" or "bequest" distinguished.— Transmission of real estate by devise or of personal property by bequest under a will is distinguished from transmission by descent. Persons taking by descent

II. NATURE AND COURSE.

A. In General — 1. When Rights Vest. It is a well settled principle that the rights of heirship do not become vested until the death of the intestate, at take by mere operation of law, while persons taking by devise or bequest are regarded as taking, not by "descent," but by "purchase." Hudnall v. Ham, 172 Ill. 76, 49 N. E. 985; Allen v. Bland, 134 Ind. 78, 33 N. E. 774; Bennett v. Hibbert, 88 Iowa 154, 55 N. W. 93; Priest v. Cummings, 20 Wend. (N. Y.) 338, 349; Freeman v. Allen, 17 Ohio St. 527, 531; Starr v. Hamilton, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,314, 1 Deady 268. See also infra, II, E, 5, b; and PURCHASE; WILLS.

"Distribution," in its technical sense, denotes the division of personal assets of an intestate, after administration and the payment of all debts against the estate and expenses of the administration, among the persons entitled as heirs or next of kin. Hudnall v. Ham, 172 Ill. 76, 49 N. E. 985; Beard v. Lofton, 102 Ind. 408, 2 N. E. 129; Ales v. Plant, 61 Miss. 259, 263; Miller v. Colt, 32 N. J. Eq. 6; Thomson v. Tracy, 60 N. Y. 174. See also Chighizola v. LeBaron, 21 Ala. 405, 412. Compare Sasser v. McWilliams, 73 Ga. 678, 683. "In general, the term 'distribution,' when applied to the estate of a deceased person, refers to the ultimate division of the estate among the next of kin, in case of intestacy, or among the beneficiaries under a will, after the estate is free from debt," and does not include the payment of debts against the estate by the executor or administrator. Thomson v. Tracy, 60 N. Y. 174, 180, holding that a statute containing a restraint against "distribution" referred to the ultimate division of the residue of the personalty among the beneficiaries under a will after the payment of debts, and did not include or prohibit such payment. See also Wolf v. Griffin, 13 Ill. App. 559, 560, holding that the creditor of an estate who had recovered a judgment on his claim in the county court was not a "distributee" within the meaning of a statute.

"The 'distribution' of an estate includes the determination of the persons who by law are entitled thereto, and also the 'proportions or parts' to which each of these persons is entitled; and the 'parts' of the estate so distributed may be segregated or undivided portions of the estate." William Hill Co. v. Lawler, 116 Cal. 359, 48 Pac. 323.

"Distribution" with respect to real estate. — The term "distribution" is sometimes applied to the division among the heirs or next of kin (or devisees or legatees) of the residue of both real and personal estate. Bouvier L. Dict. [quoted in Thomson v. Tracy, 60 N. Y. 174, 181]. See Rogers v. Gillett, 56 Iowa 266, 9 N. W. 204 (holding that where, by the terms of an agreement between the heirs of a decedent, certain of the heirs were to receive an additional allowance upon final distribution of the estate, such distribution related to real as well as personal estate, and that a claim of such allowance set up in an action for the partition of the last remaining real estate of the decedent was not barred by the statute of limitations, although more than ten years had elapsed since the making of the agreement); Robinson v. Payne, 58 Miss. 690, 707 (holding that, in a statute providing that any married woman might become seized or possessed of "any property, real or personal, by direct bequest, demise, gift, purchase, or distribution, the word "distribution" applied "both to personalty and to realty derived by descent"). Ordinarily, however, the term does not apply to real estate. In Ales v. Plant, 61 Miss. 259, 263, it was said: "The word 'distribution may, as was said in Robinson v. Payne, 58 Miss. 690, be applied to realty when the context shows that it was so intended, but no accurate lawyer, choosing his words with care, would speak of any portion of the lands, which by law descend to the heirs or devisees of a decedent instantly with his death as constituting 'a surplus for distribution.' Such language in a carefully drawn code seems ex vi termini applicable to personalty only, unless the context plainly shows that they were intended to embrace realty also. There is no such context here."

"The terms 'payment' and 'distribution,' as applied to the estate of deceased persons, have their settled, distinctive meanings, and these are not destroyed by the casual application of the term distribution in other parts of the statute [relative to the settlement of decedent's estates] to the division, among creditors, of a fund raised expressly for the payment of debts." Thomson v. Tracy, 60 N. Y. 174, 181.

The words "settlement of estates of deceased persons," used in the constitution conferring probate jurisdiction on county courts, evidently refer to the adjustment of the claims and demands in favor of or against an estate. They do not necessarily include the word "distribution." In re Creighton, 12 Nebr. 280, 282, 11 N. W. 313.

"Distribution and dower are two separate and distinct things; one a lien created by law on the property of the husband at the time of the marriage, which necessarily takes precedence over all other subsequent accruing rights, and attaches to the specific property and is carved out of it. Distribution occurs after administration, and the payment of the debts; and the estate is then divided between the heirs or legatees. The widow is not entitled to any portion or distributive share after her dower has been allotted to her, for all that goes to the heirs or legatees after payment of debts, and the administrator is bound to distribute the residue in his hands." Hill v. Mitchell, 5 Ark. 608, 618 [quoted in which time they become immediately vested, the heir taking title directly from the intestate.[2]

2. Civil Death. Civil death is the state of a living person who is deprived of all his civil rights and who, as to them, is regarded as if dead.[3] Such deprivation of civil rights is imposed in some jurisdictions as a portion of the penalty for the commission of a crime and imprisonment for life therefor, and in such cases includes the right of inheritance.[4] In other jurisdictions, however, the estate of one sentenced to imprisonment for life does not descend or vest as in case of death.[5]

3. Definition of "Heir." Technically an heir, at common law, is he who is born or begotten in lawful wedlock, and upon whom the law casts the estate in lands, tenements, or hereditaments immediately upon the death of his ancestor;[6] but in most jurisdictions the term has now come to mean the person who succeeds to the estate of a deceased person, whether real or personal, and whether by operation of law or by act of the party.[7]

4. Source of Capacity to Inherit. The common-law right to inherit sprang from the obligation of fealty under the feudal system and was dependent on the Johnson v. K. of H., 53 Ark. 255, 261, 13 S. W. 794, 8 L. R. A. 732].

"Succession" and "inheritance."— "'Succession' in the civil law, denotes the transmission of the rights and obligations of a deceased person to his heir or heirs. The word 'succession' is often used synonymously with the word, 'descent.' Descent is hereditary succession to an estate in realty. 'Descent' usually applies to the devolution of real estate. The word 'inheritance,' is also often used synonymously with 'descent,' and refers to the devolution of real property. In its popular acceptation, however, the word, 'inheritance,' includes the devolution of both real and personal property, and is co-extensive in meaning with the word succession.'" Adams v. Akerlund, 168 Ill. 632, 640, 48 N. E. 454. See also Rountree v. Pursell, 11 Ind. App. 522, 39 N. E. 747 (holding that the term "inheritance" in a statute providing for transmission of property where the "inheritance" came to the intestate by "gift, devise, or descent," applied to personal property which came to the intestate by bequest); Nash v. Cutler, 16 Pick. (Mass.) 491 (holding that "inheritance" did not include an estate by devise); Fort v. West, 14 Wash. 10, 44 Pac. 104 (holding that the word "inheritance" applied to both real and personal property); Starr v. Hamilton, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,314, 1 Deady 268 (holding that "inheritance" in a constitutional provision was the "exact equivalent" of "descent" and opposed to acquisition of title by purchase, including in the latter term gift or devise).

2. Nesbit v. Trindle, 64 Ind. 183; Dean v. Sease, 8 Ind. 475; Case v. Wildridge, 4 Ind. 51 (holding that a granddaughter inheriting as heir inherits directly from the grandfather and not through her father, who had previously died); McKenzie v. Bacon, 40 La. Ann. 157, 4 So. 65; Thompson v. Thomas, 30 Miss. 152; Valentine v. Wethcrill, 31 Barb. (N. Y.) 655; Rose v. Clark, 8 Paige (N. Y.) 574. It follows that the estate of a person dying intestate will go to those who are his heirs or next of kin at the time of his death; and if one of them dies before distribution, his share will go, not to the others, but to his heirs or personal representative. See infra, IV, A, 4, e.

Vesting of title on death of intestate see infra, IV, A, 4.

Rights of expectant heirs see infra, IV, A, 1, a.

3. Bouvier L. Dict. And see Civil Death, 7 Cyc. 154.

4. In re Donnelly, 125 Cal. 417, 58 Pac. 61, 73 Am. St. Rep. 62; In re Nerac, 35 Cal. 392, 95 Am. Dec. 111; In re Scott, Myr. Prob. (Cal.) 168; State v. Reever, 97 Mo. 668, 10 S. W. 841, 10 Am. St. Rep. 349; Platner v. Sherwood, 6 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 118; Baltimore v. Chester, 53 Vt. 315, 38 Am. Rep. 677.

5. Willingham v. King, 23 Fla. 478, 2 So. 851; Smith v. Becker, 62 Kan. 541, 64 Pac. 70, 53 L. R. A. 141; Avery v. Everett, 110 N. Y. 317, 18 N. E. 148, 6 Am. St. Rep. 368, 1 L. R. A. 264; Davis v. Laning, 85 Tex. 39, 19 S. W. 846, 34 Am. St. Rep. 784, 18 L. R. A. 82.

Civil death under the common law see Platner v. Sherwood, 2 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 118; Frazer v. Fuleher, 17 Ohio 260.

6. Bouvier L. Dict. See also Meadowcroft v. Winnebago County, 181 Ill. 504, 54 N. E. 949; Maee v. Cushman, 45 Me. 250. And see Heir.

7. Kansas.— McKinney v. Stewart, 5 Kan. 284.

Louisiana.—Justus' Succession, 44 La. Ann. 721, 11 So. 95; Mumford v. Bowman, 26 La. Ann. 413.

Maine.— Maee v. Cushman, 45 Me. 250.

New Jersey.— State v. Engle, 21 N. J. L. 347.

Pennsylvania.— Crosby v. Davis, 2 Pa. L. J. Rep. 403, 4 Pa. L. J. 193, holding that it is not sufficient to constitute one an "heir" for him to be entitled to an estate of freehold in the land descended, such as dower or curtesy, but that he must take some actual interest in the inheritance.

Tennessee.— Leach v. Cooper, Cooke 249.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 3. And see Heir.

Construction of term in statute see infra, II, C, 2.

duty devolving on the natural-born subject in return for the protection supposed to be afforded to him by the sovereign.[8] The common-law rule of descent still exists, except as it has been modified by statutes, the legislature having the power to designate the particular classes of persons to inherit.[9]

5. Effect of Special Statute Naming Heir of Designated Person. The legislature has the power to grant to a person the capacity to inherit from another as his heir, giving him all the rights and privileges to which he would have been entitled as his child born in wedlock;[10] but such an act is not effectual to give him that status within the meaning of a prior will.[11] The law appears to be unsettled as to the extraterritorial effect of such a statute.[12]

6. Means of Changing Course of Descent by Diverting Property From Heirs at Law. The statutory order of descent can be defeated only by a legally executed will distributing the property and disinheriting the heirs at law either by express words or by necessary implication. The mere expression of an intention that the heirs at law shall not succeed to the estate is not sufficient.[13]

7. Rule of Descent as Dependent on Whether Property Is Personal or Real — a. In General. As in some cases property descends to different persons according as it may be real estate or personal property, it frequently becomes necessary to determine its character for the purposes of descent and distribution. As a general rule it may be stated that the character of the estate at the death of the intestate, as impressed upon it by his act, determines the course of its descent, so that when the heir and the next of kin are different persons and have adverse interests there can be no election.[14] A perpetual lease of real estate with option of purchasing at any time does not change the character of the title of the lessor or his heirs to personalty until the lessee exercises such option.[15] When an administrator completes the purchase of land contracted for by his intestate, although it is paid for out of the personal property, the heirs take it by descent from him.[16]

Surviving spouse as heir or next of kin see infra, III, B, 2.

Fiction or supposition.— The law does not make a person in the seizin or possession of land heir to another by fiction or supposition. Helm v. Howard, 2 Harr. & M. (Md.) 57.

8. Tannis v. St. Cyre, 21 Ala. 449.

9. Tannis v. St. Cyre, 21 Ala. 449; Hyde v. Planters' Bank, 8 Rob. (La.) 416. See infra, II, A, 5; II, B, 4; II, C, 3.

10. See Pace v. Klink, 51 Ga. 220, holding that the children of a person thus named heir, their father having died, took as his representatives in the distribution of the property of the person whose heir he was named. See also Walden v. Winston, 9 Leigh (Va.) 160; and infra, II, C, 3.

Vested rights see infra, II, C, 1, 3.

11. Barnum v. Barnum, 42 Md. 251.

12. In Alabama legitimation of a child in France was held ineffectual to make him an heir to property in that state. Lingen v. Lingen, 45 Ala. 410. And see to the same effect Barnum v. Barnum, 42 Md. 251; Smith v. Derr, 34 Pa. St. 126, 75 Am. Dec. 641. The contrary was held, however, in Scott v. Key, 11 La. Ann. 232. See also Bastards, 5 Cyc. 642. And see infra, II, B, 2, a.

13. Alabama.— Denson v. Autrey, 21 Ala. 205.

Indiana.— McIntire v. Cross, 3 Ind. 444; Doe v. Lanius, 3 Ind. 441, 56 Am. Dec. 518.

Maine.— Baxter v. Bradbury, 20 Me. 260, 37 Am. Dec. 49.

Mississippi.— Richards v. Mills, 31 Miss. 450. In this case a husband, in articles of separation, had covenanted never to demand any interest in his wife's property. The wife died and her property descended to her son, who also died intestate. Notwithstanding the covenant the court held that the father was entitled to the property as heir to his son.

North Carolina.— Cannon v. Nowell, 51 N. C. 436.

Pennsylvania.— In re Bair, 2 Lanc. L. Rev. 225; Weyand v. Weyand, 1 Woodw. 1.

South Carolina.— Youngblood v. Norton, 1 Strobh. Eq. 122.

United States.— Wilkins v. Allen, 18 How. 385, 15 L. ed. 396.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 6.

Operation and effect of will see infra, III, A, 3.

Rights of pretermitted children see infra, III, A, 3, c.

Disinheritance see infra, III, A, 3, d.

Effect of will as to surviving spouse see infra, III, B, 6, f; III, B, 7, d.

Forced heirs see infra, III, A, 5.

14. Jones v. Kirkpatrick, 2 Tenn. Ch. 693.

Conversion of land into personalty see Conversion, 9 Cyc. 851.

15. Smith v. Loewenstein, 50 Ohio St. 346, 34 N. E. 159.

16. Frick Coke Co. v. Laughead, 203 Pa. St. 168, 52 Atl. 172.

b. Interests in Land Regarded as Personal Property. A lease for years is for the purposes of descent and distribution regarded as personal property unless it is otherwise expressly provided by statute.[17] And the same is true of land obtained by an executor by foreclosure of a mortgage,[18] an unlocated land certificate,[19] and of an infant's personal estate which has been converted into realty by decree of the court during his infancy.[20]

c. Money, Rights of Action, Etc., Regarded as Real Estate. On the other hand the interest of a mortgagor of real estate remains realty, even after a decree of foreclosure, until after the sale;[21] and the same is true of the interest of the owner of land taken by eminent domain, until after the award.[22] The proceeds of the sale of the land of a decedent sold to pay debts or for any other purpose and of proceedings in partition are subject to the same rule of distribution as that which governs the distribution of the land;[23] and the rights of an heir in such proceeds descend to his heirs as real estate,[24] but in their hands become personal property.[25] In the same way the proceeds of the sale of the land of an infant or of an infant's interest in land under a decree of partition, although reinvested in personal property, descend as real estate in case of the infant's death during minority,[26] or in case he has arrived at majority, if he has not elected to take it as personalty.[27] The same is true of a lunatic's share in the proceeds of the sale of land.[28]

d. Slaves. In some jurisdictions slaves were regarded as real estate and held to descend as such,[29] while in others they were regarded as personalty,[30] and in others statutes provided that they could be so annexed to land that they would descend with it.[31]

8. Proof and Presumption of Death. No person can represent another as his heir, or claim a succession through him, in the absence of proof of his death, or of such facts as raise a presumption of death.[32] If it appears that one hundred years have elapsed since a person's birth his death will be presumed.[33] In some

17. Lenow v. Fones, 48 Ark. 557, 4 S. W. 56, holding also that a statute treating leases as real estate for certain other purposes was not sufficient to take them out of the rule. See also infra, IV, A, 4, c, (I) note.

18. Fifield v. Sperry, 20 N. H. 338.

19. Porter v. Burnett, 60 Tex. 220.

20. Paul v. York, 1 Tenn. Ch. 547.

21. Holden v. Dunn, 144 Ill. 413, 33 N. E. 413, 19 L. R. A. 481; Asay v. Hoover, 5 Pa. St. 21, 45 Am. Dec. 713.

22. Ballou v. Ballou, 78 N. Y. 325; Matter of Public Parks, 60 Hun (N. Y.) 576, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 347.

23. Kentucky.— Haggard v. Rout, 6 B. Mon. 247, a case of the proceeds of a sale under the direction of the testator in his will, to be invested in other lands, one of the heirs dying after the sale but before a reinvestment.

Maryland.— Garner v. Wood, 71 Md. 37, 17 Atl. 1031, surplus from the sale of the land of an intestate to pay his debts.

North Carolina.— Linsday v. Pleasants, 39 N. C. 320, where land was converted into personalty under the direction of a will, and the purpose of the change was disappointed.

Ohio.— Pence v. Pence, 11 Ohio St. 290.

Pennsylvania.— Pennell's Appeal, 20 Pa. St. 515.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 9.

24. Betts v. Wirt, 3 Md. Ch. 113; McCune's Appeal, 65 Pa. St. 450; Hay's Appeal, 52 Pa. St. 449. See also Vaughan v. Jones, 23 Gratt. (Va.) 444. But see Pence v. Pence, 11 Ohio St. 290; Pennell's Appeal, 20 Pa. St. 515.

25. McCune's Appeal, 65 Pa. St. 450; Hay's Appeal, 52 Pa. St. 449.

26. New Jersey.— Hatcher v. Moore, 9 N. J. L. J. 275; Snowhill v. Snowhill, 2 N. J. Eq. 30.

New York.— Matter of Woodworth, 5 Dem. Surr. 156.

North Carolina.— Dudley v. Winfield, 45 N. C. 91; March v. Berrier, 41 N. C. 524; Gillespie v. Foy, 40 N. C. 280.

Pennsylvania.— Holmes' Appeal, 53 Pa. St. 339.

Virginia.— Vaughan v. Jones, 23 Gratt. 444.

Contra, Armstrong v. Miller, 6 Ohio 118.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 9.

27. Dudley v. Winfield, 45 N. C. 91.

28. Campbell v. Campbell, 19 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 254.

29. Chinn v. Respass, 1 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 25; McDonald v. Walton, 2 Mo. 48; McCollum v. Smith, Meigs (Tenn.) 342, 33 Am. Dec. 147.

30. May v. Rockett, 25 Miss. 233.

31. Dunn v. Bray, 1 Call (Va.) 38.

32. Boe v. Filleul, 26 La. Ann. 126. See infra, IV, A, 3, d; IV, A, 13, f.

33. Miller v. McElwee, 12 La. Ann. 476.

states when a person has been absent and has not been heard of for seven years, the probate court may assume that he is dead and appoint an administrator of his estate, and his heirs may bring ejectment to gain possession of his lands.[34] Such presumption of death is not conclusive, however, and may always be overthrown by proof to the contrary, in which case letters of administration granted, title given, or other action taken based upon such presumption becomes null and void.[35] There is no presumption in law that a man proved to be dead left no descendants. Such fact must be proved.[36] It seems that a decree of the probate court granting letters of administration is not admissible in proof of the death as between strangers.[37]

9. When Intestacy Arises. Intestacy frequently arises, although the deceased may have left a will which has been admitted to probate. Thus if a devise or bequest fails, the property devised or bequeathed is subject to descent or distribution as intestate estate;[38] and if a will fails to provide for a person entitled to dower or curtesy the testator will be deemed as to such person to have died intestate.[39] The proceeds of a settlement between the next of kin and a legatee, when the legatee pays the next of kin a sum of money, will be distributed as intestate estate.[40] But if a testator by a codicil reduces a bequest, the amount deducted, if no special provision is made for it, falls into the residue and is not subject to distribution as intestate estate.[41]

10. Proof and Presumption of Intestacy. The fact that a deceased person died intestate is established by the adjudication of a competent court having jurisdiction of the subject-matter and the parties.[42] A person who dies leaving a will which is admitted to probate is not "an intestate," although some of his property, because the will fails to dispose of it, descends as intestate estate.[43] But a non-

34. Henderson v. Bonar, 11 S. W. 809, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 219. See also infra, III, A, 6, e, (II); IV, A, 3, d; IV, A, 13, f. And see Death, 13 Cyc. 290; Executors and Administrators.

35. Alabama.— Duncan v. Stewart, 25 Ala. 408, 60 Am. Dec. 527.

California.— Stevenson v. San Francisco Super. Ct., 62 Cal. 60.

Illinois.— Thomas v. People, 107 Ill. 517, 47 Am. Rep. 458.

Kansas.— Perry v. St. Joseph, etc., R. Co., 29 Kan. 420.

Kentucky.— French v. Frazier, 7 J. J. Marsh. 425.

Louisiana.— Burns v. Van Loan, 29 La. Ann. 560.

Massachusetts.—Jochumsen v. Suffolk Sav. Bank, 3 Allen 87, 96, where it was said: "The only jurisdiction is over the estate of the dead man. When the presumption arising from the absence of seven years is overthrown by the actual personal presence of the supposed dead man, it leaves no ground for sustaining the jurisdiction." See also Day v. Floyd, 130 Mass. 488; Waters v. Stickney, 12 Allen 1, 90 Am. Dec. 122.

Missouri.— Johnson v. Beazley, 65 Mo. 250, 27 Am. Rep. 276.

New Hampshire.— Morgan v. Dodge, 44 N. H. 255, 82 Am. Dec. 213.

North Carolina.— State v. White, 29 N. C. 180.

Pennsylvania.— Devlin v. Com., 101 Pa. St. 273, 47 Am. Rep. 710; Peebles' Appeal, 15 Serg. & R. 39; McPherson v. Cunliff, 11 Serg. & R. 422, 14 Am. Dec. 642.

South Carolina.— Moore v. Smith, 11 Rich. 569, 73 Am. Dec. 122.

Tennessee.— D'Arusment v. Jones, 4 Lea 251, 40 Am. Rep. 12.

Texas.— Withers v. Patterson, 27 Tex. 491, 86 Am. Dec. 643.

Virginia.— Andrews v. Avory, 14 Gratt. 229, 73 Am. Dec. 355.

Wisconsin.— Melia v. Simmons, 45 Wis. 334, 30 Am. Rep. 746.

United States.— Scott v. McNeal, 154 U. S. 34, 14 S. Ct. 1108, 38 L. ed. 896 [reversing 5 Wash. 309, 31 Pac. 873, 34 Am. St. Rep. 863]; Griffith v. Frazier, 8 Cranch 9, 3 L. ed. 471.

See also Death, 13 Cyc. 290; Executors and Administrators.

36. Posey v. Hanson, 10 App. Cas. (D. C.) 496. As to the nature and the amount of evidence required see Chapman v. Kimball, 83 Me. 389, 22 Atl. 254.

37. Day v. Floyd, 130 Mass. 488. But see Wanner's Estate, 1 Woodw. (Pa.) 112.

38. Walker v. Bradbury, 15 Me. 207 (where the person to whom property was bequeathed relinquished all claim to the same); Fosdick v. Fosdick, 6 Allen (Mass.) 41 (invalid bequest); In re Filbert, 195 Pa. St. 295, 45 Atl. 733. As to partial intestacy see infra, III, A, 13.

39. Stokes v. O'Fallon, 2 Mo. 32. See, generally, Curtesy; Dower.

Forced heirs see III, A, 5.

Rights of children omitted from will see III, A, 13, c.

40. Fletcher v. Severs, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 6.

41. Hayward v. Loper, 147 Ill. 41, 35 N. E. 225.

42. Clemens v. Clemens, 37 N. Y. 59.

43. Messmann v. Egenberger, 46 N. Y. App. Div. 46, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 556.

resident may be held to have died intestate, although he left a will, when there is no evidence as to its contents.[44] A deceased person will be presumed to have died intestate until the contrary is shown.[45]

11. Presumption as to Survivorship. Most jurisdictions have adopted the rule of the common law that there is no presumption of law that either of two persons perishing in a common catastrophe survived the other; that the question is wholly one of fact and must be determined as such upon the evidence. Hence the person upon whom the onus lies must fail in the absence of evidence satisfactory to sustain the conclusion he seeks to establish.[46]

B. What Law Governs — 1. Statutes in Force at Time of Death. By the weight of authority, as all rights of inheritance become vested at the death of the person from whom they are derived, the statutes in force at the time of his death govern the disposition of the estate.[47]

2. Law of State or Country — a. In General. If the status of one who claims succession or inheritance in the estate of another is called in question, it is to be ascertained by the law of the domicile which creates the status, at least when such law is not repugnant to the laws of the state in which it is questioned.[48] The term "heirs," used in a deed, a will, or a federal law, must be interpreted according to the law of the state which has jurisdiction over the property at the

44. Stephenson v. Wait, 8 Blackf. (Ind.) 508, 46 Am. Dec. 489.

45. Lyon v. Kain, 36 Ill. 362; McClanahan v. Williams, 136 Ind. 30, 35 N. E. 897; Stokesberry v. Reynolds, 57 Ind. 425; Baxter v. Bradbury, 20 Me. 260, 37 Am. Dec. 49. See also infra, IV, A, 3, d.

46. Batchelder, Petitioner, 147 Mass. 465, 18 N. E. 225; Fuller v. Linzee, 135 Mass. 468; Cage v. Leach, 8 Metc. (Mass.) 371, 41 Am. Dec. 518; Moehring v. Mitchell, 1 Barb. Ch. (N .Y.) 264. And see Death, 13 Cyc. 309.

The laws of California, however (Code Civ. Proc. § 1963, subd. 40), provide that where two persons of different sex perish in the same calamity, both being over fifteen and under sixty years of age, the male will be presumed to have perished last. Hollister v. Cordero, 76 Cal. 649, 18 Pac. 855.

Weight and sufficiency of evidence of survivorship.— Ehle's Estate, 73 Wis. 445, 41 N. W. 627.

47. Alabama.— Rottenberry v. Pipes, 53 Ala. 447; Donovan v. Pitcher, 53 Ala. 411, 25 Am. Rep. 634 (capacity of heir to take lands); Taylor v. Taylor, 53 Ala. 135 (exemptions in favor of widow and children); Bell v. Mason, 10 Ala. 334.

California.— Coppinger v. Rice, 33 Cal. 408.

Florida.—Bushnell v. Dennison, 13 Fla. 77; Jones v. Dexter, 8 Fla. 276.

Georgia.— Bailey v. Simpson, 57 Ga. 523.

Illinois.— Kochersperger v. Drake, 167 Ill. 122, 47 N. E. 321, 41 L. R. A. 446; Wunderle v. Wunderle, 144 Ill. 40, 33 N. E. 195, 19 L. R. A. 84; Bales v. Elder, 118 Ill. 436, 11 N. E. 421; Henson v. Moore, 104 Ill. 403; Emmert v. Hays, 89 Ill. 11; Sturgis v. Ewing, 18 Ill. 176; Paschall v. Hailman, 9 Ill. 285.

Indiana.— Brown v. Critchell, 110 Ind. 31, 7 N. E. 888, 11 N. E. 486; Leib v. Wilson, 51 Ind. 550.

Iowa.— Lorieux v. Keller, 5 Iowa 196, 68 Am. Dec. 696.

Kentucky.— White v. White, 2 Metc. 185; McGaughey v. Henry, 15 B. Mon. 383; Evans v. Evans, 74 S. W. 224, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 2421.

Louisiana.— Beale v. Walden, 11 Rob. 67; Lange v. Richoux, 6 La. 560.

Maine.— Messer v. Jones, 88 Me. 349, 34 Atl. 177; Brewer v. Hamor, 83 Me. 251, 22 Atl. 161; Decker v. Hughes, 38 Me. 153; Hunt v. Hunt, 37 Me. 333.

Massachusetts.— Miller v. Miller, 10 Metc. 393.

Mississippi.— Marshall v. King, 24 Miss. 85.

New Hampshire.— Bell v. Scammon, 15 N. H. 381, 41 Am. Dec. 706.

New Jersey.— Holcomb v. Lake, 24 N. J. L. 686.

New York.— Matter of Kiernan, 38 Misc. 394, 77 N. Y. Suppl. 924; Hosack v. Rogers, 6 Paige 415; Jackson v. Mumford, 9 Cow. 254.

Ohio.— Birney v. Wilson, 11 Ohio St. 426.

Pennsylvania.— Wood's Appeal, 18 Pa. St. 478.

Texas.— Lindsay v. Freeman, 83 Tex. 259, 18 S. W. 727; McKinney v. Moore, 73 Tex. 470, 11 S. W. 493; Goodrich v. O'Connor, 52 Tex. 375 (holding that under an act granting land certificates "to the heirs" of a deceased person, those who would have been entitled to inherit as heirs under the laws of descent in force at the time of his death were entitled to the grant, and not those who were made heirs under laws enacted since his death); Wheeler v. Hollis, 33 Tex. 512.

Virginia.— Dilliard v. Tomlinson, 1 Munf. 183; Harrison v. Allen, 3 Call 289.

Contra, Armstrong v. Armstrong, 1 Oreg. 207, 75 Am. Dec. 555; In re Thorn, 24 Utah 209, 67 Pac. 22.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 16.

Vested rights see infra, II, C, 1, 3.

48. Ross v. Ross, 129 Mass. 243, 37 Am. Rep. 321. And see supra, II, A, 5, note 12.

time when the interest of the persons so described accrues.[49] If an antenuptial contract provides for the distribution of an estate according to the laws of the state or country where the contract was made, such laws will prevail.[50]

b. Realty and Other Immovable Property. The general doctrine is in accord with the principle which has become established in all civilized countries that real property is regulated in its descent, as in its tenure and transfer, by the lex loci rei sitæ.[51] This rule is equally applicable to the descent of all immovable property, whether real or personal.[52] In some states, however, provision has been made by statute for allowing and recording foreign wills according to the laws of the place where made.[53]

c. Personalty and Other Movable Property. On the other hand the succession to and the disposition and distribution of personal property, wherever situated, is governed by the lex domicilii of the owner or intestate at the time of his death, without regard to the location of the property or the place of the death.[54] This

49. Price v. Tally, 10 Ala. 946; Cutting v. Cutting, 6 Fed. 259, 6 Sawy. 396. And see, generally, HEIRS.

50. Baubichon's Estate, Myr. Prob. (Cal.) 55; McLeod v. Board, 30 Tex. 238, 94 Am. Dec. 301.

51. Alabama.— Grimball v. Patton, 70 Ala. 626; Brock v. Frank, 51 Ala. 85; Lingen v. Lingen, 45 Ala. 410. And see King v. Martin, 67 Ala. 177.

Arkansas.— Apperson v. Bolton, 29 Ark. 418.

Kansas.— Cooper v. Ives, 62 Kan. 395, 63 Pac. 434, holding also that the title cannot be affected by the decree of the court of another state.

Louisiana.— Berthelot v. Fitch, 44 La. Ann. 503, 10 So. 867; Abercrombie v. Caffray, 3 Mart. N. S. 1.

Maine.— Potter v. Titcomb, 22 Me. 300.

Maryland.— Brewer v. Cox, (1889) 18 Atl. 864.

New Jersey.— Pratt v. Douglas, 38 N. J. Eq. 516.

New York.— Bonati v. Welsch, 24 N. Y. 157 (holding that the rights of a widow in the proceeds of the sale of her real estate in France, brought by her husband, who had deserted her, to New York, where he died domiciled, were governed by the French laws); Bloomer v. Bloomer, 2 Bradf. Surr. 339.

Ohio.— McNicholl v. Ives, 4 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 75.

Pennsylvania.— Kessler v. Kessler, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 522.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," §§ 17, 18. And see WILLS.

52. Townes v. Durbin, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 352, 77 Am. Dec. 176; Sneed v. Ewing, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 460, 22 Am. Dec. 41; Cox v. Von Ahlefeldt, 105 La. 543, 30 So. 175; McCollum v. Smith, Meigs (Tenn.) 342, 33 Am. Dec. 147.

53. Slocomb v. Slocomb, 13 Allen (Mass.) 38; Bayley v. Bailey, 5 Cush. (Mass.) 245; Wilt v. Cutler, 38 Mich. 189. See WILLS.

54. Alabama.— Brock v. Frank, 51 Ala. 85; Lingen v. Lingen, 45 Ala. 410; Johnson v. Copeland, 35 Ala. 521.

Arkansas.— Hewitt v. Cox, 55 Ark. 225, 15 S. W. 1026, 17 S. W. 873; Gibson v. Dowell, 42 Ark. 164.

California.— Apple's Estate, 66 Cal. 432, 6 Pac. 7.

Colorado.— Goodrich v. Treat, 3 Colo. 408.

Connecticut.— Rockwell v. Bradshaw, 67 Conn. 8, 34 Atl. 758; Lawrence v. Kitteridge, 21 Conn. 577, 56 Am. Dec. 385.

Georgia.— Grote v. Pace, 71 Ga. 231.

Illinois.— Cooper v. Beers, 143 Ill. 25, 33 N. E. 61; Russell v. Madden, 95 Ill. 485; Paschall v. Hailman, 9 Ill. 265; Channel v. Capen, 46 Ill. App. 234.

Indiana.— Warren v. Hofer, 13 Ind. 167; Thieband v. Sebastian, 10 Ind. 454; Irving v. McLean, 4 Blackf. 52.

Kentucky.— Sneed v. Ewing, 5 J. J. Marsh 460, 22 Am. Dec. 41; Thomas v. Tanner, 6 T. B. Mon. 52.

Louisiana.— Abston v. Abston, 15 La. Ann. 137; Marcenaro v. Bertoli, 2 La. Ann. 980; Marigny v. Union Bank, 12 Rob. 283; Packwood's Succession, 9 Rob. 438, 41 Am. Dec. 341; Hicks v. Pope, 8 La. 554, 28 Am. Dec. 142.

Maryland.— Brewer v. Cox, (1889) 18 Atl. 864; Noonan v. Kemp, 34 Md. 73, 6 Am. Rep. 307; De Sobry v. De Laistre, 2 Harr. & J. 191, 3 Am. Dec. 555. And see Newcomer v. Orem, 2 Md. 297, 56 Am. Dec. 717.

Mississippi.—Garland v. Rowan, 2 Sm. & M. 617.

Missouri.— Richardson v. Lewis, 21 Mo. App. 531.

New Hampshire.— Champollion v. Corbin, 71 N. H. 78, 51 Atl. 674; Leach v. Pillsbury, 15 N. H. 137.

New York.— In re Devoe, 171 N. Y. 281, 63 N. E. 1102, 57 L. R. A. 536 [affirming 66 N. Y. App. Div. 1, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 962]; Parsons v. Lyman, 20 N. Y. 103; Matter of Florance, 54 Hun 328, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 578; Matter of Negus, 27 Misc. 165, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 377; Matter of Ruppaner, 15 Misc. 654, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 429, 25 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 158; Simonson v. Waller, 14 Misc. 95, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 201; Matter of Witter, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 133, 2 Connoly Surr. 530; Matter of Braithwaite, 19 Abb. N. Cas. 113; Sherwood v. Wooster, 11 Paige 441; Vroom v. Van Horne, 10 Paige 549, 42 Am. Dec. 94; Holmes rule applies to the distribution of slaves and all other movable property as well as to that which is strictly personal property,[55] and to the allotment of the widow's or husband's rights in the property of the deceased;[56] but the rights of third parties acquired through the heirs or legatees are determined by the law of the domicile of such heirs or legatees,[57] and the rule does not govern in the distribution of money recovered by an administrator under a statute of another state, where such statute provides for its distribution,[58] nor in the descent of shares in public lands acquired under the provisions of a national law, where such law provides for their disposition.[59] There is no doubt that every state has power to establish and regulate the rights of property in things within its jurisdiction, whether the property be real or personal, movable or immovable.[60] Accordingly the law of the place under which an ancillary administration is taken must govern the distribution of the assets in the payment of debts there.[61] Some states have exercised this power for the purpose of regulating the descent and distribution of personal property within their limits, as well as of real estate, notwithstanding the laws of the domicile of the owner.[62]

d. Domicile For Purposes of Succession. To constitute a domicile, two things

v. Remsen, 4 Johns. Ch. 460, 8 Am. Dec. 581; Mills v. Fogal, 4 Edw. 559; Graham v. Public Administrator, 4 Bradf. Surr. 127; Burr v. Sherwood, 3 Bradf. Surr. 85; Bloomer v. Bloomer, 2 Bradf. Surr. 339; In re Mercure, 1 Tuck. Surr. 288.

North Carolina.— Grant v. Reese, 94 N. C. 720; Moye v. May, 43 N. C. 131; Williamson v. Smart, 1 N. C. 355, 2 Am. Dec. 638.

Ohio.— Swearingen v. Morris, 14 Ohio St. 424.

Pennsylvania.— In re Miller, 3 Rawle 312, 24 Am. Dec. 345; In re Hancock, 7 Kulp 36; Kessler v. Kessler, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 522; Rutherford's Estate, 1 Chest. Co. Rep. 149, holding that the share of one of the next of kin could not be paid to her personally as she was under age, although by the laws of the state where she resided she was of full age. And see Troxell's Estate, 13 Montg. Co. Rep. 68.

South Carolina.— Stent v. McLeod, 2 McCord Eq. 354.

Tennessee.— Ellis v. Northwestern Mut. L. Ins. Co., 100 Tenn. 177, 43 S. W. 766, holding that life insurance will be distributed according to the laws of the domicile of deceased.

Texas.— Simpson v. Knox, 1 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 569.

West Virginia.— White v. Tennant, 31 W. Va. 790, 8 S. E. 596, 13 Am. St. Rep. 896.

United States.— Ennis v. Smith, 14 How. 400, 14 L. ed. 472; Armstrong v. Lear, 8 Pet. 52, 8 L. ed. 863; Harvey v. Richards, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,184, 1 Mason 381; Dixon v. Walker, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,291, 2 Hayw. & H. 316.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," §§ 17, 19. And see WILLS.

55. Price v. Tally, 10 Ala. 946; Sneed v. Ewing, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 460, 22 Am. Dec. 41; Garland v. Rowan, 2 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 617; Williamson v. Smart, 1 N. C. 355, 2 Am. Dec. 638.

56. Arkansas.— Hewitt v. Cox, 55 Ark. 225, 15 S. W. 1026, 17 S. W. 873.

Maine.— Gilman v. Gilman, 53 Me. 184.

Mississippi.— Garland v. Rowan, 2 Sm. & M. 617.

Missouri.— Locke v. McPherson, 163 Mo. 493, 63 S. W. 726, 85 Am. St. Rep. 546, 52 L. R. A. 420 (holding, however, where a resident of New York married a woman in Missouri, who died before taking up her abode in New York, that the personalty in the hands of the Missouri administrator would be distributed according to the Missouri law, there being no statute of distribution in New York applying to the personal property of a married woman dying without descendants, and the marriage in Missouri not giving the husband title over the wife's personalty); Richardson v. Lewis, 21 Mo. App. 531.

New Jersey.— Harrall v. Harrall, 39 N. J. Eq. 279, 51 Am. Rep. 17; Harrall v. Wallis, 37 N. J. Eq. 458.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," §§ 17, 19.

Rights of surviving spouse see infra, II, B.

57. Penny v. Christmas, 7 Rob. (La.) 481; Muus v. Muus, 29 Minn. 115, 12 N. W. 343; Hill v. Townsend, 24 Tex. 575.

58. McDonald v. McDonald, 15 Ky. L. Rep. 367.

59. Proebstel v. Hogue, 15 Fed. 581, 8 Sawy. 592. In this case, however, the local law was held to govern because, although the act had been complied with, a patent had not been issued.

60. Penny v. Christmas, 7 Rob. (La.) 481; Jones v. Marable, 6 Humphr. (Tenn.) 116.

61. Goodall v. Marshall, 11 N. H. 88, 35 Am. Dec. 472. See, generally, EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

62. In re Baubichon, 49 Cal. 18, Myr. Prob. (Cal.) 55; Cooper v. Beers, 143 Ill. 25, 33 N. E. 61; Channel v. Capen, 46 Ill. App. 234; Cole v. His Executors, 7 Mart. N. S. (La.) 41, 18 Am. Dec. 241; Bryan v. Moore, 11 Mart. (La.) 26, 13 Am. Dec. 347; Mahorner v. Hooe, 9 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 247, 48 Am. Dec. 706.

must concur: first residence, and second the intention to make it the party's home.[63] The law attributes to every person at his birth the domicile of his father if he be legitimate, or if illegitimate, the domicile of his mother. This is the domicile of origin. It may be changed during the minority, at the will of the parent or guardian;[64] but as soon as the person becomes sui juris he is competent to assume another domicile, the continuance of which depends upon his will and act.[65] No person can have more than one domicile for one and the same purpose at the same time,[66] but every person has a domicile somewhere, retaining his domicile of origin till he changes it by acquiring another, and likewise each successive domicile until a new one is acquired.[67] A wife's domicile is generally that of her husband,[68] but this rule is subject to exceptions under special circumstances.[69]

e. Mexican and Spanish Law. In California the Mexican law was applicable to the descent and distribution of the estate of a deceased person until it was changed by statute,[70] while in Mississippi and New Mexico the laws of Spain were applicable.[71]

3. Common or Civil Law as to Degrees of Kindred. Until altered by statute, degrees of kindred, in relation to descent and distribution of property, have been reckoned according to the canons of the common law, but the English common law of descents, in its more essential features, has been universally rejected in the United States and every state has adopted a law of descents for itself.[72] In most Personal property which has no fixed situs, however, such as debts, notes, or mortgages, cannot be affected by such statutes. Cooper v. Beers, 143 Ill. 25, 33 N. E. 61; Channel v. Capen, 46 Ill. App. 234. But see Jahier v. Rascoe, 62 Miss. 699, holding that notes taken by an agent for a foreign principal, in the business of loaning money for her, are subject to distribution as "personal property situated in this state."

63. State v. Hallett, 8 Ala. 159; Smith v. Croom, 7 Fla. 81 (holding that the actual residence of a man within some particular jurisdiction, of such character as shall, in accordance with certain well-established principles of the public law, give direction to the succession of his personal estate, constitutes his "domicile of succession"); Gorham v. Springfield, 21 Me. 58; Greene v. Windham, 13 Me. 225; Jennison v. Hapgood, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 77; Harvard College v. Gore, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 370. See, generally, Domicile.

64. Matter of Kiernan, 38 Misc. (N. Y.) 394, 77 N. Y. Suppl. 924.

65. Jarman Wills *12. And see, generally, Domicile.

66. White v. Brown, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,538, 1 Wall. Jr. 217. See, generally, Domicile.

67. State v. Hallett, 8 Ala. 159; Cooper v. Beers, 143 Ill. 25, 33 N. E. 61; Graham v. Public Administrator, 4 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 127.

Actual residence therefore is not necessary to retain a domicile once acquired. It is acquired by the mere intention not to change it. Sears v. Boston, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 250; Thorndike v. Boston, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 242; Lincoln v. Hapgood, 11 Mass. 350; Granby v. Amherst, 7 Mass. 1; Abington v. Boston, 4 Mass. 312; Shattuck v. Maynard, 3 N. H. 123.

68. See, generally, Domicile.

69. Thus where a wife had been living apart from her husband for two years by mutual consent, during which time their children lived with her and were wholly supported by her, the husband living in another state and contributing nothing to her support, it was held that she acquired a domicile in the state where she lived. Matter of Florance, 54 Hun (N. Y.) 328, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 578. And where a minor child in the unrestricted custody of its mother resided in Pennsylvania, it was held that the law of that state determined the inheritance rights of his heirs, notwithstanding that the father, from whom the mother was divorced, resided in Minnesota. Fox v. Hicks, 81 Minn. 197, 83 N. W. 538, 50 L. R. A. 663. See, generally, Domicile.

70. McNeil v. San Francisco First Cong. Soc., 66 Cal. 105, 4 Pac. 1096.

71. Chew v. Calvert, Walk. (Miss.) 54; Crary v. Field, 9 N. M. 222, 50 Pac. 342.

72. Colorado.— Webb v. Jackson, 6 Colo. App. 211, 40 Pac. 467.

Connecticut.— Hale's Appeal, 69 Conn. 611, 38 Atl. 392; Campbell's Appeal, 64 Conn. 277, 29 Atl. 494, 24 L. A. R. 667; Howard v. Howard, 19 Conn. 313.

Florida.—Bushnell v. Dennison, 13 Fla. 77; Jones v. Dexter, 8 Fla. 276.

Indiana.— Bruce v. Baker, Wils. 462.

New Hampshire.—Bell v. Scammon, 15 N. H. 381, 41 Am. Dec. 706.

Oklahoma.— Crist v. Crosby, 11 Okla. 635, 69 Pac. 885.

South Carolina.—North v. Valk, Dudley Eq. 212.

Virginia.— Davis v. Rowe, 6 Rand. 355.

Wisconsin.— Brown v. Baraboo, 90 Wis. 151, 62 N. W. 921, 30 L. R. A. 320.

United States.— Bates v. Brown, 5 Wall. 710, 18 L. ed. 535.

jurisdictions the statutes are based upon the rules of the civil law and not upon the canons of the common law.[73]

4. When Rules of Common Law Will Prevail. Cases which do not come within the terms of the statutes are determined by the rules of the common law.[74] Entailed estates descend according to the course of the common law.[75] But where the statutes of descent purport to furnish a complete code, no rule of the common law which is manifestly opposed to the spirit of the statutes will be enforced, although not expressly repealed.[76]

C. Constitutional and Statutory Provisions — 1. In General. The statutory provisions of the several states differ so widely in the terms and language used that very few general principles can be deduced from the cases.[77] Some

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," §§ 23, 24.

73. California.— People v. De la Guerra, 24 Cal. 73.

Illinois.— Hays v. Thomas, 1 Ill. 180.

Indiana.— Bruce v. Bissell, 119 Ind. 525, 22 N. E. 4, 12 Am. St. Rep. 422; Cloud v. Bruce, 61 Ind. 171; Bruce v. Baker, Wils. 462. See Rountree v. Pursell, 11 Ind. App. 522, 39 N. E. 747.

Maryland.— Stewart v. Jones, 8 Gill & J. 1.

New Jersey.— Smith v. Gaines, 36 N. J. Eq. 297.

New York.—Hurtin v. Proal, 3 Bradf. Surr. 414; Sweezey v. Willis, 1 Bradf. Surr. 495.

Ohio.— Clayton v. Drake, 17 Ohio St. 367.

Pennsylvania.— McDowell v. Addams, 45 Pa. St. 430.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," §§ 23, 24.

74. Maryland.— Coomes v. Clements, 4 Harr. & J. 480; Griffith v. Griffith, 4 Harr. & M. 101.

Nevada.— Clark v. Clark, 17 Nev. 124, 28 Pac. 238.

New Jersey.— Wills v. Cooper, 25 N. J. L. 137; Fidler v. Higgins, 21 N. J. Eq. 138; Boston Franklinite Co. v. Condit, 19 N. J. Eq. 394.

Pennsylvania.— Cresoe v. Laidley, 2 Binn. 279; Johnson v. Haines, 4 Dall. 64, 1 L. ed. 743.

South Carolina.— Martin v. Price, 2 Rich. Eq. 412.

United States.— Barnitz v. Casey, 7 Cranch 456, 3 L. ed. 403.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 25. And see infra, III, A, 2, note 63; and Common Law, 8 Cyc. 366.

75. Baker v. Mattocks, Quincy (Mass.) 69; Guthrie's Appeal, 37 Pa. St. 9; Goodright v. Morningstar, 1 Yeates (Pa.) 313. See Estates.

76. Bates v. Brown, 5 Wall. (U. S.) 710, 18 L. ed. 535, holding that the common-law rule of shifting inheritances was not in force in Illinois. See also to the same effect Cox v. Matthews, 17 Ind. 367; Drake v. Rogers, 13 Ohio St. 21. And see Common Law, 8 Cyc. 376.

77. For the construction of particular statutes see the following cases:

Arkansas.—Harrison v. Lamar, 33 Ark. 824 ("estate" includes both real and personal estate); Smith v. Allen, 31 Ark. 268 ("when any man shall die, leaving minor children and no widow" applies to the case where a woman dies leaving minor children and no husband).

California.—De Castro v. Barry, 18 Cal. 96.

Florida.— Jones v. Dexter, 8 Fla. 276.

Idaho.— Hall v. Blackman, (1902) 68 Pac. 19, possessory rights declared to be real estate.

Indiana.—Scott v. Silvers, 64 Ind. 76 (word "children" construed to mean "children or their descendants"); Bruce v. Baker, Wils. 462 (statute applied to personalty as well as to realty).

Kentucky.— Wells v. Head, 12 B. Mon. 166.

Maine.— Davis v. Stinson, 53 Me. 493.

Maryland.— Patapsco Female Inst. v. Rock Hill College, 51 Md. 470.

Massachusetts.— Runey v. Edmands, 15 Mass. 291; Sheffield v. Lovering, 12 Mass. 490.

Mississippi.— Cable v. Martin, 1 How. 558.

Nebraska.— Motley v. Motley, 60 Nebr. 593, 83 N. W. 830; Finders v. Bodle, 58 Nebr. 57, 78 N. W. 480; Hinds v. Hinds, 56 Nebr. 545, 76 N. W. 1087; Shellenberger v. Ransom, 41 Nebr. 631, 59 N. W. 935, 25 L. R. A. 564.

New Hampshire.—Bell v. Scammon, 15 N. H. 381, 41 Am. Dec. 706; Campbell v. Wallace, 12 N. H. 362, 37 Am. Dec. 219.

New York.—Riggs v. Palmer, 115 N. Y. 506, 22 N. E. 188, 12 Am. St. Rep. 819, 5 L. R. A. 340; McCarty v. Deming, 4 Lans. 440; Jackson v. Skeels, 19 Johns. 198.

Ohio.— Lathrop v. Young, 25 Ohio St. 451; Clayton v. Drake, 17 Ohio St. 367, "the ancestor from whom the estate came" construed to mean the last ancestor from whom it came. In this state it has been held that the ordinance of 1787, section 2, it still in force. Lyon v. Lyon, 24 Ohio Cir. Ct. 498.

Pennsylvania.— Carpenter's Estate, 170 Pa. St. 203, 32 Atl. 637, 50 Am. St. Rep. 765, 29 L. R. A. 145; Brenneman's Appeal, 40 Pa. St. 115.

Tennessee.— Cowden v. Pitts, 2 Baxt. 59.

Texas.— Jones v. Barnett, 30 Tex. 637.

Washington.— Fort v. West, 14 Wash. 10, 44 Pac. 104, "inheritance" construed as applying to both real and personal property.

United States.— Gardner v. Collins, 2 Pet. 58, 7 L. ed. 347, "a descent from a parent."

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 28.

Effect of murder of ancestor by heir see infra, III, A, 14.

state constitutions contain provisions forbidding special laws changing the law of descent.[78] Statutes changing in any way the law of descent cannot act retrospectively so as to take away rights already vested.[79]

2. "Next of Kin" or "Heir." Where a statute uses the term "next of kin" or "heir," it will be received in the sense which it has at common law, unless it clearly appears that a different sense was intended.[80] They are given a broader sense, however, by most of the statutes, being used interchangeably in reference to both real and personal estate of a decedent.[81]

3. Vested Rights and Power to Change Laws of Inheritance. No one has a vested right to be the future heir of a living person. Hence laws of inheritance, resting in public policy, may be changed by the legislature at will without any violation of contractual or vested rights.[82]

D. Property Subject to Descent and Distribution — 1. In General. It may be stated as a general rule that all vested rights and interests, and all contingent interests where the person is certain, are subject to descent and distribution.[83]

78. Wunderle v. Wunderle, 144 Ill. 40, 33 N. E. 195, 19 L. R. A. 84, holding, however, that such a provision was not violated by a law general in its character, but which, on account of treaties with foreign nations, was made to a certain extent special in its operation. See, generally, STATUTES.

79. Alabama.— Donovan v. Pitcher, 53 Ala. 411, 25 Am. Rep. 634, where the estate had vested in the state for want of an heir.

Illinois.— Betts v. Bond, 1 Ill. 287.

Maryland.— Rock Hill College v. Jones, 47 Md. 1.

North Carolina.— Rutherford v. Green, 37 N. C. 121.

Oregon.— Ford v. Kennedy, 1 Oreg. 166.

Vermont.— Gilman v. Morrill, 8 Vt. 74.

Virginia.— Savage v. Mears, 2 Rob. 570, holding that a statute providing for children of a testator pretermitted in his will does not apply to a will published before the passage of the statute. See supra, II, B, 1; infra, III, A, 13, c.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 30. And see CONSTITUTIONAL LAW, 8 Cyc. 1017.

80. State v. Engle, 21 N. J. L. 347; McCool v. Smith, 1 Black (U. S.) 459, 17 L. ed. 218. See also supra, II, A, 3; and HEIR; WILLS.

81. In re Ricaud, Myr. Prob. (Cal.) 158; Hillhouse v. Chester, 3 Day (Conn.) 166, 3 Am. Dec. 265. And see HEIR.

82. Gregley v. Jackson, 38 Ark. 487; Brown v. Critchell, 110 Ind. 31, 7 N. E. 888, 11 N. E. 486; Sleight v. Read, 18 Barb. (N. Y.) 159; Hamilton v. Flinn, 21 Tex. 713. And see Caruthers v. Tarvin, 8 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 344, 7 Cinc. L. Bul. 127 [affirmed in 8 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 451, 8 Cinc. L. Bul. 21].

See also CONSTITUTIONAL LAW, 8 Cyc. 894.

83. Alabama.— Lewis v. Gainesville, 7 Ala. 85 (license to establish a ferry, which is subject to revocation if certain conditions are not complied with, descends to the heir); Hogan v. Bell, 4 Stew. & P. 286 (interest of residuary legatee).

Idaho.— Hall v. Blackman, (1902) 68 Pac. 19.

Indiana.— Murray v. Cazier, 23 Ind. App. 600, 53 N. E. 476, 55 N. E. 880, holding that rents of a husband's lands accruing under a lease in which the wife joined, after the husband's death are in the nature of chattels real, and descend to the heir, although the lease provided that they should be paid to the wife.

Iowa.— Potter v. Worley, 57 Iowa 66, 7 N. W. 685, 10 N. W. 298 (widow's dower unassigned during her lifetime); Pierson v. Armstrong, 1 Iowa 282, 63 Am. Dec. 440 (executed use).

Kansas.— Mooney v. Olsen, 21 Kan. 691 (possession of real estate under claim of ownership); Janes v. Holmden, (App. 1899) 52 Pac. 913 [affirmed in (Sup. 1898) 55 Pac. 1101].

Louisiana.— See Cox v. Von Ahlefeldt, 50 La. Ann. 1266, 23 So. 959.

Maryland.— Edelen v. Middleton, 9 Gill 161.

New Jersey.— Manners v. Manners, 20 N. J. L. 142, possibility coupled with an interest.

New York.— Tyler v. Heidorn, 46 Barb. 439 (rent reserved); Hunter v. Hunter, 17 Barb. 25 (rents reserved on perpetual leases); McNabb v. Pond, 4 Bradf. Surr. 7 (church pew).

North Carolina.— Robertson v. Fleming, 57 N. C. 387, contingent remainder, contingent executory bequest, or a future contingent trust, where the person is certain. And see Colson v. Martin, 62 N. C. 125.

Ohio.— Mickey v. Wintrode, 7 Ohio 124 (lease for ninety-nine years renewable forever, held personalty and not inheritable as realty); Murdock v. Ratcliff, 7 Ohio 119; Reynolds v. Stark County Com'rs, 5 Ohio 204; Bond v. Swearingen, 1 Ohio 395 (an estate forfeited to the heirs under an act of the territorial government, by a conveyance for a gambling debt, passes to heir subject to the grantor's debts).

Oklahoma.— Crist v. Cosby, 11 Okla. 635, 69 Pac. 885.

Pennsylvania.— Keller v. Auble, 58 Pa. St. 410, 98 Am. Dec. 297 (possession under claim of ownership); Allen v. McGowan, 8 Pa. Dist. 28 (interest of deceased partner in partner-

Ordinarily a trustee takes property subject to the same rules as to its devolution as a legal estate.[84] An equity in lands, or right to redeem, passes to the heirs by descent.[85] And an interest in a contract for the purchase of land is in equity real estate, and descends to the heirs of the purchaser.[86]

2. Interest of Vendor in Lands Sold. When a vendor retains the legal title, giving a bond for a deed, contracting to sell, or delivering the deed in escrow, upon his death the legal title descends to his heirs, who hold it, however, only as security for the purchase-money, subject to the equitable rights of the purchasers, and the purchase-money, when paid, goes to the executor or administrator.[87]

3. Interest in Public Lands. The interest of a deceased person in public land warrants and settlement claims is subject to the same laws of descent as other lands.[88] ship engaged in dealing in lands descends as personalty). And see Cote's Appeal, 79 Pa. St. 235.

Virginia.— Medley v. Medley, 81 Va. 265, executory devise.

Washington.— Fort v. West, 14 Wash. 10, 44 Pac. 104, share in community property.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 33.

But the estate of an infant, consisting solely of her share of the property set apart to her and her infant brother out of their father's estate for their support, as exempt from distribution, passes on her death to her infant brother and does not go to her administrator. Wilson v. Parson, 106 Ky. 385, 50 S. W. 684, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1931. See Executors and Administrators.

Burial lots see Cemeteries, 6 Cyc. 718.

Remainders, reversions, and executory devises see infra, II, E, 5.

Rights of surviving spouse see infra, III, B.

Community property see Husband and Wife.

84. Gill v. Logan, 11 B. Mon. (Ky.) 231 (holding that a trust estate will not revert but will pass by descent, although all the beneficiaries die); Schenck v. Schenck, 16 N. J. Eq. 174. See Anderson v. Mather, 44 N. Y. 249; Jenks v. Backhouse, 1 Binn. (Pa.) 91. But see McDougald v. Carey, 38 Ala. 320.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 34. And see, generally, Trusts.

85. Bowery Nat. Bank v. Duncan, 12 Hun (N. Y.) 405; Avery v. Dufrees, 9 Ohio 145; Harvey v. Steptoe, 17 Gratt. (Va.) 289, quasi-equity of redemption of grantor in deed of trust to secure debts.

86. Arkansas.— Strauss v. White, 66 Ark. 167, 51 S. W. 64.

District of Columbia.— Braxton v. Braxton, 20 D. C. 355.

Illinois.— Smith v. Smith, 55 Ill. 204.

Iowa.— Kellogg v. Logan, 38 Iowa 688, holding, however, that the heirs of a decedent who had assigned all his interest in a contract for the purchase of school lands could claim no interest in such land by descent.

New York.— Griffith v. Beecher, 10 Barb. 432 (holding also that the purchaser's administrator, if he receives rent for such land, or money for the sale of his interest therein, is accountable to the heirs for the amount so received); Williams v. Kierney, 6 N. Y. St. 560 (holding also that the unpaid purchase-money is payable out of the personal assets of the estate); Champion v. Brown, 6 Johns. Ch. 398, 10 Am. Dec. 343 (holding that the executor or administrator of the purchaser has no right to assign the contract).

Pennsylvania.— Aldrich v. Bailey, 71 Pa. St. 246.

Tennessee.— Myrick v. Boyd, 3 Hayw. 179.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 36.

Bond for title or offer to sell.—A bond for title descends to the heir of the obligee, the administrator being bound to pay out of the assets the amount which may remain due of the purchase-money. Myrick v. Boyd, 3 Hayw. (Tenn.) 179. But where a bond for title shows that the title was in a third person, and the obligor never procures a conveyance of the title to the obligee nor obtains it himself, the heir of the obligee does not take the land by descent. Allen v. Greene, 19 Ala. 34. And where one having the privilege of accepting an offer of sale within a certain time dies within that time without having accepted, he has no estate in the property which can descend to his heirs. Sutherland v. Parkins, 75 Ill. 338.

87. Arkansas.— Davie v. Davie, (1892) 18 S. W. 935, holding, however, that the land itself did not descend to the heirs.

Kentucky.— Litsey v. Phelps, 5 Ky. L. Rep. 513, child's share in land contracted to be sold.

New Jersey.— Flagg v. Teneick, 29 N. J. L. 25.

New York.— Hawley v. James, 5 Paige 318, holding that the vendor's interest in the lands does not descend to his heirs, but his interest under the contract descends as personal property.

Pennsylvania.— See Vincent v. Huff, 8 Serg. & R. 381.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 37.

88. Alabama.— Atwood v. Beck, 21 Ala. 590; Johnson v. Collins, 12 Ala. 322, holding that if the settler dies without performing the conditions imposed, his right to enter descends to his heir at law; but the heir cannot call upon the administrator to pay the purchase-money due the government,

4. Life Insurance. The interest of a beneficiary in a life-insurance policy is a vested interest and as such is transmissible by descent,[89] unless by the terms of the policy it is otherwise provided.[90]

E. Source of Title and Seizin of Intestate — 1. In General. Under the common-law rule that the heir was to deduce his title from the person last seized, the ancestor must have been actually seized in order to transmit the title; but in this country the common-law rule has been superseded by statutes under which actual seizin is not necessary to make the stock in the devolution of estates.[91] Mere possession, however, without title, is not sufficient,[92] for the heir takes the title which the ancestor had at the time of his death,[93] and no better.[94] The word "acquired" in statutes providing for the descent of property where the estate was acquired by the intestate applies to all lands that came in any other way than by gift, devise, or descent from a parent, or the ancestor of a parent.[95] Land since his intestate was under no obligation to pay out the land.

Colorado.— Filmore v. Reithman, 6 Colo. 120.

Illinois.— See Kane County v. Herrington, 50 Ill. 232.

Kentucky.— Cobb v. Stewart, 4 Metc. 255, 83 Am. Dec. 465 (where a patent was issued to testator after his death, and it was held that the legal title vested in the heirs); Hart v. Young, 3 J. J. Marsh. 408; Hansford v. Minor, 4 Bibb 385 (survey not perfected by grant).

New York.— Jackson v. Howe, 14 Johns. 405 (where a patent was issued to a revolutionary soldier many years after his death and after the death of his brother, his heir at law, and it was held that the heirs of the brother were entitled); Jackson v. Winslow, 2 Johns. 80.

Ohio.— Bond v. Swearingen, 1 Ohio 395, holding that where lands located and surveyed by the ancestor are patented to the heirs, the heirs take by descent and not by purchase.

Pennsylvania.— Workman v. Gillespie, 3 Yeates 571.

Tennessee.— Armstrong v. Campbell, 3 Yerg. 201, 24 Am. Dec. 556.

Texas.— Neal v. Bartleson, 65 Tex. 478. Compare McReynolds v. Bowlby, 1 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 452.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 38.

Rights of settler on public lands.— Hall v. Russell, 101 U. S. 503, 25 L. ed. 829; McCune v. Essig, 118 Fed. 273 [affirmed in 122 Fed. 588, 59 C. C. A. 429].

A patent issued to the widow of a homestead settler upon her making the final proof, in accordance with the provision of the homestead law, conveys the land to her absolutely, and no interest therein passes by inheritance to the children of her husband. McCune v. Essig, 118 Fed. 273 [affirmed in 122 Fed. 588, 59 C. C. A. 429].

89. Arkansas.— Johnson v. Hall, 55 Ark. 210, 17 S. W. 874.

California.— Crowe v. Dobbel, 105 Cal. 350, 38 Pac. 957; In re Dobbel, 104 Cal. 432, 38 Pac. 87, 43 Am. St. Rep. 123.

Connecticut.— Continental L. Ins. Co. v. Palmer, 42 Conn. 60, 19 Am. Rep. 530.

Indiana.— See Hutson v. Merrifield, 51 Ind. 24, 19 Am. Rep. 722, where a wife, holding a policy on the life of her husband, died before the husband, and it was held that although her husband survived her she had an interest transmissible by descent.

Maine.— Libby v. Libby, 37 Me. 359.

Michigan.— Voss v. Connecticut Mut. L. Ins. Co., 119 Mich. 161, 77 N. W. 697, 44 L. R. A. 689.

Missouri.— Shields v. Sharp, 35 Mo. App. 178.

New Hampshire.— Connecticut Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Fish, 59 N. H. 126.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 39. And see, generally, Life Insurance.

90. Anderson v. Groesbeck, 26 Colo. 3, 55 Pac. 1086, where the policy was made payable to the beneficiary only if she survived the insured.

91. Connecticut.— Hillhouse v. Chester, 3 Day 166, 3 Am. Dec. 265.

Georgia.— Thompson v. Sandford, 13 Ga. 238.

Indiana.— Parks v. Kimes, 100 Ind. 148.

North Carolina.— Sears v. McBride, 70 N. C. 152.

Tennessee.— Guion v. Burton, Meigs 565.

United States.— McCune v. Essig, 122 Fed. 588 [affirming 118 Fed. 273, 59 C. C. A. 429]; Obermiller v. Wylie, 36 Fed. 641.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 40.

92. White v. Cook, 73 Ga. 164.

93. Hall v. Caperton, 87 Ala. 285, 6 So. 388, title by adverse possession.

Where government lands are patented to the heirs of the original grantee, they take by descent, and the lands are liable for debts of the estate. McCauley v. Harvey, 49 Cal. 497; Frizzle v. Veach, 1 Dana (Ky.) 211. Contra, Rogers v. Clemmans, 26 Kan. 522.

94. Mankin v. Mankin, 91 Iowa 406, 59 N. W. 292; Grimes v. Ballard, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 625, holding that where the ancestor takes either an estate in fee, defeasible upon his death without issue, or a fee tail (converted by law into a fee simple) his alienation bars his issue, who in either case cannot claim otherwise than by descent. See also IV, A, 4, a.

95. In re Miller, 2 Lea (Tenn.) 54.

devised to a child who dies intestate is to be distributed according to the intestate law.[96]

2. Equitable Estate. The descent of land is controlled by the legal title, and the statutes of descent and distribution are to be construed and administered by rules of law and not upon equitable principles.[97] And although an equitable interest will descend as real estate,[98] it will not descend as ancestral property.[99] In the case of personal property, however, the rule that descent is controlled by the legal title does not apply.[1] When the legal and equitable titles unite in the same person the latter is merged in the former, and the whole estate descends according to the course of the legal title.[2]

3. Succession Dependent on Source of Intestate's Title[3] — a. In General. The general rule is that the land of an intestate obtained by gift, devise, or descent from an ancestor goes to the blood of the ancestor from whom it came, in preference to the next of kin of deceased not of his blood.[4] If, however, the statutes make no express provision for the descent of such property, the source of the intestate's title is not material.[5] The term "ancestor" in this connection includes collaterals and refers to antecessors in estate, and not necessarily to antecessors in pedigree.[6] The term as used in the statutes which are based upon this

96. Anonymous, 1 Dall. (Pa.) 20, 1 L. ed. 19.

97. Higgins v. Higgins, 57 Ohio St. 239, 48 N. E. 943; Patterson v. Lamson, 45 Ohio St. 77, 12 N. E. 531; Murdock v. Lantz, 34 Ohio St. 589 (holding that the fact that a married woman has parted with the possession of ancestral property in accordance with an agreement for an exchange, in which her husband joined, does not affect its descent as ancestral estate); Olmstead v. Douglass, 16 Ohio Cir. Ct. 171, 8 Ohio Cir. Dec. 465.

98. Roup v. Bradner, 19 Hun (N. Y.) 513; Bolton v. Ohio Nat. Bank, 50 Ohio St. 290, 33 N. E. 1115; Poor v. Considine, 6 Wall. (U. S.) 458, 18 L. ed. 869. And see Van Rensselaer v. Dunkin, 24 Pa. St. 252; Sill's Appeal, 1 Grant (Pa.) 235.

Surviving spouse see infra, III, B, 6, 7.

99. Nicholson v. Halsey, 1 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 417; Kihlken v. Kihlken, 59 Ohio St. 106, 51 N. E. 969; Higgins v. Higgins, 57 Ohio St. 239, 48 N. E. 943; Stembel v. Martin, 50 Ohio St. 495, 35 N. E. 208; Olmstead v. Douglass, 16 Ohio Cir. Ct. 171, 8 Ohio Cir. Dec. 465.

1. Bruer v. Johnson, 64 Ohio 7, 59 N. E. 741.

2. Nicholson v. Halsey, 1 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 417.

3. See also infra, III, A, 2; III, A, 9, h, (II); III, A, 11, b; III, A, 11, e, (II).

4. Arkansas.— Coolidge v. Burke, 69 Ark. 237, 62 S. W. 583; Campbell v. Ware, 27 Ark. 65; Kelly v. McGuire, 15 Ark. 555.

Indiana.— See Rountree v. Pursell, 11 Ind. App. 522, 39 N. E. 747.

Kentucky.— Driskell v. Hanks, 18 B. Mon. 855; Taylor v. Poston, 2 B. Mon. 5, holding, however, that this rule did not apply to descent of slaves.

Maryland.— Garner v. Wood, 71 Md. 37, 17 Atl. 1031; Stewart v. Jones, 8 Gill & J. 1.

Massachusetts.— Runey v. Edmands, 15 Mass. 291.

Michigan.— Henderson v. Sherman, 47 Mich. 267, 11 N. W. 153, holding that the statute applied only to real estate.

New Jersey.— Haring v. Van Buskirk, 8 N. J. Eq. 545.

North Carolina.— Wilkerson v. Bracken, 24 N. C. 315.

Ohio.— Brower v. Hunt, 18 Ohio St. 311; Freeman v. Allen, 17 Ohio St. 527; Penn v. Cox, 16 Ohio 30; Brewster v. Benedict, 14 Ohio 368.

Pennsylvania.—McWilliams v. Ross, 46 Pa. St. 369; Himelspark's Estate, 8 Pa. Dist. 183; In re Lee, 14 Lanc. Bar 12.

United States.— See Gardner v. Collins, 2 Pet. 58, 7 L. ed. 347, under Rhode Island statute.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," §§ 42, 45.

Construction of special statutes.— Austin v. Wight, 38 Conn. 405; White v. White, 19 Ohio St. 531; In re Miller, 2 Lea (Tenn.) 54; Perkins v. Simonds, 28 Wis. 90.

5. California.— In re Pearson, 110 Cal. 524, 42 Pac. 960.

Mississippi.— Hickey v. Gilbert, 1 How. 32.

Missouri.— Peacock v. Smart, 17 Mo. 402.

New Hampshire.— Prescott v. Carr, 29 N. H. 453, 61 Am. Dec. 652.

Tennessee.— Penniman v. Francisco, 1 Heisk. 511.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," §§ 42, 48.

Under a New Jersey statute, where the case of an intestate leaving lands received from the part of his or her mother by descent, devise, or gift was singled out, it was held that "from the part of his or her mother" meant not merely from the mother herself, but from the line of the maternal blood or ancestors. Banta v. Demarest, 24 N. J. L. 431.

6. See Cornett v. Hough, 136 Ind. 387, 35 N. E. 699 (where a husband who had left his property by will to his wife was held to come within the meaning of the term rule means the immediate ancestor from whom the estate descended, and not one from whom it remotely descended.[7] The title to the land itself must have come to the intestate directly from the ancestor in order to come within the rule,[8] and it must have come by gift, devise, or descent.[9] The propinquity of kinship is determined by the canons of descent,[10] and the persons to whom such property descends are those "of the blood of the ancestor" nearest to the intestate in consanguinity.[11]

"ancestor"); Wheeler v. Clutterbuck, 52 N. Y. 67; Adams v. Smith, 20 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 60; Emanuel v. Ennis, 48 N. Y. Super. Ct. 430; Springer v. Fortune, 2 Handy (Ohio) 52, 12 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 325. See infra, III, A, 1, b.

7. Connecticut.— Clark v. Shailer, 46 Conn. 119; Buckingham v. Jacques, 37 Conn. 402.

Kentucky.— Driskell v. Hanks, 18 B. Mon. 855.

New York.— Wheeler v. Clutterbuck, 52 N. Y. 67; Hyatt v. Pugsley, 33 Barb. 373; Emanuel v. Ennis, 48 N. Y. Super. Ct. 430; Adams v. Anderson, 23 Misc. 705, 53 N. Y. Suppl. 141.

Ohio.— Brower v. Hunt, 18 Ohio St. 311; Prickett's Lessee v. Parker, 3 Ohio St. 394; Curren v. Taylor, 19 Ohio 36.

Rhode Island.— Morris v. Potter, 10 R. I. 58.

Virginia.— Walkers v. Boaz, 2 Rob. 485, where five children inherited land from their mother and two died under age, leaving the father. It was held that the share of the child dying first went to the remaining four, and on the death of the second the share he inherited from his mother went to the remaining three, but that which he inherited from his brother went to the father.

United States.— See Gardner v. Collins, 2 Pet. 58, 7 L. ed. 347, under the Rhode Island statute.

But see Wilkerson v. Bracken, 24 N. C. 315, holding that where an estate came to a person through a series of descents or settlements, and that person died without issue, it resulted back to those of his collateral relations who would be heirs of the ancestor from whom it originally descended, or by whom it was originally settled. See also Stewart v. Jones, 8 Gill & J. (Md.) 1.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 42 et seq. And see infra, III, A, 1, b.

8. Arkansas.— West v. Williams, 15 Ark. 682, holding that a remainder-man under the will of an ancestor, taking the estate after the death of the life-tenant, took an ancestral estate.

Connecticut.— Bristol v. Austin, 40 Conn. 438; Terry's Appeal, 28 Conn. 339, holding that land purchased with the proceeds of a sale of ancestral estate did not become ancestral estate.

Indiana.— Cornett v. Hough, 136 Ind. 387, 35 N. E. 699, holding that lands obtained by an intestate by foreclosure of a mortgage received under her husband's will or by the taking of a quitclaim deed in satisfaction of such a mortgage came to her by purchase, and not "by gift, devise, or descent" from an ancestor.

Massachusetts.— Goodrich v. Adams, 138 Mass. 552. Where a person takes an estate by inheritance from a more remote ancestor, by right of representation of a nearer ancestor, he cannot be regarded as taking it by inheritance from the latter. Sedgwick v. Minot, 6 Allen 171.

Missouri.— Barnum v. Barnum, 119 Mo. 63, 24 S. W. 780.

New York.— Champlin v. Baldwin, 1 Paige 562. But see Conkling v. Brown, 57 Barb. 265, 8 Abb. Pr. N. S. 345; Adams v. Smith, 20 Abb. N. Cas. 60.

Ohio.— Russell v. Bruer, 64 Ohio St. 1, 59 N. E. 740; Patterson v. Lamson, 45 Ohio St. 77, 12 N. E. 531. holding that land bought by a father as a wedding gift to his daughter, but deeded directly to the daughter, was not ancestral estate.

Rhode Island.— McCabe, Petitioner, 15 R. I. 330, 5 Atl. 79 (holding that under a statute providing that if a ward's real estate is sold by her guardian by order of the court, the surplus remaining at the death of the ward descends to her heirs as real estate; such surplus of the sale of an ancestral estate by the guardian must be treated as ancestral estate); Watson v. Thompson, 12 R. I. 466.

But see Garner v. Wood, 71 Md. 37, 17 Atl. 1031.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," §§ 42, 45.

Partition among tenants in common.— It seems that the partition of land among tenants in common by mutual exchange of deeds to specific portions does not destroy its ancestral character. Day v. Carter, 31 Cinc. L. Bul. 71. Wilson v. Hall, 6 Ohio Cir. Ct. 570, however, is apparently to the contrary.

9. Thus where intestate's mother inherited land from another son, and it came to the intestate by forfeiture incurred by his mother by a second marriage, it was held that the land did not come within the statute. Cutter v. Waddingham, 22 Mo. 206. See infra, II, E, 4.

The imposition of conditions or encumbrances in a devise will not change the devisee into a purchaser. Kinney v. Glasgow, 53 Pa. St. 141.

10. Pierce v. Pierce, 14 R. I. 514; Smith v. Smith, 4 R. I. 1.

11. Arkansas.— Oliver v. Vance, 34 Ark. 564, holding that an estate derived from a paternal uncle goes to brothers in preference to the mother or paternal aunt.

b. Property Derived From Parent. Unless otherwise provided by statute, land inherited by an intestate from a parent will in default of issue go to the line on the part of the parent from whom the land was derived.[12] Provision is sometimes expressly made by statute for the disposition of property of an intestate derived from a parent,[13] but such statutes apply only to cases coming strictly within their terms,[14] and they have reference only to an immediate, and not to a mediate, Michigan.— Ryan v. Andrews, 21 Mich. 229, holding that the exclusion of all those not of the blood of the ancestor does not divert the inheritance from the nearest of kin.

New Jersey.— Miller v. Speer, 38 N. J. Eq. 567.

New York.— Beebe v. Griffing, 14 N. Y. 235; Emanuel v. Ennis, 48 N. Y. Super. Ct. 430, holding that relatives of the "blood" of the ancestor include relatives of the half blood.

Ohio.— Brower v. Hunt, 18 Ohio St. 311; Dunn v. Evans, 7 Ohio 169, holding that if after land has been vested in the next of kin of the blood of the ancestor, a brother of half blood is born, it passes immediately to him. But see Drake v. Rogers, 13 Ohio St. 21, to the contrary.

Pennsylvania.— Welles' Estate, 161 Pa. St. 218, 28 Atl. 1116, 1117 (half brothers of ancestor not of his blood); Robert's Appeal, 39 Pa. St. 417 (holding that a mother cannot inherit from her intestate son land inherited by him from his father, as she is not "of the blood of" her husband, and a father cannot inherit from an intestate daughter land derived by her from her mother); Moyer v. Thomas, 38 Pa. St. 426; Irwin v. Covode, 24 Pa. St. 162 (half brothers and half sisters).

Rhode Island.— Smith v. Smith, 4 R. I. 1, holding that the mother, brothers, and sisters of an intestate being, by the rule established by the statute, of the same degree of kindred to the intestate, property derived from a brother by descent passes to them in equal shares.

United States.— Cole v. Batley, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 2,977, 2 Curt. 562, holding that a father is "of the blood of" his daughter. And see Gardner v. Collins, 2 Pet. 58, 7 L. ed. 347, under Rhode Island statute.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," §§ 42, 45.

12. Arkansas.— Beard v. Mosely, 30 Ark. 517.

Indiana.— Murphy v. Henry, 35 Ind. 442.

Maryland.— Garner v. Wood, 71 Md. 37, 17 Atl. 1031; Stewart v. Jones, 1 Gill & J. 1.

Missouri.— Childress v. Cutter, 16 Mo. 24.

New York.— Morris v. Ward, 36 N. Y. 587; Wells v. Seeley, 47 Hun 109, 13 N. Y. St. 239 (holding that a devise from the father to the mother for life with remainder over, augmented by a brother's share under the same provision, came entirely from the father's side); Adams v. Anderson, 23 Misc. 705, 53 N. Y. Suppl. 141 (where a son inheriting land from his father conveyed it to his mother for a valuable consideration, and it was by her devised to him. It was held that the land must be deemed to have come to him on the part of his mother). And see Shires v. Shires, 76 N. Y. App. Div. 621, 78 N. Y. Suppl. 603, property conveyed by father to mother and inherited by son from her.

North Carolina.— Bell v. Dozier, 12 N. C. 333.

Ohio.— Stannard v. Case, 40 Ohio St. 211.

Pennsylvania.— Walker v. Dunshee, 38 Pa. St. 430; Parr v. Bankhart, 22 Pa. St. 291; In re Lee, 14 Lanc. Bar 12. See Shippen v. Izard, 1 Serg. & R. 222.

Tennessee.— Beaumont v. Irwin, 2 Sneed 291; Butler v. King, 2 Yerg. 115; Prichitt v. Kirkman, 2 Tenn. Ch. 390.

United States.— See Gardner v. Collins, 2 Pet. 58, 7 L. ed. 347, under Rhode Island statute.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 48.

13. As to such statutes see the following cases:

Arkansas.— Galloway v. Robinson, 19 Ark. 396; Kelly v. McGuire, 15 Ark. 555.

Indiana.— Rountree v. Pursell, 11 Ind. App. 522, 39 N. E. 747.

Kentucky.— Power v. Dougherty, 83 Ky. 187.

Maine.— Albee v. Vose, 76 Me. 448, paternal grandfather given no preference because property was inherited from father.

Maryland.— Garner v. Wood, 71 Md. 37, 17 Atl. 1031; Stewart v. Evans, 3 Harr. & J. 287.

Michigan.— Burke v. Burke, 34 Mich. 451.

New York.— Morris v. Ward, 36 N. Y. 587.

Ohio.— Doppler v. Clouwetter, 11 Ohio Cir. Dec. 374.

Pennsylvania.— Clepper v. Livergood, 5 Watts 113, holding, under a statute excluding the father where the estate of deceased child came on the part of his mother, that if such estate had been converted by his guardian into personalty, but could be readily identified and traced to the stock from which it came, it descended in the same manner as if the minor had survived his father. And see Shippen v. Izard, 1 Serg. & R. 222.

Tennessee.— Lucas v. Malone, 106 Tenn. 380, 61 S. W. 82.

Texas.— Pease v. Stone, 77 Tex. 551, 14 S. W. 161.

Virginia.— Liggon v. Fuqua, 6 Munf. 281, holding that on the death of an infant leaving no relatives except a grandmother and uncle in the paternal line, land inherited from his father went to the uncle.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 48.

14. Kentucky.— Cooksey v. Hill, 106 Ky. 297, 50 S. W. 235, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1873, hold-descent from a parent.[15] Where an intestate's brothers and sisters are the persons to take, the property goes to those who are children of the parent from whom the estate descended, whether they are of the whole blood or half blood in relation to the intestate, but brothers and sisters of the half blood who are not children of such parent are excluded.[16]

c. Descent of Minor's Property. In many states special provision is made by statute for the descent of property of intestate minors.[17]

d. Property Derived From Former Spouse. Apart from statute, property derived by a wife from her husband or vice versa does not, on her or his death intestate, descend as ancestral estate, as the relation of ancestor and heir cannot arise between husband and wife.[18] In some jurisdictions, however, it is otherwise by statute.[19] ing that statutes regulating descent of land derived from a parent do not apply to that derived from a grandparent.

Michigan.— Burke v. Burke, 34 Mich. 451.

New York.— Adams v. Anderson, 23 Misc. 705, 53 N. Y. Suppl. 141, holding that a statute providing that if an inheritance comes to an intestate through his mother it shall descend to her heirs, the term "inheritance" being defined in another section of the statute to mean real estate, did not apply to proceeds of a mortgage placed by the intestate on such real estate.

Pennsylvania.— Lewis v. Gorman, 5 Pa. St. 164, holding that land derived from the intestate's mother descended to his father's nephews in preference to the grandchildren of a brother of his maternal grandmother.

South Carolina.— Gilbert v. Hendricks, 2 Brev. 161, holding that a maternal aunt of the intestate was entitled to land inherited from his father in preference to children of a paternal uncle.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 48.

15. Smith v. Croom, 7 Fla. 81. See also Smith v. Smith, 2 Bush (Ky.) 520 (holding that a statute regulating the descent of an infant's property derived from one of his parents did not apply to property derived from a grandparent); Turner v. Patterson, 5 Dana (Ky.) 292. And see Case v. Wildridge, 4 Ind. 51; Gardner v. Collins, 2 Pet. (U. S.) 58, 7 L. ed. 437, Rhode Island statute. Compare Stewart v. Jones, 8 Gill & J. (Md.) 1.

16. Prescott v. Carr, 29 N. H. 453, 61 Am. Dec. 652; Ham v. Martin, 8 N. C. 423 (holding that an estate derived from a mother descends to the intestate's niece in preference to his sister of the half blood on the paternal side); Lucas v. Malone, 106 Tenn. 380, 61 S. W. 82; Lane v. Crutchfield, 3 Head (Tenn.) 452; Butler v. King, 2 Yerg. (Tenn.) 115; Galbreath v. Galbreath, (Tenn. Ch. 1900) 64 S. W. 361; Gardner v. Collins, 2 Pet. (U. S.) 58, 7 L. ed. 347 (Rhode Island statute).

17. Clark's Appeal, 58 Conn. 207, 20 Atl. 456 (holding under the Connecticut statute that land derived from an intestate minor's maternal grandfather passed to maternal uncles and aunts in preference to the minor's father); Smith v. Croom, 7 Fla. 81; Williams v. Williams, 91 Ky. 547, 16 S. W. 361, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 293 (holding that land derived from an intestate minor's father passed to the father's kindred in preference to the minor's mother); Smith v. Smith, 2 Bush (Ky.) 520; In re Welle, 161 Pa. St. 218, 28 Atl. 1116, 1117 (construing the Connecticut statute). See also infra, III, A, 9, c.

18. In re Proctor, 103 Iowa 232, 72 N. W. 516. On the death of a widow who has been twice married, the estate which vested in her on the death of her second husband will go to her children by her first husband as her heirs, to the exclusion of relatives of her second husband. Estate of Linehan, Myr. Prob. (Cal.) 83.

19. It is now provided in Ohio (Rev. St. § 4162) that property coming to an intestate from any former deceased husband or wife shall upon his or her death without issue descend to the lineal descendants of such former deceased husband or wife; and if there are no such descendants, then one half to the brothers and sisters of such intestate or their legal representatives and one half to the brothers and sisters of such deceased husband or wife or their personal representatives. See Ellis v. Ellis, 2 Ohio Cir. Dec. 105. The words "relict of a deceased husband or wife" are used to designate the relationship to a former married pair, of the survivor of a marriage union, and such relationship is not destroyed or changed by the subsequent marriage of such survivor. Spitler v. Hester, 42 Ohio St. 100. The words "any former deceased husband or wife" refer to any husband or wife who has died leaving a spouse to whom property has come, and is not confined to cases in which the intestate has had two or more husbands or wives who are deceased. Anderson v. Gilchrist, 44 Ohio St. 440, 8 N. E. 242. Half blood are not on an equality with whole blood under this statute. Stembel v. Martin, 50 Ohio St. 495, 35 N. E. 208; Martin v. Falconer, 5 Ohio Cir. Ct. 584. The legal "representatives" last referred to are the lineal descendants and not the collateral relatives of such brothers and sisters. Thomas v. Lett, 6 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 429, 4 Ohio N. P. 393. But if at the death of an intestate widow there should be living no descendants of her deceased husband, and

e. Descent of Lunatic's Property. A Tennessee statute provides that where a "lunatic or non compos mentis" dies intestate, and possessed of personalty derived from an intestate spouse, such property shall pass to the next of kin of the person from whom it was derived.[20]

f. Ancestral Character of Personal Property. Personal property, if it comes within the terms of the statutes, will assume the character of an ancestral estate.[21] If, however, it does not remain the same in specie as when the intestate received it, it does not retain its ancestral character, even though the change in form occurred while in the hands of the ancestor's executor or the intestate's guardian.[22]

4. Succession Dependent on Whether Intestate's Title Is by Purchase or by Descent. Lands which came to an intestate by purchase do not descend as ancestral estate, although they may have belonged to an ancestor. It is frequently necessary therefore and sometimes difficult to determine whether the title of the intestate was acquired by purchase or by descent.[23]

no brother or sister or legal representative of brother or sister, then the property will go, under the statute, to her brothers and sisters. Ellis v. Ellis, 2 Ohio Cir. Dec. 105. Money coming to a widow as a beneficiary of a policy on her husband's life is not within such a statute. Richardson v. Michener, 11 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 830, 30 Cinc. L. Bul. 120. Nor is land acquired by purchase with personalty derived from a deceased husband. Russell v. Bruer, 64 Ohio St. 1, 59 N. E. 740. The law in force at the time of the death of the former spouse determines the character in which the surviving husband or wife takes the estate. Birney v. Wilson, 11 Ohio St. 426.

Change of law.— The legislature has power to change the rule of descent from the surviving spouse at any time before his or her death. Caruthers v. Tarvin, 8 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 344, 7 Cinc. L. Bul. 127 [affirmed in 8 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 451, 8 Cinc. L. Bul. 21]. And see supra, II, C, 3.

20. Stratton Claimants v. Morris Claimants, 89 Tenn. 497, 15 S. W. 87, 12 L. R. A. 70.

21. Rountree v. Pursell, 11 Ind. App. 522, 39 N. E. 747, holding that the term "inheritance" in the statute (Ind. Rev. St. (1894) § 2626) providing that if the "inheritance" came to intestate "by gift, devise, or descent" from the paternal line, it shall go to the next of kin on the paternal side, applies to personal property which came to the intestate by bequest. Compare infra, III, A, 11, b.

22. Rountree v. Pursell, 11 Ind. App. 522, 39 N. E. 747.

23. See supra, II, E, 3, a, note 9.

"Descent" and "purchase" see supra, I, note 1.

Title by descent.— In the following cases title was held to have been derived by descent: Conkling v. Brown, 8 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 345 (title of heirs to land acquired by a voluntary partition and mutual releases); Carter v. Day, 59 Ohio St. 96, 51 N. E. 967, 69 Am. St. Rep. 777 (title of parcener dying seized of a parcel, where the estate in common came by devise); Freeman v. Allen, 17 Ohio St. 527 (where one of the tenants in common, upon partition, elected to take the land, title to so much of it as came to him by inheritance); Higgins v. Higgins, 11 Ohio Cir. Ct. 131 (title of heirs obtained by enforcing specific performance of a contract for purchase made by the intestate, the heir securing the means to pay the balance of the purchase-money by a sale of a part of the land, the intestate having entered into possession before his death); Montgomery v. Petriken, 29 Pa. St. 118 (title acquired by devise from grandfather and by descent from father).

Title by purchase.— In the following cases title was held to have been acquired by purchase:

California.— In re Donahue, 36 Cal. 329, title of a devisee, the court holding that to come within the statute as an estate acquired by "inheritance," the title must have been cast upon the heir by the single operation of the law.

Indiana.— Spencer v. McGonagle, 107 Ind. 410, 8 N. E. 266, title of a widow purchasing at a sale of land of her intestate husband under partition proceedings.

Kentucky.— Churchill v. Reamer, 8 Bush 256, title of a remainder-man under a deed upon the death of his mother, the life-tenant.

Maryland.— Latrobe v. Carter, 83 Md. 279, 34 Atl. 472, title of a son on the death of his mother to land devised to her by her mother, the latter's antenuptial contract providing that if she died intestate her property would descend to such persons as would have been her heirs if there had been no marriage.

New Jersey.— Holme v. Shinn, 62 N. J. Eq. I, 49 Atl. 151, title acquired by conveyance by a devisee, his wife and only child, of all their interest to a third party, who reconveyed to them as joint tenants.

North Carolina.— Ballard v. Griffin, 4 N. C. 237, title of devisee in tail upon converting the estate into a fee simple.

Ohio.— Brown v. Whaley, 58 Ohio St. 654, 49 N. E. 479, 65 Am. St. Rep. 793 (title of daughter to a conveyance made in consideration of love and affection, and of her obedience and faithful services, and of one dollar); Brower v. Hunt, 18 Ohio St. 311 (where specific tracts of land had been allotted to co-devisees, in accordance with the will, and afterward one conveyed his tract to a co-

5. Descent of Remainders, Reversions, and Executory Devises — a. In General. By the common law, the ancestor from whom the inheritance was taken by descent must have had actual seizin, or seizin in deed, of the lands in order to transmit them to his heir. It is the seizin which makes a person the stirps or stock from which all future inheritance by right of blood is derived, upon the maxim non jus sed seisina facit stipitem.[24] Accordingly, under the common law, if a person entitled to the reversion or remainder after a freehold estate died during the continuance of the particular estate, he could not transmit his interest to his heirs, as he had never had seizin, but the heirs of the person last actually seized were entitled to the inheritance.[25] The common-law rule, however, has been greatly modified by statute so that now the prevailing rule is that actual seizin is not necessary, and any vested interest of an intestate descends to his heir.[26] And if a person entitled to a reversionary interest in personal property dies before the particular interest expires his interest goes to his personal representatives and eventually to his distributees.[27]

b. Title Acquired by Intestate by Purchase. One who has a vested remainder in fee simple, expectant on the determination of a present freehold estate, where the estate was acquired by purchase, is held to have such a seizin in law as will constitute him a stirps or stock of descent aside from any statutory provision.[28]

6. Reversion of Gift. When an estate has come to an intestate by gift or by a conveyance in consideration of love and affection, it is frequently provided that if he dies without children or other descendants, it shall revert to the donor, if living, subject to the rights of the husband or the wife of the donee.[29] Even where devisee, for an expressed consideration, but in fact for a like conveyance by the latter to him); Freeman v. Allen, 17 Ohio St. 527 (where one of the tenants in common, upon partition, elected to take the land, title to so much of it as did not come to him by inheritance); Helfinger v. Wolff, 11 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 906, 30 Cinc. L. Bul. 383 (title of heir who conveyed the estate without consideration to one who immediately reconveyed it).

Pennsylvania.— Walker v. Dunshee, 38 Pa. St. 430, title of widow acquired by devise from her husband, the widow taking the land in lieu of dower.

Rhode Island.— Shepard v. Taylor, 16 R. I. 166, 13 Atl. 105, title of minor to land devised by his grandfather in trust for his son with power in the trustee to convey to the son or his heirs as he might think proper; the trustee having exercised the power in favor of the minor.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 50.

24. 4 Kent Comm. 385. See also 2 Blackstone Comm. 209.

25. Delaware.—Kean v. Hoffecker, 2 Harr. 103, 29 Am. Dec. 336, executory devise.

New York.— Jackson v. Hilton, 16 Johns. 96; Bates v. Shraeder, 13 Johns. 260; Jackson v. Hendrick, 3 Johns. Cas. 214.

North Carolina.—Lawrence v. Pitt, 46 N. C. 344.

Virginia.— Dickenson v. Holloway, 6 Munf. 422.

United States.— Cook v. Hammond, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,159, 4 Mason 467.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 51.

26. Connecticut.— Hillhouse v. Chester, 3 Day 166, 3 Am. Dec. 265.

Georgia.— Wright v. Wright, 99 Ga. 324, 25 S. E. 673.

Kentucky.— Steward v. Barclay, 2 Bush 550.

Michigan.— Curtis v. Fowler, 66 Mich. 696, 33 N. W. 804.

New Jersey.— Moore v. Rake, 26 N. J. L. 574.

New York.— People v. Conklin, 2 Hill 67 (heirs of remainder-man taking by devise); Lakey v. Scott, 15 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 148.

North Carolina.— Clark v. Cox, 115 N. C. 93, 20 S. E. 176 (holding that where the person who is to take is certain, but the event is uncertain, a contingent remainder, conditional limitation, or executory devise, is transmissible by descent); Hackney v. Griffin, 59 N. C. 381; Robertson v. Fleming, 57 N. C. 387.

Pennsylvania.— Cote's Appeal, 79 Pa. St. 235.

South Carolina.— Hicks v. Pegues, 4 Rich. Eq. 413.

Vermont.— Gourley v. Woodbury, 42 Vt. 395.

United States.— Gardner v. Collins, 2 Pet. 58, 7 L. ed. 347; Cook v. Hammond, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,159, 4 Mason 467.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 51.

27. Matter of Kane, 2 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 375; Hoes v. Van Hoesen, 1 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 379. And see Edelen v. Middleton, 9 Gill (Md.) 161; Colson v. Martin, 62 N. C. 125.

Rights of surviving spouse see infra, III, B, 6, c; III, B, 7, b.

28. Turner v. Patterson, 5 Dana (Ky.) 292; Wendell v. Crandall, 1 N. Y. 491; Vanderheyden v. Crandall, 2 Den. (N. Y.) 9.

29. Mitchell v. Parkhurst, 17 Ind. 146; Gillispie v. Day, 19 La. 263; Rouanet v. Hunt, 17 La. 407 [overruling Prejean v. Le Blanc, the title has never been in the donor, as where a father purchases land but has it conveyed by the grantor directly to his daughter, the case may come within such a statute.[30] Such a statute applies to an estate received by a wife by gift or conveyance from her husband in consideration of love and affection.[31]

III. PERSONS ENTITLED AND THEIR RESPECTIVE SHARES.

A. Heirs and Next of Kin — 1. KINDRED IN GENERAL — a. Meaning of Term "Next of Kin." The words "next of kin" properly denote the persons nearest of kindred to the decedent, that is, those who are most nearly related to him by blood; but they are sometimes construed to mean those who are entitled to take under the statute of distributions, and sometimes to include other persons.[32] They are usually limited in legal meaning, as in common use, to blood relations, and do not include a husband or wife.[33]

b. Meaning of Term "Ancestor." In its popular sense the term "ancestor" means one who has preceded another in a direct line of descent; a lineal ascendant or progenitor;[34] and it is sometimes used in this sense in statutes of descent and distribution.[35] Generally, however, it is used in such statutes in a technical sense, to denote any one from whom an estate is immediately inherited, although he may not be a progenitor.[36] To this extent the term is synonymous with "kindred,"[37] and embraces both lineals and collaterals.[38] It may include for example a child,[39] a husband or wife,[40] a brother,[41] or an uncle.[42]

c. Degrees of Kindred. Degrees of kindred are to be reckoned by the statutes directing the course of descent, as positive rules establishing such degrees.[43] Under the rule of the civil law, adopted in most jurisdictions, the degree of 3 La. 19]; Butler v. King, 2 Yerg. (Tenn.) 115; Whipple v. Latrobe, 20 R. I. 508, 40 Atl. 160.

30. Dolin v. Leonard, 144 Ind. 410, 43 N. E. 568.

31. Dolin v. Leonard, 144 Ind. 410, 43 N. E. 568 [overruling Thomas v. Thomas, 18 Ind. 9].

32. Black L. Dict. And see Slosson v. Lynch, 43 Barb. (N. Y.) 147, 28 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 417. See also NEXT OF KIN.

Construction of statutes see II, C, 2.

"Heir" see supra, II, A, 3.

33. Haraden v. Larrabee, 113 Mass. 430; Murdock v. Ward, 67 N. Y. 387; Dickens v. New York Cent. R. Co., 23 N. Y. 158; Dewey v. Goodenough, 56 Barb. (N. Y.) 54; Knickerbacker v. Seymour, 46 Barb. (N. Y.) 198; Slosson v. Lynch, 43 Barb. (N. Y.) 147, 28 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 417; Merchants' Ins. Co. v. Hinman, 15 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 182. Compare, however, Merchants' Ins. Co. v. Hinman, 34 Barb. (N. Y.) 410; Steel v. Kurtz, 28 Ohio St. 191. See also infra, III, B, 2; and NEXT OF KIN.

34. Black L. Dict. See Mitchell v. Thorne, 134 N. Y. 536, 32 N. E. 10, 30 Am. St. Rep. 699.

35. Pratt v. Atwood, 108 Mass. 40; Valentine v. Wetherill, 31 Barb. (N. Y.) 655.

36. Connecticut.— Clark v. Shailer, 46 Conn. 119; Buckingham v. Jacques, 37 Conn. 402.

Florida.— Smith v. Croom, 7 Fla. 871.

Indiana.— Cornett v. Hough, 136 Ind. 387, 35 N. E. 699; Murphy v. Henry, 35 Ind. 442; Greenlee v. Davis, 19 Ind. 60.

Massachusetts.— Lavery v. Egan, 143 Mass. 389, 391, 9 N. E. 747. But see Pratt v. Atwood, 108 Mass. 40.

Michigan.— Bailey v. Bailey, 25 Mich. 185, 188.

New Jersey.— Den v. D'Hart, 3 N. J. L. 481.

New York.— Wheeler v. Clutterbuck, 52 N. Y. 67; McCarthy v. Marsh, 5 N. Y. 263; Emanuel v. Ennis, 48 N. Y. Super. Ct. 430. See also Righter v. Ludwig, 39 Misc. 416, 80 N. Y. Suppl. 16; Matter of Kene, 8 Misc. 102, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 1078. But see Valentine v. Wetherill, 31 Barb. (N. Y.) 655.

Ohio.— Brower v. Hunt, 18 Ohio St. 311; Birney v. Wilson, 11 Ohio St. 426; Prickett v. Parker, 3 Ohio St. 394; Penn v. Cox, 16 Ohio 30; Brewster v. Benedict, 14 Ohio 368.

Rhode Island.— Morris v. Potter, 10 R. I. 58.

England.—Zetland v. Lord Advocate, 3 App. Cas. 505, 38 L. T. Rep. N. S. 297, 26 Wkly. Rep. 725.

See also supra, II, E, 3, a.

"Ancestor" must be of blood of intestate. — Birney v. Wilson, 11 Ohio St. 426, 431.

37. Greenlee v. Davis, 19 Ind. 60.

38. Wheeler v. Clutterbuck, 52 N. Y. 67; McCarthy v. Marsh, 5 N. Y. 263; Righter v. Ludwig, 39 Misc. (N. Y.) 416, 80 N. Y. Suppl. 16. But see Pratt v. Atwood, 108 Mass. 40; Valentine v. Wetherill, 31 Barb. (N. Y.) 655. And see infra, II, E, 3, a.

39. Lavery v. Egan, 143 Mass. 389, 391, 9 N. E. 747.

40. Cornett v. Hough, 136 Ind. 387, 35 N. E. 699.

41. Prickett v. Parker, 3 Ohio St. 394.

42. Brewster v. Benedict, 14 Ohio 368.

43. Pierce v. Pierce, 14 R. I. 514; Smith v. Smith, 4 R. I. 1.

relationship is ascertained by counting the sum of the two lines, that is, up the line to the common ancestor and then down the other line.[44] According to the rules of the canon law, however, which applies in cases which are not within the statutes, the degree of kindred is ascertained by counting down from the common ancestor to the more remote.[45] In ascertaining who are the next of kin the court is not limited in the line of lineal ascent to that of grandfather or grandmother. Such next of kin may be found in the line of lineal ascent further removed in degree of kindred.[46]

d. Exclusive Rights of Next of Kin. Kindred of the degree nearest to the intestate succeed to the estate, to the exclusion of those of more distant degrees.[47]

e. Distribution as Between Members of Class of Distributees. Where the next of kin of the intestate who are entitled to share in the estate are in equal degree to the deceased, they share equally in his estate.[48]

f. Rights of Kindred of the Half Blood.[49] At common law collateral kindred of an intestate could not inherit if they were kindred of the half blood only,[50] but this rule has been changed by statutes varying in the different jurisdictions. In some states the statutes give kindred of the half blood the same rights as those of the whole blood,[51] while in others kindred of the half blood inherit only where there are no kindred of the whole blood in the same degree,[52] and in others kindred of the half blood inherit a less share than kindred of the whole blood.[53] Under some statutes collateral kindred of the half blood take equally with those of the whole blood, except where the property is ancestral estate, in which case they share only where they are of the blood of the ancestor from whom the estate came,[54] provided in some jurisdictions they are kindred in the same

44. District of Columbia.— Matter of Aflick, 3 MacArthur 95, paternal grandfather nearer of kin than a maternal uncle.

Illinois.— Barger v. Hobbs, 67 Ill. 592.

Indiana.— Bruce v. Baker, Wils. 462, great grandmother one degree nearer than great uncle or great aunt.

Iowa.— Martindale v. Kendrick, 4 Greene 307.

Louisiana.— Walker v. Vicksburg, etc., R. Co., 110 La. 718, 34 So. 749, children are descendants in the first degree, and grandchildren are descendants in the second degree.

Pennsylvania.—Ranck's Appeal, 113 Pa. St. 98, 4 Atl. 924; McDowell v. Addams, 45 Pa. St. 430; Fister's Estate, 2 Woodw. 323; Nichol v. Hall, 28 Pittsb. Leg. J. 239.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 59.

The civil law as to degrees of kindred is adopted in most states. See supra, II, B, 3.

Construction of particular statutes.— Rowley v. Stray, 32 Mich. 70; Jackson v. Fitzsimmons, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 9, 24 Am. Dec. 198.

45. Wetter v. Habersham, 60 Ga. 193; State v. Greenwell, 4 Gill & J. (Md.) 407; McDowell v. Addams, 45 Pa. St. 430.

46. Bruce v. Baker, Wils. (Ind.) 462.

47. Witsell v. Linder, 3 Desauss. (S. C.) 481, holding that relatives in the fifth degree succeeded to the estate of any intestate to the exclusion of those of the sixth degree.

48. Knapp v. Windsor, 6 Cush. (Mass.) 156; Hill v. Nye, 17 Hun (N. Y.) 457.

Taking by representation in case of different degrees see infra, III, A, 6, e; III, A, 11, g; III, A, 12.

49. See also infra, III, A, 9, h; III, A, 11, e.

50. 2 Blackstone Comm. 227; 2 Tiffany Real Prop. § 430. And see Brown v. Brown, 1 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 360; In re Kirkendall, 43 Wis. 167, 174.

51. Oglesby Coal Co. v. Pasco, 79 Ill. 164 (holding that a statute providing that in "no case shall there be a distinction between the kindred of the whole and the half blood" is not confined to cases where the ancestor from whom the estate was derived leaves children by different mothers, but applies equally to children of the same mother who have different fathers); Larrabee v. Tucker, 116 Mass. 562; In re Bell, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 191; Hatch v. Hatch, 21 Vt. 450. See infra, III, A, 9, h, (I).

52. 1 Stimson Am. St. L. § 3133. And see Lyon v. Lyon, 24 Ohio Cir. Ct. 498.

53. Estes v. Nicholson, 39 Fla. 759, 23 So. 490; King v. Middlesborough Town, etc., Co., 106 Ky. 73, 50 S. W. 37, 1108, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1859. And see Berg v. Berg, 105 Ky. 80, 48 S. W. 432, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1083. See also infra, III, A, 9, h, (I).

54. Arkansas.— Kelly v. McGuire, 15 Ark. 555.

California.— In re Smith, 131 Cal. 433, 63 Pac. 729, 82 Am. St. Rep. 358.

Indiana.— Robertson v. Burrell, 40 Ind. 328; Aldridge v. Montgomery, 9 Ind. 302.

Iowa.— Neeley v. Wise, 44 Iowa 544.

Maryland.— Lowe v. Maccubbin, 1 Harr. & J. 550.

Michigan.— Ryan v. Andrews, 21 Mich. 229.

Missouri.— Cutter v. Waddingham, 22 Mo. 206.

New York.— Valentine v. Wetherill, 31 Barb. 655.

Ohio.— See Stembel v. Martin, 50 Ohio St.

degree.[55] In the United States there is no distinction between kindred of the whole blood and kindred of the half blood unless it is made by the statutes.[56] The words "next of kin" include kindred of the half blood as well as kindred of the whole blood.[57] And the same is true of the words "brothers and sisters," [58] and of the word "cousins," [59] etc.

2. Order of Succession in General. The rights of descent flow from the legal status of the parties, and where the status is fixed the law supplies the rules of descent.[60] The Roman law of succession, and also the Spanish, provided first for descendants, then ascendants, and lastly collaterals, paying no regard to the line from which the property came, except in the case of a brother leaving paternal and maternal property and half brothers and sisters on both sides.[61] The common law, however, proceeding upon feudal reasons, after the descendants of the last owner were exhausted, looked to the source from which the property came, and it descended to the collateral relations only where they were of the blood of the first purchaser.[62] In the United States the statutes of the several states direct the order of succession, but when a case does not come within the terms of a statute the common-law rule prevails and the heir at common law is entitled to an intestate's real estate.[63]

3. Shifting Inheritances. At common law, although land descended to the person who was the heir at the time of the intestate's death, his inheritance was divested upon the subsequent birth at any time of another person so related to the intestate that he would have inherited if he had been living at the time the descent was cast, and the inheritance shifted to the latter.[64] This doctrine of 495, 35 N. E. 208; White v. White, 19 Ohio St. 531; Cliver v. Sanders, 8 Ohio St. 501.

Pennsylvania.— Simpson v. Hall, 4 Serg. & R. 337.

Wisconsin.— In re Kirkendall, 43 Wis. 167; Perkins v. Simonds, 28 Wis. 90.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 103. And see infra, III, A, 9, h, (II).

Personal property.— Some statutes thus excluding kindred of the half blood have been held not to be applicable to personal property. Kelly v. McGuire, 15 Ark. 555; Shuman v. Shuman, 80 Wis. 479, 50 N. W. 670; In re Kirkendall, 43 Wis. 167.

55. In re Smith, 131 Cal. 433, 63 Pac. 729, 82 Am. St. Rep. 358. And see Ryan v. Andrews, 21 Mich. 229; In re Kirkendall, 43 Wis. 167.

56. California.—In re Lynch, 132 Cal. 214, 64 Pac. 284.

Delaware.— McKinney v. Mellon, 3 Houst. 277.

Georgia.— Ector v. Grant, 112 Ga. 557, 37 S. E. 984, 53 L. R. A. 723.

Indiana.— Cox v. Matthews, 17 Ind. 367.

Kentucky.— Clay v. Cousins, 1 T. B. Mon. 75.

Michigan.— Rowley v. Stray, 32 Mich. 70.

New Hampshire.— Prescott v. Carr, 29 N. H. 453, 61 Am. Dec. 652.

South Carolina.— Edwards v. Barksdale, 2 Hill Eq. 416.

Vermont.— Brown v. Brown, 1 D. Chipm. 360.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 102. And see infra, III, A, 9, h.

57. McKinney v. Mellon, 3 Houst. (Del.) 277; Edwards v. Barksdale, 2 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 416.

58. The words "brothers and sisters of decedent" in a statute include those of the half blood as well as those of the whole blood. In re Lynch, 132 Cal. 214, 64 Pac. 284; In re Smith, 131 Cal. 433, 63 Pac. 729, 82 Am. St. Rep. 358; Rowley v. Stray, 32 Mich. 70; Prescott v. Carr, 29 N. H. 453, 61 Am. Dec. 652; Brown v. Brown, 1 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 360. The same has been held of the words "brothers and sisters of the ancestor." Cliver v. Sanders, 8 Ohio St. 501; Burdick v. Shaw, 10 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 533, 8 Ohio N. P. 22.

59. Ector v. Grant, 112 Ga. 557, 37 S. E. 984, 53 L. R. A. 723.

60. Humphries v. Davis, 100 Ind. 274, 50 Am. Rep. 788.

Adopted children and parents by adoption see Adoption of Children, 1 Cyc. 931.

Effect of alienage see Aliens, 2 Cyc. 89, 94.

Effect of illegitimacy see Bastards, 5 Cyc. 639.

Effect of murder of ancestor by heir or next of kin see infra, III, A, 14.

61. See Cutter v. Waddingham, 22 Mo. 206.

62. 2 Blackstone Comm. 220; Coke Litt. § 4; 2 Tiffany Real Prop. § 432. And see Cutter v. Waddingham, 22 Mo. 206, 259, showing the distinction in this respect between the civil and the common law. See also supra, II, E, 3, a; infra, III, A, 11, b.

63. Johnson v. Haines, 4 Dall. (Pa.) 64, 1 L. ed. 743; Packer v. Nixon, 9 Pet. (U. S.) 793, 9 L. ed. 314, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,653.

When common law prevails see supra, II, B, 4.

64. 2 Blackstone Comm. 208; 1 Coke Litt. 11*b*. And see Bates v. Brown, 5 Wall. (U. S.) 710, 18 L. ed. 535.

shifting inheritances was recognized in some of the earlier cases in the United States,[65] but in others it has been repudiated as not applicable under the statutes.[66]

4. Disposition of Estate on Failure of Kindred Within Certain Degrees. Aside from providing for an escheat to the state on the failure of kindred, special provision is sometimes made by statute for the disposition of the estate on the failure of kindred within certain degrees.[67]

5. Necessary or Forced Heirs — a. In General. Ordinarily a person has no such right to the estate of another as can be asserted against his disposition thereof by will or gift.[68] It is occasionally provided, however, that a certain portion of the estate of a deceased person shall be divided among his descendants, parents, or brothers and sisters, notwithstanding an attempted disposition thereof by gift or will. A person who thus succeeds to the estate of a deceased person or to any part thereof is termed a forced heir.[69] Thus in Lonisiana it is provided that donations inter vivos or mortis causa cannot exceed two thirds of the property of the disposer, if he leaves at his decease a legitimate child; one half, if he leaves two children; and one third if he leaves three or a greater number.[70] Natural children cannot be regarded as forced heirs.[71] If the disposer, having no children, leave a father, a mother, or both, donations inter vivos or mortis causa cannot exceed two thirds of the property.[72] Under this statute it is held that if only one parent survives, such parent is forced heir for one third of the estate if the child left a will, but is entitled to only one fourth if no will.[73] Only the father and mother can be forced heirs in the ascending line;[74] but neither is the forced heir of an illegitimate child. Such child can dispose of his whole estate.[75] Collaterals are forced heirs in no event.[76] Forced heirs cannot be postponed by the intervention of a life-estate in the portion to which they are entitled.[77] Property which is the subject of a particular legacy will not be reduced to provide for the forced heir unless the value of the residue falls short of the legal reservation.[78]

65. Den v. Black, 27 N. C. 463; Den v. Whedbee, 12 N. C. 160; Cutlar v. Cutlar, 9 N. C. 324. See infra, III, A, 9, d.

66. Cox v. Matthews, 17 Ind. 367; Drake v. Rogers, 13 Ohio St. 21 [overruling Dunn v. Evans, 7 Ohio 169, which had been followed in Springer v. Fortune, 2 Handy (Ohio) 52, 12 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 325]; Bates v. Brown, 5 Wall. (U. S.) 710, 18 L. ed. 535. See also under particular statutes Grant v. Bustin, 21 N. C. 77; Melton v. Davidson, 86 Tenn. 129, 5 S. W. 530; Grimes v. Orrand, 2 Heisk. (Tenn.) 298.

67. In Florida it is provided (Rev. St. § 1820) that if an intestate decedent leaves neither husband or wife, nor children or their descendants, nor father or mother, nor brother or sister, or their descendants, the inheritance shall be divided into moieties, one of which shall go to the paternal, and the other to the maternal, kindred. Estes v. Nicholson, 39 Fla. 759, 23 So. 490, also holding that the section of the statute (1823) directing that collaterals of the half blood should inherit only half as much as collaterals of the whole blood does not interfere with the operation of such provision.

In Maryland, by an early statute, the personal estate of persons dying intestate, without any relations within the fifth degree of consanguinity, were distributed to certain schools or colleges of the county in which the deceased resided. Thomas v. Frederick County School, 7 Gill & J. 369.

68. Uhlich v. Muhlke, 61 Ill. 499; Thorne v. Cosand, 160 Ind. 566, 67 N. E. 257. And see infra, III, A, 13; IV, A, 1; and Wills.

69. La. Civ. Code, art. 1495; Hagerty v. Hagerty, 12 Tex. 456. See also Wells v. Goss, 110 La. 347, 34 So. 470; Cox v. Von Ahlefeldt, 105 La. 543, 30 So. 175; Hoggatt v. Gibbs, 15 La. Ann. 700.

Rights of children omitted from will see infra, III, A, 13, c.

Conveyances in fraud of heirs see infra, IV, A, 1, b.

Gifts and donations by ancestor see infra, IV, A, 1, c.

70. La. Civ. Code, art. 1480; Louis v. Richard, 12 La. Ann. 684.

71. Reed v. Crocker, 12 La. Ann. 436.

72. La. Civ. Code, art. 1481.

73. Jacobs' Succession, 104 La. 447, 29 So. 241; Marks' Succession, 35 La. Ann. 993; Grover v. Clarke, 7 La. Ann. 174 [overruling Cole v. Cole, 7 Mart. N. S. (La.) 414], holding that articles 899 and 900 of the code, providing that if an intestate leaves no descendants the succession shall go half to the father and mother, and half to the brothers and sisters; and if only one of the parents survives, the portion which would have been inherited by the other will go to the brothers and sisters or to their descendants — do not enlarge the rights of the disposer as limited by article 1481.

74. Johnston v. Kirkland, 6 Mart. N. S. (La.) 344.

75. Wood v. January, 15 La. Ann. 516.

76. Marks' Succession, 35 La. Ann. 993; Cole v. Cole, 7 Mart. N. S. (La.) 414.

77. Parker v. Parker, 10 Tex. 83.

78. Jacobs' Succession, 104 La. 447, 29 So. 241.

b. Forced Heirs of Surviving Second Wife. In Indiana children by a first or other former wife, where deceased leaves no children by his widow, become forced heirs of the widow at her decease as to real estate which descended to her from their father.[79]

c. Effect of Will Disregarding Rights of Forced Heirs. Where the law of forced heirship is in force the right of the forced heirs cannot be avoided by will[80] or postponed[81] without their consent.[82] But a will disregarding the rights of forced heirs is not wholly void.[83]

6. DESCENDANTS — a. In General. The general rule is that if a person dies intestate, leaving real estate, the estate descends to his lawful descendants in the direct line of lineal descent. If there be but one person, then it descends to him or her alone, and if more than one, and all of equal degree of consanguinity to the ancestor, then it descends to the several persons in equal parts as tenants in common.[84] The term "descendants" when used in statutes means children or children's children to the remotest degree, and not all who may properly take by descent.[85] It does not include collaterals[86] or ascendants.[87] A husband is not a "descendant" of his wife.[88]

b. Children in General.[89] Under this rule subject to the rights of a surviving husband or wife,[90] the property of an intestate descends to his children in equal shares.[91]

79. Rushton v. Harvey, 144 Ind. 382, 43 N. E. 300; Stephenson v. Boody, 139 Ind. 60, 38 N. E. 331; Rogers v. Rogers, 137 Ind. 151, 36 N. E. 895 (holding that a statute (Act of March 11, 1889, § 1) changing the second wife's interest from a fee in one third, subject to a right of inheritance by the children of the former wife as her forced heirs, to a life-estate with remainder in fee in the husband's children, if retroactive, would not take away the right of the children as forced heirs and leave the fee in the wife); Thorp v. Hanes, 107 Ind. 324, 6 N. E. 920; Bryan v. Uland, 101 Ind. 477, 1 N. E. 52 (holding that a conveyance by the widow will not destroy the right of inheritance in the children); Utterback v. Terhune, 75 Ind. 363; Loudon v. James, 31 Ind. 69. As to the Indiana statute see also infra, III, B, 9, b.

80. Cox v. Von Ahlefeldt, 105 La. 543, 30 So. 175; Conn v. Davis, 33 Tex. 203; and other cases cited supra, note 69 et seq.

81. Budd v. Fisher, 17 Tex. 423, where the testator attempted to postpone the inheritance of the forced heirs by providing in his will that the property should be kept together for the support and education of the family until the youngest child should arrive at the age of twelve years.

82. Portis v. Cummings, 14 Tex. 171.

83. Cox v. Von Ahlefeldt, 105 La. 543, 30 So. 175; Hagerty v. Hagerty, 12 Tex. 456. And see WILLS.

84. 4 Kent Comm. 375. And see the cases cited in the notes following.

85. Jewell v. Jewell, 28 Cal. 232; Waldron v. Taylor, 52 W. Va. 284, 45 S. E. 336. And see DESCENDANT, 13 Cyc. 1047.

86. Bryan v. Walton, 20 Ga. 480; Akin v. Anderson, 19 Ga. 229.

87. Bryan v. Walton, 20 Ga. 480; Morse v. Hayden, 82 Me. 227, 19 Atl. 443.

88. Prather v. Prather, 58 Ind. 141.

89. Definition of "child" and "children" see CHILDREN, 7 Cyc. 123.

90. See infra, III, B.

91. Arkansas.— McClelland v. Lowry, 21 Ark. 452, holding that the only child of a deceased married woman is entitled to her distributive share in the personal estate of her father not reduced into possession. And see Kelly v. McGuire, 15 Ark. 555.

Indiana.— Murphy v. Henry, 35 Ind. 442, holding that the widow and only child of an intestate take one half each as tenants in common, and on the death of the widow her share also descends to the child.

Iowa.— Joslin v. Joslin, (1898) 75 N. W. 487.

Kansas.— Dodge v. Beeler, 12 Kan. 524.

Kentucky.— Berry v. Hall, 11 S. W. 474, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 30, holding that the wife's half of land conveyed to husband and wife jointly, after the death of the husband subsequent to that of the wife, descends to the children, notwithstanding a deed of the husband purporting to convey the whole.

Louisiana.— Cottin v. Cottin, 5 Mart. 93, holding that by the Spanish law which was not repealed by the old code, a child to inherit must have lived twenty-four hours.

Maine.— Benson v. Swan, 60 Me. 160.

Michigan.—Benedict v. Beurmann, 90 Mich. 396, 51 N. W. 461.

Mississippi.— Olive v. Walton, 33 Miss. 103 (holding that a wife's separate property descended to all her children equally); Whitcomb v. Reid, 31 Miss. 567, 66 Am. Dec. 579.

Pennsylvania.— In re Anderson, 85 Pa. St. 262 (holding that on the death of the insured in a life-insurance policy, subsequent to the death of the beneficiary, his wife, the proceeds belonged to the estate of the wife and were to be distributed, share and share alike, between her child and the husband's estate); Walker v. Dunshee, 38 Pa. St. 430.

South Carolina.—Trammell v. Trammell, 57 S. C. 89, 36 S E. 533.

Tennessee.— Lane v. Crutchfield, 3 Head

c. Children of Successive Marriages. Upon the death of an intestate leaving issue of different marriages, the estate, subject to the rights of a surviving husband or wife, descends to all the children equally,[92] unless such distribution is prevented by statute.[93] A Georgia statute provided that when a feme covert having a child or children living by a former husband should be entitled to property by inheritance, it should not belong to the husband, but should be equally divided between her and her children.[94]

d. Posthumous Children. Both at common law and under the statutes of the different states posthumous children take as heirs and distributees, an infant being deemed in esse for the purpose of taking an estate for its benefit, from the time of conception, provided it is born alive,[95] and after such a period of fœtal 452; McCollum v. Smith, Meigs 342, 33 Am. Dec. 147.

Texas.— Clemons v. Clemons (Civ. App. 1898) 45 S. W. 199, holding that on the death of a husband of a surviving second wife, leaving children by both marriages, community property of the first marriage descended one half to his children by the first wife, and the other half to all his children, subject to the widow's dower in the second half.

Vermont.— Davis v. Burnham, 27 Vt. 562, children inherit the personal estate equally with the real estate.

Wisconsin.— Shepardson v. Rowland, 28 Wis. 108.

Canada.—Re Tait, 9 Manitoba 617, holding, however, that prior to the act of May, 1871, the law of primogeniture was in force, under which land descended to the eldest son to the exclusion of the other children.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 76.

Allowances to children see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

Exemptions in favor of children see EXEMPTIONS; HOMESTEADS.

92. Indiana.— Ilgenfritz v. Ilgenfritz, 84 Ind. 241 (holding that where the widow was entitled to one third, the remainder should be divided equally among the children of both marriages, but at the death of the widow her share went to her children); McClanahan v. Trafford, 46 Ind. 410; Barnes v. Loyd, 37 Ind. 523 (applying the same rule to the death of a surviving spouse in case of estate by entirety).

Louisiana.— Hooke v. Hooke, 14 La. 22, holding that where a woman dies leaving children by two marriages, those of the first divide equally half of the property belonging to the first community, while the other half is equally divided between the children of both marriages. But see Doucet v. Broussard, 6 Mart. N. S. 196.

Mississippi.—Bates v. Cotton, 32 Miss. 266; Marshall v. King, 24 Miss. 85.

South Carolina.— Trammell v. Trammell, 57 S. C. 89, 35 S. E. 533.

Tennessee.— Wheless v. Espy, 7 Coldw. 237.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distributions," § 77. And see infra, III, B, 9, a.

93. Mathers v. Scott, 37 Ind. 303, holding that a statute preventing a widow who marries a second or a subsequent time from alienating any portion of the real estate inherited from her previous husband also prevents the husband or the children of such later marriage from inheriting any portion of such real estate on her death. See also infra, III, B, 9, h.

94. Ga. Act (1845), § 1. See Rohy v. Boswell, 23 Ga. 51 (where the property was inherited before the first marriage, but a portion was not paid until after the second marriage); Matthews v. Bridges, 13 Ga. 325 (where the widow became entitled before, but did not acquire possession until after, the second marriage). See also infra, III, B, 9, h.

95. Alabama.— Nelson v. Iverson, 24 Ala. 9, 60 Am. Dec. 442; Bishop v. Hampton, 11 Ala. 254.

Georgia.— Morrow v. Scott, 7 Ga. 535.

Illinois.— Botsford v. O'Connor, 57 Ill. 72; McConnel v. Smith, 23 Ill. 611; Smith v. McConnell, 17 Ill. 135, 63 Am. Dec. 340.

Kentucky.— Massie v. Hiatt, 82 Ky. 314.

Maine.—Waterman v. Hawkins, 63 Me. 156.

Maryland.— Shriver v. State, 65 Md. 278, 4 Atl. 679, holding that a statute allowing posthumous children of an intestate to inherit as other heirs, but providing that no other posthumous child shall, does not refer to posthumous children of collateral relatives who were born before the death of the intestate from whom they inherit.

Massachusetts.—Bowen v. Hoxie, 137 Mass. 527; Hall v. Hancock, 15 Pick. 255.

Michigan.— Catholic Ben. Assoc. v. Firmine, 50 Mich. 82, 14 N. W. 707.

Minnesota.— Prentiss v. Prentiss, 14 Minn. 18.

Mississippi.— Harper v. Archer, 4 Sm. & M. 99, 43 Am. Dec. 472, where a child born eight months and twenty-one days after the death of his sister was held entitled to share in her estate.

Missouri.— Aubuchon v. Bender, 44 Mo. 560, holding that an unborn child will not only inherit an estate, but may take the remainder, whether vested or contingent, as though living when the particular estate determined.

New York.— Marsellis v. Thalhimer, 2 Paige 35, 21 Am. Dec. 66, holding that if a child be born dead it is considered as never having been born or conceived.

North Carolina.— Hill v. Moore, 5 N. C 233.

Pennsylvania.— Martin's Estate, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 212, child born dead.

existence that its continuance in life may be reasonably expected.[96] A posthumous child takes directly from the parent at birth, his estate remaining meanwhile in abeyance.[97] Accordingly it cannot be divested of an inheritance, unless by due process of law to which it is made a party.[98]

e. Issue of Different Degrees of Consanguinity — (i) In General. If the intestate leaves lawful issue of different degrees of consanguinity, the property descends to his living children and grandchildren, and to the issue of such as have died, and so on to the remotest degree, as tenants in common; but the grandchildren and their descendants inherit only such share as their parents respectively would have inherited if living.[99]

(ii) Presumptions. If an heir has disappeared and has not been heard of for seven years, he is presumed to be dead and his share goes to his children directly.[1] But there is no presumption of law that a man presumed to be dead left a surviving wife, child, or children.[2]

(iii) Rights of Surviving Wife or Husband of Intestate.[3] Under a statute providing that the "heirs" of such children or grandchildren as have died before the intestate take the parents' shares by representation, it has been held in Iowa that the widow of the intestate is not entitled to inherit as heir of their deceased child.[4] But in Kansas it has been held that the surviving husband of an intestate is the sole heir of children dying before the death of the mother and as such is entitled to inherit the shares in her estate which they would have inherited if they had survived her.[5]

f. Descent of Estates Tail. Before the law was changed by statute estates

South Carolina.— Pearson v. Carlton, 18 S. C. 47.

United States.— Knotts v. Sterns, 91 U. S. 638, 23 L. ed. 252.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," §§ 78, 227.

Rights under statutes relating to pretermitted children see infra, III, A, 13, c, (II).

96. Harper v. Archer, 4 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 99, 43 Am. Dec. 472 (holding that the right of an unborn infant to take property, by descent or otherwise, from the date of its conception, is an inchoate right, which will not be completed by a premature birth); Marsellis v. Thalhimer, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 35, 21 Am. Dec. 66 (holding that a child born in so early a state of gestation as to be incapable of living, although not actually dead at its birth, is to be so considered as respects those claiming through it).

97. McConnel v. Smith, 23 Ill. 611; Sansberry v. McElroy, 6 Bush (Ky.) 440.

98. Botsford v. O'Conner, 57 Ill. 72; Massie v. Hiatt, 82 Ky. 314 (holding that where land is sold and the proceeds divided without reference to the rights of an after-born child, the latter may reclaim his interest from a remote vendee of the purchaser); Giles v. Solomon, 10 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 97 note (holding that where, after the death of a mortgagor, a foreclosure suit was brought against his widow and children without making a posthumous child a party, the decree was not binding upon such child, and it was entitled to its share of the premises and back rents on paying its share of the mortgage, taxes, interest, and improvements).

99. 4 Kent Comm. 390. And see the following cases:

Arkansas.— Kelly v. McGuire, 15 Ark. 555.

Indiana.— Kyle v. Kyle, 18 Ind. 108, holding that the word "child" in a statute was equivalent to "children or their descendants."

Kansas.— Couch v. Wright, 20 Kan. 103; Dodge v. Beeler, 12 Kan. 524.

Missouri.— In re Williams, 62 Mo. App. 339.

New Jersey.—Rodman v. Smith, 2 N. J. L. 7.

Pennsylvania.— Eshleman's Appeal, 74 Pa. St. 42; Girard Life Insurance Annuity & Trust Co. v. Wilson, 57 Pa. St. 182; Hughes' Appeal, 57 Pa. St. 179; Ilgenfritz's Appeal, 5 Watts 25; Hersha v. Brenneman, 6 Serg. & R. 2; Stoke's Estate, 29 Wkly. Notes Cas. 162, 20 Phila. 172; Hughes' Estate, 6 Phila. 350.

Texas.— Eans v. Sawyer, 27 Tex. 448.

But see Calhoun v. Crossgrove, 33 La. Ann. 1001, holding that deceased's children inherit in their own right and not by right of representation.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 79.

1. Esterly's Appeal, 109 Pa. St. 222. See also supra, II, A, 8; infra, IV, A, 3, d; and Death, 13 Cyc. 290.

2. Nehring v. McMurrian, (Tex. Civ. App. 1899) 53 S. W. 381 [reversed on other grounds in 94 Tex. 45, 57 S. W. 943].

3. Rights of surviving husband or wife generally see infra, III, B.

4. In re Overdieck, 50 Iowa 244; Journell v. Leighton, 49 Iowa 601; McMenomy v. McMenomy, 22 Iowa 148. See also infra, III, A, 7; III, B, 2.

5. Delashmutt v. Parrent, 40 Kan. 641, 20 Pac. 504. See, however, Stewart v. Barclay, 2 Bush (Ky.) 550. See also infra, III, A, 7; III, B, 2.

tail general descended to the eldest son, to the exclusion of all the other children.[6]

7. PARENTS — a. In General. Parents and all lineal ancestors were, by the English law, totally excluded from succession.[7] But this rule has been changed by statute and the general rule now is that if a person dies intestate without lawful descendants, but leaving parents, his or her estate, both real and personal, goes to them, subject to the right of a surviving husband or wife.[8] Sometimes the father is given preference over the mother,[9] and sometimes they take jointly or as tenants in common.[10] Usually if one parent is dead, the surviving parent takes all the estate, both real and personal, of a deceased child dying without issue, subject to the rights of a surviving husband or wife.[11] If, however, the surviving parent is the mother, her right to take the estate is sometimes qualified.[12]

6. Spachius v. Spachius, 16 N. J. L. 172. See ESTATES.

7. 4 Kent Comm. 395. And see McNitt v. Logan, Litt. Sel. Cas. (Ky.) 60; Blankenbeker v. Blankenbeker, 6 Munf. (Va.) 427.

8. 4 Kent Comm. 392. See Magness v. Arnold, 31 Ark. 103; McClelland v. Lowry, 21 Ark. 452; Leonard v. Lining, 57 Iowa 648, 11 N. W. 623; King v. Middlesborough Town, etc., Co., 106 Ky. 73, 50 S. W. 37, 1108, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1859; Gardner v. Collins, 2 Pet. (U. S.) 58, 7 L. ed. 347. And see Case v. Wildridge, 4 Ind. 51; Heyward v. Williams, 48 S. C. 564, 26 S. E. 797.

In Minnesota under Rev. St. (1851) c. 50, § 1 (Comp. St. (1858) c. 37, § 1) the widow took a life-estate, and the remainder descended in equal shares to the brothers, sisters, and mother, and the remainder after the widow's life-estate descended as if no widow had survived. Lindley v. Groff, 42 Minn. 346, 44 N. W. 196.

Parents as forced heirs see supra, III, A, 5, a.

Rights of surviving husband or wife see infra, III, B.

9. Arkansas.— Kountz v. Davis, 34 Ark. 590, father takes life-estate, and brothers and sisters remainder in fee.

Florida.— Magee v. Doe, 9 Fla. 382, except where husband is made heir of wife.

New York.— Matter of Kane, 38 Misc. 276, 77 N. Y. Suppl. 874; Smith v. Van Dursen, 15 Johns. 343.

Pennsylvania.— Robinson v. Martin, 2 Yeates 525; Murgitroyd's Estate, 1 Brewst. 317, 6 Phila. 343.

Tennessee.— Wright v. Wright, 100 Tenn. 313, 45 S. W. 672; Gardenhire v. Hinds, 1 Head 402.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 84.

10. Bassil v. Loffer, 38 Iowa 451; Guier v. Bridges, 70 S. W. 288, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 945; Frankenfield v. Gruver, 7 Pa. St. 448; Brown v. Baraboo, 90 Wis. 151, 62 N. W. 921, 30 L. R. A. 320.

11. Arkansas.— Oliver v. Vance, 34 Ark. 564.

California.— Emeric v. Alvarado, 64 Cal. 529, 2 Pac. 418, under the Mexican law.

Illinois.—Voris v. Sloan, 68 Ill. 588 (vested remainder in real estate); Hays v. Thomas, 1 Ill. 180.

Indian Territory.— Nivens v. Nivens, (1901) 64 S. W. 604.

Iowa.— Hale v. Hunter, 24 Iowa 181.

Massachusetts.— Merrill v. Preston, 135 Mass. 451.

Missouri.— Lynde v. Williams, 68 Mo. 360.

Nebraska.— Gwyer v. Hall, 34 Nebr. 589, 52 N. W. 372, where the intestate left no issue, widow, father, brother, or sister.

New Jersey.—In re Sanderson, 28 N. J. Eq. 435, where, although the husband was excluded from all control over a bequest to his wife for life, with remainder to their children, it was held, after his wife and one child died intestate, that he was entitled to the share of the child.

Pennsylvania.—Mechling's Appeal, 2 Grant 157.

South Carolina.— Trapp v. Billings, 2 McCord Eq. 403.

Tennessee.— Penniman v. Francisco, 1 Heisk. 511.

Texas.— Prendergast v. Anthony, 11 Tex. 165.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 85.

Rights of surviving husband or wife see infra, III, B.

12. In the following cases she was held entitled to share equally with the brothers and sisters of the deceased child:

Georgia.— Snipes v. Parker, 98 Ga. 522, 25 S. E. 580.

Kentucky.— Noland v. Johnson, 5 J. J. Marsh. 351.

Massachusetts.— Goodrich v. Adams, 138 Mass. 552. See also Mayo v. Boyd, 3 Mass. 13.

Michigan.— Jenks v. Trowbridge, 48 Mich. 94, 11 N. W. 822.

Minnesota.—Lindley v. Groff, 42 Minn. 346, 44 N. W. 196.

Nevada.— In re Foley, 24 Nev. 197, 51 Pac. 834, 52 Pac. 649.

North Carolina.— Ferrand v. Howard, 38 N. C. 381; Anonymous, 3 N. C. 230.

Tennessee.— De Vault v. De Vault, (Ch. App. 1898) 48 S. W. 361, under N. C. Code (1883), § 1478.

Wisconsin.— Westcott v. Miller, 42 Wis. 454.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 85.

One half.— In the following cases the sur-

b. Right of Parent to Inherit Property Derived From Other Parent. As a general rule, where real property has come to an intestate through one parent, the surviving parent acquires no interest therein.[13] Frequently, however, the father is given the right to inherit property which has come to the intestate through the mother.[14] And in some states the mother inherits or takes a life-estate in property which has come to the child from the father.[15] If the intestate left neither issue nor brothers or sisters nor issue of such, of the blood of the parent from whom the estate was derived, the property goes to the surviving viving mother was held to inherit one half of her deceased child's estate, other children surviving: McKinney v. Stewart, 5 Kan. 384; Berg v. Berg, 48 S. W. 432, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1083, holding that, under Ky. Gen. St. c. 31, § 1, providing that the mother shall inherit one moiety of an intestate child's estate, the other moiety descending to the brothers and sisters, and section 3, providing that "collaterals of the half blood shall inherit only half as much as those of the whole blood, or as ascending kindred, when they take with either," the mother is entitled to only one half of the estate, although the brothers and sisters are of the half blood.

Life-estate.— In the following cases, the surviving mother was held entitled to a life-estate: Magness v. Arnold, 31 Ark. 103 (holding that the remainder, after the mother's life-estate, descended first to the line of the paternal ancestry until that became extinct and then to the maternal line); Norris v. McGaffick, 21 Iowa 201; Barber v. Brundage, 169 N. Y. 368, 62 N. E. 417 [affirming 50 N. Y. App. Div. 123, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 347] (holding that the reversion to the brothers and sisters vested immediately upon the intestate's death, and descended per stirpes to the heirs of their respective parents); McCarthy v. McCarthy, 4 Phila. (Pa.) 323; Glass v. Glass, 6 Pa. Co. Ct. 408.

Death during life-tenancy of mother of child entitled to remainder.— When a child entitled to a remainder after its mother's life-estate dies during its mother's life, its interest descends to the mother and the surviving brothers and sisters. Ferguson v. Alcorn, 1 B. Mon. (Ky.) 160.

13. California.— De Castro v. Barry, 18 Cal. 96.

Indiana.— Ramsey v. Ramsey, 7 Ind. 607.

Kentucky.—Walden v. Phillips, 86 Ky. 302, 5 S. W. 757, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 569; Driskell v. Hanks, 18 B. Mon. 855; Carroll v. Carroll, 12 B. Mon. 637 (holding, however, that the mother is entitled to property inherited by one child from another, although originally inherited from the father); Shelby v. Shelby, 1 B. Mon. 266 (holding, however, that the mother shares equally with the surviving brothers and sisters in the personalty of her deceased infant child coming through the father).

Massachusetts.— Goodrich v. Adams, 138 Mass. 552; Merrill v. Preston, 135 Mass. 451.

New Jersey.— Haring v. Van Buskirk, 8 N. J. Eq. 545.

New York.— Torrey v. Shaw, 3 Edw. 356, holding that the words property "which came to the son from the part of his mother" applies to property devised to the son by a maternal ancestor as well as to property descended to him.

North Carolina.— Caldwell v. Black, 27 N. C. 463; Wilsay v. Sawyer, 5 N. C. 493; Swann v. Mercer, 3 N. C. 246.

Pennsylvania.— Maffit v. Clark, 6 Watts & S. 258; In re Hartman, 4 Rawle 39 (holding, however, that where a child derived his estate from his father by purchase his mother was entitled); Shippen v. Izard, 1 Serg. & R. 222; May v. Espenshade, 1 Pearson 139; Eckert's Estate, 12 Phila. 93; Nichol v. Hall, 28 Pittsb. Leg. J. 239; Emes v. Brown, 1 Am. L. Reg. 634.

Rhode Island.—Tillinghast v. Coggeshall, 7 R. I. 383.

Tennessee.— Hoover v. Gregory, 10 Yerg. 444; Roberts v. Jackson, 4 Yerg. 308.

Virginia.— Addison v. Core, 2 Munf. 279; Templeman v. Steptoe, 1 Munf. 339; Tomlinson v. Dilliard, 3 Call 105.

Washington.— Fort v. West, 14 Wash. 10, 44 Pac. 104.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 86.

14. Alabama.— Fowler v. Trewhit, 10 Ala. 622.

Arkansas.—Moss v. Ashbrooks, 20 Ark. 128.

Indiana.— Case v. Wildridge, 4 Ind. 51.

Kentucky.— Duncan v. Lafferty, 6 J. J. Marsh. 46; Lingenfelter v. Carlisle, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 896.

Nebraska.— Shellenberger v. Ransom, 31 Nebr. 61, 47 N. W. 700, 28 Am. St. Rep. 500, 10 L. R. A. 810.

New York.— Morris v. Ward, 36 N. Y. 587 (father takes life-interest); Harring v. Coles, 2 Bradf. Surr. 349 (where a child had taken under his grandfather's will which left certain property to the sole and separate use of his daughters and their issue free from any control or interference of their husbands).

Oregon.— Stitt v. Bush, 22 Oreg. 239, 29 Pac. 737.

Texas.— Chandler v. Copeland, 31 Tex. 151.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 86.

15. Verret v. Theriot, 15 La. 106. And see Rowland v. Rowland, 4 Greene (Iowa) 183; Gwyer v. Hall, 34 Nebr. 589, 52 N. W. 372; Whitten v. Davis, 18 N. H. 88; McAfee v. Gilmore, 4 N. H. 391; McCarthy v. McCarthy, 4 Phila. (Pa.) 323; Glass v. Glass, 6 Pa. Co. Ct. 408; Owen v. Coghill, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 487.

parent.[16] The same rule as that applied to real estate is sometimes applied to personal property.[17]

c. Rights of Surviving Parent Who Marries Again. The rule of the Spanish law is adopted in Louisiana,[18] forbidding the surviving husband or wife, who marries again, to dispose of property given by the deceased or inherited from a child of the first marriage, but the rule is limited to property inherited by children of the first marriage from the deceased parent.[19]

8. Stepchildren and Stepfather or Stepmother. Ordinarily a stepfather or stepmother is not an heir to the stepchild,[20] but he or she sometimes inherits such child's estate under statutes providing that if the parents be dead the share in a deceased child's estate which they would have inherited if they had survived shall be disposed of as if they had outlived the intestate.[21]

9. Brothers and Sisters and Their Descendants — a. In General. When an intestate dies without issue or parents, the estate usually goes to his brothers and sisters and their representatives.[22] The widow of a brother of an intestate is in such capacity in no event an heir at law,[23] although the statutes sometimes allow her to take the share which her husband would have taken if living.[24] Under some statutes, if one parent is living the brothers and sisters share with such parent.[25] Where the descent is to brothers and sisters or their descendants the

16. Little v. Buie, 58 N. C. 10; McMichal v. Moore, 56 N. C. 471; Towls v. Rains, 2 Heisk. (Tenn.) 355; Wheless v. Espy, 7 Coldw. (Tenn.) 237. And see Gwyer v. Hall, 34 Nebr. 589, 52 N. W. 372; Whitten v. Davis, 18 N. H. 88; Doe v. Lee, 7 Ohio 15.

17. Tomlinson v. Dilliard, 3 Call (Va.) 105; Fort v. West, 14 Wash. 10, 44 Pac. 104; Shuman v. Shuman, 80 Wis. 479, 50 N. W. 670. See, however, McClelland v. Lowry, 21 Ark. 452; Jenks v. Trowbridge, 48 Mich. 94, 11 N. W. 822; Henderson v. Sherman, 47 Mich. 267, 11 N. W. 153; Hay's Appeal, 52 Pa. St. 449; Eckert's Estate, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 93.

18. La. Civ. Code (1900), art. 1753.

19. Verret v. Theriot, 15 La. 106. As to the construction of this provision see Zeigler v. Creditors, 49 La. Ann. 144, 21 So. 666; Webb v. Keller, 39 La. Ann. 55, 1 So. 423; Hale's Succession, 26 La. Ann. 195; Swayze's Succession, 13 La. Ann. 244; Cook v. Doremus, 10 La. Ann. 679.

20. Skipwith v. Lea, 16 La. Ann. 247.

21. In re Parker, 97 Iowa 593, 66 N. W. 908; Moore v. Weaver, 53 Iowa 11, 3 N. W. 741. See also Sarver v. Beal, 36 Kan. 555, 13 Pac. 743.

22. Indiana.— Clark v. Sprague, 5 Blackf. 412.

Iowa.— Blackman v. Wadsworth, 65 Iowa 80, 81, 21 N. W. 190 (holding that under a statute providing that "if a devisee die before the testator, his heirs shall inherit the amount so devised to him" a brother is, but a widow is not, an heir of the devisee); Lash v. Lash, 57 Iowa 88, 10 N. W. 302 [distinguishing Moore v. Weaver, 53 Iowa 11, 3 N. W. 741].

Kansas.— Couch v. Wright, 20 Kan. 103.

Maryland.— Duvall v. Harwood, 1 Harr. & G. 474; Maxwell v. Seney, 5 Harr. & J. 23.

Massachusetts.—Minot v. Harris, 132 Mass. 528.

Michigan.— In re Chapoton, 104 Mich. 11, 61 N. W. 892, 53 Am. St. Rep. 454.

Ohio.— Martin v. Martin, 56 Ohio St. 333, 46 N. E. 981 (holding that the children of a deceased brother take their father's share subject to an indebtedness of their father to the intestate); Jenks v. Langdon, 21 Ohio St. 362; Freeman v. Allen, 17 Ohio St. 527; Ellis v. Ellis, 3 Ohio Cir. Ct. 186.

Pennsylvania.— Philadelphia Trust, etc., Co. v. Isaac, 167 Pa. St. 270, 31 Atl. 651.

Rhode Island.— Daboll v. Field, 9 R. I. 266; Smith v. Smith, 4 R. I. 1.

Tennessee.— Riley v. Byrd, 3 Head 20; Rhodes v. Holland, 2 Yerg. 341.

Vermont.— Auger v. Taylor, 2 Tyler 260, where the personal estate of an unmarried intestate, leaving brothers and sisters, was so distributed under a statute that the shares of the brothers should be equal, and those of the sisters equal, but a brother's share should be double that of a sister.

Virginia.— Hepburn v. Dundas, 13 Gratt. 219.

Washington.— Fort v. West, 14 Wash. 10, 44 Pac. 104.

United States.— Poor v. Considine, 6 Wall. 458, 18 L. ed. 869.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 93.

Collaterals as forced heirs see supra, III, A, 5, a.

23. Green v. Grant, 108 Ga. 751, 32 S. E. 846.

24. See Couch v. Wright, 20 Kan. 103.

25. Miller v. Calvert, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 472 (holding that under a statute providing that collaterals of the half blood shall inherit only half as much as those of the whole blood, or as ascending kindred, and that a mother shall have the same share as a brother or sister, a mother takes twice the share of a half brother); Driskell v. Hanks, 18 B. Mon. (Ky.) 855; McComb v. Dillo, 5 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 304 (life-estate to father); Mowry v. Staples, 1 R. I. 10 (estates by purchase as well as estates by descent); Bailey v. Teackle, Wythe (Va.) 173; Blunt v. Gee, 5 Call (Va.)

rule of the common law that in the descent of a newly purchased inheritance the blood of the father is to be preferred is not applicable.[26]

b. Property Derived From Parent. Where the property of an intestate was derived from or through his father, and he leaves brothers or sisters, but no issue, such property passes to his brothers or sisters even though he may leave a mother also.[27]

c. Child Dying After Intestate, but During Infancy and Before Marriage. It is sometimes provided by statute that where, upon the descent of an estate to children, one of them dies under age, not having been married, his share of the inheritance goes to his surviving brothers and sisters.[28] Under such a statute the share of such deceased minor must be considered as so descending from the parent and not from the deceased child,[29] and surviving brothers and sisters of the deceased minor are for the purpose of such statute the children of the intestate, to the exclusion of brothers and sisters of the half blood.[30]

d. After-Born Brothers and Sisters. In some states it has been held that when the brothers and sisters of an intestate are entitled to the inheritance, those in being take the property, but if any are subsequently born, they become equally entitled;[31] and if for the want of brothers or sisters the inheritance passed to others, upon the subsequent birth of a brother or sister, their estate is divested and becomes vested in such brother or sister.[32] This rule is sometimes qualified so as to include only those subsequently born who were in ventre sa mere at the time of the intestate's death.[33]

e. Brother Preferred to Grandfather. The grandfather and brother of an intestate are not related to the intestate in equal degree within the meaning of a statute providing that an estate shall be distributed to the next of kin in equal degree, and the brother will take to the exclusion of the grandfather.[34]

f. Nephews and Nieces. Under a devise "to my legal heirs as the law provides" other than the testator's wife and brother for whom he had otherwise provided, it was held that the brother's daughter took to the exclusion of his uncles and aunts.[35]

g. Grandnephews and Grandnieces. As a general rule grandnephews and 481. Contra, Heyward v. Williams, 48 S. C. 564, 26 S. E. 797. See also supra, III, A, 7, a.

26. Brown v. Burlingham, 5 Sandf. (N. Y.) 418.

27. Wells v. Seeley, 47 Hun (N. Y.) 109; Walker v. Dunshee, 38 Pa. St. 430 (holding that such property goes to his next collateral relatives on his father's side to the exclusion of relatives on his mother's side); Harris v. Hayes, 6 Binn. (Pa.) 422 (rule applied to both real and personal property).

28. See Hale's Appeal, 69 Conn. 611, 38 Atl. 392 (holding that such a statute was not a statute of descent but was only supplemental to the general statutes of descent, and that, when an intestate was survived by two children who died minors and unmarried before any distribution of the estate, the estate went to the heirs of the minor child last deceased, and not to the next of kin of the intestate); Burke v. Burke, 34 Mich. 451 (where the statute provided that the estate of such minor should go to those who would have taken the same if such child had died before the ancestor); Clark v. Pickering, 16 N. H. 284. See Goodrich v. Adams, 138 Mass. 552; Nash v. Cutler, 16 Pick. (Mass.) 491; Sheffield v. Lovering, 12 Mass. 490; Mayo v. Boyd, 3 Mass. 13. The statute applies only to intestate estates. Terry's Appeal, 28 Conn. 339.

29. Wiesner v. Zaun, 39 Wis. 188 (holding, however, that the surviving children will not take the minor's estate as though such minor had never existed. If the estate had been sold under a statute for his maintenance or education, the purchaser's title is not divested on the minor's death); Perkins v. Simonds, 28 Wis. 90.

30. Clark v. Pickering, 16 N. H. 284.

As to rights of half blood see infra, III, A, 9, h.

31. Cutlar v. Cutlar, 9 N. C. 324; Springer v. Fortune, 2 Handy (Ohio) 52, 12 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 325; Baker v. Heiskell, 1 Coldw. (Tenn.) 641. Contra, Goodwin v. Keerl, 3 Harr. & M. (Md.) 403.

32. Caldwell v. Black, 27 N. C. 463. Contra, Cox v. Matthews, 17 Ind. 367; Drake v. Rogers, 13 Ohio St. 21 [overruling Dunn v. Evans, 7 Ohio 169].

Doctrine of shifting inheritance repudiated see supra, III, A, 3.

33. Grant v. Bustin, 21 N. C. 77; Melton v. Davidson, 86 Tenn. 129, 5 S. W. 530; Grimes v. Orrand, 2 Heisk. (Tenn.) 298.

34. Matter of Marsh, 5 Misc. (N. Y.) 428, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 718.

35. Minot v. Harris, 132 Mass. 528.

grandnieces will not share in the estate of an intestate, at least unless they take as next of kin;[36] but children of a deceased nephew or niece are sometimes entitled to a distributive share of the estate by right of representation.[37]

h. Rights of the Half Blood[38] — (i) In General. Before the rule was changed by statute, brothers and sisters of the half blood were entirely excluded from the inheritance of an intestate.[39] It is now the general rule, however, that those of the half blood inherit equally with those of the whole blood in the same degree, when they are in the line of inheritance.[40] Sometimes the rule is quali-

36. California.— In re Curry, 39 Cal. 529, holding that the word "children" in the provision of the statute of descents regulating the distribution of property in the collateral descending line does not include grandchildren.

Maine.— Davis v. Stinson, 53 Me. 493.

Maryland.—McComas v. Amos, 29 Md. 120, 132; Duvall v. Harwood, 1 Harr. & G. 474.

Michigan.— In re Chapoton, 104 Mich. 11, 61 N. W. 892, 53 Am. St. Rep. 454; Van Cleve v. Van Fossen, 73 Mich. 342, 41 N. W. 258.

Nebraska.—Clary v. Watkins, 63 Nebr. 386, 89 N. W. 1042.

New York.— In re Suckley, 11 Hun 344; Doughty v. Stillwell, 1 Bradf. Surr. 300.

South Carolina.— Stokes v. Stokes, 62 S. C. 346, 40 S. E. 662; Poaug v. Gadsden, 2 Bay 293.

Tennessee.—Penniman v. Francisco, 1 Heisk. 511, 512, under a statute declaring that "there is no representation among collaterals, after brothers' and sisters' children."

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 99.

37. Maine.—Reynold's Appeal, 57 Me. 350; Doane v. Freeman, 45 Me. 113. This rule is not extended, however, to great grandchildren of a deceased brother or sister. Stetson v. Eastman, 84 Me. 366, 24 Atl. 868.

Missouri.— Copenhaver v. Copenhaver, 78 Mo. 55.

New Jersey.—Rodman v. Smith, 2 N. J. L. 3.

New York.— Matter of Healy, 27 Misc. 352, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 927.

Pennsylvania.— Lane's Appeal, 28 Pa. St. 487.

Rhode Island.— Daboll v. Field, 9 R. I. 266, under a statute providing that descendants of any person deceased shall inherit the estate which such person would have inherited had such person survived the intestate. And see Smith v. Smith, 4 R. I. 1.

Vermont.— Gaines v. Strong, 40 Vt. 354.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 100.

Contra.— Maine.— Quinby v. Higgins, 14 Me. 309.

Maryland.— McComas v. Amos, 29 Md. 132.

Massachusetts.— Conant v. Kent, 130 Mass. 178; Bigelow v. Morong, 103 Mass. 287.

Nebraska.— Douglas v. Cameron, 47 Nebr. 358, 66 N. W. 430.

South Carolina.— North v. Valk, Dudley Eq. 212.

Vermont.— Hatch v. Hatch, 21 Vt. 450.

Canada.— Matter of Price, 27 N. Brunsw. 205 (holding, however, that where the intestate leaves no widow, there may be representation after brothers' and sisters' children); Crowther v. Cawthra, 1 Ont. 128.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 100.

38. See also supra, III, A, 1, f; III, A, 9, c, note 30; infra, III, A, 11, e.

39. Kentucky.— Bowlin v. Pollock, 7 T. B. Mon. 26.

Louisiana.— Price v. Grubbs, 1 Rob. 91.

Missouri.— Ravenscroft v. Shelby, 1 Mo. 694.

North Carolina.— Ham v. Martin, 8 N. C. 423.

South Carolina.— Lawson v. Perdriaux, 1 McCord 456 (holding that a mother took in preference to a half brother); Wren v. Carnes, 4 Desauss. 405; Hagermeyer v. Charleston, Riley Eq. 117.

Virginia.— Bailey v. Teackle, Wythe 173, holding that a statute providing that every brother and sister of a deceased child should share equally with the mother, meant brother and sister by the same father.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 102.

40. Alabama.— Johnson v. Copeland, 35 Ala. 521.

Arkansas.— Byrd v. Lipscomb, 20 Ark. 19; Kelly v. McGuire, 15 Ark. 555.

California.— Lynch v. Lynch, 132 Cal. 214, 64 Pac. 284.

Connecticut.— Clark v. Russell, 2 Day 112.

Illinois.—Oglesby Coal Co. v. Pasco, 79 Ill. 164.

Indiana.—Armington v. Armington, 28 Ind. 74; McClerry v. Matson, 2 Ind. 79; Doe v. Abernathy, 7 Blackf. 442.

Kentucky.—Milner v. Calvert, 1 Metc. 472; Grigsby v. Breckinridge, 12 B. Mon. 629 (holding that where an infant died without issue, the half sisters and brothers by the mother inherited the real estate); Napier v. Davis, 7 J. J. Marsh. 283. But see Bowlin v. Pollock, 7 T. B. Mon. 26; Clay v. Cousins, 1 T. B. Mon. 75; Nunnally v. Nunnally, 5 Ky. L. Rep. 318, holding that the estate of an intestate who left no issue or parents passed to his brothers and sisters, although they were only of the half blood.

Maryland.— Keller v. Harper, 64 Md. 74, 1 Atl. 65 (personalty); Seekamp v. Hammer, 2 Harr. & G. 9 (personalty); Lowe v. Maccubbin, 1 Harr. & J. 550.

Massachusetts.— Larrabee v. Tucker, 116 Mass. 562; Sheffield v. Lovering, 12 Mass. 490.

Michigan.— Rowley v. Stray, 32 Mich. 70, holding that the estate of an intestate inherfied so as to divide the inheritance between the whole blood and the half blood in certain fixed proportions.[41] Under other statutes those of the whole blood take precedence over those of the half blood in the distribution of real property, kindred of the half blood taking if there are no kindred of the whole blood in equal degree,[42] and children of a deceased brother or sister of the whole blood being preferred to brothers or sisters of the half blood.[43]

(II) RIGHTS AS AFFECTED BY SOURCE OF INTESTATE'S TITLE.[44] When the estate of an intestate came by gift, devise, or descent from an ancestor, the rule that those only who are of the blood of such ancestor can inherit generally excludes kindred of the half blood who are not of the blood of such ancestor, so that when a father dies leaving children, one of whom dies intestate and unmarried, the surviving children will take the deceased child's share in their father's estate, to the exclusion of his brothers and sisters of the half blood.[45] If, however, there are no brothers or sisters of the whole blood, those of the half blood are usually admitted in preference to kindred of the whole blood of a more remote degree, the half blood being merely postponed to the whole blood of the ited from his father passed to his half brothers and sisters, children of his mother's second marriage, in preference to his father's mother.

Missouri.— Smith v. White, 165 Mo. 590, 65 S. W. 1013.

New Hampshire.— Prescott v. Carr, 29 N. H. 453, 61 Am. Dec. 652; Clark v. Pickering, 16 N. H. 284.

New York.— Valentine v. Wetherill, 31 Barb. 655.

North Carolina.— State University v. Brown, 23 N. C. 387; Pritchard v. Turner, 9 N. C. 435; Cutlar v. Cutlar, 9 N. C. 324; Ross v. Toms, 9 N. C. 9; Ballard v. Hill, 7 N. C. 410; Sheppard v. Sheppard, 7 N. C. 333.

Ohio.— Stone v. Doster, 50 Ohio St. 495, 35 N. E. 208 [affirming 7 Ohio Cir. Ct. 8], holding that the term "brothers and sisters" as used in a statute relative to the descent of estate coming from a former husband or wife included brothers and sisters both of the whole and the half blood. See also Freeman v. Allen, 17 Ohio St. 527; Springer v. Fortune, 2 Handy 52.

Pennsylvania.— Lynch v. Lynch, 132 Pa. St. 422, 19 Atl. 281 (holding that under the act of April 8, 1833, section 6, brothers and sisters of whole blood and their descendants had preference, but after that no distinction was made); Preston v. Hoskins, 2 Yeates 545 (personalty); Miller's Estate, 2 Woodw. 174 (personalty); Larsh v. Larsh, Add. 310.

South Carolina.— Felder v. Felder, 5 Rich. Eq. 509.

Tennessee.—Chaney v. Barker, 3 Baxt. 424; Nesbit v. Bryan, 1 Swan 468; Deadrick v. Armour, 10 Humphr. 588 (personalty); Nichol v. Dupree, 7 Yerg. 415; Pritchitt v. Kirkman, 2 Tenn. Ch. 390.

Vermont.— Hatch v. Hatch, 21 Vt. 450.

Wisconsin.— McCracken v. Rogers, 6 Wis. 278.

United States.— Gardner v. Collins, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,223, 3 Mason 398 [affirmed in 2 Pet. 58, 7 L. ed. 347].

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 102. And see supra, III, A, 1, f.

41. Estes v. Nicholson, 39 Fla. 759, 23 So. 490; King v. Middlesborough Town, etc., Co., 106 Ky. 73, 50 S. W. 37; Petty v. Malier, 15 B. Mon. (Ky.) 591, 1108, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1859; Nixon v. Nixon, 8 Dana (Ky.) 5; Sharp v. Klienpeter, 7 La. Ann. 264; Lee v. Smith, 18 Tex. 141; Marlow v. King, 17 Tex. 177. And see supra, III, A, 1, f.

42. Alabama.— McLemore v. McLemore, 8 Ala. 687. And see Cox v. Clark, 93 Ala. 400, 9 So. 457.

Maryland.— Keller v. Harper, 64 Md. 74, 1 Atl. 65; Hall v. Jacobs, 4 Harr. & J. 245.

Mississippi.— Fatheree v. Fatheree, Walk. 311.

Ohio.— See Lyon v. Lyon, 24 Ohio Cir. Ct. 498.

Pennsylvania.— Stark v. Stark, 55 Pa. St. 62; Baker v. Chalfant, 5 Whart. 477, holding that the estate of an intestate will pass to a sister of the half blood to the exclusion of the more remote kindred of the whole blood.

Vermont.— Brown v. Brown, 1 D. Chipm. 360.

United States.— Chirac v. Reinecker, 2 Pet. 613, 7 L. ed. 538.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 102.

43. Hitchcock v. Smith, 3 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 29; Scott v. Terry, 37 Miss. 65.

44. See also supra, II, E, 3; III, A, 1, f; infra, III, A, 11, c, (I).

45. Indiana.— Armington v. Armington, 28 Ind. 74.

Massachusetts.— Nash v. Cutler, 16 Pick. 491 (where, however, the half brothers and sisters shared in the estate on the ground that the intestate received it from the father by devise and not by "inheritance," which was the term used in the statute); Sheffield v. Lovering, 12 Mass. 490 (where, however, the half brother and sisters shared as there were none of the full blood).

New Hampshire.—Prescott v. Carr, 29 N. H. 453, 61 Am. Dec. 652; Crowell v. Clough, 23 N. H. 207; Clark v. Pickering, 16 N. H. 284; McAfee v. Gilmore, 4 N. H. 391.

New Jersey.— Pierson v. D'Hart, 3 N. J. L. 481.

same degree.[46] And if the half brothers and sisters are of the blood of the ancestor from whom the property descended, they are entitled to share as of the whole blood.[47] The term "ancestor" when used with reference to the descent of real property, embraces, as we have seen, collaterals as well as lineals through whom the inheritance is derived, and means the ancestor from whom it immediately, not one from whom it remotely, descended.[48] The term "of the blood" includes half brothers and sisters.[49] If the property is personalty,[50] or property which did not come to the intestate by descent, devise, or gift from an ancestor, kindred of the half blood take equally with those of the whole blood.[51]

(III) DESCENT OF ESTATES TAIL. On the death of a tenant in tail without issue, his half sisters were held entitled equally with those of the whole blood, all being children of the father, from whom the estate was derived.[52]

i. Rights of Descendants of Half Blood. The children of a deceased half brother or sister, by right of representation, are entitled according to some of the cases to the same rights of inheritance as would have belonged to the half brother or sister if surviving.[53]

North Carolina.— Dozier v. Grandy, 66 N. C. 484.

Pennsylvania.— Danner v. Shissler, 31 Pa. St. 289.

Tennessee.— Butler v. King, 2 Yerg. 115.

Wisconsin.— Wiesner v. Zaun, 39 Wis. 188; Perkins v. Simonds, 28 Wis. 90.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 103.

Contra.— Oglesby Coal Co. v. Pasco, 79 Ill. 164, 166, holding that a statute providing that in "no case shall there be a distinction between the kindred of the whole and the half-blood" extends to cases where the half brother or sister is not of the blood of the ancestor from whom the estate was derived.

46. Alabama.—Coleman v. Foster, 112 Ala. 506, 20 So. 509; Cox v. Clark, 93 Ala. 400, 9 So. 457, holding half brothers and sisters entitled as against own uncles and aunts.

California.— In re Smith, 131 Cal. 433, 63 Pac. 729.

Indiana.— Pond v. Irwin, 113 Ind. 243, 15 N. E. 272 (holding a half brother entitled as against a brother of the parent from whom the estate came); Robertson v. Burrell, 40 Ind. 328.

Massachusetts.— Sheffield v. Lovering, 12 Mass. 490.

Michigan.— Rowley v. Stray, 32 Mich. 70, holding half brothers and sisters entitled as against the mother of the parent from whom the estate was derived.

New Jersey.— Hance v. McKnight, 11 N. J. L. 385; Arnold v. Phœnix, 5 N. J. L. 862, holding that lands derived from the father descend to brothers and sisters on the mother's side equally with a half sister on the father's side.

Ohio.— Martin v. Falconer, 5 Ohio Cir. Ct. 584.

Pennsylvania.— Hart's Appeal, 8 Pa. St. 32; May v. Espenshade, 3 Luz. Leg. Obs. 142.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 103.

Contra.— Kelly v. McGuire, 15 Ark. 555 (but holding that personalty will pass to half blood); Valentine v. Wetherill, 31 Barb. (N. Y.) 655; Hilliard v. Moore, 4 N. C. 392; Amy v. Amy, 12 Utah 278, 42 Pac. 1121.

47. Neeley v. Wise, 44 Iowa 544; Lowe v. Maccubbin, 1 Harr. & J. (Md.) 550; Delaplaine v. Jones, 8 N. J. L. 340; Den v. Urison, 2 N. J. L. 212; Valentine v. Wetherill, 31 Barb. (N. Y.) 655. But see King v. Middlesborough Town, etc., Co., 106 Ky. 73, 50 S. W. 37, 1108, which holds that under the statute (Gen. St. c. 31, §§ 3, 9) brothers and sisters of the half blood take only one half the share which those of the whole blood take, although the estate of the intestate was derived from the common parent. See also Freeman v. Allen, 17 Ohio St. 527; Gardner v. Collins, 2 Pet. (U. S.) 58, 7 L. ed. 347.

48. Smith v. Croom, 7 Fla. 81; Wheeler v. Clutterbuck, 52 N. Y. 67; Emanuel v. Ennis, 48 N. Y. Super. Ct. 430. See supra, III, A, 1, b.

49. May v. Espenshade, 1 Pearson (Pa.) 139.

50. Preston v. Hoskins, 2 Yeates (Pa.) 545; Kyle v. Moore, 3 Sneed (Tenn.) 183.

51. Alabama.— Eatman v. Eatman, 83 Ala. 478, 3 So. 850.

Indiana.— Clark v. Sprague, 5 Blackf. 412.

Michigan.— Van Sickle v. Gibson, 40 Mich. 170.

New Hampshire.— Prescott v. Carr, 29 N. H. 453, 61 Am. Dec. 652.

New Jersey.—Den v. Urison, 2 N. J. L. 212.

New York.— Champlin v. Baldwin, 1 Paige 562, land purchased with money bequeathed to one by an ancestor is not an ancestral estate.

North Carolina.— Ross v. Toms, 9 N. C. 9; McKay v. Hendon, 7 N. C. 209.

United States.— Vattier v. Hinde, 7 Pet. 252, 8 L. ed. 675.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 103.

52. Pennington v. Ogden, 1 N. J. L. 223. See, generally, ESTATES.

53. Stallworth v. Stallworth, 29 Ala. 76; Anderson v. Bell, 140 Ind. 375, 39 N. E. 735, 29 L. R. A. 541; Matter of Southworth, 6 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 216, 14 N. Y. St. 486; Burgwyn v. Devereux, 23 N. C. 583. Contra,

10. Grandparents and Remote Ascendants — a. In General. In some states the rule of the common law that the inheritance can never lineally ascend remains partly in force so that an estate cannot ascend to a grandparent,[54] while in others it has been abolished.[55] Generally, where paternal and maternal grandparents are next of kin, they take equally the property of a grandchild dying intestate, and the source of the inheritance is immaterial.[56] Where the next of kin are a grandfather and a brother of the intestate, the grandfather is excluded by the brother from the distribution of personal estate;[57] but where the intestate, having inherited real property from his father, leaves a mother, uncles, and a grandfather, the grandfather takes to the exclusion of the mother and uncles.[58]

b. Preference of Grandparents Over Uncles and Aunts. Where the source from which the property originally came does not govern its descent, if a person dies intestate leaving no husband, wife, or children, nor issue of deceased children, nor father, mother, brother, or sister, but leaves grandparents, uncles, and aunts, the grandparents take property to the exclusion of the uncles and aunts, the former being nearer of kin to the intestate than the latter;[59] but where the source of the property controls its descent, if the intestate dies possessed of real estate inherited from a paternal ancestor, a paternal uncle or aunt takes by descent to the exclusion of a maternal grandparent.[60]

c. Great Grandparents. Where the nearest heirs are great grandparents and great uncles and aunts, real estate passes to the great grandparents to the exclusion of the great uncles and great aunts.[61]

11. Remote Collaterals — a. In General. Under the old Spanish law where there were no descendants, the ascendants were preferred to collaterals;[62] and this is the general rule under the statutes of distribution in the various states.[63]

Stretch v. Stretch, 4 N. J. L. 182 (holding that the statute enabling the half blood to inherit extends only to brothers and sisters, and not to their issue); Ex p. Mays, 2 Rich. (S. C.) 61.

54. Bray v. Taylor, 36 N. J. L. 415; Taylor v. Bray, 32 N. J. L. 182.

55. McDowell v. Addams, 45 Pa. St. 430; May v. Espenshade, 3 Luz. Leg. Obs. (Pa.) 142; and other cases following.

56. Kentucky.— Wells v. Head, 12 B. Mon. 166.

Maine.— Albee v. Vose, 76 Me. 448.

Massachusetts.— Nash v. Cutler, 16 Pick. 491.

New York.— Hill v. Nye, 17 Hun 457.

Oregon.— Shadden v. Hembree, 17 Oreg. 14, 18 Pac. 572.

England.— Moor v. Barham, 1 P. Wms. 53, 24 Eng. Reprint 289.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 103.

57. Matter of Marsh, 5 Misc. (N. Y.) 428, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 718.

Brothers and sisters see supra, III, A, 9.

58. Elwood v. Lannon, 27 Md. 200.

59. Alabama.— Phillips v. Peteet, 35 Ala. 696, personal estate.

Kentucky.— Berkley v. Stewart, 5 Ky. L. Rep. 609.

Maine.— Decoster v. Wing, 76 Me. 450; Cables v. Prescott, 67 Me. 582.

Maryland.— Elwood v. Lannon, 27 Md. 200.

New Hampshire.— Kelsey v. Hardy, 20 N. H. 479.

North Carolina.—Gillespie v. Foy, 40 N. C. 280.

Oregon.—Smallman v. Powell, 18 Oreg. 367, 23 Pac. 249, 17 Am. St. Rep. 742.

Pennsylvania.— Sturgeon v. Hustead, 196 Pa. St. 148, 46 Atl. 377; McDowell v. Addams, 45 Pa. St. 430; Nichol v. Hall, 28 Pittsb. Leg. J. 239; Fister's Estate, 2 Woodw. (Pa.) 323.

Tennessee.— Latimer v. Rogers, 3 Head 692.

United States.— Cole v. Batley, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 2,977, 2 Curt. 562.

Contra, Thatcher v. Thatcher, 17 Colo. 404, 29 Pac. 800 (holding that grandparents and uncles and aunts take equally); In re Davenport, 36 Misc. (N. Y.) 475, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 810 (under Code Civ. Proc. § 2732, subd. 12, as amended in 1898). In New York, until the amendment of 1898, grandparents excluded uncles and aunts. See Hill v. Nye, 17 Hun 457; Bogert v. Furman, 10 Paige 496; Sweezey v. Willis, 1 Bradf. Surr. 495.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 109.

60. Gillespie v. Foy, 40 N. C. 280; Latimer v. Rogers, 3 Head (Tenn.) 692.

In New York grandparents are excluded by relations of the intestate's father and mother, where the intestate inherited land from his father, and it is immaterial that the land descended to the father from his father. The reason of this is that the title is traced back only to the person from whom the intestate took directly. Hyatt v. Pugsley, 33 Barb. 373.

61. Bruce v. Bissell, 119 Ind. 525, 22 N. E. 4, 12 Am. St. Rep. 436; Cloud v. Bruce, 61 Ind. 171; Bruce v. Baker, Wils. (Ind.) 462; Sturgeon v. Hustead, 196 Pa. St. 148, 46 Atl. 377.

62. Childress v. Cutter, 16 Mo. 24.

63. See supra, III, A, 7.

Where there are no parents or grandparents, however, nor brothers or sisters or their descendants, the estate goes to the more remote collaterals. In some states the property of a person dying intestate, without children, brothers, or sisters, or descendants of such, or father or mother, descends to the intestate's paternal and maternal relatives equally where there are relatives on both sides,[64] while in other states the source, that is whether the property came to the intestate from the paternal or the maternal side, governs where it shall descend.[65] Where an intestate dies possessed of real estate of inheritance not derived from his father or mother, such real estate, in default of a living mother, father, brother, sister, or their descendants, descends in equal moieties to the maternal and paternal kindred of the intestate;[66] and it has been held that the same is true where the intestate inherited real estate from his grandfather[67] or directly from his brother,[68] or as a residue from the assignee for the benefit of the creditors of the father of the intestate;[69] but where the intestate dies in infancy possessed of real estate inherited from the maternal grandfather and leaves no issue, husband, or wife, the estate descends to his father rather than to his mother's brothers and sisters.[70]

b. Rights Dependent on Source of Intestate's Title. In those states where the source whence the property of the intestate came governs its descent, the rule is that collateral heirs of the blood of the ancestor from whom real estate has descended or has been inherited,[71] or the collateral heirs of the blood of the first purchaser,[72] inherit to the exclusion of the collateral heirs of other blood. There are some cases, however, to the contrary.[73] The rule does not always apply to 64. Alabama.— Deloney v. Walker, 9 Port. 497.

California.— In re Pearsons, 110 Cal. 524, 42 Pac. 960.

Florida.— Estes v. Nicholson, 39 Fla. 759, 23 So. 490.

Kentucky.— Well v. Head, 12 B. Mon. 166; Pinkard v. Smith, Litt. Sel. Cas. 331.

Missouri.— Peacock v. Smart, 17 Mo. 402.

Rhode Island.— Taft v. Dimond, 16 R. I. 584, 18 Atl. 183; Shepard v. Taylor, 15 R. I. 204, 3 Atl. 382; Cozzens v. Joslin, 1 R. I. 122.

South Carolina.— Shaffer v. Nail, 2 Brev. 160.

Texas.— McKinney v. Ahhott, 49 Tex. 371; Jones v. Barnett, 30 Tex. 637.

Virginia.— Royall v. Royall, 5 Munf. 82.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 112.

Where there are no relatives on one side the whole of the property of course goes to the relatives on the other side. See Cozzens v. Joslin, 1 R. I. 122.

Distribution.— Where the property of an intestate goes equally to the paternal and maternal kindred, each moiety is distributed as a distinct estate, i. e., the paternal kindred take one moiety and the maternal kindred the other moiety, the former moiety being divided among all the paternal kindred entitled to inherit, the latter moiety being divided among all the maternal kindred entitled to inherit, and it is immaterial that there are more paternal kindred entitled to inherit than maternal kindred (Cozzens v. Joslin, 1 R. I. 122; Browne v. Turberville, 2 Call (Va.) 390), or that the kindred of one line may be nearer in degree than the kindred of the other line (Cozzens v. Joslin, 1 R. I. 122; McKinney v. Abbott, 49 Tex. 371).

Collaterals as forced heirs see supra, III, A, 5, a.

65. See infra, III, A, 11, b.

66. Well v. Head, 12 B. Mon. (Ky.) 166. Contra, Coolidge v. Burke, 69 Ark. 237, 62 S. W. 583.

67. Smith v. Smith, 2 Bush (Ky.) 520; Well v. Head, 12 B. Mon. (Ky.) 166. Contra, Whipple v. Latrobe, 20 R. I. 508, 40 Atl. 160. See infra, III, A, 11, b.

68. Hyatt v. Pugsley, 23 Barb. (N. Y.) 285.

69. Taft v. Dimond, 16 R. I. 584, 18 Atl. 183.

70. Turner v. Patterson, 5 Dana (Ky.) 292; Duncan v. Lafferty, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 46. See also Smith v. Smith, 2 Bush (Ky.) 520.

71. Arkansas.— Coolidge v. Burke, 69 Ark. 237, 62 Pac. 583; Kelly v. McGuire, 15 Ark. 555.

Kentucky.— Driskell v. Hanks, 18 B. Mon. 855; Duncan v. Tafferty, 6 J. J. Marsh. 46; Power v. Dougherty, 6 Ky. L. Rep. 621.

Maryland.— Savary v. Da Camara, 60 Md. 139.

New York.— Shires v. Shires, 76 N. Y. App. Div. 621, 78 N. Y. Suppl. 603.

Pennsylvania.— Parr v. Bankhart, 22 Pa. St. 291; Bevan v. Taylor, 7 Serg. & R. 397; Gilmore v. Ross, 2 Pittsb. 500.

Rhode Island.— Whipple v. Latrobe, 20 R. I. 508, 40 Atl. 160.

Tennessee.— Latimer v. Rogers, 3 Head 692.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 113. See also supra, II, E, 3, a; III, A, 2; infra, III, A, 11, e, (II).

72. Johnson v. Lybrook, 16 Ind. 473.

73. See Smith v. Smith, 2 Bush (Ky.) 520 (holding that a provision that "if an infant the inheritance of personal property, but the next of kin may inherit such property regardless of the blood of the ancestor from whom the intestate received the same.[74]

c. Uncles and Aunts — (I) In General. Where the statute of descent contains no reference to the blood of the first purchaser, paternal and maternal uncles and aunts take equally,[75] but they are excluded from taking by brothers and sisters of the half blood who are not of the blood of the first purchaser.[76] Where the statute contains such a reference real estate devised by or descended from the father to an intestate who dies leaving neither brother nor sister passes to paternal uncles and aunts of the intestate to the exclusion of maternal uncles and aunts,[77] or to a paternal aunt to the exclusion of the intestate's half brother who is not of the blood of the father,[78] and to the exclusion of the intestate's mother.[79] So vice versa where real estate is derived immediately from the mother, the father living, it goes to the mother's brothers and sisters or to their lineal descendants.[80] But real estate which descended to an intestate from a brother does not pass to such uncles and aunts exclusively.[81] Where the intestate leaves maternal uncles and aunts and first cousins on the paternal side, the latter take to the exclusion of the former.[82] The real estate which an intestate took by descent from her maternal grandfather goes in the absence of her issue to her maternal uncle as heir of her maternal grandfather and not to her father as her next of kin.[83] If the inheritance is not ancestral, but is a new acquisition, it goes under some statutes first to the line of the intestate's paternal uncles and aunts to the exclusion of maternal uncles and aunts.[84] Inasmuch as a great uncle and a first cousin of an intestate are relatives in an equal degree, they, being the nearest surviving kindred, will succeed to real estate as tenants in common.[85]

(II) Personal Property. An intestate's personal property passes to his parent to the exclusion of uncles and aunts,[86] and to uncles and aunts to the exclusion of first cousins.[87] dies without issue, having title to real estate, derived by gift, devise, or descent from one of his parents, the whole shall descend to that parent, and his or her kindred," etc., does not embrace real estate derived by gift, devise, or descent, from a grandparent); Duncan v. Lafferty, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 46 (holding that if an infant inheriting real estate from the mother lives until he has attained twenty-one years of age and then dies without issue his father's and not his mother's relations succeed to his estate).

74. Kelly v. McGuire, 15 Ark. 555; Latimer v. Rogers, 3 Head (Tenn.) 692. Compare supra, II, E, 3, f.

75. In re Pearsons, 110 Cal. 524, 42 Pac. 960; Clary v. Watkins, 64 Nebr. 386, 89 N. W. 1042; Dodge v. Lewis, 71 N. H. 324, 51 Atl. 1071; In re Davenport, 172 N. Y. 454, 65 N. E. 275 [affirming 67 N. Y. App. Div. 191, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 653]; Matter of White, 31 Misc. (N. Y.) 484, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 567.

76. Cox v. Clark, 93 Ala. 400, 9 So. 457. See supra, III, A, 9, h.

77. Kelly v. McGuire, 15 Ark. 555; Driskell v. Hanks, 18 B. Mon. (Ky.) 855; Bevan v. Taylor, 7 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 397 [overruling Walker v. Smith, 3 Yeates (Pa.) 480].

78. Alabama.— See Cox v. Clark, 93 Ala. 400, 9 So. 457.

Arkansas.— Kelly v. McGuire, 15 Ark. 555.

Missouri.— Cutter v. Waddingham, 22 Mo. 206.

New York.— Conkling v. Brown, 57 Barb. 265.

Pennsylvania.— Henszey v. Gross, 185 Pa. St. 353, 39 Atl. 949.

Wisconsin.— Perkins v. Simmonds, 28 Wis. 90.

See also supra, III, A, 9, h.

79. Scroggin v. Allin, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 466.

80. Templeman v. Steptoe, 1 Munf. (Va.) 339.

81. Driskell v. Hanks, 18 B. Mon. (Ky.) 855.

82. Speer v. Miller, 37 N. J. Eq. 492.

83. Coolidge v. Burke, 69 Ark. 237, 62 S. W. 583.

84. Kelly v. McGuire, 15 Ark. 555; Hall v. Jacobs, 4 Harr. & J. (Md.) 245.

85. Smith v. Gaines, 35 N. J. Eq. 65.

86. Scroggin v. Allin, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 466.

Parents see supra, III, A, 7.

87. Maryland.— Levering v. Heighe, 3 Md. Ch. 365; Ellicott v. Ellicott, 2 Md. Ch. 468; Levering v. Heighe, 2 Md. Ch. 81.

Nebraska.— Clary v. Watkins, 64 Nebr. 386, 89 N. W. 1042.

New Hampshire.— Dodge v. Lewis, 71 N. H. 324, 51 Atl. 1071.

New York.—Matter of Gooseberry, 52 How. Pr. 310. See In re Davenport, 172 N. Y. 454, 65 N. E. 275 [affirming 67 N. Y. App. Div. 191, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 653].

(III) TAKING EQUALLY WITH GRANDPARENTS. It has been held under some statutes that where an intestate leaves surviving neither parent nor issue, real[88] and personal property[89] descends to the grandparents and uncles and aunts equally.

(IV) PREFERENCE OF MALES OVER FEMALES. The common-law rule that males shall be admitted before females, although superseded in most cases, still obtains in New York in case of remote collateral kinship, so that a great uncle will inherit to the exclusion of great aunts and descendants of great aunts, that is, to the exclusion of females of the same degree and their descendants, as at common law.[90]

d. Cousins. Cousins are not next of kin if the intestate left living an uncle or an aunt,[91] except where the uncle is a great uncle and the cousin a first cousin, in which case they are both related in the fourth degree.[92] Nor are they heirs if the intestate left a wife, child, father, mother, grandfather, or grandmother.[93] As to cousins the rule of distribution is that first cousins are entitled to take the property of an intestate to the exclusion of second[94] and third cousins.[95] This is true even where the first cousin is of the half blood and the second cousin is of the whole blood.[96] Maternal and paternal cousins are equal in respect to distribution.[97]

e. Rights of Half Blood — (I) IN GENERAL. Under the statutes of descent and distribution, as has already been seen in other connections,[98] the half blood and their descendants generally take personal property[99] as well as real property equally with the whole blood,[1] except where the statute makes the descent

Pennsylvania.— Macer's Appeal, 3 Walk. 107.

88. Thatcher v. Thatcher, 17 Colo. 404, 29 Pac. 800; Pease v. Stone, 77 Tex. 551, 14 S. W. 161.

89. Thatcher v. Thatcher, 17 Colo. 404, 29 Pac. 800.

90. Hunt v. Kingston, 3 Misc. (N. Y.) 309, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 352, 19 L. R. A. 577.

91. Montgomery v. Petriken, 29 Pa. St. 118; Smith's Estate, 10 Pa. Dist. 92. And see In re Davenport, 172 N. Y. 454, 65 N. E. 275 [affirming 67 N. Y. App. Div. 191, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 653]. See also Carter v. Crawley, 1 Freem. 296, T. Raym. 496; Maw v. Harding, Prec. Ch. 28, 2 Vern. Ch. 233; Beeton v. Darkin, 2 Vern. Ch. 168.

92. Smith v. Gaines, 35 N. J. Eq. 65.

93. Bamber's Estate, 13 Pa. Co. Ct. 403; Byers v. Wallace, 87 Tex. 503, 28 S. W. 1056, 29 S. W. 760.

94. Ector v. Grant, 112 Ga. 557, 37 S. E. 984, 53 L. R. A. 723; Adee v. Campbell, 14 Hun (N. Y.) 551 [affirmed in 79 N. Y. 52]; Rogers' Estate, 131 Pa. St. 382, 18 Atl. 871; Brenneman's Appeal, 40 Pa. St. 115; Bamber's Estate, 13 Pa. Co. Ct. 403; Byers v. McAuley, 149 U. S. 608, 13 S. Ct. 906, 37 L. ed. 867; Shields v. McAuley, 37 Fed. 302. See also Davis v. Vanderveer, 23 N. J. Eq. 558. A first cousin will take to the exclusion of the half brother on the side of the deceased son of a deceased daughter of the sister. Selby v. Hollingsworth, 13 Lea (Tenn.) 145. And first cousins exclude half brothers of second cousins. Selby v. Hollingsworth, 13 Lea (Tenn.) 145.

Contra.— Dexter v. Dexter, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,860, 4 Mason 302, holding that under the laws of Rhode Island a second cousin of the whole blood may share by right of representation with a first cousin of the whole blood.

95. Adee v. Campbell, 14 Hun (N. Y.) 551 [affirmed in 79 N. Y. 52]. See also Davis v. Vanderveer, 23 N. J. Eq. 558.

96. Ector v. Grant, 112 Ga. 557, 37 S. E. 984, 53 L. R. A. 723. See supra, III, A, 1, f; III, A, 9, h.

97. Redd v. Clopton, 17 Ga. 230.

98. See supra, III, A, 1, f; III, A, 9, c, note 30; III, A, 9, h.

99. Johnson v. Copeland, 35 Ala. 521; Byrd v. Lipscomb, 20 Ark. 19; Kelly v. McGuire, 15 Ark. 555; Milner v. Calvert, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 472; Deadrick v. Armour, 10 Humphr. (Tenn.) 588.

Uncles and aunts.—Hallett v. Hare, 5 Paige (N. Y.) 315.

Cousins.— Kiegel's Appeal, 12 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 179; Graham's Estate, 6 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 402.

Nephews and nieces.— Hatch v. Hatch, 21 Vt. 450.

1. Alabama.—Johnson v. Copeland, 35 Ala. 521.

Arkansas.— Kelly v. McGuire, 15 Ark. 555.

Florida.— Estes v. Nicholson, 39 Fla. 759, 23 So. 490.

Louisiana.— Pearson v. Grice, 6 La. Ann. 232, holding that in collateral successions, except in the case of whole and half brothers and sisters of a deceased brother or sister, there is no distinction between heirs of the whole blood and heirs of the half blood, and they share equally.

New York.— Adams v. Smith, 20 Abb. N. Cas. 60.

North Carolina.— Seville v. Whedbee, 12 N. C. 160; Pritchard v. Turner, 9 N. C. 435.

Pennsylvania.— Kiegel's Appeal, 12 Wkly. Notes Cas. 179.

South Carolina.— Edwards v. Barksdale, Riley Eq. 16.

dependent upon the source of the intestate's title.[2] In some states, however, as has been seen, the statute prefers kindred of the whole blood, or gives them a larger share.[3] A preference was given by the South Carolina statute to uncles and aunts of the half blood over cousins of the whole blood.[4]

(II) RIGHTS DEPENDENT ON SOURCE OF INTESTATE'S TITLE. In those states where the source of the intestate's title determines whether the paternal or maternal heirs shall take the property,[5] the half blood in the line of the ancestor[6] from whom the intestate took the property by inheritance or devise, or in the line of the first purchaser, take real property to the exclusion of the half blood[7] and of the whole blood[8] who are not of the blood of the transmitting ancestor; but brothers and sisters of the half blood not of the blood of the ancestor from whom the property came are excluded by brothers and sisters of the whole blood,[9] by nephews and nieces,[10] by first cousins,[11] and by other remote collateral heirs,[12] who are of the blood of the ancestor from whom the intestate took the property, and will share equally[13] or under some statutes unequally[14] with those of the half blood of the ancestor.

f. Stepdaughter's Children. The children of the intestate's deceased stepdaughter are in no way related to the intestate and do not participate in the distribution of the estate.[15]

g. Right to Take by Representation. Under some statutes the right to take by representation does not extend beyond the children of brothers and sisters,[16]

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 116.

Uncles and aunts.— Beebe v. Griffing, 14 N. Y. 235; Danner v. Shissler, 31 Pa. St. 289.

Nephews and nieces.— Matter of Southworth, 6 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 216.

Cousins.— Davis' Estate, 14 Phila. (Pa.) 256.

2. See infra, III, A, 11, e, (II).

3. Pinkard v. Smith, Litt. Sel. Cas. (Ky.) 331; King v. Neely, 14 La. Ann. 165; Hulme v. Montgomery, 31 Miss. 105. But see Davis' Estate, 14 Phila. (Pa.) 256, holding that the preference given to the whole blood is confined to the inheritance of realty by brothers and sisters and their descendants. See also supra, III, A, 1, f; III, A, 9, h.

4. Karwon v. Lowndes, 2 Desauss. (S. C.) 210; Perry v. Logan, 5 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 202.

5. See supra, II, E, 3, a; III, A, 11, b.

6. Definition of "ancestor" see supra, III, A, 1, b.

7. Byrd v. Lipscomb, 20 Ark. 19; Kelly v. McGuire, 15 Ark. 555; Nichol v. Dupree, 7 Yerg. (Tenn.) 415. See also Johnson v. Copeland, 35 Ala. 521; Henszey v. Gross, 185 Pa. St. 353, 39 Atl. 949. And see supra, III, A, 1, f; III, A, 9, h.

8. Johnson v. Copeland, 35 Ala. 521; Cliver v. Sanders, 8 Ohio St. 501; May v. Espenshade, 3 Luz. Leg. Obs. (Pa.) 142; Pritchitt v. Kirkham, 2 Tenn. Ch. 390; Chaney v. Barker, 3 Baxt. (Tenn.) 424; Nesbit v. Bryan, 1 Swan (Tenn.) 468. See also Gardner v. Collins, 2 Pet. (U. S.) 58, 7 L. ed. 347. Compare Cox v. Clark, 93 Ala. 400, 9 So. 457.

9. Alabama.— See Cox v. Clark, 93 Ala. 400, 9 So. 457.

Arkansas.— Kelly v. McGuire, 15 Ark. 555.

Missouri.— Cutter v. Waddingham, 22 Mo. 206; Childress v. Cutter, 16 Mo. 24.

New York.— Conkling v. Brown, 57 Barb. (N. Y.) 265.

Tennessee.— Deadrick v. Armour, 10 Humphr. (Tenn.) 588; Nichol v. Dupree, 7 Yerg. (Tenn.) 415.

Wisconsin.— Perkins v. Simonds, 28 Wis. 90.

And see supra, III, A, 9, h.

10. Hitchcock v. Smith, 3 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 29.

11. Felton v. Billups, 19 N. C. 308.

12. Dozier v. Grandy, 66 N. C. 484.

13. Grimes v. Orrand, 2 Heisk. (Tenn.) 298; Baker v. Heiskell, 1 Coldw. (Tenn.) 641.

14. Talbott v. Talbott, 17 B. Mon. (Ky.) 1.

15. Gazlay v. Cornwell, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 139.

16. Georgia.—Ector v. Grant, 112 Ga. 557, 37 S. E. 984, 53 L. R. A. 723.

Maine.— Quinby v. Higgins, 14 Me. 309.

Maryland.— McComas v. Amos, 29 Md. 132; Elwood v. Lannon, 27 Md. 200; Duvall v. Harwood, 1 Harr. & G. (Md.) 474; Porter v. Askew, 11 Gill & J. (Md.) 346; Ellicott v. Ellicott, 2 Md. Ch. 468; Levering v. Heighe, 2 Md. Ch. 81.

Massachusetts.— Conant v. Kent, 130 Mass. 178; Snow v. Snow, 111 Mass. 389; Bigelow v. Morong, 103 Mass. 287.

Nebraska.—Clary v. Watkins, 64 Nebr. 386, 89 N. W. 1042; Douglas v. Cameron, 47 Nebr. 358, 66 N. W. 430.

New Hampshire.— Page v. Parker, 61 N. H. 65.

New Jersey.— Davis v. Vanderveer, 23 N. J. Eq. 558.

New York.— Adee v. Campbell, 79 N. Y. 52 [affirming 14 Hun 551]; In re Suckley, 11 Hun 344; Hannan v. Osborn, 4 Paige 336.

North Carolina.— Caldwell v. Cowan, 60 N. C. 639. See Draper v. Bradley, 126 N. C. 72, 35 S. E. 228.

Pennsylvania.— Rogers' Estate, 131 Pa. St. 382, 18 Atl. 871; Perot's Appeal, 102 Pa. St. 235; Brenneman's Appeal, 40 Pa. St. 115.

it being held that the words "brothers and sisters" in the statutes refer to brothers and sisters of the intestate only.[17] Under these statutes children of deceased uncles and aunts do not take by representation as next of kin of the intestate,[18] nor do children of first cousins who have died before the intestate take by right of representation.[19] In some of the states statutes have been passed extending the right to take by representation,[20] while in other states the common-law right of representation does not exist at all.[21]

12. Taking Per Stirpes or Per Capita. The rule generally is that when all the heirs of an intestate are in equal degree of consanguinity to the decedent, they take per capita,[22] and it is immaterial how numerous the issue of one of the persons of the deceased previous class of kin may be,[23] but when they stand in Contra, Whitaker's Estate, 175 Pa. St. 139, 34 Atl. 572; Hayes' Appeal, 89 Pa. St. 256; Bamber's Estate, 2 Pa. Dist. 536; Kraut's Estate, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 422.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 118 et seq.

17. Porter v. Askew, 11 Gill & J. (Md.) 346; Davis v. Vanderveer, 23 N. J. Eq. 558.

18. Maryland.— Porter v. Askew, 11 Gill & J. 346; Ellicott v. Ellicott, 2 Md. Ch. 468; Levering v. Heighe, 2 Md. Ch. 81.

New Hampshire.— Page v. Parker, 61 N. H. 65; Parker v. Nims, 2 N. H. 460.

New Jersey.— Bailey v. Ross, 32 N. J. Eq. 544.

New York.— In re Davenport, 172 N. Y. 454, 65 N. E. 275 [affirming 67 N. Y. App. Div. 191, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 653].

North Carolina.— Johnston v. Chesson, 59 N. C. 146.

Ohio.— See Clayton v. Drake, 17 Ohio St. 367.

Contra, under the Pennsylvania statute. Whitaker's Estate, 175 Pa. St. 139, 34 Atl. 572; Bamber's Estate, 2 Pa. Dist. 536; Haines' Estate, 2 Pa. Dist. 104, 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 401.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 119.

19. Connecticut.— Campbell's Appeal, 64 Conn. 277, 29 Atl. 494, 24 L. R. A. 667.

Louisiana.— Ratcliffe v. Ratcliffe, 7 Mart. N. S. 335.

New Jersey.—Davis v. Vanderveer, 23 N. J. Eq. 558.

New York.— Adee v. Campbell, 79 N. Y. 52, personal estate. Contra, in the case of real estate, Hyatt v. Pugsley, 23 Barb. 285.

Pennsylvania.— Clendaniel's Estate, 12 Phila. 54.

20. Missouri.— Copenhaver v. Copenhaver, 9 Mo. App. 200 [affirmed in 78 Mo. 55].

New Jersey.— Fidler v. Higgins, 21 N. J. Eq. 138.

New York.— Adams v. Smith, 20 Abb. N. Cas. 60; Pond v. Bergh, 10 Paige 140.

Pennsylvania.— Hayes' Appeal, 89 Pa. St. 256; Kraut's Appeal, 60 Pa. St. 380 [affirming 6 Phila. 422]; Ortt's Appeal, 35 Pa. St. 267; Bamber's Estate, 2 Pa. Dist. 536. See also White's Estate, 5 Pa. Dist. 103, 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 395; Whitaker's Estate, 5 Pa. Dist. 83, 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 387.

Texas.— Witherspoon v. Jernigan, (Sup. 1903) 76 S. W. 445 [reversing (Civ. App. 1903) 73 S. W. 39].

Vermont.— Gaines v. Strong, 40 Vt. 354.

21. Schenck v. Vail, 24 N. J. Eq. 538; Clayton v. Drake, 17 Ohio St. 367.

22. Arkansas.— Byrd v. Lipscomb, 20 Ark. 19; Scull v. Vaugine, 15 Ark. 695; Kelly v. McGuire, 15 Ark. 555.

District of Columbia.— Iglehart v. Holt, 12 App. Cas. 68.

Indiana.— Baker v. Bourne, 127 Ind. 466, 26 N. E. 1078; Blake v. Blake, 85 Ind. 65.

Maryland.— Stewart v. Collier, 3 Harr. & J. 289.

Massachusetts.— Snow v. Snow, 111 Mass. 389; Knapp v. Windsor, 6 Cush. 156.

Minnesota.— Staubitz v. Lambert, 71 Minn. 11, 73 N. W. 511.

New Hampshire.— Nichols v. Shepard, 63 N. H. 391.

New Jersey.— Fisk v. Fisk, 60 N. J. Eq. 195, 46 Atl. 538; Wagner v. Sharp, 33 N. J. Eq. 520. See also Hayes v. King, 37 N. J. Eq. 1.

New York.— Barber v. Brundage, 50 N. Y. App. Div. 123, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 347; Hyatt v. Pugsley, 33 Barb. 373; Fletcher v. Severs, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 6; Adams v. Smith, 20 Abb. N. Cas. 60; Jackson v. Thurman, 6 Johns. 322; Pond v. Bergh, 10 Paige 140.

North Carolina.— Skinner v. Wynne, 55 N. C. 41.

Pennsylvania.— In re Cremer, 156 Pa. St. 40, 26 Atl. 782; Person's Appeal, 74 Pa. St. 121; Eshleman's Appeal, 74 Pa. St. 42; Miller's Appeal, 40 Pa. St. 387; McConnell's Estate, 5 Pa. Super. Ct. 120; Kenderdine's Estate, 6 Pa. Dist. 260, 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 201; Dorsey v. Van Horn, 9 Wkly. Notes Cas. 95; In re Chess, 2 Pittsb. 130; In re De Haven, 1 Pa. L. J. Rep. 336, 2 Pa. L. J. 323; Fister's Estate, 2 Woodw. 323; In re McConnell, 27 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 209; In re Sutton, 27 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 291.

Texas.— See Witherspoon v. Jernigan, (Sup. 1903) 76 S. W. 445 [reversing (Civ. App. 1903) 73 S. W. 39].

Vermont.— Hatch v. Hatch, 21 Vt. 450.

Virginia.— Davis v. Rowe, 6 Rand. 355.

Contra, McComas v. Amos, 29 Md. 120; Crump v. Faucett, 70 N. C. 345; Cromartie v. Kemp, 66 N. C. 382; Haynes v. Johnson, 58 N. C. 124; Clement v. Cauble, 55 N. C. 82; Hayes' Appeal, 89 Pa. St. 256; Brenneman's Appeal, 40 Pa. St. 115.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 121.

23. See the cases cited in the preceding note.

different degrees of consanguinity, then the more remote take by representation or per stirpes.[24] This rule applies no matter how remote from the intestate the first degree may be.[25]

13. Operation and Effect of Will[26] — a. In General. In the absence of a statute to the contrary, a person has the right to dispose of his or her property by will as he or she may see fit,[27] subject only to the rights of the surviving wife or husband,[28] and the statutes of descent and distribution apply only where the owner of property dies intestate.[29] If a will, however, does not, by a residuary clause or otherwise, dispose of all the testator's property, he is intestate as to the property not disposed of, and it is governed by the statutes.[30] And in many states the statutes confer rights upon the surviving spouse or children omitted from a will purporting to dispose of all the testator's property.[31] Under such statutes where a will makes no provision for testator's widow, or for his child or children, the estate as to the widow or the omitted child or children is regarded as intestate to the extent of the legal claims of the omitted person.[32] In cases of partial intestacy both the next of kin and the widow take under the statute of distributions;[33] and a devise of a life-estate "as his full portion of the testator's estate" will not exclude the devisee from participating in the distribution of the

24. Arkansas.— Garret v. Bean, 51 Ark. 52, 9 S. W. 435; Byrd v. Lipscomb, 20 Ark. 19.

Georgia.—Houston v. Davidson, 45 Ga. 574.

Indiana.— Kilgore v. Kilgore, 127 Ind. 276, 26 N. E. 56; Blake v. Blake, 85 Ind. 65; Cox v. Cox, 44 Ind. 368.

Iowa.— Johnson v. Bodine, 108 Iowa 594, 79 N. W. 348.

Kentucky.— Jackson v. Moore, 8 Dana 170.

Maine.— Healey v. Cole, 95 Me. 272, 49 Atl. 1065; Doane v. Freeman, 45 Me. 113.

Maryland.— Gulick v. Fisher, 92 Md. 353, 48 Atl. 375; Conner v. Waring, 52 Md. 724; Maxwell v. Seney, 5 Harr. & J. 23.

Michigan.— Ernst v. Freeman, 129 Mich. 271, 88 N. W. 636.

Missouri.— Aull v. Day, 133 Mo. 337, 34 S. W. 578; Copenhaver v. Copenhaver, 78 Mo. 55 [affirming 9 Mo. App. 200].

New Hampshire.—Preston v. Cole, 64 N. H. 459, 13 Atl. 788.

New York.— Pond v. Bergh, 10 Paige 140.

Ohio.— Dutoit v. Doyle, 16 Ohio St. 400; Ewers v. Follin, 9 Ohio St. 327.

Pennsylvania.— Person's Appeal, 74 Pa. St. 121; Eshleman's Appeal, 74 Pa. St. 42; Krout's Appeal, 60 Pa. St. 380; Miller's Appel, 40 Pa. St. 387; Ortt's Appeal, 35 Pa. St. 267.

Rhode Island.— Daboll v. Field, 9 R. I. 266; Smith v. Smith, 4 R. I. 1.

South Carolina.— Payne v. Harris, 3 Strobh. Eq. 39.

Texas.— Jones v. Barnett, 30 Tex. 637. And see Witherspoon v. Jernigan, (Sup. 1903) 76 S. W. 445 [reversing (Civ. App. 1903) 73 S. W. 39].

Virginia.— Ball v. Ball, 27 Gratt. 325; Davis v. Rowe, 6 Rand. 355. See also Moore v. Conner, (1890) 20 S. E. 936, holding that under Code (1887), § 2548, where an intestate leaves living a mother and nephews and nieces of the half blood as his nearest next of kin, the nephews and nieces take per stirpes and not per capita.

Contra, The next of kin of the same degree of consanguinity take per stirpes not per capita. Iglehart v. Holt, 12 App. Cas. (D. C.) 68 (holding that nephews and nieces who were next of kin to the intestate took personal property per stirpes, to the absolute exclusion of the issue of deceased nephews and nieces); Odam v. Caruthers, 6 Ga. 39 (holding that grandchildren took per stirpes, not per capita); Jackson v. Thurman, 6 Johns. (N. Y.) 322; Stent v. McLeod, 2 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 354. Next of kin of different degrees of consanguinity take per capita. Balch v. Stone, 149 Mass. 39, 20 N. E. 322.

25. Davis v. Rowe, 6 Rand. (Va.) 355.

26. Revocation of will by marriage and birth of child see Wills.

Forced heirs see supra, III, A, 5, c.

27. See Wills.

28. See Curtesy, 12 Cyc. 1001; Dower; Homestead.

29. Hall v. Cowles, 15 Colo. 343, 25 Pac. 705; Merrill v. Hayden, 86 Me. 133, 29 Atl. 949. See also infra, III, A, 13, c, (IV). And see, generally, Wills.

30. Hilton v. Hilton, 2 MacArthur (D. C.) 70; Ward v. Dodd, 41 N. J. Eq. 414, 5 Atl. 650; Skellenger v. Skellenger, 32 N. J. Eq. 659; Richmond v. Vanhook, 38 N. C. 581; Snelgrove v. Snelgrove, 4 Desauss. (S. C.) 274; Richardson v. Sinkler, 2 Desauss. (S. C.) 127. And see Gill v. Grand Tower Min., etc., Co., 92 Ill. 249.

Hotchpot see infra, IV, B, 7.

Property not disposed of by will see Wills.

Property embraced in void bequest or devise see Wills.

Construction and effect of residuary clause see Wills.

31. Pretermitted children see infra, III, A, 13, c.

Forced heirs see supra, III, A, 5, c.

Operation and effect of will as to surviving wife or husband see infra, III, B, 6, f; III, B, 7, d.

32. See In re Taylor, 55 Ill. 252; and other cases cited supra, III, A, 13, c.

33. Skellenger v. Skellenger, 32 N. J. Eq. 659.

residue of which the testator died intestate.[34] A direction in a will that a sale of certain land should be made, without any action thereunder, does not prevent the land from descending to the legal heirs of the testator as intestate property.[35] Where a will directs all the estate to be sold by the executors for the payment of legacies, the legatees and the amount of each legacy being specified, the personal estate is to be exhausted first, and the real estate is to be resorted to only to make up any deficiency.[36]

b. Devise to Heir or Next of Kin. Where a testator makes a devise of land to his heir at law, the devisee will take by descent and not by purchase, where the estate devised to him is the same estate which he would have taken by descent in case of intestacy,[37] unless there is a conversion;[38] but if the devise is of an estate different in quantity or quality from that which the devisee would have taken in case of intestacy, the devise is valid and the devisee takes by purchase.[39]

c. Pretermitted Children — (i) In General. In many states by express statutory provision, if a testator fails to name or make provision for a child in his will without showing that it is intentional, and in some states even where the omission is intentional, the pretermitted child will take the same share in the estate and hold by the same title as though the testator had died intestate,[40] unless

34. Ward v. Dodd, 41 N. J. Eq. 414, 5 Atl. 650. See WILLS.

35. Gill v. Grand Tower Min., etc., Co., 92 Ill. 249. See, generally, WILLS.

36. Hilton v. Hilton, 2 MacArthur (D. C.) 70. See WILLS.

37. District of Columbia.— Jost v. Jost, 1 Mackey 487.

Indiana.— Davidson v. Koehler, 76 Ind. 398.

Maryland.— Gilpin v. Hollingsworth, 3 Md. 190, 56 Am. Dec. 737; Philips v. Dashiell, 1 Harr. & J. 478.

Massachusetts.— Sears v. Russell, 8 Gray 86; Ellis v. Page, 7 Cush. 161.

New York.— Buckley v. Buckley, 11 Barb. 43.

North Carolina.— McKay v. Hendon, 7 N. C. 209; Campbell v. Herron, 1 N. C. 381.

South Carolina.— Seabrook v. Seabrook, McMull. Eq. 201.

Tennessee.— Hoover v. Gregory, 10 Yerg. 444.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," §§ 124, 125.

38. Buckley v. Buckley, 11 Barb. (N. Y.) 43.

39. Buckley v. Buckley, 11 Barb. (N. Y.) 43; Campbell v. Herron, 1 N. C. 381.

40. Arkansas.—Bloom v. Strauss, 70 Ark. 483, 69 S. W. 548, 72 S. W. 563; Trotter v. Trotter, 31 Ark. 145; Branton v. Branton, 23 Ark. 569.

California.— In re Callaghan, 119 Cal. 571, 51 Pac. 860, 39 L. R. A. 689; Painter v. Painter, 113 Cal. 371, 45 Pac. 689; In re Salmon, 107 Cal. 614, 40 Pac. 1030, 48 Am. St. Rep. 164; Rhoton v. Blevin, 99 Cal. 645, 34 Pac. 513; Smith v. Olmstead, 88 Cal. 582, 26 Pac. 521, 22 Am. St. Rep. 336, 12 L. R. A. 46 [affirming (1890) 22 Pac. 1143]; In re Barter, 86 Cal. 441, 25 Pac. 15; In re Stevens, 83 Cal. 322, 23 Pac. 379, 17 Am. St. Rep. 252; In re Grider, 81 Cal. 571, 22 Pac. 908; Wardwell's Estate, 57 Cal. 484; Pearson v. Pearson, 46 Cal. 609; In re Utz, 43 Cal. 200; In re Garraud, 35 Cal. 336.

Indian Territory.— George v. Robb, (1901) 64 S. W. 615.

Kentucky.— Shelby v. Shelby, 1 B. Mon. 266; Breckenridge v. Floyd, 7 Dana 456; Shelby v. Shelby, 6 Dana 60.

Massachusetts.— Tucker v. Boston, 18 Pick. 162; Wilder v. Goss, 14 Mass. 357; Church v. Crocker, 3 Mass. 17; Wild v. Brewer, 2 Mass. 570; Terry v. Foster, 1 Mass. 146, 2 Am. Dec. 6.

Michigan.— Carpenter v. Snow, 117 Mich. 489, 76 N. W. 78, 72 Am. St. Rep. 576, 41 L. R. A. 820; Forbes v. Darling, 94 Mich. 621, 54 N. W. 385; In re Stebbins, 94 Mich. 304, 54 N. W. 159, 34 Am. St. Rep. 345.

Missouri.— Woods v. Drake, 135 Mo. 393, 37 S. W. 109; Thomas v. Black, 113 Mo. 66, 20 S. W. 657; McCracken v. McCracken, 67 Mo. 590; Schneider v. Koester, 54 Mo. 500; McCourtney v. Mathes, 47 Mo. 533; Burch v. Brown, 46 Mo. 441; Hill v. Martin, 28 Mo. 78; Hargadine v. Pulte, 27 Mo. 423; Bradley v. Bradley, 24 Mo. 311; State v. Pohl, 30 Mo. App. 321.

New Hampshire.— Smith v. Smith, 72 N. H. 168, 54 Atl. 1014; McIntire v. McIntire, 64 N. H. 609, 15 Atl. 218; Gage v. Gage, 29 N. H. 533.

Ohio.— German Mut. Ins. Co. v. Lushey, 10 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 25, 7 Ohio N. P. 62.

Pennsylvania.— Owens v. Haines, 199 Pa. St. 137, 48 Atl. 859.

Rhode Island.— In re O'Connor, 21 R. I. 465, 44 Atl. 591, 79 Am. St. Rep. 814; Potter v. Brown, 11 R. I. 232.

Tennessee.— Ensley v. Ensley, 105 Tenn. 107, 58 S. W. 288.

Utah.— In re Atwood, 14 Utah 1, 45 Pac. 1036, 60 Am. St. Rep. 878.

Virginia.— Allison v. Allison, 101 Va. 537, 44 S. E. 904.

Washington.— Morrison v. Morrison, 25 Wash. 466, 65 Pac. 779; In re Gorkow, 20 Wash. 563, 56 Pac. 385; Hill v. Hill, 7 Wash. 409, 35 Pac. 360; In re Barker, 5 Wash. 390, 31 Pac. 976. See also Bower v. Bower, 5 Wash. 225, 31 Pac. 598.

the property would go to the father if there had been an intestacy. In such a case the pretermitted child does not take.[41] The rule applies not only to a child but to the issue of a deceased child of the testator,[42] if such child was deceased at the time of the execution of the will and the issue was then presumptive heir at law of the testator.[43] The statute does not apply where the testator had a power of appointment merely.[44] Nor does it apply in favor of "the issue of the deceased child" in a case where a daughter, to whom the father has bequeathed a life annuity, dies before he dies, and leaves issue born before the bequest.[45]

(II) POSTHUMOUS CHILDREN AND CHILDREN BORN AFTER EXECUTION OF WILL. Under a statute providing that a child born after the execution of the will and being pretermitted shall take a share in the parent's property as if there had been an intestacy, a pretermitted child born after the execution of the will and before the testator's death,[46] or a pretermitted posthumous Wisconsin.— Moon v. Evans, 69 Wis. 667, 35 N. W. 20. See Newman v. Waterman, 63 Wis. 612, 23 N. W. 696, 53 Am. Rep. 310.

United States.— Conlan v. Doull, 133 U. S. 216, 10 S. Ct. 253, 33 L. ed. 596 (under Utah statute); Boman v. Boman, 49 Fed. 329, 1 C. C. A. 274 [reversing 47 Fed. 849] (under Washington statute).

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 126.

Children by a first wife come within the rule when the will provides only for the children by a second wife. Thomas v. Black, 113 Mo. 66, 20 S. W. 657.

An illegitimate child omitted from its mother's will comes within the statute. In re Wardell, 57 Cal. 484. Contra (Kent v. Barker, 2 Gray (Mass.) 535), unless the parents have married and the father has acknowledged the child (Monson v. Palmer, 8 Allen (Mass.) 551; Loring v. Thorndike, 5 Allen (Mass.) 257). See BASTARDS, 5 Cyc. 640.

The statute applies to community property as well as to a testator's separate property. Hill v. Hill, 7 Wash. 409, 35 Pac. 360.

Dower, homestead, and the year's support are not excluded in determining the share of a pretermitted child, where the widow elects to take under the will. Ensley v. Ensley, 105 Tenn. 107, 58 S. W. 288.

Where pretermitted children are the only heirs the will is inoperative, there being no property on which it can act. Bloom v. Strauss, 70 Ark. 483, 69 S. W. 548, 72 S. W. 563.

Probate of will.— The pretermitted child cannot resist the probate of the will. Matter of Gall, 5 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 374.

Effect of other statutes.—A statute providing for a pretermitted child is not affected by a statute providing for the revocation of a will by the birth of a first child after the execution of the will. German Mut. Ins. Co. v. Lushey, 10 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 25, 7 Ohio N. P. 62.

A will published before enactment of a statute providing for inheritance by pretermitted children has been held not to be affected by the statute. Savage v. Mears, 2 Rob. (Va.) 570.

41. In re Witter, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 133, 2 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 530.

42. Ward v. Ward, 120 Ill. 111, 11 N. E. 336; Tucker v. Boston, 18 Pick. (Mass.) 162; Terry v. Foster, 1 Mass. 146, 2 Am. Dec. 6; Gage v. Gage, 29 N. H. 533; Newman v. Waterman, 63 Wis. 612, 23 N. W. 696, 53 Am. Rep. 310. See also Guitar v. Gordon, 17 Mo. 408.

43. In re Barter, 86 Cal. 441, 25 Pac. 15.

44. Sewall v. Wilmer, 132 Mass. 131.

45. Wilder v. Thayer, 97 Mass. 439.

46. Illinois.— Hawhe v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 165 Ill. 561, 46 N. E. 240; Salem Nat. Bank v. White, 159 Ill. 136, 42 N. E. 312; Ward v. Ward, 120 Ill. 111, 11 N. E. 336; Osborn v. Jefferson Nat. Bank, 116 Ill. 130, 4 N. E. 791.

Kentucky.— Shelby v. Shelby, 1 B. Mon. 266; Breckinridge v. Floyd, 7 Dana 456; Shelby v. Shelby, 6 Dana 60; Woodard v. Spiller, 1 Dana 179, 25 Am. Dec. 139; Haskins v. Spiller, 1 Dana 170.

Massachusetts.— Bancroft v. Ives, 3 Gray 367.

New Jersey.— Stevens v. Shippen, 28 N. J. Eq. 487.

New York.— In re Murphy, 144 N. Y. 557, 39 N. E. 691; Smith v. Robertson, 24 Hun 210 [affirmed in 89 N. Y. 555]; Plummer v. Murray, 51 Barb. 201; Drishler v. Van Den Henden, 49 N. Y. Super. Ct. 508; Davis v. Davis, 27 Misc. 455, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 223; In re Witter, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 133, 2 Connoly Surr. 530; Bruce v. Bruce, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 659, 20 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 362, 27 Abb. N. Cas. 61.

Ohio.— German Mut. Ins. Co. v. Lushey, 66 Ohio St. 233, 64 N. E. 120.

Oregon.— Northrop v. Marquam, 16 Oreg. 173, 18 Pac. 449.

Pennsylvania.— Owens v. Haines, 199 Pa. St. 137, 48 Atl. 859; McCulloch's Appeal, 113 Pa. St. 247, 6 Atl. 253; Grosvenor v. Fogg, 81 Pa. St. 400; Hollingsworth's Appeal, 51 Pa. St. 518; Walker v. Hall, 34 Pa. St. 483.

Rhode Island.— Chace v. Chace, 6 R. I. 407, 78 Am. Dec. 446.

Texas.— Morgan v. Davenport, 60 Tex. 230.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 128.

The Married Woman's Act of New York of 1849 did not change this rule. Cotheal v. Cotheal, 40 N. Y. 405 [overruling Plummer v. Murray, 51 Barb. (N. Y.) 201].

child,[47] such pretermission, in some of the states, not being intended,[48] take that share which he or she would have been entitled to if the deceased had died intestate. And this is applicable in favor of a posthumous child, although the testator made provision for his "surviving children," he not appearing to have had in mind the birth of the posthumous child,[49] as well as in favor of a pretermitted child born in the testator's lifetime, although the will contains in general terms a residuary devise of property not specifically devised to the testator's children,[50] or a contingent devise to his children,[51] or shows an intention that a particular kind of property should go wholly to the testator's sons.[52]

(III) "PROVISION" DEFINED. The "provision" for a child referred to in the statutes need not necessarily be such as the court may consider adequate for the child, nor need it be made out of property of any particular kind or in any particular locality;[53] but the provision must constitute an estate which vests when the will takes effect,[54] and it must be definite, certain, and enforceable, and not dependent on the will and bounty of the widow.[55] No general rule for determining the sufficiency of a provision in a will can be given, but reference must be had to the cases.[56]

The New York statute (2 Rev. St. p. 65, § 49), although using the word "testator," applies to the will of the mother of an after-born child. In re Huiell, 15 N. Y. St. 715, 6 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 352.

The Massachusetts statute (Rev. St. c. 62, § 21) has been held to apply to a child born after the making of the will, and before the death of the father. Bancroft v. Ives, 3 Gray (Mass.) 367.

Males and females.— The statute, although using the words "his will," applies to females as well as males. Owens v. Haines, 199 Pa. St. 137, 48 Atl. 859.

Will not invalid.— The statutes do not make the birth of a child a revocation of the will or afford any reason against its probate; and therefore it is immaterial that a child claiming under the statute failed to institute action until after expiration of the time limited for appeal from the probate. Owens v. Haines, 199 Pa. St. 137, 48 Atl. 859.

A child born out of wedlock before the date of its father's will, and rendered legitimate by the subsequent marriage of the father and mother after the date of the will, is not an after-born child within the meaning of the statute. McCulloch's Appeal, 113 Pa. St. 247, 6 Atl. 253, 18 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 172.

47. California.— In re Buchanan, 8 Cal. 507.

Kentucky.— Sansbery v. McElroy, 6 Bush 440; Shelby v. Shelby, 1 B. Mon. 266; Shelby v. Shelby, 6 Dana 60.

Maine.— Waterman v. Hawkins, 63 Me. 156.

Massachusetts.—Bowen v. Hoxie, 137 Mass. 527.

Michigan.— Catholic Mut. Ben. Assoc. v. Firnane, 50 Mich. 82, 14 N. W. 707.

New Hampshire.— Eyre v. Storer, 37 N. H. 114.

New Jersey.— Wilson v. Fritts, 32 N. J. Eq. 59.

New York.— Sanford v. Sanford, 5 Lans. 486; Sanford v. Sanford, 61 Barb. 293.

North Carolina.— Alston v. Alston, 42 N. C. 172.

Oregon.— Northrop v. Marquam, 16 Oreg. 173, 18 Pac. 449.

Pennsylvania.— Wilson v. Ott, 160 Pa. St. 433, 28 Atl. 848; In re Willard, 68 Pa. St. 327; Edward's Appeal, 47 Pa. St. 144.

Tennessee.— Ensley v. Ensley, 105 Tenn. 107, 58 S. W. 288; Burns v. Allen, 93 Tenn. 149, 23 S. W. 111.

Virginia.— Armistead v. Dangerfield, 3 Munf. 20, 5 Am. Dec. 501.

United States.— Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Wasserman, 22 Fed. 872, Nebraska statute.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 128.

The New Jersey statute (Gen. St. p. 3760, § 19), providing that if a testator, having children when he makes his will, "shall at his death leave a child" born thereafter and not provided for by the will, such child shall take a share, includes a posthumous child. Van Wickle v. Van Wickle, (N. J. Ch. 1899) 44 Atl. 877.

48. Minot's Petition, 164 Mass. 38, 41 N. E. 63. And see Hurley v. O'Sullivan, 137 Mass. 86; Allison v. Allison, 101 Va. 537, 44 S. E. 904.

49. Bowen v. Hoxie, 137 Mass. 527.

50. Haskins v. Spiller, 1 Dana (Ky.) 170.

51. Holloman v. Copeland, 10 Ga. 79.

52. Armistead v. Dangerfield, 3 Munf. (Va.) 20, 5 Am. Dec. 501.

53. In re Callaghan, 119 Cal. 571, 51 Pac. 860, 39 L. R. A. 689 (holding that a devise of land which the testator did not own at the time of the execution of his will, nor at any subsequent time, excludes the application of the statute); Case v. Young, 3 Minn. 209 (holding that where a small legacy is given, but no fund provided for the payment thereof and apparently no unbequeathed fund out of which to pay it, the statute will not apply); Minot v. Minot, 17 N. Y. App. Div. 521, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 554.

54. Minot v. Minot, 17 N. Y. App. Div. 521, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 554, holding that a contingent remainder is not a "provision."

55. Ensley v. Ensley, 105 Tenn. 107, 58 S. W. 288.

56. Insufficient provision.— There was held to be no sufficient "provision" in the following cases:

(IV) INTENTION TO OMIT CHILD — (A) In General. Under most of the statutes a child takes no share of the testator's estate where his or her omission from the will was intentional.[57] Where the statute provides that in case of an omission to name or provide for a child or the issue of a deceased child he shall take as though there had been no will, unless it appears that such omission was intentional, or if such omission was occasioned by accident or mistake,[58] the intention or want of intention may be shown in various ways. There is no general rule for determining what is sufficient indication of intention to omit, and a very slight reference to the omitted child is sometimes considered sufficient.[59] On the other hand it has been held that although a will may refer to children such reference may not be sufficient to exclude the child from the benefit of the statute.[60] According to Maine.— Waterman v. Hawkins, 63 Me. 156, general devise of a reversion to his heirs.

Massachusetts.—Minot's Petition, 164 Mass. 38, 41 N. E. 63, after wife's life, reversion to those who would then be his heirs.

Pennsylvania.— In re Willard, 68 Pa. St. 327, reversion to his children and heirs after a life-estate to testator's mother, and reversion to those heirs living after a life-estate given his wife.

Virginia.— Allison v. Allison, 101 Va. 537, 44 S. E. 904, vested remainder.

Wisconsin.— In re Donges, 103 Wis. 497, 79 N. W. 786, 74 Am. St. Rep. 885, remainder to his children if any are born, at the majority of the youngest.

United States.— Mercantile Trust, etc., Co. v. Rhode Island Hospital Trust Co., 36 Fed. 863, amount of residue given his wife increased if he have issue.

Sufficient provision.— There was held to be sufficient provision in these cases: Jackson v. Jackson, 2 Pa. St. 212 (direction that legatee have the guardianship and tuition of after-born children); Leisenring's Estate, 5 Pa. Dist. 232, 38 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 127 (devise in codicil of one third of his estate to his daughter on her arrival at the age of twenty-five).

57. Merrill v. Hayden, 86 Me. 133, 29 Atl. 949; Minot's Petition, 164 Mass. 38, 41 N. E. 63; Hurley v. O'Sullivan, 137 Mass. 86; and other cases in the notes following.

58. Ramsdill v. Wentworth, 101 Mass. 125; In re McMillen, (N. M. 1903) 71 Pac. 1083.

59. An intention to omit a child was held to be shown in the following cases:

California.— Rhoton v. Blevin, 99 Cal. 645, 34 Pac. 513 (a devise of all property to his wife, knowing that she "will ever continue the same kind, devoted mother to our children," and making "no provisions for said children further," shows an intention to omit the grandchildren); Payne v. Payne, 18 Cal. 291 (mention in codicil).

Georgia.— McMichael v. Pye, 75 Ga. 189, gifts to all children living, but no mention of a child deceased before the will was executed, or to the issue of such child.

Illinois.— Hawhe v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 165 Ill. 561, 46 N. E. 240.

Massachusetts.—Bowdlear v. Bowdlear, 112 Mass. 184; Prentiss v. Prentiss, 11 Allen (Mass.) 47; Tucker v. Boston, 18 Pick. (Mass.) 162; Wilder v. Goss, 14 Mass. 357; Church v. Crocker, 3 Mass. 17 (holding that the naming of a child in his father's will, although no legacy was given, was sufficient); Wild v. Brewer, 2 Mass. 570 (a devise to "children of my daughter S," excludes such daughter); Terry v. Foster, 1 Mass. 146, 2 Am. Dec. 6 (holding that the mere naming of a child, whether he be given a legacy or not, is sufficient).

Minnesota.— Prentiss v. Prentiss, 14 Minn. 18; Case v. Young, 3 Minn. 209.

Missouri.— Woods v. Drake, 135 Mo. 393, 37 S. W. 109 (holding that specific bequests by name to the minor children of the testator's adopted daughter, with whom they lived, was a sufficient reference to the daughter under Rev. St. (1889) § 8877); Wetherall v. Harris, 51 Mo. 65; Pounds v. Dale, 48 Mo. 270 (holding that an heir need not be directly named in a will, but the will must contain language which refers directly to him); McCourtney v. Mathes, 47 Mo. 533 (gift to wife, she to manage and educate the children, and remainder to his heirs if wife remarry); Hockensmith v. Slusher, 26 Mo. 237 (provision for a son-in-law without naming the relation, shows that his wife, the testator's daughter, is not forgotten); Beck v. Metz, 25 Mo. 70; Guitar v. Gordon, 17 Mo. 408 (a deceased daughter named, but no mention of her death or of her children, raises a presumption that the children were intentionally omitted); Block v. Block, 3 Mo. 594 (provision that a child named should take nothing).

New Hampshire.— Smith v. Smith, 72 N. H. 168, 54 Atl. 1014; Merril v. Sanborn, 2 N. H. 499.

Rhode Island.— In re O'Connor, 21 R. I. 465, 44 Atl. 591, 79 Am. St. Rep. 814.

Tennessee.— Reeves v. Hager, 101 Tenn. 712, 50 S. W. 760.

Utah.— In re Atwood, 14 Utah 1, 45 Pac. 1036, 60 Am. St. Rep. 878.

Virginia.— Allison v. Allison, 101 Va. 537, 44 S. E. 904.

United States.— Coulan v. Doull, 133 U. S. 216, 10 S. Ct. 253, 33 L. ed. 596, Utah statute.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 127.

60. An intention to omit was held not to be shown in the following cases:

California.— Painter v. Painter, 113 Cal. 371, 45 Pac. 689 (holding that a reference to the testator's sons then living and who are specially mentioned will not exclude from succession a son born after the execution of the will and not provided for therein); In re

some of the cases a gift of all the testator's estate to his wife is not sufficient to exclude a child from the benefit of the statute.[61] It is immaterial that the testator's intention was influenced by misinformation as to extrinsic facts.[62]

(B) Evidence of Intent. What is sufficient evidence to show an intent to omit a child depends on the circumstances of each case.[63] It seems that the parol evidence of the circumstances under which the will was made is admissible.[64] Some courts admit parol evidence of the testator's declarations and of other extrinsic facts to show the testator's intention to omit a child[65] while others

Salmon, 107 Cal. 614, 40 Pac. 1030, 48 Am. St. Rep. 164; Smith v. Olmstead, 88 Cal. 582, 26 Pac. 521, 22 Am. St. Rep. 336, 12 L. R. A. 46; Stevens' Estate, 83 Cal. 322, 23 Pac. 379, 17 Am. St. Rep. 252; In re Grider, 81 Cal. 571, 22 Pac. 908; Pearson v. Pearson, 46 Cal. 609; Bush v. Lindsey, 44 Cal. 121 (a devise to a grandson, the son of his deceased son, does not show that the omission of his children was intentional); In re Utz, 43 Cal. 200 (a devise "to my children," naming them but omitting the names of the children of a deceased child, does not exclude such grandchildren).

Illinois.— See Lurie v. Radnitzer, 166 Ill. 609, 46 N. E. 1116, 57 Am. St. Rep. 157, holding that a provision for an after-born child which has been so imperfectly erased that it remains legible, and the testator's certificate as to the erasure, does not form part of the will, so that the will shows an intent to disinherit such unborn child, and thus exclude him from the benefits of the statute for pretermitted children.

Michigan.— Stebbins v. Stebbins, 94 Mich. 304, 54 N. W. 159, a provision giving the family bible to one of two sole heirs, if the other did not wish it, and giving the former the privilege of making certain selections from his books and clothing, but no further provision for him.

Missouri.— Webb v. Archibald, 128 Mo. 299, 34 S. W. 54 (unequal provisions); Wetherall v. Harris, 51 Mo. 65 (the mention of minor children as objects of testator's care not enough to exclude grown-up children); Pounds v. Dale, 48 Mo. 270 (mention of certain ones out of a family of certain children); Hargadine v. Pulte, 27 Mo. 423 (a devise of all his property to his wife "to the exclusion of all and every person or persons, be the same relatives or not, forever"); Bradley v. Bradley, 24 Mo. 311. See also Thomas v. Black, 113 Mo. 66, 20 S. W. 657, holding that a devise to testator's second wife for life, with remainder to her children begotten by him, does not exclude from succession the testator's children by his first wife.

New Hampshire.— Gage v. Gage, 29 N. H. 533, holding that the naming of a grandchild and describing him as such is not sufficient reference to his father or mother.

Ohio.— German Mut. Ins. Co. v. Lushey, 10 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 24, 7 Ohio N. P. 62, a provision that no subsequent birth of child shall change the will.

Pennsylvania.— Hoffner v. Wynkoop, 97 Pa. St. 130.

Rhode Island.— Potter v. Brown, 11 R. I. 232, holding that a devise to testator's daughter in trust until she was twenty, or until married, then the trust fund to his daughter, but in case of her death under twenty or unmarried, the trust fund to go equally to her brothers and sisters, does not exclude a son born after the execution of his father's will.

Tennessee.— Ensley v. Ensley, 105 Tenn. 107, 58 S. W. 288.

Washington.— Bower v. Bower, 5 Wash. 225, 31 Pac. 598, devise of all his property to his wife "and to her heirs forever."

United States.— Boman v. Boman, 49 Fed. 329, 1 C. C. A. 274 [reversing 47 Fed. 849], devise "to each of my heirs at law the sum of one dollar."

61. Smith v. Olmstead, 88 Cal. 582, 26 Pac. 521, 22 Am. St. Rep. 336, 12 L. R. A. 46; Stevens' Estate, 83 Cal. 322, 23 Pac. 379, 17 Am. St. Rep. 252; In re Grider, 81 Cal. 571, 22 Pac. 908; Pearson v. Pearson, 46 Cal. 609; Hargadine v. Pulte, 27 Mo. 423; Bradley v. Bradley, 24 Mo. 311; Ensley v. Ensley, 105 Tenn. 107, 58 S. W. 288; Bower v. Bower, 5 Wash. 225, 31 Pac. 598. Contra, Hawhe v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 165 Ill. 561, 46 N. E. 240; Leonard v. Enochs, 92 Ky. 186, 17 S. W. 437, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 506, a provision making the wife the sole beneficiary excludes a child born after the execution of the will and a posthumous child seven months begotten.

62. Hurley v. O'Sullivan, 137 Mass. 86.

63. See Peters v. Siders, 126 Mass. 135, 30 Am. Rep. 671 (holding that where a testatrix who made an antenuptial agreement reserving to herself certain property and the right to dispose of it by will, and who nine months after her marriage made a will making no provision for children, and one month after the execution of the will bore a child, is sufficient evidence that the omission was intentional); Bancroft v. Ives, 3 Gray (Mass.) 367 (holding that the statement, "You will have all there is," made by the testator to his wife after the death of his children but before the birth of his last child was not sufficient to show an intent to omit after-born children); Burns v. Allen, 93 Tenn. 149, 23 S. W. 111; Bresee v. Stiles, 22 Wis. 120 (holding that the fact that the testator lived many years after the birth of children born after the execution of his will without making any express provision for them therein was not evidence of an intention to disinherit them). And see the other cases cited supra, III, A, 13, c, (IV), (A).

64. Buckley v. Gerard, 123 Mass. 8.

65. Minot's Petition, 164 Mass. 38, 41 N. E. 63; Peters v. Siders, 126 Mass. 135; Buckley v. Gerard, 123 Mass. 8; Wilder v. Thayer, 97 exclude such evidence and hold that the intention of the testator is to be determined solely from the face of the will itself.[66]

(c) Presumption and Burden of Proof. Where a testator fails to give a legacy to or name a child or the issue of a child, there is a presumption that he was unintentionally overlooked,[67] but this presumption of course is rebuttable,[68] the burden of proof being on those who oppose the claim of the omitted child.[69]

(d) Question For Jury. It has been held that the question whether the omission was unintentional, or by accident or mistake, is for the jury.[70]

(v) Accrual of Right. The right of a pretermitted child born in the testator's lifetime accrues on the testator's death,[71] while the right of a posthumous child accrues at the time of its birth.[72] It is immaterial that the posthumous child dies shortly after its birth.[73]

(vi) Waiver and Loss of Right. The benefit of the statute may be waived or renounced by a pretermitted child.[74] But where a child has once secured the right under a statute for the benefit of pretermitted children he will not lose such right because he does not bring an action within the statutory period.[75] Nor will he be deprived of his right in the testator's land and be compelled to resort to the proceeds of sale because of a power of sale given the widow in connection with a devise to her in fee of all the testator's property, where the sale is made by the widow as sole devisee and not under the power,[76] or where the sale is made under the power.[77] Nor will such child be divested of his title in the land by a clause empowering the executor to sell land to pay the testator's debts.[78]

(vii) Property Contributing to Make Up Share. The share given a pretermitted or posthumous child is to be paid in the first place from the residuary estate,[79] and to furnish the rest of such child's share where the residuary estate is insufficient, the devises and legacies given by the will are abated,[80] and a

Mass. 439; Converse v. Wales, 4 Allen (Mass.) 512; Wilson v. Fosket, 6 Metc. (Mass.) 400, 39 Am. Dec. 736; In re O'Connor, 21 R. I. 465, 44 Atl. 591, 79 Am. St. Rep. 814; In re Atwood, 14 Utah 1, 45 Pac. 1036, 60 Am. St. Rep. 878; Coulam v. Doull, 4 Utah 267, 9 Pac. 568 [affirmed in 133 U. S. 216, 10 S. Ct. 253, 33 L. ed. 596].

66. California.— In re Salmon, 107 Cal. 614, 40 Pac. 1030, 48 Am. St. Rep. 164; Rhoton v. Blevin, 99 Cal. 645, 34 Pac. 513; Stevens' Estate, 83 Cal. 322, 23 Pac. 379, 17 Am. St. Rep. 252; In re Garraud, 35 Cal. 336.

Illinois.— Lurie v. Radnitzer, 166 Ill. 609, 46 N. E. 1116, 57 Am. St. Rep. 157.

Michigan.— Carpenter v. Snow, 117 Mich. 489, 76 N. W. 78, 72 Am. St. Rep. 576, 41 L. R. A. 820.

Missouri.— Thomas v. Black, 113 Mo. 66, 20 S. W. 657; McCourtney v. Mathes, 47 Mo. 533.

Tennessee.— Burns v. Allen, 93 Tenn. 149, 23 S. W. 111.

Washington.— Bower v. Bower, 5 Wash. 225, 31 Pac. 598.

Wisconsin.— Bresee v. Stiles, 22 Wis. 120.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 127.

67. Tucker v. Boston, 18 Pick. (Mass.) 162; Thomas v. Black, 113 Mo. 66, 20 S. W. 657; Wetherall v. Harris, 51 Mo. 65; Rupp v. Eberly, 79 Pa. St. 141. See also Merril v. Sanborn, 2 N. H. 499.

68. Tucker v. Boston, 18 Pick. (Mass.) 162; Thomas v. Black, 113 Mo. 66, 20 S. W. 657; Coulam v. Doull, 4 Utah 267, 9 Pac. 568 [affirmed in 133 U. S. 216, 10 S. Ct. 253, 33 L. ed. 596] (extrinsic evidence showing testator had children living); Moon v. Evans, 69 Wis. 667, 35 N. W. 20.

69. Ramsdill v. Wentworth, 106 Mass. 320; Thomas v. Black, 113 Mo. 66, 20 S. W. 657; In re Atwood, 14 Utah 1, 45 Pac. 1036, 60 Am. St. Rep. 878; Loring v. Marsh, 6 Wall. (U. S.) 337, 18 L. ed. 802 [affirming 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,515, 2 Cliff. 469]; and other cases in the preceding notes.

70. Carpenter v. Snow, 117 Mich. 489, 76 N. W. 78, 72 Am. St. Rep. 576, 41 L. R. A. 820; In re Stebbin, 94 Mich. 304, 54 N. W. 159, 34 Am. St. Rep. 345.

Framing issue for jury.— Fay v. Vanderford, 154 Mass. 498, 28 N. E. 681.

71. Shelby v. Shelby, 6 Dana (Ky.) 60; Schneider v. Koester, 54 Mo. 500.

72. Sansberry v. McElroy, 6 Bush (Ky.) 440; Shelby v. Shelby, 6 Dana (Ky.) 60.

73. Catholic Mut. Ben. Assoc. v. Firnane, 50 Mich. 82, 14 N. W. 707.

74. Farnum v. Bryant, 34 N. H. 9.

75. Johnson v. Chapman, 45 N. C. 213; Alston v. Alston, 42 N. C. 172.

76. Robeno v. Marlatt, 136 Pa. St. 35, 20 Atl. 512.

77. Kolb v. Komp, 3 Yeates (Pa.) 164. See also Northrop v. Marquam, 16 Oreg. 173, 18 Pac. 449.

78. Worley v. Taylor, 21 Oreg. 589, 28 Pac. 903, 28 Am. St. Rep. 771.

79. Waterman v. Hawkins, 63 Me. 156; Bowen v. Hoxie, 137 Mass. 527.

80. Shelby v. Shelby, 1 B. Mon. (Ky.) 266 (holding that each devisee and each legatee must contribute proportionately); Wilson v.

legacy given in lieu of dower is abated the same as any other legacy or devise;[81] but the widow's dower is not abated,[82] and the child takes subject to the widow's dower[83] or the husband's curtesy.[84] The doctrine of hotchpot does not apply to such cases.[85] A child born after the making of a will by its father cannot recover of any brother or sister born before the will was made any portion of any advancement made by the father in his lifetime and before the birth of such child to such brother or sister.[86]

d. Disinheritance. In most of the states in order to disinherit an heir a clear intention to disinherit is necessary,[87] and a mere testamentary direction that an heir shall not take is not sufficient, a devise or bequest over to somebody else being necessary[88] to prevent such heir from taking the share given him by the laws as to intestate property. Therefore, although a testator may make a small provision for an heir, and also direct or declare that such heir shall take nothing more than the property named, he is not barred from taking a share in property not disposed of in the will.[89] In some states an unborn child cannot be disinherited by a clause in a will providing that no after-born child shall take anything.[90] A void will cannot have any operation as an expression of intention to disinherit heirs.[91]

14. Disqualification to Take. The capacity of aliens and bastards is elsewhere considered.[92] Formerly, under a statute providing that no free person of color should be permitted to acquire any real estate, the heirs of such person could not acquire any title to land purchased by him.[93] And under a statute providing that free negroes or persons of color, whose ancestors were slaves, were not citizens of the United States or of the state, such persons of color were held incapacitated to take land by descent.[94] By the weight of authority, in the absence of express provision excluding from inheritance an heir murdering the intestate, the Fritts, 32 N. J. Eq. 59; Talbird v. Verdier, 1 Desauss. (S. C.) 592; Burke v. Wilder, 1 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 551.

81. Mitchell v. Blain, 5 Paige (N. Y.) 588. Contra, Burke v. Wilder, 1 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 551.

82. Shelby v. Shelby, 1 B. Mon. (Ky.) 266.

83. Salem Nat. Bank v. White, 159 Ill. 136, 42 N. E. 312.

84. Plummer v. Murray, 51 Barb. (N. Y.) 201.

85. Stewart v. Pattison, 8 Gill (Md.) 46; Wilson v. Miller, 1 Pat. & H. (Va.) 353.

Hotchpot see infra, IV, B, 7.

86. Sanford v. Sanford, 5 Lans. (N. Y.) 486, 61 Barb. (N. Y.) 293.

87. Burns' Successions, 52 La. Ann. 1377, 27 So. 883 (holding that a will stating, "I desire to, and do, by these presents, disinherit my son, Thomas Burns," stating a good legal cause for disinheritance, does disinherit the son); Miller v. Wilson, 3 Phila. (Pa.) 343. But see Heeb v. Heeb, 93 Iowa 416, 61 N. W. 932 (holding that an expressed intent to disinherit is not necessary where a testator bequeaths his whole estate to a person not his child); Stennett v. Hall, 74 Iowa 279, 37 N. W. 332 (holding that an heir is disinherited where the testator did not provide for or mention him in a will disposing of all the testator's property). See also supra, II, A, 6.

Disinheriting child not named in will.— In re McMillen, (N. M. 1903) 71 Pac. 1083. And see supra, III, A, 13, c.

88. Alabama.—Wolffe v. Loeb, 98 Ala. 426, 13 So. 744; Whorton v. Morange, 62 Ala. 201; Banks v. Sherrod, 52 Ala. 267; Denson v. Autrey, 21 Ala. 205.

Illinois.— Ames v. Holmes, 190 Ill. 561, 60 N. E. 858; Parsons v. Millar, 189 Ill. 107, 59 N. E. 606; Lawrence v. Smith, 163 Ill. 149, 45 N. E. 259.

Kentucky.— Todd v. Gentry, 109 Ky. 704, 60 S. W. 639, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 1319.

Maine.— Howard v. American Peace Soc., 49 Me. 288.

Maryland.— Stewart v. Pattison, 8 Gill 46.

Missouri.— Hurst v. Von de Veld, 158 Mo. 239, 58 S. W. 1056.

New York.— Henriques v. Yale University, 28 N. Y. App. Div. 354, 51 N. Y. Suppl. 284.

South Carolina.— Crosshy v. Smith, 3 Rich. Eq. 244.

89. Kansas.— Andrews v. Harron, 59 Kan. 771, 51 Pac. 885.

Kentucky.— Todd v. Gentry, 109 Ky. 704, 60 S. W. 639, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 1319.

New Hampshire.— Wells v. Anderson, 69 N. H. 561, 44 Atl. 103.

New York.— Miller v. Von Schwarzenstein, 1 N. Y. App. Div. 18, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 475.

Pennsylvania.— Miller v. Wilson, 3 Phila. 343.

90. German Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Lushey, 20 Ohio Cir. Ct. 198, 11 Ohio Cir. Dec. 52.

91. Henriques v. Yale University, 28 N. Y. App. Div. 354, 51 N. Y. Suppl. 284.

92. See Aliens, 2 Cyc. 88 et seq; Bastards, 5 Cyc. 639 et seq.

93. Planter's Loan, etc., Bank v. Johnson, 70 Ga. 302.

94. Donovan v. Pitcher, 53 Ala. 411, 25 Am. Rep. 634.

operation of the statute of descent is not affected by the fact that the ancestor was murdered by the heir apparent in order to obtain the inheritance at once, and therefore an heir who murders his ancestor in order that he may inherit the estate at once is not disqualified from taking.[95] A woman is not barred from inheriting property which has descended from her husband to her legitimate posthumous son because she was "living in adultery" at the decease of her husband and at the time of the death of the child.[96] A limitation of a life-estate to a donee does not prevent him from taking the reversion as heir at law of the donor.[97]

B. Surviving Husband or Wife — 1. In General. At common law a surviving wife was entitled, by virtue of the marital relation, to dower in her deceased husband's real property and to a certain portion of his personal property,[98] and a surviving husband was entitled to an estate by the curtesy in his wife's real property and to all of her personal property absolutely.[99] The rules of the common law, however, no longer govern, for in all jurisdictions the subject is now regulated by statutes expressly giving to a surviving husband or wife a certain portion of the deceased spouse's property.[1]

2. Survivor as Heir or Next of Kin of Deceased Spouse. As a general rule the word "heirs" as applied to the succession of personal estate means "next of kin," and the words "next of kin" do not include a widow or a husband of an intestate.[2] Sometimes, however, the word "heirs," when applied to personalty, is used in a broad sense to designate all the persons who under the statutes in case of intestacy would take the personalty, just as when applied to real estate it means all the persons who would take in case of intestacy.[3]

95. Shellenberger v. Ransom, 41 Nebr. 631, 59 N. W. 935, 25 L. R. A. 564, 31 Nebr. 61, 47 N. W. 700, 28 Am. St. Rep. 500, 10 L. R. A. 810; Deem v. Milliken, 6 Ohio Cir. Ct. 357 [affirmed in 53 Ohio St. 668, 44 N. E. 1134]; Deem v. Risinger, 11 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 492, 27 Cinc. L. Bul. 156; Carpenter's Estate, 170 Pa. St. 203, 32 Atl. 637, 50 Am. St. Rep. 765, 29 L. R. A. 145. And see Owens v. Owens, 100 N. C. 240, 6 S. E. 794, where it was held that a widow was not barred from her dower right because she had murdered her husband. But see to the contrary Riggs v. Palmer, 115 N. Y. 506, 22 N. E. 188, 12 Am. St. Rep. 819, 5 L. R. A. 340 (where a child who killed his grandfather, was held by a divided court to be barred from taking a residuary legacy under his grandfather's will); Lundy v. Lundy, 24 Can. Supreme Ct. 650 [affirming 24 Ont. 132, and reversing 21 Ont. App. 560]. Compare, however, Ellerson v. Westcott, 148 N. Y. 149, 42 N. E. 540 [reversing 88 Hun 389, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 813].

96. Goodwin v. Owen, 55 Ind. 243.

97. Harris v. McLaran, 30 Miss. 533.

98. See infra, III, B, 6, a.

99. See infra, III, B, 7, a.

1. See infra, III, B, 6, 7.

2. Georgia.— Wetter v. Walker, 62 Ga. 142.

Illinois.— Gauch v. St. Louis Mut. L. Ins. Co., 88 Ill. 251, 254, 30 Am. Rep. 554 (holding that a statute providing that "the widow or surviving husband shall receive, as his or her absolute personal estate, one third of all the personal estate of the intestate," does not make one the heir of the other); Townsend v. Radcliffe, 44 Ill. 446.

Indiana.— Brannon v. May, 42 Ind. 92, holding that the widow does not take by descent her interest in the husband's estate as an heir, but by virtue of the marriage relation.

Iowa.— Blackman v. Wadsworth, 65 Iowa 80, 21 N. W. 190.

Massachusetts.— Loring v. Thorndike, 5 Allen 257; Clarke v. Cordis, 4 Allen 466. And see Sweet v. Dutton, 109 Mass. 589, 12 Am. Rep. 744.

Michigan.— Barnett v. Powers, 40 Mich. 317; Miller v. Stepper, 32 Mich. 194.

Nebraska.— Warren v. Englehart, 13 Nebr. 283, 13 N. W. 401.

New Jersey.— Welsh v. Crater, 32 N. J. Eq. 177.

New York.— Tillman v. Davis, 95 N. Y. 17, 47 Am. Rep. 1; Drake v. Pell, 3 Edw. 251.

North Carolina.— Peterson v. Webb, 39 N. C. 56.

Ohio.— See Collier v. Collier, 3 Ohio St. 369.

Pennsylvania.— See Eby's Appeal, 84 Pa. St. 241; McGill's Appeal, 61 Pa. St. 46.

Tennessee.— Gardenhire v. Hinds, 1 Head 402. And see Alexander v. Wallace, 8 Lea 569.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 136. And see supra, II, A, 3; III, A, 1, a, note 33; III, A, 6, e, (III). See also Heir; Next of Kin.

3. Massachusetts.— Sweet v. Dutton, 109 Mass. 589, 12 Am. Rep. 744; Houghton v. Kendall, 7 Allen 72.

Mississippi.— See Hope v. Hoover, (1896) 21 So. 134.

New Jersey.— See Welsh v. Crater, 32 N. J. Eq. 177.

New York.— Lawton v. Corlies, 127 N. Y. 100, 27 N. E. 847.

North Carolina.— Corbitt v. Corbitt, 54

3. Effect of Death of Surviving Spouse Before Distribution. If the surviving spouse of an intestate dies before a distribution of the intestate's personalty has been made, the survivor's distributive share vests on the other's death, both at common law and under the statutes, and passes to the survivor's personal representatives.[4]

4. Seizin of Intestate. The provisions in the statutes of descent and distribution in favor of the surviving husband or wife of an intestate apply only where the intestate dies seized of the estate. Hence where a daughter dies before her father her surviving husband can inherit nothing from her father's estate as her legal representative.[5]

5. Repeal of Statutes. The general rule that a statute is impliedly repealed by a subsequent statute which is inconsistent therewith applies of course to statutes relating to the rights of a surviving husband or wife in his or her deceased spouse's property, but such a statute, or a particular section of it, is not repealed, unless in express terms, if the subsequent statute is consistent with it, so that both may stand.[6]

6. Rights of Surviving Wife — a. In General. By the common law, as modified by English statutes at the time this country was settled, a surviving wife was entitled to dower and nothing more in her deceased husband's real property,[7] and also where he died intestate to a part of his personal estate — one third where he left issue and one half where he left no issue.[8] In all the United States, however, statutes have been enacted changing the common-law rules and varying more or less in the different states. These statutes give a surviving wife a certain portion of her deceased husband's personal estate or all of it, according to the circumstances, and a part of his real estate, either for life, as at common law, or

N. C. 114; Henderson v. Henderson, 46 N. C. 221; Freeman v. Knight, 37 N. C. 72; Croom v. Herring, 11 N. C. 393.

Pennsylvania.— Eby's Appeal, 84 Pa. St. 241.

Tennessee.— Alexander v. Wallace, 8 Lea 569.

England.— Jacobs v. Jacobs, 16 Beav. 557, 17 Jur. 293, 22 L. J. Ch. 668, 1 Wkly. Rep. 238; Evans v. Salt, 6 Beav. 266; Withy v. Mangles, 10 Cl. & F. 215, 8 Eng. Reprint 724; Doody v. Higgins, 2 Kay & J. 729, 25 L. J. Ch. 773, 4 Wkly. Rep. 737. For a statement of the English law on this question see Tillman v. Davis, 95 N. Y. 17, 27, 47 Am. Rep. 1.

See also Heirs; Next of Kin; Wills.

4. Connecticut.— Kingsbury v. Scovill, 26 Conn. 349; Hartford County Bank v. Waterman, 26 Conn. 348.

Illinois.— York v. York, 38 Ill. 522.

Indiana.— Mills v. Marshall, 8 Ind. 54.

Louisiana.— Piffet's Succession, 39 La. Ann. 556, 2 So. 210.

Massachusetts.— Hayward v. Hayward, 20 Pick. 517; Foster v. Fifield, 20 Pick. 67.

New Hampshire.— Probate Judge v. Robins, 5 N. H. 246.

New York.— Howland v. Heckscher, 3 Sandf. Ch. 519.

Ohio.— Conger v. Barker, 11 Ohio St. 1.

Vermont.— Johnson v. Johnson, 41 Vt. 467.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 140.

5. Lane v. McKinstry, 31 Ohio St. 640.

6. Rawson v. Rawson, 52 Ill. 62; Mace v. Cushman, 45 Me. 250 (holding that a provision by which the husband of a woman dying intestate was entitled to the residue of her personal property after payment of her debts was not repealed by a subsequent statute providing that the real and personal estate of a married woman dying intestate should descend or be distributed to her heirs); Dickinson v. Dickinson, 61 Pa. St. 401 (holding that a statute providing that the power of any married woman to bequeath or devise her property by will should be restricted as regards the husband to the same extent as the husband's power in his property was restricted as regards the wife, etc., did not repeal a former statute providing for the descent and distribution of the property of a married woman dying intestate). And see Evans v. Evans, 74 S. W. 224, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 2421, holding that Ky. St. (1899) § 2132, was inconsistent with and repealed Ky. St. (1899) § 1403, subs. 4. See, generally, Statutes.

7. Dower rights see Dower.

8. St. 22 & 23 Car. II, c. 10; 2 Blackstone Comm. 515. And see Coomes v. Clements, 4 Harr. & J. (Md.) 480; Griffith v. Griffith, 4 H. & M. (Md.) 101; Clark v. Clark, 17 Nev. 124, 28 Pac. 238.

Homestead rights see Homestead.

Community property rights see Husband and Wife.

Widow's allowance see Executors and Administrators.

Exempt property going to widow see Exemptions.

in fee simple.[9] Where the husband dies intestate leaving no issue the statutes of some states have followed the English statute of distribution,[10] in giving the 9. 1 Stimson Am. St. L. §§ 3105, 3109, 3115, 3119, 3123, 3262; 2 Tiffany Real Prop. § 427. As to the statutes in particular states see the following cases:

Alabama.— Mueller v. Mueller, 127 Ala. 356, 28 So. 465.

Arkansas.— Hill v. Mitchell, 5 Ark. 608.

Delaware.— Pettyjohn v. Pettyjohn, 1 Houst. 332.

Florida.— Godwin v. King, 31 Fla. 525, 13 So. 108.

Georgia.— Love v. Anderson, 89 Ga. 612, 16 S. E. 68.

Illinois.— Grattan v. Grattan, 18 Ill. 167, 65 Am. Dec. 726, balance only of estate is to be distributed after deducting widow's dower and share of personalty.

Indiana.— Sigler v. Hooker, 30 Ind. 386 (holding that a widow's share in the personal property left for distribution on settlement of the estate of her deceased husband is the same, whether she be the widow of a first or any subsequent marriage); Shaffer v. Richardson, 27 Ind. 122.

Iowa.— Robson v. Lambertson, 115 Iowa 366, 88 N. W. 943; Kite v. Kite, 79 Iowa 491, 44 N. W. 716; Nicholas v. Purcell, 21 Iowa 265, 89 Am. Dec. 572, the widow being entitled to half of the estate of her deceased husband cannot be compelled to take the homestead as her share.

Kansas.— Dodge v. Becler, 12 Kan. 524, half to widow and half to children.

Kentucky.— Tomppert v. Tomppert, 13 Bush 326, 26 Am. Rep. 197 (widow having no children by her last husband, who left children by a former marriage, entitled to only one third, and not to one half, of the surplus personalty); Com. v. Bracken, 32 S. W. 609, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 785 (widow, as against heir, entitled to one third of net estate after deducting exempt property and claims of creditors); Nall v. Wurtley, 30 S. W. 208, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 115 (widow takes absolute title to personal property but only life-estate in real property or in notes set apart to her for her one-third interest in lands of her deceased husband sold by the heirs with her consent); Swearingen v. Nash, 21 S. W. 229, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 735 (under Texas statute); Miller v. Simpson, 2 S. W. 171, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 518. And see Evans v. Evans, 74 S. W. 224, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 2421.

Louisiana.— Bollinger's Succession, 30 La. Ann. 193; Duplessis v. Young, 11 La. Ann. 120.

Massachusetts.— Stearns v. Stearns, 1 Pick. 157.

Minnesota.— Lake Phalen Land, etc., Co. v. Lindeke, 66 Minn. 209, 68 N. W. 974.

Mississippi.— Hope v. Hoover, (1896) 21 So. 134 (holding that a widow is "a legitimate heir" of her husband, within the meaning of a statute, so as to take to the exclusion of illegitimate descendants of the husband); Whitley v. Stephenson, 38 Miss. 113.

Missouri.— McReynolds v. Gentry, 14 Mo. 495; Cox v. Dunn, 3 Mo. App. 348. Compare Jarboe v. Hey, 122 Mo. 341, 26 S. W. 968. See also Haniphan v. Long, 70 Mo. App. 351, holding that the statute giving a surviving widow a child's share of the deceased husband's personalty, where he dies "leaving a child, or children, or other descendants," applies where the husband dies leaving a child by a previous marriage, and it is not necessary that he shall leave a child by the surviving wife. And see Brawford v. Wolfe, 103 Mo. 391, 15 S. W. 426.

New Hampshire.— Mathes v. Bennett, 21 N. H. 188; Probate Judge v. Robins, 5 N. H. 246, widow entitled as heir to share of personal estate of husband dying intestate.

New Jersey.— Skellenger v. Skellenger, 32 N. J. Eq. 659.

New York.— Knickerbocker v. Seymour, 46 Barb. 198; Howland v. Heckscher, 3 Sandf. Ch. 519, where a widow is entitled to a third of decedent's estate, a particular debt due the decedent is not a component part of her third, so as to constitute her a creditor of the debtor, where she has never accepted such debt as a part of her third. As to the additional allowance of one thousand dollars and one hundred and fifty dollars see Matter of Steward, 90 Hun 94, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 366; Matter of Durscheidt, 65 Hun 136, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 973; Matter of Shedd, 60 Hun 367, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 841 [affirming 11 N. Y. Suppl. 788]; Matter of Mulligan, 4 Misc. 361, 24 N. Y. Suppl 321, 1 Pow. Surr. 141; Daggett v. Daggett, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 182 [affirming 9 N. Y. Suppl. 652, 2 Connoly Surr. 230]; In re Tipple, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 263, 2 Connoly Surr. 508; In re Steward, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 24; Koch's Estate, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 814, 24 Abb. N. Cas. 468.

North Carolina.— Arrington v. Dortch, 77 N. C. 367.

Ohio.— Doyle v. Doyle, 50 Ohio St. 330, 34 N. E. 166; Barber v. Hite, 39 Ohio St. 185; In re Hutchin, 21 Ohio Cir. Ct. 720.

Pennsylvania.— In re Drenkle, 3 Pa. St. 377; Maffet's Estate, 9 Kulp 136; Thompson v. Owen, 8 Kulp 36; Phipps v. Phipps, 3 Pa. L. J. Rep. 275, 5 Pa. L. J. 176.

South Carolina.— Heyward v. Williams, 48 S. C. 564, 26 S. E. 797.

Tennessee.— Bayless v. Bayless, 4 Coldw. 359; De Vault v. De Vault, (Ch. App. 1898) 48 S. W. 361.

Utah.— In re Little, 22 Utah 204, 61 Pac. 899.

Vermont.— Johnson v. Johnson, 41 Vt. 467.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 144 et seq.

What law governs right see supra, II, B, 2, c, note 56.

The statutes in force at the husband's death determine the share of his estate to which his widow is entitled. Evans v. Evans, 74 S. W. 224, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 2421. And see supra, II, B, 1.

10. St. 22 & 23 Charles II, c. 10.

widow one half of his personal estate,[11] while others, putting descent on the same footing as distribution, have given the widow one half of the real estate in fee as well as one half of the personal property.[12] There have also been various other statutes determining the widow's share on failure of issue, or in the absence of both issue and parents.[13] Where a man dies intestate leaving neither issue nor 11. Carothers v. Little, 4 Ind. 571; In re Susman, 28 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 101.

In Kentucky the provision of the amendment of March 15, 1894, to the act of May 16, 1893, gives to the widow one half the surplus personalty of the deceased husband, whether he leaves issue or not, and cannot be reconciled with the previous statute giving her one third where he leaves issue, and one half where he leaves no issue. Hoskins v. Crabtree, 44 S. W. 434, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1757. The earlier provision therefore is repealed. Evans v. Evans, 74 S. W. 224, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 2421.

12. Florida.—Harrell v. Harrell, 8 Fla. 46.

Illinois.— Sturgis v. Ewing, 18 Ill. 176, widow taking one half strictly confined to cases of intestacy.

Iowa.— Linton v. Crosby, 54 Iowa 478, 6 N. W. 726; Dodds v. Dodds, 23 Iowa 306, 26 Iowa 311; Nicholas v. Purcell, 21 Iowa 265, 89 Am. Dec. 572. See also Ralston v. Ralston, Greene 535, share of real estate in addition to dower.

Mississippi.— Lombard v. Lombard, 57 Miss. 171; Gibbons v. Brittenum, 56 Miss. 232.

Missouri.— Hockensmith v. Hockensmith, 57 Mo. App. 374, holding that Rev. St. (1889) § 4518, restores to the widow absolutely, free from any debt of the husband, all the property which she brought into the marriage relation, and gives her absolutely, after payment of the husband's debts, one half of the property, real and personal, belonging to the husband in his own right. See also Brawford v. Wolfe, 103 Mo. 391, 15 S. W. 426.

New Hampshire.— One half the real estate in fee and one half the personal estate absolutely in addition to dower. Robinson v. Tuttle, 37 N. H. 243; In re Lund, 18 N. H. 337.

Pennsylvania.— Kline's Estate, 1 Leg. Gaz. 428, one half in value, not quantity, whether estate is or is not susceptible of partition.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 145.

13. Alabama.—Nolan v. Doss, 133 Ala. 259, 31 So. 969; Mueller v. Mueller, 127 Ala. 356, 28 So. 465, all of the personal estate in the absence of issue.

Illinois.— Ringhouse v. Keever, 49 Ill. 470 (one half of the real estate in fee and dower in remainder); Tyson v. Postlethwaite, 13 Ill. 727 (one half of the real estate and all of the personal estate in addition to dower). See also Sutherland v. Sutherland, 69 Ill. 481.

Indiana.—Where the husband dies intestate leaving no parent or child, all of his property real or personal vests in the widow, although he may leave brothers and sisters or other relatives. Scott v. Silvers, 64 Ind. 76; Longlois v. Longlois, 48 Ind. 60; Lindsay v. Lindsay, 47 Ind. 283; De Moss v. Newton, 31 Ind. 219; Nebeker v. Rhoads, 30 Ind. 330; Leard v. Leard, 30 Ind. 171; Armstrong v. Berreman, 13 Ind. 422; Haugh v. Smelser, 31 Ind. App. 571, 66 N. E. 55, 506.

Massachusetts.— Elliot v. Elliot, 137 Mass. 116, holding that the statute (St. (1890) c. 211, § 1) providing that the widow of a person dying intestate, and without leaving issue living, should take real estate of the deceased in fee to an amount not exceeding five thousand dollars in value, conferred upon such widow an estate in addition to that given to her by Gen. St. c. 90, § 15, in lieu of dower.

Michigan.— Finch v. Rhodes, 49 Mich. 33, 21 N. W. 899, life-estate in land where the deceased left neither parents nor children.

Minnesota.— Lindley v. Groff, 42 Minn. 346, 44 N. W. 196, life-estate in lands, where the husband left brothers and sisters and a mother, but no issue or father.

Nebraska.— Hinds v. Hinds, 56 Nebr. 545, 76 N. W. 1087, all the personal property, after payment of debts, to the exclusion of brothers and sisters and their descendants.

New Hampshire.— One third of estate in addition to dower and homestead, where the husband dies testate, leaving no lineal descendant and fails to provide for the widow in his will, or she waives a provision for her. Colby v. Cate, 64 N. H. 476, 13 Atl. 864, 65 N. H. 667, 23 Atl. 629, holding that this provision of the statute (Gen. St. c. 183, § 7) was not repealed by Laws (1872), c. 41.

Pennsylvania.— Cote's Appeal, 79 Pa. St. 235, half the real estate for life, and half the personal estate absolutely, in the absence of issue.

Rhode Island.— Cronshaw v. Cronshaw, 21 R. I. 126, 43 Atl. 1038, in the absence of issue, real estate suitable to her situation and support, to hold in addition to dower, which includes the share of the proceeds of a sale in partition which would have belonged to the husband if he had survived. And see Matthewson v. Matthewson, 16 R. I. 12, 11 Atl. 166, holding that dower must be assigned before such additional real estate can be set off.

South Carolina.— Trapp v. Billings, 2 McCord Eq. 403, one half of the real and personal property, where the husband left a mother but no issue, although he also left brothers and sisters, the other half in such case going to the mother.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 145.

Grandchildren.— A statute giving a widow certain property where her husband dies leaving no "children" means leaving no children or their descendants. Kyle v. Kyle, 18 Ind. 108.

Spanish and Texas law.— Under the Span-kindred to inherit his estate the statutes very generally provide that the whole estate shall go to the widow.[14]

b. Estimation of Distributive Share. Except as to the widow's allowance, which is elsewhere considered,[15] the statutes as a rule do not give a surviving wife a distributive share free from the husband's debts, funeral expenses, and charges of administration.[16] The widow's allowance out of the estate for her present support is not to be regarded as a part of her distributive share, and cannot be deducted therefrom,[17] unless the statute so provides.[18] Nor is her right to the distributive share fixed by the statute affected by a statutory or constitutional exemption of a certain amount of personal property from the claims of creditors.[19] Under some statutes the value of the statutory separate estate of the widow is to be deducted in estimating the amount of her share.[20] In ascertaining the distributive share of a widow who dissents from her husband's will, all his personal estate, whether consisting of advancements that were before made to children, or legacies to grandchildren or to strangers, is to be brought together, and her share is to be taken out of it pursuant to the statute.[21] ish law in force in Texas prior to the act of the republic of Dec. 18, 1837, the widow of a person dying intestate and without children, but leaving other relatives capable of inheriting, did not inherit the deceased husband's estate; and this rule was not changed by section 2 of that act (Hart Dig. arts. 574, 3251), providing that the survivor of a husband or wife dying intestate, "leaving no heirs," should inherit the estate of the deceased spouse. Branch v. Texas Lumber Mfg. Co., 56 Fed. 707, 6 C. C. A. 92. And see Kircher v. Murray, 60 Fed. 48, 8 C. C. A. 448 [affirming 54 Fed. 617]. See also Boone v. Hulsey, 71 Tex. 176, 9 S. W. 531.

14. Wunderle v. Wunderle, 144 Ill. 40, 33 N. E. 195, 19 L. R. A. 84 (holding that under a statute providing that if any intestate leaves a widow and no kindred his estate shall descend to such widow, where an intestate leaves a widow who is a citizen, and kindred who are non-resident aliens, his lands descend to his widow immediately upon his death, no proceedings of escheat being necessary); Daugherty v. Deardorf, 107 Ind. 527, 8 N. E. 296; Sofield v. White Water Valley Canal Co., 3 Ind. 179; Barber's Succession, 52 La. Ann. 960, 27 So. 363; Broad Top Coal, etc., Co. v. Riddlesburg Coal, etc., Co., 65 Pa. St. 435.

15. Widow's allowance free from debts see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

16. Towery v. McGaw, 56 S. W. 727, 982, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 155; Miller v. Simpson, 2 S. W. 171, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 518 (holding under a statute entitling widow to one third of the personalty of her deceased husband after deducting charges of administration, that such charges do not include the expenses of protracted litigation between the heirs over the will of the deceased husband); Lake Phalen Land, etc., Co. v. Lindeke, 66 Minn. 209, 68 N. W. 974; Hockensmith v. Hockensmith, 57 Mo. App. 374; Cox v. Dunn, 3 Mo. App. 348 (even though the statute omits mention of such debts and charges); In re Lund, 18 N. H. 337.

17. Hays v. Buffington, 2 Ind. 369.

18. Mathes v. Bennett, 21 N. H. 188, where the statute left it within the discretion of the probate court to treat the widow's allowance as a part of her distributive share.

19. Godwin v. King, 31 Fla. 525, 13 So. 108; Whitley v. Stephenson, 38 Miss. 113. And see Com. v. Bracken, 32 S. W. 609, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 785.

20. Mueller v. Mueller, 127 Ala. 356, 28 So. 465; Zachry v. Lockard, 98 Ala. 371, 13 So. 514; Harris v. Harris, 71 Ala. 536; Smith v. Smith, 30 Ala. 642. Contra, Whitley v. Stephenson, 38 Miss. 113.

Vested remainder.— Under such a statute a deduction is to be made where the widow owns a separate estate consisting of a vested remainder in land as well as where she has a separate estate in possession. Zachry v. Lockard, 98 Ala. 371, 13 So. 514.

Insurance on husband's life.— The widow is barred of her dower and distributive share in her husband's estate, where the amount collected by her on a policy of insurance taken out by him for her sole benefit, together with her separate estate, exceeds her distributive share and dower interest. Wadsworth v. Miller, 103 Ala. 130, 15 So. 520; Williams v. Williams, 68 Ala. 405.

Separate estate other than statutory.— The Alabama statute requiring the widow's separate estate to be deducted refers only to her statutory separate estate, and does not require the value of an equitable separate estate to be deducted. Mueller v. Mueller, 127 Ala. 356, 28 So. 465; Harris v. Harris, 71 Ala. 536. Property secured to her sole and separate use under the provisions of her father's will, or by deed of gift, is not to be considered as part of her statutory separate estate. Huckabee v. Andrews, 34 Ala. 646; Smith v. Smith, 30 Ala. 642.

21. Arrington v. Dortch, 77 N. C. 367. Compare Whitley v. Stephenson, 38 Miss. 113.

Child's share.— The acceptance by two sons of their shares of their father's estate by way of advancement and their receipt for the same in full does not prevent them from being counted as living children of the intestate, in determining the aliquot part (a child's share) of the widow in the estate; and in determining the share of the widow,

c. Property in Which Widow Is Entitled to Share. Where a statute gives the widow a part of the real estate of her deceased husband, it applies to the share of the proceeds of a sale on partition which would have belonged to the husband if he had survived;[22] and it applies to a vested remainder to which the husband was entitled.[23] As a rule a widow's right to a share in her deceased husband's personal property attaches to all the property owned by him at the time of his death, and not disposed of by him by will;[24] and in some states she takes a certain share notwithstanding a will.[25] Her distributive share does not include an interest in the land itself before conversion, but only a share of the personal estate of the decedent and of the fund created by the conversion of the realty.[26] She is not entitled to a distributive share of the rents and profits of real estate received by the husband's administrator, with the consent of the heirs, as they constitute no part of his personal estate.[27] In determining her right to participate in the distribution, equitable estates are subject to the same incidents, properties, and consequences in equity as are similar legal estates at law.[28] Under some statutes her share of her husband's personalty does not include choses in action.[29] In some states where dower has been abolished the widow is entitled to no share in real estate which was owned by the husband, but which has been sold in his lifetime on execution or other judicial sale.[30]

d. Effect of Antenuptial Agreement. While an antenuptial contract could not bar dower at common law, such a contract, although wanting in the requisites of a legal or statutory jointure, was and is now held in equity sufficient to bar the wife's right to dower;[31] and in like manner, in the absence of fraud, a woman who is sui juris may in equity, by antenuptial contract, relinquish her statutory rights as heir or distributee in her husband's estate, the marriage of the parties alone being in some cases held a sufficient consideration to sustain such a contract.[32] the sums so paid by the intestate to his sons and receipted for by them should be considered. De Vault v. De Vault, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1898) 48 S. W. 361.

22. Cronshaw v. Cronshaw, 21 R. I. 126, 43 Atl. 1038.

23. Cote's Appeal, 79 Pa. St. 235.

24. Hill v. Mitchell, 5 Ark. 608.

Property disposed of by husband in his lifetime see infra, III, B, 6, f.

25. Operation and effect of will see infra, III, B, 6, e.

26. Thompson v. Owen, 8 Kulp (Pa.) 36.

27. Stearns v. Stearns, 1 Pick. (Mass.) 157.

28. Skellenger v. Skellenger, 32 N. J. Eq. 659.

29. Hill v. Mitchell, 5 Ark. 608. Contra, Cummings v. Cummings, 51 Mo. 261.

30. Mosteller v. Gorrell, 41 Kan. 392, 21 Pac. 232; Andrews v. Alcorn, 13 Kan. 351.

31. See DOWER.

32. Connecticut.— Cowles v. Cowles, 74 Conn. 24, 40 Atl. 195; Staub's Appeal, 66 Conn. 127, 33 Atl. 615.

Illinois.— Barth v. Lines, 118 Ill. 374, 7 N. E. 679, 59 Am. Rep. 374; McGee v. McGee, 91 Ill. 548.

Indiana.— McNutt v. McNutt, 116 Ind. 545, 19 N. E. 115, 2 L. R. A. 372; Shaffer v. Shaffer, 90 Ind. 472; Shaffer v. Matthews, 77 Ind. 83.

Iowa.— Ditson v. Ditson, 85 Iowa 276, 52 N. W. 203.

Kansas.— Hafer v. Hafer, 33 Kan. 449, 6 Pac. 537.

Kentucky.— Forwood v. Forwood, 86 Ky. 114, 5 S. W. 361, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 415.

Massachusetts.— Paine v. Hollister, 139 Mass. 144, 29 N. E. 541, injunction against widow's prosecuting a petition to the probate court for an allowance out of her husband's estate, contrary to the terms of an antenuptial contract.

New York.— In re Young, 92 N. Y. 235 [affirming 27 Hun 54]; Pierce v. Pierce, 71 N. Y. 154, 27 Am. Rep. 22 [affirming 9 Hun 50]. Compare Curry v. Curry, 10 Hun 366.

North Carolina.— Cauley v. Lawson, 58 N. C. 132; Rutherford v. Crails, 3 N. C. 262.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 150. And see, generally, HUSBAND AND WIFE. See also infra, III, B, 7, c.

Contra at common law.— Snellings v. Richmond, 5 Allen (Mass.) 187, 81 Am. Dec. 742.

Life insurance.—An antenuptial agreement by a wife that she will not claim any dower or any share or interest in the husband's personal estate does not estop her after the husband's death to claim under a policy on his life, issued while he was married to his first wife, providing that the insurance money shall be paid to his personal representatives "for the benefit of his widow, if any." Van Dermoor v. Van Dermoor, 80 Hun (N. Y.) 107, 30 N. Y. Suppl. 19.

Failure of husband to perform contract.— When a man in contemplation of marriage agrees to make a settlement on his wife, in consideration of which she agrees to relinquish her rights in his property at his decease, and he fails to make the settlement, she

But a surviving wife's right to her distributive share in her husband's personal estate, or to her share of his real estate given to her by statute as his heir and in addition to dower, is not barred by an antenuptial contract releasing dower only,[33] or by a contract that she should have nothing to do with her husband's property, which was intended to operate during the marriage only.[34]

e. Sale, Gift, or Conveyance by Husband in Lifetime. At common law, and generally under the statutes, a husband cannot by a conveyance defeat his wife's right of dower in land after it has once attached;[35] but as to personal property, the rule is that the husband may deprive his wife of her distributive share by a sale, gift, or other transfer made in good faith during his lifetime.[36] A sale, gift, or other transfer of personal property, however, made fraudulently for the mere purpose of depriving the wife of her distributive share is invalid as to her.[37]

f. Operation and Effect of Will.[38] Under some of the statutes a surviving wife has no right to a distributive share of personalty which her husband has disposed of by will, although it is generally otherwise with respect to the widow's allowance provided for by the statutes.[39] Under other statutes the husband canis not barred of any right in his estate which she might have asserted if no such agreement had been made. Pierce v. Pierce, 9 Hun (N. Y.) 50 [affirmed in 71 N. Y. 154, 27 Am. Rep. 22].

Effect of marriage contract as to marital portion in Louisiana see infra, III, B, 10, note 93.

33. Christy v. Marmon, 163 Ill. 225, 45 N. E. 150; Sutherland v. Sutherland, 69 Ill. 481; Pitkin v. Peet, 87 Iowa 268, 54 N. W. 215; Ellmaker v. Ellmaker, 4 Watts (Pa.) 89; Findley v. Findley, 11 Gratt. (Va.) 434.

Settlement "as jointure."— Glass v. Davis, 118 Ind. 593, 21 N. E. 319.

34. Mallory v. Mallory, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 684.

35. See DOWER.

36. Arkansas.—McClure v. Owens, 32 Ark. 443.

Delaware.— Chandler v. Hollingsworth, 3 Del. Ch. 99.

Florida.— Smith v. Hines, 10 Fla. 258.

Illinois.— Padfield v. Padfield, 78 Ill. 16, although made to defeat the rights of the wife.

Indiana.— Warner v. Warner, 30 Ind. App. 578, 66 N. E. 760. And see Shaffer v. Richardson, 27 Ind. 122.

Iowa.— Samson v. Samson, 67 Iowa 253, 25 N. W. 233.

Michigan.— Cranson v. Cranson, 4 Mich. 230, 66 Am. Dec. 534.

Missouri.— McLaughlin v. McLaughlin, 16 Mo. 242; Dyer v. Smith, 62 Mo. App. 606; Brandon v. Dawson, 51 Mo. App. 237.

Pennsylvania.— In re Young, 202 Pa. St. 431, 51 Atl. 1036; Perry v. Perry, 3 C. Pl. 163. Compare Jones v. Drake, 6 Phila. 416.

Tennessee.— Richards v. Richards, 11 Humphr. 429, holding that if a husband causes a note for money due him to be executed by the debtor to his (the husband's) children, for the purpose of excluding his widow from any share therein, she is without remedy.

Virginia.— Gentry v. Bailey, 6 Gratt. 594.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 152.

Gift causa mortis.— In Hatcher v. Buford, 60 Ark. 169, 29 S. W. 641, 27 L. R. A. 507, it was held that property covered by a gift causa mortis from a husband was subject to the widow's right, on the ground that a donor causa mortis remains seized or possessed of the property until death. Compare, however, Gentry v. Bailey, 6 Gratt. (Va.) 594, where there was a conveyance to take effect after death.

37. Florida.— Smith v. Hines, 10 Fla. 258.

Kentucky.— Manikee v. Beard, 85 Ky. 20, 2 S. W. 545, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 736; Wilson v. Wilson, 64 S. W. 981, 23 Ky. L. Rep. 1229.

Missouri.— Tucker v. Tucker, 29 Mo. 350; Stone v. Stone, 18 Mo. 389; Davis v. Davis, 5 Mo. 183; Dyer v. Smith, 62 Mo. App. 606.

North Carolina.— McGee v. McGee, 26 N. C. 105.

Ohio.— McCammon v. Summons, 2 Disn. 596.

Pennsylvania.— In re Young, 202 Pa. St. 431, 51 Atl. 1036; Hummel's Estate, 161 Pa. St. 215, 28 Atl. 1113.

Vermont.— Nichols v. Nichols, 61 Vt. 426, 18 Atl. 153; Thayer v. Thayer, 14 Vt. 107, 39 Am. Dec. 211.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 152.

The burden of proof is on the widow to show intent on the part of the husband to defraud her. Brandon v. Dawson, 51 Mo. App. 237.

As to real estate see Riehl v. Bingenheimer, 28 Wis. 84.

Non-resident widow.— Small v. Small, 56 Kan. 1, 42 Pac. 323, 54 Am. St. Rep. 581, 30 L. R. A. 243.

38. Revocation of will by marriage see WILLS.

39. Shaffer v. Richardson, 27 Ind. 122; In re Davis, 36 Iowa 24; Dobson v. Dobson, 30 Iowa 410; Clark v. Griffith, 4 Iowa 405; Miller v. Stepper, 32 Mich. 194; In re Robinson, (Minn. 1903) 93 N. W. 314; In re Rausch, 35 Minn. 291, 28 N. W. 920.

not by will defeat his widow's right to her distributive share, unless she chooses to take under the will in lieu of such share.[40] Under others, where the testator's will makes no provision for the wife, his estate is regarded intestate as to her.[41] A widow is entitled to her distributive share in personalty undisposed of by her husband's will, even though she is provided for in the will.[42]

7. Rights of Surviving Husband — a. In General. At common law a surviving husband has an estate by the curtesy and nothing more in his wife's real property,[43] and he is entitled absolutely to all her personal property, including chattels real.[44] His rights are now very generally regulated by statute. Some statutes give him a fee-simple interest in the whole or a particular portion of his wife's real property, according to circumstances,[45] and all or a certain share of her per-

Presumption of revocation of will.— Tyler v. Tyler, 19 Ill. 151. See, generally, Wills.

40. Griffith v. Griffith, 4 Harr. & M. (Md.) 101; Arrington v. Dortch, 77 N. C. 367; Gupton v. Gupton, 3 Head (Tenn.) 488. See also In re Robinson, (Minn. 1903) 93 N. W. 314.

A provision in lieu of dower does not defeat the widow's right to her distributive share of personalty. Edsall v. Waterbury, 2 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 48.

Under the Iowa statute providing that the widow's share cannot be affected by any will of her husband, unless she consents thereto within six months after notice to her of the provisions of the will, a husband cannot by an antenuptial will deprive his wife of her share either of real or personal property. In re Lyon, 70 Iowa 375, 30 N. W. 642; Linton v. Crosby, 61 Iowa 293, 16 N. W. 113; Ward v. Wolf, 56 Iowa 465, 9 N. W. 348.

Construction of particular statutes see the following cases:

Indiana.— Like v. Cooper, 132 Ind. 391, 31 N. E. 1118; Armstrong v. Berreman, 13 Ind. 422.

Iowa.— McGuire v. Brown, 41 Iowa 650; Dobson v. Dobson, 30 Iowa 410.

Maryland.— Collins v. Carman, 5 Md. 503.

Massachusetts.— Holmes v. Hancock, 158 Mass. 398, 33 N. E. 608; Cochran v. Thorndike, 133 Mass. 46.

North Carolina.— Gwyn v. Gwyn, 54 N. C. 145.

Ohio.— Gardner v. Gardner, 13 Ohio St. 426.

Pennsylvania.— In re Petterson, 195 Pa. St. 78, 45 Atl. 654.

Rhode Island.— Wood v. Mason, 17 R. I. 99, 20 Atl. 264.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 154.

41. Florida.— Smith v. Hines, 10 Fla. 258.

Illinois.— In re Taylor, 55 Ill. 252.

Missouri.— Stokes v. O'Fallon, 2 Mo. 32.

Ohio.— Doyle v. Doyle, 50 Ohio St. 330, 34 N. E. 166.

Pennsylvania.— Perry's Estate, 4 Pa. Co. Ct. 107, 19 Wkly. Notes Cas. 183.

42. Indiana.— Linsday v. Linsday, 47 Ind. 283; Armstrong v. Berreman, 13 Ind. 422.

Kentucky.— South v. Hoy, 3 T. B. Mon. 88.

Massachusetts.— In re Kempton, 23 Pick. 163.

North Carolina.— Liles v. Fleming, 16 N. C. 185, 18 Am. Dec. 585.

Pennsylvania.— Darrah v. McNair, 1 Ashm. 236.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 155.

43. See Babbit v. Scroggin, 1 Duv. (Ky.) 272.

Curtesy see Curtesy.

44. 2 Tiffany Real Prop. § 427. And see the following cases:

Alabama.— Vanderveer v. Alston, 16 Ala. 494.

District of Columbia.— McCarthy v. McCarthy, 20 App. Cas. 195; Chadsey v. Fuller, 6 Mackey 117.

Georgia.— Dwelle v. Roath, 29 Ga. 733; Bryan v. Rooks, 25 Ga. 622, 71 Am. Dec. 194; Lee v. Wheeler, 4 Ga. 541.

Kentucky.— Brown v. Alden, 14 B. Mon. 114; Cox v. Coleman, 13 B. Mon. 451; Miller v. Miller, 1 J. J. Marsh. 169, 19 Am. Dec. 59.

Maryland.— West v. Biscoe, 6 Harr. & J. 460; Manship v. Evitts, 2 Md. Ch. 366.

New Hampshire.— Atherton v. McQuesten, 46 N. H. 205.

New York.— Whitaker v. Whitaker, 6 Johns. 112. And see Robins v. McClure, 100 N. Y. 328, 3 N. E. 663, 53 Am. Rep. 184; Ransom v. Nichols, 22 N. Y. 110.

North Carolina.— Hoppiss v. Eskridge, 37 N. C. 54; Dozier v. Sanderlin, 18 N. C. 246; Hoskins v. Miller, 13 N. C. 360. See also Colson v. Martin, 62 N. C. 125.

Pennsylvania.— See Sill's Appeal, 1 Grant 235.

Rhode Island.— Kenyon v. Saunders, 18 R. I. 590, 30 Atl. 470, 26 L. R. A. 232.

Tennessee.— Hays v. Bright, 11 Heisk. 325; Tune v. Cooper, 4 Sneed 296; Hardin v. Young, (Ch. App. 1896) 41 S. W. 1080.

England.— St. 29 Car. II, c. 3, § 25. And see Elliot v. Collier, 3 Atk. 526, 26 Eng. Reprint 1104; Squib v. Wyn, 1 P. Wms. 378, 24 Eng. Reprint 432; 2 Blackstone Comm. 434; Coke Litt. 351.

See also Executors and Administrators; Husband and Wife.

45. See De Castro v. Barry, 18 Cal. 96; Dye v. Davis, 65 Ind. 474; Noble v. Noble, 19 Ind. 431; Cunningham v. Doe, 1 Ind. 94; Smith v. Zuckmeyer, 53 Iowa 14, 3 N. W. 782; Harrington v. Harrington, 53 Vt. 649. And see Matter of Ingram, 78 Cal. 586, 21 Pac. 435, 12 Am. St. Rep. 80; O'Brien v. Ash, 169 Mo. 283, 69 S. W. 8.

Interest in husband's land vesting in wife on judicial sale.— Where a husband makes sonal estate.[46] In the absence of statutory provision to the contrary, the statutes which authorize a married woman to hold property as if unmarried do not destroy the husband's estate by the curtesy,[47] or deprive him of his common-law or statutory right to his wife's personalty when she dies intestate.[48] Under some of the statutes the surviving husband of an intestate takes one half of the real estate in fee,[49] an assignment for the benefit of creditors, but before the assignment is recorded land owned by him is sold under execution on a judgment against him, and one third of such land thereupon vests in his wife under a statute, and the wife afterward dies, the interest so vesting in her descends to her husband. Elliott v. Cale, 113 Ind. 383, 14 N. E. 708. See also Summit v. Ellett, 88 Ind. 227, where the sale of the husband's land was on foreclosure of a mortgage, and the wife died before the purchaser at the foreclosure sale was entitled to a sheriff's deed.

46. Under the statutes in particular states see the following cases:

Alabama.— Trawick v. Davis, 85 Ala. 342, 5 So. 83; Brown v. Grimes, 60 Ala. 647; Marshall v. Crow, 29 Ala. 278.

California.— In re Dobbel, 104 Cal. 432, 38 Pac. 87, 43 Am. St. Rep. 123; De Castro v. Barry, 18 Cal. 96. And see Matter of Ingram, 78 Cal. 586, 21 Pac. 435, 12 Am. St. Rep. 80.

Georgia.— Smith v. Williams, 89 Ga. 9, 15 S. E. 130, 32 Am. St. Rep. 67.

Illinois.— Laurence v. Balch, 195 Ill. 626, 63 N. E. 506.

Indiana.— Noble v. Noble, 19 Ind. 431.

Kentucky.— Kent v. Owensboro Deposit Bank, 91 Ky. 70, 14 S. W., 962, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 668, holding that under Gen. St. c. 52, art. 4, § 15, bank stock held by a married woman to her separate use passes upon her death to those who as her heirs succeed to the realty and not to her husband.

Maryland.—Mobray v. Leckie, 42 Md. 474; Edelen v. Middleton, 9 Gill 161. In this state under the act of 1892, chapter 571, a surviving husband now takes absolutely all of his intestate wife's personal property, including choses in action, where she leaves no child or descendants, but if she leaves a child or children or descendants, he takes such property for life only, and after his death it goes to her children and descendants per stirpes, and during his life-estate it is to be invested under the direction of the orphans' court. See Hunter v. Hersperger, 96 Md. 292, 54 Atl. 65, holding that where a wife dies leaving a husband and children, and a judgment as the principal asset of her estate, interest accruing on the judgment after her death, when paid, was a part of the corpus of her estate, and did not go to the husband absolutely.

Massachusetts.— Bartlett v. Bartlett, 137 Mass. 156.

Missouri.— O'Brien v. Ash, 169 Mo. 283, 69 S. W. 8.

New Hampshire.— Atherton v. McQuesten, 46 N. H. 205.

New York.— Matter of Kane, 2 Barb. Ch. 375.

Pennsylvania.— Van Rensselaer v. Dunkin, 24 Pa. St. 252; Brown v. Niethammer, (Pa. 1886) 4 Atl. 918.

South Carolina.— Ex p. Wells, 3 Desauss. 155.

Vermont.— Harrington v. Harrington, 53 Vt. 649.

Virginia.— Andes v. Roller, 98 Va. 620, 37 S. E. 297.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 156 et seq.

What law governs see supra, II, B, 2, c, note 56.

Death of husband before administration.— The fact that there was no administration of the deceased wife's estate until after the death of the husband does not deprive his estate of his right as her heir, or of his common-law rights. In re Dobbel, 104 Cal. 432, 38 Pac. 87, 43 Am. St. Rep. 123. See also Vanderveer v. Alston, 16 Ala. 494; Dwelle v. Roath, 29 Ga. 733; Bryan v. Rooks, 25 Ga. 622, 71 Am. Dec. 194; Dozier v. Sanderlin, 18 N. C. 246.

Husband's interest in wife's slaves.— Upon the wife's death, intestate, her slaves became the property of her husband. Little v. McLendon, 58 N. C. 216; Tucker v. Medaris, 3 Humphr. (Tenn.) 628. For the construction of statutory provisions as to slaves see the following cases:

Kentucky.— Hart v. Soward, 14 B. Mon. 301.

Mississippi.— Richmond v. Delay, 34 Miss. 83.

Missouri.— Terril v. Boulware, 24 Mo. 254.

North Carolina.— Skinner v. Barrow, 27 N. C. 414; Hinton v. Hinton, 21 N. C. 587.

Texas.— Powell v. De Blane, 23 Tex. 66.

Virginia.— Robinson v. Brock, 1 Hen. & M. 212.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 162.

47. See CURTESY.

48. District of Columbia.—Chadsey v. Fuller, 6 Mackey 117.

Kentucky.— Brown v. Alden, 14 B. Mon. 114.

New Jersey.— Vreeland v. Ryno, 26 N. J. Eq. 160.

New York.— Robins v. McClure, 100 N. Y. 328, 3 N. E. 663, 53 Am. Rep. 184; Olmsted v. Keyes, 85 N. Y. 593; Ransom v. Nichols, 22 N. Y. 110; Jaycox v. Collins, 26 How. Pr. 496; McCosker v. Golden, 1 Bradf. Surr. 64.

Rhode Island.— Kenyon v. Saunders, 18 R. I. 590, 30 Atl. 470, 26 L. R. A. 232.

Compare, however, Baldwin v. Carter, 17 Conn. 201, 42 Am. Dec. 735; Wilson v. Breeding, 50 Iowa 629; In re Page, 75 Pa. St. 87.

49. Lockwood v. Moffett, 177 Ill. 49, 52 N. E. 260; Marvin v. Collins, 98 Ill. 510;

under others one third in fee,[50] and under others he is entitled to administration and all the property, real and personal.[51] In Massachusetts the husband takes a fee to an amount not exceeding five thousand dollars in value in his wife's land.[52] Where the intestate wife leaves neither issue nor kindred, the whole estate goes to the husband;[53] and under some statutes this is the rule where the wife leaves neither issue nor a parent.[54]

b. Rights With Respect to Particular Property or Rights — (i) Conversion of Realty Into Personalty. Money arising from a sale and conveyance of the wife's land by a deed of the husband and wife or from partition proceedings has none of the characteristics of real estate but is distributed as personalty.[55] But if the sale or partition has not been completed at the time of the wife's death the property descends as real estate.[56]

(ii) Insurance on Husband's Life. A wife's interest in a policy of insurance taken out by her husband or herself on his life and made payable to the wife, her executors, administrators, and assigns, is her separate property, and if she dies before her husband such interest or a share thereof, according to the statute, goes to him or to his executor or administrator, like other personal property.[57]

(iii) Choses in Action. By the weight of authority, both at common law and under the English statute of distributions,[58] and under the statutes in some of the United States, a surviving husband is entitled to his deceased wife's choses in action, although not reduced to possession in her lifetime.[59] In some states, how-

Townsend v. Radcliffe, 44 Ill. 446; Smith v. Zuckmeyer, 53 Iowa 14, 3 N. W. 782; Nicholas v. Purczell, 21 Iowa 265, 89 Am. Dec. 572; Burns v. Keas, 21 Iowa 257; O'Brien v. Ash, 169 Mo. 283, 69 S. W. 8; House v. Brent, 69 Tex. 27, 7 S. W. 65. See also Bryan v. Weems, 25 Ala. 195; Boyd v. Small, 56 N. C. 39.

50. O'Harra v. Stone, 48 Ind. 417; Cunningham v. Doe, Smith (Ind.) 34.

51. Coogler v. Rogers, 25 Fla. 853, 7 So. 391; Rabb v. Griffin, 26 Miss. 579.

In Georgia a surviving husband formerly took the whole of his wife's separate estate as sole heir at law, and to the exclusion of her children. Smith v. Williams, 89 Ga. 9, 15 S. E. 130, 32 Am. St. Rep. 67; Lathrop v. White, 81 Ga. 29, 6 S. E. 834; Bailey v. Simpson, 57 Ga. 523. The law, however, was changed by the act of 1871–1872, under which he merely shares equally with the children. Ga. Civ. Code (1895), § 3354.

52. Howe v. Berry, 168 Mass. 418, 47 N. E. 104, holding that the husband is entitled to his five thousand dollars' worth in fee of the wife's real estate, even though no children had been born of the union.

53. In re Ingram, 78 Cal. 586, 21 Pac. 435, 12 Am. St. Rep. 80; Southgate v. Annan, 31 Md. 113; Barnes v. Underwood, 47 N. Y. 351; Matter of Gilligan, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 17, 1 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 137; Rogers' Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 500.

54. Shaw v. Breese, 12 Ind. 392. In the Indiana statute of 1852, providing that if a husband or wife should die, leaving no child and no father or mother, the whole of his or her personal and real property should go to the survivor, the word "child" was construed as meaning "children or their descendants." Kyle v. Kyle, 18 Ind. 108. See also Children, 7 Cyc. 123.

55. Alabama.— Marshall v. Gayle, 58 Ala. 284, where husband and wife sold the wife's land and took notes for the purchase-price.

Maryland.— Hammond v. Stier, 2 Gill & J. 81.

North Carolina.— Rouse v. Lee, 50 N. C. 352.

Tennessee.— Cowden v. Pitts, 2 Baxt. 59.

United States.— Rinehart v. Harrison, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,840, Baldw. 177.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 161.

56. Kinner v. Walsh, 44 Mo. 65; Hay's Appeal, 52 Pa. St. 449; In re Biggert, 20 Pa. St. 17; Ex p. Moore, 3 Head (Tenn.) 171.

57. In re Dohble, 104 Cal. 432, 38 Pac. 87, 43 Am. St. Rep. 123; Simmons v. Biggs, 99 N. C. 236, 5 S. E. 235; U. B. Mut. Aid Soc. v. Miller, 107 Pa. St. 162; In re Anderson, 85 Pa. St. 202; Deginther's Appeal, 83 Pa. St. 337. See also In re Warner, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 894, 2 Connoly Surr. (N. Y.) 347. Compare U. S. Trust Co. v. Mutual Ben. L. Ins. Co., 115 N. Y. 152, 21 N. E. 1025.

58. St. 29 Car. II, c. 3, § 25.

59. District of Columbia.—Chadsey v. Fuller, 6 Mackey 117.

Georgia.— Bryan v. Rooks, 25 Ga. 622, 71 Am. Dec. 194; Lee v. Wheeler, 4 Ga. 541.

Kentucky.— Miller v. Miller, 1 J. J. Marsh. 169, 19 Am. Dec. 59. And see Rawlings v. Landes, 2 Bush 158; Rice v. Thompson, 14 B. Mon. 377; Cox v. Coleman, 13 B. Mon. 451; Baker v. Red, 4 Dana 158 (but holding that choses in action belonging to the wife before marriage pass to her administrator and not to her husband, until after administration); Irvin v. Divine, 7 T. B. Mon. 246.

Maryland.— Manship v. Evitts, 2 Md. Ch. 366.

ever, there are decisions to the contrary, either because the court has taken a different view as to the common law or because of a special statutory provision.[60]

(iv) Wife's Rights as Heir or Legatee. Where as shown in the preceding section a surviving husband is entitled to his deceased wife's choses in action not reduced to his possession in her lifetime, he is so entitled to a legacy or distributive share which was vested in her, although not reduced to possession before her death;[61] but in some states this rule does not apply.[62] On the death of a wife entitled to a share in the real property of her intestate father, such share goes to her heirs and the probate court has no power to vest it in her husband.[63] If under the statute the husband is sole heir of his deceased wife, real estate inherited by her in her lifetime vests in him on her death.[64]

(v) Remainder in Personal Property. Where a wife, being entitled to a vested remainder in personal property, dies before the termination of the life-estate, the remainder vests in her surviving husband to the same extent as other personal property.[65]

Mississippi.— Henderson v. Guyot, 6 Sm. & M. 209; Wade v. Grimes, 7 How. 425.

New Hampshire.— Probate Judge v. Chamberlain, 3 N. H. 129. And see Atherton v. McQueston, 46 N. H. 205.

New Jersey.— Vreeland v. Ryno, 26 N. J. Eq. 160.

New York.— Robins v. McClure, 100 N. Y. 328, 3 N. E. 663, 53 Am. Rep. 184; Olmsted v. Keyes, 85 N. Y. 593; Ransom v. Nichols, 22 N. Y. 110; Matter of Warner, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 894, 2 Connoly Surr. 347 (interest in life-insurance policy); Whitaker v. Whitaker, 6 Johns. 112.

North Carolina.— Hoppiss v. Eskridge, 37 N. C. 54. And see Hoskins v. Miller, 13 N. C. 360.

Rhode Island.— See Kenyon v. Saunders, 18 R. I. 590, 30 Atl. 470, 26 L. R. A. 232.

Tennessee.— Tune v. Cooper, 4 Sneed 296; Hamrico v. Laird, 10 Yerg. 222; Lasseter v. Turner, 1 Yerg. 413; Hardin v. Young, (Ch. App. 1896) 41 S. W. 1080.

England.— Elliot v. Collier, 3 Atk. 526, 26 Eng. Reprint 1104. Compare, however, Fleet v. Perrins, L. R. 4 Q. B. 500, 9 B. & S. 575, 38 L. J. Q. B. 257, 20 L. T. Rep. N. S. 814, 17 Wkly. Rep. 862 [affirming L. R. 3 Q. B. 536, 8 B. & S. 575, 37 L. J. Q. B. 233, 19 L. T. Rep. N. S. 147].

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 164.

60. Cox v. Morrow, 14 Ark. 603; Gillet v. Camp, 19 Mo. 404; Leakey v. Maupin, 10 Mo. 368, 47 Am. Dec. 120; Hood v. Archer, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 149; Sturgineger v. Hannah, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 147; Speight v. Meigs, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 486; Wilson v. Bates, 28 Vt. 765.

61. Georgia.— Bryan v. Rooks, 25 Ga. 622, 71 Am. Dec. 194. And see Smith v. Williams, 89 Ga. 9, 15 S. E. 130, 32 Am. St. Rep. 67; Wiggins v. Blount, 33 Ga. 409.

Indiana.— Brown v. Critchell, 110 Ind. 31, 7 N. E. 888, 11 N. E. 486.

Kentucky.— Miller v. Miller, 1 J. J. Marsh. 169, 19 Am. Dec. 59. And see Baker v. Red, 4 Dana 158; Irvin v. Devine, 7 T. B. Mon. 246; Ewing v. Handley, 4 Litt. 346, 14 Am. Dec. 140.

Mississippi.— Henderson v. Guyot, 6 Sm. & M. 209; Wade v. Grimes, 7 How. 425.

New Hampshire.— Probate Judge v. Chamberlain, 3 N. H. 129.

New Jersey.— Vreeland v. Ryno, 26 N. J. Eq. 160.

Tennessee.— Tune v. Cooper, 4 Sneed 296; Hardin v. Young, (Ch. App. 1896) 41 S. W. 1080.

Virginia.— Brent v. Washington, 18 Gratt. 526; Wade v. Boxley, 5 Leigh 442. And see Andes v. Roller, 98 Va. 620, 37 S. E. 297.

United States.— U. S. v. Baker, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,503, 2 Cranch C. C. 615.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 165.

A charge upon land devised by will is a pecuniary legacy which passes to the surviving husband of the legatee. Gray v. McDowell, 6 Bush (Ky.) 475.

Death of wife before father.—Where a wife dies without issue prior to the death of her father, her husband, upon the death of the latter, does not inherit as by adoption the share of his estate which the law would have cast upon his wife had she survived her father. Graham v. Babcock, 109 Ind. 205, 9 N. E. 701.

62. Leakey v. Maupin, 10 Mo. 368, 47 Am. Dec. 120. And see Gillet v. Camp, 19 Mo. 404. See also Hood v. Archer, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 149; Sturgineger v. Hannah, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 147; Speight v. Meigs, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 486.

63. Fogelsonger v. Somerville, 6 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 267.

64. And he may recover the same, on the strength of her ancestor's possession, from one who does not show a better title, without regard to the question whether he did or did not, in the exercise of his marital rights, reduce the land to possession as his own during the wife's lifetime. Snipes v. Parker, 98 Ga. 522, 25 S. E. 580.

65. Kentucky.— Rawling v. Landes, 2 Bush 158; Ewing v. Handley, 4 Litt. 346, 14 Am. Dec. 140.

Missouri.— Houck v. Complin, 25 Mo. 378.

North Carolina.— Colson v. Martin, 62 N. C. 125.

(vi) Wife's Separate Equitable Estate. Where the law allows the creation in a married woman of a separate equitable estate, which she may dispose of by will unless prevented by the instrument creating the same, and by statute or otherwise a surviving husband is entitled to his wife's personal estate, a surviving husband takes to the exclusion of children his intestate wife's equitable separate estate in personal property which she was not prevented from alienating by the instrument creating it.[66]

c. Effect of Antenuptial Agreement. Husband and wife may by an antenuptial contract for which the marriage is a sufficient consideration, exclude the operation of the common law or statutes in so far as they fix the rights of the husband in the wife's property, not only during coverture, but also after the wife's death, and if the husband thereby surrenders the rights which he will otherwise have in the wife's property as survivor such rights will be barred.[67] Whether the husband merely surrenders his marital rights during coverture or also surrenders his prospective rights as survivor depends on the intention of the parties as expressed in the agreement.[68] Where the antenuptial agreement merely secures to the wife full control over her property, with the right to dispose of the same by deed or will, a failure on her part to make such disposition leaves the husband's rights to her property upon her death the same as if no such agreement had been made.[69]

d. Operation and Effect of Will. Under some of the statutes a wife, although authorized by statute to dispose of her property by will, cannot by will deprive her husband of his rights to either her realty or personalty,[70] unless the husband

Tennessee.— Tune v. Cooper, 4 Sneed 296; Hardin v. Young, (Ch. App. 1896) 41 S. W. 1080.

Virginia.— Wade v. Boxley, 5 Leigh 442; Dade v. Alexander, 1 Wash. 30.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 167. And see supra, II, E, 5.

66. Andes v. Roller, 98 Va. 620, 37 S. E. 297, holding that a will giving a married woman personal property "to her sole and separate use free from the debts and control of her husband," without other restrictive provisions, did not restrain her power to dispose of the legacy by will or otherwise, and that on her death intestate the surviving husband was entitled thereto. See also Cox v. Coleman, 13 B. Mon. (Ky.) 451. Compare Olive v. Walton, 33 Miss. 103, under the Mississippi married woman's acts of 1839 and 1846.

67. Georgia.— Sheppard v. Sheppard, 22 Ga. 426.

Indiana.— Leach v. Rains, 149 Ind. 152, 48 N. E. 858.

Maryland.— Ward v. Thompson, 6 Gill & J. 349.

North Carolina.— Hooks v. Lee, 42 N. C. 83.

Pennsylvania.— Gackenback v. Brouse, 4 Watts & S. 546, 39 Am. Dec. 104.

Tennessee.— Gamble v. Nunn, 5 Sneed 465; Loftus v. Penn, 1 Swan 445; Hamrico v. Laird, 10 Yerg. 222.

Virginia.— Charles v. Charles, 8 Gratt. 486, 56 Am. Dec. 155.

United States.— Marshall v. Beall, 6 How. 70, 12 L. ed. 347.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 168. And see supra, III, B, 6, d.

Antenuptial contracts generally see Husband and Wife.

68. Ward v. Thompson, 6 Gill & J. (Md.) 349; Loftus v. Penn, 1 Swan (Tenn.) 445; Marshall v. Beall, 6 How. (U. S.) 70, 12 L. ed. 347; and other cases in the note preceding and the note following.

69. Kentucky.— Hart v. Soward, 14 B. Mon. 301.

New York.— Stewart v. Stewart, 7 Johns. Ch. 229.

Pennsylvania.— Talbot v. Calvert, 24 Pa. St. 327.

South Carolina.— Rochell v. Tompkins, 1 Strobh. Eq. 114. See also Baskins v. Giles, Rice Eq. 315.

Tennessee.— Brown v. Brown, 6 Humphr. 127. See also Hays v. Bright, 11 Heisk. 325; Loftus v. Penn, 1 Swan 445; Hardin v. Young, (Ch. App. 1896) 41 S. W. 1080. Compare, however, Hamrico v. Laird, 10 Yerg. 222.

Virginia.— Pickett v. Chilton, 5 Munf. 467.

West Virginia.— Beard v. Beard, 22 W. Va. 130.

But see Wright v. Pratt, 17 Mo. 43.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 168.

70. Illinois.— Laurence v. Balch, 195 Ill. 626, 63 N. E. 506 [affirming 98 Ill. App. 111], holding that where a wife disposes of all her property without making provision for her husband, he is entitled to the one third of her estate given him by Hurd Rev. St. (1899) c. 41, § 10.

Indiana.— O'Harra v. Stone, 48 Ind. 417.

Iowa.— May v. Jones, 87 Iowa 188, 54 N. W. 231.

Kentucky.— Smoot v. Heyser, 67 S. W. 21, 23 Ky. L. Rep. 2401.

consents;[71] and under some statutes the rule applies even when the husband consents to the making of a will excluding him.[72] Under some statutes, however, as where the husband is given certain rights where the wife dies intestate, the wife may by will defeat rights which he would otherwise have.[73] But even under such a statute a will does not affect the husband's rights as to property not disposed of thereby.[74] The consent of the husband is not necessary to give validity to the will or effect its operation, except in so far as it may deprive him of his rights as surviving husband.[75] A sufficient provision for a husband within the meaning of a statute is made by a will providing that he be executor and trustee for the children, and if the testatrix dies without children living the husband is to take the whole estate.[76]

e. Gift, Sale, or Conveyance by Wife. Where a wife cannot deprive her husband by will of his distributive share of her estate, she cannot do so by a donatio causa mortis, which is but another form of testamentary disposition.[77] She may, however, deprive her husband of his share by a completed and valid sale or gift of all her property in her lifetime.[78]

8. Property Acquired by Gift. Under a statute providing that where a person dies intestate without children or their descendants, property acquired by gift or conveyance, in consideration of love and affection, shall revert to the donor if living at the intestate's death, saving to the widow or widower, however, his or her rights therein, a husband or wife who has conveyed property to the other in consideration of love and affection takes the whole on the other's death intestate and without leaving children or descendants.[79] Where the gift or conveyance was from a third person, the surviving husband or wife takes the share given by statute to a surviving husband or wife and the remainder goes to the donor.[80]

9. Rights in Case of Remarriages — a. In General. In the absence of express provision to the contrary, the right or interest of a surviving husband or wife, Massachusetts.— Silsby v. Bullock, 10 Allen 34. See also Johnson v. Williams, 152 Mass. 414, 25 N. E. 611; Lavery v. Egan, 143 Mass. 389, 9 N. E. 747. Compare Burke v. Colbert, 144 Mass. 160, 10 N. E. 753.

Missouri.— O'Brien v. Ash, 169 Mo. 283, 69 S. W. 8.

New Hampshire.—Baker v. Smith, 66 N. H. 422, 23 Atl. 82.

New Jersey.— Beals v. Storm, 26 N. J. Eq. 372; Vreeland v. Ryno, 26 N. J. Eq. 160. And see Nelson v. Nelson, (Ch. 1897) 36 Atl. 280.

New York.— Matter of Harris, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 68, 2 Connoly Surr. 4.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 170.

71. Silsby v. Bullock, 10 Allen (Mass.) 94, where the statute required written consent. See also Everett v. Croskrey, 92 Iowa 333, 60 N. W. 732; Shields v. Keys, 24 Iowa 298; Johnson v. Williams, 152 Mass. 414, 25 N. E. 611; Beals v. Storm, 26 N. J. Eq. 372.

What shows consent of husband.— May v. Jones, 87 Iowa 188, 54 N. W. 231.

72. O'Harra v. Stone, 48 Ind. 417, under a statute giving a surviving husband one third of his wife's real estate, whether she should die intestate or testate.

73. Bryan v. Weems, 25 Ala. 195. See also Burke v. Colbert, 144 Mass. 160, 10 N. E. 753.

74. Bryan v. Weems, 25 Ala. 195. And see Nelson v. Nelson, (N. J. Ch. 1897) 36 Atl. 280.

75. Laurence v. Balch, 195 Ill. 626, 63 N. E. 506 [affirming 98 Ill. App. 111]; Burke v. Colbert, 144 Mass. 160, 10 N. E. 753; Burroughs v. Nutting, 105 Mass. 228; Silsby v. Bullock, 10 Allen (Mass.) 94.

Failure to provide for husband.— Where a wife leaving no issue disposes of all her property by will, the fact that she makes no provision for her husband does not entitle him to the whole estate as in case of intestacy under Hurd Rev. St. (1899) c. 39, § 1; but he is merely entitled to the one third given him by chapter 41, section 10. Laurence v. Balch, 195 Ill. 626, 63 N. E. 506 [affirming 98 Ill. App. 111]; Cribben v. Cribben, 136 Ill. 609, 27 N. E. 70.

76. Carter v. Harvey, 77 Miss. 1, 25 So. 862.

77. Baker v. Smith, 66 N. H. 422, 23 Atl. 82.

78. Harris v. Spencer, 71 Conn. 233, 41 Atl. 773.

Powers of married women as to conveyances see Husband and Wife.

79. Fontaine v. Houston, 86 Ind. 205, holding that such provision was not affected by a later section of the statute providing that on the death intestate of a husband or wife, leaving no child, but leaving a father and mother or either of them, his or her property should descend, three fourths to the widow or widower, and one fourth to the father and mother jointly, or to the survivor of them.

80. Myers v. Myers, 57 Ind. 307, where the surviving wife took one third and the donor the remainder.

common-law or statutory, in the real or personal property of the deceased spouse, is not in any way defeated or lessened by a second marriage, in favor of children of the previous marriage or otherwise, but becomes subject, like the survivor's other property, to the marital rights of the second spouse, and goes on such survivor's death to his or her heirs or personal representatives, subject to the surviving second spouse's rights.[81] So also in the absence of provision to the contrary, where a surviving spouse marries again and then dies, the surviving second spouse and the children of the second marriage have the same rights in the deceased spouse's property as in the case of a first marriage, subject only to the right of children of the first marriage if any to their share.[82] Of course in all states where as at common law a surviving husband or wife is given merely a life-estate in his or her deceased spouse's real estate, a second spouse of such survivor takes no interest therein on his or her death.[83]

b. Under Statutory Provisions.[84] The rules above stated are sometimes changed by statutes, as by excluding or limiting the right of a surviving second spouse in the property of the deceased spouse in favor of children of the deceased spouse by a former marriage,[85] or by giving them, to the exclusion both of the

81. Georgia.— Ralston v. Thornton, 36 Ga. 546; Wiggins v. Blount, 33 Ga. 409, holding that a surviving second wife was entitled to the share in an estate to which the first wife before her marriage had a vested right by inheritance, both the husband and the first wife having died without issue before distribution.

Indiana.— Sigler v. Hooker, 30 Ind. 386; Pickins v. Hill, 30 Ind. 269, where on the death of a woman leaving a second husband, the latter was held entitled to personal property received by her on the settlement by administration of the estate of a former husband, as against a subsequent administrator of such former husband.

Kentucky.— Rice v. Thompson, 14 B. Mon. 377, holding that if a husband fails to reduce to possession a personal right which belonged to the wife before coverture or appropriate such right it survives to her; and that if she marries again and dies the surviving second husband, as survivor, administrator, or distributee, may claim such right to the exclusion of the children of the wife.

Massachusetts.— Foster v. Fifield, 20 Pick. 67, holding that where a widow married a second time and died before distribution of the estate of her first husband her children by the first husband were not entitled exclusively to the latter's estate, but that her administrator was entitled to her distributive share.

Mississippi.— See Kilcrease v. Shelby, 23 Miss. 161.

Missouri.— Wall v. Coppedge, 15 Mo. 448, holding that a second husband had the right, on reducing it to his possession during coverture, to the distributive share of his wife in her first husband's estate.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 176 et seq. And see supra, III, A, 6, c.

82. Sigler v. Hooker, 30 Ind. 386 (holding that, in the absence of provision to the contrary, a statute giving to a surviving husband or wife a certain share or interest in the deceased spouse's property applies as well to the survivor of a second marriage of the deceased spouse as to the survivor of a first marriage, and notwithstanding there are children of the first marriage); Carlton v. Burleigh, 52 Kan. 392, 34 Pac. 1050 (holding that, under a statute giving a surviving wife one half of her deceased husband's real estate in fee, subject to certain qualifications, but making no distinction between a first and a second or other subsequent wife, a surviving third wife, with children, of a man who had previously had two other wives, both of whom had children by him, who were still living, was entitled to the one half of his real estate in fee, the other half descending to all his children equally, and that on the death of such widow her one-half share descended to her children to the exclusion of the children by the former wives).

83. Thus in Texas the separate real estate of a married woman descends on her death to her children, subject to the homestead interest of the husband, or to a life-estate in one third thereof, and if he marries again and dies no part of the same goes to his widow. Dyer v. Pierce, (Tex. Civ. App. 1901) 60 S. W. 441. See also CURTESY, 12 Cyc. 1001; DOWER.

84. Property exempted from execution.— See EXEMPTIONS; HOMESTEADS.

85. In Georgia the act of 1845 (not now in force) provided that whenever any feme covert, having a child or children living by a former husband, should be entitled to property by inheritance, such property should not belong to her husband, but should be equally divided between her and all of her children. Under this statute where a widow at the time she married a second husband had children by a former, and was then entitled to land by inheritance from her former husband, of which she was in possession, but which had not been divided so as to assign her separate share, such share, when afterward assigned to her, became the common property of herself and her children, and was not affected by a marriage contract between her and her second husband. Smith v. Pitner, 88 Ga. 710, 15

surviving second spouse and of the children of the second marriage, property

S. E. 808. See also under such statute Roby v. Boswell, 23 Ga. 51; Matthews v. Bridges, 13 Ga. 325.

Indiana statute prior to 1889.— In Indiana, where the statute gives a widow a certain share of her deceased husband's land in fee simple, a subsequent section provided, prior to the statute of 1889, that "if a man marry a second or other subsequent wife, and has by her no children, and dies leaving children alive by a previous wife, the land which at his death descends to such wife, shall at her death, descend to his children." Rev. St. (1881) § 2487. Under this statute, on the death of the widow without children living, her share of land which descended from her deceased husband descended to the husband's children by his previous marriage (Thompson v. Henry, 153 Ind. 56, 54 N. E. 109; Montgomery v. McCumber, 128 Ind. 374, 27 N. E. 1114; Habig v. Dodge, 127 Ind. 31, 25 N. E. 182; Thorp v. Hanes, 107 Ind. 324, 6 N. E. 920; Bryan v. Uland, 101 Ind. 477, 1 N. E. 52; Flenner v. Benson, 89 Ind. 108; Miller v. Noble, 86 Ind. 527; Armstrong v. Cavitt, 78 Ind. 476; Long v. Miller, 48 Ind. 145; Longlois v. Longlois, 48 Ind. 60; Louden v. James, 31 Ind. 69; Rockhill v. Nelson, 24 Ind. 422; Ogle v. Stoops, 11 Ind. 380; Martindale v. Martindale, 10 Ind. 566), or their children (his grandchildren), the words "leaving children alive by a previous wife" in the statute being construed to mean "leaving children or their descendants alive by a previous wife" (Scott v. Silvers, 64 Ind. 76); and their right could not be defeated by a conveyance of such land by the widow, in which they (being of age) did not join (Thompson v. Henry, 153 Ind. 56, 54 N. E. 109; Byrum v. Henderson, 151 Ind. 102, 51 N. E. 94; Haskett v. Maxey, 134 Ind. 182, 33 N. E. 358, 19 L. R. A. 379; Thorp v. Hanes, 107 Ind. 324, 6 N. E. 920; Bryan v. Uland, 101 Ind. 477, 1 N. E. 52; Flenner v. Benson, 89 Ind. 108; Armstrong v. Cavitt, 78 Ind. 476; Utterback v. Terhune, 75 Ind. 363; Louden v. James, 31 Ind. 69), or by a sheriff's sale to satisfy a judgment against her (Miller v. Noble, 86 Ind. 527), or by her consent to a sale and conveyance of her interest by the husband's administrator to pay his debts, and her receipt of the residue of the proceeds of the sale (Armstrong v. Cavitt, 78 Ind. 476).

Effect of will.— Land set off to a childless widow, whose husband left children by a former marriage surviving him, upon her refusal to accept the provisions of his will, descended upon her death to such children, freed from any provisions of the will. Rushton v. Harvey, 144 Ind. 382, 43 N. E. 300.

The widow will not be presumed to have been a second or other subsequent wife. Utterback v. Terhune, 75 Ind. 363.

Existence and death of children by second marriage.— By its express terms the statute does not apply where there are children by the second marriage at the time of the husband's death, and in such case, on the death of the widow, the property which descended to her from the deceased husband goes equally to her children by such deceased husband and her children by a former marriage, to the exclusion of such husband's children by his former marriage. Heavenridge v. Nelson, 56 Ind. 90; Coffman v. Bartsch, 25 Ind. 201; McMakin v. Michaels, 23 Ind. 462; Smith v. Smith, 23 Ind. 202. And it is immaterial that such children die after the husband and before the widow. Williams v. Venner, 53 Ind. 396. The statute applies, however, although there was a child by the second marriage, where such child died before the husband. Rockhill v. Nelson, 24 Ind. 422; Ogle v. Stoops, 11 Ind. 380.

Existence and death of children by first marriage.— By the express terms of the statute it does not apply, where at the time of the husband's death there are no children by his previous marriage living; but the words "children alive" in the statute have been construed to mean "children or their descendants alive," so that the statute applies where there is living at the husband's death a grandchild, being a child of his child by the previous marriage. Scott v. Silvers, 64 Ind. 76. In order that the statute may continue to apply a child or descendant of a child by the previous marriage must also be alive at the death of the widow. If the children of the husband by his first marriage and their descendants, if any, die before the widow, the real estate which descended to her from the husband will, on her death intestate, go to her heirs the same as if she were a first wife, or she may devise or convey the same (Johnson v. Johnson, 153 Ind. 60, 54 N. E. 124; Byrum v. Henderson, 151 Ind. 102, 51 N. E. 94; Bateman v. Bennett, 31 Ind. App. 277, 67 N. E. 713); and a conveyance in the lifetime of a child of the deceased husband's first marriage will be valid as against her heirs, if such child dies before her, leaving no descendant (Byrum v. Henderson, 151 Ind. 102, 51 N. E. 94). Where a childless second wife conveys land inherited from her husband, whose child by a former marriage is living at the time of the conveyance, and the child dies before her death leaving no descendants the next of kin of such child do not inherit any interest in such land. Byrum v. Henderson, 151 Ind. 102, 51 N. E. 94.

Estate of widow.—Under the statute above referred to it was formerly held that a childless widow took a life-estate only, with remainder to the children of her deceased husband by his former wife. Chisham v. Way, 73 Ind. 362; Hendrix v. Sampson, 70 Ind. 350; Swain v. Hardin, 64 Ind. 85 (holding that as against the deceased husband's children by his first wife the surviving widow could claim on sale of the husband's land in partition proceedings only such portion of one third of the net proceeds of the sale as the value of her life-estate bore to the value of her entire estate in one third of the land); Hendrix v. McBeth, 61 Ind. 473, 28 Am. Rep.

which came to their parent from the deceased former spouse, their other

680; Russell v. Russell, 48 Ind. 456; Long v. Miller, 48 Ind. 145; Longlois v. Longlois, 48 Ind. 60; Louden v. James, 31 Ind. 69; Rockhill v. Nelson, 24 Ind. 422; Ogle v. Stoops, 11 Ind. 380; Martindale v. Martindale, 10 Ind. 566. But this view was overruled in 1881, and it was held that she took her share in fee simple, and that the child or children of the former marriage or their descendants had no interest whatever in such share during her lifetime, but only an expectancy to take the same as her forced heirs at her death. Utterback v. Terhune, 75 Ind. 363. See also to the same effect Johnson v. Johnson, 153 Ind. 60, 54 N. E. 124; Thompson v. Henry, 153 Ind. 56, 54 N. E. 109; Helt v. Helt, 152 Ind. 142, 52 N. E. 699; Byrum v. Henderson, 151 Ind. 102, 51 N. E. 94; Myers v. Boyd, 144 Ind. 496, 43 N. E. 567; Stephenson v. Boody, 139 Ind. 60, 38 N. E. 331; Haskett v. Maxey, 134 Ind. 182, 33 N. E. 358, 19 L. R. A. 379; Montgomery v. McCumber, 128 Ind. 374, 27 N. E. 1114; Habig v. Dodge, 127 Ind. 31, 25 N. E. 182; Gwaltney v. Gwaltney, 119 Ind. 144, 21 N. E. 552; Erwin v. Garner, 108 Ind. 488, 9 N. E. 417; Thorp v. Hanes, 107 Ind. 324, 6 N. E. 920; Bryan v. Uland, 101 Ind. 477, 1 N. E. 52; Flenner v. Travellers' Ins. Co., 89 Ind. 164; Flenner v. Benson, 89 Ind. 108; McClamrock v. Ferguson, 88 Ind. 208; Hendrix v. McBeth, 87 Ind. 287; Caywood v. Medsker, 84 Ind. 520; Slack v. Thacker, 84 Ind. 418; Armstrong v. Cavitt, 78 Ind. 476; Bateman v. Bennett, 31 Ind. App. 277, 67 N. E. 713. In the case of contracts or conveyances prior to the decision in 1881 in Utterback v. Terhune, 75 Ind. 363, that the widow took the fee and not merely a life-estate, and overruling the prior cases to the contrary, it was held that the rights of the parties were governed by the law as declared by the previous decisions. Thompson v. Henry, 153 Ind. 56, 54 N. E. 109; Byrum v. Henderson, 151 Ind. 102, 51 N. E. 94; Stephenson v. Boody, 139 Ind. 60, 38 N. E. 331; Haskett v. Maxey, 134 Ind. 182, 33 N. E. 358, 19 L. R. A. 379. But the time of the conveyance must be made to affirmatively appear, or the law as declared in the later cases will apply. Thompson v. Henry, 153 Ind. 56, 54 N. E. 109.

Effect of conveyances by stepchildren.— Nor were such children barred as forced heirs of the widow by a quitclaim deed made by them or their guardian during the widow's lifetime, on a conveyance of their "right, title and interest" merely, even though with full covenants of warranty. Johnson v. Johnson, 153 Ind. 60, 54 N. E. 124; Haskett v. Maxey, 134 Ind. 182, 33 N. E. 358, 19 L. R. A. 379; Montgomery v. McCumber, 128 Ind. 374, 27 N. E. 1114; Habig v. Dodge, 127 Ind. 31, 25 N. E. 182; Erwin v. Garner, 108 Ind. 488, 9 N. E. 417; Bryan v. Uland, 101 Ind. 477, 1 N. E. 52. Where one of the children of the husband by his first marriage executed a warranty deed to her expected interest in the widow's third, and died before the widow, it was held that such deed did not bind her children or estop them to claim as the forced heirs of the widow on the latter's death. Habig v. Dodge, 127 Ind. 31, 25 N. E. 182. But where a stepchild assumed to convey and warrant the title to a reversionary interest equal to the undivided one third of the real estate previously set off to the widow, it was held that the grantee acquired a title to a one-third interest in his land, subject to the estate of the widow, and the grantor and all claiming through him were estopped to assert the contrary. Habig v. Dodge, 127 Ind. 31, 25 N. E. 182.

Proceeds on joinder with stepchildren in conveyance.— Where the widow joined with the children of her deceased husband by a former marriage in a sale and conveyance of his real estate, it was held that she was entitled to receive her share of the proceeds unconditionally, independent of any interest the children might have therein on her death. Johnson v. Johnson, 153 Ind. 60, 54 N. E. 124.

Sale to pay deceased husband's debts.—The estate in fee which, upon the death of the widow, descends to the stepchildren as her forced heirs, is not subject to sale to pay the deceased husband's debts. Flenner v. Travellers' Ins. Co., 89 Ind. 164; Flenner v. Benson, 89 Ind. 108; McClamrock v. Ferguson, 88 Ind. 208; Caywood v. Medsker, 84 Ind. 520 [distinguishing Hendrix v. Sampson, 70 Ind. 350]; Armstrong v. Cavitt, 78 Ind. 476; Louden v. James, 31 Ind. 69.

Improvements placed on the land by the widow, or by a third person in possession under a conveyance by her taken with knowledge of the facts, inure to the benefit of the stepchildren on her death. Bryan v. Uland, 101 Ind. 477, 1 N. E. 52.

The statute of limitations does not begin to run against the stepchildren by the first wife until the death of the second wife. Haskett v. Maxey, 134 Ind. 182, 33 N. E. 358, 19 L. R. A. 379.

Indiana act of 1889.— In 1889 the statute above referred to was amended by declaring that the interest of the second or subsequent childless wife in the deceased husband's lands "shall only be a life estate, and the fee of the same shall at the death of such husband vest in such children [that is, the children of the husband by his former wife], subject only to the life estate of the widow." Rev. St. (1897) § 2695, being the act approved March 11, 1889. This act, however, was held void as being an attempt to amend the act of 1853 which had been repealed by the act of 1867, so that the former law remained in force. Helt v. Helt, 152 Ind. 142, 52 N. E. 699.

Action against widow to enjoin waste.— From the ruling that the widow took the fee under these statutes, and that the husband's children by his former marriage had no interest in the land during her lifetime, but merely an expectancy to take as her forced heirs, it followed that such children or their grantee could not maintain against the widow or her grantee an action to enjoin commis-parent,[86] or by giving the survivor of the former marriage a life-estate or the usufruct only, in the property of the former spouse, with remainder to the children if any of such marriage,[87] or, although giving the survivor of the first marriage a certain share in fee, by restricting his or her power of alienation during a second marriage, and giving the property, on his or her death during the second marriage, to the children of the former marriage.[88] Statutes sometimes give to a sion of waste. Thompson v. Henry, 153 Ind. 56, 54 N. E. 109; Gwaltney v. Gwaltney, 119 Ind. 144, 21 N. E. 552.

Effect of sale under order of court.— And it was held that such children were not bound or barred as forced heirs of the widow by the judgment of the court during her lifetime ordering the land or their supposed interest therein to be sold, and a sale and conveyance thereunder. Johnson v. Johnson, 153 Ind. 60, 54 N. E. 124; Erwin v. Garner, 108 Ind. 488, 9 N. E. 447; Flenner v. Travellers' Ins. Co., 89 Ind. 164; Miller v. Noble, 86 Ind. 527; Armstrong v. Cavitt, 78 Ind. 476.

Effect of partition.— Nor were such children barred as forced heirs of the widow by a judgment in a partition suit not involving the question of title, but merely setting apart to the widow a certain part of the deceased husband's land as her share. Thompson v. Henry, 153 Ind. 56, 54 N. E. 109; Stephenson v. Boody, 139 Ind. 60, 38 N. E. 331; Haskett v. Maxey, 134 Ind. 182, 33 N. E. 358, 19 L. R. A. 379; Habig v. Dodge, 127 Ind. 31, 21 N. E. 182; Thorp v. Hanes, 107 Ind. 324, 6 N. E. 920; Bryan v. Uland, 101 Ind. 477, 1 N. E. 52; Kenney v. Phillipy, 91 Ind. 511; Miller v. Noble, 86 Ind. 527; Utterback v. Terhune, 75 Ind. 363.

Indiana act of 1899.— In 1899 a statute (Acts (1899), pp. 131, 132) was enacted repealing all acts in conflict therewith and providing that "if a man die intestate leaving surviving him a second or other subsequent wife without children by him, but leaving a child or children or their descendants alive, by a previous wife, such surviving, childless, second or other subsequent wife, shall take only a life estate in the lands of her deceased husband, and the fee thereof shall at the death of such husband vest at once in such child or children, or the descendants of such as may be dead, subject only to the life estate of such widow." Subsequent sections of this act validate conveyances by the children of the husband by his former wife, made after his death and during the lifetime of the widow, and conveyances by the widow and such children or their guardians.

Forced heirs of surviving second wife see also supra, III, A, 5, b.

86. Ogle v. Stoops, 11 Ind. 380, where a statute provided that if a widow should marry a second time and die, leaving children by a former husband, all real estate held by her in virtue of her previous marriage shall go to such children. And see the other Indiana cases cited infra, note 88.

87. Cook v. Doremus, 10 La. Ann. 679; Le Blanc v. Landry, 7 Mart. N. S. (La.) 665. Under the present statute in Louisiana, where a wife dies leaving a child by a former marriage, and no child by the second marriage, the surviving husband has no right of usufruct with respect to her estate, whether paraphernal or in community. Emonot's Succession, 109 La. 359, 33 So. 368.

88. In Indiana, where a widow is given a certain portion of her deceased husband's real estate in fee simple (Rev. St. (1897) § 2691), it is provided that if a widow shall marry a second or any subsequent time, holding real estate in virtue of any previous marriage, and there is a child or children or their descendants alive by such marriage, she may not during such second or subsequent marriage, with or without the assent of her husband, alienate such real estate, unless the children of the previous marriage are of age and join in the conveyance; and if she shall die during such marriage, it shall go to such children, if there be any (Rev. St. (1897) § 2692). See also infra, IV, A, 9, e.

Estate taken by widow.— Under these provisions the widow takes a fee simple in such real estate, subject only to the restraint on her power of alienation in case of remarriage (Forgy v. Davenport, 146 Ind. 399, 45 N. E. 592; Schlemmer v. Rossler, 59 Ind. 326; Jackson v. Finch, 27 Ind. 316; Barnes v. Allen, 25 Ind. 222; Philpot v. Webb, 20 Ind. 509), and her second or subsequent marriage does not divest her title (Forgy v. Davenport, 146 Ind. 399, 45 N. E. 592; Small v. Roberts, 51 Ind. 281; Philpot v. Webb, 20 Ind. 509), the statute being a rule of descent and not a limitation of her estate (Jackson v. Finch, 27 Ind. 316).

Rights of children of first marriage.— If the widow dies before the second husband, the property goes to her children by the former husband to the exclusion of the second husband and of her children by him. Horlacher v. Brafford, 141 Ind. 528, 40 N. E. 1078; Teter v. Clayton, 71 Ind. 237; Edmondson v. Corn, 62 Ind. 17; Mathers v. Scott, 37 Ind. 303. The children of the first marriage, however, have no interest in the widow's share of real estate upon her remarriage until her death during the second marriage. Horlacher v. Brafford, 141 Ind. 528, 40 N. E. 1078, holding that where the widow during the second marriage attempted to sell and convey the land, there was no sale of property of a child of the deceased husband by a previous marriage which he could ratify on becoming of age.

Conveyance, mortgage, or sale on execution. —The statute prevents and renders void, where there are children by the first husband, either an absolute conveyance of such real estate by the widow during the second marriage or by her and her second husband (Horlacher v. Brafford, 141 Ind. 528, 40 N. E. 1078; Marsh widow the property of her deceased husband which came to him by virtue of the marriage.[89]

10. Marital Portion Under Civil Law. The Louisiana statute,[90] which is based upon the civil law, provides that when the wife has not brought any dowry,[91] or when what she brought as a dowry is inconsiderable with respect to the condition of the husband, if either the husband or the wife die rich, leaving the survivor in necessitous circumstances,[92] the latter has the right to take out of the succession of

v. Thompson, 102 Ind. 272, 1 N. E. 630; Connecticut Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Athon, 78 Ind. 10; Avery v. Akins, 74 Ind. 283; Sebrell v. Hughes, 72 Ind. 186; Edmondson v. Corn, 62 Ind. 17; Griner v. Butler, 61 Ind. 362, 28 Am. Rep. 675; Mattox v. Hightshue, 39 Ind. 95; Knight v. McDonald, 37 Ind. 463), or a mortgage (McCullough v. Davis, 108 Ind. 292, 9 N. E. 276; Ætna L. Ins. Co. v. Buck, 108 Ind. 174, 9 N. E. 153; Bowers v. Van Winkle, 41 Ind. 432; Vinnedge v. Shaffer, 35 Ind. 341), or a sale on execution against her (Miller v. Noble, 86 Ind. 527; Smith v. Beard, 73 Ind. 159; Schlemmer v. Rossler, 59 Ind. 326); but it does not prevent a widow from conveying land which came to her from her husband where it is conveyed before her second marriage, and if she does so, although without consideration and without surrendering possession, even after an engagement to remarry, and afterward takes a reconveyance, the land is no longer within the statute (Nesbitt v. Trindle, 64 Ind. 183. And see Swain v. Hardin, 64 Ind. 85; Piper v. May, 51 Ind. 283; Small v. Roberts, 51 Ind. 281).

Direction as to particular land to be sold on execution.— The statute does not prevent a widow who marries a second time from directing which of two pieces of land shall be sold on execution to pay a judgment against the first husband, which must be paid by the sale, independent of her consent, of one or the other. Blackleach v. Harvey, 14 Ind. 564.

Lease.— Nor does the statute prevent her from leasing such real estate during her natural life or for a term of years. Forgy v. Davenport, 146 Ind. 399, 45 N. E. 592.

Sale in proceedings for partition.— Nor does it prevent the court from directing a sale of such real estate in proceedings for partition (Klinesmith v. Socwell, 100 Ind. 589; Small v. Roberts, 51 Ind. 281; Finch v. Jackson, 30 Ind. 387), and the widow's share of the proceeds of such a sale must be paid to her unconditionally and not invested (Klinesmith v. Socwell, 100 Ind. 589; Small v. Roberts, 51 Ind. 281 [qualifying Finch v. Jackson, 30 Ind. 387]).

Effect of partition by actual division of land.— A judgment in partition between the widow and the children by the former marriage, which allots to her in fee simple a part of the lands of the former husband to hold "free from any and all claim or demand whatever" of the children, operates only upon existing rights, and will not estop the children from claiming the land on her death. Avery v. Akins, 74 Ind. 283.

Cessation of second marriage.— The suspension of the widow's power of alienation ceases if the second or subsequent marriage ceases for any cause during her life. Forgy v. Davenport, 146 Ind. 399, 45 N. E. 592; Piper v. May, 51 Ind. 283. And if she has children by the second or subsequent marriage and dies unmarried, leaving children by both marriages, the land received in virtue of the first marriage will go to all the children alike. Teter v. Clayton, 71 Ind. 237. And see Forgy v. Davenport, 146 Ind. 399, 45 N. E. 592; Heavenridge v. Nelson, 56 Ind. 90.

On her death, either during the existence of the second marriage or afterward, the property is liable for her debts. Philpot v. Webb, 20 Ind. 509.

Real estate not acquired in virtue of former marriage.— The statute under consideration by its terms applies to such real estate only as the widow acquires in virtue of the previous marriage, and does not apply therefore to land which she acquires by purchase, as in the case of land of her deceased husband purchased by her at a commissioner's sale under partition proceedings (Spencer v. McGonagle, 107 Ind. 410, 8 N. E. 266; McMakin v. Michaels, 23 Ind. 462), or land devised to her by her deceased husband in fee in lieu of her interest in his estate (Allen v. Bland, 134 Ind. 78, 33 N. E. 774).

Personal property.—The statute has no application to personal property. Sigler v. Hooker, 30 Ind. 386; Pickens v. Hill, 30 Ind. 269.

89. See Griffith v. Walker, 3 Mo. 191, holding that under a statute giving a widow property of her husband which came to him from her by virtue of the marriage only where he leaves no children or other descendants capable of inheriting, she is not entitled thereto where he leaves a child or children by a former wife, as the words "capable of inheriting" do not mean capable of inheriting from the wife.

90. La. Rev. Civ. Code, art. 2382.

91. The right to claim the marital portion exists as well in those cases where there was no marriage contract as in those in which no dowry is stipulated in the marriage contract. Dunbar v. Dunbar, 5 La. Ann. 158.

92. Necessitous circumstances.— The survivor is entitled to the marital portion only where the deceased died rich and the survivor was left thereby in necessitous circumstances, taking into consideration in all cases not only the amount of property left by the deceased and that owned by the survivor, but also the condition in life of the parties and their mode of life during the marriage. Dupuy v. Dupuy, 52 La. Ann. 869, 27 So. 287; Leppelman's Succession, 30 La. Ann. 468; Connor v. Con-the deceased what is called the "marital portion;"[93] that is, the fourth of the succession in full property, if there be no children,[94] and the same portion in usufruct only, when there are but three or a smaller number of children;[95] and if there be more than three children, the survivor, whether husband or wife, nor, 10 La. Ann. 440; Armstrong v. Steeber, 3 La. Ann. 713; Duriaux v. Doiron, 9 Rob. (La.) 101; Harrell v. Harrell, 17 La. 374; Mason v. Mason, 12 La. 589; Melançon v. His Executor, 6 La. 105. "The terms 'necessitous circumstances,'" as applied to a widow, "are used relatively to the fortune of her husband and to the condition in which she lived during the marriage." Smith v. Smith, 43 La. Ann. 1140, 1151, 10 So. 248. If the husband leaves the wife "an annuity sufficient to enable her to live in the same style as to comfort and elegance as persons of her rank live in, then she is not left in necessitous circumstances, so if she have the means of doing so, independently of her husband." Melançon v. His Executor, 6 La. 105, 111. See also Rogge's Succession, 50 La. Ann. 1220, 23 So. 933; Justus' Succession, 44 La. Ann. 721, 11 So. 95; Leppelman's Succession, 30 La. Ann. 468, 471 (where it is said: "Rich is a relative term. Property which would make a person in one condition of life rich, would be inadequate to supply the wants, albeit they are artificial, of one in another condition of life"); Gee v. Thompson, 11 La. Ann. 657; Derouen's Succession, 10 La. Ann. 675; Dunbar v. Dunbar, 5 La. Ann. 158; Fortier's Succession, 3 La. Ann. 104.

A decree of separation from bed and board does not bar a surviving wife's right to the marital portion of her deceased husband's estate. Gee v. Thompson, 11 La. Ann. 657. See also Liddell's Succession, 22 La. Ann. 9.

Abandonment and adultery.— But a wife who has abandoned her husband and is living in adultery at the time of his death cannot be said to have been left in necessitous circumstances, and cannot claim the marital portion. Armstrong v. Steeber, 3 La. Ann. 713.

Mere immodest conduct is not enough to bar the surviving wife's right. Leppelman's Succession, 30 La. Ann. 468.

Long separation of the parties may preclude the right to the marital portion. Rogge's Succession, 50 La. Ann. 1220, 23 So. 933; Pickens v. Gillam, 43 La. Ann. 350, 8 So. 928.

93. See Dupuy v. Dupuy, 52 La. Ann. 869, 27 So. 287; Connor v. Connor, 10 La. Ann. 440.

Putative marriage.— The right to the marital portion is one of the civil effects of marriage, and may therefore be claimed by a surviving spouse, although the marriage was only putative. La. Rev. Civ. Code, art. 117; Smith v. Smith, 43 La. Ann. 1140, 10 So. 248.

Marriage and domicile in another state.— The right to the marital portion results from the marriage, no matter where contracted. Therefore a widow is entitled to the marital portion out of the husband's real estate, although she married, and she and the husband resided, and he died, in another state. Abercrombie v. Caffray, 3 Mart. N. S. (La.) 1. See also Connor v. Connor, 10 La. Ann. 440; Dunbar v. Dunbar, 5 La. Ann. 158.

A marriage contract stipulating that in case of the death of either party the property should return to the estate of the person to whom it belonged does not prevent a widow in necessitous circumstances from claiming her marital fourth. Doucet's Succession, 13 La. Ann. 613.

94. Where a husband dies rich and without children, leaving his wife in necessitous circumstances, she may claim one fourth of all the property left by him in this state, independently of her right, as surviving spouse, to any portion of the property left by him in another state. Foster v. Ferguson, 1 La. Ann. 262. And see Connor v. Connor, 10 La. Ann. 440.

Right inchoate until accepted or claimed.— The right of a surviving husband or wife to the marital fourth in full property, where there are no children, is a personal and optional right, which remains inchoate and does not vest absolutely until accepted or claimed. It is not an inheritance and the survivor is not an heir. Justus' Succession, 44 La. Ann. 721, 11 So. 95. See also Vives' Succession, 35 La. Ann. 371; Durkin's Succession, 30 La. Ann. 669; Robertson's Succession, 28 La. Ann. 832.

Descent to heirs.— It follows that such right does not pass to the survivor's heirs where he or she has not urged it. Justus' Succession, 44 La. Ann. 721, 11 So. 95; Durkin's Succession, 30 La. Ann. 669; Robertson's Succession, 28 La. Ann. 832. But where a surviving husband claims his marital fourth in full property and then dies, the prosecution of the claim may be continued by his heirs. Piffet's Succession, 39 La. Ann. 556, 2 So. 210.

Prematurity of claim.—A survivor's claim of the marital portion is premature if made before the succession has reached a point in its settlement at which it may be shown that the deceased died rich and that the survivor is in necessitous circumstances. Vasseur v. Dupre, 8 La. Ann. 488; Duriaux v. Doiron, 9 Rob. (La.) 101; Harrell v. Harrell, 17 La. 374. Compare Shaw v. Reneau, 10 La. Ann. 190. But it is not premature if made after presentation of a final account of administration by the executor, although circumstances subsequently occurring may prevent an absolute decree fixing the precise amount. Piffet's Succession, 39 La. Ann. 556, 2 So. 210. See also Leppelman's Succession, 30 La. Ann. 468, holding that a widow's claim to the marital portion might be raised and passed upon in her opposition to the executor's account.

95. The widow takes the usufruct only where the husband leaves a child, although by a former marriage. Abercrombie v. Caffray, 3 Mart. N. S. (La.) 1.

shall receive only a child's share in usufruct,[96] and he or she is bound to include in this portion what has been left to him or her as a legacy by the husband or wife who died first.[97] Formerly the civil law was in force in Texas.[98]

11. Estoppel, Waiver, or Release of Right — a. In General. Where a wife is legally incompetent to contract with her husband she cannot be estopped by a contract made with him to release her claims on his property, or by her conveyances in pursuance of such a contract.[99] And even where she is competent to contract with him, a mere release by her to him of her right, title, and interest in certain property in dispute, although for a valuable consideration, is no bar to her right to a distributive share in his estate.[1] A waiver by a wife by a contract of all claims she might have as widow by or under the laws of one state will not bar her subsequent claim for allowance and distributive share in another state in which the parties subsequently became domiciled, unless the identity of the laws of the two states governing her rights affirmatively appears from the record.[2] A husband's right to inherit certain property at the wife's death may be waived by express agreement,[3] but ordinarily a release by a husband of his marital rights

96. The surviving spouse cannot in any case take from the succession of the deceased spouse more than a child's share. When the surviving spouse has already inherited a child's share he or she cannot take another's share as a marital portion. Derouen's Succession, 10 La. Am. 675.

97. Legacies must be included in portion. Dupuy v. Dupuy, 52 La. Ann. 869, 27 So. 287; Melançon v. His Executor, 6 La. 105. If the survivor is in necessitous circumstances independently of the legacies left him, he is not debarred from claiming the marital portion, but is merely required to include the legacies in his portion. Piffet's Succession, 39 La. Ann. 556, 2 So. 210.

An indebtedness which the survivor owed the deceased, and from which he or she has been released and discharged by the will, is not a legacy within the meaning of the statute, and is not to be deducted from the survivor's marital portion. Piffet's Succession, 39 La. Ann. 556, 2 So. 210.

98. See Babb v. Carroll, 21 Tex. 765. And see Boone v. Hulsey, 71 Tex. 176, 9 S. W. 531.

99. Pinkham v. Pinkham, 95 Me. 71, 49 Atl. 48, 85 Am. St. Rep. 392; Whitney v. Closson, 138 Mass. 49. See Husband and Wife.

"Pecuniary provision" under Maine statute.— A release by the husband to the wife of his prospective claims in her estate at her decease is not a "pecuniary provision" for her within the Maine statute (Rev. St. c. 103, §§ 8, 9), and her release to him during coverture, in consideration thereof, of her right and interest by descent in his real estate is invalid. Pinkham v. Pinkham, 95 Me. 71, 49 Atl. 48, 85 Am. St. Rep. 392.

1. Newton v. Truesdale, 69 N. H. 634, 45 Atl. 646.

Contract to facilitate divorce.— Where a husband through unfair advantage and unwarranted coercion secured the signature of his wife to a contract to facilitate the procuring of a divorce, which he desired, and by such contract succeeded in gaining her consent to take as her share a fractional part of his property, it was held that the contract was void as against public policy, and that it did not bar the wife from her right of inheritance in the property of the husband on his death. Palmer v. Palmer, 26 Utah 31, 72 Pac. 3, 61 L. R. A. 641.

Waiver of right to administer only.—Where a county judge refused to appoint a certain person administrator of a decedent's estate without a waiver of the widow's right to appointment, and she thereupon addressed a communication to the judge which recited that she waived her right to administer, and requested the appointment of such person, and added, "I also wish to receive a child's part in the division of said estate," it was held that the latter provision did not constitute a relinquishment of the right to the distributive share of decedent's estate, which she would otherwise have been entitled to. Evans v. Evans, 74 S. W. 224, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 2421.

Ignorance and undue influence.— In a Kentucky case it appeared that shortly after her husband's death, a widow, who was frail in health, unable to read or write, and in ignorance of her rights, signed a paper by which she relinquished her rights as widow in consideration of a child's share, which amounted to one seventh of the surplus personalty, and which was less than three thousand dollars, and one seventh of certain real estate. As widow she would have been entitled to one half of the surplus personalty, amounting to about ten thousand dollars, and to a life-estate in one third of the land, which was of more value than one seventh thereof in fee. The paper was intended to operate as a family settlement, but one of the heirs refused to sign the same. Under these circumstances it was held that the widow was entitled to the cancellation of such paper, and to recover her share as widow. Evans v. Evans, 74 S. W. 224, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 2421.

2. Knapp v. Knapp, 95 Mich. 474, 55 N. W. 353.

3. Leach v. Rains, 149 Ind. 152, 48 N. E. 858. See Husband and Wife. A written over his wife's separate property affects only his rights during coverture and not those as survivor.[4] The same effect will be given to the husband's relinquishment of all claim and title in the wife's property that might vest in him under the law by reason of the marriage, and if the wife dies intestate and without descendants, the surviving husband to the exclusion of the next of kin may claim the whole of her estate as sole distributee.[5]

b. Relinquishment of Right of Dower. A relinquishment by a wife of all right of dower in or out of an estate which she had or could in any way have at law or in equity will not exclude her from a share in the personal estate of her husband under the statute of distribution;[6] and it makes no difference that the release of dower right is made for full consideration, and that the personal estate is augmented by the residue of the price of the land.[7]

c. Consent That Spouse May Devise. The consent by a husband that his wife may devise her realty to her children by a former marriage does not divest his claim to marital rights in the property after her death.[8]

d. Release of Surplus by Widow in Compromise of Suit. Where a widow in her own behalf and as guardian of her children compromises a suit brought by creditors and agrees to the payment of part of their claim out of a surplus once ordered to be set apart for her and her children, and releases the administrator to that amount, she will be estopped by such release.[9]

e. Receipt of Proceeds of Sale of Husband's Realty by Widow. The mere receipt by a widow of part of the proceeds of a sale of her interest in her husband's real estate as part of the distributive share does not estop her from asserting her right as widow in the land.[10]

f. Renunciation of Inheritance by Wife. Where a statute permitted a married woman to renounce her inheritance by deed in which her husband joined, it was held that the word "inheritance" included any descendable or inheritable estate, although it may have come to her by devise,[11] and that such a relinquishment, if the deeds were properly executed, would bar the wife's inheritance if recorded within the joint lifetime of the husband and wife, although not within the time prescribed by the statute.[12]

g. Agreement by Survivor Not to Take Against Will. Where a husband not mentioned in his wife's will signs an agreement with the legatees not to take against the will and transfers to them all his interest in his wife's estate, such agreement operates to pass to them a share in a fund which subsequently becomes payable to her estate.[13]

h. Failure to Object to Probate of Will. Where a distributive share in his deceased wife's estate vests by statute in the husband on her death testate with no provisions for him in her will, his failure to object to the probate of the will or to claim such share before being entitled thereto is no abandonment of his rights.[14] statement by the husband that he resigns all right, title, and claim to his wife's personalty in the event of her death, being a declaration of intention only, and not a testamentary paper, gift, contract, release, or declaration of trust, will not defeat his right nor those of his legatees. Bair's Estate, 2 Lanc. L. Rev. 225.

4. Stewart v. Stewart, 7 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 229. See supra, III, B, 6, d.

5. Beard v. Beard, 22 W. Va. 130. See also supra, III, B, 6, d.

6. Ellmaker v. Ellmaker, 4 Watts (Pa.) 89.

7. Barber v. Hite, 39 Ohio St. 185.

8. Roach v. White, 94 Ind. 510.

9. Robbins v. Mylin, 34 N. J. Eq. 205.

10. Compton v. Pruitt, 88 Ind. 171.

11. Kottman v. Ayer, 1 Strobh. (S. C.) 552.

12. Campbell v. Moon, 16 S. C. 107. As to the acknowledgment and certificate of the wife's renunciation of her inheritance under the South Carolina statute and the recording of the same see also Williams v. Cudd, 26 S. C. 213, 2 S. E. 14, 4 Am. St. Rep. 714; Wingo v. Parker, 19 S. C. 9; McLaurin v. Wilson, 16 S. C. 402; Bruce v. Perry, 11 Rich. (S. C.) 121; Kottman v. Ayer, 1 Strobh. (S. C.) 552.

13. In re Irwin, 17 Lanc. L. Rev. 409.

14. Hayes v. Seavey, 69 N. H. 308, 46 Atl. 189 [citing Reed v. Blaisdell, 16 N. H. 194, 41 Am. Dec. 722; Cutter v. Butler, 25 N. H. 343, 57 Am. Dec. 330; Shute v. Sargent, 67 N. H. 305, 307, 36 Atl. 282].

i. Acceptance of Settlement in Lieu of Dower. Although a postnuptial settlement in lieu of dower, maintenance, and distribution be voidable at the election of the wife, yet if she claims dower and distribution after the death of her husband she must renounce the benefit of the deed.[15]

j. Effect of Agreement For Separation.[16] Where a wife, on an agreement for separation reasonable in terms and based on sufficient consideration, agrees to discharge her husband, his heirs, executors, etc., from all liability to her other than that assumed by the agreement, and such agreement is carried into effect, the wife after the husband's death is held in some jurisdictions to be barred from claiming any right in his estate,[17] especially if the agreement provides for the wife as ample maintenance as would have been awarded her by a court.[18] Elsewhere the contrary has been held on the ground of incompetency of a married woman to bind herself by such contracts, or on the ground that such contracts are illegal.[19] A mere agreement between husband and wife in contemplation of divorce, by which specific articles of property are to be held by each separately, is no bar to the rights of the surviving husband, if no divorce has in fact been granted.[20]

k. Effect of Divorce.[21] A woman who has been divorced a vinculo matrimonii, even where the fault was entirely the husband's, is not in any sense his widow, and in the absence of a statute can claim no distributive share of his estate, at least in the jurisdiction where the divorce was granted;[22] and the rule is usually the same where the divorce was granted in another jurisdiction.[23] So ordinarily a divorced husband is barred as to the property of the wife. But in New York a divorce in another state obtained by the wife is under certain circumstances not recognized, and the husband is not barred at her death from his distributive share in the wife's property within the state.[24] When by statute the wife's right of dower is preserved when she is divorced for the fault of the husband, such statute does not also entitle her to a widow's share or a right in his personal estate at his death.[25] A divorce a mensa et thoro merely does not bar a wife's rights in her husband's property on his death.[26]

l. Waiver by Delay in Making Election. An unreasonable delay on the part of the surviving wife in electing between her rights either to retain the occupancy of the homestead or to take one third of the real estate in fee has been held in Iowa to amount to a waiver of her right to take a distributive share.[27]

12. Forfeiture of Rights[28] — a. Abandonment, Adultery, and Non-Support. In the absence of statutory provision to the contrary, the fact that a wife had

15. Parham v. Parham, 6 Humphr. (Tenn.) 287.

16. Separation agreements see, generally, Husband and Wife.

17. Scott's Estate, 147 Pa. St. 102, 23 Atl. 214; Dillenger's Appeal, 35 Pa. St. 357.

18. Loud v. Loud, 4 Bush (Ky.) 453.

19. Watkins v. Watkins, 7 Yerg. (Tenn.) 283. See also Foote v. Nickerson, 70 N. H. 496, 48 Atl. 1088, 54 L. R. A. 554, holding that a contract between husband and wife, which provided that they should live separately, and which released their claims on each other's property before and after death, was illegal and void as to the separation, and therefore, being an indivisible contract, was entirely void. And see, generally, Husband and Wife.

20. Willis v. Jones, 42 Md. 422.

21. Effect of divorce see, generally, Divorce.

22. In re Ensign, 103 N. Y. 284, 8 N. E. 544, 57 Am. Rep. 717 [affirming 37 Hun 152].

23. Boyles v. Latham, 61 Iowa 174, 16 N. W. 68; Marvin v. Marvin, 59 Iowa 699, 13 N. W. 851. The divorce and remarriage of a mother before the death of her daughter intestate and without other heirs has been held to prevent her from claiming the proceeds of an insurance policy on her former husband's life, payable to the daughter, the husband having died after the daughter, as the divorce annulled the right of survivorship between husband and wife. Hecht's Estate, 9 Pa. Co. Ct. 564.

24. Matter of Degaramo, 86 Hun (N. Y.) 390, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 502.

25. Kent v. McCann, 52 Ill. App. 305; Weindel v. Weindel, 126 Mo. 640, 29 N. W. 715.

26. Hokamp v. Hagaman, 36 Md. 511.

27. Cunningham v. Gamble, 57 Iowa 46, 10 N. W. 278.

Right of election see infra, III, B, 13.

28. Forfeiture of marital portion under civil law see supra, III, B, 10.

Forfeiture of dower see Dower.

Forfeiture of right to widow's allowance see Executors and Administrators.

Murder of ancestor by heir see supra, III, A, 14.

abandoned or deserted her husband or even the fact that she abandoned him and lived in adultery does not bar her rights as surviving widow in his estate,[29] except under an early English statute as to dower.[30] And the same is true of a surviving husband's rights in his deceased wife's estate.[31] In some states, however, statutes declare a forfeiture of a surviving wife's rights in her husband's estate where she has left him and been living in adultery;[32] and there are statutes forfeiting a husband's rights in his deceased wife's property, because of his desertion of her, or his wilful neglect or refusal to support her, etc.[33]

29. Nolen v. Doss, 133 Ala. 259, 31 So. 969; Turner v. Cole, 24 Ala. 364; Gates v. Walker, 8 La. Ann. 277; Nye's Appeal, 126 Pa. St. 341, 17 Atl. 618, 12 Am. St. Rep. 873; Holbrook's Estate, 20 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 79; Adose v. Fossit, 1 Pearson (Pa.) 304; Stegall v. Stegall, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,351, 2 Brock. 256.

Contra, where a wife without cause deserted her husband and for years lived in adultery with another man, and afterward, on learning that a divorce had been obtained by her deserted husband, caused a marriage ceremony to be performed with her paramour, and continued to cohabit with him, and then, on her husband's death, sought to attack his divorce decree as void for want of proper service, and to claim his estate as surviving widow. Arthur v. Israel, 15 Colo. 147, 25 Pac. 81, 22 Am. St. Rep. 381, 10 L. R. A. 693. And see Israel v. Arthur, 18 Colo. 158, 32 Pac. 68.

30. See DOWER.

31. Vreeland v. Ryno, 26 N. J. Eq. 160.

32. See Owen v. Owen, 57 Ind. 291 (holding that the statute was not repealed by subsequent acts); Goodwin v. Owen, 55 Ind. 243; Gaylor v. McHenry, 15 Ind. 383; Hoyt v. Davis, 21 Mo. App. 235 (holding that the personal estate of a deceased husband given to the widow by statute was dower within a statute barring dower in case of abandonment and adultery); Drinkhouse's Estate, 11 Pa. Co. Ct. 96, 29 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 35.

Abandonment and "living in adultery" at time of husband's death.— A statute providing that a wife shall not share in her husband's estate if she shall have left him and shall be living at the time of his death in adultery does not apply where she has been guilty of a single act of adultery only, but if the single act was committed under circumstances showing a deep degree of abandonment, such fact may, with the other circumstances of the case, be submitted to the jury to enable them to determine as to her course of life at the time of her husband's death. Gaylor v. McHenry, 15 Ind. 383. Habitual prostitution is "living in adultery" within the meaning of the statute. Goodwin v. Owen, 55 Ind. 243. Such a statute does not apply to a wife who has been abandoned by her husband, and who has thereafter been guilty of adultery, but not for several years immediately preceding his death. Zeigler v. Mize, 132 Ind. 403, 31 N. E. 945. In order to bar her rights two things must concur: First, she must have left her husband, and second, she must have been living in adultery at the time of his death. Shaffer v. Richardson, 27 Ind. 122.

Prior desertion by husband.— The Missouri statute barring dower (held to include also the widow's share of personalty) in case the wife leaves her husband and lives with an adulterer does not apply where a wife, after her husband's desertion of her, and his pretended marriage with another, goes away and lives with an adulterer. Hoyt v. Davis, 21 Mo. App. 235. See also Payne v. Dotson, 81 Mo. 145, 51 Am. Rep. 225; McAlister v. Novenger, 54 Mo. 251.

Condonation by husband.— Desertion and adultery by the wife if condoned by the husband will not deprive her of the right to share in his estate, and a renewal of marital relations by the husband will constitute such condonation. Drinkhouse's Estate, 11 Pa. Co. Ct. 96, 29 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 35.

33. The New Hampshire statute (Laws (1879), c. 37), providing that a husband should not be entitled to an "estate by the curtesy," in any lands and tenements of his deceased wife, nor to any portion of her personal property "if he shall have willingly abandoned and absented himself from the deceased, or wilfully neglected to support and maintain her, or shall not have been heard from, in consequence of his own neglect, for the term of three years next preceding her death," related merely to the husband's estate by the curtesy in her real property and his rights in her personal property, and did not apply to the estate in fee in real property given by Gen. Laws, c. 202, § 16, to a husband where the wife dies without issue, and the husband has no estate by the curtesy. Martin v. Swanton, 65 N. H. 10, 18 Atl. 170. The present statute, however, is broader and declares that under such circumstances the husband "shall not be entitled to any interest or portion in her estate, real or personal, except such as she may have given to him in her will." Pub. St. c. 195, § 18.

Adultery and abandonment.— Under this statute mere adultery on the part of the husband does not forfeit his rights; nor does the fact that he lived in adultery for many years show an abandonment as a matter of law, but it is evidence tending to prove his intention to abandon. Clark v. Clement, 71 N. H. 5, 51 Atl. 256, holding also that the facts that the wife corresponded with the husband after knowing of his adultery, visited him at his home, and never applied for a divorce, were competent evidence on the question of abandonment.

b. Remarriage in Mistaken Belief That Spouse Is Dead. Where a woman who has been deserted by her husband remarries in the belief that he is dead, when in fact he is living, she is not thereby estopped on his death from electing to take against his will as his widow.[34]

13. Election — a. Right of Election in General.[35] In many states the statutes give a widow the right to elect between dower and a certain distributive share, and in some states a right of election is given a surviving husband. The statutes vary in the different states.[36] In Illinois if a husband or wife dies testate, leaving no child or descendants of a child, the surviving husband or wife may elect to take, in lieu of dower and of personal estate to which he or she may be entitled with such dower, absolutely, and in his or her own right, one half of all real and personal estate after payment of debts.[37] In Missouri, where the husband dies

Separation by agreement.— This statute does not apply where husband and wife agreed to live apart for a number of years, and there is no evidence that the wife ever revoked her agreement or objected to the separation, for there is in such case no abandonment. Clark v. Clement, 71 N. H. 5, 51 Atl. 256. See also Foote v. Nickerson, 70 N. H. 496, 48 Atl. 1088, 54 L. R. A. 554.

Under the Pennsylvania statute forfeiting a husband's right to his deceased wife's personal property, where from "drunkenness, profligacy, or other cause" the husband "shall neglect or refuse to provide for his wife, or shall desert her," a husband does not forfeit his right by reason of drunkenness or debauchery unless there is also proof of neglect or refusal to support the wife, or of desertion. Cremers' Estate, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 153; Hilker's Estate, 5 Pa. Co. Ct. 142, 22 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 148. The statute applies, however, where by reason of the husband's drunkenness or neglect the wife is compelled to labor and support herself and family by her labor. Hilker's Estate, 5 Pa. Co. Ct. 142, 22 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 148. And it applies to a case of wilful desertion by a husband for the prescribed period, although he has contributed to his wife's support under an order of court entered against him either with or without his consent. Birchard's Estate, 1 Pa. Dist. 185, 11 Pa. Co. Ct. 234 [affirmed in 154 Pa. St. 89, 25 Atl. 1060], holding also that a bond executed by the husband to the commonwealth in pursuance of such order of the court, in which the fact of his desertion is distinctly set forth, is sufficient evidence to support a finding by an auditor that there was such a wilful desertion as to bar the husband's claim. Where a husband left his wife surreptitiously, refused her request to return to him, sent no money to pay her expense in traveling to him, made no preparation to receive her in his new place of abode, and for twenty-one years prior to her death neglected to contribute to her support, it was held that he was not entitled to participate in the distribution of her estate. In re White, 188 Pa. St. 633, 41 Atl. 742.

If a husband compels his wife to leave him by failing to provide for her support, this amounts to an abandonment of her within the meaning of such statutes. High v. Bailey, 107 N. C. 70, 12 S. E. 45, under N. C. Code, § 1482.

34. Willis v. Jones, 42 Md. 422.

35. Election to take under or against will see WILLS.

Determination of distributive share.— Where a widow dissented to a will of her deceased husband and elected to take her distributive share, it was held that her share of the personal estate was to be determined by deducting the debts and expenses of administration from the total value of the personalty, exclusive of specific legacies, and paying to her one half of the remainder, less the amount paid for her year's support. Baptist Female University v. Borden, 132 N. C. 476, 44 S. E. 47, 1007.

Election between homestead and distributive share see infra, III, B, 13, d, (II). And see HOMESTEADS.

36. Colorado.— Crandall v. Sterling Coal Min. Co., 1 Colo. 106.

Georgia.— Truett v. Funderburk, 93 Ga. 686, 20 S. E. 260; Nosworthy v. Blizzard, 53 Ga. 668.

Illinois.— Scheible v. Rinck, 195 Ill. 636, 63 N. E. 497; Sturgis v. Ewing, 18 Ill. 176.

Iowa.— Conn v. Conn, 58 Iowa 747, 13 N. W. 51.

Massachusetts.— Mathews v. Mathews, 141 Mass. 511, 6 N. E. 776.

Missouri.— Brawford v. Wolfe, 103 Mo. 391, 15 S. W. 426; Welch v. Anderson, 28 Mo. 293.

New Hampshire.— Hunkins v. Hunkins, 65 N. H. 95, 18 Atl. 655.

South Carolina.— Glover v. Glover, 45 S. C. 51, 22 S. E. 739; Douglass v. Clarke, 4 Desauss. 143; Gray v. Givens, 2 Hill Eq. 511.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 194 et seq.

There can be no election by a widow between rights conferred by statute, unless the statute provides therefor. Hutchings v. Davis, 68 Ohio St. 160, 67 N. E. 251.

37. See Scheible v. Rinck, 195 Ill. 636, 63 N. E. 497, holding that this provision does not apply to a surviving husband who has not renounced the provision made in his wife's will within one year after probate without any child or other descendants capable of inheriting, the widow is given the right to elect to take in fee one half of his real and personal property in lieu of dower. Under the statute ancestral or collateral kindred are not descendants.[38] The widow's right to such election cannot be defeated by assailing the validity of the administrator's appointment, when such appointment is within the apparent jurisdiction of the probate court.[39] Since a widow has no dower interest in land of the husband in which she has been given a life-estate under a marriage contract, she cannot elect to take absolutely a child's part in lieu of dower therein.[40] In Maine a widow may waive a "pecuniary provision" made for her after marriage and save her right and interest by descent.[41]

b. Necessity of Election. Where the statute gives the widow the right to elect to take a certain share of the husband's estate as an alternative to other provision, but requires her to make such election within a specified time, she may by failing to make election as required forfeit the right altogether.[42] It follows from her right to such share being dependent on her election that she takes no interest in land transmissible to her heirs or devisees in case of her failure to make it.[43] A recent Georgia decision goes so far as to deny the right of dower also when the widow fails to apply therefor within the time prescribed by law, although she has already failed duly to elect to take a child's part, the result being that she has no leviable interest in the realty whatever.[44] In Missouri it is held that the widow's right to her statutory portion of personalty is absolute and requires no election on her part to confirm it;[45] but as to realty the rule seems to be similar to that stated above, and the widow who fails to make the election prescribed by the statute is given dower and deprived of her rights under an alternative provision.[46] In South Carolina, although it was held that the husband might be forced to elect between his right of curtesy in his deceased wife's land and his claim under the statute of distribution,[47] the representatives of the widow of an intestate, after her death without having claimed dower, were held in an early case entitled to the benefit of the statutory provision in lieu thereof.[48] Where a statute entitles a husband to a distributive share in his wife's estate in the absence of provision for him on her part by will, his right becomes absolute on her death without having made such provision for him, and requires of course no waiver on his part under another statute requiring a waiver of provisions made for him in the wife's will as a prerequisite.[49]

c. Who May Exercise Right of Election. It has been held in South Carolina that where a widow dies without making her election between her dower and the statutory provision in lieu thereof, election may be made by her heirs;[50] but in Missouri it was held that the right of election is a personal right and is not transmissible by descent.[51] So in Georgia it was held that where a widow died in less than one year after administration on the estate of her husband, without having (see WILLS), so as to become entitled to dower.

38. Brawford v. Wolfe, 103 Mo. 391, 15 S. W. 426.

39. Brawford v. Wolfe, 103 Mo. 391, 15 S. W. 426.

40. Payne v. Payne, 119 Mo. 174, 24 S. W. 781.

41. Pinkham v. Pinkham, 95 Me. 71, 49 Atl. 48, 85 Am. St. Rep. 392.

42. Crandall v. Sterling Coal Min. Co., 1 Colo. 106; Farmers' Banking Co. v. Key, 112 Ga. 301, 37 S. E. 447; Nosworthy v. Blizzard, 53 Ga. 668.

43. Truett v. Funderburk, 93 Ga. 686, 20 S. E. 260.

44. Farmers' Banking Co. v. Key, 112 Ga. 301, 37 S. E. 447.

45. Hasenritter v. Hasenritter, 77 Mo. 162.

46. Welch v. Anderson, 28 Mo. 293.

47. Gray v. Givens, 2 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 511.

48. Douglass v. Clarke, 4 Desauss. (S. C.) 143.

49. Adams v. Adams, 10 Metc. (Mass.) 170; Hayes v. Seavey, 69 N. H. 308, 46 Atl. 189 [citing Seaver v. Adams, 66 N. H. 142, 19 Atl. 776, 49 Am. St. Rep. 597; Cressey v. Wallace, 66 N. H. 566, 29 Atl. 842; Hall v. Smith, 59 N. H. 315; Wakefield v. Phelps, 37 N. H. 295; Probate Judge v. Robins, 5 N. H. 246]. See also WILLS.

50. Snelgrove v. Snelgrove, 4 Desauss. (S. C.) 274; Douglass v. Clarke, 4 Desauss. (S. C.) 143.

51. Welch v. Anderson, 28 Mo. 293.

elected to take a child's part of the real estate, her executor could not recover it after her death.[52] Of course a widow cannot claim an election in lieu of dower, as authorized by statute, in land in which she is not entitled to dower.[53]

d. What Constitutes an Election[54] — (I) Between Dower and Distributive Share. It was held in Illinois that allegations by the widow in legal proceedings of her ownership of a portion of the premises in fee constituted a sufficient election against dower.[55] But in Missouri the institution of a suit by her to recover dower, and her signed and sworn declaration in the petition that she thereby elected to take as dower the third part of the husband's lands were held to be no bar to her subsequent claim, made within the prescribed period, of the right to take a child's share in lieu thereof.[56] If during the time within which the widow has a right to elect against dower she sells the whole of the land, or an estate therein beyond the term of her own life, her election is made, and her conveyance will pass her distributive share.[57] And there is an election against dower if she purchases part of the real estate and joins with the other heirs at law in the deeds for other portions, and receives part of the purchase-price.[58] In Pennsylvania it was held that the widow's acceptance of a distributive share was no bar to her recovery of dower in land which the husband had aliened during his lifetime.[59] It has been held that where the question of the widow's election by conduct to take dower has once been fairly submitted to the jury and decided by them, the court will not disturb their finding on appeal.[60]

(II) Between Homestead and Distributive Share. Where a widow may take from her husband's real estate either a distributive share or the homestead for and during her life, and cannot take both, occupancy of the homestead for some years after the death of her husband will generally be regarded as an election to take it for life instead of her distributive share;[61] but such occupancy merely creates a presumption, and under some circumstances will not be considered important or controlling, as when the widow holds by the terms of a lease made to her by all the heirs.[62] This presumption will not be overcome by the fact of the widow's having begun proceedings, afterward abandoned, to have her distributive share set apart, or by the fact that she made a mortgage and a lease of her undivided interest in the land.[63] The primary right, however, is to the distributive share, and this can only be defeated when a homestead election is made.[64] The widow's allegations of her occupation of a portion of the premises

52. Beavors v. Winn, 9 Ga. 189.

53. Von Arb v. Thomas, 163 Mo. 33, 63 S. W. 94, claim by widow of remainderman who had died before the tenant for life.

54. Presumption as to election see infra, III, B, 13, f.

55. Gullett v. Farley, 164 Ill. 566, 45 N. E. 972, where a widow filed a bill for partition, alleging that she was the owner in fee of the undivided one half of land left by her husband.

56. Watson v. Watson, 28 Mo. 300.

In Montana see Dahlman v. Dahlman, 28 Mont. 373, 72 Pac. 748.

57. Brown v. Cantrell, 62 Ga. 257.

58. Avant v. Robertson, 2 McMull. (S. C.) 215.

59. Leinaweaver v. Stoever, 1 Watts & S. (Pa.) 160.

60. Avant v. Robertson, 2 McMull. (S. C.) 215.

61. Zwick v. Johns, 89 Iowa 550, 56 N. W. 665; Schlarb v. Holderbaum, 80 Iowa 394, 45 N. W. 1051; Conn v. Conn, 58 Iowa 747, 13 N. W. 51; Deboe v. Rushing, 51 S. W. 613, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 423. See also McDonald v. McDonald, 76 Iowa 137, 40 N. W. 126; Stevens v. Stevens, 50 Iowa 491; Butterfield v. Wicks, 44 Iowa 310. Compare Whited v. Pearson, 87 Iowa 513, 58 N. W. 30, 90 Iowa 488, 58 N. W. 32.

62. Robson v. Lambertson, 115 Iowa 366, 88 N. W. 943 [citing McDonald v. Young, 109 Iowa 704, 81 N. W. 155; Wold v. Berkholtz, 105 Iowa 370, 75 N. W. 329; Stephens v. Hay, 98 Iowa 37, 66 N. W. 1048; In re Franke, 97 Iowa 704, 66 N. W. 918; Blair v. Wilson, 57 Iowa 177, 10 N. W. 32].

Presumption of election see infra, III, B, 13, f.

63. Zwick v. Johns, 89 Iowa 550, 56 N. W. 665.

A devise of her share in the husband's estate by a widow who has taken possession of the homestead, but to whom her distributive share was never actually set apart, gives no distributive right in the estate, and does not amount to setting apart an interest therein. Mobley v. Mobley, 73 Iowa 654, 35 N. W. 691.

64. See Wilcox v. Wilcox, 89 Iowa 388, 56 N. W. 517 [citing Egbert v. Egbert, 85 Iowa as a homestead and of her election to take and hold it as such, made in legal proceedings, are not conclusive against her subsequent right to claim a distributive share;[65] nor is her actual occupation of the homestead during the time allowed for filing claims, if proceedings to admeasure the distributive share are duly instituted.[66] Conversely a mere election to have the distributive share set off or proceedings instituted for that purpose will not bar the right of homestead till the final order setting off the distributive share.[67] So a mere declaration by a surviving husband or wife in possession, of intention to take only a distributive share, unaccompanied by an actual setting apart thereof, does not divest the land of its homestead character nor render it liable for the decedent's debts.[68] But a binding election may be made by the widow to take the distribution share before it is set off, as when she has executed mortgages upon it, and a decree for its setting off has been entered upon her petition, even though she is still occupying the homestead as her own.[69]

e. Time of Election and Formal Requisites. In Georgia a widow is not put to an election between a child's part and dower until there is an administration upon the estate of her husband;[70] and a declaration by her before the ordinary of intention to take a child's part in lieu of dower is valid without notice to the administrator.[71] In Missouri under a statute requiring the widow's declaration of election to be filed within twelve months, the mailing of such declaration, it having subsequently miscarried, was held insufficient, and such insufficiency was not allowed to be cured by a subsequent declaration made by her after the prescribed period had elapsed.[72]

f. Presumption as to Election.[73] The failure of a widow entitled to dower or to a distributive share in the alternative to elect her dower within the allotted time, and her acts signifying acceptance of the distributive share, with the fact that the election of the latter would have been more to her advantage, may be construed as an election against her dower, and the presumption is, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, that such election was made within the proper time.[74] Her election to take her statutory alternative may be presumed from conduct as well as shown by evidence of an express exercise of the right.[75] A presumption of the widow's election against dower, especially where such election would be for her interest, will be raised by her remaining in possession of the land until her right of dower becomes barred,[76] but such presumption may be rebutted by evidence of her intention not to hold the land for herself, but for the use of herself and minor children till the youngest becomes of age, and that the land shall then be divided among all the children.[77] In the absence of evidence showing 525, 52 N. W. 478]. And see Peebles v. Bunting, 103 Iowa 489, 73 N. W. 882. See also infra, III, B, 13, f.

65. In re Lund, 107 Iowa 264, 77 N. W. 1048.

66. In re Lund, 107 Iowa 264, 77 N. W. 1048. But it had previously been held that until the distributive share has been set off, the widow, by continuing to occupy the homestead, must be regarded as having elected to take it. McDonald v. McDonald, 76 Iowa 137, 40 N. W. 126 [citing Thomas v. Thomas, 73 Iowa 657, 35 N. W. 693; Mobley v. Mobley, 73 Iowa 654, 35 N. W. 691; Darrah v. Cunningham, 72 Iowa 123, 33 N. W. 445; Holbrook v. Perry, 66 Iowa 286, 23 N. W. 671; Burdick v. Kent, 52 Iowa 583, 3 N. W. 643; Whitehead v. Conklin, 48 Iowa 478; Butterfield v. Wicks, 44 Iowa 310].

67. Hornbeck v. Brown, 91 Iowa 316, 59 N. W. 33.

68. Darrah v. Cunningham, 72 Iowa 123, 33 N. W. 445 [citing Bradshaw v. Hurst, 57 Iowa 745, 11 N. W. 672; Burdick v. Kent, 52 Iowa 583, 3 N. W. 643].

69. Wilcox v. Wilcox, 89 Iowa 388, 56 N. W. 517 [distinguishing McDonald v. McDonald, 76 Iowa 137, 40 N. W. 126]. See also Small v. Wicks, 82 Iowa 744, 47 N. W. 1031.

70. Smith v. King, 50 Ga. 192.

71. Royston v. Royston, 21 Ga. 161.

72. Allen v. Hartnett, 116 Mo. 278, 22 S. W. 717.

73. Presumption as to election between homestead and distributive share see supra, III, B, 13, d, (II).

74. Sloan v. Whitaker, 58 Ga. 319.

75. Farmers' Banking Co. v. Key, 112 Ga. 301, 37 S. E. 447. See also supra, III, B, 13, d, (II).

76. Sewell v. Smith, 54 Ga. 567. See also supra, III, B, 13, d, (II).

77. Farmers' Banking Co. v. Key, 112 Ga. 301, 37 S. E. 447.

the election of the widow to take her alternative right, the presumption is that she took her primary right,[78] and it has been held that in case of her failure to elect such alternative right within the proper time no presumption arises that she ever had any vested estate in fee in decedent's realty.[79]

g. Effect of Election — (I) In General. The rights to dower and distributive share being both legal rights, the acceptance of one, whether intended as a waiver of the other or not, is a bar both at law and in equity to a claim for the other;[80] and such election unless caused by deceptive misstatements will not be set aside.[81] But where under a statute having alternative provisions the widow is required, if she claims under one of them, to make a formal election, but no such requirement is imposed on her if she wishes to take under others, an election to take under the latter is no bar to her subsequent election to take under the former.[82] Where the widow has once elected to take money, and there is no money of the estate or evidence of debt due the decedent, she cannot claim in lieu thereof proceeds of the sale of personal property.[83] A written relinquishment by the widow of property once regularly appraised and set apart to her, and her election to take other property of equivalent value will conclude her, if all the proceedings have been regular and free from fraud.[84]

(II) To Accept Distributive Share as Barring Dower. The acceptance of the statutory alternative provision by the widow is a legal bar to her right of dower, and such acceptance may be pleaded at law as a defense to her demand therefor.[85] In South Carolina she was held to be bound both as to lands aliened by the husband and as to those of which he died seized,[86] but in Missouri as to lands aliened she was held not to be barred where the husband had at any time during the marriage a legal or equitable seizin.[87] It was held that her election of a distributive share amounted to a ratification of a conveyance taken by the husband to himself in such a way as to defraud her of the dower to which she would have been entitled,[88] but this doctrine is apparently overruled by a later decision.[89] The widow's right to revoke a binding election must depend on her affirmatively proving that she was misled as to the condition of the estate before making it.[90] An agreement made by a widow who has administered on her husband's estate to take personal property which she has purchased with the profits of the estate in lieu of dower will be binding, and on her death such property will pass to such husband's estate.[91]

78. Peebles v. Bunting, 103 Iowa 489, 73 N. W. 882. See also supra, III, B, 13, d, (II).

79. Snipes v. Parker, 98 Ga. 522, 25 S. E. 580.

80. Buist v. Dawes, 3 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 281.

In Ohio it has been recently held that there is no such inconsistency between the right of dower and the distributive share in personalty as to make the taking of one an exclusion of the other. Hutchings v. Davis, 68 Ohio St. 160, 67 N. E. 251.

81. Hornsey v. Casey, 23 Mo. 371.

82. Watson v. Watson, 28 Mo. 300.

83. Gerrity's Estate, 1 Leg. Rec. (Pa.) 214.

84. Telford v. Boggs, 63 Ill. 498, so holding where the specific property given by statute to the widow of a deceased person and relinquished by her in writing had been regularly appraised together with the other property of the estate, which she elected to take and received, and the conduct of the appraisers and administrators had been free from fraud.

85. Avant v. Robertson, 2 McMull. (S. C.) 215.

In Montana the wife's right to dower or election under Civ. Code, §§ 228 and 236, are separate from her rights as an heir of her husband under section 1852, and hence the fact that she participates in the distribution of the estate as an heir of her husband under the latter section does not waive her right to dower or the statutory substitute. Dahlman v. Dahlman, 28 Mont. 373, 72 Pac. 748.

86. Evans v. Pierson, 9 Rich. (S. C.) 9.

87. Crecelius v. Horst, 4 Mo. App. 419.

88. Crecelius v. Horst, 4 Mo. App. 419.

89. Newton v. Newton, 162 Mo. 173, 61 S. W. 881 [citing Flowers v. Flowers, 89 Ga. 632, 15 S. E. 834, 18 L. R. A. 75; Stone v. Stone, 18 Mo. 389; Davis v. Davis, 5 Mo. 183; Walker v. Walker, 66 N. H. 390, 31 Atl. 14, 49 Am. St. Rep. 616, 27 L. R. A. 799; Dickerson's Appeal, 115 Pa. St. 198, 8 Atl. 64, 2 Am. St. Rep. 547; Killinger v. Reidenhauer, 6 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 531].

90. Lavender v. Daniel, 58 S. C. 125, 36 S. E. 546.

91. Hunter v. Jones, 6 Rand. (Va.) 541.

(III) To Renounce Dower. When a widow in lieu of dower elects to take her statutory share, she thereby becomes seized in fee of an interest in the estate which can be attached in a suit against her.[92] But under such circumstances the widow taking as an heir has no claim which can prevail against an equitable right of a third person to a conveyance of the land.[93]

(IV) To Take Dower. In some states a widow entitled to dower cannot also claim a distributive share of property as to which the husband died intestate.[94] She will not be allowed to retract an election once made to take dower instead of claiming her alternative right as heir,[95] where such election has been made in the form prescribed by law,[96] unless perhaps upon grounds of equity shown to exist by evidence inherent in the circumstances or extrinsic.[97] She cannot afterward recover an interest in fee in subsequently discovered realty, although she may have dower therein;[98] nor can her representatives do so after her death, although offering to make compensation for the dower, or sum in lieu thereof, received.[99] Where the real estate of the husband has been converted into personalty in accordance with the provisions of his will, and the widow having elected dower therein has accepted the value of her interest from the proceeds, she cannot afterward claim distribution from the same proceeds or of personalty.[1]

IV. RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES OF HEIRS AND DISTRIBUTEES.

A. Nature and Establishment of Rights in General — 1. Transactions Before Death of Ancestor — a. Rights of Expectant Heirs. An expectant heir has no interest in the property until the death of the owner,[2] but agreements by heirs apparent to convey the estate which may come to them by descent have been held to be valid.[3]

b. Conveyances in Fraud of Heirs. It has often been held that equity will relieve heirs at law against a fraudulent conveyance by an ancestor.[4] Other cases,

92. Wigley v. Beauchamp, 51 Mo. 544, holding that a widow who elects to take absolutely a child's share in the lands of which her husband died seized becomes seized of an undivided interest in such lands equal to such child's share.

93. Hunkins v. Hunkins, 65 N. H. 95, 18 Atl. 655.

94. Beaty v. Richardson, 56 S. C. 173, 34 S. E. 73, 46 L. R. A. 517. Contra, Hutchings v. Davis, 68 Ohio St. 160, 67 N. E. 251.

95. Glover v. Glover, 45 S. C. 51, 22 S. E. 739; Quarles v. Garrett, 4 Desauss. (S. C.) 145; Buist v. Dawes, 3 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 281.

96. Mathews v. Mathews, 141 Mass. 511, 6 N. E. 776.

97. Buist v. Dawes, 3 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 281.

98. Hamilton v. Phillips, 83 Ga. 293, 9 S. E. 606.

99. Buist v. Dawes, 3 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 281.

1. In re Davis, 12 Ohio Cir. Dec. 29. See also In re Hutchins, 21 Ohio Cir. Ct. 720.

2. Illinois.— Hackleman v. Hackleman, 199 Ill. 84, 65 N. E. 113; Sutherland v. Sutherland, 69 Ill. 481, holding that the owner therefore may dispose of the inheritance during life, or after his death it may be exhausted by his creditors.

Indiana.— Thorne v. Cosand, 160 Ind. 566, 67 N. E. 257.

Louisiana.— Cox v. Von Ahlefeldt, 105 La. 543, 30 So. 175; Ludewig's Succession, 3 Rob. 99.

Maryland.— Sellman v. Sellman, 63 Md. 520, holding that one cannot maintain an action relative to property, his interest in which is an expectant one dependent upon a future inheritance.

Mississippi.— Winn v. Cole, Walk. 119.

Texas.— Clark v. Southern Pac. R. Co., 27 Tex. 100; Lee v. Smith, 18 Tex. 141.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," §§ 206, 207. See also II, C, 1, 3.

3. Lee v. Lee, 2 Duv. (Ky.) 134; Jenkins v. Stetson, 9 Allen (Mass.) 128; Fitch v. Fitch, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 480; Boynton v. Hubbard, 7 Mass. 112; Fitzgerald v. Vestal, 4 Sneed (Tenn.) 258. See Assignments, 4 Cyc. 15.

4. Delaware.— Dutton v. Jackson, 2 Del. Ch. 86.

Indiana.—Jennings v. Kee, 5 Ind. 257.

Louisiana.— Cox v. Von Ahlefeldt, 105 La. 543, 23 So. 959; McQueen v. Sandel, 15 La. Ann. 140; Lahauve v. Boudreau, 9 Rob. 28; Terrel v. Cropper, 9 Mart. 352, 13 Am. Dec. 309; Croizet v. Gaudet, 6 Mart. 524; Greffin v. Lopez, 5 Mart. 145. See Rogge Succession, 50 La. Ann. 1220, 23 So. 933.

South Carolina.— Sweatman v. Edmunds, 28 S. C. 58, 5 S. E. 165.

Tennessee.— Wade v. Harper, 3 Yerg. 383.

however, hold that an heir cannot attack a conveyance by his ancestor as without consideration or in fraud of his rights.[5]

c. Gifts or Donations by Ancestor. A person may dispose of his property during life by gift or donation, except in so far as he may be restricted by statute, and generally his heirs or distributees cannot attack the same;[6] but he cannot deprive forced heirs of the portion of his estate reserved for them by law except in cases where he has a just cause to disinherit them.[7]

d. Release of Expectant Share to Ancestor. According to the weight of authority the release of an expectant share to an ancestor, in consideration of an advancement or for other valuable consideration, excludes the heir from participation in the ancestor's estate at his death,[8] provided the person executing the release

Texas.— Epperson v. Mills, 19 Tex. 65. See Crain v. Crain, 21 Tex. 790.

Wisconsin.— Disch v. Timm, 101 Wis. 179, 77 N. W. 196.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 208.

5. McCleskey v. Leadbetter, 1 Ga. 551; Collins v. Pratt, 15 La. Ann. 42; Virginia v. Himel, 10 La. Ann. 185; Trahan v. Trahan, 8 La. Ann. 455; Jones v. Somerville, 78 Miss. 269, 28 So. 940, 84 Am. St. Rep. 627; Upton v. Haines, 55 N. H. 283; Rowland v. Rowland, 2 Sneed (Tenn.) 543; Richards v. Richards, 11 Humphr. (Tenn.) 429.

6. Alabama.— Gaunt v. Tucker, 18 Ala. 27, gift causa mortis.

Indiana.— Thorne v. Cosand, 160 Ind. 566, 67 N. E. 257.

Louisiana.— Bernard v. Noel, 45 La. Ann. 1135, 13 So. 737 (donation inter vivos by a wife of all of her property to her husband); Moore's Succession, 42 La. Ann. 332, 7 So. 561 (provision of code as to determining the disposable portion of succession, etc., where there are donations inter vivos); Lazare v. Jaques, 15 La. Ann. 599 (donation of immovable property void under code); Wood v. January, 15 La. Ann. 516 (meaning of father and mother in code referring to donations inter vivos or mortis causa). See also Maples v. Mitty, 12 La. Ann. 759; Miller v. Andrus, 1 La. Ann. 237; Hoa's Succession, 1 La. Ann. 142; Brittain v. Richardson, 3 Rob. 78; Terrel v. Cropper, 9 Mart. 350, 13 Am. Dec. 309. See also Grasser v. Blank, 110 La. 493, 34 So. 648.

Maine.— McLean v. Weeks, 65 Me. 411, gift of personal property by an insolvent.

Missouri.— Moore v. Moore, 67 Mo. 192, deed of gift from parent to child.

Pennsylvania.— Lewis' Estate, 139 Pa. St. 640, 22 Atl. 635, holding indorsements of interest as paid on notes a sufficient gift as against an heir objecting thereto.

Texas.— Crain v. Crain, 17 Tex. 80.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 209. And see, generally, GIFTS.

7. See Leleu v. Dooley, 48 La. Ann. 508, 19 So. 470; Scudder v. Howe, 44 La. Ann. 1103, 11 So. 824; Ball v. Ball, 42 La. Ann. 204, 7 So. 567 (action by forced heirs for reduction of donations); Moore's Succession, 40 La. Ann. 531, 4 So. 400; Spencer v. Lewis, 39 La. Ann. 316, 1 So. 671; Carroll v. Cockerham, 38 La. Ann. 813; Scott v. Briscoe, 37 La. Ann. 178; Boone v. Carroll, 35 La. Ann. 281; Guilbeau v. Thibodeau, 30 La. Ann. 1099; Barbet v. Roth, 14 La. Ann. 381; Laycock v. Bird, 13 La. Ann. 173; Tompkins v. Prentice, 12 La. Ann. 465; Louis v. Richard, 12 La. Ann. 684; Brittain v. Richardson, 3 Rob. (La.) 78; Sevier v. Teal, 33 Tex. 77; Patterson v. Gaines, 6 How. (U. S.) 550, 12 L. ed. 553. See also Wells v. Goss, 110 La. 347, 34 So. 470. Compare Grasser v. Blank, 110 La. 493, 34 So. 648. And see supra, III, A, 5.

8. Florida.— Towles v. Roundtree, 10 Fla. 299, holding, however, that a release by a son-in-law of "his" prospective share of his father-in-law's estate was not such a release as would extinguish his wife's prospective rights, and that, the wife having died before her father, it was no bar to the claim of grandchildren.

Georgia.— Barham v. McKneely, 89 Ga. 812, 15 S. E. 761; Newsome v. Cogburn, 30 Ga. 291.

Illinois.— Gary v. Newton, 201 Ill. 170, 66 N. E. 267; Wallace v. Roddick, 119 Ill. 151, 8 N. E. 801; Long v. Long, 19 Ill. App. 383; Simpson v. Simpson, 114 Ill. 603, 4 N. E. 137, 7 N. E. 287 [reversing 16 Ill. App. 170]; Kersbaw v. Kershaw, 102 Ill. 307; Galbraith v. McLain, 84 Ill. 379; Bishop v. Davenport, 58 Ill. 105.

Iowa.— Stotenburg v. Diericks, 117 Iowa 25, 90 N. W. 525; O'Connell v. O'Connell, 73 Iowa 733, 36 N. W. 764.

Kentucky.— Cushing v. Cushing, 7 Bush 259; Daniel v. Lewis, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 827. Compare Peak v. Wigginton, 11 S. W. 89, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 922, holding that deeds of release by children operated only to discharge an estate from all claims on account of payments made by the father, and that the children were entitled as heirs of their mother to their distributive shares in the land in question.

Maine.— Smith v. Smith, 59 Me. 214; Curtis v. Curtis, 40 Me. 24, 63 Am. Dec. 651.

Massachusetts.— Trull v. Eastman, 3 Metc. 121, 37 Am. Dec. 126; Kenney v. Tucker, 8 Mass. 143; Quarles v. Quarles, 4 Mass. 680.

New Jersey.— Brands v. De Witt, 44 N. J. Eq. 545, 10 Atl. 181, 14 Atl. 894, 6 Am. St. Rep. 909; Havens v. Thompson, 26 N. J. Eq. 383.

New York.— Kinyon v. Kinyon, 72 Hun 452, 25 N. Y. Suppl. 225, 31 Abb. N. Cas. 76.

North Carolina.— See Love v. Love, 38 N. C. 104.

was at the time competent to contract, and the release was not obtained by means of fraud or undue influence.[9]

e. Division of Property Among Heirs. A division of property by one among his children or other prospective heirs is generally binding upon them.[10]

2. Rights in General Upon Death of Ancestor — a. Acceptance of Estate — (I) Necessity of Acceptance. By the laws of Louisiana, on the death of a person possessed of or entitled to property, real or personal, the right to the property descends to his heirs;[11] but the heir is not obliged to accept the succession,[12] and the right does not vest (that is, become fixed and without suspense) in him until he does some act accepting the succession.[13]

(II) What Constitutes Acceptance. A simple acceptance may be either express or tacit.[14]

Pennsylvania.— Summerville's Estate, 129 Pa. St. 631, 18 Atl. 554; Powers' Appeal, 63 Pa. St. 443. See also Skinner's Appeal, 1 Mona. 439. Compare Miller's Appeal, 31 Pa. St. 337; Morris v. Carlin, 5 Pa. Dist. 714, 18 Pa. Co. Ct. 281.

West Virginia.— Coffman v. Coffman, 41 W. Va. 8, 11, 23 S. E. 523; Roberts v. Coleman, 37 W. Va. 143, 16 S. E. 482.

Compare, however, Stokesberry v. Reynolds, 57 Ind. 425 (where a gift of money by a father to a son was regarded simply as an advancement); Cass v. Brown, 68 N. H. 85, 44 Atl. 86; Needles v. Needles, 7 Ohio St. 432, 70 Am. Dec. 85; Buck v. Kittle, 49 Vt. 288; Robinson v. Robinson, Brayt. (Vt.) 59.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 213.

Necessity for agreement in writing.— Gary v. Newton, 201 Ill. 170, 66 N. E. 267; Wallace v. Roddick, 119 Ill. 151, 8 N. E. 801; Galbraith v. McLain, 84 Ill. 379; Long v. Long, 19 Ill. App. 383; Brands v. De Witt, 44 N. J. Eq. 545, 10 Atl. 181, 14 Atl. 894, 6 Am. St. Rep. 909.

Grandchildren have no right to distribution in the estate of their intestate grandfather, where their ancestor who had received an advancement from the intestate and executed a release in full of all rights and claims to such estate in consideration of the advancement died before the intestate. Simpson v. Simpson, 114 Ill. 603, 4 N. E. 137, 7 N. E. 287 [reversing 16 Ill. App. 170]; Quarles v. Quarles, 4 Mass. 680.

Advancements see infra, IV, B.

9. Bishop v. Davenport, 58 Ill. 105, holding such a release by a feme covert or a minor void.

10. Illinois.— Hackleman v. Hackleman, 199 Ill. 84, 65 N. E. 113.

Kentucky.— Rogers v. Rogers, 14 B. Mon. 108, a case in which another child was born after the date of a contract by a father to convey to two other sons.

Louisiana.— See Lacour v. Lacour, 12 La. Ann. 724, partitions under code.

Michigan.— Beardslee v. Reeves, 76 Mich. 661, 43 N. W. 677.

Ohio.— Pence v. Blackford, 11 Ohio Cir. Ct. 204, 5 Ohio Cir. Dec. 320.

South Carolina.—Bossard v. White, 9 Rich. Eq. 483.

Tennessee.— Owen v. Hancock, 1 Head 563.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 214.

11. Merrick Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900) arts. 940, 941; Womack v. Womack, 2 La. Ann. 339; Calvit v. Mulhollan, 12 Rob. (La.) 258; Le Page v. New Orleans Gas Light, etc., Co., 7 Rob. (La.) 183; Addison v. New Orleans Sav. Bank, 15 La. 527.

12. Merrick Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900) art. 977. And see Davis v. Elkins, 9 La. 135; Poultney v. Cecil, 8 La. 321; O'Donald v. Lobdell, 2 La. 299.

13. Miller v. Jones, 29 Ala. 174. And see Lumsden's Succession, 17 La. Ann. 38; Davis v. Elkins, 9 La. 135; Merrick Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900) art. 946.

14. Merrick Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900) art. 988. And see Samford v. Toadvine, 15 La. Ann. 170; McMasters v. Place, 8 La. Ann. 431; Duplessis v. White, 6 La. Ann. 514; Greig v. Muggah, 5 Rob. (La.) 473; Le Cesne v. Cottin, 2 Mart. N. S. (La.) 475; Lacey v. Ferguson, 1 McGloin (La.) 171.

The acceptance is express when the heir assumes the quality of heir in an unqualified manner in some authentic or private instrument or some judicial proceeding. Clauss v. Burgess, 12 La. Ann. 142.

The written declaration or admission of the mere capacity of heirship made by the descendants of a dead man does not of itself constitute an acceptance of his succession. Griffin v. Burris, 109 La. 216, 33 So. 201.

What constitutes a tacit acceptance see Brashear v. Conner, 29 La. Ann. 347 (institution of suit in capacity of heir); Scott v. Briscoe, 36 La. Ann. 278 (mortgaging property); Sevier v. Gordon, 29 La. Ann. 440 (proceedings for partition); Loubière v. Le Blanc, 12 La. Ann. 210 (payment of debts); Todd v. Place, 9 La. Ann. 517 (selling interest in succession to a co-heir); Gosselin v. Abat, 3 La. 549 (intermeddling). And see Stephenson v. Wilson, 7 La. Ann. 553; Gaiennie v. Thompson, 6 La. Ann. 475 (both of which were taking possession of the estate without letters of administration or other judicial proceeding); Dangerfield v. Thruston, 8 Mart. N. S. (La.) 232 (suffering judgment to be recovered against him without the benefit of an inventory or without renouncing). Compare Union Nat. Bank v. Choppin, 46 La. Ann. 629, 15 So. 304, tacit admission resulting from judgment by default.

(III) WHO MAY ACCEPT. Minor heirs need not make any formal acceptance of a succession.[15]

(IV) TIME FOR ACCEPTANCE. The faculty of accepting or renouncing a succession becomes barred by the lapse of time required for the longest prescription of the rights to immovables.[16]

(V) OPERATION AND EFFECT OF ACCEPTANCE. An acceptance relates back to the day of the opening of the succession.[17] The effect of the simple acceptance of the succession,[18] whether express or tacit, is such that when made by an heir of age it binds him to the payment of all debts of the succession, not only out of the effects which have fallen to him from the succession, but even personally, and out of his own property, as if he had himself contracted the debts or as if he was the deceased himself;[19] but the heir who accepts with the benefit of inventory[20]

What does not constitute a tacit acceptance see Burbridge v. Chinn, 34 La. Ann. 681 (purchase at tax-sale of succession property); Miltenberger v. Weems, 31 La. Ann. 259 (purchase at tax-sale of succession property); Mumford v. Bowman, 26 La. Ann. 413 (naming oneself as heir in an act disconnected with the succession); Soubiran v. Rivollet, 4 La. Ann. 328 (taking possession of personal effects with no view of gain); Gordon v. Gilfoil, 99 U. S. 168, 25 L. ed. 383 (taking possession as universal heir of community property subject to mortgage by but one of the ancestors); Walker v. Coyette, 17 Quebec Super. Ct. 288 (using property belonging to estate to defray necessary expenses of the ancestor incurred before his death).

Defaulting when cited to declare whether or not they accept or renounce will raise an inference of an unqualified acceptance. Self v. Morris, 7 Rob. (La.) 24; Picou v. Dussuau, 4 Rob. (La.) 412; Field v. Mathison, 3 Rob. (La.) 38.

Presumption of acceptance may be rebutted by showing an intention other than that of accepting the succession. Loubière v. Le Blanc, 12 La. Ann. 210.

Acceptance under the Mexican law is discussed in Blair v. Cisneros, 10 Tex. 34.

15. Merrick Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900) art. 977.

The tutor of a minor child, if opposed by creditors, may take possession of and administer a succession falling to him. Lemmon v. Clark, 36 La. Ann. 744; Soye v. Price, 30 La. Ann. 93.

Under the codes of 1808 and 1825 inheritances accruing to minors could only be accepted with the authority of the judge by the advice of a family meeting; and not purely and simply, but with the benefit of inventory. Pargoud v. Pace, 10 La. Ann. 613.

The Spanish law in force in Texas prior to its independence, relating to this question, is stated in Blair v. Cisneros, 10 Tex. 34.

16. Merrick Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900) § 1030. Thus in Waters' Succession, 12 La. Ann. 97, it is held that an heir who had permitted thirty years to elapse without having done any act showing an intention to accept his succession was barred by prescription of any right as heir. But it was held in Edwards v. Ricks, 30 La. Ann. 926, that, in the absence of renunciation, the heirs of age were presumed to accept the succession.

By "term for deliberating" is understood to mean the time given to the beneficiary heir to examine if it be for his interest to accept or reject the succession which has fallen to him. Merrick Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900) § 1033. In Lumsden's Succession, 17 La. Ann. 38, it is said that an inheritance remains without an heir and in abeyance until the rightful heir accepts or rejects it according to the provision of this article of the civil code.

Thirty days is the term given to the beneficiary heir to deliberate whether he will accept or reject the succession. Merrick Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900) art. 1050.

17. Merrick Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900) arts. 946, 947, 987.

The retroactive effect of an acceptance under the old code should not be so extended as to prejudice the rights of third persons previously acquired. Poultney v. Cecil, 8 La. 321.

As against innocent third persons, as to the effect of an acceptance of the succession by an heir, see Gardner v. Montague, 16 La. Ann. 299.

18. Demand for accounting made upon an heir who has accepted the succession of one who was a director of a corporation see Southern Mut. Ins. Co. v. Pike, 32 La. Ann. 488.

The credits belonging to the succession which has been accepted by the heirs purely and simply are ipso facto and by operation of law divided among the heirs. Plunkett's Succession, 12 La. Ann. 558.

19. Merrick Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900) § 1013.

Confusion.— Where a succession is accepted purely and simply by the heirs its liability to them is extinguished by confusion. Whitten's Succession, 9 La. Ann. 417.

The widow by accepting purely and simply the succession of her deceased husband becomes owner of the assets and liable for the debts, and loses any right of claiming the allowance accorded by law to a necessitous widow. Claudel v. Palao, 28 La. Ann. 872.

20. Effect of benefit of inventory see Merrick Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900) art. 1054.

By an inventory the heir becomes liable for the charges and debts only to the value of the effects of the succession. Murray's Suc-

may institute suits touching the succession without making himself unconditionally liable for his ancestor's debts.[21] He who has the power of accepting the entire succession cannot divide and only accept a part.[22]

b. Renunciation or Waiver of Rights. An heir may renounce his claim to the succession or waive his rights thereunder.[23]

c. Representation of Absent Heirs[24] — (1) IN GENERAL. Under the Louisiana practice, on the opening of a vacant succession, or of one of which the heirs or part of them are absent from and not represented[25] within the limits of the cession, 41 La. Ann. 1109, 7 So. 126; Merrick Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900) art. 1032. And see Le Cesne v. Cottin, 2 Mart. N. S. (La.) 475. When an inventory is made the heirs are not liable unconditionally, and confusion does not take place. Gosselin v. Abat, 3 La. 549. But although an heir accepts a succession that has fallen to him with the benefit of inventory, yet if he treats the property as his own and offers it for sale or makes sale thereof he makes himself an unconditional heir, and binds himself for the payment of the debts of the deceased. Benedict v. Bonnot, 39 La. Ann. 972, 3 So. 223.

By failure to make a correct inventory the heir loses his right as a beneficiary heir. Le Cesne v. Cottin, 2 Mart. N. S. (La.) 475.

Omission to include small articles in the inventory, if not fraudulent, does not avoid the inventory. Gosselin v. Abat, 3 La. 549.

By the Spanish law the heir who makes a fraudulent inventory must pay double the amount concealed to those entitled to any part of the succession. Casanova v. Acosta, 1 La. 179.

21. Lamm's Succession, 40 La. Ann. 312, 4 So. 53.

The heir who accepts a succession, with the benefit of an inventory, is placed nearly on the same footing with curators of vacant estates. His engagement is to administer as beneficiary heir. Lamm's Succession, 40 La. Ann. 312, 4 So. 53.

22. Merrick Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900) § 986.

No administration can be granted after acceptance. Miltenberger v. Knox, 21 La. Ann. 399. And see Beauregard v. Lampton, 33 La. Ann. 827.

Where the testator bequeaths a disposable portion to his forced heirs under certain conditions, such heirs cannot repudiate the will and its conditions and still claim the excess over its legatee. Strauss' Succession, 38 La. Ann. 55; Macias' Succession, 31 La. Ann. 127.

23. Georgia.— Alabama, etc., R. Co. v. Redding, 112 Ga. 62, 37 S. E. 91, by agreement.

Kentucky.—Haden v. Haden, 7 J. J. Marsh. 168; Kern v. Raunser, 50 S. W. 838, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1954.

Louisiana.— Merrick Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900) art. 977. And see Jacobs' Succession, 104 La. 447, 29 So. 241; James v. Meyer, 41 La. Ann. 1100, 7 So. 618; Carter v. Fowler, 33 La. Ann. 100; Cole v. Reddick, 28 La. Ann. 843; Titche v. Lee, 22 La. Ann. 435.

New Hampshire.— Farnum v. Bryant, 34 N. H. 9, waiver in writing by child of share in father's estate.

New York.— See Bennett v. Bennett, 50 N. Y. App. Div. 127, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 387, an ineffectual release.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 221.

Manner of renunciation is prescribed by statute see Merrick Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900) art. 1017. The renunciation may be shown by declaration in a judicial proceeding. Carter v. Fowler, 33 La. Ann. 100.

Relinquishment or renunciation by surviving spouse see supra, III, B, 11.

A special transfer and assignment of rights to an estate in favor of one person cannot be viewed as a renunciation, and is not a ratification of a promise to renounce. Reed v. Crocker, 12 La. Ann. 436.

Subsequent formal renunciation of heirs, if accepted, will not undo the effect of their acceptance. Clauss v. Burgess, 12 La. Ann. 142.

Revocation of renunciation.— One who renounces the succession cannot revoke the renunciation after the other heirs and legatees have accepted the succession. Hymel's Succession, 49 La. Ann. 461, 21 So. 641.

The surviving wife has thirty days within which to make a choice between renunciation and acceptance; but after this delay she still has the right of renunciation until she has been compelled by action to make the choice. Titche v. Lee, 22 La. Ann. 435.

Where the tutrix is present and renounces a community, and does not accept or renounce for the minor heirs, no citation or other notice to them is necessary. Poultney v. Cecil, 8 La. 321.

Citation to heirs is only necessary in a proceeding by creditors to administer an estate in concurso to ascertain if they will accept or renounce. Poultney v. Cecil, 8 La. 321.

24. Appointment of curators to successions in case of absent heirs or of heirs not represented see, generally, EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

25. Proof of existence of absent heirs is necessary before the appointment of such attorney. Harris' Succession, 29 La. Ann. 743; Lacey v. Newport, 3 La. Ann. 226; Robouam v. Robouam, 12 La. 73.

Where the heirs are present or represented such an attorney cannot be appointed. Rabasse's Succession, 47 La. Ann. 1452, 17 So. 867, 49 Am. St. Rep. 433. See also Addison v. New Orleans Sav. Bank, 15 La. 527.

The attorney cannot act to have the heirs recognized. The recognition must be sought contradictorily with him. Mager's Succession, 12 Rob. (La.) 413.

state,[26] it is the duty of the judge ordering inventories to be made of the effects of the succession, to appoint a counsel for the absent heirs to assist at the inventories and to otherwise represent them.[27]

(II) Compensation of Representative. The fees of attorneys for absent heirs, unless their services are proved to have been valuable to the succession,[28] should be paid out of the shares of the heirs they represent.[29]

3. Establishment and Determination of Heirship or Right to Share in Distribution — a. In General. Statutes varying greatly in the different states prescribe the jurisdiction of courts in the establishment and determination of heirship or the right to share in distribution,[30] and also prescribe the steps to be taken for

The functions of the attorney cease whenever the heirs present themselves or send their powers of attorney to claim their respective portions of the estate. Morgan's Succession, 1 Rob. (La.) 514.

26. Meaning of words "represented in the state" see Durnford's Succession, 8 Rob. (La.) 488.

27. Merrick Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900) § 1210 et seq. See also Thompson's Succession, 13 La. Ann. 263; De Lizardi's Succession, 7 Rob. (La.) 167. But see State v. Probate Judge, 18 La. 570, where a succession has been opened in another state, and a will has been ordered to be registered in Louisiana.

The object of the appointment is to guard the interests of the absent heirs, and it is his duty to oppose everything that may tend to their prejudice. Percy v. Provan, 15 La. 69.

The attorney of present heirs may be appointed to represent absent heirs. Fly v. Noble, 37 La. Ann. 667.

Collateral attack upon the capacity of the attorney so appointed is not permitted. State v. Lazarus, 37 La. Ann. 830.

The attorney's right to act commences from the date of his appointment. Mercier v. Sterlin, 5 La. 472.

The attorney is bound to show his authority and the rights of those claiming as heirs. Sibley v. Slocum, 1 Mart. N. S. (La.) 638.

The attorney needs no specific authority to institute suits under article 1213 of the civil code. Rawle v. Fennessey, 5 Mart. N. S. (La.) 11.

Money recovered by the attorney from the curator must be paid into the state treasury. Denis v. Cordeviella, 4 Mart. (La.) 654.

Where more than the law allows is bequeathed to natural children, there being an executor and the legal heirs being absent, a partition must be made and an attorney for the absent heirs appointed as well as a curator for their share when ascertained. Johnson v. Davidson, 6 Mart. (La.) 506.

Irregularity in the appointment does not necessarily vitiate the proceedings. Fly v. Noble, 37 La. Ann. 667.

Necessity of notice to the attorney see Mullen v. King, 10 La. Ann. 674.

Sufficiency of notice of appointment to the attorney see Mullen v. King, 10 La. Ann. 674.

Regularity of appointment presumed.— The appointment of an attorney for absent heirs, under the signature of the probate judge and seal of court and certificate stating that he was duly appointed, will be presumed to be regular until the contrary be shown. Michel v. Michel, 11 La. 149.

An appeal lies from an order revoking the appointment of an attorney for absent heirs. State v. Pitot, 12 Mart. (La.) 485.

The attorney cannot resign without leave of court. McMicken v. Ficklin, 1 La. 45.

The attorney does not become functus officio by the discharge of the testamentary executor. Dupre v. Reggio, 6 La. 653.

Where the court of probate appoints the attorney, such attorney cannot act in another court. Harrod v. Norris, 10 Mart. (La.) 16.

28. Florance's Succession, 36 La. Ann. 304; Cox's Succession, 32 La. Ann. 1035; Harris' Succession, 29 La. Ann. 743; Merrick Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900) art. 1219. See also Stein v. Bowman, 9 La. 281, where it is held that the fees for the attorney of absent heirs should be graduated by the value of the services rendered. But compare Rolland's Succession, 1 La. Ann. 224; Asbridge's Succession, 1 La. Ann. 206, both cases construing La. Const. (1845) art. 71.

29. Hisem v. Lemel, 19 La. 425; Aubry v. Cajus, 8 La. 43.

30. As to the jurisdiction of the courts in particular states see the following cases:

California.— More v. More, 133 Cal. 489, 65 Pac. 1044; Sheid's Estate, 122 Cal. 528, 55 Pac. 328, 129 Cal. 172, 61 Pac. 920; McDonald v. McCoy, 121 Cal. 55, 53 Pac. 421; Blythe's Estate, 112 Cal. 689, 45 Pac. 6; Burris v. Kennedy, 108 Cal. 331, 41 Pac. 458; In re Burton, 93 Cal. 459, 29 Pac. 36; Pennie v. San Francisco Super. Ct., 89 Cal. 31, 26 Pac. 617; Smith v. Westerfield, 88 Cal. 374, 26 Pac. 206; In re Jessup, 81 Cal. 408, 21 Pac. 976, 22 Pac. 742, 1028, 6 L. R. A. 594; Hitchcock v. San Francisco Super. Ct., 73 Cal. 295, 14 Pac. 872.

Louisiana.— Malone v. Casey, 25 La. Ann. 466.

Maryland.— Wilson v. McCarty, 55 Md. 277.

Minnesota.—In this state the statute (Gen. Laws (1897), c. 157) authorizes a decree of heirship upon the petition of an heir to an estate where the same has not been administered for five years after the death of an intestate, and provides for a final judgment that is conclusive upon all parties interested; and it has been held that the decree of heir-such purpose;[31] and in order that the proceedings and judgment or decree of distribution may be valid the statutory steps must be taken.[32] Distributive shares ship so provided for is within the exercise of the authority delegated to probate courts by section 7, article 6, of the state constitution, which limits their jurisdiction to the "estates of deceased persons, and persons under guardianship." Fitzpatrick v. Simonson Bros. Mfg. Co., 86 Minn. 140, 90 N. W. 378.

Mississippi.— Wells v. Smith, 44 Miss. 296, chancery courts.

New York.— The surrogate's court may inquire into the legitimacy of children. Matter of Laramie, 2 Silv. Supreme 539, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 175. But it cannot determine the right of inheritance, under the statute of descents, of heirs at law to realty, in a contested proceeding. Matter of Woodworth, 5 Dem. Surr. 156.

North Carolina.— Edwards v. Cobb, 95 N. C. 4; Hunt v. Sneed, 64 N. C. 176.

Oregon.— Hanner v. Silver, 2 Oreg. 336, no power in county courts to determine persons entitled to realty and to make partition.

Pennsylvania.— Davis' Estate, 13 Phila. 407.

Utah.— Garr v. Davidson, 25 Utah 335, 71 Pac. 481, holding that the probate court had exclusive jurisdiction to determine questions of heirship and descent where letters of administration had been issued.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 230. And see COURTS, 11 Cyc. 791.

A federal court has jurisdiction of a suit by aliens to establish their relationship to a decedent and their status as heirs, and to determine the validity of a will under which a citizen of the state claims the estate, notwithstanding the pendency of probate proceedings in the state court, and although there are other persons claiming an interest in the estate who are not parties. O'Callaghan v. O'Brien, 116 Fed. 934.

An administrator appointed by a court of one state is not subject to an action in a court of another state or jurisdiction by an heir to establish his right to a distributive share in the estate; jurisdiction to determine such right being exclusively in the courts of the state of the administration, and primarily in the court of probate. Scruggs v. Scruggs, 105 Fed. 28.

Validity of marriage.— Where the existence of a marriage as a fact has been established, the probate court or a referee has no jurisdiction to try its validity or power to treat it as a nullity. Wiser v. Lockwood, 42 Vt. 720.

Jurisdiction to admit will to probate.— In a proceeding to determine heirship under Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 1664, the court has no jurisdiction to admit an alleged will to probate. Christensen's Estate, 135 Cal. 674, 68 Pac. 112.

Jurisdiction of: Actions by heirs and distributees see infra, IV, A, 13, b. Actions between heirs and distributees see infra, IV, A, 14, b. Actions and proceedings by surviving spouse see infra, IV, A, 15, b. Actions against heirs and distributees see infra, IV, A, 16, c; IV, C, 11, f. Actions and proceedings with respect to advancements see infra, IV, B, 8, a.

31. Under the California statute (Code Civ. Proc. § 1664) see Christensen's Estate, 135 Cal. 674, 68 Pac. 112; Kasson's Estate, 127 Cal. 496, 59 Pac. 950 (right of parties to cross-examine witnesses); Sheid's Estate, 122 Cal. 528, 55 Pac. 328 (premature petition of heir, premature appeal, and right to jury trial); In re Blythe, 110 Cal. 226, 42 Pac. 641, 112 Cal. 689, 45 Pac. 6; Blythe's Estate, 108 Cal. 124, 41 Pac. 33 (right to appeal); Blythe v. Ayres, 102 Cal. 254, 36 Pac. 522 (right to appeal); Westerfield's Estate, 96 Cal. 113, 30 Pac. 1104 (time of appeal and review); In re Burton, 93 Cal. 459, 29 Pac. 36 (rights of assignees); Pennie v. San Francisco Super. Ct., 89 Cal. 31, 26 Pac. 617 (stay of proceedings on appeal); Smith v. Westerfield, 88 Cal. 374, 26 Pac. 206 (jurisdiction and time of appeal); In re Grider, 81 Cal. 571, 22 Pac. 908 (time of appeal); Oxarart's Estate, 78 Cal. 109, 20 Pac. 367; Hitchcock v. San Francisco Super. Ct., 73 Cal. 295, 14 Pac. 872 (refusal to open order adjudging default as to persons not appearing); Roach v. Coffey, 73 Cal. 281, 14 Pac. 840 (administrator cannot litigate claim of one alleged heir as against another).

Partial distribution under Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 1663 see Painter's Estate, 115 Cal. 635, 47 Pac. 700; In re Grider, 81 Cal. 571, 22 Pac. 908 (effect and conclusiveness of decree of partial distribution); In re Jessup, 81 Cal. 408, 21 Pac. 976, 22 Pac. 742, 1028, 6 L. R. A. 594.

In Minnesota, under Gen. Laws (1897), c. 157, authorizing a decree of heirship upon the petition of an heir to an estate, where the same has not been administered for five years after the death of an intestate, and providing for a final judgment that is conclusive upon all parties interested, it has been held that the words "when any person shall die intestate" in the act are to be construed liberally, and that the act applies to estates of a person who died before as well as after its enactment. Fitzpatrick v. Simonson Bros. Mfg. Co., 86 Minn. 140, 90 N. W. 378.

32. Burris v. Kennedy, 108 Cal. 331, 41 Pac. 458; Smith v. Westerfield, 88 Cal. 374, 26 Pac. 206 (time of filing petition to determine rights as distributees); Barber's Succession, 52 La. Ann. 960, 27 So. 363; Allen's Succession, 44 La. Ann. 801, 11 So. 42; Shriver v. State, 65 Md. 278, 4 Atl. 679.

In Louisiana failure of curators of vacant estates to publish the death, name, and place of birth and death of deceased as required by statute does not affect the right of the heirs to be recognized as such, and if this duty is omitted by the curators the heirs may still be recognized by complying with uncalled for are by statute in several states to be invested or paid into the public treasury until demanded.[33]

b. Limitations and Laches. Claimants cannot at common law lose their right to relief by limitation;[34] but it is otherwise in most jurisdictions by express statutory provision.[35] In equity they may lose their right to relief by laches.[36]

c. Pleading. In an action to establish one's right as heir or distributee of an estate, he must allege every fact necessary to support such right, including the fact that there are no other relatives entitled to take in preference to him.[37] the law in such cases. Mayo v. Duke, 23 La. Ann. 674.

Powers, duties, and liabilities of administrators see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

33. As to the construction and effect of such statutes see the following cases:

California.—Pyatt v. Brockman, 6 Cal. 418.

Indiana.— State v. Taggart, 88 Ind. 269.

Massachusetts.— Chase v. Thompson, 153 Mass. 14, 26 N. E. 137 (holding that the interest of a distributee in money ordered by the probate court to be paid to him, and upon his refusal to receive it deposited by the administrator in a trust company was equitable only, and could not be reached by trustee process as his property); Stockbridge's Petitioner, 145 Mass. 517, 14 N. E. 928 (ordering amount of legacy deposited in a savings bank by order of the probate court, on representation of the executors that the residence of the legatee was unknown, to be paid to his issue upon it appearing that he died before the testator).

Missouri.— In re Bomino, 83 Mo. 433, ordering payment of fund deposited on discovery and petition of heirs.

Nevada.— McMahan's Estate, 19 Nev. 241, 8 Pac. 797, premature order for payment of fund into county treasury.

New York.— People v. Chapin, 101 N. Y. 682 (holding that money of an estate paid into the state treasury under the statute, where the person entitled thereto is unknown, is not money of the state, or belonging to any of its funds or fund under its management within the constitutional prohibition against the paying out of such moneys except in pursuance of such an appropriation by law, and that upon the compliance with the requirements of the code and the production of a certified copy of an order directing payment to a claimant, it is the duty of the controller to draw his warrant therefor without such an appropriation); Koch's Estate, 15 Abb. N. Cas. 139 note (when decree should direct such payment).

Texas.—State Treasurer v. Wygall, 51 Tex. 621, as to suits by heirs against the state for assets deposited in the state treasury under the statute.

34. Arkansas.—Jones v. Jones, 28 Ark. 19; Harriet v. Swan, 18 Ark. 495.

Florida.— Amos v. Campbell, 9 Fla. 187.

Indiana.— Smith v. Calloway, 7 Blackf. 86.

North Carolina.— Woody v. Brooks, 102 N. C. 334, 9 S. E. 294; Bushee v. Surles, 77 N. C. 62.

Tennessee.— Lafferty v. Turley, 3 Sneed 157. See also Carr v. Lowe, 7 Heisk. 84; Taylor v. Walker, 1 Heisk. 734.

35. California.— In re Grider, 81 Cal. 571, 22 Pac. 908.

Georgia.— Cannon v. Lynch, 112 Ga. 660, 37 S. E. 858.

Kentucky.— Robinson v. Elam, 90 Ky. 300, 14 S. W. 84, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 271; Hargis v. Sewell, 87 Ky. 63, 7 S. W. 557, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 920.

Louisiana.— Sallier v. Rosteet, 108 La. 378, 32 So. 383; Bothick's Succession, 47 La. Ann. 613, 17 So. 198; Nolasco v. Lurty, 13 La. Ann. 100; Layre v. Pasco, 5 Rob. 9; Conrad v. Thurston, 11 La. 426.

Maryland.— Biays v. Roberts, 68 Md. 510, 13 Atl. 366.

Missouri.— State v. Grigsby, 92 Mo. 419, 5 S. W. 39.

Pennsylvania.— Blackmore v. Gregg, 2 Watts & S. 182; Chandler v. Lamborne, 2 Pa. L. J. Rep. 124, 3 Pa. L. J. 367.

Tennessee.— Alvis v. Oglesby, 87 Tenn. 172, 10 S. W. 313.

Limitation of: Actions by heirs and distributees see infra, IV, A, 13, c. Actions between heirs and distributees see infra, IV, A, 14, c. Actions and proceedings by surviving spouse see infra, IV, A, 15, c. Actions against heirs and distributees see infra, IV, A, 16, b; IV, C, 11, g. Actions and proceedings with respect to advancements see infra, IV, B, 8, e, (I).

36. Fidelity Ins., etc., Co.'s Appeal, 115 Pa. St. 157, 10 Atl. 37. Delay by heirs to assert their claim because of the belief that they were not entitled until the youngest became of age was held not to be laches. Thomas v. Armstrong, 12 Fed. 666, 4 McCrary 176. See also Sullivan v. Andoe, 6 Fed. 641, 4 Hughes 290, where under the circumstances it was held that there had been no laches in the case of foreign claimants.

37. Montgomery v. White, 11 S. W. 10, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 905, holding that in an action by collateral relatives of an intestate for property alleged to have descended to them they must allege that there are no other relatives entitled to take in preference to them, and an allegation that they are the "only heirs" of the intestate is insufficient, being a mere conclusion. See also Gardner v. Kelsoe, 80 Ala. 497, 2 So. 680; Larue v. Hays, 7 Bush (Ky.) 50; Craig v. Welch-Hackley Coal, etc., Co., 73 S. W. 1035, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 2225, 74 S. W. 1097, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 232.

Averments held sufficient.— In Rhino v. Emery, 72 Fed. 382, 18 C. C. A. 600, it was held that an averment that the blood of both

d. Presumptions and Burden of Proof. Persons claiming the right to take an estate as heirs or distributees, or through others as such, have the burden of proving the facts necessary to sustain their right,[38] including the death of the alleged intestate,[39] the relationship to him of the alleged heirs or distributees,[40] and that there are no other relatives entitled to take before them.[41] Where the claimant's the ancestors on the paternal side in the second generation, from one from whom the pleader claimed to inherit as next of kin on the mother's side, was extinct, was a sufficient averment that there was no one of the blood of such ancestors to inherit. In Boyer v. Dively, 58 Mo. 510, it was held that a petition alleging that claimants were the children of a decedent who left a will in which they were not named, and praying for distribution according to law, was sufficient, as the authority of the court to order distribution in such cases attached before any distribution of the estate, and hence it was not necessary to allege that the legacies had been paid and the estate distributed.

Pleading in: Actions by heirs and distributees see infra, IV, A, 13, e. Actions between heirs and distributees see infra, IV, A, 14, f. Actions and proceedings by surviving spouse see infra, IV, A, 15, e. Actions and proceedings with respect to advancements see infra, IV, B, 8, b.

38. Alabama.— Gardner v. Kelsoe, 80 Ala. 497, 2 So. 680; Hall v. Wilson, 14 Ala. 295.

California.— Garrity's Estate, Myr. Prob. 180.

Delaware.— Hurdle v. Stockley, 6 Houst. 447.

Iowa.— Anson v. Stein, 6 Iowa 150.

Kentucky.— Currie v. Fowler, 5 J. J. Marsh. 145; Taylor v. Whiting, 4 T. B. Mon. 364.

Louisiana.— Crouzeille's Succession, 106 La. 442, 31 So. 64; Solari v. Barras, 45 La. Ann. 1128, 13 So. 627.

Maine.— Stinchfield v. Emerson, 52 Me. 465, 83 Am. Dec. 524.

Missouri.— Daudt v. Musick, 9 Mo. App. 169.

New Hampshire.— Emerson v. White, 29 N. H. 482; Morrill v. Otis, 12 N. H. 466.

New Jersey.— Delany v. Noble, 3 N. J. Eq. 441.

Pennsylvania.—In re Ruchizky, 205 Pa. St. 105, 54 Atl. 492.

Wisconsin.— Hayward v. Ormsbee, 7 Wis. 111.

United States.—O'Callahan v. O'Brien, 116 Fed. 934.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 233.

Presumption as to intestacy see supra, II, A, 10, note 45.

Presumption and burden of proof in: Actions by heirs and distributees see infra, IV, A, 13, f. Actions between heirs and distributees see infra, IV, A, 14, g. Actions and proceedings by surviving spouse see infra, IV, A, 15, f. Actions and proceedings with respect to advancements see IV, B, 8, f.

39. Hurdle v. Stockley, 6 Houst. (Del.) 447; Taylor v. Whiting, 4 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 364; Stinchfield v. Emerson, 52 Me. 465, 83 Am. Dec. 524; Shaub v. Giffin, 84 Md. 557, 36 Atl. 443; Hayward v. Ormsbee, 7 Wis. 111. See also supra, II, A, 8.

40. Hall v. Wilson, 14 Ala. 295; Anson v. Stein, 6 Iowa 150; Currie v. Fowler, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 145; Taylor v. Whiting, 4 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 364; Emerson v. White, 29 N. H. 482; Morrill v. Otis, 12 N. H. 466.

Identity.— There is no presumption of law that one bearing the name of the son of a person seized of land is the heir or one of the heirs of a particular ancestor; but the question of identity is one of fact, to be determined by the jury upon all the circumstances, such as the identity of name, residence of the claimant, and that of the other members of the family, etc. Freeman v. Loftis, 51 N. C. 524.

Marriage.— Where a former wife admits the marriage of her husband to another, who claims property under such marriage, the burden is on her to establish the prior marriage, and that it had not been dissolved. Goldwater v. Burnside, 22 Wash. 215, 60 Pac. 409.

41. Alabama.— Gardner v. Kelsoe, 80 Ala. 497, 2 So. 680.

California.— Garrity's Estate, Myr. Prob. 180.

Illinois.— Skinner v. Fulton, 39 Ill. 484.

Iowa.— Anson v. Stein, 6 Iowa 150.

Maine.— Stinchfield v. Emerson, 52 Me. 465, 83 Am. Dec. 524.

Missouri.— Daudt v. Musick, 9 Mo. App. 169.

Nebraska.— Sorenson v. Sorenson, (1903) 94 N. W. 540.

New Hampshire.— Emerson v. White, 29 N. H. 482.

New Jersey.—Delaney v. Noble, 3 N. J. Eq. 441.

Wisconsin.— Hayward v. Ormsbee, 7 Wis. 111.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 233. And see infra, IV, A, 13, f.

Contra, Celis v. Oriol, 6 La. 403, holding that where it is proved that certain persons who claim an estate are the legal heirs of the deceased proprietor, they will be considered his only heirs unless it is shown that others exist.

In Louisiana it was held that a collateral claiming an estate need only deny that there are heirs in the descending line, and that this negative need not be proved by him; that his opponents must show that there are some, and he must then establish their death; that he must always prove the death of ascendants by evidence, or show the lapse of one hundred years from their birth, in which case their death is presumed. Miller v. McElwee, 12 La. Ann. 476; Marcos v. Barcas, 5 right to inherit depends upon the death of persons who if living are the heirs of the decedent, he has the burden of proving their death or of proving facts from which their death may be legally presumed.[42] It will generally be presumed that an intestate left heirs capable of succeeding to his estate, unless the contrary is proved.[43]

e. Admissibility of Evidence. The admissibility of evidence to prove heirship is determined of course by the general rules relating to the admissibility of evidence.[44] Declarations of the deceased are competent on the question of La. Ann. 265; Bernardine v. L'Espinasse, 6 Mart. N. S. (La.) 94; Owens v. Mitchell, 5 Mart. N. S. (La.) 667; Hooter v. Tippet, 12 Mart. (La.) 390.

42. California.— Garrity's Estate, Myr. Prob. 180, holding that evidence of inquiries at the last known residence of heirs, who appear to have removed therefrom, and not to have been heard from for a considerable time, does not furnish a basis for presumption of their death.

Delaware.— Hurdle v. Stockley, 6 Houst. 447, holding that there was no presumption of the death of certain heirs without issue from the fact that they had not been heard from for forty-five or fifty years.

Kentucky.— Martin v. Royse, 52 S. W. 1062, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 775, 54 S. W. 177, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 1353.

Louisiana.— Miller v. McElwee, 12 La. Ann. 476; Marcos v. Barcas, 5 La. Ann. 265.

Maine.— Johnson v. Merithew, 80 Me. 111, 13 Atl. 132, 6 Am. St. Rep. 162; Stinchfield v. Emerson, 52 Me. 465, 83 Am. Dec. 524.

Maryland.— Schaub v. Griffin, 84 Md. 557, 36 Atl. 443.

New York.—In re Taylor, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 960. And see McCartee v. Camel, 1 Barb. Ch. 455.

Tennessee.— See Shown v. McMackin, 9 Lea 601, 42 Am. Rep. 680.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 233.

Presumption of death see supra, II, A, 8; III, A, 6, e, (II); and, generally, DEATH.

Presumption and proof of survivorship.— Schaub v. Griffin, 84 Md. 557, 36 Atl. 443 (holding that no presumption of survivorship arises from the fact that a father was heard of at a later period than his son; and that, although one who has been absent and unheard of for seven years will be presumed to be dead, no presumption arises as to the time of his death); Ehle's Estate, 73 Wis. 445, 41 N. W. 627 (holding that those claiming real estate by descent from a person on the ground that it descended to him from his children had the burden of showing that he survived such children, all having perished in the same fire; but those claiming personal property from such person under and through his widow and children had the burden of showing that they or some of them survived him). See also, as to presumption of survivorship, supra, II, A, 11; and, generally, DEATH.

Presumption where several perish in same disaster.— Johnson v. Merithew, 80 Me. 111, 13 Atl. 132, 6 Am. St. Rep. 162. And see, generally, DEATH.

43. Illinois.— Fell v. Young, 63 Ill. 106; Chicago v. Major, 18 Ill. 349, 68 Am. Dec. 553; Pile v. McBratney, 15 Ill. 314; Harvey v. Thornton, 14 Ill. 217.

Louisiana.— See Addison v. New Orleans Sav. Bank, 15 La. 527.

Maine.— Stinchfield v. Emerson, 52 Me. 465, 83 Am. Dec. 524, holding that where title is claimed to be in a father because of the death of his son, it must be shown, not only that the son is dead, but also that he died without issue.

Missouri.— Daudt v. Musick, 9 Mo. App. 169, holding that there was no presumption that no brother or sister or their descendants were left by a man who died at the age of seventy years from the fact that he had resided in one place more than forty years before his death and that his neighbors knew nothing of his family and had never heard him speak of such relatives.

New York.— See In re Taylor, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 960.

North Carolina.— State University v. Harrison, 90 N. C. 385.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 233. Compare supra, III, A, 6, e, (II).

Evidence that a person had not been heard from for a long time and had never married, although competent on the question of whether he died leaving heirs, has been held not to raise the presumption that he left no heirs. State University v. Harrison, 90 N. C. 385. But see Shown v. McMackin, 9 Lea (Tenn.) 601, 42 Am. Rep. 680, holding that there was a presumption that one died without leaving heirs, where he had been absent for more than twenty-five years and was unmarried when last heard from. And see Hollingsworth v. Barbour, 4 Pet. (U. S.) 466, 7 L. ed. 922, holding that the presumption, if any, that a deceased person left heirs is repelled by the facts that he was a foreigner and that for twenty-five years after his death none appeared or were discovered.

44. See EVIDENCE.

Statute rendering claimant incompetent as a witness.— In Illinois the statute removing the common-law disability of a party to a suit or person interested in the event thereof to testify in his own behalf expressly provides that it shall not apply when any adverse party sues or defends as the heir of any deceased person, except when called as a witness by such adverse party so suing or defending. Rev. St. c. 51, § 2. Under this statute a complainant suing for partition of the estate of a deceased person, whose daugh-heirship.[45] A will recognizing persons as children of the testator is evidence that they are his heirs.[46] Witnesses as to heirship must testify as to facts and not give mere conclusions of law.[47]

f. Sufficiency of Evidence. To establish the right of persons claiming as heirs or distributees the evidence must be sufficient to satisfy the court that the alleged intestate is dead, that the claimants are so related to him as to be his heirs or next of kin, and also that there are no other persons entitled to take as heirs or next of kin.[48]

g. Hearing and Determination. In a proceeding to put heirs in possession of an estate issue must be joined and judgment rendered contradictorily recognizing ter and heir at law she alleges herself to be, which fact is expressly denied by the defendant heir, is incompetent to testify as to whether she is a daughter of the deceased. Crumley v. Worden, 201 Ill. 105, 66 N. E. 318. See also Laurence v. Laurence, 164 Ill. 367, 45 N. E. 1071, holding incompetent as a witness one claiming to be the common-law wife of a decedent and as such heir to part of his estate.

Evidence inadmissible to show illegitimacy see Eloi v. Mader, 1 Rob. (La.) 581, 38 Am. Dec. 192. See also BASTARDS, 5 Cyc. 659.

Evidence to prove one the widow of decedent see Stevens v. Joyal, 48 Vt. 291.

Recitals in act authorizing heirs to sell land.— Recital of the names of the minor children and heirs of a decedent in an act of the legislature authorizing them to sell their interests in land, if evidence of who they were, does not in the absence of other evidence overcome a recital in the deed that the persons named therein were at the date of its execution his only children and heirs. Scotch Lumber Co. v. Sage, 132 Ala. 598, 32 So. 607.

Unprobated will.— In a proceeding to determine heirship under Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 1664, parties whose claims are based wholly upon an asserted will of the decedent, not alleged to have been admitted to probate, cannot, while it remains unprobated, introduce evidence to prove its execution as an olographic will, or introduce the will in evidence to maintain a title founded upon it. In re Christensen, 135 Cal. 674, 68 Pac. 112.

Admissibility of evidence of paternity of an illegitimate child, including admissions, evidence as to intention of the decedent toward the mother of the child, letters of the mother, photographs, and testimony as to the christening of the child by the family name of the decedent see In re Jessup, 81 Cal. 408, 21 Pac. 976, 22 Pac. 742, 1028, 6 L. R. A. 594.

Admissibility of evidence in: Actions by heirs and distributees see infra, IV, A, 13, f. Actions between heirs and distributees see infra, IV, A, 14, g. Actions and proceedings by surviving spouse see infra, IV, A, 15, f.

45. Wise v. Wynn, 59 Miss. 588, 42 Am. Rep. 381, holding that declarations of a deceased person that he has a brother, without other proof of relationship, are inadmissible to enable his heirs to inherit from the brother, but are competent to establish the right of his brother's heirs to take from him. See also Cuddy v. Brown, 78 Ill. 415; Moffit v. Witherspoon, 32 N. C. 185; Adie v. Com., 25 Gratt. (Va.) 712. Compare Stevens v. Joyal, 48 Vt. 291.

46. Cowan v. Hite, 2 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 238.

47. Morrill v. Otis, 12 N. H. 466, holding that testimony of a witness that a decedent died without issue leaving his brother, his nephew, and his niece as his heirs at law was incompetent. See also Currie v. Fowler, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 145; Banks v. Johnson, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 649; Taylor v. Whiting, 4 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 364; Birney v. Hann, 3 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 322, 13 Am. Dec. 167; Bradford v. Erwin, 34 N. C. 291.

48. As to the sufficiency of the evidence see the following cases:

Alabama.— Gardner v. Kelsoe, 80 Ala. 497, 2 So. 680.

Delaware.— Hurdle v. Stockley, 6 Houst. 447.

Illinois.— Crumley v. Worden, 201 Ill. 105, 66 N. E. 318 (holding evidence sufficient to justify a finding that the complainant in a suit for partition of the estate of a deceased person was not a child of the body or legal heir of the deceased); Cuddy v. Brown, 78 Ill. 415 (holding proof of heirship sufficient); Skinner v. Frelton, 39 Ill. 484 (holding that proof that certain children were the only ones who survived their father did not establish their claim as his only heirs, it not being shown that none of those who died before their father left children or husbands or wives).

Iowa.— Anson v. Stein, 6 Iowa 150, holding that where a person claims as heir he must establish affirmatively his relationship with the deceased, and negatively that no other descendants exist to impede the descent to him.

Kansas.— Reville v. Dubach, 60 Kan. 572, 57 Pac. 522, holding notorious recognition of a child sufficient to establish heirship.

Kentucky.— Selman v. Lee, 6 Bush 215 (evidence held sufficient); Hopkins v. Claybrook, 5 J. J. Marsh. 234; Banks v. Johnson, 4 J. J. Marsh. 649 (holding insufficient testimony of a witness that certain persons were heirs, without stating relationship); Taylor v. Whiting, 4 T. B. Mon. 364; Birney v. Hann, 3 A. K. Marsh. 322, 13 Am. Dec. 167.

Louisiana.— O'Neil's Succession, 52 La. Ann. 1754, 28 So. 259; Seymour's Succession, 52 La. Ann. 120, 24 So. 218, 26 So. 783; their capacity, and the adjudication is a judgment in rem.[49] The mode of proceeding and the jurisdiction of the courts are regulated by statutes varying in the different states.[50] The question who are heirs of a deceased person is strictly a question of law for the court,[51] but the facts upon which the question of law arises are for the jury.[52] The effect and conclusiveness of the judgment or decree depends upon the statute in the particular jurisdiction.[53]

Maguire v. Bass, 8 La. Ann. 270; Hubbell v. Inkstein, 7 La. Ann. 252, status as widow.

Maine.— Stinchfield v. Emerson, 52 Me. 465, 83 Am. Dec. 524; Pratt v. Pierce, 36 Me. 448, 58 Am. Dec. 759, holding that marriage may be established by proof of facts from which it may be inferred.

Maryland.— Copes v. Pearce, 7 Gill 247, recognition of relationship held sufficient to establish that claimant was a half sister of an intestate. And see as to proof of survivorship Schaub v. Griffin, 84 Md. 557, 36 Atl. 443.

Missouri.— Daudt v. Musick, 9 Mo. App. 169.

New Hampshire.— Emerson v. White, 29 N. H. 482; Morrill v. Otis, 12 N. H. 466.

New Jersey.— Keavey v. Barrett, 62 N. J. Eq. 454, 49 Atl. 1073 (holding evidence sufficient to establish claimant's identity as the child of decedent, and to support an inference of legitimacy); Delany v. Noble, 3 N. J. Eq. 441.

New York.— Matter of Murray, 44 N. Y. App. Div. 640, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 676; Matter of O'Brien, 1 N. Y. App. Div. 632, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 482, holding evidence sufficient to show identity of intestate as grand aunt of claimant.

North Carolina.— Ernull v. Whitford, 48 N. C. 474; Bradford v. Erwin, 34 N. C. 291, holding that a witness' testimony that certain persons were the heirs at law of an intestate, being a mere conclusion of law, was not evidence of such fact.

Ohio.— Kendall v. Kendall, 8 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 428, 8 Cinc. L. Bul. 1, holding claim of heirship not supported by the evidence.

Pennsylvania.— In re Young, 199 Pa. St. 35, 48 Atl. 692; Sheehan's Estate, 139 Pa. St. 168, 20 Atl. 1003; Clement's Estate, 2 Pa. Dist. 341, 13 Pa. Co. Ct. 129.

South Carolina.— Keys v. Norris, 6 Rich. Eq. 388, question of marriage.

Tennessee.— Rogers v. Park, 4 Humphr. 480, holding marriage and heirship sufficiently established.

Texas.— Kaise v. Lawson, 38 Tex. 160, holding that proof of the living together of parents of claimants as man and wife was sufficient to establish heirship of the children, until the contrary should be proven.

Virginia.— Adie v. Com., 25 Gratt. 712, holding that the evidence was sufficient to establish the identity between one James Eadie of Scotland under whom plaintiffs claimed and the James Adie for the proceeds of whose estate the suit was brought.

Washington.— Goldwater v. Burnside, 22 Wash. 215, 60 Pac. 409, identity of decedent as claimant's husband.

Wisconsin.—Hayward v. Ormsbee, 7 Wis. 111.

United States.— Secrist v. Green, 3 Wall. 744, 18 L. ed. 153; McClaskey v. Barr, 47 Fed. 154; Robinson v. Taylor, 42 Fed. 803; Amory v. Amory, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 335, 6 Biss. 174. See also O'Callaghan v. O'Brien, 116 Fed. 934.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 235.

A wife claiming property under a decedent, alleged to have deserted her after marriage in a foreign country, and to have removed to the United States, cannot recover without proof identifying the deceased with her husband. Goldwater v. Burnside, 22 Wash. 215, 60 Pac. 409.

An official certificate of a foreign court reciting that a certain person within its jurisdiction has established his relationship to a decedent of Pennsylvania is prima facie evidence of such relationship on a question of distribution in the orphans' court. In re Yung, 199 Pa. St. 35, 48 Atl. 692.

Indians.— As to the heirship of one claiming to inherit from an Indian as his child and the validity of Indian marriages see Compo v. Jackson, 50 Mich. 578, 16 N. W. 295. See also INDIANS.

Sufficiency of evidence in: Actions by heirs and distributees see infra, IV, B, 13, f. Actions between heirs and distributees see infra, IV, A, 14, g. Actions and proceedings by surviving spouse see infra, IV, A, 15, f.

49. Duperier v. Berard, 107 La. 91, 31 So. 653; Lorenz's Succession, 41 La. Ann. 1091, 6 So. 886, 7 L. R. A. 265; Bonella v. Maduel, 26 La. Ann. 112.

50. See supra, IV, A, 3, a.

51. Bradford v. Erwin, 34 N. C. 291. And see Ernull v. Whitford, 48 N. C. 474.

52. Ernull v. Whitford, 48 N. C. 474.

53. Conclusiveness of judgment or decree. — The general rule is that the decree of the probate court as to who are entitled as heirs or distributees, while it will protect the administrator who makes distribution in accordance therewith, is not conclusive as against persons who are not parties and have no opportunity to be heard. Shores v. Hooper, 153 Mass. 228, 26 N. E. 846, 11 L. R. A. 308; In re Patterson, 146 N. Y. 327, 40 N. E. 990. In Sherwood v. Wooster, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 441, where, a person having died intestate in Louisiana leaving two children, one of whom had been absent and not heard of for a number of years, it was held under the statutes of Louisiana that a decision of the probate court in that state declaring the other child sole heir was not conclusive evidence of her right so as to bar the claim of the other child who subsequently appeared and claimed his share. A probate decree,

4. Title of Heirs and Distributees — a. In General. An heir taking property by descent cannot be treated as a purchaser, but merely succeeds to the rights and the possession of the ancestor, and to nothing more, and he takes subject to the rights of third parties against the ancestor.[54]

b. Real Property and Interests Therein — (i) In General. By the common law, and under the statutes in most of the states, the title to real property vests in the heir or heirs immediately on the death of the intestate,[55] subject to dower based upon the findings of a jury that a person was the daughter and sole heir of a testator who gave his estate to his heirs at law, reopening the account of the administrator with the will annexed and charging him with sums paid to supposed heirs of the testator, and authorizing her to sue the administrator's bond for his failure to account to her, is not conclusive in favor of her title to land of the estate granted by such supposed heirs to one who was not a party to the probate proceedings; and in a writ of entry brought by her against such grantee to recover the granted premises, such findings are not admissible in evidence against the tenant for any purpose. Shores v. Hooper, 153 Mass. 228, 26 N. E. 846, 11 L. R. A. 308. Under some of the statutes, however, a decree as to heirship and the persons entitled to share in an estate is final and conclusive. See Fitzpatrick v. Simonson Bros. Mfg. Co., 86 Minn. 140, 90 N. W. 378. A party to proceedings for the determination of heirship under Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 1664, is concluded by such determination, in the distribution of the estate; and where the decision of the court in such proceedings is against the claim of heirship or interest of such party in the estate, and such decision is affirmed upon his appeal therefrom, he cannot afterward be heard to affirm the contrary upon appeal from a decree of distribution of the estate. Blythe's Estate, 112 Cal. 689, 45 Pac. 6. Compare McDonald v. McCoy, 121 Cal. 55, 53 Pac. 421; In re Grider, 81 Cal. 571, 22 Pac. 908. See also Judgments.

54. Morgan v. Corbin, 21 Iowa 117; Burns v. Berry, 42 Mich. 176, 3 N. W. 924; Stewart v. Ackley, 52 Barb. (N. Y.) 283; Russell v. Roberts, 121 N. C. 322, 28 S. E. 406. See also Davenport v. Alder, 52 La. Ann. 263, 26 So. 836; Addison v. New Orleans Sav. Bank, 15 La. 527; Poydras v. Mourain, 9 La. 492; Poydras v. Taylor, 9 La. 488. And see Head v. Spier, 66 Kan. 386, 71 Pac. 833. See also supra, II, E, 1, note 94; infra, IV, A, 4, b, note 59; infra, IV, A, 16, d.

Property fraudulently conveyed.— Where property is fraudulently assigned in trust, the heirs of the beneficiary who knew of such fraud stand in no better position than the beneficiary, and since he could not maintain an action to recover the trust funds his heirs cannot maintain such an action. Stewart v. Ackley, 52 Barb. (N. Y.) 283.

Sale by ancestor without delivery.—A sale of personal property without delivery, being valid as between the parties, and void only as against bona fide purchasers and creditors, the heir of one who has sold property cannot claim the same from the purchaser because there was no delivery. Davenport v. Alder, 52 La. Ann. 263, 26 So. 836.

Where a decedent has assigned all his interest in a contract for the purchase of school lands, his heirs can claim no interest therein by descent. Kellogg v. Logan, 38 Iowa 688.

55. Alabama.— Shamblin v. Hall, 123 Ala. 541, 26 So. 285; Brown v. Mize, 119 Ala. 10, 24 So. 453; Stovall v. Clay, 108 Ala. 105, 20 So. 387; Wood v. Legg, 91 Ala. 511, 8 So. 342; Cooper v. Davison, 86 Ala. 367, 5 So. 650; Hart v. Kendall, 82 Ala. 144, 3 So. 41; Nelson v. Murfee, 69 Ala. 598; Cruikshank v. Luttrell, 67 Ala. 318; Turner v. Kelly, 67 Ala. 173; Tyson v. Brown, 64 Ala. 244; Calhoun v. Fletcher, 63 Ala. 574; Cockrell v. Coleman, 55 Ala. 583; Farmer v. Ray, 42 Ala. 125, 94 Am. Dec. 633.

Arkansas.— Chowning v. Stanfield, 49 Ark. 87, 4 S. W. 276; Stewart v. Smiley, 46 Ark. 373; Carnall v. Wilson, 21 Ark. 62, 76 Am. Dec. 351.

California.— Estep v. Armstrong, 91 Cal. 659, 27 Pac. 1091; Spotts v. Hanley, 85 Cal. 155, 24 Pac. 738; Brenhan v. Story, 39 Cal. 179; Woodworth's Estate, 31 Cal. 595; Meeks v. Hahn, 20 Cal. 620; Updegraff v. Trask, 18 Cal. 458; Farrell v. Enwright, 12 Cal. 450; Beckett v. Silover, 7 Cal. 215, 68 Am. Dec. 237.

Georgia.— Holt v. Anderson, 98 Ga. 220, 25 S. E. 496.

Illinois.— Walbridge v. Day, 31 Ill. 379, 83 Am. Dec. 227 (holding that the administrator cannot affect the title of the heirs except by a sale authorized by an order of the probate court); Buck v. Eaman, 18 Ill. 529; Smith v. McConnell, 17 Ill. 135, 63 Am. Dec. 340; Vansyckle v. Richardson, 13 Ill. 171; Smith v. Hall, 19 Ill. App. 17; McGillick v. McAllister, 10 Ill. App. 40.

Indiana.— Humphries v. Davis, 100 Ind. 369; Taylor v. Fickas, 64 Ind. 167, 31 Am. Rep. 114; Hankins v. Kimball, 57 Ind. 42.

Iowa.— Gray v. Myers, 45 Iowa 158; Kinsell v. Billings, 35 Iowa 154; Laverty v. Woodward, 16 Iowa 1.

Kentucky.— Moore v. Dodd, 1 A. K. Marsh. 140; Hatcher v. Galloway, 2 Bibb 180.

Louisiana.— Ware v. Jones, 19 La. Ann. 428; Davis v. Elkins, 9 La. 135. As to acceptance and renunciation of succession see supra, IV, A, 2.

Maine.— Walsh v. Wheelwright, 96 Me. 174, 52 Atl. 649.

Massachusetts.— Lobdell v. Hayes, 12 Gray 236.

Michigan.— Burns v. Berry, 42 Mich. 176, 3 N. W. 924; Warren v. Tobey, 32 Mich. 45.

Minnesota.— State v. Ramsey County Probate Ct., 25 Minn. 22.

of the widow, or rights of the husband as tenant by the curtesy, and to homestead

Mississippi.— Cohea v. Jemison, 68 Miss. 510, 10 So. 46; McPike v. Wells, 54 Miss. 136; Hargrove v. Baskin, 50 Miss. 194; Root v. McFerrin, 37 Miss. 17, 75 Am. Dec. 49; Pinson v. Williams, 23 Miss. 64; Bullock v. Sneed, 13 Sm. & M. 293; Campbell v. Brown, 6 How. 230. And the administrator cannot divest the title of the heirs by surrendering the deed by which the land was conveyed to their ancestor. Pinson v. Williams, 23 Miss. 64.

Nebraska.— Security Invest. Co. v. Lottridge, (1902) 89 N. W. 298; Johnson v. Colby, 52 Nebr. 327, 72 N. W. 313; Shellenberger v. Ransom, 41 Nebr. 631, 59 N. W. 935, 25 L. R. A. 564; Rakes v. Brown, 34 Nebr. 304, 51 N. W. 848.

Nevada.— Gossage v. Crown Point Gold, etc., Min. Co., 14 Nev. 153.

New Hampshire.— Lucy v. Lucy, 55 N. H. 9; Lane v. Thompson, 43 N. H. 320; Plumer v. Plumer, 30 N. H. 558.

New Jersey.— Romaine v. Hendrickson, 24 N. J. Eq. 231; Herbert v. Tuthill, 1 N. J. Eq. 141.

New York.— Hubbard v. Gilbert, 25 Hun 596; Covell v. Weston, 20 Johns. 414; Smith v. Lorillard, 10 Johns. 338.

North Carolina.— Beam v. Jennings, 89 N. C. 451; Floyd v. Herring, 64 N. C. 409; Ferebee v. Proctor, 19 N. C. 439.

Ohio.— Overturf v. Dugan, 29 Ohio St. 230.

Oregon.— King v. Boyd, 4 Oreg. 326.

Pennsylvania.— Webster v. Webster, 53 Pa. St. 161.

Tennessee.— Smith v. Thomas, 14 Lea 324; Stephenson v. Yandle, 3 Hayw. 109.

Texas.— Ackerman v. Smiley, 37 Tex. 211; Morris v. Halbert, 36 Tex. 19; Clubb v. Johnson, 11 Tex. 469.

Vermont.— Austin v. Bailey, 37 Vt. 219, 86 Am. Dec. 703; Hyde v. Barney, 17 Vt. 280, 44 Am. Dec. 335; Chipman v. Sawyer, 1 Tyler 83.

Virginia.— Tapscott v. Cobbs, 11 Gratt. 172; Trent v. Trent, Gilm. 174, 9 Am. Dec. 594.

Wisconsin.— Marsh v. Waupaca County, 38 Wis. 250; Jones v. Billstein, 28 Wis. 221.

United States.— Lindenberger v. Matlack, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,360, 4 Wash. 278.

Canada.— Spafford v. Breckenridge, 1 U. C. C. P. 492.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," §§ 239, 243.

Right of heirs to possession see infra, IV, A, 5, A.

Right of heirs to rents, profits etc., see infra, IV, A, 6.

Actions by heirs see infra, IV, A, 13, a, (II).

Non-resident alien heirs.— Since the title to real estate vests in the heirs immediately on the death of the intestate, where the statute does not enable non-resident aliens to inherit, the real estate of an intestate vests on his death in his resident heirs to the exclusion of non-resident aliens, and the latter acquire no right to the property by afterward becoming residents of the state. Farrell v. Enright, 12 Cal. 450.

Vendee's interest in land.— The interest of a vendee in land held by him under a contract of purchase is in equity regarded as real property and on his death goes to his heirs and not to his personal representative. Bowen v. Lansing, 129 Mich. 117, 88 N. W. 384, 95 Am. St. Rep. 427, 57 L. R. A. 643. See, generally, EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

A vendor's equitable lien for the purchase-money descends to his heir on his death intestate. Hanrick v. Walker, 50 Ala. 34; Reed v. Ash, 30 Ark. 775; Lavender v. Abbott, 30 Ark. 172. And see Tierman v. Beam, 2 Ohio 383, 15 Am. Dec. 557.

Interest of vendor in lands sold see supra, II, D, 2.

Where land is sold under a deed of trust after the death of the grantor, the proceeds after satisfying the debts secured are payable to the heirs of the grantor, although if it is sold before the death of the grantor such surplus goes to his personal representative. In re Thompson, 6 Mackey (D. C.) 536.

Recovery of proceeds of land wrongfully sold.— Where one who holds the legal title to land merely as security for a debt due from the real owner and after the latter's death intestate wrongfully sells and conveys the same so as to cut off the right of redemption and converts the proceeds to his own use the heir at law of the intestate, to whom the right of redemption descended, may maintain an action to recover the proceeds. Bowery Nat. Bank v. Duncan, 12 Hun (N. Y.) 405.

Fixtures.— Property affixed to the freehold goes to the heir as real property and not to the administrator. Kinsell v. Billings, 35 Iowa 154, 156, applying the rule to a sawmill built in a permanent manner and affixed to the soil, and stating the rule to be that "as between the heir and the executor or administrator the rule obtains with the greatest rigor in favor of the inheritance, and against the right to consider as a personal chattel anything which has been affixed to the freehold." And see, generally, FIXTURES.

Covenants real.— The heir has the right of action for breaches of covenants real occurring after the death of the obligee. See infra, IV, A, 4, d.

Bond for title.— Where a bond to convey title to the obligee shows that the title is in a third person, and that the obligor has never procured a conveyance of the title to the obligee, nor obtained it himself, the heir of the obligee cannot take the land by descent. Allen v. Greene, 19 Ala. 34.

Entry on public lands.— The right which a person acquires by an entry on public lands generally descends to his heirs and cannot be impaired by the administrator. Moore v. Dodd, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 140. See also supra, II, D, 3; and, generally, PUBLIC LANDS.

rights,[56] and in most jurisdictions to the debts of the intestate,[57] and to the exercise of such special powers as may be conferred upon the administrator by statute, as the right to possession and the right to sell for payment of debts, etc.[58] The heir of course succeeds to the title and interest of the intestate and to nothing more.[59]

(II) LAND DIRECTED BY TESTATOR TO BE SOLD. The title to land directed by a testator to be sold, for disposition of the proceeds to legatees or otherwise, but not devised for that purpose, vests in the testator's heirs until a sale by the executors.[60]

Confirmation of Mexican grant.— Where, after the death of the grantee of an unconfirmed Mexican grant, his heirs petitioned for and obtained a confirmation of the title to them, and a patent issued to them, it was held that they became vested with the legal title and could maintain ejectment against the purchasers of the land at a sale by the administrator under an order of the probate court. Hartley v. Brown, 51 Cal. 465.

Title of forced heirs in Louisiana see Cox v. Von Ahlefeldt, 105 La. 543, 30 So. 175.

Irregular heirs.— In Louisiana irregular heirs, such as the surviving spouse, are not considered in law as succeeding to the deceased from the instant of his death, but they have only a right of action to cause themselves to be put in possession of the succession, and proceedings to this end must be taken in the manner prescribed by law. Barber's Succession, 52 La. Ann. 960, 27 So. 363; Allen's Succession, 44 La. Ann. 801, 11 So. 42; Willis v. Elam, 28 La. Ann. 857.

Interest in land regarded as personal property see supra, II, A, 7, b.

Money and rights of action regarded as real property see supra, II, A, 7, c.

Conversion of land into personalty see supra, II, A, 7, b; and CONVERSION, 9 Cyc. 851.

Descent cast as color of title see ADVERSE POSSESSION, 1 Cyc. 1101.

56. Shamblin v. Hall, 123 Ala. 541, 26 So. 285; Farmer v. Ray, 42 Ala. 125, 94 Am. Dec. 633. See CURTESY; DOWER; HOMESTEADS.

57. Vansyckle v. Richardson, 13 Ill. 171; Flood v. Strong, 108 Mich. 561, 66 N. W. 473; Armstrong v. Loomis, 97 Mich. 577, 56 N. W. 938; State v. Ramsey County Probate Ct., 25 Minn. 22; Overturf v. Dugan, 29 Ohio St. 230 [citing Sheldon v. Newton, 3 Ohio St. 494; Ramsdall v. Craighill, 9 Ohio 197; Stiver v. Stiver, 8 Ohio 217]. See Covell v. Weston, 20 Johns. (N. Y.) 414.

58. Alabama.— Banks v. Speers, 97 Ala. 560, 11 So. 841; Sullivan v. Robb, 86 Ala. 433, 5 So. 746; Leatherwood v. Sullivan, 81 Ala. 458, 1 So. 718; Comer v. Hart, 79 Ala. 389; Nelson v. Murfee, 69 Ala. 598; Turner v. Kelly, 67 Ala. 173; McCullough v. Wise, 57 Ala. 623.

California.— Harper v. Strutz, 53 Cal. 655; Meeks v. Kirby, 47 Cal. 169; Chapman v. Hollister, 42 Cal. 462.

Illinois.— Wallbridge v. Day, 31 Ill. 379, 83 Am. Dec. 227, as to the administrator's control over and power to affect the title of the heirs.

Michigan.— Burns v. Berry, 42 Mich. 176, 3 N. W. 924.

Mississippi.— McPike v. Wells, 54 Miss. 136; Hargrove v. Baskins, 50 Miss. 194.

Nebraska.— Security Invest. Co. v. Lottridge, (1902) 89 N. W. 298; Rakes v. Brown, 34 Nebr. 304, 51 N. W. 848.

New York.— Covell v. Weston, 20 Johns. 414.

Wisconsin.— Jones v. Billstein, 28 Wis. 221.

See, generally, EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

Unconstitutional statute authorizing administrator to sell.—An act of the legislature authorizing an administrator to sell property belonging to the estate of his decedent, except in satisfaction of the lien of creditors, for the support of the family or to pay the expenses of administration is unconstitutional. Brenham v. Story, 39 Cal. 179.

59. Heirs can take no better title to real estate than their ancestor had at the time of his death, and they take subject to any encumbrances which then existed. Burns v. Berry, 42 Mich. 176, 3 N. W. 924. Where an ancestor at the time of his death has only an equity of redemption in the land in controversy, one claiming as his heir can have no legal estate in the land. Russell v. Roberts, 121 N. C. 322, 28 S. E. 406. See also supra, II, E, 1, note 94; IV, A, 4, a.

Trusts.— On the death of one who holds the title to land in trust for another, nothing but the legal estate goes to his heirs, and they hold the same for the cestui que trust. Walton v. Coulson, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,132, 1 McLean 120. And see Chowning v. Stanfield, 49 Ark. 87, 4 S. W. 276.

Election by grantee.—Where nothing passes to the grantee before election, he must make it in his lifetime, but where the estate passes by the grant the grantee's heir or executor may make it. Thus when a title bond is conditioned to convey to the obligee a given number of acres out of a certain tract of land, to be taken out of either of four corners, in a square or oblong, at the option of the grantee, the election in case of the death of the obligee passes to his executor or devisee, otherwise to the heir. Anderson v. Donelson, 1 Yerg. (Tenn.) 197.

60. California.— Estep v. Armstrong, 91 Cal. 659, 27 Pac. 1091.

Florida.— Simmons v. Spratt, 26 Fla. 448, 8 So. 123, 9 L. R. A. 343.

Massachusetts.— Greenough v. Welles, 10 Cush. 571; Fay v. Fay, 1 Cush. 93.

(III) PENDING CONTEST OF WILL. And lands devised vest in the testator's heirs at law pending a contest of the will.[61]

(IV) STATUTES REQUIRING ADMINISTRATION. In some states the statute requires administration with respect to real as well as personal property,[62] and in California, it seems, even where there are no debts administration cannot be dispensed with by consent of the heirs and conveyances between them.[63] Generally, however, where there are no debts administration may be dispensed with and the real estate as well as the personal property[64] may be divided by agreement between the heirs,[65] or the heirs may sue to recover the possession.[66] In Connecticut the statute provides for distribution of real estate under direction of the probate court, but allows the heirs to divide the same by an agreement executed and acknowledged like deeds of land, and recorded in said court.[67] In Louisiana real estate vests in the heirs at law and they may if sui juris divide it as they please.[68]

e. Personal Property — (I) IN GENERAL. At common law, and under the statutes in most of the states, the title to chattels real of an intestate[69] and to personal property generally vests in the administrator and not in the heirs or distributees, and their rights therefore must generally be enforced through administration and distribution.[70] The legal title to personal property is sus-

Mississippi.— Cohea v. Jemison, 68 Miss. 510, 10 So. 46.

New Jersey.— Romaine v. Hendrickson, 24 N. J. Eq. 231; Herbert v. Tuthill, 1 N. J. Eq. 141.

New York.— Jackson v. Schauber, 7 Cow. 187; Jackson v. Burr, 9 Johns. 104.

North Carolina.— Beam v. Jennings, 89 N. C. 451; Ferebee v. Proctor, 19 N. C. 439.

South Carolina.— Howell v. House, 2 Mill 80.

United States.— Lindenberger v. Matlock, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,360, 4 Wash. 278. See also Beadle v. Beadle, 40 Fed. 315, 2 McCrary 586.

Contra.— Richardson v. Woodbury, 43 Me. 206.

61. Floyd v. Herring, 64 N. C. 409.

62. In re Strong, 119 Cal. 663, 51 Pac. 1078; Pina's Estate, 112 Cal. 14, 44 Pac. 332; Harwood v. Marye, 8 Cal. 580; McDade v. Burch, 7 Ga. 559, 5 Am. Dec. 407. See, generally, EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

Under the Mexican law, which was at one time in force in California, on the death of an intestate, the heirs succeeded immediately to the estate, and became personally responsible for the debts of the deceased, whether the heirs were adults or minors, and no administration in the common-law sense was needed or could be had at any time. Coppinger v. Rice, 33 Cal. 408.

63. In re Strong, 119 Cal. 663, 51 Pac. 1078.

64. Distribution of personal property without administration see infra, IV, A, 4, c, (II).

65. Johnson v. Hall, 101 Ga. 687, 29 S. E. 37. But the fact that there are no debts and that the heirs have settled the estate and divided the land without an administration cannot be set up to defeat a sale under an order of the court in subsequent administration proceedings, as the order cannot be thus collaterally attacked. McDade v. Burch, 7 Ga. 559, 50 Am. Dec. 407.

66. Gossage v. Crown Point Gold, etc., Min. Co., 14 Nev. 153.

67. See Dickinson's Appeal, 54 Conn. 224, 6 Atl. 422 (holding that a division by agreement among the heirs does not preclude a decree of the probate court ordering distribution, where the division is not made, executed, and acknowledged like a deed of land and recorded, as required by the statute); Hewitt's Appeal, 53 Conn. 24, 1 Atl. 815; Holcomb v. Sherwood, 29 Conn. 418 (effect of conveyance by heir before distribution); Baxter v. Gay, 14 Conn. 119.

68. Ray v. McLain, 106 La. 780, 31 So. 315, holding that all the heirs of a testate succession, being sui juris, and being both heirs at law and testamentary heirs, may ignore the will and divide the estate as they please.

69. Hagthorp v. Hook, 1 Gill & J. (Md.) 270. But see Murray v. Cazier, 23 Ind. App. 600, 53 N. E. 476, 55 N. E. 880.

70. Alabama.— Davenport v. Brooks, 92 Ala. 627, 9 So. 153; Huddleston v. Huey, 73 Ala. 215; Costephens v. Dean, 69 Ala. 385; Lockhart v. Cameron, 29 Ala. 355; Gardner v. Gantt, 19 Ala. 666; Miller v. Eatman, 11 Ala. 609.

Arkansas.— Whelan v. Edwards, 31 Ark. 723; Pryor v. Ryburn, 16 Ark. 671; Lemon v. Rector, 15 Ark. 436.

Colorado.— Hall v. Cowles, 15 Colo. 394, 25 Pac. 705.

Connecticut.— West v. Howard, 20 Conn. 581; Roorbach v. Lord, 4 Conn. 347; Taber v. Packwood, 2 Day 52.

District of Columbia.— Robey v. Prout, 7 D. C. 81 [affirmed in 15 Wall. (U. S.) 471, 21 L. ed. 58].

Georgia.— Smith v. Turner, 112 Ga. 533, 37 S. E. 705; Thompson v. Fenn, 100 Ga. 234, 28 S. E. 39; Morgan v. Woods, 69 Ga. 599; Gouldsmith v. Coleman, 57 Ga. 425; Murphy v. Pound, 12 Ga. 278; Liptrot v. Holmes, 1 Ga. 381.

Illinois.— Hardy v. Wallis, 103 Ill. App. 141.

Indiana.— Pond v. Sweetser, 85 Ind. 144; Turner v. Campbell, 34 Ind. 317.

pended between the time of the intestate's death and the granting of letters of Iowa.— Ritchie v. Barnes, 114 Iowa 67, 86 N. W. 48; Baird v. Brooks, 65 Iowa 40, 21 N. W. 163; Haynes v. Harris, 33 Iowa 516.

Kentucky.— McChord v. Fisher, 13 B. Mon. 193; Wells v. Bowling, 2 Dana 41; Munsell v. Bartlett, 6 J. J. Marsh. 20; Sneed v. Ewing, 5 J. J. Marsh. 460, 22 Am. Dec. 41; Robertson v. McDaniel, 5 J. J. Marsh. 11; Thomas v. White, 3 Litt. 177, 14 Am. Dec. 56; Woodyard v. Threlkeld, 1 A. K. Marsh. 10; Grider v. Phœnix Brewing Co., 7 Ky. L. Rep. 594.

Maine.— Grant v. Bodwell, 78 Me. 460, 7 Atl. 12.

Maryland.— Rockwell v. Young, 60 Md. 563; Smith v. Wilson, 17 Md. 460, 79 Am. Dec. 665; Cecil v. Negro Rose, 17 Md. 92; Alexander v. Stewart, 8 Gill & J. 226; Hagthorp v. Hook, 1 Gill & J. 270; Neale v. Hagthorp, 3 Bland 551.

Massachusetts.— Pritchard v. Norwood, 155 Mass. 539, 30 N. E. 80; Lawrence v. Wright, 23 Pick. 128.

Mississippi.— Thompson v. Thomas, 30 Miss. 152; Marshall v. King, 24 Miss. 85; Browning v. Watkins, 10 Sm. & M. 482; Miller v. Womack, Freem. 486.

Missouri.— Green v. Tittman, 124 Mo. 372, 27 S. W. 391; Smith v. Denny, 37 Mo. 20; Hanenkamp v. Borgmier, 32 Mo. 569; Naylor v. Moffatt, 29 Mo. 126; Hastings v. Meyers, 21 Mo. 519; Bartlett v. Hyde, 3 Mo. 490; Jacobs v. Maloney, 64 Mo. App. 270; Adey v. Adey, 58 Mo. App. 408; McMillan v. Wacker, 57 Mo. App. 220; Becraft v. Lewis, 41 Mo. App. 546; State v. Moore, 18 Mo. App. 406; Rouggley v. Teichmann, 10 Mo. App. 257.

Nebraska.— Cox v. Yeazel, 49 Nebr. 343, 68 N. W. 483.

New Hampshire.— Champollion v. Corbin, 71 N. H. 78, 51 Atl. 674; Weeks v. Jewett, 45 N. H. 540; Tappan v. Tappan, 30 N. H. 50.

New York.— Segilken v. Meyer, 94 N. Y. 473; Palmer v. Green, 63 Hun 6, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 441; Beecher v. Crouse, 19 Wend. 306; Woodin v. Bagley, 13 Wend. 453; Rose v. Clark, 8 Paige 574.

North Carolina.— Varner v. Johnston, 112 N. C. 570, 17 S. E. 483; Davidson v. Potts, 42 N. C. 272; Whit v. Ray, 26 N. C. 14.

Ohio.— Chappelear v. Martin, 45 Ohio St. 126, 12 N. E. 448; Davis v. Corwine, 25 Ohio St. 668; Rousch v. Hundley, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 445, 3 West. L. Month. 126.

South Carolina.—Darwin v. Moore, 58 S. C. 164, 36 S. E. 539; Richardson v. Cooley, 20 S. C. 347; McVaughters v. Elder, 2 Brev. 307; Fripp v. Fripp, Rice Eq. 84; Bradford v. Felder, 2 McCord Eq. 168; Gregory v. Forrester, 1 McCord Eq. 318.

Tennessee.— Brown v. Bibb, 2 Coldw. 434; Thurman v. Shelton, 10 Yerg. 383; Trafford v. Wilkinson, 3 Tenn. Ch. 449.

Texas.— See Richardson v. Vaughan, 86 Tex. 93, 23 S. W. 640 [affirming (Civ. App. 1893) 22 S. W. 1112].

Wisconsin.— Murphy v. Hanrahan, 50 Wis. 485, 7 N. W. 436; In re Kirkendall, 43 Wis. 167.

United States.— Scruggs v. Scruggs, 105 Fed. 28; Newman v. Schwerin, 61 Fed. 865, 10 C. C. A. 129; Allen v. Simons, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 237, 1 Curt. 122.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 252 et seq. And see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

Right of heirs to possession see infra, IV, A, 5, b.

Actions by heirs see infra, IV A, 13, a, (III).

Set-off against administrator.— Neither an heir nor his assignee can set off his distributive share against a judgment in favor of the administrator. Green v. Tittman, 124 Mo. 372, 27 S. W. 391.

Presumption of former administration to protect title and possession see Woolfolk v. Beatly, 18 Ga. 520.

A leasehold interest in land is personal property and goes to the personal representative of the lessee and not to his heirs at law. Bean v. Reynolds, 15 App. Cas. (D. C.) 125. See EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

Option of lessee to purchase.— And where a right is given in a grant of a leasehold interest in land for ninety-nine years to the lessee, his executors, administrators, and assigns to purchase the fee-simple title for a specified sum at any time during the term, such right of purchase does not descend to the heirs at law of an intestate assignee of the leasehold, but passes, through the process of administration, to his personal representative, upon whom is also devolved the leasehold interest. Bean v. Reynolds, 15 App. Cas. (D. C.) 125.

Interest of heirs or representative of lessor. Where a lease gives the lessee an option to purchase, and he declares his option after the death of the lessor, it has been held that the real estate is thereby converted retrospectively into personalty as between the heir and the personal representative of the lessor, and that the personal representative is entitled to the purchase-money. Lewenstein v. Townsend, 4 Ohio Cir. Ct. 69; Lawes v. Bennett, Cox Ch. 167, 29 Eng. Reprint 1111; Townley v. Bedwell, 14 Ves. Jr. 591, 33 Eng. Reprint 648. But it has been held that this rule does not apply to a perpetual lease with an option to purchase at any time, and that in such a case, when the option is exercised after the lessor's death, the heirs of the lessor are entitled to the proceeds unless they are necessary for the payment of debts or legacies of the lessor. Loewenstein v. Townsend, 4 Ohio Cir. Ct. 69.

Vendor's interest in land sold.— The interest of a vendor in land held by the vendee under a contract of purchase is regarded in equity as personal property, and goes on the death of the vendor to his administrator and not to his heir as realty. Bowen v. Lansing, 129 Mich. 117, 88 N. W. 384, 95 Am. St. Rep. 427, 57 L. R. A. 643.

administration.[71] When the letters are granted the title of the administrator relates back to the time of the intestate's death.[72] Persons entitled as heirs or distributees acquire a vested equitable right immediately on the death of the intestate, and on distribution their title relates back to the intestate's death.[73] Personal property vests in the heirs after the time for granting letters of administration has expired.[74] And under some statutes the title to personal property of an intestate as well as real property vests in the heir immediately on the death of the intestate,[75] subject to be divested by the appointment of an administrator or by the exercise of his statutory powers or by the action of creditors.[76]

(II) WHERE ADMINISTRATION IS UNNECESSARY. In most states it is held that where there are no debts administration may be dispensed with, so that the heirs or distributees may without administration take and hold or recover personal property, or divide it among themselves by agreement.[77] It has also been held

Presumption.—It has been held that the grant of letters of administration, when necessary to vest title to personal property of a deceased person, cannot be presumed from lapse of time. Smith v. Wilson, 17 Md. 460, 79 Am. Dec. 665. But see Clay v. Clay, 13 Tex. 195.

Assent of administrator.— That the title to personal property and the right to recover the same may be vested in the heirs or distributees by the assent of the administrator see Anderson v. Irvine, 6 B. Mon. (Ky.) 231; Deatly v. Murphy, 3 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 472; Gillespie v. Gillespie, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 89. But that they acquire no title without his assent see Munsell v. Bartlett, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 20; Sneed v. Ewing, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 460, 22 Am. Dec. 41; Emerson v. Staton, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 116; Thomas v. White, 3 Litt. (Ky.) 177, 14 Am. Dec. 56; Woodyard v. Threlkeld, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 10; Miller v. Womack, Freem. (Miss.) 486; Brown v. Bibb, 2 Coldw. (Tenn.) 434. Contra, under special statute as to slaves. Brown v. Bibb, 2 Coldw. (Tenn.) 434; Elliott v. Holder, 3 Head (Tenn.) 698.

Waiver or renunciation by an administrator of his right to personal property as assets has been held sufficient to allow heirs to sue for its recovery. Hendrick v. Robinson, 7 Dana (Ky.) 165.

Interest in land regarded as personal property see supra, II, A, 7, b.

Money and rights of action regarded as real property see supra, II, A, 7, c.

Conversion of land into personalty see supra, II, A, 7, b; and CONVERSION, 9 Cyc. 851.

71. Hagthorp v. Hook, 1 Gill & J. (Md.) 270; Jewett v. Smith, 12 Mass. 309; Whit v. Ray, 26 N. C. 14 (holding that where a man dies intestate, and there is no administration on his estate, and the next of kin take possession, no legal title vests in them, however long they may possess it; but if an administrator is appointed, even after the lapse of ten years, the legal title vests in him); Rousch v. Hundley, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 445, 3 West. L. Month. 126.

72. Jahns v. Nolting, 29 Cal. 507; Pritchard v. Norwood, 155 Mass. 539, 30 N. E. 80; Lawrence v. Wright, 23 Pick. (Mass.) 128; Whit v. Ray, 26 N. C. 14; McVaughters v. Elder, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 307. And see Hardy v. Wallis, 103 Ill. App. 141. See, generally, EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

73. Perryman v. Greer, 39 Ala. 133 (holding that a distributee's interest in the estate of an intestate accrues by operation of law immediately upon the death of the intestate, and the subsequent distribution merely serves to ascertain and define, convert into a legal right, and reduce to possession, an equity which existed before in the form of the chose in action cognizable in chancery; and therefore a statute restraining a married woman's power of alienation with respect to after-acquired property did not apply to a married woman's distributive share of an estate which vested in her before the passage of the act, although there was no distribution until after its passage); Moore v. Gordon, 24 Iowa 158; Thompson v. Thomas, 30 Miss. 152 (holding therefore that the personal estate of an intestate goes to those who are his next of kin at the time of his death and not to those who are his next of kin at the time of distribution); Rose v. Clark, 8 Paige (N. Y.) 574. It follows that the share of a distributee who dies after the intestate and before distribution goes to his personal representative. See infra, IV, A, 4, d.

74. Murphy v. Murphy, 80 Iowa, 740, 45 N. W. 914; Phinny v. Warren, 52 Iowa 332, 1 N. W. 522, 3 N. W. 157; Roberts v. Messinger, 134 Pa. St. 298, 19 Atl. 625.

75. Jahns v. Nolting, 29 Cal. 507; Coldron v. Rhode, 7 Ind. 151; Ackerman v. Smiley, 37 Tex. 211; Chubb v. Johnson, 11 Tex. 469. Under a statute providing that in case of the death of a wife her slaves "shall descend and go to her children and their descendants," subject to the use of the husband during his life, without liability to his creditors, it was held that the title to slaves of a wife vested in her children immediately on her death, without any administration on her estate. McKee v. McKee, 17 Md. 352.

76. Coldron v. Rhode, 7 Ind. 151; Ackerman v. Smiley, 37 Tex. 211. See, generally, EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

77. Alabama.— McGhee v. Alexander, 104 Ala. 116, 16 So. 148; Perryman v. Greer, 39 Ala. 133.

Connecticut.— See Woodhouse v. Phelps, 51 Conn. 521.

Georgia.— McElhaney v. Crawford, 96 Ga.

that this may be done where there are debts if the creditors do not object.[78] The heirs or distributees, however, cannot, by taking possession or by agreement among themselves to settle the estate without administration, deprive creditors of the right to insist upon administration, or to hold them liable for conversion.[79]

174, 22 S. E. 895; Gouldsmith v. Coleman, 57 Ga. 425; Amis v. Cameron, 55 Ga. 449; Barron v. Burney, 38 Ga. 264; Smith v. Smith, 36 Ga. 184, 91 Am. Dec. 761 (agreement between adult and minor heirs enforceable against former); Alderman v. Chester, 34 Ga. 152; Desverges v. Desverges, 31 Ga. 753; Harris v. Seals, 29 Ga. 585; Fulton v. Smith, 27 Ga. 413; Moore v. Gleaton, 23 Ga. 142; Finch v. Finch, 14 Ga. 362; Josey v. Rogers, 13 Ga. 478 (minor heirs cannot be prejudiced); Turk v. Turk, 3 Ga. 422, 46 Am. Dec. 434.

Illinois.— McCleary v. Menke, 109 Ill. 294; People v. Abbott, 105 Ill. 588 [affirming 10 Ill. App. 62]; Lynch v. Rotan, 39 Ill. 14; Lewis v. Lyons, 13 Ill. 117.

Indiana.— Bowen v. Stewart, 128 Ind. 507, 26 N. E. 168, 28 N. E. 73; Robertson v. Robertson, 120 Ind. 333, 22 N. E. 310; Begien v. Freeman, 75 Ind. 398; Mitchell v. Dickson, 53 Ind. 110; Martin v. Reed, 30 Ind. 218.

Massachusetts.— See Robinson v. Simmons, 146 Mass. 167, 15 N. E. 558, 4 Am. St. Rep. 299, where in a suit by the administrators of a deceased partner against the surviving partner money found to be due to heirs of the deceased partner was ordered to be paid directly to them.

Michigan.— Foote v. Foote, 61 Mich. 181, 28 N. W. 90; Needham v. Gillett, 39 Mich. 574.

Minnesota.— Granger v. Harriman, 89 Minn. 303, 94 N. W. 869.

Mississippi.— Ricks v. Hilliard, 45 Miss. 359; Andrews v. Brumfield, 32 Miss. 107; Hargroves v. Thompson, 31 Miss. 211; Henderson v. Clarke, 27 Miss. 436; Kilcrease v. Shelby, 23 Miss. 161, but agreement not binding on infant distributees. And see Watson v. Byrd, 53 Miss. 480; Maxwell v. Craft, 32 Miss. 307.

Missouri.— Richardson v. Cole, 160 Mo. 372, 61 S. W. 182, 83 Am. St. Rep. 479 (holding that a court of equity will not enforce the mere legal title of an administrator, where there are no debts against the estate, in order that he may uselessly override the distributees' equitable rights); McCracken v. McCaslin, 50 Mo. App. 85.

Nevada.— Wright v. Smith, 19 Nev. 143, 7 Pac. 365, community property.

New Hampshire.— Woodman v. Rowe, 59 N. H. 453; George v. Johnson, 45 N. H. 456; Clarke v. Clay, 31 N. H. 393; Hibbard v. Kent, 15 N. H. 516. And see Langley v. Farmington, 66 N. H. 431, 27 Atl. 224, 49 Am. St. Rep. 624.

North Carolina.— Elliott v. Whedbee, 94 N. C. 115, where in a suit by an administrator against certain next of kin of the intestate, to recover life-insurance money which had been received by defendants, it was held that the latter were entitled to retain their distributive shares, the money not being necessary for the payment of debts.

Pennsylvania.— Weaver v. Roth, 105 Pa. St. 408; Walworth v. Abel, 52 Pa. St. 370; Lee v. Gibbons, 14 Serg. & R. 105.

South Carolina.— Grant v. Poyas, 62 S. C. 426, 40 S. E. 891. And see Fripp v. Fripp, Rice Eq. 84.

Tennessee.— Hurt v. Fisher, 96 Tenn. 570, 35 S. W. 1085; Christian v. Clark, 10 Lea 630. Compare Wright v. Wright, Mart. & Y. 43, where it was said that the practice of distribution by agreement among the distributees without administration should not be encouraged.

Texas.— McIntyre v. Chappell, 4 Tex. 187; Ward v. Ward, 1 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 123. See Francis v. Hall, 13 Tex. 189.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 252 et seq. And see infra, IV, A, 11, b, (II); and, generally, EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

Contra.—Davis v. Corwine, 25 Ohio St. 668; Rousch v. Hundley, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 445, 3 West. L. Month. 126.

Division of the property by agreement cannot be set up to defeat an action by an administrator to recover the property for the purpose of administration. Echols v. Barrett, 6 Ga. 443. Compare Turk v. Turk, 3 Ga. 422, 46 Am. Dec. 434.

Revocation of agency to collect debts.— Where the heirs of a deceased person authorized one of their number to collect all debts due the estate on account of a particular business conducted by the deceased in his lifetime, and to take full charge, management, and control of such business, the agreement to continue in force for one year, it was held that the contract constituted such heir the agent of all the heirs, but that they or any of them could revoke it at any time before its complete execution, and that the appointment of an administrator at the instance of one of them effected such revocation. Patterson v. Patterson, 74 Ill. App. 321.

78. Bowen v. Stewart, 128 Ind. 507, 26 N. E. 168, 28 N. E. 73. But see Allen v. Simons, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 237, 1 Curt. 122, holding that where an estate is indebted an agreement between distributees that no administration shall be taken out, and that one of them who was in possession at the time of the intestate's death shall continue to hold and manage the property for the joint benefit, will not be enforced in equity.

79. Amis v. Cameron, 55 Ga. 449; Barron v. Burney, 38 Ga. 264; Bowen v. Stewart, 128 Ind. 507, 26 N. E. 168, 28 N. E. 73. In some cases it has been held that it is competent for all the heirs of a decedent, if they are sui juris, to settle and pay the debts of the estate and divide the property among themselves without the intervention of an administrator,

d. Choses in Action — (I) In General. As a general rule the title to all choses in action belonging to an intestate at the time of his death vests, not in his heirs or distributees, but in his administrator,[80] and actions to enforce or collect the same must be brought by him.[81] It follows as a general rule that debtors of an estate cannot discharge their liability to the administrator by payment to the heirs.[82] According to the weight of authority, however, where there are no debts and no letters of administration have been granted, the heirs or distributees may take or divide and enforce choses in action of the intestate, or receive payment of and discharge the same.[83]

(II) Covenants Real. Upon covenants real the heir and not the administrator has the right of action for breaches after the death of the obligee, but for breaches in the lifetime of the obligee the right of action is in the administrator.[84]

e. Distributive Shares and Legacies of Persons Dying Before Distribution. Since the right to personal property vests in the persons entitled as distributees at the time of the intestate's death, and the legal title on distribution relates back to such time,[85] if a person entitled as distributee dies before distribution, his share goes to his personal representative, and not to the other person or persons entitled and that neither debtors nor creditors of the estate have a right to complain. Babbitt v. Bowen, 32 Vt. 437; Taylor v. Phillips, 30 Vt. 238.

Claim for libel.— It has been held that where, pending an action for libel, defendant therein dies intestate, the claim of plaintiff, even if meritorious, is not such a "debt" against the estate of the decedent as will prevent his widow as sole heir at law from taking possession of his estate without administration. McElhaney v. Crawford, 96 Ga. 174, 22 S. E. 895.

80. Arkansas.— McCustian v. Ramey, 33 Ark. 141.

Massachusetts.— Pritchard v. Norwood, 155 Mass. 539, 30 N. E. 80.

Missouri.— Jacobs v. Maloney, 64 Mo. App. 270.

Nebraska.— Cox v. Yeazel, 49 Nebr. 343, 68 N. W. 483.

Ohio.— Chappelear v. Martin, 45 Ohio St. 126, 12 N. E. 448.

Wisconsin.— Murphy v. Hanrahan, 50 Wis. 485, 7 N. W. 436.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 253; and infra, IV, A, 13, a, (IV). And see, generally, Executors and Administrators.

Substitution of new note.— Before administration on the estate of the payee, an heir cannot take a new note in exchange for notes due the decedent since there is no one to assent for the payee, and therefore the old notes remain in force and the new one is without consideration. Jacobs v. Maloney, 64 Mo. App. 270.

81. See infra, IV, A, 13, a, (IV).

82. McCustian v. Ramey, 33 Ark. 141; Chappelear v. Martin, 45 Ohio St. 126, 12 N. E. 448. See, generally, Executors and Administrators.

83. Alabama.— Wright v. Robinson, 94 Ala. 479, 10 So. 319; Cooper v. Davison, 86 Ala. 367, 5 So. 650; Carter v. Owens, 41 Ala. 217; Vanzant v. Morris, 25 Ala. 285.

Arkansas.— See Sanders v. Moore, 52 Ark. 376, 12 S. W. 783.

Illinois.— People v. Abbott, 105 Ill. 588 [affirming 10 Ill. App. 62]. But compare Leamon v. McCubbin, 82 Ill. 263.

Indiana.— Robertson v. Robertson, 120 Ind. 333, 22 N. E. 310; Begien v. Freeman, 75 Ind. 398; Moore v. Monroe County, 59 Ind. 516; Schneider v. Piessner, 54 Ind. 524; Mitchell v. Dickson, 53 Ind. 110; Martin v. Reed, 30 Ind. 218.

Michigan.— Foote v. Foote, 61 Mich. 181, 28 N. W. 90, receipt of payment of note.

Minnesota.— Granger v. Harriman, 89 Minn. 303, 94 N. W. 869; Vail v. Anderson, 61 Minn. 552, 64 N. W. 47, payment of debt due intestate to sole heir and distributee, where the remainder of the estate was sufficient to meet all claims against it.

New Hampshire.— See Langley v. Farmington, 66 N. H. 431, 27 Atl. 224, 49 Am. St. Rep. 624, payment of note.

Pennsylvania.—Weaver v. Roth, 105 Pa. St. 408.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 255; and infra, IV, A, 13, a, (IV). And see, generally, Executors and Administrators.

Contra.— Rousch v. Hundley, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 445, 3 West. L. Month. 126; Murphy v. Hanrahan, 50 Wis. 485, 7 N. W. 436.

84. Frink v. Bellis, 33 Ind. 135, 5 Am. Rep. 193 (covenant against encumbrances in deed of conveyance to ancestor); Hatcher v. Galloway, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 180; Abney v. Brownlee, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 170. See Hubbard v. Gilbert, 25 Hun (N. Y.) 596; Talbot v. Bedford, Cooke (Tenn.) 447. See Covenants, 11 Cyc. 1080 et seq. And see, generally, Executors and Administrators.

A covenant to convey land is a covenant real within this rule. Hatcher v. Galloway, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 180; Abney v. Brownlee, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 170.

85. See supra, IV, A, 4, c, (I).

as distributees.[86] The right to such share, being a chose in action and personalty, vests in the administrator of the deceased distributee, and not in his heirs or distributees, and it should not be paid directly to them, nor can an action to recover the same be maintained by them,[87] except under special circumstances, as is elsewhere explained.[88] The same is true of the right to a legacy on the death of the legatee before distribution.[89] In such cases therefore the administrator of the deceased distributee or legatee is a necessary party to proceedings for settlement of the estate.[90]

5. Possession and Control of Property — a. Real Property. At common law and under the statutes in many states the heirs of an intestate, to whom the title descends, and not the administrator, are entitled to the possession of the same immediately upon the intestate's death.[91] Where a will directs land to be sold but

86. Alabama.— See McMullen v. Brazelton, 81 Ala. 442, 1 So. 778.

Connecticut.— Kingsbury v. Scovill, 26 Conn. 349, death of widow of intestate before distribution. And see Hartford County Bank v. Waterman, 26 Conn. 348. Contra, by express statutory provision in case of a minor child's death before marriage and before disposition of the estate. In re North, 48 Conn. 583; Terry's Appeal, 28 Conn. 339.

Iowa.— Moore v. Gordon, 24 Iowa 158.

Massachusetts.— Hayward v. Hayward, 20 Pick. 517; Foster v. Fifield, 20 Pick. 67.

Mississippi.—Thompson v. Thomas, 30 Miss. 152.

New York.— Rose v. Clark, 8 Paige 574; Howland v. Heckscher, 3 Sandf. Ch. 519.

Effect of death of surviving spouse before distribution see supra, III, B, 3.

87. Arkansas.— George v. Elms, 46 Ark. 260, holding that the heirs of a deceased heir could not sue on the administrator's bond for the distributive share of the deceased heir, the proper party to sue being the deceased heir's administrator.

Iowa.— Rhodes v. Stout, 26 Iowa 313.

Maine.— Grant v. Bodwell, 78 Me. 460, 7 Atl. 12.

Maryland.— Schaub v. Griffin, 84 Md. 557, 36 Atl. 443; Duvall v. Harwood, 1 Harr. & G. 474.

Mississippi.— See Maxwell v. Craft, 32 Miss. 307.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 260.

88. Maxwell v. Craft, 32 Miss. 307 (holding that if a distributee dies before receiving his distributive share, leaving the same heirs as the intestate, and owing no debts, and owning no property but such distributive share, distribution of his estate ought to be made directly to his heirs and not to an administrator); Hurt v. Fisher, 96 Tenn. 570, 35 S. W. 1085 (bill by heir of deceased distributee sustained where there were no debts). See supra, IV, A, 4, d, (I); infra, IV, A, 13, a, (IV).

89. Where a legatee dies intestate before distribution, his share goes to his personal representative for distribution to his heirs or next of kin. Terry's Appeal, 28 Conn. 339; Shaver v. Shaver, 1 N. J. Eq. 437. The administrator of the deceased legatee is entitled to receive the legacy and to sue therefor. Bluett v. Nicholson, 1 Fla. 384. The children or distributees of the legatee cannot collect or sue for the legacy, but the personal representative must collect and sue (Sullivan v. Lawler, 72 Ala. 68; Purcelly v. Carter, 45 Ark. 299; Whelan v. Edwards, 31 Ark. 723; Marcenaro v. Mordella, 10 La. Ann. 772; Hanson v. Hanson, 4 Gill (Md.) 69; Gale v. Nickerson, 151 Mass. 428, 24 N. E. 400, 9 L. R. A. 200; Shaver v. Shaver, 1 N. J. Eq. 437; Puckett v. James, 2 Humphr. (Tenn.) 565; Trafford v. Wilkinson, 3 Tenn. Ch. 449), except where there are no debts and no administration, and no necessity for administration (Vanzant v. Morris, 25 Ala. 285). It has been held that the next of kin of a decedent cannot sue in their own names for a legacy to the deceased, the right of action being in the personal representative; and that the rule is not changed by the fact that from lapse of time the right to take out letters of administration is barred by statutory limitation. Trafford v. Wilkinson, 3 Tenn. Ch. 449. Compare, however, Phinny v. Warren, 52 Iowa 332, 1 N. W. 552, 3 N. W. 157.

90. McMullen v. Brazelton, 81 Ala. 442, 1 So. 778; Thomas v. Dumas, 30 Ala. 83; McConico v. Cannon, 25 Ala. 462; Hall v. Andrews, 17 Ala. 40; Boyett v. Kerr, 7 Ala. 9.

91. Alabama.— Calhoun v. Fletcher, 63 Ala. 574.

Arkansas.— Chowning v. Stanfield, 49 Ark. 87, 4 S. W. 276; Stewart v. Smiley, 46 Ark. 373.

California.— Soto v. Kroder, 19 Cal. 87. The law has been changed by statute. See infra, note 93.

Florida.— Rose v. Withers, 39 Fla. 460, 22 So. 724.

Georgia.— Cross v. Johnson, 82 Ga. 67, 8 S. E. 56 (widow, not taking dower, as coheir with children); Johnson v. Johnson, 80 Ga. 260, 5 S. E. 629.

Indiana.— Humphries v. Davis, 100 Ind. 369. See Comparet v. Randall, 4 Ind. 55.

Michigan.— Covert v. Morrison, 49 Mich. 133, 13 N. W. 390; Warren v. Tobey, 32 Mich. 45; Marvin v. Schilling, 12 Mich. 356.

Mississippi.— Cohea v. Jemison, 68 Miss. 510, 10 So. 46.

New Hampshire.— Lane v. Thompson, 43 N. H. 320, subject by statute to be divested does not devise it for such purpose the heirs of the testator have the right to possession until a sale.[92] Other statutes give the administrator the right to possession until the close of the administration,[93] if in some states he asserts the right as provided by the statute,[94] and if the real estate is necessary for the pay-by a sale by the administrator for payment of debts, or to be suspended by a decree of insolvency.

New York.— Fosgate v. Herkimer Mfg., etc., Co., 9 Barb. 287; Smith v. Lorillard, 10 Johns. 338.

Virginia.— Tapscott v. Cobbs, 11 Gratt. 172; Trent v. Trent, Gilm. 174, 9 Am. Dec. 594.

Wisconsin.— Jones v. Billstein, 28 Wis. 221.

United States.— Lindenberger v. Matlack, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,360, 4 Wash. 278.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 268 et seq.; and supra, IV, A, 4, b.

Rights of forced heirs in Louisiana see Cox v. Von Ahlefeldt, 105 La. 543, 30 So. 175.

Where the widow of an intestate continues after his death in possession of land to which his heirs are entitled, she is as against them a mere tenant at sufferance; her possession is prima facie their possession, and they may maintain ejectment against her or one claiming under her. Caffrey v. McFarland, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 555.

Widow as guardian of minor heirs.— Where a widow, having infant children, who are heirs of her deceased husband, is in possession of real estate left by him at his decease, a man who marries the widow and continues such possession, or other person who enters under her, does not thereby become liable to such infant heirs in an action for trespass. Wirt v. Turner, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 19, 1 West. L. Month. 94. And see Jackson v. De Walts, 7 Johns. (N. Y.) 157; Byrne v. Van Hoesen, 5 Johns. (N. Y.) 66. See, generally, GUARDIAN AND WARD.

Insolvency of estate.— The insolvency of the ancestor's estate is no ground for an injunction forbidding the heir to take possession; a decree must be rendered against the heir. Harrison v. Wood, 21 N. C. 437.

92. Cohea v. Jemison, 68 Miss. 510, 10 So. 46; Beam v. Jennings, 89 N. C. 451; Lindenberger v. Matlack, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,360, 4 Wash. 278. And see supra, IV, A, 4, b, 2.

93. Alabama.— Banks v. Speers, 97 Ala. 560, 11 So. 841; Sullivan v. Rahb, 86 Ala. 433, 5 So. 746; Leatherwood v. Sullivan, 81 Ala. 458, 1 So. 718; Comer v. Hart, 79 Ala. 389; Cruikshank v. Luttrell, 67 Ala. 318; Brewton v. Watson, 67 Ala. 121; Calhoun v. Fletcher, 63 Ala. 574; McCullough v. Wise, 57 Ala. 623; Philips v. Gray, 1 Ala. 226, under statute giving administrator authority to lease real property.

Arizona.— Oury v. Duffield, 1 Ariz. 509, 25 Pac. 533.

Arkansas.— Chowning v. Stanfield, 49 Ark. 87, 4 S. W. 276; Stewart v. Smiley, 46 Ark. 373; Carnall v. Wilson, 21 Ark. 62, 76 Am. Dec. 351.

California.— Crosby v. Dowd, 61 Cal. 557; Page v. Tucker, 54 Cal. 121; Harper v. Strutz, 53 Cal. 655; Meeks v. Kirby, 47 Cal. 169; Chapman v. Hollister, 42 Cal. 462; Meeks v. Hahn, 20 Cal. 620; Harwood v. Mayre, 8 Cal. 580 (holding that in an action against the heir to foreclose a mortgage on land of an intestate the administrator was a necessary party); Beckett v. Selover, 7 Cal. 215, 68 Am. Dec. 237.

Florida.— Jacksonville, etc., R. Co. v. Adams, 27 Fla. 443, 9 So. 2; Doyle v. Wade, 23 Fla. 90, 1 So. 516, 11 Am. St. Rep. 334; Sanchez v. Hart, 17 Fla. 507. It is otherwise under the present statute. Rose v. Withers, 39 Fla. 460, 22 So. 724.

Georgia.— Albritton v. Bird, R. M. Charlt. 93.

Louisiana.— See Westholz v. Westholz, 19 La. Ann. 293; Ogden's Succession, 10 Rob. 457. After the heirs, however, have once been put into possession by a competent court the property cannot be placed in control of an executor or administrator as succession property. State v. Jefferson Parish Judge, 22 La. Ann. 61.

Minnesota.— State v. Ramsey County Probate Ct., 25 Minn. 22.

Texas.— Northcroft v. Oliver, 74 Tex. 162, 11 S. W. 1121; Gaston v. Boyd, 52 Tex. 282; Gunter v. Fox, 51 Tex. 383.

Vermont.— Austin v. Bailey, 37 Vt. 219, 86 Am. Dec. 703.

Washington.— Hazelton v. Bogardus, 8 Wash. 102, 35 Pac. 602; Lawrence v. Bellingham Bay, etc., R. Co., 4 Wash. 664, 30 Pac. 1099; Balch v. Smith, 4 Wash. 497, 30 Pac. 648; Dunn v. Peterson, 4 Wash. 170, 29 Pac. 998.

Wisconsin.— Jones v. Billstein, 28 Wis. 221; Edwards v. Evans, 16 Wis. 181.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 268 et seq. And see, generally, EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

Retrospective operation of statute.— A statute changing the law as to the right to possession of real property as between the heirs and the administrator of an intestate is not to be construed so as to apply retrospectively. Soto v. Kroder, 19 Cal. 87; Philips v. Gray, 1 Ala. 226. See also CONSTITUTIONAL LAW, 8 Cyc. 1017; STATUTES.

94. Alabama.— Stovall v. Clay, 108 Ala. 105, 20 So. 387; Cruikshank v. Luttrell, 67 Ala. 318; Calhoun v. Fletcher, 63 Ala. 574, 580, where it was said: "The right of the personal representative to the possession, rents, income and profits of lands, of which decedent died seized, is one which he may or may not exercise; and when he fails to assert it, the descent is not intercepted, and no stranger can gainsay or dispute the heir's possession, or right to the possession. . . . The possession of the personal representative, which will work a dispossession of the heir, must be an actual possession; a taking or ment of debts, but not otherwise.[95] If there is no administration the heirs are entitled to possession.[96] And even where the heirs have no right of possession and control as against the administrator, they are entitled to possession as against strangers who do not claim under the administrator.[97] The heirs are entitled to possession after the estate is fully administered and all debts paid.[98]

b. Personal Property. The right to the possession of personal property of an intestate is in the administrator, and not in the heir or next of kin, until after the administration and distribution or after expiration of the time therefor.[99] And the right of possession relates back to the death of the intestate.[1] The heirs are claiming the control, use, occupation, or the rents, income, and profits of the premises. Less than this will not dispossess the heir, nor intercept the descent. There is no such thing as the right of the personal representative drawing it to the possession, by construction, or friction of law. Only the title can do that, and the personal representative has no title."

Arkansas.— Carnall v. Wilson, 21 Ark. 62, 76 Am. Dec. 351.

Georgia.— Cross v. Johnson, 82 Ga. 67, 8 S. E. 56.

Michigan.— Marvin v. Schilling, 12 Mich. 356.

Wisconsin.— Jones v. Billstein, 28 Wis. 221.

95. Chowning v. Stanfield, 49 Ark. 87, 4 S. W. 276; Stewart v. Smiley, 46 Ark. 373; Carnall v. Wilson, 21 Ark. 62, 76 Am. Dec. 351; Holt v. Anderson, 98 Ga. 220, 25 S. E. 496; Humphries v. Davis, 100 Ind. 369. See, generally, EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

96. Updegraff v. Trask, 18 Cal. 458; Houston, etc., R. Co. v. Knapp, 51 Tex. 569.

97. Berry v. Eyraud, 134 Cal. 82, 66 Pac. 74; Spotts v. Hanley, 85 Cal. 155, 24 Pac. 738.

98. Powell's Succession, 38 La. Ann. 181. In Nevada, where the administrator is by statute given the right to possession of real as well as personal property, it has been held that where there are no creditors to be affected, no debts outstanding against the estate, and no equity in favor of the administrator, the heirs of the estate have the right of possession, and may bring an action of ejectment in their own name to recover any property belonging to the estate. Gossage v. Crown Point Gold, etc., Min. Co., 14 Nev. 153. Where administration upon the decedent's estate has been closed, or where so long a time has elapsed since his death as to show that the lands are not required for purposes of administration, an administrator cannot disturb the possession of heirs, tenants, or grantees in possession. Cox v. Ingleston, 30 Vt. 258 (thirty years having elapsed since death of intestate); Cushman v. Jordon, 13 Vt. 597 (administrator appointed more than sixty years after death of intestate not allowed to oust tenants claiming under heirs or to be let into possession with them as a tenant in common). The same rule holds after the elapse of a shorter period when the administrator, later appointed, fails to show the existence of outstanding debts or of other heirs than defendant. Roberts v. Morgan, 30 Vt. 319, so holding in case of an administrator appointed sixteen years after the intestate's death.

99. California.— Jahns v. Nolting, 29 Cal. 507, even though the statute may vest the title in the heirs.

Connecticut.— Roorbach v. Lord, 4 Conn. 347.

Georgia.— Albritton v. Bird, R. M. Charlt. 93.

Indiana.— Williams v. Williams, 125 Ind. 156, 25 N. E. 176.

Iowa.— Ritchie v. Barnes, 114 Iowa 67, 86 N. W. 48.

Massachusetts.— Lawrence v. Wright, 23 Pick. 128.

Missouri.— Gillet v. Camp, 19 Mo. 404.

New Hampshire.— Tappan v. Tappan, 30 N. H. 50, until after settlement of the administrator's account in the probate court.

North Carolina.— Davidson v. Potts, 42 N. C. 272.

South Carolina.— McVaughters v. Elder, 2 Brev. 307.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 273; and supra, IV, A, 4, c, (I). And see, generally, EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

In Louisiana see Baumgarden's Succession, 35 La. Ann. 675; Soye v. Price, 30 La. Ann. 93; McMasters v. Place, 8 La. Ann. 431; Marcos v. Barcas, 5 La. Ann. 265; Self v. Morris, 7 Rob. 24; Powell's Succession, 38 La. 181; Dufour v. Camfranc, 11 Mart. 675. An heir is not entitled to be put into possession of certain funds in the hands of an administrator, when it appears that this fund is in litigation between the succession and another claimant. The heir cannot receive it until the litigation is terminated, although otherwise he might be entitled to it. Calhoun v. McKnight, 39 La. Ann. 325, 1 So. 612. The transfer of the effects of a succession to the widow in community, in usufruct, made by the legal heir, is an act of heirship which vests the whole succession unconditionally in such heir; it is an acceptance of the succession pure and simple. Under such circumstances the property is vested in the heir and not in the succession, and the administrator cannot disturb the heir or those holding under him in their possession. Sanford v. Toadvine, 15 La. Ann. 170.

1. Jahns v. Nolting, 29 Cal. 507; Lawrence v. Wright, 23 Pick. (Mass.) 128; McVaughentitled to possession after the succession is fully administered and all debts paid.[2] And in most states they are entitled to possession if there are no debts and no administration.[3]

6. Rents and Profits, Income and Accumulations — a. In General. Where the title and right to possession of the real property of an intestate vests in his heirs at the instant of his death,[4] they are entitled to receive the rents, profits, etc., which accrue after the death of the intestate and before the property is sold, if at all, by order of the court for the payment of debts,[5] unless the rule is changed ters v. Elder, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 307. See supra, IV, A, 4, c, (I).

2. Powell's Succession, 38 La. Ann. 181.

3. Humphries v. Davis, 100 Ind. 369; Martin v. Reed, 30 Ind. 218; and cases cited supra, IV, A, 4, c, (II). See also Williams v. Williams, 125 Ind. 156, 25 N. E. 176. And see, generally, Executors and Administrators.

4. Heirs' title to real property and right to possession see supra, IV, A, 4, b; IV, A, 5, a.

5. Alabama.— Stovall v. Clay, 108 Ala. 105, 20 So. 387; Clancy v. Stephens, 92 Ala. 577, 39 So. 522, 524; Cruikshank v. Luttrell, 67 Ala. 318; Tyson v. Brown, 64 Ala. 244; Calhoun v. Fletcher, 63 Ala. 574; Cockrell v. Coleman, 55 Ala. 583.

Arkansas.— Stewart v. Smiley, 46 Ark. 373.

California.— Estep v. Armstrong, 91 Cal. 659, 27 Pac. 1091.

Georgia.— Cross v. Johnson, 82 Ga. 67, 8 S. E. 56; Johnson v. Johnson, 80 Ga. 260, 5 S. E. 629.

Illinois.— Dixon v. Niccolls, 39 Ill. 372, 89 Am. Dec. 312; Foltz v. Prouse, 17 Ill. 487; Sherman v. Dutch, 16 Ill. 283.

Indiana.— Humphries v. Davis, 100 Ind. 369; Dorsett v. Gray, 98 Ind. 273; Kidwell v. Kidwell, 84 Ind. 224; McClead v. Davis, 83 Ind. 263; Trimble v. Pollock, 77 Ind. 576; Evans v. Hardy, 76 Ind. 527; King v. Anderson, 20 Ind. 385.

Iowa.— Toerring v. Lamp, 77 Iowa 488, 42 N. W. 378; Crane v. Guthrie, 47 Iowa 542; Shawhan v. Long, 26 Iowa 488, 96 Am. Dec. 164; Kinsell v. Billings, 35 Iowa 154; Laverty v. Woodward, 16 Iowa 1 (administrator individually liable to heirs for rents and profits collected by him); Beezley v. Burgett, 15 Iowa 192; Gladson v. Whitney, 9 Iowa 267; Foteaux v. Lepage, 6 Iowa 123.

Kansas.— Head v. Sutton, 31 Kan. 616, 3 Pac. 280.

Kentucky.— Ball v. Covington First Nat. Bank, 80 Ky. 501; Eastin v. Hatchitt, 15 Ky. L. Rep. 780; Marble v. Marble, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 360.

Maine.— Kimball v. Sumner, 62 Me. 305; Mills v. Merryman, 49 Me. 65; Stinson v. Stinson, 38 Me. 593.

Massachusetts.— Cummings v. Watson, 149 Mass. 262, 21 N. E. 365; Choate v. Jacobs, 136 Mass. 297; Brooks v. Jackson, 125 Mass. 307; Almy v. Crapo, 100 Mass. 218; Lobdell v. Hayes, 12 Gray 236; Jaques v. Gould, 4 Cush. 384; Clapp v. Stoughton, 10 Pick. 463; Foster v. Gorton, 5 Pick. 185; Gibson v. Farley, 16 Mass. 280.

Mississippi.— Bloodworth v. Stevens, 51 Miss. 475.

Missouri.— Shouse v. Krusor, 24 Mo. App. 279.

New Hampshire.—Lucy v. Lucy, 55 N. H. 9.

New Jersey.— Allen v. Van Houton, 19 N. J. L. 47.

New York.— Matter of Spears, 89 Hun 49, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 35; Fay v. Holloran, 35 Barb. 295; Wright v. Williams, 5 Cow. 501; Kohler v. Knapp, 1 Bradf. Surr. 241.

North Carolina.— Fleming v. Chunn, 57 N. C. 422.

Ohio.— Overturf v. Dugan, 29 Ohio St. 230.

Pennsylvania.— Bakes v. Reese, 150 Pa. St. 44, 24 Atl. 634; Haslege v. Krugh, 25 Pa. St. 97; Adams v. Adams, 4 Watts 160; McCoy v. Scott, 2 Rawle 222, 19 Am. Dec. 640; Giblin's Estate, 2 Kulp 292; Burnell's Estate, 13 Phila. 387; Pepper's Estate, 1 Phila. 562; Young v. Jones, 1 Lehigh Val. L. Rep. 175.

Rhode Island.— Draper v. Barnes, 12 R. I. 156.

Tennessee.— Smith v. Thomas, 14 Lea 324 (and they cannot be applied to payment of debts except as provided by statute); Rowan v. Riley, 6 Baxt. 67; Read v. Franklin, (Ch. App. 1900) 60 S. W. 215.

Virginia.— Hobson v. Yancey, 2 Gratt. 73.

United States.— Kurtz v. Hollingshead, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,953, 4 Cranch C. C. 180; Lindenberger v. Matlack, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,360, 4 Wash. 278.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," §§ 276, 277. And see Executors and Administrators.

Prior to sale under power in will see Herbert v. Tuthill, 1 N. J. Eq. 141; Lindenberger v. Matlock, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,360, 4 Wash. 278. And see supra, IV, A, 4, b, (II).

Where rent reserved generally.— The fact that rent payable periodically was reserved generally in the lease and not to any particular person does not prevent the heir of the deceased lessor from bringing an action of debt for its recovery. Jaques v. Gould, 4 Cush. (Mass.) 384.

Indebtedness of estate to person collecting rent.— In an action by an heir for rent accruing from the lands of an intestate against one who has collected them it is no defense that the estate of the deceased is indebted to the person who has collected the rent. Bakes v. Reese, 150 Pa. St. 44, 24 Atl. 634.

Rents and profits of dower estate.— The heirs of a doweress cannot maintain a suit for the rents and profits of her dower estate; it should be brought in the name of her by statute, as is the case in some states;[6] but rents which accrued prior to the intestate's death go to the personal representative, although not collected until after the death of the lessor.[7] Even where the decedent has died insolvent or heavily in debt, the heirs are none the less usually held entitled to the rents and profits of the property from his death until the property by order of the court is sold for payment of debts.[8] And even after the order for sale has been rendered by the court, the heirs are entitled to the profits accruing till the sale is actually made.[9] In Alabama it is held that an heir may sue for the recovery of rents accruing after the death of his ancestor whose estate has been declared insolvent, if neither the administrator nor the creditor objects,[10] but elsewhere the right of the heir or devisee to such rents, till the realty is sold by order of the court, has been held to be absolute.[11]

b. Crops and Emblements. Crops planted and grown after the death of the intestate generally belong to the heirs.[12] Growing clover and hay, fruit, and other natural produce of the land are not emblements and descend with the land to the heir.[13] But corn and other annual produce of the soil as emblements will if planted before the death of the ancestor go to the personal representative as against the heir,[14] although harvested after the death of the ancestor.[15]

c. Rents of Mortgaged Land. Rents which accrue upon mortgaged property after the mortgagor's death and before entry go to his heir;[16] nor does a decree personal representative. Coons v. Nall, 4 Litt. (Ky.) 263.

In case of lease by ancestor conveying no estate.— Where the ancestor's lease conveyed no estate but passed the right of possession only, the heirs, having no right to the possession till the lease expires, are not entitled to the rents. Autrey v. Autrey, 94 Ga. 579, 20 S. E. 431.

Land allotted as dower.— Rents received by an administrator after the widow has taken possession of the land allotted to her as dower belong exclusively to the heirs and distributees, in the absence of a contrary provision. Munden v. Bailey, 70 Ala. 63. But if an administrator rents the dwelling occupied by the decedent at the time of his death before the widow's dower has been assigned to her, he is not liable to the heirs for the rent. McLaughlin v. Godwin, 23 Ala. 846.

As against personal representative of husband with curtesy.— The heir of the reversioner is entitled, upon the death of the surviving husband of the reversioner, who held an estate by the curtesy in the land, to the rents accruing after the death of such husband as against his personal representative. Condit v. Neighbor, 13 N. J. L. 83.

6. Statutory power of administrator over rents and profits see infra, IV, A, 6, g.

7. Alabama.— Brewster v. Buckholts, 3 Ala. 20.

Georgia.— Autrey v. Autrey, 94 Ga. 579, 20 S. E. 431.

Indiana.— Humphries v. Davis, 100 Ind. 369; Dorsett v. Gray, 98 Ind. 273; King v. Anderson, 20 Ind. 385.

Iowa.— Crawford v. Ginn, 35 Iowa 543.

Kentucky.— Ball v. Covington First Nat. Bank, 80 Ky. 501.

Mississippi.— Bloodworth v. Stevens, 51 Miss. 475.

New York.— Miller v. Crawford, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 358, 26 Abb. N. Cas. 376.

North Carolina.— Fleming v. Chunn, 57 N. C. 422.

Tennessee.— Rowan v. Riley, 6 Baxt. 67.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 277. And see, generally, EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

Rents payable in advance are held to be "accrued rents" by these authorities, even though not collected during the lessor's lifetime. Miller v. Crawford, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 358, 26 Abb. N. Cas. 376.

8. Lobdell v. Hayes, 12 Gray (Mass.) 236; Gibson v. Farley, 16 Mass. 280; Hobson v. Yancey, 2 Gratt. (Va.) 73; Kurtz v. Hollingshead, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,953, 4 Cranch C. C. 180. But see U. S. Bank v. Peter, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 933, 5 Cranch C. C. 485.

9. Draper v. Barnes, 12 R. I. 156; Ritchie v. U. S. Bank, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,863, 5 Cranch C. C. 605.

10. Mobile Branch Bank v. Fry, 23 Ala. 770.

11. Brown v. Fessenden, 81 Me. 522, 17 Atl. 709; Kimball v. Sumner, 62 Me. 305. See also Fuller v. Young, 10 Me. 365; Heald v. Heald, 5 Me. 387.

12. Kidwell v. Kidwell, 84 Ind. 224; McClead v. Davis, 83 Ind. 263.

13. Uncut grass, hay, or grain.— Evans v. Hardy, 76 Ind. 527; Craddock v. Riddlesbarger, 2 Dana (Ky.) 205; Evans v. Iglehart, 6 Gill & J. (Md.) 171; Kain v. Fisher, 6 N. Y. 597; McDowell v. Addams, 45 Pa. St. 430.

Fruit.—Kain v. Fisher, 6 N. Y. 597.

14. Penhallow v. Dwight, 7 Mass. 34, 5 Am. Dec. 21. See, generally, EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

15. Wadsworth v. Allcott, 6 N. Y. 64.

16. Gibson v. Farley, 16 Mass. 280; Wathen v. Glass, 54 Miss. 382.

of foreclosure proprio vigore entitle the mortgagee thereto. The administrator therefore has no right to collect them.[17]

d. Action For Use and Occupation. It has been held that the administrator and not the heir must sue for the use and occupation of premises, in the absence of a lease and rent, which would give the right to the heir.[18] Other decisions, however, are to the contrary.[19] The heir entitled may sue for use and occupation where a lease has been made by the administrator for his benefit but without his authority.[20]

e. Heir's Right Where No Privity of Estate With Lessee. A statute giving the grantee or heir of a lessor the same remedies for the recovery of rents as the lessor has been held not to allow an heir entitled to the reversion of a trust estate, on the expiration of a beneficial life-interest, the right to distrain upon a lessee of the person with the life-interest, for rent accruing before the descent was cast upon the heir, there being no privity of estate between the heir and such lessee.[21]

f. As Between Heir and Devisee or Legatee. Where land is devised from and after the expiration of a certain term, as after the termination of an existing lease, and the testator dies before the term expires, the heir and not the devisee is entitled to the rents and profits of the land till the expiration of the term.[22] As against legatees the heir, if entitled to any part of his ancestor's estate, is entitled to an account of the rents and profits.[23]

g. Statutory Power of Administrator Over Rents and Profits. In some jurisdictions the general rule that heirs are entitled to the rents and profits of real estate accruing after the intestate's death has been changed by statutes vesting the right thereto in the administrator,[24] if under some statutes he properly asserts his right thereto,[25] and they are necessary for the purpose of paying debts or effecting an equitable division among the heirs.[26] The fact that statutes give the executor or administrator power to dispose of or rent the realty pending settlement of the estate does not render the heir liable for rents received or damages until such statutory power is lawfully exercised, unless the real estate is actually devised to the executors or the rents and profits are otherwise disposed of by will.[27] Under such a statute the personal representative has authority in prefer-

17. Wathen v. Glass, 54 Miss. 382. See, generally, EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

18. Logan v. Caldwell, 23 Mo. 372.

19. Murr v. Glover, 34 Ill. App. 373; Burk v. Osborn, 9 B. Mon. (Ky.) 579; Haslage v. Krugh, 25 Pa. St. 97.

20. Burk v. Osborn, 9 B. Mon. (Ky.) 579.

21. Murr v. Glover, 34 Ill. App. 373, holding, however, that the heir might recover for subsequent use and occupation of the premises.

22. Ware v. Hall, 16 N. J. L. 333.

23. Scoby v. Sweatt, 28 Tex. 713.

24. State v. Ramsey County Probate Ct., 25 Minn. 22; Edwards v. Evans, 16 Wis. 181. See Dunn v. Peterson, 4 Wash. 170, 29 Pac. 998. And see, generally, EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

25. Leatherwood v. Sullivan, 81 Ala. 458, 1 So. 718; Cruikshank v. Luttrell, 67 Ala. 318; Calhoun v. Fletcher, 63 Ala. 574; Cockrell v. Coleman, 55 Ala. 583; Estep v. Armstrong, 91 Cal. 659, 27 Pac. 1091. And see Ex p. Barker, 127 Ala. 203, 28 So. 574 [citing Landford v. Dunklin, 71 Ala. 594; Calhoun v. Fletcher, 63 Ala. 574; Tarver v. Smith, 38 Ala. 135; Golding v. Golding, 24 Ala. 122].

26. Stovall v. Clay, 108 Ala. 105, 20 So. 387; Stewart v. Smiley, 46 Ark. 373.

27. Patton v. Crow, 26 Ala. 426, on the principle that the heirs are the owners and may lawfully expend the usufruct until advised of the necessity to apply it otherwise. See Autrey v. Autrey, 94 Ga. 579, 20 S. E. 431, holding that if there are no creditors and the administrator rents out the land the accruing rents when not needed to pay the expenses of administration belong to the heirs as such, although the legal right to collect is in the administrator, as a mere trustee for them.

In Iowa under the code an executor under the order and direction of the court may apply the rents and profits of the decedent's real estate accruing after his death to the payment of debts and claims against the estate, in case the personal assets are insufficient; and the right so to take and apply rents and profits is not restricted to real property, possession of which is taken by the executrix because there is no heir or devisee competent to take it. But before an order is made so to take and apply rents and profits, the heir or devisees in possession should be made parties, and it should be made to appear that there is a necessity for such appropriation by reason of the insufficiency of personal assets. Toerring v. Lamp, 77 Iowa 488, 42 N. W. 378.

ence to an heir to receive rents accruing under a lease after the death of the lessor.[28] But until the administrator asserts his right by notice to the tenant or by actual suit, the heir is usually not barred from recovering the rent in a suit brought by himself,[29] and the heirs, distributees, and devisees are not liable to the executor or administrator for rents and profits received, unless possession has been taken by the latter under the statute.[30]

h. Right of Heir to Accounting For Rents and Profits. The right of the heir to an account and discovery of rents and profits realized from the land after the death of the ancestor extends to a variety of cases. For example it exists where a sale of decedent's lands to pay debts is set aside upon a bill of review and a decree of restitution obtained;[31] where a father, after the death of his wife, has been enjoying the possession of the land inherited from her by his minor children;[32] and against the tenant of a widow who, remaining in possession after her husband's death, leases the whole estate before partition between herself and the heirs.[33] So where a trustee for all the heirs conveys a part of the estate to certain of them, these must account for the profits thereon with interest before being entitled to share in the proceeds of a sale of the remainder.[34] Heirs who occupy a portion of the succession property are liable in Louisiana to the succession for rents thereof during their occupancy.[35]

i. Implied Trust Enforced in Favor of Heirs. The heirs to whom the testator's land would descend at his death are given a resulting trust in the surplus of rents and profits accruing at the death of the cestui devisee; and where the deceased cestui was himself one of the heirs, the right to the surplus may be claimed by his personal representative.[36] So heirs are entitled to the surplus of rents and profits, with interest, of lands conveyed in trust to secure a debt.[37] The heir may charge as constructive trustees distributees, with notice, of a guardian of the heir who held and disposed of the heir's estate subject to its true owner's claim.[38]

j. Limitations on Heir's Right to Accounting. Heirs are in Louisiana not chargeable with the rents and revenues of property which they have possessed and used as sole heirs in good faith before notice was brought to them of the existence of another heir previously unheard of.[39] In New Jersey, in a case where the heir in possession acted under the honest belief that she had acquired full title to the premises and largely improved them, the heir subsequently claiming was given the right to the rents and profits upon his share only for six years before the commencement of suit and the value of his share in the real estate was computed as at the death of the ancestor which had occurred a long time previously.[40] Heirs who after judicial recognition by a decree later reversed have

28. Harkins v. Pope, 10 Ala. 493. And see, generally, EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

29. Masterson v. Girard, 10 Ala. 60.

30. Gayle v. Johnson, 80 Ala. 388.

31. Ritchie v. U. S. Bank, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,863, 5 Cranch C. C. 605.

32. Bedford v. Bedford, 136 Ill. 354, 26 N. E. 662 [affirming 32 Ill. App. 455], in which case the father, his own estate being inadequate for the support of the minor children, was held entitled to credit for their maintenance, but not for improvements made by him upon the land.

33. Murray v. Mounts, 19 Ind. 364 (holding the tenant accountable to the heir for the rent of the portion not subsequently set off to the widow); Foster v. Gorton, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 185 (in which case an attaching creditor of the tenant was denied the right, as against the heirs, to the produce of the land, etc., and the attaching officer was held liable in trover).

34. Clayton v. Clayton, 12 S. W. 312, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 472, where a widow of decedent held the land in trust for heirs and conveyed to certain ones.

35. Bauman's Succession, 30 La. Ann. 1138.

36. Gray v. Corbit, 4 Del. Ch. 135, 357.

37. Where land is conveyed in trust to secure a debt and is sold by the trustee after the grantor's death, leaving a surplus after satisfying the trust, the heir is entitled to the interest accruing on such surplus as against creditors of the grantor up to the time of the decree directing its distribution. Jones v. Lackland, 2 Gratt. (Va.) 81.

38. Moore v. Shepherd, 2 Duv. (Ky.) 125.

39. Harrington v. Barfield, 30 La. Ann. 1297.

40. Rowden v. Murphy, (N. J. Ch. 1890) 20 Atl. 379 [citing Hall v. Piddock, 21 N. J. Eq. 311].

collected rents and profits will not be ordered to return them or enjoined from subsequent collection, if their status as heirs entitled to possession be recognized in the later proceeding.[41] Where a statute gives the widow the right to occupy land under special circumstances, without assignment of dower, the heir cannot recover the rents and profits of the land so occupied by her until proper steps for assignment of dower or partition have been taken.[42] Where an heir has himself handed over a portion of the profits to which he was entitled to share, to one of several co-heirs entitled with him, he cannot recover such portion from the co-heirs jointly, but if at all, only from the co-heir to whom he delivered it.[43] The right of an unknown heir who has given no notice of his claim for several years after the division of the estate may be barred as to the profit realized upon his share before his bill for accounting was filed.[44] Where the heir has been aware of the use by the administrator of the property of the intestate for carrying on business, he will be held to elect to take profits, instead of rents and hires, unless he expressly elects otherwise.[45]

7. Mutual Rights and Liabilities of Heirs and Distributees — a. In General — (I) Ascertainment of Disposable Portion. The ascertainment of the disposable portion of an inheritance and the shares of those who are to inherit is incidental to the settlement of the estate, and must be fixed before the property is received by the beneficiaries or heirs.[46]

(II) Equality in Distribution. On the principle that in the distribution of a decedent's estate among heirs equality is equity, where one of several heirs acting for all secures to himself an advantage in the distribution of the estate, he will not be permitted to avail himself of it.[47] But where equality among the heirs is inconsistent with rights of election and preference secured to the respective heirs by the acts regarding descent, a bill by an heir praying for a sale or partition in a manner which will place all the heirs on an equality cannot be maintained.[48] Where certain heirs have received a benefit, as maintenance or education, from the estate, which others have not enjoyed, sums so received by them should be charged against them in favor of the others.[49] And if one heir has discharged an encumbrance upon the estate to which he and his co-heirs are entitled, he is entitled to priority over the others in respect of the amount of such payment.[50]

(III) Effect of Priority in Distribution. It has been held that where land is divided between two heirs by deed, the descriptions in which are mutually irreconcilable, neither of the heirs acquires a preference over the other by reason of his priority in the distribution.[51]

(IV) Heir's Right to Recover in Case of Failure to Receive Proper Share. Where an heir has failed to receive from the estate the share to which he was properly entitled, he will be allowed to recover such share or the amount thereof necessary to place him in his proper position, as in the case of a mutual mistake as to the amount of the shares to which the inheritance law entitles the heirs,[52] or where one beneficiary attempts to bar another's right by securing an

41. Baumgarden's Succession, 36 La. Ann. 46.

42. Benedict v. Beurmann, 90 Mich. 396, 51 N. W. 461.

43. Darnall v. Hill, 12 Gill & J. (Md.) 388.

44. Bird v. Graham, 36 N. C. 196, so holding, although the heir had apparently been ignorant of his right.

45. French v. Davis, 38 Miss. 167.

46. Moore's Succession, 42 La. Ann. 332, 7 So. 561.

47. Mason v. Myer, Wright (Ohio) 641.

48. Chaney v. Tipton, 11 Gill & J. (Md.) 253.

49. State v. Stephenson, 12 Mo. 178, so holding where older children had been educated and supported out of an estate, and distribution was made before the minor children had been benefited.

As to advancements see infra, IV, B.

50. Braxton v. Braxton, 20 D. C. 355.

51. Roberti v. Atwater, 43 Conn. 540.

52. Haven v. Foster, 9 Pick. (Mass.) 112, 19 Am. Dec. 353.

Enforcing promise of heir or distributee.— Where one heir or distributee of an estate, who has received more than his proportionate part of the estate, promises the other heirs or distributees to account with them therefor, the administrator of such estate cannot enforce such promise. This must be done by improper conveyance to himself,[53] or where the original inheritance is subsequently increased by a reversion.[54] So where some of several co-heirs are paid for a release of a joint title, they must account for the price to their co-heirs.[55] An heir or distributee who receives or recovers from the administrator more than his share may be compelled to refund the excess for the benefit of the other heirs or distributees; but where he has obtained no more than his share he cannot be compelled to refund or contribute for the benefit of others who have not received their shares because of waste or other default of the administrator.[56]

(v) Where Certain Heirs Have Claims Against the Estate. A division of the property among the several heirs is no bar to a claim by one of them against the estate of the ancestor.[57] When the ancestor has made a wrongful conveyance of property which should have descended to certain heirs, such heirs may recover the price received out of his entire estate, but their recovery will be diminished pro tanto if part of such proceeds has been expended in improvements increasing the value of other lands which they inherit.[58] The fact that the ancestor on advancing money to one of the heirs has taken from him a covenant to repay the sums so advanced to his co-heirs in settlement of the estate, if above his ratable portion, does not prevent the heir from recovering from the estate a bonded debt for a sum subsequently loaned by him to the ancestor.[59]

(vi) Non-Joinder of Co-Heir in Action to Recover Land. The non-joinder of one with interest as tenant in common with the demandants in a writ of right, unless pleaded in abatement, will not defeat the right of the demandants to the portion of the estate to which they prove themselves entitled.[60]

(vii) Sale or Purchase by Heir of Inheritance Property — (a) Sale. If an heir be employed to sell the estate for another, he may be compelled to account for and pay over the proceeds, in a court of ordinary jurisdiction.[61]

(b) Purchase. In Louisiana a co-heir of age may at a sale of the hereditary effects become a purchaser to the amount due him from the succession, and need not pay over the surplus over the amount coming to him till such amount is definitely fixed by partition.[62] But it is held that an heir purchasing at an administrator's sale cannot withhold the price because of claims in his favor against his co-heir.[63] Where one of several heirs assumes the liability of a purchaser of part of the inheritance, he will be liable to his co-heirs therefor only in the amount due them of the unpaid purchase-money, after allowing full credit for all pay-the parties to whom it was made. Stovall v. Clay, 108 Ala. 105, 20 So. 387.

53. Where a widow procured a mortgage on her deceased husband's real estate to be foreclosed, and the premises to be bid off in her name at the sale and paid for with funds of the estate, so that the title was vested in her, it was held that whatever may have been her intention as to the rights of an infant heir the proceedings were in effect fraudulent and void and could not prejudice his rights to the land. Terry v. Tuttle, 24 Mich. 206.

54. Allen v. Allen, Jeff. (Va.) 86.

55. King v. Robinson, 2 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 157.

56. Case v. Richason, 29 Ind. App. 331, 64 N. E. 629. And see Sims v. Sims, 10 N. J. Eq. 158; Auburn Theological Seminary v. Cole, 20 Barb. (N. Y.) 321; Lupton v. Lupton, 2 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 614.

57. Smith v. Smith, 28 N. J. L. 208, 74 Am. Dec. 49, holding that where a son who, relying on his father's promise void by the statute of frauds, that he should have a farm, erected buildings thereon, did not lose his right to recover the value of such improvements from his father's estate, by reason of his taking an interest in the premises as heir.

58. Todd v. Todd, 18 B. Mon. (Ky.) 144.

59. Webb v. Lyon, 40 N. C. 67, so holding, although the amount of the bonded debt was less than the amount of the advancement.

60. Where upon a writ of right by three demandants, it appeared that the tenement demanded descended to the demandants and their two infant brothers from their mother and that those two infants had died without issue and were survived by their father as well as by the demandants, it was held that the fact that the father through the death of the two infants had become interested as tenant in common to the extent of the share of the infant first deceased could not prevent the demandants from receiving so much of the tenement as they showed themselves entitled to. Walkers v. Boaz, 2 Rob. (Va.) 485.

61. Bronaugh v. Bowles, 3 La. 120.

62. Harrell's Succession, 12 La. Ann. 337.

63. Rils v. Questi, 2 La. 249.

ments and offsets, and not in the amount due to each of them on a final settlement of the whole estate.[64]

(VIII) WHETHER ACTS BY ONE CO-HEIR INURE TO BENEFIT OF OTHERS. The legal entry of one co-heir or tenant in common inures to the benefit of the others.[65] But a judgment against a tenant in a writ of entry brought in the name of one of several co-heirs at their joint expense was held not to inure to the benefit of the other co-heirs in an action for the mesne profits.[66] And if a donec of property restores it or its proceeds to one of the donor's heirs, such heir cannot be required to make distribution among the other heirs.[67] A disclaimer by an heir of any interest in premises in controversy in chancery does not vest the disclaimed interest in the remaining heirs.[68]

(IX) RIGHTS OF HEIRS RECEIVING DIFFERENT PORTIONS OF ESTATE AS TO BENEFITS AND BURDENS. Heirs receiving different portions of the ancestor's estate take the same, as between themselves as well as with respect to third persons, in the same condition and subject to the same benefits and burdens, as quasi-easements under which the same were held by the ancestor.[69]

(X) RIGHT OF HEIR TO HAVE ENCUMBRANCE ON REAL ESTATE PAID OUT OF PERSONALTY. An heir to whom lands have descended which are subject to a mortgage given by his ancestor in his lifetime has no right as against one entitled to the surplus of personalty after payment of all debts duly allowed against the estate, to have such surplus applied to the payment of the mortgage, when the latter has not been duly presented and allowed as a claim against the estate.[70]

b. Authority to Act For Co-Heirs. In general one of several co-heirs has no authority to represent the others or to affect their rights by his acts unless actually empowered to do so as their agent.[71] Where one of the heirs being also an administrator is in the possession of real estate, his authority to bind the others and affect their rights depends upon his express or implied authority to act as their agent.[72]

c. Liability Upon Taking Possession of Estate or Property Thereof — (I) IN GENERAL. An heir who receives from a co-heir "property to be accounted for on a settlement of the estate" is liable therefor only after such a settlement as by determining the respective rights of the parties will show the necessity of the restoration.[73] The effect of an heir's taking a conveyance in his own name to the use of himself and the rest will be under the statute of uses to render him liable 64. Arnous v. Lesassier, 10 La. 592, 29 Am. Dec. 470.

65. Carothers v. Dunning, 3 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 373.

66. Allen v. Carter, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 175, on the ground that the other heirs were not privy to the writ of the co-heir, not having joined in the action and no possession on their part being shown.

67. Day v. Day, 100 Ind. 460.

68. Kane County v. Herrington, 50 Ill. 232.

69. Where A died intestate, seized of land on which there was a mill, then in full operation, and on the division of the land under the act to direct descents among his heirs, the mill was on the portion allotted to B, and the dam covered a part of the portion allotted to C, it was held that B had a right to use the mill and dam in the same way and to the same extent as they had been used by A in his lifetime. Kilgour v. Ashcom, 5 Harr. & J. (Md.) 82.

70. Clark v. Davis, 32 Mich. 154.

71. One of several co-heirs, the others being minors, has no authority to execute a forfeiture of a lease made by the ancestor for non-payment of rent, without the consent of the other heirs. Wilson v. Goldstein, 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 337, so holding in a case where the ancestor's lease reserved rent to himself and his heirs, with condition of a right of entry in case of non-payment. Nor can one of several heirs employ an agent to locate a land certificate belonging to all the heirs and bind the heirs to give him a certain portion of the land. Keen v. Casey, 22 Tex. 412. See, generally, PRINCIPAL AND AGENT.

Compromise.— Where one of three heirs, one being an infant, to whom land had descended subject to a deed of trust, compromised the trust claim by a conveyance of the land, in which the others did not join, it was held that they could not be compelled to join in the conveyance, although they received a proportionate benefit therefrom. Tracy v. Shumate, 22 W. Va. 474.

72. Dodge v. Stacy, 39 Vt. 558, holding that the question whether the heir was so authorized should be submitted to the jury.

73. Curtis v. Hubbel, 2 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 9, so holding where the co-heir from whom the property was received was also administrator.

in ejectment to each of the others on failure to pay over the proper share.[74] It has been held in Louisiana that heirs taking possession of a succession are responsible to the other heirs for the portion taken by each only and not in solido for the entire succession;[75] but that an heir who has taken possession of an entire estate after dismissing the administratrix before she has rendered any account is liable to the full value of her attorney's services.[76]

(II) Liability For Rent or Hire. It has been held that one of several co-heirs occupying land of their decedent pending a settlement of the estate is not liable to pay rent, where it does not appear that his occupation was against the will or objections of his co-heirs, or of a larger portion of the estate than he could equitably enjoy.[77] But where one of several heirs entitled to realty takes a conveyance of the whole estate to himself, holding it as a trustee for himself and the others, he will be charged with the use and occupation of the land from the date of such conveyance, with a deduction for improvements made and taxes paid by him.[78] Similarly a husband taking possession of personalty in right of his wife as distributee of an intestate's estate, with notice of the rights of an infant co-distributee, will be liable to such co-distributee for the hire of the property during his possession.[79] In Louisiana heirs occupying a portion of succession property are liable to the succession for its rents during their occupancy,[80] although an exception has been made under special circumstances in favor of a daughter of the intestate who occupied a house upon the premises with her minor children.[81] Heirs are not chargeable with the rents and revenues of the property which they have possessed and used as sole heirs in good faith, before notice was brought to them of the existence of another heir previously not heard of.[82] They can be charged for rents only after judicial demand, and are entitled to be reimbursed for improvements, price of materials, and workmanship, this being the measure, if enhanced value of the soil be not proved.[83]

d. Liability For Losses. Where, after a division of an estate has been made, property allotted to one of the distributees is lost before the distributee has taken possession of it, the loss should not fall solely on the distributee, but should be borne by the general estate.[84]

e. Subrogation to Rights of Unknown Heirs. It has been held in Louisiana that the heir present is subrogated to the rights of those absent, whose existence is not known, and entitled to the whole succession.[85]

f. Rights and Liabilities as Between Heirs and Legatees — (I) In General. In Louisiana since the claims of the constituted legatees against the heirs of a descent or succession may be enforced against the heirs as well after as before they have taken possession of the property, the mere consent of such legatees will warrant the court in letting into possession the heirs entitled.[86] On the other hand the universal legatee cannot be ordered to be let into possession as against heirs to whom a certain portion of the property is legally reserved, unless, as the code requires, the legatee first demands of the heirs delivery of the testamentary effects.[87] Failure of duty to invest on the part of a testamentary trustee and his insolvency give the beneficiary no right against the heirs, although 74. Eckels v. Stewart, 53 Pa. St. 460.

75. Longino v. Phipps, 47 La. Ann. 1430, 17 So. 827.
76. Gaiennie v. Thompson, 6 La. Ann. 475.
77. Bohrer v. Otterback, 21 D. C. 32.
78. Braxton v. Braxton, 20 D. C. 355.
79. Snowden v. Pope, Rice Eq. (S. C.) 174.
80. Bauman's Succession, 30 La. Ann. 1138.
81. It was held in Louisiana that a daughter of the intestate who occupied with her minor children a plantation dwelling-house should not be charged rent, where she had not contracted to pay it, and where the building was not needed for the administrator or a tenant, and was not required for the cultivation of the plantation. Sparrow's Succession, 40 La. Ann. 484, 4 So. 513.
82. Harrington v. Barfield, 30 La. Ann. 1297.
83. Hutchinson v. Jamison, 38 La. Ann. 150.
84. Jackson v. Jennings, 13 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 172, 94 Am. Dec. 160.
85. Dupre v. Reggio, 6 La. 653.
86. Charmbury's Succession, 34 La. Ann. 21.
87. Bellocq's Succession, 28 La. Ann. 154.

the trustee has bought property of the succession, giving the executor for the price a receipt for the legacy; nor has the beneficiary any mortgage on the property so bought.[88] Where a testator dies domiciled abroad, having property abroad and also in Louisiana, which latter proves insufficient after payment of the debts to satisfy the legacies charged upon it, the deficiency of the debts must be made good by the foreign succession, and the legatees who are to be paid from the Louisiana property are entitled to be first satisfied therefrom.[89]

(II) RIGHT OF HEIR TO CONTEST LEGACY. It has been held in Louisiana that an heir cannot contest a legacy, after payment of which there remains his full interest in the succession.[90]

8. CLAIMS OF ESTATE AGAINST HEIRS AND DISTRIBUTEES — a. Right to Deduct Debts Due the Estate From the Debtor's Distributive Share — (I) IN GENERAL. In some jurisdictions, in the distribution of an estate among heirs, no deduction can be made from the share of any one of them on account of any debt due from him to the estate.[91] In Louisiana, although the title of the heir is in no manner affected by his indebtedness to the succession, however large,[92] yet in the partition of the succession of a father a child must collate the amount of his indebtedness to the succession.[93] In other jurisdictions the amount of the heir's indebtedness will be deducted from his share,[94] except where the heir has bona fide transferred

88. Carraby v. His Creditors, 3 La. Ann. 491.

89. Mourain v. Poydras, 6 La. Ann. 151, holding that the legatee, a minor residing in Louisiana, might arrest the funds there appropriated to her legacy until the heirs offered good security for its payment with interest.

90. Adams v. Routh, 8 La. Ann. 121.

91. Bondurant v. Thompson, 15 Ala. 202; Hancock v. Hubbard, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 167; Osgood v. Breed, 17 Mass. 356; Procter v. Newhall, 17 Mass. 81.

A decree of the probate court directing the distributive share of an heir who was indebted to the estate to be paid over by the administrator to the other heirs on the ground of such indebtedness is void. Hancock v. Hubbard, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 167.

92. Turner v. Turner, 7 La. Ann. 216, holding that a part of the heirs cannot claim to be put into possession of the entire estate to the exclusion of the other heirs, on the ground that the latter were indebted to the deceased at the time of his death to an amount exceeding their share of the succession.

93. Burns' Succession, 52 La. Ann. 1377, 27 So. 883; Tournillon's Succession, 15 La. Ann. 263. Debts of a child assumed by a father and paid by the succession must be collated. Tournillon's Succession, 15 La. Ann. 263. And necessary expenses paid for the child by the parent or by the administrator after the child's death will on partition be subtracted from the child's share. Montamat's Succession, 15 La. Ann. 332. See, also, infra, IV, B, 7.

94. Indiana.— Fiscus v. Fiscus, 127 Ind. 283, 26 N. E. 831; Fiscus v. Moore, 121 Ind. 547, 23 N. E. 362, 7 L. R. A. 235.

Kansas.— See Head v. Spier, 66 Kan. 386, 71 Pac. 833.

New York.— Smith v. Kearney, 2 Barb. Ch. 533.

Pennsylvania.— In re Donaldson, 158 Pa. St. 292, 27 Atl. 959.

South Carolina.— Sartor v. Beaty, 25 S. C. 293; Wilson v. Kelly, 16 S. C. 216.

Tennessee.— Towles v. Towles, 1 Head 601.

See also Fels v. Fels, 1 Ohio Cir. Ct. 420.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 288.

Advancement.— A sum advanced by a parent to a child may be deducted if intended as debt but not if intended as an advancement. Jones' Estate, 29 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 89.

Advancements see infra, IV, B.

The fact that the debtor's entire property is less than his legal exemptions is no ground for not applying his distributive share to the payment of his debt. Fiscus v. Fiscus, 127 Ind. 283, 26 N. E. 831.

Where a testator was surety for his son in an amount greater than the value of the son's interest in the estate, the son is not entitled to recover his distributive share of the estate, although the executors do not pay off the surety debt until after action brought by the son. Ramsour v. Thompson, 65 N. C. 628.

Lien on lands of estate for debts thereto of a co-heir.— Where an heir is indebted to his ancestor while living, and continues indebted to his estate after his death, the other heirs of the ancestor have an equitable lien upon the lands of decedent for the debt which said heir owes the estate, which lien is superior in equity to any right the debtor heir, or persons claiming under or through him by operation of law or otherwise, would, but for his indebtedness, have had in the descended lands. Streety v. McCurdy, 104 Ala. 493, 16 So. 686.

Where one heir has bought the interest of some of the others in the decedent's land, the purchased portion cannot in partition be charged with a debt due from such heir to the decedent's estate, but only the portion inherited. Ruiz v. Campbell, 6 Tex. Civ. App. 714, 26 S. W. 295.

his interest to an innocent party.[95] In these jurisdictions the share of an insolvent distributee will be applied to the debt due the estate, and will not pass to the trustee in insolvency.[96] A debt repudiated by the debtor on the ground of legal incapacity to contract is in equity a part of the estate, and may be deducted from the debtor's distributive share.[97]

(II) DEBTS FRAUDULENT OR BARRED. No deduction can be made on account of any debt which is shown to be fraudulent,[98] but debts barred by the statute of limitations may be deducted.[99]

(III) DEBT DUE FOR PROPERTY PURCHASED AT ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE. Where a distributee is indebted to the estate for property purchased by him at the administrator's sale, the amount of his debt may be deducted by the court from his distributive share.[1] Conversely, where such debt against the distributee has been reduced to a judgment, he is entitled to have his distributive portion credited against the indebtedness,[2] or to enjoin the enforcement of the judgment altogether, if it be for a less amount than his distributive share.[3]

(IV) DEBT DUE ADMINISTRATOR. A distributee who is indebted to the administrator as such may be forced by the latter to take such debt in payment pro tanto of his distributive share, and if he assigns such share, the assignee takes it subject to the same equity.[4]

(V) DEBT DUE FROM HUSBAND OF HEIR. The court may order the distributive share of a son-in-law of the decedent, to which he would have been entitled in right of his wife, to be diminished by deducting a debt due from the son-in-law to the decedent,[5] or to be credited on a judgment obtained by the decedent against him, when he has no other property.[6]

(VI) AGREEMENT BETWEEN DEBTOR AND DECEDENT AS TO DISCHARGE OF DEBT. An agreement between the debtor and the decedent, by which the debt or a part thereof is to be discharged in a particular manner by the debtor, will bind the decedent's other heirs and legatees.[7]

(VII) EFFECT OF DEBTOR'S DISCHARGE IN BANKRUPTCY. A debt due the estate may be deducted from the debtor's distributive share, although the debtor has received a discharge in bankruptcy.[8]

(VIII) LIABILITY OF ISSUE OF HEIR DECEASED BEFORE INTESTATE. The right to deduct from the share of a child the debts due the estate from his deceased parent whose death preceded that of the owner of the estate depends upon whether the child is to be considered as taking in his own right or through the deceased parent.[9] In the former case no deduction can be made,[10] but in the

95. Towles v. Towles, 1 Head (Tenn.) 601. Compare Allen v. Smitherman, 41 N. C. 341.

96. Gosnell v. Flack, 76 Md. 423, 25 Atl. 411, 18 L. R. A. 158, holding also that debts incurred to the estate itself by the distributee as administrator after the decedent's death may be deducted.

97. Starr's Appeal, 136 Pa. St. 23, 19 Atl. 1069.

98. Rawlins v. Rawlins, 75 Ga. 632.

99. Thompson's Appeal, 42 Pa. St. 345; Courtenay v. Williams, 3 Hare 539, 13 L. J. Ch. 461, 25 Eng. Ch. 539. See also Wilson v. Kelly, 16 S. C. 216. But see Matter of Murray, 2 Pearson (Pa.) 473, holding that the rule is applicable only to cases where the debt is barred prior to the decedent's death. And in Louisiana prescription subsequent to the opening of the succession will not relieve an heir who is indebted to the estate from collating. Skipwith's Succession, 15 La. Ann. 209.

1. Mahon v. Bower, 1 How. (Miss.) 275.

2. McGee v. Ford, 5 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 769. See infra, IV, A, 8, b.

3. Parker v. Britt, 4 Heisk. (Tenn.) 243.

4. Allen v. Smitherman, 41 N. C. 341. See infra, IV, A, 12, e.

5. Yohe v. Barnet, 1 Binn. (Pa.) 358.

6. Barnet v. Yohe, 4 Yeates (Pa.) 74.

7. Bell v. Henshaw, 91 Ky. 430, 15 S. W. 3, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 674.

8. Wilson v. Kelly, 16 S. C. 216, holding that the discharge does not extinguish the debt but merely furnishes a bar to an action thereon.

9. Stokes v. Stokes, 62 S. C. 346, 40 S. E. 662.

10. Wells v. Wells, 6 Ky. L. Rep. 216; Kendall v. Mondell, 67 Md. 444, 10 Atl. 240; Powers v. Morrison, 88 Tex. 133, 30 S. W. 851, 53 Am. St. Rep. 738, 28 L. R. A. 521 [reversing (Civ. App. 1894) 30 S. W. 849]. A nephew is entitled to his share of an uncle's estate free from any deduction on account of latter the child takes subject to the same deductions as the parent would have done.[11]

(IX) Liability of Issue of Deceased Legatee. In some jurisdictions the issue of a legatee who dies before the testator are considered as taking by virtue of the will, as if the devise or bequest had been directly to them, and so without any liability on account of the deceased parent's debts to the testator.[12] In others they are considered as taking by representation of the deceased parent and such debts may be deducted.[13]

b. Right of Debtor to Estate to Have Distributive Share Set Off Against His Indebtedness. When one who is indebted to the estate of a deceased person is entitled to a distributive share of the assets of the estate, he may set off his distributive share against his indebtedness,[14] at least with the consent of the administrator.[15] But the heir is entitled to have set off against his debt only the amount which would be due him from the estate after payment of all its debts.[16] In case of a set-off the indebtedness must be considered as part of the assets of the decedent's estate that go to make up the aggregate fund for distribution.[17] This rule applies to debts secured by mortgage,[18] or other conditional conveyance legally equivalent thereto.[19] Where the debtor is insolvent and the amount of the debt exceeds that of the distributive share to which he would have been entitled, the debt will be deemed assets of the decedent's estate to the extent of such share.[20] In Louisiana the rule is that an heir who owes a debt to the succession is entitled to collate it, and cannot be sued for the debt without proof of the insolvency or indebtedness of the succession and the necessity of his paying.[21]

9. Rights and Liabilities of Surviving Husband or Wife[22] — a. Rights and Liabilities of Widow — (I) In General. In Louisiana the shares accruing to the children are subject to the imperfect usufruct in favor of the mother, who must account for them at the expiration of the usufruct.[23] The widow may sue to set aside a judgment against the succession of her intestate husband if he has died without ascendants, whether there are collaterals or not, as she is either an heir or one having interest in the estate.[24] Where she has obtained a judgment against her husband in his lifetime for the conversion of property belonging to her, the right to such property is merged in the judgment, and she cannot claim it if found after his death among the effects of the succession.[25] It has been held in Ohio that where real property of an intestate is partially damaged by fire, and the debts due the estate from his father whose death preceded that of the uncle. Stokes v. Stokes, 62 S. C. 346, 40 S. E. 662.

In Louisiana a collateral heir, although claiming as the representative of his deceased parent, need not collate a debt due by his parent to the decedent's estate. Morgan's Succession, 23 La. Ann. 290.

11. Batton v. Allen, 5 N. J. Eq. 99, 43 Am. Dec. 630; Earnest v. Earnest, 5 Rawle (Pa.) 213.

Under the Pennsylvania statute which provides that "the issue of a deceased child or grandchild shall take by representation of their parents," the share of a grandchild in a grandparent's estate must be taken subject to the debts due the estate by his deceased parent. Hughes' Appeal, 57 Pa. St. 179; McConkey v. McConkey, 9 Watts (Pa.) 352 [overruling Ilgenfritz's Appeal, 5 Watts (Pa.) 25].

12. Carson v. Carson, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 300.

13. Adams' Estate, 35 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 285.

14. Anderson v. Gregg, 44 Miss. 170; Howland v. Heckscher, 3 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 519. See also supra, IV, A, 8, a, (III).

An interest in a surplus fund for the payment of legacies may also be set off. Howland v. Heckscher, 3 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 519.

15. Anderson v. Gregg, 44 Miss. 170.

16. Brunetti v. Barnabé, 7 Rob. (La.) 117.

17. Green v. Green, 14 S. W. 836, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 585; Anderson v. Gregg, 44 Miss. 170.

18. In re Willock, 24 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 466.

19. Green v. Green, 14 S. W. 836, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 585.

20. Howland v. Heckscher, 3 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 519.

21. Davis v. Davis, 5 La. Ann. 561.

Collation see infra, IV, B, 7.

22. Rights of surviving spouse see also supra, III, B.

23. In re Jones, 41 La. Ann. 620, 6 So. 180.

24. Gates v. Walker, 8 La. Ann. 277, holding that if there are no collaterals, the widow, not judicially separated in bed and board, is the heir; and if there are collaterals, she has an interest in the preservation and due administration of the estate, in view of her marital fourth thereof.

25. Martin's Succession, 7 La. Ann. 45.

insurance money is paid to the administrator, who applies it on a mortgage on the property, the widow, on electing to take her dower in money, is entitled to have the same calculated upon the total amount realized from the sale of the premises and the insurance money.[26] A widow cannot recover from the heirs what she has expended after her husband's death, and without authority or direction from the heirs, in the maintenance of property which belongs to him.[27] In Pennsylvania where an intestate is survived only by a widow and collateral heirs, leaving real estate with a mansion house thereon, to which the widow is entitled for life, and she petitions for an inquest to make partition of the estate, the inquest must include the mansion house in the valuation.[28]

(II) RIGHTS OF WIDOW IN REAL PROPERTY.[29] Where by statute the widow has a right to a certain portion of her husband's estate and is entitled to a partition of the property, or if it cannot be divided to have it appraised and sold, an heir cannot oust her from possession before proceedings for partition or appraisement have been begun.[30] The statutory rights of the widow in lands of which her husband died seized being complete at the moment of his death, if improvements are made by the heir or his vendee, after her title has thus attached, but before partition, she is entitled to share in the additional value resulting from the improvements.[31] Where by agreement land in which the widow had an interest has been sold and other land bought with the proceeds, she is liable for her share of the taxes paid by the purchaser upon the land so bought.[32] Where a widow makes an agreement with the heirs of her deceased husband for a sale of his land on condition of receiving a certain proportion of the proceeds, she may either enforce the agreement against the heirs who are of age in proportion to their interest in such proceeds or she may have an assignment of dower.[33] Where a widow makes no claim to homestead or dower she does not stand in such a relation to her deceased husband, by privity in blood or representation, as to entitle her to enforce a trust in lands in the husband's favor against an alleged fraudulent grantee.[34]

(III) DOWER IN PERSONAL PROPERTY. In some jurisdictions the widow is by statute allowed dower in her husband's personal estate.[35] Where there has been a failure to set off her dower interest in the personal estate within the time prescribed by statute, she is entitled to interest on the sum withheld after the expiration of such period,[36] and if an administrator applies the personalty to the payment of the debts of the estate without satisfying the widow's claim for dower, she is entitled to be subrogated to the rights of creditors whose demands have

26. Fleming v. Jordan, 11 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 688, 28 Cinc. L. Bul. 332.

27. Potter v. Potter, 3 N. J. L. 415, widow suing to recover sums expended in the maintenance of an infirm slave.

28. Kline's Estate, 1 Leg. Gaz. (Pa.) 428, so holding even though the estate be not susceptible of partition, she being only entitled to one half of the estate in value, not in quantity.

29. See also supra, III, B, 6.

30. Gourley v. Kinley, 66 Pa. St. 270.

Where the widow's claim has been partially satisfied, and the remainder of the property, not being capable of partition, is sold and the proceeds divided, the portion she has received should not be deducted from one third of such residue, but from one third of the whole original property. Goodrich v. Myers, 25 Ind. 10.

31. Janney's Estate, 2 Pa. Dist. 408, 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 636.

32. Melvin v. Melvin, Wright (Ohio) 508, holding that where the purchase is made by one of the heirs and title taken in his name, he holds the land in trust for the widow and other heirs, who are liable for their proportion of the taxes paid by him.

33. Goodman v. Moore, 22 Ark. 191.

34. Langley v. Langley, 45 Ark. 392.

35. See Crouch v. Edwards, 52 Ark. 499, 12 S. W. 1070; Henderson v. Chaires, 35 Fla. 423, 17 So. 574; Straat v. O'Neil, 84 Mo. 68; Stone v. Stone, 18 Mo. 389; McLaughlin v. McLaughlin, 16 Mo. 242.

As to dower in slaves under the early statutes in some of the states see McReynolds v. Jones, 30 Ala. 101; Evans v. Gregory, 15 B. Mon. (Ky.) 317; Burtle v. Thomas, 6 B. Mon. (Ky.) 401; Smiley v. Smiley, 1 Dana (Ky.) 93; Gale v. Miller, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 416; Reese v. Holmes, 5 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 531; Hickerson v. Helm, 2 Rob. (Va.) 628.

36. Henderson v. Chaires, 35 Fla. 423, 17 So. 574.

thus been paid, and to be reimbursed out of the real estate.[37] The widow's right of dower in the personalty is absolute, and an action for its conversion does not abate upon her death but survives to the personal representatives.[38] The husband may make a valid disposition of his personal property during his lifetime, provided it is not done in anticipation of death and with a view of defrauding the widow of her dower right.[39] The widow may have a conveyance in fraud of her rights set aside in equity,[40] but she cannot make the sum of which she has been deprived a charge against the husband's general estate.[41]

(IV) Liabilities of Widow on Taking Possession of Husband's Estate. A widow has no right, without taking out letters of administration, to take possession of the estate of her deceased husband and make such distributions and appropriations as to her seem right.[42] In Louisiana it has been held that a widow of a second marriage, contracted while the first wife was still living and undivorced, and who is in good faith in possession of the deceased husband's estate, is accountable only for such revenues of the property as were received by her after judicial demand therefor.[43]

(V) Right to Take Land at Valuation. The Pennsylvania statute providing that the land shall be allotted to one or more of the parties in interest who shall offer the highest price above the valuation does not apply to the widow but only to the heirs.[44]

(VI) Right to Possession on Giving Bond. A widow in possession of her deceased husband's estate as sole heir is entitled, on being subsequently sued by one claiming as a co-heir, to be allowed to give a bond to protect the petitioner's interest, and to remain in possession and control of the property.[45]

(VII) Improvements Made by Widow on Dower Lands. A widow is not entitled to compensation for improvements made at her own instance upon dower lands.[46]

(VIII) Lien of Widow For Distributive Share. The statutory interest of a widow in her deceased husband's estate constitutes a lien upon the property,[47] which can be discharged only by payment,[48] but which may be lost by the widow becoming an executor de son tort of the estate.[49]

37. Crouch v. Edwards, 52 Ark. 499, 12 S. W. 1070.

38. Clark v. Bramlett, (Ark. 1891) 16 S. W. 119.

39. Straat v. O'Neil, 84 Mo. 68; Stone v. Stone, 18 Mo. 389.

40. Tucker v. Tucker, 32 Mo. 464; Tucker v. Tucker, 29 Mo. 350.

41. Straat v. O'Neil, 84 Mo. 68.

42. Schaffner v. Grutzmacher, 6 Iowa 137.

The privilege of a widow in necessitous circumstances cannot be claimed where the widow, instead of subjecting the succession to a regular administration, takes possession of the property and applies the proceeds of all sales to the payment of ordinary debts and the continuation of her husband's business. Cousley's Succession, 39 La. Ann. 570, 2 So. 544.

Where a widow completes a contract of purchase on the real estate of her husband by appropriating a part of the money of the estate or rents and profits to such purpose, and takes title in her own name, she holds it in trust for the heirs at law. Schaffner v. Grutzmacher, 6 Iowa 137; Knolls v. Barnhart, 9 Hun (N. Y.) 443.

43. Jermann v. Tenneas, 39 La. Ann. 1021, 3 So. 229.

44. Geibler's Estate, 1 Leg. Gaz. (Pa.) 58.

45. Bivins v. Martin, 96 Ga. 268, 22 S. E. 923.

46. Sparks v. Ball, 91 Ky. 502, 16 S. W. 272, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 63, 34 Am. St. Rep. 236, holding that such improvements cannot be set up as a defense to a claim against the widow for payments due from her to equalize the allotment of dower.

47. Martin's Estate, 1 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 512, holding, however, that the rule applies only to the widow of the decedent whose estate is the subject of partition and not to the widow of an heir or distributee of such decedent.

Where the widow elects to take a portion of real estate which cannot be divided and set off to her and which is appraised at a sum exceeding the statutory limit, no title passes to the land and she has only a first lien thereon or a claim to such a proportion of its proceeds in case of sale. Pickett's Estate, 1 Susq. Leg. Chron. (Pa.) 39.

48. Hillbish's Appeal, 89 Pa. St. 490, holding that the lien is not affected by the fact that security is given for its payment and that it is not lost by or merged in a judgment.

49. Schaffner v. Grutzmacher, 6 Iowa 137.

(IX) ASSUMPTION OF DEBTS BY WIDOW. In Louisiana, where the widow opposes the administration of the succession as unnecessary and offers to assume the debts and furnish security, alleging the consent of the creditors thereto, the court may require, as a prerequisite to the exercise of her rights and to protect the heirs, that she advance sums sufficient to pay the debts or produce the alleged consent of the creditors, and the heirs should be wholly released from liability.[50]

(X) LIABILITY OF WIDOW FOR LOSSES. Where assets of the estate before distribution are lost pending litigation, the widow must bear a share of the loss proportionate to the part of the estate to which she is entitled.[51]

(XI) RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES AS TO WIDOW'S SHARE ON DEATH OF WIDOW OR EXPIRATION OF TERM. Where a widow agrees to the sale of her dower interest in lands and to accept a gross sum in lieu thereof, such sum may be claimed by her children unless her death occurred before any sale was made, in which case her estate would be determined by her death.[52] A statute providing that the court may settle an estate which cannot be divided upon one of the heirs, he paying to the others their proportion of the estate in money, does not authorize a similar disposition of the reversion of the widow's dower.[53] In New Hampshire where the widow of an intestate dies without releasing dower and homestead,[54] it will be held that she took dower and homestead instead of a distributive share, and her heirs at law have no title to the real estate of her husband.[55] In Pennsylvania, where the real estate of the decedent is not divided into a number of parts equaling the number of heirs, the principal of the widow's third at her decease is distributable pro rata among the heirs;[56] but this does not apply to cases where an equal division of the realty has been made among all the heirs, each taking his portion subject to a proportionate part of the widow's dower; and in such a case none of the heirs has any claim upon another on the decease of the widow, for any part of the principal of the widow's thirds.[57] In Louisiana the death of a widow before having made demand for her succession to the estate of her deceased husband does not impair the right of her heirs to inherit her share.[58] Where personal property, to which a wife is entitled jointly with the next of kin of a former husband, is taken possession of, and a portion thereof disposed of by her husband during her life, and without any division between her and the next of kin, her distributees are entitled to only so much as remained at her death, after deducting the shares of the next of kin of the former husband.[59]

b. Rights and Liabilities of Surviving Husband.[60] In Georgia a husband may take possession of and cultivate the land of his deceased wife, where no administrator has been appointed, and is entitled to the produce, but liable to the heir at law for rent.[61] In Pennsylvania a husband who administers on the estate of his deceased wife is not accountable to her heirs therefor, although he settles his account and the court decrees a balance in his hands.[62] Where the husband is legally entitled to a life-estate only in his deceased wife's personalty, he should be required to give security before the estate is placed in his possession.[63] Where a husband and wife join in a conveyance of the wife's property, and the renunciation of inheritance executed by the wife is void for non-compliance with the stat-

50. Pratt's Succession, 11 La. Ann. 201.
51. Elliot's Succession, 28 La. Ann. 183.
52. Mulford v. Hiers, 13 N. J. Eq. 13.
53. Sumner v. Parker, 7 Mass. 79; Hunt v. Hapgood, 4 Mass. 117.
54. See N. H. Gen. Laws, c. 202, § 10.
55. Nute v. York, 66 N. H. 541, 23 Atl. 429, holding that the rights of the parties were not affected by the fact that the heirs at law of the intestate and the heirs at law of the widow made by parol an equal division of the intestate's property.
56. Erb v. Huston, 18 Pa. St. 369.
57. Williams v. White, 35 Pa. St. 514.
58. Willis v. Elam, 28 La. Ann. 857.
59. Phælon v. Perman, 2 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 423.
60. Rights of surviving husband see also supra, IV, B.
61. Gibson v. Carreker, 82 Ga. 46, 9 S. E. 124.
62. Clay v. Irvine, 4 Watts & S. (Pa.) 232.
63. Manice v. Manice, 1 Lans. (N. Y.) 348.

ute, and the wife afterward dies intestate, the husband is liable to her heirs for their proportion of the proceeds of such sale received by him.[64]

c. Conveyances by Surviving Spouse. Where the widow is entitled to the entire personalty of the intestate, and there are no debts due from the estate, she may make a valid sale thereof and maintain assumpsit for the price, although no letters of administration are taken out on the estate;[65] and where the wife has an immediate joint interest in the personalty with the children as a tenant in common a sale made by the spouse is valid and passes her interest,[66] but the purchaser takes the property at his peril so far as concerns the interests of heirs jointly interested therein, not sui juris, or who have not expressly or impliedly authorized the sale.[67] Since before the division of the husband's estate, the power of the wife or that of her second husband to dispose of the property rests solely on her right as distributee, agreements made by her with third parties as to the property cannot affect the rights of co-distributees.[68] A surviving widow can make no conveyance of her husband's realty which will bar the rights of the heirs[69] or devisees,[70] and the purchaser of the widow's joint interest can hold only as a tenant in common with the heirs and not adversely to them.[71]

d. Alienation of Land Inherited From Husband by Widow During Subsequent Coverture. Under the former statute of descent in Indiana, which gave to the widow of an intestate husband one third of his land in fee, she could not convey such land during a subsequent coverture whether any children of the marriage by virtue of which she became entitled to the property survived or not.[72] The conveyance could not be validated by ratification by the child of the first marriage.[73] The restriction applied to absolute or contingent conveyances whether for life or in fee;[74] but if the widow before remarriage had conveyed by title bond she might after the subsequent marriage convey the legal title,[75] and in general conveyances in fulfilment of a contract made when a feme sole were held not within the intent of the statute.[76] If one of two pieces of land were to be sold on execution for the former husband's debts, she might direct which should be sold and might quitclaim to the sheriff's vendee.[77] The widow's incapacity to convey such property is preserved by the later statutes;[78] but the prohibition is 64. Hillegas v. Hartley, 1 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 106.

65. Cross v. Carey, 25 Ill. 562.

66. Graham v. Bettis, 1 B. Mon. (Ky.) 52.

67. Robertson v. Simmons, 4 Heisk. (Tenn.) 135.

Where a widow had a dower interest in slaves, a sale made by her before her specific share was set apart did not affect the title of the heirs. Burney v. Lamothe, 3 La. 195.

68. Harper v. Archer, 28 Miss. 212.

69. Lyman v. Hollister, 12 Vt. 407, holding that the fact that the widow's conveyance is by a deed of warranty is immaterial and will not prevent a recovery by the heir.

The widow cannot assign a bond held by the decedent for the conveyance to him of real estate on payment of a balance of purchase-money, so as to defeat the right of the heirs therein. Matthews v. Simmons, 49 Ark. 468, 5 S. W. 797.

70. Proctor v. Smith, 8 Bush (Ky.) 81, holding that if the widow conveys land to which under her husband's will she claims interest jointly with her children, the children are entitled to recover their shares in the land from the grantee, unless barred by having received estate from their mother, by descent, devise, or distribution, equivalent to their respective interests in the property.

71. Cain v. Young, 1 Utah 361.

72. Mickels v. Ellsesser, 149 Ind. 415, 49 N. E. 373; Bowers v. Van Winkle, 41 Ind. 432; Vinnedge v. Shaffer, 35 Ind. 341.

An action for the recovery of property attempted to be conveyed in violation of the statute may be maintained by the widow after a third marriage. Knight v. McDonald, 37 Ind. 463.

73. Horlacher v. Brafford, 141 Ind. 528, 40 N. E. 1078.

74. Bowers v. Van Winkle, 41 Ind. 432.

75. Newby v. Hinshaw, 22 Ind. 334.

76. Deweese v. Reagan, 40 Ind. 513.

77. Blackleach v. Harvey, 14 Ind. 564.

78. Avery v. Akins, 74 Ind. 283; Edmondson v. Corn, 62 Ind. 17.

Conveyances by widow during second coverture see also supra, III, B, 9, h, note 88.

The widow's share cannot be sold under execution so as to defeat the widow's or her children's interest (Wright v. Wright, 97 Ind. 444; Smith v. Beard, 73 Ind. 159), and where children of the former marriage survive, the widow's share is not on her death liable for her debts contracted during the subsequent marriage (Davis v. Kelly, 132 Ind. 309, 31 N. E. 942).

now limited to cases where children of the former marriage survive,[79] and does not apply where they join in the conveyance.[80] The rule does not apply to land which the widow has conveyed prior to her second marriage and which is reconveyed to her during such marriage, as she then holds by a new title.[81]

10. Division of Estate by Legal Proceedings — a. In General. The rights of election and preference given to heirs by the statutes of descent become vested on the death of the ancestor and may pass to grantees, and cannot be disregarded in a proceeding for a division of the estate.[82] Some of the provisions of the statutes are merely directory,[83] and irregularities in the proceedings may be waived or subsequently ratified by the heirs.[84] A partition proceeding which assigns portions of an estate to persons not then living is invalid.[85] A creditor has such an interest in the estate of a decedent that he may require the heirs, in proceedings for partition of the inheritance, to prove that the estate belonged to the decedent;[86] but this rule could apply only to such creditors as appeared and required such proof, since, after the lapse of a long period of time, the presumption arises that there are no outstanding debts against the estate of the decedent.[87]

b. Taking Estate at Valuation — (i) In General. In some jurisdictions in the settlement of a decedent's estate property not capable of division without injury may be assigned to one of the heirs, he paying to the other heirs their respective shares of its value.[88] Bonds given by heirs electing to take the estate

79. Ætna L. Ins. Co. v. Buck, 108 Ind. 174, 9 N. E. 153. See also McCullough v. Davis, 108 Ind. 292, 9 N. E. 276.

80. Fugate v. Payne, 130 Ind. 281, 29 N. E. 922.

81. Cook v. Henderson, 130 Ind. 599, 29 N. E. 484; Cook v. Armstrong, 130 Ind. 597, 29 N. E. 484; Cook v. Claybaugh, 130 Ind. 133, 29 N. E. 483.

82. Chaney v. Tipton, 11 Gill & J. (Md.) 253.

The reversionary interest of the heirs of a decedent in lands subject to the widow's dower may be divided among such heirs during the life of the widow. Webster v. Merriam, 9 Conn. 225.

The share of a wife must be decreed to her and her husband jointly, in the absence of a statute changing the common law as to married women, unless it is shown that she has a separate estate in the property to be divided. Mitchell v. Mitchell, 8 Ala. 414.

Where real estate is incapable of being divided equally, a part or the whole may be assigned to some of the heirs, to be held as tenants in common, if they consent to such assignment. Thayer v. Thayer, 7 Pick. (Mass.) 209; Gordon v. Pearson, 1 Mass. 323.

The Massachusetts statute providing that, where the wife's share of the husband's estate cannot be assigned to her without injury to the inheritance, an undivided part shall be set off to her is not a substitute for, but in addition to, the prior statute, providing that where real estate cannot be divided without injury to the owners the whole or a part may be set off to one or more of them on payment of the amount awarded by commissioners. Elliot v. Elliot, 137 Mass. 116.

After payment of the debts of the intestate and the discharge of the administrator, the assignment of the property to the heirs and next of kin is a mere formality, which it is the duty of the court to make, and which no one can contest. Dickison v. Reynolds, 48 Mich. 158, 12 N. W. 24.

83. Reynolds v. Reynolds, 11 Ala. 1023, holding that the statute directing the appointment of commissioners to make distribution within a prescribed time after the insolvency of the estate of the ancestor was not imperative.

84. Allen v. Raney, 19 Ala. 68, holding that where the parties adopt and act upon a division which the commissioners were unauthorized to make they will be bound thereby.

Partition by a guardian for a ward, although unequal, may be ratified by the ward after becoming of age. Hill v. Roderick, 2 Pa. L. J. Rep. 161.

Where the record fails to show that the estate is incapable of equal division without great prejudice to all of the heirs, the defect is not waived by a receipt of the money awarded to be paid. Thayer v. Thayer, 7 Pick. (Mass.) 209.

85. Wass v. Buckman, 38 Me. 356.

86. Simmons' Estate, 4 Pa. L. J. Rep. 204.

87. Anderson v. Smith, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 491.

88. See Whitman v. Watson, 16 Me. 461; Gibbs v. Clagett, 2 Gill & J. (Md.) 14; Hunt v. Hapgood, 4 Mass. 117; Stecker v. Shimer, 5 Whart. (Pa.) 452.

The object of these statutes is to prevent injury to all of the heirs by a minute division of lands, by which they would be worth little to any heir, and they should not be extended to suit the convenience of certain heirs where a division among all would not materially lessen the value of the property. Hunt v. Hapgood, 4 Mass. 117.

Death of heir pending proceedings for partition.— Where an heir who has elected to take real estate in proceedings for partition, paying his co-heirs therefor, dies intestate at appraisement are liens upon the land.[89] The acceptance by one of the heirs of the payment of his share will be treated as a waiver of all objections on his part, and assent to the proceedings of the court, although the other heirs have not been paid.[90] In cases of plain mistake of fact or of law, or of fraudulent practices in obtaining an appraisal, the appraisal will be set aside.[91] Where the valuation is subsequently found to have been overestimated, by reason of their being less in quantity than was supposed, the heir who has taken the estate may recover back the payments made if they amount to more than the proceeds of the estate so taken.[92] If the heir is evicted by reason of an encumbrance created by the ancestor, he will be relieved from paying the appraised value to his co-heirs,[93] unless the equities in favor of such heirs are superior to his own;[94] but he will be liable to the other heirs for their proportion of the rents and profits received by him during his occupation of the premises.[95]

(II) When Title Vests. Where one of the heirs elects to take the real estate at valuation, agreeing to pay his co-heirs their respective shares; or where under decree of a probate court more than an equal share of such real estate is assigned to him, he being ordered to pay to the other heirs the sums of money found due them, the title to such estate does not vest in such heir until such money is paid, or such other conditions as may be prescribed are complied with,[96] unless the contrary is agreed upon, or such an intention is necessarily implied from the acts of the parties in interest.[97]

c. Writ For Partition and Return. The writ for partition of a decedent's real estate should be framed so as to strictly follow the statute authorizing such partition, and the return of the inquest thereon should show on its face that the writ has been executed according to the commands therein set forth.[98] without issue before such proceedings are completed, leaving the amounts due from him unpaid, his heirs may perfect his title in such proceedings, but not in their capacity as administrators of his estate. Jenkins v. Simms, 45 Md. 532.

The eldest son of the eldest son of an intestate is entitled to an estate which cannot be divided, at the valuation, in the same manner as his father. Walton v. Willis, 1 Dall. (Pa.) 351, 1 L. ed. 171.

Where the recognizance of the heir electing to take the estate is defective he must be called on to remedy the defect before the order awarding the premises to him can be vacated, or an alias rule enforced that the other heirs come in and elect to take the estate. Gregg's Appeal, 20 Pa. St. 148.

Where a married woman is under age, probate courts, in the absence of a statute authorizing it, cannot receive her distributive share, and if without such statute her share is received by such courts, it will be held by them as a stakeholder merely. Goepp's Appeal, 15 Pa. St. 421.

89. Boyd v. Harris, 2 Md. Ch. 210, holding, however, that laches in the enforcement of such liens after breach of condition will bar the rights of the heirs whose claims remain unpaid.

The heir who takes the property becomes by its acceptance and the decree of the court the owner in fee simple of the premises, and since he cannot occupy the position of both creditor and debtor, the lien, so far as it affects his share of the premises, is extinguished. Stecker v. Shimer, 5 Whart. (Pa.) 452.

90. Whitman v. Watson, 16 Me. 461.

91. In re Kreider, 18 Pa. St. 374, holding that a valuation made by the jurors taking the average of their separate estimates is not invalid where there was no previous agreement to be bound by the result.

92. Gibbs v. Clagett, 2 Gill & J. (Md.) 14, holding that in such cases an auditor should be directed to state an account between the parties.

93. Seaton v. Barry, 4 Watts & S. (Pa.) 183; Com. v. Hantz, 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 333; Dauphin County Orphans' Ct. v. Groff, 14 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 181.

94. Knauss' Estate, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 584. See also Com. v. McIntire, 8 Pa. St. 295, holding that a sheriff's sale on execution for the debts of the ancestor discharges lands held by an heir in partition proceedings, from the lien of recognizances given to secure to the other heirs their shares of the valuation, but that the debt so secured is not wholly discharged if the amount due on the recognizance was more than sufficient to pay the debts of the ancestor for which the land was liable; and that in such cases the heir accepting the estate is not entitled to participate in the surplus arising from the sale if insufficient to pay the amount secured by the recognizance.

95. Com. v. Hantz, 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 333.

96. Smith v. Scudder, 11 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 325; Walton v. Willis, 1 Dall. (Pa.) 351, 1 L. ed. 171.

97. Robbins v. Gleason, 47 Me. 259; Thayer v. Thayer, 7 Pick. (Mass.) 209.

98. Davis' Estate, 3 Leg. Gaz. (Pa.) 77.

d. Notice of Proceedings. Where it is required by statute that in the partition of a decedent's estate all the parties interested must be notified, a party who has had no notice of such proceedings will not be bound thereby;[99] but such proceedings are valid as to all parties who have had such notice, although void as to others.[1]

e. Necessity of Return of Division, and Acceptance by Court. The distribution of the real estate of a decedent, when completed, derives all of its force and effect from the decree of the court accepting and confirming the return of the distributers,[2] and therefore such return, acceptance, and confirmation are absolutely necessary to the validity of such a distribution.[3]

f. Setting Aside Division. A division of an intestate's property will be set aside where by mistake property not belonging to the estate has been included,[4] or where there has been fraud or collusion in the division.[5]

11. Conveyances and Other Transactions Between Heirs and Distributees — a. In General. The rule is well established that in the absence of fraud, accident, mistake, or prejudice to creditors, conveyances and other transactions between heirs and distributees will be sustained both at law and in equity.[6]

99. State v. St. Gemme, 31 Mo. 230; Proctor v. Newhall, 17 Mass. 81; Rice v. Smith, 14 Mass. 431; Smith v. Rice, 11 Mass. 507.

1. Rice v. Smith, 14 Mass. 431.

2. Gates v. Treat, 17 Conn. 388; Mellus v. Snowman, 21 Me. 201; Cogswell v. Reed, 12 Me. 198.

3. Cogswell v. Reed, 12 Me. 198.

Where different returns are made by commissioners, the court will not act on either, but will appoint a new commission. Watson v. Northumberland, 11 Ves. Jr. 153, 32 Eng. Reprint 1046.

4. State v. Judges Burlington County Orphans' Ct., 5 N. J. L. 554.

5. Clark v. Christine, 4 Rob. (La.) 196.

Where a creditor, in order to reach the property, sues to annul not merely the judgment but the partition itself on the ground of fraud and collusion, he must bring his action in the district court and not the probate court. Clark v. Christine, 12 La. 394.

6. Alabama.— Hamilton v. Clements, 17 Ala. 201.

Indiana.— Burgess v. Burgess, 2 Ind. 541.

Kentucky.— Bland v. Gaither, 11 S. W. 423, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 1033, holding that where part of the heirs of a decedent agreed to pay to the others specific sums of money for the purpose of equalizing advancements that had been made, and on the consideration that the promisees would not contest the will of the decedent, it would be presumed that the promisors did not agree to pay more than the value of the estate.

Maryland.— Willson v. Blount, 93 Md. 30, 48 Atl. 714, holding that specific performance of contract for the sale of lands of an intestate to an heir by his co-heirs, the purchase-money to be credited on the distributive share of the purchaser, would not be enforced where the assets had not been collected by the administrator, but the court in such case would direct an assignment of the funds in the hands of the administrator to the selling heirs, to the extent of the purchase-money to be paid on such sale.

Michigan.— Shafter v. Huntington, 53 Mich. 310, 19 N. W. 11, holding that a deed from a joint heir conveyed his undivided interest only.

Missouri.— Richardson v. Cole, 160 Mo. 372, 61 S. W. 182, holding that where an intestate left personalty and no debts, and his heirs, all of whom were of age, by written instrument assigned their interests in the property to one of their number, who took possession thereof, the public administrator, who obtained letters of administration twelve years afterward, could not recover the property from such heir.

New York.—Williams v. Whittell, 69 N. Y. App. Div. 340, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 820, holding that an agreement entered into between a father and his children that a letter written by the deceased wife on the day of her death directing the distribution of her property should be regarded as her last will was valid and binding in the absence of fraud, although such letter was invalid as a will. See also Chauvet v. Ives, 62 N. Y. App. Div. 339, 71 N. Y. Suppl. 29, agreement as to a will which was invalid as to real estate.

Pennsylvania.—Brenneman's Estate, 17 Pa. Super. Ct. 75, holding that a written agreement under seal between heirs, in the nature of a family settlement, for the purpose of equalizing distribution, and based on its own recitals of "valuable consideration," was a binding and enforceable obligation. See also Heller's Appeal, 116 Pa. St. 534, 8 Atl. 790 (agreement between children and widow entitled to dower); Ermold v. Newkirk, 16 Pa. St. 417; In re Goodbread's Estate, 9 Pa. Dist. 710, 24 Pa. Co. Ct. 427, holding that an agreement between a father and his sons in relation to his wife's estate, which the father understood at the time of execution, would be upheld, although one of the sons was a lawyer, where it did not appear that the father was his client, since it is the influence of a parent over his child and not of a child over his parent which requires the watchful care of the courts.

South Carolina.—Ex p. Yown, 17 S. C. 532, holding that where a widow, by agreement

b. Release of Rights to Co-Heirs and Agreements as to Division of Estate — (i) In General. In the absence of fraud or unfair dealing amounting to fraud, releases between co-heirs of their rights in real or personal property, and agreements entered into between them for a division of the estate, are valid and will be enforced.[7] If gross fraud can be shown a family settlement may be set aside, with the children upon her husband's death, released her dower in the lands of the husband to the children, taking from them a deed of one sixth thereof in fee, on condition that they should support her if she became needy, and they did not perform the condition, although she became needy, they could not claim the land as against her heirs at law, whether the agreement and deed were construed together, or the deed alone considered.

Texas.— Williams v. Emberson, 22 Tex. Civ. App. 522, 55 S. W. 595, holding that a receipt from a son to his father, executed on consideration and acknowledging and relinquishing all of his interest in his estate inherited from his mother, was valid as a conveyance of such interest.

Wisconsin.—Barker v. Barker, 14 Wis. 131, purchase by widow of shares of some of the heirs, and payment with accounts of the estate against such heirs not accounted for to probate court.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 318.

7. Alabama.— Campbell v. Larmore, 84 Ala. 499, 4 So. 593, holding that an agreement by one of several heirs and her husband to accept from the other heirs a specified sum in full settlement of the question of advances was a sufficient consideration to support a promise by the other heirs to pay the same.

Connecticut.— Hurlbut v. Phelps, 30 Conn. 42, sustaining an agreement between a surviving partner and the heirs of the deceased partner for settlement of the partnership affairs and the estate of the deceased partner.

Georgia.— Fulton v. Smith, 27 Ga. 413, sustaining an agreement between all of the children of a family that certain advances made by the father to the sons when he was of infirm mind should be set aside and his whole estate divided, with an advantage to each son of one thousand dollars.

Illinois.— Comer v. Comer, 120 Ill. 420, 11 N. E. 848, sustaining a written agreement of a testamentary character between a widow and the children, providing for the disposal of property, but held void as a will for not conforming to the statute regulating wills.

Indiana.— Shuee v. Shuee, 100 Ind. 477 (holding that where a widow had received gifts from her husband during his lifetime, an agreement by her with the heirs to accept an amount less than her distributive share was valid in the absence of fraud); Biddle v. Pierce, 13 Ind. App. 239, 41 N. E. 475 (sustaining a compromise of a suit in which it was sought to revive advancements canceled by a decedent when he was alleged to have been of unsound mind, by agreeing to such revival upon the payment of money).

Iowa.—Sloan v. Moffatt, 41 Iowa 271, holding that if heirs or distributees agree to accept specific property as their share of an estate, the value of which is overestimated, they are still bound by such agreement. See also Roger v. Gillett, 56 Iowa 266, 9 N. W. 204, as to running of the statute of limitations against action for extra allowance upon final distribution under agreement between heirs.

Kentucky.— Sieve v. Steinride, 1 S. W. 672, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 347 (sustaining an agreement between a surviving husband and the heirs of the deceased wife to distribute real estate held by the wife in accordance with arrangements between the husband and wife during her lifetime); Newman v. Newman, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 534 (agreements between distributees with reference to distribution). See also Wakefield v. Gilliland, 18 S. W. 768, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 845 (division by children among themselves of notes of their father, with stipulation that the renewal of any of such notes, made payable to any one of them, should be treated as so much money received); Davis v. Davis, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 46 (compromise in writing by heir accepting certain property, with money, in lieu of other property claimed by him at appraisal as his individually, and permitting without protest an appraisal of all of the property not surrendered to him).

Louisiana.—Williams v. Drew, 47 La. Ann. 1622, 18 So. 623, sustaining an agreement by an heir of one of two joint owners of real estate with the widow and heirs of the other, relinquishing all his rights in the common property except as to a portion reserved, in consideration of their recognition of his rights in such reserved portion.

Michigan.— McDaniels v. Walker, 44 Mich. 83, 6 N. W. 112, holding that crops raised by an heir upon land taken by him in a division of the estate with his co-heirs pending administration belonged to him, although the land was subsequently sold by the administrator to pay the decedent's debts.

Missouri.— Carter v. Alexander, 71 Mo. 585, holding that in an agreement by heirs to "give" the widow of the decedent a certain sum of money and land as her portion, the word "give," as to the money, meant to pay, and as to land it meant to convey.

New Jersey.— Rowden v. Murphy, (Ch. 1890) 20 Atl. 379.

New York.— Sears v. Shafer, 1 Barb. 408 [affirmed in 6 N. Y. 268], setting aside release by one of the heirs during her last illness because of her mental condition and ignorance.

Ohio.— White v. Brocaw, 14 Ohio St. 339, sustaining compromise between heirs.

Pennsylvania.—Palethrop's Estate, 168 Pa. St. 98, 31 Atl. 885; Patterson's Appeal, 116 Pa. St. 8, 11 Atl. 70; Weaver v. Roth, 105 Pa. St. 408; Cocker's Estate, 1 Pa. Dist. 158, parol agreement between widow and children of decedent that widow should have the personal property.

even where it has been acquiesced in for a long period of time by the complaining party;[8] and in case of a release between heirs, the concealment of any material fact from the party making the release by the party to whom it is made, where the parties do not stand on equal terms, will be treated as unfairness amounting to fraud, for which the release may be set aside.[9] It has been held that an agreement between heirs to divide an estate, whereby one would lose a part of his inheritance by reason of a misconstruction of the law, if made without consideration, is not binding upon the heir who would thus lose thereby.[10] Written agreements entered into between heirs for a distribution of the property between them left by their ancestors are given a liberal construction by the courts.[11]

(II) SETTLEMENT AND DISTRIBUTION WITHOUT ADMINISTRATION. It has been said that agreements between heirs and distributees to divide the property of deceased persons without administration are not to be encouraged.[12] In most jurisdictions, however, it is held that where all of the parties in interest are of age they may make such a distribution of the estate as they choose, without administration, so long as they do not leave the decedent's debts unpaid.[13] The legal title to the personal estate of an intestate is vested in his administrator, but possession of the distributive shares obtained by distributees under voluntary distribution without administration confers an equitable title which will be enforced by the courts;[14] and by the weight of authority a promise made by a distributee to a co-distributee to pay a certain sum for his distributive share, under such a distribution, is supported by sufficient consideration to sustain action thereon.[15]

c. Rights of Minor Heirs. Minor heirs are not concluded by agreements among the other heirs that one of their number shall take temporary letters of administration to save expense to the estate,[16] or by voluntary distributions made during their minority, although they may ratify them upon becoming of age, in which case such distribution is effective as to all parties from the date of such ratification.[17]

South Carolina.— Kennedy v. Badgett, 19 S. C. 591 (acceptance of a life-estate, in lieu of an absolute estate, in a valid family settlement, extinguishes such absolute estate); Barnes v. Cunningham, 9 Rich. Eq. 475.

Tennessee.— Buck v. Buck, 4 Baxt. 392, holding that a written agreement between the widow and heirs of an intestate to divide the personal estate of the intestate among them applied to the whole estate.

Vermont.— Hubbard v. Ricart, 3 Vt. 207, 23 Am. Dec. 198, sustaining a deed of real estate to one heir from all the others, made in the same year as the death of the decedent, as equivalent to a division by act of law.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distributon," § 319.

8. Palethrop's Estate, 168 Pa. St. 98, 31 Atl. 885.

9. Sears v. Shafer, 1 Barb. (N. Y.) 408 [affirmed in 6 N. Y. 268].

10. Pegues v. Haden, 76 Tex. 94, 13 S. W. 17. See also Haven v. Foster, 9 Pick. (Mass.) 112, 19 Am. Dec. 353, holding that an heir who had lost part of her inheritance by reason of mistake of law could recover back her proportional share from her co-heirs after release and settlement.

11. Carter v. Alexander, 71 Mo. 585; Buck v. Buck, 4 Baxt. (Tenn.) 392.

12. Wright v. Wright, Mart. & Y. (Tenn.) 43.

13. Alabama.— McCaa v. Woolf, 42 Ala. 389.

Georgia.— Amis v. Cameron, 55 Ga. 449; Desverges v. Desverges, 31 Ga. 753.

Louisiana.— Ducloslange's Succession, 1 La. Ann. 181.

Michigan.— Foote v. Foote, 61 Mich. 181, 28 N. W. 90.

Mississippi.— Kilcrease v. Shelby, 23 Miss. 161, ratification by infants in legal proceedings after becoming of age.

New Hampshire.— Woodman v. Rowe, 59 N. H. 453; Clarke v. Clay, 31 N. H. 393.

South Carolina.— Glasgow v. Martin, 1 Strobh. 87.

Vermont.— Reed v. Reed, 56 Vt. 492; Taylor v. Phillips, 30 Vt. 238.

But see Munson v. Munson, 3 Day (Conn.) 260; Rousch v. Hundley, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 445, 3 West. L. Month. 126.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 320. See also supra, IV, A, 4, c, (II); IV, A, d, (I).

14. McCaa v. Woolf, 42 Ala. 389.

15. Glasgow v. Martin, 1 Strobh. (S. C.) 87; Reed v. Reed, 56 Vt. 492. But see Munson v. Munson, 3 Day (Conn.) 260, where the contrary was held.

16. Josey v. Rogers, 13 Ga. 478.

17. Kilcrease v. Shelby, 23 Miss. 161.

12. Conveyances and Assignments by Heirs and Distributees — a. In General. As a general rule, subject to the rights of the administrator and of creditors, heirs to real estate or distributees of personal estate can make valid conveyances, leases, or assignments of their interests in such property upon the death of their ancestor.[18]

18. Alabama.—Heirs may convey land subject to the statutory rights of the administrator. Cruikshank v. Luttrell, 67 Ala. 318; Bell v. Craig, 52 Ala. 215; Leavens v. Butler, 8 Port. 380.

Arkansas.— Winningham v. Holloway, 51 Ark. 385, 11 S. W. 579, personal property.

California.— Berry v. Eyraud, 134 Cal. 82, 66 Pac. 74 (lease of real estate); Spotts v. Hanley, 85 Cal. 155, 24 Pac. 738 (sale and conveyance of land subject to the administrator's right to take possession and sell under order of the court for the payment of debts).

Connecticut.— While it is true as a general proposition that the title to personal property vests in an executor or administrator, yet he is a mere trustee for creditors and for heirs or legatees; and where the property is not wanted for the payment of debts and is rightfully in the possession of the persons who have the equitable title to it by conveyance from heirs or distributees, the naked title of the executor or administrator is not sufficient in equity against such equitable title and rightful possession. Woodhouse v. Phelps, 51 Conn. 521.

Florida.— Stewart v. Mathews, 19 Fla. 752, conveyance of land by children of deceased owner, without administration.

Georgia.— Cross v. Johnson, 82 Ga. 67, 8 S. E. 56 (holding that heirs may lease real estate and collect rents until the administrator takes possession as authorized by the statute); Johnson v. Johnson, 80 Ga. 260, 5 S. E. 629 (sale of real estate leaving the same subject to administration for the payment of debts). Where there are no debts the heirs may agree that real estate shall not be administered but sold at private sale, and where they join in a deed directly conveying the same to a purchaser the purchaser acquires a good title. See Johnson v. Hall, 101 Ga. 687, 29 S. E. 37.

Illinois.— Vansyckle v. Richardson, 13 Ill. 171, real estate.

Indiana.— Mitchell v. Dickson, 53 Ind. 110, personal property.

Iowa.— Russell v. Smith, 115 Iowa 261, 88 N. W. 361, holding that the purchaser of an heir's interest in the decedent's lands takes subject to advancements made by decedent, although he purchases without notice; but that if he purchases pending administration he does not take subject to debts which the heir owed the decedent, the claim not being a lien until reduced to judgment.

Massachusetts.—Poor v. Robinson, 10 Mass. 131, real estate.

Michigan.— Huron Land Co. v. Robarge, 128 Mich. 686, 87 N. W. 1032, real estate. See also Flood v. Strong, 108 Mich. 561, 66 N. W. 473; Armstrong v. Loomis, 97 Mich. 577, 56 N. W. 938.

New Jersey.— Herbert v. Tuthill, 1 N. J. Eq. 141, real estate.

New York.— Gardner v. Barden, 34 N. Y. 433 (holding that an assignment by the heirs of one of the holders of a mortgage to the mortgagor is valid, and is a sufficient consideration to support a promise to pay therefor); Covell v. Weston, 20 Johns. 414 (real estate); Leyman v. Abeel, 16 Johns. 30 (holding that a right of common is an incorporeal hereditament descending jointly, and must be conveyed by all of the heirs to give a valid title). As to the rights of heirs of soldiers to military lands under letters patent issued after death of decedent see Jackson v. Howe, 14 Johns. 405; Jackson v. Winslow, 2 Johns. 80.

Pennsylvania.— Anderson v. Brinser, 129 Pa. St. 376, 11 Atl. 809, 18 Atl. 520, 6 L. R. A. 205, holding that a claimant of land under a parol contract with the heir must show authority from such heir to act for the others.

Tennessee.— Smith v. Thomas, 14 Lea 324; Towles v. Towles, 1 Head 601, both of which were conveyances of real estate.

Texas.— Ackerman v. Smiley, 37 Tex. 211, real and personal estate. See Morris v. Halbert, 36 Tex. 19, holding that heirs might take the property of their deceased ancestor, and pay his debts, without bringing the estate within the jurisdiction of the probate court; and if in pursuing this course they should sell portions of the property and make proper application of the proceeds to the payment of the debts, their acts would be entitled to full faith and credit, as though they acted in the capacity of administrators or executors.

Vermont.— Austin v. Bailey, 37 Vt. 219, 86 Am. Dec. 703; Hyde v. Barney, 17 Vt. 280, 44 Am. Dec. 335, both of which cases were conveyances of real estate.

Virginia.— Where under a marriage settlement the husband is entitled to the interest of his wife in lands of her father, he can convey such interest as against his children. Tabb v. Archer, 7 Gratt. (Va.) 408.

Canada.— Spafford v. Breakenridge, 1 U. C. C. P. 492, heir may convey before entry.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 322.

Prior to sale under power in will.— That an heir may sell and convey or mortgage land prior to a sale by executors under a naked power in his ancestor's will see Herbert v. Tuthill, 1 N. J. Eq. 141. See also supra, IV, A, 4, b, (II).

As to personal property some courts have held, contrary to some of the cases above cited, that the heirs or distributees cannot transfer title before administration. Pritchard v. Norwood, 155 Mass. 539, 30 N. E.

b. Conveyance by Presumptive Heir. The right of a presumptive heir which entitles him to enter into and enjoy a portion of the estate of an ancestor who has disappeared is a personal interest merely, not partaking of the realty; and therefore such interest, where the heir is a married woman, may be conveyed by her husband.[19] The title of an absent ancestor cannot be affected by a sale by his heirs without legal proceedings, although letters of administration on his estate may be granted after an absence of seven years.[20]

c. Construction and Operation of Conveyance. All deeds of conveyance by heirs[21] and all agreements therefor[22] are construed strictly in accordance with the language used therein, it being conclusively presumed that the parties have said what they meant in such instruments. In transactions relating to real estate the provisions of the statute of frauds must be complied with;[23] and in those relating to property generally, the distinctions between real and personal estate must be observed.[24] Such instruments are governed by the legal effect of the language used therein, and not by the supposed intent of the parties.[25] An heir

80; Lawrence v. Wright, 23 Pick. (Mass.) 128. See Gouldsmith v. Coleman, 57 Ga. 425, holding that, although a widow be the sole distributee of her intestate husband's estate, and although the whole estate be subject to be set apart to her for a year's support, she has no legal authority, before it is so set apart and before administration is granted, to deliver personal property of the estate to a creditor of the husband in payment of his debt, even if the debt be in part for the purchase-money of the same property. See also supra, IV, A, 4, c.

Assignment of note.— See Mitchell v. Dickson, 53 Ind. 110, holding that the widow of the deceased payee of a promissory note, the other heirs having assigned said note by indorsement to her, there being no debts of the decedent to be paid, and the estate having been settled without administration, may maintain an action in her own name on said note. On the other hand see Pritchard v. Norwood, 155 Mass. 539, 30 N. E. 80, holding that if the sole heir and distributee of an intestate estate free from debt, upon which no administration is taken out in his lifetime, takes possession of the entire estate including a promissory note, believing that he has a right to do so, and transfers the note upon a good consideration, the transferee gains no title to the note, legal or equitable, as against an administrator of the estate appointed after the distributee's death. See also supra, IV, A, 4, d; infra, IV, A, 13, a, (II).

Assignment of judgment.— In an Arkansas case it was held that a judgment recovered by an administrator belongs to the distributees of his intestate, subject to the payment of debts and expenses of administration; and where they assign it during the administration their assignee acquires such interest therein as they will be entitled to when the estate is fully settled and the administrator discharged. Winningham v. Holloway, 51 Ark. 385, 11 S. W. 579.

After a sale of land by an executor under power in a will a subsequent conveyance of the same by heirs of the testator is void, as the latter have no title. Herbemont v. Bostick, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 435.

Conveyances by surviving spouse see supra, IV, A, 9, c.

19. Westover v. Aime, 11 Mart. (La.) 443.

20. Mayhugh v. Rosenthal, 1 Cinc. Super. Ct. 492.

21. Where land has descended from a decedent to his daughter, and upon her death to a brother of the decedent, a conveyance from the brother of all interest in his brother's property does not pass title to such land. Allen v. Allen, 55 N. C. 235. A sale by the heir to a succession of "all movables and immovables," and "all rights he might have thereto," was held to pass articles of gold and precious stones in the tomb of the ancestor. Ternant v. Boudreau, 6 Rob. (La.) 488. Where one of the children of an intestate conveyed all his interest in the estate by a deed reciting that it did not embrace his interest that might accrue in the estate of his mother, widow of the intestate, it was held that the deed on its face conveyed all the grantor's interest in the estate, and that, as the mother's dower interest was for life only, and could not descend, the reservation did not apply to such interest, but to such estate in fee in the estate or in other lands as she might have acquired. Bottorff v. Lewis, (Iowa 1903) 95 N. W. 262.

22. An agreement by one of the heirs to sell all of his interest in the real estate of his father, "except so much" thereof as should be coming to another heir upon the death of the widow, was held to be an agreement to convey two thirds of his interest in the real estate of his father. Ludwig v. Leonard, 9 Watts & S. (Pa.) 44.

23. Fletcher v. Carter, 10 Cush. (Mass.) 81. See, generally, FRAUDS, STATUTE OF.

24. Life-insurance policies are for the benefit of those named as beneficiaries therein, and are no part of the estate of a decedent; and a conveyance by an heir of all demands against the estate does not convey his interest as one of such beneficiaries. Burwell v. Snow, 107 N. C. 82, 11 S. E. 1090.

25. A sale of realty by an heir, "subject to the payment of the widow's dower to the legal heirs" of the father, on the widow's who loses by conveyance of real estate subject to encumbrances cannot have recourse to personalty for reimbursement.[26]

d. Assignment or Release of Distributive Share — (I) In General. The interest of an heir or distributee in the estate of a decedent who has died intestate may be assigned;[27] but the intent to make such an assignment, when not accompanied by delivery, should be clearly expressed in the instrument,[28] and the consideration must be legal[29] and adequate where the parties do not stand on equal terms, or the transaction may be impeached in equity for fraud.[30]

(II) By Widow. A widow may assign her interest in her deceased husband's estate, and such assignment is sufficient in equity to pass such interest to her assignees.[31]

(III) To Legatee or Devisee. Heirs or distributees may release or assign their rights in favor of devisees or legatees;[32] but a letter written by an heir at law of a decedent, offering to release any claim he may have upon the property which has been devised by will to one who is not an heir, in case the will is set death, was held to entitle him to recover of the purchasers, against whom he had foreclosed a mortgage given to secure the purchase-money, his portion of the charge as one of his father's heirs. Lamm v. Rick, 1 Woodw. (Pa.) 458. See also Updegrove v. Updegrove, 1 Pa. St. 136. A conveyance by the heirs of the widow's dower in the lands of her husband during her lifetime, where there has been no division of the estate among them, describing such dower as real estate set off to them, does not convey their reversion expectant upon the termination of the estate in dower. Swift v. Prentice, 11 Metc. (Mass.) 464. But a conveyance by heirs of real estate, excepting the widow's right of dower, passes the reversion in the widow's portion. Canedy v. Marcy, 13 Gray (Mass.) 373.

26. A sale by an heir of mortgaged real estate, without application to the administrator to redeem, precludes him from subsequent recourse to the personal estate for assistance. Haven v. Foster, 9 Pick. (Mass.) 112, 19 Am. Dec. 353.

27. Alabama.— Spear v. Banks, 125 Ala. 227, 27 So. 979; Graham v. Abercrombie, 8 Ala. 552.

California.—Freeman v. Rahm, 58 Cal. 111.

Iowa.— Thornton v. Mulquinne, 12 Iowa 549, 79 Am. Dec. 548.

Kentucky.— Pirtle v. Cowan, 4 Dana (Ky.) 302.

Louisiana.— Sallier v. Rosteet, 108 La. 378, 32 So. 383.

Nebraska.— Chick v. Ives, (1902) 90 N. W. 751.

New York.— Stover v. Eycleshimer, 4 Abb. Dec. 309, 3 Keyes 620, 3 Transcr. App. 390 [affirming 46 Barb. 84]; In re Stephens, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 990.

United States.—Shaw v. Shaw, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 12,724, 4 Cranch C. C. 715.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 326.

Assignment by husband of distributee.— At common law a wife's distributive share of property may be assigned by her husband, so as to bind it, before division has been made, although it is not subject to execution until afterward. Dozier v. Muse, 9 N. C. 482.

Attack by creditors on assignment.— The validity of a distributee's assignment of his share cannot be contested by his creditors at the administrator's accounting. Duncan v. Guest, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 440.

Jurisdiction to determine validity.— The validity of a widow's assignment of her distributive share, where it was made to the administrator and fraud is charged in procuring it, cannot be determined by the surrogate's court. Woodruff v. Woodruff, 3 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 505. See also infra, IV, A, 12, e, (VI).

28. Relinquishment by a father to his son's widow of his right to a share in the son's estate, without deed or delivery, will not prevent the father from recovering his distributive share in equity. Bullock v. Tinnen, 4 N. C. 251, 6 Am. Dec. 562.

A power of attorney given by an heir to receive his distributive share of an estate, to one who has purchased such share, does not constitute a transfer of the title thereto. Freeman v. Rahm, 58 Cal. 111.

A written instrument from an heir in favor of his creditor, acknowledging the indebtedness and transferring his interest in the estate to such creditor, is not valid as a conveyance, there being no price fixed or extinguishment of the debt. Forbes v. Burke, 24 La. Ann. 85.

29. A conveyance by heirs to secure payment for performance of an unlawful act is void. Simmons v. Kincaid, 5 Sneed (Tenn.) 450.

30. Releases from needy heirs who are just of age and who are ignorant of their rights, obtained on an inadequate consideration and by representations that their claims are worthless, are voidable in equity. Hallett v. Collins, 10 How. (U. S.) 174, 13 L. ed. 376.

31. Powell v. Powell, 10 Ala. 900.

Conveyances by surviving spouse see also supra, IV, A, 9, c.

32. Brooks v. Meadville First Presb. Church, 128 Pa. St. 408, 18 Atl. 506.

aside, is not sufficient to convey his interest to such person.[33] Nor is a written agreement of like character between such parties sufficient, where it is not under seal, unless there is proof of a consideration.[34] Where a formal release has been executed and the claim of fraud in its procurement is set up, its validity is a question for the jury.[35]

(IV) To Executor or Administrator. Assignments may be made by heirs and distributees to executors or administrators,[36] but they are strictly construed,[37] and must be free from fraud [38] or unfair dealing where the parties do not stand on equal terms, or they may be set aside in equity.[39] The compromise of a suit brought by heirs against executors or administrators by reason of a fraudulent transaction in relation to the estate is conclusive as against the heirs.[40]

e. Rights and Liabilities of Purchasers or Assignees — (I) In General. When an heir or distributee assigns his interest in an unsettled estate, the effect is to divest him of his title or right and vest the same in the assignee, who may maintain an action for such interest in his own name under the statutes allowing assignees to sue;[41] but the assignment cannot in any way affect the condition of the administrator or of the estate.[42] The purchaser or assignee occupies the same position that his assignor or grantor occupied, taking the interest granted, with all of the grantor's rights and subject to all of his liabilities.[43]

33. Patterson's Appeal, 116 Pa. St. 8, 11 Atl. 70.

34. Patterson's Appeal, 116 Pa. St. 8, 11 Atl. 70.

35. Brooks v. Meadville First Presb. Church, 128 Pa. St. 408, 18 Atl. 506.

36. Effect of assignment as to indebtedness of assignor.— Assignment of an interest in an intestate's estate to the administrator does not discharge the assignor from liability on notes given to the intestate. Rogers v. Squires, 98 N. Y. 49.

37. A release under seal from the heirs to the administrator of an intestate, upon receipt of their distributive shares, releasing all claims upon the estate, both real and personal, was held not to include a right of entry reserved by the intestate in land granted to a church, which was to be forfeited upon any change of creed or use for other purposes. Wilcoxon v. Harrison, 32 Ga. 480.

38. Where a sale had been made by an administrator to himself with consent of part of the heirs, a subsequent release from all of the heirs was held invalid as to those who did not authorize the original sale and had no knowledge thereof, it not appearing that they accepted any benefits therefrom. Latham v. Barney, 14 Fed. 433, 4 McCrary 587.

39. Where a large bequest for charitable purposes was void by law, and the heir of the testator, while young, needy, inefficient, unacquainted with business, and having no time before probate of the will to consult counsel, upon representations of the executors, men of experience and one of them a lawyer, that the bequest was valid, executed to them a release for an inadequate consideration, it was held that the release was invalid. Wheeler v. Smith, 9 How. (U. S.) 55, 13 L. ed. 44.

Jurisdiction of surrogate's court.— In Woodruff v. Woodruff, 3 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 505, it was held that the surrogate's court had no jurisdiction to determine the validity of an assignment from a widow to the administrator of her husband, alleged to have been procured by fraud.

40. Dunlap v. Petrie, 35 Miss. 590.

41. Graham v. Abercrombie, 8 Ala. 552.

Individual claims against the estate cannot be joined in such an action. Petty v. Wafford, 11 Ala. 143, holding that the claim due the assignee of a distributee cannot be joined with a claim due him in right of his wife in a suit against the estate.

42. Evans v. Robinson, 5 B. Mon. (Ky.) 589.

43. Alabama.— Cook v. Parham, 63 Ala. 456, holding that an assignment by the heirs or devisees of a mortgagee of the debt secured by the mortgage passes a valid equity against all but creditors of the estate, whose rights cannot be affected thereby.

Arkansas.— Wilson v. Slaughter, 53 Ark. 137, 13 S. W. 515, holding that where an intestate's property was mortgaged for one third of its value to secure the debt of one of his heirs who was insolvent, a purchaser of such heir's interest in the estate, with knowledge of the facts, acquired no right to the funds left after foreclosure and payment of the mortgage debt, as the said heir had no interest therein.

Connecticut.— Robbins v. Wolcott, 28 Conn. 396.

Indiana.— Miller v. Noble, 86 Ind. 527.

Kansas.— Head v. Speir, 66 Kan. 386, 71 Pac. 833.

Kentucky.— Evans v. Robinson, 5 B. Mon. 589, holding that if a distributee has been fully paid, his assignee acquires nothing by the assignment.

Louisiana.— Winn v. Dickson, 15 La. Ann. 273.

Maine.— Chandler v. Wilson, 77 Me. 76, one who succeeds to the title of a part of the heirs can recover their portion only.

Maryland.—Maccubbin v. Cromwell, 2 Harr. & G. 443.

Massachusetts.— Purchaser from heirs ex-

(II) Right to Take Property at Valuation. Under the Maryland statute directing the descent of property, a purchaser of the interest of one of the pectant of three fourths of an estate in reversion upon the death of the widow and the termination of her estate in dower, may recover on a writ of entry sur disseisin, unless a good defense can be shown. Tilson v. Thompson, 10 Pick. 359. But a quitclaim deed from the heir of a mortgagee, made before a decree of distribution, and before foreclosure of the mortgage, does not give the grantee sufficient title to maintain a writ of entry against the heir in possession of the land. Taft v. Stevens, 3 Gray 504.

Mississippi.— A purchaser from heirs is entitled to make any defense that such heirs would be entitled to make. Turner v. Ellis, 24 Miss. 173. A purchaser from an administrator at private sale takes a valid title to the extent of such administrator's interest in the estate as distributee, and the remedy of the heirs in such a case is in equity. Cable v. Martin, 1 How. 558.

Missouri.— The assignee of the interest of an heir in an estate is in the same position that the heir would be in if he had not assigned, and he cannot object to acts of the administrator done at the request of his assignor. Vanhorn v. Walker, 27 Mo. App. 78, objection to compromise of widow's claim for dower, and allowance of attorney's fees by assignee.

North Carolina.— Allen v. Smitherman, 41 N. C. 341.

Pennsylvania.— Transfer by the heirs of a share of the estate of an ancestor gives a good title except as against creditors; distributees have at least an equitable interest that may be subject to sale or assignment. Trustees v. Grubb, 5 Phila. 41.

South Carolina.— A purchaser from one of several co-heirs may maintain trespass to try title without joining the other co-heirs. Perry v. Walker, 1 Brev. 103.

Texas.— Vaughan v. Greer, 38 Tex. 530.

Vermont.— Upon the death of his ancestor the heir may make a valid deed of his interest in lands of the decedent, the grantee holding subject to the lien of the administrator. Austin v. Bailey, 37 Vt. 219, 86 Am. Dec. 703.

West Virginia.— Tracey v. Shumate, 22 W. Va. 474.

United States.— McPherson v. Mississippi Valley Trust Co., 122 Fed. 367, 58 C. C. A. 455.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 330.

Assignment prima facie valid.— An assignment by an heir or distributee, without proof of execution, is prima facie valid, and will be received as prima facie evidence, unless full proof is required by the opposite party. Maccubbin v. Cromwell, 2 Harr. & G. (Md.) 443.

Effect of unrecorded deed of ancestor.— A bona fide purchaser from an heir takes the estate as against the holder of an unrecorded deed from the ancestor. Vaughan v. Greer, 38 Tex. 530.

Assignee bound by judgments and orders.—An assignee of the interest of a man in the estate of his deceased wife under an assignment made while the estate is in process of administration in a probate court is bound by the orders and judgments of such court to the same extent as the assignor. Such an assignee does not acquire title to any specific property by the assignment, but merely the right to such property or funds as may be awarded to the assignor in the final distribution of the estate. McPherson v. Mississippi Valley Trust Co., 122 Fed. 367, 58 C. C. A. 455.

Deed from heirs of mortgagee.— Where by statute unforeclosed mortgages belonging to the estates of decedents are made personal assets, the right of the mortgagee or his representative to take possession of the mortgaged property does not descend to the heirs of the mortgagee; and deeds of such heirs can have no effect to transfer the mortgaged interest of the decedent in the absence of proof that the estate had been settled, and the debts paid, and that the mortgage upon a final distribution had been assigned to them. Albright v. Cobb, 30 Mich. 355.

Notes belonging to intestates.— Where it was not shown that a decedent owed no debts and that there was no administrator, it was held that an action on a note that belonged to the estate could not be maintained by one claiming title thereto by transfer from heirs or distributees. Knight v. Knight, 103 Ala. 484, 15 So. 834. But where the payee of a note died leaving no debts, and there was no administration, it was held that his distributees could transfer the note so as to vest an equitable title thereto in the assignee. Wood v. Weimar, 104 U. S. 786, 26 L. ed. 779. Where a daughter died intestate, leaving a note to which her mother was entitled as distributee, and the mother sold the same in good faith for a good consideration, without administration on the daughter's estate, but after the mother's death an administrator was appointed for the daughter's estate, it was held in replevin by the administrator for the note that the mother had no legal or equitable interest therein, and that the purchaser acquired no such title thereto as entitled him to equitable relief in an action at law. Pritchard v. Norwood, 155 Mass. 539, 30 N. E. 80. See also supra, IV, A, a, (IV).

Bona fide purchasers.— As to when bona fide purchasers will be protected see Stevens v. Woolsey, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 325; Vaughan v. Greer, 38 Tex. 530. A purchaser from an heir with notice of a will devising the property purchased away from such heir is not a bona fide purchaser within the meaning of the New York statute providing that the title of a bona fide purchaser, for value, from the heir of one who has died seized of lands, shall not be affected by a devise thereof, made by the latter, unless, within four years from the heirs has a right to elect to take such heir's portion of the decedent's real estate at the valuation placed upon it by the commissioners;[44] but such an election does not vest in him the legal estate of such heir in fee, until he pays the other heirs their proportions of the value or executes bonds for that purpose.[45] When this is done he takes the estate in fee as purchaser, and not by descent from the ancestor.[46]

(III) EQUITIES AND DEFENSES AGAINST PURCHASER OR ASSIGNEE. An assignee of a distributee of an estate takes subject to the equities to which the distributee was liable.[47] Lands of an intestate descend to an heir who is indebted to the estate subject to the estate's equity of payment of the debt, and a purchaser of the lands at a sheriff's sale, expressly subject to the equities of the estate, takes no more.[48] It has been held, however, in the absence of a statute, that a bona fide purchaser from an heir who is indebted to the estate acquires a good title, and that the property cannot as against him be subjected to the heir's debt to the estate, the remedy of the creditor being against the heir.[49]

(IV) DEBTS AND EXPENSES OF ADMINISTRATION. Personal property of an intestate is subject, even in the hands of purchasers from distributees before distribution, to payment of the debts of the estate and expenses of administration;[50] and under most of the statutes purchasers of land from heirs of an estate, who make such purchase before administration, take subject to the debts and to expenses incurred in the administration.[51] At common law, however, and under the statutes of some states, a bona fide purchaser of land from an heir takes it testator's death, the will is admitted to probate or established by the judgment of a court. Gilkinson v. Miller, 74 Fed. 131. Compare, as to effect of will, Markley v. Kramer, 66 Kan. 664, 72 Pac. 221. See also WILLS.

Lease by one of several heirs.— Where the decedent owned an undivided third interest in land, and one heir only joined with the other owners in a lease thereof as oil land, covenanting with the lessees not to build a saloon thereupon, it was held that the remaining heirs were entitled to be let into possession jointly with the lessees, who did not claim under the administrator, and that they might lease to third parties the right to build a saloon upon the premises, which did not directly disturb the operations of the first lessees. Berry v. Eyraud, 134 Cal. 82, 66 Pac. 74.

44. Jarrett v. Cooley, 6 Harr. & J. (Md.) 258.

45. Jarrett v. Cooley, 6 Harr. & J. (Md.) 258; Stevens v. Richardson, 6 Harr. & J. (Md.) 156.

46. Stevens v. Richardson, 6 Harr. & J. (Md.) 156.

47. Wilson v. Slaughter, 53 Ark. 137, 13 S. W. 515; Mullikin v. Mullikin, 1 Bland (Md.) 538; Smith v. Kearney, 2 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 533. And see Head v. Spier, 66 Kan. 386, 71 Pac. 833; Allen v. Smitherman, 41 N. C. 341; In re Donaldson, 23 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 260.

48. In re Donaldson, 23 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 260.

49. Towles v. Towles, 1 Head (Tenn.) 601. And see Smith v. Thomas, 14 Lea (Tenn.) 324.

50. Pritchard v. Norwood, 155 Mass. 539, 30 N. E. 80. And see supra, IV, A, 4, c.

51. Alabama.— Cruikshank v. Luttrell, 67 Ala. 318.

California.— Spotts v. Hanley, 85 Cal. 155, 24 Pac. 738.

Georgia.— Johnson v. Johnson, 80 Ga. 260, 5 S. E. 629.

Illinois.— Vansyckle v. Richardson, 13 Ill. 171.

Michigan.— Flood v. Strong, 108 Mich. 561, 66 N. W. 473; Armstrong v. Loomis, 97 Mich. 577, 589, 56 N. W. 938 [citing Winegar v. Newland, 44 Mich. 367, 6 N. W. 841; Burns v. Berry, 42 Mich. 176, 3 N. W. 924; Hill v. Mitchell, 40 Mich. 389].

Minnesota.— State v. Ramsey County Probate Ct., 25 Minn. 22.

New York.—See Covell v. Weston, 20 Johns. 414.

Vermont.— Austin v. Bailey, 37 Vt. 216, 86 Am. Dec. 703.

A purchaser of real estate under a judgment against the heir occupies no better position than he who purchases directly from the heir. Vansyckle v. Richardson, 13 Ill. 171.

Presumption of satisfaction of administrator's lien.— Although the grantee of an heir holds the land, as the heir did, subject to the administrator's lien, yet, even in a case where it is shown that administration was granted upon the estate, it will be presumed, after the lapse of a long time without any interference of the administrator, that his lien has been satisfied, especially when the party denying the right of the heir's grantee is a stranger to the title. Austin v. Bailey, 37 Vt. 216, 86 Am. Dec. 703.

Liability of heirs to refund purchase-money. — Purchasers of land from heirs before the estate is closed take it subject to the debts and expenses of administration, and the heirs are not liable to refund the money received free from liability for the decedent's debts,[52] and the remedy of the creditor, if any, is against the heir personally.[53]

(v) Taxes and Assessments. And such purchasers also take title subject to taxes and assessments.[54]

(vi) Determination and Enforcement of Rights in Proceedings For Distribution. In California it is expressly provided by statute that upon the distribution of an estate, if any of the heirs, legatees, or devisees have conveyed their shares, such shares must be assigned to the persons holding them in the same manner as they otherwise would have been to such heirs, legatees, or devisees,[55] and that a judgment or final order in an action or special proceeding before a court having jurisdiction shall be conclusive.[56] There are more or less similar provisions in the statutes of other states.[57] Where the statutes authorize it, probate courts in apportioning the estate may inquire into and determine the validity of conveyances and assignments made by heirs or distributees;[58] but in the absence of a statute conferring such authority, in terms or by necessary intendment, such courts have no jurisdiction to pass upon such questions, but are restricted to distribution to the heirs and distributees.[59]

13. Actions by Heirs and Distributees[60] — a. Right of Action and Conditions Precedent — (i) In General. As a general rule the distributees or next of kin of an intestate can maintain no suit, either at law or in equity, for the mere purpose of distribution, until letters of administration have been duly granted upon the estate.[61] But it has been held in some states that administration may be dis-on such sales to satisfy such claims. Armstrong v. Loomis, 97 Mich. 577, 56 N. W. 938.

52. Whittlesey v. Brohammer, 31 Mo. 98; Smith v. Thomas, 14 Lea (Tenn.) 324; Towles v. Towles, 1 Head (Tenn.) 601.

53. Liability of heirs see infra, IV, C.

54. Graham v. Dunnigan, 2 Bosw. (N. Y.) 516, holding that a widow in dower who had paid the whole taxes and assessments was entitled to recover from the grantees of the heirs their just proportion of the amount paid.

55. Freeman v. Rahm, 58 Cal. 111. See also In re Burton, 93 Cal. 459, 29 Pac. 36; Vaughn's Estate, 92 Cal. 192, 28 Pac. 221; In re Grider, 81 Cal. 571, 22 Pac. 908: In re Phillips, 71 Cal. 285, 12 Pac. 169. It has been held that the assignee of a deceased heir might have the assigned property distributed to him directly to pay a debt against such heir secured by such assignment, but that the court could not order the sale of real estate to pay such indebtedness, or distribute it for such a purpose where the assignment contained a defeasance in case of payment of the debt so secured. In re Hite, Myr. Prob. (Cal.) 232.

56. Freeman v. Rahm, 58 Cal. 111, holding that a decree of the probate court assigning to an heir his share of the estate was conclusive upon one who purchased it prior to the decree, as against an attaching creditor of the heir, it appearing that such purchaser had notice of the proceedings for distribution and failed to assert his rights therein.

57. See the statutes of the various states.

58. See In re Burton, 93 Cal. 459, 29 Pac. 36; Vaughn's Estate, 92 Cal. 192, 28 Pac. 221; Chever v. Ching Hong Poy, 82 Cal. 68, 22 Pac. 1081; In re Grider, 81 Cal. 571, 22 Pac. 908; Barnard v. Wilson, 74 Cal. 512, 16 Pac. 307; In re Phillips, 71 Cal. 285, 12 Pac. 169; Bath v. Valdez, 70 Cal. 350, 11 Pac. 724; Freeman v. Rahm, 58 Cal. 111; Theller v. Such, 57 Cal. 447; Sessions v. Mansfield, 33 Ga. Suppl. 9 (holding that in a suit by a guardian against an administrator for his ward's share of the estate it was held proper for the administrator to deposit the fund in court to abide the final decree); Balch v. Zentmeyer, 11 Gill & J. (Md.) 267; McGettrick's Appeal, 98 Pa. St. 9 (holding that the auditor appointed by the probate court to divide the proceeds of a sale of real estate, had authority to inquire into the validity of a deed of an heir conveying his interest therein).

59. Connecticut.—Holcomb v. Sherwood, 29 Conn. 418.

Maine.— Knowlton v. Johnson, 46 Me. 489.

Mississippi.—Read v. Brown, 36 Miss. 329; Locke v. Williams, 36 Miss. 187; Dixon v. Houston, 35 Miss. 636.

New Hampshire.— Wood v. Stone, 39 N. H. 572; Gage v. Gage, 29 N. H. 533.

New York.— Woodruff v. Woodruff, 3 Dem. Surr. 505.

Texas.— See Cox v. Cox, 77 Tex. 587, 14 S. W. 201.

Vermont.— Cox v. Ingleston, 30 Vt. 258.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 336.

60. Actions between heirs and distributees see infra, IV, A, 14.

Action against administrator see Executors and Administrators.

Action on administrator's bond see Executors and Administrators.

61. Alabama.— Sullivan v. Lawler, 72 Ala. 68; Fretwell v. McLemore, 52 Ala. 124; Lockhart v. Cameron, 29 Ala. 355; Plunkett v. Kelly, 22 Ala. 655; Gardner v. Gantt, 19 Ala. 666.

pensed with, and such a suit maintained, where there are no debts of the estate or they have been paid, and nothing remains but to reduce the assets to possession and distribute them among the heirs or next of kin.[62] In Louisiana heirs may maintain actions to establish their rights and to recover assets of the succession.[63]

(II) ACTIONS RELATING TO REAL PROPERTY. Where as in many states the right to possession as well as the title of an intestate's real property vests in the heirs, they are entitled to maintain actions in relation thereto before close of administration.[64] Under some statutes, however, because of express prohibition Arkansas.— Lemon v. Rector, 15 Ark. 436.

Kentucky.— Robertson v. McDaniel, 5 J. J. Marsh. 11.

Maryland.— Hogthorp v. Hook, 1 Gill & J. 270.

Mississippi.— Marshall v. King, 24 Miss. 85; Browning v. Watkins, 10 Sm. & M. 482.

Tennessee.— Thurman v. Shelton, 10 Yerg. 383.

62. Teal v. Chancellor, 117 Ala. 612, 23 So. 651; Wright v. Robinson, 94 Ala. 479, 10 So. 319; Cooper v. Davison, 86 Ala. 367, 5 So. 650; Trawick v. Davis, 85 Ala. 342, 5 So. 83; Fretwell v. McLemore, 52 Ala. 124; Marshall v. Crow, 29 Ala. 278; Vanderveer v. Alston, 16 Ala. 494; Bethea v. McColl, 5 Ala. 308; Watson v. Byrd, 53 Miss. 480; Hurt v. Fisher, 96 Tenn. 570, 35 S. W. 1085. Compare, however, Robertson v. McDaniel, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 11.

63. See Sallier v. Rosteet, 108 La. 378, 32 So. 383; McKenzie v. Bacon, 40 La. Ann. 157, 4 So. 65; Gillaspie v. Citizens' Bank, 30 La. Ann. 1315; Addison v. New Orleans Sav. Bank, 15 La. 527; Everett v. McKinney, 7 La. 375. An heir may sue to set aside the probate of a will and to obtain a judgment recognizing him as forced heir and vesting him with the seizin of the estate. Duperier v. Bervard, 107 La. 91, 31 So. 653. The forced heirs of a married woman have a legal right to sue the surviving husband for a specific amount of paraphernal funds of their deceased mother received by the father, if the latter has not been confirmed and qualified as their tutor during their minority. In such a case the father is their debtor under the rights of the mother, and they can enforce all her rights without recourse to an action for an account. Richardson v. Richardson, 38 La. Ann. 657.

Heir suing as administrator.—The fact that plaintiff in an hypothecary action to enforce a judgment which, as heir and administrator of his deceased mother, he had obtained against his father, fails to show that he was administrator of his mother does not prevent him from enforcing his rights as her heir. Cambre v. Grabert, 31 La. Ann. 533.

Estoppel by acts of deceased father.— Where a person dies leaving no descendants or ascendants, but a brother and children of a predeceased brother, the latter are called to the succession of their uncle by representation, the children representing their predeceased father; but, although thus representing their father, they do not derive their right to inherit from him, but from the law. Such right is not impaired or affected by any act of their father. Therefore they are not estopped from prosecuting a right of action derived the succession of their uncle, on account of acts or omissions of their father, although these acts or omissions might have estopped him (the father) had he survived the intestate from maintaining the action. McKenzie v. Bacon, 40 La. Ann. 157, 4 So. 65.

Community property.— Heirs of deceased wife are not bound to await liquidation of community property before resorting to proceedings to recover their share thereof. Ogden v. Leland University, 49 La. Ann. 190, 21 So. 685. Compare Daniel v. Ivy, 26 La. Ann. 639.

Suit to enforce provisions of will.—The heir who succeeds to the rights of his ancestor may after the executors are discharged enforce the provisions of the ancestor's will, and see that his intentions are carried into effect against purchasers, although he has no other interest in the matter. Poydras v. Mourain, 9 La. 492.

64. Alabama.— Shamblin v. Hall, 123 Ala. 541, 26 So. 285 (ejectment); Howison v. Oakley, 118 Ala. 215, 23 So. 810 (holding that an action for damages for failure of a purchaser of a decedent's land, sold under a decree of the probate court for partition among heirs, to complete the sale, may be properly brought in the name of the heirs); Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Hill, 115 Ala. 334, 22 So. 163 (action for statutory penalty for wrongfully cutting trees, the statute requiring that the action shall be brought by the "owner"); Woods v. Legg, 91 Ala. 511, 8 So. 342; Hart v. Kendall, 82 Ala. 144, 3 So. 41; Leatherwood v. Sullivan, 81 Ala. 458, 1 So. 718 (trover for cutting and carrying away timber from land); Robertson v. Bradford, 70 Ala. 385; Tyson v. Brown, 64 Ala. 244. The heir may maintain an action at law for a trespass on lands descended to him, although the administrator had, prior to the commission of the trespass, obtained an order to sell them for the payment of debts, but had never sold them under the order, nor otherwise exercised any of his statutory powers over them, and had resigned his administration before the commencement of the action. Calhoun v. Fletcher, 63 Ala. 574.

California.— Soto v. Kroder, 19 Cal. 87, ejectment. As to the rule in this state see infra, note 65.

Florida.— Under the former statute an heir could not maintain ejectment before the close of administration as the right to possession was in the administrator. Doyle v. Wade, 23 Fla. 90, 1 So. 516, 11 Am. St. Rep. 334. It is otherwise, however, since the revision of 1892 (Rev. St. (1892) § 1917), or because the administrator is given the right to possession, heirs cannot maintain ejectment, trespass, or other actions in relation to real estate, except under which gives the heir the right to possession. Rose v. Withers, 39 Fla. 460, 22 So. 724.

Illinois.— McGillick v. McAllister, 10 Ill. App. 40.

Indiana.— Taylor v. Fickas, 64 Ind. 167, 31 Am. Rep. 114 (action to recover damages for overflowing land); Doe v. Mace, 7 Blackf. 2 (holding that heirs of a mortgagee could maintain ejectment against the mortgagor or his tenant under a lease made subsequent to the mortgage, and without demand for possession); Egbert v. Thomas, Smith 206.

Kentucky.— Mt. Sterling, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Barry, 38 S. W. 847, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 937, an action on a contract to convey realty to decedent where the breach occurred after his death.

Louisiana.— Ware v. Jones, 19 La. Ann. 428.

Maine.—Walsh v. Wheelwright, 96 Me. 174, 52 Atl. 649; Chadbourne v. Rackliff, 30 Me. 354, both of which were writs of entry.

Michigan.— Covert v. Morrison, 49 Mich. 133, 13 N. W. 390 (ejectment or trespass); Warren v. Tobey, 32 Mich. 45 (ejectment); Marvin v. Schilling, 12 Mich. 356 (ejectment).

Mississippi.— Cohea v. Jemison, 68 Miss. 510, 10 So. 46, ejectment.

Nebraska.— Lewon v. Heath, 53 Nebr. 707, 74 N. W. 274 (ejectment); Rakes v. Brown, 34 Nebr. 304, 51 N. W. 848 (action to set aside the deed of an ancestor and to quiet title).

New Hampshire.— Lane v. Thompson, 43 N. H. 320, trespass.

New Jersey.— Romaine v. Hendrickson, 24 N. J. Eq. 231 (suit to set aside conveyance by executors); Ware v. Ware, 6 N. J. Eq. 117 (suit to restrain the wrongful cutting of timber). See also Cozens v. Colson, 3 N. J. L. 877, ejectment.

New York.— Fosgate v. Herkimer Mfg., etc., Co., 9 Barb. 287 (ejectment); Smith v. Lorillard, 10 Johns. 338 (revesting of possession in heirs after they have been driven out of possession by the public enemy).

North Carolina.— Beam v. Jennings, 89 N. C. 451, ejectment.

Oregon.— King v. Boyd, 4 Oreg. 326, suit to set aside deed of ancestor.

Pennsylvania.— Webster v. Webster, 53 Pa. St. 161 (ejectment); Haslage v. Krugh, 25 Pa. St. 97; Caffrey v. McFarland, 1 Phila. 555 (ejectment).

Vermont.— Chipman v. Sawyer, 1 Tyler 83, ejectment.

Virginia.—Tapscott v. Cobbs, 11 Gratt. 172, ejectment.

Wisconsin.— Marsh v. Waupaca County, 38 Wis. 250 (action to set aside tax-sale of land and to restrain issue of deed thereon); Jones v. Billstein, 28 Wis. 221 (ejectment).

United States.— Lindenberger v. Matlock, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,360, 4 Wash. 278.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 243.

Title of heirs and right to possession see supra, IV, A, 4, b; IV, A, 5.

Pending petition for license to sell.— A writ of entry by an heir to recover land of his ancestor is not barred by the pendency of a petition in the probate court by the administrator for leave to sell the same for payment of debts. Chadbourne v. Rackliff, 30 Me. 354.

Before sale under will.— Since the title to land directed by a will to be sold, but not devised for such purpose, vests in the testator's heirs until sold, they may maintain ejectment therefor prior to a sale. Cohea v. Jemison, 68 Miss. 510, 10 So. 46; Beam v. Jennings, 89 N. C. 451; Haskell v. House, 1 Treadw. (S. C.) 106; Veal v. Fortson, 57 Tex. 482 (suit by heir to set aside conveyance by an ancestor who died before becoming of age); Lindenberger v. Matlock, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,360, 4 Wash. 278. See supra, IV, A, 4, b, (II).

Where the heir may bring ejectment, he need prove against an intruder only the prior possession of his ancestor. Covert v. Morrison, 49 Mich. 133, 13 N. W. 390; Caffrey v. McFarland, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 555; Tapscott v. Cobbs, 11 Gratt. (Va.) 172. See, generally, EJECTMENT.

After valid administrator's sale.— Heirs cannot maintain an action to recover land against a purchaser at a regular and legal administrator's sale, or his vendee, even though such purchaser may have agreed with them prior to the sale to convey the land to them on payment of a certain mortgage which he held against the intestate, and which has in fact been paid or satisfied, since his breach of such contract does not revest the title to the land in the heirs. Brown v. Brown, 96 Ga. 578, 23 S. E. 840.

After illegal administrator's sale.— If an administrator makes an illegal sale of lands of the estate, as where he sells at private sale or without authority, the heirs may recover the land in ejectment. Woods v. Legg, 91 Ala. 511, 8 So. 342; Robertson v. Bradford, 70 Ala. 385. To entitle heirs to recover in ejectment against the purchaser at an administrator's sale which is void for informality, they must refund to the purchaser the purchase-money and taxes paid by him, although the heirs were minors at the time of the sale. The equitable defense in such a case does not become stale, but is good against the heirs so long as a right of action remains in them. Schaefer v. Causey, 8 Mo. App. 142.

Heirs are not estopped to sue to recover lands of their intestate conveyed by void deeds of the executor or administrator because the latter, without any authority from the heirs, sued and recovered judgments for the purchase money, which were paid by the purchasers. McCown v. Terrell, (Tex. Civ. App. 1897) 40 S. W. 55.

special circumstances, until after close of administration.[65] Where the administrator is entitled to possession heirs cannot maintain ejectment against him.[66] But even where the statute gives the administrator the right to possession of real

Rents and profits.— Unless the rule has been changed by statute, the heir may sue for rents and profits accruing since the ancestor's death. Tyson v. Brown, 64 Ala. 244; McGillick v. McAllister, 10 Ill. App. 40 (heir may distrain for rent); Egbert v. Thomas, Smith (Ind.) 206; Jaques v. Gould, 4 Cush. (Mass.) 384; Clapp v. Stoughton, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 463; Haslage v. Krugh, 25 Pa. St. 97. And see supra, IV, A, 6. An heir may sue a tenant or his assignee for his share of the rent, upon the death of the ancestor and lessor and the descent of the property to the heirs, although the assignee of such tenant has acquired the interests of the co-heirs in the estate. Cole v. Patterson, 25 Wend. (N. Y.) 456. But where the heir purchased the interests of his co-heirs in the estate held by a tenant, upon the death of the ancestor and lessor, and the descent of the property, it was held that he could not sue in his own name for rent which had accrued and become payable after the death of the ancestor, and before he purchased the reversion. Allen v. Van Houton, 19 N. J. L. 49.

Heir's lien for purchase-money.— On sale of land of a decedent by commissioners, upon a petition of the heirs for distribution among them, the vendor's lien in the heirs remains unimpaired, and they may enforce the same by a bill in chancery. McIntosh v. Reid, 45 Ala. 456.

Warranty of ancestor.— Where heirs may be liable on their ancestor's warranty, they have a right quia timet to ask interposition in equity to restrain a sale of land which would subject them to liability. Peeble v. Estill, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 408.

Insolvency of estate.— In a suit by the heir to recover possession of land sold by the executors, defendant cannot set up in defense that the estate of the testator was insolvent and should have gone to the creditors. Gaines v. New Orleans, 6 Wall. (U. S.) 642, 18 L. ed. 950.

Administration not closed.— In an action by heirs against a third party in possession to recover land, they cannot be required to show affirmatively that the administration has been closed, or that there are no debts. Such defense can be made only by creditors or by the administrator for them. Ware v. Jones, 19 La. Ann. 428.

Action on bond for title.— Where a bond for title shows that the title is in a third person, and that the obligor has never procured a conveyance of the title to the obligee nor obtained it himself, the heir of the obligee cannot take the land by descent, nor sue in his own name for a breach of the condition, whether the breach happened before or after the death of the obligee. Allen v. Greene, 19 Ala. 34.

Trespass in life-time of intestate.— Heirs cannot sue to recover damages for trespass on the lands of their ancestor committed in his life time. Conklin v. Alabama, etc., R. Co., 81 Miss. 152, 32 So. 920. See infra, IV, A, 13, a, (IV).

65. To maintain an action to recover real estate, heirs must allege and prove that there is no administrator, or that the administrator, if there is one, has assented to their bringing suit. Crummey v. Bentley, 114 Ga. 746, 40 S. E. 765; Greenfield v. McIntyre, 112 Ga. 691, 38 S. E. 44; Northcraft v. Oliver, 74 Tex. 162, 11 S. W. 1121 (trespass to try title); Lee v. Turner 71 Tex. 264, 9 S. W. 149 (holding that heirs cannot, pending administration, sue for damages for a nuisance affecting real estate); Giddings v. Steele, 28 Tex. 732, 91 Am. Dec. 336 (action to recover land fraudulently or illegally sold by administrator); Boardman v. Bartlett, 6 Vt. 631 (ejectment); Hazelton v. Bogardus, 8 Wash. 102, 35 Pac. 602; Lawrence v. Bellingham Bay, etc., R. Co., 4 Wash. 664, 30 Pac. 1099; Balch v. Smith, 4 Wash. 497, 30 Pac. 648; Dunn v. Peterson, 4 Wash. 170, 29 Pac. 998. Compare Veal v. Fortson, 57 Tex. 482, sustaining suit by an heir to set aside a conveyance by an ancestor who was a minor.

Under the California statute the administrator of an intestate is entitled to the possession of the real as well as the personal property of the intestate, but under the amendment of 1880 the heirs may themselves, or jointly with the administrator, maintain an action to recover possession of the real estate, or to quiet title to the same. Code Civ. Proc. § 1452. See Trubody v. Trubody, 137 Cal. 172, 69 Pac. 968; Kimball v. Tripp, 136 Cal. 631, 69 Pac. 428; Estep v. Armstrong, 91 Cal. 659, 27 Pac. 1091. Prior to the amendment of the statute the right to possession was exclusively in the administrator, and pending administration the heirs had no such right as would support an action of ejectment or to quiet title. Harper v. Strutz, 53 Cal. 655; Meeks v. Kirby, 47 Cal. 169; Chapman v. Hollister, 42 Cal. 462; Meeks v. Hahn, 20 Cal. 620. And see Crosby v. Dowd, 61 Cal. 557. The administrator was authorized to sue in ejectment to recover possession of land, and the judgment in such action was binding upon the heirs. Cunningham v. Ashley, 45 Cal. 485. Where there was no administration the heirs could maintain ejectment. Updegraff v. Trask, 18 Cal. 458. And where, after the death of the grantee of an unconfirmed Mexican grant, his heirs petitioned for and obtained a confirmation of the grant, and a patent was issued to them, it was held that they had the legal title and could maintain ejectment against purchasers from the administrator at a sale under an order of the probate court. Hartley v. Brown, 51 Cal. 465.

66. Barco v. Fennell, 24 Fla. 378, 5 So. 9.

property, it has been held that the heir, where there is no administrator, may maintain ejectment, trespass, and other actions in relation to real estate;[67] and that where there is an administrator they may maintain actions against strangers not claiming through him.[68] Heirs may maintain actions with respect to real property where there are no debts, or where all debts have been paid and the administration has been closed;[69] or after resignation or death of the administrator, and cessation of administration;[70] or even where there is an administrator, where there are no equities in favor of him, and no debts, and he refuses or neglects to sue.[71] They may maintain a suit to enforce a vendor's lien for purchase-money of land sold by their ancestor.[72]

(III) Actions in Relation to Personal Property in General. As a general rule, since the title to personal property of an intestate vests in his administrator, he is the proper person to sue to recover the same or for damages for injury thereto prior to the close of administration, and such action cannot be maintained by heirs or distributees.[73] In some states, however, it has been held

67. Updegraff v. Trask, 18 Cal. 458; Houston, etc., R. Co. v. Knapp, 51 Tex. 569; Giddings v. Steele, 28 Tex. 732, 91 Am. Dec. 336; Cochran v. Thompson, 18 Tex. 652; Buck v. Squiers, 22 Vt. 484. And see Baker v. Hamblen, (Tex. Civ. App. 1903) 75 S. W. 362.

68. Spotts v. Hanley, 85 Cal. 155, 24 Pac. 738; Marvin v. Schilling, 12 Mich. 356; Lewon v. Heath, 53 Nebr. 707, 74 N. W. 274.

69. Arkansas.— Organ v. Memphis, etc., R. Co., 51 Ark. 235, 11 S. W. 96, action to recover compensation or damages for wrongful appropriation of land by railroad company after death of ancestor.

New Hampshire.— Baker v. Haskell, 48 N. H. 426 (holding that one heir may maintain an action against another heir to recover damages for his exclusion from the realty during the time the ancestor's estate was in process of administration, if the administrator never had possession of the realty, and the debts have all been paid and the administrator's account settled); Plumer v. Plumer, 30 N. H. 558 (trover by heir for removing manure from the land).

New Jersey.— Cozen v. Colson, 3 N. J. L. 877.

South Carolina.— Grant v. Poyas, 62 S. C. 426, 40 S. E. 891, holding that where there are no debts a sole heir may maintain an action against one other than the administrator to recover assets of the estate and to enforce a resulting trust in real property in which the assets have been invested.

Washington.— Tucker v. Brown, 9 Wash. 357, 37 Pac. 456.

United States.—Bunnel v. Stoddard, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,135, suit by heir of beneficiary to set aside conveyances and enforce trust in respect to real estate.

70. Calhoun v. Fletcher, 63 Ala. 574 (trespass); Sanders v. Moore, 52 Ark. 376, 12 S. W. 783.

71. Gossage v. Crown Point Gold, etc., Min. Co., 14 Nev. 153; Bem v. Shoemaker, 10 S. D. 453, 74 N. W. 239. See also infra, IV, A, 13, a, (III).

72. Hanrick v. Walker, 50 Ala. 34; Sanders v. Moore, 52 Ark. 376, 12 S. W. 783; Reed v. Ash, 30 Ark. 775.

73. Alabama.— Davenport v. Brooks, 92 Ala. 627, 9 So. 153 (detinue); Huddleston v. Huey, 73 Ala. 215 (detinue); Costephens v. Dean, 69 Ala. 385; Miller v. Eatman, 11 Ala. 609 (detinue); Bell v. Hogan, 1 Stew. 536 (detinue).

Arkansas.— Pryor v. Ryburn, 16 Ark. 671 (suit in equity to recover for conversion of personalty); Lemon v. Rector, 15 Ark. 436.

Colorado.— Hall v. Cowles, 15 Colo. 343, 25 Pac. 705.

Connecticut.— Taber v. Packwood, 1 Day 150, trespass or trover.

Georgia.— Smith v. Turner, 112 Ga. 533, 37 S. E. 705; Thompson v. Fenn, 100 Ga. 234, 28 S. E. 39 (action for conversion); Morgan v. Woods, 69 Ga. 599; Murphy v. Pound, 12 Ga. 278; Worthy v. Johnson, 8 Ga. 236, 52 Am. Dec. 399.

Indiana.— Jewell v. Gaylor, 157 Ind. 188, 60 N. E. 1083; Humphries v. Davis, 100 Ind. 369; Pond v. Sweetser, 85 Ind. 144; Turner v. Campbell, 34 Ind. 317. And see Williams v. Williams, 125 Ind. 156, 25 N. E. 176.

Kentucky.— McChord v. Fisher, 13 B. Mon. 193; Emerson v. Staton, 3 T. B. Mon. 116; Loyd v. Loyd, 46 S. W. 485, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 347.

Maryland.— Schaub v. Griffin, 84 Md. 557, 36 Atl. 443; Neale v. Hagthrop, 3 Bland 551.

Mississippi.— Marshall v. King, 24 Miss. 85; Browning v. Watkins, 10 Sm. & M. 482, Miller v. Womack, Freem. 486.

Missouri.— Hellmann v. Wellenkamp, 71 Mo. 407; Adey v. Adey, 58 Mo. App. 408 (replevin); McMillan v. Wacker, 57 Mo. App. 220 (replevin); State v. Moore, 18 Mo. App. 406.

New Hampshire.— Champollion v. Corbin, 71 N. H. 78, 51 Atl. 674; Weeks v. Jewett, 45 N. H. 540.

New York.— Beecher v. Crouse, 19 Wend. 306 (trover); Woodin v. Bagley, 13 Wend. 453. And see Segelken v. Meyer, 94 N. Y. 473, recognizing the general rule.

North Carolina.— Varner v. Johnston, 112 N. C. 570, 17 S. E. 483; Davidson v. Potts, 42 N. C. 272; Nance v. Powell, 39 N. C. 297.

Ohio.— Davis v. Corwine, 25 Ohio St. 668.

that administration may be dispensed with and such actions may be maintained, where there are no debts against the estate and all that remains to be done is to collect the assets and distribute them among the heirs or next of kin;[74] and the lapse of a considerable time after the intestate's death will raise a presumption that there are no debts.[75] Heirs and distributees may maintain actions with respect to personalty after the administration has been closed and all debts paid;[76] and they may sue in their own names, without the appointment of an administrator de bonis non to recover administered assets, the administrator having paid all debts and settled his accounts.[77] It is also well settled that heirs or distributees may sue in equity to recover personal assets of the estate, where such a suit is necessary for their protection because of fraud, collusion, insolvency, or neglect or refusal to sue, on the part of the administrator, or other special circumstances.[78]

South Carolina.— Bradford v. Felder, 2 McCord Eq. 168 (suit in equity); Fripp v. Fripp, Rice Eq. 84 (action at law).

Tennessee.— Alexander v. Espy, 6 Humphr. 157; Thurman v. Shelton, 10 Yerg. 383; Upchurch v. Anderson, (Ch. App. 1900) 62 S. W. 1115.

Texas.— Bufford v. Holliman, 10 Tex. 560, 60 Am. Dec. 223.

United States.— Scruggs v. Scruggs, 105 Fed. 28 (action for conversion); Newman v. Schwerin, 61 Fed. 865, 10 C. C. A. 129; Chaplin v. U. S., 19 Ct. Cl. 424.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 252 et seq. See also supra, IV, A, 5.

Action against administrator.— Even after an order of distribution has been made by the probate court, declaring the respective interests of the distributees, an heir has no title to any specific property, and he cannot maintain an action against the administrator for its conversion; his remedy is on the administrator's bond. Scruggs v. Scruggs, 105 Fed. 28.

74. Alabama.— Teal v. Chancellor, 117 Ala. 612, 23 So. 651; Fretwell v. McLemore, 52 Ala. 124; Marshall v. Crow, 29 Ala. 278.

Indiana.— Humphries v. Davis, 100 Ind. 369.

Mississippi.— Ricks v. Hilliard, 45 Miss. 359; Andrews v. Brumfield, 32 Miss. 107. And see Watson v. Byrd, 53 Miss. 480.

New York.— Segelken v. Meyer, 94 N. Y. 473; Hyde v. Stone, 7 Wend. 354, 22 Am. Dec. 582.

Pennsylvania.— Roberts v. Messinger, 134 Pa. St. 298, 19 Atl. 625; Lee v. Gibbons, 14 Serg. & R. 105.

South Carolina.— Grant v. Poyas, 62 S. C. 426, 40 S. E. 891; Huson v. Wallace, 1 Rich. Eq. 1. But see Fripp v. Fripp, Rice Eq. 84.

Tennessee.— Hurt v. Fisher, 96 Tenn. 570, 35 S. W. 1085; Christian v. Clark, 10 Lea 630; Smith v. Gooch, 6 Lea 536.

Texas.— Bufford v. Holliman, 10 Tex. 560, 60 Am. Dec. 223; Ward v. Ward, 1 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 123, holding that where an estate became vacant by removal of the administrator, and all debts had been paid, the heirs might sue on the administrator's bond for property converted, and it was not necessary to appoint an administrator de bonis non.

Washington.— Where the decedent was a foreigner, never having been a resident of the United States or transacted business in the country, and owed no debts, it was held that his heirs could maintain actions without administration. Tucker v. Brown, 9 Wash. 357, 37 Pac. 456.

Contra.— Adey v. Adey, 58 Mo. App. 408; State v. Moore, 18 Mo. App. 406.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 252 et seq.

75. Bufford v. Holliman, 10 Tex. 560, 60 Am. Dec. 223.

76. Lacy v. Williams, 8 Tex. 182; Hubbard v. Urton, 67 Fed. 419; Bunnel v. Stoddard, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,135, holding that the heirs of a deceased beneficiary under a trust in respect to real estate may sue to set aside certain conveyances and enforce the trust, although the real estate has in equity been converted into personalty. Compare, however, Davis v. Corwine, 25 Ohio St. 668.

Action against administrator.— After the time has elapsed for the allowance of claims against an estate, or when all claims have been settled, and the sole remaining duty on the part of the administrator is to make distribution, and he fails to do so, the persons entitled as distributees may maintain an action against him for this breach of duty without waiting for an order of distribution by the probate court. Clarke v. Sinks, 144 Mo. 448, 46 S. W. 199. See also EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

Action on administrator's bond.— Or under such circumstances an action may be maintained on the administrator's bond. State v. Thornton, 56 Mo. 325; State v. Matson, 44 Mo. 305. And see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

77. Suit v. Crawford, 100 Ky. 355, 38 S. W. 500, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 784.

78. Georgia.— Worthy v. Johnson, 8 Ga. 236, 52 Am. Dec. 399. When there are no debts unpaid, and the administrator of an estate illegally disposes of property of the estate and is insolvent, equity will entertain a bill filed by the heirs at law to recover the property so illegally disposed of or to decree an account of its proceeds. Southwestern R. Co. v. Thomason, 40 Ga. 408.

Kentucky.— McChord v. Fisher, 13 B. Mon. 193; Thomas v. White, 3 Litt. 177, 14 Am. Dec. 56.

New York.— Randel v. Dyett, 38 Hun 347.

North Carolina.— Fleming v. McKesson, 56 N. C. 316.

(IV) CHOSES IN ACTION. As a general rule the title to choses in action, which are personal assets, and the right to sue thereon, is in the administrator, so that actions thereon cannot be maintained by the heirs or distributees, either at law or in equity.[79] There are exceptions to this rule, however, where there

South Dakota.— Bem v. Shoemaker, 10 S. D. 453, 74 N. W. 239; Trotter v. Mutual Reserve Fund L. Assoc., 9 S. D. 596, 70 N. W. 843, 62 Am. St. Rep. 887.

Texas.— Patton v. Gregory, 21 Tex. 513.

Virginia.— Roberts v. King, 10 Gratt. 184.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," §§ 360, 361.

Suit against administrator.— A distributee may maintain a suit in equity against the administrator for his share of the estate. Schaub v. Griffin, 84 Md. 557, 36 Atl. 443.

The omission of an administrator to file an inventory of a "claim" or other interest belonging to the decedent's estate does not forfeit the right of the heirs to any portion of the estate. Neither is it necessary for the heirs to obtain authority from the probate court to prosecute an action for the recovery of an interest in their ancestor's estate. Stewart v. Chadwick, 8 Iowa 463.

79. Alabama.— Sullivan v. Lawler, 72 Ala. 68; Costephens v. Dean, 69 Ala. 385 (bill to enforce vendor's lien for purchase-money of land sold by intestate); Allen v. Greene, 19 Ala. 34 (bond for title).

Arkansas.— Purcelly v. Carter, 45 Ark. 299; Whelan v. Edwards, 31 Ark. 723; Anthony v. Peay, 18 Ark. 24; Lemon v. Rector, 15 Ark. 436 Johnson v. Pierce, 12 Ark. 599, action on covenant in a bond to pay money to a person "or his heirs or legal representatives." See also McCustian v. Ramey, 33 Ark. 141.

Colorado.— Hall v. Cowles, 15 Colo. 343, 25 Pac. 705.

Connecticut.— West v. Howard, 20 Conn. 581, holding that where a husband purchased land with funds claimed to be his wife's separate property, and sold and conveyed it to a purchaser having no notice of the trust, the heir of the wife, after her death, could not maintain a suit against the husband for relief, as the right of the wife vested in her administrator, and he alone could sue.

Illinois.— Leamon v. McCubbin, 82 Ill. 263.

Indiana.— Brunson v. Henry, 140 Ind. 455, 39 N. E. 256; Pond v. Sweetser, 85 Ind. 144; Begien v. Freeman, 75 Ind. 398; Ferguson v. Barnes, 58 Ind. 169; Frink v. Bellis, 33 Ind. 135, 5 Am. Rep. 193; Walpole v. Bishop, 31 Ind. 156 (action for money due); Hall v. Bramlee, 28 Ind. App. 178, 62 N. E. 457; Murray v. Cazier, 23 Ind. App. 600, 53 N. E. 476, 55 N. E. 880.

Iowa.— Baird v. Brooks, 65 Iowa 40, 21 N. W. 163; Haynes v. Harris, 33 Iowa 516; Rhodes v. Stout, 26 Iowa 313.

Kansas.— Presbury v. Pickett, 1 Kan. App. 631, 42 Pac. 405.

Kentucky.— McChord v. Fisher, 13 B. Mon. 193; Brunk v. Means, 11 B. Mon. 214; Loyd v. Loyd, 46 S. W. 485, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 347. See also Wiggins v. Cracraft, 40 S. W. 907, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 477, holding that a judgment ordering a sale of land to pay a debt due a decedent could not be revived by his heirs, as they had no right to collect debts due the decedent.

Maryland.— Schaub v. Griffin, 84 Md. 557, 36 Atl. 443; Hanson v. Hanson, 4 Gill 69.

Massachusetts.— Gale v. Nickerson, 151 Mass. 428, 24 N. E. 400, 9 L. R. A. 200; Smith v. Dyer, 16 Mass. 18, mortgage.

Michigan.— Bourget v. Monroe, 58 Mich. 563, 25 N. W. 514; Hollowell v. Cole, 25 Mich. 345.

Mississippi.— Kitchins v. Harrall, 54 Miss. 474; Miller v. Womack, Freem. 486. See also Conklin v. Alabama, etc., R. Co., 81 Miss. 152, 32 So. 920, holding that heirs could not sue for damages for trespass on lands of their ancestor committed in his lifetime.

Missouri.—Hellman v. Wellenkamp, 71 Mo. 407; Brueggeman v. Jurgensen, 24 Mo. 87; Jacobs v. Maloney, 64 Mo. App. 270; State v. Moore, 18 Mo. App. 406. See also Burford v. Aldridge, 165 Mo. 419, 63 S. W. 109, 65 S. W. 720.

Nebraska.— Cox v. Yeazel, 49 Nebr. 343, 68 N. W. 483, holding that discharge of an administrator before final settlement of the estate does not entitle the heirs to sue for debts due the intestate in their own names.

New Jersey.— Shaver v. Shaver, 1 N. J. Eq. 437.

New York.— Palmer v. Green, 63 Hun 6, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 441 (one next of kin cannot sue the other next of kin for his distributive share); Clason v. Lawrence, 3 Edw. 48.

North Carolina.— Nance v. Powell, 39 N. C. 297 (holding that suit against a debtor of a decedent by the next of kin cannot be maintained on the ground that the administrator could not prove the case if suit were brought by him, but that he could be a witness in a suit brought by others); Foster v. Cook, 8 N. C. 509.

Ohio.— Rousch v. Hundley, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 445, 3 West. L. Month. 126.

Pennsylvania.— Griffin v. Brower, 21 Pa. Co. Ct. 188, collection of mortgage.

South Carolina.—Darwin v. Moore, 58 S. C. 164, 36 S. E. 539 (mortgage); Kaminer v. Hope, 9 S. C. 253.

Tennessee.— Trafford v. Wilkinson, 3 Tenn. Ch. 449.

Texas.— Richardson v. Vaughn, 86 Tex. 93, 23 S. W. 640 [affirming (Civ. App. 1893) 22 S. W. 1112]; Webster v. Willis, 56 Tex. 468; Cochran v. Thompson, 18 Tex. 652. But see Spencer v. Millican, 31 Tex. 65.

United States.— Newman v. Schwerin, 61 Fed. 865, 10 C. C. A. 129; Chaplin v. U. S., 19 Ct. Cl. 424. See Dexter v. Arnold, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,857, 1 Sumn. 109.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 253 et seq. See also supra, IV, A, 4, c.

is no administration and where there are no debts of the estate or they have all been paid, and nothing remains but to reduce the assets to possession and distribute them to the heirs or next of kin;[80] where, there being no debts, the estate is divided by agreement among the heirs and distributees, and a distributee to whom a note, or note and mortgage, is allotted as part of his share sues thereon in his own name;[81] where the estate has been finally settled;[82] where the time for granting letters of administration has expired;[83] where administration has ceased by death or resignation of the administrator, and for a long time there has been no

Breach of contract to convey land.— Heirs can maintain an action for breach of a contract to convey real estate to their intestate where the breach occurred after his death, but not where it occurred before his death. Mt. Sterling, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Barry, 38 S. W. 847, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 937.

Action by heir for share of deceased distributee or legatee see supra, IV, A, 4, e.

Actions on covenants real see supra, IV, A, 4, d, (II).

80. Alabama.— McGhee v. Alexander, 104 Ala. 116, 16 So. 148; Wright v. Robinson, 94 Ala. 479, 10 So. 319 (suit to foreclose mortgage); Cooper v. Davison, 86 Ala. 367, 5 So. 650 (suit to foreclose mortgage); Sullivan v. Lawler, 72 Ala. 68; Vanzant v. Morris, 25 Ala. 285.

Arkansas.— Crane v. Crane, 51 Ark. 287, 11 S. W. 1, scire facias to revive judgment.

Indiana.— Robertson v. Robertson, 120 Ind. 333, 22 N. E. 310; Holzman v. Hibben, 100 Ind. 338; Salter v. Salter, 98 Ind. 522; Williams v. Riley, 88 Ind. 290; Begien v. Freeman, 75 Ind. 398 (action by widow who was sole heir); Moore v. Monroe County, 59 Ind. 516; Ferguson v. Barnes, 58 Ind. 169; Schneider v. Piessner, 54 Ind. 524; Mitchell v. Dickson, 53 Ind. 110; Martin v. Reed, 30 Ind. 218.

Mississippi.— Kitchins v. Harrall, 54 Miss. 474; Ricks v. Hilliard, 45 Miss. 359 (recovery of compensation for use of personal property); Hargroves v. Thompson, 31 Miss. 211.

Missouri.— McDowell v. Christian Church Orphan School, 87 Mo. App. 386, holding that where the ancestor had been dead for many years, without debts, assets, or administration, his heirs could maintain an action for a legacy accruing to him.

Nebraska.— Cox v. Yeazel, 49 Nebr. 343, 68 N. W. 483.

New York.— McDowl v. Charles, 6 Johns. Ch. 132, sustaining a suit in equity where plaintiff and defendant were the only heirs, and there were no debts against the estate, and defendant, who was indebted to the estate, would not administer, and there was no other person entitled to the administration.

Tennessee.— Hurt v. Fisher, 96 Tenn. 570, 35 S. W. 1085.

Texas.— Walker v. Abercrombie, 61 Tex. 69 (action of debt on judgment); America Sun L. Ins. Co. v. Phillips, (Civ. App. 1902) 70 S. W. 603 (action on life-insurance policy); Hynes v. Winston, (Civ. App. 1899) 54 S. W. 1069, holding also that the heirs could sue although an administration was pending in another state.

Vermont.— Babbitt v. Bowen, 32 Vt. 437, suit on note and to foreclose mortgage.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 255.

Contra.— Leamon v. McCubbin, 82 Ill. 263; Murphy v. Hanrahan, 50 Wis. 485, 7 N. W. 436. But compare People v. Abbott, 105 Ill. 588 [affirming 10 Ill. App. 62].

Where there is an administrator the heir cannot sue, even where there are no debts. Finnegan v. Finnegan, 125 Ind. 262, 25 N. E. 341 (holding that a complaint by an heir to recover a debt due the estate is fatally defective in not alleging that no letters of administration have been granted on the estate, and that it is not enough to allege merely that all debts have been paid); Cox v. Yeazel, 49 Nebr. 343, 68 N. W. 483.

81. Carter v. Owens, 41 Ala. 217; Martin v. Reed, 30 Ind. 218; Granger v. Harriman, 89 Minn. 303, 94 N. W. 869; Babbitt v. Bowen, 32 Vt. 437, suit on note and to foreclose mortgage. Contra, Rousch v. Hundley, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 445, 3 West. L. Month. 126. See also supra, IV, A, 4, c. Where there are no creditors of an estate, and the heirs are competent to, and do, consent to the transfer, by the administrator, of a mortgage belonging to the estate to one of the heirs in part satisfaction of his share of the estate, and such transfer is afterward ratified by the court in which the estate is being administered, such ratification relates back to the transfer, and is equivalent to a prior authorization, and such heir or his assignee may sue in his own name to foreclose the mortgage. Plummer v. Park, 62 Nebr. 665, 87 N. W. 534.

82. Alabama.— Wooten v. Steele, 98 Ala. 252, 13 So. 563.

Kansas.— Humphreys v. Keith, 11 Kan. 108.

Kentucky.— Suit v. Crawford, 100 Ky. 355, 38 S. W. 500, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 784, holding that when an administrator has paid all debts, settled his accounts, and turned a note of the estate over to the heirs, they may sue thereon in their own name without appointment of an administrator de bonis non.

Minnesota.— Pratt v. Pratt, 22 Minn. 148.

Texas.— Lacy v. Williams, 8 Tex. 182.

United States.— Hubbard v. Urton, 67 Fed. 419.

Compare, however, Davis v. Corwine, 25 Ohio St. 668.

83. Phinny v. Warren, 52 Iowa 332, 1 N. W. 522, 3 N. W. 157. Contra, Brown v. Bibb, 2 Coldw. (Tenn.) 434; Trafford v. Wilkinson, 3 Tenn. Ch. 449.

effort to renew it;[84] where the administrator dies pending an action by him, after the estate has been settled and all debts paid;[85] where, although the debts of the estate have not been paid, a long time has elapsed without any effort to administer;[86] or where, by reason of fraud, collusion, insolvency, or refusal to sue on the part of the administrator, or other special circumstances, it is necessary for distributees or heirs to sue in equity to enforce their rights.[87]

(v) Recovery of Property Conveyed by Ancestor and Reduction of Donations. Subject to the general exceptions stated in the preceding sections, heirs or distributees may sue to set aside conveyances or transfers of property and to recover the same on such grounds as infancy[88] or mental incapacity of the ancestor,[89] fraud, duress, or undue influence,[90] fraudulent alteration,[91] ille-

84. Sanders v. Moore, 52 Ark. 376, 12 S. W. 783. And see Clay v. Clay, 13 Tex. 195. But see Miller v. Womack, Freem. (Miss.) 486.

85. Crane v. Crane, 51 Ark. 287, 11 S. W. 1, death of administrator pending scire facias to revive judgment.

86. Graves v. Pinchback, 47 Ark. 470, 1 S. W. 682.

87. McChord v. Fisher, 13 B. Mon. (Ky.) 193; Loyd v. Loyd, 46 S. W. 485, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 347; Miller v. Womack, Freem. (Miss.) 486; Fleming v. McKesson, 56 N. C. 316 (administrator under influence of the debtor to the estate); Nance v. Powell, 39 N. C. 297; Trotter v. Mutual Reserve Fund L. Assoc., 9 S. D. 596, 70 N. W. 843, 62 Am. St. Rep. 887.

88. Alabama.—Sharp v. Robertson, 76 Ala. 343.

Arkansas.— See Bozeman v. Browning, 31 Ark. 364, purchase-money must be tendered back.

Illinois.— Illinois Land, etc., Co. v. Bonner, 75 Ill. 315.

Indiana.— Gillenwaters v. Campbell, 142 Ind. 529, 41 N. E. 1041.

Kentucky.— Breckenridge v. Ormsby, 1 J. J. Marsh. 236, 19 Am. Dec. 71.

Maryland.— Levering v. Heighe, 2 Md. Ch. 81.

Mississippi.— Harvey v. Briggs, 68 Miss. 60, 8 So. 274, 10 L. R. A. 62.

Missouri.— Harris v. Ross, 86 Mo. 89, 56 Am. Rep. 411; Ferguson v. Bell, 17 Mo. 347.

New York.— O'Rourke v. Hall, 38 N. Y. App. Div. 534, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 471.

Texas.— Searcy v. Hunter, 81 Tex. 644, 17 S. W. 372, 26 Am. St. Rep. 837; Veal v. Fortson, 57 Tex. 482.

England.—Whittingham's Case, 8 Coke 42*b*. And see Brown v. Brown, L. R. 2 Eq. 481, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 694.

See, generally, Infants.

Affirmance by ancestor.— If the ancestor has affirmed the conveyance after becoming of age, the heir is bound thereby. Ferguson v. Bell, 17 Mo. 347; O'Rourke v. Hall, 38 N. Y. App. Div. 534, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 471; Searcy v. Hunter, 81 Tex. 644, 17 S. W. 372, 26 Am. St. Rep. 837.

Heir may affirm infant ancestor's deed.— Illinois Land, etc., Co. v. Bonner, 75 Ill. 315.

What constitutes affirmance of deed by heir see Illinois Land, etc., Co. v. Bonner, 75 Ill. 315.

89. Alabama.—Kennedy v. Marrast, 46 Ala. 161.

Indiana.— Physio-Medical College v. Wilkinson, 108 Ind. 314, 9 N. E. 167 (also as to when consideration need not be restored); Northwestern Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Blankenship, 94 Ind. 535, 48 Am. Rep. 185; Schuff v. Ransom, 79 Ind. 458; Somers v. Pumphrey, 24 Ind. 231.

Kentucky.— Wall v. Hill, 1 B. Mon. 290, 36 Am. Dec. 578.

Maine.— Hovey v. Hobson, 53 Me. 451, 89 Am. Dec. 705.

Maryland.— Evans v. Horan, 52 Md. 602, heir must sue in equity and not at law in ejectment.

Michigan.— Hunt v. Rabitoay, 125 Mich. 137, 84 N. W. 59, 84 Am. St. Rep. 563; Rogers v. Blackwell, 49 Mich. 192, 13 N. W. 512.

Missouri.— McAnaw v. Tiffin, 143 Mo. 667, 45 S. W. 656.

New Jersey.— Eaton v. Eaton, 37 N. J. L. 108, 18 Am. Rep. 716; Foth v. Ellenberger, (Ch. 1900) 47 Atl. 216; Hall v. Otterson, 52 N. J. Eq. 522, 28 Atl. 907.

Oregon.— King v. Boyd, 4 Oreg. 326.

Virginia.— Wigglesworth v. Steers, 1 Hen. & M. 70, 3 Am. Dec. 602, drunkenness.

United States.— Harding v. Handy, 11 Wheat. 103, 6 L. ed. 429; German Sav., etc., Soc. v. De Lashmutt, 67 Fed. 399.

England.— Beverley's Case, 4 Coke 123*b*, Fitzh. N. Br. 532.

See, generally, Insane Persons.

90. California.— Trubody v. Trubody, 137 Cal. 172, 69 Pac. 968.

District of Columbia.— Webb v. Janney, 9 App. Cas. 41.

Kansas.— Brown v. Brown, 62 Kan. 666, 64 Pac. 599.

Michigan.— See Snyder v. Snyder, 131 Mich. 658, 92 N. W. 353, holding that the heirs of a decedent could sue in equity to set aside a deed by the decedent, a mortgage back, and a subsequent assignment of the mortgage.

Mississippi.—Foxworth v. Bullock, 44 Miss. 457.

Nebraska.— Rakes v. Brown, 34 Nebr. 304, 51 N. W. 848.

New York.— Keenan v. Keenan, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 747.

United States.— Harding v. Handy, 11 Wheat. 103, 6 L. ed. 429.

91. Young v. Bilderback, 3 N. J. Eq. 206.

gality,[92] failure of consideration,[93] and the like.[94] Forced heirs[95] may sue to set aside conveyances, mortgages, and donations by their ancestor, which are invalid as against them, and to recover the property.[96]

b. Jurisdiction. Courts of ordinary jurisdiction have cognizance of such actions as may be maintained by heirs or distributees for injuries to the inheritance.[97] As a general rule such courts, and not probate courts, have jurisdiction of actions or suits by heirs or distributees to recover possession of real estate descended to them from ancestors,[98] or rents and profits,[99] or personal property.[1] Courts of chancery and not probate courts have jurisdiction of actions by forced heirs or other distributees to set aside conveyances or donations of property made by their ancestors.[2] Whether heirs and distributees must sue at law or in equity depends upon the relief sought and other considerations which determine whether the remedy in particular cases is at law or in equity.[3]

92. Mills v. Alexander, 21 Tex. 154, heir must restore price paid and place the grantee in statu quo.

93. Lane v. Lane, 106 Ky. 530, 50 S. W. 857, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 9. See also Rakes v. Brown, 34 Nebr. 304, 51 N. W. 848. Compare Hensley v. Hensley, 30 S. W. 613, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 122. Where children to whom land was conveyed by their father and mother in consideration of their agreement to support the mother during her life have refused to comply with the agreement the mother may have the deed canceled. Lane v. Lane, 106 Ky. 530, 50 S. W. 857, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 9.

94. Inadequacy of consideration.— Heirs cannot attack a conveyance by their ancestor solely on the ground of inadequacy of consideration. Chiles v. Coleman, 2 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 296, 12 Am. Dec. 396. And see McCalla v. Bane, 45 Fed. 828.

An heir who has alienated his inheritance cannot sue to set aside a conveyance by his ancestor. Martin v. Martin, 15 La. Ann. 585; McCalla v. Bane, 45 Fed. 828.

95. Rights of forced heirs see supra, III, A, 5.

96. Cox v. Von Ahlefeldt, 105 La. 543, 30 So. 175; Ball's Succession, 43 La. Ann. 342, 9 So. 45; Moore v. Wartelle, 39 La. Ann. 1067, 3 So. 384; Lazare v. Jacques, 15 La. Ann. 599; McQueen v. Sandel, 15 La. Ann. 140; Benoit v. Benoit, 3 La. 223; Becton v. Alexander, 27 Tex. 659; Crain v. Crain, 17 Tex. 80; Kerwin v. Hibernia Ins. Co., 25 Fed. 692, under Louisiana statute. Third possessors cannot be sued by a forced heir for his legitime until the donee's or legatee's property be discussed. Hodder v. Shepherd, 1 La. 505.

97. Lee v. Carter, 52 La. Ann. 1453, 27 So. 739 (action by children as heirs of mother against father for conversion of property belonging to mother's succession, which was opened in another parish twenty years before and never closed); Waters v. Mercier, 4 La. 14 (action against creditor for recording as a mortgage against heirs a judgment obtained against the succession). And see the cases cited supra, IV, A, 13, a, (I)-(V).

98. Donaldson v. Dorsey, 4 Mart. N. S. (La.) 509. And see the cases cited supra, IV, A, 13, a, (II).

Jurisdiction of probate courts see also supra, IV, A, 3, a. And see COURTS, 11 Cyc. 679, 791.

99. Stewart v. Pickard, 10 Rob. (La.) 18; Overton v. Overton, 10 La. 466; Donaldson v. Dorsey, 4 Mart. N. S. (La.) 509.

1. Le Page v. New Orleans Gas Light, etc., Co., 7 Rob. (La.) 183. And see the cases cited supra, IV, A, 13, a, (III), (IV). See also supra, IV, A, 3, a.

2. Louisiana.— Benoit v. Benoit, 3 La. 223, denying jurisdiction of probate court of action by heir to set aside conveyance by ancestor.

Missouri.— Davis v. Davis, 5 Mo. 183, holding court of equity to have jurisdiction of action by wife to set aside conveyance of slave from husband to son.

Pennsylvania.— Fretz's Appeal, 4 Watts & S. 433, denying jurisdiction of orphans' court of action by heir to recover personal property of ancestor held by trustee.

Texas.— Crain v. Crain, 17 Tex. 80, sustaining an action in the district court by heirs to recover property fraudulently conveyed by an ancestor.

United States.— Kerwin v. Hibernia Ins. Co., 25 Fed. 692, an action by heirs to recover real estate wrongfully placed in the name of ancestor's wife.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 369. And see supra, IV, A, 13, a, (V).

3. See the following cases:

Alabama.— Tyson v. Brown, 64 Ala. 244 (holding that heirs at law cannot maintain a bill in equity against a purchaser at a sale made under an order of the probate court, to recover the possession of lands, with an account of the rents and profits, when the order of sale is void on its face for want of jurisdiction, since, as their legal title is not divested by the sale, their remedy at law is adequate and complete); McIntosh v. Reid, 45 Ala. 456 (bill in equity to enforce a vendor's lien).

Indiana.— Egbert v. Thomas, Smith 206, holding that an action at law and not in equity was the remedy of heirs against the decedent's widow for an accounting as to the rents and profits of real estate of which she had retained possession.

Maryland.— Schaub v. Griffin, 84 Md. 557, 36 Atl. 443, holding that heirs or distributees

c. Limitations and Laches — (I) IN GENERAL. Where the statute expressly limits the right of action in favor of heirs or their assigns to a prescribed time, and declares that the rights of the heirs to the inheritance shall vest immediately upon the death of the ancestor, the rights of such heirs or their assignees will be barred by the limit of time so prescribed.[4] The statute of limitations does not run so as to bar the claims of the heirs of a deceased wife as against her husband or his representatives in possession of her property as trustees.[5] Nor does a decree of court recognizing a widow as heir of her husband, and placing her in possession, definitely fix her status as such heir, so as to bar the rights of the husband's heirs to recover as against the wife, under the statute limiting rights of action.[6]

(II) ACTIONS RELATING TO REAL PROPERTY. The statutes of limitation apply to actions by heirs or distributees to recover possession of real estate the same as in other actions;[7] and where there is administration, the same lapse of time by adverse holding that will bar the administrator from bringing action will also bar the heirs.[8]

(III) ACTIONS RELATING TO PERSONAL PROPERTY. Where heirs or distributees allow the administrator to remain in possession of personal property for a long period of time, treating it as his own, with their knowledge and approval, their laches will bar their right to recover it;[9] but the statute of limitations does may sue the administrator in equity for their distributive shares.

Missouri.— Davis v. Davis, 5 Mo. 183, suit in equity to set aside conveyance by ancestor.

New Jersey.— Romaine v. Hendrickson, 24 N. J. Eq. 231 (suit in equity to set aside conveyance by executors); Ware v. Ware, 6 N. J. Eq. 117 (suit in equity by heir to restrain the cutting of timber on land of intestate).

United States.— Kerwin v. Hibernia Ins. Co., 25 Fed. 692, holding that equity courts have jurisdiction of a cause seeking to set aside mortgages or conveyances of real estate, brought by forced heirs to recover their legitime, in which the real estate is alleged to have been wrongfully placed in the name of the wife of their ancestor, and wrongfully declared to have been acquired by her separate and paraphernal funds, and where an account must be taken to ascertain the estate.

See also supra, IV, A, 13, a, (I)-(V), and cases there cited.

4. See, generally, LIMITATIONS OF ACTIONS.

Actions or proceedings to establish rights as heir or distributee see supra, III, A, 3, b.

Action by child of prior marriage of deceased husband see supra, III, B, 9, b, note 85.

Reduction of excessive donations.— Where one section of the statute provided that on the death of the donor the reduction, whether inter vivos or mortis causa, could be sued for only by the forced heirs or their assigns; and another provided that the reduction for excessive donations should be prescribed by five years; and another provided that a succession should be acquired by the legal heir immediately after the death of the person whom he succeeds, it was held that an excessive donation conferred a title as against a forced heir which could not be defeated after the lapse of five years. Cox v. Von Ahlefeldt, 105 La. 543, 30 So. 175.

5. Ord v. De la Guerra, 18 Cal. 67.

6. Nash's Succession, 48 La. Ann. 1573, 21 So. 254.

7. Florida.— Mathews v. Durkee, 34 Fla. 559, 16 So. 411, holding that an action of ejectment by heirs would not lie where the administrator had allowed time to lapse.

Indiana.— Grubbs v. Leyendecker, 153 Ind. 348, 53 N. E. 940, holding that the claim of a daughter in lands of her intestate father, which had been conveyed by the widow, was barred by the twenty years' limitation, although dower had never been assigned to the widow, since, by statute, the daughter might have asked that dower be assigned after one year's delay by the widow, or might have had her part of the land set off to her subject to the widow's dower.

New Hampshire.— Foster v. Marshall, 22 N. H. 491, holding that where a tenant by the curtesy initiate was disseized, his wife or her heirs had twenty years from his death within which to commence an action to recover possession.

Tennessee.— Burns v. Headerick, 85 Tenn. 102, 2 S. W. 259, holding that the lapse of seven years from the death of the widow of a vendor of land was a bar to an action by the heirs of the grantee and their privies, to recover that portion of the land assigned her as dower.

Texas.— Hudson v. Jurnigan, 39 Tex. 579, holding that claim of heirs was barred after the lapse of thirteen years.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 354.

8. Mathews v. Durkee, 34 Fla. 559, 16 So. 411.

9. Where the heirs of a wife allowed the husband, who was administrator of the wife, to use the wife's property as his own for a not run as against infant heirs or distributees as to personal property in favor of co-heirs or distributees having possession of such property, where the possessor has knowledge of the infancy of his co-heirs or distributees.[10] Nor does the statute run as against heirs or distributees where it will run against an administrator, unless both parties stand in the same position for the purpose of bringing suit.[11]

(IV) ACTIONS TO SET ASIDE DONATIONS OR CONVEYANCES BY ANCESTOR. The statute of limitations will run against actions by heirs or distributees to set aside gifts or conveyances made by their ancestors, because of infancy or insanity of the ancestor, or because of fraud against him, or because the gifts or conveyances were in fraud of their rights.[12] In Louisiana a suit by heirs to revoke a sale of real estate by their ancestor, where they claim as forced heirs the rights of creditors, their rights will be prescribed by the same limit of time fixed by statute for creditors.[13] The right of action of forced heirs to sue for the reduction of donations accrues upon the death of the ancestor, but where the succession of the deceased is apparently insolvent an exception to the rule exists.[14]

d. Parties — (I) IN GENERAL. The right of heirs and distributees to maintain actions in their own names has been elsewhere considered.[15] Actions to recover shares of an estate or property belonging to the estate, whether at law or in equity, must be brought by the party or parties entitled;[16] and as a general rule all of the parties in interest must be made parties plaintiff or defendant, in order that all rights may be adjudicated, and that the judgment or decree rendered may be final.[17] period of twenty-three years it was held that they were barred from claiming it. Allen v. Colburn, 65 N. H. 37, 17 Atl. 1060, 23 Am. St. Rep. 20.

10. Snowden v. Pope, Rice Eq. (S. C.) 174, holding that a husband taking possession of personalty of wife, with knowledge that there was an infant heir, was not entitled to plead the statute of limitations as against such heir.

11. Where property sold by an administrator had been removed from the state, it was held, in a suit by distributees for its recovery, that the statute could not be set up on the ground that the administrator might have sued for it in the state to which it was removed. Kilpatrick v. Bush, 23 Miss. 199.

12. In an action by heirs to set aside a deed of their ancestor on the ground of fraud, the cause of action will not be deemed to have accrued at the time of the delivery of the deed or of the death of the ancestor, but at the time of the discovery of the fraud by means of which the grantor was induced to execute and deliver the same. Brown v. Brown, 62 Kan. 666, 64 Pac. 599. See, generally, LIMITATIONS OF ACTIONS.

Laches see CANCELLATION OF INSTRUMENTS, 6 Cyc. 300.

Actions by heirs to set aside excessive and inofficious donations by ancestors are prescribed by five years, where plaintiff resides within the state, and by ten years as to non-residents. Lagrange v. Barré, 11 Rob. (La.) 302.

13. Moore v. Wartelle, 39 La. Ann. 1067, 3 So. 384.

14. Ball's Succession, 43 La. Ann. 342, 9 So. 45.

15. Heirs or distributees as proper parties to sue see supra, IV, A, 13.

16. Indiana.— Murray v. Cazier, 23 Ind. App. 600, 53 N. E. 476, 55 N. E. 880, holding that a widow could not maintain an action on a lease as the survivor of her husband, whatever right she might have to the rents as the owner of the land or a part of it.

Iowa.— Stewart v. Chadwick, 8 Iowa 463.

Kentucky.— Wiggins v. Cracraft, 40 S. W. 907, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 477, holding that a judgment ordering a sale of land to pay a debt due decedent could not be revived by his heirs, although no administrator had been appointed, as the heirs had no right to collect debts due the decedent.

Maryland.— Schaub v. Griffin, 84 Md. 557, 36 Atl. 443, suit by surviving distributees for distribution of share of deceased distributee.

Pennsylvania.— Gourley v. Kinley, 66 Pa. St. 270.

Texas.— Grayson v. Winnie, 13 Tex. 288, holding that the heirs of a decedent, after discharge of the administrator, might prosecute a suit commenced by the latter, although for the benefit of a third party who was the real owner of the original cause of action.

17. Georgia.— Henderson v. Napier, 107 Ga. 342, 33 S. E. 433 (holding that an equitable petition by heirs against the administrator and widow of the decedent to enforce parol agreement will not be sustained where the allegations therein show that other heirs who are not parties thereto have an interest in the property adverse to the interests of plaintiffs); Dennis v. Smith, 61 Ga. 269.

Iowa.— Phinny v. Warren, 52 Iowa 332, 1 N. W. 522, 3 N. W. 157.

Mississippi.—Foxworth v. Bullock, 44 Miss. 457.

Missouri.— Burford v. Aldridge, 165 Mo. 419, 63 S. W. 109, 65 S. W. 720, holding that

(II) Actions Relating to Real Property. Heirs or distributees who together take title by descent to real estate may join in an action for its recovery,[18] and they must be joined where the statute, in terms, or by intendment, requires it.[19] In some states by statute one may maintain an action for the benefit of the others.[20] In actions by heirs or distributees with respect to real property, the general rule is that all parties in interest must be joined or made parties;[21] but this does not require joinder of the administrators or the widow of the decedent unless it appears that they have some interest in the subject-matter in litigation.[22] The widow of an intestate may maintain an action of trespass to try title to the real estate of her intestate without joining her co-heirs;[23] and where she becomes vested with the powers of a guardian in socage of infant heirs, upon the death of the husband, she and not the heirs must sue for use and occupation, as well as for injury to the possession.[24] As a general rule, however, only the heirs can sue for rent, which becomes apportioned to them upon the death of the ancestor and descent of the property, and they may bring separate actions for their respective shares.[25] They may maintain separate actions of ejectment for their portions of the estate upon breach of the condition to pay rent in a lease of the ancestor.[26] on a petition by heirs of a decedent to enforce a trust under the will of an ancestor of such decedent, plaintiffs should amend by making the administrator of the decedent a party, or by showing why they were entitled to sue in their own name.

New Jersey.— Young v. Bilderback, 3 N. J. Eq. 206.

South Dakota.— Trotter v. Mutual Reserve Fund L. Assoc., 9 S. D. 596, 70 N. W. 843, 62 Am. St. Rep. 887.

United States.— West v. Randall, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,424, 2 Mason 181.

18. Campbell v. Wallace, 12 N. H. 362, 37 Am. Dec. 219; Malcom v. Rogers, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 188, 15 Am. Dec. 464, holding that co-heirs, who were tenants in common, might join or bring separate actions for their interests.

19. Daniels v. Daniels, 7 Mass. 135, holding that the statute of distribution required joinder of heirs in an action for destruction of title deeds.

20. Moulton v. McDermott, 80 Cal. 629, 22 Pac. 296, ejectment maintained by one of several co-distributees, as tenants in common, for the benefit of the others.

Action on contract.— Where part of a number of joint heirs to real estate made a contract with a third party to purchase at a foreclosure sale for their benefit, it was held that they had a right to sue in their own names for the enforcement of the contract, even if it did inure to the benefit of their co-heirs, and that it was not necessary to make the co-heirs parties defendant. Tinkler v. Swaynie, 71 Ind. 562.

21. McKay v. Mayes, 29 S. W. 327, 16 Ky. L. Rep. 862.

22. Indiana.— King v. Anderson, 20 Ind. 385, holding that in an action by heirs to recover rent accruing to the estate of the ancestor, the administrator may be made a party if it can be shown that such rents have been paid to him.

Iowa.— Stewart v. Chadwick, 8 Iowa 463, holding that a widow cannot join in a bill to enforce a trust in favor of heirs in lands of her husband, her remedy being to wait and apply to the heirs for dower.

New York.— Shepard v. Manhattan R. Co., 117 N. Y. 442, 23 N. E. 30, holding that before dower has been assigned a widow may join with the heirs of the deceased coöwner to enjoin injury to the land.

Pennsylvania.— A widow cannot join with the heirs in ejectment to recover lands of her deceased husband. Gourley v. Kinley, 66 Pa. St. 270; Dwyer v. Wright, 14 Pa. Co. Ct. 406.

Rhode Island.— Gorton v. Potter, 16 R. I. 493, 17 Atl. 909, holding that in ejectment by an heir to recover real estate leased by the widow as administratrix, the widow could not be joined where her interest was only her right of dower.

Tennessee.— Stockard v. Pinkard, 6 Humphr. 119, holding that, in a suit by heirs to set aside a conveyance of real estate of their ancestor, sold under execution, it was not their duty to make the administrator a party, but that the purchaser might do so by cross action if he so wished.

Compare Burford v. Aldridge, 165 Mo. 419, 63 S. W. 109, 65 S. W. 720.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 355.

23. McFadden v. Haley, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 96.

24. Sylvester v. Ralston, 31 Barb. (N. Y.) 286.

25. Cole v. Patterson, 25 Wend. (N. Y.) 456. See also Jones v. Felch, 3 Bosw. (N. Y.) 63, holding that a statute providing that all parties who are united in interest in the subject-matter of a suit must be joined therein as plaintiffs or defendants does not apply to actions for rent by the heirs.

Heirs who have received advancements and refused to come into hotchpot are not proper co-plaintiffs in actions for use and occupation against a tenant holding the estate. The other heirs may sue for and recover all the rents accrued both after the death of the ancestor and after partition. Clark v. Fox, 9 Dana (Ky.) 193.

26. Cruger v. McLaury, 41 N. Y. 219 [affirming 51 Barb. 642].

(III) ACTIONS RELATING TO PERSONAL PROPERTY. In actions by heirs or distributees to recover a distributive share of an estate, all of the other parties in interest, including the administrator where personal property is sued for, must be made parties,[27] unless it is shown that the case is within some exception to the rule requiring all persons materially interested in the suit to be made parties,[28] or unless the defect is waived by an answer to the merits.[29]

(IV) ACTIONS TO SET ASIDE DONATIONS OR CONVEYANCES BY ANCESTOR. In suits to set aside conveyances of land by an intestate because of infancy, mental incapacity, fraud, etc.,[30] all the heirs and devisees are proper and generally necessary parties.[31] Executors or administrators may properly join with forced heirs, in actions to set aside conveyances of real estate made by the ancestor on grounds of simulation;[32] but such representatives cannot maintain such an action alone.[33] Where, pending an action to set aside a deed of real estate, plaintiff dies intestate, the action may be revived and continued in the names of his heirs.[34]

e. Pleading — (I) BILL, DECLARATION, OR COMPLAINT. Persons suing as heirs or distributees must allege in their bill, declaration, or complaint all the facts necessary to establish their right as such,[35] and they must do so without

27. Georgia.— Dennis v. Smith, 61 Ga. 269.
Iowa.— Phinny v. Warren, 52 Iowa 332, 1 N. W. 522, 3 N. W. 157.
Kansas.— Humphreys v. Keith, 11 Kan. 108.
Minnesota.— Pratt v. Pratt, 22 Minn. 148.
South Dakota.— Trotter v. Mutual Reserve Fund L. Assoc., 9 S. D. 596, 70 N. W. 843, 62 Am. St. Rep. 887.
Tennessee.— Smith v. Gooch, 6 Lea 536; Alexander v. Espy, 6 Humphr. 157.
United States.— Cowan v. U. S., 5 Ct. Cl. 106; West v. Randall, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,424, 2 Mason 181.

28. Where joint claims of distributees become severed by consent of the parties one of such distributees may sue in his own name for the recovery of his share of the personal estate. Pratt v. Pratt, 22 Minn. 148, action on note given intestate.

29. In a suit by one distributee alone on a note given to the intestate, after final settlement of the estate, it was held that the defect of parties was waived by a plea to the merits. Humphreys v. Keith, 11 Kan. 108.

30. Right to maintain such actions see supra, IV, A, 13, a, (V).

31. Kansas.— Brown v. Brown, 62 Kan. 666, 64 Pac. 599.
Kentucky.— Lane v. Lane, 106 Ky. 530, 50 S. W. 857, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 9.
Mississippi.—Foxworth v. Bullock, 44 Miss. 457.
New Jersey.— Young v. Bilderback, 3 N. J. Eq. 206.
New York.— Keenan v. Keenan, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 747.

32. Guilbeau v. Thibodeau, 30 La. Ann. 1099, holding an executor a proper, but not a necessary, party in an action by heirs to set aside a conveyance of realty by their ancestor.

33. Ball v. Ball, 42 La. Ann. 204, 7 So. 567, denying the right of executors to demand a reduction of donations in behalf of the heirs.

34. Rakes v. Brown, 34 Nebr. 304, 51 N. W. 848. Where a suit in equity to rescind a conveyance of land abates by the death of complainant, the heirs at law or devisees of complainant are the proper parties complainant to a bill of revivor, and not his executor, unless the will creates in the executor a title to the land which authorizes him to prosecute the suit. Webb v. Janney, 9 App. Cas. (D. C.) 41.

35. As to the sufficiency of the pleadings in particular actions see the following cases:
Alabama.— Sullivan v. Lawler, 72 Ala. 74, holding that a bill by distributees for discovery of assets, removal of the administration into the chancery court, and collection of debts due the estate must allege that the administration is ready for settlement, that assets have come into the administrator's hands, and that plaintiffs are unable to prove facts alleged without defendant's answer.
Indiana.— Hall v. Brownlee, 28 Ind. App. 178, 62 N. E. 457 (holding that a complaint in an action by an heir for conversion of funds bequeathed by will to his ancestor, which fails to allege that the ancestor died intestate, and fails to state any facts showing that the ancestor ever acquired any vested estate in the funds sued for, is insufficient for want of averments material to the action for conversion, although the construction of the will on which plaintiffs' rights depend is a necessary incident to the suit); Physio-Medical College v. Wilkinson, 108 Ind. 314, 9 N. E. 167 (complaint to cancel deed by ancestor); Schuff v. Ransom, 79 Ind. 458 (holding that an action by heirs to set aside a deed by their ancestor when of unsound mind cannot be maintained unless some act disaffirming the deed has been done before commencing the suit, and, if the complaint fail to show this, it is bad on demurrer).
Kentucky.— Gayheart v. Sibley, 66 S. W. 1041, 23 Ky. L. Rep. 2307 (holding that plaintiffs asserting title to trees growing on land which they claim to have inherited from their father, and suing to enjoin their removal, must allege and prove that their ancestor owned the land and the trees at the inconsistency,[36] and without multifariousness or misjoinder of causes of action.[37] It is not enough to allege the mere conclusion that they are the heirs or distributees of the intestate, but they must set forth their relationship,[38] and that there are no other persons entitled before them.[39] It is also necessary, where the time of his death, and that they were his only children, or that they claim by conveyance from such of his children as are not joined as plaintiffs); Langston v. Edwards, 54 S. W. 833, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 1277; Nickell v. Fallen, 12 S. W. 767, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 621. See also Craig v. Welch-Hackly Coal, etc., Co., 73 S. W. 1035, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 2225, 74 S. W. 1097, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 232. Where husband and wife held realty jointly, and the husband conveyed the whole after the wife's death, it was held that allegations in a bill by the children to recover their mother's portion after the death of the husband and the termination of his estate by the curtesy, stating that the land was conveyed as their mother's portion of an estate, being deeded to their mother and father jointly, and that the conveyance was without her knowledge or consent, were sufficient to sustain the action. Berry v. Hall, 11 S. W. 474, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 30.

Louisiana.— McQueen v. Sandel, 15 La. Ann. 140, holding that allegations that defendant "tortiously detains from plaintiff, without legal right," will not take the place of an allegation of simulation in an action by a child to recover property alienated by his parent by simulated sales.

New York.— Mitchell v. Thorne, 134 N. Y. 536, 32 N. E. 10, 30 Am. St. Rep. 699 [affirming 57 Hun 405, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 682] (holding that, in an action by heirs of one of several deceased grantors to restrain spoliation of a burial-ground reserved in the deed, the complaint need not allege that they had succeeded to the interests of the other grantors, but that damages for prior injuries could not be recovered unless all the heirs were parties to the complaint; and holding further that allegations that the grantors died intestate were unnecessary, as that would be presumed); Radford v. Radford, 40 N. Y. App. Div. 10, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 481 (holding that a complaint by an heir to recover his share of the proceeds of the estate of his ancestor, which had been ordered sold by the court, brought against persons in possession of the premises, which did not show the relations of defendants to the ancestor, or any fraud or deceit in the acquisition of the premises by them, or any failure of the purchaser at the sale to pay the price stated no cause of action); Ellas v. Lockwood, Clarke 311 (holding that in a suit by coheirs for an account of the rents of the estate, it was not necessary to show in the bill that a demand made by one of them, before filing the bill, was made by authority of the other).

Ohio.— Pickaway v. Hall, 3 Ohio 225.

Texas.— Spaulding v. Anders, (Civ. App. 1896) 35 S. W. 407, sustaining a complaint in intervention by an heir to recover land, where the administrator's deed had not been delivered.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," §§ 350, 356, 365, 372. See also supra, III, A, 3, c.

36. Banks v. Galbraith, 149 Mo. 529, 51 S. W. 105, holding inconsistent, in suit for contribution by pretermitted heirs against a legatee in the ancestor's will, an averment that such will was procured by undue influence.

37. See Banks v. Galbraith, 149 Mo. 529, 51 S. W. 105, holding improper as a commingling of two different causes of action, in a suit for contribution by pretermitted heirs against a legatee in the ancestor's will, an averment that such will was procured by undue influence. But where the widow of one of the heirs to a tract of land, which she and her husband together with the other heirs united in conveying, sued to set aside the deed, alleging that herself and husband were induced to sign it by fraudulent representations, it was held that the fact that the complaint also contained all the allegations necessary to an action to recover dower did not make it an action for that purpose, and that there was no improper joinder of causes of action. Keenan v. Keenan, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 747.

38. Langston v. Edwards, 54 S. W. 833, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 1277; Radford v. Radford, 40 N. Y. App. Div. 10, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 481; Pickaway v. Hall, 3 Ohio 225. Compare, however, Howison v. Oakley, 118 Ala. 215, 23 So. 810; Physio-Medical College v. Wilkinson, 108 Ind. 314, 9 N. E. 167, both of which cases are referred to infra, note 39.

Different relationships.— In a suit by the heirs of a lessor to recover rents, where they are related in different degrees, the relationship of each must be set forth, in order that their respective interests in the estate may appear, and if it is not, the decree fixing the sums due the several plaintiffs will be set aside unless the defect is supplied by the proof. King v. Anderson, 20 Ind. 385.

39. Gayheart v. Sibley, 66 S. W. 1041, 23 Ky. L. Rep. 2307; Nickell v. Fallen, 12 S. W. 767, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 627, holding that in a suit by children to recover lands of their intestate mother, an averment that they were the "only heirs" was insufficient where the father if living was preferred. Montgomery v. White, 11 S. W. 10, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 905, holding that in an action by collateral relatives of an intestate for real property alleged to have descended to them, they must allege and prove, if denied, that there are no other relatives entitled to take it in preference to them, and that the allegation that they are the "only heirs" of the intestate is but a conclusion of the pleader, and is insufficient. In Indiana it has been held that a declaration right is one which should ordinarily be enforced by the administrator,[40] to set forth the fact that there are no debts against the estate and no administrator, or other facts which are necessary in the particular state to bring the case within an exception to the rule requiring the administrator to sue.[41] by an heir on a note due decedent, that he was the only heir at law, and that there were no debts and no administration, was insufficient in not alleging that there was no widow, or that she had waived her distributive share. Finnegan v. Finnegan, 125 Ind. 262, 25 N. E. 341; State v. Sanders, 90 Ind. 421; Williams v. Riley, 88 Ind. 290; Schneider v. Piessner, 54 Ind. 524. And see Jewell v. Gaylor, 157 Ind. 188, 60 N. E. 1083. Compare, however, Howison v. Oakley, 118 Ala. 215, 23 So. 810 (holding that a declaration alleging that plaintiffs were "the heirs at law of deceased" was sufficient on demurrer to show that they were all of such heirs); Castro v. Armesti, 14 Cal. 38 (holding that an averment that plaintiffs were sons of deceased, and had been in possession of the locus since his death, was a sufficient averment of heirship on demurrer); Physio-Medical College v. Wilkinson, 108 Ind. 314, 9 N. E. 167 (holding that an allegation in a complaint to cancel a deed and quiet title that plaintiffs were "the heirs and the only heirs of" the grantor, who, it was averred, died on a certain date, showed that plaintiffs had such an interest in the property as entitled them to maintain the action).

40. Rights which should be enforced by administrator see supra, IV, A, 13, a.

41. Alabama.— Morris v. Morris. 58 Ala. 443, holding that a bill by surviving heirs to recover the interests of their deceased coheirs must show that the deceased heirs died without debts, although they were under age. See also Sullivan v. Lawler, 72 Ala. 68 (holding that it must appear that the information that there are no debts comes from persons having knowledge of the decedent's affairs); Costephens v. Dean, 69 Ala. 385 (holding that, in an action by distributees to enforce a vendor's lien on lands sold by their ancestor, an averment that "he died about 13 years before the filing of the bill and no administration had ever been had" was insufficient).

Georgia.— Crummey v. Bentley, 114 Ga. 746, 40 S. E. 765, holding under the provisions of the code that in an order for the heirs of an intestate to maintain an action for land belonging to his estate they should allege and prove that there has been no administration thereon, or that if there has been administration the administrator has been discharged before the suit was brought, or else that the administrator, if in office when the suit was begun, consented to the bringing thereof. See also Greenfield v. McIntyre, 112 Ga. 691, 38 S. E. 44. In assumpsit by the distributee of an estate against a purchaser of personal property from the administratrix, a declaration alleging that payment was made fraudulently in worthless stock and that the administrator has refused to sue, is demurrable unless the administrator is made a party and his insolvency and that of his sureties alleged. Dennis v. Smith, 61 Ga. 269.

Indiana.— In an action by heirs or distributees to recover personal property of the estate, or on a chose in action belonging to the estate, as a note or mortgage, for example, it is necessary to allege that all debts have been paid and the estate settled, or that no letters of administration have been granted. Brunson v. Henry, 140 Ind. 455, 39 N. E. 256; Finnegan v. Finnegan, 125 Ind. 262, 25 N. E. 341; Williams v. Williams, 125 Ind. 156, 25 N. E. 176; Humphries v. Davis, 100 Ind. 369; Ferguson v. Barnes, 58 Ind. 169; Walpole v. Bishop, 31 Ind. 156; Hall v. Brownlee, 28 Ind. App. 178, 62 N. E. 457. See also Jewell v. Gaylor, 157 Ind. 188, 60 N. E. 1083. An averment that an intestate left no debts at the time of his death is insufficient on demurrer, as liability against an estate may be incurred after the intestate's death. Hall v. Brownlee, 28 Ind. App. 178, 62 N. E. 457.

Louisiana.— Robatham v. Tete, 8 La. Ann. 73, holding, however, that a plea to the merits by a third possessor was a waiver of the objection that heirs could not foreclose a mortgage until the final settlement of the estate.

Minnesota.— Granger v. Harriman, 89 Minn. 303, 94 N. W. 869, action by heir on note set apart to him on division of estate.

Mississippi.— Ricks v. Hilliard, 45 Miss. 359.

North Carolina.— Where the issue is fraud and collusion between the debtor of the estate and the personal representative, the facts necessary to sustain the charge must be set out in the bill. Nance v. Powell, 39 N. C. 297.

Tennessee.— In a suit by an heir to recover rents, a declaration which shows that a part of the rents accrued before and a part after the death of the ancestor is demurrable. Rowan v. Riley, 6 Baxt. 67.

Texas.— If the action is for a debt due the ancestor, or to recover personal property belonging to his estate, the pleadings must negative the existence or necessity of an administration; but this need not be done in actions to vacate an unauthorized will, or to set aside a conveyance of real estate of the ancestor. Veal v. Fortson, 57 Tex. 482. See Baker v. Hamblen, (Civ. App. 1903) 75 S. W. 362 (suit by heir to recover land); Hynes v. Winston, (Civ. App. 1899) 54 S. W. 1069 (action on notes).

Washington.— In an action to recover real estate, an averment that plaintiffs are the heirs at law of the deceased owner is insufficient, unless special circumstances are alleged and proved showing why administration is unnecessary. Balch v. Smith, 4 Wash. 497, 30 Pac. 648. But an averment that plaintiff's ancestor has never been a resident

(11) ANSWER AND REPLY. In an action by heirs or distributees all facts relied upon by the defense must be set up in the answer, and thus put in issue, or proof thereof will be excluded at the trial.[42] It is competent in such actions for plaintiffs to specify the nature of the claim under which defendants hold the property in dispute, and when the claim so specified is set up in defense, plaintiffs may allege its invalidity without departing from their original complaint.[43]

f. Evidence. In actions by heirs or distributees, in cases in which suit should ordinarily be brought by the administrator, they must prove the absence of debts and other facts entitling them to sue;[44] and in all cases they must affirmatively prove the facts necessary to entitle them to recover, including the death of the ancestor, their relationship to him, and the fact that there are no other persons entitled as heirs or distributees.[45] Delay by claimants to the estate of a deceased person in asserting their rights for a long period of time, if unexcused, casts a cloud upon the claim, and will be taken into consideration in determining their relationship to the deceased.[46] Proof of relationship is sufficient to require the court to determine the rights of the claimant, without showing recognition by the court.[47] In actions to set aside conveyances or donations by decedents, on the ground of fraud or simulation, upon the application of heirs or distributees, every species of evidence, both oral and written, is competent,[48] and the illegality of the transaction assailed extends to the entire estate.[49] The true character of the transaction can be inquired into,[50] and the consideration of sealed instruments of of the United States, and that there is no possibility of an administration being obtained in the state, has been held sufficient. Tucker v. Brown, 9 Wash. 357, 37 Pac. 456.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," §§ 356, 365.

Facts necessary to enable heirs or distributees to sue see supra, IV, A, 13, a.

42. Where a bill by a distributee to recover personalty belonging to the estate of the decedent, without administration, alleged that there were no debts, and this fact was not denied in the answer, it was held that defendant could not offer in evidence at the trial judgments recovered by third persons against the decedent, the indebtedness of the decedent not being in issue. Ricks v. Hilliard, 45 Miss. 359.

43. Becton v. Alexander, 27 Tex. 659, action by forced heirs to set aside will.

44. Crummey v. Bentley, 114 Ga. 746, 40 S. E. 765; Greenfield v. McIntyre, 112 Ga. 691, 38 S. E. 44; Finnegan v. Finnegan, 125 Ind. 262, 25 N. E. 341; Hall v. Brownlee, 28 Ind. App. 178, 62 N. E. 457. See also supra, IV, A, 13, a.

45. Oldham v. Rowan, 3 Bibb (Ky.) 534. Where the title and possession of property was in a decedent at the time of his death, and a child claims the same by descent from her mother, who is alleged to have been the real owner under a resulting trust, the burden of proof is on the claimant. In re Ruchizky, 205 Pa. St. 105, 54 Atl. 492.

Proof of heirship.— In actions by heirs, or as assignees of co-heirs, to recover lands belonging to the estate of an ancestor, brought against persons claiming under an adverse title, the heirship of plaintiffs must be established by proof, unless it is admitted by the defense. Oldham v. Rowan, 3 Bibb (Ky.) 534. As to the sufficiency of proof of heirship see Seymour's Succession, 52 La. Ann. 120, 24 So. 818, 26 So. 783. Brothers and sisters of deceased brothers and sisters of an intestate are not prima facie heirs and distributees, and they must prove that there are no persons who would take before them, before they can obtain an order for distribution of the estate. Sorensen v. Sorensen, (Nebr. 1903) 94 N. W. 540.

Existence of will.— In a real action by the heirs of one who died seized, evidence that a will was left by the deceased, without any evidence of its contents, does not defeat the action. Walsh v. Wheelwright, 96 Me. 174, 52 Atl. 649. In ejectment by heirs they are not bound to produce the will of the ancestor, supposing it can be proved that a will was made, but defendant, if he intends to bar the title of the heirs, must show affirmatively a devise of the premises by will. Brant v. Livermore, 10 Johns. (N. Y.) 358.

Admissibility and sufficiency of evidence see also supra, IV, A, 3, e, f.

Presumption and burden of proof see also supra, IV, A, 3, d.

Presumption of intestacy see supra, II, A, 10, note 45.

46. Bruce v. Patterson, 102 Iowa 184, 71 N. W. 182, where a delay of eleven years by heirs to assert a claim was held a suspicious circumstance, unless explained.

47. Le Page v. New Orleans Gas Light, etc., Co., 7 Rob. (La.) 183, suit by an heir to compel the transfer of corporate stock.

48. Lazare v. Jacques, 15 La. Ann. 599, action to set aside donation to concubine of ancestor.

49. Cole v. Cole, 39 La. Ann. 878, 2 So. 794.

50. Apparent sales of property, upon application by forced heirs, may be shown to be conveyance shown by parol.[51] The burden of proof is upon the attacking party,[52] and he cannot establish his case by showing suspicious circumstances merely.[53]

g. Verdict, Judgment, and Relief. In actions by heirs or distributees to recover their shares of property owned jointly by their ancestor and another at the time of his death, it is not necessary that the verdict shall specify the portion to which each plaintiff is entitled, as their respective shares are fixed by law.[54] Where plaintiffs, in actions by heirs or distributees, are entitled to less than the whole of the estate for which suit is brought, the court will give judgment for the portion to which they are entitled.[55] The court may order reimbursement in proper cases,[56] may stay execution until compliance with conditions imposed, as the payment of damages to the other side,[57] and may issue such other orders and decrees, where there has been fraud or collusion, as equity and justice may require.[58] Where the personal property sought to be recovered, in proceedings for distribution, is indivisible, the court will apportion its value between the adverse claimants as their interests may appear.[59] In an action to recover a distributive share in an estate it is error for the chancellor to direct a master to take an account, and after ascertaining the amount due complainant to apportion it among but disguised donations. Leleu v. Dooley, 48 La. Ann. 508, 19 So. 470; Dohan v. Dohan, 42 La. Ann. 449, 7 So. 569; Landry v. Landry, 40 La. Ann. 229, 3 So. 728; Moore v. Wartelle, 39 La. Ann. 1067, 3 So. 384; Carter v. McManus, 15 La. Ann. 641.

51. Dohan v. Dohan, 42 La. Ann. 449, 7 So. 569 (joint mortgage to husband and wife, after foreclosure by grantees, shown by parol to have been a disguised donation from wife to husband, upon application of her heirs); Landry v. Landry, 40 La. Ann. 229, 3 So. 728 (consideration for conveyance from ancestor to an heir, shown by parol, on application by co-heirs, to have been an obligation undertaken by the grantee to support the ancestor).

52. Moore v. Wartelle, 39 La. Ann. 1067, 3 So. 384; Carter v. McManus, 15 La. Ann. 641; Louis v. Richard, 12 La. Ann. 684.

53. Leleu v. Dooley, 48 La. Ann. 508, 19 So. 470; Carter v. McManus, 15 La. Ann. 641.

Presumption created by statute.— Louis v. Richard, 12 La. Ann. 684.

54. Davies v. Thompson, (Tex. Civ. App. 1899) 50 S. W. 1062, action by heirs of married woman to recover property owned by her jointly with others at time of death.

55. In trespass by a distributee who sues for the whole of tract of land, where he was entitled to only a part, he may recover the portion to which he was entitled. Jones v. Owens, 5 Strobh. (S. C.) 134.

In setting aside a conveyance caused to be made by an agent to himself upon suit of the heirs, the court will relinquish to each his portion, taking into consideration advancements made. Sturdevant v. Pike, 1 Ind. 277.

Where a conveyance of personal property by an ancestor is set aside, upon application of distributees of his estate, the property can be decreed only to the personal representative of the decedent, or to the distributees if the representative is a party to the suit. Samuel v. Marshall, 3 Leigh (Va.) 567.

Measure of recovery by absent heir.— In an action by an absent heir to recover her share of the intestate estate, under Vt. Rev. Laws, § 2245, giving such action against "any one receiving the same under order of the court," brought against the purchaser of a half interest, to whom the probate court has distributed such interest, plaintiff is entitled to the increased value of the share, and rents and profits which might have been derived from it, and is chargeable with necessary expenditures and depreciation without the distributee's fault. Lenehan v. Spaulding, 57 Vt. 115.

56. Reimbursement was ordered in a suit by heirs to recover lands sold by the administrator as his own, to the extent of the purchase-money paid by the purchaser before notice. Uhrich v. Beck, 13 Pa. St. 639.

57. Where a widow having a life-estate in lands, with remainder over to her children in fee, sold the land in fee, and left no property in the state, although leaving the children assets, and the children were non-residents and insolvent, it was held in ejectment by them that the purchaser was entitled to have damages assessed for breach of the widow's covenants, and that execution in favor of the children would be stayed until such damages were paid. Foote v. Clark, 102 Mo. 394, 14 S. W. 681, 11 L. R. A. 861.

58. Where a purchaser, by agreement with adult heirs, having notice that there were infant heirs, purchased the legal title of all the heirs in land for a trifling sum, and conveyed to another purchaser without notice, it was held, on application of the infant heirs, that the land was not liable to the heirs for the value of their equities, but that the first purchaser was a trustee under a resulting trust for their benefit. Wilson v. Wilson, 9 B. Mon. (Ky.) 274.

Recovery by one fraudulent party as against another see McCampbell v. Durst, 73 Tex. 410, 11 S. W. 380.

59. Kerley v. Clay, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 241, value of slave apportioned between adverse claimants.

the several defendants, and if they do not pay on request, to issue execution, where the effect will be to deprive such defendants of the right of exception and appeal to the chancellor.[60] In ejectment by heirs to recover land conveyed by their ancestor while laboring under legal incapacity, the heirs are entitled to recover possession without restitution of the price paid to the ancestor. The right to restitution cannot be raised in ejectment.[61] If defendant in ejectment succeeds in establishing his title as against the heir suing, it does not follow that he is entitled to judgment vesting title in him as against the other heirs.[62]

14. Actions Between Heirs and Distributees — a. Right of Action and Form of Remedy. An heir or distributee may maintain a bill in equity against his co-heirs or co-distributees for an accounting, or for the purpose of obtaining his distributive share of an estate, where the administration has been closed or where there has been no administration and there are no creditors,[63] or where there has been a mistake as to the value of the property of the decedent[64] or fraud in settling the estate.[65] Where there is an administrator, an heir as a rule cannot maintain an action against his co-heir for conversion of personal property belonging to the estate.[66] Nor can an heir ignore a will as against a co-heir in possession under such will, and sue for his portion.[67] Ejectment may be maintained between co-heirs of lands where defendant as executor has purchased an outstanding title and claims to hold as against his co-tenants;[68] and an heir may maintain ejectment against co-heirs after a division by the probate court;[69] but ejectment by heirs does not lie as against a widow in possession of her husband's real estate, of which he died seized.[70]

b. Jurisdiction. The jurisdiction and mode of procedure to determine rights to the property of deceased persons, as between heirs and distributees, is governed by statute so far as probate courts are concerned, and rights not within their jurisdiction must be enforced in the ordinary courts of law and equity according to the relief sought.[71]

60. McCartney v. Calhoun, 11 Ala. 110.

61. Wall v. Hill, 1 B. Mon. (Ky.) 290, 36 Am. Dec. 578.

62. Harris v. Vinyard, 42 Mo. 568.

63. Teal v. Chancellor, 117 Ala. 612, 23 So. 651 (sustaining a bill by an heir against his co-heirs in possession for his distributive share, and for accounting as to waste, there being no creditors, administrator, or executor); Nichols v. King, 68 S. W. 133, 1114, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 124; Middleton v. Pipkin, (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 56 S. W. 240. See also supra, IV, A, 13, a. If husband and wife receive in her right, in some informal distribution, not sanctioned by the county court on final distribution, or by the legal assent of the other heirs, an amount of property greater than her share of the estate, and retain it in such capacity, as her share, until the administration upon the estate is closed, they may be compelled to account for such surplus by those co-distributees who have not received their shares. Brinson v. Cunliff, 25 Tex. 760.

64. Gibbs v. Clagett, 2 Gill & J. (Md.) 14.

65. Jewell v. Gaylor, 157 Ind. 188, 60 N. E. 1083; Schwenck v. Schwenck, 52 La. Ann. 239, 26 So. 859; Schmidt v. Gatewood, 2 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 162.

Minor heirs.— Division of property among heirs so as to give less than his share to a minor, which was made when he was so young as not to be able to comprehend what was being done, and which was without judicial sanction, does not prevent him, although he had a guardian, from maintaining an action within two years after attaining his majority to enforce his rights. Middleton v. Pipkin, (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 56 S. W. 240. Where an estate in which a minor is interested as an heir is divided by the other heirs so as to give to the minor less than his share, he is not obliged, under the statutory rule of hotchpot, to account for what he received before bringing an action for the conversion. Middleton v. Pipkin, (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 56 S. W. 240.

66. Thompson v. Fenn, 100 Ga. 234, 28 S. E. 39, holding that the remedy of an heir for conversion of personalty by a co-heir is against the administrator for permitting it to be done. See also supra, IV, A, 13, c.

67. Cox v. Von Ahlefeldt, 105 La. 543, 30 So. 175, holding that the remedy in such case is in an action for the legitime.

68. Keller v. Auble, 58 Pa. St. 410, 98 Am. Dec. 297.

69. Cozens v. Colson, 3 N. J. L. 877.

70. Gourley v. Kinley, 66 Pa. St. 270, holding partition proceedings for division of the estate to be proper remedy for the heirs against the widow.

71. See supra, IV, A, 14, a; and the following cases:

California.— McDonald v. McCoy, 121 Cal. 55, 53 Pac. 421, holding that the statute authorizing actions to determine heirship and

c. Limitations. The statutes of limitation apply to actions between heirs, devisees, or distributees to obtain their distributive shares of an estate, or to enforce a trust, the same as in other actions;[72] but such statutes must be pleaded in bar by those who rely upon them as defenses.[73]

d. Defenses. In actions between co-heirs who have taken by descent as tenants in common, the defense that the ancestor had no title cannot be set up.[74] Nor can an heir, in an action against him by co-heirs for the purchase-price of property sold him by such co-heirs, where the plaintiffs were of full age, plead informalities in the sale which would be confirmed by the judgment to be rendered by the court.[75]

e. Parties. As a general rule an action for the distribution of personal estate descended to heirs cannot be maintained until an administrator of a decedent having an interest therein at the time of his death has been appointed and made a party thereto; but if the time within which an administrator may be appointed expires, or sufficient time lapses to raise the presumption that there are no outstanding debts against the estate, an action for distribution of such property may be maintained without the appointment of an administrator.[76] Nor is it necessary, in actions by heirs to recover their distributive shares of an estate, that administrators of deceased heirs having an interest in the property be joined, until it is shown that there are assets coming to the estates of such deceased heirs, ownership of the estates of decedents does not authorize the determination of adverse claims of third persons to such property.

Louisiana.— Probate courts have no jurisdiction of suit between heirs for indemnity where one has no legal title to land apportioned to him in partition proceedings. Palmer v. Palmer, 1 La. 99. See also Harrington v. Barfield, 30 La. Ann. 1297, holding that the district court had jurisdiction to determine questions of succession after the close of administration.

Maryland.— Jenkins v. Simms, 45 Md. 532, holding that where the heir of an intestate died without issue pending partition proceedings, the probate court had jurisdiction, on petition by his heirs, to perfect the inchoate title of the deceased heir, under a provision of the statute that in all cases where a person was entitled by purchase "or otherwise" to an undivided estate of an heir of an intestate, he should have the same right of election as the heir under whom he claimed if unable to agree with the other heirs.

Michigan.— Lorimer v. Wayne Cir. Judge, 116 Mich. 682, 75 N. W. 133, holding that decisions of probate courts, under the statute authorizing them to determine heirships and the legal representatives of estates of decedents, were not conclusive on any one, as the statute made such decisions prima facie evidence only.

Mississippi.— Gaines v. Smiley, 7 Sm. & M. 53, 45 Am. Dec. 295, holding that where the claim of a distributee had been disregarded by the probate court in the distribution courts of chancery had no jurisdiction to grant relief, the only remedy being in the probate court.

Ohio.— McGarry v. Smith, 22 Ohio St. 190, holding that a constitutional provision giving probate courts jurisdiction in "probate and testamentary matters" did not give them jurisdiction of an action by a child born after execution of a will of his deceased parent against the other heirs, to enforce the right of contribution given such child by the statute regulating wills.

Pennsylvania.— Dundas' Estate, 8 Phila. 598, holding that a statute giving the orphans' courts jurisdiction of cases in which "trustees may be possessed of, or are in any way accountable for any real or personal estate of a decedent," did not give such courts jurisdiction of actions where a trust arose between co-distributees by reason of fraud growing out of transactions between them. See also Eckles v. Stewart, 53 Pa. St. 460; Matter of Landis, 2 Phila. 217, holding that orphans' courts are not open for the establishment of ordinary contested claims.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 338; and supra, IV, A, 3, a.

72. See Martin v. Martin, 118 Ind. 227, 20 N. E. 763, holding that an action by an heir against devisees to enforce a trust was barred by the statute limiting all actions not otherwise provided for to fifteen years. See also supra, III, A, 3, b; and, generally, LIMITATIONS OF ACTIONS.

73. On a bill by distributees against heirs and representatives of a co-distributee to recover excess value paid by mistake, it was held that the statute of limitations was a defense only to those who pleaded it. Whitney v. Whitney, 5 Dana (Ky.) 327. The statute of limitations protecting purchasers from heirs or devisees, where the will is not recorded within a prescribed time after the testator's death, must be pleaded. Biggs v. McCarty, 86 Ind. 352, 44 Am. Rep. 320. And see, generally, LIMITATIONS OF ACTIONS.

74. Corwin v. Corwin, 9 Barb. (N. Y.) 219.

75. Ingrem v. Ingrem, 3 Mart. N. S. (La.) 369.

76. Anderson v. Smith, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 491. See also supra, IV, A, 13, a.

and the fact that children of the deceased heirs instead of administrators are joined in such actions is not a defense.[77]

f. Pleading.[78] A bill of complaint, in order to put defendants to answer, must clearly and definitely show that some right of plaintiff, for injury to which equity will grant relief, has been prejudiced by the acts complained of.[79] A complaint by certain heirs to recover the value of property belonging to the estate, alleged to have been obtained by other heirs from the decedent by fraudulent means, must not only allege that there are no debts, but must also allege that there is no executor, administrator, creditor, widow, or other person entitled to share in the claim on which plaintiff seeks to recover.[80] A bill of this character between heirs or distributees, although it alleges that the intestate owned large amounts of real and personal estate at his death, and its purpose is the recovery of a distributive share thereof, is not regarded as a bill for the partition of land, nor is it multifarious by reason of such allegations or purposes, even though it charges that the wife of one of the defendants claims, without having any interest therein, a part of the property sought to be recovered, and prays that her claim be canceled, and that she and her husband be charged with the property converted to the extent of plaintiff's claim.[81]

g. Evidence. In actions between heirs or distributees to recover distributive shares in the estates of deceased persons it is not necessary to prove that the debts of such persons have been paid, the presumption being that there were no debts, and the existence of such debt being a matter of defense to be alleged and proved by defendants.[82] Where a suit between heirs is based upon an alleged agreement between them, evidence is admissible to show a probability that the agreement was made.[83] Where forced heirs seek to avoid conveyances or donations by the ancestor as in fraud of their rights, they may prove fraud or simulation by parol evidence.[84]

h. Verdict and Judgment. Where a conveyance from an ancestor to an heir

77. Sullivan v. Andoe, 6 Fed. 641, 4 Hughes 290, sustaining an action by the sister of an intestate to recover her distributive share, alleged to have been withheld by fraud, without joinder of the administrator of her deceased brother, until it should appear that there were assets coming to his estate.

78. Necessity to plead statute of limitations see supra, IV, A, 14, c.

79. A complaint by children of an intestate after becoming of age, alleging that the intestate owed no debts, that there had been no administration, and that the intestate's widow had invested his personal estate in real estate, in the name of a second husband, who had knowledge of the facts, and that both of them until within a short time before had acknowledged plaintiffs' claim, and praying for an accounting and a lien on the real estate for the amount found due, was held sufficient to put defendants to answer. McClure v. Colyear, 80 Cal. 378, 33 Pac. 175. But a petition by an heir against his co-heirs for the appointment of an administrator in accordance with an agreement to cancel a family settlement, and to restrain collection of a judgment obtained against plaintiff for the amount promised in such settlement, after her note given therefor had been surrendered in such agreement for cancellation, was held to show no equity. McClung v. Amos, 97 Ga. 270, 22 S. E. 980. And a complaint by legatees and devisees against heirs and next of kin, the executor being dead and no successor appointed, praying for an accounting and settlement of the estate of the testator, the real estate being described as large tracts of land in different counties of great value, without other description, and alleging that plaintiffs' interest in the estate had been fraudulently obtained from them by the executor, by releases given, without describing such releases, was held demurrable, as being wholly "inartificial and insufficient." Netherton v. Candler, 78 N. C. 88.

Pleading in proceedings to establish heirship or rights as distributee see also supra, III, A, 3, c.

80. Jewell v. Gaylor, 157 Ind. 188, 60 N. E. 1083.

81. Teal v. Chancellor, 117 Ala. 612, 23 So. 651.

82. Brown v. Stockwell, 26 Ga. 380.

83. Where the existence of a contract, whereby certain heirs of a decedent promised to pay plaintiffs who were also heirs a certain sum by way of equalizing advancements that had been made, in consideration that plaintiff should cease to contest decedent's will, was in issue, testimony showing the financial condition of the decedent and of the promisors, and what advancements had been made to other heirs, was held competent as tending to show a probability that the agreement had been made. Bland v. Gaither, 11 S. W. 423, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 1033.

84. Hoggatt v. Gibbs, 15 La. Ann. 700. See also supra, IV, A, 13, f.

or distributee is set aside, the property conveyed reverts to the estate, subject to administration or distribution according to law;[85] and a judgment rendered on a verdict setting aside such a conveyance and directing the property conveyed to be distributed in a manner different from that prescribed by the statute of descent and distributions is invalid[86] and will be set aside unless the portion thereof making such a direction can be rejected as surplusage.[87]

i. Attorney's Fees. Heirs who resist a division of an estate according to law, claiming the property under a will necessarily invalid as a matter of law, are not entitled to counsel fees in making such resistance.[88]

15. Actions and Proceedings by Surviving Spouse — a. Right of Action and Conditions Precedent. An action by a widow to recover the portion of her husband's estate allowed her by statute cannot be maintained until after a liquidation and final settlement of the succession.[89] Where the widow's interest in her husband's estate is secured by a recognizance, her right of action on the recognizance is merely cumulative.[90] Notice, when required by statute, must be given, and the fact that it has been given must be affirmatively shown by the record.[91]

b. Jurisdiction. Probate courts have jurisdiction to assign to the widow her dower in the deceased husband's personal property,[92] or that portion of his real property to which she is entitled by statute;[93] but they have no jurisdiction to try title to the property claimed as dower, upon the presentation of adverse claims, in the proceedings for assignment.[94]

c. Limitations. Statutes of limitation do not run against a widow's claim for distribution in her husband's estate which is wholly devised to others by will until after a final settlement has been made by the executor.[95] Where a widow has remarried before her right of action accrues, the statutes of limitation will not run against her right to recover her proportion of her former husband's estate.[96]

d. Parties. In a suit by a widow for an assignment of dower in personal property any person having a lien or charge upon such property is a necessary party.[97] The heirs are necessary parties in an action by a husband to recover his marital portion of the estate of his deceased wife.[98]

e. Pleading. The petition, in an action by the widow to recover her dower in the personal estate of her deceased husband, must show in what the property consists, that the deceased died in the county in which the action is brought, and that the property is there.[99]

85. Smith v. Pate, 51 Ga. 246.

86. Smith v. Pate, 51 Ga. 246.

87. A direction in verdict in favor of heirs against co-heirs that a sum found due plaintiffs under a contract with defendants to equalize advancements be paid out of the estate of decedent was rejected as surplusage and an individual judgment rendered. Bland v. Gaither, 11 S. W. 423, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 1033.

88. Clayton v. Clayton, 12 S. W. 312, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 472. See also Nichols v. King, 68 S. W. 133, 1114, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 124, where, in an action by some of the heirs of a deceased person against the other heirs to set aside certain deeds executed by the decedent to defendants, and for a division of the decedent's lands, it was held error to require defendants to pay any part of the fees of plaintiff's attorneys, as the only controversy was as to the setting aside of the deeds, and defendants had attorneys employed who represented them.

89. Duriaux v. Doiron, 9 Rob. (La.) 101; Harrell v. Harrell, 17 La. 374.

A partial assignment of dower in personalty before the accounts of the executor are made up is irregular. Chaires v. Shepard, 7 Fla. 77.

90. Evans v. Ross, 107 Pa. St. 231.

91. Peake v. Redd, 14 Mo. 79.

Where the estate of the deceased is worth less than the amount allowed the widow, it is the duty of the probate court to declare the title vested in her, which is a proceeding in rem merely and requires no notice to heirs. Harrison v. Lamar, 33 Ark. 824.

92. Caillaret v. Bernard, 7 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 316; Holloman v. Holloman, 5 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 559; Woerther v. Miller, 13 Mo. App. 567.

93. Cote's Appeal, 79 Pa. St. 235.

94. Holloman v. Holloman, 5 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 559.

Jurisdiction of probate courts see also supra, III, A, 3, a.

95. Roberts v. Roberts, 34 Miss. 322.

96. Norton v. Thompson, 68 Mo. 143.

97. Hewitt v. Cox, 55 Ark. 225, 15 S. W. 1026, 17 S. W. 873.

98. Vasseur v. Dupre, 8 La. Ann. 488.

99. Caillaret v. Bernard, 7 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 316, holding also that the probate court should allow the petition to be amended.

f. Evidence and Burden of Proof. Where the answer of an administrator sets up an affirmative defense to a widow's petition for her dower in personal property, he must prove such allegations in order to deprive the widow of her right.[1]

g. Judgment and Relief. Before an assignment of dower in personal property can be made the court must ascertain the value of the property.[2] A judgment assigning a widow's dower in personal property should not make any allowance on account of personalty belonging to her deceased husband in the possession of an ancillary administrator in another state, where the value of such property is not shown and such action does not appear necessary to protect the widow's rights.[3] In assigning dower in personal property an allowance in money may be made to equalize the widow's share.[4] A judgment assigning a widow's dower in personal property, although erroneous, is binding upon the administrator until reversed, and she may recover in an action on the administrator's bond.[5]

16. Actions Against Heirs and Distributees — a. Rights of Action and Conditions Precedent. An action may be brought against heirs to subject lands inherited by them to the payment of a debt of the ancestor from whom they were inherited[6] or to the satisfaction of a judgment rendered against him in his lifetime,[7] or to enforce a vendor's lien for the purchase-money of the property in question.[8] No prior demand for payment is necessary to the bringing of an action to enforce a lien against the land of a decedent where there are no personal representatives.[9] It is not necessary that execution shall have been issued on a judgment obtained against the ancestor in his lifetime in order to maintain an action to subject land in the hands of his heirs to its payment.[10] Where heirs are proceeded against as unknown an affidavit must be filed by all the complainants that they are unknown to each of them.[11] Where the acknowledgment and recording of a deed are not essential to its validity between the parties, the grantee in an unacknowledged and unrecorded deed cannot maintain a bill against the heirs of the grantor for title.[12]

b. Time of Bringing Action. The time which must elapse before a suit may be maintained against the heirs alone for a debt of their ancestor is regulated by statute.[13]

c. Jurisdiction. Courts of ordinary jurisdiction and not probate courts have jurisdiction of actions against heirs and distributees to enforce, as against them, rights growing out of the estates of their ancestors.[14]

d. Defenses. Heirs and distributees are not regarded as purchasers, without notice, with respect to the distributive shares received by them of the estates of their ancestors, and are not entitled to this defense in actions brought against them by third persons with respect to such property.[15]

1. Welch v. Cole, 14 Ark. 400.
Where the administrator claims that the widow is estopped to claim dower in the personal estate on the ground that it had been offered to her and refused, the burden is upon him to establish the estoppel, and if the evidence is conflicting and evenly balanced a judgment assigning such dower will not be reversed. Clark v. Bramlett, (Ark. 1891) 16 S. W. 119.
2. Robertson v. McDaniel, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 11.
3. Hewitt v. Cox, 55 Ark. 225, 15 S. W. 1026, 17 S. W. 873.
4. Taylor v. Lusk, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 636.
5. Crowley v. Mellon, 52 Ark. 1, 11 S. W. 876.
6. Albertson v. Prewitt, 49 S. W. 196, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1309.
7. Davis v. Whipp, 48 S. W. 984, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1166.
8. Jackson v. Hill, 39 Tex. 493.
9. Albertson v. Prewitt, 49 S. W. 196, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1309.
10. Davis v. Whipp, 48 S. W. 984, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1166.
11. Thurston v. Masterson, 9 Dana (Ky.) 228.
12. Caldwell v. Head, 17 Mo. 561.
13. See Bowmans v. Mize, 3 B. Mon. (Ky.) 320, holding that an action on a promissory note against the heirs of the maker cannot be brought unless twelve months have elapsed from his death without administration upon his estate.
14. Martin v. Martin, 3 Mart. N. S. (La.) 48.
15. Snoddy v. Haskins, 12 Gratt. (Va.) 363. See supra, IV, A, 4, a.

e. Parties. In actions against heirs or distributees of an estate, all persons who have any interest in such estate must be made parties,[16] and no judgment can be rendered against heirs who are not before the court.[17] The administrator is not a necessary party where the action is of a purely personal nature against the heir,[18] or where its object is to enforce a vendor's lien against land inherited by him;[19] but if the object is to enforce a lien against funds belonging to an heir in the hands of the administrator the administrator is a necessary party.[20]

f. Pleading. The complaint must allege all the facts essential to show a cause of action against the heirs;[21] and any material averment in defendant's plea which is not controverted by plaintiff will be taken as admitted.[22] In an action upon a judgment rendered against the decedent in his lifetime an answer which merely denies that he was ever indebted to plaintiff states a mere conclusion of law and raises no issue as to the amount due.[23]

g. Judgment. The judgment in an action against heirs and distributees must conform to the pleadings and the proof.[24] On a bill to marshal assets brought against the heirs of the deceased debtor, the decree should allow the infant heirs a day in court to show cause against it after they shall become of age.[25]

B. Advancements — 1. DEFINITION. An advancement is an irrevocable gift in præsenti of money or property, real or personal, to a child by a parent to enable the donee to anticipate his inheritance to the extent of the gift.[26]

16. Gray v. Palmer, 9 Cal. 616.

17. Thruston v. Masterson, 9 Dana (Ky.) 228.

18. Foss v. Cobler, 105 Iowa 728, 75 N. W. 516.

19. Jackson v. Hill, 39 Tex. 493.

20. Foss v. Cobler, 105 Iowa 728, 75 N. W. 516.

21. Bowmans v. Mize, 3 B. Mon. (Ky.) 320, holding that in an action upon a promissory note against the heirs of the maker, the complaint must allege that twelve months have elapsed from his death without administration being granted on his estate.

22. Brinkerhoff v. Ransom, 57 N. J. Eq. 312, 41 Atl. 725 [reversing 56 N. J. Eq. 149, 38 Atl. 919], holding that in an action at law against heirs and devisees an averment in the plea that defendants had aliened their ancestor's estate before the action was commenced is material, and a failure on the part of plaintiff to reply thereto is an admission of a bona fide alienation.

23. Davis v. Whipp, 48 S. W. 984, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1166, holding that defendant should have pleaded that there was no such judgment or put in issue its validity or alleged that it was paid.

24. Taylor v. Taylor, 43 N. Y. 578, holding that where a defendant dies pendente lite and his infant heirs are brought in by a supplemental complaint which merely alleges his death and their heirship a personal judgment against the heirs is unauthorized.

25. Tennant v. Pattons, 6 Leigh (Va.) 196.

26. Alabama.— Grey v. Grey, 22 Ala. 233.

California.— Faylor v. Faylor, 136 Cal. 92, 68 Pac. 482.

Illinois.— Gary v. Newton, 201 Ill. 170, 66 N. E. 267; Grattan v. Grattan, 18 Ill. 167, 65 Am. Dec. 726.

Iowa.— Bissell v. Bissell, 120 Iowa 127, 94 N. W. 465.

Kentucky.— Hamilton v. Moore, 70 S. W. 402, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 982; Nichols v. King, 68 S. W. 133, 1114, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 124.

Louisiana.— Clark v. Hedden, 109 La. 147, 33 So. 116.

Maryland.— Love v. Dilley, 64 Md. 238, 1 Atl. 59, 4 Atl. 290, 64 Md. 610, 6 Atl. 168.

Massachusetts.— Osgood v. Breed, 17 Mass. 356.

Michigan.— Sprague v. Moore, 130 Mich. 92, 89 N. W. 712.

Missouri.— In re Williams, 62 Mo. App. 339; Patton v. Williams, 1 Mo. App. Rep. 516.

New Hampshire.— Fellows v. Little, 46 N. H. 27.

New Jersey.—Grumley v. Grumley, 63 N. J. Eq. 567, 52 Atl. 381.

New York.— Messman v. Egenberger, 46 N. Y. App. Div. 46, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 556; Bruce v. Griscom, 9 Hun 280.

Ohio.— Burheck v. Spollen, 6 Obio Dec. (Reprint) 1118, 10 Am. L. Rev. 491; Woodruff v. Snowden, 10 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 123, 7 Ohio N. P. 520.

Pennsylvania.— Porter's Appeal, 94 Pa. St. 332; Hughes' Appeal, 57 Pa. St. 179; Miller's Appeal, 31 Pa. St. 337; High's Appeal, 21 Pa. St. 283; Yundt's Appeal, 13 Pa. St. 575, 53 Am. Dec. 496; Christy's Appeal, 1 Grant 369; Weaver's Estate, 5 Lanc. Bar 24; In re Kessinger, 1 Leg. Gaz. 83; Datt's Estate, 34 Pittsb. Leg. J. 349.

South Carolina.— Rickenbacker v. Zimmerman, 10 S. C. 110, 30 Am. Rep. 31.

Tennessee.— Yancy v. Yancy, 5 Heisk. 353, 13 Am. Rep. 5; Cawthon v. Coppedge, 1 Swan 487.

Virginia.— Chinn v. Murray, 4 Gratt. 348.

England.— Edwards v. Freeman, 2 P. Wms. 435, 24 Eng. Reprint 803; Kircudbright v. Kircudbright, 8 Ves. Jr. 51, 6 Rev. Rep. 216, 32 Eng. Reprint 269.

Canada.— Re Hall, 14 Ont. 557.

2. Essentials — a. Transfer or Payment — (i) General Requisites. To constitute an advancement the gift must have been made by the intestate,[27] and the payment or transfer must be absolute in the sense that the donor must part with all control over it.[28] It must be an irrevocable gift in præsenti.[29] There must ordinarily be an actual delivery or change of possession of the property.[30]

(ii) Necessity of Writing. In some jurisdictions it is provided by statute that no gift or grant shall be deemed to have been made in advancement unless expressed or charged as such in writing by the donor or acknowledged as such in writing by the donee,[31] in which case the advancement cannot be established by

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 389.

Distinguished from ademption and satisfaction.— Advancement contemplates a state of intestacy, entire or partial, and is thus distinguishable from "ademption," which is the extinction of a specific legacy by the testator's parting with the subject of it during his lifetime, and from "satisfaction," which is the payment by the testator during his lifetime of a general legacy. See Wills.

27. Gavin v. Gaines, 5 Ky. L. Rep. 247; Flower v. Myrick, 49 La. Ann. 321, 21 So. 542; Christy's Appeal, 1 Grant (Pa.) 369, all holding that a gift to a child from any one except the intestate is not to be brought into hotchpot.

Community property.— Where community property has been advanced, it must be collated according to the proportion to which it was owned by the parents respectively. Benoit v. Benoit, 8 La. 228; Baillio v. Baillio, 5 Mart. N. S. (La.) 228. And see Banton v. Campbell, 9 B. Mon. (Ky.) 587; Cain v. Cain, 53 S. C. 350, 31 S. E. 278, 69 Am. St. Rep. 863. A conveyance of community property by a surviving husband to one of the children of his deceased wife and himself is presumed an advancement from the community and not from his separate estate. Adair v. Hare, 73 Tex. 273, 11 S. W. 320. The burden of showing that the property belonged to the community is on the party asserting that to be the fact. Montegut's Succession, 2 La. Ann. 630.

28. Crosby v. Covington, 24 Miss. 619; Callender v. McCreary, 4 How. (Miss.) 356.

Deposits in bank for children by a parent in his own name as trustee for them, he drawing no part of the principal or interest but retaining the deposit books, are not advancements. In re Atkinson, 16 R. I. 413, 16 Atl. 712, 27 Am. St. Rep. 745, 3 L. R. A. 392.

A loan of property is not an advancement. Hanner v. Winburn, 42 N. C. 142. And see In re Strickler, 182 Pa. St. 253, 37 Atl. 999. However, if it was the understanding of the parties that the property should not be reclaimed, it is an advancement, although a memorandum was made in which it was described as property lent; and the fact that the property was not reclaimed, the declarations of the donor that he had advanced the donee, and the donee's admission that he had been advanced, are sufficient proof that such was the understanding. Law v. Smith, 2 R. I. 244.

29. Herkimer v. McGregor, 126 Ind. 247, 25 N. E. 145, 26 N. E. 44.

Executory promise to pay.— It has been held that a note voluntarily executed by a parent to a child is not an advancement because it is a mere promise to pay in the future which may be avoided. Woodruff v. Snowden, 7 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 123, 7 Ohio N. P. 520. Contra, Shotwell v. Struble, 21 N. J. Eq. 31; Carter v. King, 11 Rich. (S. C.) 125, holding that a note given by a father to a child, payable one day after date but with the right of collection postponed until the donor's death, may be enforced against the donor's estate as an advancement.

Covenants in marriage settlements providing for future children are regarded as advancements. In re Knabb, 1 Leg. Chron. (Pa.) 311, 337; Edwards v. Freeman, 2 P. Wms. 435, 24 Eng. Reprint 803.

A testamentary provision in favor of a child is not an advancement. Edwards v. Freeman, 2 P. Wms. 435, 24 Eng. Reprint 803.

A contingent provision for a child may become effectual as an advancement upon the happening of the contingency, such as the donor's death. Grey v. Grey, 22 Ala. 233; Edwards v. Freeman, 2 P. Wms. 435, 24 Eng. Reprint 803.

A revocable gift may be treated as an advancement where the donor dies without having revoked it. Hughey v. Eichelberger, 11 S. C. 36.

30. Alabama.— Butler v. Merchants' Ins. Co., 14 Ala. 777; Mitchell v. Mitchell, 8 Ala. 414.

Indiana.— Joyce v. Hamilton, 111 Ind. 163, 12 N. E. 294.

North Carolina.— Melvin v. Bullard, 82 N. C. 33; James v. James, 76 N. C. 331; Harrington v. Moore, 48 N. C. 56; Meadows v. Meadows, 33 N. C. 148, parol gift.

Ohio.— Overholser v. Wright, 17 Ohio St. 157; Burbeck v. Spollen, 6 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 1118, 10 Am. L. Rec. 491.

Pennsylvania.— Hummel v. Hummel, 80 Pa. St. 420; In re Lang's Estate, 33 Pittsb. Leg. J. 9; Jones' Estate, 29 Pittsb. Leg. J. 89.

Tennessee.— Mason v. Holman, 10 Lea 315.

Charges made by a parent against a child as for advancements without delivery of the property are ineffective. Sherwood v. Smith, 23 Conn. 516; Herkimer v. McGregor, 126 Ind. 247, 25 N. E. 145, 26 N. E. 44.

31. Illinois.— Gary v. Newton, 201 Ill. 170, parol,[32] although parol advances are valid where the property has been delivered.[33] So advances of real estate accompanied by delivery of possession may be effected by parol[34] and may be enforced in equity, although ineffective at law under the statute of frauds.[35]

(III) FORM OF WRITING. No particular form of words is necessary to constitute an advancement under the statutes requiring it to be evidenced by a writing,[36] so long as it appears that there was an intent to make an advancement.[37]

(IV) EXECUTION AND DELIVERY OF WRITING.[38] Want of formality in the execution of a conveyance of property as an advancement is fatal,[39] and the effect is the same where the donor fails to deliver the instrument.[40]

b. Intent to Make Advancement. The donor must have intended the property as an advancement or it will not be effectual as such[41] in the absence of a statute 66 N. E. 267; Marshall v. Coleman, 187 Ill. 556, 58 N. E. 628.

Maine.— Porter v. Porter, 51 Me. 376.

Massachusetts.— Bulkeley v. Noble, 2 Pick. 337.

New Hampshire.— Fellows v. Little, 46 N. H. 27.

Rhode Island.— Law v. Smith, 2 R. I. 244.

Wisconsin.— Pomeroy v. Pomeroy, 93 Wis. 262, 67 N. W. 430.

Canada.— Filman v. Filman, 15 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 643.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 405.

Operation of statute.— A statute which requires advancements to be evidenced by writing applies to advancements made before its enactment where distribution is made after its enactment. Wallace v. Reddick, 119 Ill. 151, 8 N. E. 801. However, a statute requiring the purpose to make an advancement to be expressed in writing and repealing all prior acts relating to advancements does not defeat an advancement which was valid under a prior statute in force when it was made, although the instrument did not express a purpose to make an advancement. Whitman v. Hapgood, 10 Mass. 437.

Waiver of statute.— The distributees may as between themselves waive the statutory requirement of a writing. Long v. Long, 132 Ill. 72, 23 N. E. 591 [affirming 30 Ill. App. 559]. However, an agreement made between distributees in the lifetime of their father that certain debts owed by some of them to him shall be treated as advancements is not binding on the administrator, so as to relieve him from the duty of collecting the debt if necessary for the proper administration of the estate. Fitts v. Morse, 103 Mass. 164.

The acknowledgment by the donee of the receipt of property as an advancement must be made to the donor. An acknowledgment to the other distributees is not sufficient of itself to create an advancement. Fitts v. Morse, 103 Mass. 164.

32. Illinois.— May v. May, 36 Ill. App. 77, holding that insufficient written evidence of an advancement cannot be supplemented by parol.

Maine.— Porter v. Porter, 51 Me. 376, 379, holding that under a statute declaring that gifts to children or grandchildren "are deemed an advancement when so expressed therein, or charged as such by intestate, or acknowledged in writing to be such," advancements are not open to explanation by oral testimony.

Massachusetts.— Bulkeley v. Noble, 2 Pick. 337.

New Hampshire.— Fellows v. Little, 46 N. H. 27, holding that the original entries in the books of the donor are not to be controlled by subsequent parol declarations.

Rhode Island.— Law v. Smith, 2 R. I. 244.

Wisconsin.— Pomeroy v. Pomeroy, 93 Wis. 262, 67 N. W. 430, where it is held that a statute providing that all gifts shall be considered advancements if so expressed therein excludes parol evidence.

Superior evidence.— The statute is not intended to exclude other and higher proof of an advancement than is therein designated, but only inferior proof. Law v. Smith, 2 R. I. 244.

Parol evidence in general see infra, IV, B, 8, f, (I).

33. Hinton v. Hinton, 21 N. C. 587.

34. Parker v. McCluer, 3 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 454, 3 Keyes (N. Y.) 318, 1 Transcr. App. (N. Y.) 240, 5 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 97, 36 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 301; Credle v. Credle, 44 N. C. 225; O'Neal v. Breecheen, 5 Baxt. (Tenn.) 604.

35. Ford v. Ellingwood, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 359.

36. Brown v. Brown, 16 Vt. 197.

A receipt given by a child for articles delivered, promising to return them if called for, with an indorsement of the parent thereon that their return will not be exacted and that they will answer as a part of the child's portion, is a sufficient compliance with the statute. Ashley's Appeal, 4 Pick. (Mass.) 21.

37. Ashley's Appeal, 4 Pick. (Mass.) 21; Mowry v. Smith, 5 R. I. 255.

38. See, generally, DEEDS.

39. Cawthon v. Kimbell, 46 La. Ann. 750, 15 So. 101.

40. Miller's Appeal, 107 Pa. St. 221 (holding that a deed which has never been delivered is a nullity and affords no evidence of an advancement); Mason v. Holman, 10 Lea (Tenn.) 315.

41. Fitts v. Morse, 103 Mass. 164 (holding that whether a payment or transfer is an advancement depends upon the intention of the donor, manifested in a legal way, and no to the contrary.[42] To charge the donee as with an advancement, however, it is not necessary that he shall have accepted the gift as such.[43]

c. Intestacy of Donor. The doctrine of advancements applies only in cases where the donor dies intestate as to all or a part of his property.[44]

3. Who May Make Advancements. The statutes of distribution generally apply to advancements made by mothers as well as fathers, so that the donees of a mother dying intestate must account for the gift if they claim as her distributees.[45]

4. Persons Chargeable With Advancements — a. Child or Grandchild as Donee. The term "children," as used in statutes regulating advancements, includes both children and grandchildren and all descendants of the donor, so that if any such receives an advancement he must account for it if he claims a share in the donor's estate.[46]

b. Wife as Donee. Statutes regulating advancements do not apply to the wife of a donor, and she is not chargeable with advances made to her by him on claiming her share in his estate.[47]

c. Indirect Donees — (i) In General. Ordinarily to constitute an advancement the gift must be made to the distributee sought to be charged with it as such or to a third person with his consent.[48]

(ii) Child of Donee. Where an intestate has made an advancement to one of several children who dies before him, the question whether surviving children of the donee are chargeable with the advancement in the distribution of the donor's estate depends upon whether the donor leaves grandchildren only or grandchildren and children also. If only grandchildren survive the donor, the children of the donee are not chargeable as against the other grandchildren with the advancement made to their parent;[49] but if the donor leaves both children and grandchildren the latter are so chargeable.[50] agreement between the distributees to which he is not a party can affect the matter); Bulkeley v. Noble, 2 Pick. (Mass.) 337; Osgood v. Breed, 17 Mass. 356; Morr's Appeal, 80 Pa. St. 427 (holding that if a parent intended a charge against the child as a debt, it cannot be treated as an advancement, although because of the child's incapacity it is void as a debt); Rains v. Hays, 2 Tenn. Ch. 669.

Time of intent.— Ordinarily the intent to make an advancement must exist and be expressed at the time of the payment or transfer. Homiller's Estate, 17 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 238. See, however, infra, IV, B, 6.

Nature of transaction as governed by intent see infra, IV, B, 5, c, (I).

42. Bailey v. Barclay, 109 Ky. 636, 60 S. W. 377, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 1244. See infra, IV, B, 5, c, (I).

43. Holliday v. Wingfield, 59 Ga. 206.

The intent of the donee does not govern the question of advancement. Fitts v. Morse, 103 Mass. 164.

44. Pole v. Simmons, 45 Md. 246; Christy's Appeal, 1 Grant (Pa.) 369; Cowper v. Scott, 3 P. Wms. 119; Walton v. Walton, 14 Ves. Jr. 318, 33 Eng. Reprint 543; Twisden v. Twisden, 9 Ves. Jr. 413, 7 Rev. Rep. 254, 32 Eng. Reprint 661.

45. Kintz v. Friday, 4 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 540; Rees v. Rees, 11 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 86. Contra, Holt v. Frederick, 2 Eq. Rep. 446, 2 P. Wms. 356, 24 Eng. Reprint 763.

The words "any of his or her children," used in a statute requiring children to be charged with advancements, apply to the children of mothers as well as of fathers. Daves v. Haywood, 54 N. C. 253.

46. In re Williams, 62 Mo. App. 339; Patton v. Williams, 1 Mo. App. Rep. 516; Beebe v. Estabrook, 79 N. Y. 246 [affirming 11 Hun 523]; Storey's Appeal, 83 Pa. St. 89; Eshelman's Appeal, 1 Leg. Chron. (Pa.) 99, 224; Royle v. Hamilton, 4 Ves. Jr. 437, 31 Eng. Reprint 225. Contra, Daves v. Haywood, 54 N. C. 253. See also Children, 7 Cyc. 133.

Advancements to the eldest son, where they consist of personal property, must be brought into hotchpot under the statutes of distribution. Kircudbright v. Kircudbright, 8 Ves. Jr. 51, 6 Rev. Rep. 216, 32 Eng. Reprint 269.

47. Barnes v. Allen, 25 Ind. 222; In re Morgan, 104 N. Y. 74, 9 N. E. 861.

48. Rains v. Hays, 2 Tenn. Ch. 669.

49. Brown v. Taylor, 62 Ind. 295; Calhoun v. Crossgrove, 33 La. Ann. 1001; Skinner v. Wynne, 55 N. C. 41; Person's Appeal, 74 Pa. St. 121.

50. Illinois.— See Simpson v. Simpson, 114 Ill. 603, 4 N. E. 137, 7 N. E. 287.

Indiana.— Brown v. Taylor, 62 Ind. 295.

Kentucky.— Barber v. Taylor, 9 Dana 84. See Nelson v. Bush, 9 Dana 104.

Louisiana.— Meyer's Succession, 44 La. Ann. 871, 11 So. 532. See also King v. King, 107 La. 437, 31 So. 894.

(III) PARENT OF DONEE. Gifts to grandchildren are not chargeable to their parents as advancements to the latter upon distribution of the donor's estate.[51]

(IV) WIFE OF DONEE. A payment or transfer to the husband of a distributee as a gift to her is deemed an advancement and must be accounted for by her if she shares in the distribution of the donor's estate.[52] The question whether the gift was an advancement to the wife is one of intention[53] and is to be determined by the circumstances of the particular case.[54]

Missouri.— In re Williams, 62 Mo. App. 339.

New York.— See McRae v. McRae, 3 Bradf. Surr. 199.

North Carolina.— Headen v. Headen, 42 N. C. 159.

Ohio.— Parsons v. Parsons, 52 Ohio St. 470, 40 N. E. 165.

Pennsylvania.— Person's Appeal, 74 Pa. St. 121; Hughes' Appeal, 57 Pa. St. 179.

South Carolina.— McLure v. Steele, 14 Rich. Eq. 105.

West Virginia.— See Flesher v. Mitchell, 5 W. Va. 59.

England.— Proud v. Turner, 2 P. Wms. 560, 24 Eng. Reprint 862.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 400.

Gifts to a daughter-in-law are not chargeable to her children, although so intended by the donor. Boone v. Thornsbury, 51 S. W. 563, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 368.

51. Stevenson v. Martin, 11 Bush (Ky.) 485; McClellan v. Sharp, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 525; Shiver v. Brock, 55 N. C. 137; Cawthon v. Coppedge, 1 Swan (Tenn.) 487. However, a deed made to a grandchild at the request of the parent as an advancement to the latter is chargeable to the parent. Hamilton v. Moore, 70 S. W. 402, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 982.

52. Alabama.— Booth v. Foster, 111 Ala. 312, 20 So. 356, 56 Am. St. Rep. 52; Duckworth v. Butler, 31 Ala. 164; Wilson v. Wilson, 18 Ala. 176.

Florida.— Towles v. Roundtree, 10 Fla. 299; Lindsay v. Platt, 9 Fla. 150.

Kentucky.— Groom v. Thompson, 16 S. W. 369, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 223; Harber v. Green, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 587; Williams v. Barnes, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 727 [affirmed in 5 Ky. L. Rep. 925].

Louisiana.— Carroll v. Carroll, 48 La. Ann. 956, 20 So. 210.

Maryland.— Dilley v. Love, 61 Md. 603.

Massachusetts.— Hartwell v. Rice, 1 Gray 587.

New Jersey.— Wanamaker v. Van Buskirk, 1 N. J. Eq. 685, 23 Am. Dec. 748.

North Carolina.— Banks v. Shannonhouse, 61 N. C. 284; Dixon v. Coward, 57 N. C. 354; Bridgers v. Hutchins, 33 N. C. 68.

Ohio.— Dittoe v. Cluney, 22 Ohio St. 436.

Pennsylvania.— Knabb's Estate, 2 Woodw. 386; Park's Estate, 4 Pa. Co. Ct. 560; Kessinger's Estate, 1 Leg. Gaz. 83.

Virginia.— McDearman v. Hodnett, 83 Va. 281, 2 S. E. 643; Bruce v. Slemp, 82 Va. 352, 4 S. E. 692.

West Virginia.— Roberts v. Coleman, 37 W. Va. 143, 16 S. E. 482.

England.— Weyland v. Weyland, 2 Atk. 632, 26 Eng. Reprint 777.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 399.

53. Park's Estate, 4 Pa. Co. Ct. 560.

Presumption.— An intention of the donor to advance to his daughter will be presumed from the fact that he conveyed to her husband on the sole consideration of the existence of the marriage relation between them. Stevenson v. Martin, 11 Bush (Ky.) 485.

54. Alabama.— Booth v. Foster, 111 Ala. 312, 20 So. 356, 56 Am. St. Rep. 52 (the application of property to obtain the release of a son-in-law from prison was held not an advancement to the daughter, in the absence of proof that it was so intended); Duckworth v. Butler, 31 Ala. 164 (the redemption of a mortgage given by a son-in-law and settling the mortgaged property on the daughter on the promise of the son-in-law to repay was held not to be an advancement).

Kentucky.— Groom v. Thomson, 16 S. W. 369, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 223 (holding that a partnership between a decedent and his son-in-law, upon capital furnished by decedent, is not an advancement to his daughter, although her husband was an equal partner); Stevenson v. Martin, 11 Bush 485 (holding that if a daughter be dead at the time of a conveyance to her husband by her father, an advancement to her is not presumed as against her children).

Massachusetts.— Hartwell v. Rice, 1 Gray 587, holding that a written acknowledgment by a husband that he had received from his wife's father a certain sum for her support "as a part of her portion out of her father's estate" is sufficient proof of an advancement to the wife.

North Carolina.— Dixon v. Coward, 57 N. C. 354, holding that where a father conveyed land to his daughter and her husband jointly, only one half of the property was an advancement to her.

Ohio.— Boyer v. Boyer, 7 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 525, 7 Ohio N. P. 153, holding that where the wife had no knowledge of the gift and did not acquiesce in it, she was not chargeable with a gift to the husband.

Pennsylvania.— Kessinger's Estate, 1 Leg. Gaz. 83, holding that book entries made by decedent that a debt due him from his son-in-law should be deducted from his daughter's portion of his estate are not conclusive as evidence, unless executed as a will or consented to by the daughter.

Tennessee.— Rains v. Hays, 6 Lea 303, 40 Am. Rep. 39 [affirming 2 Tenn. Ch. 669], holding that a voluntary conveyance of land

5. What Constitutes Advancement — a. Voluntary Payment or Transfer — (I) Presumption. Substantial gifts of money or property by a parent to a child are ordinarily presumed to be advancements chargeable to the child in the distribution of the donor's estate, and the burden of showing the contrary rests accordingly on the party denying the advancement.[55] This presumption, however, is a presumption of fact which may be rebutted,[56] in the absence of a statute to the from decedent to his daughter's husband and a payment as surety for him are not an advancement to the daughter, in the absence of proof that such was the intent.

Virginia.— McDearman v. Hodnett, 83 Va. 281, 2 S. E. 643, where a declaration by decedent, when making payment as surety on the bond of a son-in-law, that it was an advancement, and an indorsement thereon that the payment would "show as a receipt," were held to show an advancement.

England.— Fowkes v. Pascoe, L. R. 10 Ch. 343, 44 L. J. Ch. 367, 32 L. T. Rep. N. S. 545, 23 Wkly. Rep. 538; Williams v. Williams, 32 Beav. 370.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 399.

55. Alabama.— Clements v. Hood, 57 Ala. 459; Autrey v. Autrey, 37 Ala. 614; Smith v. Smith, 21 Ala. 761; Mitchell v. Mitchell, 8 Ala. 414.

Arkansas.— Goodwin v. Parnell, 69 Ark. 629, 65 S. W. 427; Culberhouse v. Culberhouse, 68 Ark. 405, 59 S. W. 38; Kemp v. Cossart, 47 Ark. 62, 14 S. W. 465.

California.— Faylor v. Faylor, 136 Cal. 92, 68 Pac. 482.

Connecticut.— Hatch v. Straight, 3 Conn. 31, 8 Am. Dec. 152.

Georgia.— Holliday v. Wingfield, 59 Ga. 206.

Illinois.— Grattan v. Grattan, 18 Ill. 167, 65 Am. Dec. 726.

Indiana.— Culp v. Wilson, 133 Ind. 294, 32 N. E. 928; Scott v. Harris, 127 Ind. 520, 27 N. E. 150; Higham v. Vanosdol, 125 Ind. 74, 25 N. E. 140; McCaw v. Burk, 31 Ind. 56; Woolery v. Woolery, 29 Ind. 249, 95 Am. Dec. 629.

Iowa.— Ellis v. Newell, 120 Iowa 71, 94 N. W. 463; Culp v. Price, 107 Iowa 133, 77 N. W. 848; Finch v. Garrett, 102 Iowa 381, 71 N. W. 429; Murphy v. Murphy, 95 Iowa 271, 63 N. W. 697; Phillips v. Phillips, 90 Iowa 541, 58 N. W. 879; Burton v. Baldwin, 61 Iowa 283, 16 N. W. 110; Ramsay v. Abrams, 58 Iowa 512, 12 N. W. 555.

Kentucky.— Bowles v. Winchester, 13 Bush 1; Clarke v. Clarke, 17 B. Mon. 698; Blackerby v. Holton, 5 Dana 520; Powell v. Powell, 5 Dana 168; Tye v. Tye, 69 S. W. 718, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 637; Nichols v. King, 68 S. W. 133, 1114, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 124.

Louisiana.— Clark v. Hedden, 109 La. 147, 33 So. 116; Lamotte v. Lamotte, 48 La. Ann. 572, 19 So. 570.

Maryland.—Graves v. Spedden, 46 Md. 527; Parks v. Parks, 19 Md. 323; Cecil v. Cecil, 19 Md. 72, 81 Am. Dec. 626; Stewart v. Pattison, 8 Gill 46.

Massachusetts.— Scott v. Scott, 1 Mass. 527.

Missouri.—Ray v. Loper, 65 Mo. 470; Waddell v. Waddell, 87 Mo. App. 216; McDonald v. McDonald, 86 Mo. App. 122.

New Jersey.— Gordon v. Barkelew, 6 N. J. Eq. 94. See Hattersley v. Bissett, 51 N. J. Eq. 597, 29 Atl. 187, 40 Am. St. Rep. 532.

New York.— Sanford v. Sanford, 5 Lans. 486, 61 Barb. 293; Alexander v. Alexander, 1 N. Y. St. 508.

North Carolina.— Hollister v. Attmore, 58 N. C. 373.

Pennsylvania.— Miller's Appeal, 107 Pa. St. 221; Dutch's Appeal, 57 Pa. St. 461; Kingsbury's Appeal, 44 Pa. St. 460.

South Carolina.— Heyward v. Middleton, 65 S. C. 493, 43 S. E. 956; Ison v. Ison, 5 Rich. Eq. 15.

Tennessee.— Johnson v. Patterson, 13 Lea 626; Morris v. Morris, 9 Heisk. 814.

England.— Christy v. Courtenay, 13 Beav. 96.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 394, 407, 426.

Small presents are not presumed to be advancements. Mitchell v. Mitchell, 8 Ala. 414; Griggs v. Love, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 175; Meadows v. Meadows, 33 N. C. 148; Taylor v. Taylor, L. R. 20 Eq. 155, 44 L. J. Ch. 718; Pusey v. Desbouvrie, 3 P. Wms. 316, 24 Eng. Reprint 1081.

Defense against criminal charge.— Collation is not due for an amount expended to defend a minor against a criminal charge. King v. King, 107 La. 437, 31 So. 894.

Advancement by mother.— There is no such presumption that money advanced by a widow to her child is intended as an advancement, as there is no legal obligation upon her to provide for her children. Bennet v. Bennet, 10 Ch. D. 474, 40 L. T. Rep. N. S. 378, 27 Wkly. Rep. 573.

Absolute gifts in general see Gifts.

Presumption as to character of: Expense of maintaining or educating distributee see infra, IV, B, 5, a, (IV). Gift of marriage portion to distributee see infra, IV, B, 5, a, (VI). Gift to husband of child see supra, IV, B, 4, c, (IV). Payment of debt of distributee see infra, IV, B, 5, a, (II). Payment or transfer for value see infra, IV, B, 5, b. Payment or transfer where evidence of debt is executed see infra, IV, B, 5, c, (II). Purchase in name of distributee see infra, IV, B, 5, a, (III).

56. Alabama.— Mitchell v. Mitchell, 8 Ala. 414.

Connecticut.— Hatch v. Straight, 3 Conn. 31, 8 Am. Dec. 152.

Louisiana.—Hamilton v. Hamilton, 6 Mart. N. S. 143.

Michigan.— Sprague v. Moore, 130 Mich. 92, 89 N. W. 712.

contrary,[57] and in determining whether the transaction constitutes an advancement the surrounding facts and circumstances will be considered.[58] The acts and declarations of the donor are admissible to repel the presumption that the gift was intended as an advancement.[59] The presumption may also be repelled

Pennsylvania.— Jones' Estate, 29 Pittsb. Leg. J. 89.

Virginia.— Watkins v. Young, 31 Gratt. 84.

57. Sayles v. Baker, 5 R. I. 457. See infra, IV, B, 5, c, (I).

58. Alabama.— Wheeler v. Glasgow, 97 Ala. 700, 11 So. 758.

Iowa.— O'Connell v. O'Connell, 73 Iowa 733, 36 N. W. 764.

Kentucky.— Ford v. Ellingwood, 3 Metc. 359.

Louisiana.—Haile's Succession, 40 La. Ann. 334, 2 So. 630.

Missouri.— McDonald v. McDonald, 86 Mo. App. 122.

New Jersey.— Peer v. Peer, 11 N. J. Eq. 432.

Pennsylvania.— Jones' Estate, 29 Pittsb. Leg. J. 89.

South Carolina.— Youngblood v. Norton, 1 Strobh. Eq. 122.

England.— Bennet v. Bennet, 10 Ch. D. 474, 40 L. T. Rep. N. S. 378, 27 Wkly. Rep. 573.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 428.

Moral obligation to make gift.—If the donor was under a moral obligation to make an absolute gift of the property to the donee the presumption of advancement is repelled. Grumley v. Grumley, 63 N. J. Eq. 568, 52 Atl. 381 (holding that property purchased by a father for a son with money belonging to his first wife's estate, the mother of the grantee, will not be treated as an advancement, in the absence of evidence showing that an advancement was intended); Hollister v. Attmore, 58 N. C. 373 (holding that a conveyance by a father to his children in accordance with the terms of the will of a sister, which was not executed from accident, is not an advancement). See, however, Thistlewaite v. Thistlewaite, 132 Ind. 355, 31 N. E. 946 (where evidence that the donor received the property from his first wife who was the mother of the donee was held too remote); Shaw v. Shaw, 6 Humphr. (Tenn.) 418 (where it was held that a son must account for a slave as an advancement from his father, although given in pursuance of a verbal promise by the father to his own father, who then owned it, that he would give the slave to the son as an extra portion, the slave having subsequently been bequeathed to the father by his father, since the promise conferred no right on the son).

Mere relationship of parent and child is not sufficient to show that the giving of property or money by the parent to the child was intended as an advancement. Johnson v. Belden, 20 Conn. 322.

The value of the gift in proportion to the donee's distributive share in the donor's estate may be an important factor in determining whether the gift constitutes an advancement. Tuggle v. Tuggle, 57 Ga. 520; Weaver's Appeal, 63 Pa. St. 309; In re King, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 370; In re Knabb, 2 Woodw. (Pa.) 386, 1 Leg. Chron. (Pa.) 311, 337; Murray's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 300; McCaw v. Blewit, 2 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 90. However, the mere fact that a gift will produce inequality among the distributees unless it is treated as an advancement does not justify the court in treating it as such (Comer v. Comer, 119 Ill. 170, 8 N. E. 796), in the absence of a statute requiring equalization in distribution (Shawhan v. Shawhan, 10 Bush (Ky.) 600).

Gifts to other children.— To show that property given by a parent to a child was intended as an absolute gift, evidence of absolute gifts of the same amount to other children is admissible. Gunn v. Thruston, 130 Mo. 339, 32 S. W. 654. But the fact that a father furnished his son with money to pay for land, taking a note therefor which he took no steps to collect, the only other evidence that the sum was intended as an advancement being that the other children had received equal sums as such, does not show an advancement. Garner v. Taylor, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 58 S. W. 758.

Circumstances of: Gift to husband of child see supra, IV, B, 4, c, (IV). Payment of debt of distributee see infra, IV, B, 5, a, (II).

59. Alabama.— Fennell v. Henry, 70 Ala. 484, 45 Am. Rep. 88; Autrey v. Autrey, 37 Ala. 614; Merrill v. Rhodes, 37 Ala. 449; Butler v. Merchants' Ins. Co., 14 Ala. 777; Mitchell v. Mitchell, 8 Ala. 414; O'Niel v. Teague, 8 Ala. 345.

Georgia.— Phillips v. Chappell, 16 Ga. 16.

Indiana.— Woolery v. Woolery, 29 Ind. 249, 95 Am. Dec. 629.

Maryland.— Graves v. Spedden, 46 Md. 527; Cecil v. Cecil, 20 Md. 153.

Michigan.— Power v. Power, 91 Mich. 587, 52 N. W. 60, contemporaneous writing by donor.

Missouri.— Nelson v. Nelson, 90 Mo. 460, 2 S. W. 413; Ray v. Loper, 65 Mo. 470; Lisles v. Huffman, 88 Mo. App. 143.

Pennsylvania.— Harris' Appeal, 2 Grant 304 (holding that where money is loaned to or paid out for a son and an account is stated by the father and interest charged, it constitutes a debt and not an advancement); In re King, 6 Whart. 370.

Subsequent declarations.— It has been held that the presumption that money given by a parent to a child is an advancement may be rebutted by subsequent declarations of the donor to third persons. Gunn v. Thruston, 130 Mo. 339, 32 S. W. 654. But declarations of the grantor subsequent to the delivery of a voluntary deed have been held inadmissible to by parol evidence showing that the transaction was intended by the donor as a gift and not as an advancement.[60]

(II) PAYMENT OF DEBT OF DISTRIBUTEE. The voluntary payment of a debt of the child by a parent is presumed to be an advancement,[61] in the absence of circumstances showing that the payment was intended to create a debt between the parties.[62]

(III) PURCHASE IN NAME OF DISTRIBUTEE. Where a person purchases property and causes it to be conveyed to a child or grandchild, a trust does not result in favor of the purchaser, but the purchase is presumed to be an advancement to the grantee for which he must account if he desires to share in the purchaser's estate.[63] The question, however, is one of intention, and therefore the presump-rebut the presumption of advancement. Hatch v. Straight, 3 Conn. 31, 8 Am. Dec. 152.

Weight of declarations.— The presumption that a voluntary conveyance from a parent to a child was an advancement is not rebutted by proof that the grantor spoke of the conveyance as a gift. Phillips v. Phillips, 90 Iowa 541, 58 N. W. 879. See also Hughey v. Eichelberger, 11 S. C. 36.

60. Phillips v. Chappell, 16 Ga. 16.

Parol evidence: As excluded by statute see supra, IV, B, 2, a, (II). Of consideration of transfer see infra, IV, B, 5, b. Of intent of donor see infra, IV, B, 5, c.

61. Iowa.— West v. Beck, 95 Iowa 520, 64 N. W. 599.

Kansas.— Johnson v. Eaton, 51 Kan. 708, 33 Pac. 597, holding that the payment of a mortgage on a daughter's land by a father who takes an assignment thereof in blank with the note secured thereby, retaining the same until his death, is an advancement.

Kentucky.— Reynolds v. Reynolds, 92 Ky. 556, 18 S. W. 517, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 793.

Louisiana.— Tournillon v. Tournillon, 15 La. Ann. 263.

Tennessee.— Steele v. Frierson, 85 Tenn. 430, 3 S. W. 649; Johnson v. Hoyle, 3 Head 56.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 409.

Contra.— Taylor v. Taylor, L. R. 20 Eq. 155, 44 L. J. Ch. 718.

62. Levering v. Rittenhouse, 4 Whart. (Pa.) 130. See also In re Dewees, 3 Brewst. (Pa.) 314, 7 Phila. 498.

Intent of parent.— Payment of a debt of a son by a father who refuses to accept a receipt calling the payment an "advancement" but accepts a receipt with that expression omitted creates a debt and not an advancement. Steele v. Frierson, 85 Tenn. 430, 3 S. W. 649.

63. Alabama.— Butler v. Merchants' Ins. Co., 14 Ala. 777.

Arkansas.— White v. White, 52 Ark. 188, 12 S. W. 201; Eastham v. Powell, 51 Ark. 530, 11 S. W. 832; Bogy v. Roberts, 48 Ark. 17, 2 S. W. 186, 3 Am. St. Rep. 211; James v. James, 41 Ark. 301.

Georgia.— Brown v. Burke, 22 Ga. 574.

Illinois.—Maxwell v. Maxwell, 109 Ill. 588; Bay v. Cook, 31 Ill. 336; Cartwright v. Wise, 14 Ill. 417; Taylor v. Taylor, 9 Ill. 303.

Indiana.— Hodgson v. Macy, 8 Ind. 121; Stanley v. Brannon, 6 Blackf. 193.

Iowa.— Culp v. Price, 107 Iowa 133, 77 N. W. 848.

Maryland.— Mutual F. Ins. Co. v. Deale, 18 Md. 26, 79 Am. Dec. 673; Hayden v. Burch, 9 Gill 79.

New York.— Sanford v. Sanford, 5 Lans. 486, 61 Barb. 293; Jackson v. Matsdorf, 11 Johns. 91, 6 Am. Dec. 355.

Ohio.— Creed v. Lancaster Bank, 1 Ohio St. 1; Tremper v. Barton, 18 Ohio 418; Fleming v. Donahoe, 5 Ohio 255.

Pennsylvania.— Dutch's Appeal, 57 Pa. St. 461; Murphy v. Nathans, 46 Pa. St. 508; Long v. Long, 2 Pennyp. 180.

South Carolina.— O'Neale v. Dunlap, 11 Rich. Eq. 405. See Catoe v. Catoe, 32 S. C. 595, 10 S. E. 1078.

Tennessee.—Dudley v. Bosworth, 10 Humphr. 9, 51 Am. Dec. 690; Thompson v. Thompson, 1 Yerg. 97; Hamilton v. Bradley, 5 Hayw. 127.

Texas.— Shepherd v. White, 11 Tex. 346.

England.— Taylor v. Taylor, 1 Atk. 386, 26 Eng. Reprint 247; Jeans v. Cooke, 24 Beav. 513, 4 Jur. N. S. 57, 27 L. J. Ch. 202, 6 Wkly. Rep. 175; Christy v. Courtenay, 13 Beav. 96; Sidmouth v. Sidmouth, 2 Beav. 447, 9 L. J. Ch. 282, 17 Eng. Ch. 447; Scroope v. Scroope, 1 Ch. Cas. 27, 22 Eng. Reprint 677; Grey v. Grey, 1 Ch. Cas. 296, 22 Eng. Reprint 809, Rep. t. Finch 338, 21 Eng. Reprint 185, 2 Swanst. 594, 36 Eng. Reprint 742, 9 Rev. Rep. 150; Dyer v. Dyer, 2 Cox Ch. 92, 2 Rev. Rep. 14, 30 Eng. Reprint 42; Matter of Collinson, 3 De G. M. & G. 409, 52 Eng. Ch. 319; Shales v. Shales, 2 Freem. 252, 22 Eng. Reprint 1191; Skeats v. Skeats, 6 Jur. 942, 12 L. J. Ch. 22, 2 Y. & Coll. 9, 20 Eng. Ch. 9; Beckford v. Beckford, Lofft. 490; Crabb v. Crabb, 1 Myl. & K. 511, 7 Eng. Ch. 511; Lamplugh v. Lamplugh, 1 P. Wms. 111, 24 Eng. Reprint 316; Mumma v. Mumma, 2 Vern. Ch. 19, 23 Eng. Reprint 622; Jennings v. Selleck, 1 Vern. Ch. 467, 23 Eng. Reprint 593.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 408.

Adopted child.— A purchase in the name of an adopted child is presumed to be an advancement. Astreen v. Flanagan, 3 Edw. (N. Y.) 279.

Illegitimate child.— A purchase in the name of an illegitimate son is presumed to be an advancement. Page v. Page, 8 N. H. 187.

tion of advancement may be rebutted by parol or other evidence showing a different intention on the part of the purchaser.[64]

(IV) MAINTENANCE AND EDUCATION OF DISTRIBUTEE. Money expended by a parent for the maintenance and education of a child is not presumed to be an advancement in the absence of proof that the parent intended it as such.[65]

(V) ESTABLISHING DISTRIBUTEE IN BUSINESS. Money or property furnished for the purpose of establishing a child in business is an advancement.[66]

(VI) MARRIAGE PORTION OF DISTRIBUTEE. A gift by a parent to a child as a marriage portion, unless intended as a mere present, will be treated as an advancement.[67]

(VII) PREFERENCE OR EXTRA PORTION. In some states if a father desires to prefer one child to another in the distribution of his property, he must state his desire expressly by declaring that the gift is intended as an advantage or Purchase by child with parent's money.— Where children living with a parent and managing his estate purchase slaves with his money, taking the conveyance to themselves without his knowledge, and the parent by a will ineffectually executed attempts to bequeath the slaves to the children, it is sufficient to show an advancement to them of the slaves. Douglass v. Brice, 4 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 322.

Gift as resulting trust see, generally, GIFTS; TRUSTS.

64. Butler v. Merchants' Ins. Co., 14 Ala. 777; Taylor v. Taylor, 9 Ill. 303; Hall v. Hall, 107 Mo. 101, 17 S. W. 811.

Where fraud on creditors is shown by a purchase of property by a parent in the name of his child, the presumption of an advancement is repelled. Bay v. Cook, 31 Ill. 336; Christ's Hospital v. Budgin, 2 Vern. Ch. 683, 23 Eng. Reprint 1043.

Intention.— Whether a purchase of land by a parent in the name of a child is an advancement is a question of intention. Culp v. Price, 107 Iowa 133, 77 N. W. 848.

65. Alabama.— Mitchell v. Mitchell, 8 Ala. 414.

Iowa.— Bissell v. Bissell, 120 Iowa 127, 94 N. W. 465, holding property transferred in trust to maintain a child not to be an advancement.

Kentucky.— Bowles v. Winchester, 13 Bush 1; Brannock v. Hamilton, 9 Bush 446; Griggs v. Love, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 175.

Louisiana.— King v. King, 107 La. 437, 31 So. 894, holding that an heir is not bound to collate for money expended to send him to school, although he did not avail himself of the opportunity.

North Carolina.— Bradsher v. Cannady, 76 N. C. 445; Daves v. Haywood, 54 N. C. 253; Meadows v. Meadows, 33 N. C. 148.

Pennsylvania.— Miller's Appeal, 40 Pa. St. 57, 80 Am. Dec. 555; In re Riddle, 19 Pa. St. 431.

South Carolina.— White v. Moore, 23 S. C. 456. See also Cooner v. May, 3 Strobh. Eq. 185.

England.— Taylor v. Taylor, L. R. 20 Eq. 155, 44 L. J. Ch. 718; Edwards v. Freeman, 2 P. Wms. 435, 24 Eng. Reprint 803.

Compare, however, Fellows v. Little, 46 N. H. 27.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 395.

Collation is due by grandchildren to grandparents for care and board and lodging. King v. King, 107 La. 437, 31 So. 894.

Board of adult children may constitute advancements. Daves v. Haywood, 54 N. C. 253.

Intent to make advancement.—Money given by a father to his sons for expenses at college, intending it as advancements, will be so regarded, although it would not be so regarded in the absence of such intent. Garrett v. Colvin, 77 Miss. 408, 26 So. 963.

Amount expended.— The character and value of the estate and the amount given the child for educational purposes will be considered in determining whether it comes within a statute providing that "the maintaining or educating or the giving of money to a child or grandchild, without any view to a portion or settlement in life, shall not be deemed an advancement." Bowles v. Winchester, 13 Bush (Ky.) 1.

Accounts kept by a father charging a son with sums paid for clothing, books, etc., while the son remained at home and unmarried, are insufficient to show advancements. Fels v. Fels, 1 Ohio Cir. Ct. 420, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 235.

66. New Hampshire.— Fellows v. Little, 46 N. H. 27.

New York.— Pearson v. Cuthbert, 58 N. Y. App. Div. 395, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 1031; Sanford v. Sanford, 5 Lans. 486, 61 Barb. 293.

North Carolina.— Shiver v. Brock, 55 N. C. 137; Meadows v. Meadows, 33 N. C. 148.

Pennsylvania.— Storey's Appeal, 83 Pa. St. 89.

England.— Boyd v. Boyd, L. R. 4 Eq. 305, 36 L. J. Ch. 877, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 660, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1071; Pusey v. Desbouvrie, 3 P. Wms. 315, 24 Eng. Reprint 1081.

67. Burnett v. Mobile Branch Bank, 22 Ala. 642; Whitfield v. Whitfield, 40 Miss. 352; Sherwood v. Wooster, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 441; Carter v. Rutland, 2 N. C. 97. See also Mitchell v. Mitchell, 8 Ala. 414; Kyle v. Conrad, 25 W. Va. 760.

extra portion or by using equivalent terms.[68] In the absence of this he can create the preference only by will.[69]

b. Consideration of Payment or Transfer. In determining whether a payment or transfer is an advancement the consideration upon which it was made is an important factor, and this may ordinarily be shown by parol.[70] If the payment or transfer was voluntary[71] or made upon a consideration of natural love and affection[72] a presumption of advancement arises. If on the other hand the payment or transfer was made upon a valuable consideration, the presumption is against an advancement;[73] but an advancement will be presumed where the consideration was nominal or very inadequate.[74]

68. Weber's Succession, 110 La. 674, 34 So. 731; Clark v. Hedden, 109 La. 147, 33 So. 116; Montgomery v. Chaney, 13 La. Ann. 207.

Form of preference.— A writing giving sums of money to children and declaring that they are "absolute gifts, and in any distribution to be made at my death, of my real and personal estate, in case I should die intestate, must be taken and considered as absolute gifts, and not advancements, and must not be abated or deducted out of the shares of my respective children above named in the distribution of my real and personal estate," sufficiently shows absolute gifts and not advancements. Pole v. Simmons, 45 Md. 246, 251.

69. Mitchell v. Mitchell, 8 Ala. 414; Clarke v. Clarke, 17 B. Mon. (Ky.) 698.

A parent by mere declaration cannot prevent that from being an advancement which the law declares to be such; his only remedy in such cases being disposition of the whole estate by will. Cleaver v. Kirk, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 270.

70. California.—Faylor v. Faylor, 136 Cal. 92, 68 Pac. 482.

Connecticut.— Meeker v. Meeker, 16 Conn. 383.

Kentucky.—Gordon v. Gordon, 1 Metc. 285; Powell v. Powell, 5 Dana 168; Wakefield v. Gilliland, 18 S. W. 768, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 845; Beatty v. Beatty, 5 S. W. 771, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 72.

Massachusetts.— Scott v. Scott, 1 Mass. 527.

New Jersey.— Hattersley v. Bissett, 51 N. J. Eq. 597, 29 Atl. 187, 40 Am. St. Rep. 532; Jakolete v. Danielson, (Ch. 1888) 13 Atl. 850; Speer v. Speer, 14 N. J. Eq. 240.

Ohio.— Williams v. Williams, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 478, 3 West. L. Month. 258.

Pennsylvania.— Kingsbury's Appeal, 44 Pa. St. 460.

Vermont.— Adams v. Adams, 22 Vt. 50.

West Virginia.— Roberts v. Coleman, 37 W. Va. 143, 16 S. E. 482; McClanahan v. McClanahan, 36 W. Va. 34, 14 S. E. 419.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 407.

Declarations.— Where, however, a transfer is in form a conveyance for full value, ex parte declarations of the grantor made in the absence of the grantee and not communicated to him are not competent to affect the grantee's interest. Miller's Appeal, 107 Pa. St. 221. See also Cleaver v. Kirk, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 270.

71. See supra, IV, B, 5, a.

72. Connecticut.— Hatch v. Straight, 3 Conn. 31, 8 Am. Dec. 152.

Massachusetts.—Bullard v. Bullard, 5 Pick. 527; Scott v. Scott, 1 Mass. 527.

New Jersey.— Hattersley v. Bissett, 51 N. J. Eq. 597, 29 Atl. 187, 40 Am. St. Rep. 532.

Rhode Island.— Sayles v. Baker, 5 R. I. 457.

Vermont.— Adams v. Adams, 22 Vt. 50.

73. Hattersley v. Bissett, 51 N. J. Eq. 597, 29 Atl. 187, 40 Am. St. Rep. 532.

Payment of debt.— Where a father who is indebted to his children gives them money or property at marriage or on becoming of age, payments and not advancements will be presumed, subject to rebuttal. Haglar v. McCombs, 66 N. C. 345. So if the donee had rendered greater services to the parent than the other children, and the parent had expressed an intent to repay him with a greater portion of the estate, a preference in favor of the child will not be treated as an advancement. Lisles v. Huffman, 88 Mo. App. 143; Beakhurst v. Crumby, 18 R. I. 689, 30 Atl. 453, 31 Atl. 753; Murrel v. Murrel, 2 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 148, 49 Am. Dec. 664. See also Murphy v. Murphy, 95 Iowa 271, 63 N. W. 697. However, vague declarations of the donor as to his intentions to give lands to his sons for their services and of his having given to his daughters their portions of his estate are not sufficient to show valuable considerations for deeds to the sons. Sayles v. Baker, 5 R. I. 457.

Recital of consideration.— If a valuable consideration is expressed in the deed, the conveyance will not be taken as an advancement. Kiger v. Terry, 119 N. C. 456, 26 S. E. 38; Miller's Appeal, 107 Pa. St. 221; Newell v. Newell, 13 Vt. 24.

74. Connecticut.— Hatch v. Straight, 3 Conn. 31, 8 Am. Dec. 152.

Louisiana.— Montgomery v. Chaney, 13 La. Ann. 207.

Rhode Island.— Sayles v. Baker, 5 R. I. 457.

Tennessee.—Merriman v. Lacefield, 4 Heisk. 209.

West Virginia.— McClanahan v. McClanahan, 36 W. Va. 34, 14 S. E. 419; Kyle v. Conrad, 25 W. Va. 760.

Contra, Scott v. Scott, 1 Mass. 527.

However, where a father, being guardian of his minor children, conveyed individually to himself as such guardian certain lands

c. Intent of Donor — (I) In General. Whether or not a gift is an advancement depends primarily on the intent of the donor at the time of the payment or transfer,[75] in the absence of a statute to the contrary.[76] The intention of the donor may ordinarily be shown by parol evidence,[77] and his declarations are admissible on the question.[78]

(II) Evidence of Indebtedness. If the donor takes an evidence of indebtedness from the donee the presumption of advancement is ordinarily repelled.[79] purchased of himself individually with funds belonging to his wards, no part of the property conveyed can be treated as an advancement, although worth more than the fund belonging to his wards. Miller v. Miller, 105 Ga. 305, 31 S. E. 186.

Evidence of inadequacy.— Where a father sells property to his son, the fact that the latter after a lapse of years sells the property for a greater price than that which he paid for it is not sufficient to establish that the price he paid was below its real value. Bossier v. Vienne, 12 Mart. (La.) 421.

75. Alabama.—Wilks v. Greer, 14 Ala. 437.

Colorado.—Haines v. Christie, 28 Colo. 502, 66 Pac. 883.

Connecticut.— Johnson v. Belden, 20 Conn. 322; Meeker v. Meeker, 16 Conn. 383.

Indiana.— Brunson v. Henry, 140 Ind. 455, 39 N. E. 256; Woolery v. Woolery, 29 Ind. 249, 95 Am. Dec. 629; Dillman v. Cox, 23 Ind. 440.

Kentucky.— Hook v. Hook, 13 B. Mon. 526.

Maryland.— Graves v. Spedden, 46 Md. 527; Stewart v. Pattison, 8 Gill 46; State v. Jameson, 3 Gill & J. 442.

Mississippi.— Wilson v. Beauchamp, 50 Miss. 24.

New Jersey.— Gordon v. Barkelew, 6 N. J. Eq. 94.

New York.— In re Morgan, 104 N. Y. 74, 9 N. E. 861.

North Carolina.— Bradsher v. Cannady, 76 N. C. 445; Cowan v. Tucker, 27 N. C. 78.

Ohio.— Fels v. Fels, 1 Ohio Cir. Ct. 420, 1 Ohio Cir. Dec. 235; Burbeck v. Spollen, 6 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 1118, 10 Am. L. Rec. 491.

Pennsylvania.— Frey v. Heydt, 116 Pa. St. 601, 11 Atl. 535; Kirby's Appeal, 109 Pa. St. 41; Miller's Appeal, 40 Pa. St. 57, 80 Am. Dec. 555; Lawson's Appeal, 23 Pa. St. 85; Harris' Appeal, 2 Grant 304; Christy's Appeal, 1 Grant 369; In re King, 6 Whart. 370; Lentz v. Hertzog, 4 Whart. 520; Homiller's Estate, 17 Wkly. Notes Cas. 238; In re Weaver, 5 Lanc. Bar 24; Knabb's Estate, 1 Leg. Chron. 337; Murray's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. 300.

Tennessee.— Jennings v. Jennings, 2 Heisk. 283; McCoy v. Pearce, 1 Tenn. Cas. 87, Thomps. Cas. 145.

Texas.— Holliday v. White, 33 Tex. 447.

West Virginia.— Diehl v. Cotts, 48 W. Va. 255, 37 S. E. 546; Kyle v. Conrad, 25 W. Va. 760.

England.— Loyd v. Read, 1 P. Wms. 607, 24 Eng. Reprint 537.

Canada.— Owen v. Kennedy, 20 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 163.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 402.

Presumption of continuance.—Where a parent has made advancements, the presumption is that he continues to intend that on his death they shall be brought into hotchpot. Oller v. Bonebrake, 65 Pa. St. 338.

Intention as element of advancement see supra, IV, B, 2, b. Intention as governing nature of: Expenses of maintaining and educating distributee see supra, IV, B, 5, a, (IV). Gift of marriage portion to distributee see supra, IV, B, 5, a, (VI). Gift to husband of donor's child see supra, IV, B, 4, c, (IV). Payment of debt of distributee see supra, IV, B, 5, a, (II). Payment or transfer where evidence of debt is executed see infra, IV, B, 5, c, (II). Purchase in name of distributee see supra, IV, B, 5, a, (III).

76. Bowles v. Winchester, 13 Bush (Ky.) 1; Cleaver v. Kirk, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 270; Ross v. Dimmit, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 685; Sayles v. Baker, 5 R. I. 457; Rees v. Rees, 11 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 86; Youngblood v. Norton, 1 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 122.

77. Pole v. Simmons, 45 Md. 246.

78. Culp v. Price, 107 Iowa 133, 77 N. W. 848; Dobbins v. Humphreys, 171 Mo. 198, 70 S. W. 815; Oller v. Bonebrake, 65 Pa. St. 338; Christy's Appeal, 1 Grant (Pa.) 369; Watkins v. Young, 31 Gratt. (Va.) 84.

79. Alabama.— Fennell v. Henry, 70 Ala. 484, 45 Am. Rep. 88. See Grey v. Grey, 22 Ala. 233.

Colorado.— Haines v. Christie, 28 Colo. 502, 66 Pac. 883.

Georgia.— Cutliff v. Boyd, 72 Ga. 302.

Iowa.— Kinney v. Newbold, 115 Iowa 145, 88 N. W. 328.

Kentucky.— Gaston v. Robards, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 722.

Michigan.— Sprague v. Moore, 130 Mich. 92, 89 N. W. 712.

New Jersey.— Batton v. Allen, 5 N. J. Eq. 99, 43 Am. Dec. 630.

New York.— Bruce v. Griscom, 9 Hun 280.

Pennsylvania.— Roland v. Schrack, 29 Pa. St. 125; High's Appeal, 21 Pa. St. 283; Weaver's Estate, 5 Lanc. Bar 24 [affirmed in 6 Lanc. Bar 6]; Bittle v. Bittle, 2 Mona. 17; Lang's Estate, 33 Pittsb. Leg. J. 9; Jones' Estate, 29 Pittbs. Leg. J. 89; Murray's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. 300; Buchanan's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. 74.

South Carolina.— White v. Moore, 23 S. C. 456.

Tennessee.— Mann v. Mann, 12 Heisk. 245; House v. Woodard, 5 Coldw. 196; Vaden v. Hance, 1 Head 300.

Texas.— Ruiz v. Campbell, 6 Tex. Civ. App. 714, 26 S. W. 295.

An intention that the transaction shall constitute an advancement may nevertheless be shown.[80] It has been held that parol evidence is admissible to show that notes given by children to parents were intended as evidence of advancements merely,[81] and the acts and declarations of the parties may be shown.[82]

6. Rescission or Modification[83]— a. In General. An advancement may be revoked or rescinded by agreement of the parties in interest, in which case the donee will not be chargeable with the property upon final distribution of the donor's estate.[84]

b. Change of Absolute Gift or Debt to Advancement. An absolute gift may by consent of the parties in interest be changed to an advancement,[85] and a parent may convert a debt due from a child into an advancement in any mode clearly indicating an intention to do so.[86]

80. Sadler v. Huffheimer, 12 S. W. 715, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 670, holding that the failure of a father, who was ordinarily prompt about such matters to demand payment of the debt may show an advancement. See also Batton v. Allen, 5 N. J. Eq. 99, 43 Am. Dec. 630. Where, however, a son accepts a conveyance of land from his father and gives his notes therefor, he cannot after his father's death show that the transaction was intended as an advancement without precise proof by at least two witnesses. Doty v. Doty, 155 Pa. St. 285, 26 Atl. 548.

81. Conner v. Cruzan, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 859. See also Stovall v. Stovall, 14 Ky. L. Rep. 668. Contra, Fennell v. Henry, 70 Ala. 484, 45 Am. Rep. 88; Barton v. Rice, 22 Pick. (Mass.) 508.

82. Merkel's Appeal, 89 Pa. St. 340 (holding that if at the time of taking the note anything was said indicating an intent that the money given therefor should be considered an advancement, subsequent declarations and acts of the parties are admissible); Porter v. Allen, 3 Pa. St. 390 (holding that subsequent declarations of a parent that money for which a note or bond was executed by a child was intended as an advancement are admissible in evidence when part of the res gestæ but not otherwise).

83. See, generally, CONTRACTS.

84. Fulton v. Smith, 27 Ga. 413 (holding that an agreement between all the children of a family that certain advancements made by their father to the sons when he was infirm in mind shall be set aside and his whole property be divided among the children with an advantage to each son of one thousand dollars is not against public policy); Carroll v. Carroll, 48 La. Ann. 956, 20 So. 210.

Consent.— A gift by a father to a daughter as a marriage portion, accompanied by possession and known to her intended husband as such at the time, is irrevocable by the father without the husband's consent after the death of the daughter. Dugan v. Gittings, 3 Gill (Md.) 138, 43 Am. Dec. 306.

Evidence.— A donee cannot be relieved of a charge for an advancement by subsequent parol declarations of the donor. O'Neal v. Breecheen, 5 Baxt. (Tenn.) 604.

Revocation by guardian.— Where a father made a parol gift of slaves to a child which under the statute amounted to a mere bailment determinable at his pleasure, and afterward he became non compos mentis and died intestate without revoking the gift, the gift was treated as an advancement, although the guardian of the donor during the lifetime of his ward had demanded possession of the property. Largent v. Berry, 48 N. C. 531.

85. Stevenson v. Martin, 11 Bush (Ky.) 485; Montjoy v. Maginnis, 2 Duv. (Ky.) 186; McClellan v. Sharp, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 525; Bradsher v. Cannady, 76 N. C. 445; Roland v. Schrack, 29 Pa. St. 125; Lawson's Appeal, 23 Pa. St. 85; In re King, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 370; Dewees' Estate, 3 Brewst. (Pa.) 314, 7 Phila. (Pa.) 498; Hutman's Estate, 30 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 385; Arnold v. Barrow, 2 Patt. & H. (Va.) 1.

Consent.— Without the consent of the child such change cannot be effected by the parent by any method short of a legally executed will. Sherwood v. Smith, 23 Conn. 516; McDonald v. McDonald, 86 Mo. App. 122; Bradsher v. Cannady, 76 N. C. 445.

86. Gaston v. Robards, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 722 (book entries); Le Blanc v. Bertant, 16 La. Ann. 294; Austin v. Palmer, 7 Mart. N. S. (La.) 20 (receipt); Kirby's Appeal, 109 Pa. St. 41; Murray's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 300 (book entries).

Agreement for conversion of debt.— Parol evidence is admissible to show a subsequent agreement between parent and child whereby as an advancement the parent parted with his interest in the amount secured by a note due from the child. Grey v. Grey, 22 Ala. 233. So it is competent for heirs by agreement between them to allow a debt due from one of them to the estate to stand as an advancement; and the administrator will be bound thereby unless the claim is needed to pay debts (McCown v. Jennings, 2 Ky. L. Rep. 436); but an agreement made between the distributees in the lifetime of their father that certain debts owed by some of them to him shall be treated as advancements is not binding on the administrator so as to relieve him from the duty of collecting the debts if necessary for the proper administration of the estate (Fitts v. Morse, 103 Mass. 164).

Evidence of conversion of debt.— The conversion of a debt into an advancement cannot ordinarily be effected by oral declarations of the parent. Denman v. McMahin, 37

c. Change of Advancement to Absolute Gift. A gift by way of advancement may be changed by the donor to an absolute gift for which the donee need not account on distribution of the donor's estate.[87]

7. Collation and Hotchpot — a. Definition. Hotchpot is the bringing together of all the estate of an intestate with the advancements that he has made to his children in order that the same may be divided in accordance with the statutes of distribution.[88] Its equivalent in the civil law is collation.[89]

b. Election Between Advancement and Distributive Share — (I) Right of Election. A child who receives an advancement has on the donor's death intestate a right to elect whether he shall keep the property and relinquish pro tanto his distributive share in the donor's estate or whether he shall account to

Ind. 241 (declarations of father that he should not collect notes from son); Sadler v. Huffhines, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 1058 (statement by father that note of his son had "run out of date" and that he did not know what better he could do than tear it up and "make a charge of it"); Harley v. Harley, 57 Md. 340 (declarations of parent to a third person that he intended a debt due him from the child as an advancement); Miller's Appeal, 40 Pa. St. 57, 80 Am. Dec. 555; Yundt's Appeal, 13 Pa. St. 575, 53 Am. Dec. 496 (holding that subsequent declarations of the parent of an intention to treat debts as advancements do not produce that effect where they are not communicated to the child and are not accompanied by an act sufficient to obliterate the obligation as a debt); Weaver's Estate, 5 Lanc. Bar (Pa.) 24; Buchanan's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 74; Hutman's Estate, 30 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 385; Arnold v. Barrow, 2 Patt. & H. (Va.) 1 (declarations by parent that he intended an existing debt by bond due from child to be an advancement). While a debt cannot be changed into an advancement by subsequent verbal declarations of the parent, yet the circumstances and the admissions of the child may show that what appears to have been a debt was intended for an advancement. Murray's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 300. However, debts due by the husband of a distributee cannot be changed into advances as against her merely by her admission that "this we owe to father honestly." Yundt's Appeal, 13 Pa. St. 575, 53 Am. Dec. 496. A loose memorandum of a parent who holds a bond of the son will not be held a release of the bond so as to convert the debt into an advancement. High's Appeal, 21 Pa. St. 283.

Surrender or cancellation by the parent of the evidence of indebtedness changes the transaction to an advancement. Hanner v. Winburn, 42 N. C. 142; Ex p. Glenn, 20 S. C. 64; Rees v. Rees, 11 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 86.

Unenforceable debt.— A parent cannot convert a debt due him from a child into an advancement without the assent of the child, where it is barred by limitations. Levering v. Rittenhouse, 4 Whart. (Pa.) 130.

87. Sherwood v. Smith, 23 Conn. 516; Wallace v. Owen, 71 Ga. 544.

Change to gift for life.— Where a gift has been made as an advancement, the parties may subsequently change the terms of the transaction so as to make the gift one for life only. Harper v. Parks, 63 Ga. 705.

Evidence.— Declarations of the parent may establish the fact that advancements have been changed to absolute gifts. Wallace v. Owen, 71 Ga. 544; Wheeler v. Wheeler, 47 Vt. 637. A charge in the books of a parent against a son as for an advancement is not changed to an absolute gift by subsequent entries, "To the contrary, by a gift, I balance my son A's account," "The above account I discharge, by gift." Clark v. Warner, 6 Conn. 355.

88. See Cyclopedic L. Dict.

Other definitions are: "The blending and mixing property in order to divide it equally." 2 Blackstone Comm. 190. And see McLure v. Steele, 14 Rich Eq. (S. C.) 105; McCaw v. Blewit, 2 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 90.

"Hotchpot in the old common law meant that land given in frank marriage and descending in fee simple should be mixed and divided in proportion among all the daughters." In re Williams, 62 Mo. App. 339; Burrill L. Dict.

Accounting in kind.— Bringing into hotchpot or collation means, not that the property must in specie or in kind be thrown in with the property which has descended from the donor, but that the advancement shall be charged against the donee according to its value at the time the advancement was made without interest. Grattan v. Grattan, 18 Ill. 167, 65 Am. Dec. 726; Ray v. Loper, 65 Mo. 470. Consequently by bringing the property into hotchpot to ascertain whether it exceeds or falls short of the equal share to which he would be entitled if the advancement had not been made, the donee is not divested of his title thereto. Jackson v. Jackson, 28 Miss. 674, 64 Am. Dec. 114. If, however, a donee of immovables elects to collate in kind, the property belongs to the succession as of the date of the donor's death. Berthelot v. Fitch, 44 La. Ann. 503, 10 So. 867.

89. La. Rev. Civ. Code (Merrick ed.), art. 1227, defining collation as "the supposed or real return to the mass of the succession which an heir makes of property which he received in advance of his share or otherwise, in order that such property may be divided together with the other effects of the succession."

Collation in kind see supra, note 88.

the other distributees for the value of the property and receive his distributive portion.[90]

(II) EFFECT OF ELECTION—(A) Election To Keep Advancement. If the donee does not claim as distributee any portion of the estate left by the donor he cannot be compelled to bring the advancement into hotchpot on final distribution.[91] By keeping the advancement, however, and refusing to bring it into hotchpot, the donee relinquishes pro tanto his interest as a distributee in the donor's estate.[92]

(B) Election to Share in Estate—(1) GENERAL RULES. The purpose of the doctrine of advancements is to insure equality of distribution among those standing in equal relationship.[93] Consequently a donee who elects to take his distributive share waives his right to the advancement as an extra portion and must bring it into hotchpot.[94] The advancement operates as a payment pro tanto

90. Wilson v. Wilson, 18 Ala. 176; Grattan v. Grattan, 18 Ill. 167, 65 Am. Dec. 726. See, however, Law v. Smith, 2 R. I. 244; Allen v. Allen, Jeff. (Va.) 86.

Election by infants.— Infant distributees are incapable of electing between advancements and shares in the estate, although a guardian ad litem may make such an election for them. Wilson v. Wilson, 18 Ala. 176 [overruling Parks v. Stonum, 8 Ala. 752]. However the court will protect their interests in the matter whenever it is necessary to do so. Andrews v. Hall, 15 Ala. 85; Grattan v. Grattan, 18 Ill. 167, 65 Am. Dec. 726; Powell v. Powell, 5 Dana (Ky.) 168.

Time of election.— The donee must exercise his right of election within a reasonable time. Grattan v. Grattan, 18 Ill. 167, 65 Am. Dec. 726. A distributee who has been advanced is entitled, after the death of the donor's widow, to participate in the division of real estate which had been assigned to her in dower, although he had refused to bring his advancement into hotchpot in order to participate in a previous division of the estate which was not embraced in the assignment to the widow. Persinger v. Simmons, 25 Gratt. (Va.) 238; Knight v. Oliver, 12 Gratt. (Va.) 33. If, however, a donee elects not to come in on the first division, and his advancement with interest does not equal his distributive share on that division, he is not entitled to have the deficiency made up on claiming a share in the division of the dower property. Knight v. Oliver, supra.

Mode of election.— Whether a statutory mode of making such election precludes all others has not been decided; but such election, if it can arise by matters in pais, must be by clear, unequivocal acts, with a full knowledge of all the circumstances and the party's rights. Mere intention to elect, casual declarations, or loose conversations, will not suffice, especially when not acted on to the prejudice of another. Key v. Jones, 52 Ala. 238.

Evidence of election.— Verbal declarations of a distributee after the death of the intestate that he had received a full share which he would hold without further claim, and proof that he had made partial distributions as administrator in which he had made no claim to a share are not sufficient to show an election to waive his rights as distributee. Key v. Jones, 52 Ala. 238.

91. Mississippi.— Phillips v. McLaughlin, 26 Miss. 592.

New Jersey.— Gordon v. Barkelew, 6 N. J. Eq. 94.

New York.— Sanford v. Sanford, 5 Lans. 486, 61 Barb. 293, where it is held that a child born after the making of a will by its father cannot recover of any brother or sister born before the will is made any portion of any advancement made by the father in his lifetime to such brother or sister.

North Carolina.— Davis v. Brooks, 7 N. C. 133.

South Carolina.— Hamer v. Hamer, 4 Strobh. Eq. 124.

England.— Edwards v. Freeman, 2 P. Wms. 435, 24 Eng. Reprint 803.

In Louisiana the statute requires a donee to collate where the remaining portion of the estate is insufficient for the legal portions of the other heirs (Lamotte's Succession, 110 La. 42, 34 So. 122; Granschamps v. Delpeuch, 7 Rob. 429), but only in that event (Austin v. Palmer, 7 Mart. N. S. 20).

92. Taylor v. Reese, 4 Ala. 121; Haden v. Haden, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 168; In re St. Vrain, 1 Mo. App. 294.

93. Alabama.—Green v. Speer, 37 Ala. 532.

Illinois.— Condell v. Glover, 56 Ill. App. 107.

Indiana.— Herkimer v. McGregor, 126 Ind. 247, 25 N. E. 145, 26 N. E. 44.

Iowa.— White v. Watts, 118 Iowa 549, 92 N. W. 660.

Kentucky.— Shawhan v. Shawhan, 10 Bush 600; Tye v. Tye, 69 S. W. 718, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 637.

Louisiana.—Berthelot v. Fitch, 44 La. Ann. 503, 10 So. 867; Grandchamps v. Delpeuch, 7 Rob. 429.

Maryland.— Clark v. Willson, 27 Md. 693.

Missouri.— Dobbins v. Humphreys, 171 Mo. 198, 70 S. W. 815.

Pennsylvania.— Dutch's Appeal, 57 Pa. St. 461.

England.— Boyd v. Boyd, L. R. 4 Eq. 305, 36 L. J. Ch. 877, 16 L. T. Rep. N. S. 660, 15 Wkly. Rep. 1071; Edwards v. Freeman, 2 P. Wms. 435, 24 Eng. Reprint 803.

94. Alabama.— Wilks v. Greer, 14 Ala. 437.

Georgia.— Andrews v. Halliday, 63 Ga. 263. holding that the donee must account, although the donor believed he had ad-of the donee's distributive share in the donor's estate.[95] Consequently if its value equals or exceeds his distributive share he is entitled to nothing out of the estate.[96]

(2) RIGHTS OF WIDOW OF DONOR. The widow of a donor is not entitled, upon final distribution of his estate, to have advancements made by him in his lifetime brought into hotchpot or collated for her benefit,[97] in the absence of a statute giving her that right.[98] vanced his distributees equally, if in fact he had not done so.

Illinois.— Simpson v. Simpson, 114 Ill. 603, 4 N. E. 137, 7 N. E. 287; Grattan v. Grattan, 18 Ill. 167, 65 Am. Dec. 726.

Iowa.— McMahill v. McMahill, 69 Iowa 115, 28 N. W. 470.

Kentucky.— Stone v. Halley, 1 Dana 197.

Louisiana.— Clark v. Hedden, 109 La. 147, 33 So. 116; Soules v. Soules, 104 La. 796, 29 So. 342; Dana v. Dana, 43 La. Ann. 354, 8 So. 917; Burton v. Burton, 14 La. 352.

Maryland.— State v. Jameson, 3 Gill & J. 442; In re Young, 3 Md. Ch. 461.

Missouri.— Ray v. Loper, 65 Mo. 470.

New Hampshire.— Marston v. Lord, 65 N. H. 4, 17 Atl. 980.

New Jersey.— Shotwell v. Struble, 21 N. J. Eq. 31.

New York.— Beebe v. Estabrook, 11 Hun 523; Sherwood v. Wooster, 11 Paige 441.

Texas.— Sparks v. Spence, 40 Tex. 693; Burleson v. Burleson, 28 Tex. 383.

England.— In re Blockley, 29 Ch. D. 250, 54 L. J. Ch. 722, 33 Wkly. Rep. 777; Walton v. Walton, 14 Ves. Jr. 318, 33 Eng. Reprint 543.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," §§ 416, 418.

Alienation of property by donee.— The right of the heirs to have the advancement brought into hotchpot is not defeated by an alienation or encumbrance of the property by the donee. In re Young, 3 Md. Ch. 461. See also Meadows v. Meadows, 33 N. C. 148.

Release of duty to account.— Where one distributee releases another from accountability for an advancement, whether with or without consideration, the release is operative as to all persons whose rights are not prejudiced by it and also as against the releasor until he repudiates it. Andrews v. Halliday, 63 Ga. 263.

Statutes.— A statute requiring advancements to be brought into hotchpot applies to advancements made before its enactment by a donor who dies subsequent thereto. Carter v. McCluer, 3 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 454, 3 Keyes (N. Y.) 318, 1 Transcr. App. (N. Y.) 240, 5 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 97, 36 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 301. In so operating the statute does not impair vested rights of the donee as distributee. Simpson v. Simpson, 114 Ill. 603, 4 N. E. 137, 7 N. E. 287. A statute referring to advancements in case there is no real estate of the intestate contemplates real estate located within the state. McRae v. McRae, 3 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 199.

95. District of Columbia.—Patten v. Glover, 1 App. Cas. 466.

Indiana.— Nicholson v. Caress, 59 Ind. 39.

Kentucky.— Eckler v. Galbraith, 12 Bush 71; Tye v. Tye, 69 S. W. 718, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 637.

Nebraska.— McClave v. McClave, 60 Nebr. 464, 83 N. W. 668.

New Hampshire.— Nesmith v. Dinsmore, 17 N. H. 515.

North Carolina.—Scroggs v. Stevenson, 100 N. C. 354, 6 S. E. 111.

Pennsylvania.— In re Datts, 34 Pittsb. Leg. J. 349.

Texas.— Norwood v. Cobb, 37 Tex. 141.

Wisconsin.— Liginger v. Field, 78 Wis. 367, 47 N. W. 613.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 413.

96. Grattan v. Grattan, 18 Ill. 167, 65 Am. Dec. 726; Nicholson v. Caress, 59 Ind. 39; Carter v. McCluer, 3 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 454, 3 Keyes (N. Y.) 318, 1 Transcr. App. (N. Y.) 240, 5 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 97, 36 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 301; Scroggs v. Stevenson, 100 N. C. 354, 6 S. E. 111.

Creditors of the donee under an attachment or execution have no greater rights than the donee himself. Johnson v. Hoyle, 3 Head (Tenn.) 56; Liginger v. Field, 78 Wis. 367, 47 N. W. 613.

97. Alabama.— May v. May, 15 Ala. 177; Logan v. Logan, 13 Ala. 653.

Connecticut.— Porter v. Collins, 7 Conn. 1.

Georgia.— Beavors v. Winn, 9 Ga. 189; Wright v. Wright, Dudley 251.

Indiana.— Ruch v. Biery, 110 Ind. 444, 11 N. E. 312; Willetts v. Willetts, 19 Ind. 22.

Iowa.— In re Miller, 73 Iowa 118, 34 N. W. 769.

Massachusetts.— Stearns v. Stearns, 1 Pick. 157.

Mississippi.— Whitley v. Stephenson, 38 Miss. 113; Jackson v. Jackson, 28 Miss. 674, 64 Am. Dec. 114.

Ohio.— Young v. Roberts, 7 Ohio Cir. Ct. 105.

Pennsylvania.— Matter of Murray, 2 Pearson 473; Miller's Estate, 2 Brewst. 355.

South Carolina.— Ex p. Lawton, 3 Desauss. 199.

Tennessee.— Richards v. Richards, 11 Humphr. 429; Brunson v. Brunson, Meigs 630.

Virginia.— Knight v. Oliver, 12 Gratt. 33.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 414.

98. Headen v. Headen, 42 N. C. 159; Davis v. Duke, 1 N. C. 439, both holding that a widow is entitled to the benefit of advancements of personalty made to the children, but not to advancements of realty made to them.

c. What Must Be Brought Into Hotchpot. Any money or property which the donor has a legal right to convey may be made the subject of a gift by way of advancement, and must accordingly be brought into hotchpot if the donee elects to share as distributee.[99]

d. Amount Chargeable to Donee — (I) VALUATION OF PROPERTY — (A) As of What Time. Property that has been advanced to a distributee will ordinarily be estimated at its value at the time the advancement was made,[1] in the absence

Operation of statute.— A statute giving a widow the right to have advancements accounted for applies to advancements made to children by a prior marriage of the donor, where she married him before the time the statute took effect. Boyd v. White, 32 Ga. 530.

99. Edwards v. Freeman, 2 P. Wms. 435, 24 Eng. Reprint 803 (annuity); Jennings v. Selleck, 1 Vern. Ch. 467, 23 Eng. Reprint 593 (lease).

Contingent interests.— The law does not contemplate except in special cases the valuation and adjustment of contingent, uncertain, or expectant interests. Wipff v. Heder, 6 Tex. Civ. App. 685, 26 S. W. 118 (holding that where money is placed with a trustee for the benefit of a wife and child, and on the child's reaching his majority half of it is to be paid to him, and in case of the mother's death before the child the balance is to be paid to the child, only half the sum can be treated as an advancement to the child on the donor's dying intestate, since the child may never receive the balance); Knight v. Oliver, 12 Gratt. (Va.) 33. See, however, supra, IV, B, 2, note 29.

Life-insurance policies upon which the donee receives money must be accounted for. Vinson v. Vinson, 105 La. 30, 29 So. 701; Rickenbacker v. Zimmerman, 10 S. C. 110, 30 Am. Rep. 31; Cazassa v. Cazassa, 92 Tenn. 573, 22 S. W. 560, 36 Am. St. Rep. 112, 20 L. R. A. 178; Re Richardson, 47 L. T. Rep. N. S. 514. However, a life-insurance policy will inure to the benefit of only such distributees as are named therein and were in esse at the time of making the advancement. Vinson v. Vinson, supra.

Money secured by marriage settlement providing for future children must be accounted for. Knabb's Estate, 1 Leg. Chron. (Pa.) 311, 337; Edwards v. Freeman, 2 P. Wms. 435, 24 Eng. Reprint 803.

Real and personal property.— The word "property," as used in statutes regulating advancements, includes both real and personal property. West v. Beck, 95 Iowa 529, 64 N. W. 599. Contra, Putnam v. Putnam, 18 Ohio 347. However, the transfer of a mortgage of real estate is not a conveyance of real estate within R. I. Rev. St. c. 159, § 20, providing that real estate conveyed by deed or gift shall be deemed an advancement. Mowry v. Smith, 5 R. I. 255. The words "any real or personal estate" as used in such statutes include estates for life. Dixon v. Coward, 57 N. C. 354.

Rents and profits of the donor's land, if given to a child as an advancement, must be accounted for.

Kentucky.— Ford v. Thompson, 1 Metc. 580; Hamilton v. Moore, 70 S. W. 402, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 982; Wakefield v. Gilliland, 18 S. W. 768, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 845.

North Carolina.— Hanner v. Winburn, 42 N. C. 142.

Tennessee.— Robinson v. Robinson, 4 Humphr. 392.

Virginia.— Williams v. Stonestreet, 3 Rand. 559. But see Christian v. Coleman, 3 Leigh (Va.) 30.

England.— Edwards v. Freeman, 2 P. Wms. 435, 24 Eng. Reprint 803.

Reversionary interest or remainder if given as an advancement must be accounted for. Cain v. Cain, 53 S. C. 350, 31 S. E. 278, 69 Am. St. Rep. 863; Eales v. Drake, 1 Ch. D. 217, 45 L. J. Ch. 51, 24 Wkly. Rep. 184; Williamson v. Jeffreys, 18 Jur. 1071; Murless v. Franklin, 1 Swanst. 13, 18 Rev. Rep. 3, 36 Eng. Reprint 278; Finch v. Finch, 15 Ves. Jr. 43, 10 Rev. Rep. 12, 33 Eng. Reprint 671. The value of an advancement consisting of a vested remainder in real estate is, in the absence of extreme youth or old age of the life-tenant, one-half the value of the fee. Cain v. Cain, 53 S. C. 350, 31 S. E. 278, 69 Am. St. Rep. 863.

Property not owned by the intestate or owned by him only in part at the time of the transfer see supra, IV, B, 2.

1. Illinois.—Grattan v. Grattan, 18 Ill. 167, 65 Am. Dec. 726.

Iowa.— See White v. Watts, 118 Iowa 549, 92 N. W. 660.

Kentucky.— Bowles v. Winchester, 13 Bush 1; Stevenson v. Martin, 11 Bush 485; Barber v. Taylor, 9 Dana 84.

Louisiana.— Burton v. Burton, 14 La. 352.

Maryland.— Clark v. Wilson, 27 Md. 693; Warfield v. Warfield, 5 Harr. & J. 459.

Mississippi.— Jackson v. Jackson, 28 Miss. 674, 64 Am. Dec. 114.

Missouri.— Ray v. Loper, 65 Mo. 470.

New York.— Parker v. McCluer, 3 Abb. Dec. 454, 3 Keyes 318, 1 Transcr. App. 240, 5 Abb. Pr. N. S. 97, 36 How. Pr. 301.

North Carolina.— Shiver v. Brock, 55 N. C. 137; Raiford v. Raiford, 41 N. C. 490; Meadows v. Meadows, 33 N. C. 148; Lamb v. Carroll, 28 N. C. 4; Stallings v. Stallings, 16 N. C. 298; Toomer v. Toomer, 5 N. C. 93; King v. Worsley, 3 N. C. 366.

Pennsylvania.— Oyster v. Oyster, 1 Serg. & R. 422.

Rhode Island.— Law v. Smith, 2 R. I. 244.

Tennessee.— O'Neal v. Breecheen, 5 Baxt. 604; Haynes v. Jones, 2 Head 372; Burton v. Dickinson, 3 Yerg. 112.

Virginia.— Beckwith v. Butler, 1 Wash. 224; Isbell v. Butler, Jeff. 10.

of a statute to the contrary.[2] However if the gift when made was revocable or unenforceable, or if the donor remained in the possession and enjoyment of the property, then the value of the property is to be estimated as of the time when the gift became irrevocable or enforceable or when the donee acquired possession of it, regardless of the time when the formal transfer occurred.[3]

(B) Loss or Depreciation. In those jurisdictions where the value of the advancement is to be estimated as of the time when the gift became effective, any loss or depreciation in the value occurring in the interim between that time and the time of distribution falls on the donee.[4] In states where the property is valued as of the time of the donor's death a loss occurring before that time falls on the estate.[5]

West Virginia.— Kyle v. Conrad, 25 W. Va. 760.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 421.

2. Finch v. Garrett, 102 Iowa 381, 71 N. W. 429, holding that a statute providing that advancements should be taken at what they would "now" be worth requires them to be taken at their value at the time of distribution.

Date of donor's death.— In some states the statutes provide that the property shall be valued as of the date of the donor's death. Dixon v. Marston, 64 N. H. 433, 14 Atl. 728; Comings v. Wellman, 14 N. H. 287; Miller's Appeal, 31 Pa. St. 337; Rickenbacker v. Zimmerman, 10 S. C. 110, 30 Am. Rep. 31; Sinkler v. Sinkler, 2 Desauss. (S. C.) 127; Youngblood v. Norton, 1 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 122; Thomas v. Gage, 1 Harp. Eq. (S. C.) 197.

3. Alabama.— Wilks v. Greer, 14 Ala. 437, holding that an advancement with a reservation of a life-estate should be valued as of the date when possession was delivered.

Arkansas.—Culberhouse v. Culberhouse, 68 Ark. 405, 59 S. W. 38, holding that an advancement of a life-insurance policy should be valued as of the date of the death of the insured, where no receipt specifying its value had been given.

Illinois.— Pigg v. Carroll, 89 Ill. 205, holding that an advancement of real estate should be valued as of the date when possession was taken.

Kentucky.— Stevenson v. Martin, 11 Bush 485; Hook v. Hook, 13 B. Mon. 526 (both cases holding that the value of advancements of realty should be estimated as of the date when possession was taken); Barber v. Taylor, 9 Dana 84 (holding that where a father advances a child by verbal gift of land which cannot be enforced and may be revoked, and afterward confirms it by a conveyance, the value of the property at the time of the conveyance is the value at which it is to be brought into hotchpot, but that if the land is sold by the donee with the donor's consent, it should be estimated at the price for which it was sold).

North Carolina.— Hanner v. Winburn, 42 N. C. 142; Hicks v. Forrest, 41 N. C. 528; Meadows v. Meadows, 33 N. C. 148, all holding that advancements of slaves are to be valued as of the date of delivery of possession.

South Carolina.— Hughey v. Eichelberger, 11 S. C. 36, holding that where a donor in a revocable conveyance of land retained possession and received the rents and profits and died intestate without revoking the gift, it should be treated as an advancement only as of the date of his death, to be estimated at its then value according to its condition at that time.

Tennessee.— Cazassa v. Cazassa, 92 Tenn. 573, 22 S. W. 560, 36 Am. St. Rep. 112, 20 L. R. A. 178 (holding that a son receiving a life-insurance policy from the father as an advancement should be charged with the net amount received on the policy after the father's death); Moore v. Burrow, 89 Tenn. 101, 17 S. W. 1035; Keys v. Keys, 11 Heisk. 425 (both cases holding that a gift of land should be valued as of the date of delivery of possession).

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 421.

See, however, Ware v. Welsh, 10 Mart. (La.) 430, holding that where a donee is put in possession of land under a parol gift and the donor dies intestate without revoking the gift, the value of the land at the time of the last inventory, independently of improvements, should be collated by him.

4. Alabama.— Fennell v. Henry, 70 Ala. 484, 45 Am. Rep. 88.

Georgia.— Sims v. Sims, 39 Ga. 108, 99 Am. Dec. 450.

Louisiana.— Cawthon v. Kimbell, 46 La. Ann. 750, 15 So. 101; Meyer's Succession, 44 La. Ann. 871, 11 So. 532; Berthelot v. Fitch, 44 La. Ann. 503, 10 So. 867; Haile's Succession, 40 La. Ann. 334, 3 So. 630; Ventress v. Brown, 34 La. Ann. 448 [overruling Guillory's Succession, 29 La. Ann. 495].

North Carolina.— Banks v. Shannonhouse, 61 N. C. 284; Walton v. Walton, 42 N. C. 138.

Tennessee.— Davis v. Garrett, 91 Tenn. 147, 18 S. W. 113.

Virginia.— West v. Jones, 85 Va. 616, 8 S. E. 468; Puryear v. Cabell, 24 Gratt. 260.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 412.

5. Wilson v. Kelly, 21 S. C. 535; Hughey v. Eichelberger, 11 S. C. 36.

Effect of loss on other donees.— Where a father, to equalize a gift of slaves to his son, gave property to his daughter, it must be charged to her as an advancement, although

(c) Mode of Ascertaining Value. In a suit for partition the court itself may ascertain the value of an advancement made to one of the parties.[6]

(d) Evidence of Value. An agreement between the parties in interest fixing the value of the property will be enforced on the distribution.[7] So a specific consideration expressed in a deed of gift as an advancement is conclusive of the value of the property.[8]

(e) Right of Set-Off. Certain claims of the donee with reference to the advancement may be set off by him against its value where the property is brought into hotchpot or collation.[9]

(ii) Interest. In the absence of a contract providing for interest,[10] advancements do not bear interest until after the death of the ancestor.[11] From the the slaves, being of no value at the donor's death, could not be charged to the son. Ex p. Glenn, 20 S. C. 64.

A loss occurring after the donor's death, however, falls on the donee. McLure v. Steele, 14 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 105.

6. Adair v. Hare, 73 Tex. 273, 11 S. W. 320, holding that the court need not cause the advancement to be appraised by the commissioners in partition as they are authorized to appraise only the land to be partitioned.

7. Wakefield v. Gilliland, 18 S. W. 768, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 845 (holding that where the rent of lands delivered to a son was to be paid in improvements, and afterward the father executed a receipt in full for the rent, the settlement was binding on the distributees, although the value of the improvements was less than the value of the use and occupation); Abert v. Lape, 15 S. W. 134, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 728 (holding conclusive as against a child his agreement with the parent fixing the amount to be charged against him as advances). See also Bason v. Harden, 72 N. C. 281.

8. Turner v. Kelly, 67 Ala. 173; Ladd v. Stephens, 147 Mo. 319, 48 S. W. 915; Palmer v. Culbertson, 143 N. Y. 213, 38 N. E. 199; Miller's Appeal, 31 Pa. St. 337.

9. King v. King, 107 La. 437, 31 So. 894, holding that grandchildren from whom collation is due to their grandparents for care and board and lodging are entitled to credit for work done by them for the grandparents.

Claim of husband of donee.— The value of medical services and board furnished by the husband of an heir to her father and minor brothers and sisters after her mother's death cannot be offset against advancements from the community estate of the father and mother made by the father to the h ir, since she has no interest in such demand. Adair v. Hare, 73 Tex. 273, 11 S. W. 320.

Rents and profits.— Where the donor in a revocable gift of land retained possession and received the rents and profits and died intestate without revoking it, his estate is not liable to the donee for the rents and profits. Hughey v. Eichelberger, 11 S. C. 36.

Breach of warranty of title.— Where land was conveyed to an heir by an ancestor with covenants of general warranty, and the title failed by reason of a prior encumbrance by the grantor discovered after his death, the heir was entitled to recover of the estate for breach of warranty, himself and his co-heirs bearing the burden thereof, although the land was conveyed voluntarily as an advancement. Polley v. Polley, 82 Ky. 64, 5 Ky. L. Rep. 801. See also Longshore v. Longshore, 200 Ill. 470, 65 N. E. 1081.

Insurance, repairs, and taxes.—Amounts expended by the donee in taxes, insurance, and maintenance are chargeable to revenues and are not to be deducted from the value of the property to be collated. Weber's Succession, 110 La. 674, 34 So. 731. If, however, the donee elects to collate in kind, he is entitled to the taxes and insurance premiums paid by him since the opening of the succession, and also to the expenses of repairs provided for by statute. Berthelot v. Fitch, 44 La. Ann. 503, 10 So. 867.

10. King v. King, 107 La. 437, 31 So. 894.

Capacity to contract.— If the donee is a married woman, a stipulation by her to pay interest from the date of the advancement is not binding. Roberson v. Nail, 85 Tenn. 124, 2 S. W. 19.

A release of interest indorsed on a note given for money advanced is inoperative if never delivered to the donee. Daves v. Haywood, 54 N. C. 253.

11. Alabama.— Comer v. Shehee, 128 Ala. 588, 30 So. 95, 87 Am. St. Rep. 78.

Florida.— Towles v. Roundtree, 10 Fla. 299.

Indiana.— Slaughter v. Slaughter, 21 Ind. App. 641, 52 N. E. 994 semble.

Kentucky.— Sadler v. Huffheimer, 12 S. W. 715, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 670.

Louisiana.— Weber's Succession, 110 La. 674, 34 So. 731.

Massachusetts.—Hall v. Davis, 3 Pick. 450; Osgood v. Breed, 17 Mass. 356.

Missouri.— Ray v. Loper, 65 Mo. 470; Nelson v. Wyan, 21 Mo. 347.

Pennsylvania.— Miller's Appeal, 31 Pa. St. 337.

Tennessee.— Morris v. Morris, 9 Heisk. 814; Wysong v. Rambo, (Ch. App. 1899) 56 S. W. 1053, 49 L. R. A. 766.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 422.

Advancement by note of donor.— A note given as an advancement by an ancestor to the husband of a distributee, payable one day after date with the right of collection postponed until the obligor's death, bears interest death of the ancestor, however, interest may in some states be charged upon advancements that are brought into hotchpot.[12]

(III) RENTS AND PROFITS AND INCREASE. Rents and profits derived by the donee from the property advanced are not chargeable against him as distributee when the property is brought into hotchpot;[13] nor is the donee accountable for the increase of the property.[14]

(IV) IMPROVEMENTS. In estimating the value of an advancement of land, improvements made by the donee should be excluded, as he is not chargeable with their value.[15]

e. Property Chargeable With Advancements — (I) REAL AND PERSONAL ESTATE. The classes of property that are chargeable with advancements depend largely upon the statutes directing descents. In some states advancements of personal estate will first be charged against the personal estate of the intestate to which the donee is otherwise entitled, and advancements of real estate first be charged against his distributive share of the intestate's real estate.[16] If the statute excludes the blending of real and personal estate, then an advancement will be charged against his distributive share of only that class of the intestate's estate to which the advancement belongs, and he will not be excluded from receiving his distributive share in the other class of estate;[17] but where the statute does not show an intent to charge advancements first or altogether upon from the day following its date. Carter v. King, 11 Rich. (S. C.) 125.

12. Georgia.— Boyd v. White, 32 Ga. 530; Harris v. Allen, 18 Ga. 177.

Louisiana.— Weber's Succession, 110 La. 674, 34 So. 731; Carroll v. Carroll, 48 La. Ann. 956, 20 So. 210.

Michigan.— See Sprague v. Moore, 130 Mich. 92, 89 N. W. 712.

South Carolina.— Rickenbacker v. Zimmerman, 10 S. C. 110, 30 Am. Rep. 37.

Tennessee.— Moore v. Burrow, 89 Tenn. 101, 17 S. W. 1035; Williams v. Williams, 15 Lea 438; Johnson v. Patterson, 13 Lea 626.

Virginia.— Puryear v. Cabell, 24 Gratt. 260.

West Virginia.— Kyle v. Conrad, 25 W. Va. 760.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 422.

On the contrary it is the rule in some states that interest runs only from the time when the estate should have been settled. Hanner v. Winburn, 42 N. C. 142; Yundt's Appeal, 13 Pa. St. 575, 53 Am. Dec. 496 (holding that advancements of all the heirs should be settled as of the same time after the death of the donor with interest from the time when the other heirs receive the balances due them respectively); Sharp's Estate, 13 Phila. (Pa.) 360; Thompson's Estate, 13 Phila. (Pa.) 292; Ford's Estate, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 97.

Interest after first division.— A child having received advancements and refusing to share in the first division but claiming a share in the division of the dower slaves is to be charged with interest on his advancements or their value from the death of the intestate to the date of the first division; and if the principal and interest of his advancements exceed the amount received by the other children, he is then to be charged with interest on such excess from that time to the period of the second division. Knight v. Oliver, 12 Gratt. (Va.) 33.

13. Ladd v. Stephens, 147 Mo. 319, 48 S. W. 915 (holding that dividends from stock given as an advancement are not to be brought into hotchpot); Ison v. Ison, 5 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 15; Williams v. Stonestreet, 3 Rand. (Va.) 559; Kyle v. Conrad, 25 W. Va. 760.

Collation in kind.— If a donee elects to collate in kind, he will be charged rent for the property from the time of the opening of the succession by the death of the donor, and only from that time. Weber's Succession, 110 La. 674, 34 So. 731; Berthelot v. Fitch, 44 La. Ann. 503, 10 So. 867. See, however, Clark v. Hedden, 109 La. 147, 33 So. 116. If the rental value of the property has been increased by improvements, the rents of the improved property are not to be collated, but only the rental value of the property in the condition in which it was at the date of the donation. Weber's Succession, supra.

14. Sinkler v. Sinkler, 2 Desauss. (S. C.) 127; Thomas v. Gage, 1 Harp. Eq. (S. C.) 197; Hudson v. Hudson, 3 Rand. (Va.) 117.

15. Ware v. Welsh, 10 Mart. (La.) 430. See also Weber's Succession, 110 La. 674, 34 So. 731.

Reimbursement for improvements.— Improvements by a person on land ineffectively advanced to him are a charge for which he is entitled to reimbursement. Ross v. Dimmit, 3 Ky. L. Rep. 685.

16. Bemis v. Stearns, 16 Mass. 200; Terry v. Dayton, 31 Barb. (N. Y.) 519.

17. Stone v. Halley, 1 Dana (Ky.) 197; South v. Hoy, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 88; Quinn v. Stockton, 2 Litt. (Ky.) 343; Bemis v. Sterns, 16 Mass. 200; Havens v. Thompson, 23 N. J. Eq. 321; Lawrence v. Rayner, 44 N. C. 113; Wilson v. Hightower, 10 N. C. 76; Jones v. Jones, 6 N. C. 150; Davis v. Duke, 3 N. C. 224.

the class of property received, an advancement of realty will be charged against personal estate, or an advancement of personalty will be charged against real estate, so as not to allow the inheritance of any of the heirs to be diminished.[18]

(II) Widow's Share. The widow's share in personal estate and her dower in lands is taken regardless of advancements, and only the balance remaining after deducting her share is treated as the estate for distribution.[19]

8. Procedure[20] — a. Jurisdiction.[21] Jurisdiction to try and determine controversies arising in the distribution of estates with reference to advancements is conferred on probate courts.[22] However, a court of equitable jurisdiction may in a proper case,[23] such for instance as a suit for partition,[24] take cognizance of questions of advancement.

b. Pleading[25] — (I) In General. A bill filed by a distributee against an administrator and other distributees calling the latter to account in hotchpot need not allege notice to the administrator that complainant would assert that right; nor need it aver that complainant himself has not been advanced. If, however, the bill admits an advancement to complainant, it must allege his readiness to account for it in hotchpot.[26] If the release of a donee from liability to account for an advancement is set up to the disadvantage of the releasor and he elects not to be bound by it, the election and the grounds on which he resists the release must be alleged in his pleadings.[27]

(II) Amendment. If a donee called to account in hotchpot files an answer in misconception of his rights he may amend.[28]

18. Illinois.—Pigg v. Carroll, 89 Ill. 205.
Indiana.— Dyer v. Armstrong, 5 Ind. 437.
Maryland.— In re Young, 3 Md. Ch. 461.
Massachusetts.— Bemis v. Stearns, 16 Mass. 200.
Missouri.— In re Elliott, 98 Mo. 379, 11 S. W. 739.
North Carolina.— Shiver v. Brock, 55 N. C. 137; Headen v. Headen, 42 N. C. 159.
Pennsylvania.— Fleming's Appeal, 5 Phila. 351.
See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 419.

19. Grattan v. Grattan, 18 Ill. 167, 65 Am. Dec. 726; Knight v. Oliver, 12 Gratt. (Va.) 33.

20. Procedure as to valuation of advancement see supra, IV, B, 7, d, (I), (C).

21. See, generally, Courts.

22. Alabama.— Marshall v. Marshall, 86 Ala. 383, 5 So. 475.
Missouri.— In re Elliott, 98 Mo. 379, 11 S. W. 739.
New Hampshire.— State v. Concord R. Co., 59 N. H. 85.
Pennsylvania.— Springer's Appeal, 29 Pa. St. 208; Holliday v. Ward, 19 Pa. St. 485, 57 Am. Dec. 671; Earnest v. Earnest, 5 Rawle 213; Rittenhouse's Estate, 1 Pars. Eq. Cas. 313.
Vermont.— Adams v. Adams, 22 Vt. 50; Robinson v. Swift, 3 Vt. 283.
See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 423.

23. Key v. Jones, 52 Ala. 238 (holding that a court of chancery taking jurisdiction of an administration may, when a distribution becomes necessary, decree an account of advancements); Grattan v. Grattan, 18 Ill. 167, 65 Am. Dec. 726 (holding that courts of equity have paramount jurisdiction in cases of administration and settlement of estates, and may control courts of law in their action in reference thereto); Dyer v. Armstrong, 5 Ind. 437 (holding that, if a creditor of a donee levies on his undivided interest in land as to which the donor dies intestate, a coheir who asserts that the donee's advancement exceeds his distributive portion may file a bill to enjoin a sale of the land under the execution); Hayden v. Burch, 9 Gill (Md.) 79. Equity will not, however, assume jurisdiction of a suit to impress an equitable lien for advancements on the part of the undistributed shares of donees in lands admeasured as dower which have reverted to the estate and lands conveyed to all the heirs as tenants in common by another heir to whom advancements were made, since under Hill Anno. Laws, §§ 3104, 3105, a suit in partition is the only remedy. Belle v. Brown, 37 Oreg. 588, 61 Pac. 1024.

24. Alabama.— Marshall v. Marshall, 86 Ala. 383, 5 So. 475.
Indiana.— See Dyer v. Armstrong, 5 Ind. 437.
Mississippi.— Gowan v. Gowan, (1892) 12 So. 29.
Oregon.— Belle v. Brown, 37 Oreg. 588, 61 Pac. 1024.
Pennsylvania.— Summerville's Estate, 129 Pa. St. 631, 18 Atl. 554; Dutch's Appeal, 57 Pa. St. 461.

25. See, generally, Pleading.

26. Tison v. Tison, 12 Ga. 208.

27. Andrews v. Halliday, 63 Ga. 263.

28. Warfield v. Warfield, 5 Harr. & J. (Md.) 459, holding that where the answer to a bill filed by distributees against a donee calling on him to account in hotchpot does not elect to bring in the advancement or refuses to do so but insists on the donee's right to elect after the commissioners make their valuation, and the chancellor considers the

(III) PLEADING AND PROOF. Evidence of absolute gifts by a parent to certain children is admissible without being specially pleaded to show that gifts to other children were absolute gifts and not advancements.[29]

c. Parties.[30] On a bill by distributees against an administrator for their distributive shares, averring advances to the other distributees and calling them to account in hotchpot, the latter are proper parties defendant.[31]

d. Right to Jury.[32] In some states it is provided that trial by jury shall be allowed in the settlement of decedents' estates at the request of any party in all cases where there is an issue of fact.[33] There is no absolute right to trial by jury, however, in an action for partition, on an issue as to whether gifts were advancements.[34]

e. Defenses — (I) LIMITATIONS AND LACHES.[35] The statutes of limitations do not run against the right of a distributee to have advancements made to a co-distributee brought into hotchpot.[36] However the right to proceed against the donee for interest accruing after the donor's death may be lost by laches.[37]

(II) RES JUDICATA.[38] It has been held that a decree in partition between distributees concludes the question of advancements, and neither party may afterward assert a claim against the other on account of advancements made to the latter in excess of his distributive share.[39]

f. Evidence[40] — (I) ADMISSIBILITY. Declarations of the donor[41] and entries answer as an election not to bring in the advancement and decrees partition of the lands of which the donor died seized, excluding the donee, the donee may amend his answer so as to elect to bring his advancement into hotchpot at its value at the time he received it and to share as distributee accordingly.

29. Gunn v. Thruston, 130 Mo. 339, 32 S. W. 654.

30. See, generally, PARTIES.

31. Tison v. Tison, 12 Ga. 208.

32. See, generally, JURIES.

33. Shaw v. Kent, 11 Ind. 80.

34. Gunn v. Thruston, 130 Mo. 339, 32 S. W. 654.

35. See, generally, EQUITY; LIMITATIONS OF ACTIONS.

36. Lindsay v. Platt, 9 Fla. 150; Barnes v. Hazleton, 50 Ill. 429; King v. King, 107 La. 437, 31 So. 894 (holding that an heir who admits that the amount represented by his note bearing interest is due as collation cannot sustain prescription as a bar to recovery of interest on the note); Hughes' Appeal, 57 Pa. St. 179.

Ignorance of rights.— Where a bill to collate and equalize advances among heirs had been disposed of without reference to a claim in favor of the estate, the parties then having no knowledge of its existence, a statute of limitation is no defense to a bill to reach and apply the claim, brought shortly after it became available. Daniels v. Pickett, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 59 S. W. 148.

37. Wysong v. Rambo, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1899) 56 S. W. 1053, 49 L. R. A. 766, holding that where an heir could have had the estate divided at any time after the death of the ancestor but made no effort to have it done until after the lapse of twenty-two years, he is entitled to interest on advancements made to co-heirs only for two years, that being a reasonable time in which to have had the estate settled.

38. See, generally, JUDGMENTS.

39. Eckler v. Galbraith, 12 Bush (Ky.) 71. See also Tye v. Tye, 69 S. W. 718, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 637. Contra, Gowan v. Gowan, (Miss. 1892) 12 So. 29; Summerville's Estate, 129 Pa. St. 631, 18 Atl. 554; Dutch's Appeal, 57 Pa. St. 461.

Ignorance of rights.— The rule is the same, in the absence of fraud, although the complaining party had no knowledge of the advancements at the time of the partition. Belle v. Brown, 37 Oreg. 588, 61 Pac. 1024.

40. See, generally, EVIDENCE.

Evidence of: Nature of gift generally see supra, IV, B, 5, a, (I). Value of advancement see supra, IV, B, 7, d, (I), (D). Evidence of circumstances of: Gift in general see supra, IV, B, 5, a, (I). Gift to husband of child see supra, IV, B, 4, c, (IV). Payment of debt of distributee see supra, IV, B, 5, a, (II).

Presumption as to character of: Expenses of maintaining or educating distributee see supra, IV, B, 5, a, (IV). Gift of marriage portion to distributee see supra, IV, B, 5, a, (VI). Gift to husband of child see supra, IV, B, 4, c, (IV). Payment of debt of distributee see supra, IV, B, 5, a, (II). Payment or transfer for value see supra, IV, B, 5, b. Payment or transfer where evidence of debt is executed see supra, IV, B, 5, c, (II). Purchase in name of distributee see supra, IV, B, 5, a, (III). Voluntary gift generally see supra, IV, B, 5, a, (I).

41. Pole v. Simmons, 45 Md. 246, holding that declarations of a donor made prior to the transaction in question and accompanied by a writing are admissible. If not accompanied by a writing, however, they are not admissible. Frey v. Heydt, 116 Pa. St. 601, 11 Atl. 535. See, however, Bailey v. Barclay, 109 Ky. 636, 60 S. W. 377, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 1244. See also supra, IV, B, 5, a, (I); IV, B, 5, c.

in his books of account,[42] and acknowledgments or admissions of the donee[43] are ordinarily admissible in evidence on the question whether a payment or transfer constitutes an advancement. Parol evidence on the question is admitted or rejected according to the rules which govern the competency of that species of evidence in other cases.[44]

(II) WEIGHT AND SUFFICIENCY. An advancement may be established by a preponderance of the evidence;[45] and the evidence may consist of declarations of the donor[46] or entries in his books of account,[47] or of the oral acknowledgments

Contemporaneous declarations of the donor are competent on the question of advancement. Autrey v. Autrey, 37 Ala. 614; Bailey v. Barclay, 109 Ky. 636, 60 S. W. 377, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 1244.

Subsequent declarations of the donor are inadmissible on the question of advancement unless against his interest or part of the res gestæ. Bailey v. Barclay, 109 Ky. 636, 60 S. W. 377, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 1244. See, however, Autrey v. Autrey, 37 Ala. 614; Mitchell v. Mitchell, 8 Ala. 414; Johnson v. Belden, 20 Conn. 322 (holding that where a father advanced money to a son to establish him in business, subsequent declarations of the father as to the amount received by the son are admissible); Cline v. Jones, 111 Ill. 563 (holding that on a question of advancements in partition proceedings between heirs, evidence of declarations of the ancestor to the effect that he had given equal sums to all his children are admissible).

42. Mitchell v. Mitchell, 8 Ala. 414; Fellows v. Little, 46 N. H. 27; In re Hengst, 6 Watts (Pa.) 86; Weatherhead v. Field, 26 Vt. 665; Brown v. Brown, 16 Vt. 197, all holding that contemporaneous book entries made by the donor charging advancements are competent evidence against the donee.

Ex parte entries.— Book entries are competent although not known to the donee. In re Hengst, 6 Watts (Pa.) 86.

Subsequent entries.— Book entries will be rejected if they do not appear to have been made contemporaneously with the transactions to which they refer. Nelson v. Nelson, 90 Mo. 460, 2 S. W. 413.

43. French v. Strumberg, 52 Tex. 92 (holding that a written acknowledgment by a child of an advancement is competent evidence against him); Sheperd v. White, 11 Tex. 346 (holding that declarations of a donee in what purports to be his will concerning the nature of the conveyance are admissible against his wife and children). See also supra, IV, B, 5, c, (II).

Contemporaneous or subsequent admissions of the donee are admissible on the question of advancement. Graves v. Spedden, 46 Md. 527; Harris' Appeal, 2 Grant (Pa.) 304; Christy's Appeal, 1 Grant (Pa.) 369; In re King, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 370; Law v. Smith, 2 R. I. 244.

Admissions of father of donee.— Grandchildren claiming a distributive share of their maternal grandfather's estate are not bound by admissions of their father made after the grandfather's death. Nelson v. Bush, 9 Dana (Ky.) 104.

44. Porter v. Porter, 51 Me. 376 (holding that parol evidence is not admissible to explain the purposes of a deed from parent to child); Parks v. Parks, 19 Md. 323; Sayles v. Baker, 5 R. I. 457 (holding that where an instrument is silent as to its purpose, its character, consideration, and general subject-matter may be inquired into by parol); Newell v. Newell, 13 Vt. 24 (where parol evidence was admitted to show a conveyance of land from father to son to have been an advancement).

Parol evidence: As excluded by statute see supra, IV, B, 2, a, (II). Of consideration of transfer see supra, IV, B, 5, b. Of intent of donor see supra, IV, B, 5, c. Of nature of transaction in general see supra, IV, B, 5, a, (I).

45. Middleton v. Middleton, 31 Iowa 151. See also McElroy v. Barkley, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1899) 58 S. W. 406.

46. Blackerby v. Holton, 5 Dana (Ky.) 520; Parker v. Parker, 11 S. W. 91, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 929; Tompkins v. Carter, 15 Ky. L. 749; Stern's Estate, 3 Pa. Dist. 369; Law v. Smith, 2 R. I. 244; Keys v. Keys, 11 Heisk. (Tenn.) 425.

Declarations to third persons may not be sufficient to establish the advancement as against the donee. Ray v. Loper, 65 Mo. 470; Weatherwax v. Woodin, 20 Hun (N. Y.) 518; Homiller's Estate, 17 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 238.

An absolute gift may on the other hand be established by the donor's declarations. Johnson v. Belden, 20 Conn. 322; In re Ward, 73 Mich. 220, 41 N. W. 431; Alexander v. Alexander, 1 N. Y. St. 508; Storey's Appeal, 83 Pa. St. 89; Lawson's Appeal, 23 Pa. St. 85; In re King, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 370; Watkins v. Young, 31 Gratt. (Va.) 84. To establish a gift by declarations, however, the evidence must be such as to make it reasonably certain that the witnesses are not mistaken in their recollections as to the declarations. Parker v. Parker, 11 S. W. 91, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 929.

47. Fels v. Fels, 1 Ohio Cir. Ct. 420; Yeich's Appeal, (Pa. 1889) 17 Atl. 32; Murray's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 300; Brown v. Brown, 16 Vt. 197.

Book entries may control prior written instruments. Yeich's Appeal, (Pa. 1889) 17 Atl. 32; Murray's Estate, 2 Chest. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 300.

Entries by third persons in the donor's books, if made without his direction, are insufficient to charge heirs with advancements. Weatherwax v. Woodin, 20 Hun (N. Y.) 518.

or admissions of the donee, or acknowledgments or admissions contained in his receipts, letters, or other written instruments.[48]

g. Questions For Court and For Jury.[49] If the case is properly triable by a jury, the question whether the donor intended a gift as an advancement[50] and the question of the amount of an advancement[51] are for the jury. In a suit for partition of real estate, however, the question of the amount of an advancement is for the court.[52]

h. Verdict.[53] Where the issue is whether or not the distributees are to be charged with advancements, the jury in its verdict should state what sums if any have been advanced and to whom.[54]

i. Costs.[55] Where an issue is made up to ascertain the amounts each of several distributees have received from the estate, the costs of the proceeding should be charged jointly upon the estate.[56]

j. New Trial.[57] A memorandum of the donor tending to show that he had made advancements does not warrant the reopening of an estate after a decree finding that no advancements had been made, where it appears to have been made many years before the donor's death and it is not shown that he ever called the attention of any member of his family to it.[58]

C. Debts of Intestate and Encumbrances on Property — 1. In General — a. Liabilities of Heirs and Rights of Creditors in General. The assets of the estates of deceased persons are regarded as a trust fund for the payment of their debts, and may be followed in equity for that purpose into the hands of distributees,[59] their right to take as heirs or next of kin being subservient to the Expunged entries are not sufficient to prove an advancement. Johnson v. Belden, 20 Conn. 332. Where entries of advancements were made in a parent's book, and afterward an inquest found that he had been a lunatic for five years before the finding, and when the book came into his committee's hands the entries were found to have been canceled, there is no presumption as to the time of cancellation, and the burden is on those resisting the advancements to show a change of intention of the parent when he was sane. Oller v. Bonebrake, 65 Pa. St. 338.

Entries consistent with debt.— The entries must exclude the idea of a debt else they are insufficient as evidence of advancements. Bigelow v. Poole, 10 Gray (Mass.) 104; Miller's Appeal, 40 Pa. St. 57, 80 Am. Dec. 555; Hogg's Estate, 5 Lanc. L. Rev. 169.

48. Bishop v. Davenport, 58 Ill. 105; Quarles v. Quarles, 4 Mass. 680; Bucknor's Estate, 7 Pa. Co. Ct. 361, all holding that a receipt or other written acknowledgment given by a distributee in part or in full acknowledgment of his share is conclusive as to him. However, an agreement by children with their father to account for proceeds of land given them by him is insufficient to establish an advancement. Woodward v. Little, 4 Ky. L. Rep. 990.

Oral admissions by the donee may be sufficient to prove or disprove an advancement. Law v. Smith, 2 R. I. 244; Scawin v. Scawin, 1 Y. & Coll. 65, 20 Eng. Ch. 65. See, however, Green v. Hathaway, 36 N. J. Eq. 471 (holding a statement of a son to a third person that he was indebted to his father for money which was to be deducted from his share insufficient to charge him with the money as an advancement); Shrady v. Shrady, 42 N. Y. App. Div. 9, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 546 (holding that conversations between heirs after the death of the ancestor are insufficient to prove advancements).

49. See, generally, TRIAL.

50. Robinson v. Robinson, 45 Ark. 481; Shaw v. Kent, 11 Ind. 80; Stewart v. State, 2 Harr. & G. (Md.) 114; Palmer v. Culbertson, 20 N. Y. Suppl, 391 [affirmed in 143 N. Y. 213, 38 N. E. 199].

51. State v. Jameson, 3 Gill & J. (Md.) 442.

52. Datt's Estate, 34 Pittsb. Leg. J. (Pa.) 349.

53. See, generally, TRIAL.

54. Andrews v. Halliday, 63 Ga. 263.

55. See, generally, COSTS.

56. Mitchell v. Mitchell, 8 Ala. 414, holding that the costs should not be charged against those most active in making objections.

57. See, generally, NEW TRIAL.

58. Hubbard v. Brooks, 86 Ga. 449, 12 S. E. 648.

59. McLaughlin v. Potomac Bank, 7 How. (U. S.) 220, 12 L. ed. 675; Telfair v. Stead, 2 Cranch (U. S.) 407, 2 L. ed. 320; Carey v. Roosevelt, 91 Fed. 567; Davies v. Davies, 1 Jur. 446, 2 Keen 534, 15 Eng. Ch. 534; Holland v. Prior, Coop. t. Brough. 426, 1 Myl. & K. 237, 7 Eng. Ch. 237; Newland v. Champion, 1 Ves. 105, 27 Eng. Reprint 920.

Executory title.— In Louisiana a creditor must have an executory title against the heir in order to seize property in his hands acquired from the estate of the ancestor. Hart v. Connolly, 49 La. Ann. 1587, 22 So. 809.

rights of the creditors of the decedent.[60] At common law an heir is not liable for the debts of the ancestor beyond the value of the property received from the ancestor's estate, and then only on such debts as were created by the specialties of the ancestor in which the heir is expressly named;[61] nor is he personally liable upon the ancestor's covenants, although he is named therein,[62] or for the ancestor's torts, unless committed in connection with property, the title to which has descended to him;[63] but the estate of the ancestor is liable for his contracts entered into during his lifetime.[64] As a general rule the remedy of a creditor of 60. Connecticut.— Winslow v. Parkhurst, 1 Root 268.

Iowa.— Security F. Ins. Co. v. Hansen, 104 Iowa 264, 73 N. W. 596.

Kansas.— Fletcher v. Wormington, 24 Kan. 259.

Louisiana.— Aronstein's Succession, 51 La. Ann. 1052, 25 So. 932.

Mississippi.— Savings, etc., Assoc. v. Tart, 81 Miss. 276, 32 So. 115.

New Jersey.— Northrup v. Roe, 16 N. J. L. J. 334.

Pennsylvania.— De Witt v. Lehigh Valley R. Co., 21 Pa. Super. Ct. 10.

England.—Batthyany v. Walford, 36 Ch. D. 269, 56 L. J. Ch. 881, 57 L. T. Rep. N. S. 206, 35 Wkly. Rep. 814; Bradbury v. Morgan, 1 H. & C. 249, 8 Jur. N. S. 918, 31 L. J. Exch. 462, 7 L. T. Rep. N. S. 104, 10 Wkly. Rep. 776; Wheatley v. Lane, 1 Saund. 216; Sollers v. Lawrence, Willes 413.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 433.

A widow who claims under her deceased husband must contribute ratably with other distributees to pay the debts of the estate. Atchison v. Atchison, 106 Ky. 190, 50 S. W. 26, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1755. But a widow having custody of property alleged to belong to her deceased husband's estate cannot be proceeded against by his creditors, where she is neither an heir nor the husband's personal representative. McKenzie v. Havard, 12 Mart. (La.) 101.

61. Connecticut.— Phelps v. Miles, 1 Root 162.

New York.— The heirs or next of kin of a deceased person can only be made liable upon his contracts or for his debts, in the cases and in the manner prescribed by statute. Selover v. Coe, 63 N. Y. 438.

South Carolina.—The obligation of the heir to pay the debt of the ancestor rests on his possession of the ancestor's property, and not on contract. Martin v. Jennings, 52 S. C. 371, 29 S. E. 807.

Texas.— Under a statute making heirs and devisees liable for the ancestor's debts to the extent of property of the estate in their hands, such heirs and devisees are not liable to a personal judgment on suit of a creditor. Blinn v. McDonald, 92 Tex. 604, 46 S. W. 787, 48 S. W. 571, 50 S. W. 931.

United States.— Carey v. Roosevelt, 91 Fed. 567; Pyatt v. Waldo, 85 Fed. 399.

England.— Galton v. Hancock, 2 Atk. 424, 26 Eng. Reprint 656; Davies v. Churchman, 3 Lev. 189; Davy v. Pepys, Plowd. 438; Dyke v. Sweeting, Willes 585.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 433.

62. Gilchrist v. Filyan, 2 Fla. 94; Lansdale v. Cox, 7 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 401; Ely v. McLain, 1 Tenn. Cas. 5, Thomps. Cas. (Tenn.) 21.

63. Alabama.— Coker v. Crozier, 5 Ala. 369.

Massachusetts.— Sturgis v. Slacum, 18 Pick. 36.

New Hampshire.— Vittum v. Gilman, 48 N. H. 416.

New York.— Haight v. Hayt, 19 N. Y. 464.

North Carolina.— Fellow v. Fulgham, 7 N. C. 254.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 433 et seq.

Fraud of ancestor.— So far as the heirs are concerned the fraud of the ancestor dies with him, unless it has descended to them with some property, the title to which was tainted with the fraud. Draper v. McFarland, 6 Ill. 310.

64. Maryland.— Steele v. Steele, 75 Md. 477, 23 Atl. 959.

Massachusetts.— Cox v. Maxwell, 151 Mass. 336, 24 N. E. 50. As to contracts terminable at will see Browne v. McDonald, 129 Mass. 66.

Michigan.— Frank v. Morley, 106 Mich. 637, 64 N. W. 577; Wilson v. Hotchkiss, 81 Mich. 172, 45 N. W. 838.

New York.— Hall v. Bennett, 48 N. Y. Super. Ct. 302.

Pennsylvania.— La Rue v. Gilkyson, 4 Pa. St. 375, 45 Am. Dec. 700.

Vermont.— State University v. Baxter, 43 Vt. 645.

England.— Skidmore v. Bradford, L. R. 8 Eq. 134, 21 L. T. Rep. N. S. 291, 17 Wkly. Rep. 1056; Cooper v. Jarman, L. R. 3 Eq. 98, 12 Jur. N. S. 956, 36 L. J. Ch. 85, 15 Wkly. Rep. 142; Wentworth v. Cock, 10 A. & E. 42, 3 Jur. 340, 8 L. J. Q. B. 230, 2 P. & D. 251, 37 E. C. L. 47; Collen v. Wright, 8 E. & B. 647, 4 Jur. N. S. 357, 27 L. J. Q. B. 215, 6 Wkly. Rep. 123, 92 E. C. L. 647; Bradbury v. Morgan, 1 H. & C. 249, 8 Jur. N. S. 918, 31 L. J. Exch. 462, 7 L. T. Rep. N. S. 104, 10 Wkly. Rep. 776; Sollers v. Lawrence, Willes 413.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 439; and, generally, EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

A personal representative is liable as such on the contracts of the decedent, although he is not named therein. Shultz v. Johnson, 5 B. Mon. (Ky.) 497; Drummond v. Crane, 159 Mass. 577, 35 N. E. 90, 38 Am. St. Rep. 460, 23 L. R. A. 707; Bradbury v. Morgan, 1 H. & C. 249, 8 Jur. N. S. 918, 31 L. J. Exch. 462, 7 L. T. Rep. N. S. 104, 10 Wkly. Rep. 776; Harwood v. Hilliard, 2 Mod. 268; Cavan a deceased person is against the decedent's estate, and in the absence of a testamentary provision to the contrary the personal estate is the primary fund for the payment of the decedent's debts, so that a creditor who seeks to reach the real estate must first show that the personal estate has been exhausted.[65] Where the decedent leaves no personal estate, and administration is not taken out within a reasonable length of time after his death, a creditor may assert a lien against his real estate;[66] and for the purpose of enforcing such a lien, the creditor may follow such real estate into the hands of heirs or devisees.[67] Where the real estate of the ancestor is sold to pay his debts, upon suit of his creditors, the heirs and distributees are entitled to improvements thereon made by them; and other things being equal they will be held to keep down taxes and encumbrances, in consideration of rents and profits.[68] So also assessments for benefits caused by public improvements must be allowed to the heir.[69] So too of the usufruct.[70] But the land of a decedent, exclusive of such improvements and the usufruct, is chargeable with the ancestor's debts, for the payment of which it may be sold;[71] and a purchaser from an heir of land of his ancestor that is chargeable with the ancestor's debts, is not a bona fide purchaser, where the ancestor's liability is of record.[72] The creditor is not entitled to a personal judgment against an heir or devisee.[73]

b. Extent of Liability in General. The heirs are liable upon the contracts and for the debts of their ancestor only to the extent of their inheritance;[74] and as

v. Pulteney, 2 Ves. Jr. 544, 30 Eng. Reprint 768. See EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

65. McFarlane v. Golling, 76 Fed. 23, 22 C. C. A. 23.

Where there is unusual delay in settling the estate in the hands of the executor or administrator a creditor may proceed against the heirs or distributees. Rockwell v. Geery, 4 Hun (N. Y.) 606.

Where the heirs or distributees refuse to accept their inheritance to the prejudice of the creditors of the decedent, the creditors may, under the Louisiana statutes, be substituted in the place of the heirs or distributees, exercising all the rights that the decedent could have exercised, for the purpose of recovering his estate, in order to render it available for the payment of his debts. Sevier v. Gordon, 29 La. Ann. 440; Gardner v. Montague, 16 La. Ann. 299.

Creditors cannot be substituted in the place of the heirs with respect to claims due them as heirs, unless the creditors can show collusion between the debtor and the heirs. Turner v. Faucett, 41 N. C. 549.

66. Brandenburg v. Norwood, (Tex. Civ. App. 1901) 66 S. W. 587.

67. Iowa.— Hansen's Empire Fur Factory v. Teahout, 104 Iowa 360, 73 N. W. 875.

Kentucky.— Davis v. Whipp, 48 S. W. 984, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1166.

Minnesota.— New Hampshire Sav. Bank v. Barrows, 77 Minn. 138, 79 N. W. 660; Johnson v. Minnesota L. & T. Co., 75 Minn. 4, 77 N. W. 421, 74 Am. St. Rep. 438.

New Jersey.— Ransom v. Brinkerhoff, 56 N. J. Eq. 149, 38 Atl. 919.

New York.— Felts v. Martin, 20 N. Y. App. Div. 60, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 741.

Pennsylvania.— McKibben's Estate, 7 Pa. Dist. 511.

South Carolina.—Jennings v. Parr, 62 S. C. 306, 40 S. E. 683.

Texas.— Devine v. U. S. Mortg. Co., (Civ. App. 1898) 48 S. W. 585; Brandenburg v. Norwood, (Civ. App. 1901) 66 S. W. 587.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 433 et seq.

68. Ransom v. Brinkerhoff, 56 N. J. Eq. 149, 38 Atl. 919.

69. Ransom v. Brinkerhoff, 56 N. J. Eq. 149, 38 Atl. 919.

70. Fitzwilliams' Succession, 3 La. Ann. 489.

71. But where persons take as grantees from their ancestor, and not as devisees or heirs, their title will be held valid, unless it can be shown that the conveyance was made by the ancestor with the intent to defeat his creditors. Where the intestate deeded her property to trustees, to be distributed among her heirs after her death, leaving an unpaid mortgage note, for which the security was insufficient, it was held that the conveyance could not be declared invalid, since the heirs took as grantees, it not being shown that the intestate had any reason to suppose such security was insufficient. Matteson v. Palser, 56 N. Y. App. Div. 91, 67 N. Y. Suppl. 612, 31 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 198.

72. Land of deceased surety on duly recorded guardian's bond was held liable for a breach thereof, and purchasers from heirs of such surety were held not to be bona fide purchasers. Savings Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Tart, (Miss. 1902) 32 So. 115.

73. Brandenburg v. Norwood, (Tex. Civ. App. 1901) 66 S. W. 587.

74. Indiana.— Harrison Nat. Bank v. Culbertson, 147 Ind. 611, 45 N. E. 657, 47 N. E. 13.

Louisiana.— Changeur v. Gravier, 4 Mart. N. S. 68.

Minnesota.— Lake Phalan Land, etc., Co. v. Lindeke, 66 Minn. 209, 68 N. W. 974.

between themselves they are liable to contribution where some of them are or may be held to more than their share of liability.[75]

c. Acceptance and Renunciation of Succession[76] — (I) In General. In Louisiana and in other jurisdictions where the civil law is in force, no person is liable as heir, for the debts of the ancestor without an acceptance of the inheritance;[77] but where an heir accepts such inheritance unconditionally, he becomes bound to pay the debts of the ancestor, even though the assets are insufficient for that purpose,[78] and there is an administration.[79] If debts are not known to exist at the time of the acceptance, and are afterward discovered, the remedy of the creditors is against the heir accepting, and not against the estate, which has ceased to exist.[80]

(II) Benefit of Inventory. In Louisiana the heir has a right to abandon his ancestor's estate to the ancestor's creditors and hold himself discharged from the ancestor's liabilities, preserving the identity of his own property from that of the ancestor, and collecting his own dues from the ancestor's estate; but to do so, he must safeguard his acceptance of the succession by a clear and distinct reservation of the benefit of an inventory.[81] An heir who accepts the estate of his ancestor with the benefit of an inventory stands toward creditors and distributees rather in the capacity of an administrator than an owner, and is liable only to the extent of the assets belonging to the ancestor's estate;[82] but after such an acceptance, with the benefit of an inventory, he is bound to duly administer upon the estate as beneficiary heir, so far as creditors are concerned, or he will be personally liable to creditors for the ancestor's debts.[83] But equity will not hold heirs to

New Jersey.— Ransom v. Brinkerhoff, 56 N. J. Eq. 149, 38 Atl. 919.

New York.— Whitaker v. Young, 2 Cow. 569.

Utah.— Bacon v. Thornton, 16 Utah 138, 51 Pac. 153.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 434.

Each heir is severally liable for the debts of his ancestor for what he receives from the ancestor and not for what the other heirs receive. Haines v. Haines, (N. J. Sup. 1903) 54 Atl. 401.

If the estate of the ancestor is insufficient to pay his debts, the heirs cannot complain, their liability being only to the extent to which they have inherited from such ancestor. Changeur v. Gravier, 4 Mart. N. S. (La.) 68. And this rule is not changed, even where the statutes make heirs and devisees personally liable for debts of the ancestor, by reason of land descended or devised to them, so far as they have received rents or profits therefrom before alienating it, or considerations for such alienation, unless they answer falsely in disclosure or refuse to disclose. Ransom v. Brinkerhoff, 56 N. J. Eq. 149, 38 Atl. 919.

75. Whitaker v. Young, 2 Cow. (N. Y.) 569.

76. Nature and consequences of an acceptance of the estate see supra, III, A, 2, a.

77. Johnson v. Boon, 4 Mart. 380; Cresse v. Marigny, 4 Mart. 50.

An heir may disclaim acceptance in proceedings brought against him requiring him to accept or renounce, and thereby avoid liability. Penny v. Weston, 4 Rob. (La.) 165.

Where the heirship is denied the alleged heir cannot be made liable until it is shown that he has accepted the inheritance, although as executor and residuary legatee under a will he has interfered with the estate. Cotton v. Cullen, 2 La. 371.

78. Claudel v. Palao, 28 La. Ann. 872; Cole v. Reddick, 28 La. Ann. 843; Todd v. Place, 9 La. Ann. 517; McMasters v. Place, 8 La. Ann. 431; Blair v. Cisneros, 10 Tex. 34.

79. Wiley v. Hunter, 2 La. Ann. 806; Mudd v. Stille, 6 La. 18.

Where there is such an acceptance, the accepting heir stands in the place of the ancestor as to all of his rights and obligations. James v. Hynson, 21 La. Ann. 566; Louisiana State Bank v. Barrow, 2 La. Ann. 405.

Where creditors acquiesce in the taking of unconditional control of the estate by the accepting heir, without administration, they thereby lose their right to pursue such estate as distinct from their remedy against such heir. James v. Hynson, 21 La. Ann. 566.

80. Thibodeaux's Succession, 38 La. Ann. 716.

81. Murray's Succession, 41 La. Ann. 1109, 7 So. 126.

Benefit of inventory under civil law.—The heir obtains the privilege of being liable for the charges and debts of the succession only to the value of the effects of the succession by causing an inventory of these effects within the time and manner prescribed by law. La. Civ. Code, art. 1025; Pothier des Success. c. 3, § 3, art. 2.

82. Changeur v. Gravier, 4 Mart. N. S. (La.) 68; Cox v. Martin, 12 Mart. (La.) 361; Blair v. Cisneros, 10 Tex. 34.

Minor heirs.— Where some of the heirs are minors the estate cannot be accepted by them or on their behalf without the benefit of inventory. Watts v. Frazer, 5 La. 383.

83. A mother accepting her son's succession with benefit of inventory is bound to the same liability for the debts of their ancestor as if they themselves had contracted them for neglecting to take the inventory, where the required inventory has been prepared under judicial authority and it does not appear that any of the rights of the complaining parties are impaired by the neglect.[84]

(III) RENUNCIATION OF ESTATE. A presumptive heir who is not shown to have accepted the succession of a decedent and who has subsequently renounced the succession is not liable for the debts of the decedent.[85]

d. Express Promise to Pay. Where the heirs are made liable by statute for the simple contract debts of their ancestors, the question of assets is not to be considered in suits against them, upon their express promise to pay the debts of the ancestor.[86] In the absence of such a statute, the extinguishing of an indebtedness of an intestate is considered a sufficient consideration to support the bond of distributees conditioned to pay the debts of such intestate.[87] And a promise by an heir to satisfy an indebtedness of the estate for a consideration is binding upon him.[88]

e. Debts and Liabilities Enforceable. At common law an heir is not bound by the contracts or fraudulent acts of the ancestor unless he is a party thereto;[89] but under statutes in some states he is liable to the extent of the property received by him from the ancestor's estate, both upon the contracts of the ancestor[90] and for his tortious acts.[91]

2. WHAT LAW GOVERNS — a. In General. Upon the death of a decedent his assets are to be collected and his estate administered according to the law of the creditors to duly administer as beneficiary heir or to be personally liable as to creditors. Flower v. O'Connor, 7 La. 198.

Treating property as his own.— Where an heir accepted a succession, with the benefit of inventory, then offered to sell it, it was held that he had thereby made himself an unconditional heir, and was personally liable for the payment of the ancestor's debts. Benedict v. Bonnot, 39 La. Ann. 972, 3 So. 223.

84. New Orleans First Nat. Bank v. Bohne, 8 Fed. 115, 4 Woods 74.

85. Miltenberger v. Weems, 31 La. Ann. 259.

86. Elting v. Vanderlyn, 4 Johns. (N. Y.) 237.

87. Bissinger v. Lawson, 57 Miss. 36.

88. Where the heir promised the administrator that if he would deliver up to him the assets he would satisfy the claim of a creditor, promising the creditor at the same time to satisfy such claim if the creditor would assent to such delivery, which arrangement was effected, it was held that the heir was liable on his promise. Courtois v. Perquier, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 314.

89. Indiana.— Where an executor with the approval of the court paid money belonging to infant legatees to their guardian, who was insolvent, it was held that the successor of such guardian, who was a surety on his bond, could not maintain an action against the heirs of the executor, under a provision of statute making heirs, devisees, and distributees of decedents liable to the extent of property received by them, to any creditor whose claim remains unpaid, who six months prior to final settlement was an infant. Silvers v. Canary, 114 Ind. 129, 16 N. E. 166.

Kansas.— Heirs are not liable for damages caused by use and occupation during the life of their ancestor. Hillyer v. Douglass, 56 Kan. 97, 42 Pac. 329.

Kentucky.— As heirs at common law were not bound by the contracts or frauds of their ancestors, unless they were expressly named, a parol contract is insufficient to bind them. Moore v. Fauntleroy, 3 A. K. Marsh. 360.

Nebraska.— Children inheriting from insane parents are not liable to the county for their expense in an asylum, no claim therefor having been filed in the course of administration. Richardson County v. Smith, 25 Nebr. 767, 41 N. W. 774.

Virginia.— An heir was held not liable for clerk's fees and taxes due from the ancestor. Haydon v. Goode, 4 Hen. & M. 460.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution" § 439.

90. Action for medical services rendered to decedent may be maintained against heirs of decedent to the extent of property received by them from the estate. Adams v. Hilliard, 59 Hun (N. Y.) 625, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 120 [distinguishing Wilson v. Harvey, 52 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 126].

A ratification by the administrator of a contract with decedent is binding as against the heirs, the administrator representing the deceased "more actually" than the heirs. Bullard v. Moor, 158 Mass. 418, 33 N. E. 928.

A debt by simple contract may be recovered of the heirs of the debtor where a debt by specialty can be. Robertson v. Maclin, 3 Hayw. (Tenn.) 70.

91. An indebtedness incurred by reason of an offense or quasi-offense may be transmitted to the heirs of the offender. Dirmeyer v. O'Hern, 39 La. Ann. 961, 3 So. 132; Noirette v. Digg, 9 La. 172.

country in which such estate happens to be at the time of his decease;[92] and his heirs and creditors, both foreign and domestic, must submit to the law of the place where his property was situated at the time of his decease.[93]

b. Real Property. Real estate is administered upon according to the laws of the state in which it is situated, and, if by the laws of such state, at the time of the death of the owner, it is regarded as assets, it is subject to the debts of the decedent, irrespective of the residence of his heirs or creditors;[94] but if it is not so regarded, it cannot be subjected to the debts of its deceased owner in the hands of his heirs.[95]

c. Personal Property or Distributive Shares. Personal property adheres to the person, and is to be distributed according to the laws of the country where the decedent was domiciled at the time of his death.[96] Where the laws of a decedent's domicile make his heirs and next of kin liable for his debts to the extent of the personal property received by them from his estate, such liability may be enforced, although the property of the decedent's estate was received by them in another state than that of the decedent's domicile.[97]

3. Statutory Provisions — a. Construction and Operation. The remedies given by the statute of frauds against heirs, distributees, or devisees for their ancestors' debts are in addition to the common-law remedies which are not abrogated,[98] unless the enactment provides a different remedy by which the same result may be accomplished, in which case the common law will be regarded as modified to the extent to which such remedy is given.[99] The English statutes upon this subject enacted during the colonial period were operative in America as well as in England, becoming a part of the common law, and are in force except in so far as they have been abrogated or repealed by subsequent statutes upon the same subject;[1] and therefore statutes designed to charge the estates of decedents with the payment of their debts assert a general principle of the common law, which is to be made effective by enactments providing the mode of

92. In re Miller, 3 Rawle (Pa.) 312, 24 Am. Dec. 345; Hamilton v. Dallas, 38 L. T. Rep. N. S. 215, 26 Wkly. Rep. 326.

93. Alexander v. Waller, 6 Bush (Ky.) 330, holding that a heritable bond charged upon an estate in a foreign country is payable according to the laws of such country, and refusing relief as against other property of the deceased in such country.

Rule as to interest.— Assets of decedents dying in England, and having a foreign domicile, are administered upon according to the law of the domicile; but interest will be governed by the practice in chancery. Hamilton v. Dallas, 38 L. T. Rep. N. S. 215, 26 Wkly. Rep. 326.

Foreign creditors.— In the administration of an estate in England, belonging to a decedent having a domicile in another country, foreign creditors have the same rights as English creditors. In re Klœbe, 28 Ch. D. 175, 54 L. J. Ch. 297, 52 L. T. Rep. N. S. 19, 33 Wkly. Rep. 391.

If an heir "pure and simple," or heir with benefit of inventory, or beneficiary heir, has not intermeddled with the estate of his ancestor dying in France so as to prevent his recovery as heir under the laws of that country he can recover from the ancestor's estate in this country under a contract made with the ancestor in France. De Sobry v. De Laistre, 2 Harr. & J. (Md.) 191, 3 Am. Dec. 555.

94. Where by the laws of Kentucky lands in that state were subject to the debts of the deceased owner, his heirs residing in Virginia were compelled in equity to account therefor as a trust for the payment of the decedent's debts. Dickinson v. Hoomes, 8 Gratt. (Va.) 353.

95. Where land in Ohio, which was not assets under the laws of that state, descended to an heir who was a resident of Kentucky, it was held that such heir was not liable therefor to the ancestor's creditors. Brown v. Bashford, 11 B. Mon. (Ky.) 67, 52 Am. Dec. 559. Real estate in the hands of the heir is not subject to debts due from its deceased owner to the United States, unless it has been made assets by the law of the state where situated. U. S. v. Crookshank, 1 Edw. (N. Y.) 233. Lands descending in another state are not assets in Massachusetts by which the heir of a covenantor may be there charged. Austin v. Gage, 9 Mass. 395.

96. De Sorby v. De Laistre, 2 Harr. & J. (Md.) 191, 3 Am. Dec. 555.

97. Bullard v. Perry, 66 Vt. 479, 29 Atl. 787; Hairston v. Medley, 1 Gratt. (Va.) 96; De Ende v. Wilkinson, 2 Patt. & H. (Va.) 663.

98. Crocker v. Smith, 10 Ill. App. 376.

99. Rex v. Creel, 22 W. Va. 373.

1. Ticknor v. Harris, 14 N. H. 272, 40 Am. Dec. 186; Suckley v. Rotchford, 12 Gratt. (Va.) 60, 65 Am. Dec. 240.

enforcing the remedy.[2] Such statutes do not operate retrospectively,[3] unless they affect the remedy only.[4] The statutes will be read and construed together as forming one body of laws.[5] With respect to the class of persons designated by a statute giving remedies in favor of creditors the statute will be strictly followed so far as actions against heirs on the contracts of their ancestors are concerned.[6]

b. Repeal. Where a statute or constitutional provision gives in place of existing remedies a clear and distinct remedy against heirs, legatees, or distributees, for the recovery of debts due from the estates of their ancestors, all such existing remedies for the same purpose will be held to be repealed by implication, by virtue of such statute,[7] or constitutional provision.[8]

4. Liabilities on Receipt of Personal Property or Distributive Shares — a. In General. After a final decree of distribution the property no longer belongs to the estate of the deceased, but is the property of the distributees therein named, and a creditor of the estate cannot thereafter make any claim against the fund as an estate.[9] It has been held in some cases that heirs are not liable for the debts of their ancestors on account of personal property received by them from their ancestors' estates, regular administration having been had and closed,[10] even in case of mistake of fact on the part of the administrator;[11] but in most states a creditor of the estate may pursue the fund in the hands of the heirs or distributees, and subject it to the payment of such claims as he can show to be justly and equitably due him therefrom.[12] Where the statutes authorize joint actions against

2. Ticknor v. Harris, 14 N. H. 272, 40 Am. Dec. 186.

3. A statute providing that judgments and decrees against personal representatives of decedents should be prima facie evidence against heirs or devisees of such decedents was held to apply only to judgments and decrees rendered after its passage. Staples v. Staples, 85 Va. 76, 7 S. E. 199.

4. Read v. Patterson, 134 N. Y. 128, 31 N. E. 445.

5. Forbes v. Harrington, 171 Mass. 386, 50 N. E. 641; Bryant v. Livermore, 20 Minn. 313; Reed v. Lozier, 48 Hun (N. Y.) 50; Anderson v. Clark, 2 Swan (Tenn.) 156.

Statutes in pari materia.—Where a statute made lands of decedents in the hands of their heirs or devisees liable for the decedent's debts, where the personalty was insufficient, and a subsequent provision subjected lands acquired by non-residents, by descent or devise, to the same liability, without any provision as to deficiency of the personalty, it was held that as such statutes were in pari materia the deficiency of the personal estate must be shown before the lands of non-residents acquired by descent or devise could be made liable for decedent's debts. Baltzell v. Foss, 1 Harr. & G. (Md.) 504.

6. A statute regulating proceedings against joint debtors, where all cannot be brought into court, was held not to apply in proceedings against heirs, where a part only were under arrest, in an action on a contract of their ancestor. Whitaker v. Young, 2 Cow. (N. Y.) 569. See also Allen v. Stovall, (Tex. Civ. App. 1901) 63 S. W. 863 [reversing (Civ. App. 1901) 62 S. W. 87].

7. A statute making real estate assets for payment of decedents' debts, in the order in which personal estate was applied for the same purpose, was held to repeal the common law making heirs liable in suits for breach of covenant of warranty by their ancestors expressly binding the heirs. Rex v. Creel, 22 W. Va. 373.

8. A constitutional provision vesting in probate courts exclusive jurisdiction of matters of administration of the estates of deceased persons was held to repeal by implication a statute limiting the time within which creditors of decedents, failing to prove their claims before commissioners appointed by the courts, might proceed directly against heirs, legatees, and distributees. Harris v. Watson, 56 Ark. 574, 20 S. W. 529.

9. In re Dall, Myr. Prob. (Cal.) 159.

10. People v. Brooks, 123 Ill. 246, 14 N. E. 39.

11. Where an administrator by mistake failed to credit an indorsement on a note due from a debtor to the estate of the intestate, and the mistake was not discovered until after the estate had been closed, it was held that the debtor had no cause of action against the heirs or distributees of such estate. Dickey v. Tyney, 85 Ind. 100.

12. Georgia.— In equity a creditor may follow the assets of his debtor into the hands of a distributee. Caldwell v. Montgomery, 8 Ga. 106. Where the administratrix is the sole distributee and heir of the intestate, her dismissal as such administratrix is no bar to maintaining an action against her by a creditor to reach and apply the estate in her hands. Crockett v. Mitchell, 88 Ga. 166, 14 S. E. 118.

Kentucky.— Heirs take property of an ancestor subject to its liability for omitted taxes, the collection of which is not barred by the statute of limitation. Com. v. Sweigart, 73 S. W. 758, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 2147.

Louisiana.— The remedy of a creditor is against the heir, where such heir has been put in possession of the estate, whether the executor has been discharged or not, the heir the personal representatives and heirs of deceased persons, the assets in the hands of the representative will first be applied to the payment of the judgment recovered, although the personal estate is not sufficient for that purpose;[13] unless the statute authorizing the action limits the recovery to real estate descended to the heirs, in which case personal estate in their hands may be reached by a bill in equity.[14]

b. Distribution Without Administration. It is very generally held, as we have seen, that the heirs of an estate, when they are of full age, may distribute it among themselves as they may choose if there are no creditors;[15] but as against creditors who are not parties to such distribution they cannot depart from the due course of administration, whether at the time of distributing they know of the existence of creditors or not.[16] The remedy of a creditor of the estate for a debt due him is in an action against the personal representative of the decedent, and in some cases it has been held that such an action is the creditor's only remedy, and that he cannot sue the heirs directly where there has been no administration.[17] In some states, however, the contrary has been held in cases where the property of the decedent was in the possession of the heirs, either through voluntary distribution on their part,[18] or through voluntary conveyances made to them by the decedent before his death.[19] The creditor must show that there has been no administration, and that none can be had,[20] and then he may follow the property in equity, in the hands of the heirs or distributees, and obtain satisfaction of his claim.[21] But if he permits the heir to take unconditional control of the estate without causing administration to be taken out he loses the right to pursue the property as an estate as distinguished from the property of the heir.[22]

c. Persons Liable — (i) In General. Next of kin, within the meaning of the statutes allowing actions by creditors against those receiving assets of an estate from the personal representative, includes the widow of the decedent, and and not the executor being liable in such a case. Sevier v. Sargent, 25 La. Ann. 220.

Mississippi.— Personal estate of a deceased debtor in the hands of distributees is liable to satisfy a judgment rendered against the administrator. Brooks v. Lewis, 1 How. 207.

New Hampshire.— Where by statute personalty descends as realty, the heir is liable on the contracts of the ancestor which could not have been proved while the estate was in the course of administration, to the extent of the personalty as well as of the realty descended. Hall v. Martin, 46 N. H. 337.

South Carolina.— Where the personal representative proves insolvent, creditors may follow the estate into the hands of legatees and distributees or those claiming under them, although the representative at the time of distribution retained sufficient for payment of the debts. Fripp v. Talbird, 1 Hill Eq. 142.

Texas.— In the suit against the heirs of a deceased person to recover a debt due to his estate, to establish their liability, it is necessary to show that they received the estate subsequent to the creation of the debt which they seek to recover. Gresham v. Steel, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 555.

Virginia.—A decree against distributees of a non-resident intestate will not be reversed, on the ground that no account in the administration in the state of the residence of such intestate had been taken, where the administrator answered that he had no assets in his hands and knew of none that might come to his hands. Hairston v. Medley, 1 Gratt. 96. Where the property is insufficient to pay the debts of the ancestor, the heirs take only in subordination to the rights of creditors. Martin v. Columbian Paper Co., (1903) 44 S. E. 918.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 445.

13. Hoffman v. Wilding, 85 Ill. 453.

14. Peterson v. Poignard, 6 B. Mon. (Ky.) 570; Hefferman v. Forward, 6 B. Mon. (Ky.) 567.

15. Division of estate without administration see supra, IV, A, 4, b, (IV); IV, A, 4, c, (II); IV, A, 4, d, (I).

16. Amis v. Cameron, 55 Ga. 449.

17. King v. Snedeker, 137 Ind. 503, 37 N. E. 396; Leonard v. Blair, 59 Ind. 510; Wilson v. Davis, 37 Ind. 141; Roe v. Swezey, 10 Barb. (N. Y.) 247.

18. Wyatt v. McLane, 37 Tex. 311; Byrd v. Ellis, (Tex. Civ. App. 1896) 35 S. W. 1070; Buchanan v. Thompson, 4 Tex. Civ. App. 236, 23 S. W. 328; Peters v. Hood, 2 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 376; Bullard v. Perry, 66 Vt. 479, 29 Atl. 787; Adams v. Holcombe, 1 Harp. Eq. (S. C.) 202, 14 Am. Dec. 719.

19. Adams v. Holcombe, 1 Harp. Eq. (S. C.) 202, 14 Am. Dec. 719.

20. Turman v. Robertson, 3 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 215.

21. Bullard v. Perry, 66 Vt. 479, 29 Atl. 787; Carey v. Roosevelt, 91 Fed. 567.

22. Labitut v. Prewett, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 7,962, 1 Woods 144.

all others who are entitled to share in the estate under the statute of distributions, but not a subsequent husband of such widow.[23]

(II) Liability of Pretermitted Heir. Pretermitted heirs are liable for the debts of their ancestors to the extent of their distributive shares of the estate to the exclusion of legatees or devisees.[24]

(III) Charges Against Widow's Share.[25] The widow takes dower in the personal estate of the husband, subject to all liens existing thereon at her husband's death, and she has no right to call on the administrator to redeem it.[26] If she has entered into an antenuptial contract with the husband for a child's portion of his personal property in lieu of her dower she will acquire after the husband's death the rights of a distributee only, and can take no part of such property until the husband's debts are paid.[27] Statutes enlarging the widow's dower in personalty have been construed to mean subject to payment of the husband's debts.[28]

(IV) Liability of Husband of Heir.[29] A husband is liable to creditors of an estate for his wife's distributive share thereof received from the personal representative, unless he can show that he has not applied the property to his own use, the presumption being that he has so applied it.[30]

(V) Payment of Share to Husband of Heir.[31] Where the personal representative of the estate pays to the husband of an heir without her knowledge or consent her distributive share or a portion thereof and such payment cannot be traced to her she cannot be held liable to creditors of the estate by reason of such payment.[32]

d. Property Subject to Debts. Any property belonging to the estate of a decedent and subject to his debts at the time of his death may be reached by creditors in satisfaction of such debts, either in the hands of his personal representatives or his heirs or distributees;[33] but an action to reach and apply such property must be against those in whose hands the law makes it assets for payment of the decedent's debts.[34]

e. Debts Enforceable — (I) In General. Under statutes making heirs and distributees liable for the debts of their ancestors, to the extent of property received by them from their ancestors' estates, such actions may be maintained against the heirs or distributees that might have been brought against the personal representatives of the ancestor.[35] The personal estate of the ancestor is 23. Merchants' Ins. Co. v. Hinman, 34 Barb. (N. Y.) 410, 13 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 110, 4 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 312, 15 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 182.

Charges against widow's share see infra, IV, C, 4, c, (III).

Liability of husband of heir see infra, IV, C, 4, c, (IV), (V).

24. State v. Pohl, 30 Mo. App. 321, holding an heir not mentioned in the will of the testator liable for debt on testator's bond, to the exclusion of devisees.

25. Liability of widow and of her subsequent husband see supra, IV, C, 4, c, (I).

26. Hewitt v. Cox, 55 Ark. 225, 15 S. W. 1026, 17 S. W. 873; McDearman v. Martin, 38 Ark. 261; Chinn v. Stout, 10 Mo. 709.

27. McDearman v. Martin, 38 Ark. 261.

28. A statute giving the widow "the whole of the personal estate" means the residue of the personal estate after the payment of all debts. Sutherland v. Harrison, 86 Ill. 363.

29. Liability of second husband of widow see supra, IV, C, 4, c, (I).

30. Rubel v. Bushnell, 91 Ky. 251, 15 S. W. 520, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 816.

31. Liability of second husband of widow see supra, IV, C, 4, c, (I).

32. Jones v. Commercial Bank, 78 Ky. 413.

33. A claim allowed by the government in favor of a decedent and paid to his heirs instead of his administrators is subject to payment of his debts. Austin v. Tompkins, 3 Sandf. (N. Y.) 22. Money received by heirs in compromise of a suit brought by them to recover land of their father is liable to claims of creditors of the father. Cosby v. Wickliffe, 12 B. Mon. (Ky.) 202.

Advancements do not belong to the estate at the death of the decedent and are not subject to payment of his debts. Grandchamps v. Delpeuch, 7 Rob. (La.) 429.

34. Where a statute provided that slaves should descend to heirs, but made them assets in the hands of personal representatives, in whose hands only they could be reached by creditors, it was held that an estate in remainder in slaves could not be reached by creditors in a suit against the heirs. Wells v. Bowling, 2 Dana (Ky.) 41.

35. Shiel v. Muir, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 272.

liable for an unpaid balance due on the purchase-price of real estate, although such debt is secured by mortgage on the real estate purchased.[36] The taking of possession of the estate of the ancestor by the heirs under orders of the court after partial administration is an assumption of the liabilities of the estate not presented to the personal representative.[37]

(II) Claims Proved, Discovered, or Accrued After Distribution or Settlement. An heir is liable on the contracts or liabilities of his ancestor to the extent of both the real and personal estate received from the ancestor; and where the claims have not accrued until after the administration of the estate is closed a recovery may be had against the heir to the extent of the assets received by him from the estate of the ancestor.[38]

(III) Debts Contracted by Administrator. Where the statutes provide for charging the estates of deceased persons with their debts after distribution to the heirs, such estates cannot be charged with debts contracted by the personal representatives of the decedent, and resort must be had to equity in order to obtain relief where such debts have been contracted.[39] Agreements entered into by heirs for the charging of their shares with debts contracted by the personal representative, in conducting the business of the estate, do not bind them personally for such debts, or estop them from disputing the account; and even a judgment decreeing liability as against their shares for the debts so contracted does not conclude their right to dispute it or prevent them from showing that the liability has been extinguished.[40] Minor heirs cannot be charged jointly with the personal representative for debts accruing after the death of the ancestor.[41]

f. Extent of Liability. The heirs are liable for the debts of the ancestor only to the amount of the assets which they have received,[42] without reference to the value of the estate that may have vested in them,[43] and their liability is exclusive

36. A statute providing that mortgages shall be a charge upon land in the hands of heirs or devisees does not affect the rule that unpaid balances on contracts to buy real estate are a charge upon personalty. Lamport v. Beeman, 34 Barb. (N. Y.) 239.

37. Montgomery v. Jones, 18 Tex. 751; Montgomery v. Culton, 18 Tex. 736.

38. Arkansas.—Williams v. Ewing, 31 Ark. 229.

Georgia.— Long v. Mitchell, 63 Ga. 769.

Louisiana.— Where debts are discovered after final settlement of the succession, the creditors have recourse against the heirs, but cannot have such against the succession, which no longer exists. Thibodeaux's Succession, 38 La. Ann. 716.

Texas.— The administrator should retain in his hands sufficient to pay the claims against the estate presented to him, but when the heir takes all of the estate he assumes all of its debts, including those already allowed and proved as well as all others. Montgomery v. Jones, 18 Tex. 751; Montgomery v. Culton, 18 Tex. 736.

United States.— Davis v. Van Sands, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,655, 45 Conn. 600; Payson v. Hadduck, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 10,862, 8 Biss. 293.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 454.

39. Hayward v. McDonald, 7 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 100, 1 How. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 229.

40. Sparrow's Succession, 40 La. Ann. 484, 4 So. 513.

41. Rogers v. Heath, 48 Mich. 583, 12 N. W. 862.

Expenses of administration.— The personal representative is entitled to allowance for the expenses in administration, and may retain money of the estate to that amount. Gillies v. Smither, 2 Stark. 528, 3 E. C. L. 517.

42. Alabama.— Anderson v. Thomas, 54 Ala. 104.

Arkansas.— Purcelly v. Carter, 45 Ark. 299; Williams v. Ewing, 31 Ark. 229.

Illinois.— Vanmeter v. Love, 33 Ill. 260.

Indiana.— Leonard v. Blair, 59 Ind. 510; Bryan v. Blythe, 4 Blackf. 249.

Kansas.— Hamblin v. Rohrbaugh, 3 Kan. App. 131, 42 Pac. 834.

Kentucky.—Anderson v. Bellis, 2 Duv. 388; Davis v. Bentley, 2 Dana 247; Ellis v. Gosney, 7 J. J. Marsh. 109; Barnetts v. Hayden, 5 J. J. Marsh. 108; Humble v. Hinkson, 3 A. K. Marsh. 468, 13 Am. Dec. 195; Points v. Frank, 64 S. W. 637, 23 Ky. L. Rep. 975.

Massachusetts.— Bullard v. Moor, 158 Mass. 418, 33 N. E. 928.

Missouri.— Sauer v. Griffin, 67 Mo. 654.

New York.— Wood v. Wood, 26 Barb. 356.

Texas.— Yancy v. Batte, 48 Tex. 46; Green v. Rugely, 23 Tex. 539.

United States.— Goshorn v. Alexander, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,630, 2 Bond 158.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 456.

43. The liability of an heir upon the contract or covenant of his ancestor is measured by the amount of the ancestor's estate which of interest on the value of the estate which they have received,[44] and also of such exemptions as may be allowed by the law in favor of heirs.[45]

5. Liabilities on Descent of Real Property — a. In General. Under the statutes of descent and distribution real estate of deceased persons is liable as a secondary fund, to the payment of their debts, and may be subjected to the payment of such debts in the hands of heirs or devisees;[46] but this liability is wholly dependent upon the statutory provisions in relation thereto,[47] since at common law lands were not liable for the debts of the decedent in the hands of devisees,[48] or of heirs in the case of simple contract debts.[49] In order to establish such liability in actions against heirs or devisees the mode of procedure pointed out by the statutes must be strictly pursued,[50] or resort to equity must be had.[51]

b. Fraudulent or Ineffectual Conveyance. Under such statutes all lands of decedents fraudulently[52] or ineffectually conveyed by them during their lifetime, he has received, and not by the amount which has vested in him. Yancy v. Batte, 48 Tex. 46.

44. The liability of heirs is limited to the value of the estate descended to them, exclusive of interest thereon. Ellis v. Gosney, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 109.

45. Where the estate of a decedent was sold without any reservation of the exemptions in favor of heirs allowed by law, it was held that the equities of minor heirs in the fund received from the sale were equal to those of creditors, and that equity would not allow the rights of such heirs to be disturbed except as to the surplus remaining after deducting the amount allowed in lieu of exemptions. Anderson v. Thomas, 54 Ala. 104.

46. Alabama.— Nelson v. Murfee, 69 Ala. 598; Turner v. Kelly, 67 Ala. 173; Tyson v. Brown, 64 Ala. 244; Cockrell v. Coleman, 55 Ala. 583.

Colorado.— Lathrop v. Pollard, 6 Colo. 424.

Georgia.— Johnson v. Johnson, 80 Ga. 260, 5 S. E. 629.

Illinois.— Branger v. Lucy, 82 Ill. 91; Walbridge v. Day, 31 Ill. 379, 83 Am. Dec. 227.

Iowa.— Laverty v. Woodward, 16 Iowa 1.

Kansas.— Cooper v. Ives, 62 Kan. 395, 63 Pac. 434; Fletcher v. Wormington, 24 Kan. 259.

Louisiana.— Ware v. Jones, 19 La. Ann. 428.

Minnesota.— Lake Phalen Land, etc., Co. v. Lindeke, 66 Minn. 209, 68 N. W. 974.

Mississippi.— Westbrook v. Munger, 64 Miss. 575, 1 So. 750.

Missouri.— Jackson v. Bowles, 67 Mo. 609.

New Hampshire.— Lucy v. Lucy, 55 N. H. 9.

New York.— Traud v. Magnes, 49 N. Y. Super. Ct. 309; Covell v. Weston, 20 Johns. 414.

North Carolina.— Baker v. Webb, 2 N. C. 43.

Ohio.— Keever v. Hunter, 62 Ohio St. 616, 57 N. E. 454; Overturf v. Dugan, 29 Ohio St. 230; Piatt v. St. Clair, Wright 261.

Pennsylvania.— Smith v. Seaton, 117 Pa. St. 382, 11 Atl. 661, 2 Am. St. Rep. 668; Leiper v. Irvine, 26 Pa. St. 54.

Virginia.— Martin v. Columbian Paper Co., 101 Va. 699, 44 S. E. 918; Menefee v. Marge, (1888) 4 S. E. 726; Trent v. Trent, Gilm. 174, 9 Am. Dec. 594. See also Harvey v. Steptoe, 17 Gratt. 289.

United States.—Watkins v. Holman, 16 Pet. 25, 10 L. ed. 873; Chewett v. Moran, 17 Fed. 820.

England.— Farquharson v. Floyer, 3 Ch. D. 109, 45 L. J. Ch. 750, 35 L. T. Rep. N. S. 355; Tomkins v. Colthurst, 1 Ch. D. 626, 33 L. T. Rep. N. S. 591, 24 Wkly. Rep. 267; Fleming v. Buchanan, 3 De G. M. & G. 976, 22 L. J. Ch. 886, 52 Eng. Ch. 758; Paterson v. Scott, 1 De G. M. & G. 531, 16 Jur. 898, 21 L. J. Ch. 346, 50 Eng. Ch. 408.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 457.

47. Springfield v. Hurt, 15 Fed. 307.

48. Illinois.— People v. Brooks, 123 Ill. 246, 14 N. E. 39.

Kentucky.— Rogers v. Farrar, 6 T. B. Mon. 421.

Massachusetts.— Hays v. Jackson, 6 Mass. 149.

Missouri.— State v. Pohl, 30 Mo. App. 321; State v. Miller, 18 Mo. App. 41.

New York.— Colson v. Brainard, 1 Redf. Surr. 324.

England.— Plunket v. Penson, 2 Atk. 290, 26 Eng. Reprint 577; Wilson v. Knubley, 7 East 128, 3 Smith K. B. 128; Plasket v. Beeby, 4 East 485, 1 Smith K. B. 264.

49. Williams v. Ewing, 31 Ark. 229; Mackin v. Haven, 187 Ill. 480, 491, 58 N. E. 448 (where the court said: "While this was so, yet, at common law, 'the ancestor might, by a specialty, bind the heir to the payment of the debt by expressly so declaring in the deed, and the heir was then bound to the extent of assets descended,— that is, to the extent of the value of the real estate coming from the ancestor to the heir by inheritance, for the word 'assets,' in this connection always meant real estate'"); People v. Brooks, 123 Ill. 246, 14 N. E. 39; Ryan v. Jones, 15 Ill. 1; Hall v. Martin, 46 N. H. 337; Ticknor v. Harris, 14 N. H. 272, 40 Am. Dec. 186.

50. Partee v. Kortrecht, 54 Miss. 66; Hargrove v. Baskin, 50 Miss. 194. See also Cooper v. Ives, 62 Kan. 395, 63 Pac. 434.

51. Partee v. Kortrecht, 54 Miss. 66; Chewett v. Moran, 17 Fed. 820; Springfield v. Hurt, 15 Fed. 307.

52. Scott v. Purcell, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 66, 39 Am. Dec. 453, where land descending from as well as such lands the title to which they hold of record at the time of their death, descend to their heirs, and may be subjected to the claims of the creditors of such decedents in the hands of the heirs.[53] And where the heirs take possession, without administration, of their ancestor's estate, whether real or personal, they will hold it as trustees for the benefit of the ancestor's creditors, except as to such portions thereof as by statute may be exempted in favor of the heirs.[54] However such heirs are entitled to have a trust, consisting of either real or personal estate descended from the ancestor, set aside on the payment of the ancestor's debts and expenses of administration, if any;[55] although part payment of such debts by them will not release the ancestor's property from the lien of the debt.[56]

c. Waste of Personal Estate. The general rule is that where there has been full administration and no fraud, subsequent waste of the personal estate in the hands of the personal representative or his insolvency, together with that of his sureties, will not subject the real estate descended to the heirs to liability for the decedent's debts.[57]

d. Necessity For Exhausting Personal Estate. Since the personal estate of the decedent, under the statutes of distribution, is made the primary fund for the payment of his debts, where there are assets in the hands of the personal representative of the decedent, a creditor of the estate must exhaust his remedy against such representative before proceeding to subject real estate in the hands of the heirs or devisees in satisfaction of his debt;[58] and where the statute directs the a fraudulent grantee to his heirs was subjected in their hands to the claim of a creditor of the fraudulent grantor.

53. Flanders v. Davis, 19 N. H. 139; Menefee v. Marge, (Va. 1888) 4 S. E. 726.

54. Cameron v. Cameron, 82 Ala. 392, 3 So. 148.

Homestead exemption.— Under the Missouri statute (Wag. St. p. 698, § 5), land acquired by descent by an adult heir does not vest in him as a homestead, but is subject to the claims of the ancestor's creditors, which are not extinguished by the heir's assumption of the debts. Jackson v. Bowles, 67 Mo. 609. See also HOMESTEADS.

Express trust.— Where land was sold under a decree in favor of the estate of a decedent, his heirs buying the same and retaining the purchase-money, which was credited on the decree, on the condition that the amount should be accounted for by them on final settlement of the estate, it was held that the transaction created an express, direct, technical, and continuing trust, which could be enforced by creditors of the decedent against the land in the hands of his heirs. Westbrook v. Munger, 62 Miss. 316.

55. James v. Withers, 114 N. C. 474, 19 S. E. 367, where, on reconveyance of realty and personalty by the grantees of the decedent to the heirs and next of kin of the latter, on surrender of the bond to secure payment, the court directed that the order for sale of such property at the request of the public administrator be set aside on payment by the heirs of decedent's debts with expenses of administration.

56. Westbrook v. Munger, 64 Miss. 575, 1 So. 750.

Part payment by one heir.— Part payment, however, by one of the heirs will constitute him a purchaser in respect to so much of the ancestor's lands descended to him as will equal the payment made. Lynch v. Sanders, 9 Dana (Ky.) 59; Haines v. Haines, (N. J. Sup. 1903) 54 Atl. 401; Gibson v. Williams, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,403, Brunn. Col. Cas. 19, 2 Hayw. (N. C.) 281.

57. Buford v. McKee, 3 B. Mon. (Ky.) 224; Peck v. Wheaton, Mart. & Y. (Tenn.) 353 (where the plea of "fully administered" was found against an executor, and it was held that the lands in the hands of the heirs were not liable for the decedent's debts, even though there was subsequent waste of personalty in the executor's hands, and he and his sureties became insolvent); Boring v. Jobe, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1899) 53 S. W. 763 (where it was held that the personal estate of the decedent is first liable for the payment of debts and must be exhausted, and if there has been a waste and devastavit the remedy of the creditor is against the administrator and his bondsmen, and if he fails to avail himself of this remedy he cannot resort to the property belonging to the heirs). See, however, Smith v. Seaton, 117 Pa. St. 382, 11 Atl. 661, 2 Am. St. Rep. 668, holding that waste of personal property in the hands of a personal representative, where the original amount was sufficient to pay decedent's debts, will not operate as a discharge of decedent's real estate from liability for his debts.

Real estate enhanced by improvements.— It was held in Van Bibber v. Julian, 81 Mo. 618, that equity will not permit the heirs to hold possession of real estate, together with its enhanced value caused by improvements and expenditures made thereon in good faith by the administrators, and at the same time resist the application of creditors to subject such property to the payment of their debts on the technical ground that the improvements and expenditures constitute waste.

58. Alabama.— Darrington v. Borland, 3 Port. 9.

manner of descent and distribution of property, the courts have no power to change the mode prescribed, even though injustice may be done in individual cases.[59]

e. Insufficiency of Personal Estate. Where the personal estate of the decedent has been exhausted or is not sufficient for the payment of his debts the creditor of such decedent may subject his realty in the hands of the heir or devisee to the payment of his debts.[60]

f. Equitable Interests. Under the statutes of descent and distribution any interest of the ancestor in lands owned by him at the time of his decease may be reached in the hands of the heir, where the personalty is insufficient, by either legal or equitable process, according to the circumstances, and applied to the pay-

Illinois.— Sutherland v. Harrison, 86 Ill. 363; Hoffman v. Wilding, 85 Ill. 453; Guy v. Gericks, 85 Ill. 428; McLean v. McBean, 74 Ill. 134; Bishop v. O'Connor, 69 Ill. 431.

Kentucky.— McDowell v. Lawless, 6 T. B. Mon. 139.

Maryland.— Ellicott v. Welsh, 2 Bland 242.

Missouri.— Pearce v. Calhoun, 59 Mo. 271.

New York.— Selover v. Coe, 63 N. Y. 438; Mersereau v. Ryerss, 3 N. Y. 261; Armstrong v. Wing, 10 Hun 520; Stuart v. Kissam, 11 Barb. 271; Schermerhorn v. Barhydt, 9 Paige 28.

North Carolina.— Hinton v. Whitehurst, 68 N. C. 316; Robards v. Wortham, 17 N. C. 173, 22 Am. Dec. 738.

Tennessee.— Nix v. French, 10 Heisk. 377; Green v. Shaver, 3 Humphr. 139; Elliot v. Patton, 4 Yerg. 10; Woodfin v. Anderson, 2 Tenn. Ch. 331.

Virginia.— McLoud v. Roberts, 4 Hen. & M. 443.

United States.— Garnett v. Macon, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,245, 2 Brock. 185, 6 Call (Va.) 308.

England.— Ancaster v. Mayer, 1 Bro. Ch. 454, 1 White & T. Lead. Cas. Pt. II, 723, 28 Eng. Reprint 237; Farquharson v. Floyer, 3 Ch. D. 109, 45 L. J. Ch. 750, 35 L. T. Rep. N. S. 355; Tomkins v. Colthurst, 1 Ch. D. 626, 33 L. T. Rep. N. S. 591, 24 Wkly. Rep. 267; Paterson v. Scott, 1 De G. M. & G. 531, 16 Jur. 898, 21 L. J. Ch. 346, 50 Eng. Ch. 408.

See, however, Mobley v. Cureton, 6 S. C. 49, Vernon v. Erich, 2 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 257, holding that lands in the hands of the heir or devisee are liable for the debts of the deceased, whether the executor has assets or not, but that the heir or devisee has an equity against the executor to be reimbursed out of the personal assets.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 460.

Inventory as evidence of value.— Under a statute providing that the decedent's real estate could not be taken for his debts unless the personalty was insufficient at the time of granting letters testamentary, it was held that the value of the personalty at the time of granting such letters could not be shown by the price for which it was sold by the executor years afterward. Read v. Patterson, 55 Hun (N. Y.) 680, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 826.

Mortgage.— It has been held in Illinois that if a debt is secured by mortgage on real estate, the heirs or devisees may compel its payment from the personal estate, in order to relieve the real estate of the lien. Sutherland v. Harrison, 86 Ill. 363.

Bequests.— However real estate descended is liable for the debts of the ancestor in exoneration of personal property specifically bequeathed by him. Alexander v. Worthington, 5 Md. 471; Chase v. Lockerman, 11 Gill & J. (Md.) 185, 35 Am. Dec. 277; Warley v. Warley, Bailey Eq. (S. C.) 397; Tipping v. Tipping, 1 P. Wms. 729, 24 Eng. Reprint 589. See also Chitton v. Burt, Prec. Ch. 540, 24 Eng. Reprint 242, 1 P. Wms. 678, 24 Eng. Reprint 566.

59. Thompson v. Tappen, 5 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 518, where intestate died without issue, leaving real and personal estate, and, his only heirs being aliens, could share only in the distribution of the personal estate, which would be largely consumed in paying encumbrances on the real estate, leaving practically nothing to the heirs, and it was held that equity could not interfere with the law of descent, so as to charge the payment of debts on the real estate, to relieve such heirs.

60. Colorado.— Lathrop v. Pollard, 6 Colo. 424.

District of Columbia.— Wallach v. Van Riswick, 3 MacArthur 168.

Illinois.— Ryan v. Jones, 15 Ill. 1.

Maryland.— Gaither v. Welch, 3 Gill & J. 259; Tyson v. Hollingsworth, 1 Harr. & J. 469.

Mississippi.—Evans v. Fisher, 40 Miss. 643.

New Hampshire.—Lucy v. Lucy, 55 N. H. 9.

New York.— Blossom v. Hatfield, 24 Hun 275.

North Carolina.— Hinton v. Whitehurst, 71 N. C. 66.

South Carolina.— Gregory v. Forrester, 1 McCord Eq. 318.

Tennessee.— Robertson v. Maclin, 3 Hayw. 70.

United States.— Corbett v. Johnson, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,218, 1 Brock. 77, holding that where the personal funds of decedent's estate have passed into hands other than those of his legal personal representative, the bond creditor may proceed to subject the realty in the hands of the heir to payment, without pursuing the personal funds further.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 459.

ment of the ancestor's debts.[61] Where, however, the heir acquires the legal title to such land by purchase prior or subsequent to the ancestor's death, he will hold it released from the lien of the ancestor's creditors.[62]

g. Rents and Profits. According to the better doctrine, where an heir or devisee receives real estate from an ancestor, the rents and profits derived from such real estate, while in his possession, cannot be subjected to the payment of his ancestor's debts.[63] In some jurisdictions, however, by express statutory provision,[64] or by judicial construction of the statutes, such rents and profits may be subjected to the payment of the ancestor's debts to the extent that they are actually received by the heirs or devisees.[65]

h. Contracts. In the absence of personal estate, or where such estate is insufficient for the payment of the ancestor's debts, the heir or devisee is liable to the extent of the real estate received by him for debts incurred and contracts made by the ancestor for the benefit of the estate, either real or personal, such as taxes[66] and insurance.[67] He is likewise liable for the debts incurred by his ancestor as a stock-holder in a corporation,[68] and for obligations incurred by the ancestor by indorsement of commercial paper.[69] However an heir is not liable on contracts of the ancestor entered into with third persons for the benefit of the latter, by which the heir is not expressly bound,[70] or on contracts of the ancestor through whom he inherits,[71] or for expenditures of the personalty for the benefit of the realty,[72] or for debts incurred by the personal representative in the course of administration, as for money received by the administrator not belonging to the decedent, etc., since there is no privity between such representative and the heir.[73]

61. Maryland.—Newton v. Griffith, 1 Harr. & G. 111 (where an estate tail, converted into a fee simple by statute, was held to be subject to the payment of the debts of the tenant in tail on his death in the same manner as estates in fee); Robertson v. Parks, 3 Md. Ch. 65.

Massachusetts.— Whitney v. Whitney, 14 Mass. 88, where a reversion was held to be chargeable for the debts of the ancestor in the hands of the heir.

New York.— Wilber v. Collier, 3 Barb. Ch. 427.

Ohio.— Hawkins v. Hubburd, 10 Ohio 178.

Texas.— Peevy v. Hurt, 32 Tex. 146 (where a land patent issued to heirs under a certificate held by the ancestor was held to constitute a trust in the heirs for the benefit of the ancestor's creditors); Soye v. McCallister, 18 Tex. 80, 67 Am. Dec. 689.

See, however, Combs v. Young, 4 Yerg. (Tenn.) 218, 26 Am. Dec. 225.

62. Goodwin v. Nelin, 2 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 258, 4 Transcr. App. (N. Y.) 369, 35 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 402; Thompson v. Gotham, 9 Ohio 170.

63. Chambers v. Davis, 17 B. Mon. (Ky.) 526; Smith v. Thomas, 14 Lea (Tenn.) 342; Boyd v. Martin, 9 Heisk. (Tenn.) 382; Combs v. Young, 4 Yerg. (Tenn.) 218, 26 Am. Dec. 225; Blow v. Maynard, 2 Leigh (Va.) 29.

64. Tennant v. Neal, 20 Ill. App. 571.

65. Hinton v. Whitehurst, 71 N. C. 66; Moore v. Shields, 68 N. C. 327; Washington v. Sasser, 41 N. C. 336, holding that creditors whose debts remain unsatisfied have a right in equity to have satisfaction decreed out of the rents and profits derived from the land by the heirs, or at least of so much as remain in their hands unexpended. See also Noble v. Douglas, 56 Kan. 92, 42 Pac. 328, holding that heirs are not personally liable for rents received by their ancestor, in the absence of proof that such rents have come into their possession.

66. Henderson v. Whitinger, 56 Ind. 131 (holding that taxes accrued upon land during the lifetime of the owner should be paid by the administrator of the estate, and those subsequently accrued devolve upon the heirs); Com. v. Sweigart, 73 S. W. 758, 24 Ky. L. Rep. 2147; Piatt v. St. Clair, 6 Ohio 227, Wright (Ohio) 261; Nowler v. Coit, 1 Ohio 519, 13 Am. Dec. 640.

67. Columbia Ins. Co. v. Mullin, 4 Leg. Op. (Pa.) 572.

68. Cooper v. Ives, 62 Kan. 395, 63 Pac. 434; Lake Phalen Land, etc., Co. v. Lindeke, 66 Minn. 209, 68 N. W. 974; Payson v. Hadduck, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,826, 8 Biss. 293.

69. Dodson v. Taylor, 53 N. J. L. 200, 21 Atl. 293.

70. Moore v. Fauntleroy, 3 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 360, where it was held that the remedy should be sought against the personal representative of the ancestor and not against the heir.

71. Barnum v. Barnum, 119 Mo. 63, 24 S. W. 780, where heirs inherited interest in lands of their uncle that their deceased father would have inherited had he been living at the death of the uncle, and it was held that they were not liable for a claim of the uncle's estate against the estate of their father, since the father's estate had no interest in the uncle's lands.

72. Adams v. Smith, 20 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 60.

73. Clayton v. Boyce, 62 Miss. 390; Allen v. Poole, 54 Miss. 323; Porterfield v. Taliaferro, 9 Lea (Tenn.) 242.

And where land descends to an heir from his father, he is under no liability for the debts of his mother.[74]

i. Advances by Personal Representative. Where the personal representative pays debts of the decedent to an amount exceeding the personal assets in hand, he may subject the real estate in the hands of the heir or devisee to reimburse himself.[75] However debts incurred by the personal representative in the course of administration cannot be charged upon the lands descended in the hands of heirs or devisees, unless by express statutory provision.[76]

j. Specialties and Debts of Record. Both at common law[77] and under the statutes heirs are liable on specialties or sealed obligations of their ancestors, by which the heirs are expressly bound, to the extent of the real estate of the ancestor descending to them;[78] some of the courts holding that it is not necessary to show a deficiency in the personal estate of the decedent in order to enforce such a liability against the real estate in the hands of the heir or devisee,[79] while in other jurisdictions the rule is that personal estate must first be exhausted before recourse is had to the real estate, even upon a specialty.[80]

k. Encumbrances Upon Property — (i) IN GENERAL. The title of an heir to real estate by descent, or of a devisee to an estate under an unconditional devise, immediately vests, upon the death of the ancestor or devisor, leaving the title encumbered with all the liens created by such ancestor or devisor in his lifetime or by law at the time of his decease.[81]

Counsel fees.— Where the wife engaged an attorney to resist contest of her husband's will, it was held in an action by such attorney against the heirs to recover his fees therefor that the wife and not the heirs was liable. Gilroy v. Richards, 26 Tex. Civ. App. 355, 63 S. W. 664.

74. Breckinridge v. Floyd, 7 Dana (Ky.) 456.

75. Taylor v. Taylor, 47 Ky. 419, 48 Am. Dec. 400; Johnson v. Corbett, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 265; Pea v. Waggoner, 5 Hayw. (Tenn.) 1, 242.

Payment by surety.— Where a surety pays a debt and wrongfully takes possession of the principal debtor's land, he cannot require, as a condition precedent to yielding possession to the heir of such debtor, that the heir should reimburse him. Mavity v. Stover, (Nebr. 1903) 94 N. W. 834.

76. Allen v. Poole, 54 Miss. 323; Porterfield v. Taliaferro, 9 Lea (Tenn.) 242. See also Clayton v. Boyce, 62 Miss. 390 (holding that land descended to an heir is not chargeable with money received by the administrator and not belonging to the decedent, there being no privity between the heir and the administrator, the only liability being upon the latter as an individual); Nowler v. Coit, 1 Ohio 519, 13 Am. Dec. 640 (holding that purchase-money paid to an administrator upon a sale of intestate's land cannot be recovered of the heirs where the sale is inoperative and the heirs recover the land).

77. Mackin v. Haven, 187 Ill. 480, 58 N. E. 448 [affirming 88 Ill. App. 434]; Hall v. Martin, 46 N. H. 337; Colson v. Brainard, 1 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 324.

78. Delaware.— Garden v. Derrickson, 2 Del. Ch. 386, 95 Am. Dec. 286.

Illinois.— Mackin v. Haven, 187 Ill. 480, 58 N. E. 448 [affirming 88 Ill. App. 434].

New Hampshire.— Ticknor v. Harris, 14 N. H. 272, 40 Am. Dec. 186.

North Carolina.— Robards v. Wortham, 17 N. C. 173, 22 Am. Dec. 738. See Taylor v. Grace, 6 N. C. 66, holding that an action of debt will not lie against heirs upon a bond of the ancestor in which they are not expressly bound.

Virginia.— Alexander v. Byrd, 85 Va. 690, 8 S. E. 577; Harvey v. Steptoe, 17 Gratt. 289; Waller v. Ellis, 2 Munf. 88.

England.— In re Illidge, 24 Ch. D. 654, 27 Ch. D. 478, 53 L. J. Ch. 991, 51 L. T. Rep. N. S. 523, 33 Wkly. Rep. 18; Loomes v. Stotherd, 1 L. J. Ch. O. S. 220, 1 Sim. & St. 458, 1 Eng. Ch. 458; Hopton v. Dryden, Prec. Ch. 179, 24 Eng. Reprint 87; Solley v. Gower, 2 Vern. Ch. 61, 23 Eng. Reprint 649.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 470.

If the decedent was a surety, a complainant should first be required to exhaust his remedy against the principal, and where he was a principal recourse should first be had to the lands in the hands of his heirs. Thomas v. Adams, 30 Ill. 37.

79. Mackin v. Haven, 187 Ill. 480, 58 N. E. 448 [affirming 88 Ill. App. 434]; Long v. Baker, 3 N. C. 128.

80. Garden v. Derrickson, 2 Del. Ch. 386, 95 Am. Dec. 286.

81. Illinois.— Willis v. Watson, 5 Ill. 64.

New Jersey.— Mount v. Van Ness, 33 N. J. Eq. 262.

New York.— Hauselt v. Patterson, 124 N. Y. 349, 26 N. E. 937; Wright v. Holbrook, 32 N. Y. 587 [affirming 2 Rob. 516, 18 Abb. Pr. 202]; Brown v. Harris, 25 Barb. 134; Adams v. Smith, 20 Abb. N. Cas. 60; House v. House, 10 Paige 158.

Pennsylvania.—Walker v. Alexander, 9 Pa. Dist. 375, 24 Pa. Co. Ct. 345.

South Carolina.— See Singleton v. Singleton, 60 S. C. 216, 38 S. E. 462.

Texas.— Ker v. Paschal, 1 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 692.

(II) MORTGAGES— (A) In General. By the common law, and in the absence of express statutory provision upon the subject, a devisee or heir at law of a mortgagor may call upon the executor or administrator to discharge the mortgage upon the real out of the personal estate, on the ground that the personal estate had the benefit of the money for the security of which the mortgage was given.[82] This rule of the common law, however, was never extended to the mortgagee or alienee of the heir or devisee, such equity being recognized in favor of the heir or devisee alone and not in favor of his alienee.[83] Where land descends or is devised subject to a mortgage debt not created by the decedent, a different rule applies, and the heir or devisee takes the property cum onere, and is not entitled to have the debt paid out of the personal estate, and only the balance of the debt of each mortgagee which cannot be collected by foreclosure and sale of the mortgaged premises is entitled to be allowed as a claim to be paid pro rata out of the proceeds of the ancestor's or testator's personal estate;[84] although even this rule must be qualified to the extent that, where the decedent has expressly assumed the debt, intending to make it a charge on his personal estate, or has directly expressed by will that it shall be such a charge, the real estate is not liable till the personal estate is exhausted.[85] Now, by express statutory provision in England[86] and in some of the United States, heirs or devisees who take mortgaged estates by descent or devise, whether the original debt was that of the decedent or another, cannot call on the personal estate or other real estate to satisfy the mortgage debt, and each part of the land charged by mortgage bears its due proportion of the charge, unless the will by which the devisee takes directs otherwise.[87]

Virginia.— Max Meadows Land, etc., Co. v. McGavock, 96 Va. 131, 30 S. E. 460.

United States.— Wilkinson v. Leland, 2 Pet. 627, 7 L. ed. 542.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 471.

Resulting trust.— Where an agent purchases land with the money of his principal, taking title in his own name, such land on the agent's death descends to his heirs encumbered with a resulting trust. Williams v. Van Tuyl, 2 Ohio St. 336.

82. Illinois.— Sutherland v. Harrison, 86 Ill. 363.

Maryland.— Goodburn v. Stevens, 1 Md. Ch. 420.

Massachusetts.— Haven v. Foster, 9 Pick. 112, 19 Am. Dec. 353.

New Jersey.— Krueger v. Ferry, 41 N. J. Eq. 432, 5 Atl. 452; Keen v. Munn, 16 N. J. Eq. 398.

New York.— Cumberland v. Codrington, 3 Johns. Ch. 229, 8 Am. Dec. 492.

Texas.— Minter v. Burnett, 90 Tex. 245, 38 S. W. 350.

England.— Lancy v. Athol, 2 Atk. 444, 26 Eng. Reprint 668; Ancaster v. Mayer, 1 Bro. Ch. 454, 1 White & T. Lead. Cas. Pt. II, 723, 28 Eng. Reprint 1237; King v. King, Mosely 192, 3 P. Wms. 358, 24 Eng. Reprint 358; Cope v. Cope, 2 Salk. 449.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 471.

83. Haven v. Foster, 9 Pick. (Mass.) 112, 19 Am. Dec. 353; Keen v. Munn, 16 N. J. Eq. 398; Cumberland v. Codrington, 3 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 229, 8 Am. Dec. 492; Scott v. Beecher, 5 Madd. 96; Hamilton v. Worley, 2 Ves. Jr. 62, 30 Eng. Reprint 523.

84. Campbell v. Campbell, 30 N. J. Eq. 415; Crowell v. St. Barnabas' Hospital, 27 N. J. Eq. 650; McLenahan v. McLenahan, 18 N. J. Eq. 101; Cumberland v. Codrington, 3 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 229, 8 Am. Dec. 492. See also Reinig v. Hecht, 58 Wis. 212, 16 N. W. 548; Tweddell v. Tweddell, 2 Bro. Ch. 101, 29 Eng. Reprint 58; Ancaster v. Mayer, 1 Bro. Ch. 454, 1 White & T. Lead. Cas. Pt. II, 723, 28 Eng. Reprint 1237; Tankerville v. Fawcet, 1 Cox Ch. 237, 29 Eng. Reprint 1145, 2 Bro. Ch. 57, 29 Eng. Reprint 31.

85. Plimpton v. Fuller, 11 Allen (Mass.) 139; Hewes v. Dehon, 3 Gray (Mass.) 205; McLenahan v. McLenahan, 18 N. J. Eq. 101; Cumberland v. Codrington, 3 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 229, 8 Am. Dec. 492.

Realty and personalty covered by mortgage.— It was held in McLearn v. Wallace, 10 Pet. (U. S.) 625, 9 L. ed. 558, that, where both the real and personal estate have been charged with a mortgage debt, both funds must be applied to its extinguishment in proportion to their respective amounts.

86. Harding v. Harding, L. R. 13 Eq. 493, 41 L. J. Ch. 523, 26 L. T. Rep. N. S. 656 (holding, however, that a lien for unpaid purchase-money is not a charge by way of mortgage under 30 & 31 Vict. c. 69, where the purchaser dies intestate); Hood v. Hood, 3 Jur. N. S. 684, 26 L. J. Ch. 616, 5 Wkly. Rep. 747; 17 & 18 Vict. c. 118 (known as Locke King's Act), amended by 30 & 31 Vict. c. 69. See also note to Ancaster v. Mayer, 1 Bro. Ch. 454, 1 White & T. Lead. Cas. Pt. II, 723, 28 Eng. Reprint 1237.

87. Rapalye v. Rapalye, 27 Barb. (N. Y.) 610; Adams v. Smith, 20 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 60 (holding, however, that a misapplication

(B) Mortgage For Purchase-Money. The rule is well settled that the unpaid purchase-money for real estate is primarily chargeable upon the personal estate of the decedent and is to be paid by his personal representative for the benefit of his heirs or devisees.[88]

1. Extent of Liability. The whole of the real estate of decedents, to the extent to which their personal estate is insufficient, is liable for their debts, and the heirs and devisees are liable for the debts of their ancestor or testator to the extent to which they have received real estate from such ancestor or testator.[89] There is no personal liability upon the heir or devisee for any aliquot or other proportion of the ancestor's debts, but he is liable only by reason of assets received, and the value of the assets must be the measure of his liability.[90]

6. Covenants Relating to Land[91] — a. Covenants of Warranty — (I) In General. Heirs are bound by covenants of warranty of the ancestor only where they claim title by descent, and not by purchase, and an heir is never bound by a warranty of his ancestor unless the ancestor was also bound by it.[92] In case of a breach of a covenant of warranty by which the heirs are bound, they are liable to the extent of the property coming into their hands from their ancestor's estate.[93] In of funds of the personal estate by the payment of the mortgage, if done in good faith, inures to the benefit of the heirs); Johnson v. Corbett, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 265; Taylor v. Wendel, 4 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 324; Waldron v. Waldron, 4 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 114. See also Wright v. Holbrook, 32 N. Y. 587 [affirming 2 Rob. 516, 18 Abb. Pr. 202].

88. Wright v. Holbrook, 32 N. Y. 587 [affirming 2 Rob. 516, 18 Abb. Pr. 202]; Johnson v. Corbett, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 265; O'Conner v. O'Conner, 88 Tenn. 76, 12 S. W. 447, 7 L. R. A. 33 (where it was held that the personal estate of the intestate is primarily liable for the discharge of encumbrances upon his lands for the purchase-money thereof, where such encumbrance was created by the intestate himself or by his grantor, when, in the latter case, he assumed its discharge as a part of the consideration of the grant to him); Minter v. Burnett, 90 Tex. 245, 38 S. W. 350; Ancaster v. Mayer, 1 Bro. Ch. 454, 1 White & T. Lead. Cas. Pt. II, 723, 28 Eng. Reprint 1237; Broome v. Monck, 10 Ves. Jr. 597, 8 Rev. Rep. 48, 32 Eng. Reprint 976 (holding that an estate contracted for after a general devise will pass by a republication and must be paid for out of the personal estate); Hood v. Hood, 3 Jur. (N. S.) 684, 26 L. J. Ch. 616, 5 Wkly. Rep. 747 (construing 17 & 18 Vict. c. 113).

89. Illinois.— Mackin v. Haven, 187 Ill. 480, 58 N. E. 448 [affirming 88 Ill. App. 434]; Tennant v. Neal, 20 Ill. App. 571.

Indiana.— Windell v. Trotter, 127 Ind. 332, 26 N. E. 823; Rinard v. West, 48 Ind. 159.

Kentucky.— Buford v. Pawling, 5 Dana 283; Roman v. Caldwell, 2 Dana 20.

New York.— Traud v. Magnes, 49 N. Y. Super. Ct. 309.

North Carolina.—Hinton v. Whitehurst, 71 N. C. 66, 73 N. C. 157, 75 N. C. 178.

United States.— Prime v. McRea, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,423, 1 Cranch C. C. 294, holding that by the laws of Virginia in 1801 a court of equity could decree a sale of one moiety of the fee simple of the debtor's land in the hands of the heir at law.

England.— Dyke v. Sweeting, Willes 585.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 461.

On scire facias against heirs to enforce a judgment recovered against the administrator, the amount of the judgment may be shown to be less than that recovered, and payment of the lesser sum releases the real estate in the hands of such heirs. Walthaur v. Gossar, 32 Pa. St. 259.

Partition of lands among the heirs of decedent does not affect the rights of creditors of deceased and they may satisfy their claims out of such lands as well after partition as before. Speer v. Speer, 14 N. J. Eq. 240; Hinton v. Whitehurst, 75 N. C. 178.

Insolvency of heir.— Where the land of a deceased debtor was divided among his heirs, some of whom disposed of their portions and became insolvent, it was held that the others were liable for the ancestor's debts to the extent of the real assets received by them. Ryan v. McLeod, 32 Gratt. (Va.) 367.

90. Branger v. Lucy, 82 Ill. 91; Hinton v. Whitehurst, 71 N. C. 66; Coulter v. Selby, 39 Pa. St. 358; Yancy v. Batte, 48 Tex. 46.

91. See, generally, Covenants, 11 Cyc. 1035.

92. Kentucky.—Rhodes v. Rhodes, 38 S. W. 706, 18 Ky. L. Rep. 916.

Louisiana.— Armorer v. Case, 9 La. Ann. 242; Blanchard v. Allain, 5 La. Ann. 367, 52 Am. Dec. 594.

Maryland.— Crisfield v. Storr, 36 Md. 129, 11 Am. Rep. 480.

Missouri.— Metcalf v. Larned, 40 Mo. 572.

North Carolina.—Carter v. Long, 114 N. C. 187, 19 S. E. 632.

Virginia.— Auld v. Alexander, 6 Rand. 98.

United States.— Oliver v. Piatt, 3 How. 333, 11 L. ed. 622 [affirming 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,116, 3 McLean 27].

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution." § 474.

93. Arkansas.— Jones v. Franklin, 30 Ark. 631; Higgins v. Johnson, 14 Ark. 309, 60 Am. Dec. 544.

Indiana.— Blair v. Allen, 55 Ind. 409.

the absence of statutory provision heirs are not bound by covenants of the ancestor unless such ancestor expressly stipulated that they should be bound.[94] However, by statutory provision in most jurisdictions, heirs or their assigns are made jointly liable, on such covenants of the ancestor as run with the land which descends to them, for breaches of covenant of the ancestor occurring after his death;[95] but they are not liable for breaches occurring during his lifetime.[96]

(II) COLLATERAL WARRANTIES. At common law a conveyance of land with covenant of warranty bound the grantor and his heirs to warrant the title to the lands granted, and either upon voucher or upon judgment upon a writ of warrantia chartæ, in case of eviction of the grantee, to yield him other lands of equal value.[97] Such warranty was lineal when the title asserted by the heir was derived, or might by possibility have been derived, from the warranting ancestor; and collateral when it neither was nor could have been derived from him; and in both cases the heir was bound to yield other lands in case of eviction only if and so far as he had other lands by descent from the warrantor.[98] However, in England, by statute,[99] all warranties by a tenant for life were declared to be void as against those in remainder or reversion, and all collateral warranties of an ancestor who had no estate of inheritance in possession were declared to be void as against the heir.[1] This statute has been expressly enacted or received as part Iowa.— McClure v. Dee, 115 Iowa 546, 88 N. W. 1093, 91 Am. St. Rep. 181.

Kansas.— Rohrbaugh v. Hamblin, 57 Kan. 393, 46 Pac. 705, 57 Am. St. Rep. 334 [modifying 3 Kan. App. 131, 42 Pac. 834].

Kentucky.— Logan v. Moore, 1 Dana 57; Ellis v. Gosney, 7 J. J. Marsh. 109.

Louisiana.— Stokes v. Shackleford, 12 La. 170; Walker v. Fort, 3 La. 535.

Missouri.— Walker v. Deaver, 79 Mo. 664; Miller v. Early, 64 Mo. 478; Miller v. McCune, 61 Mo. 248; Miller v. Bledsoe, 61 Mo. 96. See also Barlow v. Delaney, 86 Mo. 583.

New Hampshire.— Hall v. Martin, 46 N. H. 337.

New York.— Carpenter v. Schermerhorn, 2 Barb. Ch. 514.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 474.

A court of equity will subject to the payment of a claim for breach by resident heirs of their ancestor's covenant of warranty — by which they are bound — lands descending to them from their ancestor in another state, under whose laws lands descended are subject to the payment of the ancestor's debts. Dickinson v. Hoomes, 8 Gratt. (Va.) 353.

But at law land in another state cannot be treated as assets in the state of residence of the heir, and he will not be held liable on the covenants of a non-resident ancestor as to lands without the state. Austin v. Gage, 9 Mass. 395.

94. California.— Maynard v. Polhemus, 74 Cal. 141, 15 Pac. 451; McDonald v. McElroy, 60 Cal. 484.

Illinois.— Baker v. Hunt, 40 Ill. 264, 89 Am. Dec. 346; Ruffner v. McConnel, 14 Ill. 168.

Kansas.— Rohrbaugh v. Hamblin, 57 Kan. 393, 46 Pac. 705, 57 Am. St. Rep. 334.

Kentucky.— Lawrence v. Hayden, 4 Bibb 229.

New Hampshire.— Fowler v. Kent, 71 N. H. 388, 52 Atl. 554.

England.— Plasket v. Beeby, 4 East 485, 1 Smith K. B. 264. See also Plunket v. Penson, 2 Atk. 290, 26 Eng. Reprint 577.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 473.

Covenants made by an executor do not bind devisees. Cicalla v. Miller, 105 Tenn. 255, 58 S. W. 210.

95. Holder v. Mount, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 187; Morse v. Aldrich, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 544; Hill v. Ressegieu, 17 Barb. (N. Y.) 162 (holding, however, that the heir will not be compelled to enter into personal covenant in pursuance of agreement made by the ancestor); Roosevelt v. Fulton, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 71; Fields v. Squires, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,776, Deady 366.

96. Sawyer v. Jefts, 70 N. H. 393, 47 Atl. 416; Oliver v. Piatt, 3 How. (U. S.) 333, 11 L. ed. 622 [affirming 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,116]. See also Woods v. Ely, 7 S. D. 471, 64 N. W. 531.

97. Jones v. Franklin, 30 Ark. 631; Russ v. Alpaugh, 118 Mass. 369, 19 Am. Rep. 464; 4 Coke Litt. 365*a*.

98. Jones v. Franklin, 30 Ark. 631; Russ v. Alpaugh, 118 Mass. 369, 19 Am. Rep. 464; 2 Blackstone Comm. 301, 302.

99. St. 4 & 5 Ann, c. 16, § 21.

1. See Jones v. Franklin, 30 Ark. 631; Russ v. Alpaugh, 118 Mass. 369, 19 Am. Rep. 464; Flynn v. Williams, 23 N. C. 509, holding that while, by the statute above referred to, all collateral warranties made by tenants for life and persons not having an estate of inheritance in possession are void against the heir, yet if A be tenant in tail in possession, remainder to B, his next brother, and A makes a feoffment or levies a fine with warranty from him and his heirs, and dies without issue, this is a collateral war-of the common law of many of the United States.[2] However, in at least one jurisdiction, this statute was not formally enacted and has been held never to have been incorporated into its jurisprudence;[3] and in several jurisdictions by express statutory enactment collateral warranties of the ancestor will bind the heir to the extent of assets descending to him from such ancestor.[4]

b. Covenants of Seizin. The liability of heirs on covenants of seizin of the ancestor depends upon statute, and is generally made contingent upon the inability of the covenantee to obtain satisfaction from the personal representative.[5]

7. Liens For Debts as Against Heirs and Devisees — a. In General. Under some of the statutes of descent and distribution the estate of an ancestor or testator, both real and personal, descends to his heirs or devisees subject to the payment of the ancestor's or testator's debts existing at the time of his death;[6] but neither the debts of the ancestor or testator, nor advances made for the benefit of the estate, are regarded as a charge upon the land, and the heir or devisee takes an absolute title, subject to be defeated or to be charged with the debts of decedent by such legal proceedings as the statute directs.[7] The statutes must be strictly followed in order to enforce payment of the debts of the decedent as against his real estate in the hands of heirs or devisees.[8]

b. Judgment Lien — (i) In General. A judgment obtained during the lifetime of the ancestor or testator is a lien upon his lands in the hands of his heirs for the payment thereof, and is entitled to priority of payment out of the pro-ranty which shall bar B, notwithstanding the statute, although no assets descend.

2. Russ v. Alpaugh, 118 Mass. 369, 19 Am. Rep. 464; Goodwin v. Kumm, 43 Minn. 403, 45 N. W. 853 (holding that the doctrine of rebuttal by collateral warranty is not a part of the common law of Minnesota); Sisson v. Seabury, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 12,913, 1 Sumn. 235.

The warranty deed of an heir apparent, by which he seeks to convey an estate in expectation, may under some circumstances operate by way of estoppel against him, but it cannot operate to the prejudice of those who upon his death prior to that of the ancestor through him become heirs of the latter in his stead. Jerauld v. Dodge, 127 Ind. 600, 25 N. E. 186; Habig v. Dodge, 127 Ind. 31, 25 N. E. 182.

3. Carson v. New Bellevue Cemetery Co., 104 Pa. St. 575; Jourdan v. Jourdan, 9 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 268, 11 Am. Dec. 724; Eshelman v. Hoke, 2 Yeates (Pa.) 509; Kesselman v. Old, 4 Dall. (Pa.) 168, 1 L. ed. 786.

4. Logan v. Moore, 1 Dana (Ky.) 57; Foote v. Clark, 102 Mo. 394, 14 S. W. 981, 11 L. R. A. 861; Barlow v. Delaney, 86 Mo. 583. See also Hart v. Thompson, 3 B. Mon. (Ky.) 482.

5. McDonald v. McElroy, 60 Cal. 484; Webber v. Webber, 6 Me. 127, holding that it is not necessary in order to bind the heir that he be named in the deed of conveyance.

Covenant against encumbrances. In New Jersey an action of covenant will by force of statute lie against heirs and devisees for the breach of a covenant against encumbrances contained in a conveyance of the ancestor. New Jersey Ins. Co. v. Meeker, 37 N. J. L. 282.

6. California. Brenham v. Story, 39 Cal. 179.

Kentucky. Slaughter v. Slaughter, 8 B. Mon. 482.

New York. Jewett v. Keenholts, 16 Barb. 193.

Ohio. Ramsdall v. Craighill, 9 Ohio 197.

Pennsylvania. Blank's Appeal, 3 Grant 192; Pepper's Estate, 1 Phila. 562, holding that heirs take real estate by descent cum onere and cannot claim to hold the property discharged from liens for ground-rent.

Virginia. See Sayres v. Wall, 26 Gratt. 354, 21 Am. Rep. 303.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 478.

Enforcement against minor heirs. A creditor's lien upon the lands of a deceased debtor may be enforced against minor heirs. Piatt v. St. Clair, 6 Ohio 227, Wright 261.

7. Harrison Nat. Bank v. Culbertson, 147 Ind. 611, 45 N. E. 657, 47 N. E. 13; Wilson v. Wilson, 13 Barb. (N. Y.) 252; Covell v. Weston, 20 Johns. (N. Y.) 414 (holding that a creditor of the ancestor, by bringing action against the heirs, does not acquire a lien on the land descended to them, and that his lien is merely on the heirs, in respect to the land, so that they cannot alienate it after action is brought, and defeat his claim); Black v. Scott, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 1,464, 2 Brock. 325.

Advances to pay debts. No lien is created upon lands of an intestate in the hands of his heirs by an advancement of money to his administrator to pay the debts of the intestate. Lieby v. Ludlow, 4 Ohio 469.

8. Ross v. Julian, 70 Mo. 209, holding that where the purchase-price of decedent's land remains unpaid, the vendor can enforce his claim against it only as prescribed by statute, and that the courts have no power to declare such a debt a lien and to order it to be paid first out of the land when sold.

ceeds of the sale thereof over a simple contract creditor who acquired no lien for his debt upon the realty during the life of the debtor.[9]

(II) JUDGMENT AGAINST PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE. There is no privity between the personal representative and the heir or devisee, and a judgment obtained by a creditor against the personal representative on a debt due from the ancestor or testator does not create a lien on the real estate of such ancestor or testator in the hands of heirs or devisees.[10] Upon the question as to whether the real estate of the ancestor descended to heirs or passed to devisees can be subjected to a judgment against the personal representative where satisfaction cannot be obtained from the personal estate there is considerable conflict of authority. In some jurisdictions the rule is laid down that an execution issued on a judgment against the personal representative for a debt of the ancestor or testator remaining unsatisfied after final distribution of the estate may be levied on the land of such ancestor or testator in the hands of heirs or devisees;[11] but the better rule seems to be that the only remedy in such case is against the personal representative and his sureties.[12]

c. Duration of Lien. Debts of the decedent not secured by matter of record during his lifetime, such as mortgages or judgments, constitute a lien on his real estate in the hands of his heirs or devisees only for such period of time as may be fixed by the statute creating the lien;[13] and no admissions of the heirs, devisees, or personal representative will serve to prolong the term of such lien.[14]

See also Indiana Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Chamberlain, 8 Blackf. (Ind.) 150.

9. Murchison v. Williams, 71 N. C. 135 (holding, however, that the lien of the judgment is subject to the right of the heir to have the debt paid by the personal property of the decedent if there is enough for that purpose); Laidley v. Kline, 8 W. Va. 218; Burton v. Smith, 13 Pet. (U. S.) 464, 10 L. ed. 248 (holding that in Virginia a judgment is a lien on a reversion after a life-estate in land which has descended to the heirs of the judgment debtor, and that equity will decree a sale of the reversionary estate to satisfy such judgment).

Where a widow, under the statute, takes her husband's whole estate of less than five hundred dollars, consisting in part of lands, she takes them free from the lien of judgments rendered against them. Quackenbush v. Taylor, 86 Ind. 270.

Attachment lien.— Where lands are attached and the debtor dies before judgment, such lands descend to his heirs subject to the attachment lien, but can only be subjected by first exhausting the personal assets and bringing the heirs before the court, both of which may be done by scire facias, first against the personal representative and then against the heirs. Perkins v. Norvell, 6 Humphr. (Tenn.) 151.

Loss of lien.— Where the lien of a debt of the decedent is lost before the adjudication of the executor's accounts, subsequent adjudication does not charge the decedent's land with such debt. In re Kurtz, 16 Lanc. L. Rev. 205.

10. Georgia.— Jones v. Parker, 55 Ga. 11.
Maryland.— Post v. Mackall, 3 Bland 486.
Mississippi.— McCoy v. Nichols, 4 How. 31.
North Carolina.— Williams v. Askew, 6 N. C. 28.
South Carolina.— Vernon v. Chrich, 2 Hill Eq. 257. Contra, De Urphey v. Nelson, 1 Brev. 289.
Tennessee.— Peck v. Wheaton, 8 Mart. & Y. 353.
Virginia.— Brewis v. Lawson, 76 Va. 36; Robertson v. Wright, 17 Gratt. 534; Shields v. Anderson, 3 Leigh 729; Chamberlayne v. Temple, 2 Rand. 384, 14 Am. Dec. 786; Foster v. Crenshaw, 3 Munf. 514; Mason v. Peters, 1 Munf. 437.
West Virginia.— Anderson v. Piercy, 20 W. Va. 282; Laidley v. Kline, 8 W. Va. 218.
See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 480.

11. Vanhouten v. Reily, 6 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 440 (where the administrators made a distribution of the estate without paying the judgment recovered against them for a debt of the decedent, and it was held that the judgment creditor might levy his execution on any of the property of decedent so distributed); Rogers v. Huggins, 6 S. C. 356; De Urphey v. Nelson, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 289; Blinn v. McDonald, (Tex. Civ. App. 1896) 38 S. W. 384. See also Jones v. Parker, 55 Ga. 11.

12. Park v. White, 4 Dana (Ky.) 552; Hare v. Bryant, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 375; Bedell v. Keethley, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 598; Glenn v. Maguire, 3 Tenn. Ch. 695; McClaskey v. Barr, 79 Fed. 408.

13. Piatt v. St. Clair, 6 Ohio 227, Wright (Ohio) 261; Chapman's Appeal, 122 Pa. St. 331, 15 Atl. 460; Oliver's Appeal, 101 Pa. St. 299; Hope v. Marshall, 96 Pa. St. 395; Schwartz's Estate, 14 Pa. St. 42; Maus v. Hummell, 11 Pa. St. 228; Bailey v. Bowman, 6 Watts & S. (Pa.) 118; Quigley v. Beatty, 4 Watts (Pa.) 13.

14. Oliver's Appeal, 101 Pa. St. 299. See Shoop's Estate, 1 Leg. Gaz. (Pa.) 71, holding that an agreement made by all the heirs of the decedent that the lien of a debt due

d. Priorities. The debts of the decedent due at the time of his death are an equitable lien upon his estate in the hands of his heirs and devisees, and prior in time to judgments recovered against such heirs or devisees for their individual debts, and creditors of the estate of the same class who by diligence first reduce their claims to judgment are entitled to priority in payment out of the estate of the decedent.[15]

8. Conveyances and Encumbrances by Heirs and Devisees — a. Liability of Heirs and Devisees — (I) Rule at Common Law. By the common law, where the ancestor bound himself and his heirs in an obligation under seal and the heir aliened the assets before action was brought or the ancestor devised the land, the creditor was without remedy against the heir or devisee.[16]

(II) By Statute. To rectify the evils arising from this state of the law, the statute of 3 & 4 Wm. & Mary, c. 14, was enacted, giving a remedy to creditors by bond and specialty in an action of debt against the heir or devisees who had aliened real estate of the ancestor or devisor;[17] which remedy was extended to the colonies by the act of 5 Geo. II, § 3, and may be considered a part of our common law.[18] This statute, however, did not change the common-law rule in regard to simple contract creditors, and under it they did not have recourse to the decedent's real estate in the hands of heirs or devisees for the satisfaction of their claims. Now, however, by statutory enactment in practically every jurisdiction, the heirs or devisees who alien real estate of the ancestor or devisor before the bringing of suit against them by creditors of the estate, or within a prescribed time from the granting of administration or letters testamentary, are personally liable to such creditors for the value of the property so aliened, no distinction being made under these statutes between simple contract and specialty creditors.[19] The effect of these statutes is to make the heir or devisee personally liable to creditors of the decedent to the value of all lands of such decedent by decedent should continue without suit or judgment beyond the five years fixed by law would be binding on their land so long as it remained in their hands unsold, while it is discharged in the hands of an alienee, even with notice of the agreement.

15. Green v. Allen, 45 Ga. 205; Dupree v. Adkin, 43 Ga. 475; Mead v. McFadden, 68 Ind. 340; Lemmon v. Lincoln, 68 Mo. App. 76 (holding that an allowance by the probate court against an estate is entitled to priority over a deed of trust executed by an heir); Morris v. Mowatt, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 586, 22 Am. Dec. 661. See also Mapes v. Coffin, 5 Paige (N. Y.) 296.

In England, by statute 32 & 33 Vict. c. 46, the distinction between "specialty" and "simple contract" debts in the administration of assets of the decedent is abolished; but a creditor who first takes legal proceedings against the personal representative and obtains judgment is entitled to be paid his debt in full in priority over all other creditors. In re Williams, L. R. 15 Eq. 270 [following Jennings v. Rigby, 33 Beav. 198, 33 L. J. Ch. 149, 10 L. T. Rep. N. S. 308, 12 Wkly. Rep. 32]; Ashley v. Pocock, 3 Atk. 208, 26 Eng. Reprint 921; Dollond v. Johnson, 18 Jur. 767 [following Morrice v. Bank of England, 3 Swanst. 573, 36 Eng. Reprint 980].

16. Hayes v. Jackson, 6 Mass. 149; Ticknor v. Harris, 14 N. H. 272, 40 Am. Dec. 186. Bac. Abr. tit. "Heirs," F, vol. 3, pp. 26, 27.

17. See Hayes v. Jackson, 6 Mass. 149; Ticknor v. Harris, 14 N. H. 272, 40 Am. Dec. 186; Hamilton v. Haynes, 1 N. C. 480.

18. Ticknor v. Harris, 14 N. H. 272, 40 Am. Dec. 186; Hamilton v. Haynes, 1 N. C. 480.

19. New Jersey.— Fredericks v. Isenman, 41 N. J. L. 212; New Jersey Ins. Co. v. Meeker, 37 N. J. L. 282.

New York.— Rogers v. Patterson, 79 Hun 483, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 963; Matter of Callahan, 69 Hun 161, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 378; Merchants' Ins. Co. v. Hinman, 34 Barb. 410.

North Carolina.— Hooker v. Yellowley, 128 N. C. 297, 38 S. E. 889; Camp Mfg. Co. v. Littleman, 128 N. C. 52, 38 S. E. 27; Bunn v. Todd, 115 N. C. 138, 20 S. E. 277; Miller v. Shoaf, 110 N. C. 319, 14 S. E. 800 (where some of the heirs at law had sold the lands descended to them, leaving an outstanding indebtedness against the estate of their ancestor, and it was held that payment might be enforced against any lands of the decedent remaining in the hands of the heirs); Hinton v. Whitehurst, 71 N. C. 66 73 N. C. 157; Tremble v. Jones, 7 N. C. 579; Spaight v. Wade, 6 N. C. 295.

Rhode Island.— Hopkins v. Ladd, 12 R. I. 279.

Tennessee.— Neilson v. Weber, 107 Tenn. 161, 64 S. W. 20; Maydwell v. Maydwell, 9 Heisk. 571.

Wisconsin.— Adkins v. Loucks, 107 Wis. 587, 83 N. W. 934.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 488.

aliened in violation of the statute,[20] and to entitle the creditor to have the consideration received therefor in the place of the land aliened.[21]

b. Rights and Liabilities of Alienees. In many jurisdictions, by statutory provision, creditors are given a quasi-lien on the real estate of a deceased person for the satisfaction of their debts which in the absence of sufficient personalty is superior to the rights of heirs, devisees, and their alienees, which lien may be enforced against the estate of the decedent even in the hands of a bona fide purchaser from the heirs or devisees.[22] However at the expiration of the statutory period during which the heir or devisee is prohibited from alienating real estate received from the ancestor or testator, a bona fide purchaser will take real property from such heir or devisee free from the lien of decedent's creditors.[23] In 20. Kentucky.— Parks v. Smoot, 105 Ky. 63, 48 S. W. 146, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1043; Kelley v. Culver, 75 S. W. 272, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 443.

New York.— Rogers v. Patterson, 79 Hun 483, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 963; Merchants' Ins. Co. v. Hinman, 34 Barb. 410.

North Carolina.— Hinton v. Whitehurst, 71 N. C. 66, 73 N. C. 157; Tremble v. Jones, 7 N. C. 579; Hamilton v. Haynes, 1 N. C. 480.

Rhode Island.— Hopkins v. Ladd, 12 R. I. 279.

Tennessee.— Neilson v. Weber, 107 Tenn. 161, 64 S. W. 20; Maydwell v. Maydwell, 9 Heisk. 571.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 488.

The "value" of the property aliened, as used in such statutes, is the value of the lands in the condition in which they were at the time of the descent cast. Muldoon v. Moore, 55 N. J. L. 410, 26 Atl. 892, 21 L. R. A. 89; Fredericks v. Isenman, 41 N. J. L. 212; Haines v. Haines, (N. J. Sup. 1903) 54 Atl. 401.

21. Matter of Callaghan, 69 Hun (N. Y.) 161, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 378; Bunn v. Todd, 115 N. C. 138, 20 S. E. 277; Davis v. Perry, 96 N. C. 260, 1 S. E. 610; Badger v. Daniel, 79 N. C. 372; Hinton v. Whitehurst, 71 N. C. 66; Adkins v. Loucks, 107 Wis. 587, 83 N. W. 934. See also Arrington v. Arrington, 114 N. C. 151, 19 S. E. 351.

22. Colorado.— Nichols v. Lee, 16 Colo. 147, 26 Pac. 157; Burchinell v. Butters, 7 Colo. App. 294, 43 Pac. 459.

Georgia.— Seabrook v. Brady, 47 Ga. 650.

Illinois.— Myer v. McDougal, 47 Ill. 278; McCoy v. Morrow, 18 Ill. 519, 68 Am. Dec. 578; Vansyckle v. Richardson, 13 Ill. 171. See, however, Ryan v. Jones, 15 Ill. 1.

Indiana.— Weakley v. Conradt, 56 Ind. 430; Elliot v. Moore, 5 Blackf. 270.

Mississippi.— Allen v. Poole, 54 Miss. 323, holding that real estate is liable in the hands of a purchaser for debts of the ancestor accrued at the time of his death, but not for those accrued thereafter.

North Carolina.— Camp Mfg. Co. v. Liverman, 128 N. C. 52, 38 S. E. 27; Davis v. Perry, 96 N. C. 260, 1 S. E. 610; Winfield v. Burton, 79 N. C. 388. Contra, Spaight v. Wade, 6 N. C. 295.

Ohio.— Faran v. Robinson, 17 Ohio St. 242, 93 Am. Dec. 617; Hutchinson v. Hutchinson, 15 Ohio 301 (holding, however, that in all proceedings by scire facias by a judgment creditor of the ancestor to enforce the collection of his judgment, the alienee may defend the action by showing that the judgment was dormant at the time of the purchase or that it subsequently became so); Piatt v. St. Clair, 6 Ohio 227, Wright 261 (holding, however, that where a portion only of the land descended has been sold by the heir, equity will compel a creditor to pursue his remedy, first, out of the land still in the hands of the heirs, and second, to proceed against the land alienated in the inverse order in which it was sold, beginning with the last parcel conveyed).

Pennsylvania.— Horner v. Hasbrouck, 41 Pa. St. 169; In re Manifold, 5 Watts & S. 340; Morris v. Smith, 1 Yeates 328; Graff v. Smith, 1 Dall. 481, 1 L. ed. 232.

Rhode Island.— Hopkins v. Ladd, 12 R. I. 279.

South Carolina.—Adger v. Pringle, 11 S. C. 527. See also Mason v. Winsmith, 10 S. C. 314.

Tennessee.— Camp v. Sherley, 9 Lea 255; Maydwell v. Maydwell, 9 Heisk. 571. See also Buntyn v. Holmes, 9 Lea 319. Compare, however, Neilson v. Weber, 107 Tenn. 161, 64 S. W. 20.

Texas.— Chubb v. Johnson, 11 Tex. 469.

England.— Townshend v. Windham, 2 Ves. 1, 28 Eng. Reprint 1.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 488 et seq.

Sale by order of court.— It has been held in Louisiana that a sale of property of the ancestor by heirs in possession under judgment of court does not affect mortgages given by the ancestor, although standing against individual heirs. Freret v. Freret, 31 La. Ann. 506. See also Sevier v. Gordon, 29 La. Ann. 440; Zeringue's Succession, 21 La. Ann. 715.

23. Taylor v. Jones, 97 Ky. 201, 30 S. W. 595, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 85 (holding, however, that neither the assigns nor the creditors under a deed of assignment are bona fide purchasers for value within the meaning of the Kentucky statute (St. § 2087); Anderson v. Summers, 6 Bush (Ky.) 423; Kelley v. Culver, 75 S. W. 272, 25 Ky. L. Rep. 443 (upholding the above rule where action is not instituted within six months after the estate is devised or descended, to subject the same); Zeringue's Succession, 21 La. Ann. 715; several jurisdictions, by special statutory provision, real estate bona fide aliened by heirs or devisees before action brought is not subject to sale on judgments rendered against them for the debts of the ancestor or devisor, but in such case the heirs or devisees are personally liable to the extent of the value of the lands so descended or devised.[24]

c. What Constitutes Alienation — (I) GENERAL RULE. Alienation comprises any method whereby estates are voluntarily resigned by one and accepted by another, whether that be effected by sale, gift, marriage settlement, devise, or other transmission of property by the mutual consent of the parties.[25] To constitute a valid alienation it is not necessary that the conveyance should be absolute, but where upon condition broken the mortgagee takes possession of the land under a power given in the mortgage, the mortgage thereupon operates as an alienation.[26]

(II) TRANSFER OF TITLE BY OPERATION OF LAW. To constitute a valid alienation of the real estate of the ancestor or testator by the heirs or devisees, it must be voluntary, and sale of such real estate on executions issued on judgments recovered against the heirs or devisees for their individual debts will not constitute an alienation within the meaning of the statutes.[27]

Hooker v. Yellowley, 128 N. C. 297, 39 S. E. 889 (holding, however, that real property conveyed by an heir after a lapse of two years from the death of the intestate is liable to the payment of the debts of the intestate, provided the purchaser has notice of the debts); Arrington v. Arrington, 114 N. C. 151, 19 S. E. 351; Davis v. Perry, 96 N. C. 260, 1 S. E. 610; Brandon v. Phelps, 77 N. C. 44 (holding that the time within which heirs or devisees are prohibited from alienating real estate of the decedent, within the meaning of the statutes, is reckoned from the date of the granting of the original letters of administration, and not from the date of the granting of administration de bonis non); Winfield v. Burton, 79 N. C. 388; Hopkins v. Ladd, 12 R. I. 279.

Under New York Code (Code Civ. Proc. § 2750), where decedent's personalty is insufficient to satisfy his debts and the heir or devisee aliens or mortgages his interest in the land in good faith, without notice of the debt, where an application for sale has not been made within three years after the granting of letters of administration, such alienee will take the property divested of the lien for the debt of the ancestor or testator. Fonda v. Chapman, 23 Hun 119; Salls v. Salls, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 246, 28 Abb. N. Cas. 117. See also Wambaugh v. Gates, 11 Paige 505.

24. Den v. Jaques, 10 N. J. L. 259; Ransom v. Brinkerhoff, 56 N. J. Eq. 149, 38 Atl. 919; Maxwell v. Smith, 86 Tenn. 539, 8 S. W. 340; Lewis v. Cole, 60 Tex. 341; Adkins v. Loucks, 107 Wis. 587, 83 N. W. 934, supporting the above rule where the alienee did not have actual or constructive notice of the debt.

25. Muldoon v. Moore, 55 N. J. L. 410, 26 Atl. 892, 21 L. R. A. 89 [citing with approval 2 Blackstone Comm. 287]. See also Hendrix v. Seaborn, 25 S. C. 481, 485, 60 Am. Rep. 520 [quoting Bouvier L. Dict.], where alienation is defined to be "the act by which the title to an estate is voluntarily resigned by one person and accepted by another in the forms prescribed by law." And see Boyd v. Cudderback, 31 Ill. 113, 119 (where alienation is defined to be "an act whereby one man transfers the property in possession of lands, tenements, or other things to another person"); Coughlin v. Coughlin, 26 Kan. 116, 118 (where the court gives practically the same definition); Ransom v. Brinkerhoff, 56 N. J. Eq. 149, 38 Atl. 919 (where, upon the facts stated in the opinion, it was held that the lands were not bona fide aliened by the executors and devisees of the testator, the whole arrangement being a family settlement). Compare Maydwell v. Maydwell, 9 Heisk. (Tenn.) 571.

Executory contract.— The sale of land under executory contract constitutes an alienation thereof under Ky. St. § 2087, providing that the estate alienated by an heir before suit brought to subject it to the ancestor's debts shall not be liable to the creditors in the hands of a bona fide purchaser, unless action is instituted within six months after the estate has descended. Parks v. Smoot, 105 Ky. 63, 48 S. W. 146, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1043.

26. Den v. Jaques, 10 N. J. L. 259; Fonda v. Chapman, 23 Hun (N. Y.) 119; Warren v. Raymond, 12 S. C. 9. See also Simons v. Brice, 10 S. C. 354, holding that a mortgage given by a devisee in possession is not an alienation within the meaning of the statute of 3 & 4 Wm. & Mary.

27. Scobee v. Bridges, 87 Ky. 427, 9 S. W. 299, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 390; Muldoon v. Moore, 55 N. J. L. 410, 26 Atl. 892, 21 L. R. A. 89.

Assignment for benefit of creditors by an heir has been held in Kentucky not to be an alienation of the real estate of his ancestor within the meaning of the Kentucky statute, providing that such estate, when alienated by heirs or devisees before the bringing of suit by creditors of the estate, shall not be liable to creditors in the hands of a bona fide purchaser for value, unless suit is instituted

9. Apportionment of Debts — a. Liabilities of Heirs and Devisees. The extent of the liability of the heirs at law of the decedent or devisees under a will for the debts of the ancestor or devisor in both law and equity is the full value of the property they have received either by descent or devise.[28]

b. Liability of Widow. Under statutes giving a widow an estate in fee in the real estate of her deceased husband in lieu of dower, where there is no issue, the share to which she is entitled is subject to the payment of one half of the debts of her deceased husband, and the heirs are liable for the other half in proportion to the extent of their shares;[29] unless the terms of the statute limit her liability to less than that amount, and as her liability in this respect is purely statutory, the terms of the statute must be strictly followed in order to subject her full share of the estate to such liability.[30]

10. Deductions and Set-Offs. The interest of an heir or distributee in the estate of a deceased person is his distributive share therein after deducting whatever he may owe the estate, and the general rule is that such a debt may be set off against him, and those claiming under him, in suits brought to recover such distributive share.[31]

11. Actions Against Heirs, Distributees, or Purchasers — a. Nature and Form of Remedy. At common law no action can be maintained against an heir upon a within six months. Taylor v. Jones, 97 Ky. 201, 30 S. W. 595, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 85.

28. Illinois.— Cutright v. Stanford, 81 Ill. 240 (holding likewise that a decree against the heirs should not be several but joint, requiring each to pay pro rata); Vanmeter v. Love, 33 Ill. 260; Ryan v. Jones, 15 Ill. 1.

Kentucky.— Atchison v. Atchison, 106 Ky. 190, 50 S. W. 26, 20 Ky. L. Rep. 1755; Smith v. McMillan, (1892) 20 S. W. 382; Rubell v. Bushnell, 91 Ky. 251, 15 S. W. 520, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 816; Stroud v. Barnett, 3 Dana 391; Cogwell v. Lyon, 3 J. J. Marsh. 38.

Louisiana.— State v. Second Recorder's Ct. Judge, 43 La. Ann. 1119, 10 So. 179; Dirmeyer v. O'Hern, 39 La. Ann. 961, 3 So. 132; Freret v. Freret, 31 La. Ann. 506; Francis v. Martin, 28 La. Ann. 403; Seiver v. Sargent, 25 La. Ann. 220; Dunford's Succession, 25 La. Ann. 56; Fowler v. Gordon, 24 La. Ann. 270; Lacey v. Ferguson, 1 McGloin 171.

Minnesota.— Lake Phalen Land, etc., Co. v. Lindeke, 66 Minn. 209, 68 N. W. 974.

Missouri.— Metcalf v. Smith, 40 Mo. 572.

New Jersey.— Haines v. Haines, 69 N. J. L. 39, 54 Atl. 401, holding that the liability of heirs and devisees was several and not joint, each heir or devisee being liable for what he receives from the ancestor, and not for what the other heirs or devisees receive.

New York.— Hauselt v. Patterson, 124 N. Y. 349, 26 N. E. 937 [modifying 57 Hun 562, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 105]; Kellogg v. Olmsted, 6 How. Pr. 487; Whitaker v. Young, 2 Cow. 569; Schermerhorn v. Barhydt, 9 Paige 28.

Rhode Island.— Jenks v. Steere, 23 R. I. 160, 49 Atl. 698.

Tennessee.— Maxwell v. Smith, 86 Tenn. 539, 8 S. W. 340.

Virginia.— Menefee v. Marge, (1888) 4 S. E. 726.

United States.— M'Learn v. Wallace, 10 Pet. 625, 9 L. ed. 559.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 492.

29. Dirmeyer v. O'Hern, 39 La. Ann. 961, 3 So. 132; Ealer v. Lodge, 36 La. Ann. 115; Edwards v. Ricks, 30 La. Ann. 926.

30. Matthews v. Pate, 93 Ind. 443 (where the statute provided that the widow's share should not be reduced unless it was necessary to pay the debts of her husband, and then only so far as might be required after exhausting the share descending to her husband's father, and it was held that the widow's share was not liable for taxes as against the share descending to the husband's father); Bridgeforth v. Maxwell, 42 Miss. 743 (decided under a statute providing that the widow, where there were no children, should have one half of the real estate in fee as dower, and it was held that the widow could not be required to contribute pro rata when in consequence of the insufficiency of the personalty the amount which descended to the heir at law was subjected to the payment of decedent's debts, unless the estate was insolvent).

31. Georgia.— Rawlins v. Rawlins, 75 Ga. 632, holding, however, that equity will not permit such set-off as against the wife of the heir or distributee seeking to reach and apply his interest in the estate in payment of alimony, unless the claim of the estate against the husband pleaded in set-off is an equitable claim.

Kentucky.— Kerley v. Clay, 4 Bibb 241.

Missouri.— Duffy v. Duffy, 155 Mo. 144, 55 S. W. 1002 (holding likewise that the heir's statutory exemption cannot come in ahead of the payment of the debt to the estate, nor can a judgment against such heir in favor of a general creditor be paid out of his distributive share before his debt to the estate is satisfied); Lietman v. Lietman, 149 Mo. 112, 50 S. W. 307, 73 Am. St. Rep. 374; Smith v. Isaac, 12 Mo. 106.

New Jersey.— Fredericks v. Isenman, 41 N. J. L. 212. See also Ransom v. Brinkerhoff, 56 N. J. Eq. 149, 38 Atl. 919.

contract made by his ancestor, unless it be a specialty in which the heir was expressly bound.[32] In the settlement of decedents' estates the rule is that existing claims against an estate, whether matured or not, must be exhibited within the time limited for presenting such demands or be barred; but it frequently happens that valid demands against estates come into existence by the happening of contingencies after the time limited for the exhibition of claims has expired or even after the administration is closed and the collection of these is the matter here under consideration.[33] It has been held that the proper course is to bring an action at law against the executor or administrator.[34] Where this is the rule, there being an adequate remedy at law, a suit in equity against the heirs to compel them to pay the debt cannot be maintained.[35] A court of equity has no original, inherent jurisdiction to decree a sale of lands descended; they are not assets at common law, and are liable to the payment of no other than debts due by specialty binding the heir.[36] Nor has it jurisdiction to reach lands devised, unless they were charged by the testator with the payment of debts.[37] But under modern statutes making the lands of a decedent assets for the payment of his debts, a creditor whose claim for adequate reason has not taken the due course of administration may in some jurisdictions file a bill in equity against the heirs and devisees to subject the decedent's real estate to payment of his demand.[38] Where

New York.— Smith v. Kearney, 2 Barb. Ch. 533.

South Carolina.— Bobo v. Vaiden, 20 S. C. 271; Wilson v. Kelly, 16 S. C. 216.

Texas.— Oxsheer v. Nave, 90 Tex. 568, 40 S. W. 7, 37 L. R. A. 98. See Guthrie v. Guthrie, 17 Tex. 541, holding that as a general rule an heir cannot, in a suit against him by the administrator to recover a debt due the estate, set up as a set-off the distributive share to which on final settlement he may be entitled.

England.— In re Akerman, [1891] 3 Ch. 212, 61 L. J. Ch. 34, 65 L. T. Rep. N. S. 194, 40 Wkly. Rep. 12; Courtnay v. Williams, 15 L. J. Ch. 204 [confirming 3 Hare 539, 8 Jur. 844, 13 L. J. Ch. 461, 25 Eng. Ch. 539] (holding that the executor is entitled to set off against a legacy, a debt due from the legatee to the testator, even though such debt may have been barred by the statute of limitations before the testator's death); Campbell v. Graham, 9 L. J. Ch. O. S. 234, 1 Russ. & M. 453, 5 Eng. Ch. 453; Jeffs v. Wood, 2 P. Wms. 128, 24 Eng. Reprint 668. See also Cherry v. Boultbee, 3 Jur. 1116, 9 L. J. Ch. 118, 4 Myl. & C. 442, 18 Eng. Ch. 442. See, however, Ballard v. Marsden, 14 Ch. D. 374, 49 L. J. Ch. 614, 42 L. T. Rep. N. S. 763, 28 Wkly. Rep. 914.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 494.

32. Hendricks v. Keesee, 32 Ark. 714; Estill v. Hoy, Hard. (Ky.) 88.

33. Hendricks v. Keesee, 32 Ark. 714; Bacon v. Thorp, 27 Conn. 251; Hawley v. Botsford, 27 Conn. 80.

34. Bacon v. Thorp, 27 Conn. 251; Hawley v. Botsford, 27 Conn. 80. Under a statute permitting a decedent's creditor to collect his debt from the decedent's land, the creditor should first obtain judgment against the personal representative and then obtain judgment de terris by scire facias against the heirs. Atherton v. Atherton, 2 Pa. St. 112.

35. Bacon v. Thorp, 27 Conn. 251; Hawley v. Botsford, 27 Conn. 80.

36. Scott v. Ware, 64 Ala. 174. Before a creditor can obtain the assistance of a court of equity, to subject lands descended, or lands devised, to the satisfaction of his demand, he must have established his debt by a judgment at law, and exhausted his legal remedies; and there must be averment and proof of a want of personal assets, and of the insolvency of the personal representative, and the sureties on his bond, if any he has given." Scott v. Ware, 64 Ala. 174, 181; Ledyard v. Johnston, 16 Ala. 548; Pyke v. Searcy, 4 Port. (Ala.) 52; Darrington v. Borland, 3 Port. (Ala.) 9.

37. Scott v. Ware, 64 Ala. 174.

38. Hefferman v. Forward, 6 B. Mon. (Ky.) 567; Cox v. Strode, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 273, 5 Am. Dec. 603; Lancaster v. Wolff, 62 S. W. 717, 23 Ky. L. Rep. 233. A suit may be maintained in equity against an heir to whom assets have descended or who has received a distributive share of the estate upon a cause of action which has arisen upon his ancestor's contract after the administration has been closed. Hendricks v. Keesee, 32 Ark. 714; Williams v. Ewing, 31 Ark. 229; Bennett v. Dawson, 15 Ark. 412, 18 Ark. 334; Walker v. Byers, 14 Ark. 246. Equity has jurisdiction to require the executors of the estate of a deceased guardian to account for funds of the ward fraudulently appropriated by the deceased, and to decree a sale of lands in the possession of his heirs and devisees to satisfy the amount found due, although the period within which the probate court might act in relation to the claim has expired. Allen v. Conklin, 112 Mich. 74, 70 N. W. 339. Where the statutes of a state permit a creditor to follow the lands of a decedent in the hands of his heirs or when conveyed to others than bona fide purchasers for value and it is shown that there are no debts of the estate other than the one sued on and that it has no

there has been no administration or an administrator has died and no administrator de bonis non has been appointed a bill in equity is an appropriate remedy to recover from the heirs to whom the estate has descended a debt due from the decedent.[39] Where the property of a deceased debtor real and personal exceeds the statutory exemptions both in value and extent and the widow and children take possession of it without administration on his estate, they hold it as a trust fund for the payment of debts and a creditor may maintain a bill in equity against them to enforce payment of his debt.[40] Under a statute providing that any creditor may maintain an action against the heirs of a deceased debtor on a simple contract or specialty, the liability of the heirs is purely statutory and legal and cannot be enforced by a bill in equity.[41] Where a statute rendering the lands of a decedent liable to pay his debts provides the mode by which they shall be so applied, that mode must be pursued when it can be done.[42] And it is only in a case where the statutory mode cannot be pursued that a bill in equity will lie for that purpose.[43] Again the statutory remedy may be in equity and in that case all conditions precedent to filing the bill must be fulfilled.[44] A creditor whose debt had accrued after the time limited by the probate court for the exhibition of claims, and who has obtained a judgment at law against the executor or administrator, may himself bring a bill in equity to compel the distributees to contribute to the extent of the personalty received by them.[45]

b. Right of Action. The remedy of a creditor against the heirs, devisees, and distributees of a deceased person is exceedingly limited. Their claim against the estate whether due or to fall due thereafter must be exhibited for administration by the executor or administrator within the time limited for filing claims or be barred. Thus it will be seen that the right of action against the heirs, devisees, and distributees is limited to that class of claims where the liability depends upon property except lands which have been conveyed by the heirs to the widow of the decedent without consideration, a federal court may entertain a suit in equity by a creditor to establish his claim against the estate and enforce the same against such lands subject to such rights of dower or homestead as are given the widow therein by the state statutes. Kirtley v. Holmes, 107 Fed. 1, 46 C. C. A. 102, 52 L. R. A. 738. The creditor of a deceased debtor may proceed in equity against his heirs residing abroad as absent defendants to marshal the assets and thus subject the land or its proceeds in the state descended to them from the debtor. Carrington v. Didier, 8 Gratt. (Va.) 260.

39. Shannon v. Dillon, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 389, 48 Am. Dec. 394; Hefferman v. Forward, 6 B. Mon. (Ky.) 567; Ellis v. Gosney, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 346.

40. Cameron v. Cameron, 82 Ala. 392, 3 So. 148; Shannon v. Dillon, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 389, 48 Am. Dec. 394; Hefferman v. Forward, 6 B. Mon. (Ky.) 567.

41. Schopper v. Hildebrandt, 14 Ill. App. 353; New Jersey Ins. Co. v. Meeker, 37 N. J. L. 282; Edwards v. McClave, 55 N. J. Eq. 151, 35 Atl. 829 [affirmed without opinion in 55 N. J. Eq. 822, 41 Atl. 1115]; Mutual L. Ins. Co. v. Hopper, 43 N. J. Eq. 387, 12 Atl. 528 [affirmed in 44 N. J. Eq. 604, 17 Atl. 1104].

In New Hampshire the statutory proceeding in the probate court upon the application of the administrator for license to sell the decedent's land for the payment of his debts is the proper procedure in such cases. Lebanon Sav. Bank v. Waterman, (1890) 19 Atl. 1000; Hatch v. Kelly, 63 N. H. 29; Joslin v. Wheeler, 62 N. H. 169.

Under the Texas statute providing that on the death of a sole defendant after judgment, execution shall not issue thereon, but the judgment may be proved and paid in course of administration, it was held that the holders of the judgment after the sole defendant's death should sue the heirs for their debt, or to revive the judgment where the time in which administration could be had has elapsed. Fleming v. Ball, 25 Tex. Civ. App. 209, 60 S. W. 985.

42. Partee v. Kortrecht, 54 Miss. 66; Springfield v. Hurt, 15 Fed. 307.

Not an action on contract.— An action to enforce the statutory liability of heirs for the debts of their decedent to the extent of property inherited by them from him is not an action on contract. Adkins v. Loucks, 107 Wis. 587, 83 N. W. 934.

43. Partee v. Kortrecht, 54 Miss. 66; Springfield v. Hurt, 15 Fed. 307. And a bill in equity which fails to show that the complainant has pursued the mode which the statute lays down to be followed before relief can be sought in equity is bad on demurrer. Springfield v. Hurt, 15 Fed. 307.

44. Butts v. Genung, 5 Paige (N. Y.) 254.

45. Davis v. Van Sands, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,655, 45 Conn. 600. A creditor may in equity follow the assets of an intestate debtor into the hands of his distributees. Glenn v. Sothoron, 4 App. Cas. (D. C.) 125.

some contingency not happening within the time limited for filing claims and which might never have happened at all.[46] No action can be maintained against the heirs where the ancestor if living could not be rendered liable on the specific claim.[47] A creditor who has presented his claim for allowance in the probate proceedings has no right of action against the heirs, devisees, or distributees.[48]

c. Time to Sue. It is not an unusual statutory provision that no action can be brought against the heirs, devisees, or legatees within a specified time after the death of the decedent,[49] or after the granting of letters testamentary or of administration.[50] But an heir who is expressly bound by the covenant of his ancestor, so that the ancestor or administrator need not be joined in the suit, may be sued

46. Bassett v. Drew, 176 Mass. 141, 57 N. E. 384; Hall v. Bumstead, 20 Pick. (Mass.) 2.

A promissory note maturing more than two years from the time of the giving of the executor's bond is a debt which should be exhibited for administration, and if the creditor does not present it to the probate court for that purpose he cannot maintain an action thereon against the legatees of the deceased. Pratt v. Lamson, 128 Mass. 528.

A creditor having a claim against the estate of a deceased person is barred of his right to recover against the heir, if he neglects to present his claim for allowance in the course of probate proceedings (Hill v. Nichols, 47 Minn. 382, 50 N. W. 367); and if having presented his claim it is disallowed and he takes no appeal he is likewise barred from proceeding against the heir. Bryant v. Livermore, 20 Minn. 313; Woods v. Ely, 7 S. D. 471, 64 N. W. 531.

Where the existence of a claim is known but the amount of it remains purely speculative and uncertain until after the estate is administered, the creditor may proceed against the heirs and next of kin, although he has not filed his claim for probate. Bullard v. Moor, 158 Mass. 418, 33 N. E. 928.

A person who, not being excused by any statutory disability, neglects to file his claim against a decedent's estate before final settlement, although it may not then be due, is barred of any right of action against the heirs, although they may have inherited property from the decedent. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co. v. Heaston, 43 Ind. 172.

Occurrence of contingency before administration taken out.— Where a contingent claim against a decedent's estate became absolute before administration was taken out on the estate, it cannot be enforced against the heirs after commissioners have been duly appointed and the administration has been closed. Bullard v. Perry, 66 Vt. 479, 29 Atl. 787.

Contingencies happening after time for filing claims.— A contingent claim arising on contract against the estate of a decedent which does not become absolute and capable of liquidation before the time limited for creditors to present their claims to the probate court for allowance is not barred because it was not so presented, and the holder of such a claim after it becomes absolute may maintain an action against the heirs, next of kin, legatees, or devisees to whom the residue of the estate has been distributed to recover such claim to the extent of the estate received by them. Hantzch v. Massolt, 61 Minn. 361, 63 N. W. 1069; Hall v. Martin, 46 N. H. 337.

The claim of surviving partners against the estate of a deceased partner for contribution for losses sustained by the firm is a contingent claim which does not become absolute until the business of the firm is settled, the assets converted and the debts paid, and which under the statute need not be presented for allowance until it becomes absolute, and if before such claim becomes absolute the estate of the deceased partner has become settled and the assets distributed, the claim is not barred, but the surviving partners may pursue their remedy against the heirs and distributees under the statute. Logan v. Dixon, 73 Wis. 533, 41 N. W. 713.

47. Haynes v. Colvin, 19 Ohio 392.

48. Busenbark v. Healey, 93 Ind. 450.

49. One year.—Bowmans v. Mize, 3 B. Mon. (Ky.) 320. Although the legal remedy against heirs for the debt of the decedent is postponed until the expiration of twelve months when there is no personal representative, yet the remedy in equity need not be delayed for twelve months where the just priority of the decedent's creditors must be defeated by the intervention of the creditors of the heir. Gillespie v. Walker, 3 B. Mon. (Ky.) 505. The heirs of a surety upon a guardian's bond are liable for a default of the guardian which occurred subsequent to the final settlement of the estate of the surety, where six months prior to such final settlement the ward was an infant and the suit against such heirs is commenced within one year after the ward's majority. Voris v. State, 47 Ind. 345.

Nine months.— Cleveland v. Mills, 9 S. C. 430.

50. Three years.— Roe v. Swezey, 10 Barb. (N. Y.) 247; Butts v. Genung, 5 Paige (N. Y.) 254. Before the creditors of a decedent can reach an equitable interest in real estate which he held under a contract purchased by suit against his heirs to whom it has descended, they must await the expiration of three years from the time of granting letters testamentary in addition to exhausting their remedy against the personal representative of the decedent, or showing by their bill that immediately after the death of the ancestor.[51] A judgment creditor of a decedent cannot enforce payment of the judgment out of the decedent's real estate after the lien of the judgment has expired.[52]

d. Conditions Precedent. A creditor cannot proceed against the heirs, devisees, or distributees to collect his claim, until he has exhausted his remedy against the personal representative.[53] And where there has been a devastavit it has been held that he must first sue the personal representative and his sureties for the devastavit.[54] On the other hand it has been held that when both the heirs and personal representative are sued and there is a return of nulla bona as to the personal representative the creditor is not bound to investigate the correctness of the administration, but may at once have satisfaction out of the real estate.[55] A suit cannot be brought against the heirs of a deceased distributee until the estate has been finally settled.[56] It has been held that an action will not lie against the heirs unless administration has been taken out on the estate of the ancestor.[57]

there was no personal estate to pay the debts. Wilber v. Collier, 3 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 427.

51. Sneed v. Phillips, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 131.

52. Hansen's Empire Fur Factory v. Teahout, 104 Iowa 360, 73 N. W. 875.

53. Alabama.— Ledyard v. Johnston, 16 Ala. 548; Pyke v. Searcy, 4 Port. 52.

Indiana.— Barnard v. Cox, 25 Ind. 251.

Iowa.— Reynolds v. May, 4 Greene 283.

Kentucky.— Mills v. Sale, 7 J. J. Marsh. 254; Teeter v. Anderson, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 108.

Maine.— Fowler v. True, 76 Me. 43.

Massachusetts.— Pratt v. Lamson, 128 Mass. 528.

Minnesota.—Bryant v. Livermore, 20 Minn. 313.

Missouri.— McAllister v. Williams, 23 Mo. App. 286.

New Hampshire.— Hutchinson v. Stiles, 3 N. H. 404.

New York.— Read v. Patterson, 134 N. Y. 128, 31 N. E. 445; Mersereau v. Ryerss, 3 N. Y. 261; Sanford v. Granger, 12 Barb. 392; Roe v. Swezey, 10 Barb. 247; Schermerhorn v. Barhydt, 9 Paige 28.

North Carolina.— Keais v. Sheppard, 3 N. C. 218.

Ohio.—Arbaugh v. Millett, 5 Ohio Cir. Ct. 295.

Oregon.— Grange Union v. Burkhart, 8 Oreg. 51.

South Dakota.—Woods v. Ely, 7 S. D. 471, 64 N. W. 531.

Tennessee.— Boyd v. Armstrong, 1 Yerg. 40.

Vermont.— Bullard v. Perry, 66 Vt. 479, 29 Atl. 787.

Virginia.— Scott v. Ashlin, 86 Va. 581, 10 S. E. 751.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 498.

Contra.—In South Carolina it has been held that it is unnecessary to have a return of nulla bona on a judgment recovered against the personal representative of an administrator before commencing action against his heirs and devisees on the demand. Ariail v. Ariail, 29 S. C. 84, 7 S. E. 35. And under the broad terms of the New Jersey statute providing that every creditor of a deceased person may have his action against the heirs, an action at law may be brought against heirs, although the claim has not been presented to the administrator and there is sufficient personal property to pay the debt. Stone v. Todd, 49 N. J. L. 274, 8 Atl. 300.

54. Pyke v. Searcy, 4 Port. (Ala.) 52; Tift v. Collier, 78 Ga. 194, 2 S. E. 943; Macgill v. Hyatt, 80 Md. 253, 30 Atl. 710; Wyse v. Smith, 4 Gill & J. (Md.) 295; Lee v. Beaman, 101 N. C. 294, 7 S. E. 887; Latham v. Bell, 69 N. C. 135; Bland v. Hartsoe, 65 N. C. 204. Where an administrator has paid the entire personalty over to the next of kin before paying all of the debts and he and the sureties on his administration bond are insolvent except one surety who is a non-resident, the creditors may subject the land in the hands of the heirs before they have exhausted their remedy against the non-resident surety. Lilly v. Wooley, 94 N. C. 412.

55. Litsey v. Smith, 10 B. Mon. (Ky.) 74, holding that the creditor is not driven to a bill of discovery or an action for a devastavit and that a devastavit is not a bar to his action against the heirs.

56. Rinard v. West, 92 Ind. 359; Arbaugh v. Millett, 5 Ohio Cir. Ct. 295.

In Massachusetts the liability of heirs for debts of their ancestor is now governed wholly by statute (Clark v. Holbrook, 146 Mass. 366, 16 N. E. 410; Grow v. Dobbins, 128 Mass. 271; Grow v. Dobbins, 124 Mass. 560; Hall v. Bumstead, 20 Pick. 2; Royce v. Burrell, 12 Mass. 395), but as at common law it is a liability upon the contract of their ancestor (Clark v. Holbrook, 146 Mass. 366, 16 N. E. 410; Russ v. Alpaugh, 118 Mass. 369, 19 Am. Rep. 464; Valentine v. Farnsworth, 21 Pick. 176); and an action on a debt of a deceased person cannot be maintained under the statute against his heirs without proof that his estate had been settled before the right of action accrued (Grow v. Dobbins, 124 Mass. 560).

57. Hall v. Bumstead, 20 Pick. (Mass.) 2; Royce v. Burrell, 12 Mass. 395.

A bill in equity cannot be maintained against the heirs in the absence of allegation or proof that the estate of the ancestor has been settled. Grow v. Dobbins, 128 Mass. 271.

But on the other hand it has been held that where an estate is partitioned and distributed by agreement among the heirs without administration, one who is the sole creditor of the estate and whose debt is a lien thereon may enforce the lien against the heirs without procuring administration.[58] And by statute where there has been no administration on the estate of the decedent, but his heirs have taken possession of his property and divided it among themselves, one to whom the decedent was indebted may sue the heirs without any administration.[59]

e. Defenses. The heirs or devisees as defendants to a creditor's bill may make any defense against the alleged debts which the decedent if living might have made, or which would have been available to the personal representative in an action at law, and may also set up defenses which the personal representative has by his own acts or laches precluded himself from making.[60] Thus a personal representative is not bound to plead the statute of limitation, but a judgment rendered against him founded on a debt barred by the statutes when the action was commenced is open to a plea of the statute by the heir or the devisee, and the judgment does not prevent the successful interposition of the plea.[61] When real estate devised or descended is sought to be charged with the debts of the deceased, the validity and existence of the debts are open to contest by the heirs or devisees in the proceedings and the decree of the surrogate or probate judge on the accounting does not conclude them and except in the case of a judgment on the merits is not even prima facie evidence of the existence of the debt.[62] The heirs may plead in bar a sale of the lands of the ancestor by

58. Patterson v. Allen, 50 Tex. 23.

59. Low v. Felton, 84 Tex. 378, 19 S. W. 693; Solomon v. Skinner, 82 Tex. 345, 18 S. W. 698; Schmidtke v. Miller, 71 Tex. 103, 8 S. W. 638; Mayes v. Jones, 62 Tex. 365; Webster v. Willis, 56 Tex. 468; McCampbell v. Henderson, 50 Tex. 601; Patterson v. Allen, 50 Tex. 23; Byrd v. Ellis, (Tex. Civ. App. 1896) 35 S. W. 1070; Frost v. Smith, (Tex. Civ. App. 1893) 24 S. W. 40; Buchanan v. Thompson, 4 Tex. Civ. App. 236, 23 S. W. 328.

60. Scott v. Ware, 64 Ala. 174; Payne v. Pusey, 8 Bush (Ky.) 564; Camp v. Bostwick, 20 Ohio St. 337, 5 Am. Rep. 669.

Decedent's money in possession of plaintiff. — Where in an action against the heirs to recover an amount claimed for services rendered to their ancestor during her last illness, etc., it is proved that plaintiff on being interrogated by the parish judge while making the inventory confessed that he had in his possession money belonging to the deceased, but refused to state the amount, he will be nonsuited. Hebert v. Mouton, 1 La. Ann. 229.

Where the heir is not bound expressly by the ancestor's covenant, if plaintiff in an action against the heir and administrator jointly is barred by the plea of the administrator, he must fail as to the heir also. Warfield v. Blue, 3 Dana (Ky.) 485.

Champerty. — Heirs sued to obtain from them a conveyance or better assurance for land sold by their ancestor may resist the decree by showing that the contract was champertous. Bryant v. Hill, 9 Dana (Ky.) 67.

61. Scott v. Ware, 64 Ala. 174; Teague v. Corbitt, 57 Ala. 529; Darrington v. Borland, 3 Port. (Ala.) 9; Mooers v. White, 6 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 360; Woodfin v. Anderson, 2 Tenn. Ch. 331; Alston v. Mumford, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 267, 1 Brock. 266.

62. Black v. Elliott, 63 Kan. 211, 65 Pac. 215, 88 Am. St. Rep. 239; Long v. Long, 142 N. Y. 545, 37 N. E. 486; O'Flynn v. Powers, 136 N. Y. 412, 32 N. E. 1085; Burnham v. Burnham, 27 Misc. (N. Y.) 106, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 196; Watts v. Taylor, 80 Va. 627.

Judgment against executor how far conclusive. — A judgment against an executor is conclusive upon the legatee so far as the personalty which comes to the executors is concerned, but is not conclusive upon them so far as their legacies are charged upon and payable out of realty. Hoboken First Baptist Church v. Syms, 51 N. J. Eq. 363, 28 Atl. 461. In New Hampshire upon a petition for license to sell real estate of a person deceased for payment of a debt, a judgment recovered against the administrator is not conclusive evidence of indebtedness against the heirs of the real estate. Such judgment may be impeached on the ground that it was recovered by fraud or collusion of the administrator; but if the heir, although not notified, has appeared and taken upon himself the defense of the action and been fully heard without interference of the administrator he will be bound by the judgment. Nichols v. Day, 32 N. H. 133, 64 Am. Dec. 358. In Pennsylvania upon the trial of a scire facias to charge land in the possession of the heirs of the decedent with a debt for which judgment has been obtained against the administrator defendants may make any defense which it would have been competent for them to have made in the original action if they had been parties thereto. The judgment while conclusive as to personal estate is prima facie evidence only as to the real order of the court.[63] But the fact that the heir holds his share of the decedent's real estate under a partition decree assigning the different shares at fixed values is no defense to an action by the decedent's creditors to subject the land to the payment of his debts.[64] The pendency of a prior suit by another creditor by which the assets may be exhausted is no bar to a suit against the heirs.[65] Neither is an unsatisfied judgment recovered by plaintiff himself against the executor or administrator.[66]

f. Jurisdiction and Venue. A suit to subject land descended to the heir to the payment of a debt of the ancestor is in effect a proceeding in rem and must be prosecuted in the jurisdiction in which the property is situated.[67] In equity in a case of fraud, trust, or contract, the jurisdiction of a court of chancery is sustainable wherever the person may be found, although lands not within the jurisdiction of that court may be affected by the decree.[68] It has been held that this principle applies to an heir to whom lands of the ancestor in another state have descended as well upon the ground of trust as of contract, provided such lands are assets for the payment of the ancestor's debts under the laws of the state wherein they are situated, and that a court of equity may compel an heir residing within the jurisdiction to account for any lands in another state descended to him as heir as a trust subject to the payment of his ancestor's debts and enforce its decree by attachment for contempt, if necessary.[69] But in a recent case in another jurisdiction this has been denied on the ground that the heir does not hold the land in trust for the creditors of the ancestor, but simply holds it subject to the payment of his debts, and it is accordingly held that the creditors must seek relief in the courts of the state where the land is situated.[70] The personal liability of an heir may be enforced against him in the county in which he resides.[71] Where heirs have accepted the succession and are in possession of the property, an action against them by a creditor of the ancestor should be brought in a court of ordinary original jurisdiction and not in the probate court.[72] A statute giving the probate court exclusive original jurisdiction of the settlement of estates of deceased persons and of all matters of probate does not estate and plaintiff's claim is open to contest on original grounds. Paul v. Grimm, 183 Pa. St. 330, 38 Atl. 1017; Sergeant v. Ewing, 36 Pa. St. 156. In South Carolina the heir is liable for the debts of the ancestor to the extent the lands descended, but such lands when in the exclusive possession of the heir cannot be sold under a judgment against the executor or administrator to which the heir was not a party. In such case the land if not alienated can be reached only by a direct action and judgment against the heir and a sale of the land thereunder. Wheeler v. Floyd, 24 S. C. 413. In West Virginia it is settled law that inasmuch as there is no privity between the personal representative and the heirs of a decedent, a judgment rendered against the former is not even prima facie evidence against the latter; that such judgment is not a lien on the real estate descended to the heir and does not prevent the statute of limitations from running in favor of the heir when the real estate descended is sought to be subjected for the debt on which such judgment was obtained. Saddler v. Kennedy, 26 W. Va. 636, 640; Merchants' Nat. Bank v. Good, 21 W. Va. 455; Custer v. Custer, 17 W. Va. 113; Laidley v. Kline, 8 W. Va. 218.

Judgment lien.— A judgment against the personal representative is not a direct lien on the land in the hands of the heir and cannot be enforced against it without further proceedings. Jones v. Parker, 55 Ga. 11.

63. Covell v. Weston, 20 Johns. (N. Y.) 414.

64. Mobley v. Cureton, 6 S. C. 49.

65. Wells v. Bowling, 2 Dana (Ky.) 41.

66. Couchman v. Slaughter, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 388; Mobley v. Cureton, 6 S. C. 49.

67. Williams v. Ewing, 31 Ark. 229.

68. Marshall, C. J., in Massie v. Watts, 6 Cranch (U. S.) 148, 3 L. ed. 181.

69. Dickinson v. Hoomes, 8 Gratt. (Va.) 353, 413.

70. Robinson v. Johnson, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1899) 52 S. W. 704.

71. Lancaster v. Wolff, 110 Ky. 768, 62 S. W. 717, 23 Ky. L. Rep. 233.

72. Soye v. Price, 30 La. Ann. 93; De la Ferriere v. England, 27 La. Ann. 686; De Grehan's Succession, 25 La. Ann. 334; Martin v. Cannon, 25 La. Ann. 225; Cox v. Hunter, 10 La. 425; Watts v. Frazer, 5 La. 383. It has been said that probate courts are not wholly without jurisdiction, ratione materiæ, of a suit against heirs to enforce execution of a judgment against their ancestor; and if some be minors, although the others might perhaps be sued before the ordinary tribunals, the whole matter may well be submitted to the probate court. Skillman v. Lacy, 5 Mart. N. S. (La.) 50.

deprive the courts of ordinary general jurisdiction of their jurisdiction of actions by creditors of deceased persons against the heirs, legatees, and distributees.[73] The creditors must litigate their claims in the usual way. A court of equity has no jurisdiction on mere petition to order a fund in court resulting from a partition sale of a decedent's land to be paid out to his creditors.[74]

g. Limitations and Laches — (I) STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS — (A) In General. Creditors of a deceased person who seek a remedy against his heirs, devisees, legatees, or distributees must use due diligence in the prosecution of their demands and must sue thereon within the statutory term applicable to them. If they do not they will be barred unless there is a reply to the statute which will prevent its operation.[75] If the executor or administrator pay just debts without pleading the statute of limitations it is not a devastavit.[76] But in that case if he has paid out more than the amount of the assets in his hands, the heir, devisee, or distributee may plead the statute against him when he seeks reimbursement.[77] And a judgment against the personal representative in an action to which the heirs are not parties does not bar them from pleading the statute of limitations when the creditor seeks to subject descended real estate in their possession to the payment of his debt.[78] A promise by the personal representative will not take a case out of the statute as to the heirs.[79] The limitations against an action by a decedent's creditor for a personal judgment against a distributee for the amount of property received by him do not apply to a suit brought after distribution to foreclose a lien on the decedent's land.[80] Where a claim is barred by limitation it cannot be made the basis of an action against a fraudulent vendee of the decedent, since he stands in the same relation to the creditors as would the heirs.[81] Inasmuch as the liability of the heirs is several and not joint, payment by one heir on the debt of the ancestor does not take the case out of the statute of limitations as to the others.[82] Although the remedy against the heir is given by statute the cause of action is founded upon the obligation of the ancestor to pay his debt, and the statute of limitations is no more available to the heirs than it would have been to the ancestor.[83] If an action is brought by a creditor against

73. Horst v. McCormick Harvester Mach. Co., 30 Nebr. 558, 46 N. W. 717. Where an administrator distributed the estate without paying debts incurred by him in administering the estate, it was held that the surrogate had no power to compel the distributees to pay them. In re Keef, 43 Hun (N. Y.) 98.

74. Cassidy v. Cassidy, 1 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 467.

75. Georgia.— Caldwell v. Montgomery, 8 Ga. 106.

Illinois.— Ryan v. Jones, 15 Ill. 1.

Indiana.— Freeman v. State, 18 Ind. 484.

Louisiana.— White v. Blanchard, 19 La. Ann. 59.

Maine.— Fenderson v. Belcher, 68 Me. 59; Webber v. Webber, 6 Me. 127.

Massachusetts.— Hayward v. Hapgood, 4 Gray 437.

North Carolina.— Fraser v. Bean, 96 N. C. 327, 2 S. E. 159.

Rhode Island.— Fenner v. Manchester, 6 R. I. 140.

South Carolina.— Abercrombie v. Abercrombie, 25 S. C. 45; Cleveland v. Mills, 9 S. C. 430.

Tennessee.— Woolridge v. Page, 1 Lea 135; Grimmett v. Midgett, (Ch. App. 1899) 57 S. W. 399.

Texas.— Montgomery v. Culton, 18 Tex. 736.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 503.

Remedy in equity.— A demand against an estate barred by the statute of non-claim and regularly adjudged at law to be so cannot afterward be successfully prosecuted to recovery in equity, either against the representatives or the heirs and distributees to whom assets may have descended or been distributed. Bennett v. Dawson, 18 Ark. 334.

Suit against infant heirs.— Under an answer put in on behalf of minors by their guardian ad litem submitting their rights to the protection of the court, it is the duty of the court to give the minor defendants the benefit of the statute of limitations. White v. Miller, 158 U. S. 128, 15 S. Ct. 788, 39 L. ed. 921.

76. Pea v. Waggoner, 5 Hayw. (Tenn.) 242. See, generally, EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

77. Pea v. Waggoner, 5 Hayw. (Tenn.) 242.

78. Gilliland v. Caldwell, 1 S. C. 194.

79. Peck v. Wheaton, Mart. & Y. (Tenn.) 353.

80. Devine v. U. S. Mortgage Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1898) 48 S. W. 585.

81. Grimmett v. Midgett, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1899) 57 S. W. 399.

82. Haines v. Haines, 69 N. J. L. 39, 54 Atl. 401.

83. Hauselt v. Patterson, 124 N. Y. 349, 26 N. E. 937; Colgan v. Dunne, 50 Hun

the personal representative of his deceased debtor within the statutory period, but judgment therein is not obtained until after it has expired, the real representative is not protected by the statute of limitations when it is sought to subject the decedent's lands to the payment of such debt.[84]

(B) When Statute Begins to Run. The statutes vary as to the time when the period of limitation begins to run. Thus we read that the heir or his alienees holds the lands descended discharged of the ancestor's debts if the creditors do not assert their claims within the statutory period after the death of the decedent,[85] after the final settlement of the estate,[86] or after they have exhausted their remedy against the estate of the ancestor.[87]

(II) LACHES. In equity the facts and circumstances of the case may be such where the creditor has been guilty of gross laches that he will not be permitted to proceed against the heirs, although the full period of the statute of limitations may not have elapsed.[88]

h. Parties — (I) PLAINTIFFS. At law every creditor must sue for himself and cannot join the case of another creditor, and therefore two or more creditors of a deceased ancestor cannot join in one action against the heir at law to subject the lands descended to the payment of debts of the ancestor.[89] But a creditor proceeding in equity to subject lands descended or devised for the payment of debts must sue on behalf of himself and all other creditors.[90] And, where a bill is filed by one creditor to subject assets in the hands of the heir, another creditor on his petition showing that he is such should be made a party as he has a right to participate in the distribution of the fund.[91] An indorsee of a promissory note indorsed after the maker's death is a creditor of the deceased within the statute and may sue the maker's heirs in his own name.[92]

(II) DEFENDANTS — (A) The Personal Representative. At common law a bond creditor has his election to proceed either against the heir or against the executor or administrator,[93] although if the heir be not expressly bound the personal representative must be joined with him.[94] If the creditor comes into a court of equity and proceeds against the heir or devisee he must join the executor or administrator, if there be one, in the suit; and for this rule two reasons

(N. Y.) 443, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 309; Pyatt v. Waldo, 85 Fed. 399.

84. Lee v. McKoy, 118 N. C. 518, 24 S. E. 210 [overruling Syme v. Badger, 96 N. C. 197, 2 S. E. 61].

85. Allen v. Krips, 125 Pa. St. 504, 17 Atl. 448.

86. Piatt v. St. Clair, 6 Ohio 227, Wright (Ohio) 261.

In New York it has been held that the time between the death of the decedent and the accounting by the executor or administrator cannot be taken as a part of the time limited in a case where a creditor brings proceedings for the sale of the real estate of a deceased person and the statute of limitations is set up as a bar. Mead v. Jenkins, 95 N. Y. 31 [affirming 29 Hun 253].

87. Jennings v. Parr, 62 S. C. 306, 40 S. E. 683; Brock v. Kirkpatrick, 60 S. C. 322, 38 S. E. 779, 85 Am. St. Rep. 847. The right of action against heirs to whom the ancestor's estate has been distributed under administration proceedings to compel a refunding to one claiming damages for breach of a covenant of warranty occurring after such distribution is not barred until five years after the breach. Wood v. Cross, 8 Kan. App. 42, 54 Pac. 12.

88. Goodhue v. Barnwell, Rice Eq. (S. C.) 198. See also Whelan v. Cook, 29 Md. 12. In Mobley v. Cureton, 2 S. C. 140, it appeared that real estate of an intestate was partitioned among his heirs in 1855, a large amount of assets being left in the hands of the administrators to pay the debts. On a sealed note of the intestate due in 1854, judgment by default was recovered against the administrators in 1860. Execution was issued and lodged with the sheriff, but nothing more was done to enforce payment until 1868 when a bill in equity was filed to subject the real estate in the possession of the heirs to the payment of the debt. Both the administrators had died insolvent not long before the bill was filed. It was held that plaintiff was barred by his laches of his remedy in equity and the bill was dismissed without prejudice to plaintiff's right to pursue the heirs by action at law.

89. Warren v. Raymond, 17 S. C. 163.

90. Scott v. Ware, 64 Ala. 174; Carr v. Huette, 73 Ind. 378.

91. Cosby v. Wickliffe, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 120.

92. Parsons v. Parsons, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 476.

93. Tessier v. Wyse, 3 Bland (Md.) 28; Corbet v. Johnson, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,218, 1 Brock. 77.

94. Conley v. Boyle, 6 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 637; Lawrence v. Hayden, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 229; Lawrence v. Buckman, 3 Bibb (Ky.) 23.

are assigned. First, that the personal representative may contest the claim; and second, that the personal fund out of which a reimbursement would be decreed to the heir may be applied in the first instance to the payment of the debt.[95] And as in a court of equity the effects of the testator may be pursued into the hands of every person whatever, if the executor must be brought into court, because among other reasons he would be responsible to the heir; so any other person possessing the personal fund who would be responsible to the heir and who can be brought into court, ought for the same reason to be associated with him in the suit. It is equitable and convenient that the person who must ultimately pay the debt be decreed to pay it in the first instance.[96] Since the law, however, does not require that which is impossible or nugatory, if there are no personal assets and no administrator has been appointed, suit may be brought against the heirs alone to subject real estate to the payment of the decedent's debts.[97] And when the realty is primarily liable and the creditor is authorized to look directly to that it is only necessary to make the heir or real representative a party.[98] By statute in some states the heirs and devisees may be sued jointly without joining the personal representative.[99]

(B) Heirs. Whether the proceeding to subject the decedent's land to the payment of his debts be at law or in equity all the heirs and devisees who are liable are necessary parties;[1] and the heirs of a deceased heir must be joined, or the non-joinder may be pleaded in abatement.[2] In a suit against heirs all must be

95. District of Columbia.— Plumb v. Bateman, 2 App. Cas. 156.

Illinois.— McDowell v. Cochran, 11 Ill. 31.

Indiana.— Whitney v. Kimball, 4 Ind. 546, 58 Am. Dec. 638; Bryer v. Chase, 8 Blackf. 508.

Iowa.— Postlewait v. Howes, 3 Iowa 365.

Kentucky.— Cox v. Strode, 2 Bibb 273, 5 Am. Dec. 603.

Maryland.— Macgill v. Hyatt, 80 Md. 253, 30 Atl. 710; Baltimore v. Chase, 2 Gill & J. 376; David v. Grahame, 2 Harr. & G. 94; Tyler v. Bowie, 4 Harr. & J. 333; Tessier v. Wyse, 3 Bland 28.

South Carolina.— Lowry v. Jackson, 27 S. C. 318, 3 S. E. 473; Vernon v. Ehrich, 2 Hill Eq. 257.

Tennessee.— Dulles v. Read, 6 Yerg. 53.

United States.— U. S. Bank v. Ritchie, 8 Pet. 128, 8 L. ed. 890; Allen v. Simons, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 237, 1 Curt. 122; Corbet v. Johnson, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,218, 1 Brock. 77.

England.— Madox v. Jackson, 3 Atk. 405, 26 Eng. Reprint 1034. So ruled in England as early as 1734 in Knight v. Knight, 3 P. Wms. 331, 24 Eng. Reprint 1088.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 505.

An administrator has a right to insist upon being made a party to a bill against the heir for discovery of assets and their application for the payment of debts. Cosby v. Wickliffe, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 120.

The death of the personal representative does not obviate the necessity of following this rule. An administrator de bonis non should be appointed. Macgill v. Hyatt, 80 Md. 253, 30 Atl. 710.

By statute in Kentucky the rule in equity is made applicable to actions in law. Hagan v. Patterson, 10 Bush 411.

96. Corbet v. Johnson, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,218, 1 Brock. 77.

97. Plumb v. Bateman, 2 App. Cas. (D. C.) 156; Birely v. Staley, 5 Gill & J. (Md.) 432, 25 Am. Dec. 303. If no administrator has been appointed it should be so alleged in the bill. Whitney v. Kimball, 4 Ind. 546, 58 Am. Dec. 638; Bryer v. Chase, 8 Blackf. (Ind.) 508. It has been held that the proper practice is to have an administrator appointed (Postlewait v. Howes, 3 Iowa 365); but this could not well be done in jurisdictions where no administrator can be appointed if there are no personal assets (see Plumb v. Bateman, 2 App. Cas. (D. C.) 156).

98. Gary v. May, 16 Ohio 66.

99. Mersereau v. Ryerss, 3 N. Y. 261; Hentz v. Phillips, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 16; Hayward v. McDonald, 7 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 100, 1 How. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 229; Parsons v. Bowne, 7 Paige (N. Y.) 354.

1. Bedell v. Lewis, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 562; Morgan v. Morgan, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 388; Mersereau v. Ryerss, 3 N. Y. 261; Stuart v. Kissan, 11 Barb. (N. Y.) 271; Cassidy v. Cassidy, 1 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 467; Wambaugh v. Gates, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 505; Perkins v. Norvell, 6 Humphr. (Tenn.) 151; House v. Mitchell, Meigs (Tenn.) 138.

Purchasers under prior judicial sale.— Where a creditor of the estate of a decedent by specialty binding his heirs filed his bill in a state court to subject lands descended to the heirs and before the hearing the lands were sold under a decree of the federal court to satisfy a debt due to the United States from the ancestor as collector of customs, it was held that the purchasers under such a decree were necessary parties to the suit. King v. Ashley, 5 Leigh (Va.) 408.

2. Bedell v. Lewis, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 562; St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal Church v. Wallace, 10 N. J. L. 311.

In a covenant of warranty binding the covenantor and his heirs the latter word comprehends the heirs of heirs ad infinitum. Crocker v. Smith, 10 Ill. App. 376.

joined, but if there be a return of non est inventus as to one or more, there may be an abatement as to those not served and judgment may be taken against those served.[3] The heirs of a deceased surety on a guardian's bond are not liable jointly with the principal on the bond, inasmuch as their liability is purely statutory and not contractual.[4]

(c) Distributees. So if the suit be against the distributees, it is necessary that they all be made parties;[5] and the personal representative should also be joined,[6] unless the estate has been fully settled and the final distribution made.[7]

i. Pleading — (i) Complaint, Declaration, or Petition. It is essential to a good declaration, complaint, or petition that the facts alleged bring the case clearly within the provisions of the statute.[8] Where the action is joint a complaint is bad which fails to show a cause of action in favor of all the plaintiffs.[9] With respect to the declaration against the heir it is necessary to observe that where the lands have descended from the obligor to another who has died seized and from him to defendant, the descent must be stated specially, otherwise the variance will be fatal upon a plea of riens per descent from the obligor.[10] In a bill to charge heirs and devisees with the debts of the decedent, the property received by them and which is sought to be reached should be specifically described, so as to enable the court to identify it in the decree.[11] In an action by a creditor against the heir, it is not necessary to aver that he has assets by descent; it devolves upon him to plead riens per descent.[12] In an action against heirs alone plaintiff must allege that they were bound by the deed of the ances-

3. Bedell v. Lewis, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 562.

Alias and pluries writs.— In an action against heirs on their ancestor's covenant of warranty the original writ must be sent out against all, and if it be served on some and returned non est inventus as to others, plaintiff must sue out an alias and pluries against those not served before he can declare against those served. House v. Mitchell, Meigs (Tenn.) 138.

4. Strickland v. Holmes, 77 Me. 197.

5. Chapman v. Hamilton, 19 Ala. 121.

6. Hooper v. Royster, 1 Munf. (Va.) 119.

7. Williams v. Ewing, 31 Ark. 229; Hooper v. Royster, 1 Munf. (Va.) 119.

8. Kelley v. Adams, 120 Ind. 340, 22 N. E. 317; Rinard v. West, 92 Ind. 359; McCurdy v. Bowes, 88 Ind. 583; Gere v. Clarke, 6 Hill (N. Y.) 350; Hentz v. Phillips, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 16, complaint held good under the statute. Under the Indiana statute the complaint must allege that a final settlement of the estate has been made, and an allegation that the administrator has fully administered the estate is not sufficient. Rinard v. West, 48 Ind. 159. It must also be alleged that during the six months prior to the final settlement plaintiff was insane, an infant, or out of the state. Rinard v. West, 48 Ind. 159. In an action against an heir plaintiff must bring himself strictly within the statute and the declaration must show that administration has been taken out on the estate of the ancestor, that the demand was not due and payment of it could not have been claimed and enforced within four years after the grant of administration, and that the action was brought within one year after payment of the demand could by law be enforced. Hall v. Bumstead, 20 Pick. (Mass.) 2.

Insufficiency of personal estate.— In a declaration under the New Jersey statute against heirs and devisees it is not necessary to aver that the personal estate of the decedent is insufficient to pay his debts. Dodson v. Taylor, 53 N. J. L. 200, 21 Atl. 293.

9. Kelley v. Adams, 120 Ind. 340, 22 N. E. 317.

10. Jenks' Case, Cro. Car. 151; Kellow v. Rowden, 3 Mod. 253, 256 [citing 2 Rolle Abr. 709, pp. 1, 62].

11. Williams v. Ewing, 31 Ark. 229; Kentucky Female Orphan School v. Fleming, 10 Bush (Ky.) 234; Blinn v. McDonald, 92 Tex. 604, 46 S. W. 787, 48 S. W. 571, 50 S. W. 931.

Contra.— It has been held that it is not necessary that property received by an heir be particularly described in an action for an indebtedness of the intestate. Low v. Felton, 84 Tex. 378, 19 S. W. 693. The petition in an action against the heirs of one who died owing plaintiff is not subject to general demurrer, because it does not specifically allege the amount of the estate received by each heir where it alleges that the decedent's property exceeded his debt and that his heirs took his property and divided it among themselves without any administration on his estate. Byrd v. Ellis, (Tex. Civ. App. 1896) 35 S. W. 1070.

12. Crocker v. Descent, 10 Ill. App. 376; Gere v. Clark, 6 Hill (N. Y.) 350.

Under the Texas statute a suit by a creditor to enforce the payment of a debt against the estate of a deceased person upon which there has been no administration cannot be maintained against the heirs, unless it be averred and proved that the estate has descended to them. If the petition does not make such averment it is insufficient and a tor,[13] and must allege those facts which under the statute will justify suing them without joining the personal representative.[14] Where a creditor of a deceased person sues the administrator and the heirs jointly for the debt of the ancestor, the declaration should show that the personal estate of the deceased debtor was not sufficient to discharge the just demands against his estate, or that there was no personal property left and that there was real estate which had descended to the heirs.[15] Where a creditor elects to proceed in a court of law against the assets of a deceased debtor in the hands of a distributee he must allege the same substantial facts that would entitle him to relief in a court of equity.[16] A bill in equity seeking to enforce against a decedent's estate a claim which is prima facie within the bar of the statute of non-claim is demurrable, if it fails to aver the due presentment of the claim, or facts excepting it from the operation of the statute;[17] and a bill praying for the sale of lands of a decedent must show by averment that the complainant has pursued his statutory remedy without avail.[18]

(II) PLEAS, ANSWERS, AND DEMURRERS. If it appears on the face of the pleadings that the necessary parties have not all been joined, the non-joinder may and should be pleaded in abatement.[19] A demurrer to bill will be sustained when the averments fail to show that the complainant has pursued the mode which the statute lays down to be followed before relief can be sought in a court of equity.[20] So if it appears on the face of plaintiff's pleadings that the statute of limitations has run against his cause of action and there is nothing stated to avoid it, the objection may be taken by demurrer.[21] If the fact that the suit is prematurely brought appears upon the face of the complainant's bill, defendants may demur, or they may insist upon that objection in their answer.[22] In an action against demurrer to it will be sustained. State v. Lewellyn, 25 Tex. 797. See also Love v. Henderson, 42 Tex. 520.

13. Lawrence v. Buckman, 3 Bibb (Ky.) 23, where it is said that the defect may be taken advantage of on general demurrer, and is not cured by verdict.

14. Ryan v. Jones, 15 Ill. 1; Monroe v. Winlock, 4 Litt. (Ky.) 135. In an action by a creditor against the heirs of a deceased person on a note due from their ancestor, where the declaration after showing the indebtedness alleged in substance that the deceased left real and personal property to the value of twenty thousand dollars, that the personal property was insufficient to pay his debts, that the real estate had been sold and converted into money by the heirs before the commencement of the suit, that the note remained unpaid, and that defendants are the heirs and inherited the estate of the deceased, it was held that the declaration failed to show sufficient grounds for omitting to join the personal representative as a co-defendant with the heirs. Hoffman v. Wilding, 85 Ill. 453. Where a creditor brings an action under a statute permitting actions to be brought for the debts of a decedent against his heirs, where there is only a single creditor, an allegation of plaintiff that he is the sole creditor of the estate of defendant's decedent is put in issue by a general denial, and on a failure to establish such allegation the suit should be dismissed. Zwernerman v. Rosenberg, (Tex. Sup. 1889) 11 S. W. 150. In an action against the heirs of a deceased debtor where the petition alleged that plaintiff's debt was the only claim against the estate, that the land in possession of the heirs was the only property of the estate subject to debts, that no administration had been had and none was necessary, and prayed that such land be subjected to plaintiff's claim, the fact that the petition further prayed for a personal judgment against the heirs, a relief to which plaintiff was not entitled, was held no ground for general demurrer. Frost v. Smith, (Tex. Civ. App. 1893) 24 S. W. 40.

Allegation of agreement or promise.— In an action against an heir for the debt of the ancestor there is no necessity for any allegation of any promise, undertaking, contract, agreement, obligation, or liability expressed or implied on the part of the heir to pay the debt. The law imposes the liability to the extent of the real estate descended. Lowry v. Jackson, 27 S. C. 318, 3 S. E. 473.

Action on promise to pay ancestor's debt.— Where one of several heirs is sued on his promise to pay the debt of his ancestor the complaint need not allege that defendant or heirs have assets of the ancestor. Elting v. Vanderlyn, 4 Johns. (N. Y.) 237.

15. Guy v. Gericks, 85 Ill. 428.

16. Jones v. Parker, 55 Ga. 11.

17. Farris v. Stoutz, 78 Ala. 130; Grimball v. Mastin, 77 Ala. 553.

18. Springfield v. Hurt, 15 Fed. 307.

19. Bedell v. Lewis, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 562; St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal Church v. Wallace, 10 N. J. L. 311.

20. Springfield v. Hurt, 15 Fed. 307.

21. Farris v. Stoutz, 78 Ala. 130; Grimball v. Mastin, 77 Ala. 553; Caldwell v. Montgomery, 8 Ga. 106. See, generally, LIMITATIONS OF ACTIONS.

22. Butts v. Genung, 5 Paige (N. Y.) 254.

heirs, if they would show nothing by descent, or insufficient assets by descent, they must plead this specially and cannot show it upon the general issue.[23] Where the heir is sued on the bond of his ancestor and pleads non est factum and the issue is found against him, this is not such a false plea as will render him liable de bonis propriis.[24] When suit has been brought against an infant he should be duly served with process and before plea the court should appoint a guardian ad litem.[25]

(III) Replication or Reply. If defendant pleads nothing by descent at the time the action was brought, plaintiff may reply that defendant after the ancestor's death and before suit brought had lands or tenements by descent or devise.[26] In an action against heirs on their ancestor's covenant of warranty, if defendants plead that there are other heirs not sued, a replication that they reside beyond the jurisdiction of the court and that those sued are the only heirs who had anything by descent is bad on general demurrer.[27]

j. Evidence — (I) Presumptions and Burden of Proof. In a creditor's bill against the heir and personal representative of a deceased debtor, plaintiff is not bound to establish the insufficiency of the personal assets to pay the debts in order to enable him to obtain satisfaction out of the real estate, the right to have the personal estate first applied to the payment of the decedent's debts being founded solely on an equity existing between his real and personal representatives. Consequently in all such cases if it be supposed that there are personal assets which may be applied in aid of the realty, the issue as to that fact, founded on this equity, must be presented by the heir and be made up between him and the executor or administrator alone, as it clearly lies with the heir only to allege and show that fact for his own benefit; and if he fails to do so, the creditor, whose legal rights cannot in any way be impaired or controlled by the court, must be allowed to obtain payment by a sale of the realty.[28] But where under the statute a decedent's creditor cannot recover against the heirs for his debt unless the personalty was insufficient at the time of granting letters testamentary to liquidate the debts, a creditor pursuing the heirs must show what the debts and personalty amounted to at that time.[29] In order to charge heirs with the payment of their ancestor's debt, it is incumbent on the creditor first to establish his demand against the ancestor, and then to make it appear that lands have descended which are chargeable with the payment of the debt.[30]

(II) Admissibility. Since there is no privity between the personal representative and the heir or devisee, a judgment against an executor or administrator is in most jurisdictions no evidence against an heir or devisee in a proceeding to

23. Van Deusen v. Brower, 6 Cow. (N. Y.) 50.

24. Jackson v. Rosevelt, 13 Johns. (N. Y.) 97.

25. Crocker v. Smith, 10 Ill. App. 376.

26. Bishop v. Hamilton, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 548; Lahagh v. Cantine, 13 Johns. (N. Y.) 272; Redshaw v. Hesther, Carth. 353, Comb. 344, 5 Mod. 119.

27. House v. Mitchell, Meigs (Tenn.) 138.

28. Tessier v. Wyse, 3 Bland (Md.) 28; Walker v. Jackson, 2 Atk. 624, 26 Eng. Reprint 772; Stileman v. Ashdown, 2 Atk. 608, 26 Eng. Reprint 763; Galton v. Hancock, 2 Atk. 424, 26 Eng. Reprint 656; Aldridge v. Wallscourt, 1 Ball. & B. 312; Daniel v. Skipwith, 2 Bro. Ch. 155, 29 Eng. Reprint 89; Warwick v. Edwards, 1 Bro. P. C. 207, 1 Eng. Reprint 518, 2 P. Wms. 172, 24 Eng. Reprint 687; Lutkins v. Leigh, Cas. t. Talb. 53; Popley v. Popley, 2 Ch. Cas. 84, 21 Eng. Reprint 858; Anonymous, 2 Ch. Cas. 4, 22 Eng. Reprint 818; Rowe v. Bant, Dick. 150, 21 Eng. Reprint 226; Wolstam v. Aston, Hardres 511; Williams v. Williams, 9 Mod. 299; Anonymous, 9 Mod. 66; Knight v. Knight, 3 P. Wms. 331, 24 Eng. Reprint 1088; Tipping v. Tipping, 1 P. Wms. 729, 24 Eng. Reprint 589; Mead v. Hide, 2 Vern. Ch. 120, 23 Eng. Reprint 687; Hamilton v. Worley, 2 Ves. Jr. 62, 30 Eng. Reprint 523.

29. Read v. Patterson, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 826 [affirmed in 134 N. Y. 128, 31 N. E. 455].

30. Byrd v. Belding, 18 Ark. 118; Walker v. Byers, 15 Ark. 246; Bacon v. Thornton, 16 Utah 138, 51 Pac. 153.

Proof that there was little or no personal property and that what there was was expended for physician's bills, funeral expenses, and other debts, sufficiently shows the want of assets in an action to charge real estate with a decedent's debt. Mortimer v. Chambers, 63 Hun (N. Y.) 335, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 874.

The record of the judgment against the administrator and the return of nulla bona by the sheriff to an execution issued thereon is not sufficient evidence in an action against the heir to subject his real estate to the pay-subject real estate descended or devised to the payment of the decedent's debts, and plaintiff must prove his original cause of action precisely the same as if no judgment had been rendered.[31]

k. Judgment or Decree — (i) Whether Joint or Several. Although the heirs must be sued jointly, their liability is several and not joint, each heir being liable for what he has received from the ancestor's estate and not for what the other heirs have received.[32] And in entering judgment against them it has been held that the court should ascertain what sum each one received from the ancestor's estate by descent, and render judgment against each for the amount so ascertained not to exceed the amount plaintiff is entitled to recover.[33] This rule works justly, for it places all of the ancestor's property which has passed by descent at the disposal of the court for the payment of his debts; but it has been carried a long and dangerous step in advance by holding that the judgment should be that each of defendants pay his pro rata share of the judgment and no more.[34] Under this latter rule it is easy to see how the creditor may lose a large part of his claim through the insolvency of heirs, although the ancestral property in the hands of solvent heirs is abundantly sufficient to pay the whole of it.[35] It is believed to be the best rule to enter the decree jointly against all the defendants for the full amount of the debt with the proviso that no defendant shall be subjected to a greater liability than the value of the property descended to him.[36]

(ii) Judgment Not Personal. In a suit against the heir for the debt of the ancestor, judgment cannot be rendered against him de bonis propriis, if he has not aliened the land descended; the judgment must be special to be levied on ment of the ancestor's debt to show the want of assets. Jones v. Shields, 14 Ohio 359.

31. Scott v. Ware, 64 Ala. 174; Duvall v. Green, 4 Harr. & J. (Md.) 270; Harwood v. Rawlings, 4 Harr. & J. (Md.) 126; Dorsey v. Hammond, 1 Bland (Md.) 463; Gilliland v. Caldwell, 1 S. C. 194.

Allowance of claim by administrator.— Where a testator devised certain real estate to his son giving his executors control in trust for the benefit of the son and the son died leaving a wife and children, his debts exceeding the value of his personal property, it was held that the children of the son to whom his lands descended were bound by the action of the administrator in allowing debts so far as the personalty was concerned, but not as to the real estate, and the creditors must prove their claims to be chargeable on the father in order to collect them out of the land. Barnes v. Hathaway, 66 Barb. (N. Y.) 452.

Executor's or administrator's account.— Where a statute makes the executor's or administrator's account as rendered to and settled by the surrogate evidence of the amount of the personal estate and debts of the decedent, a mere list made by an executor or administrator of claims which have come to his knowledge, although annexed to his account filed with the surrogate, is no evidence of the amount of the estate's indebtedness where the validity of the claims was not passed on in any way by the surrogate. Read v. Patterson, 134 N. Y. 128, 31 N. E. 445.

32. Haines v. Haines, 69 N. J. L. 39, 54 Atl. 401.

33. Ransdell v. Threlkeld, 4 Bush (Ky.) 347; Stroud v. Barnett, 3 Dana (Ky.) 391; Mason v. Peter, 1 Munf. (Va.) 437.

Against distributees of community property.— In an action by a creditor of a decedent against his heirs, the petition alleging that the heirs took his property and divided it among themselves, although not specifying the proportion, the evidence showing that the property was community property, there being no evidence that it was divided other than the law would divide it, and the court having charged how the law would divide it, and the jury having returned a general verdict for plaintiff, a several judgment against defendants in proportion to the shares the law would give them was warranted. Byrd v. Ellis, (Tex. Civ. App. 1896) 35 S. W. 1070.

34. Walker v. Deaver, 79 Mo. 664; Thompson v. School Dist. No. 4, 71 Mo. 495; Pearce v. Calhoun, 59 Mo. 271; Metcalf v. Larned, 40 Mo. 572.

Leave to make further application.—Where a creditor of the estate of a deceased person brought suit against all the distributees to whom the property had been delivered and some of whom resided out of the state, for the payment of his debt, it was held that in order to prevent circuity of remedy each defendant should pay in proportion to what he had received with leave to the creditor to make further application on his failure to recover against any of defendants on account of insolvency or absence. Singleton v. Moore, Rice Eq. (S. C.) 110.

35. This danger was pointed out in Cogwell v. Lyon, 3 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 38, where it was held that the decree should be joint and not several, although the court has since adopted the rule first above stated.

36. Cutright v. Stanford, 81 Ill. 240; Vanmeter v. Love, 33 Ill. 260.

the lands.[37] If he has aliened the lands before suit is brought, the judgment will be personal, but the recovery will be only for the value of the lands in the condition in which they were at the time of the descent cast,[38] which value should be ascertained by having the lands assessed.[39] Formerly if the heir had in good faith aliened the lands which he had by descent before an action was commenced against him, he might discharge himself by pleading that he had nothing by descent at the time of suing out the writ or filing the bill, and the obligee had no remedy at law, although in equity the heir was responsible for the land.[40] But by statute in England an heir who has aliened the lands before any action is brought against him is made liable for the debts of the ancestor to the extent of the value of the lands descended.[41] Since that statute if defendant pleads nothing by descent at the time the writ was sued out plaintiff may reply that defendant had lands by descent after the decease of the obligor and before the suing out of the writ, and if he establishes this contention he may recover the value of the lands sold as found by the jury, be it what it may.[42] But the jury must find the value of the lands sold, and if they neglect to do so the verdict is incomplete and the court will award a venire de novo.[43] However, plaintiff, instead of replying according to the statute, may take issue on the plea of riens per descent, in which case the jury must not inquire of the value of the lands, but the same proceeding is to be pursued as at common law.[44]

(III) UPON DEMURRER OR DEFAULT. Some difference of opinion is

37. Arkansas.—Williams v. Ewing, 31 Ark. 229.

Illinois.— Branger v. Lucy, 82 Ill. 91.

Kentucky.— Davis v. Bentley, 2 Dana 247; Ready v. Stephenson, 7 J. J. Marsh. 351; Leathers v. Neglasson, 2 T. B. Mon. 63 [overruling Rece v. May, 2 A. K. Marsh. 23; Keizer v. Adams, 1 A. K. Marsh. 314]; Carneal v. Day, 2 Litt. 397. A judgment by default against an heir in an action on a bond executed by his ancestor and expressly binding on him as heir should be against the estate descended only. Phillips v. Munsell, 5 J. J. Marsh. 253.

Missouri.— Ward v. Sherman, 20 Mo. App. 319.

New Jersey.— Haines v. Haines, 69 N. J. L. 39, 54 Atl. 401; St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal Church v. Wallace, 10 N. J. L. 311.

New York.— Wood v. Wood, 26 Barb. 356; Jackson v. Rosevelt, 13 Johns. 97; Schermerhorn v. Barhydt, 9 Paige 28.

Texas.— Blinn v. McDonald, 92 Tex. 604, 46 S. W. 787, 48 S. W. 571, 50 S. W. 931; Schmidtke v. Miller, 71 Tex. 103, 8 S. W. 638. A judgment against an heir upon an indebtedness due from his ancestor should be limited by unequivocal and well-defined expressions in its recitals to the extent of the assets inherited by him from his ancestor. Ker v. Paschal, 1 Tex. Unrep. Cas. 692.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 517.

A decree against unknown heirs should be to be levied of the estate descended to them and not against them in their own right. Shirley v. Mitchell, 3 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 684.

No unconditional acceptance of succession. — Where the heirs have neither expressly nor tacitly accepted unconditionally the succession of their ancestor, but on the contrary, on being sued, expressly circumscribe their liability as they have a right to do to the value of their ancestor's estate, a judgment against them personally is erroneous. Banker v. Durand, 25 La. Ann. 511.

Decree against proceeds.—Where a creditor of a deceased debtor is entitled to maintain his suit against heirs to whom real estate has descended, he may have a decree against the proceeds of such real estate when paid into court under a decree. Van Wezel v. Wyckoff, 3 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 528.

38. Haines v. Haines, 69 N. J. L. 39, 54 Atl. 401; Muldoon v. Moore, 55 N. J. L. 410, 26 Atl. 892, 21 L. R. A. 89; Fredericks v. Isenman, 41 N. J. L. 212. The liability of an heir for the debts of the person from whom he has inherited or taken land by devise is measured by the property which has descended to him. To that extent it is personal and if the property has been alienated before the commencement by a creditor of the deceased, of an action to acquire a statutory lien upon the same, such creditor may take a personal judgment against the heir for its value. Rogers v. Patterson, 79 Hun (N. Y.) 483, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 963 [affirmed on opinion below in 150 N. Y. 560, 44 N. E. 1128].

39. Bedell v. Lewis, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 562.

40. Kinaston v. Clark, 2 Atk. 204, 26 Eng. Reprint 526; Gree v. Oliver, Carth. 245; Redshaw v. Hester, 5 Mod. 122; Coleman v. Wince, Prec. Ch. 511, 24 Eng. Reprint 229, 1 P. Wms. 775, 24 Eng. Reprint 229.

41. St. 3 Wm. & Mary, c. 14, § 5.

42. Redshaw v. Hesther, Carth. 353, Comb. 344, 5 Mod. 119.

Conclusion of replication.— Such a replication properly concludes with a verification and not to the country. See Labagh v. Cantine, 13 Johns. (N. Y.) 272.

43. Brown v. Shuker, 1 Cromp. & J. 583; Jeffry v. Barrow, 10 Mod. 18.

44. Mathews v. Lee, 1 Barnes Notes 329.

expressed in the early English cases as to the nature of the judgment when obtained against the heir on demurrer or by default. In one case it is laid down that, although the judgment against the heir be a general one when he pleads a false plea, yet if the judgment be by confession, nil dicit or non est informatus, it must be only of the assets descended.[45] But according to the weight of authority if the heir does not confess the action and show the certainty of the assets, but pleads that he has nothing by descent, or if judgment be given by default, or nil dicit, or confession, or on any other ground whatsoever, without confessing and showing the certainty of the assets, plaintiff is entitled to a personal judgment against him, and may take his other property upon execution.[46] Where the question has been raised in America it has been held that the heir is liable only to the value of the estate descended to him, and that he cannot by any failure to plead or make defense, or by any manner of pleading, be charged beyond that amount.[47] Where the bill does not allege that any estate has descended, taking it pro confesso is not an admission that any has descended.[48] But where alienations have been made by the heir the value of the estate descended should be assessed and judgment given against him for a sum not exceeding that value.[49]

l. Execution and Enforcement of Judgment. The legal title to a decedent's lands passes directly to the heirs and devisees and their interest therein may be taken on execution the same as any other legal estate.[50] Where the statute requires a delay of execution for a specified time against infant heirs, if a judgment is obtained against heirs, part of whom are infants and part adults, execution may go against the latter immediately.[51] Where there may be a personal judgment against the heir upon proof of his receipt of assets from the ancestor's estate, this may be satisfied out of any property of his liable to execution, and is not limited to the property received from the ancestor's estate.[52]

45. Bowyer v. Rivet, Poph. 153, W. Jones 87.

46. Kinaston v. Clark, 2 Atk. 204, 26 Eng. Reprint 526; Barker v. Bourn, Cro. Eliz. 692, Moore 522; Smith v. Angell, 2 Ld. Raym. 783, 7 Mod. 44, 1 Salk. 354, 2 Wm. Saund. 7 note 4.

47. Bedell v. Lewis, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 562; Carneal v. Day, 2 Litt. (Ky.) 397.

Want of affidavit of defense.— No affidavit of defense is required to be made by an heir, executor, or administrator, when sued upon the contract of his decedent, and judgment cannot be taken for the want of one. Boas v. Birmingham, 2 Pearson (Pa.) 334.

48. Carneal v. Day, 2 Litt. (Ky.) 397.

49. Bedell v. Lewis, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 562.

50. Florida.— McClellan v. Solomon, 23 Fla. 437, 2 So. 825, 11 Am. St. Rep. 381.

Georgia.— Wilkinson v. Chew. 54 Ga. 602.

Louisiana.— Mayo v. Stroud, 12 Rob. 105.

Massachusetts.— Proctor v. Newhall, 17 Mass. 81.

Ohio.— Douglass v. Massie, 16 Ohio 271, 47 Am. Dec. 375.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 519.

Sale of land under decree.— In an action against the heirs on a debt due by the decedent to have it satisfied out of land descended, a sale of the land had on the land itself under a decree ordering it to be made there is perfectly proper. Mitchell v. Berry, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 602.

Real estate of an infant which is converted into money is in New York deemed to remain as land until the infant reaches the full age of twenty-one years, and must be treated and applied as such in an action by a creditor against the heir to recover a debt of the ancestor from whom the real estate descended. Hentz v. Phillips, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 16.

Reduction of specific property to possession. — In order to a valid seizure and sale of an heir's undivided interest, it is not necessary to reduce to possession any specific property of the succession. Boisse v. Dickson, 31 La. Ann. 741.

Lands descended from both parents.— Where the heir has lands descended from both parents, the land descended from one cannot be sold under an execution issued on a judgment obtained upon a debt of the other. Trotter v. Selby, 14 N. C. 374.

51. Van Deusen v. Brower, 6 Cow. (N. Y.) 50; Shooke v. Phillips, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 440; Newbern Bank v. Shanly, 13 N. C. 476.

Infant heirs — Supervision of chancellor.— Where it appears in an action against infant heirs to recover a debt of the decedent that the claim can be satisfied in no other way than by sale of the real estate of defendants, such sale should be made under the supervision of the chancellor and not by the sheriff under execution. Hagan v. Patterson, 10 Bush (Ky.) 441.

52. Mayes v. Jones, 62 Tex. 365; Webster v. Willis, 56 Tex. 468; State v. Lewellyn, 25 Tex. 799.

12. Contribution — a. Right of Contribution Among Heirs. Beneficiaries should be required to pay the liabilities against the estate pro rata according to the respective shares inherited by them;[53] and an heir who pays off a just debt of the ancestor has a right to contribution from his co-heirs, whether the payment was compulsory or voluntary.[54] Where land of an heir is sold under an order of the court for the payment of a debt of the ancestor, such heir is entitled to contribution from the other heirs equali jure.[55] Where a widow pays off a mortgage on the decedent's real estate and has her dowry assigned, she may compel the heirs to make contribution.[56]

b. Legatees. So where there is a deficiency of assets and legatees are paid before all the debts are ascertained, they may be compelled in equity to refund for the discharge of the unpaid debts at the instance of creditors.[57]

c. Purchasers From Heirs. It has been held that the purchaser of an adult heir's share of a decedent's land, after partition, holds it subject to contribution for the payment of the ancestor's debts. It is declared that it would be inequitable and unjust to permit an adult heir, by selling his land and wasting the purchase-money, to throw the whole burden of the ancestor's debts on the property of the minor heirs.[58] On the other hand it has been assumed that a bona fide purchaser of a share, after partition, takes it discharged of liability to contribute. The creditor may look to the remaining land for the payment of his debt and the remedy of the heirs is a marshaling of assets as among themselves.[59] However this may be, the legislature may fix a limit after which there can be no dispute as

53. Calhoun v. Tangany, 105 Ill. App. 23.

54. Taylor v. Taylor, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 419, 48 Am. Dec. 400; Schermerhorn v. Barhydt, 9 Paige (N. Y.) 28; Guier v. Kelly, 2 Binn. (Pa.) 294. Where one of the heirs in possession of property belonging to the estate pays off a charge against it the others cannot recover their proportion of it until they have contributed. Duke v. Reed, 64 Tex. 705. Where lands of a decedent whose personalty was insufficient to pay his debts have been partitioned among his heirs, and some of them have aliened their shares to bona fide purchasers, so that they are not liable, the shares unaliened are liable for the full amount of the debt and those whose lands are so subjected may compel contribution from the others. Maxwell v. Smith, 86 Tenn. 539, 8 S. W. 340. Where eight heirs sold land descended to them taking eight bills single, one for each heir, secured by an express lien on the land, and subsequently, under a decree on a bill by creditors of the ancestor, one who had purchased the bills single of seven of the heirs bought the land and paid off the creditors, it was held that the eighth heir who was not a party to the decree on subjecting the land to his bill single must repay one eighth of the debts. McPike v. Wells, 54 Miss. 136.

The widow of an intestate having agreed with a part of the heirs to disencumber the estate of her support and maintenance, a charge thereon by an antenuptial agreement, for a payment of a certain sum in gross, it was held that the heirs who paid the same were entitled to contribution from the other heirs to the extent that their shares in the estate were relieved. Law v. Smith, 2 R. I. 244.

Removal of lien by application of personal assets.— One who besides her special allowance as widow has received all the personal property and half the real estate, including that on which a vendor's lien is sought to be enforced against the heirs, will, if the amount of the personalty exceeds the amount of the lien, be compelled to pay off and remove the lien as between herself and the other heirs of the purchaser, without contribution from them. Sutherland v. Harrison, 86 Ill. 363.

Assumpsit.—An action of assumpsit against the co-heirs is not the proper remedy, as the judgment would necessarily be the same against all and by force of it any one of the defendants could be required to pay the whole of it and again be compelled to sue the co-defendants for contribution, thus perpetuating the litigation. Calhoun v. Tangany, 105 Ill. App. 23.

Statute of limitation.— An heir to a portion of certain property, having paid the mortgages which were on the property at her ancestor's death without taking an assignment, cannot, after the statute has run against her action at law for contribution, look to equity for relief. Rowden v. Murphy, (N. J. Ch. 1890) 20 Atl. 379.

55. Davis v. Vansands, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,655, 45 Conn. 600.

56. Picket v. Buckner, 45 Miss. 226.

57. Davis v. Vansands, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,655, 45 Conn. 600; Newman v. Barton, 2 Vern. Ch. 205, 23 Eng. Reprint 733; Anonymous, 1 Vern. Ch. 162, 23 Eng. Reprint 388; Noel v. Robinson, 1 Vern. Ch. 90, 23 Eng. Reprint 334; 1 Story Eq. Jur. 503.

58. Graff v. Smith, 1 Dall. (Pa.) 481, 1 L. ed. 232.

59. Maxwell v. Smith, 86 Tenn. 539, 8 S. W. 340; Jordan v. Maney, 10 Lea (Tenn.) 135.

to the titles of purchasers from the heirs, although the purchase-money will still remain liable in their hands to contribute to the payment of the ancestor's debts.[60]

D. Rights and Remedies of Creditors of Heirs and Distributees — 1. In General. An heir who inherits directly from his grandfather is not chargeable with any debts his deceased father may have owed his grandfather,[61] for an heir who takes per stirpes takes directly from the intestate and in his own right and not through and in right of his immediate ancestor.[62] The grantee of an heir takes the estate subject to the payment of the ancestor's debts, but not the debts of the heir.[63]

2. Heir's Interest May Be Taken For His Debts. The interest of an heir in a decedent's estate, whatever it may be, may be taken by his creditors for the payment of his debts, subject to the prior rights of the creditors of the ancestor.[64]

3. Where Heir Is Indebted to Estate. The indebtedness of heirs, legatees, and distributees to the estate is assets to be deducted from their shares in preference to payment of their other creditors. This right to have the debt of a distributee or legatee charged to him in the adjustment of his distributive share or legacy is called the right of "set-off" or "retainer."[65] The use of those words, however, has been criticized as inaccurate and misleading, and it has been declared that the right rests not so much upon any rule of set-off or retainer as upon the broad principles of equity.[66] Where advancements have been made to

60. Hinton v. Whitehurst, 71 N. C. 66, two years after grant of administration.

61. Powers v. Morrison, 88 Tex. 133, 30 S. W. 851, 53 Am. St. Rep. 738, 28 L. R. A. 521.

62. Valentine v. Borden, 100 Mass. 273; Sedgwick v. Minot, 6 Allen (Mass.) 171; Howland v. Howland, 11 Gray (Mass.) 469; Powers v. Morrison, 88 Tex. 133, 30 S. W. 851, 53 Am. St. Rep. 738, 28 L. R. A. 521.

63. Jackson v. Wilson, 76 Md. 567, 25 Atl. 580.

64. Alabama.— Lang v. Brown, 21 Ala. 179, 56 Am. Dec. 244; Brashear v. Williams, 10 Ala. 630.

Illinois.— Gary v. Newton, 201 Ill. 170, 66 N. E. 267.

Iowa.— Cassady v. Grimmelman, 108 Iowa 695, 77 N. W. 1067.

Kentucky.— Greer v. Simrall, 59 S. W. 759, 22 Ky. L. Rep. 1037.

Louisiana.— St. Charles St. R. Co. v. Fairex, 48 La. Ann. 743, 19 So. 740.

Massachusetts.— Hunt v. Hapgood, 4 Mass. 117.

Missouri.— Crawford v. Dixon, 97 Mo. App. 558.

Ohio.— Douglas v. Massie, 16 Ohio 271, 47 Am. Dec. 375.

Pennsylvania.— Del Valle's Appeal, (1886) 5 Atl. 441; Hageman's Estate, 5 Pa. Co. Ct. 576.

South Carolina.— Saunders v. Strobel, 64 S. C. 489, 42 S. E. 429; Hendrix v. Holden, 58 S. C. 495, 36 S. E. 1010; Payton v. Monroe, (1899) 34 S. E. 305.

Texas.— Garrett v. McMahan, 34 Tex. 307.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 523 et seq.

No relief sought against heirs in the pleadings.— In a suit against a decedent's representatives to charge his land with a debt where the pleadings contained no allegation of debts against his heirs, and asked as to their debts no relief against the land, a decree charging the land in the hands of heirs with their debts is a nullity. Fowler v. Lewis, 36 W. Va. 112, 14 S. E. 447.

65. Alabama.— Nelson v. Murfee, 69 Ala. 598; Brown v. Lang, 14 Ala. 719.

Indiana.— Fiscus v. Fiscus, 127 Ind. 283, 26 N. E. 831.

Kentucky.— Taylor v. Jones, 97 Ky. 201, 30 S. W. 595, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 85; Brown v. Mattingly, 91 Ky. 275, 15 S. W. 353, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 869.

Massachusetts.— Jones v. Treadwell, 169 Mass. 430, 48 N. E. 339.

Missouri.— Ayers v. King, 168 Mo. 244, 67 S. W. 558; Duffy v. Duffy, 155 Mo. 144, 55 S. W. 1002; Lietman v. Lietman, 149 Mo. 112, 50 S. W. 307, 73 Am. St. Rep. 374; Hopkins v. Thompson, 73 Mo. App. 401.

New York.— Smith v. Kearney, 2 Barb. Ch. 533.

Pennsylvania.—Dickinson's Estate, 148 Pa. St. 142, 23 Atl. 1053; Thompson's Appeal, 42 Pa. St. 345.

Texas.— Oxsheer v. Nave, 90 Tex. 568, 40 S. W. 7, 37 L. R. A. 98.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Descent and Distribution," § 529.

66. Dickinson's Estate, 148 Pa. St. 142, 23 Atl. 1053; Oxsheer v. Mave, 90 Tex. 568, 40 S. W. 7, 37 L. R. A. 98. In Cherry v. Boultbee, 3 Jur. 1116, 9 L. J. Ch. 118, 4 Myl. & C. 442, 447, 18 Eng. Ch. 442, Lord Cottenham said: "It must be observed, that the term 'set-off' is very inaccurately used in cases of this kind. In its proper use, it is applicable only to mutual demands, debts and credits. The right of an executor of a creditor to retain a sufficient part of a legacy given by the creditor to the debtor, to pay a debt due from him to the creditor's estate, is rather a right to pay out of the fund in hand, than a right of set-off."

an heir or distributee, these must be deducted from his share before his creditors can have satisfaction for their demands;[67] and an heir who has received advancements which have been accepted as in full of his share has thereafter no attachable interest in the ancestor's estate.[68] But where the law requires an advancement to be evidenced by writing, the rights of judgment creditors in the interest of an heir in land acquired by descent cannot be defeated by setting up an alleged verbal agreement by the heir to release his expectancy in consideration of an advancement not expressed in writing by the donor.[69] In making the deduction in the adjustment of the personal estate it is wholly immaterial whether the debt is barred by the statute of limitations or not.[70] The equitable doctrine of retainer for barred debts due to the estate by a distributee does not apply to the interest of such distributee in the real estate of an intestate, or in the proceeds of the sale of the same.[71] In some jurisdictions this rule as to the set-off or retainer of the heir's debt to the estate applies to real estate descended as well as to the personal assets of the decedent's estate.[72] But in other jurisdictions it is held that the right to set off the debt against the distributive share continues only so long as the share remains the property of the distributee, and that if it be aliened by voluntary or involuntary conveyance the right is lost.[73] Where this rule obtains the personal representative is regarded as an ordinary creditor of the heir or distributee, and so far at least as the real estate is concerned it becomes a race of diligence between him and the other creditors.[74] Inasmuch as the debt of an heir to the ancestor's estate is not a lien on his share, his existing judgment creditors have the advantage of the race, for upon the death of the ancestor the liens of their judgments immediately attach to the lands descended.[75]

4. Actions and Other Proceedings. A creditor's bill will lie to reach the

67. McClave v. McClave, 60 Nebr. 464, 83 N. W. 668; Johnson v. Hoyle, 3 Head (Tenn.) 56; Franke v. Lone Star Brewing Co., 17 Tex. Civ. App. 9, 42 S. W. 861.

Bill to subject share to payment of advancements.—The heirs at law of an intestate can maintain a bill in equity against another heir at law to whom advancements have been made by the intestate to have his share or portion of the lands subjected to the payment of the advancements made to him and to have the lien of a creditor acquired by the levy of an attachment upon the undivided interest in said lands of the heir to whom advancements have been made declared subordinate to their equity. Comer v. Shehee, 129 Ala. 588, 30 So. 95, 87 Am. St. Rep. 78.

68. Security Invest. Co. v. Lottridge, (Nebr. 1902) 89 N. W. 298. Where an heir has received advancements to the full amount of his share, a judgment obtained by his creditors does not become a lien on the ancestor's death on any part of the estate. Liginger v. Field, 78 Wis. 357, 47 N. W. 613.

69. Gary v. Newton, 201 Ill. 170, 66 N. E. 267.

70. Lietman v. Lietman, 149 Mo. 112, 50 S. W. 307, 73 Am. St. Rep. 374; In re Akerman, [1891] 3 Ch. 212, 61 L. J. Ch. 34, 65 L. T. Rep. N. S. 194, 40 Wkly. Rep. 12.

71. Sartor v. Beaty, 25 S. C. 293. It has been held that a note of one of the devisees barred by the statute of limitations cannot be set off against his devise, but that his interest in the personal estate should be retained to that extent. In re Covin, 20 S. C. 471.

72. Fiscus v. Fiscus, 127 Ind. 283, 26 N. E. 831; Fiscus v. Moore, 121 Ind. 547, 23 N. E. 362, 7 L. R. A. 235; Duffy v. Duffy, 155 Mo. 144, 55 S. W. 1002; Hopkins v. Thompson, 73 Mo. App. 401; Dickinson's Estate, 148 Pa. St. 142, 23 Atl. 1053.

An administrator has the right to subject lands of his intestate to the payment of a debt due by an heir of the decedent to the estate in priority and in preference to the claims of the purchasers from said heir and likewise in preference to the lien of a judgment creditor of said heir which attached to said lands on the death of the ancestor. Streety v. McCurdy, 104 Ala. 493, 16 So. 686.

73. Thompson v. Myers, 95 Ky. 597, 26 S. W. 1014, 16 Ky. L. Rep. 139; Scobee v. Bridges, 87 Ky. 427, 9 S. W. 299, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 390; Steele v. Frierson, 85 Tenn. 430, 3 S. W. 649.

In Rhode Island the heir's power of alienation is suspended by statute for the period of three years and six months after the probate of the will or grant of administration. Dawley v. New Shoreham Probate Ct., 16 R. I. 694, 19 Atl. 248; Hopkins v. Ladd, 12 R. I. 279.

74. Thompson v. Myers, 95 Ky. 597, 26 S. W. 1014, 16 Ky. L. Rep. 139; Scobee v. Bridges, 87 Ky. 427, 9 S. W. 299, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 390; Steele v. Frierson, 85 Tenn. 430, 3 S. W. 649; Mann v. Mann, 12 Heisk. (Tenn.) 245; Towles v. Towles, 1 Head (Tenn.) 601.

75. Manning v. Brown, (N. J. Ch. 1890) 20 Atl. 381; Franke v. Lone Star Brewing Co., 17 Tex. Civ. App. 9, 42 S. W. 861.

interest of a debtor in an undistributed estate;[76] but the interest of a distributee cannot be reached by his creditor before he would be entitled to receive it himself;[77] and it is error to decree the sale of the interest of one of several heirs in his ancestor's lands to pay the debts of the heir before directing a settlement of the accounts of the ancestor's administrator.[78] A statute requiring notice to heirs of a decedent by creditors intending to charge the estate in the hands of such heirs does not apply to an action to recover ground-rent accruing after the death of the ancestor, for as it is a charge on the land itself created by the decedent his heirs take subject to it.[79] Courts of probate jurisdiction are not open to ordinary claimants and creditors of distributees whose debts have not been established for the allowance of their claims against the shares of the distributees in an estate.[80]

DESCRIBE. To delineate or mark the form or figure of; trace out; outline.[1] (See Description.)

DESCRIPTION. A sketch or account of anything in words; a portraiture or representation in language;[2] representation by visible lines, marks, colors, etc.; the act of representing a thing by words or signs, or the account or writing containing such representation; a statement designed to make known the appearance, nature, attributes, accidents, or incidents of anything;[3] the language which depicts the thing under consideration;[4] a delineation or account of a particular subject by the recital of its characteristic accidents and qualities; a written enumeration of items composing an estate, or of its condition, or of titles or documents; like an inventory, but with more particularity, and without involving the idea of an appraisement; an exact written account of an article, mechanical device, or process which is the subject of an application for a patent; a method of pointing out a particular person by referring to his relationship to some other person or his character as an officer, trustee, executor, etc.; that part of a conveyance, advertisement of sale, etc., which identifies the land intended to be affected.[5] (Description: Name of Individual, see Names. Of Affiant, see 76. Lang v. Brown, 21 Ala. 179, 56 Am. Dec. 244; Brown v. Lang, 14 Ala. 719; Lawson v. Virgin, 21 Ga. 356; Sayre v. Flournoy, 3 Ga. 541; Bennick v. Bennick, 62 N. C. 45; Carlton v. Felder, 6 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 58. See, generally, Creditors' Suits, 12 Cyc. 1.

77. Selman v. Milliken, 28 Ga. 366.

78. Bowden v. Parrish, 86 Va. 67, 9 S. E. 616, 19 Am. St. Rep. 873.

79. Rushton v. Lippincott, 119 Pa. St. 12, 12 Atl. 761.

80. In re Landis, 2 Phila. (Pa.) 217. An execution purchaser of a distributee's share of the realty but not of the personalty cannot have a decree in his own name for that share upon a final sale and distribution, since the probate court has no power to render a decree in favor of an assignee, unless he is a purchaser of the entire interest of the distributee's share of the estate. Simmons v. Knight, 35 Ala. 105. Although the surrogate has power to order the investment of the surplus remaining of the amount derived from the sale of a wife's property who dies intestate, after payment of her debts, on the ground that the husband is entitled to an estate for life therein, he has no power to direct that such property be applied in payment of the husband's debts. Arrowsmith v. Arrowsmith, 8 Hun (N. Y.) 606. Where a judgment creditor of the heir who has entered his claim before the auditor, who found that as nothing would be due to the heir out of the land the creditor had no standing, and the report having been recommitted the creditor at execution sale purchased his debtor's interest in all the land except one piece sold before the entry of judgment, it was held that as the owner of the undivided interest of one of the heirs under title acquired before final decree awarding the lands, the judgment creditor could on the second hearing before the auditor raise an objection to the jurisdiction. Small's Appeal, (Pa. 1888) 15 Atl. 767.

1. Century Dict.

"Described in any printed publication" as used in the patent laws see Downton v. Yaeger Milling Co., 108 U. S. 466, 471, 3 S. Ct. 10, 27 L. ed. 789.

"Described with sufficient certainty" see Gorman v. Steed, 1 W. Va. 1, 14 [quoted in Board of Education v. Crawford, 14 W. Va. 790, 799].

"Describing a way" see Hayford v. Aroostook County, 78 Me. 153, 156, 3 Atl. 51; and, generally, Streets and Highways.

2. Webster Int. Dict. [quoted in McCowan v. Maclay, 16 Mont. 234, 237, 40 Pac. 602, where it is said: "The same authority gives among the synonyms of this word: 'Account;' 'definition;' 'recital;' 'narration;' 'explanation;' 'representation.'"].

3. Century Dict. [quoted in McCowan v. Maclay, 16 Mont. 234, 237, 40 Pac. 602].

4. McCowan v. Maclay, 16 Mont. 234, 237, 40 Pac. 602 [citing Anderson L. Dict.].

5. Black L. Dict. [quoted in McCowan v.

AFFIDAVITS. Of Bond, see BAIL; BONDS. Of Court, see BAIL. Of Debt Secured by Mortgage, see CHATTEL MORTGAGES; MORTGAGES. Of Devisee or Legatee, see WILLS. Of Draft, see COMMERCIAL PAPER. Of Instrument and Parties, see COMMERCIAL PAPER. Of Invention, see PATENTS. Of Materials Furnished or Work Done, see MECHANICS' LIENS. Of Mining Claim, see MINES AND MINERALS. Of Offense, see BAIL. Of Officer Taking Affidavits, see AFFIDAVITS. Of Parties — In Action, see PARTIES; In Deed, see DEEDS; In Judgment, see JUDGMENTS; In Mortgage, see MORTGAGES; In Verdict, see TRIAL; To Writ of Attachment, see ATTACHMENT. Of Person, see DESCRIPTIO PERSONÆ; INDICTMENTS AND INFORMATIONS; TAXATION. Of Premises, see BURGLARY. Of Property — Burned, see ARSON; Conveyed in General, see BOUNDARIES; DEEDS; Conveyed as Color of Title, see ADVERSE POSSESSION; Conveyed by Assignment, see ASSIGNMENTS FOR BENEFIT OF CREDITORS; Demised, see LANDLORD AND TENANT; Devised or Bequeathed, see WILLS; In Assessment, see TAXATION; In Declaration in Action For Wrongful Attachment, see ATTACHMENT; In Indictment, see INDICTMENTS AND INFORMATIONS; In Insurance Policy, see FIRE INSURANCE; MARINE INSURANCE; In Judgment, see JUDGMENTS; In Memorandum, see AUCTIONS AND AUCTIONEERS; In Publication of Notice, see ATTACHMENT; In Return in Attachment, see ATTACHMENT; In Sheriff's Deed, see EXECUTIONS; In Writ of Attachment, see ATTACHMENT; Levied on, see ATTACHMENT; EXECUTIONS; Mortgaged, see CHATTEL MORTGAGES; MORTGAGES; Of Decedent, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS; Sold, see VENDOR AND PURCHASER; Sold For Taxes, see TAXATION; Subject of Action For Partition, see PARTITION; Subject of Action For Specific Performance, see SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE; Subject of Action of Ejectment, see EJECTMENT; Subject to Mechanic's Lien, see MECHANICS' LIENS; Within Statute of Frauds, see FRAUDS, STATUTE OF.)

DESCRIPTIO PERSONÆ. Description of the person.[6] (See DESCRIPTION.)

DESECRATION. See CEMETERIES; DEAD BODIES.

DESERT. To abandon, to forsake.[7] (See DESERTION.)

DESERTION.[8] In general, the act by which a person abandons and forsakes, without justification, or unauthorized, a station or condition of public or social life, renouncing its responsibilities and evading its duties.[9] In law maritime, an unlawful and wilful abandonment of a vessel, during her voyage, by her crew, without an intention of returning to their duty;[10] a quitting of the ship and her Maclay, 16 Mont. 234, 237, 40 Pac. 602]. See also Lowe v. Harris, 112 N. C. 472, 496, 17 S. E. 539, 22 L. R. A. 379.

"Descriptions do not identify of themselves; they only furnish the means of identification. They give us certain marks or characteristics,— perhaps historical data or incidents,— by the aid of which we may single out the thing intended from all others; not by the description alone, but by that explained and applied." Willey v. Snyder, 34 Mich. 60, 62 [quoted in Hoffman v. Port Huron, 102 Mich. 417, 433, 60 N. W. 831].

"Descriptive averment" defined in reference to an indictment see Warrington v. State, 1 Tex. App. 168, 174 [quoting Wharton Am. Cr. L. § 629].

6. Anderson L. Dict.

7. Pidge v. Pidge, 3 Metc. (Mass.) 257, 264 [quoting Johnson [Dict.]. See also Anonymous, 52 N. J. Eq. 349, 350, 28 Atl. 467.

Mr. Crabbe, in his book on Synonymes, says: "To desert is to withdraw ourselves at certain times, when our assistance and coöperation are required, or to separate ourselves from that to which we ought to be attached." Pidge v. Pidge, 3 Metc. (Mass.) 257, 265.

Distinguished from "abandon" and "forsake" in Pidge v. Pidge, 3 Metc. (Mass.) 257, 264 [quoting Crabbe Synonymes].

8. As synonymous with "absence" see Elzas v. Elzas, 171 Ill. 632, 639, 49 N. E. 717 [citing Fritz v. Fritz, 138 Ill. 436, 28 N. E. 1058, 32 Am. St. Rep. 156, 14 L. R. A. 685; Carter v. Carter, 62 Ill. 439].

"Deserted her" as used in respect to the mother of a pauper see Pittsford v. Chittenden, 58 Vt. 49, 52, 3 Atl. 323.

"You are a deserter" as used in an action for slander see Hollingsworth v. Shaw, 19 Ohio St. 430, 432, 2 Am. Rep. 411.

9. Black L. Dict. See also Lea v. Lea, 8 Allen (Mass.) 418, 419, where it is said: "A soldier is said to desert his post, a sailor his ship, an apprentice his master, when they depart from the service to which they are bound, without permission or contrary to orders."

10. The Union, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,347, Blatchf. & H. 545.

service, not only without leave, and against the duty of the party, but with an intent not again to return to the ship's duty.[11] In domestic relations, the act of forsaking, deserting, or abandoning a person with whom one is legally bound to live, or for whom one is legally bound to provide, as a wife or husband.[12] (Desertion: From Army or Navy, see ARMY AND NAVY.[13] Ground For Divorce, see DIVORCE. Of Child, see PARENT AND CHILD. Of Seaman, see SEAMEN. Of Wife, see DIVORCE; HUSBAND AND WIFE. Right of Deserter to Bounty, see BOUNTIES.)

DESERVING.[14] The term denotes worth or merit.[15]

DESIGN.[16] Purpose or intention,[17] combined with plan, or implying a plan in the mind;[18] aim;[19] purpose; object; end in view;[20] intent;[21] a plan, scheme, intention, carried into effect.[22] As a term of art, the giving of a visible form to the conceptions of the mind, or in other words to the invention.[23] In patent law, that characteristic of a physical substance which, by means of lines, images, configuration,[24] and the like, taken as a whole, makes an impression, through the eye, upon the mind of the observer.[25] In the law of evidence, purpose or inten-

11. Cloutman v. Tunison, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,907, 1 Sumn. 373.

In the sense of the maritime law by desertion is meant not a mere unauthorized absence from the ship without leave, but an unauthorized leaving or absence from the ship, with an intention not to return to her service. Coffin v. Jenkins, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,948, 3 Story 108, 113. See also The Union, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,347, Blatchf. & H. 545 [citing Abbott Shipp. (ed. 1829) 134, 135; 3 Kent Comm. 198].

12. Black L. Dict.

13. "Wilful desertion" by a soldier under the articles of war see Hanson v. South Scituate, 115 Mass. 336, 342.

14. "Deserving aged" as used in a bequest see Fay v. Howe, 136 Cal. 599, 601, 69 Pac. 423.

"Worthy and deserving" as distinguished from "pious" see Beardsley v. Bridgeport, 53 Conn. 489, 492, 3 Atl. 557, 55 Am. Rep. 152 [citing White v. Fisk, 22 Conn. 31].

15. Nichols v. Allen, 130 Mass. 211, 218, 39 Am. Rep. 445, where it is said: "'Deserving' denotes worth or merit, without regard to condition or circumstances, and is in no sense of the word limited to persons in need of assistance, or to objects which come within the class of charitable uses."

When the term indicates charitable bequests see Nichols v. Allen, 130 Mass. 211, 218, 39 Am. Rep. 445. See also CHARITIES, 6 Cyc. 895.

16. Distinguished from neglect see The Strathdon, 89 Fed. 374, 378.

"Designed by him" as used in an indictment for counterfeiting see Com. v. Morse, 2 Mass. 128, 131. See COUNTERFEITING.

"Designed for this trade" as applied to a vessel see Foster v. Goddard, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,970, 1 Cliff. 158.

Designed or intended for the prevention of conception or procuring abortion see U. S. v. Bott, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,626, 11 Blatchf. 346. See ABORTION.

Designed to distinguish ballot see Wyman v. Lemon, 51 Cal. 273, 274. See ELECTIONS.

"Designed to mislead the voter" as used in a statute relative to elections see Turner v. Drake, 71 Mo. 285, 287. See ELECTIONS.

"Designedly and unlawfully" embraced within the term "knowingly" see State v. Halida, 28 W. Va. 499, 503.

17. Black L. Dict.; Webster Dict. [quoted in State v. Grant, 86 Iowa 216, 222, 53 N. W. 120].

18. Black L. Dict. [quoted in State v. Grant, 86 Iowa 216, 222, 53 N. W. 120].

"Design of buildings" see Peabody Heights Co. v. Willson, 82 Md. 186, 200, 206, 32 Atl. 386, 1077, 36 L. R. A. 393.

19. Anderson L. Dict.; Webster Dict. [quoted in State v. Grant, 86 Iowa 216, 222, 53 N. W. 120].

20. Anderson L. Dict. [quoted in State v. Grant, 86 Iowa 216, 222, 53 N. W. 120].

21. Hogan v. State, 36 Wis. 226, 244 (where it is said: "Both words [design and intent] essentially imply premeditation"); Anderson L. Dict. [quoted in State v. Grant, 86 Iowa 216, 222, 53 N. W. 120].

Compared with "premeditate."—In People v. Clark, 11 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 4, 13, Rosevelt, J., said: "The words premeditate and design both import forethought, careful reflection, deliberately arranged purpose; ideas all involving, in their structure, the essential element of time."

22. Catlin v. Springfield F. Ins. Co., 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,522, 1 Sumn. 434, used in a fire-insurance policy.

The word "design" contemplates a causative act or omission done or suffered wilfully or knowingly. The Strathdon, 89 Fed. 374, 378.

Death by "design" as used in an insurance policy see Utter v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 65 Mich. 545, 551, 32 N. W. 812, 8 Am. St. Rep. 913.

23. Binns v. Woodruff, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,424, 4 Wash. 48, 52.

24. "The word 'design' imports configuration." Harrison v. Taylor, 4 H. & N. 815, 821, 5 Jur. N. S. 1219, 29 L. J. Exch. 3, per Byles, J.

25. Pelouze Scale, etc., Co. v. American Cutlery Co., 102 Fed. 916, 918, 43 C. C. A. 52.

"A 'design' means something in the nature of a drawing, picture, or diagram, applicable to the ornamentation of some article of manution, combined with plan, or implying a plan in the mind.[26] (Design: Criminal Intent, see CRIMINAL LAW; HOMICIDE. Patent, see PATENTS.)

DESIGNATE. To call by a distinctive title; to point out by distinguishing from others;[27] to express or declare;[28] to indicate by description or by something known and determinate;[29] to point out, or mark by some particular token;[30] to show; to point out; to specify.[31] (See DESIGNATED; DESIGNATION.)

DESIGNATED. Particularly described.[32] (See DESIGNATE; DESIGNATION.)

DESIGNATIO JUSTICIARIORUM EST À REGE; JURISDICTIO VERO ORDINARIA À LEGE. A maxim meaning "The appointment of justices is by the King but their ordinary jurisdiction by the law."[33]

DESIGNATION. That which designates; distinctive title; appellation;[34] that which serves to distinguish;[35] selection and appointment for a purpose, allotment, facture, such as pottery were [ware], linen or woollen fabrics, paper-hangings, carpets, &c. When we look at a picture or drawing we can say whether it is an original design or the same as one which has been already painted or drawn." Harrison v. Taylor, 4 H. & N. 815, 820, 5 Jur. N. S. 1219, 29 L. J. Exch. 3, per Crompton, J.

Applied to patents.— See Gorham Mfg. Co. v. White, 14 Wall. (U. S.) 511, 527, 20 L. ed. 731 [citing McCrea v. Holdsworth, L. R. 6 Ch. 418, 23 L. T. Rep. N. S. 444, 19 Wkly. Rep. 36, and cited in Smith v. Whitman Saddle Co., 148 U. S. 674, 679, 13 S. Ct. 768, 37 L. ed. 606; Jennings v. Kibbe, 10 Fed. 669, 670, 20 Blatchf. 353]; Henderson v. Tompkins, 60 Fed. 758, 764 [citing Smith v. Whitman Saddle Co., 148 U. S. 674, 13 S. Ct. 768, 37 L. ed. 606]; Harrison v. Taylor, 4 H. & N. 815, 820, 5 Jur. N. S. 1219, 29 L. J. Exch. 3, per Crompton, J.

Applied to copyright see Hanfstaengl v. Baines, [1895] A. C. 20, 27.

26. Black L. Dict. [citing Burrill Circ. Ev. 331].

27. Lowry v. Davis, 101 Iowa 236, 239, 70 N. W. 190.

28. People v. Campbell, 40 Cal. 129, 139 [quoted in McLane v. Territory, (Ariz. 1903) 71 Pac. 938, 939], where it is said: "The word 'designate,' . . . does not imply that it will be sufficient for the jury to intimate or give some vague hint as to the degree of murder of which the defendant is found guilty; but it is equivalent to the words 'express' or 'declare,' and it was evidently intended that the jury should expressly state the degree of murder in the verdict so that nothing should be left to implication on that point."

29. Matter of Election of Prothonotary, 3 Pa. L. J. 160, 163.

To "designate land" see Wilkin v. First Div. St. Paul, etc., R. Co., 16 Minn. 271; Interstate Land Co. v. Maxwell Land Grant Co., 41 Fed. 275, 281 [affirmed in 139 U. S. 569, 587, 11 S. Ct. 656, 35 L. ed. 278].

30. State v. Green, 18 N. J. L. 179, 181, where it is said: "Now, a stake where none exists, is no sign or mark, and of course it cannot designate the place where it stands, when it don't stand any where."

31. State v. School-Dist. No. 10, 52 N. J. L. 104, 18 Atl. 683, not "to select or determine upon." But see People v. Fitzsimmons, 68 N. Y. 514, 519, where Earl, J., said: "The fact that the mayor used the word 'nominations' instead of 'appointments,' is of no moment. The words 'nominate,' 'select,' 'designate,' 'choose,' would, either of them, answer the purpose, in such case, if used in the sense of appoint."

32. Wilkin v. First Div. St. Paul, etc., R. Co., 16 Minn. 271.

"Designated" used in reference to a statutory provision as "to mark and stake out" oyster beds see White v. Petty, 57 Conn. 576, 579, 18 Atl. 253.

33. Wharton L. Lex.

34. Webster Dict. [quoted in State v. Saxon, 30 Fla. 668, 695, 12 So. 218, 32 Am. St. Rep. 46, 18 L. R. A. 721].

Applied to partners.— A firm-name composed of the surnames of all the partners is a "designation showing the names of the persons interested as partners," and not a "fictitious name," within the meaning of section 2466 of the Civil Code. The court said: "We do not think that the case before us falls within this provision. The name of one partner was Pendleton and that of the other Williams. The firm name of Pendleton & Williams, therefore, was certainly not fictitious. It was true as far as it went. The only thing that can be said is, that it did not go far enough; that it was not a 'designation showing the names of the persons interested as partners.' But we think that if the legislature had meant so unusual a thing as a firm name showing the full names of all the partners, it would have been more natural to have said so explicitly, — just as it did do in speaking of the names to be inserted in the certificate. . . . Nor is there any opposition or contrast between the phrase 'a fictitious name,' and the phrase 'a designation not showing the names of the persons interested.' The latter is supplementary to the former." Pendleton v. Cline, 85 Cal. 142, 144, 24 Pac. 659.

35. Worcester Dict. [quoted in State v. Saxon, 30 Fla. 668, 695, 12 So. 218, 18 L. R. A. 721, 32 Am. St. Rep. 46, where it is said: "But the distinctive title, or name, or appellation, definition, as distinguished from the meaning of distinguishing by marks, is not within the meaning of the word as it is here used. This is shown by the use of the words, ornaments, mutilation, symbol, and particularly, in conjunction with them, the act of designating or pointing out.[36] Also, the expression used by a testator to denote a person or thing, instead of the name itself.[37] (See DESIGNATE; DESIGNATED.)

DESIGNATIO PERSONÆ. The description of a person or a party to a deed or contract.[38] (See DESCRIPTIO PERSONÆ.)

DESIGNATIO UNIUS EST EXCLUSIO ALTERIUS, ET EXPRESSUM FACIT CESSARE TACITUM. A maxim meaning "The specifying of one is the exclusion of another, and that which is expressed makes that which is understood to cease."[39]

DESIGNATIO UNIUS PERSONÆ EST EXCLUSIO ALTERIUS. A maxim meaning "The specification of one person is [or implies] the exclusion of another."[40]

DE SIMILIBUS AD SIMILIA EADEM RATIONE PROCEDENDUM EST. A maxim meaning "Concerning like things to like things, we are to proceed by the same rule or reason."[41]

DE SIMILIBUS IDEM EST JUDICANDUM. A maxim meaning "In like cases or matters the judgment is to be the same."[42]

DESIRABLE. Worthy to be desired; that is to be wished for; fitted to excite a wish to possess.[43] The word may be construed to mean necessary.[44]

DESIRE. To wish or long for; be solicitous for; have a wish for the possession, enjoyment, or being of; crave or covet.[45]

DE SON TORT. Of his own wrong.[46] (See, generally, EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.)

those of 'or mark of any kind whatsoever.' Ornaments, mutilations, and symbols are marks as distinguished from words or sentences, or appellations, or distinctive titles, and not only do they indicate that it is in this character the term 'designation' is used, but the terminal expression, 'or mark of any kind whatsoever,' shows both that the Legislature understood itself as meaning, by the associated use of each and all the preceding terms, including that of 'designation,' things in the nature of marks as distinguished from words or writings, and as intending by these terminal words to prohibit any other thing in the like nature of a mark."]

36. Webster Dict. [quoted in Kimball v. Salisbury, 19 Utah 161, 171, 56 Pac. 973].

Applied to benefit insurance.—"By the 'designation' of a beneficiary, the by-laws evidently refer to the express act of the member specifying and naming some particular person, and by 'changing' beneficiaries they refer to the act of naming and specifying some other person or persons in place of those previously designated." Hanson v. Minnesota Scandinavian Relief Assoc., 59 Minn. 123, 128, 60 N. W. 1091.

37. Bouvier L. Dict.

38. Black L. Dict.

39. Wharton L. Lex. [citing Coke Litt. 210].

40. Burrill L. Dict.

Applied in Ex p. Belcher, 4 Deac. & C. 703, 4 L. J. Bankr. 29, 2 Mont. & A. 160, 169.

41. Adams Gloss. [citing Branch Principia].

42. Adams Gloss. [citing Calvin's Case, 7 Coke 1, 18*b*].

43. Century. Dict.

44. As in a statute authorizing a railroad to acquire land with all "desirable appendages." Prather v. Jeffersonville, etc., R. Co., 52 Ind. 16, 37.

45. Century Dict.

"Desire" as used in a will see the following cases:

Arkansas.— Cockrill v. Armstrong, 31 Ark. 580, 589.

California.— In re Marti, 132 Cal. 666, 671, 61 Pac. 964, 64 Pac. 1071.

Massachusetts.— Weber v. Bryant, 161 Mass. 400, 403, 37 N. E. 203.

New York.— Meehan v. Brennan, 16 N. Y. App. Div. 395, 398, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 57.

Ohio.— Brasher v. Marsh, 15 Ohio St. 103, 111.

Pennsylvania.— Philadelphia's Appeal, 112 Pa. St. 470, 474, 4 Atl. 4.

England.— Harding v. Glyn, 1 Atk. 469, 470.

See also, generally, TRUSTS; WILLS.

"Desired and required."—"That the words 'desired and required' were intended to express rather a legislative wish and permission than a mandate, is indicated, too, in the discordancy of the natural meanings of the words themselves. As words of legislative command, they are singularly inappropriate and inconsistent. It is difficult to understand how it can be made a penal offense to violate simply a legislative desire. The word 'desired' cannot be ignored in the construction of the act any more than the word 'required,' and the former is at least as forcible in its expression of a request as the latter is in its expression of a command." Ex p. Kohler, 74 Cal. 38, 43, 15 Pac. 436.

"Desiring to prosecute" information in the nature of a quo warranto see State v. Boal, 46 Mo. 528, 531; Com. v. Cluley, 56 Pa. St. 270, 272, 94 Am. Dec. 75 [quoted Com. v. Allegheny Bridge Co., 20 Pa. St. 185, 190]. See, generally, QUO WARRANTO.

46. Black L. Dict. [citing 2 Blackstone Comm. 507; 2 Stephen Comm. 244].

DESPATCH or DISPATCH. See TELEGRAPHS AND TELEPHONES.

DESPATCH or DISPATCH COMPANIES. See CARRIERS.

DESPERATE DEBT. See EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

DESPOIL. A word which involves in its signification, violence or clandestine means, by which one is deprived of that which he possesses.[47]

DESPOJAR. In Mexican law, an action to recover personal property of which one has been deprived by fraud or violence.[48]

DE STAPULIS. The title of a statute passed 27 Edw. III, st. 2.[49]

DE STATUTO MERCATORIO. The writ of statute merchant.[50]

DE STATUTO STAPULÆ. The writ of statute staple.[51]

DESTINAMOS Y APROPIAMOS. To grant and deliver as property.[52]

DESTINATION. The purpose to which it is intended an article or a fund shall be applied.[53] (Destination: Of Vessel, see INSURANCE; SHIPPING.)

DESTINE. To set, ordain, or appoint to a use, purpose, estate or place; to fix unalterably by a divine decree, to appoint unalterably.[54]

DESTROY.[55] To pull down; unbuild (that which has been built or constructed); demolish; to kill, slay, extirpate.[56]

47. Sunol v. Hepburn, 1 Cal. 254, 268.

48. English L. Dict.

It is brought to recover possession of immovable property, of which one has been despoiled (despojado) by another. Sunol v. Hepburn, 1 Cal. 254, 268.

49. Burrill L. Dict.

50. Black L. Dict.

51. Black L. Dict.

52. U. S. v. Philadelphia, 11 How. (U. S.) 609, 659, 13 L. ed. 834.

53. Black L. Dict.

"Place of destination is the ultimate destination of the goods." Ayres v. Western R. Corp., 2 Fed. Cas. No. 689, 14 Blatchf. 9.

Port of destination is "the port at which a ship is to end her voyage." Black L. Dict.

54. U. S. v. Philadelphia, 11 How. (U. S.) 609, 659, 13 L. ed. 834.

55. Compared with "damage."— Where a contract of lease contained a stipulation "If damage be done to company's property, the subscriber shall pay to the company the value of the property so damaged or destroyed, or the cost of repairing the same," Greenbaum, J., in dissenting opinion, said: "The word 'destroyed' was evidently merely intended as an amplification of the word 'damaged' and should be construed in conjunction with the preceding words. Construing the language of the instrument in its popular sense, did not plaintiff mean, when it said 'if damages be done to the company's property,' damages done by defendant or his agents?" Rapid Safety Fire Extinguisher Co. v. Hay-Budden Mfg. Co., 37 Misc. (N. Y.) 556, 561, 75 N. Y. Suppl. 1008.

More comprehensive than "disable."— In Tully v. People, 67 N. Y. 15, 20, the court said: "The word 'destroy' used in the indictment is more comprehensive than the word 'disable,' and includes what is signified by it, and the indictment is not defective by reason of the substitution."

56. Century Dict.

"The word 'destroy' is also somewhat a maritime word, and is used, as will be seen by other sections of this chapter of the Revised Statutes, to denote any kind of deprivation of the owner by demolishing, making way with, or other subversion of his property." U. S. v. Stone, 8 Fed. 232, 249.

Destroy a vessel.— In U. S. v. Johns, 26 Fed. Cas. No. 15,481, 1 Wash. 363, 372, 4 Dall. 412, the court charged the jury: "We are of opinion, that to 'destroy a vessel' is to unfit her for service, beyond the hopes of recovery by ordinary means. This, as to the extent of the injury, is synonymous with 'cast away;' it is the general term. Casting away is, like burning, a species of destruction. Both of them mean such an act as causes the vessel to perish; to be lost; to be irrecoverable by ordinary means."

"Break or destroy."— In State v. McBeth, 49 Kan. 584, 588, 31 Pac. 145, the court said: "We think that the words 'break or destroy,' as used in this section of the crimes act, mean to destroy the completeness of anything."

"Destroyed" compared with "taken" and "injured" see Jones v. Erie, etc., R. Co., 151 Pa. St. 30, 46, 25 Atl. 134, 31 Am. St. Rep. 722, 17 L. R. A. 758.

Destroyed or injured by the elements.— In Suydam v. Jackson, 54 N. Y. 450, 454 [quoted in Hilliard v. New York, etc., Gas Coal Co., 41 Ohio St. 662, 669], Earl, J., said: "The statute provides for two alternatives, when the premises are 'destroyed' or 'injured.' The first alternative, evidently, has reference to a sudden and total destruction by the elements, acting with unusual power, or by human agency."

Wholly destroyed.— "What is the meaning of the words 'wholly destroyed' when applied to a building? The words when applied to a building mean totally destroyed as a building; that is, that the walls, although standing, are unsafe to use for the purpose of rebuilding and must be torn down and a new building erected throughout." German Ins. Co. v. Eddy, 36 Nebr. 461, 465, 54 N. W. 856, 19 L. R. A. 707. See also State v. De Bruhl, 10 Rich. (S. C.) 23, 26, where "destroyed" in a statute was interpreted to mean totally destroyed.

DESTRUCTION.[57] A pulling down, waste, extinction.[58] (Destruction: Of Insured Property, see INSURANCE. Of Landmark, see BOUNDARIES. Of Mark or Brand of Animal, see ANIMALS. Of Property—Criminal Responsibility, see ARSON; FIRES; MALICIOUS MISCHIEF; Liability For Acts of Mob, see COUNTIES; MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS; Taking For Public Use, see EMINENT DOMAIN. Of Record, see RECORDS. Of Vessel or Ship, see SHIPPING. Of Will, see WILLS.)

DESTRUCTIVE. Causing destruction; having a tendency to destroy or the quality of destroying; ruinous; mischievous; pernicious; hurtful.[59] (See DESTROY; DESTRUCTION.)

DE STURGIONE OBSERVETUR, QUOD REX ILLUM HABEBIT INTEGRUM: DE BALÆNA VERO SUFFICIT SI REX HABEAT CAPUT, ET REGINA CAUDAM. A maxim meaning "As to the sturgeon, it may be observed that the king shall have it whole; but of the whale it is sufficient, if the king have the head and the queen the tail."[60]

DE SUPERSEDENDO. Writ of supersedeas.[61]

DETACHABLE. Capable of being detached or separated.[62]

DETACHED. Disjoined or dissociated; not united or not contiguous; being or becoming separate; unattached;[63] isolated.[64]

DETAIL. As a verb, to set apart for a particular service.[65] As a noun, a minute account; a narrative or report of particulars.[66] In military law, one who 57. "Complete destruction" see McCabe's License, 11 Pa. Super. Ct. 560, 563.

"Partial destruction" see McCabe's License, 11 Pa. Super. Ct. 560, 563.

Loss may not constitute destruction. Allen v. State Bank, 21 N. C. 3, 11.

58. English L. Dict. But compare McCabe's License, 11 Pa. Super. Ct. 560, 563, where it is said: "We are unable to go to the extent of holding that the word 'destruction' must necessarily be construed as synonymous with 'demolition,' 'breaking up in parts,' 'pulling down.'"

"Destruction of premises" as used in a lease see Spalding v. Munford, 37 Mo. App. 281, 283. See also LANDLORD AND TENANT.

59. Century Dict.

"Destructive matter."—Where defendant was convicted of pouring boiling water on her husband, Rolfe, B., thought it doubtful whether boiling water is a "destructive matter" within 1 Vict. c. 85, § 5. Reg. v. Crawford, 2 C. & K. 129, 130, 1 Den. C. C. 100, 61 E. C. L. 129.

"The noxious or destructive substance or liquid mentioned in the statute is not merely such as might, when administered, be hurtful and injurious, but, like a poison, it must be capable of destroying life." People v. Van Deleer, 53 Cal. 147, 149. See also Dougherty v. People, 1 Colo. 514, 516.

60. Tayler L. Gloss.

61. Burrill L. Dict.

62. Century Dict.

Applied to patents.—In Strobridge v. Lindsay, 2 Fed. 692, 693, where the defendants insisted that the phrase, as mentioned in the patent, "detachable hopper and grinding shell" meant a hopper and shell separate and detachable from the top of the box, the court said: "I do not think the word 'detachable,' as used in this claim, necessarily implies that the hopper must possess the capacity of being detached from the top of the box. The object contemplated seems rather to be to have a hopper easily detachable from the box." And see Bennett v. Schooley, 75 Fed. 392, 394, where the court said: "We are of opinion that by the term 'detachable clip,' found in the foregoing claims, was meant a removable clip, or one which was not positively attached to and virtually made a part of the torpedo shell by riveting or soldering; that such an attachment was meant which, while it accomplished connection, did not create union."

63. Century Dict.

"Detached building" see Burleigh v. Gebhard F. Ins. Co., 90 N. Y. 220, 224.

"Detached" from each other or from other buildings as used in an insurance policy see Broadwater v. Lion F. Ins. Co., 34 Minn. 465, 466, 26 N. W. 455.

"Standing detached" as applied to a building insured see Hill v. Hibernia Ins. Co., 10 Hun (N. Y.) 26, 30.

64. Reg. v. Brecon, 5 Q. B. 813, 825, 15 Jur. 351, 19 L. J. M. C. 203, 69 E. C. L. 813.

65. Century Dict. [quoted in Upshur v. Baltimore, 94 Md. 743, 748, 51 Atl. 953, where the court also said: "These words 'to detail from time to time' are not technical words. They are the words of common speech, and as such their interpretation is within the judicial knowledge, 'and, therefore, matter of law.' Marvel v. Merritt, 116 U. S. 11, 6 S. Ct. 207, 29 L. ed. 550. . . . Giving to the language employed its accepted meaning, the section merely provides that the Park Board may request the Police Board to 'set apart' 'occasionally' or 'at intervals' or 'now and then,' a certain number of patrolmen 'for a particular service,' and, therefore, it does not mean that the Police Board shall detail the men permanently, or for the definite period of a year"].

"Detailed fireman" see People v. Brooklyn, 103 N. Y. 370, 372, 8 N. E. 730.

66. Century Dict.

"The words ["details" and "particulars"] are, in fact, synonymous, and in ordinary parlance convey the same meaning." City Pass. R. Co. v. Knee, 83 Md. 77, 82, 34 Atl.

belongs to the army, but is only detached, or set apart, for the time to some particular duty or service, and who is liable at any time, to be recalled to his place in the ranks.[67]

DETAIN.[68] To stop, to delay, to restrain from proceeding.[69] (See DETENTION.)

DETAINER. See FORCIBLE ENTRY AND DETAINER.

DETAINMENTS. See MARINE INSURANCE.

DETECT. To uncover; to find out; to bring to light.[70]

252. In United Water Works Co. v. Omaha Water Co., 164 N. Y. 41, 53, 58 N. E. 58, Parker, C. J., in speaking of the "details of the plan of reorganization" of a corporation said: "The word 'detail,' as used in this agreement, means minor particulars necessary to complete a reorganization, but consistent with the original plan, and lawful and honest. In matters of substance nothing may be done under the detailed plan that could not have been done under the original agreement. That was the idea conveyed by the use of the word 'detail' in the connection in which it appears."

"Matters of detail" see Lehigh Coal, etc., Co. v. Central R. Co., 34 N. J. Eq. 88, 90.

67. In re Strawbridge, 39 Ala. 367, 379.

68. "'Detain' is susceptible of many shades of meaning. The idea of force or even duress, threat or menace, can all be easily excluded, and the word still be pregnant of meaning. State v. Maloney, 105 Mo. 10, 17, 16 S. W. 519.

"Detaining and withholding, are substantially synonymous terms, as applied to real estate." Merritt v. Carpenter, 3 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 285, 2 Keyes (N. Y.) 462, 3 Keyes (N. Y.) 142, 33 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 428, 434, per Peckham, J., in dissenting opinion.

Detaining letters see U. S. v. Pearce, 27 Fed. Cas. No. 16,020, 2 McLean 14.

69. Paynter v. Com., 55 S. W. 687, 688, 21 Ky. L. Rep. 1562.

70. "As to detect a crime, a criminal, or his hiding place. Its synonyms are 'to discover, to find out, lay open, expose.'" Webster Dict. [quoted in Byrnes v. Mathews, 12 N. Y. St. 74, 81].

DETECTIVES

By Frank E. Jennings

CROSS-REFERENCES

For Matters Relating to:

Authority of Detective to Arrest Without Warrant, see ARREST.

Credibility of Detective as Witness, see WITNESSES.

Detective as Accomplice, see CRIMINAL LAW.

Entrapment by Detective, see BURGLARY; CRIMINAL LAW; INTOXICATING LIQUORS; LARCENY.

Injunction Against Employing Detective, see INJUNCTIONS.

Municipal Police Officers, see MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS.

Public Officers Generally, see OFFICERS.

I. DEFINITION.

A detective has been defined as a person fitted for or skilled in detecting; employed in detecting, as detective police; a policeman whose business is to detect rogues by adroitly investigating their haunts and habits.[1] A private detective is a person engaged unofficially[2] in obtaining secret information for or guarding the private interests of those who employ him.[3]

II. AUTHORITY TO ACT.

That a private detective may exercise the duties of a public official it is necessary that he be lawfully authorized to perform such functions.[4] It is also usually made unlawful for a person to act in the capacity of a private detective without having first obtained a license therefor.[5] It has been held that a person making

1. Webster Dict. [quoted in Byrnes v. Mathews, 12 N. Y. St. 74, 81].

2. And a statute granting such person the power and authority to serve warrants in criminal cases, without making it his duty so to do, does not make him a public officer. Kerschner v. Berks County, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 347. See also Penny v. New York Cent., etc., R. Co., 34 N. Y. App. Div. 10, 53 N. Y. Suppl. 1043, holding that there is no such settled significance attached to the term "detective" as of necessity imports authority to arrest criminals or persons charged or suspected of committing criminal acts.

3. Century Dict.

4. A legislative act authorizing the voluntary incorporation of detective agencies, and providing that the members thereof should have the same rights and privileges as constables, when engaged in arresting offenders, but which provides no supervision by any public authority of the proceedings to incorporate such agencies, would be in derogation of a state constitution which contemplates that the persons clothed with such powers should be elected by the people in regular elections. Ables v. Ingham County Sup'rs, 42 Mich. 526, 4 N. W. 206.

5. State v. Bennett, 102 Mo. 356, 14 S. W. 865, 10 L. R. A. 717; Smith's Petition, 5 Pa. Dist. 465 (where it appears that before the act of 1877 a license was unnecessary in that state); Burnett's Application, 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 394; McClain v. Lawrence County, 14 Pa. Co. Ct. 273.

Operation and effect of license.— Under the Pennsylvania statute any good citizen making the necessary proof and filing a bond in the sum of two thousand dollars and paying a fee of twenty-five dollars for the use of the county may receive a license to act as a detective for hire or reward for a period of three years. This authorizes him to do business as a private detective just the same as the license of a storekeeper authorizes him to keep store. He offers his services to the public for hire or reward and his fee depends upon the contract he makes with his employer. He is not paid out of the public fund, but out of the purse of the person hiring him. He is not a sworn officer, and makes no official returns; he is merely a licensee. Kerschner v. Berks County, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 347.

In a prosecution for acting without having first obtained a license, an information alleging the offense in the words of the statute, and that defendant held himself out to the public as a private detective, and in various instances acted as such at the request of cer-

the statutory application for a license as a detective should show the existence of an emergency or state of affairs requiring such appointment,[6] although under the same statute the opposite view is also held.[7] It is agreed, however, that the applicant must furnish satisfactory proof of his competency and integrity.[8]

III. COMPENSATION.

Generally speaking a private detective must look to his employer for his compensation,[9] and his performance of acts or duties usually performed by public officials does not entitle him to tax his charges against the public as costs;[10] but he is entitled to compensation for the performance of services which might be rendered by any citizen.[11]

DETENTION. The act of keeping back or withholding, either accidentally or by design, a person or thing.[1] (Detention : Duress, see CONTRACTS. Of Female, see ABDUCTION. Of Goods by Carrier, see CARRIERS. Of Person — Arrested, see ARREST; FALSE IMPRISONMENT; In Reformatory, see REFORMATORIES. Of Vessel, see MARINE INSURANCE.)

DETER. To discourage or to stop by fear, to stop or prevent from acting or proceeding by danger, difficulty, or other consideration which disheartens or countervails the motive for an act.[2] tain named parties, alleges with sufficient definiteness both the time of the offense and the offense itself. State v. Bennett, 102 Mo. 356, 14 S. W. 865, 10 L. R. A. 717.

For form of information for acting as private detective without license see State v. Bennett, 102 Mo. 356, 14 S. W. 865, 10 L. R. A. 717.

Sufficient proof of offense.— Where the act forbidden is the "acting as a private detective" without license, the mere holding out of one's self as such, although admissible as tending to show that he was in fact acting as a detective, would not of itself be sufficient proof of the offense within the meaning of the law. State v. Bennett, 102 Mo. 356, 14 S. W. 865, 10 L. R. A. 717.

6. Burnett's Application, 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 394.

7. Smith's Petition, 5 Pa. Dist. 465.

8. Burnett's Application, 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 394, where a petition signed by twelve persons certifying as to the competency of the applicant was held by the court to be insufficient.

Relicensing detectives.— There is no provision in the Pennsylvania statute permitting the relicensing of detectives without inquiry. And therefore every applicant is a new one so far as the necessity of furnishing proof of his competency and integrity is concerned. Smith's Petition, 5 Pa. Dist. 465, 467, where the court say that the proof should show that "he is a person experienced in the essentials of the business he proposes to engage in, acquainted with the methods and habits of criminals, familiar with the privileges and duties of officers charged with their pursuit and arrest, possessed of the requisite courage, moderation, coolness, and integrity to act judicially and efficiently in trying situations, mindful of the rights of citizens and of the extent and limitation of the powers of peace officers, and that he is a person of unblemished character, free from objectionable habits and degrading associations, above the suspicion of having been, or becoming implicated in blackmailing schemes or the bringing of prosecutions for the purpose of settlement and extortion; discreet, honest, truthful and reliable."

9. Hamlin v. Berks County, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 462, holding that a policeman commissioned by the governor of the state by virtue of a statute authorizing a corporation using a railroad within the state to apply to the governor to commission such a person, and who acts as a policeman for the corporation, and who may be dismissed by the corporation when his services are no longer needed, is not a public officer and must look to the corporation for his compensation.

10. Abels v. Ingham County Sup'rs, 42 Mich. 526, 4 N. W. 206; Hamlin v. Berks County, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 462; Kerschner v. Berks County, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 347.

Where the compensation is to be fixed by the court in pursuance of statutory provisions, the mere fact that the statute also provides that such special detectives shall have all the powers that are conferred on constables so far as such powers relate to crimes or criminal procedure, does not give such detectives the right to claim the compensation of constables, but they can receive only such pay as the court sees fit to allow them. Wunch v. Berks County, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 465.

For necessity of statutory authority for claiming costs generally see COSTS.

11. McClain v. Lawrence County, 14 Pa. Super. Ct. 273; Hamlin v. Berks County, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 462; Kerschner v. Berks County, 8 Pa. Co. Ct. 347.

1. Black L. Dict.

2. Webster Dict. [quoted in Printup v. Alexander, 69 Ga. 553, 556].

DETERGENT. Cleansing.[3]

DETERGENT SOAP. A cleansing soap.[4]

DETERMINABLE. That which may cease or determine upon the happening of a certain contingency.[5] (Determinable: Fee, see DEEDS; ESTATES; WILLS. Freehold, see ESTATES.)

DETERMINATION. According to legal as well as to ordinary use, the coming to an end in any way whatever;[6] expiration — end;[7] the decision of a court of justice; the ending or expiration of an estate or interest in property, or of a right, power, or authority.[8] (Determination: Of Cause — In General, see JUDGMENT; Appealability of Judgment, see APPEAL AND ERROR; CRIMINAL LAW; In Appellate Court, see APPEAL AND ERROR; CRIMINAL LAW. See also DETERMINE.

DETERMINE.[9] To decide;[10] to settle;[11] to end;[12] to bring to an end;[13]

3. Buckan v. McKesson, 7 Fed. 100, 103, 18 Blatchf. 485.

4. Buckan v. McKesson, 7 Fed. 100, 103, 18 Blatchf. 485, where it is said: "It is the nature of a soap to be detergent or cleansing. If the article is a soap, it is detergent. If it is not detergent, it is not a soap. Whatever is a soap, is a detergent soap."

5. Black L. Dict. [citing 2 Blackstone Comm. 121].

6. St. Aubyn v. St. Aubyn, 1 Dr. & Sm. 611, 619, 30 L. J. Ch. 517, 5 L. T. Rep. N. S. 519, 9 Wkly. Rep. 922, where it is said: "That appears to me to be the honest mode of construing the word."

7. Johnson Dict. (Todd ed.) [quoted in St. Aubyn v. St. Aubyn, 1 Dr. & Sm. 611, 618, 30 L. J. Ch. 917, 5 L. T. Rep. N. S. 519, 9 Wkly. Rep. 922].

8. Black L. Dict.

"Judgment or determination."— Where in an action on a foreign judgment the defendant claimed that in pleading such a judgment under the code, it is now only necessary to state that "such judgment or determination" was duly given or made, the court said: "This we think a mistake. The 'judgment or determination' spoken of in that section is clearly that of a 'court or officer of special jurisdiction,' and none other." Karns v. Kunkle, 2 Minn. 313, 317.

"The expression, 'a determination in the trial court,' obviously includes 'a decision of the court upon a trial without a jury,' but, according to common parlance and general understanding, would not include the verdict of a jury. (Code Civ. Proc. § 3343.) It would be a peculiar, if not an unprecedented definition, to describe the verdict of a jury as a determination in a trial court." Henavie v. New York Cent., etc., R. Co., 154 N. Y. 278, 280, 282, 48 N. E. 525.

9. "'Determine' cannot be given the meaning 'to abolish.'" People v. Ham, 32 Misc. (N. Y.) 517, 520, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 264.

"The words 'adjudge,' 'determine,' 'award,' when used by the arbitrators, do not necessarily carry with them the idea of a judgment according to law." Patton v. Garrett, 116 N. C. 847, 856, 21 S. E. 679.

10. McCormick v. State, 42 Nebr. 866, 868, 61 N. W. 99 [quoting Webster Int. Dict.]; People v. Ham, 32 Misc. (N. Y.) 517, 520, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 264 [quoting Webster Dict.]; Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. U. S., 76 Fed. 186, 191 [quoting Anderson L. Dict.; Stormouth Dict.; Webster Unabr. Dict.].

"The power 'to hear and determine,' is an essential ingredient of original jurisdiction, and the authority 'to examine and correct errors,' is the distinguishing characteristic of appellate power. To 'hear and determine' a criminal case, is 'to proceed after bill found, and to try the issues of fact and pass sentence.'" Com. v. Simpson, 2 Grant (Pa.) 438, 439.

11. McCormick v. State, 42 Nebr. 866, 868, 61 N. W. 99 [quoting Webster Int. Dict.]; People v. Ham, 32 Misc. (N. Y.) 517, 520, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 264 [quoting Webster Dict.]; Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. U. S., 76 Fed. 186, 191 [quoting Anderson L. Dict.; Century Dict.].

Applied to tenure of policemen.— Where a statute authorizing the equipment of a municipal police force provided that they shall be appointed by the board for such time as the board shall determine, and be subject to removal by the board for cause, the court said: "If it were the actual service which the board is empowered to 'determine,' there might be some propriety in attaching to the word used a signification of closing, concluding, or ending, instead of that one more commonly understood, which implies a fixing, settling, or deciding upon. But the time, which 'the board shall determine,' is coupled with the appointment, and not with the service. To determine this 'time' as directed, is to fix, settle, or decide what it shall be, as an addendum qualifying the effect of the appointment. In this relation, it becomes a time necessarily prospective and future. The clear intent of the command is, that the board shall annex to the appointment a time, term, or period, through whose duration the consequent duties, privileges, and emoluments are to remain with the appointee. This is the obvious and only English meaning of the words themselves." State v. Police Com'rs, 14 Mo. App. 297, 303.

12. McCormick v. State, 42 Nebr. 866, 868, 61 N. W. 99 [quoting Webster Int. Dict.]; Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. U. S., 76 Fed. 186, 191 [quoting Anderson L. Dict.; Stormouth Dict.].

13. Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. U. S., 76 Fed. 186, 191 [quoting Soule Synonyms; Webster Unabr. and Int. Dicts.].

resolve; to come to a decision;[14] to ascertain or state definitely; to decide upon, as after consideration or investigation; to bring to a conclusion, to put an end to;[15] to fix the determination of, to limit, to finish, to ascertain definitely, to bring to a conclusion, as a question of controversy; to settle by authoritative or judicial sentence, as the court determined the cause; to come to a decision, to conclude;[16] to fix or settle definitely; make specific or certain; decide the state or character of;[17] to terminate;[18] to fix the form or character of; to shape; to prescribe imperatively; to regulate;[19] to fix the boundaries of; to mark off and separate; to set bounds to; to fix the determination of; to limit; to bound; to finish; to ascertain definitely; to bring to a conclusion, as a question of controversy; to settle by authoritative or judicial sentence.[20] And the word may be synonymous with "finish," "resolve," "conclude."[21] (See DETERMINATION; DETERMINED.)

14. Stormouth Dict. [quoted in Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. U. S., 76 Fed. 186, 191].

Applied to a tax levy.— Where a statute provided "The board of trustees [of a town] shall, . . . determine the amount of general tax for the current year," the court said: "As we construe the provision to which we have referred, the words 'determine the amount of general tax for the current year,' mean the final determination of the board as to the amount, assessment, and levy of taxes for the current year." Williamsport v. Kent, 14 Ind. 306, 309 [quoted in Kratli v. Larrew, 104 Ind. 363, 366, 3 N. E. 267].

15. Century Dict. [quoted in Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. U. S., 76 Fed. 186, 191].

"To 'determine by ballot' is to ascertain the result of balloting upon a proposition by those entitled to cast the ballots." Smith v. San Francisco, etc., R. Co., 115 Cal. 584, 598, 47 Pac. 582, 56 Am. St. Rep. 119, 35 L. R. A. 309.

Where a statute provided "Each board of education shall determine the studies to be pursued, and the text-books to be used, in the schools under their control," the court said: "What is the meaning of the word determine, as here used, or what operation and effect ought to be given to it? When taken in connection with the purpose of the law, . . . and the subject-matter to which it relates, . . . it is manifest that the word 'determine' must mean something more than investigating and arriving at a conclusion by mental processes, although these are embraced. Official action is contemplated and required to give a practical effect to the word, and the injunction to do this is mandatory upon the board; and in order that those who must obey may know the will of the board, it is necessary that it should be declared in such a way that it may be known." State v. Board of Education, 35 Ohio St. 368, 385 [quoted in State v. Board of Education, 18 Nev. 173, 178, 1 Pac. 844].

16. Webster Unabr. Dict. [quoted in Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. U. S., 76 Fed. 186, 191].

Applied to appeals.— Where a statute declared "that the circuit court or courts are hereby authorized and required to receive, hear, and determine such appeals;" and in precisely the same words delegates the same authority to the supreme court in the exercise of their appellate jurisdiction, Story, C. J., said: "In these words I can discern nothing that alludes to a new trial by a jury. The court (not the jury) are to receive, hear, and determine the appeal; that is, the whole cause brought up by appeal. In many, nay, in a majority of cases, there is nothing to try but facts, and these, when decided, leave nothing for the court to determine. It is certain that these words delegate no authority to the supreme court, to try the facts by a jury in causes coming by appeal before that court." U. S. v. Wonson, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,750, 1 Gall. 5, 16.

As used in condemnation proceedings.— In New Jersey R., etc., Co. v. Suydam, 17 N. J. L. 25, 47, Ford, J., in speaking of a statute for the appointment of commissioners in condemnation proceedings, said: "It (the statute) says they shall be appointed to determine the compensation and damages which the owner of said real estate has sustained. To determine, is to perform a judicial act."

17. Century Dict. [quoted in People v. Ham, 32 Misc. (N. Y.) 517, 520, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 264].

"'To determine what is a reasonable compensation,' and 'to find what is justly due,' are expressions we think of equivalent import." Fulkerth v. Stanislaus County, 67 Cal. 334, 336, 7 Pac. 754.

Applied to railroad fares.— "The word 'determine,' as used in plaintiff's charter, means a greater power than that granted by the word 'fix' and different from the word 'regulate.'" "The word 'determine' is properly and usually used in conferring upon executive, administrative, and judicial officers the power to finally settle and conclude controversies. To say that the word 'determine,' in this statute, means only the same thing as the words 'fix' and 'regulate,' is to discard from the statute a word placed there by the legislature, and to say that the legislature intended nothing by the use of such a word." Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. U. S., 76 Fed. 186, 191.

18. Anderson L. Dict. [quoted in Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. U. S., 76 Fed. 186, 191].

19. McCormick v. State, 42 Nebr. 866, 868, 61 N. W. 99 [quoting Webster Int. Dict.]; People v. Ham, 32 Misc. (N. Y.) 517, 520, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 264 [quoting Webster Dict.].

20. Webster Int. Dict. [quoted in McCormick v. State, 42 Nebr. 866, 868, 61 N. W. 99].

21. Stormouth Dict. [quoted in Atlantic, etc., R. Co. v. U. S., 76 Fed. 186, 191].

DETERMINED.[22] Fixed permanently; settled; adjusted; set down authoritatively.[23]

DE TESTAMENTIS. Literally, "of testaments." The title of the fifth part of the Digests or Pandects; comprising the twenty-eighth to the thirty-sixth books, both inclusive.[24]

DETINET. Literally, "he detains." In pleading and practice, a term anciently used (as the English equivalent still is,) in declaring in certain actions of debt, as against executors and administrators, &c., and which has given name to the mode of declaring in such cases; the declaration being said to be "in the detinet."[25] (Detinet: Debt in Detinet, see DEBT, ACTION OF. Replevin in Detinet, see REPLEVIN.)

22. "Determined" not synonymous with "become void."—"We do not mean to say that 'to become void' and 'to be determined,' are convertible phrases. The former, however, differs from the latter only as a species differs from its genus, and must therefore be included in it: for to say that a thing 'has become void,' necessarily implies that it has in effect been terminated or brought to an end; but the expression applies only to its end or termination in one specific mode; whereas to say that a thing 'has been determined,' though it clearly imports simply that the thing bas been terminated or brought to an end, yet the expression is generic in its nature, and comprehends every mode of terminating or bringing a thing to an end." Sharp v. Curds, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 547, 548.

23. Worcester Dict. [quoted in Field v. Auditor, 83 Va. 882, 887, 3 S. E. 707].

Applied to taxation.— Where a statute provided that the amount of general taxes shall be determined by incorporated towns before a certain date, the court said: "The word 'determined,' as used in act of 1852, means to assess and levy the tax." Worley v. Harris, 82 Ind. 493, 497 [citing Williamsport v. Kent, 14 Ind. 306].

24. Black L. Dict.

25. Burrill L. Dict. See also Pierce v. Van Dyke, 6 Hill (N. Y.) 613, 615; Anonymous, 4 Hill (N. Y.) 603; Cummings v. Vorck, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 282, 283.

DETINUE

By Herbert B. Hawes

CROSS-REFERENCES

For Matters Relating to:
Abatement and Revival, see ABATEMENT AND REVIVAL.
Abolition of:
Action of Detinue, see REPLEVIN.
Forms of Action in General, see ACTIONS.
Actions By and Between:
Cotenants, see TENANCY IN COMMON.
Joint Tenants, see JOINT TENANCY.
Mortgagor and Mortgagee, see CHATTEL MORTGAGES.
Actions For:
Damages For Taking, Converting, or Detaining Chattel, see TROVER AND CONVERSION.
Recovery of Personalty Founded on Right of Possession, see REPLEVIN.
Detinue by Bailor or Bailee, see BAILMENTS.

I. PRESENT STATUS OF REMEDY.

The common-law action of detinue has been superseded almost entirely in the United States by statutory actions for the recovery of specific personal property, or by the actions of trover and replevin as modified by statute,[1] and has fallen into disuse in England;[2] but the principles underlying the common-law action

1. See REPLEVIN; TROVER. See also the statutes of the several states.

California.— Notwithstanding Code Civ. Proc. §§ 509–520, provide an auxiliary remedy to one suing to recover specific property by which he may secure possession before trial, an action analogous to the common-law action of detinue may be maintained against a bailee who has wrongfully delivered plaintiff's property to a third person, without invoking the auxiliary remedy. Faulkner v. Santa Barbara First Nat. Bank, 130 Cal. 258, 62 Pac. 463.

Illinois.— The repeal of Ill. Rev. St. (1845) c. 32, providing that in actions of detinue, upon plaintiffs filing an affidavit as therein prescribed, the clerk should issue a capias against defendant, and, regulating the proceedings thereon, did not abolish the common-law right of action in detinue. Robinson v. Peterson, 40 Ill. App. 132.

Minnesota.—Replevin has been substituted for detinue when the detention only and not the taking is wrongful. Coit v. Waples, 1 Minn. 134.

Missouri.— The New Code of Practice went into effect July 4, 1849, and since then there is no longer any action in detinue. Moore v. Chamberlin, 15 Mo. 238.

West Virginia.— In this state the action of replevin having been abolished, a replevy bond and counter forthcoming bond have been made a part of the proceedings in the action of detinue, and the scope of this action as a remedy has been enlarged and advanced by chapter 102 of the code. Robinson v. Woodford, 37 W. Va. 377, 16 S. E. 602.

2. Danley v. Edwards, 1 Ark. 437. "The authorities to be found in the English books, on the subject of the action of detinue, are very few, both in treatises on first principles, as well as on decided cases. The wager of are still of considerable importance, even in those states where the form of action has been abolished, the statutory actions being to a considerable extent governed by the same fundamental principles as was the common-law action.[3]

II. NATURE AND SCOPE OF REMEDY.

A. Nature and Basis. There has been some doubt as to whether detinue is founded on tort or on contract;[4] but however this may be, it is well settled that detinue is a personal action,[5] the gist of which is the wrongful detention of personal property, regardless of the manner in which defendant acquired the possession of such property.[6] law to which this action was subject, as well as the defects in its final process, in the completion and perfection of the object for which it seems to have been framed, together with the transitory nature of personal property, upon which alone it could operate, appear among the leading causes that have thrown this action into disuse in the country where it had its origin, and to which we are to look for the principles upon which it was founded." Jennings v. Gibson, Walk. (Miss.) 234, 238.

3. The Alabama statutory action for the recovery of property in specie (Code (1876), §§ 2942–2947) corresponds with the common-law action of detinue, and lies only when that action could have been maintained, and is governed by the same rules, except as otherwise provided by statute, which govern the common-law action. Rich v. Lowenthal, 99 Ala. 487, 13 So. 220; Johnson v. McLeod, 80 Ala. 433, 2 So. 145; Cooper v. Watson, 73 Ala. 252; Harris v. Hillman, 26 Ala. 380. The purpose of Md. Acts (1856), c. 112, was to simplify the forms of pleading and practice, and while it classifies and provides forms for actions of contract and tort, yet the distinctive nature of actions still remains, although the old forms have been abolished and new ones adopted. Under this statute the action for the recovery of specific property and damages for the detention thereof is practically the same as the common-law action of detinue. Stirling v. Garritee, 18 Md. 468. "Although we do not acknowledge the common-law forms of action, yet, when property is sued for, the principles of law defining and governing that action [detinue] must be resorted to." O'Shea v. Twohig, 9 Tex. 336, 342.

4. Oliver v. McClellan, 21 Ala. 675 (where it was held that detinue, especially when founded on conversion and detention, is an action ex delicto seeking redress for a tort); Luke v. Marshall, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 353 (where it was held that detinue resembles debt more than it does trespass); Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254 (where it was held that detinue is now considered as being more in the nature of an action ex delicto than of an action ex contractu); Bryant v. Herbert, 3 C. P. D. 389, 47 L. J. C. P. 670, 39 L. T. Rep. N. S. 17, 26 Wkly. Rep. 898 (where detinue was held to be founded on tort).

Distinction between detinue ex contractu and detinue ex delicto.— The action of detinue was originally nothing but debt in the detinet, or detinue on a bailment. It is in such a form that a count in detinue may be joined with a money count for debt; and it is in such form also that detinue is an action ex contractu. Detinue ex delicto is of a more modern origin, although now it is the more common form of action. The form of action, however, is immaterial, the modern form ex delicto being applicable both to a tortious detention and a detention constituting a breach of contract. Rucker v. Hamilton, 3 Dana (Ky.) 36. See also Jones v. Littlefield, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 133. Notwithstanding the artificial words in a declaration of detinue, if the action be grounded on a tortious seizure by defendant of the property mentioned, it will not be held contrary to the fact in an action on contract. Elgee v. Lovell, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,344, Woolw. 102.

5. Crossfield v. Such, 8 Exch. 159, 22 L. J. Exch. 65, 1 Wkly. Rep. 82. In Lucas v. Elliott, 9 Can. L. J. 147, it was held that detinue is a personal action within U. C. Cons. St. c. 19, § 55, and that therefore the division courts of Upper Canada have jurisdiction thereof.

6. Alabama.— Jesse French Piano, etc., Co. v. Bradley, 138 Ala. 177, 35 So. 44; Berlin Mach. Works v. Alabama City Furniture Co., 112 Ala. 488, 20 So. 418; Henderson v. Felts, 58 Ala. 590; Fenner v. Kirkman, 26 Ala. 650; Oliver v. McClellan, 21 Ala. 675; Peirce v. Hill, 9 Port. 151, 33 Am. Dec. 306.

Arkansas.— Danley v. Edwards, 1 Ark. 437.

Kentucky.— Gentry v. McKehen, 5 Dana 34; Owings v. Frier, 2 A. K. Marsh. 268, 12 Am. Dec. 393; Mansell v. Israel, 3 Bibb 510.

Mississippi.— Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254.

Missouri.— Schulenberg v. Campbell, 14 Mo. 491; Melton v. McDonald, 2 Mo. 45, 22 Am. Dec. 437; Overfield v. Bullitt, 1 Mo. 749.

New Hampshire.— See Dame v. Dame, 43 N. H. 37, where it was held that detinue will lie to recover personal property in specie, where the property rightfully came into defendant's possession. Quære, whether it might be maintained regardless of the manner in which defendant acquired possession.

North Carolina.— Johnston v. Pasteur, 3 N. C. 187, 1 N. C. 582.

United States.— Bernard v. Herbert, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,347, 3 Cranch C. C. 346.

England.— Whitehead v. Harrison, 6 Q. B.

B. Property Recoverable. The action of detinue has been held to lie, and to lie only, for the recovery of personal property,[7] which has 423, 2 D. & L. 122, 8 Jur. 894, 13 L. J. Q. B. 312, 51 E. C. L. 423; Mills v. Graham, 1 B. & P. N. R. 140, 8 Rev. Rep. 767; Gledstane v. Hewitt, 1 Cromp. & J. 565, 9 L. J. Exch. O. S. 145, 1 Tyrw. 445; Clements v. Flight, 4 D. & L. 261, 16 L. J. Exch. 11, 16 M. & W. 42; Kettle v. Bromsall, Willes 118.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Detinue," §§ 4, 10, 11.

Effect of original tortious taking by defendant see infra, IV, C, 2.

One of the effects of the doctrine that the gist of the action is the wrongful detainer is that where two parties take the property of another and divide it between them, the owner has not a joint cause of action against both of such parties, but has a separate cause of action against each of them. Slade v. Washburn, 24 N. C. 414. But see infra, IV, C, 2.

Consent to detention by defendant is fatal to the owner's cause of action, the gist of detinue being wrongful detention. Benje v. Creagh, 21 Ala. 151. As to what does not constitute consent to detention see Peruvian Guano Co. v. Dreyfus, [1892] A. C. 166, 7 Aspin. 225, 61 L. J. Ch. 749, 66 L. T. Rep. N. S. 536; Williams v. Peel River Land, etc., Co., 55 L. T. Rep. N. S. 689, both cases holding that a consent order allowing defendant to retain possession of the property, without prejudice, however, to any question between the parties, and defendant to keep proper accounts and to abide by the order of the court, was not such a consent as would render such detention lawful. Neither of these cases, however, was in detinue proper, but both were for injunction and damages.

Detention of note after payment.— Where one of several joint makers of a promissory note is sued by the payee, and thereupon pays the money into court, the failure of the payee to deliver the note to defendant forthwith, and before the lapse of a reasonable time for obtaining the money from the court, does not constitute such a detention as will render the payee liable in detinue. Norton v. Blackie, 13 Wkly. Rep. 80.

Where property is "lodged" with another, who undertakes to redeliver the same on request, a wrongful detention by such party renders him liable in detinue, the term "lodged" indicating that the contract was a bailment, and that the identical property was to be returned. Archer v. Williams, 2 C. & K. 26, 61 E. C. L. 26.

Detinue and other actions distinguished.— Detinue, replevin, and trover. Dame v. Dame, 43 N. H. 37. Detinue, trover, and trespass. Luke v. Marshall, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 353. Detinue and trover. O'Shea v. Twohig, 9 Tex. 336. One who receives goods as a warehouseman from one who obtained them by the commission of a trespass, and on demand refuses to deliver them to the owner, is not liable to be sued in trespass. Trover or detinue is the appropriate action. Prince v. Puckett, 12 Ala. 832. There is a strong resemblance between trespass, trover, and detinue, but not an identity. Trespass and trover are founded on a single act, which is indivisible; detinue on the detention of the property, in whatever way it may have come into the possession of defendant. Traun v. Wittick, 27 Ala. 570; Wittick v. Traun, 27 Ala. 562, 62 Am. Dec. 778.

Detinue not an action on contract within statute relating to venue.— Under Ala. Code, § 2640, providing that all personal actions other than actions on contract may be brought in the county of defendant's residence or in any county in which the act or omission complained of was done or occurred, an action of detinue may be brought in any county where the property sued for is found in the hands of defendant, regardless of whether such county be also defendant's residence. Rand v. Gibson, 109 Ala. 266, 19 So. 533.

Bill in equity to recover specific property. —Where the value of property which is wrongfully detained cannot be estimated by damages, a court of equity may order the restoration of the specific property. North v. Great Northern R. Co., 2 Giff. 64, 6 Jur. N. S. 244, 29 L. J. Ch. 301, 1 L. T. Rep. N. S. 510; Gibson v. Ingo, 6 Hare 112, 31 Eng. Ch. 112; Dowling v. Betjemann, 2 Johns. & H. 544, 8 Jur. N. S. 538, 6 L. T. Rep. N. S. 512, 10 Wkly. Rep. 574; Somerset v. Cookson, 3 P. Wms. 390, 24 Eng. Reprint 1114; Macclesfield v. Davis, 3 Ves. & B. 16, 35 Eng. Reprint 385; Lowther v. Lowther, 13 Ves. Jr. 95, 33 Eng. Reprint 230; Nutbrown v. Thornton, 10 Ves. Jr. 160, 32 Eng. Reprint 805; Lloyd v. Loaring, 6 Ves. Jr. 773, 31 Eng. Reprint 1302; Fells v. Read, 3 Ves. Jr. 70, 30 Eng. Reprint 899. The jurisdiction of equity to decree restoration of specific chattels extends also to any case where the possession has been acquired through an alleged breach of the fiduciary relations. Wood v. Rowcliffe, 6 Hare 187, 11 Jur. 915, 17 L. J. Ch. 83, 2 Phil. 382, 31 Eng. Ch. 183. See, generally, EQUITY.

7. Cooper v. Watson, 73 Ala. 252.

Deeds and other writings.— Detinue lies to recover a deed. Lewis v. Hoover, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 500, 19 Am. Dec. 120; Goodman v. Boycott, 2 B. & S. 1, 8 Jur. N. S. 763, 31 L. J. Q. B. 69, 6 L. T. Rep. N. S. 25, 110 E. C. L. 1. See also Stoker v. Yerby, 11 Ala. 322; Reeve v. Palmer, 5 C. B. N. S. 84, 5 Jur. N. S. 916, 28 L. J. C. P. 168, 7 Wkly. Rep. 325, 94 E. C. L. 84. It lies to recover a lease. See Chilton v. Carrington, 15 C. B. 95, 3 C. L. R. 138, 1 Jur. N. S. 89, 24 L. J. C. P. 10, 3 Wkly. Rep. 17, 80 E. C. L. 95. It lies to recover a note or any other evidence of debt. Lewis v. Hoover, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 500, 19 Am. Dec. 120. It lies to recover an abstract of title. Robb v. Cherry, 98 Tenn. 72, 38 S. W. 412. It lies to recover any muniment of title. Lewis some value,[8] and is capable of being identified so as to be recoverable in specie.[9]

III. RIGHT TO MAINTAIN DETINUE.

A. In General. Plaintiff in detinue must, in order to maintain the action, have such a legal interest in the property sought to be recovered as entitles him to the immediate possession thereof.[10]

B. As Dependent Upon Interest in Property — 1. In General. The interest of a party in personal property essential to the maintenance of an action of detinue by him for the recovery thereof may be either general[11] or special;

v. Hoover, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 500, 19 Am. Dec. 120. It lies to recover a patent to land. See Cummings v. Tindall, 4 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 357. It lies to recover legal papers. See Anderson v. Passman, 7 C. & P. 193, 32 E. C. L. 568. It lies to recover a letter. See Oliver v. Oliver, 11 C. B. N. S. 139, 8 Jur. N. S. 512, 31 L. J. C. P. 4, 5 L. T. Rep. N. S. 287, 10 Wkly. Rep. 18, 103 E. C. L. 139. It lies to recover a bank check. See Brown v. Livingstone, 21 U. C. Q. B. 438.

Things severed from realty become personal chattels and belong to the owner of the land, who is entitled to maintain detinue for them, unless defendant is in possession of the land from which they were severed, holding it adversely to plaintiff and disputing his title. Adler v. Prestwood, 122 Ala. 367, 24 So. 999; Leatherwood v. Sullivan, 81 Ala. 458, 1 So. 718; Street v. Nelson, 80 Ala. 230; Cooper v. Watson, 73 Ala. 252; Carpenter v. Lewis, 6 Ala. 682. But where an attachment is levied on fixtures and they are sold as personalty, the purchaser cannot maintain detinue to recover them. McFadden v. Crawford, 36 W. Va. 671, 15 S. E. 408, 32 Am. St. Rep. 894.

Slaves that had been freed were not recoverable in detinue, since they were not subject to ownership. Bush v. White, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 100.

8. Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254.

A note after payment by the maker to the person entitled to receive payment, a receipt being given to the maker, has no such value to the maker as will sustain an action of detinue by him therefor. Todd v. Crookshanks, 3 Johns. (N. Y.) 432.

9. Cooper v. Watson, 73 Ala. 252; Wright v. Ross, 2 Greene (Iowa) 266; Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254.

Where property has been exchanged with the owners' consent, the property received in exchange may be recovered in detinue by the owner of the property given in exchange. McGinnis v. Savage, 29 W. Va. 362, 1 S. E. 746.

Money may be recovered in detinue where it is in such shape as to be capable of identification. Spence v. McMillan, 10 Ala. 583; Morgan v. Lewis, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 243; 5 Comyns Dig. 379, tit. "Detinue," B, C; Buller N. P. 50. But detinue does not lie to recover money under a general allegation that defendant owes it to plaintiff and unjustly detains it from him. Brown v. Ellison, 55 N. H. 556.

10. Alabama.— Jesse French Piano, etc., Co. v. Bradley, 138 Ala. 177, 35 So. 44; Bolton v. Cuthbert, 132 Ala. 403, 31 So. 358; Graham v. Myers, 74 Ala. 432; Russell v. Walker, 73 Ala. 315; Seals v. Edmondson, 73 Ala. 295, 49 Am. Rep. 51; Cooper v. Watson, 73 Ala. 252; Foster v. Chamberlain, 41 Ala. 158; Humphries v. Dawson, 38 Ala. 199; Reese v. Harris, 27 Ala. 301; Parsons v. Boyd, 20 Ala. 112; Traylor v. Marshall, 11 Ala. 458.

Kentucky.— Miller v. Phillips, etc., Co., 44 S. W. 430, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1805.

Mississippi.— Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254.

Missouri.— Ramsay v. Barcroft, 2 Mo. 151; Melton v. McDonald, 2 Mo. 45, 22 Am. Dec. 437.

Nebraska.— Grand Island Banking Co. v. Grand Island First Nat. Bank, 34 Nebr. 93, 51 N. W. 596.

North Carolina.— O'Neal v. Baker, 47 N. C. 168; Huntly v. Ratliff, 27 N. C. 542.

Tennessee.— Robb v. Cherry, 98 Tenn. 72, 38 S. W. 412.

West Virginia.— Robinson v. Woodford, 37 W. Va. 377, 16 S. E. 602; Burn v. Morrison, 36 W. Va. 423, 15 S. E. 62.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Detinue," § 5.

Loss of interest and right of possession pending action is fatal to plaintiff's right to recover the property. He must have a legal interest and the right of possession at the time of the trial. Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254; Sheppard v. Edwards, 3 N. C. 186. See also Cole v. Conolly, 16 Ala. 271. But see Rotten v. Collier, 105 Ala. 581, 16 So. 921, where it was held that the fact that plaintiff has sold the property, after having obtained it by giving bond, does not deprive him of the right to maintain the action, and any recovery which he may make will inure to the benefit of his vendee.

A married man could at common law maintain detinue to recover his wife's personal property from a third person without joining his wife. Gibson v. Land, 27 Ala. 117.

A married woman may bring an action of detinue to recover her separate personal property, and join her husband as co-plaintiff. Robinson v. Woodford, 37 W. Va. 377, 16 S. E. 602.

11. Alabama.— Bolton v. Cuthbert, 132 Ala. 403, 31 So. 358; Russell v. Walker, 73 Ala. 315; Cooper v. Watson, 73 Ala. 252; Reese v. Harris, 27 Ala. 301.

Mississippi.— Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254.

plaintiff must have the absolute property with the right to immediate possession or a special property, as in the case of a bailee..[12]

2. Legal Title — a. In General. The legal title to personal property usually carries with it the right to the possession of the property, and hence is sufficient to sustain detinue for the recovery thereof,[13] unless someone else has a special Missouri.— Ramsay v. Barcroft, 2 Mo. 151.

Tennessee.— Robb v. Cherry, 98 Tenn. 72, 38 S. W. 412.

West Virginia.— Robinson v. Woodford, 37 W. Va. 377, 16 S. E. 602.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Detinue," § 5.

12. Alabama.— Bolton v. Cuthbert, 132 Ala. 403, 31 So. 358; Russell v. Walker, 73 Ala. 315; Cooper v. Watson, 73 Ala. 252; Noles v. Marable, 50 Ala. 366; Reese v. Harris, 27 Ala. 301; Traylor v. Marshall, 11 Ala. 458; Stoker v. Yerby, 11 Ala. 322.

Kentucky.— Glascock v. Hays, 4 Dana 58.

Mississippi.— Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254.

Missouri.— Schulenberg v. Campbell, 14 Mo. 491; Ramsay v. Barcroft, 2 Mo. 151.

North Carolina.— Wade v. Edwards, 1 N. C. 546.

Tennessee.— Robb v. Cherry, 98 Tenn. 72, 38 S. W. 412.

West Virginia.— Robinson v. Woodford, 37 W. Va. 377, 16 S. E. 602.

England.— Nyberg v. Handelaar, [1892] 2 Q. B. 202, 56 J. P. 694, 61 L. J. Q. B. 709, 67 L. T. Rep. N. S. 361, 40 Wkly. Rep. 545.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Detinue," § 5.

An agent may sue his principal in detinue where the principal obtains from the agent documents in a cause which are in the custody of the court and which have been intrusted by the court to the agent on the condition that he would return them. Craig v. Shedden, 1 F. & F. 553.

A trespasser on land cannot, by taking actual possession thereof and planting crops thereon, acquire such a title to the crops as will sustain an action of detinue by him against the owner of the land, if the latter in the course of husbandry harvest and remove such crops. Stewart v. Tucker, 106 Ala. 319, 17 So. 385.

An incoming officer has no such interest in the property pertaining to his office as will sustain an action by him against his predecessor for the recovery of such property. Sinclair v. Young, 100 Va. 284, 40 S. E. 907. See Mandamus.

A bailee has a sufficient interest in the property constituting the subject of the bailment to sustain an action of detinue for the recovery of such property. Noles v. Marable, 50 Ala. 366; Traylor v. Marshall, 11 Ala. 458; Stoker v. Yerby, 11 Ala. 322; Boyle v. Townes, 9 Leigh (Va.) 158. But see Fowler v. Norman, 1 Humphr. (Tenn.) 384, holding that where slaves that had been committed to a jailer as runaways made their escape before the lapse of the twelve months necessary to give him a lien on them, he could not sustain detinue for their recovery from one who had obtained possession of them.

One holding property under order of court has a sufficient special interest therein to maintain detinue therefor. Wade v. Edwards, 1 N. C. 549.

A levy by a sheriff on a fixture which cannot be removed without injury to the premises is not such a severance from the realty as will give him a special property in it, such as will support an action of detinue for its possession. Pemberton v. King, 13 N. C. 376.

13. Moore v. Parks, 61 Ala. 409. See also infra, III, C, 1.

A conditional vendor who has reserved title in himself until payment may maintain detinue for the property where such contract is void by reason of the vendor's failure to comply with a state statute authorizing him to do business in the state; the reason being that any one having a legal title may maintain detinue unless someone else has a superior right of possession, and the contract of sale being void, defendant cannot claim right of possession thereunder. Boulden v. Estey Organ Co., 92 Ala. 182, 9 So. 283. A conditional vendor may likewise maintain detinue against the vendee as soon as any of the conditions of the sale are violated. McGinnis v. Savage, 29 W. Va. 362, 1 S. E. 746.

A wrongful levy of an attachment does not divest the owner of the property levied on of his title thereto, and he may recover such property in detinue against the officer. Owings v. Frier, 2 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 268, 12 Am. Dec. 393.

The owner of land on which personalty is found may maintain detinue against the finder for the recovery of such property. South Staffordshire Water Co. v. Sharman, [1896] 2 Q. B. 44, 65 L. J. Q. B. 460, 74 L. T. Rep. N. S. 761, 44 Wkly. Rep. 656.

The recipient of a letter acquires a sufficient property therein to sustain an action of detinue against the writer, where the latter regains possession of such letter, even though such possession be regained by lawful means. Oliver v. Oliver, 11 C. B. N. S. 139, 8 Jur. N. S. 512, 31 L. J. C. P. 4, 5 L. T. Rep. N. S. 287, 10 Wkly. Rep. 18, 103 E. C. L. 139.

The right to the possession of muniments of title usually follows the title to the property. Cummings v. Tindall, 4 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 357; Towle v. Lovet, 6 Mass. 394; Robb v. Cherry, 98 Tenn. 72, 38 S. W. 412 (holding that where a mortgagor furnished the mortgagee with an abstract of title to the property, and thereafter, having purchased a portion of the property at the mortgage sale, but the mortgagee having purchased the greater portion, borrowed the abstract from the mortgagee, the latter could interest entitling him to possession.[14] Since the right of possession may arise from a special interest in the property,[15] it follows that the legal title is not always essential to the maintenance of detinue; but where plaintiff has no such special interest he must have the legal title.[16] maintain detinue therefor); Hall v. White, 3 C. & P. 136, 14 E. C. L. 490.

An executory contract of sale, reserving legal title in the seller, does not pass the title of the property to the buyer, although the property be delivered to the buyer, and hence the seller may recover such property in detinue against the buyer or any one claiming under him. Love v. Crook, 27 Ala. 624. See also Ervine v. Dotton, 6 Munf. (Va.) 231.

Property taken from thief.—Where one arrested for theft of goods other than money turned over to the sheriff a bag of money, admitting that it belonged to a certain person, and consenting to the delivery thereof to him, it was held that such person had a sufficient title to maintain detinue against the sheriff who had no better title. Spence v. McMillan, 10 Ala. 583.

Bailor.— Where the hirer of a slave is deprived of his possession during the term by a third person, and thereupon notifies the party of whom he hired and requests said party to sue for the slave in his stead, the latter may maintain detinue against such third person, even before the expiration of the term of the bailment. Sims v. Boynton, 32 Ala. 353, 70 Am. Dec. 540.

An heir may maintain detinue for the recovery of muniments of title to real estate which has descended to him. Cummings v. Tindall, 4 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 357; Towle v. Lovet, 6 Mass. 394. See also Hall v. White, 3 C. & P. 136, 14 E. C. L. 490.

A remainder-man may maintain detinue for the property after the termination of the particular estate therein. Miles v. Allen, 28 N. C. 88.

A reversioner may maintain detinue after the termination of the particular estate, but must show a valid title in the grantor of the reversion. Dunn v. Choate, 4 Tex. 14.

Things severed from realty.— In Leatherwood v. Sullivan, 81 Ala. 458, 1 So. 718, it was held that where the executors fail to sue in detinue for timber cut from wild and uncultivated lands belonging to the estate, the heirs or devisees might maintain the action.

One who had lost property in gambling might, under Ky. Acts (1833), § 20, recover it in an action of detinue. Morgan v. Lewis, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 243.

Where a sale has been induced by fraud, the seller may sue the purchaser in detinue; but if the property has passed to an innocent purchaser for value without notice, the first seller cannot recover it in detinue unless the first sale was absolutely void ab initio. Mansell v. Israel, 3 Bibb (Ky.) 510.

Where one surrenders property under mistake of fact, he may recover it in detinue from the person to whom it was so surrendered. Goff v. Golt, 5 Sneed (Tenn.) 562.

14. Boulden v. Estey Organ Co., 92 Ala. 182, 9 So. 283. See also Craig v. Shedden, 1 F. & F. 553.

A life-estate in personal property, derived under a trust whereby the trustee holds the legal title for the benefit of remainder-men, subject to the right of use and enjoyment by the life-tenants, is sufficient to deprive the trustee of the right to immediate possession of the property, and hence he cannot, in the lifetime of the life-tenants at least, maintain detinue against a purchaser from the life-tenants. Humphries v. Dawson, 38 Ala. 199.

15. See supra, III, B, 1; infra, III, C, 2.

16. Greene v. Lewis, 85 Ala. 221, 4 So. 740, 7 Am. St. Rep. 42; Jackson v. Rutherford, 73 Ala. 155; Huntley v. Ratliff, 27 N. C. 542; Burns v. Morrison, 36 W. Va. 423, 15 S. E. 62.

Where plaintiff has not had possession he must have legal title. Russell v. Walker, 73 Ala. 315; Foster v. Chamberlain, 41 Ala. 158; Reese v. Harris, 27 Ala. 301; Parsons v. Boyd, 20 Ala. 112; Peck v. Webber, 7 How. (Miss.) 658.

Title in third party see infra, III, B, 2, e.

Adverse possession see infra, III, B, 2, d.

Equitable interest see infra, III, B, 4.

A joint interest acquired by a third person pending action will defeat the action, as where plaintiff sued in detinue for a slave, under a right derived from one who had a life-interest in it, and pending the suit such person died, and plaintiff and defendant and others thereupon became joint owners of the slave, it was a good defense to the action. Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254.

Where plaintiff acquires his coowner's interest before the action is brought, he may maintain detinue against the bailee of the latter. Freeman v. Speegle, 83 Ala. 191, 3 So. 620.

One having a joint interest in a deed cannot maintain detinue against any of the other parties in interest who may have possession of the deed. The title to the deed is ambulatory between those who may have an interest in, and may have occasion to use it, and each is entitled to keep the deed from the other so long only as he actually retains it in his custody. Foster v. Crabb, 12 C. B. 136, 16 Jur. 835, 21 L. J. C. P. 189, 74 E. C. L. 136.

Joint owners of grant of arms.— Where a party obtained a grant of arms for himself and the descendants of his brother, and thereafter died, bequeathing all his property to his wife, it was held that the descendants of the brother could not maintain detinue against the widow for the recovery of the

b. Persons Holding Legal Title For Special Purposes — (i) MORTGAGEES[17] AND TRUSTEES.[18] A chattel mortgagee may, after default on the part of the mortgagor, maintain detinue for the recovery of the mortgaged property.[19] As against a third person he may maintain the action even before conditions broken.[20] A trustee may maintain detinue to recover the trust property,[21] whether the property be conveyed to him as security for a debt,[22] or for the use of another.[23] After the debt has become due he may maintain the action even against the grantor.[24]

(ii) EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.[25] An executor or administrator has a grant of arms, such grant being a sort of family document in which every member of the family was interested, and whoever was in possession thereof being entitled to keep it. Stubs v. Stubs, 1 H. & C. 257, 31 L. J. Exch. 510.

Joint devisees cannot maintain detinue for the bequest after one of them dies, and before an administrator has been appointed for his estate. Miller v. Eatman, 11 Ala. 609. See also Bell v. Hogan, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 536.

In a petitory action, plaintiff must recover on the strength of his own title, and cannot recover on the weakness of that of his adversary. Brack v. Wood, 11 La. Ann. 512.

Sufficiency of evidence.— In Clem v. Wise, 133 Ala. 403, 31 So. 986, it was held that, it appearing that the mortgage under which plaintiff claimed had been lost, the minutes of the corporation of which plaintiff claimed to be the assignee showing a sale of the mortgage to plaintiff and authorizing him as president of such corporation to transfer the mortgage to himself, taken in connection with plaintiff's testimony that he made such transfer, although he had not entered it on the back of the mortgage until after suit was brought, was sufficient to carry to the jury the question as to whether plaintiff was the legal owner of the mortgage.

17. Mortgagees generally see CHATTEL MORTGAGES.

18. Trustees generally see TRUSTS.

19. Mervine v. White, 50 Ala. 388; Morrison v. Judge, 14 Ala. 182; Hopkins v. Thompson, 2 Port. (Ala.) 433; Spaulding v. Scanland, 4 B. Mon. (Ky.) 365.

The fact that the mortgage has been assigned as collateral security for a debt does not affect the mortgagee's right to maintain detinue, where the mortgage is in his hands when the action is brought. Rotten v. Collier, 105 Ala. 581, 16 So. 921.

An assignee of a chattel mortgage may maintain detinue in his own name against a third party who has taken the property out of the possession of the mortgagee. Clem v. Wise, 133 Ala. 403, 31 So. 986; Graham v. Newman, 21 Ala. 497.

Mortgagee of crops.— A mortgagee of a growing crop may maintain detinue therefor; and the crop will be considered as growing from the time the seeds are in the ground. Wilkinson v. Ketler, 69 Ala. 435. A mortgagee of unplanted crops cannot maintain the action until after the crops have been delivered or some other act in confirmation of the mortgage has been done after the crops have come into existence. See infra, III, B, 4.

Sufficiency of evidence of title under mortgage.— In Buffkin v. Eason, 110 N. C. 264, 14 S. E. 749, it was held that the lower court erred in instructing the jury, in an action to recover possession of a lot of corn, to find that plaintiff was entitled to possession of the same under a certain chattel mortgage, and that the property was unlawfully detained, although the mortgage was put in evidence, and the subscribing witness testified to its execution, when defendant testified to facts inconsistent with it and its provisions, did not admit its execution and denied that possession of the corn had been demanded.

20. A stipulation allowing the mortgagor to retain possession being personal to the mortgagor and not assignable, the mortgagee may notwithstanding such a condition maintain detinue before conditions broken to recover the mortgaged property from a third person. Levi v. Legg, 23 S. C. 282.

21. Chambers v. Mandlin, 4 Ala. 477; Baker v. Washington, 5 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 142; Hundley v. Calloway, 45 W. Va. 516, 31 S. E. 937.

22. Brock v. Headen, 13 Ala. 370.

Evidence.— Where a trustee, to whom a slave has been conveyed as a security for a debt, institutes an action of detinue against a person not a party to the deed, for the recovery of such slave, the recital in the deed of trust and the production of the note to secure which the negro was conveyed, will be prima facie evidence of the bona fides of the debt thus secured. Hundley v. Buckner, 6 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 70.

23. O'Neill v. Henderson, 15 Ark. 235, 60 Am. Dec. 568; Hundley v. Buckner, 6 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 70. See also Crenshaw v. Anthony, Mart. & Y. (Tenn.) 102.

24. After the law day and before the extinguishment of the demand secured, the trustee may recover in detinue the property conveyed by the deed from the grantor or parties claiming under him, without being required to account for such property as he may have sold or disposed of. If defendant alleges a satisfaction of the deed by sales of other property or otherwise he must prove it. Brock v. Headen, 13 Ala. 370.

25. Executors and administrators generally see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

sufficient special property in the personalty belonging to the estate to maintain detinue for the recovery thereof.[26] Where he has had actual possession of the property, he may maintain the action in his individual right.[27] And he must sue in his own name where the detention complained of is after the death of his testator or intestate;[28] but where he has never had actual possession, he must rely on his right to the property in his representative capacity.[29]

c. Estoppel.[30] Plaintiff in detinue may be estopped by his previous conduct to assert title to the property.[31] Likewise defendant may be estopped to deny plaintiff's title.[32]

26. Wade v. Edwards, 1 N. C. 549. See also Green v. Kornegay, 49 N. C. 66, 67 Am. Dec. 261.

Detinue for muniments of title.— Although the heir is entitled to the possession of muniments of title to real estate which has descended to him, and may, in the absence of statutory provision to the contrary, sue the executor or administrator therefor, the executor or administrator may sue a stranger for muniments of title, especially where there is a statute making the decedent's real estate liable, in the event of a deficiency of personal property, to pay debts. Cummings v. Tindall, 4 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 357; Towle v. Lovet, 6 Mass. 394. See also Hall v. White, 3 C. & P. 136, 14 E. C. L. 490.

Detinue for slaves could be maintained by an executor, although slaves were made realty by statute, there being also a statute making them liable for the testator's debts. Cox v. Robertson, 1 Bibb (Ky.) 604.

Things severed from realty.— In Leatherwood v. Sullivan, 81 Ala. 458, 1 So. 718, it was held that an executor may maintain detinue for timber cut from wild and uncultivated lands.

Where an administrator lends property to another, in violation of his duty as administrator, he cannot on account of such violation sue the lender in detinue. Lawson v. Lay, 24 Ala. 184.

Where one of several joint owners dies before action in detinue for the detention of the joint property, it seems that his administrators may be joined with the survivors; but where one of the owners dies pending action, there should not be a revival of the action as to the decedent, but the action should proceed in the name of the survivors. Rose v. Burgess, 10 Leigh (Va.) 186.

27. Ikelheimer v. Chapman, 32 Ala. 676; Cox v. McKinney, 32 Ala. 461; Sims v. Boynton, 32 Ala. 353, 70 Am. Dec. 540; Walker v. Lauderdale, 17 Ala. 359; Thomas v. Tanner, 6 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 52.

28. Melton v. McDonald, 2 Mo. 45, 22 Am. Dec. 437.

29. Ikelheimer v. Chapman, 32 Ala. 676; Cox v. McKinney, 32 Ala. 461.

Proof of fiduciary capacity is not necessary unless it is denied by a plea. Willis v. Willis, 6 Dana (Ky.) 48.

30. Estoppel generally see ESTOPPEL.

31. Where an owner of personal property holds out another as authorized to pledge such property, the owner is estopped to maintain detinue against the pledgor and pledgee. Garth v. Howard, 5 C. & P. 346, 24 E. C. L. 599. A plaintiff in detinue is estopped from recovery by an executory agreement to release the property sued for. Franklin v. Hart, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 338.

Plaintiff held not estopped.— Huth & Co. employed Thompson to convey by boat certain ore to Lewis, Lewis assuming the risk of transportation. The boat sunk and Thompson asked Huth & Co. whether he should raise the ore, and was told to go to see Lewis about the matter. Thompson asked Lewis about it and Lewis told him that he was insured with Langton and that he, Thompson, should go to see Langton. Langton told Thompson to raise the ore. It was held that Huth & Co. were not estopped to maintain detinue for the ore as the owners thereof, there being nothing to show that either Huth & Co. or Lewis told Thompson that Langton was the owner, or that if Lewis did make such statement he had any authority so to do. Castellain v. Thompson, 13 C. B. N. S. 105, 32 L. J. C. P. 79, 7 L. T. Rep. N. S. 424, 11 Wkly. Rep. 147, 106 E. C. L. 105.

32. Where one who has possession of property disclaims the title thereto and holds it out as belonging to the estate of another, he is estopped, in an action by the administrator of such estate, to deny plaintiff's title and right of possession. Miller v. Jones, 26 Ala. 247.

Mere silence upon which no action has been predicated, no liability incurred, and from which no loss has been sustained, will estop defendant from denying plaintiff's title. Traun v. Keiffer, 31 Ala. 136.

The surrender of the property to the sheriff and the payment to him in money of the assessed value of other property, in obedience to an execution issued upon a judgment in detinue, which judgment is thereafter reversed, is no admission or acknowledgment of plaintiff's title. Traun v. Keiffer, 31 Ala. 136.

In detinue by mortgagee against mortgagor.— Under Acts (1882–1883), p. 31, providing that in suits where plaintiff's title is derived from a mortgage, defendant may put in issue the amount due thereon, and that should the verdict be for plaintiff then on payment of such amount and costs defendant may retain the property, a suggestion by defendant that plaintiffs derive title from a mortgage admits that plaintiffs have title, unless it has been divested by payment of the debt, leaving as the only issue what amount, if any, is due on such debt. Thompson v. Greene, 85 Ala. 240, 4 So. 735.

d. Adverse Possession by Defendant. Since adverse possession of personal property for the period prescribed by the statute of limitations as a bar to an action to recover personal property operates as a transfer of the title to the property, it is manifest that where defendant in detinue has had such possession for such period, plaintiff cannot maintain his action unless he relies on some special possessory interest superior to the right of possession incident to the ownership of legal title.[33]

e. Title in Third Party. It has been held that defendant in detinue may always defeat the action by showing that the title to the property is outstanding in a third person.[34] This doctrine seems to follow necessarily from the doctrine already noted, as to when plaintiff must rely on the legal title to the property;[35] but since prior possession alone is sufficient to give plaintiff a possessory interest sufficient to sustain the action as against any one not having a superior interest or right,[36] the doctrine above stated is too broad. The better rule seems to be that where plaintiff, never having had the possession of the property, relies solely on the legal title thereto as giving him the right of present possession, defendant may show that the legal title is outstanding in a third person, and this without connecting himself with such title;[37] but where plaintiff has had prior possession of the property, defendant cannot show title in a third person without connecting himself therewith.[38]

Where defendant claims under the same person under whom plaintiff claims title and sets up no other title, he is thereby estopped from asserting a paramount outstanding title in a third person with which he is in no way connected. Gardner v. Boothe, 31 Ala. 186.

33. See infra, IV, B, 1, b.

34. "Were this not the true doctrine of the law, that rule would be false which vests the property in the defendant on payment of the assessed damages; for no better title than that which the plaintiff had could be transferred to the defendant by operation of law; and the plaintiff having no title, the defendant could, by paying the damages, acquire none; and therefore, were there no other reason, he may defeat the plaintiff's action, by proving that he has no right." Tanner v. Allison, 3 Dana (Ky.) 422, 424. See also Robb v. Cherry, 98 Tenn. 72, 38 S. W. 412; Clossman v. White, 7 C. B. 43, 6 D. & L. 563, 18 L. J. C. P. 151, 62 E. C. L. 43.

35. See supra, III, B, 2, a.

36. See infra, III, C, 2.

37. McIntosh v. Parker, 82 Ala. 238, 3 So. 19; Foster v. Chamberlain, 41 Ala. 158; Gardner v. Booth, 31 Ala. 186; Miller v. Jones, 26 Ala. 247; McCurry v. Hooper, 12 Ala. 823, 46 Am. Dec. 280; Dozier v. Joyce, 8 Port. (Ala.) 303.

Where defendant acquired possession as administrator, and the action was against him in person, it was held that he might defend by showing title in the estate. Gamble v. Gamble, 11 Ala. 966.

Estoppel.—A distributee of an estate holding possession of property for the estate is estopped to deny the right of possession to be in the estate, and a purchaser at an execution sale against such person is likewise estopped, as against the administrator of the estate, from setting up title in a third person, without connecting himself therewith. Miller v. Jones, 26 Ala. 247.

Fraud in plaintiff's title is not available by defendant, unless he have a sufficient connection with such fraud as will entitle him to complain thereof. McGuire v. Shelby, 20 Ala. 456; Dunklin v. Wilkins, 5 Ala. 199.

38. Behr v. Gerson, 95 Ala. 438, 11 So. 115; Gafford v. Stearns, 51 Ala. 434; Hall v. Chapman, 35 Ala. 553; Sims v. Boynton, 32 Ala. 353, 70 Am. Dec. 540; Miller v. Jones, 26 Ala. 247; Dozier v. Joyce, 8 Port. (Ala.) 303; Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254; Horton v. Reynolds, 8 Tex. 284.

Sufficiency of connection with outstanding title.—A boarding-house keeper is sufficiently connected with the title to property belonging to his boarders, and situated in his house, to entitle him to set up such title in an action of detinue by an outsider against him for the recovery of such property. Behr v. Gerson, 95 Ala. 438, 11 So. 115. In detinue for a slave, by a surviving husband against one of his sons-in-law, it was held that defendant might set up an outstanding title in a trustee, to whom the slave was conveyed in trust for plaintiff's deceased wife for life, with remainder to her children. Lucas v. Daniels, 34 Ala. 188.

As between bailor and bailee the fact that the title to the property is in a third person is immaterial. Unless the bailee has a superior title under such third party, he must redeliver the goods to the bailor regardless of the question as to whom they belong. Saville v. Tancred, 3 Swanst. 141.

Possession of goods as trustee.—Where one is sued individually in detinue, he may defend by showing that he holds the goods as trustee in bankruptcy under the order of the federal court. Turrentine v. Blackwood, 125 Ala. 436, 28 So. 95, 82 Am. St. Rep. 254. It was further held in this case that it was not error to refuse to allow proof showing that at the time the trustee took possession plaintiff notified him that the property sued for be-

3. Joint Title or Interest. Whether the interest upon which plaintiff relies be the legal title or a special property or interest, his interest must be entire and exclusive, a joint interest being insufficient to enable him to maintain detinue without the joinder of the other parties in interest.[39] Where, however, one of several joint owners has a special property entitling him to the possession of the property, he may maintain detinue for the recovery thereof, notwithstanding the interest of his coöwners in the legal title.[40]

4. Equitable Interest. An equitable interest in personalty is not alone sufficient to sustain detinue for the recovery thereof.[41] longed to him, plaintiff, and that it was his property at the time the bankrupt court ordered the trustee to take charge thereof.

Estoppel.— The fact that defendant acquired possession tortiously does not estop him from setting up title in a third person, provided he connect himself therewith. Lucas v. Daniels, 34 Ala. 188.

39. Thomason v. Silvey, 123 Ala. 694, 26 So. 644; Sloan v. Wilson, 117 Ala. 583, 23 So. 145; Vinson v. Ardis, 81 Ala. 271, 6 So. 879; Graham v. Myers, 74 Ala. 432; Frierson v. Frierson, 21 Ala. 549; Parsons v. Boyd, 20 Ala. 112; Price v. Talley, 18 Ala. 21; Carlyle v. Patterson, 3 Bibb (Ky.) 93. But see Morning Star v. Stratton, 121 Ala. 437, 25 So. 573, where plaintiff was allowed to recover a bicycle, although a third party owned the tires on such bicycle, defendant having no interest whatever in the machine. No recovery can be had in an action of detinue by several plaintiffs, where it appears that one of the plaintiffs has been divested of his interest before suit was brought. Lewis v. Night, 3 Litt. (Ky.) 223; Nyberg v. Handelaar, [1892] 2 Q. B. 202, 56 J. P. 694, 61 L. J. Q. B. 709, 67 L. T. Rep. N. S. 361, 40 Wkly. Rep. 545; Atwood v. Ernest, 13 C. B. 881, 1 C. L. R. 738, 17 Jur. 603, 22 L. J. C. P. 225, 1 Wkly. Rep. 436, 76 E. C. L. 881. See Joint Tenancy; Tenants in Common.

40. Joint owners may by special agreement invest one of them with a special possessory interest sufficient to sustain detinue. Pierce v. Jackson, 56 Ala. 599; Nyberg v. Handelaar, [1892] 2 Q. B. 202, 56 J. P. 694, 61 L. J. Q. B. 709, 67 L. T. Rep. N. S. 361, 40 Wkly. Rep. 545.

Action between joint owners.— Where one of two joint owners of a stallion, which was purchased under an agreement whereby each owner was to have control of him during alternate years, has kept him longer than the terms of the contract allow, the other owner may maintain an action of detinue to recover possession. Raybourne v. Shakers' Soc., 30 S. W. 622, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 143.

41. Alabama.— Wetzler v. Kelly, 83 Ala. 440, 3 So. 747; Alabama State Bank v. Barnes, 82 Ala. 607, 2 So. 349; Gluck v. Cox, 75 Ala. 310; Jackson v. Rutherford, 73 Ala. 155; Columbus Iron Works Co. v. Renfo, 71 Ala. 577; Wilkinson v. Ketler, 69 Ala. 435; Grant v. Steiner, 65 Ala. 499; Rees v. Coats, 65 Ala. 256.

Iowa.— Berry v. Berry, 31 Iowa 415.

Kentucky.— Martin v. Poague, 4 B. Mon. 524.

Mississippi.— Hundley v. Buckner, 6 Sm. & M. 70.

North Carolina.— Jones v. Strong, 28 N. C. 367.

Tennessee.— Smith v. Mabry, 6 Yerg. 313.

England.— Barton v. Gainer, 3 H. & N. 387, 4 Jur. N. S. 715, 27 L. J. Exch. 390, 6 Wkly. Rep. 624, which was an action by an executor to recover railway debentures, and defendant was allowed to defend on the ground that the testator had given her the debentures, although the gift was ineffectual under the railway act to transfer the beneficiary interest in such debentures. Where a son insured his life and delivered the policy and premium receipts to his mother with the intention that she should obtain the benefit of the insurance, his administrator could not maintain detinue against the mother for the insurance policy, although the gift thereof to her was insufficient to transfer to her the beneficial interest therein. Rummens v. Hare, 1 Ex. D. 169, 46 L. J. Exch. 30, 34 L. T. Rep. N. S. 407, 24 Wkly. Rep. 385 [following Barton v. Gainer, 3 H. & N. 387, 4 Jur. N. S. 715, 27 L. J. Exch. 390, 6 Wkly. Rep. 624].

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Detinue," §§ 7, 8.

A cestui que trust cannot maintain detinue for a deed under which he claims against one to whom the trustee has delivered the deed to be kept for him. Foster v. Crabb, 12 C. B. 136, 16 Jur. 835, 21 L. J. C. P. 189, 74 E. C. L. 136. But see Robinson v. Brock, 1 Hen. & M. (Va.) 212, holding that where property is conveyed to a trustee for the use of a certain person, such person may after the death of the trustee maintain detinue for the property.

Equitable liens.— Reservation of a lien on personalty gives only an equitable title, not sufficient to support a statutory action in the nature of detinue. Jones v. Anderson, 76 Ala. 427.

An executor empowered to sell slaves could not, where slaves were made realty by statute, maintain detinue to recover them from the heirs. Dean v. Dean, 7 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 304.

A mortgagee of unplanted crops has only an equitable title to the crops, and hence cannot by virtue of the mortgage alone maintain detinue for the recovery thereof after they have come into existence. Wetzler v. Kelly, 83 Ala. 440, 3 So. 747; Columbus Iron Works Co. v. Renfo, 71 Ala. 577; Wilkinson v. Ketler, 69 Ala. 435; Grant v. Steiner, 65 Ala. 499; Rees v. Coats, 65 Ala. 256 [overruling dictum to the contrary in Brown v. Coats, 56 Ala.

5. Evidence[42] — a. Burden of Proof. The burden of proof is on plaintiff to prove the legal title or other interest in the property upon which he relies as giving him the right of possession;[43] but having proved such a title or interest in himself he need not go further and disprove a superior interest in defendant.[44]

b. Admissibility. The admissibility of evidence of plaintiff's title is governed by the rules of evidence applicable to proof of title in general.[45]

C. As Dependent Upon Prior Possession — 1. Necessity of Prior Possession. Prior possession of personal property is not essential to the right to maintain detinue for the recovery thereof. Any one having a legal interest in the 439]. But after the crop has been delivered, the mortgagee has the legal title and may maintain the action. Wilkinson v. Ketler, 69 Ala. 435. Likewise where, after the crop has come into existence, the mortgagor does some new act in confirmation of the mortgage, as for example delivering the crop to a carrier for transportation to the mortgagee, the mortgagee obtains the legal title and may maintain detinue. Columbus Iron Works Co. v. Renfo, 71 Ala. 577.

A legatee cannot, in the absence of statutory provisions to the contrary, maintain detinue for his legacy, where he has never had possession thereof. Worten v. Howard, 2 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 527, 41 Am. Dec. 607, holding that the rule had been changed by Howard & H. Miss. St. p. 412.

The devisee of slaves may maintain detinue therefor against a party taking them from his possession without showing that he had obtained possession of them with consent of the executor, slaves being made realty by statute. Grimes v. Grimes, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 594.

A distributee of a decedent could not at common law maintain detinue for the recovery of his distribution share, where he had never had possession thereof. Huddleston v. Huey, 73 Ala. 215; Reese v. Harris, 27 Ala. 301.

42. Evidence generally see Evidence.

43. Parsons v. Boyd, 20 Ala. 112; McCurry v. Hooper, 12 Ala. 823, 46 Am. Dec. 280; Traylor v. Marshall, 11 Ala. 458; Brewer v. Strong, 10 Ala. 961, 44 Am. Dec. 514; Tanner v. Allison, 3 Dana (Ky.) 422; Burns v. Morrison, 36 W. Va. 423, 15 S. E. 62.

Where plaintiff claims as assignee of a mortgage, and the execution of the mortgage is denied, he must prove such execution. Russell v. Walker, 73 Ala. 315.

Where plaintiff claims under a succession, he must prove not only the manner in which he acquired the title of the succession but also that the title was in the succession. Brown v. Brown, 15 La. Ann. 169.

44. Request to charge that "it is incumbent on plaintiff to prove to your satisfaction that the cattle sued for belonged to her when the suit was brought, and that defendant had no title or interest in the cattle, and no right to detain them," was properly refused, as placing on plaintiff the burden of proving more than was required to entitle her to a recovery. Bruce v. Bruce, 95 Ala. 563, 11 So. 197.

45. See Evidence.

Evidence that plaintiff did or did not include the property in a tax-assessment list furnished by him is admissible upon the question of his title to such property; and where plaintiff has shown that certain property, seemingly the same as that in controversy, was assessed to him, defendant may show that plaintiff had other property of the same character. Rowan v. Hutchinson, 27 Ala. 328.

Declarations in favor of plaintiff's title made by one under whom defendant claims, at a time when such person was in possession of the property, are admissible to prove title in plaintiff. Fralick v. Presley, 29 Ala. 457, 65 Am. Dec. 413. See also Spence v. McMillan, 10 Ala. 583. Likewise declarations by plaintiff in disparagement of his own title, while the property was in his possession, are admissible to disprove such title. Boatright v. Meggs, 4 Munf. (Va.) 145. But declarations of plaintiff in favor of his own ownership of the property in controversy, made while the property was not in his possession, are inadmissible. Rowan v. Hutchisson, 27 Ala. 328.

Admissions of defendant.— In detinue for slaves, against the wife of a decedent to whom plaintiff had hired the slaves under the charge of his overseer, plaintiff, to show the circumstances under which his property went into the possession of decedent, might prove a request made of him by the wife in the lifetime of her husband that the slaves might be taken from under the charge of the overseer to another place, and that he complied therewith. Rochelle v. Harrison, 8 Port. (Ala.) 351.

Evidence rebutting admission implied from silence.— Where defendant has proved that the property in controversy was appraised as a part of his intestate's estate in plaintiff's presence, and that plaintiff then asserted no title to the property, evidence of plaintiff's private assertions of title to one of the appraisers before the completion of the appraisement is admissible to rebut the admission implied from his silence. Wittick v. Keiffer, 31 Ala. 199; Traun v. Keiffer, 31 Ala. 136.

In detinue by a purchaser of a chattel at a constable's sale, the bill of sale by the constable is admissible to show title in plaintiff and the fact of sale, without first showing that a judgment and execution had been obtained against defendant in execution; but the sale cannot be shown by general notoriety. Steel v. Worthington, 7 Port. (Ala.) 266.

property which entitles him to the present possession may maintain the action.[46]

2. EFFECT OF PRIOR POSSESSION. Where one person wrongfully dispossesses another of personal property, the prior possession of the party whose possession is disturbed is sufficient to entitle him to maintain detinue against the wrong-doer.[47] Prior possession is sufficient furthermore to sustain detinue by the prior possessor against any one who cannot show a superior right of possession.[48] The

46. Cox v. McKinney, 32 Ala. 461; Hinton v. Nelms, 13 Ala. 222; Haynes v. Crutchfield, 7 Ala. 189; Pool v. Adkisson, 1 Dana (Ky.) 110; Meriwether v. Booker, 5 Litt. (Ky.) 254; Smart v. Clift, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 518; McDowell v. Hall, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 610; Tunstall v. McClelland, 1 Bibb (Ky.) 186; Goodman v. Boycott, 2 B. & S. 1, 8 Jur. N. S. 763, 31 L. J. Q. B. 69, 6 L. T. Rep. N. S. 25, 110 E. C. L. 1. See also supra, III, B, 2, a.

Detinue for deed to mortgaged property.— Where a mortgagor, pursuant to the surrender clause in the mortgage, delivered to the mortgagee a paper purporting to be the deed to the mortgagor, but which was in fact a mere forgery, and afterward delivered the true deed to a third party as security for an advance, it was held that the mortgagee might maintain detinue against such third party for the recovery of the deed, although the third party had no notice of the previous transaction. Newton v. Beck, 3 H. & N. 220, 4 Jur. N. S. 340, 27 L. J. Exch. 272, 6 Wkly. Rep. 443.

Insurance policy detained by agent.— An action of detinue may be maintained by the assured for the recovery of a policy of fire insurance, the premium for which has been paid, and which is wrongfully withheld by the agent who wrote it. Robinson v. Peterson, 40 Ill. App. 132.

An escrow may it seems be recovered in detinue by the party contingently entitled thereto, when his contingent right has become absolute. Carter v. Turner, 5 Sneed (Tenn.) 178.

Right of possession under stipulation between parties.— A dispute having arisen between plaintiff and defendant as to the right to certain personal property, a compromise was made by which defendant gave his note to plaintiff, which stipulated that the title to the property should vest in plaintiff until the payment of the note, whereupon the property was to go to defendant. It was held that the stipulation to the note gave plaintiff the right of possession and was sufficient to authorize him to maintain detinue for the property. Jones v. Pullen, 66 Ala. 306.

Where goods are delivered to one for delivery to another, the former may maintain detinue for them. Robinson v. Peterson, 40 Ill. App. 132.

47. Alabama.— Miller v. Jones, 26 Ala. 247; Shomo v. Caldwell, 21 Ala. 448; Phillips v. McGrew, 13 Ala. 255.

Kentucky.— Tanner v. Allison, 3 Dana 422; Townsend v. Burton, 24 S. W. 1069, 15 Ky. L. Rep. 648.

Mississippi.— Berry v. Hale, 1 How. 315.

Nebraska.— Grand Island Banking Co. v. Grand Island First Nat. Bank, 34 Nebr. 93, 51 N. W. 596.

Texas.— Calvit v. Cloud, 14 Tex. 53.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Detinue," § 5.

Compare O'Neal v. Baker, 47 N. C. 168, where it was held that plaintiff must have right of property as well as right of present possession, even as against a wrong-doer.

In a possessory action plaintiff may recover on the weakness of the title of his adversary. Brack v. Wood, 11 La. Ann. 512.

Possession by virtue of wrongful sale by administrator.— Although an administrator cannot sell the personal estate of his intestate at private sale, and without an order of the orphans' court, yet if he thus sells without authority and the property is delivered to the purchaser, and afterward taken from his possession wrongfully by one claiming to be a creditor of the intestate, the purchaser may maintain an action of detinue against the wrong-doer. Traylor v. Marshall, 11 Ala. 458.

Instruction.— In an action for cattle claimed by plaintiff to have been rightfully in its possession by virtue of a chattel mortgage, and to have been taken off and converted to its own use by defendant, who also claimed the right to their possession under a chattel mortgage, an instruction that when a person is in the rightful and peaceful possession of property, and a person not the owner, general or special, or entitled to the possession, wrongfully takes it from him and converts it to his own use, then the person who was so in possession can recover the full value of the property, for the wrong done, his possession being sufficient evidence of title in him against a wrong-doer, or one showing no right or title to the property, is correct. Grand Island Banking Co. v. Grand Island First Nat. Bank, 34 Nebr. 93, 51 N. W. 596.

Possession of infant.— In detinue brought in behalf of an infant for a slave, it appeared that the slave had been given to the infant, and left by the donor with the infant's mother for his benefit, the father being dead. It was held that the possession by the mother was to be considered the possession of the infant. Mortimer v. Brumfield, 3 Munf. (Va.) 122.

The burden of proof is on plaintiff to show his prior possession and the wrongful disturbance thereof by defendant. Tanner v. Allison, 3 Dana (Ky.) 422.

48. Jones v. Anderson, 76 Ala. 427; Huddleston v. Huey, 73 Ala. 215; Folmar v. Copeland, 57 Ala. 588; Miller v. Jones, 26 Ala. 247.

Possession by a lienor, having also the reason of this rule seems to be that possession of personalty raises a prima facie presumption of ownership.[49]

D. Necessity of Demand. Originally the action of detinue was commenced by the issuance of a præcipe, commanding defendant to show cause why the property sued for should not be delivered to plaintiff. This præcipe was a demand for the property, and defendant could avoid all liability by delivering the property, and no other demand was necessary, a summons or capias being issued in the event of defendant's failure to return the property. After the practice of issuing a præcipe ceased, the rule as to the necessity of a demand was still adhered to, and hence the rule that a previous demand is not essential to the right to maintain detinue.[50] The rule therefore as generally announced is that no previous demand upon the party in possession is necessary,[51] except in certain cases to entitle plaintiff to damages for the detention prior to the action.[52] This rule, however, is subject to qualification. Certainly no demand is necessary where the prospective plaintiff has an absolute right to immediate possession;[53] nor is it necessary as against one who sets up an adverse claim to the property;[54] but where a demand is necessary to perfect the right of present possession, it is likewise a condition precedent to the right to maintain detinue.[55] right of possession by virtue of his lien, entitles him to maintain detinue against any one disturbing his possession (Gafford v. Stearns, 51 Ala. 434); as for example against a sheriff who levies on the property under an attachment by the creditors of the owner of the property (Bryan v. Smith, 22 Ala. 534).

Action between mortgagees claiming same property.— In detinue for cattle claimed by plaintiff, while rightfully in its possession by virtue of a chattel mortgage, to have been wrongfully taken and converted by defendant, who also claimed under a chattel mortgage, an instruction that plaintiff to recover must show by a preponderance of the evidence that the right to possession which it claims by virtue of its mortgage was stronger and superior to the right of defendant to possession under his mortgage, is proper. Grand Island Banking Co. v. Grand Island First Nat. Bank, 34 Nebr. 93, 51 N. W. 596.

Adverse possession for the period prescribed by the statute of limitations as a bar to an action for the recovery of personalty gives the adverse possessor sufficient title to sustain detinue against any one who wrongfully detains the property. Stanley v. Earl, 5 Litt. (Ky.) 281, 15 Am. Dec. 66; Newby v. Blakey, 3 Hen. & M. (Va.) 57; Shelby v. Guy, 11 Wheat. (U. S.) 361, 6 L. ed. 495.

As against a claimant setting up a bona fide claim to the property, proof of a wrongful prior possession on the part of plaintiff is not sufficient to sustain the action. O'Donnell v. Burbridge, 20 La. Ann. 37.

49. Traylor v. Marshall, 11 Ala. 458; Grand Island Banking Co. v. Grand Island First Nat. Bank, 34 Nebr. 93, 51 N. W. 595.

The presumption may be rebutted by the circumstances attending the prior possession. Grand Island Banking Co. v. Grand Island First Nat. Bank, 34 Nebr. 93, 51 N. W. 596.

50. Marr v. Kübel, 4 Mackey (D. C.) 577; Cole v. Cole, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 340; Tunstall v. McClelland, 1 Bibb (Ky.) 186.

51. Alabama.— Dunn v. Davis, 12 Ala. 135; Vaughn v. Wood, 5 Ala. 304.

Kentucky.— Gentry v. McKeben, 5 Dana 34; Jones v. Henry, 3 Litt. 46; Cox v. Robertson, 1 Bibb 604; Tunstall v. McClelland, 1 Bibb 186 [overruling Cobb v. Gorden, decided in 1807].

Mississippi.— Carraway v. McNeice, Walk. 538.

Missouri.— Schulenberg v. Campbell, 14 Mo. 491.

North Carolina.— Sheppard v. Edwards, 3 N. C. 186; Anonymous, 3 N. C. 136. Contra, Elwick v. Rush, 1 Hayw. 28.

Texas.— Dunn v. Choate, 4 Tex. 14.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Detinue," § 12.

Contra.— Morton v. Stone, 30 U. C. Q. B. 158.

The fact that defendant is not in possession does not necessitate a demand. Easley v. Easley, 18 B. Mon. (Ky.) 86.

52. See infra, V.

53. Brock v. Headen, 13 Ala. 370; Jones v. Green, 20 N. C. 488.

Where possession is acquired tortiously, no demand is necessary to entitle the owner to maintain detinue against the tort feasor. O'Neill v. Henderson, 15 Ark. 235, 60 Am. Dec. 568; Robinson v. Keith, 25 Iowa 321; Irwin v. Wells, 1 Mo. 9.

54. Grice v. Jones, 1 Stew. (Ala. 254; Miles v. Allen, 28 N. C. 88; Jones v. Green, 20 N. C. 488; Knight v. Wall, 19 N. C. 125.

55. Oden v. Stubblefield, 2 Ala. 684; Grice v. Jones, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 254; Jones v. Green, 20 N. C. 488; Hunter v. Sevier, 7 Yerg. (Tenn.) 127.

Detinue for property levied on in attachment proceedings cannot be maintained against the attachment plaintiff without a previous demand upon him by the claimant, showing the nature of such claimant's claim to the property. Clark v. Orr, 11 U. C. Q. B. 436.

Who may make demand.—Where a demand is necessary, it may be made by an agent of the party entitled to possession of the property, and the agent need not produce his authority where such authority is not ques-

IV. LIABILITY IN DETINUE.

A. In General. Any one who wrongfully detains the personal property of another is liable to the latter in detinue.[56] This rule arises from the very nature of the cause of action in detinue and is settled beyond dispute.[57] There is, however, some confusion, and even conflict, as to what is a detention within the rule, as for example where defendant is not in possession of the property when the action is brought, or where the property has been lost or has perished.[58] The detention furthermore must be as above indicated detention of the property of another, that is, of plaintiff,[59] and must be wrongful.[60]

B. As Affected by Interest in the Property — 1. Legal Title — a. In General. Since plaintiff in detinue must have the legal title to the property, unless tioned by the party upon whom the demand is made. Barlow v. Brock, 25 Iowa 308. The demand may be made by one of two persons jointly entitled to possession. Knight v. Wall, 19 N. C. 125. It may be made by the guardian of an insane person. Tolson v. Garner, 15 Mo. 494.

Evidence of demand.— A note addressed by plaintiff to defendant before the commencement of the action, requiring defendant to deliver to the bearer the chattel for the recovery of which the action is brought, may be read to the jury to show a demand and refusal. Haynes v. Crutchfield, 7 Ala. 189.

56. Alabama.— Jesse French Piano, etc., Co. v. Bradley, 138 Ala. 177, 35 So. 44; Oliver v. McClellan, 21 Ala. 675: Peirce v. Hill, 9 Port. 151, 33 Am. Dec. 306; Bettis v. Taylor, 8 Port. 564.

Arkansas.— Danley v. Edwards, 1 Ark. 437.

Kentucky.— Owings v. Frier, 2 A. K. Marsh. 268, 12 Am. Dec. 393; Mansell v. Israel, 3 Bibb 510.

Missouri.— Schulenberg v. Campbell, 14 Mo. 491; Overfield v. Bullitt, 1 Mo. 749.

New Hampshire.— Dame v. Dame, 43 N. H. 37, quære as to effect of tortious possession.

United States.— Bernard v. Herbert, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,347, 3 Cranch C. C. 346.

England.— Kettle v. Bromsall, Willes 118.

Infants.— In Oliver v. McClellan, 21 Ala. 675, it was held that an infant may be sued in detinue. This decision was based on the ground that the action of detinue, especially when based on a conversion and detention, is an action ex delicto.

A sheriff may render himself liable in detinue by wrongfully seizing and detaining property under legal process. Governor v. Gibson, 14 Ala. 326; Easly v. Dye, 14 Ala. 158, holding that detention by a deputy sheriff is detention by the sheriff. But see infra, IV, B, 2.

Attaching creditors may render themselves liable in detinue by appearing in the action against them and the sheriff, and justifying under the sheriff, although they had no actual knowledge of the wrongful seizure complained of. Robinson v. Keith, 25 Iowa 321.

A United States marshal is liable in detinue for the recovery of property wrongfully seized by him under an execution. Bissell v. Lindsay, 9 Ala. 162.

Detention from an administrator furnishes a cause of action in detinue in favor of the administrator personally, and not in his representative capacity. Melton v. McDonald, 2 Mo. 45, 22 Am. Dec. 437. See supra, III, B, 2, b, (II).

Persons having no control over property.— Where the maker and indorser of promissory notes placed them in the hands of stakeholders to be delivered to the maker's creditors upon certain conditions, it was held that by ordering the stakeholders not to deliver the notes, the indorser did not render himself liable in detinue to the creditors, the case being different from one where property is in the hands of defendant's servant. Latter v. White, L. R. 5 H. L. 578, 41 L. J. Q. B. 342.

Executors and administrators are liable as such in detinue when, and only when, the property sought to be recovered has been detained by the decedent and has come into the actual possession of the administrator or executor. Brewer v. Strong, 10 Ala. 961, 44 Am. Dec. 514; Gentry v. McKehen, 5 Dana (Ky.) 34; Mobley v. Runnels, 14 N. C. 303; Catlett v. Russell, 6 Leigh (Va.) 344; Allen v. Harlan, 6 Leigh (Va.) 42, 29 Am. Dec. 205. But see Jones v. Littlefield, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 133, holding that executors and administrators are never liable as such in detinue. An executor or administrator is liable individually where the property sought to be recovered has come into his possession and is detained by him. Bettis v. Taylor, 8 Port. (Ala.) 564; Mansell v. Israel, 3 Bibb (Ky.) 510; Denny v. Booker, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 427; Clapp v. Walters, 2 Tex. 130; Royall v. Eppes, 2 Munf. (Va.) 479. The fact that an administrator as such detains property jointly with his co-administrator does not affect his individual liability, where the property is in his actual possession. Smith v. Wiggins, 3 Stew. (Ala.) 221. An administrator or executor who has acted in good faith in detaining the property is entitled to reimbursement for the estate where a personal judgment is rendered against him. Bettis v. Taylor, 8 Port. (Ala.) 564.

57. See supra, II, A.

58. See infra, IV, C.

59. See supra, III; infra, IV, B.

60. See infra, IV, B.

he have a special possessory interest,[61] where he has no such special interest defendant may always escape liability by showing title in himself.[62]

b. Title by Adverse Possession. Adverse possession of personal property for the period prescribed by the statute of limitations as a bar to an action for the 61. See supra, III, B, 2.

62. Slaughter v. Cunningham, 24 Ala. 260, 60 Am. Dec. 463.

Where the owner forcibly takes possession of his property from one not having the right to the possession thereof, he is not thereby rendered liable in detinue to the party dispossessed. Carroll v. Pathkiller, 3 Port. (Ala.) 279; Neely v. Lyon, 10 Yerg. (Tenn.) 473.

A title based on mistake of law and fact is not available in detinue against the party who parted with his title by reason of such mistake. Goff v. Gott, 5 Sneed (Tenn.) 562.

One who wins money in gambling acquires no title thereto as against the party who lost it. Morgan v. Lewis, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 243.

A fraudulent title in defendant will not relieve him from liability in detinue to the party from whom the title was obtained (Mansell v. Israel, 3 Bibb (Ky.) 510); or to persons claiming under such party (Hinton v. Nelms, 13 Ala. 222).

A release from a stranger, or a transfer of all his interest in the property, is admissible evidence for defendant in detinue, as tending to show title in himself. Slaughter v. Cunningham, 24 Ala. 260, 60 Am. Dec. 463.

Trustee for use of another — Right to deed. —In Stoker v. Yerby, 11 Ala. 322, it was held that a trustee seized of realty for the use of a religious society, did not have such an interest in the land as would entitle him to defend in detinue for the deed, as against the acting trustees of the society, who were entitled to its possession.

An innocent purchaser for value and without notice, from one in possession, and who has been vested by the owner with apparent ownership, as for example by a conditional or merely voidable but not void sale, is not liable in detinue to the former owner. Sumner v. Woods, 52 Ala. 94; Mansell v. Israel, 3 Bibb (Ky.) 510. But a purchaser from a mere trespasser acquires no title and is liable to the owner of the property, although the purchase was without notice of the seller's lack of title. Justice v. Mendell, 14 B. Mon. (Ky.) 12. See, generally, SALES.

A purchaser from an agent duly authorized in the premises acquires a sufficient title to defeat detinue by the principal, although the agent does not report the sale to the principal. Miller v. Phillips, etc., Co., 44 S. W. 430, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1805. But where the purchaser knows that the agent is selling the property as his own, with a view to appropriating the proceeds, he acquires no such title as will defeat detinue by the principal. Case v. Jennings, 17 Tex. 661. See AGENCY; SALES.

A mortgagor of chattels in Alabama may defend an action in detinue by the mortgagee for the recovery of the mortgaged property by showing full payment of the mortgage debt, there being a statute (Ala. Code, § 1870) which provides that "the payment of a mortgage debt, whether of real or personal property, divests the title passing by the mortgage." Lampley v. Knox, 92 Ala. 625, 8 So. 822; Dryer v. Lewis, 57 Ala. 551. But part payment will not prevent a recovery of all the property. Lampley v. Knox, 92 Ala. 625, 8 So. 822; Morrison v. Judge, 14 Ala. 182. The mortgagor is also allowed by statute to plead usury in the mortgage debt. Bates v. Crowell, 122 Ala. 611, 25 So. 217.

One tenant in common is not liable in detinue against the other tenant, unless there has been a destruction of the particular chattel or something equivalent to it. Morgan v. Marquis, 2 C. L. R. 276, 9 Exch. 145, 23 L. J. Exch. 21, holding that detinue would not lie by the assignee in bankruptcy of one of two tenants in common against a party who sold the common property after the bankruptcy under the direction of the solvent tenant. See, generally, TENANCY IN COMMON.

Fraud revesting title in defendant.—Where, in detinue by a chattel mortgagee against a mortgagor, defendant answers that the mortgage was void because procured by plaintiff's fraud, plaintiff may reply that the mortgage was given in consideration of the surrender of a former mortgage, and that defendant has not tendered return of the old mortgage, although he had knowledge of the fraud. Henderson v. Boyett, 126 Ala. 172, 28 So. 86.

Detinue for title deeds to mortgaged property cannot be maintained by the mortgagor against the mortgagee until there has been an actual payment of the mortgage debt. Tender of payment by the mortgagor and wrongful refusal by the mortgagee is insufficient. In such case the mortgagor's remedy is by an action to redeem or by a summary application on the terms of substituting for the security a sum of money equal to the mortgage debt, with interest and probable costs. The reason of this rule is that in the case of a mortgage the mortgagee receives the entire title, and not a mere special property, as in the case of a pledge. New South Wales Bank v. O'Connor, 14 App. Cas. 273, 58 L. J. P. C. 82, 60 L. T. Rep. N. S. 467, 38 Wkly. Rep. 465.

In detinue to recover crops planted on defendant's land by plaintiff and gathered by defendant, defendant may put in evidence his title to the land in order to show constructive possession by him of all that portion of the land not in plaintiff's actual possession, and thus to limit plaintiff's right of recovery recovery thereof gives the party holding such possession a sufficient title to defeat an action of detinue by the former owner of the property [63]

2. Special Interest Justifying Detention. One who has a special interest in personal property which entitles him to the possession thereof is not liable in detinue, even to the holder of the legal title.[64] An officer who has seized propto the crop raised on land in his actual possession. Stewart v. Tucker, 106 Ala. 319, 17 So. 385.

63. Alabama.— Benje v. Creagh, 21 Ala. 151; Brown v. Brown, 5 Ala. 508.

Kentucky.— Duckett v. Crider, 11 B. Mon. 188; Birney v. Richardson, 5 Dana 424.

North Carolina.— White v. White, 18 N. C. 260.

Texas.— Young v. Epperson, 14 Tex. 618.

Virginia.— Elam v. Bass, 4 Munf. 301.

See, generally, Limitations of Actions.

Conflict of laws.— In computing the time of adverse possession necessary to constitute a defense the law of the state in which the possession was had controls. Brown v. Brown, 5 Ala. 508.

When the statute begins to run.— In Elwick v. Rush, 2 N. C. 28, it was held that the statute of limitations begins to run from the time when the owner of the property acquires knowledge that the property is being held adversely. In Young v. Epperson, 14 Tex. 618, it was held that the statute runs from demand for and refusal to deliver possession. In Spackman v. Foster, 11 Q. B. D. 99, 47 J. P. 455, 52 L. J. Q. B. 418, 48 L. T. Rep. N. S. 670, 31 Wkly. Rep. 548, it was held that the statute of limitations does not begin to run till demand and refusal to give up the property; as where plaintiff's title deeds were fraudulently taken from him and pledged to a third person who had no knowledge of the fraud, it was held that the mere holding by the pledgee did not amount to a conversion, and hence that the statute of limitations did not begin to run against an action of detinue by the owner until he had demanded the deeds and the pledgee had refused to give them up. In Miller v. Dell, [1891] 1 Q. B. 468, 60 L. J. Q. B. 404, 63 L. T. Rep. N. S. 693, 39 Wkly. Rep. 342, the decision was almost identical with that in Spackman v. Foster, 11 Q. B. D. 99, 47 J. P. 455, 52 L. J. Q. B. 418, 48 L. T. Rep. N. S. 670, 31 Wkly. Rep. 548, and Wilkinson v. Verity, L. R. 6 C. P. 206, 40 L. J. C. P. 141, 24 L. T. Rep. N. S. 32, 19 Wkly. Rep. 604, was explained, attention being called to the fact that in Spackman v. Foster, and in the case under consideration, the first conversion was by one party, and the conversion arising from demand and wrongful refusal to deliver was by another party. In Wilkinson v. Verity, L. R. 6 C. P. 206, 40 L. J. C. P. 141, 24 L. T. Rep. N. S. 32, 19 Wkly. Rep. 604, it was held that where the action is founded on conversion only, as it needs must be when there is a bare taking and withholding under circumstances which do not show a trust for the owner, the statute of limitations runs from the time when the property was first wrongfully dealt with; but that where the property is delivered to a person for safe custody and such person converts it, the owner may elect to consider as his cause of action either the conversion or the bailee's refusal to deliver the property upon demand, and that therefore, after such demand and refusal, defendant cannot set up the statute of limitations as running from the first conversion of the property. In Marr v. Kübel, 4 Mackey (D. C.) 577, it was held that the statute of limitations does not begin to run in favor of a bailee until he asserts an adverse claim to the property.

Purpose of adverse holding immaterial.— In White v. White, 18 N. C. 260, it was held that the possession of slaves for more than three years, by trustees of a religious society, for its exclusive benefit, and against the rights of others, is a bar to an action of detinue for the slaves, notwithstanding that the society considered slavery sinful, and held the slaves for the purpose of giving them the advantages of free men.

64. Clossman v. White, 7 C. B. 43, 6 D. & L. 563, 18 L. J. C. P. 151, 62 E. C. L. 43. The gist of the action of detinue is the wrongful detention of property, and therefore it cannot be maintained where the detention is permissive, so long as that kind of possession continues. Benje v. Creagh, 21 Ala. 151.

A stakeholder who holds property for the purpose of delivering it to another upon the performance of certain conditions is not liable in detinue to such other person until the conditions have been performed. Reynolds v. Waddell, 12 U. C. Q. B. 9.

An agent or servant in possession of property which is entirely subject to the control of his principal or master is not liable in detinue to a third party claiming such property. Parker v. Stevens, 12 U. C. C. P. 81. But see Pool v. Adkisson, 1 Dana (Ky.) 110; and infra, note 78.

A bailee who has no control over the property except to keep it for the bailor, and who is obliged under the terms of the bailment to redeliver it to the bailor is not liable in detinue to any one other than the bailor. Kyle v. Swem, 99 Ala. 573, 12 So. 410, where the bailor was the sheriff who had levied upon the property under a writ of attachment. Where the property has been previously levied by the sheriff and delivered to defendant as bailee, the giving of a forthcoming bond by defendant does not terminate the bailment so as to preclude the defendant from denying possession in his own right. Kyle v. Swem, 99 Ala. 573, 12 So. 410.

Set-off or recoupment of damages cannot be set up as a defense in an action of detinue. Brock v. Forbes, 126 Ala. 319, 28 So. 590; Chilton v. Carrington, 15 C. B. 95, 3

erty under a valid legal process against the owner is not liable in detinue to the owner, or to any one claiming under him.[65] Likewise a lienor in possession of property subject to his lien is not liable in detinue to the owner until the lien has been discharged.[66] Nor is a pledgee liable in detinue to the owner of the pledged

C. L. R. 138, 1 Jur. N. S. 89, 24 L. J. C. P. 10, 3 Wkly. Rep. 17, 80 E. C. L. 95.

Plaintiff's refusal to give a receipt to defendant when demanding the goods from defendant is no defense, where defendant knew that the goods belonged to plaintiff. Barnett v. Crystal Palace Co., 2 F. & F. 443, 4 L. T. Rep. N. S. 403.

Usury cannot be pleaded as a defense in an action of detinue based on a contract under which plaintiff claims the property from defendant. By statute in Alabama, however, usury may be pleaded in an action of detinue based on a mortgage, but not where such action is based on conditional sale. Bates v. Crowell, 122 Ala. 611, 25 So. 217.

A verbal mortgage being void under the statute of frauds, where the vendor in a verbal contract of sale retakes the property after having delivered it to the vendee, he cannot, in an action of detinue by the vendee, defend on the ground that it was stipulated in the contract of sale that the property should stand good for itself until it was paid for. Barnhill v. Howard, 104 Ala. 412, 16 So. 1.

Equitable defenses under Iowa statute.— In an action by a husband against his wife for the possession of a stock of goods, an answer alleging that plaintiff is indebted to defendant on long and complicated accounts; that defendant is liable for the price of part of said goods, and for money received for investment by plaintiff as her agent; that defendant put money into the business; and that plaintiff is insolvent, and has fraudulently confessed judgment in favor of his mother, shows no such equitable defense as is allowable by Iowa Code (1873), § 2635. Such defenses are counter-claims forbidden by section 3226. Palmer v. Palmer, 90 Iowa 17, 57 N. W. 645.

Where a seller reserves title in himself until payment, and the buyer thereafter for sufficient cause offers to rescind and to return the property provided the seller will refund the amount paid thereon, until such payment has been refunded by the seller the buyer has a sufficient possessory interest in the property to defeat detinue by the seller. Jesse French Piano, etc., Co. v. Bradley, 138 Ala. 177, 35 So. 44.

Interest in patent.— In In re Casey's Patents, [1892] 1 Ch. 104, 65 L. T. Rep. N. S. 40, it was held that the original patentees of a certain invention might maintain detinue, to recover the letters patent, against one to whom they had assigned a one-third interest in such patents, and to whom they had delivered the letters patent in order that he might sell the patents, he, however, having failed to effect a sale.

Where a landlord distrains his tenant's property for rent, the tenant may, after a sufficient tender made before impounding, maintain detinue for the recovery of such property. Loring v. Warburton, E. B. & E. 507, 4 Jur. N. S. 634, 28 L. J. Q. B. 31, 6 Wkly. Rep. 602, 96 E. C. L. 507.

65. Thompson v. Jones, 84 Ala. 279, 4 So. 169; McBrayer v. Dillard, 49 Ala. 174.

Ohio statute.— Where the levy is at the instance of a claimant of the property in proceedings before a justice of the peace the sheriff is not liable in detinue. Ralston v. Oursler, 12 Ohio St. 105.

Excessiveness of the levy cannot be considered where the process was lawful and the property was subject to the levy. Thompson v. Jones, 84 Ala. 279, 4 So. 169.

Justification in nature of set-off.— Where plaintiff sued for corn which he claimed to have purchased from an execution defendant, and to have reduced to possession by stacking it in a certain portion of such defendant's field, it was held that defendant sheriff, who had levied on all the corn in the field, might justify the detention of the portion sued for by showing that plaintiff had taken an equal quantity of corn from another portion of the field. Hanna v. Hawks, 31 Iowa 146.

Act of parliament relating to stolen goods. — Under 2 & 3 Vict. c. 71, § 29, where a person was arrested for larceny, and the goods charged to have been stolen came into the hands of an officer by virtue of his office, such officer could protect himself from an action of detinue by the accused by obtaining an order from a police magistrate directing the disposition of the goods. Bullock v. Dunlap, 13 Cox C. C. 367, 2 Ex. D. 43, 46 L. J. Exch. 150, 35 L. T. Rep. N. S. 633, 25 Wkly. Rep. 98.

66. Seals v. Edmondson, 73 Ala. 295, 49 Am. Rep. 51; Castellain v. Thompson, 13 C. B. N. S. 105, 32 L. J. C. P. 79, 7 L. T. Rep. N. S. 424, 11 Wkly. Rep. 147, 106 E. C. L. 105 (where it was held that the defendant had no lien); Dirks v. Richards, C. & M. 626, 6 Jur. 562, 4 M. & G. 574, 5 Scott N. R. 534, 41 E. C. L. 340; Mecklenburgh v. Gloyn, 13 Wkly. Rep. 291; Riorden v. Brown, 1 U. C. C. P. 199. See also Reed v. Harrison, 189 Pa. St. 614, 42 Atl. 301.

Waiver of lien.— Where, upon demand for the property by the owner, the lienor does not insist on his lien, he thereby waives it so far as his right to detain the property on account thereof is concerned. Spence v. McMillan, 10 Ala. 583. Likewise where the lienor, upon demand of the owner for delivery, claims a lien on the property on account of a debt due by a third person, the lienor thereby waives his lien for the debt due from the owner, and the latter may maintain detinue without tendering the amount of such lien. Dirks v. Richards, C. & M. 626, 6 Jur. 562, 4 M. & G. 574, 5 property, until the amount secured by the pledge has been paid, or the lien of the pledge has otherwise been discharged.[67]

3. EVIDENCE.[68] The burden of proving title or possessory interest in himself is upon defendant.[69] Admissibility of evidence to prove title or interest in defendant in detinue is controlled by the general principles applicable to the admissibility of evidence to prove title.[70]

Scott N. R. 534, 41 E. C. L. 340. But see Scarfe v. Morgan, 1 H. & H. 292, 7 L. J. Exch. 324, 4 M. & W. 270, where it was held that where a bailee, having a lien under the terms of the bailment, refuses to deliver the property to the bailor, claiming not only the particular lien but also a lien for the general balance between the parties, the particular lien was not thereby waived.

A lien in favor of an agent against his principal on property in the agent's possession does not justify the principal in detaining the property as against the party entitled to the possession thereof. Anderson v. Passman, 7 C. & P. 193, 32 E. C. L. 568.

One who by fraud has secured possession of goods from a carrier cannot withhold the property from the carrier on account of freight which he has paid, when he is unable to place the carrier in statu quo, on account of having disposed of some of the property. Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Walker, 128 Ala. 368, 30 So. 738.

Where a sheriff wrongfully seizes property under legal process and pays freight thereon in order to obtain it from the railroad company, the owner of the property may sue the purchaser at the sale made by the sheriff, without paying or tendering payment of the freight charges. Gluck v. Cox, 90 Ala. 331, 8 So. 161.

Where one has sold another's property without authority, the owner may maintain detinue against the purchaser without tendering the consideration paid by such purchaser. Morton v. Stone, 30 U. C. Q. B. 158.

67. Payment or tender is a condition precedent to the right of the pledgor to maintain detinue against the pledgee for the property. Halliday v. Holgate, L. R. 3 Exch. 299, 37 L. J. Exch. 174, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 656, 17 Wkly. Rep. 13; Donald v. Suckling, L. R. 1 Q. B. 585, 7 B. & S. 783, 12 Jur. N. S. 795, 35 L. J. Q. B. 232, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 772, 15 Wkly. Rep. 13; Yungmann v. Briesemann, 67 L. T. Rep. N. S. 642, 4 Reports 119, 41 Wkly. Rep. 148.

Waiver of tender or payment.— A subpledge by the pledgee is not a waiver of payment or tender as a condition precedent, etc. Donald v. Suckling, L. R. 1 Q. B. 585, 7 B. & S. 783, 12 Jur. N. S. 795, 35 L. J. Q. B. 232, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 772, 15 Wkly. Rep. 13. Nor is payment or tender waived by the pledgee's refusal to deliver the goods to the pledgor on demand on the ground that the goods had been sold to him. Yungmann v. Briesemann, 67 L. T. Rep. N. S. 642, 4 Reports 119, 41 Wkly. Rep. 148.

Collateral claims by the pledgee against the pledgor will not justify the former in detaining the property after payment or tender of the pledge debt. Chilton v. Carrington, 15 C. B. 95, 3 C. L. R. 138, 1 Jur. N. S. 89, 24 L. J. C. P. 10, 3 Wkly. Rep. 17, 80 E. C. L. 95.

68. Evidence generally see EVIDENCE.

69. Bruce v. Bruce, 95 Ala. 563, 11 So. 197.

Where defendant relies on adverse possession the burden is on him to prove its length. Darden v. Allen, 12 N. C. 466.

70. See EVIDENCE. See also supra, III, B, 5, b.

Declarations by defendant in disparagement of his own title are admissible where he relies upon such title as a defense. Miller v. Jones, 26 Ala. 247. See also Spence v. McMillan, 10 Ala. 583. Declarations by one under whom defendant claims, made while the property was in the possession of such person, and in disparagement of his title, are likewise admissible against defendant. Fralick v. Presley, 29 Ala. 457, 65 Am. Dec. 413; Miller v. Jones, 29 Ala. 174; Carrel v. Early, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 270. But declarations of defendant while in possession in his own favor are not admissible to prove his title. Brown v. Brown, 5 Ala. 508, where defendant sought to sustain his title to the property by evidence of his own declarations made when demand for such property was made upon him.

Where a plea in abatement has been sustained, evidence that defendant is not, but that his wife is, the owner of the goods is inadmissible on the trial of the issue as to the value of the goods which are in plaintiff's hands. Rand v. Gibson, 109 Ala. 266, 19 So. 533.

Character of defendant's possession, whether adverse or not, cannot be proved by general reputation nor by the opinion of witnesses as to the actual condition of the property. Benje v. Creagh, 21 Ala. 151.

Where defendant claims under a will, and plaintiff claims under a parol gift from the testator, evidence of the testator's insanity when he executed the will is admissible, since if plaintiff's title under the gift is good he may recover regardless of the will, and if such title is not valid he cannot recover in any event. Bryant v. Ingraham, 16 Ala. 116.

Where plaintiff claims under a bill of sale, and defendant claims under the will of the seller, defendant may show that the testator had adverse possession as against plaintiff, and the will is admissible to show defendant's connection with the possession of the testator. Williams v. Haney, 3 Ala. 371.

Rebuttal of admission implied from failure to include property in tax-list.— In an action of detinue for slaves, plaintiff proved that defendant was present when a tax schedule, in-

C. As Dependent Upon Defendant's Possession — 1. In General. Liability in detinue cannot arise except on account of actual possession of the property, either at the time of the action or at some time prior thereto.[71]

2. Transfer of Possession. There seems to be some confusion as to the effect cluding the slaves in controversy as the property of plaintiff, was handed to the tax assessor, and that defendant made no return of the slaves as taxable property belonging to him. It was held that defendant could not show that afterward on the same day he corrected his list so as to include the slaves, although it appeared that he remarked at the time that he had intended to give in the slaves, but plaintiff relieved him of that, and he asked permission to correct any mistake, and spoke of getting advice. McGehee v. Mahone, 37 Ala. 258.

71. Berlin Mach. Works v. Alabama City Furniture Co., 112 Ala. 488, 20 So. 418; Gilbreath v. Jones, 66 Ala. 129; Hall v. Amos, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 89, 17 Am. Dec. 42; Burton v. Brashear, 3 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 276; Jones v. Dowle, 1 Dowl. P. C. N. S. 391, 11 L. J. Exch. 52, 9 M. & W. 19; Clark v. Orr, 11 U. C. Q. B. 436.

Constructive possession by reason of a contract for the purchase of the property from one who has actual possession is insufficient to render the purchaser liable in detinue to the owner. Burns v. Morrison, 36 W. Va. 423, 15 S. E. 62.

Possession by a deputy sheriff under a levy is possession by the sheriff. Easly v. Dye, 14 Ala. 158.

The possession must continue until plaintiff's right of possession accrues. Goodman v. Boycott, 2 B. & S. 1, 8 Jur. N. S. 763, 31 L. J. Q. B. 69, 6 L. T. Rep. N. S. 25, 110 E. C. L. 1; Crossfield v. Such, 8 Exch. 825, 22 L. J. Exch. 325, 1 Wkly. Rep. 470, holding that an administrator cannot maintain detinue against a party who, prior to the granting of the letters of administration, was in possession of property belonging to the estate, but who parted with such property before such letters were granted.

Presumption of continuance of possession. Proof that the articles detained were in defendant's possession three days before the action was brought raises the presumption that they were in his possession at the time of the action. Downs v. Bailey, 135 Ala. 329, 33 So. 151. See also Street v. McClerkin, 77 Ala. 580, where it was held that proof of defendant's prior possession was, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, sufficient to sustain a finding of the jury that defendant had possession when the action was brought.

A boarding-house keeper into whose house a boarder carries property which is recognized by the boarding-house keeper to be wholly the property of the boarder and subject only to his control, no claim of right or possession being made thereto by the boarding-house keeper, is not liable in detinue at the suit of a third party claiming such property. Behr v. Gerson, 95 Ala. 438, 11 So. 115.

Where a process which has been levied on property is released, the sheriff who seized the property under such process holds it as the mere bailee of the owner, and the possession of the former is the possession of the latter, and hence detinue may be maintained against the latter, although the property has not come back to his actual possession. Henderson v. Felts, 58 Ala. 590; McArthur v. Carrie, 32 Ala. 75, 70 Am. Dec. 529.

Whether one holds the property for himself or for his firm is immaterial, possession by one partner not being inconsistent with possession by the firm. Nelson v. Howison, 122 Ala. 573, 25 So. 211.

Possession by an agent is possession by the principal. Anderson v. Passman, 7 C. & P. 193, 32 E. C. L. 568.

The presumption as to the possession of a slave child only eighteen months old was held, in King v. Mims, 7 Dana (Ky.) 267, to be that the child was in the possession of the person having possession of its mother.

The method of acquiring possession is immaterial (see supra, II, A), except where the property has been lost or destroyed (see infra, IV, C, 2, 3, 4).

Sufficiency of possession a question for the jury.— In Nelson v. Howison, 122 Ala. 573, 25 So. 211, it appearing that the property, an engine and boiler, was claimed by a firm of which defendant was the only male member, the engine and boiler being operated by a general manager employed by the firm, defendant being present on occasions and giving orders in connection with such operation, it was held that the sufficiency of defendant's possession was a question for the jury. Where it appeared merely that defendant had, before the suit brought, "put the slave in question in the possession of his brother-in-law," but without any written transfer and without consideration, it was held that it was proper to be left to the jury to say how the possession was — whether in defendant or his brother-in-law — and that plaintiff could not be nonsuited upon the ground that there was no evidence of his possession at the time the suit was brought. Jones v. Green, 20 N. C. 488.

Estoppel to deny possession.— Where a party represents to another that he has certain property in his possession, and thereby induces such other party to bring an action of detinue to recover such property, plaintiff will be allowed to recover notwithstanding that such representations were false. Hall v. White, 3 C. & P. 136, 14 E. C. L. 490.

Instructions.—In detinue, where the property was claimed by a firm and was in possession of one of the members who alone was sued, a charge that if the jury believe that the partnership was in the possession at the commencement of the suit, and that of a transfer of the property. It is settled that a transfer by defendant pending action will not relieve him from liability,[72] unless the dispossession be by virtue of legal process.[73] It is likewise settled that dispossession under valid legal process relieves the former possessor from liability in all cases.[74] The only conflict therefore is between the authorities which seem to hold that no voluntary, unauthorized transfer can relieve one from liability who has been in possession of the property of another,[75] and the authorities which seem to hold that possession at the time of the action is essential to liability in all cases.[76] The doctrine, however, which seems to be supported upon principle and by the weight of authority is that where a party lawfully acquires possession of personal property, and thereafter in good faith transfers it to another, thereby losing all control over it, he is not liable in detinue;[77] but that where one in possession wrongfully transfers the property to a defendant was not in possession, or that, since the action can only be brought against one in possession of the property because the gist of it is the unlawful detention, if the partnership and not defendant was in possession, or if it was defendant's possession in behalf of the partnership, to find for defendant, is argumentative. Nelson v. Howison, 122 Ala. 573, 25 So. 211.

72. Lynch v. Thomas, 3 Leigh (Va.) 682; Burnley v. Lambert, 1 Wash. (Va.) 308.

Assignment for benefit of creditors.— In an action for the recovery of specific personal property, where the order of delivery is issued and served with the summons, by taking and delivering the property to plaintiff, plaintiff's right to proceed to final trial and judgment cannot be defeated by an assignment of the property by defendant, for the benefit of his creditors, after the commencement of the action and before the service of the order of delivery. Collier v. Bickley, 33 Ohio St. 523.

73. Lynch v. Thomas, 3 Leigh (Va.) 682.

74. Alabama.— McArthur v. Carrie, 32 Ala. 75, 70 Am. Dec. 529; Cole v. Conolly, 16 Ala. 271.

Kentucky.— Pool v. Adkisson, 1 Dana 110.

Mississippi.— Lowry v. Houston, 3 How. 394.

North Carolina.— Foscue v. Eubank, 32 N. C. 424.

South Carolina.— Ford v. Caldwell, 3 Hill 242, Riley 277.

Virginia.— Burnley v. Lambert, 1 Wash. 308.

United States.— Woodruff v. Bentley, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,986*a*, Hempst. 111.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Detinue," § 15.

Burden of proof is on defendant to show legal dispossession, where plaintiff has shown prior possession by defendant. Burnley v. Lambert, 1 Wash. (Va.) 308.

Where cattle are distrained damage feasant, the owner cannot maintain detinue for their recovery after they have been impounded, even though he has tendered payment of damages, the reason being that the property after impounding is in the custody of the law, and defendant therefore does not detain it. Singleton v. Williamson, 7 H. & N. 747, 8 Jur. N. S. 157, 31 L. J. Exch. 387, 5 L. T. Rep. N. S. 645, 10 Wkly. Rep. 301.

75. Pool v. Adkisson, 1 Dana (Ky.) 110; Bush v. White, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 100; Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254; Lowry v. Houston, 3 How. (Miss.) 394; Burnley v. Lambert, 1 Wash. (Va.) 308; Brinsmead v. Harrison, L. R. 7 C. P. 547, 41 L. J. C. P. 190, 27 L. T. Rep. N. S. 99, 20 Wkly. Rep. 784.

76. Berlin Mach. Works v. Alabama City Furniture Co., 112 Ala. 488, 20 So. 418; Bolling v. Fannin, 97 Ala. 619, 12 So. 59; Graham v. Myers, 74 Ala. 432; Gilbreath v. Jones, 66 Ala. 129; Henderson v. Felts, 58 Ala. 590; Walker v. Fenner, 20 Ala. 192; Davis v. Herndon, 39 Miss. 484; Haughton v. Newberry, 69 N. C. 456; Foscue v. Eubank, 32 N. C. 424; Charles v. Elliott, 20 N. C. 606.

77. Lightfoot v. Jordan, 63 Ala. 224; Foster v. Chamberlain, 41 Ala. 158; Fenner v. Kirkman, 26 Ala. 650 (distinguishing cases based on bailment and finding which are cited in Comyns Dig. tit. "Detinue"); Harris v. Hillman, 26 Ala. 380; Walker v. Fenner, 20 Ala. 192; Lindsey v. Perry, 1 Ala. 203; Foscue v. Eubank, 32 N. C. 424; Charles v. Elliott, 20 N. C. 606; Robb v. Cherry, 98 Tenn. 72, 38 S. W. 412.

A bailee who has returned the property to the bailor before action is not liable in detinue to the party entitled to the possession of the property, although the return be made after a demand by such party. Woodruff v. Bentley, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,986*a*, Hempst. 111. Contra, Merrit v. Warmouth, 2 N. C. 12.

Possession of a bailee at will is possession of the bailor and renders the bailor liable. Jones v. Green, 20 N. C. 488; Ford v. Caldwell, Riley (S. C.) 277, 3 Hill (S. C.) 242.

An administrator who has come to the possession of property as administrator and has sold it in due course of administration without any intended derogation of the owner's rights is not liable in detinue to the owner. Ford v. Caldwell, Riley (S. C.) 277, 3 Hill (S. C.) 242.

Estoppel to deny possession.— The fact that defendant in detinue executes a delivery bond does not estop him from showing in defense that he did not have possession of the property at the commencement of the action, where such bond does not recite any fact showing his possession of the property.

third person, he will still be deemed to detain it from the party entitled to the possession, and hence will be liable in detinue to such party, notwithstanding the transfer.[78]

3. Loss of Property. Where one who has been sued in detinue loses the property pending the action, he is not thereby relieved from liability.[79] But where one who has the possession of another's property loses it before he has been sued therefor, he will not be liable in detinue if his former possession was lawful and the loss occurred without his fault;[80] but if the loss be due to his fault, he will be liable.[81]

4. Destruction of Property. It seems that detinue cannot be maintained

Miller v. Hampton, 37 Ala. 342; Wallis v. Long, 16 Ala. 738. But where in addition to filing such bond he has notified plaintiffs before the suit that if they want the property they will have to get it "out of his possession," he is estopped to claim that it was not in his possession at the beginning of the suit. Savage v. Russell, 84 Ala. 103, 4 So. 235.

78. Alabama.— Foster v. Chamberlain, 41 Ala. 158; Fenner v. Kirkman, 26 Ala. 650; Walker v. Fenner, 20 Ala. 192.

California.— Faulkner v. Santa Barbara First Nat. Bank, 130 Cal. 258, 62 Pac. 463.

Kentucky.— Easley v. Easley, 18 B. Mon. 86; Rucker v. Hamilton, 3 Dana 36; Bush v. White, 3 T. B. Mon. 100.

Nebraska.— Grand Island Banking Co. v. Grand Island First Nat. Bank, 34 Nebr. 93, 51 N. W. 596.

North Carolina.— Foscue v. Eubank, 32 N. C. 424; Charles v. Elliott, 20 N. C. 606; Flowers v. Glasgow, 2 N. C. 122. Compare Haughton v. Newberry, 69 N. C. 456.

South Carolina.— Ford v. Caldwell, 3 Hill 242, Riley 277; Kershaw v. Boykin, 1 Brev. 301.

Tennessee.— Hunter v. Sevier, 7 Yerg. 127; Haley v. Rowan, 5 Yerg. 301, 26 Am. Dec. 268.

Texas.— O'Shea v. Twohig, 9 Tex. 336.

Virginia.— Burnley v. Lambert, 1 Wash. 308.

England.— Jones v. Dowle, 1 Dowl. P. C. N. S. 391, 11 L. J. Exch. 52, 9 M. & W. 19.

Canada.— Clark v. Orr, 11 U. C. Q. B. 436.

Compare Davis v. Herndon, 39 Miss. 484.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Detinue," § 15.

The principle on which the doctrine stated in the text is based is that no one will be allowed to derive benefit from his own wrong. Faulkner v. Santa Barbara First Nat. Bank, 130 Cal. 258, 62 Pac. 463.

Motive of transfer immaterial.— In Pool v. Adkisson, 1 Dana (Ky.) 110, it was held that since nearly every assumption of dominion over the property of another is a tort, regardless of the motive inspiring such act, where one not having the right to transfer property does transfer it, he assumes the risk of being held responsible by the owner of the property.

A transfer in order to evade the rights of the party entitled to the possession is a wrongful transfer. Foster v. Chamberlain, 41 Ala. 158; Fenner v. Kirkman, 26 Ala. 650; Foscue v. Eubank, 32 N. C. 424.

Where property has been lent to a person, an unauthorized transfer by such person is a wrongful transfer. Haley v. Rowan, 5 Yerg. (Tenn.) 301, 26 Am. Dec. 268.

An agent of one not having the right of possession, who, notwithstanding that he has notice of the claim of the party entitled to possession, disposes of the property and cooperates to defeat such claim is guilty of a wrongful transfer and is still liable in detinue to the party entitled to the possession. Pool v. Adkisson, 1 Dana (Ky.) 110. But see supra, note 64.

Transfer after demand by the owner or the party entitled to possession is a wrongful transfer. Faulkner v. Santa Barbara First Nat. Bank, 130 Cal. 258, 62 Pac. 463.

An unauthorized transfer by a bailee is a wrongful transfer as against the bailor, and will sustain detinue by the latter against the former. Easley v. Easley, 18 B. Mon. (Ky.) 86; Rucker v. Hamilton, 3 Dana (Ky.) 36.

An administrator who has delivered up property which was not assets, to be taken on execution against him as administrator, is guilty of a wrongful dispossession, and is liable in detinue to the parties entitled to such property. Lowry v. Houston, 3 How. (Miss.) 394.

One holding under a trespasser cannot escape liability in detinue to the owner or party entitled to the possession of the property, by transferring such property, although he be ignorant of the manner in which the person under whom he holds acquired possession, the rule being different from that applicable to liability for trespass. Justice v. Mendell, 14 B. Mon. (Ky.) 12.

Where one pledges the property of another without authority, real or apparent, the owner may maintain detinue against the pledgor and pledgee jointly. Garth v. Howard, 5 C. & P. 346, 24 E. C. L. 599.

79. Barksdale v. Appleberry, 23 Mo. 389.

80. Brown v. Livingstone, 21 U. C. Q. B. 438.

81. Goodman v. Boycott, 2 B. & S. 1, 8 Jur. N. S. 763, 31 L. J. Q. B. 69, 6 L. T. Rep. N. S. 25, 110 E. C. L. 1; Reeve v. Palmer, 5 C. B. N. S. 84, 5 Jur. N. S. 916, 28 L. J. C. P. 168, 7 Wkly. Rep. 325, 94 E. C. L. 84; Gledstane v. Hewitt, 1 Cromp. & J. 565, 9 L. J. Exch. O. S. 145, 1 Tyrw. 445.

The burden of proof is on defendant to show that the loss was not through his fault, especially if defendant be plaintiff's bailee.

for property which has been destroyed or ceased to exist before the action is brought;[82] but according to the weight of authority destruction of the property pending action does not relieve defendant from liability for the value thereof.[83] There is, however, very respectable authority to the effect that where the destruction occurs without fault on the part of defendant, he is thereby relieved from liability for the value of the property, at least in an action of detinue.[84]

5. RESTORATION OF PROPERTY. If all or any of the goods are delivered up after suit, plaintiff can have no judgment to recover them or their value, but may recover damages for their detention; and for the residue plaintiff may have the usual judgment to recover them or their value, and damages for their detention.[85]

6. EVIDENCE.[86] The burden of proof is on plaintiff to show defendant's possession.[87] Whether, after having shown possession in defendant prior to the action, plaintiff has the additional burden of showing that such possession continued up to the time of the action, seems to be involved in the same confusion as is the question of the effect of a transfer by defendant.[88] The weight of authority, however, seems to be that plaintiff need not show continuance of possession up Reeve v. Palmer, 5 C. B. N. S. 91, 28 L. J. C. P. 168, 5 Jur. N. S. 916, 7 Wkly. Rep. 325.

A bailee of property covered by a devise in a will, who loses such property before the death of the testator, is not liable in detinue. Per Blackburn, J., in Goodman v. Boycott, 2 B. & S. 1, 8 Jur. N. S. 763, 31 L. J. Q. B. 69, 6 L. T. Rep. N. S. 25, 110 E. C. L. 1. Contra, per Wightman, J., in same case.

Failure to find and seize the property sued for is no defense. Morgan v. Wing, 58 Ala. 301.

82. Lindsey v. Perry, 1 Ala. 203; Caldwell v. Fenwick, 2 Dana (Ky.) 332.

83. Alabama.— Wilkerson v. McDougal, 48 Ala. 517; Feagin v. Pearson, 42 Ala. 332; Rose v. Pearson, 41 Ala. 687; Johnson v. Marshall, 34 Ala. 522; Lay v. Lawson, 23 Ala. 377; Bell v. Pharr, 7 Ala. 807; Bettis v. Taylor, 8 Port. 564; White v. Ross, 5 Stew. & P. 123.

Kentucky.— Caldwell v. Fenwick, 2 Dana 332; Gentry v. Barnett, 6 T. B. Mon. 113; Carrel v. Early, 4 Bibb 270. Contra, Dorsey v. Sands, 5 J. J. Marsh. 37.

Missouri.—Barksdale v. Appleberry, 23 Mo. 389.

North Carolina.— Skipper v. Hargrove, 1 N. C. 27. Compare Bethea v. McLennon, 23 N. C. 523.

Virginia.— Austin v. Jones, Gilm. 341.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Detinue," § 15.

Emancipation of a slave pending action for its recovery did not relieve defendant from liability for its value. Wilkerson v. McDougal, 48 Ala. 517; Rose v. Pearson, 41 Ala. 687. Contra, Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254.

84. Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254; Bethea v. McLennon, 23 N. C. 523. See also Dorsey v. Sands, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 37.

85. Williams v. Archer, 5 C. B. 318, 17 L. J. C. P. 82, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 289, 57 E. C. L. 318; Crossfield v. Such, 8 Exch. 159, 22 L. J. Exch. 65, 1 Wkly. Rep. 82. Phillips v. Hayward, 3 Dowl. P. C. 362, 363, 1 Hurl. & W. 108, was an action of detinue for several deeds. Defendant offered to return some of the deeds, whereupon the court made the following order: "That the defendant shall be at liberty to deliver up the deed in question, on payment of costs up to the time of such delivery; and that the proceedings in the action shall be stayed, provided the plaintiff will accept of such discharge of such action; otherwise, such deed is to be struck out of the declaration, and the plaintiff shall be subject to the costs of the action, unless he obtains a verdict for some of the other deeds in the declaration mentioned, or damages, beyond nominal damages, for the detention of the deed in question. The defendant, however, at all events to pay the costs of this application, and not to plead non detinet as to the other deeds." See also infra, VI, C, 2. Compare Morgan v. Cone, 18 N. C. 234.

Arrest of judgment.— Where, after verdict for the full value of the articles, it appears by affidavits filed on defendant's application that the property has been restored to plaintiff, the action should not be proceeded in; certainly not with any view to obtaining a judgment for the delivery of the articles or the payment of their value. Johnson v. Lamb, 13 U. C. Q. B. 508, where the judgment was that unless plaintiff would consent to reduce his verdict to nominal damages, a new trial would be granted, and that plaintiff would have to pay the costs of the application.

Where no special damages are alleged, the court will compel plaintiff to elect whether he will stay all proceedings on restoration of the property in litigation and payment by defendant of nominal damages and costs, or whether he will proceed for greater damages at the risk of all costs. Lyons v. Keller, Ir. R. 15 C. L. 1.

Plaintiff may show that the goods were damaged when returned by defendant pending the action. McGrath v. Bourne, Ir. R. 10 C. L. 160.

86. Evidence generally see EVIDENCE.

87. McCurry v. Hooper, 12 Ala. 823, 46 Am. Dec. 280; Brewer v. Strong, 10 Ala. 961, 44 Am. Dec. 514; Anderson v. Passman, 7 C. & P. 193, 32 E. C. L. 568.

88. See supra, IV, C, 2.

to the time of the action, and that if defendant relies on a transfer of possession he has the burden of proving it, and also of proving that the transfer was such as will relieve him of liability;[89] but there is respectable authority which seems to place upon plaintiff the burden of proving defendant's possession at the time of the action, or otherwise of showing that having had possession he has lost it through his own fault or wrong.[90] Admissibility of evidence to prove possession is controlled by the principles applicable to admissibility of evidence in general.[91]

V. DAMAGES.[92]

A. Right and Basis of Recovery. Where plaintiff recovers either the property or its alternative value, he is entitled to damages for the wrongful detention of the property.[93] There is a strong line of authority holding that a prior demand upon defendant is essential to the recovery of damages for the detention of the property prior to the beginning of the action.[94] This doctrine probably originated from the cases where defendant was not chargeable with any wrong, that is, where a demand was necessary to make his detention unlawful;[95] and the better rule seems to be that plaintiff may recover damages for the detention from the commencement of defendant's unlawful possession, whether such possession be unlawful on account of defendant's refusal to deliver the prop-

89. Kentucky.— Pool v. Adkisson, 1 Dana 110; Burton v. Brashear, 3 A. K. Marsh. 276.

South Carolina.— Kershaw v. Boykin, 1 Brev. 301.

Tennessee.— Haley v. Rowan, 5 Yerg. 301, 26 Am. Dec. 268.

Texas.— O'Shea v. Twohig, 9 Tex. 336.

Virginia.— Burnly v. Lambert, 1 Wash. 308.

West Virginia.— Burns v. Morrison, 36 W. Va. 423, 15 S. E. 62.

United States.— Woodruff v. Bentley, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,986*a*, Hempst. 111.

Where defendant has apparent control over the property, as where he has hired it out, but it does not appear that he cannot resume possession, he cannot escape liability without showing that he cannot obtain possession. Gaines v. Garvin, 19 Ala. 491.

90. Downs v. Bailey, 135 Ala. 329, 33 So. 151; Berlin Mach. Works v. Alabama City Furniture Co., 112 Ala. 488, 20 So. 418; Bolling v. Fannin, 97 Ala. 619, 12 So. 59; Behr v. Gerson, 95 Ala. 438, 11 So. 115; Graham v. Myers, 74 Ala. 432; Gilbreath v. Jones, 66 Ala. 129; Foster v. Chamberlain, 41 Ala. 158; Miller v. Hampton, 37 Ala. 342; Fenner v. Kirkman, 26 Ala. 650; Walker v. Fenner, 20 Ala. 192; Davis v. Herndon, 39 Miss. 484; Foscue v. Eubank, 32 N. C. 424.

91. See EVIDENCE.

Book entries.— Defendant's cash-book containing an original entry made by his cashier in the regular course of business, showing a sale of the property sued for on a day prior to the bringing of the action, taken in connection with the testimony of the cashier that the entry was made by him, is admissible to show that defendant was not in possession of the property when the action was brought, and hence that the action cannot be maintained. Bolling v. Fannin, 97 Ala. 619, 12 So. 59.

92. Damages generally see DAMAGES, 13 Cyc. 1.

93. Robinson v. Richards, 45 Ala. 354.

Where plaintiff regains possession of the property pending action, it has been held that he cannot recover damages. Morgan v. Cone, 18 N. C. 234. But see supra, IV, C, 5; infra, VI, C, 2.

Tender of damages.— Under 3 & 4 Wm. IV, c. 42, § 21, defendant may pay into court such damages as he thinks plaintiff has sustained by reason of the detention of the goods. Crossfield v. Such, 8 Exch. 159, 22 L. J. Exch. 65, 1 Wkly. Rep. 82.

94. Alabama.— Vaughn v. Wood, 5 Ala. 304; Carroll v. Pathkiller, 3 Port. 279.

Kentucky.— Gentry v. McKehen, 5 Dana 34; Jones v. Henry, 3 Litt. 46; Cole v. Cole, 4 Bibb 340; Cox v. Robertson, 1 Bibb 604; Tunstall v. McClelland, 1 Bibb 186.

Mississippi.— Carraway v. McNeiee, Walk. 538.

Missouri.— Irwin v. Wells, 1 Mo. 9.

North Carolina.— Sheppard v. Edwards, 3 N. C. 186; Anonymous, 3 N. C. 136.

Texas.— Calvit v. Cloud, 14 Tex. 53; Dunn v. Choate, 4 Tex. 14; Clapp v. Walters, 2 Tex. 130.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Detinue," § 12.

One who owns a house on another's land cannot recover damages of the latter for withholding possession, without first making demand to be allowed to enter and remove it. Eastman v. Burke County, 114 N. C. 524, 19 S. E. 599.

Detention after date of writ.— In Leader v. Rhys, 2 F. & F. 399, it was held that damages for the detention of the property after the date of the writ are not recoverable except in a new action.

Where plaintiff's title is divested before trial, he can recover damages for the detention of the property only up to the time of its divestiture, and the costs of the action. Cole v. Conolly, 16 Ala. 271.

95. Calvit v. Cloud, 14 Tex. 53, holding that for the sake of uniformity this rule has been adopted in all cases.

erty on demand or on account of any other circumstances.[96] In the absence of statutory provision it seems that there is no remedy for the recovery of damages for the detention of the property after judgment.[97]

B. Measure of Damages. The measure of damages is the value of the use or hire of the property during the period of unlawful detention.[98]

96. Hall v. Chapman, 35 Ala. 553; Gardner v. Boothe, 31 Ala. 186; Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254; Gillies v. Wofford, 26 Tex. 76; Nichols v. Campbell, 10 Gratt. (Va.) 560.

An executor or administrator is liable for the detention of his intestate and also for his own detention. English v. McNair, 34 Ala. 40; Lawson v. Lay, 24 Ala. 184. See also Hunt v. Martin, 8 Gratt. (Va.) 578.

In detinue against a subsequent purchaser, it is error to instruct the jury that defendant is liable for damages for the unlawful detention from the time of his purchase, where his possession is not clearly shown to have commenced at the time of his purchase. Gardner v. Boothe, 31 Ala. 186.

97. Ellis v. Gosney, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 109; Moore v. Howe, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 64; Dorsey v. Sands, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 37.

In Kentucky, under statute, where a judgment against defendant in an action of detinue was affirmed on appeal, plaintiff could recover damages for the detention of the property from the time of the first judgment to the time of the delivery of the property to him. Hall v. Edrington, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 47.

In Virginia it has been held that there is no remedy in equity to recover damages for the detention of the property pending an appeal from a judgment in detinue, it being held that the remedy, if any exist, is at law. Alderson v. Biggars, 4 Hen. & M. 470.

98. Fralick v. Presley, 29 Ala. 457, 65 Am. Dec. 413; Glascock v. Hays, 4 Dana (Ky.) 58; Horton v. Reynolds, 8 Tex. 284.

Where defendant has sold the property prior to the beginning of the action, it has been held that this amounts to a wrongful conversion of the property, and that plaintiff's damages should be assessed at the value of the possession of the property to him. Grand Island Banking Co. v. Grand Island First Nat. Bank, 34 Nebr. 93, 51 N. W. 596.

Depreciation in value of the property caused by use during its wrongful detention may be recovered in addition to the rental value. Freer v. Cowles, 44 Ala. 314; Williams v. Archer, 5 C. B. 318, 5 Ry. Cas. 289, 17 L. J. C. P. 82. But see White v. Sheffield, etc., R. Co., 90 Ala. 253, 7 So. 910.

In detinue for property sold on conditions, and withheld from the seller after breach of conditions and demand for its return, the measure of damages for the unlawful detention would ordinarily be the value of the use of the property from the time of the demand and refusal to the rendition of the verdict, excluding any compensation for the use of the property while the buyer held it legally, and abating nothing from the damages because of payments in work or otherwise made by the buyer pursuant to the contract. McGinnis v. Savage, 29 W. Va. 362, 1 S. E. 746.

The owner of a house on another's land cannot recover, as damages for its detention by the landowner, the rental value of such house while on defendant's land, but only the actual damages caused by the detention. Eastman v. Burke County, 114 N. C. 524, 19 S. E. 599.

Where the property perishes before judgment, the measure of damages is the rental value of such property up to the time of its destruction. Haile v. Hill, 13 Mo. 612.

The amount laid in the declaration cannot be exceeded. Goodman v. Floyd, 2 Humphr. (Tenn.) 59. See also Laborde v. Rumph, 1 McCord (S. C.) 15.

The value of the property cannot be considered as constituting any part of the damages. Laborde v. Rumph, 1 McCord (S. C.) 15.

Conjectural damages are not allowable. Means v. Hyde, 19 La. Ann. 478.

Damages in excess of the value of the property, although unusual, are not necessarily excessive. Washburn v. Roberts, 72 Ind. 213.

Rule the same in all forms of action.—"It is to be observed, that, as to the measure of damages, there is a strong tendency, by legislative action as well as judicial decisions, everywhere, to abolish the distinctions resulting from the forms of action invented to recover the possession of personal property, or damages for its conversion, or detention, or wrongful appropriation, or for the breach of contract in relation thereto, and to adopt general rules upon the subject of damages susceptible of universal application. Hence, the text writers, as well as the late decisions, in discussing this rule of damages, seem to disregard the form of action, whether trover, detinue, trespass or replevin, and to agree, no matter what the form of remedy, that plaintiff, where the property is not restored upon proof of his right, is entitled to recover full compensation or indemnity for the wrong or injury complained of." Whitfield v. Whitfield, 40 Miss. 352, 358.

In detinue to recover a deed the measure of damages is not necessarily the value of the land, but depends upon all the circumstances of the case. Even where defendant has parted with the deed and cannot restore it, plaintiff is not necessarily entitled to recover the value of the land. Reynolds v. Waddell, 12 U. C. Q. B. 9, where it was held that defendant having in good faith and with a desire to do the right thing, put it out of his power to restore the deed, the question as to whether plaintiff should be allowed to recover the value of the land was for the jury.

After a receiver has been appointed, the unlawful detention ceases, the property being in the hands of the court, and no damages for the detention after such appointment can

VI. PROCEDURE.

A. Process and Seizure of Property. By making an affidavit of ownership, and executing a statutory bond for the payment of such costs and damages as defendant may sustain by reason of a wrongful action, plaintiff may maintain an order directing the officer executing the summons to seize the property.[99] The officer is required to hold the property for a certain time, during which plaintiff may take possession of the property by giving another bond conditioned to return the property to defendant in the event of a judgment in his favor;[1] but if he do not give such bond within the specified period, it is the duty of the sheriff to release the property, and failure to release it at the expiration of the specified period renders him liable to defendant as a trespasser ab initio.[2] Jurisdiction of defendant, however, is not acquired by the seizure of the property, but by the service of a summons, as in other personal actions.[3] After the officer has be recovered. Peruvian Guano Co. v. Dreyfus, [1892] A. C. 166, 7 Aspin. 225, 61 L. J. Ch. 749, 66 L. T. Rep. N. S. 536.

99. Ala. Code (1876), § 2942, providing that when an action of detinue is instituted in the circuit court, plaintiff, upon making affidavit that the property sued for belongs to him, and the execution of a bond with surety for the payment of such costs and damages as defendant may sustain from the wrongful suit, can obtain an order directing the officer executing the summons to take possession of the property, applies to an action of detinue in justice's court. Jacobs v. State, 61 Ala. 448. See also W. Va. Code, c. 102; Robinson v. Woodford, 37 W. Va. 377, 16 S. E. 602.

Sufficiency of affidavit.— Under Ala. Code (1876), §§ 2942, 2943, relating to suits for the recovery of personal chattels in specie, and requiring an affidavit by "the plaintiff, his agent or attorney," that the property sued for belongs to plaintiff, and the giving by plaintiff of a bond for costs and damages as prerequisites to the making of an order for the seizure of the property, an affidavit in such a suit by the United States in the federal circuit court, made by a special agent of the general land-office, in which he swears, "to the best of his knowledge, information and belief," that the property sued for belongs to the United States is sufficient. U. S. v. Bryant, 111 U. S. 499, 4 S. Ct. 601, 28 L. ed. 496.

United States need not give bond.— Ala. Code (1876), §§ 2942, 2943, relating to suits for the recovery of personal property in specie, provide for the giving by plaintiff of a bond for costs and damages as a prerequisite to the making of an order for the seizure of the property. It was held that under Rev. St. § 1001, providing that whenever any process issues from a circuit court by the United States, no bond or other security shall be required from the United States, the giving of the bond provided for by such provisions of the Alabama code is not a condition precedent to the right of the United States to avail themselves of said provisions. U. S. v. Bryant, 111 U. S. 499, 4 S. Ct. 601, 28 L. ed. 496.

Estoppel by recitals of bond.—Where plaintiff gives a redelivery bond reciting the sheriff's seizure of the property under the writ, and conditioned for the delivery of such property to defendant in the event that the action fails, he is estopped to show that the property was not seized by the sheriff or that it did not come to his, plaintiff's, possession under the bond. Hill v. Nelms, 86 Ala. 442, 5 So. 796.

A recognizance of special bail was required of plaintiff by 1 Va. Rev. Code, c. 128, § 53. Cloud v. Catlett, 4 Leigh (Va.) 462.

1. Gay v. Burgess, 59 Ala. 575; Ala. Code (1876), §§ 2942, 2943; Hall v. Perryman, 42 Ala. 122; Ala. Rev. Code, §§ 2593, 2594.

2. Gay v. Burgess, 59 Ala. 575. See also Hall v. Perryman, 42 Ala. 122.

3. An indorsement by the sheriff on a writ in detinue that by virtue of the writ he had taken the property therein described, and five days having elapsed and defendant failing and refusing to put in bond, and plaintiff having put in bond within five days, that the property had been delivered to plaintiff, is not sufficient to show that he had executed the writ on defendant, and will not support a judgment by default. Fowler v. Banks, 21 Ala. 679.

Failure to find and seize the property does not prevent the acquisition of full jurisdiction to hear and determine the case by service of a summons on defendant. Morgan v. Wing, 58 Ala. 301.

Waiver of summons.—Where no complaint is filed or summons issued until after the property is seized, the defect is cured where defendant, being orally notified, appears and consents to the filing of the complaint, and upon the filing thereof issue is joined thereon and trial is had. Hammer v. Holman, 116 Ala. 368, 22 So. 286. The giving of a replevy bond in an action of detinue does not waive a defective writ. Nabors v. Nabors, 2 Port. (Ala.) 162.

Amendment of writ.— Upon excuse shown for the error, leave was given to amend a writ of replevin, by changing it from cepit and detinet to detinet alone, after its execution and an appearance by defendant. Smith v. Frizell, 1 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 148.

seized the property, defendant may retain the property by giving a forthcoming or redelivery bond.[4]

B. Parties[5] — 1. PLAINTIFF. All persons having a legal possessory interest in the property must be made parties plaintiff.[6]

2. DEFENDANT. The action should be brought against the party in possession or chargeable with the wrongful detention, regardless of the number that may be interested in the property;[7] but where the property is jointly detained by several all should be joined as defendants.[8]

C. Pleading[9] — 1. DECLARATION, PETITION, OR COMPLAINT. The declaration, petition, or complaint should aver plaintiff's title to or possessory interest in the property sued for[10] and defendant's possession and wrongful detainer of the prop-

4. Under Ala. Code, § 2192, the bond to be given by defendant in detinue, in order that he may retain possession of the property, should be conditioned that if cast in the suit he will within thirty days thereafter deliver the property to plaintiff and pay all costs and damages which may accrue from the detention thereof. Rose v. Pearson, 41 Ala. 253. See Robinson v. Woodford, 37 W. Va. 377, 16 S. E. 602; W. Va. Code, c. 102.

Where a sheriff is sued in detinue for the recovery of property in his possession under a levy, he is not obliged to give a forthcoming bond, but may notify the execution creditor, who is thereupon charged with the responsibility of protecting his own interests. Governor v. Gibson, 14 Ala. 326.

A bond executed by one of several defendants who alone has possession of the property is sufficient. Rich v. Lowenthal, 99 Ala. 487, 13 So. 220.

Failure to seize part of the property covered by the forthcoming bond does not affect the validity of the bond. Rich v. Lowenthal, 99 Ala. 487, 13 So. 220.

Including articles not sued for in the forthcoming bond does not affect the validity of the bond. Rich v. Lowenthal, 99 Ala. 487, 13 So. 220.

5. Parties generally see PARTIES.

6. Bolton v. Cuthbert, 132 Ala. 403, 31 So. 358; Price v. Talley, 18 Ala. 21; Luke v. Marshall, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 353.

Failure to join a necessary party plaintiff is ground for a nonsuit. Luke v. Marshall, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 353.

Misjoinder.— An agreement between two creditors of defendant, whose claims are separate and distinct, to make a common cause in obtaining what they can in satisfaction of their claims, and to divide the recovery between them in proportion to their respective debts, does not authorize a joint suit by them to recover specific property mortgaged by defendant to one of them, as security for his claim. Freer v. Cowles, 44 Ala. 314.

7. Where two persons take a quantity of personal property at the same time, and one of them detains a portion thereof and the other detains the remainder, the owner cannot maintain a joint action of detinue against them, since the gist of the action is not the original taking, but the wrongful detainer. Slade v. Washburn, 24 N. C. 414.

Where there are several executors or administrators, and only one is in possession, the one in possession alone is the proper party defendant. Bettis v. Taylor, 8 Port. (Ala.) 564; Smith v. Wiggins, 3 Stew. (Ala.) 221. Compare Nichols v. Michael, 23 N. Y. 264, 80 Am. Dec. 259. And see supra, IV, C, 2.

8. Under the New York code, one who has fraudulently obtained personal property, and one who has taken an assignment thereof in trust to pay the assignor's debts, are both properly made defendants in an action to recover the goods (detinue or replevin). Nichols v. Michael, 23 N. Y. 264, 80 Am. Dec. 259. See also supra, IV, C, 2. Compare Bettis v. Taylor, 8 Port. (Ala.) 564.

Bringing in new parties defendant.— Under Ala. Code, § 2833, it is error for the court to refuse to allow plaintiff to amend his complaint by adding the names of new parties defendant where it does not appear that such parties were not jointly liable with defendant at the commencement of the suit. Rand v. Gibson, 109 Ala. 266, 19 So. 533.

9. Pleading generally see PLEADING.

Forms of declaration see Dame v. Dame, 43 N. H. 37; Martin Civ. Proc. 371 [citing Warren L. Stud. 583].

Form of writ see Martin Civ. Proc. 371 [citing Fitzherbert Nat. Brev. 323].

10. Price v. Israel, 3 Bibb (Ky.) 516; Binn v. Waddill, 32 Gratt. (Va.) 588; Kent v. Armistead, 4 Munf. (Va.) 72.

A general allegation of ownership is sufficient. Griswold v. Manning, 67 N. Y. App. Div. 372, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 702.

Averments not inconsistent with right of possession in defendant are insufficient. Herring Safe Co. v. Baker County, 77 Ga. 535, 3 S. E. 154. But special possessory interest on the part of defendant need not be negatived. Griswold v. Manning, 67 N. Y. App. Div. 372, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 702; Macon v. Ownes, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 69.

Averment of right to immediate possession is unnecessary where absolute ownership is alleged. Griswold v. Manning, 67 N. Y. App. Div. 372, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 702.

Where there are two counts in the declaration, one only of which avers property in plaintiff, the declaration is good. Binns v. Waddill, 32 Gratt. (Va.) 588.

Averment of title held sufficient.— A petition in a suit to recover a horse discloses a good cause of action when it states that de-erty.[11] The declaration, petition, or complaint should also make a demand for fendant purchased a horse belonging to plaintiff from plaintiff's minor son; that plaintiff never received the consideration paid for the horse; that defendant knew that plaintiff did not suffer said son to trade in his property; and that the son was a minor and under parental control. Ice v. Lockridge, 21 Tex. 461.

In an action by a curator or receiver plaintiff should not allege his right of possession as being dependent upon his fiduciary capacity, but if he does so it will be mere surplusage. Boyle v. Townes, 9 Leigh (Va.) 158.

A trustee for the use of another should not declare upon such use as giving him the right of possession, but if he does so declare, the declaration will not thereby be rendered defective, the averment as to the use being mere surplusage. Holly v. Flournoy, 54 Ala. 99; Hundley v. Buckner, 6 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 70.

In detinue by a husband and wife to recover property, an allegation that plaintiffs claim the property as a separate estate of the wife is sufficiently certain and definite, although it does not allege whether the wife's separate estate was created by contract or statute, or whether the husband has ever had possession of the slaves during coverture. Pickens v. Oliver, 29 Ala. 528.

In detinue by an executor or administrator plaintiff must declare in his representative capacity where he has never had possession of the property. Ikelheimer v. Chapman, 32 Ala. 676; Cox v. McKinney, 32 Ala. 461. In such case an averment that plaintiff claims as administrator is sufficient to show his representative capacity. Crimm v. Crawford, 29 Ala. 623. Where he has had possession of the property he may declare in his own right. Ikelheimer v. Chapman, 32 Ala. 676; Cox v. McKinney, 32 Ala. 461; Sims v. Boynton, 32 Ala. 353, 70 Am. Dec. 540; Walker v. Lauderdale, 17 Ala. 359. He must sue in his own name where the detention complained of is after the death of the testator or intestate. Melton v. McDonald, 2 Mo. 45, 22 Am. Dec. 437.

Variance between declaration and writ.— A plaintiff in detinue, in his writ and in the commencement of his declaration, described himself as suing "as trustee for his wife." The indorsement on the writ described the property sued for as the separate property of his wife, while the declaration averred that the plaintiff "was possessed as of his own property." It was held that there was not such variance as defendant can take advantage of, either by moving to strike the declaration from the file or by craving oyer of the writ and indorsement, and demurring to the declaration, the phrase "as trustee for his wife" being treated as surplusage or as descriptio personæ. Gibson v. Land, 27 Ala. 117.

Variance between declaration and proof.— Whenever a complaint pursues the form given in the code for the recovery of chattels in specie, it must be understood as claiming and asserting such an interest in the property sued for as may be recovered in that action by plaintiff, and is stated in the margin. If on the trial the proof fail to show such an interest, it becomes a question of variance between the allegations and proof. If there be a substantial variance, and the defect be either not amendable or if amendable be not in fact amended in the court below, plaintiff must fail in his suit. Pickens v. Oliver, 29 Ala. 528.

11. A complaint averring that defendant is in possession of property owned by plaintiff, which he refuses after demand made to deliver, sufficiently avers that the detention is wrongful. Griswold v. Manning, 67 N. Y. App. Div. 372, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 702. A petition alleging that property sued for is on the premises of defendant corporation, that it is there held under a written acknowledgment given by an officer of the corporation, and that the corporation refuses to deliver, presents a sufficient charge of possession in defendant to sustain an action for restoration of the property. Kellar v. Victoria Lumber Co., 45 La. Ann. 476, 12 So. 511. A declaration alleging that property came into possession of defendant and still is in his possession and charging that he refused to deliver it on request is sufficient, being tantamount to an express allegation that defendant detained the property. Tunstall v. McClelland, 1 Bibb (Ky.) 186.

The declaration need not negative any special possessory interest which defendant may have in the property. Griswold v. Manning, 67 N. Y. App. Div. 372, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 702.

The manner of taking is usually laid as a bailment or finding, but it is immaterial and need not be alleged. Otero v. Bullard, 3 Cal. 188. See supra, II, A. If the manner of taking be laid, it is mere surplusage, and the declaration will be sustained by any proof showing possession and wrongful detainer by the defendant. Gentry v. McKehen, 5 Dana (Ky.) 34; Mills v. Graham, 1 B. & P. N. R. 140, 8 Rev. Rep. 767; Whitehead v. Harrison, 6 Q. B. 423, 2 D. & L. 122, 8 Jur. 894, 13 L. J. Q. B. 312, 51 E. C. L. 423. The purpose for which defendant received the goods is immaterial, but if alleged it is surplusage. Griswold v. Manning, 67 N. Y. App. Div. 372, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 702. But a tortious taking should not be alleged, since in such case damages might be assessed for the tort in the taking, which is not an element of the action; and such an allegation is ground for reversal. Price v. Israel, 3 Bibb (Ky.) 516; Mansell v. Israel, 3 Bibb (Ky.) 510.

In an action against an executor or administrator, an averment that the property came into his possession by finding and that he detains it is sufficient. Gentry v. McKehen, 5 Dana (Ky.) 34.

Where the complaint was not filed until after the seizure of the property under the writ, an averment referring to such property the property.[12] Facts showing proper venue must be alleged.[13] The property must be particularly and specifically described,[14] and the value thereof as being in the possession of the constable instead of that of defendant may be treated as surplusage. Hamner v. Holman, 116 Ala. 368, 22 So. 286.

12. The failure of a declaration in detinue to contain a "demand" for the property does not warrant the arrest of judgment after verdict on a plea of non detinet. Boggess v. Boggess, 6 Munf. (Va.) 486.

13. Stiles v. James, 2 Wash Terr. 194, 2 Pac. 188.

Where the sheriff's return shows that the venue is the proper one, as where it shows that the property is within the jurisdiction of the court, the failure to allege the venue is cured. Stiles v. James, 2 Wash. Terr. 194, 2 Pac. 188.

14. Felt v. Williams, 2 Ill. 206; Boggs v. Newton, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 221; Robinson v. Woodford, 37 W. Va. 377, 16 S. E. 602; Friedel v. Castlereagh, Ir. R. 11 C. L. 93.

Waiver of indefiniteness of description.— Where a bill in detinue describes generally the articles sought to be recovered, and avers that they belong to the estate of the complainant's intestate, an answer alleging that the property in defendant's possession was not the property of the estate waives any exceptions to the bill because of indefiniteness in description of the articles sought to be recovered. Young v. Young, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 64 S. W. 319.

After a verdict for the recovery of a negro woman and her issue, the names of the issue being given, it was held in Holladay v. Littlepage, 2 Munf. (Va.) 539, that the failure to allege the names of the issue in the declaration was cured.

Description as to locality is not always necessary. Mills v. King, 14 U. C. C. P. 223.

Money cannot be recovered under a general allegation that defendant owes it to plaintiff. Brown v. Ellison, 55 N. H. 556.

Grain.— In Richardson v. Gray, 29 U. C. Q. B. 360, it was held that a count in detinue for six hundred bushels of rye was sufficiently definite after verdict.

Books, papers, and written instruments.— A declaration for "certain books, papers, and documents of the plaintiff, that is to say, a purser's cost-book, a merchant's ledger, an invoice-ledger, diverse merchant's accounts, vouchers," etc., has been held sufficient. Atwood v. Ernest, 13 C. B. 881, 1 C. L. R. 738, 17 Jur. 603, 22 L. J. C. P. 225, 1 Wkly. Rep. 436, 76 E. C. L. 881. A declaration for "a box of writings" has been held sufficient, without setting forth any writings in particular. Thorneton v. Bernard, 2 Ld. Raym. 991. A declaration for "a certain bill of exchange for 85*l.*" has been held sufficient. Graham v. Gracie, 13 Q. B. 548, 66 E. C. L. 548. A declaration describing the property as a certain writing or writings, signed by A B, or by someone in his behalf, and at his instance and request, relating to a lot of ground of four acres, at or near a certain place, and belonging to the estate of said A B, is insufficient. Rementa v. Erwin, 2 Pennyp. (Pa.) 407, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 194. A complaint describing the property as bonds to the amount of two thousand one hundred dollars, issued by the county of Wilson, state of Tennessee, and known as "Wilson county bonds," followed by a further allegation that the property consists of two bonds of one thousand dollars each, is sufficient. David v. David, 66 Ala. 139.

Machinery.— A complaint in detinue for one engine and one boiler is sufficient. Nelson v. Howison, 122 Ala. 573, 25 So. 211.

In detinue for a pistol the words, "a six barrelled pistol, called a six shooter or revolver," are a sufficient description of the property. Wright v. Ross, 2 Greene (Iowa) 266.

Tools.— In a complaint in detinue, the property is sufficiently described by an averment that it consists of one chest of tools containing a complete set of carpenter tools, embracing all tools used in the carpenter's trade, and one set of carving tools, embracing all tools used in carving, and two complete sets of drawing tools, used by architects for drawing plans of buildings. Thompson v. Pearce, 49 Ala. 210. A declaration for "a set of turner's tools" is too indefinite; but if there be added the words "being the same formerly owned by one Burkett," the description becomes sufficiently specific and capable of being identified. March v. Leckie, 35 N. C. 172, 55 Am. Dec. 431.

Slaves.— In Haynes v. Crutchfield, 7 Ala. 189, it was held that it was sufficient to declare in detinue for a negro woman by name without stating her complexion, age, etc.; or for a cow without describing her color, etc.; or for a certain number of knives and forks without a particular description. Where slaves were described in the declaration, some by name and age, some by name and complexion, and some by name, age, and complexion, and mules by their color, or by their sex, color, and age, the description was held to be sufficient. Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254. In Bass v. Bass, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 478, it was held that detinue would lie for an infant negro child and its mother, naming her, without naming the child.

In an action by an executor or administrator to recover property of which he has never had possession, less particularity is required than is generally necessary, the presumption being that knowledge of the property is more peculiarly with defendant than with plaintiff. David v. David, 66 Ala. 139.

Unnecessary particularity in describing the property must be supported by proof. Stewart v. Tucker, 106 Ala. 319, 17 So. 385, holding that where plaintiff in an action of detinue to recover severed crops describes the land from which the crops were severed with unnecessary particularity he must prove his case as alleged.

alleged,[15] giving the separate value of each article sued for.[16] Where a demand is a condition precedent to the right to maintain the action it must be alleged.[17] No allegation of special damages is essential to the recovery of damages for the detention of the property.[18] Counts in debt and detinue may be joined in the same declaration.[19]

2. PLEA OR ANSWER. Defendant in detinue may plead the general issue which is non detinet,[20] and which puts in issue plaintiff's title to or interest in the prop-

Variance.— A declaration in detinue to recover a red cow with a white face is not supported by proof that the cow was yellow or sorrel. Felt v. Williams, 2 Ill. 206. Where the declaration alleges the detention of an indenture of bargain and sale and the evidence shows that the instrument detained is in escrow there is a variance. Reynolds v. Waddell, 12 U. C. Q. B. 9.

Arrest of judgment.— Insufficiency in description of the property in the declaration is ground for arrest of judgment. Richardson v. Gray, 29 U. C. Q. B. 360, where it was held, however, that a count in detinue for six hundred bushels of rye was sufficient after verdict.

Bill in equity.— Where a bill in detinue seeks the recovery of property without particularly describing it as belonging to a decedent's estate, and alleged to be in the widow's possession, and the answer avers that defendant had possession of no such property, and what she had belonged to her, such pleading does not justify a decree allowing recovery for the value of all the personalty on the premises of the decedent, except the exempt articles, and including articles on the premises in the possession of and owned by the decedent's daughters. Young v. Young, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 64 S. W. 319.

15. Alabama.— Haynes v. Crutchfield, 7 Ala. 189.

Indiana.— Hawkins v. Johnson, 3 Blackf. 46.

North Carolina.— Hutchins v. McLean, 1 N. C. 327.

Texas.— Gillies v. Wofford, 26 Tex. 76.

Virginia.— Bates v. Gordon, 3 Call 555.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Detinue," § 26.

After verdict an objection for failure of the declaration to allege the value of the property cannot be sustained. Such objection must be presented by a demurrer. Hutchins v. McLean, 1 N. C. 327; Gillies v. Wofford, 26 Tex. 76; Bates v. Gordon, 3 Call (Va.) 555.

The recovery of the alternative value of the property is limited by the value averred in the declaration. Young v. Young, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1900) 64 S. W. 319.

16. Haynes v. Crutchfield, 7 Ala. 189; Jordan v. Thomas, 31 Miss. 557; Holladay v. Littlepage, 2 Munf. (Va.) 539.

After a verdict for plaintiff, a defect in failing to state the separate value of each article is not ground for objection. Jordan v. Thomas, 31 Miss. 557; Holladay v. Littlepage, 2 Munf. (Va.) 539.

17. A complaint averring that defendant refuses "after demand made" to deliver possession of chattels sufficiently avers a demand by plaintiff or by an authorized agent. Griswold v. Manning, 67 N. Y. App. Div. 372, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 702. In detinue a general charge "that the defendant, though often requested," etc., is sufficient, without stating a special demand and refusal. Mortimer v. Brumfield, 3 Munf. (Va.) 122.

As to when a demand is necessary see supra, III, D.

18. Levi v. Legg, 23 S. C. 282; Gardin v. Neily, 31 Nova Scotia 89.

19. Calvert v. Marlow, 18 Ala. 67; Rucker v. Hamilton, 3 Dana (Ky.) 36.

Detinue and trover cannot be joined. Hood v. Hanning, 4 Dana (Ky.) 21.

20. Alabama.— Berlin Mach. Works v. Alabama City Furniture Co., 112 Ala. 488, 20 So. 418; Lucas v. Pittman, 94 Ala. 616, 10 So. 603.

Illinois.— Robinson v. Peterson, 40 Ill. App. 132.

Kentucky.— Cromwell v. Clay, 1 Dana 578, 25 Am. Dec. 165.

Mississippi.— Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254.

Virginia.— Stratton v. Minnis, 2 Munf. 329.

Canada.— Morton v. Stone 30 U. C. Q. B. 158.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Detinue," §§ 28, 29.

Form of plea see Martin Civ. Proc. 386 [citing 2 Chitty Pl. 495].

Not guilty is not a proper plea in detinue. Berlin Mach. Works v. Alabama City Furniture Co., 112 Ala. 488, 23 So. 418; Lucas v. Pittman, 94 Ala. 616, 10 So. 603; Robinson v. Peterson, 40 Ill. App. 132. But where defendant pleads "not guilty" and no objection is made at the trial, the appellate court may treat such plea as the general issue, the plea having been so treated throughout the trial. Berlin Mach. Works v. Alabama City Furniture Co., 112 Ala. 488, 20 So. 418. In Florida it seems that "not guilty" is the proper general issue in the statutory action for taking and detaining personalty. Stewart v. Mills, 18 Fla. 57.

Statutory general issue in Alabama.—The plea of the general issue in detinue prescribed by Ala. Code (1896), § 3295, is equivalent to a plea of non detinet at the common law, and puts in issue the right of plaintiff to recover. Carlisle v. People's Bank, 122 Ala. 446, 26 So. 115; Foster v. Chamberlain, 41 Ala. 158. An averment under this section that "the allegations of the complaint are untrue" is a plea of the general issue. Berlin Mach. Works v. Alabama City Furniture Co., 112 Ala. 488, 20 So. 418.

erty,[21] and defendant's possession or detention thereof;[22] or he may plead in justification of the detention that he has the title to the property,[23] or some special interest therein which entitles him to the possession thereof;[24] or he may plead

In detinue by a conditional vendor to recover the property for breach of conditions as to payment, the plea of payment is the only plea available to defendant. Brandon v. Montgomery Iron Works, 96 Ala. 506, 11 So. 540.

21. Brown v. Brown, 13 Ala. 208, 48 Am. Dec. 52; Robinson v. Peterson, 40 Ill. App. 132; Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254; Berry v. Hale, 1 How. (Miss.) 315; Philips v. Robinson, 4 Bing. 106, 5 L. J. C. P. O. S. 111, 29 Rev. Rep. 518, 13 E. C. L. 422.

Fraud, rendering plaintiff's title void, is provable under the general issue. Stratton v. Minnis, 2 Munf. (Va.) 329.

Adverse possession for the time prescribed as a bar by the statute of limitations may be given in evidence under the plea of general issue, the reason being that the statute of limitations acts upon the title of personal property not merely as a bar to the remedy, but destroys the right itself. Traun v. Keiffer, 31 Ala. 136; Lay v. Lawson, 23 Ala. 377; Duckett v. Crider, 11 B. Mon. (Ky.) 188; Smart v. Johnson, 3 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 373; Elam v. Bass, 4 Munf. (Va.) 301; Stratton v. Minnis, 2 Munf. (Va.) 329.

In England and Canada the common-law rule, which still prevails in the United States, was changed by the "Recent Rules." Under these rules non detinet puts in issue only the detention of the property by defendant, not plaintiff's title or right of possession. Robinson v. Peterson, 40 Ill. App. 132; Broadbent v. Ledward, 11 A. & E. 209, 3 P. & D. 45, 39 E. C. L. 132; Morgan v. Marquis, 2 C. L. R. 276, 9 Exch. 145, 23 L. J. Exch. 21; Mason v. Farnell, 1 D. & L. 576, 13 L. J. Exch. 142, 12 M. & W. 674; Richardson v. Frankum, 8 Dowl. P. C. 346, 9 L. J. Exch. 162, 6 M. & W. 420; Morton v. Stone, 30 U. C. Q. B. 158; Reynolds v. Waddell, 12 U. C. Q. B. 9.

In Florida the general issue in the statutory action for taking and detaining personal property puts in issue the taking and detention, but not plaintiff's right of property and possession. Stewart v. Mills, 18 Fla. 57.

Leave and license is provable under the general issue. Bain v. McDonald, 32 U. C. Q. B. 190.

Non-joinder of joint owner as a co-plaintiff is available as a defense under the general issue. Bolton v. Cuthbert, 132 Ala. 403, 31 So. 358. In England and Canada, however, under the "Recent Rules," which limit the general issue to defendant's detention, a joint interest held by a third person in the property sued for is not provable under the general issue. Broadbent v. Ledward, 11 A. & E. 209, 3 P. & D. 45, 39 E. C. L. 132. Nor is a joint interest held by defendant provable under the general issue. Mason v. Farnell, 1 D. & L. 576, 13 L. J. Exch. 142, 12 M. & W. 674. But see Morgan v. Marquis, 2 C. L. R. 276, 9 Exch. 145, 23 L. J. Exch. 21, where it was held that the decision in Mason v. Farnell, 1 D. & L. 576, 13 L. J. Exch. 142, 12 M. & W. 674, was no authority for the proposition that a sale by one of two tenants in common cannot be given in evidence under the plea of non detinet. The question, however, was not directly passed upon, although the evidence was allowed.

In detinue by a mortgagee against the mortgagor, defendant cannot in the absence of statutory authorization set up payment as a defense under the general issue, nor can he set up an offset growing out of the mortgagee's failure to furnish the full consideration of the mortgage debt. Harper v. Weeks, 89 Ala. 577, 8 So. 39. But where by statute payment of the mortgage debt revests the title to the property in the mortgagor such payment may be proved under the general issue. Carlisle v. People's Bank, 122 Ala. 446, 26 So. 115.

22. Downs v. Bailey, 135 Ala. 329, 33 So. 151; Brown v. Brown, 13 Ala. 208, 48 Am. Dec. 52; Stewart v. Mills, 18 Fla. 57; Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254.

23. A plea which only shows that the title was in defendant on a specified day before the commencement of the action is bad on demurrer, but can be made good by additional averment that plaintiff has not since such date acquired any title in the slave. Patton v. Hamner, 28 Ala. 618; Wittick v. Traun, 25 Ala. 317.

24. McBrayer v. Dillard, 49 Ala. 174; Mason v. Farnell, 1 D. & L. 576, 13 L. J. Exch. 142, 12 M. & W. 674 [disapproving Lane v. Tewson, 12 A. & E. 116 note, 1 G. & D. 584, 40 E. C. L. 66, where it was held that such matters need not be specially pleaded], holding that such matters must be specially pleaded.

A lien held by defendant must be specially pleaded. Philips v. Robinson, 4 Bing. 106, 5 L. J. C. P. O. S. 111, 29 Rev. Rep. 518, 13 E. C. L. 422; Riorden v. Brown, 1 U. C. C. P. 199; Morton v. Stone, 30 U. C. Q. B. 158; Stephens v. Cousins, 16 U. C. Q. B. 329.

A pledge of the property to defendant must be specially pleaded. Bettis v. Taylor, 8 Port. (Ala.) 564.

Justification under legal process must be specially pleaded. Cromwell v. Clay, 1 Dana (Ky.) 578, 25 Am. Dec. 165.

Special plea — Goods deposited as security against liability on guaranty. — A plea stating that the property sued for was deposited with defendant to secure him against a liability which he has undertaken at plaintiff's request by guaranteeing to a third party the amount of a debt due such party by plaintiff, is good on demurrer, although it does not state that any present liability has been incurred under the guaranty. Mecklenburgh v. Gloyn, 13 Wkly. Rep. 291.

Argumentative plea amounting to general issue. — Where the declaration alleges that defendant, having possession of plaintiff's the loss of the property prior to the action,[25] or that the title to and right to the possession of the property has already been adjudicated in his favor,[26] or that by reason of something which has happened since the beginning of the action judgment should not be rendered against him.[27] Other special pleas allowable are the plea of not possessed,[28] title in a third party,[29] or fraud in plaintiff's title.[30] Where a special plea purports to answer the whole action, it must cover the question of damages for the detention.[31] The allegation of bailment in the declaration is not traversable.[32] goods, "detains" the same, a plea that they were deposited as security for an advance and that on the payment of that sum defendant offered to return the goods to plaintiff, who then refused to receive them, is bad as denying the detention argumentatively, and as being a special plea amounting to non detinet. Clements v. Flight, 4 D. & L. 261, 16 L. J. Exch. 11, 16 M. & W. 42.

25. A plea that defendant has lost the property must show that the loss was not due to defendant's fault. Goodman v. Boycott, 2 B. & S. 1, 8 Jur. N. S. 763, 31 L. J. Q. B. 69, 6 L. T. Rep. N. S. 25, 110 E. C. L. 1.

26. A plea of a former judgment in favor of defendant is nothing more in effect than that the title to the slave was in defendant at a day certain before the commencement of the suit. It is therefore defective on demurrer. Wittick v. Traun, 25 Ala. 317.

A plea of former recovery in a statutory claim suit, averring that plaintiff has not since acquired any title, is a bar. Patton v. Hamner, 33 Ala. 307.

27. Such matters must be specially pleaded. They are not provable under the general issue. Brown v. Brown, 13 Ala. 208, 48 Am. Dec. 52; Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254.

The plea of puis darrein continuance is proper where the matter of defense arises after issue joined, but not where it arises after the beginning of the action but before issue joined. Dryer v. Lewis, 57 Ala. 551; Whitfield v. Whitfield, 44 Miss. 254; Bethea v. McLennon, 23 N. C. 523; Morgan v. Cone, 18 N. C. 234. Such a plea may be received at any time before verdict. Bethea v. McLennon, 23 N. C. 523. See, generally, PLEADING.

Interest acquired by defendant pending action must be specially pleaded. Brown v. Brown, 13 Ala. 208, 48 Am. Dec. 52.

Loss or destruction of the property pending action must be pleaded specially. Bethea v. McLennon, 23 N. C. 523; Austin v. Jones, Gilm. (Va.) 341; Arthur v. Ingels, 34 W. Va. 639, 12 S. E. 872, 11 L. R. A. 557. Compare Williams v. Archer, 5 C. B. 318, 17 L. J. C. P. 82, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 289, 57 E. C. L. 318, and Leader v. Rhys, 10 C. B. N. S. 369, 7 Jur. N. S. 1199, 30 L. J. C. P. 345, 4 L. T. Rep. N. S. 330, 9 Wkly. Rep. 704, 100 E. C. L. 369, both cases holding that the jury may, even under a plea of non detinet, make a special finding of the destruction of the property, and confine their verdict to an assessment of damages.

Plea of restoration.— Defendant may plead that after the commencement of the suit he delivered the goods to plaintiff, who accepted and received them. Such a plea is not subject to the objection that it merely goes to damages and does not answer the subject-matter of the action. Crossfield v. Such, 8 Exch. 159, 22 L. J. Exch. 65, 1 Wkly. Rep. 82. Restoration pending action is pleadable in abatement, but not in bar. Morgan v. Cone, 18 N. C. 234; Johnson v. Lamb, 13 U. C. Q. B. 508. Under order of court all further proceedings in the case will be confined to an assessment of damages for the detention. Williams v. Archer, 5 C. B. 318, 17 L. J. C. P. 82, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 289, 57 E. C. L. 318. And see Williams v. Archer, 5 C. B. 318, 17 L. J. C. P. 82, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 289, 57 E. C. L. 318; Leader v. Rhys, 10 C. B. N. S. 369, 7 Jur. N. S. 1199, 30 L. J. C. P. 345, 4 L. T. Rep. N. S. 330, 9 Wkly. Rep. 704, 100 E. C. L. 369, both cases holding that where the property is restored to plaintiff pending action, the jury may find the facts specially, even on the issue raised by non detinet, and may confine themselves to an assessment of damages. But see Morgan v. Cone, 18 N. C. 234 [disapproving Merritt v. Merritt, 1 N. C. 17, and distinguishing Merrit v. Warmouth, 2 N. C. 12], holding that when plaintiff in detinue gets possession of the property pending action, he cannot recover damages.

28. Under the plea of "not possessed" defendant cannot show that he is a tenant in common with plaintiff as to the property sought to be recovered. This plea puts in issue only plaintiff's title or property in the goods sought to be recovered. Mason v. Farnell, 1 D. & L. 576, 13 L. J. Exch. 142, 12 M. & W. 674.

29. A plea in detinue is bad where, although it avers general ownership in another, it does not exclude the idea of a special property in plaintiff, with present right of possession. Elgee v. Lovell, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,344, Woolw. 102.

30. A plea which seeks to present the defense that plaintiff's title is dependent upon a mortgage secured by fraud must show that plaintiff's title to or right to recover the property depends upon or is affected by the fraud charged. If the plea does not show this it is bad. Elston v. Roop, 133 Ala. 331, 32 So. 129. See also Dunklin v. Wilkins, 5 Ala. 199.

31. Hunt v. Martin, 8 Gratt. (Va.) 578.

32. Whitehead v. Harrison, 6 Q. B. 423, 2 D. & L. 122, 8 Jur. 894, 13 L. J. Q. B. 312, 51 E. C. L. 423; Clossman v. White, 7 C. B. 43,

3. REPLICATION OR REPLY AND SUBSEQUENT PLEADINGS. Plaintiff may reply either generally or specially.[33] In some cases the issue is not made up by the reply, and defendant files a rejoinder.[34]

D. Revival of Action. An action of detinue survives at the death of either plaintiff or defendant, and may be revived against the personal representative of the decedent.[35]

E. Intervention by Third Parties. A third party against whom defendant may recover in the event of a judgment in favor of plaintiff may by leave of court appear and defend the action;[36] and in Alabama there is a special statute providing for intervention by a third party claiming the property in litigation.[37]

6 D. & L. 563, 18 L. J. C. P. 151, 62 E. C. L. 43; Gledstane v. Hewitt, 1 Cromp. & J. 565, 9 L. J. Exch. O. S. 145, 1 Tyrw. 445.

33. Plaintiff may reply by alleging that the license was revoked before the detention complained of. Plaintiff may make this reply specially, although he need not do so. Adams v. Andrews, 15 Q. B. 284, 15 Jur. 149, 20 L. J. Q. B. 33, 69 E. C. L. 284; Bain v. McDonald, 32 U. C. Q. B. 190.

A replication to plea denying possession, which avers that defendant had possession but wrongfully parted therewith, is insufficient, since it does not aver that defendant parted with possession with a fraudulent intent. Lightfoot v. Jordan, 63 Ala. 224. But see supra, IV, C, 2.

Departure.— The allegation of bailment in the declaration not being traversable, where defendant sets up a special bailment, plaintiff may reply to such special bailment without departing from his declaration. Gledstane v. Hewitt, 1 Cromp. & J. 565, 9 L. J. Exch. O. S. 145, 1 Tyrw. 445.

New assignment.— Where defendant pleads leave and license, a replication that defendant, as sheriff, entered plaintiff's house with his consent to levy a fieri facias against plaintiff's goods, having first obtained the keys to the house for that purpose, but that in excess of his duty as sheriff defendant detained the keys from plaintiff and locked him out of his house for several days, was held to be an informal new assignment. Bain v. McDonald, 32 U. C. Q. B. 190.

34. Where defendant has pleaded leave and license and plaintiff has replied with a revocation of the license, defendant may rejoin by alleging that within a reasonable time after revocation and after he had notice thereof he redelivered the property to plaintiff. Bain v. McDonald, 32 U. C. Q. B. 190.

35. See ABATEMENT AND REVIVAL, 1 Cyc. 52. Contra, Jones v. Littlefield, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 133.

On scire facias to revive an action against the personal representative of the deceased defendant, it must either be suggested in the scire facias or alleged in the declaration thereon that the property has come into the possession of such representative. Hunt v. Martin, 8 Gratt. (Va.) 578; Catlett v. Russell, 6 Leigh (Va.) 344; Allen v. Harlan, 6 Leigh (Va.) 42, 29 Am. Dec. 205. See also Easly v. Boyd, 12 Ala. 684. Where, however, the executor or administrator consents that the cause shall stand revived against him, such consent places the cause in the same situation that it would be in after the service of a scire facias against the administrator, alleging that the property had come to his possession and was detained by him. Greenlee v. Bailey, 9 Leigh (Va.) 526.

Failure of the administrator to plead anew after the action has been revived against him is not available to him as an objection after a verdict has been rendered against him. Greenlee v. Bailey, 9 Leigh (Va.) 526.

36. The defense should be conducted in the name of the original defendant, and no judgment can be rendered against the intervener. Cleaveland v. McAdams, 21 Ala. 321.

37. Such claim can be interposed only where there has been a preliminary seizure of the property before trial and judgment in such detinue suit, and after the rendition of judgment no claim to the property can be interposed under the statute. McGlathery v. Williams, 129 Ala. 247, 29 So. 858.

Premature filing of claim.— Under the provision of the statute that the claim shall not be filed within five days from the time of the levy, a claim is not prematurely filed where the property is levied on on the thirty-first day of one month and the claim is filed on the fifth day of the succeeding month. Wright v. New England Mortg. Security Co., 127 Ala. 213, 28 So. 573. This provision is for the benefit of defendant, and plaintiff cannot raise the question as to whether the claim was prematurely filed. Wright v. New England Mortg. Security Co., 127 Ala. 213, 28 So. 573.

Claimant's bond.— An objection that a claimant's bond was approved by the justice of the peace before whom the action was pending, instead of by the officer levying the writ as required by Ala. Code, §§ 1484, 4141, must be made on the trial before the justice, and cannot be raised for the first time on appeal. Wright v. New England Mortg. Security Co., 127 Ala. 213, 28 So. 573.

Mode of trial.— Under Pamphlet Acts Ala. (1888, 1889), pp. 57, 58, requiring intervening claimants in actions of detinue to make affidavit and execute bond as in trials of right of property when levied on under fieri facias, and that the sheriff shall return to the court the summons, affidavit, and bond, upon which the same proceedings must be had as in other trials of the right of property, and under Ala. Code, §§ 3004, 3007, relating to trials of the right of property and requiring an issue to be

F. Verdict. The verdict in detinue need not be wholly in favor of either party;[38] but it must dispose of all the property sued for,[39] and must likewise be responsive to all the issues.[40] The usual form of verdict in favor of plaintiff is simply a finding "for the plaintiff,"[41] followed by an assessment of the value of the property and damages for the detention thereof.[42] As a general rule a ver-made up between plaintiff in execution and claimant, in intervention proceedings by claimant in an action of detinue, there must be a separate contestation between plaintiff in detinue and the intervening claimant, as in proceedings in the trial of the right of property levied on by execution. Plaintiff must allege that he has a legal title to the property in litigation and the right to the immediate possession thereof, and the burden of proving such allegations is upon him. Plaintiff may give all evidence in support of his claim which has any tendency to support it, but must rely upon the strength of his own title and not the weakness of plaintiff's. The issue in such proceedings is determined by the statute and the court has no right to frame it. The court can only decide whether the issue tendered or formed corresponds to the laws. Keyser v. Maas, 111 Ala. 390, 21 So. 346; Warren v. Liddell, 110 Ala. 232, 20 So. 89, holding further that the formal pleadings are unnecessary and improper and that the only proper issue is affirmation by plaintiff in detinue that the property levied on is subject to the process in detinue and a denial of that affirmation by the claimant. See also White v. Sheffield, etc., St. R. Co., 90 Ala. 253, 7 So. 910.

The only question in issue is the question of title between plaintiff and claimant; and hence the claimant cannot raise the question as to whether the parties who caused the action to be instituted were the rightful officers of plaintiff corporation; nor can he raise the question whether plaintiff made a demand for the property before bringing the action. White v. Sheffield, etc., St. R. Co., 90 Ala. 253, 7 So. 910.

Where the claimant claimed under a mortgage, proof of a mortgage to a firm of which he is a member, without any proof that he is the sole member thereof, or that he has received an assignment of the mortgage, is insufficient to sustain the claim. Shows v. Brantley, 127 Ala. 352, 28 So. 716.

Jury question.— Where in intervention proceedings it appeared that the property was shipped to one M, over defendant's railroad, and that while on the tracks the president of plaintiff corporation and the consignee of the property gave claimant an order to take possession of the property, and that the claimant thereupon paid the freight and took some steps toward the removal of the property, but it did not appear whether the claimant paid the freight with his own money or with money furnished him by plaintiff, or whether he was one of plaintiff's officers, it was held that it was a question for the jury whether the claimant obtained possession of the engine at plaintiff's request and whether he paid the freight with his own money so as to entitle him to the possession of the property until such money was refunded to him. White v. Sheffield, etc., St. R. Co., 90 Ala. 253, 7 So. 910.

38. Glass v. Pinckard, 56 Ala. 592.

A verdict in detinue for a part of the things demanded is good for plaintiff, as to those found for him, and for defendant as to the remainder. Thomas v. Tanner, 6 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 52.

In detinue for different articles a verdict for plaintiff as to some of them and silence as to others is a verdict for defendant as to the articles not mentioned. Talbot v. Talbot, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 3.

39. Butler v. Parks, 1 Wash. (Va.) 76.

40. Where defendant pleads non detinet, and a special plea in bar to which there is a general replication, a general verdict for plaintiff is sufficiently responsive to the issues. Garland v. Bugg, 1 Hen. & M. (Va.) 374. A verdict in detinue in these words: "We find all the issues for the plaintiff, and that the slaves named in the proceedings [specifying them by name] are the property of the plaintiff, and that the said slaves are in value worth as follows," etc., "and, as the plaintiff releases all damages for hire, we assess the value of said slaves, to wit, $3,450, as damages for the plaintiff, to be discharged upon delivery of said slaves by the defendant to him"— is substantially correct and proper in form. Rambo v. Wyatt, 32 Ala. 363, 70 Am. Dec. 544. In detinue a verdict fixing a separate value for each item sued for, finding the detention of the property by defendants, and awarding damages therefor, is sufficient. Lenox v. Pike, 2 Ark. 14.

In West Virginia the form of the verdict is prescribed by the code. Robinson v. Woodford, 37 W. Va. 377, 16 S. E. 602.

The finding as to defendant's possession should specifically show whether or not it was wrongful. A finding that "as far as there was any evidence to the contrary" defendant's possession was rightful is insufficient. Barksdale v. Appleberry, 23 Mo. 389. A verdict that plaintiff is the owner of the property sued for and fixing its value is insufficient, there being no finding of an unlawful detainer of the property. Crouch v. Martin, 3 Blackf. (Ind.) 256.

A verdict of "not guilty" is improper in form, but such a verdict, followed by a proper assessment of value and damages, is sufficient upon an issue joined on the pleas of non detinet and justification under legal process. Rowan v. Hutchisson, 27 Ala. 328.

41. This finding is made definite as to the property by reference to the declaration or petition. Wilson v. Barnes, 49 Ala. 134; Avery v. Avery, 12 Tex. 54, 62 Am. Dec. 513; Boatright v. Meggs, 4 Munf. (Va.) 145.

42. Williams v. Archer, 5 C. B. 318, 17 L. J. C. P. 82, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 289, 57 E. C. L. 318.

dict in detinue which does not assess the value of the property is fatally defective;[43] and where more than one article is sued for, and such articles are of Damages should not be assessed severally as to each article sued for but should be assessed in gross. Thomas v. Blunt, Litt. Sel. Cas. (Ky.) 114.

Failure to find damages is not fatal to the validity of the verdict, but precludes recovery thereof in any other action. Trimble v. Stipe, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 264.

43. Averett v. Milner, 75 Ala. 505; Bell v. Pharr, 7 Ala. 807; Cummings v. Tindall, 4 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 357; Stirling v. Garritee, 18 Md. 468, holding that failure to assess value is sufficient ground for arrest of judgment.

The value laid in the declaration is not a maximum limit, and the jury may assess the value in a larger sum. Goodman v. Floyd, 2 Humphr. (Tenn.) 59; Biggers v. Alderson, 1 Hen. & M. (Va.) 54.

Jury question.— The value of the property is a question for the jury. Smith v. Wiggins, 3 Stew. (Ala.) 221. There must, however, be some evidence of value, or the assessment cannot stand. Gerson v. Norman, 111 Ala. 433, 20 So. 453; Parr v. Gibbons, 27 Miss. 375. In Smith v. Wiggins, 3 Stew. (Ala.) 221, it was held that evidence of the value of the hire of the property — a slave — was sufficient to sustain an assessment of value. In Jennings v. Gibson, Walk. (Miss.) 234, it was held that the description of the property in the declaration was sufficient to sustain an assessment of value. See also Parr v. Gibbons, 27 Miss. 375.

The measure of value seems to be involved in some confusion. In White v. Ross, 5 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 123, and in Clapp v. Walters, 2 Tex. 130, it was held that the assessment of value must be made as of the time of demand made or action begun. In Johnson v. Marshall, 34 Ala. 522, it was held that the value to be assessed is the value at any time between demand and trial. In Holly v. Flournoy, 54 Ala. 99; Freer v. Cowles, 44 Ala. 314; Johnson v. Marshall, 34 Ala. 522, it was held that the jury may but need not assess the highest value at any time between the beginning of the action and the trial. In Whitfield v. Whitfield, 40 Miss. 352, it was held that where no question of fraud, malice, or wilful wrong intervenes, the measure of damages is the value of the property at the time of the taking, with interest to the time of trial; but where the taking is attended by circumstances of malice, fraud, or wilful wrong, the measure of damages is a matter to be determined by the jury from the evidence. In Penny v. Davis, 3 B. Mon. (Ky.) 313; Freeman v. Luckett, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 390, it was held that the value must be assessed as of the time of the verdict. In Anderson v. Passman, 7 C. & P. 193, 32 E. C. L. 568, it was held that where plaintiff fails to prove the value it will be assessed at the lowest possible amount.

Where plaintiff's interest is limited or special.— In Oden v. Stubblefield, 2 Ala. 684, it was held that the primary object of an action in detinue being to effect the recovery of specific property, where plaintiff in such action proves a life-estate only, the jury may nevertheless assess the value of the absolute property because, if the damages were limited to the value of the life-estate, defendant might defeat the object of the action by paying the damages and refusing to restore the property. On the other hand, it was held in Glascock v. Hays, 4 Dana (Ky.) 58, that while a bailee may recover the full value of the property, one holding only a life-estate can recover only the value of his separate interest, the reason being that in such case the payment by defendant of the value of the life-estate would operate as a transfer of the life-estate only, leaving the remainder-man's rights untouched.

Where the property is subject to a life-estate, and, pending action by the trustee for the remainder-man, the life-tenant dies, plaintiff is entitled to recover the full value of the property. Murphy v. Moore, 39 N. C. 118.

Defendant cannot complain of the failure of the jury, in rendering a verdict for plaintiff, to assess the value of the property, where plaintiff was in possession of the property sued for under the necessary statutory bond, defendant having failed to give bond and take possession. Barnhill v. Howard, 104 Ala. 412, 16 So. 1; Dykes v. Clarke, 98 Ala. 657, 13 So. 690; Jones v. Pullen, 66 Ala. 306. See also Rose v. Pearson, 41 Ala. 687; Lucas v. Daniels, 34 Ala. 188; Rambo v. Wyatt, 32 Ala. 363, 70 Am. Dec. 544; Miller v. Jones, 29 Ala. 174.

Plaintiff cannot complain of a failure to assess value, where the judgment is against him, and he has not the possession of the property. Shepherd v. Story, 62 Ala. 336.

The value need not be assessed where the property is in the possession of plaintiff (Dykes v. Clarke, 98 Ala. 657, 13 So. 690), or where it is in the hands of the court (Avery v. Avery, 12 Tex. 54, 62 Am. Dec. 513). Likewise, in an action by a trustee in a deed of trust to secure a debt, the value of the property need not be assessed, since by payment of the amount of such debt defendant could relieve himself from liability (Hundley v. Calloway, 45 W. Va. 516, 31 S. E. 937); and the same rule obtains in Alabama in an action by a mortgagee against the mortgagor, since under the Alabama acts payment of the mortgage debt relieves defendant of the duty of restoring the property (Thompson v. Greene, 85 Ala. 240, 4 So. 735). But see Morrison v. Judge, 14 Ala. 182.

A writ of inquiry may be awarded to assess the value of the property, where the trial jury has failed to do so. Key v. Allen, 7 N. C. 523; Hundley v. Calloway, 43 W. Va. 516, 31 S. E. 937. Under the Ala. Code, § 2749, providing that if the court determines the issue for plaintiff a jury must be immedately impaneled to ascertain the damages, if unliquidated, or the jury if one has been impaneled may be required to assess different kind and quality, the value of each article must be assessed separately whenever such an assessment is practicable.[44]

G. Judgment — 1. Form and Sufficiency. The judgment in detinue follows the verdict, and if it be for plaintiff it must be in the alternative for the recovery of the specific property sued for, describing it, or its value as assessed by the jury, and damages for the detention of the property, and costs.[45] Where plaintiff has such damages conditionally previous to their discharge, it is within the discretion of the trial court whether the damages shall be conditional by the jury first impaneled or by the jury impaneled after the determination of the issue for plaintiff. Gluck v. Cox, 90 Ala. 331, 8 So. 161.

Ancient method of ascertaining value.— There appear to be two modes in the old books by which the value of the property might be ascertained: one by which such value was found by the jury who tried the issue in giving the verdict, and if there were no issue by the jury who assessed the damages; the other, according to which the sheriff was directed to ascertain the value if plaintiff did not deliver up the goods, and on the sheriff's return judgment absolute was given for the value. Phillips v. Jones, 15 Q. B. 859, 14 Jur. 1065, 19 L. J. Q. B. 374, 69 E. C. L. 859.

44. Alabama.— Southern Warehouse Co. v. Johnson, 85 Ala. 178, 4 So. 643; Savage v. Russell, 84 Ala. 103, 4 So. 235; Jones v. Anderson, 82 Ala. 302, 2 So. 911; Tait v. Murphy, 80 Ala. 440, 2 So. 317; Johnson v. McLeod, 80 Ala. 433, 2 So. 145; Jones v. Anderson, 76 Ala. 427; Townsend v. Brooks, 76 Ala. 308; Bell v. Pharr, 7 Ala. 807; Haynes v. Crutchfield, 7 Ala. 189; Cummings v. Tindall, 4 Stew. & P. 357.

Kentucky.— Buckner v. Haggin, 2 T. B. Mon. 59.

Mississippi.— Carraway v. McNeice, Walk. 538.

Tennessee.— Baker v. Beasly, 4 Yerg. 570.

Texas.— Rowlett v. Fulton, 5 Tex. 458; Blakely v. Duncan, 4 Tex. 184.

Virginia.—Higgenbotham v. Rucker, 2 Call 313.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Detinue," § 44.

Articles of the same class and similar in quality, color, etc., may be valued in the lump. Downs v. Bailey, 135 Ala. 329, 33 So. 151. The value of a cow and her calf may be assessed in gross. Haynes v. Crutchfield, 7 Ala. 189.

Presumption as to practicability of separate assessment.— Unless it is manfestly apparent that it is impracticable to assess the value of several articles separately, the presumption is that it was practicable to make the separate assessment, and that a verdict which does not make such assessment is erroneous. Southern Warehouse Co. v. Johnson, 85 Ala. 178, 4 So. 643 [distinguishing Eslava v. Dillihunt, 46 Ala. 698, where the impracticability of a separate assessment was manifestly apparent].

Failure to assess the value of one article out of several, the other articles being valued, will render the verdict erroneous. Traun v. Wittick, 27 Ala. 570; Wittick v. Traun, 27 Ala. 562, 62 Am. Dec. 778.

Waiver of objection.— Where the property sued for has been delivered to plaintiff, and the jury on finding for defendant assesses its value in gross without separately finding the value of the different articles, plaintiff, by failing to object when the verdict was returned, waives the error. Eslava v. Dillihunt, 46 Ala. 698. Likewise where the jury find that it is impracticable to make a separate assessment and defendant makes no objection to such finding he will be deemed to have acquiesced in the correctness thereof. Wilson v. Barnes, 49 Ala. 134.

Where defendant is unable to return any portion of the property, failure to separately assess the value of the separate items is harmless error, since the reason for the requirement of separate assessment is to fix the amount necessary to pay the value of any of the several articles of property in discharge of the judgment pro tanto. Rose v. Pearson, 41 Ala. 687.

Excessive valuation is not ground for objection by defendant, unless it appear that he cannot restore the property. Glascock v. Hays, 4 Dana (Ky.) 58; Thompson v. Porter, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 70; Jennings v. Gibson, Walk. (Miss.) 234; Clapp v. Walters, 2 Tex. 130; Mirick v. Hemphill, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,647*a*, Hempst. 179. Where defendant knows during the trial that it will be impossible for him to return the property, he should, if he thinks that the assessment of value is excessive, apply for a reassessment. McDowell v. Gray, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 1. An excessive valuation may be cured by a remittitur of the excess. Clapp v. Walters, 2 Tex. 130.

A writ of inquiry may be awarded to ascertain the separate values of several articles sued for, where the verdict assesses such values in gross. Buckner v. Haggin, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 59; Carraway v. McNeice, Walk. (Miss.) 538; Baker v. Beasly, 4 Yerg. 570; Cornwall v. Truss, 2 Munf. (Va.) 195.

45. Alabama.— McCullough v. Flood, 103 Ala. 448, 15 So. 848; Greene v. Lewis, 85 Ala. 221, 4 So. 740, 7 Am. St. Rep. 42; Auerbach v. Blackman, 57 Ala. 616; Robinson v. Richards, 45 Ala. 354; Wittick v. Keiffer, 31 Ala. 199.

Arkansas.— Lenox v. Pike, 2 Ark. 14.

Tennessee.— Waite v. Dolby, 8 Humphr. 406.

Virginia.—Higgenbotham v. Rucker, 2 Call 313.

West Virginia.— Robinson v. Woodford, 37 W. Va. 377, 16 S. E. 602.

England.— Chilton v. Carrington, 15 C. B. 730, 3 C. L. R. 392, 1 Jur. N. S. 477, 24 L. J. C. P. 78, 3 Wkly. Rep. 248, 80 E. C. L. 730; not taken possession of the property, no judgment can be rendered against him

Winfield v. Boothroyd, 54 L. T. Rep. N. S. 574, 34 Wkly. Rep. 501; Comyns Dig. tit. "Pleader."

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Detinue," § 47.

Assessment of value is as essential to the validity of the judgment as it is to the verdict. Greene v. Lewis, 85 Ala. 221, 4 So. 740, 7 Am. St. Rep. 42; Auerbach v. Blackman, 57 Ala. 616; Robinson v. Richards, 45 Ala. 354; Wittick v. Keiffer, 31 Ala. 199; Thomas v. Tanner, 6 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 52; Mulliken v. Greer, 5 Mo. 489; Phillips v. Jones, 15 Q. B. 859, 14 Jur. 1065, 19 L. J. Q. B. 374, 69 E. C. L. 859. Where the verdict assesses separately the values of several articles sued for, the judgment must likewise fix such values separately. Townsend v. Brooks, 76 Ala. 308; Whitfield v. Whitfield, 40 Miss. 352; Higgenbotham v. Rucker, 2 Call (Va.) 313.

A judgment by default without the assessment of the value of the property by a jury is usually improper. McCullough v. Floyd, 103 Ala. 448, 15 So. 848; Chandler v. Jones, 56 Ala. 595; Brown v. Brown, 5 Ala. 508; Studdert v. Hassell, 6 Humphr. (Tenn.) 137. Where, however, the property is in plaintiff's possession, a judgment by default may be rendered without the assessment of value by a jury. Dykes v. Clarke, 98 Ala. 657, 13 So. 690.

Where the verdict finds for value only, a judgment for the property or value does not conform to the verdict, but defendant cannot complain. Horton v. Reynolds, 8 Tex. 284.

Statute of jeofails.— The omission of the words "if so to be had" from the judgment for the recovery of the property is cured by the statute of jeofails. Berry v. Hale, 1 How. (Miss.) 315.

Failure to specify the articles recovered cannot be made a ground of objection by defendant. Wilson v. Barnes, 49 Ala. 134; Haynes v. Crutchfield, 7 Ala. 189.

A judgment for damages only cannot be attcked by defendant. Miller v. Jones, 29 Ala. 174. See also Williams v. Archer, 5 C. B. 318, 17 L. J. C. P. 82, 5 R. & Can. Cas. 289, 57 E. C. L. 318; Leader v. Rhys, 10 C. B. N. S. 369, 7 Jur. N. S. 1199, 30 L. J. C. P. 345, 4 L. T. Rep. N. S. 330, 9 Wkly. Rep. 704, 100 E. C. L. 369.

A judgment for value only cannot be objected to by defendant, where it appears that the property cannot be restored to plaintiff. Faulkner v. Santa Barbara First Nat. Bank, 130 Cal. 258, 62 Pac. 463; Riciotto v. Clement, 94 Cal. 105, 29 Pac. 414; Burke v. Koch, 75 Cal. 356, 17 Pac. 228; De Thomas v. Witherby, 61 Cal. 92, 44 Am. Rep. 542; Brown v. Johnson, 45 Cal. 76.

Damages are not essential to the validity of the judgment, where the verdict does not assess damages. Daniel v. Prather, 1 Bibb (Ky.) 484.

Plaintiff may recover part of the property sued for and fail as to the rest, and in such case the judgment is for plaintiff for the part recovered and for defendant as to the remainder. Louisville, etc., R. Co. v. Walker, 128 Ala. 368, 30 So. 738; Glass v. Pinckard, 56 Ala. 592; Wittick v. Traun, 25 Ala. 317, 27 Ala. 562, 62 Am. Dec. 778.

Where the property has been attached, the judgment in detinue should recognize the attachment and provide that the property be condemned to the satisfaction of any judgment that may be rendered in the attachment proceedings. Townsend v. Brooks, 76 Ala. 308.

Where a judgment is rendered against one of several defendants, it will be presumed, in the absence of anything in the record to the contrary, that the detention was tortious, and hence that the failure to find against both defendants was not improper. Salter v. Pearce, 4 Ala. 669.

Judgment against sureties.— Under Ala. Code, § 1476, providing that in detinue the judgment against either party must be for the property sued for or its alternate value, a judgment against a defendant and the sureties on his replevy bond is irregular, but it is not ground for reversal where not assigned as error. Clem v. Wise, 133 Ala. 403, 31 So. 986.

Where the action is revived against an executor or administrator, the judgment should be de bonis propriis as to the value of the property, and de bonis testatoris as to damages and costs. Hunt v. Martin, 8 Gratt. (Va.) 578; Greenlee v. Bailey, 9 Leigh (Va.) 526; Allen v. Harlan, 6 Leigh (Va.) 42, 29 Am. Dec. 205.

Against an intervening claimant.—Where, after the property involved in an action of detinue has been delivered to an intervening claimant upon his giving bond, the claim suit is thereafter dismissed on plaintiff's motion, with the claimant's consent, and in the main action the jury finds for plaintiff, a judgment reciting that plaintiff recover of the claimant the property or its alternate value and the costs of the claim suit is irregular, the proper judgment in such case being against the claimant for a dismissal of his suit and for the costs thereof, plaintiff's remedy as to the property being by execution on the claimant's bond. The proper procedure in such case is as follows: The sheriff returns the bond forfeited, whereupon the clerk, after judgment has been entered for plaintiff in the main action, and such judgment being still unsatisfied, issues execution against all the obligors on the bond for the assessed value of the property and for the costs of the claim suit. Kennon v. Adams, 100 Ala. 288, 14 So. 15.

In detinue by the vendor in a conditional sale a judgment permitting defendant to deliver the article sought to be recovered and pay the damages for its detention, or to pay the balance of the purchase-price, and which provides that no execution shall issue if such purchase-price be paid within the time prescribed by Ala. Code, § 1477, authorizing conditional judgments for the return of goods or for the value thereof, and that except for costs;[46] but when plaintiff has given bond and taken possession of the property, the judgment in favor of defendant should be for the property or its alternative value.[47]

2. Conclusiveness and Effect. The judgment in detinue is conclusive, and conclusive only between the parties and their privies,[48] and as to the title or interest upon which plaintiff based his right of possession, and the title or interest relied on by defendant as a defense, as of the date of the action and the rendition of the judgment;[49] but a nonsuit or a judgment of dismissal is not conclusive execution will not issue thereon for thirty days in actions of detinue by the seller of personal property when the title has not passed, is in proper form. Brock v. Forbes, 126 Ala. 319, 28 So. 590.

In an action by a mortgagee against the mortgagor, a provision in the judgment for a writ of possession, if defendant fail to pay the amount due on a mortgage on the property, is mere surplusage, not prejudicial to defendant. Thompson v. Greene, 85 Ala. 240, 4 So. 735.

A judgment for a female slave was held to include her issue born pending action. Jordan v. Thomas, 31 Miss. 557; Morris v. Peregoy, 7 Gratt. (Va.) 373.

Statutes relating to costs.— It has been held that detinue is an action founded on tort within a statute relating to costs which classified actions as actions founded on contract and actions founded on tort. Bryant v. Herbert, 3 C. P. D. 389, 47 L. J. C. P. 670, 39 L. T. Rep. N. S. 17, 26 Wkly. Rep. 898. But detinue was not considered as an action "for an alleged wrong" and "brought merely to recover damages for a wrong" within the common-law procedure act of 1860, giving the judge power to deprive plaintiff of costs where he recovers a verdict for less than £5 in an action "for an alleged wrong, etc." Danby v. Lamb, 11 C. B. N. S. 423, 31 L. J. C. P. 17, 5 L. T. Rep. N. S. 353, 10 Wkly. Rep. 43, 103 E. C. L. 423. Under 13 & 14 Vict. § 13, forbidding the allowing of costs to plaintiff where he recovered less than £5, and 14 & 15 Vict. c. 53, § 4, providing that plaintiff might recover costs where his claim was beyond the jurisdiction of the county court, it was held in Leader v. Rhys, 10 C. B. N. S. 369, 7 Jur. N. S. 1199, 30 L. J. C. P. 345, 4 L. T. Rep. N. S. 330, 9 Wkly. Rep. 704, 100 E. C. L. 369, that where an action was brought for the detention of goods exceeding the value of £50, the jurisdiction of the county court was ousted and plaintiff was entitled to his costs, although in consequence of the goods being returned in the course of the cause he obtained a verdict for nominal damages only.

46. Lucas v. Daniels, 34 Ala. 188.

47. Johnson v. Montgomery Furniture Co., 117 Ala. 656, 23 So. 802; Henry v. Powell, 90 Ala. 440, 9 So. 817; Wittick v. Keiffer, 31 Ala. 199.

Upon a nonsuit no judgment could be rendered, in the absence of statutory provision to the contrary, except for costs, since there were no data upon which to assess the alternative value. Savage v. Gunter, 32 Ala. 467. But under Ala. Code (1896), § 1482, defendant may, upon a nonsuit or dismissal, have the alternate value of the property assessed by the jury, and also the value of the use thereof while in plaintiff's possession; and the court will thereupon render judgment for defendant for the recovery of the property or its alternate value, etc. Defendant must invoke this remedy, however, at the same term at which the nonsuit is taken, or at which dismissal occurs, or must ask a continuance of the cause in order that he may invoke the remedy at a later date. If he fails to take these steps he waives the remedy. Ex p. Bolton, 136 Ala. 147, 34 So. 226.

A judgment against the sureties on the detinue bond is improper. The proper practice in such case is prescribed by statute. Rand v. Gibson, 109 Ala. 266, 19 So. 533. See also infra, VII. But where a judgment of nonsuit entered in an action of detinue with plaintiff's consent is against plaintiff's surety as well as himself, it will be considered a clerical error, which may be corrected on defendant's motion at a subsequent term. Harvey v. Jeter, 7 Ala. 688.

48. Briley v. Cherry, 13 N. C. 2, 18 Am. Dec. 561.

49. Ernst v. Hogue, 86 Ala. 502, 5 So. 738; Hall v. Edrington, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 47; Hughes v. Jones, 2 Md. Ch. 178.

Persons acquiring possession pending action is prima facie presumed to claim under defendant, and to be bound by a judgment for plaintiff. Mitchell v. Rainey, 20 N. C. 56.

In detinue by a life-tenant, a judgment for defendant is no bar to a subsequent suit after the death of the life-tenant by the remainder-man for the recovery of the corpus of the property. Haile v. Hill, 13 Mo. 612.

A judgment against one of several defendants is a bar to an action against any of the others as long as such judgment remains in force, although it has not been satisfied. Brinsmead v. Harrison, L. R. 7 C. P. 547, 41 L. J. C. P. 190, 27 L. T. Rep. N. S. 99, 20 Wkly. Rep. 784.

In detinue for a female slave the judgment was conclusive as to the title to or right of possession of any of her children born between the commencement of the action and the rendition of judgment. Bernard v. Chiles, 7 Dana (Ky.) 18; Cates v. Whitfield, 53 N. C. 266. Any children en ventre sa mere at the time of the judgment were likewise covered thereby. Bernard v. Chiles, 7 Dana (Ky.) 18; Vines v. Brownrigg, 18 N. C. 239. Children born after judgment as to such title or interest.[50] There seems to be some conflict as to whether an unsatisfied judgment for plaintiff precludes another action of detinue by him for the recovery of the same property.[51] The judgment does not per se operate as a transfer of title from plaintiff to defendant, and the title remains in plaintiff until he has accepted the alternate value or an execution has issued therefor.[52]

H. Satisfaction of Judgment and Execution. The alternative character of the judgment is for the sole benefit of plaintiff, and defendant has no right, except with plaintiff's consent, to pay the assessed value and keep the property, except in case of destruction of the property.[53] The execution upon a judgment and who were not en ventre sa mere at the rendition of the judgment were not covered thereby. Bernard v. Chiles, 7 Dana (Ky.) 18; Vines v. Brownrigg, 18 N. C. 239. But see Jennings v. Gibson, Walk. (Miss.) 234, where it was held that a child born after judgment could not, after satisfaction of the judgment for the mother, be recovered by the original plaintiff in a subsequent action of detinue where his right to the child was based on his original right to the mother.

A judgment in detinue against a vendor, which is unsatisfied, is no bar to an action of detinue against the vendee of the defendant in the first judgment. Sharp v. Gray, 5 B. Mon. (Ky.) 4.

50. Ernst v. Hogue, 86 Ala. 502, 5 So. 738; Savage v. Gunter, 32 Ala. 467.

51. In Dorsey v. Sands, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 37, and Foster v. Smoot, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 394, it was held that detinue cannot be maintained upon a judgment in a former action of detinue. In Withers v. Withers, 6 Munf. (Va.) 10, it was held that a new action of detinue against the same defendant for the same property cannot be maintained where the former judgment is not declared on; and it was questioned whether any action or proceeding other than scire facias will lie. In Murrell v. Johnson, 1 Hen. & M. (Va.) 450, it was held that a judgment in favor of plaintiff is a bar to an action by plaintiff against a party claiming under the first defendant, notwithstanding that such judgment is unsatisfied. In Briley v. Cherry, 13 N. C. 2, 18 Am. Dec. 561, it was declared by Henderson, J., that a second action of detinue may be brought against any one, including defendant, while the judgment in the first action remains unsatisfied. In Jennings v. Gibson, Walk. (Miss.) 234, it was intimated that an action might be maintained to recover the alternative values and damages awarded in an action of detinue.

52. Sharp v. Gray, 5 B. Mon. (Ky.) 4; Kennedy v. Kloppenberg, 6 La. Ann. 32; In re Scarth, L. R. 10 Ch. 234, 44 L. J. Bankr. 29, 31 L. T. Rep. N. S. 737, 23 Wkly. Rep. 153; Brinsmead v. Harrison, L. R. 7 C. P. 547, 41 L. J. C. P. 190, 27 L. T. Rep. N. S. 991, 20 Wkly. Rep. 784.

Where plaintiff elects to take the assessed value and damages for the detention defendant will be considered as the owner of the property, and the judgment will be considered as a money judgment. Ellis v. Gosney, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 109. But see McDowell v. Gray, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) I, where it was held that an election to take the assessed value, issue of execution therefor, and a tender thereof by defendant did not defeat plaintiff's right to the property.

53. Robinson v. Richards, 45 Ala. 354 (holding that Ala. Rev. Code, §§ 2595, 2596, did not change the common-law rule); Wittick v. Keiffer, 31 Ala. 199; Keith v. Johnson, 1 Dana (Ky.) 604, 25 Am. Dec. 167; Jordan v. Thompson, 34 Miss. 72, 69 Am. Dec. 387; Henry v. Moore, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 880. Compare Jones v. Muse, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 67.

By eloigning the property it seems that defendant may force plaintiff to elect to take the assessed value. Wittick v. Keiffer, 31 Ala. 199.

Election to take the assessed value operates as a discharge of the judgment for the property, and transfers plaintiff's interest therein to defendant. Ellis v. Gosney, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 109. But see McDowell v. Gray, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 1.

Destruction of the property after judgment does not discharge the judgment (May v. Jameson, 11 Ark. 368); but defendant may in such case satisfy the judgment by paying the assessed value (Heard v. Hicks, 101 Ala. 102, 13 So. 256; Robinson v. Richards, 45 Ala. 354).

Property in a damaged condition need not be accepted by plaintiff, without compensation for depreciation in value. Heard v. Hicks, 101 Ala. 102, 13 So. 256.

A release of the assessed value, made under a mistake of law, operates as a satisfaction of the judgment, where the property cannot be restored. Jennings v. Gibson, Walk. (Miss.) 234.

Order of restoration.— Under the common-law procedure act of 1854 the court may in an action of detinue make an order for the delivery or restoration of the specific chattel sued for without giving defendant the option of paying its assessed value as an alternative. Chilton v. Carrington, 15 C. B. 730, 3 C. L. R. 392, 1 Jur. N. S. 477, 24 L. J. C. P. 78, 3 Wkly. Rep. 248, 80 E. C. L. 730; Winfield v. Boothroyd, 54 L. T. Rep. N. S. 574, 34 Wkly. Rep. 501. Such an order cannot be made where by agreement of the parties the jury are discharged from finding the value of the chattel. Chilton v. Carrington, 15 C. B. 730, 3 C. L. R. 392, 1 Jur. N. S. 477, 24 L. J. C. P. 78, 3 Wkly. Rep. 248, 80 E. C. L. 730; Corbett v. Lewin, [1884] W. N. 62. See also Winfield v. Boothroyd, 54 L. T. Rep. N. S. 574, 34 Wkly. Rep. 501, where a payment into court of the estimated value of the property, damages, etc., was held sufficient to sustain the order.

in detinue is a distringas for the property recovered in the first instance,[54] and upon the return thereof unsatisfied a fieri facias issues for the assessed value.[55]

I. Appeal and Error. Most of the questions relating to appeal and error in actions of detinue may be determined by the principles applicable to appeal and error in general, which principles have been treated of elsewhere.[56]

54. Boyd v. Williams, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 56; Vines v. Brownrigg, 18 N. C. 239; Waite v. Dolby, 8 Humphr. (Tenn.) 406; Garland v. Bugg, 5 Munf. (Va.) 166.

In Kentucky, under the statute of 1827, plaintiff might release the assessed value and have an absolute execution for the property. Shadhurn v. Jinnings, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 179.

In Kentucky the officer may make a forcible entry into defendant's house to execute the distringas. Ky. St. (1828) p. 159; Keith v. Johnson, 1 Dana 604, 25 Am. Dec. 167.

In whose hands property subject to seizure under writ of restoration.— Under Ala. Code (1896), §§ 1483, 1880, providing that judgment for plaintiff in detinue shall be that he have and recover "of defendant" the property sued for, a writ following such judgment authorizes a seizure only from defendant or his privies. West v. Hayes, 120 Ala. 92, 23 So. 727, 74 Am. St. Rep. 24.

Where a fieri facias is issued in the first instance defendant may satisfy it by returning the property. Boyd v. Williams, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 56.

55. Vines v. Brownrigg, 18 N. C. 239; Waite v. Dolby, 8 Humphr. (Tenn.) 406; Molloy v. McDaniel, 1 Overt. (Tenn.) 222; Garland v. Bugg, 5 Munf. (Va.) 166, holding that no notice of a motion to supersede the distringas and to issue a fieri facias is necessary.

56. See APPEAL AND ERROR, 2 Cyc. 474 et seq.

Appealable orders.— An order made in an action of detinue entered under the authority of the common-law procedure act of 1854 for the delivery of the specific chattel in litigation is appealable. Chilton v. Carrington, 15 C. B. 730, 3 C. L. R. 392, 1 Jur. N. S. 477, 24 L. J. C. P. 78, 3 Wkly. Rep. 248, 80 E. C. L. 730.

A supersedeas bond filed on an appeal from a judgment for plaintiff in detinue should be in a sum sufficient to secure the return of the property or the payment of the assessed value thereof, with damages for detention and costs. Boulden v. Estey Organ Co., 92 Ala. 182, 9 So. 283.

Clerical errors in the form of the verdict may be corrected on appeal. Rambo v. Wyatt, 32 Ala. 363, 70 Am. Dec. 544. Where by reason of a clerical error the judgment is rendered only for the value of the property instead of for the property or its value, the error may be corrected on appeal and the judgment as thus corrected be affirmed. McCullough v. Floyd, 103 Ala. 448, 15 So. 848.

Cure of error by remittitur.— Where the judgment fails to ascertain the value of the property, but awards damages for the detention thereof, plaintiff cannot in the appellate court cure the error by remitting the recovery of the property or its value. Phillips v. Jones, 15 Q. B. 859, 14 Jur. 1065, 19 L. J. Q. B. 374, 69 E. C. L. 859.

Objections to jurisdiction of a justice on account of the amount in controversy must be taken at the trial and are not available for the first time on appeal. Clem v. Wise, 133 Ala. 403, 31 So. 986.

Presumption as to approval of detinue bond see infra, note 58.

Presumption as to pleading.— A scire facias to revive the action of detinue against an administrator should suggest that the property had come into the hands of the administrator since the death of the testator, and the scire facias not being in the record, nor in the clerk's office of the court below, and no objection appearing to have been taken to it in that court, the court will presume that it was in all respects regular. Hunt v. Martin, 8 Gratt. (Va.) 578.

Presumption as to evidence.— In detinue, by a husband and wife jointly, where the record on appeal shows such title in the wife as would vest a chose in action absolutely in the husband, and is silent as to the time of the wrongful taking and detainer by defendant, the appellate court will presume that the proof showed the unlawful taking and detainer to have been before the marriage. Mitchell v. Cowsert, 20 Ala. 186. Where judgment is rendered against only one of two defendants, it will be presumed on appeal that the detention of defendants was shown to be tortious, and therefore that the judgment against one only was not erroneous. Salter v. Pearce, 4 Ala. 669.

Presumption as to assessment of value.— Where the verdict assesses the value of the property in gross, it will be presumed on appeal in the absence of a contrary showing that no evidence of separate value was introduced. Eslava v. Dillihunt, 46 Ala. 698. Compare Southern Warehouse Co. v. Johnson, 85 Ala. 178, 4 So. 643. See supra, VI, F, G.

Error in assessment of damages requires reversal as to the damages only. McAllister v. McAllister, 34 N. C. 184.

Error in correcting at a subsequent term a judgment against plaintiff and his surety for costs by striking out the name of the surety is harmless as to plaintiff. Harvey v. Jeter, 7 Ala. 688.

Error in omitting to assess the value of the property is harmless to defendant where the action is for a single chattel, and the judgment is only for damages for detention. Miller v. Jones, 29 Ala. 174. See also supra, VI, F, G.

An instruction as to assessment of value that the jury are bound to assess the highest value of the property at any time between the

VII. LIABILITY ON BONDS[57] GIVEN IN ACTIONS OF DETINUE.

A. Detinue Bonds. If plaintiff in detinue fail in his action he will be liable to defendant in an action on the detinue bond.[58] In such an action all damages actually sustained by defendant by reason of the seizure of the property are recoverable.[59] The action must be brought in the court in which the action of commencement of the suit and the trial is harmless, where the value actually assessed was not the highest value warranted by the evidence. Holly v. Flournoy, 54 Ala. 99. See also supra, VI, F, G.

Surplusage in judgment see supra, VI, F, G.

Condition precedent to new trial after reversal.— Where defendant has secured a reversal of the judgment after the property has been delivered to plaintiff under execution, plaintiff will not be required to return the property to defendant as a condition precedent to the right to proceed with a new trial. Traun v. Keiffer, 31 Ala. 136.

57. Bonds generally see BONDS.

58. Ferguson v. Baber, 24 Ala. 402.

A voluntary nonsuit in an action of detinue is sufficient to sustain an action on the detinue bond, even though plaintiff in detinue actually owned the property. Savage v. Gunter, 32 Ala. 467.

The dismissal of the action of detinue raises only the prima facie presumption that the action was wrongful. Copeland v. Leonard, 113 Ala. 605, 20 So. 980, holding that the prima facie presumption was rebutted by the fact that the dismissal was made with the consent of defendant, he returning a part of the property to plaintiff, and by other facts and circumstances appearing in the case.

Variance between the affidavit and the declaration in the action of detinue, as to the description of the property sued for, is not available to defendants in an action on the detinue bond. McDermott v. Doyle, 11 Mo. 443.

The sureties cannot set off a demand of the principal against plaintiff for the purchase-price of the property, for the recovery of which the action in detinue was brought. McCreary v. Jones, 96 Ala. 592, 11 So. 600.

Presumption as to approval of bond.—That the clerk approved of the bond executed by plaintiff in an action of detinue will be presumed from the clerk's official indorsement on the writ "that the sheriff is required to take the property mentioned in the complaint into his possession." Baker v. Pope, 49 Ala. 415.

A bond given after levy, the same being required before the levy, is valid as a common-law bond. Reed v. Brashers, 3 Port. (Ala.) 378.

Effect of omission of statutory condition.— Where a bond was given by plaintiff in detinue, conditioned that he should pay all costs and damages which might be awarded against him or sustained by any person by reason of his suing out the action of detinue, instead of all costs awarded against him and all damages which might accrue to defendant or any other person by reason of the seizure of the property, as required by Va. Code, § 2707, it was held that the omission of the condition prescribed by statute did not render the bond wholly void, but that it might be sued on, so far as the conditions were good, as a statutory bond. Jackson v. Hopkins, 92 Va. 601, 24 S. E. 234.

Action on bond a money demand.— The statute (Ala. Rev. Code, § 2678) requiring a nonsuit to be entered against a plaintiff recovering less than five hundred dollars, unless he makes the prescribed affidavit, extends to every suit on a money demand, including an action for damages for a breach of a detinue bond. Mills v. Long, 58 Ala. 458.

Judgment for defendant in detinue for the assessed value of the property, the same having been delivered to plaintiff, and damages for its detention, as provided by Ala. Code (1886), p. 603, does not preclude an action on the detinue bond. Johnson v. Montgomery Furniture Co., 117 Ala. 656, 23 So. 802.

Parties plaintiff.— In an action on a detinue bond all the obligees who have sustained injuries are proper parties plaintiff, although their injuries are several and distinct; and if two of them are husband and wife the wife may be joined with the husband. Miller v. Garrett, 35 Ala. 96. But a third person cannot recover on a detinue bond executed in accordance with Va. Code, § 2907, although the bond contains a condition not required by the code, to pay all damages which may accrue to any person by reason of the seizure of the property. Jackson v. Hopkins, 92 Va. 601, 24 S. E. 234.

Election of remedies.— When a plaintiff in detinue suffers a voluntary nonsuit defendant may at his election pursue the summary remedy under Ala. Rev. Code, § 2596, or sue on the bond. Wood v. Coman, 56 Ala. 283.

A summary judgment for costs cannot be rendered against the sureties on a detinue bond when the principal dismisses his suit. Garrott v. Fuller, 36 Ala. 179.

Admissibility of evidence.— On a joinder of issue on the breaches assigned in an action on a detinue bond, evidence is irrelevant which shows the taking and detention of the property in the action of detinue, or what plaintiff therein told the sheriff as to his getting possession, and why he detained the property. Baker v. Pope, 49 Ala. 415.

59. Foster v. Napier, 74 Ala. 393; Ferguson v. Baber, 24 Ala. 402.

Costs and attorney fees in the action of detinue may be recovered. Foster v. Napier, 74 Ala. 393. In Ferguson v. Baber, 24 Ala. 402, it was held that counsel fees for defending the action of detinue in the circuit court might be recovered, but not the fees detinue was brought.[60] The declaration should set out the bond and allege a breach thereof, but need not allege anything admitted by the bond itself.[61]

B. Redelivery, Forthcoming, and Appeal-Bonds.[62] Where plaintiff takes possession of the property under a redelivery bond, and then fails in his action and does not redeliver the property, defendant may maintain an action on such bond to recover such damages as are provided for therein.[63] Where defendant for defending it in the supreme court, to which plaintiff in such action carried it on writ of error. Counsel fees incurred in the action on the bond are not recoverable as a part of the damages sustained by the wrongful action in detinue. Mills v. Long, 58 Ala. 458. An officer who has levied on property after receiving an indemnifying bond cannot, after an action of detinue has been brought against him and has resulted in his favor, sue on the detinue bond to recover attorney's fees, when he has neither paid such fees nor is under any obligation to pay them. Schaefer v. Austin, 109 Ala. 373, 19 So. 427. Where plaintiff, who was defendant in the action of detinue, seeks to recover only such costs as were adjudged against him in such action, he cannot recover where the proof shows without conflict that no costs were adjudged against him, but that all costs were adjudged against plaintiff in the action of detinue. Schaefer v. Austin, 109 Ala. 373, 19 So. 427. Where the condition of a detinue bond is to pay such costs and damages as defendant may sustain, and the action of detinue has been dismissed at the costs of plaintiff therein, plaintiff's costs constitute no part of the damages sustained by defendant, and consequently cannot be recovered in an action on the bond. Miller v. Garrett, 35 Ala. 96. Where defendant in detinue has recovered costs and counsel fees in the original action, in a subsequent action on the detinue bond, the damages alleged being costs and counsel fees in the action of detinue, the former recovery is available, if at all, only by the principal defendant, and cannot be set up in a joint plea by him and his sureties. McCreary v. Jones, 96 Ala. 592, 11 So. 600. Actual payment of the costs is not a condition precedent to the right to recover them. Miller v. Garret, 35 Ala. 96; Garrett v. Logan, 19 Ala. 344.

Under a special allegation for value of the hire of the property, a recovery may be had for the entire time that defendant was deprived of the use of the property, including the time during which plaintiff in detinue was in possession under a forthcoming bond which made no provision for the damages claimed. Hudson v. Young, 25 Ala. 376.

Loss of time and hotel bills incidental to defendant's efforts in securing securities on his replevin bond, and his attendance at the trial of the original action, are too remote to be considered in estimating the damages. Foster v. Napier, 74 Ala. 393.

Evidence of rental value.—The value of the hire of the property during the time that defendant was deprived of its use may be proved by evidence of the value of the use of the property per day, over and above expenses, during the time it was in plaintiff's possession. Hudson v. Young, 25 Ala. 376.

Evidence in mitigation of damages.—Where plaintiff in detinue suffers a voluntary nonsuit, in an action on the detinue bond evidence of such plaintiff's ownership of the property is admissible in mitigation of damages. Savage v. Gunter, 32 Ala. 467.

60. McDermott v. Doyle, 11 Mo. 443.

Where the action of detinue was in a federal court, defendant may, a voluntary nonsuit having been taken by plaintiff, sue on the bond either in the federal court or in a state court. Wood v. Coman, 56 Ala. 283.

61. In an action on a bond given in detinue, it is not necessary that plaintiff assign, as a breach of the condition of the bond, any fact which is admitted by the bond itself, but only to allege the existence of those facts, upon the happening of which, by the condition of the bond, the penalty of the bond attached. It is not necessary therefore to allege when and where the action of detinue was commenced, nor that a writ had been sued out at a particular time, nor when and where it was returnable, as these facts are recited in the bond. Baker v. Pope, 49 Ala. 415; Anderson v. Dickson, 8 Ala. 733.

An allegation that plaintiff failed in his suit is a sufficient allegation of breach of the bond. Anderson v. Dickson, 8 Ala. 733.

No allegation of wrong or malice in suing out the writ of detinue is necessary. Baker v. Pope, 49 Ala. 415; Anderson v. Dickson, 8 Ala. 733.

Want of probable cause in bringing the action of detinue need not be alleged. Baker v. Pope, 49 Ala. 415.

The affidavit in the action of detinue need not be noticed in the declaration on the detinue bond. Baker v. Pope, 49 Ala. 415; Anderson v. Dickson, 8 Ala. 733.

62. Liability on appeal-bond generally see APPEAL AND ERROR, 2 Cyc. 916 et seq.

63. The measure of recovery is controlled by the terms of the bond. Attorney's fees are not recoverable where they are not provided for in the bond. Heard v. Hicks, 101 Ala. 102, 13 So. 256.

A voluntary nonsuit or judgment of dismissal renders plaintiff in detinue and his sureties liable on the redelivery bond. Savage v. Gunter, 32 Ala. 467; Altizer v. Buskirk, 44 W. Va. 256, 28 S. E. 789.

Conditions precedent.—Ala. Acts (1886–1887), p. 131, provide that in detinue, when the property is in plaintiff's possession at the termination of the cause, and the cause is dismissed, the court, on motion or plea in abatement, shall impanel a jury to assess the value of the property and value of its use, and shall render judgment for such property or value and damages. It was held that on dismissal the summary judgment is not requisite to the right of defendant to sue on the retains possession of the property under a forthcoming bond, plaintiff, if he succeed in his action, has a cause of action on such bond if defendant fail to deliver the property.[64] The nature and extent of liability of the parties on an redelivery bond. Ernst v. Hogue, 86 Ala. 502, 5 So. 738.

Conclusiveness of judgment in detinue as to ownership of property.— In detinue, or the statutory action in the nature thereof, a judgment against plaintiff on the merits is conclusive as to the ownership of the property in a subsequent action on his replevin bond; but a voluntary nonsuit or judgment of dismissal, not followed by a summary judgment for the assessed value of the property, does not conclude the obligors on the replevin bond, when sued on the bond, from proving plaintiff's ownership of the property in mitigation of damages, although not in bar of the action. Ernst v. Hogue, 86 Ala. 502, 5 So. 738.

Special bail in detinue were liable only after the distringas issued on the judgment in detinue had been superseded and a fieri facias had been issued for the alternative value of the property, and a capias ad satisfaciendum had been returned unsatisfied. The omission of such proceedings, however, was a matter of defense to be specially pleaded. Cloud v. Catlett, 4 Leigh (Va.) 462. See also Bernard v. McKenna, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,348, 4 Cranch C. C. 130.

In action by a mortgagee against mortgagor.— Under Ala. Code, § 2718, providing that a plaintiff in detinue must before taking possession of the property give a bond conditioned to deliver the property to defendant in the event of the failure of the suit, and sections 2720 and 2721, providing that if the action be by a mortgagee defendant may have the amount of the mortgage debt ascertained by the jury and shall upon the payment of such amount be entitled to a return of the property within thirty days after judgment, and in default of such return the bond to have the effect of a judgment, where the mortgagee takes possession of the property under a bond, before the trial, and sells such property, he himself being the purchaser, the mortgagor is entitled to have the amount realized from such sale applied on the mortgage debt; but if after being credited with such amount the jury ascertains the balance still due and he pays it he will be estopped to demand a return of the property or to enforce the bond. Woodruff v. Stough, 107 Ala. 314, 18 So. 258.

The declaration must allege that the property was taken from defendant in detinue, under the process therein, and was delivered to plaintiff in detinue. Altizer v. Buskirk, 44 W. Va. 256, 28 S. E. 789; Bratt v. Marum, 24 W. Va. 652. See also Copeland v. Leonard, 113 Ala. 605, 20 So. 980. But where the action of detinue was dismissed or a nonsuit was suffered by plaintiff therein, it is not necessary to allege that there was a judgment for defendant in detinue settling his right to the property. Altizer v. Buskirk, 44 W. Va. 256, 28 S. E. 789.

64. The code provision that a forthcoming bond in detinue when properly indorsed and returned forfeited has the force and effect of a judgment is merely cumulative, and an action lies on the bond. Masterson v. Matthews, 60 Ala. 260.

Where the property has been damaged plaintiff need not accept it in discharge of the forthcoming bond, without compensation for the depreciation in value, and it is a question for the jury whether, after the tender of property by defendant, plaintiff, by exercising control over such property, received it and thereby waived all claim for damages by fire while in defendant's possession. Heard v. Hicks, 101 Ala. 102, 13 So. 256.

Where plaintiff receives other property in lieu of that for which he sued and for which defendants gave a forthcoming bond, and after being informed of the substitution retains the substituted property, he is estopped to insist on a forfeiture of the bond. Heard v. Hicks, 101 Ala. 102, 13 So. 256.

The fact that the penalty of the bond is for less than the value of the property as assessed by the jury does not prevent its enforcement by summary execution to the extent of the penalty. Rich v. Lowenthal, 99 Ala. 487, 13 So. 220.

Omission in the sheriff's return of seizure of a part of the property sued for and included in defendant's forthcoming bond, and the fact that articles not sued for are included in such bond, does not affect its validity so as to render it unenforceable by summary process, since defendant is required to deliver only the property sued for, replevied, and recovered by plaintiff. Rich v. Lowenthal, 99 Ala. 487, 13 So. 220.

Bond by mortgagee.— The Alabama act of Feb. 8, 1861, provides a mode of recovering possession by a trustee or mortgagee having a power of sale, when the grantor on demand fails to deliver possession of the mortgaged property after making default, and that if the property be personal and plaintiff make affidavit of title, the sheriff shall take possession unless the grantor shall give bonds as in detinue cases. It was held that where, in an action of detinue instituted in April, 1861, the complaint is in the form prescribed by code, p. 352, "for the recovery of chattels in specie," but the forthcoming bond was conformable to section 3 of the act of 1861, instead of being conditioned as required by Ala. Code, § 2192 (providing that a bond, to be given by defendant in detinue in order that he may retain possession of the property, shall be conditioned that if cast in the suit he will within, etc., deliver the property to plaintiff and pay all costs and damages which may accrue from detention thereof), the bond, when returned "forfeited," did not have the effect of a judgment or authorize the levy of execution on it. Rose v. Pearson, 41 Ala. 253.

appeal-bond where an appeal is taken from a judgment in detinue must necessarily be determined by the terms and conditions of the bond itself.[65]

DETRIMENT. A loss or harm suffered in person or property.[1]

DETUR DIGNIORI. A maxim meaning "Let it be given to the more worthy."[2]

DEUS SOLUS HÆREDEM FACERE POTEST, NON HOMO. A maxim meaning "God alone, and not man, can make an heir."[3]

DEVASTAVIT. A mismanagement of the estate and effects of a deceased person, in the squandering and misapplying the assets contrary to the trust and confidence reposed in the executors or administrators;[4] a wasting of the assets;[5] a wasting of the estate — a misapplication of the assets;[6] a failure to apply the funds as the law directs.[7] At common law, a violation of duty by the executor or administrator, such as renders him personally responsible for mischievous consequences.[8] (Devastavit: By Executor or Administrator, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS. By Guardian, see GUARDIAN AND WARD. By Trustee, see TRUSTS. See also, generally, WASTE.)

DE VENTRE INSPICIENDO. Literally, "of inspecting the belly." A writ to inspect the body where a woman feigns to be pregnant, to see whether she is with child.[9] (De Ventre Inspiciendo: On Conviction of Crime, see CRIMINAL LAW.)

DEVIATION.[10] In general, a departure from a way or course, not departure simply.[11] In navigation, a voluntary departure, without necessity or reasonable

Forthcoming bond executed by claimant.— Where under a mutual misapprehension of the law a claimant in a detinue proceeding executed a forthcoming bond, and the sheriff accepted it and delivered the property to her, it was held that plaintiff, although not consenting thereto, might ratify the sheriff's act, and upon judgment in the detinue suit and return of nulla bona, and allegation of proof and failure to prosecute the claim to effect, might recover upon the bond. Munter v. Reese, 61 Ala. 395.

65. Hence where a supersedeas bond is conditioned only for the payment of costs detinue can be allowed for damages, although the bond be for double the damages assessed for the detention. Boulden v. Estey Organ Co., 92 Ala. 182, 9 So. 283.

1. Mont. Civ. Code (1895), § 4271.

Applied to diversion of water see Coffin v. Left Hand Ditch Co., 6 Colo. 443, 451.

2. Adams Gloss. [citing Broom Leg. Max. 69].

Applied in Fletcher v. Sondes, 3 Bing. 501, 11 E. C. L. 247, 1 Bligh N. S. 144, 238, 4 Eng. Reprint 826.

3. Bouvier L. Dict. [citing Broom Leg. Max. 516].

4. Indiana.— See Beardsley v. Marsteller, 120 Ind. 319, 320, 22 N. E. 315 [citing Ayers v. Lawrence, 59 N. Y. 192, 197].

Missouri.— Ridgway v. Kerfoot, 22 Mo. App. 661, 664 [citing Williams Ex. 1796].

New York.— Clift v. White, 12 N. Y. 519, 531 [citing Williams Ex. 1104]; Matter of Oosterhoudt, 15 Misc. 566, 569, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 179 [citing Williams Ex. 1796].

Oregon.— Steel v. Holladay, 20 Oreg. 70, 77, 25 Pac. 69, 10 L. R. A. 670.

West Virginia.—McGlaughlin v. McGlaughlin, 43 W. Va. 226, 238, 27 S. E. 378 [citing Kippen v. Carr, 4 Munf. (Va.) 119; 2 Lomax Ex. 457].

5. Ayers v. Lawrence, 59 N. Y. 192, 197 [citing 2 Williams Ex. 1629 et seq.]; Steel v. Holladay, 20 Oreg. 70, 77, 25 Pac. 69, 10 L. R. A. 670. See also Sanderson's Estate, 74 Cal. 199, 212, 15 Pac. 753 [citing Bouvier L. Dict.].

6. Howe v. People, 7 Colo. App. 535, 44 Pac. 512, 514.

7. Whitfield v. Evans, 56 Miss. 488, 494.

8. Steel v. Holladay, 20 Oreg. 70, 77, 25 Pac. 69, 10 L. R. A. 670.

9. Bouvier L. Dict. [citing 1 Blackstone Comm. 456].

10. Distinguished from "barratry" in Ross v. Hunter, 4 T. R. 33, 37, 2 Rev. Rep. 319 [quoted in Atkinson v. Great Western Ins. Co., 4 Daly (N. Y.) 1, 21].

11. Herron v. Rathmines, etc., Imp. Com'rs, [1892] A. C. 498, 526, 67 L. T. Rep. N. S. 658.

Applied to a road.—"It [deviation] is used in the Act as meaning a departure from the allotted road allowance in the boundary line where that is necessary, as Sir John Robinson observes in the case of Brant County v. Waterloo County, 19 U. C. Q. B. 450, 457, for the purpose of obtaining a good line of road." Victoria County v. Peterborough County, 15 Ont. App. 617, 627. See also Murphy v. Kingston, etc., R. Co., 11 Ont. 302, 306, where it is said: "In effect, therefore, 'deviation' is a term not to be restricted to a lateral variance on either side of such line, but may mean a change de via in any direction within the prescribed limits, whether at right angles to, or deflecting from, or extending beyond that line."

Used in connection with a railway law, "deviation" is defined as "a lateral alteracause, from the regular and usual course of the voyage;[12] the increasing or varying of the risks insured against, without necessity or reasonable cause;[13] a varying from the route insured against without necessity or just cause after the risk has begun;[14] a voluntary and inexcusable departure from the usual course;[15] a departure from some other course or way which might have been pursued at more or less inconvenience.[16] As defined by statute, a departure from the course of the voyage or an unreasonable delay in pursuing the voyage; or the commencement of an entirely different voyage.[17] In contracts, a change made in the progress of a work from the original terms or design or method agreed upon.[18] (Deviation: In Marine Insurance, see INSURANCE. Liability of Carrier, see CARRIERS; SHIPPING.)

DEVICE.[19] That which is devised or formed by design;[20] a contrivance;[21] an artificial contrivance.[22] So also the term has been variously defined as meaning an tion of the line of a railway." Sweet L. Dict. [quoted in Murphy v. Kingston, etc., R. Co., 11 Ont. 302, 305, where it is said that this definition as used in railway law is "too narrow." It is that, no doubt, but it embraces more than that. His is a more restricted definition than is warranted by the language of Patteson, J., in Armistead v. North Staffordshire R. Co., 16 Q. B. 526, 537, 15 Jur. 944, 20 L. J. Q. B. 249, 71 E. C. L. 526]. And see Herron v. Rathmines, etc., Imp. Com'rs, [1892] A. C. 498, 505, 67 L. T. Rep. N. S. 658.

12. Maryland.— Riggin v. Patapsco Ins. Co., 7 Harr. & J. 279, 288, 16 Am. Dec. 302.

Massachusetts.— Coffin v. Newburyport Mar. Ins. Co., 9 Mass. 436, 447.

New York.— Lawrence v. Ocean Ins. Co., 11 Johns. 241, 265, dissenting opinion.

South Carolina.— Murden v. South Carolina Ins. Co., 1 Mill 200, 211.

United States.— Hostetter v. Park, 137 U. S. 30, 40, 11 S. Ct. 1, 34 L. ed. 568 (where it is said: "But it is no deviation, in respect to such a voyage, to touch and stay at a port out of its course, if such departure is within the usage of the trade"); The Iroquois, 118 Fed. 1003, 1005, 55 C. C. A. 497; Hostetter v. Gray, 11 Fed. 179, 181 [citing Coffin v. Newburyport Mar. Ins. Co., 9 Mass. 436, 447]; Bond v. The Cora, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,621, 2 Wash. 80, 84, 2 Pet. Adm. 373.

Original and present use of term.— In Wilkins v. Tobacco Ins. Co., 30 Ohio St. 317, 341, 27 Am. Rep. 455 [citing 2 Parsons Mar. Ins. 1], it is said: "Strictly speaking, a 'deviation' originally meant only a departure from the course of the voyage, but now it is always understood in the sense of a material departure from or change in the risk insured against, without just cause."

13. Bell v. Western M. & F. Ins. Co., 5 Rob. (La.) 423, 445, 39 Am. Dec. 542; Child v. Sun Mut. Ins. Co., 3 Sandf. (N. Y.) 26, 35.

14. Andenreid v. Mercantile Mut. Ins. Co., 60 N. Y. 482, 484, 19 Am. Rep. 204, where it is said: "It is not confined to a departure from or going out of the direct or usual course of the voyage, but it comprehends unusual or unnecessary delay, or any act of the assured or his agents, which, without necessity or just cause, increases or changes the risks included in the policy."

15. Theband v. Great Western Ins. Co., 155 N. Y. 516, 522, 50 N. E. 284, where it is said: "And whether the departure amounts to a deviation must be determined by the motive, consequences and circumstances of the act."

16. Victoria County v. Peterborough County, 15 Ont. App. 617, 627, where it is said: "And [it] is inappropriate where there is none such to follow or deviate from."

17. Cal. Civ. Code (1899), § 2694; N. D. Civ. Code (1899), § 4561; S. D. Civ. Code (1899), § 4561.

18. Black L. Dict.

19. "The word comes 'from the Latin dividere, to separate, to distinguish.'" Webster Dict. [quoted in Baxter v. Ellis, 111 N. C. 124, 127, 15 S. E. 938, 17 L. R. A. 382].

Distinguished from "substitute" as used in the phrase "with cards or dice, or some device or substitute for cards or dice" see Henderson v. State, 59 Ala. 89, 91.

20. Portis v. State, 27 Ark. 360, 362 (where it is said: "And [it] has reference to something worked out for exhibition or show"); Webster Dict. [quoted in Henderson v. State, 59 Ala. 89, 91; State v. Smith, 82 Minn. 342, 345, 85 N. W. 12].

21. Webster Dict. [quoted in Henderson v. State, 59 Ala. 89, 91; State v. Smith, 82 Minn. 342, 345, 85 N. W. 12; State v. Blackstone, 115 Mo. 424, 427, 22 S. W. 370].

Applied to fishing tackle.—"The term 'device' may be broad enough to cover hook and line, but when read in connection with the other words of the section, it must be construed to mean a device of a like kind." In re Yell, 107 Mich. 228, 229, 65 N. W. 97.

22. Webster Dict. [cited in Crow v. State, 6 Tex. 334, 336].

Applied to election ballots.—"The 'device' denounced [in the statute] is any distinguishing mark reasonably intended as such. It is true 'device' sometimes means an emblem or pictorial representation, though in the Bible and by Shakespeare it is almost always used in the sense of contrivance, plan or trick. But these are all secondary and derivative meanings." Baxter v. Ellis, 111 N. C. 124, 127, 15 S. E. 938, 17 L. R. A. 382. In State v. Phillips, 63 Tex. 390, 393, 51 Am. Rep. 646 [cited in Hanscom v. State, 10 Tex. Civ. App. 638, 643, 31 S. W. 547], where election ballots were objected to because they were "diamond shaped," and it was alleged invention;[23] a stratagem;[24] a project; a scheme,—often a scheme to deceive; an artifice.[25] (Device: For Gaming, see GAMING. For Trade-Mark, see TRADE-MARKS AND TRADE-NAMES.)

DEVIL ON THE NECK. An instrument of torture, formerly used to extort confessions, etc.[26]

DEVISABLE. Capable of being devised.[27]

DEVISAVIT VEL NON. In practice, the name of an issue sent out of a court of chancery, or one which exercises chancery jurisdiction, to a court of law, to try the validity of a paper asserted and denied to be a will, to ascertain whether or not the testator did devise, or whether or not that paper was his will.[28] (See WILLS.)

DEVISE.[29] Primarily, a dividing or division.[30] In the law of wills, as a noun, a gift of real property by will;[31] a disposition by will;[32] an instrument by which lands are conveyed;[33] a conveyance of land, and not under the same jurisdiction as a testament;[34] the direction of a testator of sound mind as to the disposition of his property after his death;[35] but it may mean any gift by will whether it consists of real property or personalty;[36] as a verb, to give or dispose that this shape was given them as a "device" in violation of the election law of 1879, the court said: "By the word 'device,' as used in the statute, was doubtless meant a figure, mark or ornament of a similar character, with the pictures, signs, etc., enumerated in the same connection, and placed upon the ticket in a like manner. This is the natural and legal construction to be placed upon the word in the connection in which it is used."

23. Portis v. State, 27 Ark. 360, 362.

24. Webster Dict. [quoted in State v. Smith, 82 Minn. 342, 345, 85 N. W. 12, and cited in Crow v. State, 6 Tex. 334, 336, where it is said: "'He disappointeth the devices of the crafty.' Job, v. 'They imagined a mischievous device. Psalms, xxi.'"].

25. Webster Dict. [quoted in State v. Smith, 82 Minn. 342, 345, 85 N. W. 12].

26. It was made of several irons, which were fastened to the neck and legs, and wrenched together so as to break the back. Wharton L. Lex.

27. Black L. Dict. [citing 2 Blackstone Comm. 373; 1 Powell Dev. 165].

28. Black L. Dict.

29. "The word . . . has a well-defined legal meaning." People's Trust Co. v. Smith, 30 N. Y. Suppl. 342, 343, 31 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 422 [citing Bouvier L. Dict.]. And "there is no magic in the word." Barrington v. Liddell, 2 De G. M. & G. 480, 500, 17 Jur. 291, 22 L. J. Ch. 1, 51 Eng. Ch. 375, 17 Eng. L. & Eq. 188.

30. Clark v. Hornthal, 47 Miss. 434, 486.

31. California.— In re Pfuelb, Myr. Prob. 38, 39.

Colorado.— Logan v. Logan, 11 Colo. 44, 47, 17 Pac. 99.

Illinois.— Evans v. Price, 118 Ill. 593, 599, 8 N. E. 854.

Indiana.— Rountree v. Pursell, 11 Ind. App. 522, 39 N. E. 747, 749.

New York.— Orton v. Orton, 3 Abb. Dec. 411, 414, 3 Keyes 486, 3 Transcr. App. 18; Kibler v. Miller, 57 Hun 14, 17, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 375; People's Trust Co. v. Smith, 30 N. Y. Suppl. 342, 343, 31 Abb. N. Cas. 422 [citing Bouvier L. Dict.].

South Carolina.— Pratt v. McGhee, 17 S. C. 428, 432.

England.— Hope v. Taylor, 2 Ld. Ken. 9, 13; Sheppard Touchst. 400 [quoted in Matter of Karr, 2 How. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 405, 409].

"Devise" is the appropriate term to pass real estate. Lasher v. Lasher, 13 Barb. (N. Y.) 106, 109. See 9 Cyc. 72 note 45.

The term is inapplicable to gifts of personal property. Lasher v. Lasher, 13 Barb. (N. Y.) 106, 109. But see 5 Cyc. 683 note 27.

32. In re Fetrow, 58 Pa. St. 424, 427; In re Davis, 103 Wis. 455, 457, 79 N. W. 761 [citing Anderson L. Dict.; Century Dict.]; Barrington v. Liddell, 2 De G. M. & G. 480, 500, 17 Jur. 291, 22 L. J. Ch. 1, 51 Eng. Ch. 375, 17 Eng. L. & Eq. 188.

33. Clark v. Hornthal, 47 Miss. 434, 486, where it is said: "Thus showing the testamentary power over acquisitions . . . to be as old as the method of disposition itself, while 'will and testament' had not at first precisely the same meaning as 'devise;' but, in course of time, these words have come to be applied indifferently to a disposition of land or goods, which are now continually distributed, at the same time by the same instrument."

34. Conklin v. Egerton, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 430, 436 [citing 2 Blackstone Comm. 501]; Clapp v. Brown, 4 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 200, 201.

35. Jenkins v. Tobin, 31 Ark. 306, 309.

36. In re Pfuelb, Myr. Prob. (Cal.) 38, 39; People's Trust Co. v. Smith, 82 Hun (N. Y.) 494, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 519; Kibler v. Miller, 57 Hun (N. Y.) 14, 17, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 375; Freme v. Clement, 18 Ch. D. 499, 509, 50 L. J. Ch. 801, 44 L. T. Rep. N. S. 398, 30 Wkly. Rep. 1.

"Among unprofessional persons [devise may apply] to all kinds of property, real, personal and mixed." Kibler v. Miller, 57 Hun (N. Y.) 14, 17, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 375.

of land or hereditaments by will; to make a will of land.[37] Sometimes, as a verb, to draw an instrument.[38] (See BEQUEATH; BEQUEST; LEGACY; and, generally, CHARITIES; PERPETUITIES; TRUSTS; WILLS.)

DEVISEE. One who takes by will;[39] he to whom property is given by will.[40] In its technical sense, one to whom lands or other real estate are devised;[41] the party getting real estate by will.[42] The word is sometimes used as meaning separated; designated.[43] (See DEVISE; and, generally, WILLS.)

DEVISOR. A giver of lands or real estate by will; the maker of a will of lands; a testator.[44] (See DEVISE; DEVISEE; and, generally, WILLS.)

DEVOLUTION. The act of transferring or transmitting to another. In ecclesiastical law, the forfeiture of a right by non user as a right of presentation.[45] (Devolution: Of Liability as Ground For Abatement, see ABATEMENT AND REVIVAL. See also, generally, DESCENT AND DISTRIBUTION.)

DEVOLVE. A term used where an estate devolves upon another by opera-

Compared with and distinguished from "bequest" see the following cases:

Colorado.— Logan v. Logan, 11 Colo. 44, 47, 17 Pac. 99.

New Hampshire.—Ladd v. Harvey, 21 N. H. 514, 522.

New York.— Lasher v. Lasher, 13 Barb. 106, 109.

Pennsylvania.— In re Fetrow, 58 Pa. St. 424, 427.

South Carolina.—Pratt v. McGhee, 17 S. C. 428, 432.

Wisconsin.— In re Davis, 103 Wis. 455, 457, 79 N. W. 761 [citing Anderson L. Dict.; Century Dict.].

Compared with and distinguished from "legacy" see Logan v. Logan, 11 Colo. 44, 47, 17 Pac. 99; Orton v. Orton, 3 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 411, 414, 3 Keyes (N. Y.) 486, 3 Transcr. App. (N. Y.) 18; Roth's Appeal, 94 Pa. St. 186, 191; In re Fetrow, 58 Pa. St. 424, 427; Pratt v. McGhee, 17 S. C. 428, 432; Sheppard Touchst. 400 [quoted in Matter of Karr, 2 How. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 405, 409].

"Devise" and "bequest" are sometimes used as convertible terms. Evans v. Price, 118 Ill. 593, 599, 8 N. E. 854.

"In accurate language, the word 'devise' applies to land only. It is, however, sometimes inaccurately applied to personal property." Oothout v. Rogers, 59 Hun (N. Y.) 97, 100, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 120 [citing Bouvier L. Dict.]. See also McCorkle v. Sherrill, 41 N. C. 173, 176 (where it is said: "The word devise is properly applied to gifts of real property by will, but may be extended to embrace personal property to execute the intention of the testator"); Fosdick v. Hempstead, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 772, 774 (where it is said: "The term 'devise' is applicable to real estate only, and the use of the two words 'estate' and 'property' seems to contemplate and include real as well as personal property").

"Lands devised" is an artistic phrase and is distinguished from "legacies given." Roth's Appeal, 94 Pa. St. 186, 191.

37. Burrill L. Dict. [citing 2 Blackstone Comm. 373 et seq.].

Compared with and distinguished from "bequeath" see Lasher v. Lasher, 13 Barb. (N. Y.) 106, 109; In re Davis, 103 Wis. 455, 457, 79 N. W. 761 [citing Anderson L. Dict.; Century Dict.]. See 9 Cyc. 859 note 16.

Devise is apt to cover real estate. In re Marten, [1902] 1 Ch. 314, 322, 71 L. J. Ch. 203, 85 L. T. Rep. N. S. 704, 50 Wkly. Rep. 209.

"Devise" may include "bequeath." Kibler v. Miller, 57 Hun (N. Y.) 14, 17, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 375.

Distinguished from "appoint" see In re Marten, [1902] 1 Ch. 314, 322, 71 L. J. Ch. 203, 85 L. T. Rep. N. S. 704, 50 Wkly. Rep. 209.

38. As a conveyance or assurance, by counsel. This word is used in Rosewel's case, (5 Coke 19*b*,) as advise is in Higginbottom's case, which follows, (5 Coke 19*b*,) both being treated in some degree as synonymous. The phrase, "shall be reasonably devised, advised or required," continues to be used in covenants in deeds for further assurances. Burrill L. Dict. [citing More v. Roswell, Cro. Eliz. 297, 298; Dyer 31*b*].

39. Elliott v. Spinney, 69 Me. 31, 32.

40. Logan v. Logan, 11 Colo. 44, 46, 17 Pac. 99.

In Kentucky, by statute, "devisee" is synonymous with "legatee." Ky. St. (1903) § 467.

"The term devisee accompanying a bequest of personalty will be held to mean legatee." Wright v. New York City M. E. Church, 1 Hoffm. (N. Y.) 201, 211 [citing Coope v. Banning, 2 L. J. Ch. O. S. 11, 1 Sim. & St. 534, 1 Eng. Ch. 534]. See also People v. Petrie, 191 Ill. 497, 510, 61 N. E. 499, 85 Am. St. Rep. 268.

41. Rogers v. Farrar, 6 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 421, 424.

42. Brown v. Merchants' Bank, 66 Mo. App. 427, 431.

43. Lamont v. Grand Lodge I. L. of H., 31 Fed. 177, 179 [quoted in Nye v. Grand Lodge, A. O. U. W., 9 Ind. App. 131, 36 N. E. 429, 436], where it is said: "It is clear that this word cannot be intended to bear the technical meaning of one to whom real estate is given by the last will of another. . . . The word 'devisee,' therefore, is used in its primary sense of one 'separated' or 'designated.'"

44. Burrill L. Dict. [citing 1 Powell Dev. c. 5; 1 Stephen New Comm. 544].

45. English L. Dict.

tion of law, and without any voluntary act of the previous owner, passes from one person to another.[46] (See DEVOLUTION; and, generally, DESCENT AND DISTRIBUTION.)

DE WARRANTIA CHARTÆ. Literally, "of warranty of charter." A writ which lieth properly where a man doth enfeoff another by deed and bindeth himself and heirs to warranty.[47] (See, generally, COVENANTS.)

DHOLL. A round skein of yarn, wound together and tied up, about thirty inches long and five in diameter, thick at one end and narrow at the other.[48]

DIADUCTION. A connection in life, or between living bodies and inanimate things, congenerous to the connection between electrified bodies.[49]

DIAGRAM. An illustrative figure giving only the outlines or a general scheme (not an exact representation) of the object; a figure for ascertaining or exhibiting certain relations between objects under discussion by means of analogous relations between the parts of the figure.[50] (Diagram: As Evidence — In Civil Action, see EVIDENCE; In Criminal Prosecution, see CRIMINAL LAW.)

DIAZOTIZE. To unite two nitrogen atoms to a hydrocarbon radical, and to form a diazo compound.[51]

DICE. See GAMING.

DICTATE. To tell another what to write; to indite; to teach; to show another something with authority; to declare with confidence.[52]

DICTATION. As used in a technical sense to pronounce orally what is destined to be written at the same time by another.[53] (Dictation: Of Will, see WILLS.)

DICTATOR. One whose credit or authority enables him to direct the opinion or conduct of another.[54]

DICTIONARY. A lexicon; a vocabulary; a wordbook.[55]

DICTUM.[56] An opinion expressed by a court, but which, not being necessarily

46. Francisco v. Aguirre, 94 Cal. 180, 185, 29 Pac. 495 [cited in San Jose First. Nat. Bank v. Menke, 128 Cal. 103, 106, 60 Pac. 675], where it is said: "The word is itself of intransitive signification, and does not include the result of an act which is intended to produce a particular effect. It implies a result without the intervention of any voluntary actor."

47. Bouvier L. Dict.

48. The Dunbritton, 73 Fed. 352, 355, 19 C. C. A. 449.

49. Animarium Co. v. Filloon, 98 Fed. 103, 105.

50. Century Dict.

51. Matheson v. Campbell, 69 Fed. 597, 600, where it is said: "A repetition of the process, or rediazotization, forms a diazo compound."

52. Marshall v. Flinn, 49 N. C. 199, 205.

53. Prendergast v. Prendergast, 16 La. Ann. 219, 220, 79 Am. Dec. 575, where it is said: "Such is the settled definition of this term under our jurisprudence."

54. Marshall v. Flinn, 49 N. C. 199, 205.

55. Webster Int. Dict.

"The dictionary definition of a term is frequently the mere air of the music which the accused has attempted to execute with variations. Frequently, too, the variations are so luxuriant and ingenious, that the air is much disguised, and to hum it over from the bench is but little assistance to the jury in following the real performance. It is something easier for an offender to baffle the dictionary than the penal code, for the former is perplexed with verbal niceties and shades of meaning, while the latter grasps in a broad, practical way at the substantial transactions of men." Minor v. State, 63 Ga. 318, 321 [quoted in Williams v. State, 100 Ga. 511, 527, 28 S. E. 624, 39 L. R. A. 269].

56. The word is generally used as an abbreviated form of obiter dictum, "a remark by the way." Black L. Dict.

Compared with or distinguished from "obiter dictum."— "An obiter dictum is an opinion expressed by a Judge in giving judgment which was unnecessary for the determination of the case, and upon which such determination did not rest. I do not understand that if a Judge rest his decision upon two different grounds, either of which is sufficient to support the decision, either of the grounds taken can be said to be but an expression of an opinion which was unnecessary for the determination of the case, and hence a dictum or obiter dictum, that is a dictum uttered in passing or merely incidental and unnecessary." Landreville v. Gouin, 6 Ont. 455, 464 [citing Bouvier L. Dict.]. See also Kane v. McCown, 55 Mo. 181, 199 (where it was said that in a certain case a question was presented and discussed "and the opinion of the court, or a majority of the court, was expressed on it. The question was, in that case, presented by the instructions, and though its decision might have been avoided, the opinion was not therefore an obiter dictum"); Rohrbach v. Germania F. Ins. Co., 62 N. Y. 47, 58, 20 Am. Rep. 451; Buchner v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 60 Wis. 264, 268, 19 N. W. 56 (where the court said: "Such dictum, if dictum it is, should, it would seem, be regarded as 'judicial dictum,' in contradisinvolved in the case, lacks the force of an adjudication;[57] an opinion expressed by a judge on a point not necessarily arising in a case;[58] an opinion of a judge which does not embody the resolution or determination of the court, and made without argument, or full consideration of the point; not the professed deliberate determination of the judge himself.[59] In old English law, an arbitrament, or the award of arbitrators.[60] In French law, the report of a judgment made by one of the judges who has given it.[61] (See, generally, COURTS.)

DIEM CLAUSIT EXTREMUM. A writ awarded out of the exchequer after the death of a crown debtor.[62] (See, generally, ESCHEAT.)

DIES DOMINICUS NON EST JURIDICUS. A maxim meaning "Sunday is not a day for judicial or legal proceedings."[63] (See DAY; and, generally, SUNDAY.)

DIES INCEPTUS PRO COMPLETO HABETUR. A maxim meaning "A day begun is held as complete."[64]

DIES INCERTUS PRO CONDITIONE HABETUR. A maxim meaning "An uncertain day is held as a condition."[65] tinction to mere obiter dictum,— that is, an expression originating with the judge alone, while passing, by the way, in writing his opinion, as an argument or illustration drawn from some collateral question").

57. Rush v. French, 1 Ariz. 99, 134, 25 Pac. 816 [quoting Bouvier L. Dict.], where it is said: "It frequently happens that in assigning its opinion upon a question before it, the court discusses collateral questions, and expresses a decided opinion upon them. Such opinions, however, are frequently given without much reflection and without previous argument at the bar, and as, moreover, they do not enter in the adjudication of the point before the court, they have only that authority which may be accorded to the opinion, more or less deliberate, of the individual judge who announces it." See also In re Woodruff, 96 Fed. 317, 321, 2 Am. Bankr. Rep. 678 [citing Carroll v. Carroll, 16 How. (U. S.) 275, 287, 14 L. ed. 936], where it is said: "The supreme court of the United States has held that, in order to make an opinion a decision, there must have been an application of the judicial mind to the precise question necessary to be determined to fix the rights of the parties; and, therefore, said the learned judge delivering this opinion, 'this court has never held itself bound by any part of an opinion which was not needful to the ascertainment of the question between the parties."

Authority of opinions limited to questions decided.— In Cohens v. Virginia, 6 Wheat. (U. S.) 264, 399, 5 L. ed. 257 [quoted in Mayer v. Erhardt, 88 Ill. 452, 457], Marshall, C. J., said: "It is a maxim not to be disregarded, that general expressions, in every opinion, are to be taken in connection with the case in which those expressions are used. If they go beyond the case, they may be respected, but ought not to control the judgment in a subsequent suit when the very point is presented for decision. The reason of this maxim is obvious. The question actually before the court is investigated with care and considered in its full extent. Other principles which may serve to illustrate it, are considered in their relation to the case decided, but their possible bearing on all other cases is seldom completely investigated." See 3 Cyc. 494.

58. State v. Clarke, 3 Nev. 566, 572. See also Love v. Miller, 53 Ind. 294, 299, 21 Am. Rep. 192 (where it is said: "The dictum of a judge is very different from the decision of a court, although the judge and the court may be the same person, and the dictum and decision in the same case. There is nothing authoritative in a case, except what is required to be decided to reach the final judgment, and what by the judgment becomes res adjudicata between the parties as to the subject-matter of the suit"); Buchner v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 60 Wis. 264, 268, 19 N. W. 56 [quoting Bouvier L. Dict.], where it is said: "According to the more rigid rule, an expression of opinion, however deliberate, upon a question, however fully argued, if not essential to the disposition that was made of the case, may be regarded as a dictum."

59. Rohrbach v. Germania F. Ins. Co., 62 N. Y. 47, 58, 20 Am. Rep. 451 [citing Saunderson v. Rowles, 4 Burr. 2064, 2068].

Effect of dicta as authority see COURTS, 11 Cyc. 755.

That a decision might have been put upon a different ground does not place it in the category of a dictum see 11 Cyc. 755 note 17.

60. Black L. Dict.

61. Black L. Dict. [citing Pothier Proc. Civ. pt. 1, c. 5, art. 2].

62. Burrill L. Dict. [citing Termes de la Ley].

63. Broom Leg. Max. [citing Coke Litt. 135*a*].

Applied or quoted in the following cases:

Massachusetts.— Johnson v. Day, 17 Pick. 106, 109; Pearce v. Atwood, 13 Mass. 324, 347.

Missouri.— State v. Green, 37 Mo. 466, 470.

New Jersey.— McEvoy v. Hudson County School Dist. No. 8, 38 N. J. Eq. 420, 422.

North Carolina.— State v. Ricketts, 74 N. C. 187, 193.

England.— Dakin's Case, 2 Saund. 290*a*, 291*a*.

64. Wharton L. Lex.

Applied in Bemis v. Leonard, 118 Mass. 502, 505, 19 Am. Rep. 470.

65. Wharton L. Lex.

DIES INTERPELLAT PRO HOMINE. A maxim meaning "The arrival of the day of payment is a sufficient demand from the person owing." [66]

DIES JURIDICUS. A term employed by the civilians to denote the days for legal purposes or judicial proceedings.[67] (See DAY.)

DIES NON. An abbreviation of DIES NON JURIDICUS,[68] q. v.

DIES NON JURIDICUS. A term employed by the civilians to designate the days in which judicial proceedings are prohibited.[69] (See, generally, HOLIDAYS; SUNDAY.)

DIETING. Providing and furnishing daily food.[70]

DIFFERENCE.[71] The act of distinguishing; discrimination, distinction.[72] Sometimes defined as disagreement or dispute.[73] (See CONTROVERSY.)

DIFFERENTIAL DUTIES. See CUSTOMS DUTIES.

DIFFICILE EST UT UNUS HOMO VICEM DUORUM SUSTINEAT. A maxim meaning "It is difficult that one man should sustain the place of two." [74]

DIFFICILEM OPORTET AURUM HABERE AD CRIMINA. A maxim meaning "One should not lend an easy ear to criminal charges." [75]

DIFFICULT AND EXTRAORDINARY CASE.[76] See COSTS.

DIG. To make a ditch or excavation; turn up or throw out earth.[77] And sometimes used as an abbreviation of DIGEST,[78] q. v.

DIGEST. A collection or compilation, embodying the chief matter of numerous books in one, disposed under proper heads or titles, and usually by an alphabetical arrangement, for facility in reference.[79] (See ABRIDGMENT; COMPENDIUM; COMPILATION; EPITOME; INDEX; SUMMARY; TREATISE; and, generally, COPYRIGHT; LITERARY PROPERTY.)

DIGESTUM or DIGESTA. The Digest or Pandects in the Justinian collections of the civil law.[80]

DIGGING GOLD. A term susceptible of a figurative meaning, and sometimes 66. Morgan Leg. Max. [citing Trayner Leg. Max.].

67. Didsbury v. Van Tassell, 56 Hun (N. Y.) 423, 425, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 32.

68. Black L. Dict.

69. Didsbury v. Van Tassell, 56 Hun (N. Y.) 423, 425, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 32.

70. Cook County v. Gilbert, 146 Ill. 268, 273, 33 N. E. 761, as used in Ill. Rev. St. c. 53, § 19, relating to prisoners.

71. That "difference in judicial opinion" is not synonymous with "abuse of judicial discretion" see Day v. Donohue, 62 N. J. L. 380, 383, 41 Atl. 934.

72. Century Dict.

73. Fravert v. Fesler, 11 Colo. App. 387, 53 Pac. 288, 290.

74. Wharton L. Lex. [citing Acton's Case, 4 Coke 117*a*, 118*a*].

75. Adams Gloss.

76. The term "difficult or extraordinary," seems to be used in contradistinction to "common or ordinary," as used in a statute relative to an allowance of extra costs. . . . "All litigated trials can not be considered 'difficult,' within the meaning of the section, because such a construction would completely nullify the words 'difficult or extraordinary,' as used, and contravene the plain intent of the legislature. . . . Effect can be given to these words, in connection and consistent with the rest of the section, and can not, therefore, be disregarded. It seems to me that the word 'difficult' should be applied to questions of law involved in the action. 'Extraordinary' may apply to any other feature or circumstance, distinguishing the base from ordinary litigations." Fox v. Gould, 5 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 278, 279 [criticising Dyckman v. McDonald, 5 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 121].

77. Century Dict.

Dig a canal.— Where a liberty was granted in a deed "to dig a canal through the grantor's land," the court said: "The words are, 'with liberty to dig a canal through the grantor's land,' and it is afterwards spoken of as a 'privilege.' A reasonable interpretation of this language must be, that the liberty to dig the canal includes the right to use it, when dug; for without such right, there could be no improvement of the privilege, or any benefit to the grantees." Lyman v. Arnold, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,626, 5 Mason 195, 200.

"The right and privilege to dig 'all the ore on his place and lands,'" as used in a contract, was considered in Fairchild v. Dunbar Furnace Co., 128 Pa. St. 485, 497, 18 Atl. 443, 444.

"The term 'for executing the digging,' in the paragraph [of the contract] describing the rate of compensation, is plainly used as synonymous with the term excavation in the paragraph immediately preceding it, and the same term is used in the specification showing the manner in which the work was to be done." Sherman v. New York, 1 N. Y. 316, 320.

78. Black L. Dict.

79. Black L. Dict. See also 1 Cyc. 197 note 25.

80. Black L. Dict.

used in this manner to signify generally any mode by which wealth or property is obtained.[81]

DIGNITAS SUPPONIT OFFICIUM ET CURAM, ET NON EST PARTIBILIS. A maxim meaning "Dignity supposes office and charge, and is not divisible." [82]

DIGNITATES REX DAT, VIRTUS CONSERVAT, DELICTA AUFERUNT. A maxim meaning "The king confers honors, virtue preserves them, transgressions take them away." [83]

DIGNITY. In English law, an honor; a title, station, or distinction of honor.[84]

DIGNUS MERCEDE OPERARIUS. A maxim meaning "The laborer is worthy of his hire." [85]

DIKE. A DAM,[86] q. v. (See DRAINS; LEVEES.)

DILATIONES IN LEGE SUNT ODIOSÆ. A maxim meaning "Delays in law are odious." [87]

DILATIO QUÆ PRO JUSTITIA FACIAT ACCEPTISSIMA; QUÆ CONTRA JUSTITIAM MAXIME INVISA. A maxim meaning "Delay or suspension for justice's sake is very acceptable; but delay contrary to justice is very odious." [88]

DILATORY DEFENSE. See EQUITY.

DILATORY EXCEPTIONS. Such exceptions as do not tend to defeat the action, but only to retard its progress.[89] (See, generally, PLEADING.)

DILATORY PLEA. See PLEADING.

DILIGENCE. Steady application to business of any kind, constant effort to accomplish any undertaking.[90] In Scotch law and practice, process of law, by which persons, lands, or effects are seized in execution or in security for debt; also process for enforcing the attendance of witnesses, or the production of writings.[91] (Diligence: Avoidance of Estoppel by, see ESTOPPEL. In Procuring Absent Witness or Evidence as Ground of Continuance, see CONTINUANCES IN CIVIL ACTIONS; CONTINUANCES IN CRIMINAL CASES. In Procuring Execution, see BAIL. In Procuring Newly Discovered Evidence as Ground of New Trial, see CRIMINAL LAW; NEW TRIAL. Of Agent, see PRINCIPAL AND AGENT. Of Assignee, see ASSIGNMENTS. Of Assignee or Holder—Of Bill or Note, see COMMERCIAL PAPER; Of Bond to Charge Assignor, see BONDS. Of Attorney, see ATTORNEY AND CLIENT. Of Bailee, see BAILMENTS. Of Carrier, see CARRIERS. Of Creditor, see CREDITORS' SUITS. Of Master or Servant, see MASTER AND SERVANT. Of Party Seeking Equity, see EQUITY; SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE. And see, generally, NEGLIGENCE.)

DILIGENT INQUIRY. Such inquiry as a diligent man, intent upon ascertaining a fact, would usually and ordinarily make,—inquiry with diligence and in good faith to ascertain the truth.[92]

DILIGENT SEARCH. Reasonable effort to find.[93]

DILUTION. The act of making thin, weak, or more liquid; the thinning or

81. Hoyt v. Smith, 27 Conn. 63, 67, where it is said: "A fine illustration is given by the great lyrical poet of England in his version of the thirty-ninth Psalm: 'Some walk in honor's gaudy show, Some dig for golden ore.'"

82. Morgan Leg. Max. [citing Halkerstine 37].

83. Morgan Leg. Max. [citing Halkerstine 38].

84. Dignities are a species of incorporeal hereditaments, in which a person may have a property or estate. Black L. Dict. [citing 2 Blackstone Comm. 37; 1 Blackstone Comm. 396; 1 Crabb Real Prop. 468 et seq.].

85. Morgan Leg. Max. [citing Lofft 262].

86. Com. v. Tolmer, 149 Mass. 229, 232, 21 N. E. 377, 14 Am. St. Rep. 414, 3 L. R. A. 747.

87. Tayler L. Gloss.

88. Morgan Leg. Max. [citing Halkerstine 38].

89. Garland Code Pr. La. (2d ed.) § 332.

90. Ophir Silver Min. Co. v. Carpenter, 4 Nev. 534, 546, 97 Am. Dec. 550.

Diligence when the law imposes it as a duty, implies that we shall do those things we ought to do, and leave undone those things which we ought not to do. Grant v. Moseley, 29 Ala. 302, 305.

91. Black L. Dict.

92. Van Matre v. Sankey, 148 Ill. 536, 562, 36 N. E. 628, 39 Am. St. Rep. 196, 23 L. R. A. 665.

93. In re Bayley, 132 Mass. 457, 461, as used in a statute requiring an officer to give to a debtor notice of the sale of property taken on execution.

weakening of a fluid by mixture; the state of being diluted.[94] (See Adulteration; Food; Intoxicating Liquors.)

DIMINISH. To make less, not to utterly wipe out.[95]

DIMINUTION. Incompleteness; a word signifying that the record sent up from an inferior to a superior court for review is incomplete, or not fully certified.[96] (Diminution: Of Record, see Appeal and Error.)

DIMISSORIÆ LITTERÆ. Apostles,[97] q. v.

DIOCESAN COURTS. In English law the consistorial courts of each diocese, exercising general jurisdiction of all matters arising locally within their respective limits, with the exception of places subject to peculiar jurisdiction; deciding all matters of spiritual discipline,—suspending or depriving clergymen,—and administering the other branches of the ecclesiastical law.[98]

DIOCESE. The circuit or extent of a bishop's jurisdiction; the district in which a bishop exercises his ecclesiastical authority.[99] (See, generally, Religious Societies.)

DIP.[1] As used in mining, the direction of a vein of ore, quartz, or mineral-bearing substance, as it goes downward into the earth;[2] a vein.[3] (See, generally, Mines and Minerals.)

DIPLOMA. An instrument, usually under seal, conferring some privilege, honor, or authority; now almost wholly restricted to certificates of degrees conferred by universities and colleges;[4] a document bearing record of a degree conferred by a literary society or educational institution.[5] In the civil law, a royal charter; letters patent granted by a prince or sovereign.[6] (See, generally, Colleges and Universities.)

DIPLOMATIC OFFICERS. See Ambassadors and Consuls.

DIPSOMANIA. An irresistible impulse to indulge in intoxication, either alcohol or other drugs—opiums,[7] alcoholism.[8] (Dipsomania: Affecting Responsibility For Crime, see Criminal Law. See also, generally, Drunkards; Insane Persons.)

DIRECT.[9] As an adjective, immediate, express, unambiguous, confessed, abso-

94. Century Dict.

95. State v. Kinkead, 14 Nev. 117, 123.

96. In such case the party may suggest a "diminution of the record," which may be rectified by a certiorari. Black L. Dict. [citing 2 Tidd Pr. 1109].

97. Black L. Dict.

98. Black L. Dict. [citing 2 Stephen Comm. 672].

99. Mannix v. Purcell, 46 Ohio St. 102, 146, 19 N. E. 572, 15 Am. St. Rep. 562, 2 L. R. A. 753.

1. Compared with "depth."—In Duggan v. Davey, 4 Dak. 110, 26 N. W. 887, 901, the court said: "'Dip' and 'depth' are of the same origin,—'dip' is the direction or inclination towards the 'depth,'—and it is 'throughout their depth' that veins may be followed, and that is surely their downward course."

2. King v. Amy, etc., Consol. Min. Co., 9 Mont. 543, 565, 24 Pac. 200, where it is said: "The dip, in different veins, and in the same vein sometimes, varies from a perpendicular to the earth's surface to an angle, perhaps, only a few degrees below the horizon. . . . Let us call the dip from the first point of view the inclination dip, the second the compass dip, and the third the practical dip; for this is the practical idea of the miner when he speaks of following his dip."

3. Duggan v. Davey, 4 Dak. 110, 26 N. W. 887, 901.

4. Worcester Dict. [cited in Halliday v. Butt, 40 Ala. 178, 183, where it is said: "Such an instrument, generally, if not universally, on parchment, is not easily fabricated"].

5. State v. Gregory, 83 Mo. 123, 130, 53 Am. Rep. 565 [quoting Webster Dict.], where it is said: "In short, a statement in writing, under the seal of the institution, setting forth that the student therein named has attained a certain rank, grade or degree in the studies he has pursued."

6. Black L. Dict. [citing Calvini Lex.]

7. Ballard v. State, 19 Nebr. 609, 614, 28 N. W. 271, where it is said: "This mania or disease is classed as one of the minor forms of insanity." See also State v. Potts, 100 N. C. 457, 464, 6 S. E. 657.

8. State v. Reidell, 9 Houst. (Del.) 470, 473, 14 Atl. 550, where it is said: "Men who are addicted to drink, from excessive indulgence become subjects of a disease which medical men designate or speak of as dypsomania or alcoholism. It oftentimes develops into what is called by them mania a potu, wherein the patient becomes a madman, wholly deprived of all sane reason while the fit is upon him."

9. "The word 'direct' is of large use in the language, and it has been adopted into the law in many relations. We have direct descent, direct taxes, direct interest, direct route, and so on, until we have come now to lute;[10] immediate or proximate, as distinguished from remote;[11] straightforward, not crooked, not winding, not circuitous, not sideways, not oblique;[12] straight; not circuitous; immediate, the first or original;[13] also, an epithet for the line of ascendants and descendants in genealogical succession, opposed to collateral.[14] As a verb, to guide, to show, to regulate;[15] to point out with authority, or direct as a superior;[16] to order; to instruct; to point out a course of proceeding with authority; to command.[17] (Direct: Contempt, see CONTEMPT. Evidence, see EVIDENCE. Examination, see WITNESSES. Interrogatories, see DEPOSITIONS. See also DIRECTED; DIRECTION; DIRECTLY.)

DIRECT CONTEMPT. See CONTEMPT.

DIRECT DAMAGES. Such damages as follow immediately upon the act done.[18] (See, generally, DAMAGES.)

DIRECTED. Ordered.[19] (See COMPELLED; DIRECT.)

DIRECT EVIDENCE. See EVIDENCE.

DIRECT EXAMINATION. See WITNESSES.

DIRECTING. Requiring.[20] A word which imports an order to another.[21] (See DIRECT; DIRECTION.)

DIRECT INTEREST. With reference to the competency of a witness, an interest which is certain and not contingent or doubtful;[22] the opposite of an indirect interest, and excludes the idea of contingency.[23]

DIRECT INTERROGATORIES. See DEPOSITIONS.

DIRECTION.[24] An order prescribed, either verbally or written; instructions in what manner to proceed;[25] also applied to the rule of law in a case given to a direct payment." Colorado v. Boylan, 25 Fed. 594, 595.

Distinguished from "collateral" see Lyons v. Roach, 84 Cal. 27, 30, 23 Pac. 1026 [quoted in Sichler v. Look, 93 Cal. 600, 606, 29 Pac. 220]; Smith v. Morrill, 12 Colo. App. 233, 55 Pac. 824, 826; Walker v. Goldsmith, 14 Oreg. 125, 142, 12 Pac. 537; Crawford v. McDonald, 88 Tex. 626, 630, 33 S. W. 325 [quoted in Schneider v. Sellers, 25 Tex. Civ. App. 226, 228, 61 S. W. 541].

"Direct attack" as used in an appeal from a judgment see Sichler v. Look, 93 Cal. 600, 606, 29 Pac. 220 [quoted in Eichhoff v. Eichhoff, 107 Cal. 42, 47, 40 Pac. 24, 48 Am. St. Rep. 110].

10. Webster Dict. [quoted in Anaconda A. O. of H. Div. No. 1 v. Sparrow, (Mont. 1903) 74 Pac. 197, 199; Colorado v. Boylan, 25 Fed. 594, 596].

11. Ermentrout v. Girard F. & M. Ins. Co., 63 Minn. 305, 308, 65 N. W. 635, 56 Am. St. Rep. 481, 30 L. R. A. 346, as used in an insurance policy.

"Direct loss or damage by fire" see Hustace v. Phenix Ins. Co., 175 N. Y. 292, 298, 67 N. E. 592.

12. Hathaway v. Davis, 33 Cal. 161, 166; Bouvier L. Dict. [quoted in State v. Conley, 22 R. I. 397, 401, 48 Atl. 200].

13. Anderson L. Dict. [quoted in State v. Conley, 22 R. I. 397, 401, 48 Atl. 200].

"Direct and immediate result" of drunkenness see State v. Haab, 105 La. 230, 238, 29 So. 725.

"Direct and proximate cause" in a negligence case defined see McKeon v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 94 Wis. 477, 483, 69 N. W. 175, 59 Am. St. Rep. 909, 35 L. R. A. 252. See, generally, NEGLIGENCE.

"The most direct route of travel" as used with reference to official mileage see Maynard v. Cedar County, 51 Iowa 430, 431, 1 N. W. 701.

14. Wharton L. Lex. See, generally, DESCENT AND DISTRIBUTION.

15. "'Direct,' as used in this connection, is synonymous with the words 'to point out.'" Webster Int. Dict. [quoted in Hinds v. Kellogg, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 922, 923].

16. Davis v. Chase, 159 Ind. 242, 245, 64 N. E. 88, 853, 95 Am. St. Rep. 294.

17. Webster Dict. [quoted in Calder v. Curry, 17 R. I. 610, 615, 24 Atl. 103].

18. Ga. Civ. Code (1895), § 3911.

19. People v. Guggenheimer, 28 Misc. (N. Y.) 735, 747, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 913.

Distinguished from "authorized" in Spring Garden v. Wistar, 18 Pa. St. 195, 198.

"Directed to be sold" as used in a will relative to real estate considered in reference to a stamp act see Atty.-Gen. v. Simcox, 1 Exch. 749, 765.

20. Pelzer Mfg. Co. v. Cely, 40 S. C. 430, 433, 18 S. E. 790.

21. Potter v. Adriance, 44 N. J. Eq. 14, 17, 14 Atl. 16.

22. Lewis v. Post, 1 Ala. 65, 72 [citing Rex v. Bray, Hardre 360]; In re Van Alstine, 26 Utah 193, 197, 72 Pac. 942 [quoting Winfield Words and Phrases].

23. In re Van Alstine, 26 Utah 193, 197, 72 Pac. 942.

24. "By express direction" as used in a will defined see Barr v. Graybill, 13 Pa. St. 396, 399.

25. Webster Dict. [quoted in Northern Pac. R. Co. v. Barnes, 2 N. D. 310, 367, 51 N. W. 386, where it is said: "The employer gives direction to his workmen; the physician to his patient"]. See also Berkshire Woollen Co. v. Day, 12 Cush. (Mass.) 128, 130, where it is said: "'Direction' means jury.[26] The term is sometimes used to denote the body of persons (called "directors") who are charged with the management and administration of a corporation or institution; also as the name of the clause of a bill in equity containing the address of the bill to the court.[27] (Direction: In Writs, see ATTACHMENT; CERTIORARI; EXECUTIONS; GARNISHMENT; HABEAS CORPUS; INJUNCTIONS; MANDAMUS; PROCESS; PROHIBITION; QUO WARRANTO; REPLEVIN; SCIRE FACIAS; etc. Of Verdict, see CRIMINAL LAW; TRIAL.)

DIRECT LINE. See DESCENT AND DISTRIBUTION.

DIRECTLY.[28] In a direct manner; in a straight line or course;[29] without curving, swerving, or deviation;[30] in a straight line or course, literally or figuratively; in a direct manner without the intervention of any medium;[31] in a straightforward way, without anything intervening;[32] immediately;[33] rectilinearly.[34] Sometimes used in the sense of proximately;[35] speedily.[36] (See DIRECT.)

DIRECTOR. See CORPORATIONS.

DIRECTORY STATUTE. See STATUTES.

DIRECTORY TRUST. See TRUSTS.

DIRECT PAYMENT. A payment which is absolute and unconditional as to time, amount, and the persons by whom and to whom it is to be made.[37]

DIRECT TAX.[38] A tax which is demanded from the very person, who, it is general instructions as to the manner of doing it."

"The word 'direction' in the clause, 'under the direction of the judges,' is to be taken in the sense of authority to direct as circumstances may require, and not as requiring direction in order to confer authority upon the clerk to act." In re Durant, 60 Vt. 176, 182, 12 Atl. 650.

"Under the direction of the Secretary of the Interior" as used in the statutes relative to public lands see Knight v. United Land Assoc., 142 U. S. 161, 177, 12 S. Ct. 258, 35 L. ed. 974 [quoted in Orchard v. Alexander, 157 U. S. 372, 381, 15 S. Ct. 635, 39 L. ed. 737]. See also Northern Pac. R. Co. v. Barnes, 2 N. D. 310, 367, 51 N. W. 386, where it is said: "To make selections [of land] 'under the direction of the secretary of the interior' is to make them in accordance with the rules and regulations prescribed by him."

26. Wharton L. Lex.

27. Black L. Dict.

28. "The word 'directly' is derived from the Latin 'directus,' straight, p. p. of 'dirigere,' to set in a straight line. The primary idea is of space, in a straight line, rectilinearly, undeviating, etc. All the secondary meanings are analogous to the idea of straightness in space." State v. Conley, 22 R. I. 397, 401, 48 Atl. 200.

"Directly and indirectly" construed in a covenant not to engage in any other business of the same character within a period of five years after selling out a certain business see Nelson v. Johnson, 38 Minn. 255, 259, 36 N. W. 868.

"Directly injured" as used in reference to damages in a statute relative to the construction of internal improvements see Lyons v. U. S., 26 Ct. Cl. 31, 43.

29. State v. Van Camp, 36 Nebr. 9, 13, 54 N. W. 113 [quoting Webster Dict.]; State v. Conley, 22 R. I. 397, 401, 48 Atl. 200 [quoting Century Dict.; Webster Int. Dict.].

30. State v. Van Camp, 36 Nebr. 9, 13, 54 N. W. 113 [quoting Webster Dict.].

"Coming directly from some foreign port or place," [as used in a statute relative to paupers], means coming from some port or place out of the United States, without passing through either of the sister states, into this state." Chatham v. Middlefield, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 56, 57.

31. Century Dict. [quoted in State v. Conley, 22 R. I. 397, 401, 48 Atl. 200].

32. Webster Int. Dict. [quoted in State v. Conley, 22 R. I. 397, 401, 48 Atl. 200].

33. Missouri, etc., R. Co. v. Lyons, (Tex. Civ. App. 1899) 53 S. W. 96, 97.

34. Worcester Dict. [quoted in State v. Conley, 22 R. I. 397, 401, 48 Atl. 200].

35. McLean v. Burbank, 11 Minn. 277 [citing Lockhart v. Lichtenthaler, 46 Pa. St. 151, 164].

"Directly" distinguished from "proximately" in respect to the cause of an injury see Davis v. Spicer, 27 Mo. App. 279, 301.

36. Duncan v. Topham, 8 C. B. 225, 18 L. J. C. P. 310, 65 E. C. L. 225 [cited in Lewis v. Hojer, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 534, 536; The Onrust, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,539, 1 Ben. 431, where it was held, "that where a contract was to be performed 'directly,' it meant something more than a reasonable time, and that the word 'directly' imported 'speedily,' or, at least, 'as soon as practicable'"]. See also Tobias v. Lissberger, 105 N. Y. 404, 12 N. E. 13, 59 Am. Rep. 509 [cited in Metropolitan Land Co. v. Manning, 98 Mo. App. 248, 260, 71 S. W. 696].

37. Colorado v. Boylan, 25 Fed. 594, 595.

38. Distinguished from "indirect tax" in Pollock v. Farmers' L. & T. Co., 157 U. S. 429, 470, 15 S. Ct. 673, 39 L. ed. 759 [citing 3 Gallatin Writings (Adams ed.) 74, 75]; Toronto Bank v. Lambe, 12 App. Cas. 575, 582, 4 Cartwr. Cas. (Can.) 7; Reg. v. Taylor, 36 U. C. Q. B. 183, 193.

May include a land or poll tax. Hylton v. U. S., 3 Dall. (U. S.) 171, 183, 1 L. ed. 556 [quoted in Pollock v. Farmers' L. & T. Co., 157 U. S. 429, 570, 15 S. Ct. 673, 39 L. ed. 759].

intended or desired, shall pay it;[39] a tax which the legislator intends should be paid at once and immediately by him who bears its burden;[40] a tax taken directly from property or income;[41] a tax which is assessed upon the property, person, business, income, etc., of those who are to pay it;[42] a tax paid directly from and falling immediately on the revenue.[43] (Direct Tax: In General, see TAXATION. Imposed by United States, see INTERNAL REVENUE.)

DISABILITY. The want of legal capacity to do a thing;[44] a deprivation of ability, state of being disabled, incapacity;[45] the want of legal ability or capacity to exercise legal rights either special or ordinary, or to do certain acts with proper legal effect, or to enjoy certain privileges or powers of free action;[46] the absence of legal ability to do certain acts or enjoy certain benefits; such as the disability to sue, take lands by descent, to enter into contracts, to alien property, etc.;[47] incapacity for action under the law; incapacity to do a legal act.[48] (Disability: As Ground For Abatement, see ABATEMENT AND REVIVAL. Contributory Negligence of Person Under, see NEGLIGENCE. Effect of — On Adverse Possession, see ADVERSE POSSESSION; On Limitation of Action, see LIMITATIONS OF ACTIONS; On Time For Taking Appeal or Suing Out Writ of Error, see APPEAL AND ERROR. Of Alien, see ALIENS. Of Attorney, see ATTORNEY AND CLIENT. Of Convict, see CONVICTS. Of Drunkard, see DRUNKARDS. Of Indian, see INDIANS. Of Infant, see INFANTS. Of Insane Person, see INSANE PERSONS. Of Married Woman, see HUSBAND AND WIFE. Of Spendthrift, see SPENDTHRIFTS.)

DISABLE. In its ordinary sense, to cause a disability.[49] (See DISABILITY; and, generally, MAYHEM.)

DISAGREEMENT. A want of unanimity;[50] the refusal by a grantee, lessee, etc., to accept an estate, lease, etc., made to him; the annulling of a thing that had essence before.[51] (Disagreement: As Affecting Contract, see CONTRACTS. Of Judges, see APPEAL AND ERROR; COURTS; TRIAL. Of Jury, see CRIMINAL LAW; TRIAL.)

DISBARMENT. See ATTORNEY AND CLIENT.

DISBURSEMENTS. Money expended by an executor, guardian, trustee, etc., for the benefit of the estate in his hands, or in connection with its administration. Under the codes of civil procedure, the expenditures necessarily made by a party in the progress of an action, aside from the fees of officers and court costs, which are allowed, eo nomine, together with costs.[52] The term is often 39. Street R. Co. v. Morrow, 87 Tenn. 406, 416, 11 S. W. 348, 2 L. R. A. 853; Toronto Bank v. Lambe, 12 App. Cas. 575, 582, 4 Cartwr. Cas. (Can.) 7; Severn v. Reg., 1 Cartwr. Cas. (Can.) 414, 457; Atty.-Gen. v. Queen Ins. Co., 1 Cartwr. Cas. (Can.) 117, 140; Hastings County v. Ponton, 5 Ont. App. 543, 548; Lamonde v. Lavergne, 3 Quebec Q. B. 303, 306, 312; Mill Pol. Econ. [quoted in Dulmage v. Douglas, 3 Manitoba L. Rep. 562, 564, and citing Atty.-Gen. v. Reed, 10 App. Cas. 141, 143, 3 Cartwr. Cas. (Can.) 190].

40. Lamonde v. Lavergne, 3 Quebec Q. B. 303, 311.

41. Atty.-Gen. v. Reed, 10 App. Cas. 141, 143, 3 Cartwr. Cas. (Can.) 90.

42. Wilson v. Chicago Sanitary Dist., 133 Ill. 443, 493, 27 N. E. 203 [citing Cooley Tax. (2d ed.) 6].

43. Pollock v. Farmers' L. & T. Co., 157 U. S. 429, 570, 15 S. Ct. 673, 39 L. ed. 759 [citing 3 Gallatin Writings (Adams ed.) 74, 75].

44. Bouvier L. Dict. [quoted in Berkin v. Marsh, 18 Mont. 152, 160, 44 Pac. 528, 56 Am. St. Rep. 565; Meeks v. Vassault, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,393, 3 Sawy. 206]. See also Valle v. Obenhause, 62 Mo. 81, 89.

45. Miller v. American Mut. Acc. Ins. Co., 92 Tenn. 167, 173, 21 S. W. 39, 20 L. R. A. 765.

"Disability implies want of power, not want of inclination. It refers to incapacity, and not to disinclination. It is founded upon a want of authority arising out of some circumstance or other, notwithstanding the presence of any amount or degree of willingness or disposition to act." People v. Ulster County, 32 Barb. (N. Y.) 473, 480, construing 3 N. Y. Rev. St. (5th ed.) 475, § 29.

As used in a statute relative to infancy, imprisonment, coverture, etc., see Wiesner v. Zaun, 39 Wis. 188, 206.

46. Black L. Dict. [quoted in Berkin v. Marsh, 18 Mont. 152, 161, 44 Pac. 528, 56 Am. St. Rep. 565].

47. Rapalje & L. L. Dict. [quoted in Berkin v. Marsh, 18 Mont. 152, 161, 44 Pac. 528, 56 Am. St. Rep. 565].

48. Anderson L. Dict. [quoted in Berkin v. Marsh, 18 Mont. 152, 162, 44 Pac. 528, 56 Am. St. Rep. 565].

49. Black L. Dict.

50. Darnell v. Lyon, 85 Tex. 455, 465, 466, 22 S. W. 304, 960.

51. Wharton L. Lex.

52. Black L. Dict.

used as synonymous with "expenditures."[53] (Disbursements: By Administrator, see Executors and Administrators. By Agent, see Principal and Agent. By Assignee, see Assignments For Benefit of Creditors. By Auctioneer, see Auctions and Auctioneers. By Executor, see Executors and Administrators. By Guardian, see Guardian and Ward. By Marshal, see Admiralty. By Trustee, see Trusts. See also, generally, Costs.)

DISBURSING OFFICER. See Army and Navy.

DISCHARGE. To send away, as a creditor, by payment, to set free; release; absolve or acquit, as of an obligation, claim, accusation, or service due; to exonerate; to relieve; to clear.[54] In bankruptcy practice, the release of the bankrupt; the step which regularly follows the adjudication of bankruptcy and the administration of his estate. In civil practice, to discharge a rule, an order, an injunction, a certificate, process of execution, or in general any proceeding in a court, to cancel or annul it, or to revoke it, or to refuse to confirm its original provisional force.[55] In criminal practice, the act by which a person in confinement, held on an accusation of some crime or misdemeanor, is set at liberty.[56] In equity practice, in the process of accounting before a master in chancery, a statement of expenses and counter-claims brought in and filed, by way of set-off, by the accounting defendant; which follows the charge in order. In the law of contracts, as a verb, to cancel or unloose the obligation of a contract; to make an agreement or contract null and inoperative; as a noun, the act or instrument by which the binding force of a contract is terminated, irrespective of whether the contract is carried out to the full extent contemplated (in which case the discharge is the result of performance) or is broken off before complete execution.[57] Used with reference to a cargo, to unlade it from the ship.[58] (Discharge: By Accord and Satisfaction, see Accord and Satisfaction. By Bequest, see Wills. By Composition, see Compositions With Creditors. By Compromise, see Compromise and Settlement. By Devise, see Wills. By Payment, see Payment. By Release, see Release. By Tender, see Tender. From Imprisonment, see Executions. From Service as Juror, see Grand Juries; Juries. In Bankruptcy, see Bankruptcy. In Criminal Prosecution, see Bail. In Insolvency, see Insolvency. Of Accepter, see Commercial Paper. Of Accused, see Criminal Law. Of Administrator, see Executors and Administrators. Of Assignee, see Assignments For Benefit of Creditors; Bankruptcy; Insolvency. Of Assignor, see Assignments; Assignments For Benefit of Creditors. Of Attachment, see Attachment. Of Attorney, see Attorney and Client. Of Attorney's Lien, see Attorney and Client. Of Bail, see Bail. Of Bond, see Bonds. Of Cargo, see Shipping. Of Carrier's Lien, see Carriers. Of Chattel Mortgage, see Chattel Mortgages. Of Contract, see Contracts. Of Covenant, see Covenants. Of Defendant From Arrest, see Arrest. Of Drawer, see Commercial Paper. Of Enlisted Person, see Army and Navy. Of Execution, see Executions. Of Executor, see Executors and Administrators. Of Garnishee, see Garnishment. Of Guarantor, see Guaranty. Of Indemnitor, see Indemnity. Of Indorser, see Commercial Paper. Of Insurer, see Insurance. Of Judgment, see Judgments. Of Jury, see Criminal Law; Trial. Of Levy or Lien of Attachment, see Attachment. Of Lien in General, see Liens. Of Maker, see Commercial Paper. Of Maritime Lien, see Maritime Liens. Of Mechanic's Lien, see Mechanics' Liens. Of Mortgage, 53. Whyte v. Dimmock, 55 Md. 452, 456, where it is said: "That the word disbursement is used as meaning expenditure, or rather as synonymous with that term, may not only be seen by reference to the dictionary, but to the case of Winder v. Diffenderffer, 2 Bland 166, 208, and same case on appeal, 3 Gill & J. 311, 348. See 11 Cyc. 24 note 1.

54. Webster Dict. [quoted in Rivers v. Blom, 163 Mo. 442, 446, 63 S. W. 812].

55. Black L. Dict.

56. Black L. Dict.

The writing containing the order for his being so set at liberty is also called a "discharge." Black L. Dict.

57. Black L. Dict.

58. In re Certain Logs of Mahogany, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,559, 2 Sumn. 589, 600 [citing Johnson Dict.; Falconer Mar. Dict.], thus used in a general sense as well as in a nautical sense.

see CHATTEL MORTGAGES. Of Negotiable Instrument, see COMMERCIAL PAPER. Of Officer, see ARMY AND NAVY. Of Receiptor, see ATTACHMENT. Of Receiver, see RECEIVERS. Of Res by Giving a Bond, see ADMIRALTY. Of Servant, see MASTER AND SERVANT. Of Surety — In General, see PRINCIPAL AND SURETY; On Appeal-Bond, see APPEAL AND ERROR; On Assignee's Bond, see ASSIGNMENTS FOR BENEFIT OF CREDITORS; On Auctioneer's Bond, see AUCTIONS AND AUCTIONEERS; On Bail-Bond, see ARREST; BAIL; On Bond of Executor or Administrator, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS; On Bond of Public Officer, see OFFICERS; On Forthcoming or Claimant's Bond, see ATTACHMENT. Of Teacher, see SCHOOLS AND SCHOOL-DISTRICTS. On Subscription, see SUBSCRIPTIONS.)

DISCHARGE BY OPERATION OF LAW. A discharge which takes place, whether it was intended by the parties or not.[59] (See DISCHARGE.)

DISCHARGED. Paid; released, acquitted, freed from debt, performed, executed.[60] (See COMMITTED; DISCHARGE; and, generally, BAIL; CRIMINAL LAW.)

DISCLAIMER. A denial of the insistence upon any claim or right in the thing demanded, and a renunciation of all claim thereto;[61] a renunciation or denial by a tenant of his landlord's title, either by refusing to pay rent, denying any obligation to pay, or by setting up a title in himself or a third person, and this is a distinct ground of forfeiture of the lease or other tenancy, whether of land or tithe;[62] a mode of defence.[63] (Disclaimer: As to Claim of Patent, see PATENTS. Ground of Estoppel, see ESTOPPEL. In Answer in General, see PLEADING. In Ejectment, see EJECTMENT. Of Estate, see DEEDS.)

DISCLOSURE. The act of uncovering, or discovering; revealing; opening; making known; telling that which has been kept concealed.[64] (Disclosure: In General, see DISCOVERY. Of Defense — On Application to Open Judgment, see JUDGMENTS; On the Merits, see PLEADING. Of Knowledge in Affidavit for Attachment, see ATTACHMENT. Of Principal, see PRINCIPAL AND AGENT.)

DISCONTINUANCE. In practice, dismissal.[65] (Discontinuance: Of Action — In General, see DISMISSAL AND NONSUIT; By Submission to Arbitration, see ARBITRATION AND AWARD; Effect on Its Operation, see ABATEMENT AND REVIVAL; In Admiralty, see ADMIRALTY; Mutual Discontinuance as Accord and Satisfaction, see ACCORD AND SATISFACTION. Of Assignment Proceeding, see ASSIGNMENTS FOR BENEFIT OF CREDITORS. Of Bankruptcy Proceeding, see BANKRUPTCY. Of Criminal Prosecution, see CRIMINAL LAW. Of Estate, see ESTATES. Of Highway or Street, see STREETS AND HIGHWAYS. Of Insolvency Proceeding, see INSOLVENCY. Waiver of Previous Discontinuance by Appearance, see APPEARANCES. See, generally, DISMISSAL AND NONSUIT.)

DISCONTINUANCE NIHIL ALIUD QUAM INTERMITTERE, DESENESCERE, INTERRUMPERE. A maxim meaning "Discontinuance is nothing else than to intermit, to abate, to interrupt."[66]

59. Thus, if a creditor appoints his debtor his executor, the debt is discharged by operation of law, because the executor cannot have an action against himself. Black L. Dict. [citing Chitty Contr. 714; Coke Litt. 264*b* note 1; Williams Ex. 1216].

60. Webster Dict. [quoted in Union Bank v. Powell, 3 Fla. 175, 193, 52 Am. Dec. 367].

Not equivalent to "acquitted."— Morgan v. Hughes, 2 T. R. 225, 231 [cited in Law v. Franks, Cheves (S. C.) 9, 10]. See also Bacon v. Townsend, 2 Edm. Sel. Cas. (N. Y.) 120, 122.

61. Moores v. Clackamas County, 40 Oreg. 536, 541, 67 Pac. 662 [citing 1 Beach Mod. Eq. Pr. § 281].

62. Black L. Dict. [citing Vivian v. Moat, 16 Ch. D. 730, 50 L. J. Ch. 331, 44 L. T. Rep. N. S. 210, 29 Wkly. Rep. 504].

63. Isham v. Miller, 44 N. J. Eq. 61, 62, 14 Atl. 20.

Resembles a release or conveyance.— In Prescott v. Hutchinson, 13 Mass. 439, 440 [quoted in Kentucky Union Co. v. Cornett, 112 Ky. 677, 681, 66 S. W. 728, 23 Ky. L. Rep. 1922], the court said: "A disclaimer, instead of being a plea to the action, resembled so far a release or conveyance of the land, that, in general, no person could disclaim, who was incapable of conveying the land."

64. Reg. v. Skeen, 8 Cox C. C. 143, 158 [quoting Richardson Dict.].

65. English v. Dickey, 128 Ind. 174, 182, 27 N. E. 495, 13 L. R. A. 40 [citing Thurman v. James, 48 Mo. 235]. See also Taft v. Northern Transp. Co., 56 N. H. 414, 417, opinion of Cushing, C. J.

66. Tayler L. Gloss.

DISCONTINUOUS EASEMENT. See EASEMENTS.

DISCOUNT.[67] In a general sense, as a noun, a counting off, an allowance or deduction made from a gross sum on any account whatever;[68] an allowance or deduction generally of so much per cent made for prepayment or for prompt payment of a bill or account; a sum deducted, in consideration of cash payment, from the price of a thing usually sold on credit; any deduction from the customary price or from a sum due or to be due at a future time;[69] an allowance sometimes made for prompt payment;[70] an allowance upon an account, debt, demand, price asked, and the like; something taken off or deducted;[71] a reduction;[72] the difference between the price of a debt and the amount of a debt,[73] the evidence of which is transferred;[74] as a verb, to abate in advance from the sum paid in a business transaction;[75] to count back; to pay back;[76] to purchase something or pay the amount therefor in cash less a certain per cent.[77] In a more limited and technical sense, as a noun, interest taken in advance;[78] interest either paid in advance or reserved in a note;[79] interest reserved from the amount lent at the time of making a loan;[80] a percentage taken from the face value of the security or property negotiated;[81] the difference between what is paid for a claim evidenced by negotiable paper and the face amount thereof;[82] the rate per cent deducted from the face value of a promissory note, bill of exchange, etc., when purchasing the privilege of collecting its amount at maturity;[83] as a verb, to lend or advance the amount of a security, deducting interest;[84] to loan money, with right to take the 67. "There is no technical sense attached to the term discount." U. S. Bank v. Hammond, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 415, 416 [citing Parke v. Eliason, 1 East 544, 550]. And it "is an equivocal word which may mean commercial discount, or may mean true discount." In re Land Securities Co., [1896] 2 Ch. 320, 327, 65 L. J. Ch. 587, 74 L. T. Rep. N. S. 400, 44 Wkly. Rep. 514.

"The use of the word discount in two different senses, has also contributed to introduce obscurity. It being used in some of the cases, and by some Judges to designate the reception of paper in payment of a loan, or debt, and in other cases and by other judges, in the sense in which it appears to have been used by the broker in this case, to designate the reception of it on a sale as a piece of property." Baxter v. Duren, 29 Me. 434, 441, 50 Am. Dec. 602.

68. Carroll v. Drury, 170 Ill. 571, 574, 49 N. E. 311 [quoting Dunkle v. Renick, 6 Ohio St. 527, 535].

69. Century Dict. [quoted in Carroll v. Drury, 170 Ill. 571, 575, 49 N. E. 311]. See also Building Assoc. v. Seemiller, 3 Phila. (Pa.) 115, 118.

70. Carroll v. Drury, 170 Ill. 571, 575, 49 N. E. 311.

71. Webster Dict. [quoted in Carroll v. Drury, 170 Ill. 571, 574, 49 N. E. 311].

72. Atlantic State Bank v. Savery, 82 N. Y. 291, 301.

73. Atlantic State Bank v. Savery, 82 N. Y. 291, 302 [quoting MacLeod Banking 43].

74. Greenville First Nat. Bank v. Sherburne, 14 Ill. App. 566, 570. And see Gloversville Nat. Bank v. Johnson, 104 U. S. 271, 277, 26 L. ed. 742 [quoted in Anderson v. Cleburne Bldg., etc., Assoc., 4 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 174, 16 S. W. 298].

75. Camden First Nat. Bank v. Carleton, 43 N. Y. App. Div. 6, 9, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 635, per Spring, J., in dissenting opinion.

76. Building Assoc. v. Seemiller, 3 Phila. (Pa.) 115, 118 [citing Johnson Dict.].

77. Century Dict. [quoted in Eastin v. Cincinnati Third Nat. Bank, 102 Ky. 64, 66, 42 S. W. 1115, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1043].

78. Philadelphia Loan Co. v. Towner, 13 Conn. 249, 259; Bailey v. Murphy, Walk. (Mich.) 424, 425. And see New York Firemen Ins. Co. v. Ely, 2 Cow. (N. Y.) 678, 699; Marsh v. Martindale, 3 B. & P. 154, 159; Parker v. Norton, 6 T. R. 695, 699.

79. Peterborough First Nat. Bank v. Childs, 133 Mass. 248, 252, 43 Am. Rep. 509. And see State v. Boatmen's Sav. Inst., 48 Mo. 189, 191.

80. Youngblood v. Birmingham Trust, etc., Co., 95 Ala. 521, 523, 12 So. 579, 36 Am. St. Rep. 245, 20 L. R. A. 58 [cited in Anderson v. Timberlake, 114 Ala. 377, 389, 22 So. 431, 62 Am. St. Rep. 105; Planters', etc., Bank v. Goetter, 108 Ala. 408, 410, 19 So. 54]; State v. Boatmen's Sav. Inst., 48 Mo. 189, 191; Bouvier L. Dict. [quoted in Eastin v. Cincinnati Third Nat. Bank, 102 Ky. 64, 66, 42 S. W. 1115, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1043].

81. Swift, etc., Co. v. U. S., 18 Ct. Cl. 42, 57 [citing Bouvier L. Dict.].

82. Anderson L. Dict. [quoted in Anderson v. Cleburne Bldg., etc., Assoc., 4 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 174, 16 S. W. 298]. See also Gloversville Nat. Bank v. Johnson, 104 U. S. 271, 277, 26 L. ed. 742 [quoted in Anderson v. Cleburne Bldg., etc., Assoc., 4 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 174, 16 S. W. 298], where it is said: "That difference represents interest charged, being at some rate, according to which the price is paid, if invested until the maturity of the debt, will produce its amount."

83. Century Dict. [quoted in Carroll v. Drury, 170 Ill. 571, 574, 49 N. E. 311].

84. Camden First Nat. Bank v. Carleton, 43 N. Y. App. Div. 6, 7, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 635; Webster Dict. [quoted in Com. v. Commercial Bank, 28 Pa. St. 383, 396].

interest in advance;[85] to take interest in advance.[86] By the language of the commercial world, and the settled practice of banks, a discount by a bank means, ex vi termini, a deduction or drawback made upon its advances or loans of money, upon negotiable paper, or other evidences of debt, payable at a future day, which are transferred to the bank;[87] a deduction made for interest in advancing money upon a bill or note not due; payments in advance of interest upon money loaned;[88] the deduction of a sum for advanced payment, particularly the deduction of the interest on a sum lent at the time of lending;[89] the interest allowed in advancing upon bills of exchange or negotiable securities.[90] In practice, a cross action, in which the defendant is the actor;[91] some cause, matter or thing, not necessarily arising out of, or connected with the cause of action.[92] (See DISCOUNTED; DISCOUNTING; and, generally, BANKS AND BANKING; BUILDING AND LOAN SOCIETIES; COMMERCIAL PAPER; USURY.)

DISCOUNT BROKER. See FACTORS AND BROKERS.

DISCOUNTED. Sold;[93] transferred.[94] Applied to commercial paper, the word is used to mean purchased or acquired, having advanced upon it, in money, the amount thereof, less such percentage as is retained for interest.[95] (See DISCOUNT;

85. Farmers', etc., Bank v. Baldwin, 23 Minn. 198, 206, 23 Am. Rep. 683 [quoted in Niagara County Bank v. Baker, 15 Ohio St. 68]; Penn Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Carpenter, 40 Ohio St. 260, 265 [citing Niagara County Bank v. Baker, 15 Ohio St. 68].

86. Weckler v. Hagerstown First Nat. Bank, 42 Md. 581, 592, 20 Am. Rep. 95 [quoted in Black v. Westminster First Nat. Bank, 96 Md. 399, 428, 54 Atl. 88; Anderson v. Cleburne Bldg., etc., Assoc., 4 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 174, 16 S. W. 298].

87. Fleckner v. U. S. Bank, 8 Wheat. (U. S.) 338, 351, 5 L. ed. 631 [quoted in Younghlood v. Birmingham Trust, etc., Co., 95 Ala. 521, 523, 12 So. 579, 36 Am. St. Rep. 245, 20 L. R. A. 58; Philadelphia Loan Co. v. Towner, 13 Conn. 249, 260; Neilsville Bank v. Tuthill, 4 Dak. 295, 30 N. W. 154, 156; Pape v. Capitol Bank, 20 Kan. 440, 449, 27 Am. Rep. 183; Eastin v. Cincinnati Third Nat. Bank, 102 Ky. 64, 66, 42 S. W. 1115, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1043; Farmers,' etc., Bank v. Baldwin, 23 Minn. 198, 205, 23 Am. Rep. 683; Salmon Falls Bank v. Leyser, 116 Mo. 51, 22 S. W. 504; Niagara County Bank v. Baker, 15 Ohio St. 68, 87; Building Assoc. v. Seemiller, 3 Phila. (Pa.) 115, 119; Gloversville Nat. Bank v. Johnson, 104 U. S. 271, 276, 26 L. ed. 742, and followed in Greenville First Nat. Bank v. Sherburne, 14 Ill. App. 566, 570; Lazear v. National Union Bank, 52 Md. 78, 128, 36 Am. Rep. 355; Danforth v. Elizabeth Nat. State Bank, 48 Fed. 271, 273, 1 C. C. A. 62, 17 L. R. A. 622]. And see Nicholson v. New Castle Nat. Bank, 92 Ky. 251, 255, 17 S. W. 627, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 478, 16 L. R. A. 223; Camden First Nat. Bank v. Carleton, 43 N. Y. App. Div. 6, 7, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 635.

88. Webster Dict. [quoted in Carroll v. Drury, 170 Ill. 571, 574, 49 N. E. 311].

89. Webster Dict. [quoted in Building Assoc. v. Seemiller, 3 Phila. (Pa.) 115, 118].

90. Saltmarsh v. Planters', etc., Bank, 14 Ala. 668, 677.

"Bank discount is simple interest paid in advance and received not on the sum advanced in the purchase, but on the amount of the note or bill." Eastin v. Cincinnati Third Nat. Bank, 102 Ky. 64, 66, 42 S. W. 1115, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 1043 [quoting Century Dict.]. And see Building Assoc. v. Seemiller, 3 Phila. (Pa.) 115, 119, where it is said: "By discount, in the Constitution, I understand to be meant bank discounts, and a bank discount is the purchase of a promissory note, bill of exchange, or other negotiable paper, at less than its face."

91. Cain v. Spann, 1 McMull. (S. C.) 258, 261.

92. Brown v. McMullen, 1 Hill (S. C.) 29, 30.

Distinguished from "set-off" in Trabue v. Harris, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 597, 598.

Used in connection with "counter-claim." — Where a statute declared that the plaintiff to obtain an attachment "must show" that he is entitled to recover the sum stated to be due to him "over and above all counter-claims," but the allegation of the complaint was "over and above all discounts and set-offs," the court said: "The word 'discounts' simply conveys the thought of something to be discounted or taken from the claim itself by reason of any agreement, express or implied, between the parties." Lampkin v. Douglass, 63 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 47, 48 [citing Bouvier L. Dict.]. See, generally, ATTACHMENT.

93. Ridgway v. New Castle Nat. Bank, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 216, 217 (where it is said: "The words 'sold' and 'discounted' used [in pleading] . . . have the same meaning, the word 'sold' being used to convey the idea of a transfer by discounting according to the usages of business and the regular rates of discount, rather than a barter and sale"); In re Weeks, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,349, 8 Ben. 265, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 263, 269 [quoting Bouvier L. Dict.]. See also Baxter v. Duren, 29 Me. 434, 441, 50 Am. Dec. 602, where the terms "discounted" and "sold" are compared.

94. In re Weeks, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,349, 8 Ben. 265, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 263, 269 [quoting Bouvier L. Dict.].

95. Camden First Nat. Bank v. Carleton, 26 Misc. (N. Y.) 536, 538, 57 N. Y. Suppl.

DISCOUNTING; and, generally, BANKS AND BANKING; COMMERCIAL PAPER; FACTORS AND BROKERS.)

DISCOUNTING.[96] Advancing money before due;[97] advancing money not due until some future period less the interest due thereon when payable;[98] advancing money to be repaid at a future day;[99] making a deduction from a sum due in consideration of payment of remainder before it becomes due;[1] taking interest in advance;[2] taking out of the principal sum, and the retention by the lender, at the time of the loan, of the interest charged for the use of the principal;[3] throwing off a portion of the price for present payment.[4] Applied to a bill or note in its most comprehensive sense, lending money and taking a bill or note in payment;[5] in its more ordinary sense, advancing a consideration for a bill or note, deducting or taking out the interest which will accrue for the time the note has to run;[6] advancing a consideration for a bill or note, and deducting the interest which will accrue for the time the note has to run;[7] advancing money upon it, deducting the interest, and receiving, retaining, or reserving the same in advance;[8] buying it for a less sum than that which upon its face is payable;[9] counting off, or taking from the face or amount of the paper, a sum at the time the money is advanced upon it;[10] giving money for it, deducting the interest;[11]

674 [citing Gloversville Nat. Bank v. Johnson, 104 U. S. 271, 276, 26 L. ed. 742].

"When, . . . bankrupts say, that agreeable to their correspondent's wishes they had discounted, it must be understood that they had accepted of the proposal made to them, and used the latter expression with reference to the calculation of the amount which upon deducting interest and commission they meant to allow to be drawn upon them." Parke v. Elison, 1 East 544, 553.

96. "Carrying on business by discounting."— The president of a bank was in the habit of going every day to various offices in New York "looking for paper"; and at one place "they said to him they had a good piece of paper, and if he wanted it he could have it." After examining it, and the "mercantile book to see if it was all right," "he made a bargain for it, bought it, and paid for it." The court said: "The transaction above narrated, and through which the plaintiff acquired the note in question, was, I think, directly within the power thus conferred to carry on its business, 'by discounting . . . notes and other evidences of debt,' and this is so according to the general practice and understanding among men, and the decisions of our courts." Atlantic State Bank v. Savery, 82 N. Y. 291, 301.

97. Building Assoc. v. Seemiller, 3 Phila. (Pa.) 115, 119.

98. Carroll v. Drury, 170 Ill. 571, 576, 49 N. E. 311; Weckler v. Hagerstown First Nat. Bank, 42 Md. 581, 592, 20 Am. Rep. 95 [quoted in Anderson v. Cleburne Bldg., etc., Assoc., 4 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 174, 16 S. W. 298].

99. Bailey v. Murphy, Walk. (Mich.) 424, 425.

1. Carroll v. Drury, 170 Ill. 571, 575, 49 N. E. 311 [citing Schober v. Accommodation Sav. Fund, etc., Assoc., 35 Pa. St. 223].

2. Philadelphia Loan Co. v. Towner, 13 Conn. 249, 259 [quoting Marsh v. Martindale, 3 B. & P. 154, 159; Parker v. Norton, 6 T. R. 695, 699, and citing New York Firemen Ins. Co. v. Ely, 2 Cow. (N. Y.) 678, 699].

3. Planters', etc., Bank v. Goetter, 108 Ala. 408, 410, 19 So. 54.

4. Carroll v. Drury, 170 Ill. 571, 575, 49 N. E. 311, applied to a sale of goods by a merchant.

5. Philadelphia Loan Co. v. Towner, 13 Conn. 249, 259; New York Firemen Ins. Co. v. Ely, 2 Cow. (N. Y.) 678, 699.

6. Philadelphia Loan Co. v. Towner, 13 Conn. 249, 259.

7. Carroll v. Drury, 170 Ill. 571, 574, 49 N. E. 311 [citing Philadelphia Loan Co. v. Towner, 13 Conn. 249].

8. "That is to say, the notes are made for certain amounts, running a certain time to maturity; the interest or discount is deducted at the time the notes are made from their face, and the net proceeds only are placed to the credit of the borrower." Bobo v. People's Nat. Bank, 92 Tenn. 444, 447, 21 S. W. 888.

9. Saltmarsh v. Planters', etc., Bank, 14 Ala. 668, 677; Bouvier L. Dict. [quoted in Pape v. Capitol Bank, 20 Kan. 440, 451, 27 Am. Rep. 183; Salmon Falls Bank v. Leyser, 116 Mo. 51, 71, 22 S. W. 504; Anderson v. Cleburne Bldg., etc., Assoc., 4 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 174, 16 S. W. 298]. See also Camden First Nat. Bank v. Carleton, 26 Misc. (N. Y.) 536, 538, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 674 [citing Gloversville Nat. Bank v. Johnson, 104 U. S. 271, 276, 26 L. ed. 742].

10. Niagara County Bank v. Baker, 15 Ohio St. 68, 85 [quoted in Pape v. Capitol Bank, 20 Kan. 440, 451, 27 Am. Rep. 183; Salmon Falls Bank v. Leyser, 116 Mo. 51, 71, 22 S. W. 504; Anderson v. Cleburne Bldg., etc., Assoc., 4 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 174, 16 S. W. 298; Danforth v. Elizabeth Nat. State Bank, 48 Fed. 271, 273, 1 C. C. A. 62, 17 L. R. A. 622].

11. Youngblood v. Birmingham Trust, etc., Co., 95 Ala. 521, 523, 12 So. 579, 36 Am. St. Rep. 245, 20 L. R. A. 58 [cited in Anderson v. Timberlake, 114 Ala. 377, 389, 22 So.

lending money upon it and deducting the interest in advance.[12] In banking, the word is often used to designate or to signify a mode of loaning money,[13] with the right to take interest in advance;[14] advancing a sum of money, less than that expressed in the note, on the payee's transferring the title to the same to the bank.[15] Again the term may include purchase[16] as well as loan;[17] and figuratively, but not in its technical or primary sense, the word is often used as implying a sale,[18] as a buying at a discount,[19] or a purchase by way of discount;[20] or a 431, 62 Am. St. Rep. 105]; Newell v. Somerset First Nat. Bank, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 775, 777 [citing Nicholson v. New Castle Nat. Bank, 92 Ky. 251, 255, 17 S. W. 627, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 478, 16 L. R. A. 223; Triplett v. Holly, 4 Litt. (Ky.) 130, 131; Bouvier L. Dict.]; State v. Boatmen's Sav. Inst., 48 Mo. 189, 191. See also Planters', etc., Bank v. Goetter, 108 Ala. 408, 410, 19 So. 54.

12. Columbus City Bank v. Bruce, 17 N. Y. 507, 515 [citing Webster Dict., and quoted in Carroll v. Drury, 170 Ill. 571, 575, 49 N. E. 311].

13. Weckler v. Hagerstown First Nat. Bank, 42 Md. 581, 592, 20 Am. Rep. 95 [quoted in Black v. First Nat. Bank, 96 Md. 399, 428, 54 Atl. 88; Anderson v. Cleburne Bldg., etc., Assoc., 4 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 174, 16 S. W. 298]; Smith v. Pittsburg Exch. Bank, 26 Ohio St. 141, 151 [citing Niagara County Bank v. Baker, 15 Ohio St. 68, 69; Fleckner v. U. S. Bank, 8 Wheat. (U. S.) 338, 5 L. ed. 631].

14. Farmers', etc., Bank v. Baldwin, 23 Minn. 198, 206, 23 Am. Rep. 683 [quoting Niagara County Bank v. Baker, 15 Ohio St. 68]; Penn Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Carpenter, 40 Ohio St. 260, 265 [citing Niagara County Bank v. Baker, 15 Ohio St. 68].

15. U. S. v. Fay, 9 Port. (Ala.) 465, 469 [citing Bouvier L. Dict.].

16. Illinois.— Greenville First Nat. Bank v. Sherburne, 14 Ill. App. 566, 570.

Kansas.— Pape v. Capitol Bank, 20 Kan. 440, 451, 27 Am. Rep. 183.

Kentucky.— Nicholson v. New Castle Nat. Bank, 92 Ky. 251, 255, 17 S. W. 627, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 478, 16 L. R. A. 223.

Missouri.— Salmon Falls Bank v. Leyser, 116 Mo. 51, 71, 22 S. W. 504.

Ohio.— Niagara County Bank v. Baker, 15 Ohio St. 68, 85.

South Carolina.— U. S. Bank v. Hammond, 2 Brev. 415, 416.

Texas.— Anderson v. Cleburne Bldg., etc., Assoc., 4 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 174, 16 S. W. 298.

United States.— Gloversville Nat. Bank v. Johnson, 104 U. S. 271, 276, 26 L. ed. 742; Fleckner v. U. S. Bank, 8 Wheat. 338, 351, 5 L. ed. 631; Danforth v. Elizabeth Nat. State Bank, 48 Fed. 271, 274, 1 C. C. A. 62, 17 L. R. A. 622.

17. Bittin v. Freeman, 17 N. J. L. 191, 206; Niagara County Bank v. Baker, 15 Ohio St. 68, 85 [quoted in Pape v. Capitol Bank, 20 Kan. 440, 451, 27 Am. Rep. 183; Salmon Falls Bank v. Leyser, 116 Mo. 51, 71, 22 S. W. 504; Anderson v. Cleburne Bldg., etc., Assoc., 4 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 174, 16 S. W. 298; Danforth v. Elizabeth Nat. State Bank, 48 Fed. 271, 273, 1 C. C. A. 62, 17 L. R. A. 622]; Com. v. Commercial Bank, 28 Pa. St. 383, 396. See also Greenville First Nat. Bank v. Sherburne, 14 Ill. App. 566, 570 [quoted in Danforth v. Elizabeth Nat. State Bank, 48 Fed. 271, 274, 1 C. C. A. 62, 17 L. R. A. 622], where it is said: "A loan may be made by way of discount."

Compared with and distinguished from "lending" see Bailey v. Murphy, Walk. (Mich.) 424, 425; State v. Boatmen's Sav. Inst., 48 Mo. 189, 191; Gloversville Nat. Bank v. Johnson, 104 U. S. 271, 277, 26 L. ed. 742.

18. In re Weeks, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,349, 8 Ben. 265, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 263, 269 [quoting Bouvier L. Dict.].

Compared with and distinguished from "buying" see Neilsville Bank v. Tuthill, 4 Dak. 295, 30 N. W. 154, 155 [citing Bouvier L. Dict.]; Nicholson v. New Castle Nat. Bank, 92 Ky. 251, 255, 17 S. W. 627, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 478, 16 L. R. A. 223; Newell v. Somerset First Nat. Bank, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 775, 777 [citing Triplett v. Holly, 4 Litt. (Ky.) 130, 131; Bouvier L. Dict.]; Farmers', etc., Bank v. Baldwin, 23 Minn. 198, 206, 23 Am. Rep. 683 [citing Bouvier L. Dict.; Pothier de l'Usure 128].

Compared with and distinguished from "selling" see Nicholson v. New Castle Nat. Bank, 92 Ky. 251, 255, 17 S. W. 627, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 478, 16 L. R. A. 223; Triplett v. Holly, 4 Litt. (Ky.) 130, 131; Newell v. Somerset First Nat. Bank, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 775, 777; Ridgway v. New Castle Nat. Bank, 12 Ky. L. Rep. 216, 217; Baxter v. Duren, 29 Me. 434, 441, 50 Am. Dec. 602; Brittin v. Freeman, 17 N. J. L. 191, 209; In re Weeks, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,349, 8 Ben. 265, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 263, 269 [citing Columbus City Bank v. Bruce, 17 N. Y. 507].

19. Tracy v. Talmage, 18 Barb. (N. Y.) 456, 462 [citing Richardson Dict., and quoted in Atlantic State Bank v. Savery, 82 N. Y. 291, 302; Danforth v. Elizabeth Nat. State Bank, 48 Fed. 271, 273, 1 C. C. A. 62, 17 L. R. A. 622].

"Discounting a note and buying it are not identical in meaning, the latter expression being used to denote the transaction 'when the seller does not endorse the note, and is not accountable for it.'" Farmers', etc., Bank v. Baldwin, 23 Minn. 198, 206, 23 Am. Rep. 683 [citing Bouvier L. Dict.; Pothier de l'Usure 128]. See also Neilsville Bank v. Tuthill, 4 Dak. 295, 30 N. W. 154, 155 [citing Bouvier L. Dict.].

20. Greenville First Nat. Bank v. Sherburne, 14 Ill. App. 566, 570 [quoted in Danforth v. Elizabeth Nat. State Bank, 48 Fed. 271, 274, 1 C. C. A. 62, 17 L. R. A. 622]; Nicholson v. New Castle Nat. Bank, transfer.[21] (See Discount; Discounted; and, generally, Banks and Banking; Commercial Paper.)

DISCOVERT. Not covert; unmarried.[22] (See Covert; Coverture; and, generally, Husband and Wife; Marriage.)

92 Ky. 251, 255, 17 S. W. 627, 13 Ky. L. Rep. 478, 16 L. R. A. 223 [citing Bouvier L. Dict.]; U. S. Bank v. Hammond, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 415, 416; Fleckner v. U. S. Bank, 8 Wheat. (U. S.) 338, 351, 5 L. ed. 631 [quoted in Gloversville Nat. Bank v. Johnson, 104 U. S. 271, 276, 26 L. ed. 742].

21. In re Weeks, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,349, 8 Ben. 265, 13 Nat. Bankr. Reg. 263.

22. Rapalje & L. L. Dict.

DISCOVERY

By Roderick E. Rombauer*

* Sometime presiding judge of the St. Louis court of appeals, and author of "Assignments," 4 Cyc. 1; "Creditors' Suits," 12 Cyc. 1; "Charge to Jury in Breach-of-Promise Case," 32 Journal of Jurisprudence 332; "Some of the Beauties of Trial by Jury," 22 American Law Review 298, etc.

CROSS-REFERENCES

For Matters Relating to:
Accounting Without Discovery, see ACCOUNTS AND ACCOUNTING.
Compelling Witness to Give Deposition, see DEPOSITIONS.
Discovery:
Abatement of Proceedings, see ABATEMENT AND REVIVAL.
As Ground of Relief From Judgment, see JUDGMENTS.
Bill of, Against Corporation, see CORPORATIONS.
In Case of Champerty or Maintenance, see CHAMPERTY AND MAINTENANCE.
In Creditor's Bill, see CREDITORS' SUITS.
In Proceeding For Accounting, see ACCOUNTS AND ACCOUNTING.
In Suit For Copyright Infringement, see COPYRIGHT.
Proceeding as Ground For Continuance, see CONTINUANCES IN CIVIL CASES.
Review of Decision Relating to, see APPEAL AND ERROR.
Discovery in Aid of:
Assignment, see ASSIGNMENTS FOR BENEFIT OF CREDITORS.
Attachment, see ATTACHMENT.
Garnishment, see GARNISHMENT.
Discovery of Assets:
Of Assigned Estate, see ASSIGNMENTS FOR BENEFIT OF CREDITORS.
Of Judgment Debtor, see EXECUTIONS.
Withheld by Debtor of Decedent, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Examination of Third Party in Attachment Proceeding, see ATTACHMENT.
Interrogatories in:
Action For Accounting, see ACCOUNTS AND ACCOUNTING.
Admiralty, see ADMIRALTY.
Bill in Equity, see EQUITY.
Contempt Proceeding, see CONTEMPT.
Taking Testimony in Writing in General, see DEPOSITIONS.

I. DEFINITION.

Every bill in equity, except the bill of certiorari, is in a sense a bill of discovery;[1] but the bill usually distinguished by this appellation is a bill for the discovery of facts resting in the knowledge of defendant, or of deeds, writings, or other things in his custody or power, and seeking no relief in consequence of the discovery,[2] but seeking discovery merely in aid of some other proceeding, either in law,[3] pending or about to be brought,[4] or in equity.[5]

1. McFarland v. Hunter, 8 Leigh (Va.) 439, 492; Bouvier L. Dict.

II. DISCOVERY IN EQUITY.

A. In General — 1. Jurisdiction — a. In Aid of What Actions and Proceedings Bill Lies. A bill will lie by either party to an action at law to have a discovery of matter material to the claim or defense at law.[6] But in order that a pure bill of discovery may lie a suit in aid of which the discovery is sought must be pending or contemplated at law.[7] The suit must also be one for the enforcement of a civil right;[8] but if so, it is immaterial whether the cause of action arises out of contract, or out of torts to property,[9] unless the tort involves criminal responsibility.[10] It has been said, however, in an early English decision that discovery could not be had in an action based on purely personal torts,[11] and it was so held in a case where plaintiff sought discovery in aid of an action of criminal conversation;[12] but it has been held in a recent decision that a bill of discovery would lie in aid of an action for negligently causing the death of an employee.[13] It is permissible in aid of a plea of abatement,[14] of a defense to a 2. Bonvier L. Dict.; Little v. Cooper, 10 N. J. Eq. 273; McFarland v. Hunter, 8 Leigh (Va.) 489, 492.

3. Bonvier L. Dict.; De Wolf v. De Wolf, 4 R. I. 450. And see Faulkner v. Harwood, 6 Rand. (Va.) 125, 129, where it is said: "A bill of discovery . . is commonly used in aid of the jurisdiction of some other Court; as to enable the Plaintiff to prosecute or defend an action at Law," and the bill must be filed as soon as the party discovers the necessity of appealing to the conscience of his adversary. Equity will not suffer him to spin out litigation, take the chance of a jury, and failing there, file his bill for discovery."

4. Kearny v. Jeffries, 48 Miss. 343; Allen v. Hopson, Freem. (Miss.) 276.

5. De Wolf v. De Wolf, 4 R. I. 450.

Illustrations of what are not pure bills of discovery.— Where the only discovery songht is purely incidental, such as may be elicited by the interrogating part of the bill, which consists of a series of questions intended to obtain discovery in aid of the complainant's case, and required to be directed to facts previously stated or charged, the bill is not a bill for discovery alone, and should not be tested by the rules applicable to such bills (Russell v. Garrett, 75 Ala. 348); so a bill is not strictly a bill for discovery if it prays a discovery of facts, when the discovery prayed and the allegations are not separate and distinct from the main object of the bill (Thrasher v. Doig, 18 Fla. 809); and a complaint in an action for legal and equitable relief, with which are filed interrogatories under the code of procedure, section 1661, which provides for a discovery of facts by plaintiff by means of such interrogatories is not a technical bill of discovery (Le May v. Baxter, 11 Wash. 649, 40 Pac. 122).

6. State Bank v. Steen, 13 Ark. 36; Bartlett v. Marshall, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 467; Wright v. King, Harr. (Mich.) 12; Shotwell v. Struble, 21 N. J. Eq. 31.

Illustrations.— A garnishee may file a bill of discovery against plaintiff in the garnishee process to compel him to answer whether or not his judgment against the debtor has been paid, and may use such answer as evidence on the motion to charge him as garnishee. Hinkle v. Currin, 1 Humphr. (Tenn.) 74. So where the debtor applies for the benefit of the insolvent debtor's act, the creditor may file a bill of discovery against him as ancillary to the proceedings upon such application. Brandon v. Gowing, 6 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 5.

7. See supra, I.

8. Montague v. Dudman, 2 Ves. 396, 28 Eng. Reprint 253.

9. Skinner v. Judson, 8 Conn. 528, 21 Am. Dec. 691; Gaines v. New Orleans, 17 Fed. 16, 4 Woods 213; Burrell v. Nicholson, 3 B. & Ad. 649, 23 E. C. L. 286; Taylor v. Crampton, Bunb. 95; Sloane v. Heatfield, Bunb. 18; Heathcote v. Fleete, 2 Vern. Ch. 442, 23 Eng. Reprint 883; East India Co. v. Evans, 1 Vern. Ch. 306, 23 Eng. Reprint 486; East India Co. v. Sandys, 1 Vern. Ch. 127, 23 Eng. Reprint 362; Macclesfield v. Davis, 3 Ves. & B. 16, 35 Eng. Reprint 385.

10. See infra, II, A, 3, e, (v), (vi).

11. Glynn v. Houston, 1 Keen 329, 6 L. J. Ch. 129, 15 Eng. Ch. 329.

12. Robinson v. Craig, 16 Ala. 50. The court in this case erroneously based its decision on the dictum of the English case before mentioned, instead of basing its holding on the proper ground that the answer would have tended to incriminate defendant. While it is true that most actions for personal tort are such that a discovery would tend to incriminate defendant, circumstances may arise when such is not the case and then there is no more reason for holding that a bill of discovery in an action for a personal tort will not lie than in actions based on torts to property.

13. Reynolds v. Burgess Sulphite Fibre Co., 71 N. H. 332, 51 Atl. 1075, 93 Am. St. Rep. 535, 57 L. R. A. 949.

14. Palmer v. Hicks, 17 Ark. 505.

set-off,[15] of an action of mandamus,[16] or of an interpleader, although there are no pleadings.[17] It cannot be maintained in aid of a suit before a justice of the peace,[18] or of proceedings before arbitrators,[19] or of proceedings in the ecclesiastical courts in England.[20] It will not be entertained after a judgment at law, where the facts sought to be elicited are matter of legal defense, unless a sufficient excuse is offered for not having exhibited it,[21] and this is the rule as well in case of foreign as domestic judgments.[22] It cannot be maintained for the purpose of impeaching a witness,[23] or to guard against anticipated perjury in a suit at law,[24] or to discover the names of the other parties' witnesses,[25] or the evidence by means of which his case is to be established,[26] or to ascertain against whom suit shall be brought.[27] So the English courts hold that a discovery will not be granted in aid of proceedings before a foreign tribunal;[28] the theory of the courts being that every foreign court is an inferior court.[29] The American courts, however, hold that a bill of discovery will lie in aid of the prosecution or defense of a civil suit in a sister state,[30] and it has been said that such a bill will also lie in aid of 15. Lane v. Stebbins, 9 Paige (N. Y.) 622.

16. Reg. v. Ambergate, etc., R. Co., 17 Q. B. 957, 16 Jur. 777, 79 E. C. L. 957.

17. Philipps v. Philipps, 40 L. T. Rep. N. S. 815, 27 Wkly. Rep. 939.

18. Davis v. Gerhard, 5 Whart. (Pa.) 466; Baker v. Pritchard, 2 Atk. 387, 26 Eng. Reprint 634. Contra, Semple v. Murphy, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 271.

Amount involved less than jurisdictional amount in equity.— A bill for discovery may be maintained in aid of a suit pending in a court of law, although the amount in dispute in such suit is less in amount than the amount required to give the court in which the bill is filed jurisdiction of suits. Schroeppel v. Redfield, 5 Paige (N. Y.) 245; Goldey v. Becker, 1 Edw. (N. Y.) 271.

19. Street v. Rigby, 6 Ves. Jr. 815, 31 Eng. Reprint 1323. But see British Empire Shipping Co. v. Somes, 3 Jur. N. S. 883, 3 Kay & J. 433, 26 L. J. Ch. 759, 5 Wkly. Rep. 813.

20. Dunn v. Coates, 1 Atk. 288, 26 Eng. Reprint 185. It has been held, however, that the old rule that the court would not admit a bill of discovery in aid of the jurisdiction of the ecclesiastical court is not applicable in the case of a bill for discovery in aid of proceedings in the probate court, because that court has not the same power of compelling discovery as the ecclesiastical court had.

21. Alabama.— McCollum v. Prewitt, 37 Ala. 573; Powell v. Stewart, 17 Ala. 719; Jones v. Kirksey, 10 Ala. 579; Hill v. McNeill, 8 Port. 432; McGraw v. Tombeckbee Bank, 5 Port. 547; Moore v. Dial, 3 Stew. 155; Lucas v. Darien Bank, 2 Stew. 280.

California.— Norris v. Denton, 2 Cal. 378.

Georgia.— Pollock v. Gilbert, 16 Ga. 398, 60 Am. Dec. 732.

Indiana.— Bush v. Mahon, 2 Ind. 44.

Kentucky.— Gentry v. Thornberry, 3 Dana 500.

Michigan.— Wright v. King, Harr. 12.

New York.— McVickar v. Wolcott, 4 Johns. 510; Patterson v. Bangs, 9 Paige 627; Norton v. Wood, 5 Paige 249 [affirmed in 22 Wend. 520]; Duncan v. Lyon, 3 Johns. Ch. 351, 8 Am. Dec. 513; Barker v. Elkins, 1 Johns. Ch. 465.

Tennessee.— Thurmond v. Durham, 3 Yerg. 99.

Virginia.— Green v. Massie, 21 Gratt. 356; Faulkner v. Harwood, 6 Rand. 125.

West Virginia.— Zoll v. Campbell, 3 W. Va. 226.

United States.— Brown v. Swann, 10 Pet. 497, 9 L. ed. 508.

England.— Barbone v. Brent, 1 Vern. Ch. 176, 23 Eng. Reprint 397. But see Field v. Beaumont, 1 Swanst. 204, 36 Eng. Reprint 358.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 6.

22. Martin v. Nicolls, 3 Sim. 458, 6 Eng. Ch. 458.

23. Allen v. Kyle, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 27.

24. Leggett v. Postley, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 599.

25. Marriott v. Chamberlain, 17 Q. B. D. 154, 55 L. J. Q. B. 448, 54 L. T. Rep. N. S. 714, 34 Wkly. Rep. 783; Hennessy v. Wright, 24 Q. B. D. 445 note, 36 Wkly. Rep. 879; Humphries v. Taylor Drug Co., 39 Ch. D. 693, 59 L. T. Rep. N. S. 177, 37 Wkly. Rep. 192.

26. Sunset Telephone, etc., Co. v. Eureka, 122 Fed. 960.

27. Meridian First Nat. Bank v. Phillips, 71 Miss. 51, 15 So. 29; Twells v. Costen, 1 Pars. Eq. Cas. (Pa.) 373; Dineley v. Dineley, 2 Atk. 394, 26 Eng. Reprint 638. But where parties have been sued as partners and have denied the existence of the partnership a bill of discovery may be maintained to ascertain whether the partnership exists. Hurricane Tel. Co. v. Mohler, 51 W. Va. 1, 41 S. E. 421.

28. Dreyfus v. Peruvian Guano Co., 41 Ch. D. 151, 58 L. J. Ch. 471, 60 L. T. Rep. N. S. 216, 37 Wkly. Rep. 394; Reiner v. Salisbury, 2 Ch. D. 378, 24 Wkly. Rep. 843; Bent v. Young, 9 Sim. 180, 16 Eng. Ch. 180. Compare Crowe v. Del Rio [cited in Bent v. Young, 9 Sim. 180, 185, 16 Eng. Ch. 180].

29. Dreyfus v. Peruvian Guano Co., 58 L. J. Ch. 471, 60 L. T. Rep. N. S. 216, 37 Wkly. Rep. 394.

30. Post v. Toledo, etc., R. Co., 144 Mass. 341, 11 N. E. 540, 59 Am. Rep. 86; Mitchell the prosecution or defense of a suit in a foreign tribunal or in a court of the United States;[31] but in any event the bill will not lie where the discovery would not be available.[32]

b. Retaining Bill For Relief For Purposes of Discovery. A bill for relief and discovery cannot be sustained solely for the sake of discovery;[33] therefore where, in a bill for discovery and relief, the discovery sought is incidental to the relief sought, a demurrer well taken to the relief holds good as to the discovery also.[34] But where a bill filed for discovery and relief, seeking to withdraw from a court of law a matter of strict legal cognizance, shows that the discovery sought is indispensable to the ends of justice and that the facts as to which a discovery is sought cannot be proved otherwise than by defendant's answer it will be entertained.[35] Nevertheless if a bill is filed to obtain discovery and relief not cogniz-

v. Smith, 1 Paige (N. Y.) 286; Dykers v. Wilder, 3 Edw. (N. Y.) 492; Burgess v. Smith, 2 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 276.

31. Burgess v. Smith, 2 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 276.

32. Dykers v. Wilder, 3 Edw. (N. Y.) 496.

33. Maine.— Coombs v. Warren, 17 Me. 404.

Massachusetts.— Emery v. Bidwell, 140 Mass. 271, 3 N. E. 24; Mitchell v. Green, 10 Metc. 101; Chapin v. Coleman, 11 Pick. 331.

Michigan.— Welles v. River Raisin, etc., R. Co., Walk. 35.

Mississippi.— Gilmer v. Felhour, 45 Miss. 627.

New Jersey.— United New Jersey R., etc., Co. v. Hoppock, 28 N. J. Eq. 261; Little v. Cooper, 10 N. J. Eq. 273; Miller v. Ford, 1 N. J. Eq. 358. And see Brown v. Edsall, 9 N. J. Eq. 256.

United States.— Walker v. Brown, 58 Fed. 23; Preston v. Smith, 26 Fed. 884.

England.— Lee v. Shoulbred, 1 Anstr. 83.

Contra.— Reddington v. Lanahan, 59 Md. 429; Midland R. Co. v. Hitchcock, 34 N. J. Eq. 278; Laight v. Morgan, 2 Cai. Cas. (N. Y.) 344; Thompson v. Newlin, 38 N. C. 338, 42 Am. Dec. 169.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 27.

34. Connecticut.— Norwich, etc., R. Co. v. Storey, 17 Conn. 364; Middletown Bank v. Russ, 3 Conn. 135, 8 Am. Dec. 164.

Illinois.— Yates v. Monroe, 13 Ill. 212.

Massachusetts.— Pool v. Lloyd, 5 Metc. 525.

Michigan.— Welles v. River Raisin, etc., R. Co., Walk. 35.

New Jersey.— Courter v. Crescent Sewing Mach. Co., 60 N. J. Eq. 413, 45 Atl. 609 [reversing (Ch. 1899) 43 Atl. 570].

New York.— Souza v. Belcher, 3 Edw. 117.

United States.— McClanahan v. Davis, 8 How. 170, 12 L. ed. 1033; Everson v. Equitable L. Assur. Co., 68 Fed. 258; Walker v. Brown, 58 Fed. 23; Venner v. Atchison, etc., R. Co., 28 Fed. 581.

England.— Albretcht v. Sussmann, 2 Ves. & B. 323, 13 Rev. Rep. 110, 35 Eng. Reprint 342.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery." § 27.

35. Alabama.— Shackelford v. Bankhead, 72 Ala. 476; Continental L. Ins. Co. v. Webb, 54 Ala. 688; Guice v. Parker, 46 Ala. 616; Crowthers v. Lee, 29 Ala. 337; Perrine v. Carlisle, 19 Ala. 686.

Arkansas.— Hill v. Cawthon, 15 Ark. 29.

Connecticut.— Norwich, etc., R. Co. v. Storey, 17 Conn. 364.

Georgia.— Molyneux v. Collier, 17 Ga. 46; Merchants' Bank v. Davis, 3 Ga. 112.

Illinois.— Helmle v. Queenan, 18 Ill. App. 103.

Indiana.— Williams v. Wann, 8 Blackf. 477; Coquillard v. Suydam, 8 Blackf. 24.

Iowa.— Temple v. Gove, 8 Iowa 511, 74 Am. Dec. 320.

Kentucky.— Emerson v. Staton, 3 T. B. Mon. 116; Munday v. Shatzell, Litt. Sel. Cas. 373; Bullock v. Boyd, 2 A. K. Marsh. 322.

Maine.— Laney v. Randlett, 80 Me. 169, 13 Atl. 686, 6 Am. St. Rep. 169.

Maryland.— Oliver v. Palmer, 11 Gill & J. 426.

Massachusetts.— Law v. Thorndike, 20 Pick. 317.

Mississippi.— Pleasants v. Glasscock, Sm. & M. Ch. 17.

New Hampshire.— Tappan v. Evans, 11 N. H. 311.

New Jersey.— Turner v. Dickerson, 9 N. J. Eq. 140.

New York.— Marsh v. Davison, 9 Paige 580.

South Carolina.— Stacy v. Pearson, 3 Rich. Eq. 148.

Tennessee.—Avery v. Holland, 2 Overt. 71.

Vermont.— Hopkins v. Adams, 20 Vt. 407.

Virginia.— Skinner v. Dodge, 4 Hen. & M. 432.

West Virginia.— Thompson v. Whitaker Iron Co., 41 W. Va. 574, 23 S. E. 795; Yates v. Stuart, 39 W. Va. 124, 19 S. E. 423.

United States.— Denver v. Roane, 99 U. S. 355, 25 L. ed. 476; Cecil Nat. Bank v. Thurber, 59 Fed. 913, 8 C. C. A. 365; Paton v. Majors, 46 Fed. 210; Wallis v. Shelly, 30 Fed. 747. But see Erskine v. Forest Oil Co., 80 Fed. 583.

Contra.— People's Nat. Bank v. Kern, 193 Pa. St. 59, 44 Atl. 331.

Application of rule.— Where a bill in equity to recover the profits complainants would have realized but for the breach of a contract by which defendant agreed to sell them all the coal mined by it from several mines during the year alleged that to learn the amount of coal mined a discovery from able in equity and the discovery fails the bill should be dismissed,[36] and equity has no jurisdiction to grant relief on the ground of discovery where the discovery is a mere pretext.[37] So where a bill for relief and discovery shows that plaintiff is not entitled to relief, and does not show that the evidence sought cannot be elicited by interrogatories in an action at law, discovery will not be granted.[38]

c. As Affected by Statutes. In some jurisdictions statutes authorizing the examination of parties in actions at law specially provide that the remedy by a bill of discovery shall in no way be affected thereby,[39] and in many jurisdictions where such statutes do not so provide it is held that they do not take away or in any way affect the established jurisdiction of courts of equity in matters of discovery. In other words they merely provide a cumulative remedy.[40] In other defendants through its officers and books was absolutely necessary, and that the information could not be otherwise obtained, and prayed for such discovery and proper relief, it was held that the necessity for discovery was sufficiently shown to give a court of equity jurisdiction. Virginia, etc., Min., etc., Co. v. Hale, 93 Ala. 542, 9 So. 256. But where a bill was filed by stock-holders of a corporation asking an accounting for profits and a discovery as to matters which would appear from the corporation books and papers and the bill did not charge that the papers failed to fully and truly show such matters, that plaintiffs were denied access to them, or that the legal remedy by mandamus was inadequate to enforce the right of the stockholders to examine them, it was held that so far as the bill depended on the demand for discovery it was without equity. Wolf v. Underwood, 96 Ala. 329, 11 So. 344.

36. Alabama.—Steele v. Lowry, 6 Ala. 124.

Illinois.— Fifield v. Gorton, 15 Ill. App. 458; U. S. Ins. Co. v. Central Nat. Bank, 7 Ill. App. 426; Philadelphia F. Ins. Co. v. Central Nat. Bank, 1 Ill. App. 344.

Kentucky.— Nourse v. Gregory, 3 Litt. 378; Ferguson v. Waters, 3 Bibb 303; McIlvoy v. Bowman, Ky. Dec. 317. But see Nichols v. Jones, 3 A. K. Marsh. 385.

New Hampshire.— Kidder v. Barr, 35 N. H. 235.

New Jersey.— Grafton v. Brady, 7 N. J. Eq. 79; Jones v. Sherwood, 6 N. J. Eq. 210.

North Carolina.— Patterson v. Patterson, 2 N. C. 167.

South Carolina.— Rees v. Parish, 1 McCord Eq. 56; Parker v. Kennedy, 2 Desauss. 37.

Tennessee.— Overton v. Searcy, Cooke 36, 5 Am. Dec. 665.

Vermont.— Viele v. Hoag, 24 Vt. 46.

United States.— Russell v. Clark, 7 Cranch 69, 3 L. ed. 271.

Instance.— After a verdict for defendant in a suit on notes alleged to have been given by a partnership and defended on the ground that they were given by one partner for his own purposes after the dissolution of the partnership, plaintiff filed a bill to discover whether the notes were actually given in the course of the partnership business. On a denial by defendant in his answer the bill was dismissed. Foltz v. Pourie, 2 Desauss. (S. C.) 40.

37. Nesbit v. St. Patrick's Church, 9 N. J. Eq. 76; Harr v. Shaffer, 45 W. Va. 709, 31 S. E. 905.

38. Ahrend v. Odiorne, 118 Mass. 261, 19 Am. Dec. 449.

39. Mahone v. Central Nat. Bank, 17 Ga. 111.

40. Alabama.— Wood v. Hudson, 96 Ala. 469, 11 So. 530; Handley v. Heflin, 84 Ala. 600, 4 So. 725; Shackleford v. Bankhead, 72 Ala. 476; Cannon v. McNab, 48 Ala. 99; Horton v. Moseley, 17 Ala. 794; Mallory v. Matlock, 10 Ala. 595.

Illinois.— Kendallville Refrigerator Co. v. Davis, 40 Ill. App. 616; Grimes v. Hilliary, 38 Ill. App. 246. But see Detroit Copper, etc., Rolling Mills v. Ledwidge, 53 Ill. App. 351.

Kentucky.— Semple v. Murphy, 8 B. Mon. 271.

Maryland.— Union Pass. R. Co. v. Baltimore, 71 Md. 238, 17 Atl. 933.

Massachusetts.— Post v. Toledo, etc., R. Co., 144 Mass. 341, 13 N. E. 540, 59 Am. Rep. 86.

Mississippi.— Millsaps v. Pfeiffer, 44 Miss. 805.

New Hampshire.— Reynolds v. Burgess Sulphite Fibre Co., 71 N. H. 332, 51 Atl. 1075, 93 Am. St. Rep. 535, 57 L. R. A. 949; Wheeler v. Wadleigh, 37 N. H. 55.

New Jersey.— Miller v. U. S. Casualty Co., 61 N. J. Eq. 110, 47 Atl. 509; Shotwell v. Smith, 20 N. J. Eq. 79; Ames v. New Jersey Franklinite Co., 12 N. J. Eq. 66, 72 Am. Dec. 385; Howell v. Ashmore, 9 N. J. Eq. 82, 57 Am. Dec. 371.

Pennsylvania.— Block v. Universal Ins. Co., 16 Phila. 72.

Rhode Island.— Starkweather v. Williams, 21 R. I. 55, 41 Atl. 1003.

Tennessee.— Elliston v. Hughes, 1 Head 225.

West Virginia.— Hurricane Tel. Co. v. Mohler, 51 W. Va. 1, 41 S. E. 421; Russell v. Dickeschied, 24 W. Va. 61.

England.— Carver v. Pinto Leite, L. R. 7 Ch. 90, 41 L. J. Ch. 92, 25 L. T. Rep. N. S. 722, 20 Wkly. Rep. 134; Lovell v. Galloway, 17 Beav. 1; Birch v. Mather, 22 Ch. D. 629, 52 L. J. Ch. 292, 31 Wkly. Rep. 362.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 4.

These decisions proceed upon the theory "that where a Court of equity has original jurisdiction, and a statute confers upon the jurisdictions, however, it is held that equitable jurisdiction is abrogated by the statutes, although they contain no express provision to that effect.[41] In another the decisions are conflicting.[42] And in others the statutes are held to have abolished pure bills of discovery in aid of actions at law,[43] but not to repeal statutes expressly providing for a judgment creditor's bill to compel the discovery of the debtor's property.[44] So in some jurisdictions the statutes expressly abolish bills of discovery.[45]

2. Parties[46] — a. In General — (I) Nominal Parties to Action at Law. A bill of discovery may be maintained in behalf of or against a nominal party to an action at law, although he be not a party in interest.[47]

(II) Persons Not Parties to Action at Law. Subject to some exceptions which will be adverted to in the following section, the general rule is well settled that a bill of discovery cannot be sustained against a person who is not a party to the record at law.[48] Accordingly it has been held that a mere witness cannot be made a party to a bill of discovery,[49] and this is true, although the witness is interested in the subject of the action.[50] So also an agent cannot be made a party to a bill for discovery.[51]

(III) Corporations and Their Officers or Agents. It has been said that where a corporation is the sole party defendant, it is its duty if required to do so by the bill to put in a full, true, and complete answer, and to enable it to do so, it common law Courts a similar power, the jurisdiction of equity is not thereby ousted." Union Pass. R. Co. v. Baltimore, 71 Md. 238, 241, 17 Atl. 933.

41. Minnesota.— Turnbull v. Crick, 63 Minn. 91, 65 N. W. 135; Leuthold v. Fairchild, 35 Minn. 99, 27 N. W. 503, 28 N. W. 218.

Missouri.— Bond v. Worley, 26 Mo. 253.

Ohio.— See Chapman v. Lea, 45 Ohio 356, 13 N. E. 736.

South Carolina.— Hall v. Joiner, 1 S. C. 186.

Texas.— Love v. Keowne, 58 Tex. 191.

Wisconsin.—Cleveland v. Burnham, 60 Wis. 16, 17 N. W. 126, 18 N. W. 190.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 4.

42. That the remedy provided by statutes is cumulative see Indianapolis Gas Co. v. Indianapolis, 90 Fed. 196; Kelley v. Boettcher, 85 Fed. 55, 29 C. C. A. 14; Continental Nat. Bank v. Hielman, 66 Fed. 184; Bryant v. Leiland, 6 Fed. 125. That bills of discovery are abolished see Safford v. Ensign Mfg. Co., 120 Fed. 480, 56 C. C. A. 630; Rindskopf v. Platto, 29 Fed. 130; Heath v. Erie R. Co., 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,307, 9 Blatchf. 316.

43. Warren v. Baker, 43 Me. 507; Riopelle v. Doelner, 26 Mich. 102.

44. McCreery v. Cobb, 93 Mich. 463, 53 N. W. 613.

45. Baylis v. Bullock Electric Mfg. Co., 59 N. Y. App. Div. 576, 69 N. Y. Suppl. 693; People v. Mutual Gas-light Co., 54 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 286.

46. Parties generally see Parties.

47. Minor v. Gaw, 11 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 322; Scott v. Hamblin, 3 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 285.

The nominal plaintiff can be made a witness at law, unless he himself objects. If he does object defendant has no mode of compelling him to testify. He must resort to a bill of discovery in chancery. Watts v. Smith, 24 Miss. 77.

48. Reg. v. Glyn, 7 Cl. & F. 466, 7 Eng. Reprint 1147. And see cases cited infra, note 49 et seq.

49. Illinois.—Detroit Copper, etc., Rolling Mills v. Ledwidge, 162 Ill. 305, 44 N. E. 751; Yates v. Monroe, 13 Ill. 212.

Massachusetts.— Kelly v. Morrison, 176 Mass. 531, 57 N. E. 1018.

New Jersey.— Howell v. Ashmore, 9 N. J. Eq. 82, 67 Am. Dec. 371.

New York.— Wakeman v. Bailey, 3 Barb. Ch. 482; Burgess v. Smith, 2 Barb. Ch. 276; Ellsworth v. Curtis, 10 Paige 105; Gelston v. Hoyt, 1 Johns. Ch. 543; Geer v. Kissam, 3 Edw. 129.

Pennsylvania.— Twells v. Costen, 1 Pars. Eq. Cas. 373.

England.— Burchard v. Macfarlane, [1891] 2 Q. B. 241, 7 Aspin. 93, 60 L. J. Q. B. 587, 65 L. T. Rep. N. S. 282, 39 Wkly. Rep. 694; Tooth v. Canterbury, 3 Sim. 49, 6 Eng. Ch. 49; London v. Levy, 8 Ves. Jr. 398, 32 Eng. Reprint 408; Fenton v. Hughes, 7 Ves. Jr. 287, 32 Eng. Reprint 117.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 18.

50. Reg. v. Glyn, 7 Cl. & F. 466, 7 Eng. Reprint 1147; Irving v. Thompson, 3 Jur. 1071, 8 L. J. Ch. 357, 9 Sim. 17, 16 Eng. Ch. 17; Kerr v. Rew, 5 Myl. & C. 154, 46 Eng. Ch. 140; Fenton v. Hughes, 7 Ves. Jr. 287, 32 Eng. Reprint 117; Anderson v. Dowling, 11 Ir. Eq. 590. Contra, Carter v. Jordan, 15 Ga. 76. And see Plummer v. May, 1 Ves. 426, 27 Eng. Reprint 1121.

51. Le Texier v. Anspach, 15 Ves. Jr. 159, 33 Eng. Reprint 714. It has been held, however, that where an auctioneer has the avails of a fraudulent sale in his hands, he cannot protect himself from making a discovery thereof on the ground that he is a mere witness in the trover suit brought against the must cause diligent examination to be made of all papers in its possession before answer.[52] Nevertheless a corporation answers under its seal and not under oath and therefore to obtain discovery under oath the practice has grown up of permitting officers or agents of a corporation having particular knowledge of the matters sought to be discovered to be joined as defendants,[53] the same being an exception to the rule stated in the preceding section. Former as well as present officers of a corporation can be made parties to a suit against the corporation, and be thus compelled to make discovery of facts within their knowledge.[54] And officers of a corporation cannot evade making discovery by resigning after the suit is brought.[55] But an officer of a corporation cannot be made a defendant for discovery, where he did not derive his information in an official capacity.[56]

(IV) Stock-Holders of Corporation. Individual members of a corporation may be called upon to answer a bill of discovery under oath, but in that case the individuals must be named as defendants in the bill.[57]

(V) Infants and Married Women. Infants cannot be made parties for discovery merely, where they have no interest, as they never answer on their oaths;[58] but it has been held that a married woman may be compelled to make discovery against herself.[59]

(VI) Non-Residents. A bill of discovery lies against a non-resident party to an action at law pending in the state.[60]

(VII) The State. The crown has the right to discovery, but cannot be compelled to give it.[61]

(VIII) Defendants in Separate Actions. A joinder in a bill of discovery of defendants in separate actions in aid of which the bill of discovery is brought is a fatal defect in the bill.[62]

(IX) Joint Participants in Fraud. Where several persons are participants in a fraud on plaintiff, he may file a bill of discovery against all the participants jointly,[63] although such persons have distinct interests and participate in different degrees in the fraud, provided the fraud consisted of one connected series of acts.[64]

b. In Bills For Discovery and Relief. In bills for discovery and relief concerning land all persons interested in the land are necessary parties.[65] purchasers. Schmidt v. Dietericht, 1 Edw. (N. Y.) 119.

52. Continental Nat. Bank v. Heilman, 66 Fed. 184 [citing 1 Dan. Ch. Pl. & Pr. 146]. But compare Roanoke St. R. Co. v. Hicks, 96 Va. 510, 32 S. E. 295, holding that a bill of discovery does not lie against a corporation alone as it does not answer under oath, but under the seal of the corporation.

53. Alabama.— Virginia, etc., Min., etc., Co. v. Hale, 93 Ala. 542, 9 So. 256.

New York.— Many v. Beekman Iron Co., 9 Paige 188; Vermilyea v. Fulton Bank, 1 Paige 37.

Tennessee.— Lindsley v. James, 3 Coldw. 477; Buckner v. Abrahams, 3 Tenn. Ch. 346.

United States.— Continental Nat. Bank v. Heilman, 66 Fed. 184; Manchester F. Assur. Co. v. Stockton Combined Harvester, etc., Works, 38 Fed. 378; Vaughan v. East Tennessee, etc., R. Co., 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,898.

England.— Glasscott v. Copper-Miner's Co. of England, 5 Jur. 264, 10 L. J. Ch. 30, 11 Sim. 305, 34 Eng. Ch. 305; Anonymous, 1 Vern. Ch. 117, 23 Eng. Reprint 355; Atty.-Gen. v. East Dereham Corn Exch. Co., 5 Wkly. Rep. 486.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 18.

54. Fulton Bank v. Sharon Canal Co., 1 Paige (N. Y.) 219.

55. Acomb v. Landed Estates Co., 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 57, 14 Wkly. Rep. 387.

56. McComb v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 7 Fed. 426, 19 Blatchf. 69.

57. Brumly v. Westchester County Mfg. Soc., 1 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 366. It is not necessary where a stock-holder of a corporation is made defendant to allege that the stock-holder possesses information not possessed by other members of the corporation. Wright v. Dame, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 237.

58. Leggett v. Sellon, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 84; Curtis v. Mundy, [1892] 2 Q. B. 178, 40 Wkly. Rep. 317.

59. Metler v. Metler, 18 N. J. Eq. 270.

60. Arnold v. Sheppard, 6 Ala. 299; Miller v. Henry, 3 Manitoba 425.

61. Atty.-Gen. v. Newcastle-upon-Tyne Corp., [1897] 2 Q. B. 384, 66 L. J. Q. B. 593, 77 L. T. Rep. N. S. 203. But a foreign prince suing in England may be compelled to make discovery. Rothschild v. Reg., 3 Y. & C. Exch. 594.

62. Broadbent v. State, 7 Md. 416.

63. Robinson v. Davis, 11 N. J. Eq. 302, 69 Am. Dec. 591.

64. Brinkerhoff v. Brown, 6 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 139.

65. Key v. Lambert, 1 Hen. & M. (Va.) 330.

3. Pleadings[66] — a. The Bill — (i) Necessity of. Discovery cannot be sought by the answer, but must be sought by bill or cross bill.[67] It has been held, however, that if an answer asks no relief but propounds interrogatories in bar of the relief sought by the bill, a failure to answer these interrogatories is deemed an admission of the facts alleged, although the answer was not made a cross bill.[68]

(ii) Time of Filing. The party applying for a bill of discovery in a trial at law must use diligence, so as not to unnecessarily delay the trial of the cause.[69] As a general rule the bill must be filed before the trial at law.[70] A bill of discovery is not filed in time when filed at the time the cause of action is called for trial,[71] after the jury is sworn,[72] after verdict,[73] or after judgment.[74]

(iii) Necessary Allegations — (a) Pendency or Contemplation of Suit at Law. Where the bill is a pure bill of discovery, it must show a suit pending or contemplated at law.[75]

(b) Legal Cause of Action or Defense. The bill must show a legal cause of action or defense in aid of which the discovery is sought.[76] For this purpose,

66. Equity pleadings generally see Equity.

67. Andrews v. Gilman, 122 Mass. 471; Millsaps v. Pfeiffer, 44 Miss. 805; Bogert v. Bogert, 2 Edw. (N. Y.) 399; Spragg v. Corner, 2 Cox Ch. 109, 30 Eng. Reprint 50; Micklethwait v. Moore, 3 Meriv. 292, 36 Eng. Reprint 112; Penfold v. Nunn, 5 Sim. 409, 9 Eng. Ch. 409; Sligo v. Hildebrand, 2 Ir. Ch. 118.

68. McClain v. McGee, 9 Dana (Ky.) 368.

69. Dillahunty v. Smith, 7 How. (Miss.) 673.

70. Paterson v. Bangs, 9 Paige (N. Y.) 591.

A bill filed after a trial at law cannot be maintained, unless the person filing it can show that the failure to file it before was not due to negligence on his part. Alley v. Ledbetter, 16 N. C. 449; Thurmond v. Durham, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 99. There must be a clear case of accident, surprise, or fraud, before equity will interfere. Brown v. Swann, 10 Pet. (U. S.) 497, 9 L. ed. 508.

71. Rule v. Taylor, 4 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 577.

72. Price v. Cannon, 3 Mo. 453.

73. Barker v. Elkins, 1 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 465; Faulkner v. Harwood, 6 Rand. (Va.) 125; Brown v. Swann, 10 Pet. (U. S.) 497, 9 L. ed. 508.

74. Moore v. Dial, 3 Stew. (Ala.) 155; Harrison v. Harrison, 1 Litt. (Ky.) 137.

75. Connecticut.— Stebbins v. Cowles, 10 Conn. 399.

Maryland.— Parrott v. Chestertown Nat. Bank, 88 Md. 515, 41 Atl. 1067; Wolf v. Wolf, 2 Harr. & G. 382, 18 Am. Dec. 313.

Massachusetts.—Haskins v. Burr, 106 Mass. 48; Bates v. Boston, 5 Cush. 93; Mitchell v. Green, 10 Metc. 101; Pease v. Pease, 8 Metc. 395; Clapp v. Shepard, 2 Metc. 127; Fiske v. Slack, 21 Pick. 361.

Mississippi.— George v. Solomon, 71 Miss. 168, 14 So. 531; Buckner v. Ferguson, 44 Miss. 677.

Montana.— State v. Second Judicial Dist. Ct., 26 Mont. 396, 411, 68 Pac. 570, 69 Pac. 103.

New Jersey.— United New Jersey R., etc., Co. v. Hoppock, 28 N. J. Eq. 261.

New York.—Van Kleeck v. Reformed Dutch Church, 6 Paige 600.

Pennsylvania.— Collom v. Francis, 1 Pars. Eq. Cas. 527; Portuondo v. Faunce, 9 Wkly. Notes Cas. 539; Peebles v. Boggs, 1 Phila. 151.

United States.— Perkins v. Hendryx, 23 Fed. 418.

England.— Moodalay v. Morton, 1 Bro. Ch. 469, 28 Eng. Reprint 1245, Dick. 652, 21 Eng. Reprint 425; Heathcote v. Fleete, 2 Vern. Ch. 442, 23 Eng. Reprint 883.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 20.

76. District of Columbia.— McCartney v. Fletcher, 10 App. Cas. 572.

Illinois.— Harris v. Galbraith, 43 Ill. 309; Primmer v. Patten, 32 Ill. 528; Mason v. Leith, 60 Ill. App. 527; New Era Gas Fuel Appliance Co. v. Shannon, 44 Ill. App. 477.

New Jersey.— Hanneman v. Richler, 63 N. J. Eq. 803, 52 Atl. 1131 [affirming 62 N. J. Eq. 365, 50 Atl. 904].

New York.— Carroll v. Carroll, 11 Barb. 293; Verplank v. Caines, 1 Johns. Ch. 57.

Pennsylvania.— Washington Ins. Co. v. Grant, 2 Pa. L. J. Rep. 308, 4 Pa. L. J. 88.

Rhode Island.—Clark v. Rhode Island Locomotive Works, 24 R. I. 307, 53 Atl. 47.

United States.— Cassidy Fork Boom, etc., Co. v. Roaring Creek, etc., R. Co., 119 Fed. 425; American Ore Machinery Co. v. Atlas Cement Co., 110 Fed. 53; Young v. Colt, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,155, 2 Blatchf. 373.

If the discovery is in aid of a defense and is not sought in aid of a pleading, the bill must show that the defense has been set up in a court of law. Harris v. Galbraith, 43 Ill. 309.

Where relief has been refused to a party in a chancery court on account of the illegality of the transaction, the court will not grant him a discovery in aid of a suit at law on the same transaction. Welles v. River Raisin, etc., R. Co., Walk. (Mich.) 35.

Form of action not maintainable at law.— Discovery will not be granted in aid of a suit at law in which the proper form of action is not brought. Atwill v. Ferrett, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 640, 2 Blatchf. 39.

however, it is not necessary to set out the pleadings in the action at law. It will be sufficient merely to set out facts showing an issue to which the discovery sought is applicable.[77] The merits of the case will not, however, be inquired into on a bill of discovery.[78]

(c) Defendant's Knowledge of the Facts and Complainant's Want of Knowledge. It must show that defendant is capable of making discovery of the facts sought.[79] It is not sufficient to allege that there are no other witnesses than the adverse party to prove the facts. The bill should allege that the facts can be proved by defendant.[80] It must also allege that the facts are not within complainant's knowledge,[81] or, if he sues, as assignee not within the knowledge of his assignor.[82] It cannot be maintained to discover matter whereof complainant has the same means of information as has defendant.[83]

(d) Materiality of Facts Sought to Be Discovered. The bill must allege that the discovery sought is of material facts and show how they are material.[84] The subject-matter of the facts sought to be inquired into should be stated with sufficient precision to disclose their materiality to the determination of the issue at

77. Hinkle v. Currin, 1 Humphr. (Tenn.) 74.

78. Sperry v. Miller, 2 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 632; Desplaces v. Goris, 1 Edw. (N. Y.) 350; Mitchell v. Harris, 4 Bro. Ch. 311, 29 Eng. Reprint 908, 2 Ves. Jr. 129, 30 Eng. Reprint 557; Hindman v. Taylor, 2 Bro. Ch. 7, 29 Eng. Reprint 4; Drake v. Drake, 3 Hare 523, 8 Jur. 642, 13 L. J. Ch. 406, 25 Eng. Ch. 523; Thomas v. Tyler, 8 L. J. Exch. Eq. 4, 3 Y. & Coll. 255.

79. Shackelford v. Bankhead, 72 Ala. 476; Irwin v. Bailey, 72 Ala. 467; Guice v. Parker, 46 Ala. 616; Horton v. Moseley, 17 Ala. 794; Plumb v. Bateman, 2 App. Cas. (D. C.) 156; Carroll v. Farmers', etc., Bank, Harr. (Mich.) 197; Many v. Beekman Iron Co., 9 Paige (N. Y.) 188; Seymour v. Seymour, 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 409; Primmer v. Patten & Co., 32 Ill. 528.

Application of rule.— In a bill for the discovery and production of deeds, it is necessary to charge that the deeds have come to or are in the hands of defendant. It is not enough to state facts that merely show it. Hough v. Martin, 22 N. C. 379, 34 Am. Dec. 403.

80. Primmer v. Patten, 32 Ill. 528.

81. McKee v. Coffee, 58 Miss. 653; Collins v. Sutton, 94 Va. 127, 26 S. E. 415; Bass v. Bass, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 478; Baker v. Biddle, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 764, Baldw. 394; De Faria v. Lawrie, 17 L. T. Rep. N. S. 296.

What allegation sufficient.— In a suit in equity by the judgment creditors of a corporation to obtain discovery of the names of stock-holders, etc., the hill alleged that the complainants did not know the names and residences of the stock-holders and the amount of stock held by them respectively; that complainants had requested the treasurer of the defendant corporation to give them such information, but he had neglected to do so; and that they had no means of ascertaining the facts, which it was necessary that they should know in order to commence and prosecute an intended suit at law. It was held that the allegations as to complainants' want of knowledge were sufficient. Clark v. Rhode Island Locomotive Works, 24 R. I. 307, 53 Atl. 47.

82. Wilson v. Mallett, 4 Sandf. (N. Y.) 112; Dyett v. Seymour, 13 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 127. But see Adams v. Porter, 1 Cush. (Mass.) 170.

83. Bigelow v. Sanford, 98 Mich. 657, 57 N. W. 1037; Boyd v. Swing, 38 Miss. 182; Baker v. Biddle, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 764, Baldw. 394; Bird v. Malzy, 1 C. B. N. S. 308, 87 E. C. L. 308.

Limitation of rule.— A bill will not be dismissed for want of equity in that plaintiff asks for something he could himself ascertain, where the question of jurisdiction was not raised until the case had been referred and several hundred pages of testimony taken. Kane v. Schuylkill F. Ins. So., 199 Pa. St. 205, 48 Atl. 989.

84. Alabama.— Dargin v. Hewlitt, 115 Ala. 510, 22 So. 128; Dickinson v. Lewis, 34 Ala. 638; Horton v. Moseley, 17 Ala. 794; Spence v. Duren, 3 Ala. 251; Lucas v. Darien Bank, 2 Stew. 280.

Georgia.— Burns v. Hill, 19 Ga. 22; Carter v. Jordan, 15 Ga. 76.

Maine.— Lancy v. Randlett, 80 Me. 169, 13 Atl. 686, 6 Am. St. Rep. 169.

Michigan.— Carroll v. Farmers', etc., Bank, Harr. 197.

New York.— Bailey v. Dean, 5 Barb. 297; Newkirk v. Willett, 2 Johns. Cas. 413, 2 Cai. Cas. 296; Deas v. Harvie, 2 Barb. Ch. 448; Jewett v. Belden, 11 Paige 618; Lane v. Stebbins, 9 Paige 622; Leggett v. Postley, 2 Paige 599; McIntyre v. Mancius, 3 Johns. Ch. 45; Gelston v. Hoyt, 1 Johns. Ch. 543; Fay v. Jewett, 2 Edw. 323.

Ohio.— Smith v. Simmons, Tapp. 311.

Pennsylvania.— Benkert v. Benkert, 12 Phila. 295; Shaffer v. Kinkelin, 1 Phila. 465.

Tennessee.— Hayney v. Coyne, 10 Heisk. 339; Lindsley v. James, 3 Coldw. 477.

United States.— Alexander v. Scotland Mortg. Co., 47 Fed. 131; Atwill v. Ferrett, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 640, 2 Blatchf. 39; Bell v. Pomeroy, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,263, 4 McLean 57; Markey v. Mutual Ben. L. Ins. Co., 16 law.[85] But if the court can see from the bill that the discovery is material and in what manner it is material this will be sufficient.[86] It is no objection to answering an interrogatory that the information sought is immaterial to the relief sought against one of several defendants.[87]

(E) Necessity of Obtaining Facts Sought to Be Discovered. According to the weight of authority, where the bill is for discovery only, it will be sufficient to allege that the evidence sought to be adduced is material and will aid the complainant's action or defense. It is not necessary to allege that the matter sought to be proved can only be proved by defendant's answer.[88] Where, however, a bill is filed for relief as well as discovery, seeking to withdraw from a court of law a matter of strict legal cognizance, it must allege that the facts as to which a discovery is sought cannot be proved otherwise than by defendant's answer.[89] And it has been held that if the bill in addition to seeking discovery ask an injunction to stay the proceedings at law, it must be alleged that the facts cannot be proved otherwise than by defendant's answer.[90] It must show that the facts, Fed. Cas. No. 9,091; Vaughan v. Central Pac. R. Co., 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,897, 4 Sawy. 280.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 23.

Isolated fact.— Defendant in a suit at law is not entitled to a discovery in equity of a mere isolated fact, which may or may not be material to his defense; but he must show what his defense is and must state a case which will constitute a good defense. Williams v. Harden, 1 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 298.

85. Dull v. Amies, 2 Miles (Pa.) 134.

86. Turner v. Diekerson, 9 N. J. Eq. 140.

87. Marsh v. Keith, 1 Dr. & Sm. 342, 6 Jur. N. S. 1182, 30 L. J. Ch. 127, 3 L. T. Rep. N. S. 498, 9 Wkly. Rep. 115.

88. Illinois.— Robson v. Doyle, 191 Ill. 566, 61 N. E. 435 [reversing 94 Ill. App. 281].

Indiana.— Williams v. Wann, 8 Blackf. 477.

Massachusetts.— Peck v. Ashley, 12 Metc. 478; Clapp v. Shephard, 23 Pick. 228.

New Jersey.— Howell v. Ashmore, 9 N. J. Eq. 82, 57 Am. Dec. 371.

New York.— Vance v. Andrews, 2 Barb. Ch. 370; Marsh v. Davison, 9 Paige 580; Many v. Beekman Iron Co., 9 Paige 188; Atlantic Ins. Co. v. Lunar, 1 Sandf. Ch. 91.

Pennsylvania.— Block v. Universal Ins. Co., 16 Phila. 72; Peebles v. Boggs, 1 Phila. 151.

South Carolina.— Stacy v. Pearson, 3 Rich. Eq. 148.

Virginia.— McFarland v. Hunter, 8 Leigh 489.

West Virginia.— Thompson v. Whitaker Iron Co., 41 W. Va. 574, 23 S. E. 795; Russell v. Dickeschied, 24 W. Va. 61.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 21.

Contra.— Carroll v. Farmers', etc., Bank, Harr. (Mich.) 197; Leggett v. Postley, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 599; Whitesides v. Lafferty, 9 Humphr. (Tenn.) 27; Bell v. Pomeroy, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,263, 4 McLean 57; Vaughan v. Central Pac. R. Co., 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,897, 3 Ban. & A. 27, 4 Sawy. 280.

89. Alabama.— Dargin v. Hewlitt, 115 Ala. 510, 22 So. 128; Sullivan v. Lawler, 72 Ala. 72; Guice v. Parker, 46 Ala. 616; Perrine v. Carlisle, 19 Ala. 686.

Connecticut.— Skinner v. Judson, 8 Conn. 528, 21 Am. Dec. 691.

District of Columbia.— Plumb v. Bateman, 2 App. Cas. 156.

Georgia.— Merchants' Bank v. Davis, 3 Ga. 112.

Indiana.— Williams v. Wann, 8 Blackf. 477; Coquillard v. Suydam, 8 Blackf. 24.

Kentucky.— Emerson v. Staton, 3 T. B. Mon. 116; Bullock v. Boyd, 2 A. K. Marsh. 322.

Maine.— Lancy v. Randlett, 80 Me. 169, 13 Atl. 686, 6 Am. St. Rep. 169.

Massachusetts.— Ahrend v. Odiorne, 118 Mass. 261, 19 Am. Dec. 449.

New York.— Seymour v. Seymour, 4 Johns. Ch. 409.

South Carolina.— Stacy v. Pearson, 3 Rich. Eq. 148.

West Virginia.— Thompson v. Whitaker Iron Co., 41 W. Va. 574, 23 S. E. 795.

United States.— Brown v. Swann, 10 Pet. 497, 9 L. ed. 508; Russell v. Clark, 7 Cranch 69, 3 L. ed. 271; Atwill v. Ferrett, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 640, 2 Blatchf. 39.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 21.

Allegation as to necessity held sufficient.— A bill charged that plaintiff placed money and other property in defendant's hands in trust for her benefit, that defendant accepted some money and property and made large profits therefrom by investing the same in lands and negroes, and that the particular price of the lands so purchased as well as the names and numbers of the negroes and other property purchased and the amount thereof defendant fraudulently and in bad faith withheld from complainant and concealed the same under his own name. It was held that the bill alleged facts sufficient to give equity jurisdiction of the suit against the trustee, as it appeared from the facts alleged that a discovery from defendant was necessary to enable complainant to obtain a decree, although the necessity for such discovery was not expressly alleged. Keaton v. Greenwood, 8 Ga. 97.

90. Vance v. Andrews, 2 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 370; Duval v. Ross, 2 Munf. (Va.) 290; Brown v. Swan, 10 Pet. (U. S.) 497, 9 L. ed. 508.

discovery of which is sought, are necessary to complainant's case and not facts by which his adversary intends to establish his case.[91] But where the facts, discovery of which is sought, are necessary to the case of plaintiff, the discovery will not be denied because the facts also pertain to defendant's case.[92]

(F) Statement of Facts Sought to Be Discovered. The bill must set forth the particular matters with reference to which discovery is sought, alleging them with sufficient certainty.[93] But uncertainty is not fatal to a bill whose object is to discover material facts alleged to be entirely in defendant's knowledge.[94]

(G) Diligence in Seeking Information. Diligence on the part of the complainant to secure the information sought must be shown.[95]

(H) Requiring Answer Under Oath. Answer under oath cannot properly be waived; if it is waived, the bill is demurrable;[96] but where a bill is for both

91. District of Columbia.— McCartney v. Fletcher, 10 App. Cas. 572.

Maryland.— Cullison v. Bossom, 1 Md. Ch. 95.

Massachusetts.— Kelly v. Morrison, 176 Mass. 531, 57 N. E. 1018.

New Jersey.— Thompson v. Engle, 4 N. J. Eq. 271.

New York.— Lansing v. Starr, 2 Johns. Ch. 150; Souza v. Belcher, 3 Edw. 117; Fitzhugh v. Everingham, 2 Edw. 605.

Pennsylvania.— Werne v. Berners, 1 Phila. 432.

United States.— Kelley v. Boettcher, 85 Fed. 55, 29 C. C. A. 14; Atwill v. Ferritt, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 640, 2 Blatchf. 39; Vaughan v. Central Pac. R. Co., 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,897, 3 Ban. & A. 27, 4 Sawy. 280.

England.— London Sewer Com'rs v. Glasse, L. R. 15 Eq. 302, 42 L. J. Ch. 345, 28 L. T. Rep. N. S. 433, 21 Wkly. Rep. 520; Wallen v. Forrest, L. R. 7 Q. B. 239, 41 L. J. Q. B. 96, 26 L. T. Rep. N. S. 290; Ingilby v. Shagto, 33 Beav. 31, 9 Jur. N. S. 1141, 32 L. J. Ch. 807, 8 L. T. Rep. N. S. 785.

Contra.— Adams v. Porter, 1 Cush. (Mass.) 170.

Illustration.— Defendant may have discovery of plaintiff's claim, whether it be as heir, devisee, or grantee, although he cannot have discovery of the evidence by which plaintiff will establish his title. Meakings v. Cromwell, 1 Sandf. (N. Y.) 698.

Bill seeking more concise bill of particulars.— A bill of discovery will not lie in aid of a defendant at law to compel plaintiff at law to furnish a more full bill of particulars which the court of law has refused to compel. Nieury v. O'Hara, 1 Barb. (N. Y.) 484.

Rule limited to matters of title.— The rule that a party is not bound to discover his own case is confined to matters of title not to those of account. Corbett v. Hawkins, 1 Y. & J. 421.

92. Maryland.— Cullison v. Bossom, 1 Md. Ch. 95.

Massachusetts.—Haskell v. Haskell, 3 Cush. 540.

Pennsylvania.—Bonn v. Bebee, 3 Phila. 446.

Virginia.— Baker v. Morris, 10 Leigh 284.

United States.— Findlay v. Hinde, 1 Pet. 241, 7 L. ed. 128; Indianapolis Gas Co. v. Indianapolis, 90 Fed. 196; Gaines v. Mausseaux, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,176, 1 Woods 118.

England.— Whateley v. Crowter, 5 E. & B. 709, 2 Jur. N. S. 207, 25 L. J. Q. B. 163, 4 Wkly. Rep. 121, 85 E. C. L. 709; Bayley v. Griffiths, 1 H. & C. 429, 31 L. J. Exch. 477, 10 Wkly. Rep. 798; Combe v. London, 1 Y. & Coll. 631, 4 Y. & Coll. 139, 6 Jur. 571, 20 Eng. Ch. 631.

93. Horton v. Moseley, 17 Ala. 794; Lucas v. Darien Bank, 2 Stew. (Ala.) 280; Powell v. Chamberlain, 22 Ga. 123; Primmer v. Patten, 32 Ill. 528; Hough v. Martin, 22 N. C. 379, 34 Am. Dec. 403.

94. Bennett v. Woolfolk, 15 Ga. 213; Watson v. Murray, 23 N. J. Eq. 257.

95. Arkansas.— Hill v. Cawthon, 15 Ark. 29.

Indiana.— Bush v. Mahon, 2 Ind. 44.

Mississippi.— Northrop v. Flaig, 57 Miss. 754.

Missouri.— Price v. Cannon, 3 Mo. 453.

Tennessee.— Whitesides v. Lafferty, 9 Humphr. 27.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 21.

Applications of rule.— On an appeal from a justice of the peace, a party who has not interrogated his adversary before the justice cannot maintain a bill of discovery to ascertain the facts from him. Noble v. Tillotson, 2 Ind. 553. So where a defendant attempted to set up usury as a defense in an action at law, and failed from an insufficiency in his affidavits for an examination of plaintiff under the laws, and then brought a bill of discovery alleging among other facts that a former party had now become a competent witness, it was held that as he had at first a right to his bill for discovery and had elected to make his defense at law and had failed, there were no grounds to support his bill. Cowman v. Kingsland, 4 Edw. (N. Y.) 627. And a bill of discovery cannot be maintained in aid of a bill of review after decree, of the contents of a record which might with reasonable diligence have been ascertained during the pendency of the suit. Gentry v. Thornberry, 3 Dana (Ky.) 500.

96. Massachusetts.—Badger v. McNamara, 123 Mass. 117; Ward v. Peck, 114 Mass. 121.

Michigan.— Torrent v. Rodgers, 39 Mich. 85.

discovery and relief, discovery will be compelled, although an answer under oath is waived.[97]

(I) Prayer For Process. A mistake in the prayer for process will not vitiate a bill for discovery otherwise good.[98] Thus the words in a prayer of process "to stand to and abide such order and decree" will not turn the bill into one for relief.[99]

(IV) Verification. A bill praying for discovery merely need not be sworn to;[1] but if it seeks in addition to stay proceedings at law,[2] or seeks to transfer the jurisdiction from a court of law to a court of equity on the ground that material facts are in the knowledge of defendant only,[3] or seeks relief founded on lost instruments,[4] it must be sworn to.

(V) Multifariousness. A plaintiff cannot by one bill obtain specific relief and also discovery in matter distinct from that specific relief.[5] Nor can separate suits at law be embraced in the same bill for discovery of evidence.[6]

(VI) Amendment. A bill for discovery cannot be amended by adding new parties plaintiff,[7] even before an answer is filed to the original bill;[8] nor can it be amended by adding a prayer for relief, either before or after answer filed.[9] On the other hand a bill for discovery and relief may be amended by striking out the prayer for relief.[10] And where there is a mere clerical mistake in a bill, the court will permit it to be corrected instanter unless defendant is misled by it.[11] Where an injunction is dissolved upon the coming in of answers, the bill cannot be amended or a supplemental bill filed.[12]

New Jersey.— Somerset Bank v. Veghte, 42 N. J. Eq. 39, 6 Atl. 278.

Rhode Island.— Starkweather v. Williams, 21 R. I. 55, 41 Atl. 1003.

Tennessee.— Markham v. Townshend, 2 Tenn. Ch. 713.

United States.— Tillinghast v. Chace, 121 Fed. 435; Manchester F. Assur. Co. v. Stockton Combined Harvester, etc., Works, 38 Fed. 378.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 20.

97. Manley v. Mickle, 55 N. J. Eq. 563, 37 Atl. 738.

98. Schroeppel v. Redfield, 5 Paige (N. Y.) 245.

99. Angell v. Westcombe, 6 Sim. 30, 9 Eng. Ch. 30.

1. Indiana.— Owsley v. Barbour, 4 Ind. 584.

Mississippi.—Buckner v. Ferguson, 44 Miss. 677.

New York.— Laight v. Morgan, 2 Cai. Cas. 344, 1 Johns. Cas. 429.

South Carolina.—McElwee v. Sutton, 1 Hill Eq. 32.

Tennessee.— Parsons v. Wilson, 2 Overt. 260.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 26.

In Maine a chancery rule requiring bills of discovery to be verified does not apply to bills filed for relief to which the discovery is merely incidental. Dinsmore v. Crossman, 53 Me. 441; Hilton v. Lothrop, 46 Me. 297.

In Rhode Island a bill asking for discovery but waiving an answer under oath will not be treated as a bill for discovery but will have simply the force of a plea. Harrington v. Harrington, 15 R. I. 341, 5 Atl. 502.

2. Owsley v. Barbour, 4 Ind. 584. But see Harrington v. Harrington, 15 R. I. 341, 5 Atl. 502.

3. Munday v. Shatzell, Litt. Sel. Cas. (Ky.) 373.

4. Livingston v. Livingston, 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 294; Parsons v. Wilson, 2 Overt. (Tenn.) 260; Findlay v. Hinde, 1 Pet. (U. S.) 241, 7 L. ed. 128. But see Le Roy v. Servis, 1 Cai. Cas. 111, 2 Am. Dec. 281.

Limitation of rule.— The rule that, where resort is had to a court of equity instead of a court of law upon the ground that the writings upon which the action is founded have been lost, destroyed, or suppressed, an affidavit that such instruments are not in the custody or power of the complainant, and that he knows not where they are, unless in the hands of defendant, must be annexed to the bill, does not apply to a case where defendants are severally called upon by the bill to answer whether they executed a bond or instrument in writing or print by which they received and became the owners of shares of stock of a corporation, and whether they received certificates of such shares or not. Holmes v. Sherwood, 16 Fed. 725, 3 McCrary 405.

5. Wood v. Hitchings, 3 Beav. 504, 10 L. J. Ch. 257, 43 Eng. Ch. 504.

6. McDougald v. Maddox, 17 Ga. 52.

7. Cholmondeley v. Clinton, 2 Meriv. 71, 16 Rev. Rep. 167, 35 Eng. Reprint 867.

8. Southampton Boat, etc., Co. v. Rawlins, 10 Jur. N. S. 118, 9 L. T. Rep. N. S. 633, 3 New Rep. 349, 12 Wkly. Rep. 285.

9. Parker v. Ford, 1 Coll. 506, 28 Eng. Ch. 506; Butterworth v. Bailey, 15 Ves. Jr. 358, 33 Eng. Reprint 789. But see Lousada v. Templer, 2 Russ. 561, 3 Eng. Ch. 561.

10. Gurish v. Donovan, 2 Atk. 166, Barn. Ch. 428, 26 Eng. Reprint 504.

11. Howell v. Ashmore, 9 N. J. Eq. 82, 57 Am. Dec. 371.

12. Yates v. Monroe, 13 Ill. 212.

b. Demurrer — (i) Grounds. It is ground for demurrer if the bill fails to allege that an action at law is pending or is contemplated,[13] or does not show that plaintiff has a right of action or defense at law,[14] or that the discovery sought is material,[15] or that the case made by the bill was not one of which a court of equity would assume jurisdiction;[16] that the suit for which discovery is sought is not of a purely civil nature;[17] that the bill seeks a discovery in support of an action which is against public policy,[18] or of matters relating to defendant's title,[19] or makes one a party who is not a party to the action at law,[20] or seeks to discover matters which if established would subject defendant to penal consequences[21] or to forfeitures,[22] or seeks discovery of privileged matter,[23] or shows that the claim is barred by the statute of limitations.[24]

(ii) Necessity, Sufficiency, and Effect. Where a bill seeks the discovery of matter that defendant is not obliged to answer he must take advantage of it by demurrer.[25] When a bill for discovery improperly prays for relief, a general demurrer thereto will be sustained;[26] it must appear on the face of the bill that no case could be made by complainant, no matter what is the discovery or proof.[27] If the bill is for both discovery and relief a demurrer if good as to

13. United New Jersey R., etc., Co. v. Hoppock, 28 N. J. Eq. 261; Cardale v. Watkins, 5 Madd. 18; Story Eq. Pl. § 559.

14. Kensington v. Mansell, 13 Ves. Jr. 240, 33 Eng. Reprint 284; Debigge v. Howe [cited in Rondeau v. Wyatt, 3 Bro. Ch. 154, 155, 29 Eng. Reprint 462].

15. Kuypers v. Reformed Dutch Church, 6 Paige (N. Y.) 570; Wallis v. Portland, 8 Bro. P. C. 161, 3 Eng. Reprint 508, 3 Ves. Jr. 494, 30 Eng. Reprint 1123, 4 Rev. Rep. 78.

Immateriality of the discovery must clearly appear or the demurrer will be overruled. Evans v. Lancaster City St. R. Co., 64 Fed. 626.

16. Cooper Eq. Pl. §§ 187–190; 2 Story Eq. Jur. § 1489; Story Eq. Pl. § 551.

17. Story Eq. Pl. § 553.

18. King v. Burr, 3 Meriv. 693, 36 Eng. Reprint 266.

19. Lowther v. Troy, 1 Reg. L. & S. 192; Loker v. Rolle, 3 Ves. Jr. 4, 30 Eng. Reprint 863; Ivy v. Kekewick, 2 Ves. Jr. 679, 3 Rev. Rep. 30, 30 Eng. Reprint 839.

20. How v. Best, 5 Madd. 19; Irving v. Thompson, 3 Jur. 1071, 8 L. J. Ch. 357, 9 Sim. 17, 16 Eng. Ch. 17. But see Platt v. Barcroft, 4 Phila. (Pa.) 67.

21. Meres v. Christman, 7 B. Mon. (Ky.) 422; Selby v. Crew, 2 Anstr. 504; Oliver v. Haywood, 1 Anstr. 82; Wallis v. Portland, 8 Bro. P. C. 161, 3 Eng. Reprint 588, 3 Ves. Jr. 494, 30 Eng. Reprint 1123, 4 Rev. Rep. 78; Glynn v. Houston, 1 Keen 329, 6 L. J. Ch. 129, 15 Eng. Ch. 329.

Showing how answer will incriminate.—A demurrer to a bill of discovery against a partnership to ascertain the nature of the business on the ground that the discovery might subject defendants to penalties under the laws of the United States, but without stating why or wherefore, is bad. Sharp v. Sharp, 3 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 407.

22. Uxbridge v. Staveland, 1 Ves. 56, 27 Eng. Reprint 888.

23. McCartney v. Fletcher, 10 App. Cas. (D. C.) 572; Richards v. Jackson, 18 Ves. Jr. 472, 34 Eng. Reprint 396, advice given by counsel to client.

24. Brewster v. Brewster, 3 Phila. (Pa.) 355.

25. Selby v. Selby, 4 Bro. Ch. 11, 29 Eng. Reprint 752.

26. Slack v. Black, 109 Mass. 496; Welles v. River Raisin, etc., R. Co., Walk. (Mich.) 35; Gilmer v. Felhour, 45 Miss. 627; Collis v. Swayne, 4 Bro. Ch. 480, 29 Eng. Reprint 999; Price v. James, 2 Bro. Ch. 319, 29 Eng. Reprint 175, Dick. 697, 21 Eng. Reprint 442; Evan v. Avon, 6 Jur. N. S. 1361, 3 L. T. Rep. N. S. 347, 9 Wkly. Rep. 84; Hodle v. Healey, 6 Madd. 181, 1 Ves. & B. 536, 22 Rev. Rep. 270, 35 Eng. Reprint 209; Jones v. Jones, 3 Meriv. 161, 36 Eng. Reprint 62; Mellish v. Richardson, 12 Price 530; Atty.-Gen. v. Brown, 1 Swanst. 265, 36 Eng. Reprint 384; Speer v. Craivter, 17 Ves. Jr. 216, 34 Eng. Reprint 84; Gordon v. Simkinson, 11 Ves. Jr. 509, 32 Eng. Reprint 1186; Barker v. Dacie, 6 Ves. Jr. 681; Muckleston v. Brown, 6 Ves. Jr. 52, 5 Rev. Rep. 211, 31 Eng. Reprint 934; East India Company v. Neave, 5 Ves. Jr. 173, 31 Eng. Reprint 530; Jones v. Maund, 3 Y. & Coll. 347; King v. Rossett, 2 Y. & J. 33.

A prayer for such other relief as complainant may be entitled to in a pure bill for discovery does not change its character as such. Hodgens v. Scott, 2 Molloy 436.

Effect of prayer for injunction.—Where plaintiff is entitled to the discovery he seeks in support of an action a prayer for general relief or for relief that is consequential to the prayer for discovery as an injunction will not sustain a demurrer. Brandon v. Sands, 2 Ves. Jr. 514, 30 Eng. Reprint 751.

Where a prayer for process contained words adapted to a bill for relief a general demurrer will be sustained. Rose v. Gannel, 3 Atk. 439, 26 Eng. Reprint 1053; Andrews v. Lupton, 13 L. J. Ch. 201; James v. Herriott, 5 L. J. Ch. 133, 6 Sim. 428, 9 Eng. Ch. 428; Ambury v. Jones, Younge 199.

27. Le Roy v. Veeder, 1 Johns Cas. (N. Y.) 417.

the relief will be good as to the discovery also, as the latter is merely ancillary to the relief;[28] where a party is entitled to an answer of some part of his bill for discovery and relief, a general demurrer to the whole bill will be overruled;[29] so too where the bill is for discovery alone, a general demurrer to the whole bill will be overruled if plaintiff is entitled to a discovery of any part.[30] Where the demurrer is to specific interrogatories in the bill on the ground that they are impertinent, immaterial, and irrelevant, without stating the particulars in which they are alleged to be so, it will be overruled.[31] A demurrer to discovery on the ground that the answer would incriminate defendant does not operate as an admission of the fact sought to be proved.[32] A demurrer to a bill for discovery in aid of proceedings at law, where the bill charges that plaintiff cannot procure proof so as to proceed at law, admits the fact of the inability of plaintiff to procure proof.[33]

c. Plea — (i) Grounds. A noted commentator[34] has classified grounds of pleas to bills of discovery as follows: To the jurisdiction,[35] to the person,[36] to the bill or frame of the bill,[37] and in bar.[38] According to some decisions a plea of matter which would be a good plea to the action at law is bad.[39] This doctrine, however,

28. Williams v. Steward, 3 Meriv. 472, 36 Eng. Reprint 182; Baker v. Mellish, 10 Ves. Jr. 544, 32 Eng. Reprint 955. See also Jeffreys v. Baldwin, Ambl. 164, 27 Eng. Reprint 109. Contra, Kuypers v. Reformed Dutch Church, 6 Paige (N. Y.) 570. And compare Deare v. Atty.-Gen., 1 Y. & C. Exch. 197, holding that where a proper case for equitable relief is stated in the bill, which prays also for a discovery and contains a prayer for specific and general relief, a demurrer to the relief will not extend to the discovery, although the relief specifically prayed for may be improper.

Extent of rule.— The rule that if plaintiff is not entitled to the relief, although entitled to discovery, a general demurrer holds does not preclude defendant from demurring to the relief and answering as to the discovery. Todd v. Gee, 17 Ves. Jr. 273, 11 Rev. Rep. 76, 34 Eng. Reprint 106; Hodgkin v. Longden, 8 Ves. Jr. 2, 32 Eng. Reprint 249.

29. McLaren v. Steapp, 1 Ga. 376; Kimberly v. Sells, 3 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 467.

30. Treadwell v. Brown, 44 N. H. 551; Chetwynd v. Lindon, 2 Ves. 450, 28 Eng. Reprint 288.

31. Moyer v. Livingood, 2 Woodw. (Pa.) 317.

32. Lloyd v. Passingham, 16 Ves. Jr. 59, 33 Eng. Reprint 906.

33. Schroeppel v. Redfield, 5 Paige (N. Y.) 245; Long v. Beard, 6 N. C. 337.

34. Story Eq. Pl. § 816 [citing Beames Pl. Eq. 252; Cooper Eq. Pl. 292; Mitford Eq. Pl. by Jeremy 282].

35. The first division, he says, applies where plaintiff's case is such as does not entitle a court of equity to compel a discovery in his favor, although for the purpose of avoiding a demurrer it is differently and falsely stated in the bill. Story Eq. Pl. § 817.

36. As respects the second division, pleas to the person, a defendant may plead that plaintiff is outlawed, excommunicated, an alien enemy, a person attainted, an infant, a married woman, an idiot, a lunatic, or a bankrupt; that he has no title to the character which he assumes in the bill of discovery; that defendant has no interest in the subject-matter of the discovery or that he does not sustain the character which he assumes; or that there is a want of privity between defendant and plaintiff to sustain the bill. Story Eq. Pl. § 818 [citing Cooper Eq. Pl. 293, 294, 295, 924; Hare Discovery 41, 42, 46, 63, 83; Mitford Eq. Pl. (by Jeremy) 158, 159, 187, 188, 234, 282, 283].

37. In regard to the third class of pleas, it has been said that the fact that the value of the matter in controversy is beneath the dignity of the court would be a good plea; and also a plea that the parties are not the same in the suit in equity as in the suit at law, in aid of which the discovery is sought. Story Eq. Pl. § 820.

38. As regards the fourth class of pleas, it is a good plea in bar of discovery that the facts sought to be discovered might render defendant liable to a criminal prosecution (Heriz v. Riera, 5 Jur. 20, 10 L. J. Ch. 47, 11 Sim. 318, 34 Eng. Ch. 318; Brownsword v. Edwards, 2 Ves. 243, 28 Eng. Reprint 157; Claridge v. Hoare, 14 Ves. Jr. 59, 33 Eng. Reprint 443); that the discovery sought is of privileged matter (Story Eq. Pl. § 824); or that defendant is a purchaser for valuable consideration without notice of plaintiff's title (Story Eq. Pl. § 824). And so where the question arising upon the state of the pleadings in the suit at law in aid of which a discovery is sought appears to be a mere question of law it may be pleaded in bar of a discovery of any facts which might if the pleadings terminated in an issue of fact have been important at the trial. Story Eq. Pl. § 823.

39. Sperry v. Miller, 2 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 632 (where it was said that this would transfer the trial of the action at law to the court of chancery; and that too without the power of deciding the case in chancery if the plea turned out to be untrue); Hindman v. Taylor, 2 Bro. Ch. 7, 29 Eng. Reprint 4.

has been repudiated in other cases and the weight of authority seems to be to the contrary.[40]

(II) Requisites and Sufficiency. A plea in bar of the discovery must set up facts which if true would be a clear and inevitable bar to plaintiff's demand for discovery,[41] and if based on the ground that the discovery will subject defendant to a criminal prosecution or to fines or forfeitures it must distinctly show this fact, unless it is apparent on the face of the bill.[42] Such a plea, however, does not require the support of an answer.[43] Where the bill is for discovery and relief, a plea good as to the relief is good as to the discovery.[44] Where the bill prays merely for discovery, a plea to the discovery and relief is bad.[45] If the plea is overruled as false, the complainant may have an order to examine defendant orally before the master as to matter concerning which discovery is sought.[46] If the plea is falsified by proofs the complainant is permitted to examine defendant on interrogatories.[47] A plea to a bill of discovery filed after a demurrer to the plea at law may be allowed.[48]

d. Answer — (I) Requisites — (A) Fulness. If defendant submits to answer at all he must answer fully;[49] not merely to the complainant's interrogatories, but

40. Mendizabel v. Machado, 5 L. J. Ch. O. S. 20, 1 Sim. 68, 2 Eng. Ch. 68; Gait v. Osbaldeston, 1 Russ. 158, 46 Eng. Ch. 158 [reversing 5 Madd. 428]; MacGregor v. East India Co., 2 Sim. 452, 2 Eng. Ch. 452; Jermy v. Best, 1 Sim. 373, 2 Eng. Ch. 373; Baillie v. Sibbald, 15 Ves. Jr. 185, 33 Eng. Reprint 724.

The defense of the statute of limitations may be pleaded in bar to a bill of discovery. Chapin v. Coleman, 11 Pick. (Mass.) 331. And see Hopkins v. Calloway, 7 Coldw. (Tenn.) 37.

41. Green v. McCarroll, 24 Miss. 427; Ellsworth v. Curtis, 10 Paige (N. Y.) 105; New York M. E. Church v. Jaques, 1 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 65; Hindman v. Taylor, Dick. 651, 21 Eng. Reprint 425; Mendizabel v. Machado, 5 L. J. Ch. O. S. 20, 1 Sim. 68, 2 Eng. Ch. 68.

42. Story Eq. Pl. § 825.

A plea on the ground of forfeiture must be confined to protect against discovery of the act causing it and not extending to collateral matters. Weaver v. Meath, 2 Ves. 108, 28 Eng. Reprint 71.

43. Claridge v. Hoare, 14 Ves. Jr. 59, 33 Eng. Reprint 443.

44. Northleigh v. Luscombe, Ambl. 612, 27 Eng. Reprint 397; Gait v. Osbaldeston, 1 Russ. 158, 46 Eng. Ch. 158 [reversing 5 Madd. 428]; Sutton v. Scarborough, 9 Ves. Jr. 71, 32 Eng. Reprint 528. But see Jackson v. Ward, 22 L. T. Rep. N. S. 699, where it was held that a plea which was in terms to relief only, where defendant did not give all the discovery by his answer, should be overruled. See also King v. Heming, 9 Sim. 59, 16 Eng. Ch. 59, where it was held that where defendant pleads to the relief only he must make discovery.

Where the plea is to the relief and some of the discovery and the complainant is entitled to some relief the plea is too broad and will be overruled. Hewitt v. Hewitt, 8 L. T. Rep. N. S. 630, 11 Wkly. Rep. 84.

45. Asgill v. Dawson, Bunb. 70.

46. Dows v. McMichael, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 345.

47. Souzer v. De Meyer, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 574.

48. Stewart v. Nugent, 1 Keen 201, 6 L. J. Ch. 128, 15 Eng. Ch. 201.

49. Arkansas.— Hill v. Cravy, 7 Ark. 536.

Maryland.— Neale v. Hagthrop, 3 Bland 551; Salmon v. Clagett, 3 Bland 125.

Missouri.— Roussin v. St. Louis Perpetual Ins. Co., 15 Mo. 244.

New Jersey.— Mutual L. Ins. Co. v. Cokefair, 41 N. J. Eq. 142, 3 Atl. 686.

England.— Elmer v. Creasy, L. R. 9 Ch. 69, 43 L. J. Ch. 166, 29 L. T. Rep. N. S. 632, 22 Wkly. Rep. 141; Hoffmann v. Postill, L. R. 4 Ch. 673, 20 L. T. Rep. N. S. 893, 17 Wkly. Rep. 901; Great Luxembourg R. Co. v. Magnay, 23 Beav. 646; Clegg v. Edmonson, 22 Beav. 125, 2 Jur. N. S. 824; Swinborne v. Nelson, 16 Beav. 416, 22 L. J. Ch. 331, 1 Wkly. Rep. 155; Swabey v. Sutton, 1 Hem. & M. 514, 9 Jur. N. S. 1321, 9 L. T. Rep. N. S. 711, 12 Wkly. Rep. 124; Gray v. Bateman, 21 Wkly. Rep. 137.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," §§ 29, 30.

Applications of rule.— Where the bill charges a sale by defendant to a third person of goods on credit, without security, and defendant admits the sale, but not without security, he must make full discovery as to the security taken. Robinson v. Woodgate, 3 Edw. (N. Y.) 422. In a bill alleging non-payment of consideration and praying a discovery, an answer that a consideration was paid but not showing by whom, for whom, or to any one is not sufficient. Wilson v. Woodruff, 5 Mo. 40, 31 Am. Dec. 194. When the interrogatories of a bill asked what were the powers and authorities given to defendants, agents of complainant, and by what documents they made out the same, it is not sufficient to answer that the powers and authorities appeared from written correspondence, and that various letters had passed between the parties to which they referred but that they were bound to specify the documents. Inglessi v. Spartali, 29 Beav. 564. Where a suit is instituted by parties in a representative capacity and de-

to the whole and every substantial part of plaintiff's case.[50] A simple denial of plaintiff's case literally, as stated, is wholly insufficient.[51] Defendant is not exempted from answering fully by the fact that if he should answer the interrogatories in detail he would be merely repeating statements contained in the affidavits and depositions previously filed in the cause;[52] nor is it a sufficient answer to allege that the interrogatories in the bill are identical with the interrogatories in an action at law that have been answered by defendant and to refer to such answers;[53] nor that, although defendant has in his power the means of acquiring the information necessary to enable him to make the discovery called for he cannot acquire the same without great trouble on his part.[54] So the answer cannot set up matter of avoidance merely and have the effect of a plea[55] or demurrer.[56] It is not sufficient for him to answer that he has no knowledge of the facts, but he must also state that he has no information or is utterly ignorant of the facts,[57] and that he did not have any at the time of the filing of the bill;[58] nor is it sufficient to deny the principal fact upon which plaintiff's right to recover is based and decline to answer matters which would tend to prove that fact;[59] nor to deny generally the allegations of the bill as to liability.[60] On the other hand irrelevant inquiries need not be answered.[61] And a defendant who has no knowledge or fendant files a bill of discovery to ascertain whether the beneficiaries have received any money, it is not sufficient for the representatives to answer that they do not believe that they did. Fletcher v. Faust, 22 Ga. 559. Where defendant has answered to the original bill without interrogatories, the complainant is not entitled to an answer to interrogatories covering the entire case in an amended bill. An answer to interrogatories as to matters covered by the amendment is sufficient. Denis v. Rochussen, 4 Jur. N. S. 298, 27 L. J. Ch. 368, 6 Wkly. Rep. 265; Hill v. Buenos Ayres Northern R. Co., 41 L. J. Ch. 69.

Limitations of rule.— Where the answer is technically insufficient, yet where plaintiff cannot gain anything by a more full answer, and in the absence of an allegation that anything was fraudulently or erroneously omitted, exception thereto will be overruled. White v. Barker, 5 De G. & Sm. 746, 17 Jur. 174. As a general rule where a defendant submits to answer, he must answer fully; but a bona fide purchaser may in his answer object to a discovery of matter which would destroy his title, provided the answer fully denies all the circumstances stated in the bill which go to charge him with notice of plaintiff's equity. Cuyler v. Bogert, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 186; New York M. E. Church v. Jaques, 1 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 65.

50. Walker v. Walker, 3 Ga. 302; Neale v. Hagthrop, 3 Bland (Md.) 551.

51. He must meet it with full and circumstantial denial, and not with a negative pregnant, which, while it controverts the case in the precise terms in which it is stated, is perfectly consistent with one not substantially differing from it. Moors v. Moors, 17 N. H. 481; Woods v. Morrell, 1 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 103; Story Eq. Pl. § 855.

52. Turner v. Jack, 23 L. T. Rep. N. S. 800, 19 Wkly. Rep. 433.

53. Hudson v. Grenfell, 3 Giff. 388, 8 Jur. N. S. 878, 5 L. T. Rep. N. S. 417.

54. Green v. Carey, 12 Ga. 601; Beall v. Blake, 10 Ga. 449.

Information from agents.— A party answering is bound to acquire information from his agents and servants. Bolckow v. Fisher, 10 Q. B. D. 161; Rasbotham v. Shropshire Union R., etc., Co., 24 Ch. D. 110, 53 L. J. Ch. 327, 48 L. T. Rep. N. S. 902, 32 Wkly. Rep. 117.

55. Bentley v. Cleaveland, 22 Ala. 814; Salmon v. Claggett, 3 Bland (Md.) 125; Waring v. Suydam, 4 Edw. (N. Y.) 426. Contra, Phillips v. Prevost, 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 205; Perry v. Kinley, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 505.

56. Waring v. Suydam, 4 Edw. (N. Y.) 426.

57. Smith v. Lasher, 5 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 247; Norton v. Warner, 3 Edw. (N. Y.) 106; Painter v. Harding, 3 Phila. (Pa.) 144. It is not sufficient for defendant to say that he does not know or believe the insolvency of a party to whom he sold goods. He must show his information if he have any and express his belief founded thereon. But if he has no information he need not express his belief. Robinson v. Woodgate, 3 Edw. (N. Y.) 422.

58. Trotter v. Bunce, 1 Edw. (N. Y.) 573.

59. Bains v. Goldey, 35 Pa. St. 51.

60. Hoyt v. Smith, 23 Conn. 177, 60 Am. Dec. 632.

61. Benkert v. Benkert, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 295; Kennedy v. Dodson, [1895] 1 Ch. 334, 64 L. J. Ch. 257, 72 L. T. Rep. N. S. 172, 12 Reports 92, 43 Wkly. Rep. 259; Codrington v. Codrington, 3 Sim. 519, 6 Eng. Ch. 519.

Denial of relevancy.— A defendant cannot defeat a full discovery by denying that the evidence will be of assistance to the complainant. It is only when it can be seen that the interrogatories if answered affirmatively would not assist the complainant in establishing his cause of action that answers will be dispensed with. Anderson v. Kissam, 28 Fed. 900.

Interrogatories not founded on specific allegations.— Interrogatories which are pertinent must be answered, although not founded on any specific allegations in the bill, where the party has no knowledge on which to information as to the matters charged in the bill is not obliged to answer each charge separately and particularly.[62]

(B) Positiveness. The answer must be positive and admission or denial by implication is not enough.[63]

(C) Responsiveness. Answers to bills for discovery must not be evasive.[64] But all matter strictly responsive to the bill is evidence, whether the same be affirmative or negative.[65] In answering the bill the respondent has a right to state all the circumstances connected with the matter about which the discovery is sought, as well that which makes for as that which makes against him.[66] Nothing contained in the answer to a bill for discovery in aid of a defense at law can be deemed impertinent, which tends to disprove the existence of the alleged defense at law.[67]

(II) Failure to Answer. Upon a failure to answer the bill the same will be taken as confessed,[68] the same as if the bill had been answered and every fact charged therein to exist had been expressly admitted.[69] If the party answers, the bill will not be taken for confessed, although the answer is not full, but the answer must be excepted to.[70] A party is not in contempt for refusing to answer an interrogatory before the commissioner if he excepts thereto before the commissioner, although he made no exception thereto in court. The better practice, however, is to except before the time for answering fixed by the court.[71]

(III) Exceptions to Answer. If the answer is insufficient exceptions should be filed thereto,[72] and it is not proper to demur.[73] The foundation for found such information. McGarel v. Moon, L. R. 10 Eq. 22, 39 L. J. Ch. 367, 22 L. T. Rep. N. S. 355, 18 Wkly. Rep. 568; Marsh v. Keith, 1 Dr. & Sm. 342, 6 Jur. N. S. 1182, 30 L. J. Ch. 127, 3 L. T. Rep. N. S. 498, 9 Wkly. Rep. 115.

62. Utica Ins. Co. v. Lynch, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 210.

63. Benkert v. Benkert, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 295; Rishton v. Grissel, 14 Wkly. Rep. 578. The answer must be in such form that an issue of perjury could be made on its falsity. Walker v. Daniell, 30 L. T. Rep. N. S. 357, 22 Wkly. Rep. 595.

64. Tomlinson v. Lindley, 2 Ind. 569. Although the answer is evasive it is not a ground for reversal where the party is dead. The executor cannot purge conscience. Sitler v. McComas, 66 Md. 135, 6 Atl. 527.

65. Farmers', etc., Bank v. Griffith, 2 Wis. 443.

66. Chambers v. Warren, 13 Ill. 318; Turner v. Knell, 24 Md. 55; Dyre v. Sturges, 3 Desauss. (S. C.) 553.

He may explain the entire transaction with which he is charged (Moody v. Metcalf, 51 Ga. 128); and need not confine himself strictly to the discovery sought, but may set up new and distinct facts in avoidance of what is admitted to be true (Saltmarsh v. Bower, 22 Ala. 221; Parkhurst v. Devine, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 486; Waldron v. Bayard, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 484; Lyons v. Miller, 6 Gratt. (Va.) 427, 52 Am. Dec. 129. Contra, Hamilton v. Wood, 3 Edw. (N. Y.) 134).

A party is not entitled to a discovery of a mere isolated fact. He cannot deprive his adversary of the right to make full answer showing that the defense does not exist. Jewett v. Belden, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 618.

67. Jewett v. Belden, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 618.

68. Semple v. Murphy, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 271; McClain v. McGee, 9 Dana (Ky.) 368; Sprigg v. Jarret, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 335; Roussin v. St. Louis Perpetual Ins. Co., 15 Mo. 244. Although a party cannot be compelled to answer any matter which may subject him to a penalty, forfeiture, or infamous punishment, yet where a bill is taken as confessed for failure to answer, the allegations are all taken as true, as well those concerning the objectionable matter as the others. Atterberry v. Knox, 8 Dana (Ky.) 282.

The English practice is an order to show cause why the interrogatories should not be taken pro confesso. Lewes v. Morgan, 5 Price 468.

69. Nancy v. Trammel, 3 Mo. 306.

70. Roussin v. St. Louis Perpetual Ins. Co., 15 Mo. 244. Exceptions to answer see infra, II, A, 3, d, (III).

Where defendant fails to answer as to a date and no proof as to the date is made the date must be presumed to be the one most favorable to plaintiff. Tarpley v. Wilson, 33 Miss. 467.

If the exceptions are sustained and the party thereupon declines to answer further the bill will be taken as confessed. Tomlinson v. Lindley, 2 Ind. 569.

71. Bonnell v. Shepard, 2 Wis. 503. And see CONTEMPT, 9 Cyc. 17.

72. Roussin v. St. Louis Perpetual Ins. Co., 15 Mo. 244; Croskey v. European, etc., Steam Shipping Co., 14 Wkly. Rep. 514.

Partial answer.— If the answer is a partial one, the right should be reserved to the complainant to except for want of a complete answer, if it should be found on the hearing of the answer that he is entitled to it. Bentley v. Cleaveland, 22 Ala. 814.

73. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Macomb, 2 Fed. 18.

exceptions to an answer for insufficiency consists of sufficient allegations in the bill and proper interrogatories based thereon.[74] An exception for impertinence which covers more than should be expunged makes the whole exception nugatory.[75] General exceptions to an answer to interrogatories are improper where some of the interrogatories have been properly answered.[76] For the purpose of exceptions no part of the answer is assumed to be true.[77]

(IV) WAIVER OF DEFECTS IN ANSWER. Any objection to the sufficiency of the answer is waived by an offer of the answer in evidence.[78]

(V) ANSWER AS EVIDENCE — (A) In General. The answer to a bill of discovery is evidence and cannot be replied to.[79] The legality of such evidence must be determined by the court of law in which the cause is pending in aid of which the bill was filed.[80] It is optional with the party filing the bill whether he will use the answer as evidence,[81] and it cannot be used as evidence by the party making it, unless it is first offered in evidence by the opposite party.[82] It must be used as an entirety, unless part is expunged for impertinence,[83] or unless some of it is not responsive.[84] Where both discovery and relief are sought the answer so far as responsive to the bill is evidence for defendant as well as against him,[85] but any matter contained in the answer which is not responsive is not evidence for him but must be otherwise proved.[86] So if the bill is for discovery alone, an

74. U. S. v. McLaughlin, 24 Fed. 823.

It is no ground for exception that the answer states a totally immaterial fact or answers interrogatories improperly put and which the party was not compelled to answer. Conway v. Turner, 8 Ark. 356.

Protection from discovery.— Where the statute protects an officer of a corporation from making discovery unless on special order of the court a voluntary answer on his part is not subject to exception because it fails to make the disclosures sought. McCreery v. Cobb, 93 Mich. 463, 53 N. W. 613.

75. Waring v. Suydam, 4 Edw. (N. Y.) 426.

76. Higginson v. Blockley, 1 Jur. N. S. 1104, 25 L. J. Ch. 74.

77. Swabey v. Sutton, 1 Hem. & M. 514, 9 Jur. N. S. 1321, 9 L. T. Rep. N. S. 711, 12 Wkly. Rep. 124.

78. Roussin v. St. Louis Perpetual Ins. Co., 15 Mo. 244.

79. Dunn v. Dunn, 8 Ala. 784; Ragsdale v. Buford, 3 Hayw. (Tenn.) 192.

80. Chambers v. Warren, 13 Ill. 318; Price v. Tyson, 3 Bland (Md.) 392, 22 Am. Dec. 279.

81. Alabama.— Saltmarsh v. Bower, 22 Ala. 221; Cox v. Cox, 2 Port. 533.

Arkansas.— Conway v. Turner, 8 Ark. 356.

Kentucky.— Nourse v. Gregory, 3 Litt. 378.

Mississippi.—Carson v. Flowers, 7 Sm. & M. 99.

Tennessee.— Hays v. Crawford, 1 Heisk. 86.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 39.

82. Alabama.— Saltmarsh v. Bower, 22 Ala. 221.

Arkansas.— Conway v. Turner, 8 Ark. 356.

New Hampshire.— Kidder v. Barr, 35 N. H. 235.

New York.— Phillips v. Thompson, 1 Johns. Ch. 131.

Tennessee.— Jones v. Davidson, 2 Sneed 447; Thompson v. French, 10 Yerg. 452.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 39.

83. Alabama.— Saltmarsh v. Bower, 22 Ala. 221.

Illinois.— Chambers v. Warren, 13 Ill. 318.

Maryland.— Ringgold v. Ringgold, 1 Harr. & G. 11, 18 Am. Dec. 250; Glenn v. Randall, 2 Md. Ch. 220.

New York.— Jewett v. Belden, 11 Paige 618.

Virginia.— Fant v. Miller, 17 Gratt. 187.

The rule that where a part of an answer is offered the party answering may read other parts applies to a portion of an entire correspondence produced under the rule. Lawrence v. Ocean Ins. Co., 11 Johns. (N. Y.) 245 note.

84. Massingill v. Carraway, 13 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 324.

85. Mississippi.— Money v. Dorsey, 7 Sm. & M. 15; Petrie v. Wright, 6 Sm. & M. 647.

New Hampshire.—Moors v. Moors, 17 N. H. 481.

Tennessee.— Spurlock v. Fulks, 1 Swan 289; Jones v. Perry, 10 Yerg. 59, 30 Am. Dec. 430.

Virginia.— Ward v. Cornett, 91 Va. 676, 22 S. E. 494, 49 L. R. A. 550.

West Virginia.— Jones v. Cunningham, 7 W. Va. 707.

What is a responsive answer.— Where defendant is interrogated as to a certain arrangement and whether it was written or oral, and the answer sets out a paper as the arrangement, it is responsive and must be taken as true until disproved. Glenn v. Grover, 3 Md. 212; Reed v. Cumberland Mut. F. Ins. Co., 36 N. J. Eq. 146.

86. New York.—Atwater v. Fowler, 1 Edw. 416.

North Carolina.— Fleming v. Murph, 59 N. C. 59.

Texas.—Aubrey v. Cannon, 11 Tex. 110.

Virginia.— Taylor v. Moore, 2 Rand. 563.

West Virginia.— Jones v. Cunningham, 7 W. Va. 707.

Wisconsin.— Farmers', etc., Bank v. Griffith, 2 Wis. 443.

answer responsive thereto is evidence for as well as against defendant,[87] and in a number of cases where the bill was for discovery alone, it has been held that the answer will be evidence for defendant, although it contains matters in avoidance of the complainant's claim.[88] The bill may be read as introductory to the answer,[89] if necessary to an understanding of it.[90]

(B) Conclusiveness of Answer. The answer is not conclusive evidence of the facts stated therein.[91] According to some decisions the answer is entitled to no higher consideration than the answers of the party's own witnesses from the stand and may be controverted in the same way.[92] And in others it is held that an answer to a petition for discovery in aid of a suit at law must be taken as true unless contradicted by two witnesses, or by one with strong corroborating circumstances.[93] Evidence offered to impeach an answer to a bill of discovery is correctly excluded where it does not go to the issue between the parties,[94] and the party answering cannot be impeached by showing that he is unworthy of belief.[95]

e. Privileged Matter[96] — (I) Matter Involving Legal Professional Confidence — (A) Communication Between Attorney and Client — (1) General Rule. The rule is well established that the discovery of confidential communications, oral or written, between an attorney and his client with reference to professional business generally or to litigation pending or contemplated, cannot be compelled at the instance of a third party.[97] The rule is founded on a regard to 87. Turner v. Knell, 24 Md. 55.

88. Saltmarsh v. Bower, 22 Ala. 221; Chambers v. Warren, 13 Ill. 318; Price v. Tyson, 3 Bland (Md.) 392, 22 Am. Dec. 279; Dyre v. Sturges, 3 Desauss. (S. C.) 553. Contra, Atwater v. Bower, 1 Edw. (N. Y.) 416. See Marion v. Faxon, 20 Conn. 486.

89. Grimes v. Hilliary, 51 Ill. App. 641; Walsh v. Agnew, 12 Mo. 520. Contra, Clark v. Depew, 25 Pa. St. 509, 64 Am. Dec. 717.

90. Lancaster v. Arendell, 2 Heisk. (Tenn.) 434.

91. Alabama.— Cox v. Cox, 2 Port. 533.

Arkansas.— Turner v. Miller, 6 Ark. 463.

District of Columbia.— District of Columbia v. Robinson, 14 App. Cas. 512 [affirmed in 180 U. S. 92, 21 S. Ct. 283, 45 L. ed. 440].

Georgia.— Heard v. Nix, 96 Ga. 51, 23 S. E. 122.

Illinois.— Chambers v. Warren, 13 Ill. 318.

Indiana.— Williams v. Wann, 8 Blackf. 477.

Kentucky.— Nourse v. Gregory, 3 Litt. 378.

Virginia.— Fant v. Miller, 17 Gratt. 187; Lyons v. Miller, 6 Gratt. 427, 52 Am. Dec. 129.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 40.

Contra.— Butler v. Catling, 1 Root (Conn.) 310.

Limitations of rule.— Although answers to interrogatories on facts and articles may generally be contradicted, yet when evoked as a substitute for a counter letter, to prove what could otherwise be proved by nothing but such a letter, such answers cannot be contradicted by anything but a like letter. Godwin v. Neustadtl, 42 La. Ann. 735, 7 So. 744.

Where matters in avoidance are stated in an answer to a bill for discovery, they are not conclusive, but are subject to be supported or disproved by evidence aliunde on both sides. Greenleaf v. Highland, Walk. (Miss.) 375.

92. Illinois.— Williams v. Jayne, 55 Ill. 181; Chambers v. Warren, 13 Ill. 318.

Indiana.— Williams v. Wann, 8 Blackf. 477; McNutt v. Dair, 8 Blackf. 35.

Kentucky.— Nourse v. Gregory, 3 Litt. 378.

New York.— March v. Davison, 9 Paige 580.

Tennessee.— Allen v. McNew, 8 Humphr. 46.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 40.

93. Arkansas.— Turner v. Miller, 6 Ark. 463.

Georgia.— Heard v. Nix, 96 Ga. 51, 23 S. E. 122.

Maryland.— Turner v. Knell, 24 Md. 55.

Missouri.— Buckner v. Armour, 1 Mo. 534.

New York.— Clason v. Morris, 10 Johns. 524.

Tennessee.— Spurlock v. Fulks, 1 Swan 289; Smith v. Kincaid, 10 Humphr. 73.

Virginia.— Thompson v. Clark, 81 Va. 422.

United States.— Hinkle v. Wanzer, 17 How. 353, 15 L. ed. 173.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 40.

Application of rule.—Where a bill charges generally that certain deeds are fraudulent and void, and also propounds special interrogatories predicated upon some of the averments, defendants have a right to answer all the allegations, whether specially interrogated or not; and in such a case the positive denials of the answers must be met in the usual way — by the oaths of two witnesses or of one with pregnant circumstances. Glenn v. Grover, 3 Md. 212.

94. Field v. Pope, 5 Ark. 66.

95. Chambers v. Warren, 13 Ill. 318; Murray v. Johnson, 1 Head (Tenn.) 353. Contra, Miller v. Tollison, Harp. Eq. (S. C.) 145, 14 Am. Dec. 712.

96. Privileged communications generally see Witnesses.

97. Crosby v. Berger, 4 Edw. (N. Y.) 254 [affirmed in 11 Paige 377, 42 Am. Dec. 117]; the interest and administration of justice. If the privilege did not exist, a party

West Grove Nat. Bank v. Earle, 196 Pa. St. 217, 46 Atl. 268; Minet v. Morgan, L. R. 8 Ch. 361, 42 L. J. Ch. 627, 28 L. T. Rep. N. S. 573, 21 Wkly. Rep. 467; Hamilton v. Nott, L. R. 16 Eq. 112, 42 L. J. Ch. 512; Macfarlan v. Rolt, L. R. 14 Eq. 580, 41 L. J. Ch. 649, 27 L. T. Rep. N. S. 305, 20 Wkly. Rep. 945; Wilson v. Northampton, etc., R. Co., L. R. 14 Eq. 477, 27 L. T. Rep. N. S. 507, 20 Wkly. Rep. 938; Worthington v. Dublin, etc., R. Co., L. R. 22 Ir. 310; Lyell v. Kennedy, 9 App. Cas. 81, 53 L. J. Ch. 449, 50 L. T. Rep. N. S. 277, 32 Wkly. Rep. 497 [affirming 23 Ch. D. 387, 48 L. T. Rep. N. S. 455, 31 Wkly. Rep. 691]; Stratford v. Hogan, 2 Ball & B. 164; Few v. Guppy, 13 Beav. 457; Flight v. Robinson, 8 Beav. 22, 8 Jur. 888, 13 L. J. Ch. 425; Ainsworth v. Wilding, [1900] 2 Ch. 315, 69 L. J. Ch. 695, 48 Wkly. Rep. 539; Greenough v. Gaskell, Coop. t. Brough. 96, 1 Myl. & K. 98, 7 Eng. Ch. 98; McCorquodale v. Bell, 1 C. P. D. 471, 45 L. J. C. P. 329, 35 L. T. Rep. N. S. 261, 24 Wkly. Rep. 399; Pearse v. Pearse, 1 De G. & Sm. 12, 11 Jur. 52, 16 L. J. Ch. 153; Lawrence v. Campbell, 4 Drew. 485, 5 Jur. N. S. 1071, 28 L. J. Ch. 780, 7 Wkly. Rep. 336; Thompson v. Falk, 1 Drew. 21; Mauser v. Dix, 3 Eq. Rep. 650, 1 Jur. N. S. 466, 1 Kay & J. 451, 24 L. J. Ch. 497, 3 Wkly. Rep. 313; Bluck v. Galsworthy, 2 Giff. 453, 7 Jur. N. S. 91, 3 L. T. Rep. N. S. 399; Russell v. Jackson, 9 Hare 387, 15 Jur. 1117, 21 L. J. Ch. 146, 41 L. J. Ch. 387; Walsingham v. Goodricke, 3 Hare 122, 25 Eng. Ch. 122; Wentworth v. Lloyd, 10 H. L. Cas. 589, 10 Jur. N. S. 961, 33 L. J. Ch. 688, 10 L. T. Rep. N. S. 767; Goodall v. Little, 15 Jur. 309, 20 L. J. Ch. 132, 1 Sim. N. S. 155, 40 Eng. Ch. 155; Follett v. Jefferyes, 15 Jur. 118, 20 L. J. Ch. 65, 1 Sim. N. S. 3, 40 Eng. Ch. 3; Herring v. Clobery, 6 Jur. 202, 11 L. J. Ch. 149, Phil. 91, 19 Eng. Ch. 91; Bushnell v. Bushnell, 2 Jur. 774; Desborough v. Rawlins, 2 Jur. 125, 7 L. J. Ch. 171, 3 Myl. & C. 515, 14 Eng. Ch. 515; Ford v. De Pontes, 5 Jur. N. S. 993, 29 L. J. Ch. 883, 32 L. T. Rep. N. S. 383, 7 Wkly. Rep. 299; Cotman v. Orton, 9 L. J. Ch. 268; Willson v. Leonard, 7 L. J. Ch. 242; Harvey v. Kirwan, 7 L. J. Exch. Eq. 50; Moseley v. Victoria Rubber Co., 55 L. T. Rep. N. S. 482; Boyd v. Petrie, 20 L. T. Rep. N. S. 934, 17 Wkly. Rep. 903; Morgan v. Shaw, 4 Madd. 54; Sawyer v. Birchmore, 3 Myl. & K. 572, 10 Eng. Ch. 572; Bolton v. Liverpool Corp., 1 Myl. & K. 88, 7 Eng. Ch. 88; Vent v. Pacey, 4 Russ. 193, 4 Eng. Ch. 193; Hughes v. Biddulph, 4 Russ. 190, 28 Rev. Rep. 46, 4 Eng. Ch. 190; Garland v. Scott, 3 Sim. 396, 6 Eng. Ch. 396; Parkhurst v. Lowten, 2 Swanst. 194 and note, 19 Rev. Rep. 63, 36 Eng. Reprint 589; Richards v. Jackson, 18 Ves. Jr. 472, 34 Eng. Reprint 396; Knight v. Waterford, 2 Y. & C. Exch. 37; Kelly v. Jackson, 13 Ir. Eq. 129; Dederick v. Ashdown, 4 Manitoba 174; Lawton v. Chance, 9 N. Brunsw. 411; Hamelyn v. Whyte, 6 Ont. Pr. 143; Lynch v. O'Hara, 6 U. C. C. P. 259. See Hoffman v. Crerar, 17 Ont. Pr. 404.

The belief of a client based on knowledge or information derived from privileged communication from his solicitor or agent is privileged to the same extent as the knowledge or information would be. Lyell v. Kennedy, 9 App. Cas. 81, 53 L. J. Ch. 449, 50 L. T. Rep. N. S. 277, 32 Wkly. Rep. 497. A client is not bound to disclose any information given him by his solicitor as to the inferences drawn by the latter, or as to the effect on his mind of what he has seen or heard. Kennedy v. Lyell, 23 Ch. D. 387, 48 L. T. Rep. N. S. 455, 31 Wkly. Rep. 691 [affirmed in 9 App. Cas. 81, 53 L. J. Ch. 449, 50 L. T. Rep. N. S. 277, 32 Wkly. Rep. 497].

Request to procure opinion of counsel.— A letter written by the client to his solicitor directing the latter to procure the opinion of counsel as to questions in dispute is privileged. Vent v. Pacey, 4 Russ. 193, 4 Eng. Ch. 193.

Disclosure of client.— A solicitor who at the request of his client loans money of the latter on mortgage and takes the mortgage in his own name will not in a suit by a creditor of the client be compelled to disclose the latter's name, or the particulars of other mortgages on the same property similarly taken by other clients. Jones v. Pugh, 6 Jur. 613, 11 L. J. Ch. 323, 1 Phil. 96, 19 Eng. Ch. 96, 12 Sim. 470, 35 Eng. Ch. 470.

The correspondence of a married woman with her solicitor with respect to a divorce, afterward obtained by collusion between the parties, is not privileged as to the husband or his privies. Ford v. De Pontes, 5 Jur. N. S. 993, 29 L. J. Ch. 883, 32 L. T. Rep. N. S. 383, 7 Wkly. Rep. 299, which also holds that correspondence after the divorce but not relating thereto would be privileged.

Advice to wife by husband's attorney.— Where husband and wife have distinct interests, and the wife is induced to act under the advice of an attorney employed by the husband, the attorney is deemed to act for both, and each has the right to the production of documents coming into the attorney's possession during his employment, and relating to the transaction, and to the advice given the wife. Warde v. Warde, 15 Jur. 759, 21 L. J. Ch. 90, 3 MacN. & G. 365, 49 Eng. Ch. 277 [reversing 1 Sim. N. S. 18, 40 Eng. Ch. 18].

Clients having adverse interests.— Communications between a trustee and one of the beneficiaries for whom he acted as solicitor in a dispute with the other concerning trust matters are not privileged as against such other. Tugwell v. Hooper, 10 Beav. 348, 16 L. J. Ch. 171. One of two clients who was represented by the same solicitor cannot compel him to disclose professional communications received from the other. Eadie v. Ad-would not venture to consult any skilful person or would only dare to tell his counselor half his case.[98] It should, however, extend no further than is absolutely necessary to enable the client to obtain professional advice with safety.[99]

(2) SUBSEQUENT ACTIONS. Communications had in one action are privileged in a subsequent action in which the same matters are involved.[1]

(3) MUST BE PROFESSIONAL AND CONFIDENTIAL. The communications must have been with an attorney,[2] acting professionally, and must have been confidential and made in the usual course of business.[3] The privilege does not extend to communications not in their nature confidential, although they relate to the litigation,[4] or to communications made after the relation has ceased.[5] And where dison, 52 L. J. Ch. 80, 47 L. T. Rep. N. S. 543, 31 Wkly. Rep. 320; Re Ubsdell, 27 L. T. Rep. N. S. 460, 21 Wkly. Rep. 70.

Possession of document.— A solicitor will not be permitted to disclose who has possession of a document, when his knowledge of the fact came in the course of confidential communications with his client in his professional capacity. Cotman v. Orton, 9 L. J. Ch. 268. But see Kingston v. Gale, Rep. t. Finch 259, 23 Eng. Reprint 142.

Disposition of books of bankrupt solicitor. — The assignees of a bankrupt solicitor have no authority to dispose of such of his books as contain entries relating to confidential relations between the bankrupt and his clients. Re Holden, 3 New Rep. 230.

The court may inspect a writing to determine the right to its protection. Lafone v. Falkland Islands Co., 4 Kay & J. 34, 27 L. J. Ch. 25, 6 Wkly. Rep. 4.

98. Greenough v. Gaskell, Coop. t. Brough. 96, 1 Myl. & K. 98, 7 Eng. Ch. 98; Russell v. Jackson, 9 Hare 387, 15 Jur. 1117, 21 L. J. Ch. 146, 41 Eng. Ch. 387.

99. Glyn v. Caulfield, 15 Jur. 807, 3 MacN. & G. 463, 49 Eng. Ch. 358.

1. Pearce v. Foster, 15 Q. B. D. 114, 54 L. J. Q. B. 432, 52 L. T. Rep. N. S. 886, 50 J. P. 4, 33 Wkly. Rep. 919; Bullock v. Corry, 3 Q. B. D. 356, 47 L. J. Q. B. 352, 38 L. T. Rep. N. S. 102, 26 Wkly. Rep. 330; Hughes v. Garnous, 6 Beav. 352.

Same issues.— Documents relating to the particular suit or to another suit, which, although not actually in the matter of the same litigation, involve or embrace the same issue are privileged. Thompson v. Falk, 1 Drew. 21.

Exhibits.— Accounts of transactions between plaintiff and defendant prepared by the attorney for the former with a view to litigation anticipated and actual, produced on the examination of defendant, admitted by him to be correct and annexed as exhibits to his deposition are privileged from production in a subsequent action. Goldstone v. Williams, [1899] 1 Ch. 47, 68 L. J. Ch. 24, 79 L. T. Rep. N. S. 373, 47 Wkly. Rep. 91.

Different parties and solicitors.— Documents prepared for the defense of a former action concerning the same right, defended by a predecessor in title of one of the parties and found in the office of the successors of the solicitors of such predecessor are privileged. Calcraft v. Guest, [1898] 1 Q. B. 759, 67 L. J. Q. B. 505, 78 L. T. Rep. N. S. 283, 46 Wkly. Rep. 420.

Action with third parties.— The privilege extends to any subsequent litigation with third parties respecting the same subject-matter and involving the questions to which the communications relate. Holmes v. Baddeley, 9 Jur. 289, 14 L. J. Ch. 113, 1 Phil. 476, 19 Eng. Ch. 476 [reversing 6 Beav. 521].

2. Slade v. Tucker, 14 Ch. D. 824, 49 L. J. Ch. 644, 43 L. T. Rep. N. S. 49, 28 Wkly. Rep. 807.

Attorney retired from practice.— Communications between a person and a solicitor who had retired from practice, of which fact such person was ignorant, are privileged. Calley v. Richards, 19 Beav. 401, 2 Wkly. Rep. 614.

Evidence obtained by a scrivener in professional confidence is privileged. Parkhurst v. Lowten, 2 Swanst. 194 and note, 19 Rev. Rep. 66, 36 Eng. Reprint 589.

3. Smith v. Daniell, L. R. 18 Eq. 649, 44 L. J. Ch. 189, 30 L. T. Rep. N. S. 752, 22 Wkly. Rep. 856; Bramwell v. Lucas, 2 B. & C. 745, 4 D. & R. 367, 2 L. J. K. B. O. S. 161, 9 E. C. L. 323; Greenough v. Gaskell, Coop. t. Brough. 96, 1 Myl. & K. 98, 7 Eng. Ch. 98; Pritchard v. Foulkes, C. P. Coop. 14; Walsh v. Trevanion, 11 Jur. 360, 16 L. J. Ch. 330, 15 Sim. 577, 38 Eng. Ch. 577; Moseley v. Victoria Rubber Co., 55 L. T. Rep. N. S. 482; Walker v. Wildman, 6 Madd. 47, 22 Rev. Rep. 234; Wilson v. Rastall, 4 T. R. 753, 2 Rev. Rep. 515; Kelly v. Jackson, 13 Ir. Eq. 129. And see Goodall v. Little, 15 Jur. 309, 20 L. J. Ch. 132, 1 Sim. N. S. 155, 40 Eng. Ch. 155; Ford v. De Pontes, 5 Jur. N. S. 993, 29 L. J. Ch. 883, 32 L. T. Rep. N. S. 383, 7 Wkly. Rep. 299; Walker v. Wildman, 6 Madd. 47, 22 Rev. Rep. 234.

4. Foakes v. Webb, 28 Ch. D. 287, 54 L. J. Ch. 262, 51 L. T. Rep. N. S. 624, 33 Wkly. Rep. 249; Cobden v. Kendrick, 4 T. R. 431, 2 Rev. Rep. 424.

Acts of attorney.— The privilege does not extend to the acts of the attorney himself. Kelly v. Jackson, 13 Ir. Eq. 129.

5. Cobden v. Kendrick, 4 T. R. 431, 2 Rev. Rep. 424, after compromise of action.

Employment ended with filing bill.—As to whether memoranda sworn to have been treated as instructions for an answer are privileged where the solicitor's employment ended at the time the bill was filed see Moxhay v. Trederwick, 9 Jur. 343.

the advice is given by the attorney merely as a friend or agent and not professionally, it is not privileged.[6]

(4) SUBJECT-MATTER OF. Some of the early cases confine the privilege to communications as to actual litigation, or where a dispute has arisen and litigation is threatened or contemplated;[7] but the later cases and the weight of authority are to the effect that the privilege extends to all matters or communications, whether relative to litigation or to the conduct of business generally, and within the ordinary scope of professional employment.[8]

6. Bustros v. White, 1 Q. B. D. 423, 45 L. J. Q. B. 642, 34 L. T. Rep. N. S. 835, 24 Wkly. Rep. 721; Smith v. Daniell, L. R. 18 Eq. 649, 44 L. J. Ch. 189, 30 L. T. Rep. N. S. 752, 22 Wkly. Rep. 856; Bramwell v. Lucas, 2 B. & C. 745, 4 D. & R. 367, 2 L. J. K. B. O. S. 161, 9 E. C. L. 323; Greenlaw v. King, 1 Beav. 137, 8 L. J. Ch. 92, 17 Eng. Ch. 137; Greenough v. Gaskell, Coop. t. Brough. 96, 1 Myl. & K. 98, 7 Eng. Ch. 98; Wilson v. Rastall, 4 T. R. 753, 2 Rev. Rep. 515.

Patent agent.— Communications between a person and his solicitor while the latter is acting as his patent agent are not privileged. Moseley v. Victoria Rubber Co., 55 L. T. Rep. N. S. 482.

Direction as to person to be arrested.—A direction by a client to his attorney or clerk to send a person with the sheriff for the purpose of pointing out the person to be arrested is not privileged. Caldbeck v. Boon, Ir. R. 7 C. L. 32.

7. Wadsworth v. Hamshaw, 2 B. & B. 5 note, 6 E. C. L. 13; Flight v. Robinson, 8 Beav. 22, 8 Jur. 888, 13 L. J. Ch. 425; Beadon v. King, 13 Jur. 570, 17 Sim. 34, 42 Eng. Ch. 34; Clagett v. Phillips, 7 Jur. 31, 2 Y. & Coll. 82, 21 Eng. Ch. 82; Original Hartlepool Collieries Co. v. Moon, 30 L. T. Rep. N. S. 585; Broad v. Pitt, M. & M. 233, 22 E. C. L. 515; Williams v. Mundie, R. & M. 34, 21 E. C. L. 697.

Except under extraordinary circumstances communications and statements made before suit are not privileged. Bluck v. Galsworthy, 2 Giff. 453, 7 Jur. N. S. 91, 3 L. T. Rep. N. S. 399.

Communications in course of dispute.— It is not necessary that the communications should have been made in contemplation of the suit, but it is sufficient if they relate to and were made in the course of the dispute which is the subject of the suit. Clagett v. Phillips, 7 Jur. 31, 2 Y. & Coll. 82, 21 Eng. Ch. 82. In Gainsford v. Grammar, 2 Campb. 9, 11 Rev. Rep. 648, the court refused to permit an attorney to be examined touching a proposal which he had carried from his client to the plaintiff several months before the institution of suit.

8. Minet v. Morgan, L. R. 8 Ch. 361, 42 L. J. Ch. 627, 28 L. T. Rep. N. S. 573, 21 Wkly. Rep. 467; Turton v. Barber, L. R. 17 Eq. 329, 43 L. J. Ch. 468, 22 Wkly. Rep. 438; Cromack v. Heathcote, 2 B. & B. 4, 4 Moore C. P. 357, 22 Rev. Rep. 638, 6 E. C. L. 12; Carpmael v. Powis, 9 Beav. 16, 16 L. J. Ch. 275, 1 Phil. 687, 19 Eng. Ch. 687; Flight v. Robinson, 8 Beav. 22, 13 L. J. Ch. 425, 8 Jur. 888; Greenough v. Gaskell, Coop. t. Brough. 96, 1 Myl. & K. 98, 7 Eng. Ch. 98; Pearse v. Pearse, 1 De G. & Sm. 12, 11 Jur. 52, 16 L. J. Ch. 153; Brard v. Ackerman, 5 Esp. 119; Robson v. Kemp, 4 Esp. 233, 5 Esp. 52, 8 Rev. Rep. 831; Walsingham v. Goodricke, 3 Hare 122, 25 Eng. Ch. 122; Herring v. Clobery, 6 Jur. 202, 11 L. J. Ch. 149, 1 Phil. 91, 19 Eng. Ch. 91; Bushnell v. Bushnell, 2 Jur. 774; Boyd v. Petrie, 20 L. T. Rep. N. S. 734, 17 Wkly. Rep. 903; Walker v. Wildman, 6 Madd. 47, 22 Rev. Rep. 234; Clark v. Clark, 1 M. & Rob. 3; Hamelyn v. Whyte, 6 Ont. Pr. 143 [disapproving MacDonald v. Putman, 11 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 258]; Anonymous, Skin. 404; Parkhurst v. Lowten, 2 Swanst. 194 and note, 19 Rev. Rep. 66, 36 Eng. Reprint 589. And see Clagett v. Phillips, 7 Jur. 31, 2 Y. & Coll. 82, 21 Eng. Ch. 82.

Rule stated.— If touching matters that come within the ordinary scope of professional employment, solicitors receive a communication in their professional capacity, either from a client or on his account and for his benefit in the transaction of his business, or if in the course of their employment they commit to paper matters which they know only through their professional relation, they are not only justified in withholding such matters but are bound to withhold, and cannot be compelled to disclose the information in any court either as a party or witness. Greenough v. Gaskell Coop. t. Brough. 96, 1 Myl. & K. 98, 7 Eng. Ch. 98.

Extent of protection.—An attorney cannot be compelled to disclose papers delivered or communications made to him, nor letters written by him or by his direction or entries made by him in his confidential character or situation. Greenough v. Gaskell, Coop. t. Brough. 96, 1 Myl. & K. 98, 7 Eng. Ch. 98.

Form of litigation not apparent.— Communications made in apprehension of litigation are privileged, although the precise form which the litigation might take could not have been foreseen at the time. Lafone v. Falkland Islands Co., 4 Kay & J. 34, 27 L. J. Ch. 25, 6 Wkly. Rep. 4.

Communications as to a contract which may lead to litigation are privileged. Wilson v. Northampton, etc., R. Co., L. R. 14 Eq. 477, 27 L. T. Rep. N. S. 507, 20 Wkly. Rep. 938.

Real estate transaction.— At the instance of a purchaser, a vendor cannot be required to disclose confidential communications made by him to his solicitor and counsel respecting the property, although made on behalf of persons

(5) COMMUNICATIONS THROUGH AGENTS. Communications between the attorney or his client and an agent employed by the former or by the latter at his instance to collect evidence or make investigations, or reports made by the agent to either of them in pursuance of such employment, are privileged.[9]

(B) Information Acquired by Attorney Otherwise Than From Client. Information as to facts acquired by the attorney otherwise than from his client or the agent of the latter or from his own agent, or transactions or communications had between the attorney and third parties, are not privileged from discovery,[10] except where such transactions were at the request of the client,[11] or the communications or information were had or obtained in view of anticipated litigation or for the purposes of such litigation.[12] consulting singly and not during a dispute, after a threat, or during a suit. Pearse v. Pearse, 11 Jur. 52, 16 L. J. Ch. 153, 1 De G. & Sm. 12.

9. Macfarlan v. Rolt, L. R. 14 Eq. 580, 41 L. J. Ch. 649, 27 L. T. Rep. N. S. 305, 20 Wkly. Rep. 945; Bunbury v. Bunbury, 2 Beav. 173, 9 L. J. Ch. 1, 17 Eng. Ch. 173; Kennedy v. Lyell, 23 Ch. D. 387, 48 L. T. Rep. N. S. 455, 31 Wkly. Rep. 691 [affirmed in 9 App. Cas. 81, 53 L. J. Ch. 449, 50 L. T. Rep. N. S. 277, 32 Wkly. Rep. 497]; Churton v. Frewen, 2 Dr. & Sm. 390, 12 L. T. Rep. N. S. 105, 13 Wkly. Rep. 490; Reid v. Langlois, 2 Hall & T. 59, 14 Jur. 467, 19 L. J. Ch. 337, 1 Macn. & G. 627, 47 Eng. Ch. 498; Russell v. Jackson, 9 Hare 387, 15 Jur. 1117, 21 L. J. Ch. 146, 41 Eng. Ch. 387; Walsham v. Stainton, 2 Hem. & M. 1, 9 L. T. Rep. N. S. 603, 3 New Rep. 241, 12 Wkly. Rep. 119; Hooper v. Gumm, 2 Johns. & H. 602, 6 L. T. Rep. N. S. 891, 10 Wkly. Rep. 644; Steele v. Stewart, 9 Jur. 121, 14 L. J. Ch. 34, 1 Phil. 471, 19 Eng. Ch. 471 [affirming 13 Sim. 533, 36 Eng. Ch. 533]; Mostyn v. West Mostyn Coal, etc., Co., 34 L. T. Rep. N. S. 531.

Privileged and unprivileged matter mixed. — Where extracts, or copies from, or references to, public records, are so mixed up with the protected parts of the report of an agent that exhibition of one portion would disclose the other, the production of the report will not be ordered. Churton v. Frewen, 2 Dr. & Sm. 390, 12 L. T. Rep. N. S. 105, 13 Wkly. Rep. 490.

10. Crosby v. Berger, 4 Edw. (N. Y.) 254 [affirmed in 11 Paige 377, 42 Am. Dec. 117]; Paddon v. Winch, L. R. 9 Eq. 666, 39 L. J. Ch. 627, 22 L. T. Rep. N. S. 403; Ford v. Tennant, 32 Beav. 162, 9 Jur. N. S. 292, 32 L. J. Ch. 465, 7 L. T. Rep. N. S. 732, 1 New Rep. 303, 11 Wkly. Rep. 324; Wheeler v. Le Marchant, 17 Ch. D. 675, 45 J. P. 728, 50 L. J. Ch. 793, 44 L. T. Rep. N. S. 632; Greenough v. Gaskell, Coop. t. Brough. 96, 1 Myl. & K. 98, 7 Eng. Ch. 98; Gore v. Bowser, 5 De G. & Sm. 30; Marsh v. Keith, 1 Dr. & Sm. 342, 6 Jur. N. S. 1182, 30 L. J. Ch. 127, 3 L. T. Rep. N. S. 498, 9 Wkly. Rep. 115; Spenceley v. Schulenburgh, 7 East 357, 3 Smith K. B. 325; Desborough v. Rawlins, 2 Jur. 125, 7 L. J. Ch. 171, 3 Myl. & C. 515, 14 Eng. Ch. 515; Page v. Ward, 20 L. T. Rep. N. S. 518, 17 Wkly. Rep. 435; Morgan v. Shaw, 4 Madd. 54; Sawyer v. Birchmore, 3 Myl. & K. 572, 10 Eng. Ch. 572.

Copies of letters written by a party to a third person and obtained from the latter by the solicitor for the purpose of defense are not privileged. Chadwick v. Bowman, 16 Q. B. D. 561, 54 L. T. Rep. N. S. 16.

Knowledge acquired before communications. — That a solicitor or client obtains by means of confidential communications information about a fact will not protect him from disclosing what he already knew about that fact. Lewis v. Pennington, 6 Jur. N. S. 478, 29 L. J. Ch. 670, 8 Wkly. Rep. 465.

Knowledge by the attorney of facts patent to the senses, and as to which others have like knowledge or information, is not privileged. Greenough v. Gaskell, Coop. t. Brough. 96, 1 Myl. & K. 98, 7 Eng. Ch. 98.

Transcripts of shorthand notes. — A transcript of the notes of a trial or proceeding, taken by a shorthand writer in open court, is not privileged. In re Worswick, 38 Ch. D. 370, 58 L. J. Ch. 31, 59 L. T. Rep. N. S. 399, 36 Wkly. Rep. 625; Rawstome v. Preston Corp., 30 Ch. D. 116, 54 L. J. Ch. 1102, 52 L. T. Rep. N. S. 922, 33 Wkly. Rep. 795; Nicholl v. Jones, 2 Hem. & M. 588, 5 New Rep. 361, 13 Wkly. Rep. 451; Re Brown, 42 L. T. Rep. N. S. 501, 28 Wkly. Rep. 575. Contra, Nordon v. Defries, 8 Q. B. D. 508, 46 J. P. 566, 51 L. J. Q. B. D. 415, 30 Wkly. Rep. 612; Rapson v. Cubitt, 7 Jur. 77.

11. Marriott v. Anchor Reversionary Co., 3 Giff. 304, 8 Jur. N. S. 51, 5 L. T. Rep. N. S. 545.

A solicitor who at the request of his client negotiated a sale cannot at the instance of the purchaser be required to state what took place on the negotiations. Lodge v. Prichard, 4 De G. & Sm. 587, 15 Jur. 1147.

12. Wilson v. Northampton, etc., R. Co., L. R. 14 Eq. 477, 27 L. T. Rep. N. S. 507, 20 Wkly. Rep. 938; McCorquodale v. Bell, 1 C. P. D. 471, 45 L. J. C. P. 329, 35 L. T. Rep. N. S. 261, 24 Wkly. Rep. 399 [approving Cossey v. London, etc., R. Co., L. R. 5 C. P. 146, 39 L. J. C. P. 174, 22 L. T. Rep. N. S. 19, 18 Wkly. Rep. 493; Skinner v. Great Northern R. Co., L. R. 9 Exch. 298, 43 L. J. Exch. 150, 32 L. T. Rep. N. S. 233, 23 Wkly. Rep. 7]; Curling v. Perring, 4 L. J. Ch. 80, 2 Myl. & K. 380, 7 Eng. Ch. 380. In one decision it was held immaterial whether or not the subject-matter of the correspondence led to litigation or might probably do so. Wilson v. Northampton, etc., R. Co., L. R. 14 Eq. 477, 27 L. T. Rep. N. S. 507, 20 Wkly. Rep. 938.

(c) Communications Between Attorneys. Correspondence or communications between the individual members of a firm of attorneys[13] or between legal advisers representing the same parties stand on the same footing as communications between attorney and client.[14] But this rule is inapplicable to communications between the solicitors of opposite parties.[15]

(d) Communications by Client With Others Than Attorney. While it has been held that communications between a client and agent respecting matters concerning litigation, had with the intention of submitting the information obtained to an attorney, are privileged,[16] especially where the communication was at the instance of the attorney,[17] and that information obtained by the client, although such communications or otherwise from persons other than his legal advisers, with a view to litigation actual or contemplated, are likewise protected,[18] it has also been held that the privilege does not extend to communications had by the client with agents or strangers, without the suggestion or direction of the attorney, whether or not litigation is threatened or pending.[19]

In another that correspondence with third parties is only privileged when prepared after dispute, and for the purpose of obtaining information, evidence, or advice with reference to existing or contemplated litigation, and that the evidence obtained by the solicitor, or at his instance, even if obtained by the client, is protected, if obtained after litigation has been commenced or threatened, or with a view to the defense or prosecution of such litigation. Wheeler v. Le Marchant, 17 Ch. D. 675, 45 J. P. 728, 50 L. J. Ch. 793, 44 L. T. Rep. N. S. 632 [quoted with approval in Kennedy v. Lyell, 23 Ch. D. 387, 48 L. T. Rep. N. S. 455, 31 Wkly. Rep. 691].

Anonymous letters to the solicitor and counsel in a cause are treated as if received in answer to inquiries, and are privileged. In re Holloway, 12 P. D. 167, 56 L. J. P. 81, 57 L. T. Rep. N. S. 515, 35 Wkly. Rep. 751.

13. Mostyn v. West Mostyn Coal, etc., Co., 34 L. T. Rep. N. S. 531.

In an accounting between members of a firm of solicitors papers relating to professional business transacted for their clients is not privileged. Brown v. Perkins, 2 Hare 540, 8 Jur. 186, 24 Eng. Ch. 540.

14. Macfarlan v. Rolt, L. R. 14 Eq. 580, 41 L. J. Ch. 649, 27 L. T. Rep. N. S. 305, 20 Wkly. Rep. 945; Goodall v. Little, 15 Jur. 309, 20 L. J. Ch. 132, 1 Sim. N. S. 155, 40 Eng. Ch. 155; Catt v. Tourle, 23 L. T. Rep. N. S. 485, 19 Wkly. Rep. 56; Hughes v. Beddulph, 4 Russ. 190, 28 Rev. Rep. 46, 4 Eng. Ch. 190.

Letters written two years before suit by a solicitor to his law agents are not privileged, although they afterward acted as solicitors in a suit involving the subject-matter of the letters. Hampson v. Hampson, 26 L. J. Ch. 612.

15. Gore v. Harris, 15 Jur. 1168, 21 L. J. Ch. 10.

16. Reid v. Langlois, 2 Hall & T. 59, 14 Jur. 467, 19 L. J. Ch. 337, 1 Macn. & G. 627, 47 Eng. Ch. 498; Steele v. Stewart, 9 Jur. 121, 14 L. J. Ch. 34, 1 Phil. 471, 19 Eng. Ch. 471. And see Ross v. Gibbs, L. R. 8 Eq. 522, 39 L. J. Ch. 61; India, etc., Chartered Bank v. Rich, 4 B. & S. 73, 32 L. J. Q. B. 300, 8 L. T. Rep. N. S. 454, 11 Wkly. Rep. 830, 116 E. C. L. 73.

17. Friend v. London, etc., R. Co., 2 Ex. D. 437, 46 L. J. Exch. 696, 36 L. T. Rep. N. S. 729, 25 Wkly. Rep. 735; Lafone v. Falkland Islands Co., 4 Kay & J. 34, 27 L. J. Ch. 25, 6 Wkly. Rep. 4.

The test is whether or not the agent was doing that which it was the duty of the solicitor to do. Lafone v. Falkland Islands Co., 4 Kay & J. 34, 27 L. J. Ch. 25, 6 Wkly. Rep. 4.

18. Woolley v. North London R. Co., L. R. 4 C. P. 602, 38 L. J. C. P. 317, 20 L. T. Rep. N. S. 813, 17 Wkly. Rep. 650, 797; Kennedy v. Lyell, 23 Ch. D. 387, 48 L. T. Rep. N. S. 455, 31 Wkly. Rep. 691 [affirmed in 9 App. Cas. 81, 53 L. J. Ch. 449, 50 L. T. Rep. N. S. 277, 32 Wkly. Rep. 497].

Where claims have been made for injuries, or litigation is reasonably apprehended, the results of investigations made with a view to prepare a defense are privileged. Cossey v. London, etc., R. Co., L. R. 5 C. P. 146, 39 L. J. C. P. 174, 22 L. T. Rep. N. S. 19, 18 Wkly. Rep. 493; Skinner v. Great Northern R. Co., L. R. 9 Exch. 298, 43 L. J. Exch. 150, 32 L. T. Rep. N. S. 233, 23 Wkly. Rep. 7; Collins v. London Gen. Omnibus Co., 57 J. P. 678, 63 L. J. Q. B. 428, 68 L. T. Rep. N. S. 831, 5 Reports 355; London, etc., R. Co. v. Kirk, 51 L. T. Rep. N. S. 599.

Minutes of a corporation and subcommittees appointed to report as to matters connected with a litigation are privileged. Bristol v. Cox, 26 Ch. D. 678, 53 L. J. Ch. 1144, 50 L. T. Rep. N. S. 719, 33 Wkly. Rep. 255. And see Worthington v. Dublin, etc., R. Co., L. R. 22 Ir. 310.

19. English v. Tottie, 1 Q. B. D. 141, 45 L. J. Q. B. 138, 33 L. T. Rep. N. S. 724, 24 Wkly. Rep. 393; Kerr v. Gillespie, 7 Beav. 572, 29 Eng. Ch. 572; Anderson v. British Columbia Bank, 2 Ch. D. 644, 45 L. J. Ch. 449, 35 L. T. Rep. N. S. 76, 24 Wkly. Rep. 624; Colman v. Truman, 3 H. & N. 871, 28 L. J. Exch. 5; Vetter v. Schreiber, 53 J. P. 39; Glyn v. Caulfield, 15 Jur. 807, 3 Macn. & G. 463, 49 Eng. Ch. 358; Goodall v. Little, 15 Jur. 309, 20 L. J. Ch. 132, 1 Sim. N. S. 155, 40 Eng. Ch. 155 [distinguishing Steele

(E) Communications Between Co-Defendants. Communications between co-defendants are not privileged, although had with a view of preparing or making a defense,[20] or to enable the defendant addressed to consult a solicitor.[21] The rule is otherwise where the defendant addressed was instructed to forward the communication to their attorney,[22] or was himself an attorney, and acted in the cause as the agent for the attorney of record.[23]

(F) Documents Prepared by or in Possession of Attorney — (1) IN GENERAL. Documents prepared by an attorney in his client's cause or business, or belonging to the client and in the possession of the attorney, are privileged from discovery.[24]

v. Stewart, 9 Jur. 121, 14 L. J. Ch. 34, 1 Phil. 471, 19 Eng. Ch. 471]; McLean v. Jones, 66 L. T. Rep. N. S. 653; Westinghouse v. Midland R. Co., 48 L. T. Rep. N. S. 462.

Reports of a railway official made to the corporation at its request which fall short of being notes of the case to be laid before counsel are not privileged. Fenner v. London, etc., R. Co., L. R. 7 Q. B. 767, 41 L. J. Q. B. 313, 26 L. T. Rep. N. S. 971, 20 Wkly. Rep. 830.

Reports of employees of railroad corporations or other carriers as to accidents, and the results thereof, made in the ordinary course of duty or after investigation directed, are not privileged. Baker v. London, etc., R. Co., L. R. 3 Q. B. 91, 8 B. & S. 645, 37 L. J. Q. B. 53, 16 Wkly. Rep. 126; Skinner v. Great Northern R. Co., L. R. 9 Exch. 298, 43 L. J. Exch. 150, 32 L. T. Rep. N. S. 233, 23 Wkly. Rep. 7. And see Woolley v. North London R. Co., L. R. 4 C. P. 602, 38 L. J. C. P. 317, 20 L. T. Rep. N. S. 813, 17 Wkly. Rep. 650, 797; Parr v. London, etc., R. Co., 24 L. T. Rep. N. S. 558.

The report of a survey of a vessel, made at the instance of a party suing to recover for the improper construction of the same, is not privileged. Martin v. Butchard, 36 L. T. Rep. N. S. 732.

Investigation as to applicant for life insurance.— The result of a medical examination and report thereof to a life-insurance company, and the reports of persons to whom the company was referred for inquiries respecting the applicant are not privileged from inspection, where on the basis of the reports a special rate was charged for insurance. Mahony v. National Widows' L. Assur. Fund, L. R. 6 C. P. 252, 40 L. J. C. P. 203, 24 L. T. Rep. N. S. 548, 19 Wkly. Rep. 722.

20. Goodall v. Little, 15 Jur. 309, 20 L. J. Ch. 132, 1 Sim. N. S. 155, 40 Eng. Ch. 155; Betts v. Menzies, 3 Jur. N. S. 885, 26 L. J. Ch. 528, 5 Wkly. Rep. 767; Whitbread v. Gurney, Younge 541; Sankey v. Alexander, Ir. R. 8 Eq. 241.

Solicitor co-defendant.— Letters passing before dispute between co-defendants, one of whom acted as solicitor for the others in the original transaction, except such as contain legal advice, are not privileged. Sankey v. Alexander, Ir. R. 8 Eq. 241.

21. Goodall v. Little, 15 Jur. 309, 10 L. J. Ch. 132, 1 Sim. N. S. 155, 40 Eng. Ch. 155.

22. Jenkyns v. Bushby, L. R. 2 Eq. 547, 12 Jur. N. S. 558, 35 L. J. Ch. 820, 15 L. T. Rep. N. S. 310.

23. Hamilton v. Nott, L. R. 16 Eq. 112, 42 L. J. Ch. 512.

24. Goldstone v. Williams, [1899] 1 Ch. 47, 68 L. J. Ch. 24, 79 L. T. Rep. N. S. 373, 47 Wkly. Rep. 91; Bargaddie Coal Co. v. Wark, 3 Macq. H. L. 467. And see Dover v. Harrell, 58 Ga. 572.

Copies of depositions taken before a government official and obtained by a solicitor for the purpose of an action are privileged. The Palermo, 9 P. D. 6, 5 Aspin. 165, 53 L. J. P. 6, 49 L. T. Rep. N. S. 551, 32 Wkly. Rep. 403.

Documents in office of successors to solicitors.— In an action as to a right in property, documents which were prepared for the purpose of the defense to a former action concerning the same right, defended by a predecessor in title of one of the parties, and found in the office of the successors of the solicitors of such predecessor, are privileged from production. Calcraft v. Guest, [1898] 1 Q. B. 759, 67 L. J. Q. B. 505, 78 L. T. Rep. N. S. 283, 46 Wkly. Rep. 420.

Extracts from public records, which are the result of the professional knowledge, research, and skill of a legal adviser, and have been obtained for the purpose of defending an action, are privileged. Lyell v. Kennedy, 27 Ch. D. 1, 51 L. J. Ch. 937, 50 L. T. Rep. N. S. 730.

Title deed.—An attorney will not be required to produce a deed of his client's title or to discover its date or contents. Kington v. Gale, Rep. t. Finch 259, 23 Eng. Reprint 142.

Office copies of the examination of a bankrupt before the commissioner ought not to be produced until the hearing of the cause. Gander v. Stansfeld, 5 Jur. N. S. 778, 28 L. J. Ch. 436, 7 Wkly. Rep. 297. Office copies of accounts of transactions between defendant and a bank, prepared under the direction of plaintiffs' solicitors, for the purposes of the action and also with a view to future litigation, produced on the examination of defendant, admitted by such defendant to be correct, and made exhibits to depositions, read in an order of compromise of the action, which copies are in plaintiff's possession, are not privileged from production in a subsequent action between the same parties. Goldstone v. Williams, [1899] 1 Ch. 47, 68 L. J. Ch. 24, 79 L. T. Rep. N. S. 373, 47 Wkly. Rep. 91.

(2) Cases and Opinions — (a) In General. Although there are decisions holding that a case submitted for an opinion is not privileged,[25] the undoubted weight of authority is that cases so submitted by a client to his attorney or counsel and the opinion of the latter rendered thereon are protected from discovery at the instance of third parties.[26]

(b) As Between Trustee and Cestui Que Trust. This rule extends to cases submitted by, and opinions or advice given to, trustees for the purpose of enabling them to resist claims of their cestuis que trustent[27] or to an opinion given to a cestui que trust to aid him in an action against a trustee for an infraction of the trust;[28] but opinions procured by trustees for their guidance in dealing with or managing the trust estate,[29] or taken by the trustee for the benefit of

In New York where from the petition for discovery, and the affidavit in opposition, there is reason to believe that it is in the possession or under the control of the party or his attorney, an order for its production is proper. Union Trust Co. v. Driggs, 49 N. Y. App. Div. 406, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 381.

25. Stanhope v. Roberts, 2 Atk. 214, 26 Eng. Reprint 532; Radcliffe v. Fursman, 2 Bro. P. C. 514, 1 Eng. Reprint 1101; Glegg v. Legh, 4 Madd. 193; Richards v. Jackson, 18 Ves. Jr. 472, 34 Eng. Reprint 396; Preston v. Carr, 1 Y. & J. 175; Newton v. Berresford, Younge 377.

Opinion alone privileged.— A bill will lie for the discovery of a case submitted to counsel for his opinion, but not as to the opinion. Radcliffe v. Fursman, 2 Bro. P. C. 514, 1 Eng. Reprint 1101; Richards v. Jackson, 18 Ves. Jr. 472, 34 Eng. Reprint 396.

Matters not relating to dispute.— In an action for specific performance, cases submitted to counsel and correspondence with solicitors prior to sale are not privileged, because not relating to the dispute out of which the litigation arose. Flight v. Robinson, 8 Beav. 22, 8 Jur. 888, 13 L. J. Ch. 425.

26. West Grove Nat. Bank v. Earle, 196 Pa. St. 217, 46 Atl. 268; Jenkyns v. Bushby, L. R. 2 Eq. 547, 12 Jur. N. S. 558, 35 L. J. Ch. 820, 15 L. T. Rep. N. S. 310; Penruddock v. Hammond, 11 Beav. 59; Reece v. Trye, 9 Beav. 316; Bunbury v. Bunbury, 2 Beav. 173, 9 L. J. Ch. 1, 17 Eng. Ch. 173; Dennis v. Codrington, Cary 100, 21 Eng. Reprint 53; Bristol v. Cox, 26 Ch. D. 678, 53 L. J. Ch. 1144, 50 L. T. Rep. N. S. 719, 33 Wkly. Rep. 255; Ex p. Collier, 4 Deac. & C. 364; Pearse v. Pearse, 1 De G. & Sm. 12, 11 Jur. 52, 16 L. J. Ch. 153; Mauser v. Dix, 3 Eq. Rep. 650, 1 Jur. N. S. 466, 1 Kay & J. 451, 24 L. J. Ch. 497, 3 Wkly. Rep. 313; Walsingham v. Goodricke, 3 Hare 122, 25 Eng. Ch. 122; McCann v. O'Conor, 1 Hog. 341; Glyn v. Caulfield, 15 Jur. 807, 3 Macn. & G. 463, 49 Eng. Ch. 358; Beadon v. King, 13 Jur. 570, 17 Sim. 34, 42 Eng. Ch. 34; Holmes v. Baddeley, 9 Jur. 289, 14 L. J. Ch. 113, 1 Phil. 476, 19 Eng. Ch. 476 [reversing 6 Beav. 521]; Birch v. Barker, 5 Jur. 430; Nias v. Northern, etc., R. Co., 2 Jur. 295, 7 L. J. Ch. 170, 3 Myl. & Cr. 355 [affirming 2 Keen 76, 15 Eng. Ch. 76]; Willson v. Leonard, 7 L. J. Ch. 242; Mostyn v. West Mostyn Coal, etc., Co., 34 L. T. Rep. N. S. 531; Parkhurst v. Lowten, 2 Swanst. 194 and note, 19 Rev. Rep. 66, 36 Eng. Reprint 589; Richards v. Jackson, 18 Ves. Jr. 472, 34 Eng. Reprint 396; Knight v. Waterford, 2 Y. & C. Exch. 37; Combe v. London, 1 Y. & Coll. 631, 4 Y. & Coll. 139, 6 Jur. 571, 20 Eng. Ch. 631; Preston v. Carr, 1 Y. & J. 175; Newton v. Berresford, Younge 377; Sankey v. Alexander, Ir. R. 8 Eq. 241.

A draft of an advertisement of the result of an action involving a trade-mark, submitted to counsel, and settled by him for publication is privileged in an action for libel founded on the publication of the advertisement. Lowden v. Blakey, 23 Q. B. D. 332, 54 J. P. 54, 58 L. J. Q. B. 617, 61 L. T. Rep. N. S. 251, 38 Wkly. Rep. 64.

Opinion to deceased executor.— A case and opinion as to claims against a deceased executor are protected in the hands of a surviving executor who did not act in a proceeding to enforce claims of a similar nature against him. Adams v. Barry, 2 Y. & Coll. 167, 21 Eng. Ch. 167.

Where plaintiff sues as a pauper defendant is not entitled to inspect the case submitted to counsel and his opinion thereon, upon which permission to sue was obtained. Sloane v. Britain Steamship Co., [1897] 1 Q. B. 185, 66 L. J. Q. B. 72, 75 L. T. Rep. N. S. 542, 45 Wkly. Rep. 203.

27. Brown v. Oakshott, 12 Beav. 252; Talbot v. Marshfield, 2 Dr. & Sm. 549, 6 New Rep. 288.

A mere claimant of an estate is not entitled to the production of cases and accompanying documents submitted and opinions taken by a trustee. Wynne v. Humberston, 27 Beav. 421, 5 Jur. N. S. 5, 28 L. J. Ch. 284.

The relation of trustee and cestui que trust must exist in fact before the latter can insist on the production of cases submitted to counsel by the former, the opinions thereon or the papers accompanying the cases. Wynne v. Humberston, 27 Beav. 421, 5 Jur. N. S. 5, 28 L. J. Ch. 281.

28. Woods v. Woods, 4 Hare 83, 30 Eng. Ch. 83.

29. Wynne v. Humberston, 27 Beav. 421, 5 Jur. N. S. 5, 28 L. J. Ch. 281; Talbot v. Marshfield, 2 Dr. & Sm. 549, 6 New Rep. 288; Thomas v. India State Secretary, 18 Wkly. Rep. 312.

Action for breach of trust.— In an action by cestuis que trustent to compel their trustees to respond for a breach of the trust, corthe cestui que trust, are not privileged in a suit by the cestui que trust against the trustee.[30]

(c) As Between Shareholder and Corporation. A shareholder suing a corporation is entitled to the discovery of communications between it and its legal advisers, which were paid for out of corporate funds.[31]

(3) Briefs. The privilege has been held to extend to briefs prepared by counsel for or on behalf of a suitor,[32] although this proposition has been denied.[33]

(4) Drafts of Pleadings — Memoranda of Counsel. Drafts of pleadings or affidavits,[34] or notes or memoranda made by an attorney or counsel to aid him in the conduct of his client's litigation or business are protected from discovery.[35]

(G) Documents Prepared by Client. While it has been held that the privilege does not extend to documents prepared by the client unconnected with professional legal consultation or advice,[36] it has also been held that documents prepared in relation to an intended action, whether at the request of a solicitor or not, or whether or not ultimately submitted to him, if prepared for the purpose of taking his advice thereon, are protected.[37]

(H) Disclosure of Residence and Occupation of Client. In this country the weight of authority is to the effect that the attorney for plaintiff may be compelled to disclose the residence and occupation of his client;[38] but in England the contrary rule prevails, where the address of the client has been communicated confidentially.[39] respondence between the trustees and their solicitors relative to matters involved in the action are not privileged. In re Mason, 22 Ch. D. 609, 52 L. J. Ch. 478, 48 L. T. Rep. N. S. 631.

No expense to estate.— Letters by trustees to their solicitors with reference to the trust and instructions and memoranda prepared by the latter for counsel are privileged, where no expense was incurred by the estate. Bacon v. Bacon, 34 L. T. Rep. N. S. 349.

30. Devaynes v. Robinson, 20 Beav. 42.

31. Gouraud v. Edison Gower Bell Telephone Co., 57 L. J. Ch. 498, 59 L. T. Rep. N. S. 813. But see Bristol v. Cox, 26 Ch. D. 678, 53 L. J. Ch. 1144, 50 L. T. Rep. N. S. 719, 33 Wkly. Rep. 255, where it was held that cases submitted to counsel by a municipal corporation and opinions thereon were privileged, although the party seeking their production was a rate-payer, and the opinions were paid for out of the rates.

32. Nicholl v. Jones, 2 Hem. & M. 588, 5 New Rep. 361, 13 Wkly. Rep. 451; Willson v. Leonard, 7 L. J. Ch. 242.

33. Walsham v. Stainton, 2 Hem. & M. 1, 9 L. T. Rep. N. S. 603, 3 New Rep. 241, 12 Wkly. Rep. 119.

Lunacy proceedings.— In an action by a remainder-man who had been committee of the life-tenant to enforce an agreement made in lunacy in respect of the estate, defendant, who it is claimed entered upon the estate in his private as well as his representative capacity, may be required to produce a brief of counsel in the lunacy proceedings. Re Brown, 42 L. T. Rep. N. S. 501, 28 Wkly. Rep. 575.

34. Lamb v. Orton, 1 Drew. 414, 10 Hare (appendix) xxxi, 22 L. J. Ch. 713, 44 Eng. Ch. 745, 1 Wkly. Rep. 207; Walsham v. Stainton, 2 Hem. & M. 1, 9 L. T. Rep. N. S. 603, 3 New Rep. 241, 12 Wkly. Rep. 119.

As against representative of client.— The draft of an answer prepared for a deceased defendant is privileged as to his personal representative. Belsham v. Perceval, 10 Jur. 772, 15 L. J. Ch. 438.

35. Nicholl v. Jones, 2 Hem. & M. 588, 5 New Rep. 361, 13 Wkly. Rep. 451; Walsham v. Stainton, 2 Hem. & M. 1, 9 L. T. Rep. N. S. 603, 3 New Rep. 241, 12 Wkly. Rep. 119.

A bill of the costs or charges of an attorney are privileged (Turton v. Barber, L. R. 17 Eq. 329, 43 L. J. Ch. 468, 22 Wkly. Rep. 432) as against the client or those claiming under him (Chant v. Brown, 9 Hare 790, 16 Jur. 606, 41 Eng. Ch. 790).

Notes of proceedings had in presence of adverse party.— Copies of or extracts from memoranda or notes made by a solicitor of what took place in proceedings at chambers in the presence of the opposite party are not privileged. Ainsworth v. Wilding, [1900] 2 Ch. 315, 69 L. J. Ch. 695, 48 Wkly. Rep. 539.

36. Maden v. Veevers, 7 Beav. 489, 29 Eng. Ch. 489, 5 Beav. 503, 12 L. J. Ch. 38.

Anticipated litigation.—A document is not protected on the ground that it was made to lay before a solicitor for his use in the defense in the event that an action was brought. Cook v. North Metropolitan Tramway Co., 54 J. P. 263.

37. Southwark, etc., Water Co. v. Quick, 3 Q. B. D. 315, 47 L. J. Q. B. 258, 26 Wkly. Rep. 341 [affirming 38 L. T. Rep. N. S. 28].

A model of premises destroyed by a casualty cannot be inspected by the adverse party. Morley v. Great Cent. Gas Co., 2 F. & F. 373.

38. Alden v. Goddard, 73 Me. 345; Corbett v. Gibson, 18 Hun (N. Y.) 49; Ninety-nine Plaintiffs v. Vanderbilt, 4 Duer (N. Y.) 632; Walton v. Fairchild, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 522. But see Corbett v. Gibson, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,222, 16 Blatchf. 336.

39. Ex p. Campbell, L. R. 5 Ch. 703, 23

(I) Illegal and Fraudulent Transactions. Communications in furtherance of an illegal or improper purpose, or relative to a fraud contrived between the attorney and his client, are not privileged.[40]

(J) Who May Assert Privilege—(1) In General. The privilege is not that of the attorney but of the client or his representatives,[41] and no presumption arises against a client who declines to permit his solicitor to disclose confidential communication.[42]

(2) Lien on Documents. An attorney cannot insist on a lien on documents as against a party seeking its production but as against whom he has no claim;[43] nor can one who has created such a lien compel production of the document on which the lien is claimed.[44]

(K) Waiver or Loss of Privilege. The privilege may be waived by the client,[45]

L. T. Rep. N. S. 289, 18 Wkly. Rep. 1056; Heath v. Crealock, L. R. 15 Eq. 257, 42 L. J. Ch. 455, 28 L. T. Rep. N. S. 101, 21 Wkly. Rep. 380; Harris v. Holler, 7 D. & L. 319, 19 L. J. Q. B. 62; Re Arnott, 60 L. T. Rep. N. S. 109, 5 Morr. Bankr. Cas. 286, 37 Wkly. Rep. 223; Clark v. Compton, 4 New Rep. 15. But see contra Cox v. Bochett, 18 C. B. N. S. 239, 11 Jur. N. S. 88, 34 L. J. C. P. 125, 11 L. T. Rep. N. S. 629, 13 Wkly. Rep. 292, 114 E. C. L. 239.

In a proper case, however, a solicitor may be required to disclose the address of a ward of the court. A solicitor is bound to disclose to the court information as to the whereabouts of a ward of the court, although he derived such information confidentially from his client in the course of his employment. Ramsbotham v. Senior, L. R. 8 Eq. 575, 21 L. T. Rep. N. S. 293, 17 Wkly. Rep. 1057, where the solicitor was ordered to produce the envelopes of letters from his client, the mother of the ward who had absconded with her, for inspection of the postmarks.

40. Reynell v. Sprye, 10 Beav. 51, 11 Beav. 618, 16 L. J. Ch. 117; Williams v. Quebrada R., etc., Co., [1895] 2 Ch. 751, 65 L. J. Ch. 68, 73 L. T. Rep. N. S. 397, 44 Wkly. Rep. 76; In re Postlethwaite, 35 Ch. D. 722, 56 L. J. Ch. 1077, 56 L. T. Rep. N. S. 733, 36 Wkly. Rep. 563; Cutts v. Pickering, 3 Ch. Rep. 66, 21 Eng. Reprint 730; Gore v. Bowser, 5 De G. & Sm. 30, 15 Jur. 1168, 21 L. J. Ch. 10; Russell v. Jackson, 9 Hare 387, 15 Jur. 1117, 21 L. J. Ch. 146, 41 Eng. Ch. 387; Hawkins v. Gathercole, 15 Jur. 186, 20 L. J. Ch. 303, 1 Sim. N. S. 150, 40 Eng. Ch. 150; Feaver v. Williams, 11 Jur. N. S. 902, 13 L. T. Rep. N. S. 270; Davis v. Parry, 4 Jur. N. S. 431, 27 L. J. Ch. 294, 6 Wkly. Rep. 171; Gartside v. Outram, 3 Jur. N. S. 39, 26 L. J. Ch. 113, 5 Wkly. Rep. 35; Gresley v. Mousley, 2 Jur. N. S. 156, 2 Kay & J. 288; Kelly v. Jackson, 13 Ir. Eq. 129.

Parties charged with fraud cannot claim privilege. Phillips v. Holmer, 15 Wkly. Rep. 578.

Illegal purpose.— The communication will not be protected because it may lead to the disclosure of an illegal purpose. Russell v. Jackson, 9 Hare 387, 15 Jur. 1117, 21 L. J. Ch. 146, 41 Eng. Ch. 387.

Immoral transaction.— It is immaterial that the transaction is immoral, if nothing transpired between the attorney and client which was unlawful, or it was proper to give the advice sought. Mornington v. Mornington, 2 Johns. & H. 697; Follett v. Jefferyes, 15 Jur. 118, 20 L. J. Ch. 65, 1 Sim. N. S. 3, 40 Eng. Ch. 3.

Attorney not party to action.— In Charlton v. Coombes, 4 Giff. 372, 9 Jur. N. S. 534, 32 L. J. Ch. 284, 8 L. T. Rep. N. S. 81, 1 New Rep. 547, 11 Wkly. Rep. 504, a demurrer by a solicitor to the production of letters written to him by his client about the time and with relation to an alleged fraudulent matter was allowed, the solicitor not having been made a party nor charged with fraud.

41. Russell v. Jackson, 9 Hare 387, 15 Jur. 1117, 21 L. J. Ch. 146, 41 Eng. Ch. 387; Gresley v. Mousley, 2 Jur. N. S. 156, 2 Kay & J. 288; Herring v. Clobery, 6 Jur. 202, 11 L. J. Ch. 149, 1 Phil. 91, 19 Eng. Ch. 91; Procter v. Smiles, 55 L. J. Q. B. 527; Parkhurst v. Lowten, 2 Swanst. 194, 19 Rev. Rep. 63, 36 Eng. Reprint 589; Wilson v. Rastall, 4 T. R. 753, 2 Rev. Rep. 515.

Parties claiming adversely under deceased client.— The reasons for the protection do not apply in cases of testamentary disposition by the client as between different parties claiming in different rights under and adversely to the will. Thus the privilege does not belong to executors against the next of kin, but following the legal interest is subject to the trusts and incidents to which the legal interest is subject. Russell v. Jackson, 9 Hare 387, 15 Jur. 1117, 21 L. J. Ch. 146, 41 Eng. Ch. 387.

42. Wentworth v. Lloyd, 10 H. L. Cas. 589, 10 Jur. N. S. 961, 33 L. J. Ch. 688, 10 L. T. Rep. N. S. 767.

43. In re Cameron's Coalbrook, etc., R. Co., 25 Beav. 1.

Lien for costs.— An attorney sued by a person claiming under his client cannot refuse to produce documents belonging to the latter on the ground that he has a lien thereon for costs. Lockett v. Cary, 3 New Rep. 405.

44. Hope v. Liddell, 20 Beav. 438, 7 De G. M. & G. 331, 3 Eq. Rep. 790, 1 Jur. N. S. 665, 24 L. J. Ch. 691, 3 Wkly. Rep. 581, 56 Eng. Ch. 255.

45. In re Cameron's Coalbrook, etc., Co., 25 Beav. 1, failure of client to object.

but not by the attorney, unless the client consent,[46] and a waiver of privilege as to a part of the documents does not affect the question of privilege as to the rest.[47] The privilege may be lost by publication of the documents,[48] by the attorney subsequently becoming the personal representative of his client,[49] or by setting out the privileged matter in a pleading;[50] but not by furnishing the adverse attorney with extracts of an opinion,[51] or loaning copies of a case and opinion to attorneys in another like case,[52] or by having made use of the documents in a former proceeding.[53]

(II) Communications Between Husband and Wife. A bill of discovery cannot be obtained against a husband or a wife to obtain evidence to use against the other,[54] and the death of one of them will not prevent the claim of privilege by the survivor as to communications made in his or her lifetime;[55] but it may be maintained for the purpose of obtaining evidence from a married person to be used against other parties, although the husband or wife has a collateral interest in opposition to the party filing the bill.[56]

(III) Communications Between Physician and Patient. Communications made by patients to their physicians are privileged.[57]

(IV) State Secrets. Political communications, the disclosure of which may be detrimental to the public interest, are privileged from discovery.[58] The question is to be determined not by the court but by the head of the department having the information.[59]

(V) Matter Subjecting Party to Criminal Prosecution. A person cannot be compelled to make a discovery, the effect of which might be to subject him to an indictment and punishment for an offense against the law of the state,[60]

Where a solicitor joined with his client as defendant claims privilege, but the client makes no objection, documents called for must be produced. Gaskell v. Chambers, 26 Beav. 303, 28 L. J. Ch. 388.

46. In re Cameron's Coalbrook, etc., R. Co., 25 Beav. 1.

Where the solicitor has acquired an interest in the subject-matter of the communications subsequent thereto, if he refuses to disclose them the consent of the client may be disregarded. Chant v. Brown, 7 Hare 79, 27 Eng. Ch. 79.

47. Lyell v. Kennedy, 27 Ch. D. 1, 51 L. J. Ch. 937, 50 L. T. Rep. N. S. 730.

48. Underwood v. India State Secretary, 12 Jur. N. S. 321, 35 L. J. Ch. 545, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 385, 14 Wkly. Rep. 551.

49. Crosby v. Beiger, 4 Edw. (N. Y.) 254 [affirmed in 11 Paige 377, 42 Am. Dec. 117].

50. Belsham v. Perceval, 10 Jur. 772, 15 L. J. Ch. 438. Compare Roberts v. Oppenheim, 26 Ch. D. 724, 53 L. J. Ch. 1148, 50 L. T. Rep. N. S. 729, 32 Wkly. Rep. 654.

51. Carey v. Cuthbert, Ir. R. 6 Eq. 599.

52. Enthoven v. Cobb, 2 De G. M. & G. 632, 17 Jur. 81, 51 Eng. Ch. 494.

53. Goldstone v. Williams, [1899] 1 Ch. 47, 68 L. J. Ch. 24, 79 L. T. Rep. N. S. 373, 47 Wkly. Rep. 91.

54. McCartney v. Fletcher, 10 App. Cas. (D. C.) 572; City Bank v. Bangs, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 36; Barron v. Grillard, 3 Ves. & B. 165, 35 Eng. Reprint 441; Le Texier v. Anspach, 5 Ves. Jr. 322, 31 Eng. Reprint 610; Alban v. Pritchett, 6 T. R. 680.

55. McCartney v. Fletcher, 10 App. Cas. (D. C.) 572.

56. Fitch v. Hill, 11 Mass. 286; Nelius v. Brickell, 2 N. C. 19; Ex p. James, 1 P. Wms. 610, 24 Eng. Reprint 538; Cole v. Gray, 2 Vern. Ch. 79, 23 Eng. Reprint 660; Vowles v. Young, 13 Ves. Jr. 140, 9 Rev. Rep. 154, 33 Eng. Reprint 247.

57. Lowenthal v. Leonard, 20 N. Y. App. Div. 330, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 818.

58. Hennessy v. Wright, 21 Q. B. D. 509, 53 J. P. 52, 56 L. J. Q. B. 530, 59 L. T. Rep. N. S. 323; Wadeer v. East India Co., 8 De G. M. & G. 182, 2 Jur. N. S. 407, 25 L. J. Ch. 345, 4 Wkly. Rep. 421, 57 Eng. Ch. 142; The H. M. S. Bellerophon, 44 L. J. Adm. 5, 31 L. T. Rep. N. S. 756, 23 Wkly. Rep. 248; Smith v. East India Co., 11 L. J. Ch. 71, 1 Phil. 50, 19 Eng. Ch. 50; Wright v. Mills, 62 L. T. Rep. N. S. 558.

Information to the government that a party intends to defraud the revenue laws is privileged. Worthington v. Scribner, 109 Mass. 487, 12 Am. Rep. 736.

How shown that discovery is inexpedient. — It is not sufficient to state in a formal affidavit that the discovery is objected to on the ground of public policy, but it should appear that the mind of a responsible person has been brought to bear on the question of the expediency to the public interest of giving or refusing the information asked for. Kain v. Farrer, 37 L. T. Rep. N. S. 469.

59. Beatson v. Skene, 5 H. & N. 838, 6 Jur. N. S. 780, 29 L. J. Exch. 430, 2 L. T. Rep. N. S. 378, 8 Wkly. Rep. 544.

60. Georgia.—Higdon v. Heard, 14 Ga. 255.

Illinois.— Robson v. Doyle, 191 Ill. 566, 61 N. E. 435; Hayes v. Caldwell, 10 Ill. 33.

Maryland.— Broadbent v. State, 7 Md. 416.

Massachusetts.— Adams v. Porter, 1 Cush. 170.

and he cannot waive this right even by agreement.[61] But the protection against answering does not extend to matters of moral turpitude not criminally punishable,[62] or to matters of crime, prosecution for which is barred by the statute of limitations.[63] And where a statute provides that no disclosure made in a civil suit shall be used in a criminal prosecution, it is no excuse for not making discovery that the civil injury for which complainant is seeking redress is also an offense under the criminal law.[64] So where a part only of the discovery sought tends to incriminate defendant, he should answer as to the part which would not

New Jersey.— Fairchild v. Fairchild, 43 N. J. Eq. 473, 11 Atl. 426; Black v. Black, 26 N. J. Eq. 431; Marsh v. Marsh, 16 N. J. Eq. 391, 84 Am. Dec. 164.

New York.— Deas v. Harvie, 2 Barb. Ch. 448; Taylor v. Bruen, 2 Barb. Ch. 301; Marsh v. Davison, 9 Paige 580; New York M. E. Church v. Jaques, 1 Johns. Ch. 65.

Ohio.— Kibby v. Kibby, Wright 607.

Tennessee.—Douglass v. Wood, 1 Swan 393.

Virginia.— Northwestern Bank v. Nelson, 1 Gratt. 108.

United States.—U. S. v. National Lead Co., 75 Fed. 94; Ocean Ins. Co. v. Fields, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,406, 2 Story 59; Stewart v. Drasha, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,424, 4 McLean 563.

England.— Selby v. Crew, 2 Anstr. 504; Oliver v. Haywood, 1 Anstr. 82; Harrison v. Southcote, 1 Atk. 528, 26 Eng. Reprint 333; Wallis v. Portland, 8 Bro. P. C. 161, 3 Eng. Reprint 588, 3 Ves. Jr. 494, 30 Eng. Reprint 1123, 4 Rev. Rep. 78; Cartwright v. Green, 2 Leach 952, 8 Ves. Jr. 405, 7 Rev. Rep. 99, 32 Eng. Reprint 412; Alabaster v. Harness, 70 L. T. Rep. N. S. 375; Thorpe v. Macauley, 5 Madd. 218; Redfern v. Redfern, [1891] P. 139, 60 L. J. P. 9; Harvey v. Lovekin, 10 P. D. 122, 54 L. J. P. 1, 33 Wkly. Rep. 188; Euston v. Smith, 9 P. D. 57, 32 Wkly. Rep. 596; Sarp v. Carter, 3 P. Wms. 375, 24 Eng. Reprint 1108; Firebrass' Case, 2 Salk. 550; Fleming v. St. John, 2 Sim. 181, 2 Eng. Ch. 181; Whitaker v. Izod, 2 Taunt. 115; Bird v. Hardwicke, 1 Vern. Ch. 109, 23 Eng. Reprint 349; Ex p. Symes, 11 Ves. Jr. 521, 32 Eng. Reprint 1191.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 12.

Where the bill is not demurrable because it does not charge defendant with anything which on its face imputes criminal misconduct to him an answer that the circumstances of the acts charged are such as to amount to a crime is sufficient to protect defendant from further answering. Northwestern Bank v. Nelson, 1 Gratt. (Va.) 108.

61. Lee v. Read, 5 Beav. 381, 6 Jur. 1026, 12 L. J. Ch. 26.

62. Connecticut.— Skinner v. Judson, 8 Conn. 528, 21 Am. Dec. 691.

Maine.— Foss v. Haynes, 31 Me. 81.

Mississippi.— Watts v. Smith, 24 Miss. 77.

New York.— Attwood v. Coe, 4 Sandf. Ch. 412.

Canada.—MacDonald v. Sheppard Pub. Co., 19 Ont. Pr. 282.

England.— French v. Connelly, 2 Anstr. 454; Goodman v. Holroyd, 15 C. B. N. S. 839, 109 E. C. L. 839; Manningham v. Bolingbroke, Dick. 533, 21 Eng. Reprint 377; Stickland v. Aldridge, 9 Ves. Jr. 516, 7 Rev. Rep. 292, 32 Eng. Reprint 703.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 12.

Illustration.— After the commencement of a suit upon a promissory note indorsed in blank by two persons as holders thereof, defendant filed a bill against one of the plaintiffs stating that he had a good defense to the action and that such plaintiff, defendant in the bill, was a material witness for defendant and that he had no interest in the note and had been made a party fraudulently for the purpose of depriving defendant of his testimony, and a discovery of these facts was prayed; but the bill did not disclose the nature of the defense and no discovery of evidence to be used in the trial at law was asked. It was held that the bill was sufficient and a demurrer on the ground that the purpose of the discovery might be useless or frivolous, or might subject defendant in the bill to a forfeiture or to punishment for crime was overruled. McIntyre v. Mancius, 16 Johns. (N. Y.) 592. Although the effect of usury is to subject the usurious lender to a loss of the money lent, yet a bill for discovery and relief in such case is not a criminal case, within the meaning of the provision of the constitution exempting persons from bearing testimony against themselves. Perrine v. Striker, 7 Paige (N. Y.) 598.

63. Skinner v. Judson, 8 Conn. 528, 21 Am. Dec. 691; Dwinal v. Smith, 25 Me. 379; Trinity House Corp. v. Burge, 7 L. J. Ch. O. S. 44, 2 Sim. 411, 29 Rev. Rep. 126, 2 Eng. Ch. 413. But the fact that the crime is barred by the statute of limitations must appear on the face of the bill, otherwise it cannot be insisted on at the hearing. Northwestern Bank v. Nelson, 1 Gratt. (Va.) 108.

64. Kentucky.— Meres v. Chrisman, 7 B. Mon. 422.

Maryland.— Day v. State, 7 Gill 321.

New York.— Siffkin v. Manning, 4 Edw. 37.

Pennsylvania.— Rose v. Savings Fund, 6 Phila. 10.

Tennessee.— Douglass v. Wood, 1 Swan 393.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 12.

Cases to which statute not applicable.— The act of 1833 providing that a defendant shall be obliged to answer as to any fraud, but that his answer shall not be used against him on an indictment, only intends to provide for compelling answer in cases in which he cannot be punished by common law but can be by statute, and hence an answer to a incriminate him,[65] but only to that part,[66] and if the matter tending to incriminate and that which does not are so mixed up or connected that either by inference or exclusion they may lead to a disclosure which might subject defendant to prosecution, he is not bound to answer any portion of it. It is the duty of plaintiff to separate the two.[67] The privilege does not extend to a discovery of facts that would tend to incriminate others.[68]

(VI) MATTER SUBJECTING PARTY TO FORFEITURE OR PENALTY. Where the effect of making discovery would be to subject a party to a forfeiture or penalty, he is privileged from making the discovery,[69] unless the bill releases all claim to charge that defendant has conspired to defraud complainant by means of forgeries cannot be compelled. Union Bank v. Barker, 3 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 358.

Cases to which statute applicable.— The act of March 3, 1860, makes it an offense for an officer of a body corporate to misappropriate moneys of such corporation, and by section 123 of the same act no such officer shall be entitled to refuse to make discovery by answer to a bill in equity, but such answer shall not be admissible in evidence against him if charged with any such misdemeanor. It was held that defendant, an officer of a municipal corporation, was within the provisions of said section and should make discovery by answer to a bill in equity. Philadelphia v. Keyser, 10 Phila. (Pa.) 50.

65. Fisher v. Price, 11 Beav. 194, 18 L. J. Ch. 235.

66. U. S. Bank v. Biddle, 2 Pars. Eq. Cas. (Pa.) 31.

67. Lichfield v. Bond, 6 Beav. 88, 7 Jur. 209, 12 L. J. Ch. 327; Glynn v. Houston, 1 Keen 329, 6 L. J. Ch. 129, 15 Eng. Ch. 329.

68. Tetley v. Easton, 18 C. B. 643, 25 L. J. C. P. 293, 86 E. C. L. 643; Parkhurst v. Lowten, 2 Swanst. 194, 19 Rev. Rep. 63, 36 Eng. Reprint 589. Thus an agent of a corporation cannot decline to answer for the reason that his answer would expose the corporation to a prosecution for a misdemeanor. Conant v. Delafield, 3 Edw. (N. Y.) 201.

69. Illinois.— Robson v. Doyle, 191 Ill. 566, 61 N. E. 435.

New Jersey.— Vanderveer v. Holcomb, 17 N. J. Eq. 87.

New York.— Bailey v. Dean, 5 Barb. 297; Tayler v. Bruen, 2 Barb. Ch. 301; Lansing v. Pine, 4 Paige 639; Brockway v. Copp, 3 Paige 539; Livingston v. Harris, 3 Paige 528; Livingston v. Tompkins, 4 Johns. Ch. 415, 8 Am. Dec. 598.

North Carolina.— McDowell v. Maultsby, 62 N. C. 16.

Tennessee.— Lindsley v. James, 3 Coldw. 477.

Virginia.— Northwestern Bank v. Nelson, 1 Gratt. 108.

West Virginia.— Thompson v. Whitaker Iron Co., 41 W. Va. 574, 23 S. E. 795.

United States.— U. S. v. Saline Bank, 1 Pet. 100, 7 L. ed. 69; U. S. v. National Lead Co., 75 Fed. 94; Atwill v. Ferrett, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 640, 2 Blatchf. 39; U. S. v. Twenty-eight Packages of Pins, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,561, Gilp. 306.

England.— Mexborough v. Whitwood Urban Dist. Council, [1897] 2 Q. B. 111, 66 L. J. Q. B. 637, 76 L. T. Rep. N. S. 765, 45 Wkly. Rep. 564; The Mary or Alexandra, L. R. 2 A. & E. 319, 38 L. J. Adm. 29, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 891, 17 Wkly. Rep. 551; Honeywood v. Selwin, 3 Atk. 276, 26 Eng. Reprint 961; Duncalf v. Blake, 1 Atk. 52, 26 Eng. Reprint 35; Mitchell v. Koecker, 11 Beav. 380, 12 Beav. 44, 13 Jur. 797, 18 L. J. Ch. 394; Nobkissen v. Hastings, 4 Bro. Ch. 253, 29 Eng. Reprint 879, 2 Ves. Jr. 84, 30 Eng. Reprint 535; Atty.-Gen. v. Vincent, Bunb. 192; Fane v. Atlee, 1 Eq. Cas. Abr. 77, 21 Eng. Reprint 890; Robinson v. Lamond, 15 Jur. 240; Parkhurst v. Lowten, 1 Meriv. 391, 15 Rev. Rep. 359, 35 Eng. Reprint 718; Hincks v. Nelthorpe, 1 Vern. Ch. 204, 23 Eng. Reprint 414; Brownsword v. Edwards, 2 Ves. 243, 28 Eng. Reprint 157; East India Co. v. Campbell, 1 Ves. 246, 27 Eng. Reprint 1010; Uxbridge v. Staveland, 1 Ves. 56, 27 Eng. Reprint 888.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 12.

Action by informer.— Discovery will not be granted in aid of an action brought by a common informer. Saunders v. Wiel, [1892] 2 Q. B. 321, 62 L. J. Q. B. 37, 67 L. T. Rep. N. S. 207, 4 Reports 1, 40 Wkly. Rep. 594; Hobbs v. Hudson, 25 Q. B. D. 232, 54 J. P. 520, 59 L. J. Q. B. 562, 63 L. T. Rep. N. S. 215, 38 Wkly. Rep. 682; Jones v. Jones, 22 Q. B. D. 425, 58 L. J. Q. B. 178, 60 L. T. Rep. N. S. 421, 37 Wkly. Rep. 479; Martin v. Treacher, 16 Q. B. D. 507, 50 J. P. 356, 55 L. J. Q. B. 209, 54 L. T. Rep. N. S. 7, 34 Wkly. Rep. 315; Hunnings v. Williamson, 10 Q. B. D. 459, 47 J. P. 390, 52 L. J. Q. B. 273, 48 L. T. Rep. N. S. 581, 31 Wkly. Rep. 336.

Usury.— Discovery will not be granted in aid of the defense of usury. Pearce v. Hedrick, 3 Litt. (Ky.) 109; Masters v. Prentiss, 55 N. C. 62; Smith v. Fisher, 2 Desauss. (S. C.) 275; Hogshead v. Baylor, 16 Gratt. (Va.) 99. Contra, Zeigler v. Scott, 10 Ga. 389, 54 Am. Dec. 395; Ball v. Leonard, 24 Ill. 146.

The refunding of money received on a stock-jobbing transaction is not such a forfeiture as will excuse a defendant liable to refund from answering under oath in relation to such transaction. Gram v. Stebbins, 6 Paige (N. Y.) 124.

Forfeiture of securities for moneys lent at play is not a penalty of such a nature as to protect a party from discovering whether the security on which he brings his action was not for moneys lent at play. Sloman v. Kelly, 4 Y. & C. Exch. 169.

the penalty,[70] or unless the right to protect himself against answering has been waived by agreement by defendant as is competent for him to do,[71] or unless the right to enforce the penalty or forfeiture is barred by the statute of limitations.[72]

(VII) How Privilege Claimed. Where facts sufficient to justify defendant's claim of privilege appear on the face of the bill the claim may be made by demurrer,[73] otherwise it must be made in the answer.[74]

f. Practice. A bill of discovery cannot be set down for final hearing.[75] The proper course is either to strike it out of the paper,[76] or to pray an order on plaintiff to pay the costs of the suit to be taxed.[77] An order to stay proceedings because a bill of discovery is pending must be made in the equity suit and not in the action at law.[78]

Forfeiture of charter.— The objection that a discovery may subject a corporation of which defendants are officers to forfeiture of its charter is not sufficient to support a general demurrer to the whole bill, both as to the discovery and relief, even if it would have authorized a demurrer to the discovery as to particular facts. Defendants may be compelled to make discovery in certain cases, although it may subject the corporation to forfeiture of its franchises. Robinson v. Smith, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 222, 24 Am. Dec. 212.

Conversion by widow of property belonging to estate.— To a bill of discovery filed by an executor against the widow of his testator charging her with withholding from him a certain sum of money and choses in action belonging to the estate of his testator and that no person was present when she possessed herself of them so that there was no legal proof without a discovery, defendant demurred on the ground that the discovery might and did by the laws of the state subject her to certain pains and penalties, but the court overruled the demurrer and held that the allegations in the bill were not such as would if answered subject her to such consequences. Wolf v. Wolf, 2 Harr. & G. (Md.) 382, 18 Am. Dec. 313.

70. Shed v. Garfield, 5 Vt. 39; Finch v. Rikeman, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,788, 2 Blatchf. 301; Boteler v. Allington, 3 Atk. 453, 26 Eng. Reprint 1061; Atty.-Gen. v. Conroy, 2 Jones Exch. 791.

71. French v. Macale, 1 C. & L. 459, 2 Dr. & War. 269, 4 Ir. Eq. 568; East India Co. v. Atkins, 1 Str. 168; African Co. v. Parish, 2 Vern. Ch. 244, 23 Eng. Reprint 758. A man may contract so as to incur the obligation to make the discovery of all the facts relative to that contract, although the effect of that discovery may incidentally subject him to pecuniary penalties. Green v. Weaver, 6 L. J. Ch. O. S. 1, 1 Sim. 404, 27 Rev. Rep. 214, 2 Eng. Ch. 404.

72. Williams v. Farrington, 3 Bro. Ch. 38, 29 Eng. Reprint 395; Talbot v. Smith, 1 Ridg. L. & S. 360.

Limits of rule.— The rule, however, has never been so far extended as to relieve a party from answering on the ground that it would subject him to a mere pecuniary loss which he could not in justice claim, or that the answer would affect his right of action for the recovery of a sum of money in violation of law (Taylor v. Matchell, 1 How. (Miss.) 596; Williams v. Trye, 18 Beav. 366, 18 Jur. 442, 23 L. J. Ch. 860, 2 Wkly. Rep. 314; Benyon v. Nettlefold, 15 Jur. 209, 20 L. J. Ch. 186, 3 Macn. & G. 94, 49 Eng. Ch. 71); and defendant is not protected from discovery where an answer might merely subject him to liquidated damages and not a penalty (Adams v. Batly, 18 Q. B. D. 625, 56 L. J. Q. B. 393, 56 L. T. Rep. N. S. 770, 35 Wkly. Rep. 437; Jones v. Green, 3 Y. & J. 298); or where the discovery may occasion loss of a future or present benefit as in the case of a conditional limitation over (Chauncey v. Tahourden, 2 Atk. 392, 26 Eng. Reprint 637). So if it is a debatable question whether there is a penalty attached to the act, discovery of which is sought, the party must answer (Wilkinson v. L'Engier, 2 Y. & C. Exch. 366), and where a defendant does not object to answering on the ground that his answer may subject him to a penalty or forfeiture, and does not allege in his answer that the discovery sought would subject him to any such danger, he cannot avail himself of that defense on the argument. Thomas v. Watson, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,913, Taney 297.

73. McCartney v. Fletcher, 10 App. Cas. (D. C.) 572; West Point Nat. Bank v. Earle, 196 Pa. St. 217, 46 Atl. 268; Wistar v. McManus, 54 Pa. St. 318, 93 Am. Dec. 700; Daisley v. Dun, 98 Fed. 497.

74. McCartney v. Fletcher, 10 App. Cas. (D. C.) 572; Hayes v. Caldwell, 10 Ill. 33.

Defendant must fully state in his answer the facts which entitle him to protection, and a mere statement in argument of counsel of a reason for declining to answer an interrogatory is not sufficient. Slater v. Banwell, 50 Fed. 150.

75. Townsend v. Odam, Walk. (Miss.) 356.

It is improper to dismiss a bill in equity for discovery for want of prosecution. Woodcock v. King, 1 Atk. 286, 26 Eng. Reprint 183; Anonymous, Moseley 185; Bennett v. Harrap, 22 L. T. Rep. N. S. 647; Parr v. Howlin, San. & Sc. 124. But see Gurish v. Donovan, 2 Atk. 166, Barn. Ch. 428, 26 Eng. Reprint 504.

76. Anonymous, Moseley 185.

77. Woodcock v. King, 1 Atk. 286, 26 Eng. Reprint 183.

78. Noble v. Tillotson, 2 Ind. 553.

g. Costs. As a general rule the complainant in a bill of discovery must pay the costs.[79] But where prior to the filing of the bill an application has been made to the opposite party for the information sought and he has refused to furnish the information and the same is within his knowledge he is not entitled to costs.[80] So where a bill for discovery contains also a prayer for general relief and a replication is filed to the answer defendant is not entitled to an order for costs on motion as in a mere bill for discovery,[81] and where an injunction is prayed in aid of a bill of discovery solely and unsuccessfully opposed, the costs therein must be paid by defendant.[82] Where exceptions to the answer are taken and sustained, defendant must pay the costs upon the exceptions.[83] Under the English practice, when defendant to a bill of discovery and a commission examines in chief, instead of confining himself to cross-examination, he should not have costs,[84] and in any event neither party is entitled to costs as to the commission.[85] For the purpose of taxing costs the officers of corporations are deemed part of the corporation.[86] But when the discovery obtained is used to charge the officers in supplemental proceedings they are entitled to their costs.[87] Where the complainant is compelled to pay the costs of an officer of a corporation necessarily made a party to a bill he is entitled to recover the same from the other parties to the suit.[88]

B. Production and Inspection of Books and Papers — 1. Jurisdiction. The power to direct either party to give to the other an inspection and permission to take copies of any books or papers in his possession is inherent in a court of equity, and can be exercised in the absence of any statute conferring such right.[89] The jurisdiction is confined to cases where the same are evidential in a cause pending in the court, and cases arising under a bill filed for relief, as well as for discovery, or under a bill filed for discovery only in aid of a prosecution or defense in litigation pending or contemplated.[90] The power of a court of equity to order production or inspection of books or papers should be exercised with

79. Alabama.— Drake v. Foster, 28 Ala. 649.

Maryland.— Price v. Tyson, 3 Bland 392, 22 Am. Dec. 279.

Massachusetts.— Wright v. Dame, 1 Metc. 237.

New Hampshire.— Dennis v. Riley, 21 N. H. 50.

New York.— Deas v. Harvie, 2 Barb. Ch. 448; Broughton v. Phillips, 6 Paige 334; King v. Clark, 3 Paige 76; Burnett v. Sanders, 4 Johns. Ch. 503.

Ohio.— Porter v. Dailey, Wright 759.

South Carolina.— McCelvy v. Noble, 13 Rich. 330.

England.— London Assur. Co. v. Hankey, 1 Anstr. 9; Hickey v. Duffey, Hayes 353; Skrine v. Powell, 9 Jur. 1054, 15 Sim. 81, 38 Eng. Ch. 81; Meyrick v. Whishaw, 4 Madd. 272; Noble v. Garland, 1 Madd. 344; Coventry v. Bentley, 3 Meriv. 677, 36 Eng. Reprint 259; Hibberson v. Fielding, 2 Sim. & St. 371, 1 Eng. Ch. 371; Simmonds v. Kinnaird, 4 Ves. Jr. 735, 31 Eng. Reprint 380.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 38.

80. Dennis v. Riley, 21 N. H. 50; King v. Clark, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 76; Burnett v. Sanders, 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 503; McElwee v. Sutton, 1 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 32; Lovell v. Yates, 6 Jur. 479, 11 L. J. Ch. 158; Perry v. Newenham, 1 Molloy 72; Weymouth v. Boyer, 1 Ves. Jr. 416, 30 Eng. Reprint 416.

81. McDougall v. Miln, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 325.

Where the bill prays relief against all of the defendants but one, against whom it only prays discovery, such defendant cannot after answer obtain an order for the costs. Atty.-Gen. v. Burch, 4 Madd. 178.

82. Lovell v. Galloway, 3 Wkly. Rep. 156.

83. Price v. Tyson, 3 Bland (Md.) 392, 22 Am. Dec. 279.

84. Noble v. Garland, Coop. 222, 35 Eng. Reprint 538, 19 Ves. Jr. 372, 34 Eng. Reprint 556; Anonymous, 8 Ves. Jr. 69, 32 Eng. Reprint 277.

85. London Assur. Co. v. Hankey, 1 Anstr. 9.

86. Masters v. Rossie Read Min. Co., 2 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 301.

87. Masters v. Rossie Read Min. Co., 2 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 301.

88. Fulton Bank v. New York, etc., Canal Co., 4 Paige (N. Y.) 127.

89. Bryant v. Peters, 3 Ala. 160; Williams v. Williams, 1 Md. Ch. 199; Lawless v. Fleming, 56 N. J. Eq. 615, 40 Atl. 638; Little v. Cooper, 10 N. J. Eq. 273; Elliston v. Hughes, 1 Head (Tenn.) 225. Where a reference is made to a master to superintend the production of books and papers all parties in interest may examine the party producing the same as to the fact whether the order has been complied with, and the master should allow a reasonable time to inspect the books and papers and to prepare interrogatories for the examination of the party if necessary. Hallett v. Hallett, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 432.

90. Fuller v. Hollander, 61 N. J. Eq. 648, 47 Atl. 646, 88 Am. St. Rep. 456.

caution.[91] A production for inspection in advance of the trial will not be ordered.[92] A party has no right to an inspection of papers proved as exhibits by his adversary.[93]

2. PROCEDURE TO OBTAIN — a. Demand For Production or Inspection. A demand for production or inspection is not a necessary prerequisite for a bill of discovery of such books or papers.[94]

b. Form and Requisites of Plaintiff's Pleadings. The proper and only method for obtaining the inspection or production of books or papers is by bill or cross bill alone,[95] which bill or cross bill must describe the books or papers of which an inspection or production is sought with reasonable certainty[96] and must state the facts which are expected to be proved thereby.[97] The bill must show possession or control of the books or papers sought by the party who is asked to produce them,[98] the pertinency of the facts to be proved by them to the issue,[99] and that the facts pertain to the case of the complainant,[1] and must require answer under oath,[2] admitting or denying the allegations.[3]

3. CHARACTER OF ANSWER ENTITLING PLAINTIFF TO PRODUCTION. Plaintiff is in no case entitled to a production and inspection of the documents, unless defendant in his answer admits that they are in his possession or power.[4] If, however, the answer to a bill asking production and inspection admits possession of the books

91. Williams v. Savage Mfg. Co., 3 Md. Ch. 418; Williams v. Williams, 1 Md. Ch. 199.

92. Adams v. Rolston, 6 N. J. L. 183; Ryder v. Bateman, 93 Fed. 31. Before issue joined a defendant in a patent case will not be ordered to set up and operate his machine for the inspection of plaintiff's expert. Com. v. Perkins, 124 Pa. St. 36, 16 Atl. 525, 2 L. R. A. 223.

93. Clark v. Field, 10 Vt. 321.

94. Burroughs v. McNeill, 22 N. C. 297.

95. Evans v. Staples, 42 N. J. Eq. 584, 8 Atl. 528; Lupton v. Johnson, 2 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 429; Bischoffsheim v. Brown, 29 Fed. 341; Burton v. Neville, 2 Cox Ch. 242, 30 Eng. Reprint 112; Spragg v. Corner, 2 Cox Ch. 109, 30 Eng. Reprint 50; —— v. ——, 2 Dick. 778; Micklethwaite v. Moore, 3 Meriv. 292, 36 Eng. Reprint 112; Milligan v. Mitchell, 6 Sim. 186, 9 Eng. Ch. 186; Penfold v. Nunn, 5 Sim. 409, 9 Eng. Ch. 409; Pickering v. Rigby, 18 Ves. Jr. 484, 34 Eng. Reprint 400.

Limitations of rule.— It has been held that the rule is different as to partnership books and papers, to the inspection of which both parties have an equal right, but which are in the hands of one of the copartners or his assignees or representatives. In such a case, upon the application of either party in any such suit, the adverse party will be compelled to deposit the partnership books and papers which are in his possession or under his control, in the hands of the officers of the court for the inspection of the party making such application. Kelly v. Eckford, 5 Paige (N. Y.) 548. This doctrine has been denied even in a partnership case in Pickering v. Rigby, 18 Ves. Jr. 484, 34 Eng. Reprint 400, by Lord Eldon. In Maund v. Allies, 3 Jur. 309, 4 Myl. & C. 503, 18 Eng. Ch. 503, he again refused an order for the inspection of plaintiff's documents where there was a partnership and one of the partners was receiver, except so far as his receiver's books were concerned.

96. Eschbach v. Lightner, 31 Md. 528; Duvall v. Farmers' Bank, 2 Bland (Md.) 686; Williams v. Savage Mfg. Co., 3 Md. Ch. 418; Williams v. Williams, 1 Md. Ch. 199. Thus an application for the production of books which state "that if they had been kept with any regard to good faith and accuracy, they must contain evidence pertinent to the issues in the cause," but which designates no particular books and no facts expected to be proved by them, is insufficient. Williams v. Savage Mfg. Co., 3 Md. Ch. 418.

97. Williams v. Savage Mfg. Co., 3 Md. Ch. 418; Williams v. Williams, 1 Md. Ch. 199.

98. Williams v. Savage Mfg. Co., 3 Md. Ch. 418; Williams v. Williams, 1 Md. Ch. 199.

99. Eschbach v. Lightner, 31 Md. 528. A bill will not lie to compel defendant to bring into court all papers and parchments in his possession, anterior to a certain date, in which plaintiff may have an apparent interest, for plaintiff's inspection, that he may thereby obtain the necessary evidence to enable him to prosecute his claim to certain lands, if he has any. Collom v. Francis, 1 Pars. Eq. Cas. (Pa.) 527.

1. Eschbach v. Lightner, 31 Md. 528.

2. Carpenter v. Benson, 4 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 496.

3. Bischoffsheim v. Brown, 29 Fed. 341.

4. Watson v. Renwick, 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 381; Erskine v. Bize, 2 Cox Ch. 226, 30 Eng. Reprint 105; Murray v. Walter, Cr. & Ph. 114, 3 Jur. 719, 18 Eng. Ch. 114; Heeman v. Midland, 4 Madd. 391; Wales v. Liverpool, 1 Swanst. 114, 36 Eng. Reprint 320; Evans v. Richardson, 1 Swanst. 7, 36 Eng. Reprint 275.

If defendant makes no allusion to the documents mentioned in the bill, plaintiff must except to the answer. He is not entitled on motion to the production of papers to which no allusion is made in the answer. Robbins v. Davis, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 16,880, 1 Blatchf. 238.

or documents mentioned in the bill a motion for the production based on such answer is then made,[5] which will be granted as a matter of course.[6]

4. Excuses For Failure to Obey Order For Production. An affidavit that the books are not in the possession of defendant will not prevent the order for their production from being made, but will exonerate defendant from producing the books in response to the order.[7]

III. Under Statutory Provisions.

A. Examination of Parties and Other Persons — 1. In General. The statutes of many of the states provide a method of obtaining discovery in an action at law, either by an examination of the adverse party before trial,[8] or on interrogatories filed in the cause.[9] In New York the statutes also provide a 5. Eager v. Wiswall, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 369; Bischoffsheim v. Brown, 29 Fed. 341.

6. Eager v. Wiswall, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 369; Watson v. Renwick, 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 381. Compare, however, Bischoffscheim v. Brown, 29 Fed. 34, in which it is said that upon the application defendants may controvert the materiality of the evidence.

7. Russell v. McLellan, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12.158, 3 Woodb. & M. 157.

8. Connecticut.— Buckingham v. Barnum, 30 Conn. 358.

Indiana.— Working v. Garn, 148 Ind. 546, 47 N. E. 951.

Louisiana.— Darbes v. Decuir, 5 Rob. 491; Allain v. Truxillo, 14 La. 297; Carlin v. Stewart, 2 La. 73.

Missouri.— Coburn v. Tucker, 21 Mo. 219.

Nebraska.— Farrington v. Stone, 35 Nebr. 456, 53 N. W. 389.

New Hampshire.— State v. Farmer, 46 N. H. 200.

New Jersey.— Apperson v. Mutual Ben. L. Ins. Co., 38 N. J. L. 272.

New York.— Herbage v. Utica, 109 N. Y. 81, 16 N. E. 62.

North Carolina.— Pender v. Mallett, 122 N. C. 163, 30 S. E. 324, 123 N. C. 57, 31 S. E. 351.

Ohio.— Thomas v. Beebe, 8 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 231, 5 Ohio N. P. 32.

South Carolina.— Wallace v. Norvell, 1 Bailey 125.

Texas.— West Michigan Furniture Co. v. Lacey, (Civ. App. 1896) 34 S. W. 167.

Vermont.— In re Foster, 44 Vt. 570.

Virginia.— Plainville v. Brown, 4 Hen. & M. 482.

Wisconsin.— Kelly v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 60 Wis. 480, 19 N. W. 521.

The Wisconsin statutes provide that the examination of a party otherwise than as a witness on the trial may be taken by deposition at the instance of the adverse party, in any action or proceeding, at any time after its commencement, and before judgment, and that in any examination the judge or commissioner shall have power to compel the party to answer. It was held that the filing of a verified claim for allowance in the county court against an administrator is a proceeding and the claimant can be compelled to appear before a commissioner of the circuit court to testify as to the transaction between him and the intestate. Frawley v. Cosgrove, 83 Wis. 441, 53 N. W. 689.

The Revised Statutes of the United States providing that wherever necessary to prevent a failure of justice, United States courts may issue a dedimus to take depositions, does not authorize the granting of a dedimus to take the deposition of a defendant, where the only object appears to be to ascertain what he will swear to before placing him on the witness stand in court, especially where no answer has been filed and the answer is not yet due. Turner v. Shackman, 27 Fed. 183.

The New York code of civil procedure, section 872, does not prevent the examination of parties to actions, but merely exempts the applicant from the restrictions imposed thereby on other examinations. Farmers' L. & T. Co. v. Siefke, 144 N. Y. 354, 39 N. E. 358.

In Louisiana a party residing in the parish must answer in open court, before the judge at chambers, the clerk, or some judicial officer of the parish authorized to administer oaths, and then no commission is requisite. Baine v. Wilson, 18 La. 59.

9. Alabama.— Cain Lumber Co. v. Standard Dry Kiln Co., 108 Ala. 346; Goodwin v. Wood, 5 Ala. 152.

Arkansas.— Conway v. Turner, 8 Ark. 356.

Connecticut.— Downie v. Nettleton, 61 Conn. 593, 24 Atl. 977.

Florida.— Volusia County Bank v. Bigelow, (1903) 33 So. 704.

Georgia.— Brown v. Mercier, 82 Ga. 550, 9 S. E. 471.

Iowa.— Jones v. Berryhill, 25 Iowa 289.

Kentucky.— Burnett v. Garnett, 18 B. Mon. 68.

Louisiana.— Demarest v. Ledoux, 10 Rob. 189.

Massachusetts.— Robbins v. Brockton St. R. Co., 180 Mass. 51, 61 N. E. 265.

Michigan.— Mulhern v. Grove, 111 Mich. 528, 70 N. W. 15.

Mississippi.— Illinois Central R. Co. v. Sanford, 75 Miss. 862, 23 So. 355, 942.

New Hampshire.— Wood v. Weld, Smith 367.

North Carolina.— Shober v. Wheeler, 113 N. C. 370, 18 S. E. 328.

Ohio.— Springfield, etc., R. Co. v. Western R. Constr. Co., 49 Ohio St. 681, 32 N. E. 961.

Pennsylvania.—Hazlett's Estate, 8 Pa. Dist. 201.

method for taking the deposition of an unwilling witness for use on the hearing of motions.[10]

2. Who May Be Examined — a. Parties and Persons Interested in Suit. Unless the statute expressly so provides no person except parties to the record can be examined before trial.[11] That a person is a party in interest is not sufficient to authorize his examination.[12] But persons who are parties to the record may be so examined, notwithstanding the fact that they are suing or being sued in a representative capacity.[13] A party not a resident of the county in which the suit is pending may be examined before trial;[14] so also may a party non-resident of the state if he can be found in the jurisdiction.[15]

b. Officers or Agents of Corporation. A statute authorizing the examination of parties before trial at the instance of the adversary party does not authorize the examination of officers, servants, agents, or employees of a party, although a corporation.[16] However, authority to examine officers of a corporation, which is a party to the suit, may be conferred by express statutory provision.[17] Under such

South Carolina.— Holly v. Thurston, Rice 282.

Texas.— Knight v. Booth, 35 Tex. 10.

Virginia.— Poindexter v. Davis, 6 Gratt. 481.

Washington.— Lowry v. Moore, 16 Wash. 476, 48 Pac. 238, 58 Am. St. Rep. 49.

Wisconsin.— Blossom v. Ludington, 32 Wis. 212.

United States.— Dawson Town, etc., Co. v. Woodhull, 67 Fed. 451, 14 C. C. A. 464.

10. Moses v. Banker, 7 Rob. (N. Y.) 131, 34 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 212; People v. Squire, 3 N. Y. St. 194.

11. Seeley v. Clark, 78 N. Y. 220; Sharp v. Hutchinson, 48 N. Y. Super. Ct. 101; Atty.-Gen. v. Continental L. Ins. Co., 4 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 214, 66 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 51; Knowlton v. Bannigan, 11 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 419; Matter of Bryan, 3 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 289; Woods v. De Figaniere, 16 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 1; Sweetzer v. Chaflin, 74 Tex. 667, 12 S. W. 395.

In North Carolina persons for whose immediate benefit the action is prosecuted or defended can be examined but no others. Strudwick v. Brodnax, 83 N. C. 401.

Applications of rule.— Thus one who has by default ceased to be a party to an action cannot be examined before trial (Sharp v. Hutchinson, 48 N. Y. Super. Ct. 101) and a next friend who brings a petition in the name of the ward for the removal of a guardian is not a party to the petition, and is not required to answer interrogatories filed by the respondent. Gray v. Parke, 155 Mass. 433, 29 N. E. 641. So in a suit instituted by the attorney-general to dissolve a life-insurance company a policy-holder who has not intervened is not entitled to an order for the examination of a person as a witness. Atty.-Gen. v. Continental L. Ins. Co., 4 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 214, 66 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 51.

12. Seeley v. Clark, 78 N. Y. 220; Woods v. De Figaniere, 16 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 1.

13. Blanchin v. Pickett, 21 La. Ann. 680; Delacroix v. Prevost, 6 Mart. (La.) 727; Harding v. Morrill, 136 Mass. 291; Harding v. Noyes, 125 Mass. 572; McGuffin v. Dinsmore, 4 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 241.

Executors.— The rule applies to executors (Delacroix v. Prevost, 6 Mart. (La.) 727) unless discharged after suit brought (Hawkins v. Brown, 3 Rob. (La.) 310).

14. Brown v. Mercier, 82 Ga. 550, 9 S. E. 471. If the party to answer resides out of the state, his answers must be taken, although the code makes no provision for such case, with no less formality than if he resided in another parish of the state than that where the suit is pending. Baine v. Wilson, 18 La. 59.

15. Campbell v. Joseph H. Bauland Co., 41 N. Y. App. Div. 474, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 984; Wallace v. Reinhart, 11 Misc. (N. Y.) 519, 32 N. Y. Suppl. 740 [distinguishing Witcher v. Tribune Assoc., 59 N. Y. Super. Ct. 224, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 290, 20 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 283].

But if he is not in the jurisdiction and is not likely to come into it the order for his examination should not be made. Witcher v. Jones, 15 Daly (N. Y.) 243, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 917.

16. Apperson v. Mutual Ben. L. Ins. Co., 38 N. J. L. 272; Boorman v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 78 N. Y. 599; People v. Mutual Gas Light Co., 74 N. Y. 434 [reversing 14 Hun 157]; Duncan v. Jones, 32 Hun (N. Y.) 12; Goodyear v. Phœnix Rubber Co., 48 Barb. (N. Y.) 522; Woods v. De Figaniere, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 617; Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. White, (Tex. Civ. App. 1895) 32 S. W. 322. Contra, McCoy v. Mutual Reserve L. Ins. Co., 84 N. Y. App. Div. 315, 82 N. Y. Suppl. 638; Carr v. Great Western Ins. Co., 3 Daly (N. Y.) 160.

17. Under such a statute an order for such an examination will be made in an action against a corporation on a contract so that it may be ascertained if the person who made the contract on behalf of the corporation had authority to do so. Bloom v. Pond's Extract Co., 18 N. Y. Suppl. 179.

Intention to be present at trial.— The fact that the officers who are to be examined make affidavit that they intend to be present upon the trial of the action does not affect the right of the other party to an examination of them before trial. Press Pub. Co. v. Star Co., 33 N. Y. App. Div. 242, 53 N. Y. Suppl. 371. Compare Hancock v. Franklin Ins. Co.,

a statute a non-resident officer of a foreign corporation may be so examined.[18] In no event are officers of corporations parties for the purpose of moving the stay of proceedings or to question the materiality of the issues as to which they are required to answer or to appeal from an order denying a motion for a stay.[19]

c. Co-Defendants. A co-defendant is not, as to defendant, an adversary party within the meaning of the statute permitting an examination of the adverse party before trial.[20]

d. Insane Party. An order for an examination of defendant before trial will not be granted when he is an insane person.[21]

3. Oral Examination of Party — a. The Statutes — (i) In General. Under the statutes of some of the states the examination of the adversary party before trial is a matter of course,[22] under the same restrictions under which the examination of witnesses may be had.[23] The Kentucky statutes do not authorize the examination of the adversary party before trial by deposition.[24] Under the Georgia statutes and the statutes now in force in New York an examination of the adversary party before trial can only be had on an order directing such examination.[25] Statutes for the examination of the adverse party should be liberally construed.[26]

(ii) Effect on Practice in Federal Courts. State statutes providing for the examination of the adversary party before trial will not authorize the examination of a party before trial in suits in the federal courts.[27] The examination of a party to a suit as a witness for the adversary party, pending in a state court under 107 Mass. 113, holding that interrogatories which do not call for official information, but as to his personal knowledge and admissions concerning the matters in suit, need not be answered, as such matters are properly provable by him as a witness at the trial or by deposition.

Such a statute does not apply to municipal corporations. Lineham v. Cambridge, 109 Mass. 212.

The fact that answers called for are outside of the personal knowledge of the officer examined does not excuse him from answering if he can acquire the information sought from agents and servants of the corporation. Robbins v. Brockton St. R. Co., 180 Mass. 51, 61 N. E. 265; Gunn v. New York, etc., R. Co., 171 Mass. 417, 50 N. E. 1031.

Where, in an action against a corporation for the death of an employee, there is a doubt as to who are the owners or operators of its mine, plaintiff is entitled to an examination before trial of the superintendent of the mine to ascertain such fact. Matter of Nolan, 70 Hun (N. Y.) 536, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 238.

18. Sterne v. Metropolitan Telephone, etc., Co., 19 N. Y. App. Div. 316, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 110; Farmers' Nat. Bank v. Underwood, 6 N. Y. App. Div. 373, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 596; Real Estate Loan Co. v. Molsworth, 2 Manitoba 93.

19. Sterne v. Metropolitan Telephone, etc., Co., 33 N. Y. App. Div. 164, 53 N. Y. Suppl. 470.

20. Roberts v. Thompson, 3 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 321, 1 Code Rep. (N. Y.) 113.

21. Mason v. Libbey, 2 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 137.

22. Vann v. Lawrence, 111 N. C. 32, 15 S. E. 1031; Plainville v. Brown, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 482.

23. Buckingham v. Barnum, 30 Conn. 358; Gabaroche v. Hebert, 7 Mart. N. S. (La.) 526; In re Foster, 44 Vt. 570.

24. Musick v. Ray, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 427. See Davis v. Young, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 381.

25. Tillinghast v. Nourse, 14 Ga. 641; Partin v. Elliott, 2 Sandf. (N. Y.) 667.

Discretion of judge.— Under the New York statutes the right to an examination before trial is not absolute but is within the sound discretion of the judge. Jenkins v. Putnam, 106 N. Y. 272, 12 N. E. 613; Merchants' Nat. Bank v. Sheehan, 101 N. Y. 176, 4 N. E. 333; Williams v. Folsom, 52 Hun (N. Y.) 68, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 211, 16 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 429; Winston v. English, 35 N. Y. Super. Ct. 512, 14 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 119 [affirming 44 How. Pr. 398]; Fullerton v. Gaylord, 7 Rob. (N. Y.) 551; McVickar v. Greenleaf, 4 Rob. (N. Y.) 657; Dorf v. Walter, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 434; Hamilton v. Hudson, 2 N. Y. Suppl. 146; Schepmoes v. Bousson, 1 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 481, 52 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 401; Duffy v. Lynch, 36 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 509. Contra, Levy v. Loeb, 5 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 157; Corbett v. De Comeau, 4 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 252, 54 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 506; Ludewig v. Pariser, 4 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 246, 54 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 498; Webster v. Stockwell, 3 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 115; Green v. Wood, 6 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 277. And the same is the rule under the Ohio statutes. In re Humphrey, 14 Ohio Cir. Ct. 517, 7 Ohio Cir. Dec. 603; Thomas v. Beebe, 5 Ohio N. P. 32.

26. People v. Nussbaum, 55 N. Y. App. Div. 245, 67 N. Y. Suppl. 492 [reversing 32 Misc. 1, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 129].

27. Corbett v. Gibson, 18 Hun (N. Y.) 49; Despeaux v. Pennsylvania R. Co., 81 Fed. 897; National Cash-Register Co. v. Leland, 77 Fed. 342; Shellabarger v. Oliver, 64 Fed. 306; a provision of the code of procedure of that state, may be continued after the removal of such suit to the federal court, although such examination would not be allowed under the practice in the federal court, had the action been originally brought there.[28]

b. Grounds and Purposes of Examination — (i) In General. An order for examination of a party before trial, it has been held, lies in any case where a bill of discovery would have been upheld in equity and such examination operates as a substitute therefor.[29] An order will be granted to ascertain the proper party to sue,[30] to ascertain the names of persons whom the applicant desires to join by amendment as parties,[31] or to enable plaintiff to ascertain the amount for which he should ask judgment.[32] The examination will not be permitted for the purpose of ascertaining whether the applicant has a cause of action or defense,[33] or whether he has a cause of action against persons not parties,[34] or to ascertain against which of certain parties he has a cause of action,[35] or to ascertain which of two causes of action he has,[36] or to ascertain the evidence on which the opposite party bases his cause of action or defense,[37] or to ascertain the names of his witnesses,[38] or for the purpose of aiding the party in the preparation of his case for Corbett v. Gibson, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,222, 16 Blatchf. 336; Easton v. Hodges, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,258, 7 Biss. 324. But see Bryant v. Leyland, 6 Fed. 125.

28. Fogg v. Fisk, 19 Fed. 235.

29. King v. Leighton, 58 N. Y. 383; Wiggin v. Gans, 4 Sandf. (N. Y.) 646; Phœnix v. Dupuy, 7 Daly (N. Y.) 238, 2 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 146, 53 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 158; Carr v. Great Western Ins. Co., 3 Daly (N. Y.) 160; Schepmoes v. Bousson, 1 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 481, 52 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 401; Glenney v. Stedwell, 1 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 327; Draper v. Hensingsen, 16 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 281. But see Goldberg v. Roberts, 12 Daly (N. Y.) 337; Hynes v. McDermott, 55 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 259; Kelly v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 60 Wis. 480, 19 N. W. 521.

30. Clark v. Wilcklow, 75 Hun (N. Y.) 290, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 43; Baas v. Pain, 71 Hun (N. Y.) 612, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 583. Thus an examination will be allowed to enable a party to ascertain who is the owner of a newspaper, the proprietor of which is to be defendant. Matter of Weil, 25 N. Y. App. Div. 173, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 133. Contra, Matter of Singer, 40 Misc. (N. Y.) 561, 82 N. Y. Suppl. 870.

31. Glenney v. Stedwell, 64 N. Y. 120.

32. Hofman v. Seixas, 12 Misc. (N. Y.) 3, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 23. But not if the amount can otherwise be stated with approximate accuracy. Boeck v. Smith, 85 N. Y. App. Div. 575, 83 N. Y. Suppl. 428. It is no valid objection to an application for an order to examine a party before trial that the moving papers allege the existence of facts which if established will entitle plaintiff to more than one cause of action or more than one ground upon which relief may be demanded. Judah v. Lane, 14 Daly (N. Y.) 308, 12 N. Y. St. 130.

33. Tenoza v. Pelham Hod-Elevating Co., 50 N. Y. App. Div. 581, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 99; Nathan v. Whitehill, 67 Hun (N. Y.) 398, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 63; Dobyns v. Commercial Trust Co., 31 Misc. (N. Y.) 829, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 554; New York State Banking Co. v. Van Antwerp, 23 Misc. (N. Y.) 38, 51 N. Y. Suppl. 653; Byrnes v. Ladew, 15 Misc. (N. Y.) 413, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 1048; Britton v. MacDonald, 3 Misc. (N. Y.) 514, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 350; Govin v. De Miranda, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 816; Lathrop v. Brown, 5 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 101.

Limitations of rule.— But where a cause of action exists against owners of a particular enterprise and the party is ignorant of the fact as to who such owners are and cannot ascertain the same otherwise, he may have an examination of the person in charge of the enterprise to ascertain who are the owners. Matter of Nolan, 70 Hun (N. Y.) 536, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 238.

34. Bloodgood v. Slayback, 54 N. Y. App. Div. 634, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 610; Ziegler v. Lamb, 5 N. Y. App. Div. 47, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 65.

35. Matter of Schoeller, 74 N. Y. App. Div. 347, 77 N. Y. Suppl. 614.

36. Green v. Carey, 81 Hun (N. Y.) 496, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 8, 1 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 179.

37. Robbins v. Brockton St. R. Co., 180 Mass. 51, 61 N. E. 265; Plant v. Harrison, 52 N. Y. App. Div. 628, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 236; Dobyns v. Commercial Trust Co., 31 Misc. (N. Y.) 829, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 554; Douglass v. Meyer, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 1091, 22 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 345; Jersey City First Nat. Bank v. Lindenmeyr, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 447; Glen Cove Mfg. Co. v. Sutro, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 384; Schepmoes v. Bousson, 1 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 481, 52 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 401. Taking the deposition of a party in a pending cause merely to ascertain in advance what his testimony will be, and not for the purpose of using the same as evidence, is an abuse of judicial authority and process; and a party committed for refusing to give his deposition in such a case will be released on habeas corpus. In re Cubberly, 39 Kan. 291, 18 Pac. 173; In re Davis, 38 Kan. 408, 16 Pac. 790.

38. Chapin v. Thompson, 16 Hun (N. Y.) 53; Opdyke v. Marble, 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 64; trial,[39] or to prove matters within the applicant's own knowledge.[40] So it will not be granted for the mere convenience of the party,[41] nor to establish facts pertinent to the decision of a motion[42] nor for the purpose of gratifying public curiosity.[43]

(II) To Enable Party to Frame Pleadings. An examination may be had before trial for the purpose of obtaining facts necessary to enable a party to frame his complaint,[44] or answer,[45] or bill of particulars.[46] But the inquiries should be limited to facts necessary to be included in the pleading[47] and cannot be had from Douglass v. Meyer, 61 N. Y. Super. Ct. 369, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 435; Beach v. New York, 2 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 236.

39. Dudley v. New York Filter Mfg. Co., 80 N. Y. App. Div. 164, 80 N. Y. Suppl. 529; Leary v. Rice, 15 N. Y. App. Div. 397, 44 N. Y. Suppl. 82; Weston v. Reich, 48 Hun (N. Y.) 320, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 412; Broad-Street Nat. Bank v. Sinclair, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 88; Dyett v. Seymour, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 643; Cutter v. Pool, 3 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 130, 54 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 311.

If the object of the examination is in good faith to procure evidence for use in the trial it is no objection that it will enable the party to prepare for trial, or that it will anticipate the evidence of the adversary party. Plant v. Harrison, 52 N. Y. App. Div. 628, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 236.

Limitations of rule.— But where a fiduciary relation exists between the parties an examination may be had to enable the party to prepare for trial. Kastner v. Kastner, 53 N. Y. App. Div. 293, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 756; McCready v. Haight, 22 N. Y. App. Div. 632, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 39; Green v. Carey, 81 Hun (N. Y.) 496, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 8; Carter v. Good, 57 Hun (N. Y.) 116, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 647; Talbot v. Doran, etc., Co., 16 Daly (N. Y.) 174, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 478; Rosenbaum v. Rice, 36 Misc. (N. Y.) 410, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 714; Drake v. Weinman, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 177; Fatman v. Fatman, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 847; Valentine v. Harbeck, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 572, 22 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 448; Miller v. Kent, 59 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 322. And see Caldwell v. Labaree, 40 Misc. (N. Y.) 564, 82 N. Y. Suppl. 865. The strictness of the rule which governs the granting of an order for the examination of a party before trial will be relaxed when a relation of trust and confidence has existed between the parties to the action, especially if the party asking for the examination was an infant at the time that the transaction to be investigated occurred. Carter v. Good, 57 Hun (N. Y.) 116, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 647. A director of a corporation does not hold such a fiduciary relation to a stock-holder thereof as to require him to disclose to her what he has done with the property of the corporation in an examination before issue joined, in a suit against the directors by the stock-holder, where the moving affidavit shows that plaintiff has sufficient information to draw her complaint without such examination. Elmes v. Duke, 39 Misc. (N. Y.) 244, 79 N. Y. Suppl. 425.

40. Dyett v. Seymour, 13 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 127.

41. McVickar v. Ketchum, 1 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 452.

42. Stake v. Andre, 9 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 420, 18 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 159; Huelin v. Ridner, 6 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 10. Contra, McGehee v. Brown, 3 La. Ann. 272.

43. People v. Nussbaum, 55 N. Y. App. Div. 245, 67 N. Y. Suppl. 492 [reversing 32 Misc. 1, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 129].

44. Glenney v. Stedwell, 64 N. Y. 120; McCoy v. Mutual Reserve L. Ins. Co., 84 N. Y. App. Div. 315, 82 N. Y. Suppl. 638; Matter of Porter Screen Mfg. Co., 70 N. Y. App. Div. 329, 75 N. Y. Suppl. 286; Bloodgood v. Slayback, 54 N. Y. App. Div. 634, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 610; Kastner v. Kastner, 53 N. Y. App. Div. 293, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 756; Butler v. Richardson, 31 N. Y. App. Div. 281, 52 N. Y. Suppl. 756; Blatchford v. Paine, 24 N. Y. App. Div. 140, 48 N. Y. Suppl. 783; Thayer v. Humphrey, 69 Hun (N. Y.) 343, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 531; O'Reilley v. Western Union Tel. Co., 12 Hun (N. Y.) 124; Matter of Darling, 31 Misc. (N. Y.) 543, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 793; Frothingham v. Broadway, etc., R. Co., 9 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 304; Havemeyer v. Ingersoll, 12 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 301; Raymond v. Brooks, 59 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 383; Anderson v. Mackey, 46 Fed. 105.

45. Lewisohn Bros. v. Muller, 6 N. Y. App. Div. 459, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 570; Farmers' Nat. Bank v. Underwood, 6 N. Y. App. Div. 373, 79 N. Y. Suppl. 596; Farmers v. National L. Assoc., 73 Hun (N. Y.) 522, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 126; Haynes v. Creighton, 58 Hun (N. Y.) 140, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 490, 19 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 299; Mora v. McCredy, 2 Bosw. (N. Y.) 669; New York, etc., R. Co. v. McHenry, 9 N. Y. St. 148.

Limitations of rule.— In an action for libel defendant cannot procure an examination of plaintiff before trial for the purpose of preparing a plea in justification, as such plea can only employ facts known and believed at the time of the alleged libel. Gray v. Baker, 69 Hun (N. Y.) 84, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 387 [affirmed in 140 N. Y. 636, 35 N. E. 892]; Strakosh v. Press Pub. Co., 53 Hun (N. Y.) 503, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 246; Miller v. Brooks, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 359.

46. Cornish v. Wormser, 53 Hun (N. Y.) 40, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 889, 17 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 282; Ball v. Evening Post Pub. Co., 48 Hun (N. Y.) 149 [reversing 12 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 4]; Schmidt v. Menasha Wooden Ware Co., 92 Wis. 529, 66 N. W. 695.

47. Williams v. Western Union Tel. Co., 47 N. Y. Super. Ct. 380, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 294; Raymond v. Brooks, 59 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 383.

one not a party to the action.[48] So if it appears that an examination is unnecessary to enable the applicant to frame his pleading the application will of course be denied.[49]

c. Pendency and Condition of Cause. The order for an examination of the adverse party may be made at any time after suit brought, before as well as after issue joined,[50] or where an action is not pending, but is expected to be brought.[51] The statutes do not authorize the examination while the trial is in progress before a referee,[52] or after the case is called for trial,[53] or on the day the case is set for trial, or after it has once been continued on account of the absence of a material witness for the applicant,[54] unless the cause of delay is satisfactorily explained in the application.[55] An order for the examination will not be made, when a pre-

48. Knowlton v. Bannigan, 11 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 419.

49. Dalzell v. Fahys Watch Case Co., 58 N. Y. Super. Ct. 136, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 713; Martin v. Clews, 55 N. Y. Super. Ct. 552; Williams v. West. Union Tel. Co., 47 N. Y. Super. Ct. 380, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 294; Govin v. De Miranda, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 816; Rycroft v. Green, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 9; Immig v. Haesloop, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 638. And see Tanenbaum v. Lindheim, 54 N. Y. App. Div. 188, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 375.

Applications of rule.— Thus a discovery will be denied where the application shows that the facts in the possession of the party are sufficient to enable him to plead (Kessler v. Levy, etc., Co., 7 N. Y. App. Div. 142, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 271; Dalzell v. Fahys Watch Case Co., 58 N. Y. Super. Ct. 136, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 713; Elms v. Duke, 39 Misc. (N. Y.) 244, 79 N. Y. Suppl. 425; Snow, etc., Co. v. Snow-Church Surety Co., 80 N. Y. Suppl. 512; Butler v. Duke, 39 Misc. (N. Y.) 235, 79 N. Y. Suppl. 419); or where it can fairly be inferred from the allegations of the application that plaintiff by following up the information in his possession could have procured the desired information (Tanenbaum v. Lindheim, 54 N. Y. App. Div. 188, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 375; McNamara v. Keene, 37 Misc. (N. Y.) 864, 76 N. Y. Suppl. 992); or that the facts sought are such that in order to be a defense they must have been known to the party seeking a discovery prior to the time when he makes his application (Gray v. Baker, 69 Hun (N. Y.) 84, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 387 [affirmed in 140 N. Y. 636, 35 N. E. 892]; Strakhosch v. Press Pub. Co., 53 Hun (N. Y.) 503, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 246, 17 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 209; Miller v. Brooks, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 359); or that the answer will be a general denial (Immig v. Haesloop, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 638. And see Golin v. Moers, 5 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 189, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 12). So an application for the examination of plaintiff in order to enable defendant to frame his answer is properly denied where made before the complaint is filed, as until then defendant cannot show that the examination is material or necessary. Winston v. English, 14 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 119 [affirming 44 How. Pr. 398].

Limitations of rule.— But where a fiduciary relation exists between the parties and an accounting is asked for the order will not be denied on the ground that plaintiff was in possession of sufficient material to prepare his complaint. Drake v. Weinmann, 12 Misc. (N. Y.) 65, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 177, 24 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 323.

50. New York, etc., R. Co. v. Carhart, 36 Hun (N. Y.) 288; Brisbane v. Brisbane, 20 Hun (N. Y.) 48; Fullerton v. Gaylord, 7 Rob. (N. Y.) 551; McVickar v. Greenleaf, 4 Rob. (N. Y.) 657, 30 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 61; Dorf v. Walter, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 434; Winston v. English, 14 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 119; Hadley v. Fowler, 12 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 244; Havemeyer v. Ingersoli, 12 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 301; McVickar v. Ketchum, 1 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 452, 19 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 241; Duffy v. Lynch, 36 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 509; Miller v. Mather, 5 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 160, 2 Code Rep. (N. Y.) 101. Contra, Bell v. Richmond, 50 Barb. (N. Y.) 571, 4 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 44; Chichester v. Livingston, 3 Sandf. (N. Y.) 718, Code Rep. N. S. (N. Y.) 108; Morgan v. Whittaker, 14 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 127; Cook v. Bidwell, 29 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 483; Suydam v. Suydam, 11 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 518; Balbani v. Grasheim, 2 Code Rep. (N. Y.) 75.

51. Drake v. Wineman, 12 Misc. (N. Y.) 65, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 177, decided under N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 872, expressly so providing.

52. Richardson v. McCreery, 1 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 355.

53. Brooks v. Walker, 3 La. Ann. 150.

54. Glasgow v. Switzer, 12 Mo. 395. The statute entitles a party to a discovery from the adverse party of all matters material to the issue in all cases where a bill for a discovery might have been filed in a court of equity. It was held that where defendant had obtained a continuance for an absent witness and had afterward taken his deposition in vacation expecting to show certain matters and on being disappointed therein on the first day of the succeeding term had filed a petition for a discovery of plaintiff of such matters alleging that the information could be obtained from no one else, the petition was in due time and should have been granted. Dempsey v. Harrison, 4 Mo. 267.

55. Where a party has waited until his case has been placed on the day calendar for trial, the court must have satisfactory reasons explaining the cause for delay, which must be stated in the affidavit, or the order

vious order has been reversed and a reargument is pending.[56] Under some statutes discovery may be invoked on appeal in aid of suits originating before a justice of the peace.[57] If for the purpose of procuring evidence for use on the trial, the application is prematnre if made before answer filed.[58] The application is made in time, if made within a reasonable time before trial.[59]

d. Application For Order — (i) Notice. No notice of the application for the order is required.[60]

(ii) Form and Requisites — (a) In General. The court cannot make an order for an examination of the adverse party upon notice and hearing,[61] but the application for the order must be by affidavit.[62]

(b) Necessary Allegations — (1) Action Pending or in Contemplation. The application must show that the action is pending or in contemplation.[63]

(2) Nature of Cause of Action or Defense. Where an application is made by plaintiff, it must state the nature of the action and the substance of the judgment demanded.[64] Some decisions go so far as to hold that the application, when the application is made by plaintiff, must state a cause of action,[65] but there is nothing in the statutes providing what the application shall contain that sustains this holding; and the weight of authority is that it is not necessary that the affidavit should state a complete cause of action; that it is sufficient that the nature of the action is stated and the substance of the judgment demanded.[66] will be vacated for laches. Turner v. Kinghorn, 5 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 157 note. But see Skinner v. Steele, 88 Hun (N. Y.) 307, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 748, holding that delay in making application for a discovery is no reason for refusing it if the necessity for it exists when the application is made.

56. Smith v. Seattle, etc., R. Co., 20 N. Y. Suppl. 784.

57. Maxwell v. Guthrie, 23 Ark. 702; Atwood v. Reyburn, 5 Mo. 555.

58. St. John v. Buckley, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 635; Pender v. Mallett, 123 N. C. 57, 31 S. E. 351.

59. Haehler v. Hubbard, 36 Misc. (N. Y.) 840, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 932. See also Skinner v. Steele, 88 Hun (N. Y.) 307, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 748.

60. Jerrells v. Perkins, 25 N. Y. App. Div. 348, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 597; Dixon v. Dixon, 8 N. Y. St. 816. Contra, Farrington v. Stone, 35 Nebr. 456, 53 N. W. 389.

61. Wiechers v. New Home Sewing-Mach. Co., 38 N. Y. App. Div. 1, 50 N. Y. Suppl. 235.

62. Norton v. Abbott, 28 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 388.

63. In re Dounce, 7 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 426.

64. People v. Lyman, 67 N. Y. App. Div. 446, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 987; Churchman v. Merritt, 51 Hun (N. Y.) 375, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 245; Swain v. Pettengill, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 57; Frothingham v. Broadway, etc., R. Co., 9 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 304; Boorman v. Pierce, 56 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 251; Greene v. Herder, 30 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 210.

Affidavits held insufficient.— An affidavit to obtain an order for the examination before trial of defendant in an action stated that defendant was president of a corporation of which plaintiff was a stock-holder, and that defendant had wrongfully issued stock thereof which he had converted to his own use, and that a summons in the action had been served on him but no complaint had been served. It was held that this did not state the "nature of the action and the substance of the judgment demanded" as required by the code and the application should not be granted. Swain v. Pettengill, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 57. So an affidavit for an order to compel defendant to be examined before trial, simply averring the action to be brought to recover damages for certain breaches on the part of defendant of a contract in writing stated, is insufficient. Hale v. Rogers, 22 Hun (N. Y.) 19. And it has been held that an affidavit merely stating that the purpose of the action is to reform a deed or mortgage or other paper is insufficient; that the grounds upon which the relief is sought should be indicated with reasonable certainty. Churchman v. Merritt, 51 Hun (N. Y.) 375, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 245.

Statute of limitations.— Where a cause of action is shown, the fact that the statute of limitations would probably be a bar is no reason why the order should not be granted, as the statute may never be pleaded. Fatman v. Fatman, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 847, 22 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 149.

65. New York State Banking Co. v. Van Antwerp, 23 Misc. (N. Y.) 38, 51 N. Y. Suppl. 653; De Leon v. De Lima, 66 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 287; McCoon v. White, 60 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 149; Draper v. Hensingen, 16 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 281. And see Gage v. Culver, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 936.

66. Hart v. Chase, 67 N. Y. App. Div. 445, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 957; Videtto v. Dudley, 56 N. Y. Super. Ct. 600, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 437; Butler v. Duke, 39 Misc. (N. Y.) 235, 79 N. Y. Suppl. 419; Fatman v. Fatman, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 847, 22 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 149; Frothingham v. Broadway, etc., R. Co., 9 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 304.

On the other hand, if the application is made by defendant, it should state the nature of the defense.[67]

(3) Materiality and Necessity of Discovery. The application must show that the information sought is material[68] and necessary.[69] This averment is jurisdictional and its omission, it has been held, renders an order granting an application void even though it appears from the papers that such testimony is material and necessary.[70] The application must also specify the facts and circumstances showing the testimony to be material and necessary.[71] A mere statement

67. Robertson v. Russell, 20 Hun (N. Y.) 243; Roberts v. Press Pub. Co., 57 N. Y. Super. Ct. 526, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 870.

Affidavit held insufficient.— Under the code declaring that the affidavit for an order for the examination of a plaintiff before answer must set forth the nature of the defense, an order for such an examination of plaintiff in an action for libel is properly vacated when the affidavit therefor shows that defendant intends to set up a defense of justification by pleading and proving that plaintiff attempted to obtain money by fraudulent representations, but has no means of ascertaining the particulars wherein said representations were false, the substance of the affidavit being that defendant is ignorant of the existence of a defense. Johns v. Press Pub. Co., 58 N. Y. Super. Ct. 580, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 958; Roberts v. Press Pub. Co., 57 N. Y. Super. Ct. 526, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 870, 18 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 251.

68. Ryan v. Reagan, 46 N. Y. App. Div. 590, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 39; Bigler v. Duryee, 73 Hun (N. Y.) 556, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 112; Wayne County Sav. Bank v. Brackett, 31 Hun (N. Y.) 434; Greer v. Allen, 15 Hun (N. Y.) 432; Dart v. Laimbeer, 47 N. Y. Super. Ct. 490; Kaupe v. Isdell, 3 Rob. (N. Y.) 699; Bagley v. Winslow, 34 Misc. (N. Y.) 223, 69 N. Y. Suppl. 611; Young v. Eames, 24 Misc. (N. Y.) 432, 53 N. Y. Suppl. 678; Britton v. MacDonald, 3 Misc. (N. Y.) 514, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 350; Neurath v. Schmitz, 2 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 400; Schepmoes v. Bousson, 1 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 481, 52 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 401; Richards v. Judd, 15 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 184; Norton v. Abbott, 28 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 388.

Evidence of secondary character.—An order for the examination of the adverse party should be vacated where it appears that the testimony sought is of a secondary character and that the testimony desired may be obtained from primary sources without such examination. Chaskel v. Metropolitan El. R. Co., 2 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 36, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 369.

69. Hutchinson v. Simpson, 73 N. Y. App. Div. 520, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 197; Kramer v. Kramer, 70 N. Y. App. Div. 615, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 1049; Insurance Press v. Montauk F. Detecting Wire Co., 70 N. Y. App. Div. 50, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 1093; Clark v. Ennis, 65 N. Y. App. Div. 164, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 581; York v. Dick, 61 N. Y. App. Div. 620, 70 N. Y. Suppl. 614; Bernheimer v. Schmid, 59 N. Y. App. Div. 564, 69 N. Y. Suppl. 659; Hay v. Zliger, 50 N. Y. App. Div. 462, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 202; Schmerber v. Reinach, 38 N. Y. App. Div. 622, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 84; Leary v. Rise, 15 N. Y. App. Div. 397, 44 N. Y. Suppl. 82; Savage v. Neely, 8 N. Y. App. Div. 316, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 946; Wayne County Sav. Bank v. Brackett, 31 Hun (N. Y.) 434; Greer v. Allen, 15 Hun (N. Y.) 432; Jersey City First Nat. Bank v. Lindenmeyer, 5 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 452, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 447; Martin v. Clews, 55 N. Y. Super. Ct. 552; Dart v. Laimbeer, 47 N. Y. Super. Ct. 490; Corbett v. De Comeau, 44 N. Y. Super. Ct. 306, 5 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 169; Butler v. Duke, 39 Misc. (N. Y.) 235, 79 N. Y. Suppl. 419; Bagley v. Winslow, 34 Misc. (N. Y.) 223, 69 N. Y. Suppl. 611; Lowenthal v. Leonard, 20 Misc. (N. Y.) 420, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 1031; Matter of Gains, 15 Misc. (N. Y.) 75, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 1113; Britton v. McDonald, 3 Misc. (N. Y.) 514, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 350; Grout v. Streng, 1 Misc. (N. Y.) 214, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 881; Hunt v. Sullivan, 79 N. Y. Suppl. 708; Byrne v. Van Dolsen, 75 N. Y. Suppl. 413; Rycroft v. Green, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 9; Woodhull v. Washburn, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 78; Sheehan v. Albany, etc., Turnpike Co., 8 N. Y. Suppl. 14; Balcon v. Adams, 2 N. Y. Suppl. 255, 15 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 198; Dixon v. Dixon, 8 N. Y. St. 816; Neurath v. Schmitz, 2 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 400; Carr v. Risher, 20 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 176; Cornell v. Fryer, 9 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 52; Gelston v. Marshall, 6 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 398. Contra, Fiske v. Bynum, 7 Mart. N. S. (La.) 269; Naab v. Stewart, 32 N. Y. App. Div. 478, 52 N. Y. Suppl. 1094.

70. Matter of Gains, 15 Misc. (N. Y.) 75, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 1113, 25 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 243.

71. State v. Continental Tobacco Co., 177 Mo. 1, 75 S. W. 737; Abbott-Downing Co. v. Faber, 87 Hun (N. Y.) 299, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 433; Crooke v. Corbin, 23 Hun (N. Y.) 176; Robertson v. Russell, 20 Hun (N. Y.) 243; Holtz v. Schmidt, 34 N. Y. Super. Ct. 28; Greismann v. Dreyfus, 4 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 32; Strong v. Strong, 1 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 233; Husson v. Fox, 15 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 464; Hynes v. McDermott, 55 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 259; Duffy v. Lynch, 36 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 509; Pegram v. Carson, 18 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 519; Wilkie v. Moore, 17 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 480. But see Burnett v. Mitchell, 26 Misc. (N. Y.) 547, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 474, 29 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 201.

Affidavit held sufficient.— An affidavit of plaintiff in an action upon a check, the defense to which was that the check was given for alleged gaming and other illegal considerations, stated that the check was given that an examination is material and necessary is not sufficient. This is nothing more than a statement of the applicant's opinion.[72] The facts showing materiality and necessity must be stated positively and not argumentatively or inferentially.[73] But an argumentative statement of unnecessary facts will not vitiate an affidavit otherwise sufficient.[74] Where the application shows that it is not made bona fide for the purpose of obtaining necessary testimony, the party is not entitled to examination of his adversary, although the attorney of the latter voluntarily offers to allow his client to be examined.[75]

(4) KNOWLEDGE OF ADVERSE PARTY AND WANT OF KNOWLEDGE OF APPLICANT. The application must show want of knowledge and lack of sources of information on the part of the applicant,[76] and that the facts are known to the adverse party,[77] and are peculiarly within his knowledge.[78] It must also by defendant in satisfaction of a balance found due plaintiff on a settlement of accounts between them and that defendant then took away with him plaintiff's memoranda by which such balance was ascertained, that there were no other means of ascertaining such balance, that there was a valid consideration for such check, and that defendant had special knowledge regarding certain facts of the case not possessed by any one else. It was held that these averments sufficiently showed that the examination of defendant before trial was necessary to obtain evidence for plaintiff. Huntoon v. Jerkowski, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 40.

Affidavit held insufficient.— An affidavit for an order for the examination of defendant to enable plaintiff to frame his complaint gave the facts showing the nature of the action and averred that after the discovery sought the complaint will state appropriate allegations based upon said facts and that plaintiffs and their attorneys had endeavored to obtain information and evidence "of the details and particulars of the matter hereinbefore set forth" and have not been able to procure or obtain either from defendant, and that the books and records of the other defendants were kept in another state. It was held that the affidavit did not show the materiality and necessity for the examination, because the allegations were to be based upon said facts alleged by affiant and because there was no specification of the kind of details and particulars required and it did not appear that plaintiffs had no other sufficient sources of knowledge. De Lacey v. Walcott, 59 N. Y. Super. Ct. 137, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 800. An affidavit for the examination of the chairman of defendant, a foreign corporation, to enable plaintiff to obtain facts to frame his complaint, is fatally defective, where it fails to aver that an application was made to the company for the desired information, followed by a refusal to give it, or that there was an imperfect response to it. Sherman v. Beacon Constr. Co., 58 Hun (N. Y.) 143, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 369.

72. Robertson v. Russell, 20 Hun (N. Y.) 243; Matter of Gains, 15 Misc. (N. Y.) 75, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 113, 25 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 243.

73. Fleuchtwanger v. Dessar, 1 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 1, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 129, 17 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 119; Kirkland v. Moss, 11 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 421. But see Van Ray v. Harriot, 66 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 269.

74. Miller v. Kent, 59 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 321.

75. Drake v. New York Iron Mine, 75 Hun (N. Y.) 539, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 489.

76. Williams v. Folson, 52 Hun (N. Y.) 68, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 211, 16 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 429; Hutchinson v. Lawrence, 29 Hun (N. Y.) 450, 3 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 98; Bandman v. Jones, 4 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 363, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 577, 17 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 417; Cross v. National F. Ins. Co., 2 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 443, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 84, 17 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 199; Elmes v. Duke, 39 Misc. (N. Y.) 244, 79 N. Y. Suppl. 425; Leary v. O'Brien, 33 Misc. (N. Y.) 499, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 908; Cahill v. Kurscheedt, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 1100; Calligan v. Augusta City, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 162; Spero v. West Side Bank, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 897; Waters v. Shayne, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 772; Tenney v. Maultner, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 64; Wallace v. Norvell, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 125.

77. Ryan v. Reagan, 46 N. Y. App. Div. 590, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 39; Hutchinson v. Lawrence, 29 Hun (N. Y.) 450, 3 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 98; Elmes v. Duke, 39 Misc. (N. Y.) 244, 79 N. Y. Suppl. 425; Bagley v. Winslow, 34 Misc. (N. Y.) 223, 69 N. Y. Suppl. 611.

The sworn denial of the party sought to be examined that he can give the information sought is not sufficient to defeat an order for the examination of the party. Matter of Nolan, 70 Hun (N. Y.) 536, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 238; Wallace v. Reinhart, 11 Misc. (N. Y.) 519, 32 N. Y. Suppl. 740. An application for an order for an examination of a party to ascertain what goods he manufactured during a given time will not be granted, if the party sought to be examined denies positively that he has manufactured any goods during the time referred to. Maitland v. Central Gas, etc., Co., 13 Misc. (N. Y.) 324, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 464.

78. Burke v. Flood, 5 Mart. (La.) 403; Davis v. Mills, 163 Mass. 481, 40 N. E. 852; Wetherbee v. Winchester, 128 Mass. 293; Sheren v. Lowell, 104 Mass. 24; Wilson v. Webber, 2 Gray (Mass.) 558; State v. Farmer, 46 N. H. 200; Vial v. Jackson, 73 N. Y. App. Div. 355, 76 N. Y. Suppl. 668; Dreyfus v. Bernhard, 31 N. Y. App. Div. 628, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 6; Fiske v. Smith, 9 N. Y. App. Div. 208, 41 N. Y. Suppl. 176; Adams charge specifically knowledge of particular facts and circumstances to which he can testify.[79]

(5) Intent to Use Evidence on Trial. Except where the purpose of the application is to obtain facts necessary to enable the applicant to frame his pleadings,[80] the application must show that the applicant intends to use the testimony on the trial,[81] and when it is deficient in this respect, the court is justified in setting aside the order for the examination.[82] The intention, however, need not be expressly stated;[83] and the fact that the party in his affidavit on which the order for such an examination was made incidentally refers to obtaining admissions to enable him to prepare for trial or to prepare a bill of particulars does not necessarily qualify the substantial and legitimate purpose to use the deposition on the trial, if the application seems by the affidavit to have been founded thereupon.[84]

(6) Grounds For Asking Examination Before Trial. A party asking an examination of his adversary before trial must show special circumstances making it important to take the testimony of such adversary before instead of after the trial,[85] or it should be shown that there is reason to apprehend that the adverse

v. Cavanaugh, 37 Hun (N. Y.) 232; New York City Fourth Nat. Bank v. Boynton, 29 Hun (N. Y.) 441; Chapin v. Thompson, 16 Hun (N. Y.) 53; Beach v. New York, 14 Hun (N. Y.) 79, 4 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 236; Elmes v. Duke, 39 Misc. (N. Y.) 244, 79 N. Y. Suppl. 425; Bird v. Kreiser, 7 Misc. (N. Y.) 737, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 425; Manhattan Electric Light Co. v. Consolidated Tel., etc., Co., 13 N. Y. Suppl. 352; Hirschsprung v. Boe, 8 N. Y. St. 349; Jenkins v. Putnam, 6 N. Y. St. 425; Schepmoes v. Bousson, 1 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 481, 52 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 401. But see Thebaud v. Hume, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 664; Sanger v. Seymour, 4 N. Y. St. 449; Mudge v. Gilbert, 43 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 319.

Limitations of rule.— Where in a suit to recover margins from an incorporated company of brokers the party avers that his orders to buy and sell were never executed and alleges that it is impossible otherwise to show the fact but by an inspection of its books and an examination of its president, vice-president, and secretary, which he demands, these officers will be presumed to have knowledge of the transactions and plaintiff need not allege such knowledge in his affidavit. Talbot v. Doran, 16 Daly (N. Y.) 174, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 478, 18 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 304.

79. Beach v. New York, 14 Hun (N. Y.) 79, 4 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 236; Phœnix v. Dupuy, 2 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 146; Elmore v. Hyde, 2 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 129.

Where there is more than one defendant to be examined it must state the facts that the applicant expects to prove by each of the parties to be examined. Simmons v. Hazard, 65 Hun (N. Y.) 612, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 508, 23 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 15.

80. Brisbane v. Brisbane, 20 Hun (N. Y.) 48.

81. Jenkins v. Putnam, 106 N. Y. 272, 12 N. E. 613; Williams v. Folsom, 52 Hun (N. Y.) 68, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 211, 16 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 429; Spero v. West Side Bank, 3 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 558, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 546; Dart v. Laimbeer, 47 N. Y. Super. Ct. 490; Woodhull v. Washburn, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 78; Russ v. Campbell, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 41; Knowlton v. Bannigan, 11 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 419. Where it affirmatively appears that the object of the desired examination is for another purpose than to obtain evidence to be used on the trial, an order for such examination should not be granted. Gilbert v. Third Ave. R. Co., 49 N. Y. Super. Ct. 129.

82. Jenkins v. Putnam, 106 N. Y. 272, 12 N. E. 613.

83. St. Clair Paper Mfg. Co. v. Brown, 16 N. Y. App. Div. 317, 44 N. Y. Suppl. 625; Fogg v. Fisk, 30 Hun (N. Y.) 61; Rosenbaum v. Rice, 36 Misc. (N. Y.) 410, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 714; Green v. Middlesex R. Co., 10 Misc. (N. Y.) 473, 32 N. Y. Suppl. 177, 24 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 272, 1 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 167; Ridert v. Blumenkrohn, 1 Misc. (N. Y.) 7, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 614; Green v. Middlesex Valley R. Co., 36 N. Y. Suppl. 1107; Van Ray v. Harriot, 66 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 269.

84. Ball v. Evening Post Pub. Co., 12 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 4.

85. Jenkins v. Putnam, 106 N. Y. 272, 12 N. E. 613; McGuire v. McGuire, 65 N. Y. App. Div. 74, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 490; Williams v. Folsom, 52 Hun (N. Y.) 68, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 211, 16 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 429; Spero v. West-Side Bank, 3 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 558, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 546; Chaskel v. Metropolitan El. R. Co., 2 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 36, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 369; Blocker v. Guild, 15 Daly (N. Y.) 348, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 651; Blennerhasset v. Stephens, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 602.

A mere allegation that it is necessary to examine defendant before trial without stating the facts on which such allegation is based is insufficient. Woodhull v. Washburn, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 78.

The application will be denied if it shows no reason for supposing that the facts may not be as well proved by the examination of defendants upon trial as by taking their testimony previous to that time. Williams v. Folsom, 54 Hun (N. Y.) 308, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 568; Spero v. West-Side Bank, 3 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 558, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 546; party will not be present at the trial.[86] It is not necessary, however, that both of the grounds mentioned should be stated. An application showing that the knowledge of facts which could only be obtained by the examination of the opposite party is essential to enable plaintiff to proceed with the prosecution of the action is sufficient.[87] It is not necessary to show further that the party will not be present at the trial.[88]

(7) Names and Residences of Parties to Action. The application must state the names and residences of all the parties to the action.[89] An allegation that the residences of defendants are unknown to the applicant is insufficient, where there is no evidence that an effort was made to ascertain their places of residence.[90]

(8) Name of Officer of Corporation Whose Examination Is Asked. If the opposite party is a corporation, the affidavit must state the name of the officer thereof whose examination is desired.[91]

(9) Stating Facts on Information and Belief. An affidavit for examination of a party before trial, stating facts on information and belief, is sufficient, where the sources of information and grounds of belief are stated;[92] but the source of the information or grounds of belief must be given or it will be fatally defective,[93] and when the affidavit is made solely on information and belief, it must in addition to giving the source of information state reasons why an affidavit is not made by the informant.[94] Mere allegations on information and belief contained in the petition are not proved by the verification of the petition so as Blocker v. Guild, 15 Daly (N. Y.) 348, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 651.

86. Williams v. Folsom, 52 Hun (N. Y.) 68, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 211, 16 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 429; Chaskel v. Metropolitan El. R. Co., 2 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 36, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 369.

87. Dyett v. Seymour, 50 Hun (N. Y.) 278, 2 N. Y. Suppl. 841; Judah v. Lane, 14 Daly (N. Y.) 308, 12 N. Y. St. 131; Frothingham v. Broadway, etc., R. Co., 9 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 304; Miller v. Kent, 59 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 321.

Illustrations.—An examination should be granted on an application showing that a broker withholds the fullest information from his customer in relation to property alleged to have been bought or sold. Miller v. Kent, 59 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 321. So where the affidavit on which an order for the examination of defendants in an action to enable plaintiffs to frame their complaint alleged that plaintiffs were ignorant of all the details in reference to the transactions complained of, and of the particular share and interest therein taken by each of the defendants, and these facts were necessary to a proper statement of the cause of action foreshadowed in the affidavit, it was held that the affidavit sufficiently showed that an examination of defendants and their books was necessary. Frothingham v. Broadway, etc., R. Co., 9 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 304.

88. Press Pub. Co. v. Star Co., 33 N. Y. App. Div. 242, 53 N. Y. Suppl. 371; Hay v. Zeiger, 30 Misc. (N. Y.) 35, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 647. And see Green v. Wood, 6 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 277.

89. Simmons v. Hazard, 65 Hun (N. Y.) 612, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 508, 23 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 15; Dunham v. Mercantile Mut. Ins. Co., 44 N. Y. Super. Ct. 387, 56 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 240; Ball v. Evening Post Pub. Co., 12 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 4.

Residence of plaintiff's attorney.—An order for the examination of a party before trial will be denied where the moving affidavit does not state the residence and office address of plaintiff's attorney as required by the code. Depierris v. Slaven, 74 Hun (N. Y.) 628, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 970.

90. Simmons v. Hazard, 65 Hun (N. Y.) 612, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 508, 23 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 15.

91. Williams v. Western Union Tel. Co., 47 N. Y. Super. Ct. 380, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 294.

92. Leach v. Haight, 34 N. Y. App. Div. 522, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 550.

93. Jiminez v. Ward, 21 N. Y. App. Div. 387, 47 N. Y. Suppl. 557; Cook v. New Amsterdam Real Estate Assoc., 85 Hun (N. Y.) 417, 32 N. Y. Suppl. 888; Matter of Van Nostrand, 78 Hun (N. Y.) 351, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 112; Hale v. Rogers, 22 Hun (N. Y.) 19; Koehler v. Sewards, 5 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 425, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 504; Simmons v. Hudson, 4 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 247 note; Tilton v. U. S. Life Ins. Co., 1 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 348, 52 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 179. But see Frothingham v. Broadway, etc., R. Co., 9 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 304. An affidavit on information and belief is not sufficient that shows no knowledge derived from any person having knowledge. Taneubaum v. Lindheim, 54 N. Y. App. Div. 188, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 375.

94. Goodyear's India Rubber Glove Mfg. Co. v. Gorham, 83 Hun (N. Y.) 342, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 965; Matter of Bronson, 78 Hun (N. Y.) 351, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 112; New York Press Club v. Loyd, 12 Misc. (N. Y.) 210, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 24; Husson v. Fox, 15 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 464.

to authorize an order for discovery.[95] Where, however, the applicant states the ground of his belief and the sources of his knowledge so far as he can, and the knowledge as to which he fails is peculiarly with the parties he seeks to examine, this will be sufficient.[96] And where the necessary allegations of the affidavit are on knowledge or information derived from the adverse party it is not ground for a refusal to grant that there are surplus allegations on information and belief.[97]

(c) By Whom Application Made. The affidavit need not be made by the party in whose behalf the application is made, but may be made by his attorney, his agent, or by a third person;[98] but it must show that the facts were within the personal knowledge of such person,[99] or if on information and belief it must show the sources of the information and grounds of belief,[1] and must state sufficient reasons why the affidavit is not made by the party himself.[2]

e. The Order — (i) In General. A party may in the discretion of the judge to whom the application is made have an order for a general examination of his adversary. The examination is not as of course limited to an affirmative cause of action or an affirmative defense set forth in favor of the party desiring the examination.[3] The scope of an examination before trial should not be limited, especially where the testimony is taken before a judge and not before a referee.[4] The propriety of the order is confessed by the appearance of the party from time to time before the referee in pursuance thereof.[5] Where the order provides that witness fees should be tendered five days before the day fixed for examination, and the fees are not tendered until four days before the time, defendant is not bound to attend for examination, although the order was served in time.[6]

(ii) Notice of Order. Notice of the order for examination must be given to all the adversary parties.[7] If the adverse party has appeared, service on the

95. Goodyear's India Rubber Glove Mfg. Co. v. Gorham, 83 Hun (N. Y.) 342, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 965.

96. Rosenbaum v. Rice, 36 Misc. (N. Y.) 410, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 714.

97. Blatchford v. Paine, 24 N. Y. App. Div. 140, 48 N. Y. Suppl. 783.

98. Young v. McLemore, 3 Ala. 295; Hanson v. Marcus, 8 N. Y. App. Div. 318, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 951; Cross v. National F. Ins. Co., 2 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 443, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 84, 17 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 199; Railway Age, etc., Railroader v. Pryibil, 18 Misc. (N. Y.) 561, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 697; Corbett v. De Comeau, 4 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 252, 54 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 506; Lane v. Williams, 20 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 16.

99. Orne v. Greene, 74 N. Y. App. Div. 404, 77 N. Y. Suppl. 475; Goodyear's India Rubber Glove Mfg. Co. v. Gorham, 83 Hun (N. Y.) 342, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 965; Simmons v. Hazard, 58 Hun (N. Y.) 119, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 511; Pittsburgh Bank v. Murphy, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 575.

1. Simmons v. Hazard, 65 Hun (N. Y.) 612, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 508, 23 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 15. And see supra, III, A, 3, d, (II), (B), (9).

2. Wolff v. Kaufman, 65 N. Y. App. Div. 29, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 500; Simmons v. Hazard, 58 Hun (N. Y.) 119, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 511; Doyle v. Kimball, 23 Misc. (N. Y.) 431, 52 N. Y. Suppl. 195; Pittsburgh Bank v. Murphy, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 575; Woodhull v. Washburn, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 78.

A mere allegation that the party is absent from the state is not sufficient. Wolff v. Kaufman, 65 N. Y. App. Div. 29, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 500.

3. Herbage v. Utica, 109 N. Y. 81, 16 N. E. 62; Kastner v. Kastner, 53 N. Y. App. Div. 293, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 756; Rosenbaum v. Rice, 36 Misc. (N. Y.) 410, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 714. And see Harrold v. New York El. R. Co., 21 Hun (N. Y.) 268, holding that the court has no greater or different power to limit the extent of such examination than it has to limit the examination of any witness upon the trial. But compare Kinsella v. Second Ave. R. Co., 61 N. Y. Super. Ct. 454, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 188.

4. Fatman v. Fatman, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 847, 22 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 149.

5. Langerman v. McAdam, 6 Misc. (N. Y.) 374, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 755.

6. Elkhorn First Nat. Bank v. Wood, 26 Wis. 500.

7. Working v. Garn, 148 Ind. 546, 47 N. E. 951; Allain v. Truxillo, 14 La. 297; Clarke v. Jones, 1 Rob. (La.) 78; Loop v. Gould, 17 Hun (N. Y.) 585; Riddle v. Cram, 3 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 117 note; Leeds v. Brown, 5 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 418; Mayer v. Noll, 56 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 214; Pake v. Proal, 54 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 93.

Lack of diligence in serving an order cannot be imputed to defendant upon a general statement in the papers moving a vacation thereof, that at certain intervals of time plaintiff has been publicly and frequently within the city of New York, it not appearing that defendant or his attorney could have known of his presence, and caused service to be made upon him. Dudley v. Press Pub.

attorney will be sufficient;[8] but an order for examination of a party before trial cannot be enforced by contempt proceedings without service on the party, service on the attorney not being sufficient.[9] Although the statute requires a particular day to be named, the presence of defendant is a waiver of notice to appear on the particular day and he will be bound to answer.[10] Where the order is for the examination of a witness, it must be served upon the attorney of the opposite party.[11]

f. Place of Examination. The examination of a party resident of the state can be had only in the county in which the person resides or has his place of business.[12] If the party is a non-resident the examination may be had out of the state on commission issued for that purpose.[13] Formerly it must have been had before a judge and not before a referee.[14]

g. Conduct of Examination — (I) In General. The conduct of the examination should be the same as in case of any other witness.[15] The questions must be legal and pertinent, otherwise the party is not bound to answer them.[16] The party who is examined by his adversary before trial may be cross-examined on the direct examination.[17]

(II) Production of Books and Papers in Aid of Examination. The statutory provisions for the examination of the adverse party do not authorize the court to order the production of books and papers of the party examined on such examination.[18] Books or documents may, however, be asked for the purpose of refreshing the recollection of the witnesses and in aiding their memory on the oral examination.[19] And it has been held that if a party on his examination voluntarily refers to the contents of books or papers he may be compelled to produce them or state the contents thereof.[20] If it becomes necessary to prove entries in Co., 58 Hun (N. Y.) 181, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 337.

In South Carolina notice must be served on the party himself; service on the attorney is insufficient. Claiborne v. Frazier, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 47.

Under the early statutes of New York, an examination of the adverse party could be had at any time by giving five days' notice (Partin v. Elliott, 2 Sandf. (N. Y.) 667; Thaule v. Ritter, 13 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 439; Leeds v. Brown, 5 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 418), unless the judge on good cause shown ordered otherwise (Green v. Wood, 6 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 277; Leeds v. Brown, 5 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 418).

8. Greene v. Herder, 7 Rob. (N. Y.) 455, 4 Rob. (N. Y.) 655, 30 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 210; Thompson v. Sickels, 3 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 121 note; Webster v. Stockwell, 3 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 115. And see Brokaw v. Culver, 23 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 224, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 167.

9. Loop v. Gould, 17 Hun (N. Y.) 585; Tebo v. Baker, 16 Hun (N. Y.) 182; Freiberg v. Branigan, 3 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 121; Riddle v. Cram, 3 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 117 note; Mayer v. Noll, 56 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 214.

10. Leckie v. Scott, 10 La. 412.

11. Cowen v. Ferguson, 7 N. Y. St. 403.

12. Gustaf v. American Steamship Co., 31 Hun (N. Y.) 95, 4 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 243; Marsh v. Woolsey, 14 Hun (N. Y.) 1; Hesse v. Briggs, 45 N. Y. Super. Ct. 417. But see Todd v. Lambden, 10 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 383, 41 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 230.

13. Brockway v. Stanton, 2 Sandf. (N. Y.) 640, 1 Code Rep. (N. Y.) 128.

14. Berdell v. Berdell, 86 N. Y. 519; Draper v. Henningsen, 1 Bosw. (N. Y.) 611.

15. Dambman v. Butterfield, 4 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 542; People v. Dyckman, 24 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 222; In re Foster, 44 Vt. 570.

16. Boorman v. Pierce, 56 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 251.

17. In re Foster, 44 Vt. 570.

18. Jerrells v. Perkins, 25 N. Y. App. Div. 348, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 597; Savage v. Neely, 8 N. Y. App. Div. 316, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 946; Hauseman v. Sterling, 61 Barb. (N. Y.) 374; Woods v. De Figaniere, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 607; El Tazi v. Stein, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 96, 20 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 125; Martin v. Spofford, 3 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 125; Fisk v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 3 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 430; De Bary v. Stanley, 48 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 349.

Other proceedings to compel such production are specially prescribed by statute and rules of practice. El Tazi v. Stein, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 96.

19. Duffy v. Consolidated Gas Co., 59 N. Y. App. Div. 580, 69 N. Y. Suppl. 635; Ryan v. Reagan, 46 N. Y. App. Div. 590, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 39; Ahlmeyer v. Healy, 14 Daly (N. Y.) 288, 12 N. Y. St. 677; Rosenbaum v. Rice, 36 Misc. (N. Y.) 410, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 714; Clark v. Ennis, 35 Misc. (N. Y.) 339, 71 N. Y. Suppl. 943. And see Mauthey v. Wyoming County Co-operative F. Ins. Co., 76 N. Y. App. Div. 579, 78 N. Y. Suppl. 596.

20. Morrison v. McDonald, 9 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 57 note.

books, their production may be compelled on the examination by subpœna duces tecum,[21] and this is the proper course to pursue.[22] The production does not entitle the adverse party to a discovery of their contents, nor to an inspection or examination of them, nor to a conducting of the examination with respect to them otherwise than at the trial.[23] They are to be used solely as an adjunct of the oral examination.[24]

h. Failure to Appear or Answer. A party who refuses to appear for examination when ordered to do so is in contempt of court,[25] although it does not appear that the misconduct was calculated to or did defeat, impair, impede, or prejudice the rights or remedies of the applicant;[26] for such refusal, the complaint, answer, or reply may be stricken out[27] on motion but not ex parte,[28] or the attendance of the party may be procured by warrant.[29] Where the refusal takes place before answer filed, defendant's time to answer will be extended until plaintiff appears or secures a vacation of the order.[30] The default of defendant to appear for examination is waived by plaintiff's subsequently assigning days for such examination and postponing the same from time to time.[31]

i. Second Examination. A second examination of the adverse party may be had, although the statute makes no express provision for such reëxamination,[32] but will be granted only upon a showing of special facts justifying it.[33] The order for the second examination may be made on the affidavit for the original examination.[34]

4. Interrogatories — a. In General. As heretofore seen the statutes of some of the states provide for discovery at law by written interrogatories addressed to

21. People v. Armour, 18 N. Y. App. Div. 584, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 317; Savage v. Neely, 8 N. Y. App. Div. 316, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 946; Central Nat. Bank v. Arthur, 2 Sweeny (N. Y.) 194.

22. Gaughe v. Laroche, 6 Duer (N. Y.) 685, 14 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 451; Smith v. Macdonald, 1 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 350, 50 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 619, 52 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 117; Garighe v. Losche, 6 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 284 note.

23. Duffy v. Consolidated Gas Co., 59 N. Y. App. Div. 580, 69 N. Y. Suppl. 635; Drake v. Weinman, 12 Misc. (N. Y.) 65, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 177, 24 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 323; Bloom v. Ponds Extract Co., 18 N. Y. Suppl. 179, 27 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 366; Black v. Curry, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 193; McGuffin v. Dinsmore, 4 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 241.

24. Mauthey v. Wyoming County Co-operative F. Ins. Co., 76 N. Y. App. Div. 579, 78 N. Y. Suppl. 596; Brett v. Buckam, 32 Barb. (N. Y.) 655.

25. State v. Cost, 10 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 619, 22 Cinc. L. Bul. 250.

26. Wood v. De Figaniere, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 607. But the judge or commissioner has no power to punish for contempt for refusal to be examined before the action is at issue. Stuart v. Allen, 45 Wis. 158.

27. Greene v. Herder, 7 Rob. (N. Y.) 455, 4 Rob. (N. Y.) 655, 30 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 210; Gaughe v. Laroche, 6 Duer (N. Y.) 685, 14 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 451; Garighe v. Losche, 6 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 284 note.

Defective service of process.—The fact that service of an order to strike out an answer unless defendants comply with an order for discovery is made on defendants' attorney and not on them personally does not deprive the court of power to strike out the answer for their failure, where they appear on the motion and contest the matter on the merits. Brown v. Georgi, 26 Misc. (N. Y.) 128, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 923.

In Missouri it has been held that the complaint should not be dismissed for failure of the party to appear or answer, unless the refusal is wilful; nor should it be dismissed, where the party refused believing he had the right to refuse and expressed his willingness to testify when he found he did not have such right. Coburn v. Tucker, 21 Mo. 219.

28. Thaule v. Ritter, 13 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 439.

29. Greene v. Herder, 7 Rob. (N. Y.) 455, 4 Rob. (N. Y.) 655, 30 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 210; Gaughe v. Laroche, 6 Duer (N. Y.) 685, 14 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 451; Garighe v. Losche, 6 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 284 note.

30. Farmers' Nat. Bank v. Underwood, 90 Hun (N. Y.) 342, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 693, 25 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 94.

31. Satterlee v. De Comeau, 7 Rob. (N. Y.) 661.

32. In re Spreen, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 375. The fact that defendants in an action pending had been previously examined in proceedings supplementary to execution presents no objection to their examination before trial on motion of plaintiff. Watts v. Wilcox, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 647, 23 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 69. That one application has been made prematurely does not preclude the granting of a subsequent application properly made. Pender v. Mallett, 123 N. C. 57, 31 S. E. 351.

33. Dambmann v. Butterfield, 15 Hun (N. Y.) 495.

34. Haebler v. Hubbard, 36 Misc. (N. Y.) 642, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 461.

the adverse party.[35] Under such a statute interrogatories may be filed in an action pending at the date when the law takes effect.[36] The statutes should be liberally construed,[37] and are not repealed by statutes making parties competent witnesses.[38]

b. Application For Order Requiring Answer to. The application for an order requiring an answer to interrogatories must be based on the affidavit of the party, or some showing equivalent thereto, which must be recited in the order of court or appear of record.[39] The affidavit must show a cause of action on the merits in the applicant.[40]

c. Form and Requisites. The interrogatories must be specific.[41] If they are numerous and drawn with great carelessness so as to devolve upon the judge the trouble of settling them, he may send them back to be reformed and put into fit condition to be accepted.[42] They must be such as could be properly propounded in a bill of discovery.[43] They must disclose the party's case so far as to enable the court to form an opinion on the propriety of the proposed interrogatories.[44] They must be concerning matters material to the issue,[45] and to the case of the

35. See supra, II, A, 1.

A formal order is not necessary but defendant need merely be served with the interrogatories. Livesay v. O'Brien, 6 Wash. 553, 34 Pac. 134.

A party can be required to answer in open court only when sued in the parish of his domicile. Crocker v. Turnstall, 6 Rob. (La.) 354.

Necessity of order.— One party cannot as of right, and without a specific order of court, require the other to produce all his books and papers in answer to interrogatories. Amherst, etc., R. Co. v. Watson, 8 Gray (Mass.) 529.

36. Robbins v. Holman, 11 Cush. (Mass.) 26; Ramsden v. Brearley, 33 L. T. Rep. N. S. 322.

37. Volusia County Bank v. Bigelow, (Fla. 1903) 33 So. 704.

38. Jacksonville, etc., R. Co. v. Peninsular Land, etc., Co., 27 Fla. 1, 157, 9 So. 661, 17 L. R. A. 33, 65; Hubbard v. Hubbard, 6 Gray (Mass.) 362.

39. Marshall v. Riley, 7 Ga. 367. And see Bivens v. Brown, 37 Ala. 422.

Presumptions on appeal.— Where the trial court declines to compel an answer, in the absence of record showing to the contrary the appellate court will presume that the affidavit was not made. Bivens v. Brown, 37 Ala. 422.

40. Bivens v. Brown, 37 Ala. 422; May v. Hawkins, 3 C. L. R. 895, 11 Exch. 210, 1 Jur. N. S. 600, 24 L. J. Exch. 309, 3 Wkly. Rep. 550.

41. A party cannot make affidavit detailing the circumstances of a transaction and then ask his opponent whether the affidavit be not true or to state wherein it is incorrect. He must dissect the affidavit and state its details in distinct interrogatories. Demarest v. Ledoux, 10 Rob. (La.) 189.

42. Phillips v. Emens, 11 L. T. Rep. N. S. 512. See also Cawley v. Burton, 32 Wkly. Rep. 33, holding that if interrogatories as a whole are vexatious and unreasonable the court may strike out the whole of them without sifting the mass for the purpose of saving those questions which may be reasonable and proper.

43. Alabama.— Cain Lumber Co. v. Standard Dry Kiln Co., 108 Ala. 346, 18 So. 882; Montgomery Branch Bank v. Parker, 5 Ala. 731; Goodwin v. Wood, 5 Ala. 152.

Connecticut.— Downie v. Nettleton, 61 Conn. 593, 24 Atl. 977.

Florida.— Jacksonville, etc., R. Co. v. Peninsular Land, etc., Co., 27 Fla. 1, 157, 9 So. 661, 17 L. R. A. 33, 65.

Georgia.— Roberts v. Keaton, 21 Ga. 180; Thornton v. Adkins, 19 Ga. 464; Marshall v. Riley, 7 Ga. 367.

Michigan.— Mulhern v. Grove, 111 Mich. 528, 70 N. W. 15.

South Carolina.— Holly v. Thurston, Rice 282.

England.—Dalrymple v. Leslie, 8 Q. B. D. 7, 51 L. J. Q. B. 61, 45 L. T. Rep. N. S. 478, 30 Wkly. Rep. 105; Atherley v. Harvey, 2 Q. B. D. 524, 46 L. J. Q. B. 518, 36 L. T. Rep. N. S. 551, 25 Wkly. Rep. 727; Pye v. Butterfield, 5 B. & S. 829, 11 Jur. N. S. 220, 34 L. J. Q. B. 17, 11 L. T. Rep. N. S. 448, 13 Wkly. Rep. 178, 117 E. C. L. 829.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 76 et seq.

In Ohio the right to compel answers to interrogatories is not confined to cases where under the practice in chancery a discovery might be compelled, but extends to all cases where one party has the right to use the depositions of the opposite party. Templeton v. Morgan, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 602, 4 West. L. Month. 146.

44. Gourley v. Plimsoll, L. R. 8 C. P. 362, 42 L. J. C. P. 121, 28 L. T. Rep. N. S. 598, 21 Wkly. Rep. 683; Croomes v. Morrison, 5 E. & B. 984, 2 Jur. N. S. 163, 4 Wkly. Rep. 282, 85 E. C. L. 984.

45. McFarland v. Muscatine, 98 Iowa 199, 67 N. W. 233. An interrogatory in a bill for discovery as to the amount of income received by an execution-proof debtor as a public official and the disposition thereof is not impertinent or improper if designed to disclose profitable investments. Moore v. Alabama Nat. Bank, 120 Ala. 89, 23 So. 831.

party filing them.[46] Irrelevant interrogatories will not be allowed,[47] and need not be answered;[48] but the court and not the adversary party determines the question of relevancy.[49] The interrogatories must inquire as to matters of fact and not of law.[50] No cross-examination is permitted by interrogatories.[51] Interrogatories which have been served on defendants need not bear the signature of the clerk or the seal of the court.[52] Successive interrogatories on the same subject-matter are discretionary with the court.[53]

d. Time For Propounding. Interrogatories may be annexed to an amended petition,[54] but cannot be annexed to a petition refiled when not annexed to the original petition.[55] It is too late to propound interrogatories at the trial, or after it has commenced,[56] without some showing by affidavit excusing the delay.[57] But a party present at the trial may be ordered to answer instanter interrogatories, although propounded for the first time, where the questions require no recourse to books or papers and cannot delay the trial.[58] The right to file interrogatories on appeal is not waived by the fact that they were filed before a justice of the peace and withdrawn.[59] Where a party fails to file interrogatories in time and his adversary files cross interrogatories, he waives his right to have his interrogatories answered before answering the cross interrogatories.[60]

e. Who May Propound. The right to propound interrogatories depends on the capacity of plaintiff to sue.[61]

f. Who May Be Required to Answer. An infant plaintiff or defendant is not compelled to answer interrogatories,[62] nor is a guardian ad litem.[63] A corpora-

46. Georgia.— Marshall v. Riley, 7 Ga. 367.
Louisiana.— Saunders v. Carroll, 14 La. Ann. 27; Phillips v. Carr, 13 La. 71; Bullett v. Serpentine, 12 Mart. 393.
New Jersey.—Wolters v. Fidelity Trust Co., 65 N. J. L. 130, 46 Atl. 627.
New York.— Videtto v. Dudley, 56 N. Y. Super. Ct. 600, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 437.
Washington.— Du Clos v. Batcheller, 17 Wash. 389, 49 Pac. 483.
England.— Wiley v. Pistor, 7 Ves. Jr. 411, 32 Eng. Reprint 166; The Mary or Alexandra, 2 A. & E. 319, 38 L. J. Adm. 29, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 891, 17 Wkly. Rep. 551.
The statement of the applicant in his affidavit that they are material is not conclusive of the question. Foss v. Nutting, 14 Gray (Mass.) 484.

47. Whittaker v. Scarborough Post Newspaper Co., [1896] 2 Q. B. 148, 65 L. J. Q. B. 564, 74 L. T. Rep. N. S. 753, 44 Wkly. Rep. 657.

48. Levistones v. Marigny, 13 La. Ann. 353; Devore v. Dinsmore, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 600, 4 West. L. Month. 144; Red Polled Cattle Club of America v. Red Polled Cattle Club of America, 108 Iowa 105, 78 N. W. 803; Robinson v. Philadelphia, etc., R. Co., 28 Fed. 340; Smith v. Berg, 36 L. T. Rep. N. S. 471, 25 Wkly. Rep. 606.
What is not irrelevant.— An interrogatory whether the facts stated in the petition be not true cannot be irrelevant. Perron v. Grassier, 2 La. 152.
Failure to object on ground of irrelevancy. — If answered the admission of the answer in evidence cannot be objected to on the ground of irrelevancy, when no motion to reject the interrogatory has been made. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co. v. Howard, 124 Ind. 280, 24 N. E. 892, 19 Am. St. Rep. 96, 8 L. R. A. 593.

49. Hoyt v. Smith, 23 Conn. 177, 60 Am. Dec. 632.

50. Whateley v. Crowter, 5 E. & B. 709, 2 Jur. N. S. 207, 25 L. J. Q. B. 163, 4 Wkly. Rep. 121, 85 E. C. L. 709.

51. Kennedy v. Dodson, [1895] 1 Ch. 334, 64 L. J. Ch. 257, 72 L. T. Rep. N. S. 172, 12 Reports 92, 43 Wkly. Rep. 259.

52. Toomer v. Righton, Riley (S. C.) 263.

53. Hancock v. Franklin Ins. Co., 107 Mass. 113.

54. Blair v. Sioux City, etc., R. Co., (Iowa 1898) 73 N. W. 1053.

55. Theis v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 107 Iowa 522, 78 N. W. 199.

56. Jones v. Berryhill, 25 Iowa 289.
In New Jersey interrogatories to a complaint must be filed within fifteen days after the filing of the answer, or the complainant will not be compelled to answer them, unless there be some sufficient excuse for not filing them until after that time. Phelps v. Curtis, 2 N. J. Eq. 387.
In England leave will be granted to plaintiff to file interrogatories after defense made as of course. Janies v. Barns, 17 C. B. 596, 25 L. J. C. P. 182, 84 E. C. L. 596.

57. Dabbs v. Hemken, 3 Rob. (La.) 123; Gravier v. Cullion, 11 La. 269; Coco v. Lacour, 4 La. 507. And see McMillan v. Croft, 2 Tex. 397.

58. Hayden v. Davis, 9 Rob. (La.) 323; Coco v. Lacour, 4 La. 507.

59. Kennedy v. Gooding, 7 Gray (Mass.) 417.

60. Garwood v. Curteis, 10 Jur. N. S. 199, 10 L. T. Rep. N. S. 26, 12 Wkly. Rep. 509.

61. Union Bank v. McDonough, 5 La. 63.

62. Mayor v. Collins, 24 Q. B. D. 361, 59 L. J. Q. B. 199, 62 L. T. Rep. N. S. 326, 38 Wkly. Rep. 349.

63. Ingram v. Little, 11 Q. B. D. 251, 31 Wkly. Rep. 858.

tion can be required to answer interrogatories,[64] even though it be a foreign corporation;[65] but the party propounding the interrogatories must prove to the satisfaction of the court that the other party is a corporation.[66]

g. Service. The interrogatories may be served on plaintiff or on his attorney,[67] and when a party has no attorney of record, service of interrogatories by leaving a copy at his domicile with his wife is sufficient, and where notice besides is given by the commissioner the evidence will be received.[68] A defect in the service of interrogatories cannot avail after they have been in court several years.[69] Plaintiff is not bound to answer interrogatories ordered to be served on him until service is made,[70] and unless the statutory notice of the propounding of the interrogatories is given the answers will not be allowed to be taken for confessed.[71]

h. Objections — (1) Grounds. Interrogatories cannot be based upon a pleading held bad on demurrer,[72] or upon a pleading constituting no defense to an action,[73] or require answers concerning matters not stated in the pleading,[74] or not pertinent to the issue,[75] or require the statement of conclusions of law, or answers to hypothetical questions, or to give opinions, or set out copies of instruments.[76] But although an interrogatory be too broad it is not to be treated with unnecessary strictness, and the party will be required to answer so much as is relevant to the cause at issue.[77] A party is not entitled to interrogatories as to what facts possible witnesses would testify to.[78] They cannot be filed for the purpose of ascertaining the contents of a written instrument,[79] or to contradict the same.[80] So interrogatories seeking exclusively for information relating to the case of the other side are fishing interrogatories and are not permitted.[81]

64. Blair v. Sioux City, etc., R. Co., 109 Iowa 369, 80 N. W. 673.

65. Illinois Cent. R. Co. v. Sanford, 75 Miss. 862, 23 So. 355, 942.

66. Gott v. Adams Express Co., 100 Mass. 320.

67. Jackson v. Hughes, 6 Ala. 257 (service on the solicitor of a party is a proper foundation for an attachment for failure to answer); In re Mulcaster, 47 L. J. Ch. 609, 26 Wkly. Rep. 434.

68. Flower v. Downs, 6 La. Ann. 538.

69. Wood v. Maguire, 21 Ga. 576.

70. Desfarge v. Desfarge, 1 La. 365.

71. Cain Lumber Co. v. Standard Dry Kiln Co., 108 Ala. 346, 18 So. 882; Morrison v. Bean, 25 Tex. Suppl. 442.

72. Lung v. Sims, 14 Ind. 467.

73. Lamson v. Falls, 6 Ind. 309.

74. Chaffin v. Brownfield, 88 Ind. 305; Devore v. Dinsmore, 2 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 600, 4 West. L. Month. 144. Where a plaintiff in answer to or avoidance of a defense sets up new or distinct matter, it is competent for him to seek from defendant a disclosure in support of such new issue. Todd v. Bishop, 136 Mass. 386; Wilson v. Webber, 2 Gray (Mass.) 558.

75. Georgia.— Roberts v. Keaton, 21 Ga. 180.

Indiana.— Stevens v. Flannagan, 131 Ind. 122, 30 N. E. 898.

Kentucky.— Burnett v. Garnett, 18 B. Mon. 68.

Louisiana.— Butler v. Stewart, 18 La. Ann. 554; Picket v. Vance, 14 La. Ann. 668; Kenner v. Peck, 2 La. Ann. 938.

Massachusetts.— Elliott v. Lyman, 3 Allen 110.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 78.

Interrogatories propounded for delay.—Interrogatories to plaintiff, although sworn to be material to the defense, will be struck out when evidently propounded for delay. Parker v. Hewitt, 1 Rob. (La.) 11.

Where fraud is charged great latitude is allowed in the interrogatories, and although they are seemingly immaterial they will not be stricken out unless clearly improper. Cecile v. St. Denis, 14 La. 184.

76. Meyer v. Manhattan L. Ins. Co., 144 Ind. 439, 43 N. E. 448.

77. Hancock v. Franklin Ins. Co., 107 Mass. 113. And see Tuscaloosa First Nat. Bank v. Leland, 122 Ala. 289, 25 So. 195.

Where some of the interrogatories to an answer are frivolous, the party is not entitled to an order that they may be generally answered. Hogaboom v. Price, 53 Iowa 703, 6 N. W. 43.

78. Robbins v. Brockton St. R. Co., 180 Mass. 51, 61 N. E. 265. Only such interrogatories need be answered as to matters in personal knowledge of the interrogated party, and not as to matters in knowledge of others which he expects to prove. Parker v. Wilson, 2 N. J. L. J. 365.

79. Herschfeld v. Clarke, 11 Exch. 712, 2 Jur. N. S. 239, 25 L. J. Exch. 113.

Limitations of rule.— While inspection or copy cannot be demanded by interrogatories, patent and unmistakable facts to be gathered from such writings, as for example the date and amount of a draft, may be legally demanded. Wolters v. Fidelity Trust Co., 65 N. J. L. 130, 46 Atl. 627.

80. Moor v. Roberts, 2 C. B. N. S. 671, 3 Jur. N. S. 1221, 26 L. J. C. P. 246, 5 Wkly. Rep. 693, 89 E. C. L. 671.

81. Volusia County Bank v. Bigelow, (Fla.

(II) Requisites and Sufficiency. An objection that is made to the interrogatories for the first time when they are offered in evidence at the trial with the answers thereto is made too late.[82] If some of the interrogatories are objectionable, the objection to each with the reason therefor must be stated.[83] It is error for the court to strike out all the interrogatories if any of them are competent.[84] Objections to the form of the interrogatories must be made in writing.[85]

i. Answers to Interrogatories — (I) In General. The answers to interrogatories are part of the record and cannot be withdrawn, although excepted to, and although the party is ordered to answer again.[86] It is the duty of the interrogated party, althongh a non-resident, to take out the commission to take his signature, and oath, and answers to be filed by him in reply to the interrogatories filed by the adverse party.[87]

(II) Time For Making Answer. It is within the discretion of the court to permit a party to answer interrogatories after the time limited by the statute for answering the same has expired.[88] They need not accompany the answer to the petition, but may be filed before the trial.[89]

(III) By Whom Answer Made. The answers cannot be made by an agent[90]

1903) 33 So. 704; In re Pfirman, 1 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 177, 1 Ohio N. P. 127; Edwards v. Wakefield, 6 E. & B. 462, 2 Jur. N. S. 762, 4 Wkly. Rep. 710, 88 E. C. L. 462; Zarifi v. Thornton, 3 Jur. N. S. 92, 26 L. J. Exch. 214.

What are and what are not fishing interrogatories.—It was proper to refuse to compel an answer to an interrogatory as to what caused the collision, as a party cannot be required to state his views or disclose his defense. Robbins v. Brockton St. R. Co., 180 Mass. 51, 61 N. E. 265. Interrogatories propounded to plaintiff under the statute are not in the nature of a fishing bill, where, in connection with the affidavit made previous to their being filed, they state the existence of a pertinent fact which defendant believes to be within plaintiff's knowledge, and calls on him to answer in respect thereto. Chandler v. Hudson, 8 Ala. 366.

82. Combs v. Union Trust Co., 146 Ind. 688, 46 N. E. 16. But see Poindexter v. Davis, 6 Gratt. (Va.) 481.

83. Swinney v. Dorman, 25 Ala. 433; Dalgleish v. Lowther, [1899] 2 Q. B. 590, 68 L. J. Q. B. 956, 81 L. T. Rep. N. S. 161, 48 Wkly. Rep. 37; Church v. Perry, 36 L. T. Rep. N. S. 513.

Objections to a part of the interrogatories on the ground of irrelevancy, or that they seek to discover the evidence of the other party, must be taken by affidavit and do not afford ground for setting aside interrogatories. Gay v. Labouchere, 4 Q. B. D. 206, 48 L. J. Q. B. 279, 27 Wkly. Rep. 413.

84. Volusia County Bank v. Bigelow, (Fla. 1903) 33 So. 704.

85. Allerkamp v. Gallagher, (Tex. Civ. App. 1893) 24 S. W. 372.

86. McKerall v. McMillan, 9 Rob. (La.) 19; Hunter v. Smith, 5 Mart. N. S. (La.) 177; Poston v. Adams, 5 Mart. (La.) 272.

87. Clarke v. Jones, 1 Rob. (La.) 78; Townsend v. Gibbs, 11 Cush. (Mass.) 158; Sheldon v. Kendall, 11 Cush. (Mass.) 74. Where defendant moved for the continuance of the cause on the ground that the commission to take the answers of plaintiff, residing out of the state, on interrogatories propounded to him had not been returned and the counsel of plaintiff then offered as a substitute the answers of plaintiff taken without a commission in another state responsive to the interrogatories which were received in evidence, it was held that the admission of the answers so taken was irregular. Kirtland v. Harris, 20 La. Ann. 153.

Under the Georgia statutes it is the duty of the party examined to execute and return the commission, on notice of the filing of the interrogatories, but in the absence of such notice the burden is on the party seeking the discovery. Hatcher v. Mechanicsburg First Nat. Bank, 79 Ga. 538, 5 S. E. 127.

88. Pool v. Harrison, 18 Ala. 514.

Filing before trial of canse sufficient.—Where interrogatories on facts and articles are not required to be answered in open court, nor to be sworn to before the clerk, the answers sworn to before a justice of the peace and filed in court before the trial of the cause cannot be objected to on the ground of their not being filed until after the day fixed in the order of the court for their being answered. Huff v. Freeman, 15 La. Ann. 240.

89. Seal v. Erwin, 2 Mart. N. S. (La.) 245.

Where there are annexed to the answer, requiring no reply, interrogatories to be answered by plaintiff, the court should be asked to fix a definite time within which they should be answered before moving for a dismissal for failure to answer. Garviu v. Cannon, 53 Iowa 716, 6 N. W. 122; Hogaboom v. Price, 53 Iowa 703, 6 N. W. 43.

90. Henderson v. Bowles, 3 Mart. N. S. (La.) 152; Buford v. Valentine, 3 Mart. N. S. (La.) 57; Wentzel v. Zinn, 10 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 97, 7 Ohio N. P. 512. When a party is ordered to answer in open court, the interrogatories should be severally read to him, and he should then dictate his anor attorney,[91] but must be made by the party, and if not so made are nullities and need not be excepted to.[92] If the interrogatories are addressed to a corporation the answer should be made by the president;[93] if to partners, each partner must answer if he is expressly required to do so by the interrogatories,[94] but not otherwise.[95] They are sufficiently authenticated, if made by a non-resident, if the person authenticating the same prima facie has authority to administer an oath.[96]

(IV) Requisites and Sufficiency of Answer. The party to whom the interrogatories are propounded must make just such answers as he would be required to do to a bill of discovery.[97] If not responsive to the interrogatories[98] or evasive[99] they will be stricken out. Although the answer must be categorical, it is immaterial what language is used.[1] And if substantially all the interrogatories are answered it is not necessary that the answers should correspond numerically with the interrogatories, unless it is apparent that defendant's rights were prejudiced thereby.[2] A party is not bound to answer positively, if he swears that his memory does not enable him to do so.[3] If the interrogatories are not specifically directed to the information and belief of the party as well as knowledge, it is sufficient if he answers from knowledge.[4] If an officer of a corporation is examined, he may be required to make inquiries of other officers and servants of the corporation and give the information so received,[5] except such as swers to the clerk, to be put on record in the presence of the judge and the opposite party, on the day fixed by order of the court, or if there is no order after notice to the party interrogating. So when defendant's answers written by his counsel out of court are brought in and sworn to by him in open court, with whose leave they are filed, without, however, being read to the court and without the knowledge of plaintiff's counsel, they will on motion be stricken out. Nicholson v. Sherard, 10 La. Ann. 533.

91. Harding v. Noyes, 125 Mass. 572.

Answer on information derived from attorney.— Where one in answer to interrogatories filed an answer thereto by an attorney under whose advice the acts complained of were done, accompanying his own affidavit stating that his information was derived from the attorney, but did not state that he believed the answer of the attorney to be true, such answer should have been stricken from the files. Gollobitsch v. Rainbow, 84 Iowa 567, 51 N. W. 48.

92. Henderson v. Bowles, 3 Mart. N. S. (La.) 152; Buford v. Valentine, 3 Mart. N. S. (La.) 57.

93. Commercial Bank v. Guice, 12 Rob. (La.) 181.

94. Allain v. Truxillo, 14 La. 297. But see Ferguson v. Murphy, 10 La. Ann. 53.

95. Tiernan v. Noe, 15 La. 119; Martineau v. Carr, 3 Mart. (La.) 497.

96. Reid v. Reid, 11 Tex. 585.

97. Saltmarsh v. Bower, 22 Ala. 221; Thompson v. Mapp, 6 Ga. 260.

98. Tuscaloosa First Nat. Bank v. Leland, 122 Ala. 289, 25 So. 195. Compare Conway v. Turner, 8 Ark. 356.

Where the facts of an answer are not closely connected with those of the question, the opposite party should move to strike out the irrelevant matter. Smith v. Richardson, 11 Rob. (La.) 516; Wells v. Hickman, 6 Rob. (La.) 1.

99. Farrow v. Nashville, etc., R. Co., 109 Ala. 448, 20 So. 303; Blair v. Sioux City, etc., R. Co., 109 Iowa 369, 80 N. W. 673; Baker v. Garlick, 9 Rob. (La.) 125; Robbins v. Leverich, 6 La. 340; Lowry v. Moore, 16 Wash. 476, 48 Pac. 238, 58 Am. St. Rep. 49.

What answers not evasive.— Plaintiff in a suit for personal injuries against a railroad company cannot complain if defendant in answer to interrogatories asking if a written report of the killing has been made to it, and if so that the report be attached to the answer, stated that the engineer and section foreman had made unsworn reports of the accident and refused to attach the same, such ex parte statements of persons being hearsay and not competent evidence. Culver v. Alabama Midland R. Co., 108 Ala. 330, 18 So. 827.

Limitation of rules.— Where answers to interrogatories on facts and articles all taken together present a complete answer to all the interrogatories taken together, the court will not order one of the interrogatories to be taken for confessed on an objection that the answer to that particular interrogatory was evasive. Wright-Blodgett Co. v. Elms, 106 La. 150, 30 So. 311.

1. Gabaroche v. Hebert, 7 Mart. N. S. (La.) 526.

2. Maduel v. Mousseau, 28 La. Ann. 691. A party to an action may make one answer to several interrogatories of the adverse party, to each of which it is responsive, notwithstanding that the statute provides that "each interrogatory shall be answered separately and fully." Amherst, etc., R. Co. v. Watson, 8 Gray (Mass.) 529.

3. Lewis v. Decoux, 5 Mart. N. S. (La.) 649.

4. Fry v. Shehee, 55 Ga. 208.

5. Toland v. Paine Furniture Co., 179 Mass. 501, 61 N. E. 52; Bolckow v. Fisher, 52 L. J. Q. B. 12; Pavitt v. North Metropolitan Tramways Co., 48 L. T. Rep. N. S. 730. The corporation cannot shield itself behind an avowal of personal ignorance on the part may have been accidentally acquired by them and not in the course of their employment.[6] A party is not bound to confine himself in his answer to a simple and unexplained negative or affirmative response to the questions, but he may give such explanations and state such circumstances as are necessary to a full and fair understanding of the matters concerning which he is interrogated.[7] The explanation must, however, be reasonably limited.[8] The whole answer must be taken together.[9] The answer may deal much in generalities without being obnoxious to the objection that it is not closely connected with the main facts as to which the party was interrogated,[10] and may introduce any matter relevant to the issue in the cause between the parties.[11] But a party interrogated as to a particular fact cannot annex to his answer letters to a third person and thus introduce statements not under oath to influence the jury on other points,[12] nor state his conclusions of law on the facts.[13]

(v) Verification. The answer should be verified by the oath of the party[14] and not by his attorney,[15] and although the answer is made by a corporation, it must nevertheless be verified.[16] The verification may be on a separate paper.[17] After going to trial defendant cannot ask that the suit be dismissed, because there is no legal evidence that plaintiff's answers are sworn to.[18]

(vi) Exceptions to Answer. The exceptions to the answer must be in writing[19] and must be made before trial.[20] Objections to portions of the answer on the ground that they are irrelevant may be made on the trial in the same manner as an objection would be made on the examination of a witness;[21] so may the objection that the officer before whom the answers were sworn to was not authorized to receive an oath.[22]

(vii) Answer as Evidence — (a) In General. Answers to interrogatories are not considered oral evidence.[23] The answers to interrogatories may be read in evidence with the same effect as answers to bills of discovery.[24] The party filing of the officer when he can reasonably ascertain the facts sought. Robbins v. Brockton St. R. Co., 180 Mass. 51, 61 N. E. 265.

6. Welsbach Incandescent Gas Lighting Co. v. New Sunlight Incandescent Co., [1900] 2 Ch. 1, 69 L. J. Ch. 546, 83 L. T. Rep. N. S. 58, 48 Wkly. Rep. 595.

7. Manning v. Maroney, 87 Ala. 563, 6 So. 343, 13 Am. St. Rep. 67; Crymes v. White, 37 Ala. 549; Pritchett v. Munroe, 22 Ala. 501; Railsback v. Koons, 18 Ind. 274; Gusman v. Hearsey, 26 La. Ann. 251; Quick v. Haskins, 15 La. Ann. 656; Broxton v. Bloom, 15 La. Ann. 618; Tegarden v. Powell, 15 La. Ann. 184; Bowers v. Hale, 14 La. Ann. 419; Ross v. Ross, 9 Rob. (La.) 173; Lauve v. Bell, 1 La. 191; Nichols v. Pierce, 6 Mart. N. S. (La.) 705; Glasgow v. Stevenson, 6 Mart. N. S. (La.) 567; Maxwell v. Gunn, 2 Mart. N. S. (La.) 140; Rogers v. Parmetti, 1 Mart. N. S. (La.) 382; Richardson v. Terrel, 9 Mart. (La.) 1; Taylor v. Morgan, 1 Mart. (La.) 203; Foster v. Spear, 22 Tex. 226. Contra, Berthole v. Mace, 5 Mart. (La.) 576; Yocum v. Roy, 3 Mart. (La.) 409.

Application of rule.— Where defendant and plaintiff resorted to interrogatories on facts and articles the witness had the right to state in her answers any facts tending to her defense closely linked to the facts on which she was being questioned. Carroll v. Carroll, 48 La. Ann. 956, 20 So. 210. But see Woodruff v. Dodd, 15 La. Ann. 644.

8. Lyell v. Kennedy, 33 Wkly. Rep. 44.

9. Ross v. Ross, 9 Rob. (La.) 173; Bradford v. Brown, 11 Mart. (La.) 217.

10. Herbert v. Butterworth, 23 Tex. 250.

11. Pritchett v. Munroe, 22 Ala. 501; Saltmarsh v. Bower, 22 Ala. 221; Baxter v. Massasoit Ins. Co., 13 Allen (Mass.) 320. Contra, Lake v. Gilchrist, 7 Ala. 955; Zeigler v. Scott, 10 Ga. 389, 54 Am. Dec. 395.

12. Reynolds v. Rowley, 3 Rob. (La.) 201, 38 Am. Dec. 233.

13. Owen v. Brown, 13 La. Ann. 201; Knox v. Thompson, 12 La. Ann. 114.

14. Henderson v. Bowles, 3 Mart. N. S. (La.) 152; Wentzel v. Zinn, 10 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 9, 7 Ohio N. P. 512.

Interrogatories cannot be taken for confessed against a plaintiff who has actually answered merely because his oath was not taken under a commission from the court before which the case was pending. McCloskey v. Wingfield, 32 La. Ann. 38.

15. Wentzel v. Zinn, 10 Ohio S. & C. Pl. Dec. 9, 7 Ohio N. P. 512.

16. Blair v. Sioux City, etc., R. Co., (Iowa 1898) 73 N. W. 1053.

17. Roy v. Wiley, 2 La. 315.

18. Dean v. Smith, 12 Mart. (La.) 316.

19. Allen v. Atchison, 26 Tex. 616.

20. McCargo v. Crutcher, 27 Ala. 171; Allen v. Atchison, 26 Tex. 616; Dikes v. De Cordova, 17 Tex. 618.

21. Pritchett v. Munroe, 22 Ala. 501.

22. Center v. Stockton, 8 Mart. (La.) 208.

23. Semere v. Semere, 10 La. Ann. 704.

24. Wilson v. Maria, 21 Ala. 359; Maxwell v. Guthrie, 23 Ark. 702; Strawn v. Norris, 23 Ark. 542; Stillwell v. Badgett, 22 Ark. 164; Field v. Pope, 5 Ark. 66; Clayton v.

the petition for discovery is not bound to read the answer,[25] but may prove his demand by any other testimony.[26] It is entirely in the discretion of the party calling for it, whether he will use it or not.[27] If, however, he offers a portion of it, he makes the whole of it evidence,[28] at least so far as it is pertinent to the interrogatories. This would not only include the answer given, but also all matter in explanation thereof;[29] yet if the answer is to an entirely distinct matter from that inquired of it is not evidence for the party making it.[30] In a number of jurisdictions the party answering the interrogatories is not entitled to the benefit thereof as evidence unless introduced as evidence by his adversary, the practice being the same in this regard as was the case with pure bills of discovery.[31] In other jurisdictions, however, the party answering is entitled to the benefit of his answer as evidence whether introduced by his adversary or not.[32] It is evidence as against parties to the suit other than the party answering.[33] It is evidence in another suit, although the issues are different,[34] and in the same suit in support of amended pleadings.[35] The party cannot amend his petition by striking out interrogatories the answers to which are unfavorable to him.[36] If he introduces the answer he admits the respondent is worthy of credit in so far that he cannot impeach him.[37] It may be read, although the adversary party is present at the trial,[38] and prepared to testify,[39] in which event the opposite party may Brown, 30 Ga. 490. See also Lovett v. Casey, 17 Tex. 944.

Both the interrogatories and answers may be read. Clinton Nat. Bank v. Torry, 30 Iowa 85.

25. Alabama.— Saltmarsh v. Bower, 22 Ala. 221.

Arkansas.— Conway v. Turner, 8 Ark. 356.

New Hampshire.— Wood v. Weld, Smith 367.

North Carolina.— Shober v. Wheeler, 113 N. C. 370, 16 S. E. 328.

South Carolina.— Chapman v. Clarke, 2 Rich. 366.

Virginia.— McFarland v. Hunter, 8 Leigh 489.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 99.

A party's answer cannot make evidence of his conversations with third persons in his opponent's absence, nor can he make evidence of a copy without accounting for the original. Lafarge v. Ripley, 4 Mart. N. S. (La.) 303. But see contra, Van Horn v. Smith, 59 Iowa 142, 12 N. W. 789.

26. Conway v. Turner, 8 Ark. 356.

27. Montgomery Branch Bank v. Parker, 5 Ala. 731.

28. Pritchett v. Munroe, 22 Ala. 501; Saltmarsh v. Bower, 22 Ala. 221; Strawn v. Norris, 23 Ark. 542; Stillwell v. Badgett, 22 Ark. 164; Scott v. Indianapolis Wagon Works, 48 Ind. 75; Dawson Town, etc., Co. v. Woodhull, 67 Fed. 451, 14 C. C. A. 464. And see Hart v. Freeman, 42 Ala. 567.

Where a party has offered in evidence responsive answers of his adversary to interrogatories propounded under these statutes he is not entitled to have such answers included, although the testimony considered them inadmissible. Farrow v. Nashville, etc., R. Co., 109 Ala. 448, 20 So. 303.

29. Allend v. Spokane Falls, etc., R. Co., 21 Wash. 324, 58 Pac. 244.

30. Lake v. Gilcrist., 7 Ala. 955.

31. Alabama.— Welles v. Bransford, 28 Ala. 200; Montgomery Branch Bank v. Parker, 5 Ala. 731.

Arkansas.— Conway v. Turner, 8 Ark. 356.

Missouri.— Fugate v. Carter, 6 Mo. 267.

Virginia.— Vaughn v. Garland, 11 Leigh 251; McFarland v. Hunter, 8 Leigh 489.

Washington.— Moore v. Palmer, 14 Wash. 134, 44 Pac. 142.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 100.

32. Bachemin v. Scheixnaydre, 16 La. Ann. 32; McKerall v. McMillan, 9 Rob. (La.) 19; Hunter v. Smith, 5 Mart. N. S. (La.) 177; Berthole v. Mace, 5 Mart. (La.) 576; Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Tinney, 73 Miss. 726, 19 So. 662; Fuqua v. Tindall, 11 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 465; Page v. Krekey, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 764; Barry v. Galvin, 37 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 310; Handley v. Leigh, 8 Tex. 129.

33. Stetson v. Wolcott, 15 Gray (Mass.) 545; Montgomery v. Dillingham, 3 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 647; Hadley v. Upshaw, 27 Tex. 547, 86 Am. Dec. 654; McGown v. Randolph, 26 Tex. 492. Contra, Huff v. Freeman, 13 La. Ann. 262; Johnson v. Marsh, 2 La. Ann. 772.

A defendant who is brought into court after the other defendants have obtained plaintiff's testimony is not bound by such previous testimony, but may require him to testify again. Larimore v. Bobb, 114 Mo. 446, 21 S. W. 922.

34. Williams v. Cheney, 3 Gray (Mass.) 215.

35. Weatherby v. Brown, 106 Mass. 338.

36. Scull v. Mowry, 2 Mart. (La.) 275.

37. Southern R. Co. v. Hubbard, 116 Ala. 387, 22 So. 541; Wilson v. Maria, 21 Ala. 359.

38. Scott v. Indianapolis Wagon Works, 48 Ind. 75; Island County v. Babcock, 20 Wash. 238, 55 Pac. 114.

39. Presbrey v. Public Opinion Co., 6 N. Y. App. Div. 600, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 957; Meier v. Paulus, 70 Wis. 165, 35 N. W. 301; Cannon v. Sweet, (Tex. Civ. App. 1894) 28 S. W. 718.

explain his answer.[40] It cannot be read against an absent co-defendant unless plaintiff has notified defendant not absent to produce his co-defendant or his deposition.[41]

(B) Conclusiveness of Answer. The answer, however, is not conclusive evidence, and other testimony is to be heard and considered if contradictory.[42] The force of the answer cannot be destroyed by the testimony of one witness without corroborating circumstances,[43] or by circumstantial evidence, however strong, unless in corroboration of the testimony of a witness.[44]

(VIII) FAILURE TO ANSWER—(A) Consequence of. On failure to answer interrogatories, the opposite party is entitled to the benefit of some one or more of the following remedies: Continuance of the cause until full answers to the interrogatories are made;[45] compelling an answer by attachment;[46] the direction of a nonsuit,[47] or default,[48] or dismissal;[49] the striking out of the party's pleading;[50] or the taking of the interrogatories as confessed,[51] without any formal motion

The error in excluding the same is not waived by thereupon calling the adverse party. Meier v. Paulus, 70 Wis. 165, 35 N. W. 301.

40. Smith v. Olson, 92 Tex. 181, 46 S. W. 631 [reversing (Tex. Civ. App. 1898) 44 S. W. 874].

41. Saxby v. Neal, 2 Pinn. (Wis.) 399, 2 Chandl. (Wis.) 53.

42. Wilson v. Maria, 21 Ala. 359; Le Bleu v. Savoie, 109 La. 680, 33 So. 729; Godfrey v. Hall, 4 La. 158; Hunter v. Smith, 3 Mart. N. S. (La.) 109; Read v. Bailey, 2 Mart. (La.) 59; Sawdey v. Spokane Falls, etc., R. Co., 30 Wash. 349, 70 Pac. 972, 94 Am. St. Rep. 880. Contra, Robinson v. Francis, 7 How. (Miss.) 458; Fugate v. Carter, 6 Mo. 267.

43. Shiers v. Poole, 6 La. Ann. 401; Fletcher v. Fletcher, 5 La. Ann. 406; Conrey v. Harrison, 4 La. Ann. 349; Graneri v. Talbot, 12 Rob. (La.) 526; Bourgeois v. Bourg, 2 La. 537; Stafford v. Stafford, 1 Mart. N. S. (La.) 648; Oliver v. Chapman, 15 Tex. 400.

44. Oliver v. Chapman, 15 Tex. 400.

45. Ex p. McLendon, 33 Ala. 276; Jackson v. Hughes, 6 Ala. 257.

Rights of defaulting party.—Where interrogatories to plaintiffs are filed, and an order obtained directing them to answer, and they fail, they cannot complain that no further steps were taken to enforce an answer until the calling of the cause for trial. Hubler v. Pullen, 9 Ind. 273, 68 Am. Dec. 620.

46. Ex p. McLendon, 33 Ala. 276; Goodwin v. Harrison, 6 Ala. 438; Re Mulcaster, 47 L. J. Ch. 609, 26 Wkly. Rep. 434.

47. Ex p. McLendon, 33 Ala. 276; Huggins v. Carter, 7 Ala. 630; Young v. McLemore, 3 Ala. 295; Patterson v. Lafarge, 1 Mart. N. S. (La.) 194; Harding v. Morrill, 136 Mass. 291; Robbins v. Holman, 11 Cush. (Mass.) 26; Illinois Cent. R. Co. v. Sanford, 75 Miss. 862, 23 So. 355. Contra, Knight v. Booth, 35 Tex. 10.

It is within the discretion of the court either to order a nonsuit to be entered at the time fixed for answering interrogatories, or to allow further time (Harding v. Noyes, 125 Mass. 572); and from the exercise of such discretion an appeal does not lie (Harding v. Noyes, 125 Mass. 572. But see Baker v. Carpenter, 127 Mass. 226).

48. Goodwin v. Harrison, 6 Ala. 438; Young v. McLemore, 3 Ala. 295.

This default the court may set aside at its discretion, but the discretion should not be exercised unless a satisfactory reason is shown for failure to answer, and showing in all cases where practicable should be accompanied by full and explicit answers. Goodwin v. Harrison, 6 Ala. 438.

49. Jackson v. Hughes, 6 Ala. 257; Kennedy v. Guise, 62 Ga. 304; Stern v. Filene, 14 Allen (Mass.) 19.

50. Royer v. German, 48 Mo. App. 510; Teas v. McDonald, 13 Tex. 394, 65 Am. Dec. 65.

Where defendant refuses to answer certain questions considered by him impertinent, under the advice of his counsel, the court may exercise its discretion in the matter of striking out his pleading. Dustin v. Farrelly, 81 Mo. App. 380.

51. Walker v. Wingfield, 16 La. Ann. 300; Owen v. Brown, 13 La. Ann. 201; Seaman v. Babington, 11 La. Ann. 173; Knight v. Murchison, 1 Rob. (La.) 31; Baine v. Wilson, 18 La. 59; Polo v. Natili, 14 La. 260; Cox v. Mitchell, 7 La. 520; Barrow v. Sterling, 2 Mart. N. S. (La.) 55; Patterson v. Lafarge, 1 Mart. N. S. (La.) 194; Harrell v. Kemper, 44 Tex. 421; Toomer v. Righton, Riley (S. C.) 263; Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Nelson, 5 Tex. Civ. App. 387, 24 S. W. 588. But see Alston v. Graves, 6 Ala. 174, where it was held that when a party fails or refuses to answer interrogatories propounded to him under the act authorizing discoveries in suits at law, the court is not authorized to consider the interrogatories as confessed, or to submit an account exhibited with them to the jury, without further proof than arises from the judgment by default entered under the statute.

Interrogatories propounded to plaintiff by a defendant corporation can be taken as confessed, although there is no provision by which a corporation could be required to answer interrogatories. Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Nelson, 5 Tex. Civ. App. 387, 24 S. W.

therefor,[52] and although other evidence of the facts is accessible to the party.[53] Interrogatories will not be taken for confessed, however, unless the refusal to answer the same is wilful,[54] and unless the interrogatories are pertinent and relevant at the time when the answer is required;[55] and in order that advantage may be taken of the statutory provision that interrogatories evasively answered shall be taken as confessed, interrogatories must distinctly embody the facts desired to be proved.[56] So if the petition is neither answered nor taken for confessed, the party filing it has the right to abandon it and prove the facts by witnesses,[57] and it has been held that if a party fail to answer a petition for discovery the petition may be read in evidence.[58] Nevertheless the failure of plaintiff to answer interrogatories does not entitle defendant to the affirmative relief prayed for in his answer.[59] The neglect or refusal of nominal parties to answer should not be permitted to prejudice the rights of real parties in interest.[60] Although interrogatories are not fully answered the answers are not to be disregarded as far as responsive.[61] The burden is on the party refusing to answer to show cause for such refusal.[62]

(B) Waiver of Right to Take Advantage of. The right to have a nonsuit for failure to answer defendant's interrogatories is waived by not making motion for the same until after the jury is sworn,[63] and cannot be taken advantage of on appeal.[64] But the mere fact that plaintiff's attorney caused the action to be

588. But see contra, Houston, etc., R. Co. v. Stuart, (Tex. Civ. App. 1898) 48 S. W. 799.

Effect of cross-examination at trial.— The fact that plaintiff is cross-examined at the trial by defendant does not render harmless the court's refusal to take interrogatories which he refuses to answer as confessed. Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Nelson, 5 Tex. Civ. App. 387, 24 S. W. 588.

Order not self-executing.—An order of the court that interrogatories attached to a pleading be answered on or before a certain time, and in default thereof that the action stand dismissed, does not execute itself, and the action continues on the docket until dismissed by the court. Springfield, etc., R. Co. v. Western R. Constr. Co., 49 Ohio St. 681, 32 N. E. 961.

Testimony cannot be introduced to disprove answers taken as confessed for failure to answer. Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Hamilton, 17 Tex. Civ. App. 76, 42 S. W. 358.

Privileged matter.— The refusal of a party to answer an interrogatory on the ground that he is privileged from answering the same is not a confession of the truth of the matters concerning which he is interrogated. Wentworth v. Lloyd, 10 H. L. Cas. 589, 10 Jur. N. S. 961, 33 L. J. Ch. 688, 10 L. T. Rep. N. S. 767; Lloyd v. Passingham, 16 Ves. Jr. 59, 33 Eng. Reprint 906; Ex p. Symes, 11 Ves. Jr. 521, 32 Eng. Reprint 1191.

52. McCloskey v. Wingfield, 32 La. Ann. 38. But see Leblanc v. Massieu, 26 La. Ann. 332.

53. Roche v. Chaplin, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 419.

54. Georgia.— Dawson v. Callaway, 31 Ga. 47.

Indiana.— Bish v. Beatty, 111 Ind. 403, 12 N. E. 523; Chaffin v. Brownfield, 88 Ind. 305.

Louisiana.— Graves v. Hemken, 12 Rob. 103.

Missouri.— Tyson v. Farm, etc., Assoc., 156 Mo. 588, 57 S. W. 740.

Texas.— Robertson v. Melasky, 84 Tex. 559, 19 S. W. 776; Bounds v. Little, 75 Tex. 316, 12 S. W. 1109; Rushing v. Willis, (Civ. App. 1894) 28 S. W. 921. And see Wells v. Groesbeck, 22 Tex. 429.

England.— Von Hoff v. Hoerster, 27 L. J. Exch. 299.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 84 et seq.

Illustration.— A plaintiff cannot be nonsuited for insufficiency of answers which substantially meet all the interrogatories of the adverse party, unless he has refused to comply with an order of the court pointing out the insufficiencies and directing further answers. Amherst, etc., R. Co. v. Watson, 8 Gray (Mass.) 529.

A party is entitled to advice of counsel and is not in default for refusing to answer without notice and without opportunity for consultation. Wofford v. Farmer, 90 Tex. 651, 40 S. W. 788.

55. Barnard v. Blum, 69 Tex. 608, 17 S. W. 98.

56. Church v. Waggoner, 78 Tex. 200, 14 S. W. 581.

57. Foster v. Pinckard, 5 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 792.

58. Field v. Pope, 5 Ark. 66.

59. Waite v. Wingate, 4 Wash. 324, 30 Pac. 81.

60. Bridges v. Nicholson, 20 Ga. 90.

61. Meyer v. Claus, 15 Tex. 516.

62. Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Hamilton, 17 Tex. Civ. App. 76, 42 S. W. 358.

63. Gitzandener v. Macarty, 10 Mart. (La.) 70; Dean v. Hubbard, 1 Mart. N. S. (La.) 566; Woolsey v. Paulding, 9 Mart. (La.) 280; Voorhees v. Jones, 29 N. J. L. 270.

64. Garvin v. Cannon, 53 Iowa 716, 6 N. W. 122. But see Bird v. Bowie, 3 Mart. N. S. (La.) 112.

placed upon the trial list was held not to constitute a waiver of the right to claim a default for failure to answer interrogatories.[65]

5. Privileged Matter — a. Confidential Communications. An attorney may properly refuse to answer on the ground that his answer would disclose facts and information given in confidence by his client.[66] It is also the policy of the law to exclude the testimony of one spouse against the other.[67] So workmen pledged to secrecy, and employed in a factory in which the business is conducted in private, to secure the secrecy of the machinery and methods of manufacture, will not be compelled in a suit against their employer to answer interrogatories and describe the peculiarities of his machinery, where no evidence has been introduced to show that the secrets of defendant were used to conceal an invasion of complainant's rights.[68] Where a physician makes affidavit to facts derived in a professional capacity for use against his patient in violation of his duty to his client he may be compelled at the instance of the patient to make an affidavit upon the same subject.[69]

b. Matters Subjecting to Criminal Prosecutions, Penalties, or Forfeitures. A party cannot be compelled in an oral examination before trial or in answer to interrogatories propounded in accordance with statute to disclose matters which would subject him to a criminal prosecution or to a penalty or forfeiture.[70] But

65. Kennedy v. Gooding, 7 Gray (Mass.) 417.

66. Procter v. Smiles, 55 L. J. Q. B. 527.

The existence or non-existence of a suit is immaterial. Penruddock v. Hammond, 11 Beav. 59; Pearse r. Pearse, 1 De G. & Sm. 12, 11 Jur. 52, 16 L. J. Ch. 153; Walsingham v. Goodricke, 3 Hare 122, 25 Eng. Ch. 122; Boyd r. Petrie, 20 L. T. Rep. N. S. 934, 17 Wkly. Rep. 903. But see Stanhope v. Roberts, 2 Atk. 214, 26 Eng. Reprint 532.

In New York the court may in a proper case make an order requiring the attorney for plaintiff to furnish defendant with a sworn statement of plaintiff's residence and address, but in the United States courts, where there are no provisions for the oral examination of parties before trial corresponding to the provisions of the New York code of procedure, such an order will not be made. Corbett v. Gibson, 18 Hun 49; Corbett v. Gibson, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,222, 16 Blatchf. 336. So defendant is not entitled to an order requiring a disclosure of plaintiff's occupation and residence where a written offer by plaintiff's attorney to furnish the address and occupation of plaintiff, if it was desired for any purpose connected with the action, was refused, as such refusal shows an ulterior design in procuring the order. Drake v. New York Iron Mine, 75 Hun (N. Y.) 539, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 489.

67. Carter v. Taylor, 20 La. Ann. 421; Cartwright r. Green, 2 Leach 952, 8 Ves. Jr. 405, 7 Rev. Rep. 99, 32 Eng. Reprint 412.

68. Dobson v. Graham, 49 Fed. 17.

69. Mason v. Libbey, 2 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 137.

70. Alabama.— Southern R. Co. v. Bush, 122 Ala. 470, 26 So. 168.

Georgia.— Marshall r. Riley, 7 Ga. 367.

Indiana.— French r. Venneman, 14 Ind. 282.

Louisiana.— Shepherd v. Payson, 16 La. Ann. 360.

New York.—Andrews v. Prince, 31 Hun 233, 66 How. Pr. 280; Yamato Trading Co. v. Brown, 27 Hun 248, 63 How. Pr. 283; Kinney v. Roberts, 26 Hun 166; Sprague v. Butterworth, 22 Hun 502; Brandon Mfg. Co. v. Bridgman, 14 Hun 122; Roberts v. Press Pub. Co., 57 N. Y. Super. Ct. 526, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 870; Phœnix v. Dupuy, 7 Daly 238, 2 Abb. N. Cas. 146; Franks v. Reimer, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 273; Jones v. Press Pub. Co., 8 N. Y. Suppl. 958; Funk v. Tribune Assoc., 4 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 408; Andrews v. Keene, 4 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 330; Walker v. Dunlevey, 4 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 38; Burbank v. Reed, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 42 note; Bennett v. Hughes, 1 Code Rep. 4.

Pennsylvania.— Horstman v. Kaufman, 97 Pa. St. 147, 39 Am. Rep. 802; In re Hazlett, 8 Pa. Dist. 201, 29 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 376.

Texas.— Parr v. Johnston, 15 Tex. 294.

United States.— Snow v. Mast, 63 Fed. 623.

England.— Pritchett v. Smart, 7 C. B. 625, 6 D. & L. 702, 18 L. J. C. P. 211, 62 E. C. L. 625; Webb v. East, 5 Ex. D. 108, 44 J. P. 200, 49 L. J. Exch. 250, 41 L. T. Rep. N. S. 715, 28 Wkly. Rep. 336; Short v. Mercier, 15 Jur. 93, 20 L. J. Ch. 289, 3 Macn. & G. 205, 49 Eng. Ch. 155; Lamb v. Munster, 52 L. J. Q. B. 46, 47 L. T. Rep. N. S. 442, 31 Wkly. Rep. 117; Maccallum v. Turton, 2 Y. & J. 183.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," §§ 56, 58.

Penalties under foreign laws.— The privilege extends to penalties and forfeitures under foreign as well as under domestic laws. U. S. v. McRae, L. R. 3 Ch. 79, 37 L. J. Ch. 129, 17 L. T. Rep. N. S. 428, 16 Wkly. Rep. 377; Heriz v. Riera, 5 Jur. 20, 10 L. J. Ch. 47, 11 Sim. 318, 34 Eng. Ch. 318.

Slander.— An examination of the adverse party will not be permitted to ascertain whether a slander has been committed. De Leon v. De Lima, 66 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 287.

Usury.— An order was granted for the ex-it is no ground for refusal to be examined that such examination will result in a pecuniary loss to the party,[71] or show him to have been guilty of a fraud.[72] The fact that acts for which penalties are sought to be recovered are misdemeanors is no reason for denying plaintiff the right to examine third persons.[73]

c. When and How Objections Claimed. It is ordinarily no objection to the application for an order for the examination of a party either orally or on interrogatories or for the production of documents that the answers to the questions that may be propounded to the party on such examination, or the documents when produced, may criminate the party who is examined or who is asked to produce the document, but the objection should be made on the examination, or on the refusal to produce the documents in compliance with the order.[74] This is the rule where the examination will not necessarily involve the giving of information which might incriminate the party or subject him to a penalty or forfeiture,[75] or where it is not apparent that the testimony which the party seeks to obtain relates exclusively to the facts which if proven would show that the witness was guilty of a crime or subject him to a penalty or forfeiture.[76] If, however, it is apparent that all the evidence sought for must tend to criminate the party, or to subject him to a penalty or forfeiture, the order for his examination should not be made,[77] and if made should be vacated.[78] The claim for privilege must be made amination to disclose usury, as usury is not necessarily a crime, it being such only when there is a corrupt agreement to receive more than the statutory amount of interest. Fox v. Miller, 20 N. Y. App. Div. 333, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 837.

Limitations of rule.— If a defendant makes statements in his answer sufficient to show that he has incurred penalties he cannot refuse to produce documents referred to. Ewing v. Osbaldiston, 6 Sim. 608, 9 Eng. Ch. 608.

71. Holt v. Southern Finishing, etc., Co., 116 N. C. 480, 21 S. E. 919.

72. Frothingham v. Broadway, etc., R. Co., 9 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 304.

73. People v. Armour, 18 N. Y. App. Div. 584, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 317.

74. Ryan v. Reagan, 46 N. Y. App. Div. 590, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 39; Campbell v. Brock's Commercial Agency, 38 N. Y. App. Div. 137, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 540; Skinner v. Steele, 88 Hun (N. Y.) 307, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 748; Farmer v. National L. Assoc., 73 Hun (N. Y.) 522, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 126; Davenport Glucose Mfg. Co. v. Taussig, 33 Hun (N. Y.) 32; Sprague v. Butterworth, 22 Hun (N. Y.) 502; Edison Mfg. Co. v. Hazard, 58 N. Y. Super. Ct. 566, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 433; Batterson v. Sanford, 45 N. Y. Super. Ct. 127; Judah v. Lane, 14 Daly (N. Y.) 308, 12 N. Y. St. 130; Rosenbaum v. Rice, 36 Misc. (N. Y.) 410, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 714; Haynes v. Hatch, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 615; Ball v. Evening Post Pub. Co., 12 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 4; Greismann v. Dreyfus, 4 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 32; Corbett v. De Comeau, 4 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 252, 54 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 506; McGuffin v. Dinsmore, 4 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 241; Greensward v. Union Dime Sav. Inst., 59 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 399; Globe Rolling Mill v. King, 2 Cinc. Super. Ct. 21; Allhusen v. Labouchere, 3 Q. B. D. 654. 48 L. J. Q. B. 34; Harvey v. Lovekin, 10 P. D. 122, 54 L. J. P. 1, 33 Wkly. Rep. 188 [followed in Spokes v. Grosvenor, etc., R. Terminus Hotel Co., [1897] 2 Q. B. 124, 66 L. J. Q. B. 598, 76 L. T. Rep. N. S. 677, 45 Wkly. Rep. 545].

75. Campbell v. Brock's Commercial Agency, 38 N. Y. App. Div. 137, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 540; Farmer v. National L. Assoc., 73 Hun (N. Y.) 522, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 126.

76. Matter of Sayre, 70 N. Y. App. Div. 329, 75 N. Y. Suppl. 286; Skinner v. Steele, 88 Hun (N. Y.) 307, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 748; Abbott-Downing Co. v. Faber, 87 Hun (N. Y.) 299, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 433; Ryan v. Reegan, 46 N. Y. App. Div. 590, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 39; Haynes v. Hatch, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 615; Canada Steamship Co. v. Sinclair, 65 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 474.

77. Yamato Trading Co. v. Brown, 27 Hun (N. Y.) 248, 63 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 283; Kinney v. Roberts, 26 Hun (N. Y.) 166; Brandon Mfg. Co. v. Bridgmann, 14 Hun (N. Y.) 122; Kugelman v. Barry, 17 Misc. (N. Y.) 30, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 767; Ball v. Evening Post Pub. Co., 12 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 4; Burbank v. Reed, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 42 note; Russ v. Campbell, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 41; Saunders v. Wiel, [1892] 2 Q. B. 321, 62 L. J. Q. B. 37, 67 L. T. Rep. N. S. 207, 4 Reports 1, 40 Wkly. Rep. 594; Hobbs v. Hudson, 25 Q. B. D. 232, 54 J. P. 520, 59 L. J. Q. B. 562, 63 L. T. Rep. N. S. 215, 38 Wkly. Rep. 682; Jones v. Jones, 22 Q. B. D. 425, 58 L. J. Q. B. 178, 60 L. T. Rep. N. S. 421, 37 Wkly. Rep. 479; Martin v. Treacher, 16 Q. B. D. 507, 50 J. P. 356, 55 L. J. Q. B. 209, 54 L. T. Rep. N. S. 7, 34 Wkly. Rep. 315; Hunnings v. Williamson, 10 Q. B. D. 459, 47 J. P. 390, 52 L. J. Q. B. 273, 48 L. T. Rep. N. S. 581, 31 Wkly. Rep. 336; Glynn v. Houston, 1 Keen 329, 6 L. J. Ch. 129, 15 Eng. Ch. 329; Whiteley v. Barley, 56 L. J. Q. B. 312.

78. Skinner v. Steele, 88 Hun (N. Y.) 307, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 748; Andrews v. Prince, 31 Hun (N. Y.) 233, 66 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 280; Yamato Trading Co. v. Brown, 27 Hun (N. Y.) 248, 63 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 283; Johns v. Press Pub. Co., 58 N. Y. Super. Ct.

by the party and cannot be made by his attorney,[79] and it must be made under oath.[80]

6. Physical Examination[81]— a. Power of Court to Order Examination — (i) In General. The authorities are conflicting as to the power of the court to order a physical examination of a party before trial. In a number of jurisdictions, in actions to recover damages for personal injuries, it has been held that the court may order a reasonable physical examination of plaintiff to be made before trial by competent physicians and surgeons, whenever such an examination is necessary to ascertain the nature, extent, or permanency of the injuries complained of;[82] and especially in the case of latent injuries the extent of which can only be correctly ascertained through an examination by experts.[83] In other jurisdictions it is held that in the absence of statute the court has no such power.[84]

(ii) Statutory Provisions. In New Jersey and New York there are now statutes expressly authorizing the court to order a physical examination of plaintiff in actions to recover damages for personal injuries,[85] and these statutes have been declared constitutional.[86]

580, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 958; Roberts v. Press Pub. Co., 57 N. Y. Super. Ct. 526, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 870, 18 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 251; Franks v. Reimer, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 273; Andrews v. Keene, 4 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 330.

79. Hobbs v. Stone, 5 Allen (Mass.) 109; Osborn v. London Dock Co., 3 C. L. R. 313, 10 Exch. 698, 1 Jur. N. S. 93, 24 L. J. Exch. 140, 3 Wkly. Rep. 238.

80. Hobbs v. Stone, 5 Allen (Mass.) 109.

81. In divorce cases see Divorce.

On assessment of damages for personal injury see Damages.

On writ de ventre inspiciendo see Criminal Law.

82. Alabama.— Alabama, etc., R. Co. v. Hill, 90 Ala. 71, 8 So. 90, 24 Am. St. Rep. 764, 9 L. R. A. 442.

Arkansas.— Sibley v. Smith, 46 Ark. 275, 55 Am. Rep. 584.

Georgia.— Richmond, etc., R. Co. v. Childress, 82 Ga. 719, 9 S. E. 602, 14 Am. St. Rep. 189, 3 L. R. A. 808.

Iowa.— Schroeder v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 47 Iowa 375.

Minnesota.— Wanek v. Winona, 78 Minn. 98, 80 N. W. 581, 79 Am. St. Rep. 354, 46 L. R. A. 448.

Missouri.— Owens v. Kansas City, etc., R. Co., 95 Mo. 169, 8 S. W. 350, 6 Am. St. Rep. 39; Shepard v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 85 Mo. 629, 55 Am. Rep. 390 [disapproving Loyd v. Hannibal, etc., R. Co., 53 Mo. 509].

Ohio.— Miami, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Baily, 37 Ohio St. 104.

Pennsylvania.— Demenstein v. Richardson, 2 Pa. Dist. 825, 34 Wkly. Notes Cas. 295; Clark v. Northumberland Borough, 23 Pa. Co. Ct. 555; Lawrenee v. Keim, 19 Phila. 351.

Washington.— Lane v. Spokane Falls, etc., R. Co., 21 Wash. 119, 57 Pac. 367, 75 Am. St. Rep. 821, 46 L. R. A. 153.

Wisconsin.— White v. Milwaukee City R. Co., 61 Wis. 536, 21 N. W. 524, 50 Am. Rep. 154.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 92.

83. Hess v. Lake Shore, etc., R. Co., 7 Pa. Co. Ct. 565.

84. Illinois.—Joliet St. R. Co. v. Call, 143 Ill. 177, 32 N. E. 389.

Indiana.— Pennsylvania Co. v. Newmeyer, 129 Ind. 401, 28 N. E. 860 [overruling Terre Haute, etc., R. Co. v. Brunker, 128 Ind. 542, 26 N. E. 178; Hess v. Lowrey, 122 Ind. 225, 23 N. E. 156, 17 Am. St. Rep. 355, 7 L. R. A. 90].

Massachusetts.— Stack v. New York, etc., R. Co., 177 Mass. 155, 58 N. E. 686, 83 Am. St. Rep. 269, 52 L. R. A. 328.

New York.— McQuigan v. Delaware, etc., R. Co., 129 N. Y. 50, 29 N. E. 235, 26 Am. St. Rep. 507, 14 L. R. A. 466 [affirming 60 Hun 576, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 973, and overruling Walsh v. Sayre, 52 How. Pr. 334]; Roberts v. Ogdensburgh, etc., R. Co., 29 Hun 154; Neuman v. Third Ave. R. Co., 50 N. Y. Super. Ct. 412.

South Carolina.—Easler v. Southern R. Co., 60 S. C. 117, 38 S. E. 258.

Texas.—Austin, etc., R. Co. v. Cluck, (Civ. App. 1903) 73 S. W. 569; Galveston, etc., R. Co. v. Sherwood, (Civ. App. 1902) 67 S. W. 776 [overruling in effect Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. Johnson, 72 Tex. 95, 10 S. W. 325].

United States.— Union Pac. R. Co. v. Botsford, 141 U. S. 250, 11 S. Ct. 1000, 35 L. ed. 734; Illinois Cent. R. Co. v. Griffin, 80 Fed. 278, 25 C. C. A. 413.

See 16 Cent Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 92.

A statute providing for the production of books or writings does not authorize the physical examination of a party before trial. Union Pac. R. Co. v. Botsford, 141 U. S. 250, 11 S. Ct. 1000, 35 L. ed. 734.

85. McGovern v. Hope, 63 N. J. L. 76, 42 Atl. 830; Lyon v. Manhattan R. Co., 142 N. Y. 298, 37 N. E. 113, 25 L. R. A. 402; Green v. Middlesex R. Co., 10 Misc. (N. Y.) 473, 32 N. Y. Suppl. 177, 24 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 252, 1 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 167.

The statute does not apply to any other actions than those for the recovery of damages for personal injuries. People v. Roosa, 43 N. Y. App. Div. 611, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 244.

86. McGovern v. Hope, 63 N. J. L. 76, 42 Atl. 830; Lyon v. Manhattan R. Co., 142 N. Y. 298, 37 N. E. 113, 25 L. R. A. 402.

b. Right of Defendant to Demand Examination. The right of defendant to an order for a physical examination of plaintiff is not absolute, but rests in the discretion of the court,[87] the exercise of which will not be interfered with unless clearly abused.[88]

c. Purpose and Grounds. The purpose of the examination is to obtain evidence to be used upon the trial,[89] and should be allowed only where the ends of justice seem to demand it.[90] The application for an examination should be refused whenever it is not shown to be necessary for the purposes of the trial,[91] or where it would be calculated to impair plaintiff's health[92] or to injure his person.[93]

d. The Application. The application for a physical examination should be made before the trial begins,[94] and so as not to delay the trial[95] or prejudice plaintiff in proving his case.[96] And it must show that the examination is material and necessary for the purposes of the trial.[97]

87. Alabama Great Southern R. Co. v. Hill, 90 Ala. 71, 8 So. 90, 24 Am. St. Rep. 764, 9 L. R. A. 442; Richmond, etc., R. Co. v. Childress, 82 Ga. 719, 9 S. E. 602, 14 Am. St. Rep. 189, 3 L. R. A. 808; Owens v. Kansas City, etc., R. Co., 95 Mo. 169, 8 S. W. 350, 6 Am. St. Rep. 39; O'Brien v. La Crosse, 99 Wis. 421, 75 N. W. 81, 40 L. R. A. 831.

Where the injuries are alleged to be permanent it has been held that defendant is entitled as a matter of right to have the opinion of a surgeon based upon a personal examination. Sibley v. Smith, 46 Ark. 275, 55 Am. Rep. 584.

88. Owens v. Kansas City, etc., R. Co., 95 Mo. 169, 8 S. W. 350, 6 Am. St. Rep. 39; Sidekum v. Wabash, etc., R. Co., 93 Mo. 400, 4 S. W. 701, 3 Am. St. Rep. 549; Norton v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 40 Mo. App. 642; Kinney v. Springfield, 35 Mo. App. 97.

In a clear case of abuse of discretion the action of the trial court will be reviewed and corrected on appeal. Alabama Great Southern R. Co. v. Hill, 90 Ala. 71, 8 So. 90, 24 Am. St. Rep. 764, 9 L. R. A. 442; Sibley v. Smith, 46 Ark. 275, 55 Am. Rep. 584.

89. St. Louis Bridge Co. v. Miller, 138 Ill. 465, 28 N. E. 1091; McGovern v. Hope, 63 N. J. L. 76, 42 Atl. 830.

90. Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Norfleet, 78 Tex. 321, 14 S. W. 703; International, etc., R. Co. v. Underwood, 64 Tex. 463. See also Galesburg v. Benedict, 22 Ill. App. 111.

Where the complaint does not state plaintiff's injuries with sufficient definiteness, and the defect is not supplied by a bill of particulars, a physical examination before trial may be required. Harvey v. Philadelphia Traction Co., 26 Wkly. Note Cas. (Pa.) 231.

The fact that a physical examination has been already made by the regular physician of the party is no ground for refusing to order another examination by a disinterested physician appointed by the court. Alabama Great Southern R. Co. v. Hill, 90 Ala. 71, 8 So. 90, 24 Am. St. Rep. 764, 9 L. R. A. 442.

Refusal to grant an order for a physical examination in a proper case is not ground for reversal where an opportunity for such examination is given during the trial (Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Norfleet, 78 Tex. 321, 14 S. W. 703), or where subsequent to such refusal plaintiff submits to an examination by physicians of defendant's selection (Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Holland, 122 Ill. 461, 13 N. E. 145), or by other reputable physicians who are examined by defendant at the trial (International, etc., R. Co. v. Underwood, 64 Tex. 463).

91. St. Louis Bridge Co. v. Miller, 138 Ill. 465, 28 N. E. 1091.

92. O'Brien v. La Crosse, 99 Wis. 421, 75 N. W. 81, 40 L. R. A. 831.

The delicacy of feeling or nervous temperament of the party is not ground for refusing a motion, if it appears that the examination can be made without injury to health. Alabama Great Southern R. Co. v. Hill, 90 Ala. 71, 8 So. 90, 24 Am. St. Rep. 764, 9 L. R. A. 442.

93. Boelter v. Ross Lumber Co., 103 Wis. 324, 79 N. W. 243.

94. Chadron v. Glover, 43 Nebr. 732, 62 N. W. 62; Stuart v. Havens, 17 Nebr. 211, 22 N. W. 419.

An application made after plaintiff has introduced all his evidence (Galesburg v. Benedict, 22 Ill. App. 111; Terre Haute, etc., R. Co. v. Brunker, 128 Ind. 542, 26 N. E. 178) and where no reason is shown for the delay (Hess v. Lowrey, 122 Ind. 225, 23 N. E. 156, 17 Am. St. Rep. 355, 7 L. R. A. 90; Miami, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Baily, 37 Ohio St. 104) is properly refused.

The application should generally be preceded by a request made of the party to submit to the examination voluntarily. Richmond, etc., R. Co. v. Childress, 82 Ga. 719, 9 S. E. 602, 14 Am. St. Rep. 189, 3 L. R. A. 808.

95. Kinney v. Springfield, 35 Mo. App. 97, holding that an application made on the day previous to the trial and two days after the date for which the case was docketed is properly refused.

96. Miami, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Baily, 37 Ohio St. 104.

97. St. Louis Bridge Co. v. Miller, 138 Ill. 465, 28 N. E. 1091; International, etc., R. Co. v. Underwood, 64 Tex. 463.

The application should be accompanied by an affidavit showing the necessity for the examination. Terre Haute, etc., R. Co. v. Brunker, 128 Ind. 542, 26 N. E. 178.

A mere allegation that the examination is material and necessary, without stating any

e. The Order. The order for a physical examination must be directed to the party himself,[98] and should contain such directions as to the conduct of the examination as will insure a protection of his rights.[99] The order cannot be made by a judge at chambers.[1]

f. The Examination. Neither of the parties has any right to designate the physicians by whom the examination shall be made, the matter being entirely within the discretion of the trial judge.[2] The examination should be regulated by the order of the court and should strictly conform thereto.[3] It should be conducted in such a manner as not to subject the party to danger of his life, pain of his body, or indignity to his person,[4] and the use of anæsthetics, opiates, or drugs of any kind or tests of a painful character should not be allowed.[5] The physician conducting the examination may ask the person examined any questions necessary to enable him to ascertain the nature and extent of the injuries complained of.[6] But the person examined should not be required to submit to any further examination than the necessities of the case require,[7] or than is consistent with his state of health.[8]

g. Failure to Submit to Examination and Enforcement of Order. The court has no right in the enforcement of its order to compel plaintiff to actually submit to an examination of his person against his will;[9] but on his refusal to do so may facts upon which it is based, is insufficient. Naab v. Stewart, 32 N. Y. App. Div. 478, 52 N. Y. Suppl. 1094. But see Campbell v. Joseph H. Bauland Co., 41 N. Y. App. Div. 474, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 984.

Under the New York statute it is sufficient for the application to state merely that defendant is ignorant of the nature and extent of plaintiff's injuries. Green v. Middlesex R. Co., 10 Misc. (N. Y.) 473, 32 N. Y. Suppl. 177, 24 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 252, 1 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 167. It need not allege that defendant will use the testimony adduced (Moses v. Newburg Electric R. Co., 91 Hun (N. Y.) 278, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 149), it being sufficient that it should appear that the examination is asked solely for the purposes of the trial (Campbell v. Joseph H. Bauland Co., 41 N. Y. App. Div. 474, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 984; Green v. Middlesex R. Co., 10 Misc. (N. Y.) 473, 32 N. Y. Suppl. 177, 24 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 252, 1 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 167).

98. Bowe v. Brunnbauer, 13 Misc. (N. Y.) 631, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 919, 25 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 56.

Under the New York statute the order can be made only in connection with or as a part of an order for the oral examination of plaintiff before trial (Lyon v. Manhattan R. Co., 142 N. Y. 298, 37 N. E. 113, 25 L. R. A. 402 [affirming 7 Misc. (N. Y.) 401, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 966], and it should be returnable before a judge or referee and not before the court, and cannot be made returnable in less than five days except where this is necessary under special circumstances which must be recited in the order; and it must also direct the time of service of a copy thereof (Bowe v. Brunnbauer, 13 Misc. (N. Y.) 631, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 919, 25 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 56).

99. Sibley v. Smith, 46 Ark. 275, 55 Am. Rep. 584; Schroeder v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 47 Iowa 375; McGovern v. Hope, 63 N. J. L. 76, 42 Atl. 830.

1. Ellsworth v. Fairbury, 41 Nebr. 881, 60 N. W. 336, holding, however, that the making of such an order is not ground for reversal where plaintiff acquiesces therein by selecting a physician to act as a member of the board, and by submitting to the examination without objection.

2. Alabama Great Southern R. Co. v. Hill, 93 Ala. 514, 9 So. 722, 30 Am. St. Rep. 65.

In Nebraska the examining physician must be mutually agreed upon by the parties or appointed by the court. Stuart v. Havens, 17 Nebr. 211, 22 N. W. 419.

A female is entitled under the New York statute to have the examination made by a physician of her own sex, but an order appointing a male physician is not erroneous where no attempt is made to have it modified. Lawrence v. Samuels, 16 Misc. (N. Y.) 501, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 976.

3. Hess v. Lake Shore, etc., R. Co., 7 Pa. Co. Ct. 565.

4. Sibley v. Smith, 46 Ark. 275, 55 Am. Rep. 584; Schroeder v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 47 Iowa 375; McGovern v. Hope, 63 N. J. L. 76, 42 Atl. 830; Hess v. Lake Shore, etc., R. Co., 7 Pa. Co. Ct. 565.

5. Sibley v. Smith, 46 Ark. 275, 55 Am. Rep. 584; Schroeder v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 47 Iowa 375.

6. Wunsch v. Webber, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 1100, 31 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 365.

7. Lawrence v. Keim, 19 Phila. (Pa.) 351.

8. O'Brien v. La Crosse, 99 Wis. 421, 75 N. W. 81, 40 L. R. A. 831.

9. Wanek v. Winona, 78 Minn. 98, 80 N. W. 581, 79 Am. St. Rep. 354, 46 L. R. A. 448; Demenstein v. Richardson, 2 Pa. Dist. 825, 34 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 295.

A refusal to be examined by a certain physician to whom plaintiff has a particular aversion, and the failure of the court to require it, is not ground for reversal where plaintiff is willing to be examined by any other reputable physician. Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. Johnson, 72 Tex. 95, 10 S. W. 325.

dismiss the case,[10] or decline to allow it to proceed,[11] or decline to permit any evidence to establish the injury to be given [12] until the order is complied with.

7. Depositions of Third Persons For Use on Motion. Under the New York code the court may in its discretion appoint a referee to take the deposition of a person not a party to the record for use on a motion in civil but not in criminal cases,[13] and not to be used on special motion made by one not a party to the action.[14] This provision of the code does not authorize the appointment of a referee to take the deposition of a party to the suit on the ground that he has refused to make an affidavit.[15] The application must show that the party intends to make or oppose a motion,[16] and that it is necessary for him in making or opposing such motion to have the affidavit of some person,[17] and that such person has refused to make the affidavit.[18] The application must disclose a necessity for the affidavit, by a statement of facts and circumstances which in the discretion of the court will authorize the appointment of a referee to take the deposition.[19] The proper practice is to draft an affidavit and submit it to the witness to be verified before applying for an order for the examination of the witness so as to show

10. Wanek v. Winona, 78 Minn. 98, 80 N. W. 581, 79 Am. St. Rep. 354, 46 L. R. A. 448; Miami, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Baily, 37 Ohio St. 104.

11. Demenstein v. Richardson, 2 Pa. Dist. 825, 34 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 295.

A stay of proceedings is usually a sufficient remedy, although the order may be enforced by attachment. Lawrence v. Keim, 19 Phila. (Pa.) 351.

12. Miami, etc., Turnpike Co. v. Baily, 37 Ohio St. 104.

13. People v. Squire, 3 N. Y. St. 194.

14. Crane v. Evans, 18 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 444, 12 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 445.

15. Spratt v. Huntington, 4 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 551; Hodgskin v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 3 Daly (N. Y.) 70, 5 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 73; Stubbs v. Stubbs, 7 N. Y. St. 282; Cockey v. Hurd, 12 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 307; Stake v. Andre, 9 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 420, 18 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 159; Knoeppel v. Kings County F. Ins. Co., 47 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 412; Palmer v. Adams, 22 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 375. Contra, King v. Leighton, 58 N. Y. 383; Cockey v. Hurd, 36 N. Y. Super. Ct. 42, 14 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 183, 45 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 70; Fisk v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 3 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 430.

The relator in an application for mandamus is a party whose deposition cannot be taken under the provisions of the code providing that where a party intends to make or oppose a motion and it is necessary for him to have the affidavit or deposition of a person not a party upon the motion the court may direct such deposition to be taken. People v. Paton, 20 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 172.

Receiver of corporation.— Under the code providing that a party intending to make or oppose a motion may on a showing by affidavit have an order requiring any person not a party, who is alleged to have knowledge of material facts, and who refuses to make an affidavit to appear and give a deposition, a party intending to apply for an attachment may have such an order against the receiver of a corporation defendant; but the witness cannot be compelled by such order to produce books or papers nor to examine such for the purpose of qualifying himself to give the testimony desired. Wallace v. Baring, 2 N. Y. App. Div. 501, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 1078, 3 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 16.

16. Moses v. Banker, 7 Rob. (N. Y.) 131, 34 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 212; Erie R. Co. v. Gould, 14 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 279.

17. Moses v. Banker, 7 Rob. (N. Y.) 131, 34 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 212; Erie R. Co. v. Gould, 14 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 279.

Where one makes a full affidavit to the merits in opposing a motion the court will not grant an order for his examination, pursuant to 2 N. Y. Rev. St. cc. 24, 25, p. 457, although he has before refused to testify for the moving party. Ryers v. Hedges, 1 Hill (N. Y.) 646.

18. Williams v. Western Union Tel. Co., 3 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 448.

What amounts to refusal.— Where a witness was applied to several times on successive days to make an affidavit for a party to use on a motion, but each time declined to make the affidavit until he could consult his counsel, there is a sufficient refusal to authorize an order for a compulsory examination under the code. Rogers v. Durant, 2 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 676. The refusal to make an affidavit necessary to authorize the appointment of a referee for the purpose of taking it, under N. Y. Code Proc. § 401, is not shown where the party merely refused to answer oral questions on oath in the presence of a stenographer, and no affidavit has been drawn and presented to him for his signature and oath. Erie R. Co. v. Gould, 14 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 279.

19. Cockey v. Hurd, 36 N. Y. Super. Ct. 42, 14 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 183, 45 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 70 [affirming 12 Abb. Pr. 307].

The affidavit should specify the subject on which the witness was requested to depose and the facts claimed to be within the knowledge of the witness, and the bearing of such facts upon the merits of the motion to be made. Dauchy v. Miller, 16 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 100.

the materiality of his evidence;[20] but an objection that no affidavit has been prepared and submitted to the person whose examination is sought is waived where the witness when asked to make the affidavit does not require a draft to be submitted but makes a general refusal to testify.[21] The adversary party has no standing for the purpose of interfering to prevent the party from obtaining the affidavit,[22] and he is not entitled to notice of the application for the order of reference,[23] nor to cross-examine the witness.[24] Nor can he move to set aside the order for the examination, this being the privilege of the party to be examined.[25] The order will be vacated, when it is apparent that the process of the court is not to be used for a legitimate purpose.[26] The proceedings will not be arrested, although an affidavit be subsequently tendered, unless the affidavit is full and frank.[27] It is too late to make objection that the party has not refused the affidavit after he has been partly examined,[28] nor can the party at that late day make the objection that the affidavit on which the examination was ordered is not sufficient.[29] Objections to the contents of the affidavit or to the mode of obtaining it must be made when the affidavit is sought to be used.[30]

8. COSTS.[31] Costs are not of course to be taxed for the successful party, but the matter rests in the discretion of the court.[32]

B. Production and Inspection of Writings and Other Matters — 1. THE STATUTORY PROVISIONS. In most jurisdictions statutory methods are provided for obtaining the production or inspection of books or papers of the adverse party.[33]

20. Fisk v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 3 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 430.
21. Fisk v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 3 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 430.
22. McCue v. Tribune Assoc., 1 Hun (N. Y.) 469, 3 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 451.
23. Erie R. Co. v. Champlain, 35 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 73.
24. Keenan v. O'Brien, 2 N. Y. Suppl. 242; Erie R. Co. v. Champlain, 35 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 73.
25. Erie R. Co. v. Champlain, 35 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 73.
26. Moses v. Banker, 7 Rob. (N. Y.) 131, 34 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 212.
27. Fisk v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 3 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 430.
28. Erie R. Co. v. Champlain, 35 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 73.
29. McCue v. Tribune Assoc., 1 Hun (N. Y.) 469, 3 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 451.
30. McCue v. Tribune Assoc., 1 Hun (N. Y.) 469, 3 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 451.
31. Costs generally see COSTS.
32. Smith v. Great Western R. Co., 6 E. & B. 405, 2 Jur. N. S. 668, 25 L. J. Q. B. 279, 88 E. C. L. 405.
33. Alabama.— Ex p. Baker, 118 Ala. 185, 23 So. 996.
Colorado.— People v. De France, 29 Colo. 309, 68 Pac. 267.
Connecticut.— Sage v. Middleton Ins. Co., 5 Day 409.
Delaware.— Kelly v. Mutual L. Ben. Assoc., 1 Marv. 183, 40 Atl. 954.
District of Columbia.— District of Columbia v. Bakersmith, 18 App. Cas. 574.
Florida.— Neafie v. Miller, 37 Fla. 173, 20 So. 252.
Georgia.— Davis v. Davis, 47 Ga. 81.
Illinois.— Leslie v. People, 150 Ill. 408, 23 N. E. 387, 37 N. E. 1004, 41 Am. St. Rep. 375.
Indiana.— Silvers v. Junction R. Co., 17 Ind. 142.
Iowa.— Lay v. Wissman, 36 Iowa 305.
Kansas.— Stevens v. Blake, 5 Kan. App. 124, 48 Pac. 488.
Kentucky.— Marion Nat. Bank v. Abell, 88 Ky. 428, 11 S. W. 300, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 980.
Louisiana.—Atwater v. Colton, 18 La. Ann. 226.
Maryland.— Eschbach v. Lightner, 31 Md. 528.
Michigan.— Mulhern v. Grove, 111 Mich. 528, 70 N. W. 15.
Missouri.— Hill v. Meyer, 47 Mo. 585.
Montana.— State v. Second Judicial Dist. Ct., 27 Mont. 441, 71 Pac. 602, 94 Am. St. Rep. 831.
Nebraska.— Spielman v. Flynn, 19 Nebr. 342, 27 N. W. 224.
New Jersey.— Tillou v. Hutchinson, 15 N. J. L. 178.
New York.— Romer v. Kensico Cemetery, 79 N. Y. App. Div. 100, 80 N. Y. Suppl. 38.
North Carolina.— McGibboney v. Mills, 35 N. C. 163.
Ohio.—Arbuckle v. Woolson Spice Co., 21 Ohio Cir. Ct. 356, 11 Ohio Cir. Dec. 726.
Pennsylvania.— Raub v. Van Horn, 133 Pa. St. 573, 19 Atl. 704.
Rhode Island.— Congdon v. Aylsworth, 16 R. I. 281, 18 Atl. 247.
South Carolina.— Jenkins v. Bennett, 40 S. C. 393, 18 S. E. 929.
Vermont.—Vermont Farm Mach. Co. v. Batchelder, 68 Vt. 430, 35 Atl. 378.
Virginia.—Avis v. Lee, 77 Va. 553.
Wisconsin.— Kraus v. Sentinel Co., 62 Wis. 660, 23 N. W. 12.
United States.— Gray v. Schneider, 119 Fed. 474.
See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 103 et seq.

The statutes relating to the production of books and papers on trial are constitutional;[34] they are of a remedial nature and should be liberally construed.[35]

2. WHO MAY BE REQUIRED TO PRODUCE. The court will not order the production or inspection of the books or papers of a plaintiff or defendant at the instance of his co-plaintiff or co-defendant,[36] unless the applicant, being nominally plaintiff or defendant, is really a defendant or plaintiff.[37] A next friend is not a party within the meaning of the statutes,[38] but one who appears to defend an action in rem is.[39]

3. PRODUCTION OF BOOKS AND PAPERS IN WHICH PARTIES HAVE A COMMON INTEREST. A production or inspection of papers will be granted where the applicant has an interest or right in them which justifies an unlimited inspection and the right is the attendant of the relief to which he is entitled.[40] This is the case with books kept by an executor[41] or trustee, where the inspection is sought by one interested in the estate of the decedent or by a beneficiary of the trust,[42] of partnership books where inspection is sought by one of the partners,[43] or books of an agent, where the inspection is sought by his principal,[44] or books of an employer at the instance of his employee, where the employee is to be paid by a percentage of

A book containing a record of the proceedings of an association before and after its incorporation is a document within the meaning of the statute. Arnold v. Pawtuxet Valley Water Co., 18 R. I. 189, 26 Atl. 55, 19 L. R. A. 602.

Under the New York statutes an inspection of lands is permitted where it is necessary or expedient to prepare a pleading, or for trial where an action relating to real estate is pending. Howe's Cave Lime, etc., Co. v. Howe's Cave Assoc., 88 Hun 554, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 848, 2 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 199.

Rules of court cannot authorize a discovery of property other than that specifically mentioned in the statutes. Auerbach v. Delaware, etc., R. Co., 66 N. Y. App. Div. 201, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 118; Kennedy v. Nichols, 33 Misc. (N. Y.) 726, 68 N. Y. Suppl 1053. Compare Henszey v. Langdon-Henszey Coal Min. Co., 80 Fed. 178.

34. Mulhern v. Grove, 111 Mich. 528, 70 N. W. 15; State v. Second Judicial Dist. Ct., 27 Mont. 441, 71 Pac. 602, 94 Am. St. Rep. 831.

35. Wills v. Kane, 2 Grant (Pa.) 47. But if production is likely to be vexatious to defendant the court will look into it narrowly. Carver v. Pinto Leite, L. R. 7 Ch. 90, 41 L. J. Ch. 92, 25 L. T. Rep. N. S. 722, 20 Wkly. Rep. 134.

36. Dassaux v. Sheppard, 2 Fowl. Exch. Pr. 60. Contra, Brown v. Watkins, 16 Q. B. D. 125, 55 L. J. Q. B. 126, 53 L. T. Rep. N. S. 726, 34 Wkly. Rep. 293.

37. Applebee v. Duke, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 890; Shaw v. Smith, 18 Q. B. D. 193, 56 L. J. Q. B. 174, 56 L. T. Rep. N. S. 40, 35 Wkly. Rep. 188.

38. Dyke v. Stephens, 30 Ch. D. 189, 55 L. J. Ch. 41, 53 L. T. Rep. N. S. 561, 33 Wkly. Rep. 932; In re Corsellis, 52 L. J. Ch. 399, 48 L. T. Rep. N. S. 425, 31 Wkly. Rep. 414. Contra, Crowe v. Bank of Ireland, Ir. R. 5 Eq. 578, 19 Wkly. Rep. 910.

39. The Emma, 3 Aspin. 218, 34 L. T. Rep. N. S. 742, 24 Wkly. Rep. 587.

40. Stalker v. Gaunt, 12 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 132; Inman v. Hodgson, 1 Y. & J. 28.

41. Stalker v. Gaunt, 12 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 132; Freeman v. Fairlie, 3 Meriv. 29, 17 Rev. Rep. 7, 36 Eng. Reprint 12.

42. Stalker v. Gaunt, 12 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 132.

43. Copeland v. Brown, 73 N. Y. App. Div. 423, 77 N. Y. Suppl. 129; Howlett v. Hall, 55 N. Y. App. Div. 614, 67 N. Y. Suppl. 267; Fleischmann v. Fleischmann, 54 N. Y. App. Div. 202, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 631; Martine v. Albro, 26 Hun (N. Y.) 559, 2 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 70, 63 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 215; Livingston v. Curtis, 12 Hun (N. Y.) 121, 54 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 370; Zimmermann v. Dieckerhoff, 12 N. Y. St. 613; Stalker v. Gaunt, 12 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 132.

Application of rule.— Where the agreement of dissolution of a partnership provides that the retiring partner shall receive one half of the commissions for the sale of goods under contracts then subsisting between the partnership and third persons, the retiring partner in an action against his former copartner for his share of the commissions is entitled to discovery from the copartner as to the sales made and commissions realized, and his right to such discovery is not affected by the fact that the copartner has conducted the business mainly through an agent, or that the retiring partner can obtain the desired information from the persons with whom the contracts were made. Montrose v. Wannamaker, 21 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 478.

Representatives of partner.— Where a partner has sold his interest in the partnership in his lifetime, his representatives have no right of inspection after his decease. Platt v. Platt, 61 Barb. (N. Y.) 52, 11 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 110.

44. Eschbach v. Lightner, 31 Md. 528; Ruberry v. Binns, 5 Bosw. (N. Y.) 685; Talbot v. Doran, etc., Co., 16 Daly (N. Y.) 174, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 478, 18 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 304; Haebler v. Hubbard, 36 Misc. (N. Y.) 840, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 932; Harding v. Field, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 918; Manley v. Bonnel, 11 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 123; Stalker v. Gaunt, 12 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 132; Duff v. Hutchinson, 19 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 20; Winchester v. Bowker, 29 Beav. 479, the business done by the employer,[45] or of books showing the profits of a joint venture, at the instance of one of the parties engaged therein.[46] In all such cases the production of all books and documents can be compelled on the ground of common interest.[47]

4. Production of Private Books of Persons Not Parties. Private books of persons not parties to the action are not subject to production for inspection before trial, although they contain accounts the examination of which is important to the preparation of the case for trial.[48]

5. Grounds and Purposes of Production and Inspection — a. In General. The statutes generally are designed to provide a method for the production or inspection of books or papers by proceedings at law in those cases where their production and inspection might formerly have been compelled by the ordinary rules of proceedings in chancery.[49] A party cannot obtain a roving commission for the inspection or production of books or papers in order that he may ransack them for evidence to make out his case.[50] He is entitled to production or inspection only when the same is material and necessary to establish his cause of action.[51] The application will not be granted where the facts to be proved by the books

9 Wkly. Rep. 404; Beresford v. Driver, 16 Beav. 134, 22 L. J. Ch. 407.

45. Brigham v. Zaiss, 48 N. Y. App. Div. 144, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 706; Veiller v. Oppenheim, 75 Hun (N. Y.) 21, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 1051, 31 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 181; Churchill v. Loeser, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 310.

46. Petrie v. Muskegon County, 90 Mich. 265, 51 N. W. 278.

47. Petrie v. Muskegon County, 90 Mich. 265, 51 N. W. 278; Perrow v. Lindsay, 52 Hun (N. Y.) 115, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 795, 16 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 359; Stebbins v. Harmon, 17 Hun (N. Y.) 445; Stalker v. Gaunt, 12 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 132; Arrot v. Pratt, 2 Whart. (Pa.) 566.

48. Marion Nat. Bank v. Abell, 88 Ky. 428, 11 S. W. 300, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 980; Brock v. Surpless, 66 N. Y. App. Div. 609, 72 N. Y. Suppl. 831; People v. Armour, 18 N. Y. App. Div. 584, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 317; Davenbagh v. McKinnie, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 27; Southern R. Co. v. North Carolina Corp. Commission, 104 Fed. 700. See also McCall v. Moschowitz, 14 Daly (N. Y.) 16, 1 N. Y. St. 99. But see Lefferts v. Brampton, 24 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 257, where plaintiffs brought an action to recover the possession of goods obtained from them by defendant's assignors upon representations alleged to have been fraudulent, and in the sworn petition stated that they were informed and believed that an examination of the books of the assignors by a competent bookkeeper would enable plaintiffs to show that the assignors were, when they made their representations of solvency, hopelessly insolvent and that they knew the representations made by them were false. The defendants made no answer to the application, but moved to dismiss it on the ground that the discovery could not be allowed by the practice of the court. It was held that an inspection of the books and papers of defendant's assignors in the possession of defendant should be ordered.

Illustration.— A grantor in whose name ejectment is prosecuted by his grantee is not a party to the action who may be compelled to produce books and papers. Adriance v. Sanders, 11 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 422.

49. District of Columbia.— Smithson v. Stanton, 7 D. C. 6.

New York.— McAllister v. Pond, 6 Duer (N. Y.) 702, 15 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 299; Wallis v. Murray, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 399.

Vermont.—Vermont Farm Mach. Co. v. Batchelder, 68 Vt. 430, 35 Atl. 378.

United States.— Newgold v. American Electrical Novelty, etc., Co., 108 Fed. 341; Finch v. Rikeman, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,788, 2 Blatchf. 301.

England.— Gomm v. Parrott, 3 C. B. N. S. 47, 3 Jur. N. S. 1150, 26 L. J. C. P. 279, 5 Wkly. Rep. 882, 91 E. C. L. 47. Contra, Kraus v. Sentinel Co., 62 Wis. 660, 23 N. W. 12, where an inspection was ordered in aid of a suit for libel.

50. Seligsberg v. Schepp, 79 N. Y. App. Div. 626, 80 N. Y. Suppl. 154; Brownell v. Gloversville Nat. Bank, 20 Hun (N. Y.) 517; Cassard v. Hinman, 6 Duer (N. Y.) 695; Commercial Bank v. Dunham, 13 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 541; Herbert v. Spring, 1 Month. L. Bul. (N. Y.) 21; Davenport v. Pennsylvania R. Co., 2 Pa. Dist. 784; Triplett v. Washington Bank, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,178, 3 Cranch C. C. 646.

51. New York Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Seagrist, 79 N. Y. App. Div. 614, 80 N. Y. Suppl. 277; Genet v. Hirschberg, 32 Misc. (N. Y.) 761, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 786; Matter of Woodward, 28 Misc. (N. Y.) 602, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 1080; Bailey v. Williams Mfg. Co., 9 N. Y. St. 518; Board of Education v. King, 7 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 64.

It will not be granted where the books must be produced on trial by the opposite party to establish his case. Rice v. West, 7 Pa. Dist. 764, 22 Pa. Co. Ct. 122.

Where the materiality of the discovery depends upon a preliminary disputed question, and the discovery sought is calculated to cause considerable trouble, or prove vexatious or oppressive to the party from whom it is sought, the court will postpone the discovery until the preliminary question is settled.

can be otherwise established,[52] as where documents are copies of public records open to the inspection of all and copies of which may be obtained on the payment of necessary fees,[53] or where defendant has offered to produce and allow plaintiff to inspect books and plaintiff has declined to avail himself of the offer.[54] It will therefore be denied where the party has in his possession or under his control the means of acquiring all the information he seeks to obtain,[55] or where the books do not in themselves contain evidence, but merely information by which evidence can be obtained.[56] It is not permitted to enable a party to ascertain whether he has a cause of action,[57] or defense,[58] or to ascertain the evidence on which his opponent's action or defense rests,[59] unless the claim is made that they are forgeries and the inspection is sought to enable the party to prove that fact.[60] But where the books or documents are material to the case of the applicant, it is no objection to their production or inspection that they relate also to the case of his adversary.[61] Neither is it permitted to enable the attorney for the applicant to cross-examine him on his examination before trial,[62] to qualify a witness as an expert,[63]

Wood v. Anglo Italian Bank, 34 L. T. Rep. N. S. 255.

Where a bill prays alternative relief, and plaintiff would only be entitled to the discovery asked for under one of the alternatives, which is not the one principally relied on by the bill, and the information could not be material for the purpose of determining to which of such alternatives plaintiff is entitled, such discovery will not be compelled before the hearing. Lett v. Parry, 1 Hem. & M. 517.

In an action for the infringement of a patent complainant will not be granted an inspection of machinery of defendant kept in secret and claimed to embody important secrets, when complainant introduces no evidence tending to show that it infringes his patents. Dobson v. Graham, 49 Fed. 17.

52. Hauseman v. Sterling, 61 Barb. (N. Y.) 347; Woods v. De Figaniere, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 681, 24 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 522; Justice v. Newbern Nat. Bank, 83 N. C. 8. Contra, Whitworth v. Erie R. Co., 37 N. Y. Super. Ct. 437. It will not be granted where witnesses could testify to the whole truth and the paper unexplained is misleading. Van Zandt v. Cobb, 12 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 544.

53. Spielman v. Flynn, 19 Nebr. 342, 27 N. W. 224.

54. Bearns v. Burras, 86 Hun (N. Y.) 258, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 262; Gaughe v. Laroche, 6 Duer (N. Y.) 685; Walmsley v. Nelson, 3 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 127. But see Lord v. Spielman, 13 Misc. (N. Y.) 48, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 52. Where in an action in this state against a foreign corporation, defendant offered to allow its books to be examined in its home office, an order directing the production of the books in New York and for the examination of a resident officer will be vacated. Phillips v. Germania Mills, 20 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 381.

55. Woods v. De Figaniere, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 681, 25 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 522; McAllister v. Pond, 6 Duer (N. Y.) 702, 15 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 299; Cassard v. Hinman, 6 Duer (N. Y.) 695; Meakings v. Cromwell, 1 Sandf. (N. Y.) 698; Stalker v. Gaunt, 12 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 132. But see Commercial Bank v. Dunham, 13 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 541.

Where a party has a right as a stock-holder to examine corporate books, which right has never been denied him, the application will not be granted. Charlick v. Flushing R. Co., 10 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 130.

56. Woods v. De Figaniere, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 681, 25 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 522.

57. Walsh v. Press Co., 48 N. Y. App. Div. 333, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 833; Goodyear's India Rubber Glove Mfg. Co. v. Gorham, 83 Hun (N. Y.) 342, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 965; Nathan v. Whitehill, 67 Hun (N. Y.) 398, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 63; Brownell v. Gloversville Nat. Bank, 20 Hun (N. Y.) 517; Hoyt v. American Exch. Bank, 1 Duer (N. Y.) 652; Frowein v. Lindheim, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 526; Thompson v. Erie R. Co., 9 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 212.

58. McInnes v. Gardiner, 27 Misc. (N. Y.) 124, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 356.

If the information sought is relevant and material, it is not to be denied because it may lead to a discovery of new causes of action by plaintiff. Palmer v. United Press, 67 N. Y. App. Div. 64, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 456.

59. Davis v. Davis, 47 Ga. 81; Shoe, etc., Reporter Assoc. v. Bailey, 49 N. Y. Super. Ct. 385; Andrews v. Townsend, 2 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 76; Sutherland v. Sutherland, 17 Beav. 209; Houghton v. London, etc., Assur. Co., 17 C. B. N. S. 80, 112 E. C. L. 80; Lyell v. Kennedy, 20 Ch. D. 484, 51 L. J. Ch. 409, 46 L. T. Rep. N. S. 752, 30 Wkly. Rep. 493.

60. Davis v. Davis, 47 Ga. 81; Chews v. Driver, 1 N. J. L. 109; Bamberger v. U. S. Fidelity, etc., Co., 37 Misc. (N. Y.) 512, 75 N. Y. Suppl. 1005; Mierisch v. Mt. Morris Bank, 32 Misc. (N. Y.) 743, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 565; Andrews v. Townsend, 2 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 76; Jackson v. Jones, 3 Cow. (N. Y.) 17; Cornell v. Woolsey, 7 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 555; McGibbhoney v. Mills, 35 N. C. 163. But see Frank v. Frank, 1 Houst. (Del.) 245.

61. Shoe, etc., Reporter Assoc. v. Bailey, 49 N. Y. Super. Ct. 385; Powers v. Elmendorf, 4 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 63.

62. Cooke v. Lalance Grosjean Mfg. Co., 3 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 332.

63. Martin v. Elliott, 106 Mich. 130, 63 N. W. 998, 31 L. R. A. 169; Ansen v. Tuska, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 663, 19 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 391;

to ascertain whether the documents will furnish grounds to move for a new trial,[64] or to secure evidence when better evidence could be obtained.[65] The application will be denied if equivalent relief can be obtained by subpœna duces tecum.[66] A production cannot be compelled in aid of an action of libel.[67] But may be ordered to enable a party to prepare for trial.[68]

b. To Enable Party to Frame Pleading. Under some of the statutes relating to production and inspection an order cannot be obtained therefor to enable the party to frame his pleadings.[69] Other statutes, however, authorize such an order.[70] If a party cannot plead intelligently without inspecting a paper which is in the possession of his adversary, he should obtain an extension of time to plead and prosecute a petition for an inspection and copy of the paper[71] or for a production of the same.[72] An order for an inspection or production will be granted to enable a party to furnish a bill of particulars, where the necessary information is contained only in the books of his adversary.[73] If, however, it appears that all the facts necessary for pleading are in the possession of the applicant the application should be denied,[74] and it has been said that an application will not be granted to enable the party to state his damages with certainty.[75]

6. Pendency and Condition of Cause. In order that the court may have power to order the production of books or papers there must be a suit pending in the court.[76] Under some statutes the cause must be at issue to authorize the granting of an order.[77] Under others an order may be made both before and after issue joined. In the first instance to enable the party to plead and in the second to prepare for Lundberg v. Albany, etc., Iron, etc., Co., 32 Fed. 501.

64. Pratt v. Goswell, 9 C. B. N. S. 706, 3 L. T. Rep. N. S. 669, 99 E. C. L. 706.

65. Holtz v. Schmidt, 34 N. Y. Super. Ct. 28.

66. People v. Judge Kent County Cir. Ct., 38 Mich. 351; Central Cross-town R. Co. v. Twenty-third St. R. Co., 53 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 45; Clarke v. Eastern Bldg., etc., Assoc., 89 Fed. 779. Contra, Rigdon v. Conley, 31 Ill. App. 630; Arbuckle v. Woolson Spice Co., 21 Ohio Cir. Ct. 347, 11 Ohio Cir. Dec. 743.

67. Opdyke v. Marble, 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 64.

68. Cutting v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 51 N. Y. App. Div. 628, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 258; Palen v. Johnson, 18 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 304.

69. Kelly v. Mutual L. Ben. Assoc., 1 Marv. (Del.) 183, 40 Atl. 954; Raub v. Van Horn, 133 Pa. St. 573, 19 Atl. 704; Paine v. Warren, 33 Fed. 357; Guyot v. Hilton, 32 Fed. 743.

70. Earle v. Beman, 1 N. Y. App. Div. 136, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 833; Ward v. New York L. Ins. Co., 78 Hun (N. Y.) 363, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 186; Fox v. Brega, 1 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 445, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 908; Inyo Consol. Min. Co. v. Pheby, 49 N. Y. Super. Ct. 392; Travers v. Satterlee, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 118; Thompson v. Erie R. Co., 9 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 212; Justice v. National Bank, 83 N. C. 8.

A prospective defendant cannot be compelled to produce his books to enable plaintiff to frame his complaint. Green v. Carey, 81 Hun (N. Y.) 496, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 8.

71. Lay v. Wissman, 36 Iowa 305; Hill v. Meyer, 47 Mo. 585.

72. Birdsall v. Pixly, 3 Wend. (N. Y.) 425. But see Denslow v. Fowler, 2 Cow. (N. Y.) 592, where it is said that in trover for a bond a motion to compel a delivery of a copy to enable plaintiff to declare accurately will be denied.

73. Campbell v. Brock's Commercial Agency, 38 N. Y. App. Div. 137, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 540; Prince v. Currie, 2 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 119. Contra, McIlhanney v. Magie, 12 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 27.

74. Snow v. Snow-Church Surety Co., 80 N. Y. App. Div. 40, 80 N. Y. Suppl. 512; Cutting v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 51 N. Y. App. Div. 628, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 258; Leach v. Haight, 4 N. Y. App. Div. 613, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 886; Ward v. New York L. Ins. Co., 78 Hun (N. Y.) 363, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 186; Watts v. Knevals, 56 N. Y. Super. Ct. 592, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 548; Mehesy v. Kahn, 50 N. Y. Super. Ct. 209, 6 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 33.

75. Stanton v. Friedman, 47 N. Y. App. Div. 621, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 291; Brummer v. Cohen, 47 N. Y. App. Div. 470, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 241; Taylor v. American Ribbon Co., 38 N. Y. App. Div. 144, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 667.

76. People v. De France, 29 Colo. 309, 68 Pac. 267; State v. Second Judicial Dist. Ct., 27 Mont. 441, 71 Pac. 602, 94 Am. St. Rep. 831; Stalker v. Gaunt, 12 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 132; Branson v. Fentress, 35 N. C. 165.

77. Kelly v. Mutual L. Ben. Assoc., 1 Marv. (Del.) 183, 40 Atl. 954; Smithson v. Stanton, 7 D. C. 6; Jacques v. Collins, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,167, 2 Blatchf. 23.

Under N. C. Code, § 1373, providing for the production of evidence "pertinent to the issue the defendant is not entitled to an order to inspect the papers in plaintiff's possession before answer. But under § 578, providing that the court before which an action "is pending" may order either party to give the other an inspection, etc., an inspection may be or-trial.[78] But if made for the purpose of preparing for trial it can be made only after issue joined.[79] Production may then be ordered before as well as on the trial, according to some decisions.[80] Others, however, hold the contrary.[81]

7. Demand For Inspection. A previous demand for an inspection is unnecessary where an order to show cause has been served and opposed on the return-day.[82]

8. The Application — a. Time of Making Application. It is made in time when made before trial,[83] but ordinarily the application comes too late when made when the case is reached for trial.[84] It has been held, however, that the application will be entertained even after the case has proceeded to hearing before referees and evidence has been given on both sides, under special circumstances, and where the delay in making it has been fully explained.[85] If it appear that the delay in making the application was caused by some action or statement of the opposite party on which the applicant had the right to rely this will excuse the delay.[86] It will be denied in case of gross delay in making it.[87]

b. Requisites of Application — (I) In General. A party cannot be compelled to produce books and papers for examination by the adverse party except in the manner prescribed by statute.[88] The application must be by petition,[89] but need not have all the formalities of a bill of discovery.[90]

(II) Necessary Allegations — (A) Showing Cause of Action or Defense. The application must show a probable cause of action or defense in the applicant in support of which the production or inspection is sought.[91] And in addition dered in a proper case as soon as defendant has been summoned to appear. Sheek v. Sain, 127 N. C. 266, 37 S. E. 334.

78. Babbitt v. Crampton, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 169; Morrison v. Sturges, 26 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 177. And see Bensinger v. Erhardt, 60 N. Y. App. Div. 303, 70 N. Y. Suppl. 24.

79. Allen v. Fowler, 45 N. Y. App. Div. 506, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 325.

80. Gray v. Schneider, 119 Fed. 474; Victor G. Bloede Co. v. Joseph Bancroft, etc., Co., 98 Fed. 175; Lucker v. Phœnix Assur. Co., 67 Fed. 18.

81. Sage v. Middleton Ins. Co., 5 Day (Conn.) 409; Kelly v. Ingersoll, 6 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 630, 7 Am. L. Rec. 189; U. S. v. National Lead Co., 75 Fed. 94.

82. Hallett v. American L. Book Co., 40 Misc. (N. Y.) 652, 83 N. Y. Suppl. 110; Albany Brass, etc., Co. v. Hoffman, 12 Misc. (N. Y.) 167, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 600.

83. Bensinger v. Erhardt, 60 N. Y. App. Div. 303, 70 N. Y. Suppl. 24.

84. Moran v. Vreeland, 29 N. Y. App. Div. 243, 51 N. Y. Suppl. 434; Mutual Reserve Fund L. Assoc. v. Patterson, 33 Misc. (N. Y.) 572, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 885.

85. Jackson v. Ives, 22 Wend. (N. Y.) 637, Mechanic's Bank v. James, 2 Code Rep. (N. Y.) 46.

86. Fleischmann v. Fleischmann, 54 N. Y. App. Div. 632, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 1131; New York Fidelity, etc., Co. v. F. W. Seagrist Jr. Co., 79 N. Y. App. Div. 614, 80 N. Y. Suppl. 277.

87. Hooker v. Matthews, 3 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 329, 1 Code Rep. (N. Y.) 108. Thus where plaintiff allowed his claim to sleep for five years and defendant has been examined after issue as a party before trial, it is too late for plaintiff to ask an order for the discovery of books, etc., before the trial. Walmsley v. Nelson, 3 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 127.

88. Romer v. Kensico Cemetery, 79 N. Y. App. Div. 100, 80 N. Y. Suppl. 38.

89. Boeck v. Smith, 85 N. Y. App. Div. 575, 83 N. Y. Suppl. 428; Bloodgood v. Slayback, 62 N. Y. App. Div. 315, 71 N. Y. Suppl. 809; Dick v. Phillips, 41 Hun (N. Y.) 603; Levey v. New York Cent., etc., R. Co., 53 N. Y. Super. Ct. 263; Cutter v. Pool, 3 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 130, 54 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 311; Johnson v. Consolidated Silver Min. Co., 2 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 413; Dole v. Fellows, 5 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 451. Contra, Justice v. Newbern Nat. Bank, 83 N. C. 8; Christopherson v. Lotinga, 15 C. B. N. S. 809, 10 Jur. N. S. 180, 33 L. J. C. P. 121, 9 L. T. Rep. 688, 12 Wkly. Rep. 410, 109 E. C. L. 809.

Joining application with motion. — An application for the inspection of books and papers cannot be joined with a motion for an order for the examination of a party before trial. Boeck v. Smith, 85 N. Y. App. Div. 575, 83 N. Y. Suppl. 428.

90. Jacques v. Collins, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,167, 2 Blatchf. 23.

91. In re Lewis, 29 N. J. Eq. 279; Fromme v. Lisner, 63 Hun (N. Y.) 290, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 850, 22 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 37; Marrone v. New York Jockey Club, 60 Hun (N. Y.) 577, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 199; Bridgman v. Scott, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 338; Walmsley v. Nelson, 3 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 127. But the merits of the action will not be litigated on the application. Ex p. Baker, 118 Ala. 185, 23 So. 996; Gould Roofing Co. v. Gilldea, 4 N. Y. App. Div. 107, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 915; Churchill v. Loeser, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 310; Frowein v. Lindheim, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 526; Riccard v. Blanuri, 3 C. L. R. 119, 4 E. & B. 329, 1 Jur.

the application must also show, either expressly or by necessary implication, that the court has or would have jurisdiction of the action itself.[92]

(B) Materiality and Necessity of Production and Inspection. The application must show that the books or papers, discovery of which is sought, are material to some issue involved in the action,[93] and contain the information wanted,[94] and it must state the same definitely.[95] It must also show the necessity for the inspection or production,[96] and must allege the facts from which the court can determine the necessity,[97] and if the application shows that there were other sources of information open to the party it must show an exhaustion of such sources.[98]

(C) Existence of Books and Documents and Possession and Control by Adverse Party. It must show the existence of the books or documents,[99]

N. S. 495, 24 L. J. Q. B. 49, 3 Wkly. Rep. 113, 82 E. C. L. 329.

92. Snow, etc., Co. v. Snow-Church Surety Co., 80 N. Y. Suppl. 512.

93. Georgia.— Bull v. Edward Thompson Co., 99 Ga. 134, 25 S. E. 31; Carlton v. Western, etc., R. Co., 81 Ga. 531, 7 S. E. 623.

Indiana.— Beaver v. Hartsville University, 34 Ind. 245.

New York.— New York Fidelity, etc., Co. v. F. W. Seagrist Jr. Co., 79 N. Y. App. Div. 614, 80 N. Y. Suppl. 277; Phillips v. Curtis, 70 N. Y. App. Div. 551, 75 N. Y. Suppl. 581; Palmer v. United Press, 67 N. Y. App. Div. 64, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 456; Rhoades v. Schwartz, 52 N. Y. App. Div. 379, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 111; Keilty v. Traynor, 31 N. Y. App. Div. 115, 52 N. Y. Suppl. 550; Rutter v. Germicide Co., 70 Hun 403, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 215; Hart v. Ogdensburg, etc., R. Co., 67 Hun 556, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 401; Russell v. McSwegan, 39 Misc. (N. Y.) 306, 79 N. Y. Suppl. 440; Davis v. Dunham, 13 How. Pr. 425.

Pennsylvania.— Mange v. Guenat, 6 Whart. 141.

United States.—San Fernando Copper Min., etc., Co. v. Humphrey, 111 Fed. 772; Owyhee Land, etc., Co. v. Tautphaus, 109 Fed. 547, 40 C. C. A. 535; Iasigi v. Brown, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,993, 1 Curt. 401.

England.— Alsworthy v. Norman, 15 Jur. 1061 note, 21 L. J. Q. B. 70.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 126.

94. Marx v. Pennsylvania F. Ins. Co., 28 Misc. (N. Y.) 490, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 693. It is not enough to show that they probably will furnish the desired information. Dickie v. Austin, 4 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 123.

95. Williams v. Savage Mfg. Co., 3 Md. Ch. 418; Hayden v. Van Cortlandt, 84 Hun (N. Y.) 150, 32 N. Y. Suppl. 507; Stichter v. Tillinghast, 43 Hun (N. Y.) 95, 11 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 413; Dickie v. Austin, 4 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 123, 65 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 420; Dale v. Stokes, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 586.

Statement on belief.— It is not sufficient for the applicant to swear that he believes the books will tend to prove the issue without stating any ground for the belief. Equitable L. Assur. Soc. v. Clark, 80 Miss. 471, 31 So. 964; Caspary v. Carter, 84 Fed. 416.

96. Park v. Gates, 54 N. Y. App. Div. 512, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 1034; Sanger v. Seymour, 42 Hun (N. Y.) 641; Bloom v. Patten, 58 N. Y. Super. Ct. 225, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 228; Rafferty v. Williams, 50 N. Y. Super. Ct. 66; Cassard v. Hinman, 6 Duer (N. Y.) 695; Gaughe v. Laroche, 6 Duer (N. Y.) 685, 6 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 284, 14 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 451; Marx v. Pennsylvania F. Ins. Co., 28 Misc. (N. Y.) 490, 50 N. Y. Suppl. 693; Bien v. Hellman, 2 Misc. (N. Y.) 168, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 618; Smith v. Seattle, etc., R. Co., 16 N. Y. Suppl. 417; Keenan v. O'Brien, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 490, 491, 23 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 63, 16 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 439 [reversing 4 N. Y. Suppl. 66, 16 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 75]; Dyett v. Seymour, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 643; New England Iron Co. v. New York Loan, etc., Co., 55 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 351; Commercial Bank v. Dunham, 13 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 541; Moore v. McIntosh, 18 Wend. (N. Y.) 529; Nichols v. McGeoch, 78 Wis. 360, 47 N. W. 372.

97. Florida.— Neafie v. Miller, 37 Fla. 173, 20 So. 252.

Indiana.— Spencer v. Woollen, 42 Ind. 364.

New Jersey.— Condict v. Wood, 25 N. J. L. 319.

New York.— Brooklyn L. Ins. Co. v. Pierce, 7 Hun 236; Strong v. Strong, 3 Rob. 675, 1 Abb. Pr. N. S. 233; McAllister v. Pond, 6 Duer 702, 15 How. Pr. 299; Stanton v. Delaware Mut. Ins. Co., 2 Sandf. 662; Bissell v. Mutual Reserve Fund Assoc., 38 Misc. 249, 77 N. Y. Suppl. 536; Frothingham v. Broadway, etc., R. Co., 9 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 304; Husson v. Fox, 15 Abb. Pr. 464; Pegram v. Carson, 10 Abb. Pr. 340, 18 How. Pr. 519; Morrison v. Sturges, 26 How. Pr. 177; Davis v. Dunham, 13 How. Pr. 425.

South Carolina.— Jenkins v. Bennett, 40 S. C. 393, 18 S. E. 929.

Wisconsin.— Noonan v. Orton, 28 Wis. 600.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery," § 125 et seq.

Showing held insufficient.— The necessity therefor does not sufficiently appear where the application alleges that the books were mislaid and that the party would be put to much trouble to find them. Campbell v. Hoge, 4 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 540.

98. Perls v. Metropolitan L. Ins. Co., 16 Daly (N. Y.) 255, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 110; Russell v. McSwegan, 39 Misc. (N. Y.) 306, 79 N. Y. Suppl. 440.

99. Frowein v. Lindheim, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 495, 25 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 87. It is not sufficient that it refers to classes of docuand that the same are in the possession of the adverse party or under his control.[1]

(D) Description of Books or Documents. The books or documents must be described with such particularity as to advise the adverse party of what is required and to enable the court to determine the propriety of allowing the inspection sought,[2] and show that they are competent evidence,[3] in support of the applicant's case.[4]

(E) Other Allegations. The application need not show a property interest in the books or documents.[5] It must appear from the application that there was a prior request for the inspection and notice given to the party.[6] If the application is to obtain inspection of books of a foreign corporation it must show that the books are within the state.[7]

ments, or that the applicant states that he has grounds for belief, based on a priori reasoning, that a correspondence must have passed, or that books and documents must exist relating to the subject-matter. White v. Spafford, [1901] 2 K. B. 241, 70 L. J. K. B. 658, 84 L. T. Rep. N. S. 574.

1. District of Columbia.—Smithson v. Stanton, 7 D. C. 6.

Georgia.— Carlton v. Western, etc., R. Co., 81 Ga. 531, 7 S. E. 623.

Indiana.— Whitman v. Weller, 39 Ind. 515.

New York.— Opdyke v. Marble, 44 Barb. 64.

Pennsylvania.— Megargee v. Insurance Co., 15 Phila. 226.

Wisconsin.— See Schuetze v. Continental L. Ins. Co., 69 Wis. 252, 34 N. W. 90.

United States.— Lundberg v. Albany, etc., Co., 32 Fed. 501.

England.— Fiott v. Mullins, 22 L. J. Ch. 72.

See 16 Cent. Dig. tit. "Discovery." § 118.

The affidavit of plaintiff is prima facie sufficient for this purpose. Amsinck v. North, 62 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 114; Com. v. Gross, 1 Ashm. (Pa.) 281; Megargee v. Insurance Co., 15 Phila. (Pa.) 226; Congdon v. Aylsworth, 16 R. I. 281, 18 Atl. 247.

2. Neafie v. Miller, 37 Fla. 173, 20 So. 252; Cornish v. Wormser, 53 Hun (N. Y.) 40, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 889, 17 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 282; Phelps v. Platt, 54 Barb. (N. Y.) 557; Merquelle v. Continental Bank Note Co., 7 Rob. (N. Y.) 77; Jackling v. Edmonds, 3 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 539; Halstead v. Halstead, 3 Misc. (N. Y.) 618, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 191; Dyett v. Seymour, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 643; Dickie v. Austin, 4 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 123, 65 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 420; Frowein v. Lindheim, 25 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 87, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 495; Low v. Graydon, 14 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 443; Lynch v. Henderson, 10 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 345 note; People v. Trinity Church, 6 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 177; New England Iron Co. v. New York Loan, etc., Co., 55 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 351; Dale v. Stokes, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 586; Davenport v. Pennsylvania R. Co., 2 Pa. Dist. 784; San Fernando Copper Min., etc., Co. v. Humphrey, 111 Fed. 772.

Where the demand is too general in its nature, it is in the discretion of the court to make the order in such manner and form as will be compatible with the purpose for which the evidence is to be produced and the demand should be granted according to the exigencies of the case. Arbuckle v. Woolson Spice Co., 21 Ohio Cir. Ct. 347, 11 Ohio Cir. Dec. 743.

Too great generality is cured by particularizing the books in the order. Hofman v. Scixas, 12 Misc. (N. Y.) 3, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 23.

Where no answer is filed to a petition for an order upon the assignees of a bank to produce books and papers and there was no allegation that the documents were not within their control the petition should not be refused on the ground of vagueness and indefiniteness of the description of the evidence sought. Keim's Estate, 1 Woodw. (Pa.) 108.

If letters, the contents need not be stated positively. Otherwise the application would show that there was no need for the discovery sought. Mason v. Smith, 49 Hun (N. Y.) 612, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 355.

3. Woods v. De Figaniere, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 681, 25 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 522; Morrison v. Sturges, 26 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 177; Davenport v. Pennsylvania R. Co., 2 Pa. Dist. 784; San Fernando Copper Min., etc., Co. v. Humphrey, 111 Fed. 772.

4. Meakings v. Cromwell, 1 Sandf. (N. Y.) 698; Ahlmeyer v. Healy, 14 Daly (N. Y.) 288, 12 N. Y. St. 677; Union Paper Collar Co. v. Metropolitan Collar Co., 3 Daly (N. Y.) 171; Cutter v. Pool, 54 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 311; Boyd v. Petrie, 20 L. T. Rep. N. S. 934, 17 Wkly. Rep. 903.

5. Arnold v. Pawtuxet Valley Water Co., 18 R. I. 189, 26 Atl. 55, 19 L. R. A. 602.

6. Beaver v. Hartsville University, 34 Ind. 245; Gross v. Bock, 48 Hun (N. Y.) 620, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 263, 14 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 314; Wenzel v. Palmetto Brewing Co., 48 S. C. 80, 26 S. E. 1; Jenkins v. Bennett, 40 S. C. 393, 18 S. E. 929. Contra, Blumberg v. Lindeman, 19 N. Y. App. Div. 370, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 302; Matter of Bryce, 56 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 359.

What equivalent to demand.— An order of a county judge for the inspection of books or to show cause, with a refusal of the party to allow the inspection, takes the place of a demand and refusal. Albany Brass, etc., Co. v. Hoffman, 12 Misc. (N. Y.) 167, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 600.

7. Snow v. Snow-Church Surety Co., 80 N. Y. App. Div. 40, 80 N. Y. Suppl. 512. Compare Morrice v. Swaby, 2 Beav. 500, 17

(III) Signature and Verification. The fact that the petition for a discovery and inspection of papers in defendant's possession is not subscribed by plaintiff but by his attorney is not material when it is verified by plaintiff.[8] The application must be verified by affidavit,[9] which should be the affidavit of the petitioner[10] or of his attorney;[11] but if made by the attorney some reason should be shown for his making it,[12] and in that event it must be positive and cannot be on information and belief.[13]

(IV) Notice of Application. It is necessary to give notice of a motion for the production or inspection of books or papers for the purpose of using the information as evidence on the trial,[14] but not where the purpose is to enable a party to plead.[15] The notice must be in writing.[16]

9. The Order — a. In General. A judge in chambers has no power to order a party to furnish copies of papers which are evidence in the cause of his adversary[17] except in vacation.[18] The propriety of granting the order is largely a matter for the discretion of the trial court, and a strong case is required to secure a reversal.[19] This discretion, however, must not be arbitrarily exercised;[20] but in exercising it the court should consider whether the discovery would facilitate the trial of the action.[21] A peremptory order should not be made at once, but there should first be a rule to show cause.[22] It should designate with reasonable certainty the particular book or papers desired.[23] It is improper to insert in the

Eng. Ch. 500; Mertens v. Haigh, 8 L. T. Rep. N. S. 561, 2 New Rep. 254.

8. Hallett v. American L. Book Co., 40 Misc. (N. Y.) 652, 83 N. Y. Suppl. 110.

9. Dick v. Phillips, 41 Hun (N. Y.) 603; Jackling v. Edmonds, 3 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 539.

Statement of facts on information and belief.— Where material facts are positively verified it is no objection that additional facts are stated on information and belief. Kings County Bank v. Dougherty, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 817. An affidavit on advice and belief that papers are in the possession of the adversary party is sufficient if not denied by the adversary. National Oleo Meter Co. v. Jackson, 54 N. Y. Super. Ct. 444.

10. Strong v. Strong, 3 Rob. (N. Y.) 675, 1 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 233. Compare dictum in Exchange Bank v. Monteath, 4 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 280, 2 Code Rep. (N. Y.) 148, where it is held that the facts may be shown by the oath of any person.

11. Walker v. Granite Bank, 19 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 111. Contra, Herschfeld v. Clarke, 11 Exch. 712, 2 Jur. N. S. 239, 25 L. J. Exch. 113.

In case of a corporation aggregate the affidavit may be made by attorneys. Kingsford v. Great Western R. Co., 16 C. B. N. S. 761, 10 Jur. N. S. 804, 33 L. J. C. P. 307, 10 L. T. Rep. N. S. 722, 12 Wkly. Rep. 1059, 111 E. C. L. 761.

12. Phelps v. Platt, 54 Barb. (N. Y.) 557.

The fact that defendant does not reside in the city is not a sufficient reason for allowing his attorney to verify the petition for the inspection before answer of a document in the possession of plaintiff, and where this is the only reason given the affidavit is insufficient. Fromme v. Lisner, 63 Hun (N. Y.) 290, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 850, 22 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 37.

13. Opdyke v. Marble, 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 64; Walker v. Granite Bank, 19 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 111; Central Cross-town R. Co. v. Twenty-third St. R. Co., 53 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 45.

14. Philadelphia v. McManes, 17 Phila. (Pa.) 4; Bronson v. Kensey, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,927, 3 McLean 180.

15. Bronson v. Kensey, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,927, 3 McLean 180.

16. Tillou v. Hutchinson, 15 N. J. L. 178.

17. Clarke v. Spencer, 6 Cow. (N. Y.) 59; Willis v. Bailey, 19 Johns. (N. Y.) 268.

18. Moore v. McIntosh, 18 Wend. (N. Y.) 529.

19. Iowa.— Allison v. Vaughan, 40 Iowa 421.

Nebraska.— Chamberlain v. Chamberlain Banking House, (1903) 93 N. W. 1021.

New York.— Clyde v. Rogers, 87 N. Y. 625; Stilwell v. Priest, 85 N. Y. 649; O'Gorman v. O'Gorman, 92 Hun 605, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 401; Hart v. Ogdensburg, etc., R. Co., 69 Hun 497, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 713; White v. Munroe, 33 Barb. 650; Ashley v. Whitney, 54 N. Y. Super. Ct. 540; Cooke v. Lalance Grosjean Mfg. Co., 3 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 332; Bowne v. Cribb, 20 Wend. 682.

Pennsylvania.— Cowles v. Cowles, 2 Penr. & W. 139.

England.— Lane v. Gray, L. R. 16 Eq. 552, 43 L. J. Ch. 187.

20. McAllister v. Pond, 6 Duer (N. Y.) 702, 15 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 299.

21. Babbitt v. Crampton, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 169.

22. District of Columbia v. Bakersmith, 18 App. Cas. (D. C.) 574.

23. Whitman v. Weller, 39 Ind. 515. But see Forsyth County v. Lemly, 85 N. C. 341.

Generality in description is not objectionable if the subject-matter is specifically mentioned in the motion and notice. Victor G. Bloede Co. v. Joseph Bancroft, etc., Co., 98 Fed. 175.

order for the discovery the consequence of not obeying it,[24] but such insertion will not render the order void.[25] And it has been held that an order for the examination of defendant before trial and an order for the examination and inspection of books are distinct proceedings and cannot be united in one order.[26]

b. Time, Place, and Manner of Inspection. The order should limit the time within which the inspection should be made.[27] It may fix a day for the production and inspection different from the day of trial.[28] It should name a place for their inspection.[29] It should generally provide that the books or papers remain in defendant's custody and that at a stated time and place he should give liberty of inspection to plaintiff and his counsel and such persons as should accompany them;[30] or that the books should be produced in open court, or before an officer of the court.[31] The court may in its discretion otherwise fix the place of examination,[32] or change the place fixed by the order.[33] It should not provide that they be taken from the party and delivered to his adversary.[34] It need not limit the number of assistants the party may employ in the inspection, as the court will Order held improper.— An order directing the deposit of certain books and papers and "all other books of the defendants which contain any accounts or entries showing or tending to show" certain matters is improper and unwarranted as being an attempt to use the power of the court to hunt for evidence. Opdyke v. Marble, 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 64; Walker v. Granite Bank, 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 39, 19 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 111.

Order held sufficient.— In an action for libel against a corporation engaged in furnishing news to various newspapers throughout the United States, an order requiring defendant to make discovery of its books and papers showing its transactions in the matter of the transmission of news despatches between Sept. 30 and Nov. 5, 1892, about the date of the issuance of the alleged libelous item, is sufficiently specific, where it does not appear that defendant's interests will be prejudiced by the fact that a more specific description is not given. Palmer v. United Press, 67 N. Y. App. Div. 64, 73 N. Y. Suppl. 456.

24. Rice v. Ehle, 65 Barb. (N. Y.) 185. Contra, Whitworth v. Erie R. Co., 37 N. Y. Super. Ct. 437.

25. Rice v. Ehle, 65 Barb. (N. Y.) 185.

An order made by a judge out of court for discovery, declaring a penalty for failure to comply therewith, is an entirety, and the specification of the penalty vitiates the whole order. Broderick v. Shelton, 18 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 213.

26. Boeck v. Smith, 85 N. Y. App. Div. 575, 83 N. Y. Suppl. 428; Bloodgood v. Slayback, 62 N. Y. App. Div. 315, 71 N. Y. Suppl. 809.

27. Smith v. Mackay, 4 Tenn. Leg. Rep. 202.

Where it fails to do so the court exceeds its jurisdiction and certiorari will lie. State v. Second Judicial Dist. Ct., 27 Mont. 441, 71 Pac. 602, 94 Am. St. Rep. 831.

Order held proper.— An order permitting an inspection of the papers in defendant's possession at a particular date and such other time as the referee may appoint is proper. Hallett v. American L. Book Co., 40 Misc. (N. Y.) 652, 83 N. Y. Suppl. 110.

28. Murison v. Butler, 18 La. Ann. 296 [reversing 18 La. Ann. 197]. The designation of the day of trial as that for answering or producing a book is insufficient, unless the day is ascertained with certainty in the order; nor is the usual weekly notice posted in the court-room of the days for which cases are fixed sufficient. Spears v. Nugent, 2 La. Ann. 11.

29. Rogers v. Turner, 21 L. J. Exch. 8.

Defendant need not produce the books at the office of plaintiff's attorney, but may either permit them to be inspected at the office of his own attorney, or furnish duly verified copies of the entries in question. Fox v. Brega, 1 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 445, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 908.

30. Pindar v. Seaman, 33 Barb. (N. Y.) 140; Skey v. Bennett, 6 Jur. 981; Grane v. Cooper, 4 Myl. & C. 263, 18 Eng. Ch. 263.

31. Hilyard v. Harrison Tp., 37 N. J. L. 170; Bundschu v. Simon, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 714, 23 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 80; Elsworth v. Hinton, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 40, 23 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 374; Ferry v. Rubel, 12 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 138.

Refusal to accept terms of order.— Where the order provided for an inspection by defendant of plaintiff's books under the supervision of a referee, and defendant refused to accept these terms, it was within the discretion of the court to deny the inspection entirely. Clyde v. Rogers, 94 N. Y. 541.

The examination may be made in a foreign state under supervision of a proper officer (Avis v. Lee, 77 Va. 553; Bustros v. Bustros, 30 Wkly. Rep. 374); but will not be permitted of the original books abroad where duplicates are in the country (Steward v. East-India Co., 9 Mod. 387).

32. Talbot v. Marshfield, 11 Jur. N. S. 901, 13 L. T. Rep. N. S. 424, 13 Wkly. Rep. 885; Republic v. Weguelin, 41 L. J. Ch. 165.

33. Prestney v. Colchester, 52 L. J. Ch. 877.

34. Hilyard v. Harrison Tp., 37 N. J. L. 170. A request that a paper purporting to be a receipt, held by the adverse party, be put into the custody of some disinterested person for the respondent to photograph in the complainant's absence, was held to be properly refused. Ely v. Mowry, 12 R. I. 570.

see to it that the privilege is not abused;[35] but it is not error to limit them.[36] The books should be returned to the party producing them after they have been inspected, although they may be required on the hearing.[37]

c. Limits of Inspection. The inspection should not be granted of property other than that mentioned in the petition;[38] and should be limited to such documents or to such entries in the books as show the transactions relating to the claim in controversy.[39]

d. Service of Order. The order for discovery or inspection, where such discovery or inspection is desired from the opposite party, must be served on the party; notice to his attorney is not sufficient,[40] unless the party required to produce books or documents is a corporation.[41]

10. Sealing up Portions of Books or Documents. Where the books contain accounts and transactions which in no way relate to the subject of the examination, the party producing them has the right to seal up such parts of the books so that they shall not be exposed to the observation of those who have no right to examine them,[42] or the court may order such parts sealed.[43] Where books are produced by a party with portions thereof sealed up, his affidavit stating that

35. Veiller v. Oppenheim, 75 Hun (N. Y.) 21, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 1051, 31 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 181; Crease v. Penprase, 1 Jur. 840, 7 L. J. Exch. Eq. 8, 2 Y. & C. Exch. 527.

The order may provide for an inspection by an accountant in a proper case. Lindsay v. Gladstone, L. R. 9 Eq. 132; Bonnardet v. Taylor, 1 Johns. & H. 383, 7 Jur. N. S. 328, 30 L. J. Ch. 523, 3 L. T. Rep. N. S. 384, 9 Wkly. Rep. 452. But see Coleman v. West Hartlepool Harbour, etc., Co., 5 L. T. Rep. N. S. 266.

Under the North Carolina code the inspection should be limited to the adverse party and it is error to order a party to give inspection to others. Sheek v. Sain, 127 N. C. 226, 37 S. E. 334.

36. Stevens v. Blake, 5 Kan. App. 124, 48 Pac. 888.

37. Jones v. Thomas, 6 L. J. Exch. Eq. 81, 2 Y. & C. Exch. 312; Small v. Attwood, 1 Y. & C. Exch. 37.

Withdrawal after reasonable time.— A party who under a rule of court deposits books for inspection may withdraw the same after a reasonable time for inspection and taking copies has expired. Stow v. Betts, 7 Wend. (N. Y.) 536.

38. State v. Second Judicial Dist. Ct., 26 Mont. 396, 411, 68 Pac. 570, 69 Pac. 103.

An order for the inspection of a mine may make available to the persons making the inspection all the appliances in use for ingress and egress. State v. Second Judicial Dist. Ct., 26 Mont. 396, 411, 68 Pac. 570, 69 Pac. 103.

39. Illinois.— Rigdon v. Conley, 141 Ill. 565, 30 N. E. 1060 [affirming 31 Ill. App. 630]; Pynchon v. Day, 18 Ill. App. 147.

Indiana.— Whitman v. Weller, 39 Ind. 515.

Montana.— State v. Second Judicial Dist. Ct., 27 Mont. 441, 71 Pac. 602, 94 Am. St. Rep. 831.

New York.— De Brunoff v. McClure-Tissot Co., 83 N. Y. App. Div. 640, 82 N. Y. Suppl. 38; Continental Nat. Bank v. Myerle, 29 N. Y. App. Div. 282, 51 N. Y. Suppl. 497; Cram v. Moore, 1 Sandf. 662; Allen v. Allen, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 535.

United States.— Victor G. Bloede Co. v. Joseph Bancroft, etc., Co., 98 Fed. 175.

Modification of order.— Where plaintiff was entitled to a discovery of the amount of wages paid defendant's employees, and the number of persons employed during the continuance of certain indemnity policies, an order requiring defendant to produce its ledgers, cash-books, time-books, time-sheets, and all other books showing the amount of wages paid to its employees during the period covered by the policies was too broad, and should be modified so as to require only a production of cash-books, time-books, and time-sheets, during such period. New York Fidelity, etc., Co. v. F. W. Seagrist Jr. Co., 79 N. Y. App. Div. 614, 80 N. Y. Suppl. 277.

Where books contain entries with which the applicant has no concern, the order will be conditioned to require the deposit of the books in the clerk's office, and to provide for the attendance of a representative of the opposite party, the relevancy of the contested entries to be determined in the first instance by the clerk, with summary application for the review thereof by the judge in chambers. Gray v. Schneider, 119 Fed. 474.

40. Brokaw v. Culver, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 167, 23 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 224; Claiborne v. Frazier, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 47. But see People v. Brower, 4 Paige (N. Y.) 405.

If the party is present at the trial or when the order is made no notice is required. Weathersby v. Huddleston, 2 La. Ann. 845; Spears v. Nugent, 2 La. Ann. 11.

41. Rossner v. New York Museum Assoc., 20 Hun (N. Y.) 182.

42. Titus v. Cortelyou, 1 Barb. (N. Y.) 444; Robbins v. Davis, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,880, 1 Blatchf. 238, 5 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 245; Talbot v. Marshfield, 11 Jur. N. S. 901, 13 L. T. Rep. N. S. 424, 13 Wkly. Rep. 885; Fazakerly v. Gillibrand, 8 L. J. Ch. 248.

The court may inspect disputed passages in order to determine the right to protection. Lafone v. Falkland Islands Co., 4 Kay & J. 34, 27 L. J. Ch. 25, 6 Wkly. Rep. 4.

43. Pynchon v. Day, 118 Ill. 9, 7 N. E. 65; Elder v. Bogardus, 1 Edm. Sel. Cas. (N. Y.) 110.

those portions do not relate to the matters in issue is to be taken in the first instance as sufficient to protect them from examination, but if the adversary can show any fair grounds for supposing the sealed portions to be material the court can order them to be opened.[44] Before coming into court for an order that sealed portions of books be opened the party should first apply to the referee to whom the case has been referred.[45] The inspection of sealed portions of books or papers renders the party liable for contempt.[46]

11. Privileged Matter — a. Communications Between Attorney and Client. Documents of a client in the hands of an attorney are privileged from production or inspection at the instance of third parties.[47] So are cases submitted to counsel and their opinions thereon,[48] whether such opinions are written before or after litigation begun.[49] And a waiver of the privilege as to some documents does not waive the privilege as to the balance.[50] But legal opinions taken by a trustee for his mere guidance are not privileged as against his cestui que trust,[51] nor are opinions taken by a corporation privileged as against a stock-holder when the opinions were paid for out of corporate funds.[52] The privilege extends only to documents that are placed in the hands of an attorney in reference to an existing or anticipated controversy and not when made or delivered to him in general course of professional business.[53] The claim for privilege will not be denied because the documents are alleged to have been prepared to evade the law.[54]

b. Communications Between Physician and Patient. The books of a physician which contain information concerning his patient are privileged in an action between the physician and a third person.[55]

c. Public Documents. Documents of a public official character whose production would be prejudicial to the public interest are privileged from production.[56]

d. Matters Subjecting Party to Criminal Prosecution, Penalties, or Forfeiture. That the production or inspection asked for will prove the party guilty of the commission of a crime is a proper ground for refusing it,[57] but not where the crime is barred by the statute of limitations,[58] nor unless the party swears that the discovery sought would tend to criminate him.[59] The right to such protec-

44. Titus v. Cortelyou, 1 Barb. (N. Y.) 444. But see Jones v. Andrews, 58 L. T. Rep. N. S. 601, where it is said that the affidavit of a party that the matter sealed up is irrelevant cannot be denied by evidence and is conclusive unless the court is satisfied from the documents produced, from something in the affidavit of documents or sealing, from the admission of the party making the discovery, or necessarily from the circumstances of the case that the affidavit does not truly state the facts.

45. Titus v. Cortelyou, 1 Barb. (N. Y.) 444.

46. Dias v. Merle, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 494.

47. Peck v. Williams, 13 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 68; Wheeler v. Le Marchant, 17 Ch. D. 675, 45 J. P. 728, 50 L. J. Ch. 793, 44 L. T. Rep. N. S. 632.

48. Underwood v. India State Secretary, 12 Jur. N. S. 321, 35 L. J. Ch. 545, 14 L. T. Rep. N. S. 385, 14 Wkly. Rep. 551; Jenkyns v. Bushby, L. R. 2 Eq. 547, 12 Jur. N. S. 558, 35 L. J. Ch. 820, 15 L. T. Rep. N. S. 310.

49. Bristol v. Cox, 26 Ch. D. 678, 53 L. J. Ch. 1144, 50 L. T. Rep. N. S. 719, 33 Wkly. Rep. 255; Mostyn v. West Mostyn Coal, etc., Co., 34 L. T. Rep. N. S. 531.

50. Lyell v. Kennedy, 27 Ch. D. 1, 51 L. J. Ch. 937, 50 L. T. Rep. N. S. 730.

51. Talbot v. Marshfield, 2 Dr. & Sm. 549, 6 New Rep. 288.

52. Gourand v. Edison Gower Bell Telephone Co., 57 L. J. Ch. 498, 59 L. T. Rep. N. S. 813.

53. Peck v. Williams, 13 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 68.

54. Bullivant v. Atty.-Gen., [1901] A. C. 196, 70 L. J. K. B. 645, 84 L. T. Rep. N. S. 737, 50 Wkly. Rep. 1. But see Russell v. Jackson, 9 Hare 387, 15 Jur. 1117, 21 L. J. Ch. 146, 41 Eng. Ch. 387. See also Charlton v. Coombes, 4 Giff. 372, 9 Jur. N. S. 534, 32 L. J. Ch. 284, 8 L. T. Rep. N. S. 81, 1 New Rep. 547, 11 Wkly. Rep. 504.

55. Lowenthal v. Leonard, 20 N. Y. App. Div. 330, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 818; Mott v. Consumers' Ice Co., 2 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 143, 52 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 148 [affirmed in 52 How. Pr. 244].

56. Hennessy v. Wright, 24 Q. B. D. 445 note, 36 Wkly. Rep. 879; Wadeer v. East India Co., 8 De G. M. & G. 182, 2 Jur. N. S. 407, 25 L. J. Ch. 345, 4 Wkly. Rep. 421, 57 Eng. Ch. 142; The H. M. S. Bellerophon, 44 L. J. Adm. 5, 31 L. T. Rep. N. S. 756, 23 Wkly. Rep. 248.

57. Kern v. Bridwell, 119 Ind. 226, 21 N. E. 664, 12 Am. St. Rep. 409.

58. McCreery v. Ghormley, 6 N. Y. App. Div. 170, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 1036.

59. O'Connor v. Tack, 2 Brewst. (Pa.) 407; Kraus v. Sentinel Co., 62 Wis. 660, 23 N. W. 12.

tion cannot be waived by agreement[60] nor by reference to the documents in the pleadings.[61] The court and not the party is the ultimate judge as to whether the production might tend to criminate the party,[62] and it should have very clear evidence that danger to the deponent cannot reasonably be apprehended before it declines to allow the privilege claimed.[63] The claim of privilege on the ground that the disclosure might tend to incriminate the party making it must be made on the oath of the party.[64] It is also a proper ground for refusing the order that the books contain evidence of matter which will subject the party to a penalty.[65] Protection will be afforded at every stage of the proceedings against being compelled to answer any question having a direct tendency to criminate the party, or subjecting him to penalty, or forming one step toward it.[66]

12. Use of Documents Produced. A plaintiff should not use for any collateral purpose documents produced for the purpose of the suit.[67] If necessary an injunction will be granted to restrain him from doing so.[68] The court may as a condition for making an order for production require the applicant to undertake not to make public the contents of the documents.[69]

13. Failure to Produce or Permit Inspection. A party ordered to produce books or papers must comply with the order instanter.[70] Giving leave to a party to examine the books at a place other that provided by the order is not a compliance therewith.[71] For failure to comply with the order the court may direct that the facts stated in the application for the order be taken as confessed,[72] may impose a fine upon the party failing to comply therewith,[73] or may render a judgment of nonsuit or default against the party,[74] as far as relates to that part of

60. Southall v. ——, Younge 308; Paxton v. Douglas, 16 Ves. Jr. 239, 33 Eng. Reprint 975, 19 Ves. Jr. 225, 34 Eng. Reprint 502, 12 Rev. Rep. 175; Claridge v. Hoare, 14 Ves. Jr. 59, 33 Eng. Reprint 443; Maccallum v. Turton, 2 Y. & J. 183.

61. Roberts v. Oppenheim, 26 Ch. D. 724, 53 L. J. Ch. 1148, 50 L. T. Rep. N. S. 729, 32 Wkly. Rep. 654.

62. Reg. v. Boyes, 1 B. & S. 311, 101 E. C. L. 311; Ex p. Reynolds, 20 Ch. D. 294, 46 J. P. 533, 51 L. J. Ch. 756, 46 L. T. Rep. N. S. 508, 30 Wkly. Rep. 651. But see Blenkinsopp v. Blenkinsopp, 10 Beav. 143, 11 Jur. 721, 16 L. J. Ch. 88.

63. Bradley v. Clayton, L. R. 26 Ir. 405.

Where necessary the court will examine the documents to see whether the claim for privilege is justified. Williams v. Quebrada R., etc., Co., [1895] 2 Ch. 751, 65 L. J. Ch. 68, 73 L. T. Rep. N. S. 397, 44 Wkly. Rep. 76.

64. Webb v. East, 5 Ex. D. 108, 44 J. P. 200, 49 L. J. Exch. 250, 41 L. T. Rep. N. S. 715, 28 Wkly. Rep. 336; The Mary or Alexandra, L. R. 2 A. & E. 319, 38 L. J. Adm. 29, 18 L. T. Rep. N. S. 891, 17 Wkly. Rep. 551.

65. People v. Western Manufacturers' Mut. Ins. Co., 40 Ill. App. 428; Boyle v. Smithman, 146 Pa. St. 255, 23 Atl. 397; Finch v. Rikeman, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,788, 2 Blatchf. 301.

Waiver of privilege.— This privilege is not waived by the fact that the party has produced the same books in an equity suit. Newgold v. American Electrical Novelty, etc., Co., 108 Fed. 341.

What does not amount to a penalty.— A foreign corporation may be required to furnish evidence against itself in an action brought to exclude it from the state as the revocation of a privilege to do business in the state does not amount to a penalty. State v. Standard Oil Co., 61 Nebr. 28, 84 N. W. 413, 87 Am. St. Rep. 449.

66. Lee v. Read, 5 Beav. 381, 6 Jur. 1026, 12 L. J. Ch. 26. But see South-Sea Co. v. Bumsted, 1 Eq. Cas. Abr. 77, 21 Eng. Reprint 890; Davis v. Reid, 5 Sim. 443, 9 Eng. Ch. 443; East India Co. v. Atkins, 1 Str. 168.

67. Richardson v. Hastings, 7 Beav. 354, 13 L. J. Ch. 416, 29 Eng. Ch. 354.

68. Williams v. Prince of Wales Life, etc., Co., 23 Beav. 338, 3 Jur. N. S. 55.

69. O'Connor v. Tack, 2 Brewst. (Pa.) 407; Williams v. Prince of Wales Life, etc., Co., 23 Beav. 338, 3 Jur. N. S. 55. But see Tagg v. South Devon R. Co., 12 Beav. 151.

70. People v. Brower, 4 Paige (N. Y.) 405.

Effect of inconvenience.— It is no excuse for failure to produce books in the possession of a party that he will be put to inconvenience to find them. Holly Mfg. Co. v. Venner, 86 Hun (N. Y.) 42, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 287, 2 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 8.

71. Snyder v. Olmstead, 1 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 194.

72. Mills v. Fellows, 30 La. Ann. 824; Atwater v. Colton, 18 La. Ann. 226; Dorchester First Nat. Bank v. Smith, 36 Nebr. 199, 54 N. W. 154.

73. But the fine must be such only as will indemnify the aggrieved party for the costs and expenses, and such costs and expenses must be ascertained by competent proof before the amount of the fine can be fixed. Ludlow v. Knox, 1 Alb. L. J. 161.

74. Silvers v. Junction R. Co., 17 Ind. 142; Gould v. McCarty, 11 N. Y. 575; Brown v. Georgi, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 851; La Farge v. La Farge F. Ins. Co., 14 How. Pr. (N. Y.)

the action or defense to which the books or papers are alleged to apply,[75] or may enforce the order by attachment[76] or exclude the document from being given in evidence.[77] The imposition of the penalty is discretionary with the court and not imperative.[78] It should not be imposed until it is ascertained judicially that such refusal was without good reason,[79] and that the evidence sought is pertinent to the issues and should be produced,[80] and should not be imposed where the application for the production is ambiguous on its face,[81] or does not conform to the statutes.[82] Sworn copies may be produced in lieu of the originals, where defendant and his books are in another state, or at such a great distance that the production in court would be attended with great inconvenience, expense, or detriment.[83] And it is a sufficient excuse for the failure to produce books ordered to be produced that the party states on oath that he kept no such books,[84] or positively denies possession of them,[85] and denies all control of the books or papers sought,[86] provided he shows that he parted with possession if he ever had it before the order of court was made and that the books are not his property.[87] But he must swear positively that they are not in his possession or control, or state facts which with his denial of knowledge are the equivalent of a positive assertion.[88] It is not sufficient to state on oath that the books contain no entries

26; Victor G. Bloede Co. v. Joseph Bancroft, etc., Co., 110 Fed. 76; Liberia Republic v. Roye, 1 App. Cas. 139, 45 L. J. Ch. 297, 34 L. T. Rep. N. S. 145, 24 Wkly. Rep. 967.

75. Wills v. Kane, 2 Grant (Pa.) 47. It does not authorize the court to compel defendant to make any admission of plaintiff's claim other than would be implied by his neglect to plead. Follett v. Weed, 3 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 360.

76. District of Columbia.— District of Columbia v. Bakersmith, 18 App. Cas. 574.

Ohio.— Arbuckle v. Woolson Spice Co., 21 Ohio Cir. Ct. 356, 11 Ohio Cir. Dec. 726.

Pennsylvania.— Keim's Estate, 1 Woodw. 108.

United States.— Victor G. Bloede Co. v. Joseph Bancroft, etc., Co., 110 Fed. 76.

England.— Thomas v. Palin, 21 Ch. D. 360, 47 L. T. Rep. N. S. 207, 30 Wkly. Rep. 716.

A party should not be imprisoned for contempt where he complies with the order after attachment issued and before enforcement. Gay v. Hancock, 56 L. T. Rep. N. S. 726.

77. Dorchester First Nat. Bank v. Smith, 36 Nebr. 199, 54 N. W. 154; Gould v. McCarty, 11 N. Y. 575; Roberts v. Oppenheim, 26 Ch. D. 724, 53 L. J. Ch. 1148, 50 L. T. Rep. N. S. 729, 32 Wkly. Rep. 654.

78. Chamberlain v. Chamberlain Banking House, (Nebr. 1903) 93 N. W. 1021; Hartley v. Owen, 34 L. T. Rep. N. S. 752.

79. Jenkins v. Bennett, 40 S. C. 393, 18 S. E. 929.

Incapacity of party after order.— The penalty should not be enforced where the party becomes incapacitated after the order is made. Cardwell v. Tomlinson, 54 L. J. Ch. 957, 52 L. T. Rep. N. S. 746, 33 Wkly. Rep. 814.

80. State v. Second Judicial Dist. Ct., 27 Mont. 441, 71 Pac. 602; Owyhee Land, etc., Co. v. Tautphaus, 109 Fed. 547, 48 C. C. A. 535.

81. Victor G. Bloede Co. v. Joseph Bancroft, etc., Co., 110 Fed. 76.

82. Victor G. Bloede Co. v. Joseph Bancroft, etc., Co., 110 Fed. 76.

83. Neafie v. Miller, 37 Fla. 173, 20 So. 252. But see Reed v. Stevenson, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 536, where it is said that a party cannot by furnishing copies preclude his adversary from inspecting the originals and compelling their production for that purpose.

84. Cottrell v. Warren, 18 Pa. St. 487.

85. McIlhanney v. Magie, 13 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 16; Russell v. McLellan, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,158, 3 Woodb. & M. 157. But see Hepburn v. Archer, 20 Hun (N. Y.) 535.

It is not sufficient to deny possession if control is not denied. Sibley v. New York Times Pub. Co., 80 Hun (N. Y.) 561, 30 N. Y. Suppl. 604; Brown v. Georgi, 26 Misc. (N. Y.) 128, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 923. Want of possession or control must be accounted for. McCreery v. Ghormley, 6 N. Y. App. Div. 170, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 1036.

Evasive answer.— An affidavit is not sufficient if it is evasive in not showing how the party parted with possession. Union Trust Co. v. Driggs, 49 N. Y. App. Div. 406, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 381; Hicks v. Charlick, 10 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 129.

86. Watts v. Knevals, 56 N. Y. Super. Ct. 592, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 548; Woods v. De Figaniere, 1 Rob. (N. Y.) 607, 25 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 522; Hoyt v. American Exch. Bank, 1 Duer (N. Y.) 652, 8 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 89; Bradstreet v. Bailey, 4 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 233.

Want of possession by corporate officer.— To entitle a corporate officer failing to produce books of a corporation to claim as an excuse lack of possession or control over the books, he must establish that fact as well as his good faith by affirmative proof. Press Pub. Co. v. Associated Press, 27 Misc. (N. Y.) 90, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 186, 29 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 203.

87. State v. Lucksinger, 79 Mo. App. 289; Perrow v. Lindsay, 52 Hun (N. Y.) 115, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 795, 16 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 359.

88. Southart v. Dwight, 2 Sandf. (N. Y.) 672.

An affidavit by defendant's attorney that the books are not in defendant's custody is relative to the matters in controversy,[89] that the entries are false ones,[90] or that the agent of the opposite party had free access to the books shortly before suit brought, when further examination was denied.[91] The objection of inability to produce cannot be raised on the hearing if not made in opposition to the order or on the hearing of the appeal from the order.[92] That the instrument of which inspection is sought is comprised in and forms part of a very large document in other portions of which the party has no interest is no objection to an inspection of the instrument.[93] Whether the books called for have been brought into court is a question for the court to investigate and not for the party who issued it to determine.[94]

DISCREDIT. To refuse credence to; not to accept as true; to disbelieve;[1] to distrust.[2] (Discredit: Of Witness, see WITNESSES.)

DISCRETIO EST DISCERNERE PER LEGEM QUID SIT JUSTUM. A maxim meaning "Discretion is to discern through law what is just."[3] (See DISCRETION.)

DISCRETIO EST SCIRE PER LEGEM QUID SIT JUSTUM. A maxim meaning "Discretion consists in knowing what is just in law."[4]

DISCRETIO JUDICIS EST PER LEGES DISCERNERE. The discretion of a judge is a legal discretion.[5]

DISCRETION.[6] In general, the discernment of what is right and proper;[7] knowledge and prudence, that discernment which enables a person to judge critically of what is correct and proper, united with caution; nice discernment, and judgment directed by circumspection;[8] judgment;[9] deliberate judgment;[10] no defense to the motion, when the affidavit is based on information and belief and does not assign any good reason why defendant does not swear to the facts himself. Fox v. Brega, 1 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 445, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 908.

Denial by agent.— It is not sufficient that the denial of the existence of a paper is made by an agent, where it does not appear that he could have known of its existence or non-existence. People v. Newaygo Cir. Judge, 41 Mich. 258, 49 N. W. 921.

89. Elder v. Bogardus, 1 Edm. Sel. Cas. (N. Y.) 110.

90. Central Nat. Bank v. White, 37 N. Y. Super. Ct. 297.

91. Williams Mower, etc., Co. v. Raynor, 38 Wis. 132.

92. Press Pub. Co. v. Associated Press, 27 Misc. (N. Y.) 90, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 186, 29 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 203.

93. Umfreville v. Manhattan R. Co., 46 N. Y. App. Div. 594, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 20.

94. Philadelphia v. McManes, 16 Phila. (Pa.) 1.

1. Howard v. State, 25 Tex. App. 686, 693, 8 S. W. 929 [quoting Webster Dict.].

2. People v. Clark, 84 Cal. 573, 582, 24 Pac. 313 [citing Abbott L. Dict.; Anderson L. Dict.; Webster Dict.].

3. Bouvier L. Dict. [citing Broom Leg. Max. 84 note].

Applied or quoted in the following cases:

Georgia.— Miller v. Wallace, 76 Ga. 479, 484, 2 Am. St. Rep. 48 [citing 4 Coke Inst. 41].

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Anthes, 5 Gray 185, 204 [citing Coke Litt. 227*b*].

Missouri.— Dooley v. Barker, 2 Mo. App. 325, 328; Cator v. Collins, 2 Mo. App. 225, 232.

New York.— Matter of Watson, 2 Dem. Surr. 642, 645.

Pennsylvania.— In re Kilgore, 14 Wkly. Notes Cas. 466, 470.

Virginia.— Harris v. Harris, 31 Gratt. 13, 16 [citing 4 Coke Inst. 41].

England.— Gough v. Howarde, 3 Bulstr. 121, 128; Rex v. Peters, 1 Burr. 568, 570.

Canada.— In re Pattullo, 31 Ont. 192, 194; Reg. v. Cameron, 15 Ont. 115, 118. See also Reg. v. Darlington Free Grammar School, 6 Q. B. 682, 700, 9 Jur. 21, 14 L. J. Q. B. 67, 51 E. C. L. 682.

4. Bouvier L. Dict.

Applied in Le Roy v. New York, 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 352, 356; Keighley's Case, 10 Coke 139*a*, 140*a*.

5. In re Leonard, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,255.

6. "The word 'discretion' is used in various meanings." Lent v. Tillson, 72 Cal. 404, 422, 14 Pac. 71. And see Murray v. Buell, 74 Wis. 14, 18, 41 N. W. 1010.

7. Citizens' St. R. Co. v. Heath, 29 Ind. App. 395, 62 N. E. 107, 111 [citing Anderson L. Dict.].

There is discretion "in the decision of what is just and proper under the circumstances." Bouvier L. Dict. [quoted in Murray v. Buell, 74 Wis. 14, 18, 41 N. W. 1010; The Styria v. Morgan, 186 U. S. 1, 9, 22 S. Ct. 731, 46 L. ed. 1027]. See also Oneida C. Pl. v. People, 18 Wend. (N. Y.) 79, 99.

8. Towle v. State, 3 Fla. 202, 214, where it is said: "To decide, of course requires reflection — the exercise of judgment and discretion."

9. McManus v. Finan, 4 Iowa 283, 287. See also 2 Cyc. 413 note 32.

10. Citizens' St. R. Co. v. Heath, 29 Ind. App. 395, 62 N. E. 107, 111 [citing Anderson L. Dict.]; Stewart v. Stewart, 28 Ind. App.

soundness of judgment;[11] a science or understanding to discern between falsity and truth, between wrong and right, between shadow and substance, between equity and colorable glosses and pretences, and not to do according to the wills and private affections of persons.[12] In its ordinary meaning, unrestrained exercise of choice or will;[13] freedom to act according to one's own judgment; unrestrained exercise of will;[14] the liberty or power of acting without other control than one's own judgment.[15] When applied to public functionaries, a power or right, conferred upon them by law, of acting officially in certain circumstances according to the dictates of their own judgment and conscience, uncontrolled by the judgment or conscience of others.[16] In criminal law, the ability to know and distinguish between good and evil,— between what is lawful and what is unlawful.[17] (See DISCRETION OF COURT.)

DISCRETIONARY POWER.[18] A term which involves an alternative power, i. e., a power to do or refrain from doing a certain thing.[19] (See DISCRETION.)

DISCRETIONARY TRUST. See TRUSTS.

DISCRETION OF COURT.[20] Ability to discern by the right line of law and not 378, 62 N. E. 1023, 1025 [citing Anderson L. Dict.].

11. McManus v. Finan, 4 Iowa 283, 287.

12. Rooke's Case, 5 Coke 99*b*, 100*a* [quoted in Miller v. Wallace, 76 Ga. 479, 484, 2 Am. St. Rep. 48; In re Pattullo, 31 Ont. 192, 194].

13. People v. McAllister, 10 Utah 357, 370, 37 Pac. 578. And see McManus v. Finan, 4 Iowa 283, 287.

14. Webster Dict. [quoted in 11 Centr. L. J. 505].

15. People v. New York City Super. Ct., 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 285, 291 [citing Webster Dict.]; The Styria v. Morgan, 186 U. S. 1, 9, 22 S. Ct. 731, 46 L. ed. 1027 [quoting Webster Dict.].

The term implies the absence of a hard-and-fast rule. Norris v. Clinkscales, 47 S. C. 488, 498, 25 S. E. 797; The Styria v. Morgan, 186 U. S. 1, 9, 22 S. Ct. 731, 46 L. ed. 1027, where it is said: "The establishment of a clearly defined rule of action would be the end of discretion, and yet discretion should not be a word for arbitrary will or inconsiderate action." See also Goodwin v. Prime, 92 Me. 355, 362, 42 Atl. 785 [quoting State v. Wood, 23 N. J. L. 560, 564], where it is said: "Discretion implies that in the absence of positive law or fixed rule the judge is to decide by his view of expediency or of the demands of equity and justice."

16. Oneida C. Pl. v. People, 18 Wend. (N. Y.) 79, 99 [quoted in Farrelly v. Cole, 60 Kan. 356, 372, 56 Pac. 492, 44 L. R. A. 464; Platt v. Munroe, 34 Barb. (N. Y.) 291, 293]; Rio Grande County v. Lewis, 28 Colo. 378, 379, 65 Pac. 51 [citing Murray v. Buell, 74 Wis. 14, 18, 41 N. W. 1010; Bouvier L. Dict.]; State v. Hultz, 106 Mo. 41, 51, 16 S. W. 940.

Applied to allowances of county commissioners.— Where a statute authorized county boards to make allowances for public purposes "at their discretion," the court said: "The words to 'make allowances at their discretion,' . . . mean to make allowances according to law, at their discretion. They do not mean an arbitrary, uncontrolled, unlimited discretion, contrary to law, or without authority of law; for where there is no law there is no act to do, and, therefore, no discretion to be exercised. They mean a legal discretion, not a personal discretion; for to allow the board a personal discretion would give them the power to make law." Rothrock v. Carr, 55 Ind. 334, 335 [cited in Scott v. La Porte, (Ind. 1903) 68 N. E. 278, 281].

17. Bouvier L. Dict.

18. "The terms, 'discretionary power,' and, 'judicial power,' are often used interchangeably; but there are many acts requiring the exercise of judgment which may fairly be considered of a judicial nature, and yet do not in any proper sense come within the 'judicial power,' as applicable to courts." State v. Le Clair, 86 Me. 522, 532, 30 Atl. 7 [citing Ex p. Gist, 26 Ala. 156; Dickinson v. Kingsbury, 2 Day (Conn.) 1; Ex p. Farnham, 8 Mich. 89; Tillotson v. Cheetham, 2 Johns. (N. Y.) 63; Cox v. Coleridge, 1 B. & C. 37, 2 D. & R. 86, 25 Rev. Rep. 298, 8 E. C. L. 17].

19. Bennett v. Norton, 171 Pa. St. 221, 231, 32 Atl. 1112.

Illustration of use of the term.— In In re Taylor, 4 Ch. D. 157, 159 [quoted in In re Pattullo, 31 Ont. 192, 194], Jessel, M. R., said: "Therefore the law was altered by Talfourd's Act to this extent, that that which was formerly the absolute right of the father became, and is now, subject to the discretionary power of the Judge. When I say 'the discretionary power of the Judge,' I mean that, though the Act of Parliament gave the power in the most ample terms in which language could express it, 'if he should see fit'— or, as the recent Act expresses it, 'as the Court shall deem proper, or shall direct'— yet, of course, like every other power given to a Judge, the discretion of the Judge is to be exercised on judicial grounds — not capriciously, but for substantial reasons." See also Doherty v. Allman, 3 App. Cas. 709, 728, 39 L. T. Rep. N. S. 129, 26 Wkly. Rep. 513.

20. "The discretion of a judge is the law of tyrants; it is always unknown; it is different in different men; it is casual and depends upon constitution and passion. In the best it is often, at times, capricious; in the worst it is every vice, folly and madness, to which human nature is liable." Ex p. Chase, by the crooked cord of private opinion, which the vulgar call discretion;[21] freedom to act according to the judgment of the court,[22] or according to the rules of equity and the nature of circumstances;[23] judicial discretion regulated according to known rules of law;[24] legal discretion,[25] and not a personal discretion;[26] sound discretion guided by fixed legal principles;[27] sound discretion guided by law;[28] sound judgment, to be exercised according to the rules of law;[29] sound judicial discretion.[30] In practice, the exercise of final judgment by the court in the decision of such questions of fact as, from their nature and the circumstances of the case, come peculiarly within the province of the presiding judge to determine without the intervention and to the exclusion of the functions of a jury.[31] (Discretion of Court: In Particular Actions or Proceedings — Abatement, see ABATEMENT AND REVIVAL; Administration, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS; Admiralty, see ADMIRALTY; Appeal, see APPEAL AND ERROR; Arrest, see ARREST; Attachment, see ATTACHMENT; Bail, see BAIL; Bankruptcy, see BANKRUPTCY; Bastardy, see BASTARDS; By or Against Attorney, see ATTORNEY AND 43 Ala. 303, 310 [quoting Bouvier L. Dict.]; State v. Cummings, 36 Mo. 263, 278.

Distinguished from "law" in State v. Wood, 23 N. J. L. 560, 564.

Distinguished from the "power of a Roman prætor" in Miller v. Wallace, 76 Ga. 479, 484, 2 Am. St. Rep. 48.

21. Coke Litt. 227*b* [quoted in Beach v. Stanstead Tp., 8 Quebec Super. Ct. 178, 188].

22. Murray v. Buell, 74 Wis. 14, 18, 41 N. W. 1010 [citing Webster Dict.].

23. Platt v. Munroe, 34 Barb. (N. Y.) 291, 293 [citing Bouvier L. Dict.]; La. Civ. Code (1900), art. 3556, subs. 10.

"Discretion does mean, (and can mean nothing else but) exercising the best of their judgment [by courts] upon the occasion that calls for it." Rex v. Young, 1 Burr. 556, 560 [quoted in Tompkins v. Sands, 8 Wend. (N. Y.) 462, 467, 24 Am. Dec. 46; Norris v. Clinkscales, 47 S. C. 488, 498, 25 S. E. 797].

Applied to granting an injunction in Hennessy v. Carmony, 50 N. J. Eq. 616, 625, 25 Atl. 374.

24. Lee v. Bude, etc., R. Co., L. R. 6 C. P. 576, 580, 40 L. J. C. P. 285, 24 L. T. Rep. N. S. 827, 19 Wkly. Rep. 954 [quoted in Beach v. Stanstead Tp., 8 Quebec Super. Ct. 178, 188].

25. Indiana.— Rothrock v. Carr, 55 Ind. 334, 335 [cited in Scott v. La Porte, (1903) 68 N. E. 278, 281].

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Anthes, 5 Gray 185, 200 [citing Coke Litt. 227*b*].

New York.— People v. New York City Super. Ct., 5 Wend. 114, 126.

Wisconsin.— Norton v. Kearney, 10 Wis. 443, 450. And see State v. Cunningham, 83 Wis. 90, 137, 53 N. W. 35, 35 Am. St. Rep. 27, 17 L. R. A. 145.

United States.— Osborn v. U. S. Bank, 9 Wheat. 738, 866, 6 L. ed. 204 [quoted in State v. Cunningham, 83 Wis. 90, 137, 53 N. W. 35, 35 Am. St. Rep. 27, 17 L. R. A. 145], where it is said to be "a discretion to be exercised in discerning the course prescribed by law."

"A legal discretion is one that is regulated and governed by well-known and established principles of law." Detroit Tug, etc., Co. v. Wayne Cir. Judge, 75 Mich. 360, 382, 42 N. W. 968. See also State v. Lafayette County Ct., 41 Mo. 221, 226; Lovinier v. Pearce, 70 N. C. 167, 171, where the court, in speaking of the discretion of a judge to set aside a sale, etc., said: "True, it is a matter of discretion; but then the discretion is not willful or arbitrary, but legal. And although its exercise be not purely a matter of law, yet it 'involves a matter of law or legal inference.'"

26. Rothrock v. Carr, 55 Ind. 334, 335 [cited in Scott v. La Porte, (Ind. 1903) 68 N. E. 278, 281].

27. Norris v. Clinkscales, 47 S. C. 488, 498, 25 S. E. 797.

28. Haupt v. Independent Tel. Messenger Co., 25 Mont. 122, 129, 63 Pac. 1033; Rex v. Wilkes, 4 Burr. 2527, 2539 [quoted in Miller v. Wallace, 76 Ga. 479, 484, 2 Am. St. Rep. 48; Tingley v. Dolby, 13 Nebr. 371, 374, 14 N. W. 146; Sea Isle City Imp. Co. v. Sea Isle City, 61 N. J. L. 476, 477, 39 Atl. 1063; Platt v. Munroe, 34 Barb. (N. Y.) 291, 293; Ex p. Mackey, 15 S. C. 322. 328; Harris v. Harris, 31 Gratt. (Va.) 13, 16; Sharp v. Greene, 22 Wash. 677, 688, 62 Pac. 147; In re Pattullo, 31 Ont. 192, 194, and cited in Matter of Watson, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 642, 645] (where it is also said: "It must be governed by rule, not by humour; it must not be arbitrary, vague, and fanciful, but legal and regular"); Jacob L. Dict. [quoted in People v. New York City Super. Ct., 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 285, 291; Schlaudecker v. Marshall, 72 Pa. St. 200, 206]. And see Jensen v. Barbour, 12 Mont. 566, 576, 31 Pac. 592; Wilson v. Rastall, 4 T. R. 753, 757, 2 Rev. Rep. 515.

29. Lent v. Tillson, 72 Cal. 404, 422, 14 Pac. 71.

30. Shilling v. Reagan, 19 Mont. 508, 512, 48 Pac. 1109.

31. Bundy v. Hyde, 50 N. H. 116, 120.

"Judicial discretion, in its technical legal sense, is the name of the decision of certain questions of fact by the court." Darling v. Westmoreland, 52 N. H. 401, 408, 13 Am. Rep. 55 [citing Bundy v. Hyde, 50 N. H. 116, 120, and quoted in Colburn v. Groton, 66 N. H. 151, 153, 28 N. W. 95, 22 L. R. A. 763]. See also Faber v. Bruner, 13 Mo. 541, 543; Norris v. Clinkscales, 47 S. C. 488, 498, 25 S. E. 797.

CLIENT; Certiorari, see CERTIORARI; Change of Venue, see CRIMINAL LAW; VENUE; Consolidation of Actions, see CONSOLIDATION AND SEVERANCE OF ACTIONS; Contempt, see CONTEMPT; Continuance, see CONTINUANCES IN CIVIL CASES; CONTINUANCES IN CRIMINAL CASES; Criminal Prosecution, see CRIMINAL LAW; Discontinuance, see DISMISSAL AND NONSUIT; Discovery, see DISCOVERY; Dismissal, see APPEAL AND ERROR; DISMISSAL AND NONSUIT; Divorce, see DIVORCE; Execution, see EXECUTIONS; Equity, see EQUITY; Error, see APPEAL AND ERROR; Garnishment, see GARNISHMENT; Injunction, see INJUNCTIONS; Insolvency, see INSOLVENCY; Joinder of Actions, see JOINDER AND SPLITTING OF ACTIONS; Mandamus, see MANDAMUS; New Trial, see APPEAL AND ERROR; CRIMINAL LAW; NEW TRIAL; Nonsuit, see DISMISSAL AND NONSUIT; Reference, see REFERENCES; Removal of Cause, see REMOVAL OF CAUSES; Review, see APPEAL AND ERROR; CERTIORARI; CRIMINAL LAW; REVIEW; Revival, see ABATEMENT AND REVIVAL; Splitting Actions, see JOINDER AND SPLITTING OF ACTIONS; Witness, see CRIMINAL LAW; TRIAL; WITNESSES. Review of, see APPEAL AND ERROR; CRIMINAL LAW. To Admit Attorney, see ATTORNEY AND CLIENT. With Respect to — Costs, see COSTS; Deposition, see DEPOSITIONS; Evidence, see CRIMINAL LAW; EVIDENCE; Indictment or Information, see INDICTMENTS AND INFORMATIONS; Judgment, see JUDGMENTS; Jury, see GRAND JURIES; JURIES; License, see INTOXICATING LIQUORS; LICENSES; Matters of Trial, see CRIMINAL LAW; TRIAL; Parties, see APPEAL AND ERROR; PARTIES; Pleading, see EQUITY; PLEADING; Process, see PROCESS; Punishment, see CRIMINAL LAW; Receiver, see RECEIVERS. See also DISCRETION; and, generally, COURTS; JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.)

DISCRIMINATION. The act of treating differently.[32] (Discrimination: Against Citizen, see CIVIL RIGHTS; COMMERCE. By Carrier, see CARRIERS. By State Against Product of Other State, see COMMERCE. In Matter of Bridge Tolls, see BRIDGES. In Taxation, see CUSTOMS DUTIES; LICENSES; TAXATION. On Account of Color or Race, see CIVIL RIGHTS; CONSTITUTIONAL LAW.)

DISCUSSION. In the civil law, a proceeding, at the instance of a surety, by which the creditor is obliged to exhaust the property of the principal debtor, towards the satisfaction of the debt, before having recourse to the surety.[33] In Scotch law, the ranking of the proper order in which heirs are liable to satisfy the debts of the deceased.[34] (See, generally, PRINCIPAL AND SURETY.)

DISEASE.[35] Any derangement of the functions or alteration of the structure of the animal organs; a morbid condition, resulting from some functional disturbance or failure of physical function which tends to undermine the constitution.[36] (Disease: In General, see ASYLUMS; HEALTH; HOSPITALS; NUISANCES. In Accident Insurance Policy, see ACCIDENT INSURANCE. In Life Insurance Policy, see LIFE INSURANCE. Liability For Communicating, see TORTS. Of Animal, see ANIMALS.)

DISFIGUREMENT. The act of disfiguring, or the state of being disfigured; blemish; defacement; change of external form for the worse.[37] (Disfigurement: As Element of Damages, see DAMAGES. Of Animal, see ANIMALS. Of Person, see MAYHEM. See also COVENTRY ACT.)

DISFRANCHISEMENT.[38] An act which destroys or takes away the franchise or

32. English L. Dict.

33. And this right of the surety is termed the "benefit of discussion." Black L. Dict. [citing La. Civ. Code, art. 3045].

34. Black L. Dict. [citing Bell Dict.].

35. "Disease" and "infirmity" as used in an insurance policy mean practically the same thing. Meyer v. New York Fidelity, etc., Co., 96 Iowa 378, 385, 65 N. W. 328, 59 Am. St. Rep. 374. See also 1 Cyc. 261.

36. Meyer v. New York Fidelity, etc., Co., 96 Iowa 378, 383, 385, 65 N. W. 328, 59 Am. St. Rep. 374.

37. Century Dict.

38. Distinguished from "amotion." — In White v. Brownell, 4 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 162, 192, the court said: "In a corporation there is a distinction between what is called amotion, or the right to remove an officer, which is a power inherent in every corporation, and disfranchisement. The former may be exercised without interfering with the franchise, as the officer, when removed, still continues a member; but disfranchisement is an actual expulsion of the member from the body and the taking away of his franchise."

right of being a member of the corporation;[39] taking a franchise from a man for some reasonable cause.[40] (Disfranchisement: Of Elector, see Elections. Of Member — Of Association in General, see Associations; Of Beneficial Association, see Mutual Benefit Insurance; Of Board of Trade, see Exchanges; Of Board of Underwriters, see Insurance; Of Club, see Clubs; Of Corporation in General, see Corporations; Of Religious Society, see Religious Societies.)

DISGRACE. A cause of shame or reproach; that which dishonors; a state of ignominy, dishonor, or shame.[41]

DISGUISE. As a noun, a dress or exterior put on to conceal or deceive; artificial language or manner, assumed for deception; change of manner by drink; slight intoxication. As a verb, to change the guise or appearance of, especially to conceal by an unusual dress; to hide by a counterfeit appearance; to affect or change by liquor; to intoxicate.[42] (See Conceal; Concealment.)

DISHONOR. See Commercial Paper.

DISINTER. To unbury; to take out of the grave; to disentomb; to exhume;[43] to uncover; to expose the dead body of a human being that had been interred to light and air.[44]

DISINTERESTED. Not having any interest in the matter referred to or in controversy.[45]

DISINTERESTED WITNESS. A witness devoid of pecuniary interest, having no prospect of gain or loss.[46] (See, generally, Witnesses.)

DISJUNCTIVE. Serving or tending to disjoin; separating; dividing; distinguishing.[47] (Disjunctive: Allegations, see Indictments and Informations; Pleading. Covenants,[48] see Covenants.)

DISMISS. See Dismissal and Nonsuit.

DISMISSAL. In practice, discontinuance.[49] (See, generally, Dismissal and Nonsuit.)

And see Richards v. Clarksburg, 30 W. Va. 491, 497, 4 S. E. 774.

39. Richards v Clarksburg, 30 W. Va. 491, 497, 4 S. E. 774 [citing 1 Dillon Mun. Corp. § 238, p. 177; 2 Kent Comm. 298; Willcox Mun. Corp. § 708, p. 150].

40. Symmers v. Regem, 2 Cowp. 489, 502.

41. Slawson v. State, 39 Tex. Cr. 176, 178, 45 S. W. 575, 73 Am. St. Rep. 914 [citing Century Dict.; Webster Dict.].

42. Dale County v. Gunter, 46 Ala. 118, 142 [citing Webster Dict.].

43. People v. Baumgartner, 135 Cal. 72, 74, 66 Pac. 974 [quoting Worcester Dict., and citing Encyclopedic Dict.; Webster Dict.], where it is said: "'Disinter' is not a technical word, nor has it acquired a peculiar meaning in law."

44. People v. Baumgartner, 135 Cal. 72, 73, 66 Pac. 974 [citing Cal. Pen. Code], where it is said: "To constitute a disinterment it is not necessary that the body should be removed from the place of sepulture." See, generally, Cemeteries; Dead Bodies.

45. English L. Dict.

"The term 'disinterested' does not mean simply lack of pecuniary interest, but requires the appraiser [of property] to be one not biased or prejudiced." Bradshaw v. Agricultural Ins. Co., 137 N. Y. 137, 145, 32 N. E. 1055 [cited in Hall v. Western Assur. Co., 133 Ala. 637, 640, 32 So. 257; Insurance Co. of North America v. Hegewald, 161 Ind. 631, 640, 66 N. E. 902; Brock v. Dwelling House Ins. Co., 102 Mich. 583, 592, 61 N. W. 67, 47 Am. St. Rep. 562, 26 L. R. A. 623]. See also Hickerson v. German-American Ins. Co., 96 Tenn. 193, 203, 33 S. W. 1041, 32 L. R. A. 172; Blodget v. Brinsmaid, 9 Vt. 27, 30.

46. State v. Easterlin, 61 S. C. 71, 74, 39 S. E. 250.

47. Century Dict.

48. Disjunctive covenants defined see 11 Cyc. 1053 note 68.

49. English v. Dickey, 128 Ind. 174, 27 N. E. 495, 13 L. R. A. 40; Thurman v. James, 48 Mo. 235, 236.

DISMISSAL AND NONSUIT

EDITED BY WILLIAM ALEXANDER MARTIN

CROSS-REFERENCES

For Matters Relating to:
Abatement of Action, see ABATEMENT AND REVIVAL.
Dismissal:
Certificate of, see ASSAULT AND BATTERY.
Directed on Reversal, see APPEAL AND ERROR.
For Failure of Proof, see TRIAL.
In Lower Court After Remand, see APPEAL AND ERROR.
Of Process, see PROCESS.
Of Particular Action or Proceeding:
Action For Injury by Animal, see ANIMALS.
Action on Accident Insurance Policy, see ACCIDENT INSURANCE.
Action on Bond, see BONDS.
Appeal, see APPEAL AND ERROR.
Attachment, see ATTACHMENT.
Audita Querela, see AUDITA QUERELA.
Bankruptcy, see BANKRUPTCY.
Bastardy, see BASTARDS.
Before Justice of the Peace, see JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.
Certiorari, see CERTIORARI.
Condemnation, see EMINENT DOMAIN.
Criminal, see CRIMINAL LAW.

For Matters Relating to — (continued)
Dismissal — (continued)
Of Particular Action or Proceeding — (continued)
Detinue, see DETINUE.
Divorce, see DIVORCE.
Ejectment, see EJECTMENT.
Election Contest, see ELECTIONS.
Execution, see EXECUTIONS.
For Accounting, see ACCOUNTS AND ACCOUNTING.
Forcible Entry and Detainer, see FORCIBLE ENTRY AND DETAINER.
Foreclosure, see MORTGAGES.
For Relief From Judgment, see JUDGMENTS.
Garnishment, see GARNISHMENT.
In Admiralty, see ADMIRALTY.
Indictment, see DEATH; INDICTMENTS AND INFORMATIONS.
In Equity, see EQUITY.
Injunction, see INJUNCTIONS.
Inquisition of Insanity, see INSANE PERSONS.
Interpleader, see INTERPLEADER.
Mandamus, see MANDAMUS.
Partition, see PARTITION.
Probate, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS; WILLS.
Quo Warranto, see QUO WARRANTO.
Receivership, see RECEIVERS.
Replevin, see REPLEVIN.
Scire Facias, see SCIRE FACIAS.
Specific Performance, see SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE.
To Enforce Lien, see LIENS; MECHANICS' LIENS.
To Establish Highway, see STREETS AND HIGHWAYS.
To Quiet Title, see QUIETING TITLE.
Trespass to Try Title, see TRESPASS TO TRY TITLE.
Writ of Error, see APPEAL AND ERROR.
Dismissal or Nonsuit:
As Consideration For:
Bill or Note, see COMMERCIAL PAPER.
Contract, see CONTRACTS.
Costs on, see COSTS.
Interrupting Statute of Limitations, see LIMITATIONS OF ACTIONS.
Review of Order Granting or Refusing, see APPEAL AND ERROR.
Revival of Action, see ABATEMENT AND REVIVAL.
Withdrawal of:
Counter-Claim, see RECOUPMENT, SET-OFF, AND COUNTER-CLAIM.
Intervention, see PARTIES.
Juror, see JURIES.
Motion, see MOTIONS.
Pleading, see PLEADING.
Set-Off, see RECOUPMENT, SET-OFF, AND COUNTER-CLAIM.

I. DEFINITION AND NATURE OF PROCEEDINGS.

A. Dismissal. Dismissal signifies the final ending of a suit, not a final judgment on the controversy but an end of that proceeding.[1]

1. Anderson L. Dict.; Bouvier L. Dict. And see Taft v. Northern Transp. Co., 56 N. H. 414, 417.
"A dismissal of an action is a final decision of the action, and it is a final determination of the action as against all claim made by it, although it may not be a final determination of the rights of the parties as they may be presented in some other action." Leese v. Sherwood, 21 Cal. 151, 164.

B. Discontinuance. A discontinuance in practice is the chasm or interruption in proceedings occasioned by the failure of plaintiff to continue the suit from time to time as he ought, or failure to follow up his case.[2] The entry upon record of a discontinuance has the same effect. In pleading it is the interruption occurring when no answer is given to some material matter in the preceding pleading and the opposite party neglects to take advantage of such omission.[3] Discontinuances are either voluntary, as where plaintiff withdraws his suit, or involuntary, as where in consequence of some technical omission, mispleading, or the like, the

The dismissal of a complaint under the code in an action in the nature of what were formerly termed "common-law actions" is identical with a nonsuit under the common law. Coit v. Beard, 33 Barb. (N. Y.) 357, 12 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 462, 22 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 2.

The term was not originally applied to common-law proceedings, but seems to have been borrowed from proceedings in the court of chancery. Bosley v. Bruner, 24 Miss. 457, 462 [citing Bouvier L. Dict.]. See also Pescud v. Hawkins, 71 N. C. 299; Morgan v. Allen, 27 N. C. 156, 157.

In practice the words "discontinuance" and "dismissal" import the same thing — namely, that the cause is sent out of court. English v. Dickey, 128 Ind. 174, 27 N. E. 475, 13 L. R. A. 40; Thurman v. James, 48 Mo. 235. See also infra, I, B.

2. Gillespie v. Bailey, 12 W. Va. 70, 86, 29 Am. Rep. 445 [citing 3 Blackstone Comm. 296; Bouvier L. Dict.]; Bouvier L. Dict. [quoted in Ex p. Humes, 130 Ala. 201, 203, 30 So. 732, where it is said: "It is in substance and effect an abandonment of the moving party of his pending cause"]. And see Penniman v. Daniel, 91 N. C. 431, 434.

Other definitions are: "A break or chasm in a suit arising from the failure of the plaintiff to carry the proceedings forward in due course of law." Kennedy v. McNickle, 7 Phila. (Pa.) 217.

"The result of some act done or omitted by the plaintiff, which legally withdraws his cause from the power and jurisdiction of the court." McGuire v. Hay, 6 Humphr. (Tenn.) 419, 421.

"At common law [it] was a failure to continue the cause regularly from day to day, or term to term, between the commencement of the suit and final judgment" (Germania F. Ins. Co. v. Francis, 52 Miss. 457, 467, 24 Am. Rep. 674); "a chasm or gap left by neglecting to enter a continuance" (Taft v. Northern Transp. Co., 56 N. H. 414, 416); "a gap or chasm in the proceedings, occurring while the suit is pending" (Hayes v. Dunn, 136 Ala. 528, 531, 34 So. 944; Ex p. State, 71 Ala. 363, 367; Ex p. Hall, 47 Ala. 675, 680 [citing Drinkard v. State, 20 Ala. 9; Chitty Cr. L. 346; 2 Hawkins P. C. 416]. And see Kennedy v. McNickle, 7 Phila. (Pa.) 217).

Compared with "dismissal" see Bullock v. Perry, 2 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 319, 322. In Thurman v. James, 48 Mo. 235, 236, the court said: "In practice, a dismissal and a discontinuance amount to the same thing, and are but different words employed to convey the same idea, namely, that the cause is sent out of court." See also supra, I, A.

Compared with "retraxit" see Bullock v. Perry, 2 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 319, 322; Kennedy v. McNickle, 7 Phila. (Pa.) 217. See also infra, I, D.

"'A discontinuance,' is somewhat similar to a non-suit; for when a plaintiff leaves a chasm in the proceedings of his cause, as by not continuing the process regularly from day to day and time to time, as he ought to do, the suit is discontinued, and the defendant is no longer bound to attend." Rountree v. Key, 71 Ga. 214, 215 [citing 3 Blackstone Comm. 296; Bouvier L. Dict.]; Hunt v. Griffin, 49 Miss. 742, 748 [citing 3 Blackstone Comm. 296; Bouvier L. Dict.]. Under the Louisiana practice discontinuance and voluntary nonsuit are the same. Dennistown v. Rist, 9 La. Ann. 464.

Election to proceed in equity does not constitute a discontinuance. Simpson v. Sadd, 16 C. B. 26, 3 C. L. R. 917, 1 Jur. N. S. 736, 81 E. C. L. 26.

Submission to arbitration of the matters in controversy, involved in an action pending in court, does not operate as a discontinuance of the suit. Nettleton v. Gridley, 21 Conn. 531, 56 Am. Dec. 378.

Plea to action after judgment set aside.— If after a judgment against him defendant comes into court at a subsequent term and procures the judgment to be set aside and pleads to the action, and a verdict is subsequently rendered against him, it is no discontinuance of the action of which he can take advantage. Horah v. Long, 20 N. C. 416, 34 Am. Dec. 278.

Discontinuance a proceeding in the cause.— "It is difficult to say that taking out a rule to discontinue, is not taking a step in the cause. In order to perfect it, the plaintiff must go on and procure the costs to be taxed; which clearly would be taking a proceeding in the cause." Per Tindal, C. J., in Murray v. Silver, 1 C. B. 638, 639, 87 E. C. L. 638. See also as holding that a discontinuance is a proceeding in the cause Hodgson v. Graham, 26 U. C. Q. B. 127.

3. Anderson L. Dict.; 3 Blackstone Comm. 296; Bouvier L. Dict. [citing Bacon Abr. tit. "Pleas;" Comyns. Dig. tit. "Pleader"] (where it is said: "It is distinguished from insufficient pleading by the fact that the pleading does not profess to answer all the preceding pleading in a case of discontinuance"); Gould Pl. 336.

suit is regarded as out of court.[4] A discontinuance means no more than a declaration of plaintiff's willingness to stop the pending action; it is neither an adjudication of his cause by the proper tribunal nor an acknowledgment by him that his claim is not well founded.[5]

C. Nonsuit. A voluntary nonsuit is an abandonment of his cause by a plaintiff who allows a judgment for costs to be entered against him by absenting himself or failing to answer when called upon to hear the verdict.[6] An involuntary or compulsory nonsuit takes place where plaintiff, on being called, when his case is before the court for trial, neglects to appear, or when he has given no evidence on which a jury could find a verdict.[7] A nonsuit is not a final disposition of the cause and does not bar another suit upon the same cause of action.[8]

D. Retraxit and Nolle Prosequi. A retraxit is the act of a plaintiff in voluntarily withdrawing from his suit. It differs from a nonsuit in that it cannot be entered by attorney.[9] A retraxit, being a perpetual bar, can be entered

4. Hunt v. Griffin, 49 Miss. 742; Hill v. Bloomer, 1 Pinn. (Wis.) 463, 467 [citing Graham Pr. 603; Petersdorf Abr. 387, 393].

"A voluntary discontinuance is like a nol. pros., or what we call, a withdrawal, or a no appearance, perhaps. An involuntary discontinuance is effected, in various ways. Sometimes, by the neglect of the proper officer of the court, in not bringing forward or continuing causes from term to term; sometimes, by some peculiarity in the pleadings of the plaintiffs; as if the defendant pleads in abatement, and the plaintiff replies as to a plea in bar; or if there be a wrong conclusion of a prayer for judgment in a replication, etc. Alice v. Gale, 10 Mod. 112; Bisse v. Harcourt, 1 Salk. 177; 2 Petersdorf Abr. tit. "Discontinuance." But this, and many other peculiarities of English judicial practice, we have never adopted." Nettleton v. Gridley 21 Conn. 531, 536, 56 Am. Dec. 378.

No application where one of several counts fully answered.— The doctrine of discontinuance does not apply to a case where one or more of several counts is fully answered; but to those cases where a count is only answered in part. McAllister v. Ball, 28 Ill. 210.

5. Eugle v. Susquehanna Mut. F. Ins. Co., 20 Pa. Co. Ct. 90.

6. 2 Bouvier L. Dict.; Laird v. Morris, 23 Nev. 34, 37, 42 Pac. 11; Deeley v. Heintz, 169 N. Y. 129, 62 N. E. 158. And see Crumley v. Lutz, 180 Pa. St. 476, 36 Atl. 929.

Other definitions are: "A voluntary letting fall the action." Alexander v. Davidson, 2 McMull. (S. C.) 49, 51.

"A renunciation of a suit by the plaintiff or demandant, most commonly upon the discovery of some error or defect, when the matter is so far proceeded in, that the Jury is ready to deliver their verdict." Jacob L. Dict. [quoted in Dana v. Gill, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 242, 243, 20 Am. Dec. 255].

"A nonsuit is, where the plaintiff is adjudged not to follow, or pursue his remedy, as he ought to do; or is ordered, in consequence of a total or essential failure of necessary evidence, to go to a jury in proof of his claim or demand." State v. Stark, 3 Brev. (S. C.) 101, 102.

Distinguished from continuance.—A nonsuit implies that a plaintiff is constrained to abandon his suit, which is not the fact where he has good cause for a continuance. A voluntary nonsuit waives all known reasons for a continuance. Williams v. King, 1 Overt. (Tenn.) 185.

Under the rules of court of Georgia the term "nonsuit" is to be taken "in the sense of the non.-pros. of the English practice or the dismissal of our practice." Kelly v. Strouse, 116 Ga. 872, 883, 43 S. E. 280.

7. 2 Bouvier L. Dict. And see Alexander v. Davidson, 2 McMull. (S. C.) 49.

"Where a plaintiff is demanded and doth not appear, he is said to be nonsuit." Bacon Abr. tit. "Nonsuit" [quoted in Dana v. Gill, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 242, 243, 20 Am. Dec. 255].

A nonsuit is not involuntary unless the action of the court is such as to preclude plaintiff from recovering. Graham v. Parsons, 88 Mo. App. 385.

8. Alabama.— Bullock v. Perry, 2 Stew. & P. 319.

Illinois.— Herring v. Poritz, 6 Ill. App. 208.

Kentucky.— Dana v. Gill, 5 J. J. Marsh. 242, 20 Am. Dec. 255.

Maine.— Washburn v. Allen, 77 Me. 344.

Nevada.— Laird v. Morris, 23 Nev. 34, 42 Pac. 11.

South Carolina.— Baker v. Deliesseline, 4 McCord 372.

West Virginia.— Southern Branch R. Co. v. Long, 26 W. Va. 692.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 75 et seq.

A nonsuit is in many instances of importance, because it gives the party the right to commence the same suit again, and alter its status by additional testimony, whereas if he answers and hears the verdict he must stand on the case as then presented and rely upon his exceptions and upon obtaining a reversal of the judgment on appeal. Hall v. Schuchardt, 34 Md. 15.

9. Lambert v. Sandford, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 137, 18 Am. Dec. 149; Bacon Abr. tit. "Non-Suit"; Bouvier L. Dict. See also ATTORNEY AND CLIENT, 4 Cyc. 936.

only by plaintiff in person,[10] and in open court,[11] since it operates to discharge, release, and bar the cause of action, and the retractor cannot afterward contest the matter in any form of action.[12] It cannot be made before declaration filed, as it would then operate only as a nonsuit.[13] A nolle prosequi does not amount to a retraxit, but has the effect of a discontinuance;[14] and the mere dismissal of a suit is not a retraxit.[15] The doctrine in regard to retraxit has been expressly held to be obsolete and unknown to modern practice in a number of jurisdictions.[16]

II. VOLUNTARY TERMINATION OF SUIT.

A. Right to Dismissal, Discontinuance, or Nonsuit — 1. IN GENERAL. Plaintiff has no absolute right at all times and under all circumstances to discontinue, to dismiss, or to take a nonsuit.[17] But where plaintiff is entitled to dismiss his action, his motive in so doing furnishes no ground for denying him such right and is not a proper subject of inquiry by the court.[18] Plaintiff may discontinue

"A retraxit is 'When the trial is called on, by a plaintiff's coming in person into court and saying that he will not proceed in it.'" Eagin v. Musgrove, 61 N. C. 13 [quoting 2 Sellon Pr. 46].

10. Cox v. Griffin, 17 Ga. 249; Schmidt v. Halle, 15 Mo. App. 36; Lowry v. McMillan, 8 Pa. St. 157, 49 Am. Dec. 501.

11. Justices Morgan County Inferior Ct. v. Selman, 6 Ga. 432; Bond v. McNider, 25 N. C. 440; Muse v. Farmers' Bank, 27 Gratt. (Va.) 252. And see Canada Exch. Bank v. Gilman, 17 Can. Supreme Ct. 108.

12. Alabama.— Hardy v. Montgomery Branch Bank, 15 Ala. 722; Evans v. McMahan, 1 Ala. 45; Bullock v. Perry, 2 Stew. & P. 319.

Arkansas.— Harris v. Preston, 10 Ark. 201.

Florida.— Broward v. Roche, 21 Fla. 465.

Georgia.—Justices Morgan County Inferior Ct. v. Selman, 6 Ga. 432.

Indiana.—Barnard v. Daggett, 68 Ind. 305; Lambert v. Sandford, 2 Blackf. 137, 18 Am. Dec. 149.

Kentucky.— Thompson v. Thompson, 65 S. W. 457, 23 Ky. L. Rep. 1535.

Minnesota.— Rolfe v. Burlington, etc., R. Co., 39 Minn. 398, 40 N. W. 267.

New York.— Kellogg v. Gilbert, 10 Johns. 220, 6 Am. Dec. 335.

North Carolina.— Wilkinson v. Gilchrist, 27 N. C. 228; Bond v. McNider, 25 N. C. 440; Worke v. Byers, 10 N. C. 228.

Pennsylvania.— Lowry v. McMillan, 8 Pa. St. 157; Schuylkill Bank v. Macalester, 6 Watts & S. 147.

South Carolina.—Napier v. Gidiere, Cheves 101.

Virginia.— Wohlford v. Compton, 79 Va. 333; Pinner v. Edwards, 6 Rand. 675.

West Virginia.— South Branch R. Co. v. Long, 26 W. Va. 692.

United States.— Deloach v. Dixon, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,775, Hempst. 428.

Canada.— Reg. v. Atkinson, 15 Quebec 171. See also Canada Exch. Bank v. Gilman, 17 Can. Supreme Ct. 108.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 2.

13. Eagin v. Musgrove, 61 N. C. 13; Lowry v. McMillan, 8 Pa. St. 157, 49 Am. Dec. 501.

14. Lambert v. Sandford, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 137, 8 Am. Dec. 149; Quigley v. Merritt, 4 Iowa 475.

It is simply an agreement not to proceed further in the suit as to a particular person or cause of action. Minor v. Alexandria Mechanics Bank, 1 Pet. (U. S.) 46, 7 L. ed. 47; Deloach v. Dixon, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,775, Hempst. 428.

15. Bullock v. Perry, 2 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 319; Lord v. Dunster, 79 Cal. 477, 21 Pac. 865; Justices Morgan County Inferior Ct. v. Selman, 6 Ga. 432; Hoffman v. Porter, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,577, 2 Brock. 156.

To operate as a retraxit an order of dismissal must be made on motion of one party on the written consent of the other. Stoutenborough v. Board of Education, 104 Cal. 664, 38 Pac. 449.

16. Walker v. St. Paul City R. Co., 52 Minn. 127, 53 N. W. 1068; Schmidt v. Halle, 15 Mo. App. 36; Lowry v. McMillan, 8 Pa. St. 157, 49 Am. Dec. 501.

17. Winans v. Winans, 6 N. Y. St. 813.

Such right is often dependent upon the effect it has on the rights of defendant (see infra, II, D, 1), or upon the application being made at the proper time (see infra, II, C), and the granting of leave to do so is often held to rest within the discretion of the court (see infra, II, A, 3).

Forms of voluntary dismissal or discontinuance see the following cases:

Indiana.— St. John v. Hardwick, 17 Ind. 180, 181.

Kansas.—Norton v. Lawrence, 39 Kan. 458, 459, 18 Pac. 526.

Michigan.— Slocomb v. Thatcher, 20 Mich. 52, 53.

Missouri.— Heald v. Donnell, 121 Mo. 416, 423, 26 S. W. 568.

Montana.— In re Mouillerat, 14 Mont. 245, 246, 36 Pac. 185.

New Hampshire.— Bryant's Case, 24 N. H. 149, 151.

Vermont.— Pelton v. Mott, 11 Vt. 148, 149, 34 Am. Dec. 678.

Forms of voluntary nonsuit see Sauls v. Carmichael, 37 Ala. 87, 88; Wilcox v. McKenzie, 75 Ga. 73, 74; Brown v. Wentworth, 46 N. H. 490, 88 Am. Dec. 223.

18. See infra, II, B, 1.

when he misconceives his action,[19] or when the suit is commenced by defective process.[20]

2. On Adverse Ruling of Court. Provided the motion be not made at a stage at which the court will not consider it,[21] plaintiff may upon a ruling of the court adverse to him elect to take a nonsuit,[22] or dismiss the action,[23] or in some jurisdictions withdraw a juror and discontinue.[24] Within this doctrine a nonsuit will be considered voluntary, where plaintiff is not precluded by the rulings of the court from recovering judgment and substantial damages,[25] or suffers a nonsuit after the court gives an opinion that he should do so,[26] or on an intimation that the court would sustain a demurrer to the evidence.[27] On the other hand a nonsuit taken after instructions which preclude plaintiff's recovery is not a voluntary nonsuit.[28]

3. Necessity For Leave and Order of Court. While some cases hold that plaintiff may dismiss without formal application or leave of court at any time before trial,[29] and others that such dismissal may be had in term-time, but not

19. Roth v. Steffe, 9 Lanc. Bar (Pa.) 77.

20. Hill v. Dunlap, 15 Vt. 645.

21. See infra, II, C.

22. Alabama.—Baldwin v. Roman, 132 Ala. 323, 31 So. 596 (where plaintiff's right to contest a garnishee's answer is determined against him); Blackburn v. Minter, 22 Ala. 613 (when court overrules plaintiff's objections to defendant's testimony).

Colorado.—Long v. McGowan, (App. 1901) 66 Pac. 1076, after demurrer to complaint sustained.

Michigan.— Ludeman v. Hirth, 96 Mich. 17, 55 N. W. 449, 35 Am. St. Rep. 588, upon refusal of court to permit plaintiff in ejectment to amend his declaration so as to set forth his estate in the land.

Missouri.— State v. Gaddy, 83 Mo. 138; Layton v. Riney, 33 Mo. 87; Hageman v. Moreland, 33 Mo. 86; Overall v. Ellis, 32 Mo. 322.

North Carolina.— Graham v. Tate, 77 N. C. 120; Pescud v. Hawkins, 71 N. C. 299 [followed in North Carolina Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Bishop, 71 N. C. 303].

Pennsylvania.— Miller v. Knauff, 2 Pa. L. J. Rep. 11, 3 Pa. L. J. 225, on failure to prove joint liability of other defendants, after judgment by default against one.

Texas.— Hume v. Schintz, 91 Tex. 204, 42 S. W. 543 (where verdict vacated as a whole); Austin v. Townes, 10 Tex. 24.

Washington.— Lowman v. West, 7 Wash. 407, 35 Pac. 130, after demurrer to complaint sustained.

United States.— Wilson v. Breyfogle, 63 Fed. 379, 11 C. C. A. 248, where plaintiff's evidence was excluded from jury.

England.— Wellock v. Constantine, 2 H. & C. 146, 9 Jur. N. S. 232, 32 L. J. Exch. 285, 7 L. T. Rep. N. S. 751, where the judge stated his intention to direct verdict for defendant.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 29.

"Whenever in the progress of a cause the plaintiff perceives that the judge or the jury is decidedly against him, or that he will, on a future occasion, be able to establish a better cause, he may elect to be nonsuited." Wharton v. Currituck County Com'rs, 82 N. C. 11, 15.

23. Montgomery v. Hays, 44 Ind. 433 (new trial erroneously granted on application of defendant); Vertrees v. Newport News, etc., R. Co., 95 Ky. 314, 25 S. W. 1, 15 Ky. L. Rep. 680 (after defendant's motion for peremptory instruction to find for him sustained). In Schafer v. Weaver, 20 Kan. 294, it was held that the court, after sustaining a demurrer to evidence interposed by defendant, and before rendering judgment thereon, may in its discretion allow plaintiff to dismiss his action without prejudice.

24. Wolcott v. Studebaker, 34 Fed. 8.

25. Chiles v. Wallace, 83 Mo. 84; Loring v. Cooke, 60 Mo. 564. And see Williams v. Finks, 156 Mo. 597, 57 S. W. 732.

26. Runyon v. Central R. Co., 25 N. J. L. 556.

27. Graham v. Parsons, 88 Mo. App. 385. And see McClure v. Campbell, 148 Mo. 96, 49 S. W. 881, holding that where the court announces that it will grant an instruction sustaining defendant's demurrer to the evidence, and plaintiff thereupon asks leave to take a nonsuit, which the court grants, and no instruction is in fact "given" as required by Mo. Rev. St. (1889) § 2188, there has been no ruling or action of the court with respect to the instruction, and the nonsuit is voluntary.

28. Martin v. Fewell, 79 Mo. 401.

29. Allen v. Van, 1 Iowa 568; Burlington, etc., R. Co. v. Sater, 1 Iowa 421.

"According to the practice of some of the courts in the Union, it is understood to be the right of the plaintiff to enter a discontinuance of the cause at any time, either in term or in vacation, upon the payment of costs, before a verdict is given, without any formal assent of or application to, the court; and that thereupon the cause is deemed, in contemplation of law, to be discontinued. In Massachusetts and Maine a different practice is understood to prevail, and the discontinuance can only be in term, and is generally upon application to the court. In many cases, however, in these States, it is a matter of right. In Haskell v. Whitney (12 Mass. 47, 50), this doctrine was expressly recognized. The court, on that occasion, said: 'The plaintiff or demandant may, in various modes, become nonsuit, or discontinue his cause at his pleasure. At the beginning of every term at which he is demandable, he may in vacation,[30] the general rule is that a discontinuance must be by leave of court express or implied,[31] and upon its order,[32] and that a dismissal cannot be accomplished by the mere act of plaintiff alone.[33] It is considered that the granting or the refusal of leave to dismiss, to discontinue, or to take a nonsuit is a matter of practice resting in the discretion of the court, which discretion is to be exercised with reference to the rights of both the parties.[34] Even where leave is considered necessary, however, a discontinuance is in actual practice in some jurisdictions entered without leave,[35] which is presumed unless defendant interferes and asks neglect or refuse to appear. If the pleadings are not closed, he may refuse to reply, or to join an issue tendered; or after issue joined, he may decline to open his cause to the jury. The court also may, upon sufficient cause shown, allow him to discontinue, even when it cannot be claimed as a right, or after the cause is opened and submitted to the jury.' Before trial, then, the plaintiff may in many cases as a matter of right, discontinue his cause according to the practice of the State courts, at any time when he is demandable in court. After a trial or verdict, he can do so only by leave of the court, which it may grant or refuse, at its discretion. But under ordinary circumstances, before verdict, it is almost a matter of course to grant it upon a payment of costs, when it is not strictly demandable of right." Veazie v. Wadleigh, 11 Pet. (U. S.) 55, 61, 9 L. ed. 630.

30. Mollere v. Bayon, 2 Mart. O. S. (La) 144.

31. Newcomb v. White, 5 N. M. 435, 23 Pac. 671; Davis v. Sharpe, 5 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 404; Murphy v. Murphy, 8 Phila. (Pa.) 357; Veazie v. Wadleigh, 11 Pet. (U. S.) 55, 9 L. ed. 630.

Leave to enter nolle prosequi.— In Backus v. Richardson, 5 Johns. (N. Y.) 476, the court inclines to the view that by analogy to the case of a nonsuit after a judgment on demurrer plaintiff cannot enter a nolle prosequi as to one of the counts in the declaration and take judgment on the others, without leave of the court.

32. Smith-Frazer Boot, etc., Co. v. Derse, 41 Kan. 150, 21 Pac. 167; Allen v. Dodson, 39 Kan. 220, 17 Pac. 667; Oberlander v. Confrey, 38 Kan. 462, 17 Pac. 88; Brown v. Galena Min., etc., Co., 32 Kan. 528; Ringle v. Wallis Iron Works, 85 Hun (N. Y.) 279, 32 N. Y. Suppl. 1011; Wilder v. Boynton, 63 Barb. (N. Y.) 547; Bishop v. Bishop, 7 Rob. (N. Y.) 194; Schenck v. Fancher, 14 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 95; Fifield v. Brown, 2 Cow. (N. Y.) 503; McAden v. Jenkins, 64 N. C. 796; Wyman v. Herard, 9 Okla. 35, 59 Pac. 1009.

Action of the court is necessary in order that a discontinuance may terminate the suit. Cherry v. Mississippi Valley Ins. Co., 16 Lea (Tenn.) 292.

The filing of the written statement of abandonment and the clerk's entry in the register of actions does not, under Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 581, operate as a dismissal of the action if no judgment of dismissal was ever made or entered nor any order of the court made in relation to the matter of abandonment. Barnes v. Barnes, 95 Cal. 171, 30 Pac. 298, 16 L. R. A. 660; Rochat v. Gee, 91 Cal. 355, 27 Pac. 670.

33. Smith-Frazer Boot, etc., Co. v. Derse, 41 Kan. 150, 21 Pac. 167; Averill v. Patterson, 10 N. Y. 500 [reversing 10 How. Pr. 85]; Grunert v. Sheich, 114 Wis. 355, 89 N. W. 496; State v. Ludwig, 106 Wis. 226, 82 N. W. 158 [overruling Noble v. Strachan, 32 Wis. 314]; Warwick v. Cox, 9 Hare (appendix) xiv, 41 Eng. Ch. xiv; Rowe v. Wood, 1 Jac. & W. 345, 21 Rev. Rep. 179. And see Adger v. Pringle, 11 S. C. 527.

34. Missouri.— Adderton v. Collier, 32 Mo. 507.

New York.— Carleton v. Darcy, 75 N. Y. 375; In re Waverly Water Works Co., 16 Hun 57; Winans v. Winans, 6 N. Y. St. 813.

Ohio.— Conner v. Drake, 1 Ohio St. 166.

Rhode Island.— Payton v. Sherburne, 15 R. I. 213, 2 Atl. 300.

South Carolina.— Gilreath v. Furman, 57 S. C. 289, 35 S. E. 516.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 31.

But see Evans v. Clover, 1 Grant (Pa.) 164; Knabb v. Conner, 30 Pittsb. Leg. J. N. S. 285, holding that while the allowance of a discontinuance is a matter of discretion with the court a nonsuit is a matter of the discretion of plaintiff which it would be error to refuse.

Application of rule.— Where, at the close of the evidence in an action for injuries resulting in the death of plaintiff's intestate, plaintiff asked leave to dismiss the action, and in reply to a question by the court stated that he would not be able to furnish further evidence of the accident on a new trial, but expected to be able to furnish testimony which would indicate that the engine causing the injury could have been stopped before deceased was struck, a refusal to grant such leave and a direction of a verdict for defendant were not an abuse of discretion. Lando v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 81 Minn. 279, 83 N. W. 1089.

The decision will not be disturbed or reviewed, unless there was evident misapprehension of the facts or of the rights of the parties or an abuse of such discretion on the part of the court. Carleton v. Darcy, 75 N. Y. 375; Winans v. Winans, 6 N. Y. St. 813; Crosby v. Fitzpatrick, 23 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 35; Payton v. Sherburne, 15 R. I. 213, 2 Atl. 300.

35. Murphy v. Murphy, 8 Phila. (Pa.) 357; Yeatman v. Henderson, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,132.

the court to withhold it.[36] But the court may on cause shown refuse leave after the discontinuance has been entered.[37] After the proper time has passed for discontinuing a cause it is necessary in all cases for plaintiff to obtain leave of the court.[38]

4. Loss of Right by Estoppel or Waiver. A motion for a new trial on the ground that a nonsuit was improperly refused is not a waiver of plaintiff's right to have such nonsuit.[39] Nor is his right to a discontinuance waived by cross-examining defendant's witness called after the denial of a motion for discontinuance, and by submitting the case at the close of the testimony without renewing his motion;[40] nor by asking leave to introduce further testimony after the court's refusal to allow a discontinuance, where on leave being granted the request was withdrawn and no further action taken.[41] Submitting to a nonsuit, in deference to the opinion of the judge at the trial, which opinion is incorrect, does not estop plaintiff from moving to set aside such nonsuit.[42] A general appearance after a discontinuance waives it,[43] and where in an equity suit a written dismissal has been filed, but no leave to dismiss has been obtained, and complainant continues to prosecute his suit, the dismissal will be presumed to have been withdrawn.[44]

B. Parties Entitled to Discontinuance, Dismissal, or Nonsuit — 1. In General. Ordinarily a suitor has a right to discontinue any action or proceeding commenced by him, and his reasons for so doing are of no concern to the court.[45] So one who has assumed the situation of plaintiff,[46] or has become his successor in interest,[47] may discontinue an action, but a stranger to an action cannot move to dismiss it.[48] While plaintiff has a right to dismiss without prejudice, defendant, brought into court by summons, has no right to demand that the action be dismissed as to any proper party plaintiff.[49]

2. Nominal Plaintiffs and Persons Beneficially Interested. Although a nominal or legal plaintiff may dismiss or discontinue a suit brought for the use of another, where the latter is shown to have no beneficial interest in the subject-matter in controversy,[50] and although there are a few early decisions which, fol-

36. Yeatman v. Henderson, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,132.

37. Schuylkill Bank v. Macalester, 6 Watts & S. (Pa.) 147; County v. Geisinger, 1 Lehigh Val. L. Rep. (Pa.) 113; Jenney v. Glynn, 12 Vt. 480.

38. See infra, II, C.

39. Denton v. Central School Supply House, 61 Ill. App. 267.

40. Rothenberg v. Filarsky, 30 Misc. (N. Y.) 610, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 721.

41. Goldberg v. Victor, 26 Misc. (N. Y.) 728, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 1044.

42. Alexander v. Barker, 2 Cromp. & J. 133, 1 L. J. Exch. 40, 2 Tyrw. 140. See also Sweet v. Lee, 5 Jur. 1134, 3 M. & G. 452, 4 Scott N. R. 77, 42 E. C. L. 240.

43. McDougle v. Gates, 21 Ind. 65; Mahon v. Mahon, 19 Ind. 324; Clark v. State, 4 Ind. 268; Wilson v. Coles, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 402; Bosley v. Farquar, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 61.

44. Newcomb v. White, 5 N. M. 435, 23 Pac. 671.

45. In re Butler, 101 N. Y. 307, 4 N. E. 518; Carleton v. Darcy, 75 N. Y. 375; In re Anthony St., 20 Wend. (N. Y.) 618, 32 Am. Dec. 608. And see Banks v. Uhl, 6 Nebr. 145, where it was held that a plaintiff in a probate court is entitled to dismiss an action voluntarily without prejudice to another action, although his object in procuring the dismissal is to enable him to proceed with another action concerning the same subject-matter, fraudulently instituted in another county.

A party should no more be compelled to continue a litigation than to commence one, except where substantial rights of other parties have accrued and injustice will be done to them by permitting the discontinuance. In re Butler, 101 N. Y. 307, 4 N. E. 518.

46. Broussard v. Duhamel, 4 La. 366.

An attaching creditor who has obtained leave to defend an action at a term after it has been defaulted and continued on account of the trustee, while he will not be allowed to file a plea in abatement may, however, have leave to move to dismiss the action if there be no such person as the nominal plaintiff. Kimball v. Wellington, 20 N. H. 439.

47. Hallett v. Hallett, 10 Misc. (N. Y.) 304, 30 N. Y. Suppl. 946, assignee of cause of action.

48. Soule v. Billings, 42 Cal. 285.

49. Roberts v. Tomlinson, 9 Kan. App. 85, 57 Pac. 1060.

50. Moore v. Bres, 19 La. Ann. 532; Wilson v. Hammitt, 1 Harr. & J. (Md.) 141; Sherwood v. Ellenstein, 27 Misc. (N. Y.) 30, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 99; Welch v. Mandeville, 7 Cranch (U. S.) 152, 3 L. ed. 299. And see Norton v. Tuttle, 60 Ill. 130.

Right as dependent upon conditional attorney's fees.— Three plaintiffs joined with others in an action to set aside an order admitting a will to probate and for leave to lowing the rule that courts of law consider only legal rights, hold that plaintiff of record may dismiss, even though it is alleged and offered to be proved that the beneficial interest is really in another,[51] yet the weight of authority is that where persons other than plaintiff of record are interested in the prosecution of a suit, the courts will protect the rights of such persons and will not permit plaintiff to dismiss to the prejudice of the persons beneficially interested,[52] where the latter will indemnify him against the costs to which he may be subjected.[53]

3. PLAINTIFFS ACTING IN OFFICIAL CAPACITY. Plaintiffs who act in an official capacity for the public in bringing a suit, as for instance selectmen, overseers of the poor, etc., being the only parties plaintiff before the court, may discontinue such suit,[54] during the continuance of their term of office,[55] where they all concur in such discontinuance.[56]

4. PERSONS ACTING IN REPRESENTATIVE CAPACITY. Where one of several parties plaintiff in a cause dies, a dismissal as to him is illegal unless made at the instance of someone representing his interest.[57] Where the reorganization committee of an insolvent corporation are empowered to institute, compromise, and dismiss suits probate a later will. After appeal from a judgment adverse to plaintiffs, they moved to dismiss on payment of their proportion of the costs. It was held that the motion would not be denied, although their attorneys, who had a contingent fee, had spent considerable money and earned attorney's fees of considerable value. Williams v. Miles, 63 Nebr. 851, 89 N. W. 455.

51. Jones v. Blackledge, 4 N. C. 342 [following Bouerman v. Radenius, 2 Esp. 653, 7 T. R. 633]; McElwee v. House, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 108. In Casey v. Casey, 2 Root (Conn.) 269, it was held that a plaintiff might discharge an action in his name brought upon a note, notwithstanding the note is assigned and plaintiff insolvent.

52. Alabama.— Jennings v. Pearce, 99 Ala. 303, 13 So. 605; White v. Nance, 16 Ala. 345; Cunningham v. Carpenter, 10 Ala. 109.

Illinois.— Hanchett v. Ives, 133 Ill. 332, 24 N. E. 396 [affirming 33 Ill. App. 471]; Lyon v. Worcester, 49 Ill. App. 638; Major v. Collins, 11 Ill. App. 658.

Indiana.— Steeple v. Downing, 60 Ind. 478.

Maine.— Penobscot R. Co. v. Mayo, 60 Me. 306.

Pennsylvania.— McCullum v. Coxe, 1 Dall. 139, 1 L. ed. 72; Bentley v. Reading, 22 Wkly. Note Cas. 60.

South Carolina.— Morris v. Peay, 1 Hill 35.

West Virginia.— Lewis v. Laidley, 39 W. Va. 422, 19 S. E. 378.

Wisconsin.— Selleck v. Phelps, 11 Wis. 380.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 39.

The claimant of property levied on is not entitled to take a nonsuit against the objection of the execution plaintiff. McDuffie v. Greenway, 24 Tex. 625.

Rule in ejectment.— Plaintiff in ejectment or trespass to try title may dismiss the suit whenever he thinks proper, and the fact that the beneficial interest in such suit is in another cannot affect his right to do so. White v. Nance, 16 Ala. 345. And see EJECTMENT.

In New York a plaintiff who brings an action in behalf of himself and others similarly situated has the right to control the action and may discontinue it at pleasure until a person similarly situated has procured an order to be made a party to the action. Manning v. Mercantile Trust Co., 37 Misc. 215, 75 N. Y. Suppl. 168.

53. Jennings v. Pearce, 99 Ala. 303, 13 So. 605; Farmers', etc., Bank v. Gaither, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,654, 3 Cranch C. C. 345.

54. Mears v. Boston, etc., R. Co., 5 Gray (Mass.) 371, in which it was held that selectmen of a town may discontinue a suit in equity to restrain a railroad corporation from unlawfully and dangerously running cars on their road, although a temporary injunction has been issued, and although some of the inhabitants of the town move to come in and prosecute the suit.

The attorney-general of the province of Quebec is the sole dominus of a suit instituted by him in his official capacity, whether there be a relator or not. Accordingly a mandamus will not lie at the instance of a relator to compel him to continue proceedings under article 997 of the Canadian code, nor need he obtain the leave of the court before discontinuing such proceedings. A succeeding attorney-general cannot retract a discontinuance by his predecessor. Casgrain v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., [1895] A. C. 282, 64 L. J. P. C. 88, 72 L. T. Rep. N. S. 369, 11 Reports 449.

55. Wright v. Smith, 13 Barb. (N. Y.) 414, holding that after the expiration of their term of office overseers of the poor have no power to discontinue a suit commenced in their name.

After office abolished.— Where the further prosecution of an action by officials to recover a statutory penalty is rendered impossible by the abolition of their office they are entitled to a discontinuance without costs. Cole v. Rose, 65 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 520.

56. Perry v. Tynen, 22 Barb. (N. Y.) 137.

57. McLaran v. Wilhelm, 50 Mo. App. 658.

The personal representative of a deceased plaintiff may agree to the dismissal of the suit. Banta v. Marcellus, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 373; Wohlford v. Compton, 79 Va. 333.

brought in its behalf, the fact that one member of the committee refuses to join with the rest in taking a nonsuit does not deprive the committee of their power to take it.[58]

5 As Between Co-Plaintiffs — a. In General. Although one of two or more co-plaintiffs may withdraw from, abandon, or dismiss a suit so far as his interest is concerned,[59] where such interest is ascertained,[60] yet such action will not be allowed to affect the further progress of the suit as to the other plaintiffs;[61] and one of two or more plaintiffs has no right to dismiss a suit against the objections of the others, unless he can satisfy the court that the latter have no interest in the claim or that he himself is liable to be injured by its further prosecution,[62] and even then he has been held to have no such right if his co-plaintiff shall indemnify him against loss.[63] This doctrine has been applied to the extent of refusing to allow one partner to dismiss a suit which another insists on prosecuting;[64] but it has been held that where plaintiffs are partners and the obligation sought to be enforced runs to the partnership, one may discontinue or dismiss even against the will of the other unless the co-plaintiff will suffer injury, or fraud or collusion is shown.[65]

b. On Showing Want of Interest. Where there is a misjoinder of plaintiffs it is competent for one of them, having no interest in the suit, to withdraw and dismiss the action as to himself;[66] but in a joint action by two or more plaintiffs, since the right of any one or more to recover may depend on facts to be passed on by a jury, plaintiffs cannot be compelled to determine those facts in advance by a voluntary nonsuit as to such of the plaintiffs as may ultimately fail to recover.[67]

c. In Suit Brought Without Authority. In a personal action where one of several co-plaintiffs, each having equally an interest in the cause of action and maintaining the suit, if at all, in his own right and for his own benefit, and having an equal right to control the suit, shows the court that the suit is brought

58. Bangs v. Sullivan, (Tex. Civ. App. 1903) 73 S. W. 74.

59. Cunningham v. Carpenter, 10 Ala. 109; Aylesworth v. Brown, 31 Ind. 270; Noonan v. Orton, 31 Wis. 265; Langdale v. Langdale, 13 Ves. Jr. 167, 33 Eng. Reprint 258.

Where property sued for belongs partly to one and partly to the other, defendant cannot complain of the dismissal of the action as to one of the plaintiffs, and the rendition of judgment for the other in relation to the property of the latter. Kehoe v. Phillipi, 42 Mo. App. 292.

60. Cunningham v. Carpenter, 10 Ala. 109, in which it was held that a permission to one of several plaintiffs, copartners, to dismiss a suit so far as he is concerned in interest, amounts to nothing without ascertaining what that interest is.

An action brought upon a bond in the name of the two joint obligees therein may be discharged by one of them. Shaw v. Keep, 34 Me. 199.

61. Wall v. Galvin, 80 Ind. 447; Stepanek v. Kula, 36 Iowa 563; Cooper v. Cooper, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 129; Biencourt v. Parker, 27 Tex. 558.

62. Winslow v. Newlan, 45 Ill. 145. And see Noonan v. Orton, 31 Wis. 265. In Holkirk v. Holkirk, 4 Madd. 50, the right of some of the plaintiffs to withdraw and have the suit dismissed as to themselves was denied, if by so doing the remaining plaintiffs in the suit would be injured and the order was so framed as to protect them from injury.

Showing as to imprudence of further prosecution.— If several plaintiffs join in instituting a suit, one of them will not be allowed to withdraw from the prosecution of it unless he makes out to the satisfaction of the court that it is not consistent with prudence to prosecute the suit further. Jeffcoat v. Jeffcoat, 3 L. J. Ch. O. S. 45.

63. Winslow v. Newlan, 45 Ill. 145.

64. Cunningham v. Carpenter, 10 Ala. 109.

Agreement made to defraud co-plaintiff.— In Loring v. Brackett, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 403, one of two joint plaintiffs, who had formerly been partners, having agreed that the action should be discontinued, the other made affidavit that the cause of action was a debt due to the partnership, and that the agreement was made to defraud him by collusion between his co-plaintiff and defendant, and thereupon the court refused to order a nonsuit.

65. Noonan v. Orton, 31 Wis. 265.

66. Ocheltree v. Hill, 77 Iowa 721, 42 N. W. 523; Hanks v. North, 58 Iowa 396, 10 N. W. 785; Walsh v. Brooklyn Union El. R. Co., 69 N. Y. App. Div. 389, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 1019; Hawkins v. Lewis, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 141. See also Jackson v. Bates, 13 Rich. (S. C.) 62.

67. Miller v. Bledsoe, 61 Mo. 96 [followed in Miller v. English, 61 Mo. 444; Miller v. McCune, 61 Mo. 248], decided under the Missouri statute of 1849.

without his knowledge, consent, or authority, and by petition duly presented requests to be nonsuited, and no fraud appears, ordinarily a nonsuit will be entered as to all the plaintiffs.[68]

6. Person Having Power of Attorney. Where authority is given by power of attorney to one to discontinue a suit, it must be strictly pursued and the discontinuance should be by him personally and not by another.[69]

C. At What Stage of Cause Allowable — 1. After Judgment. After a final judgment it is too late to dismiss the cause or take a nonsuit, whether as to the whole case,[70] or as to part only of defendants,[71] and whether or not there has been an entry of the judgment.[72] This rule applies, although defendant has obtained a rule to open the judgment,[73] but after a recall of the judgment it has been held that plaintiff may dismiss.[74] It is also held in some jurisdictions that an interlocutory judgment does not deprive plaintiff of the right to dismiss.[75]

2. After Verdict. Under the earlier English decisions plaintiff might become nonsuit even after verdict if dissatisfied with the damages awarded by the jury.[76] But the rule was changed by 2 Hen. IV, c. 7, providing that "after verdict a plaintiff shall not be nonsuit."[77] The English rule before the enactment of the statute mentioned was followed in one early decision in this country,[78] but so far as the books show no other American courts have permitted a nonsuit after verdict.[79]

68. Brown v. Wentworth, 46 N. H. 490, 88 Am. Dec. 223; Caverly v. Jones, 23 N. H. 573.

69. Mechanics' Bank v. Fisher, 1 Rawle (Pa.) 341, where it was held that a power of attorney given to a prothonotary cannot be executed by his clerk.

70. Long v. Thwing, 9 Ind. 179; Stanton v. King, 76 N. Y. 585; Picabia v. Everard, 4 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 113; Mauney v. Long, 91 N. C. 170; Todd v. Todd, 7 S. D. 174, 63 N. W. 777.

Reason for rule.— "When a party has once had the opportunity of litigating his rights in a competent tribunal, . . . they cannot be again drawn into question with the same parties. He has had his day in court." Ball v. Trenholm, 45 Fed. 588, 590.

The quashal of a writ is a final judgment and plaintiff will not be allowed to dismiss thereafter. Cole v. Peniwell, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 175.

71. Turpin v. Turpin, 3 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 327; State v. Powers, 52 Miss. 198.

72. Carleton v. Darcy, 43 N. Y. Super. Ct. 373.

73. Kennedy v. McNickle, 2 Brewst. (Pa.) 536.

74. Randalls v. Wilson, 24 Mo. 76.

75. Piedmont Mfg. Co. v. Buxton, 105 N. C. 74, 11 S. E. 264; Lecroix v. Macquart, 1 Miles (Pa.) 156. And see Gordon v. Goodell, 34 Ill. 429, holding that where a judgment had been confessed but defendant permitted to plead, the judgment being held for plaintiff's benefit, the latter might take a nonsuit, notwithstanding the judgment upon a motion to that effect previously submitting the cause.

76. Keat v. Barker, 5 Mod. 208; Bacon Abr. tit. "Nonsuit."

77. Outhwaite v. Hudson, 7 Exch. 380, 16 Jur. 430, 21 L. J. Exch. 151; Keat v. Barker, 5 Mod. 208; Bacon Abr. tit. "Nonsuit"; Coke Litt. 139b.

78. Wooster v. Burr, 2 Wend. (N. Y.) 295.

79. Connecticut.— McCurdy v. Mather, Kirby 273.

Georgia.— Merchants' Bank v. Rawls, 7 Ga. 191, 50 Am. Dec. 394.

Louisiana.— Chedoteau v. Dominguez, 7 Mart. 490.

Maine.— Washburn v. Allen, 77 Me. 344.

Massachusetts.—Truro v. Atkins, 122 Mass. 418.

Missouri.— Savoni v. Brashear, 46 Mo. 345.

New Hampshire.— Wright v. Bartlet, 45 N. H. 289; Probate Judge v. Abbott, 13 N. H. 22.

Ohio.— Taylor v. Alexander, 6 Ohio 144.

Pennsylvania.— Lawrence v. Burns, 2 Browne 59.

South Carolina.— Magwood v. Milne, 12 Rich. 474.

Tennessee.—Hendrick v. Stewart, 1 Overt. 476.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 20.

"The reason of the rule is apparent, and needs no discussion. It is founded upon principle. If there were no place at which a party defendant could have any rights, save as to costs, till after verdict, great injustice might oftentimes result, with no power in the court to correct or restrain it. As a nonsuit is no bar to a future action for the same cause, a plaintiff, if so disposed, might harass the opposing party, whose residence or situation might be such as to necessitate great expense in the preparation or defense of a cause, with continued litigation, and the costs recoverable would be absolutely inadequate to compensate him for either." Washburn v. Allen, 77 Me. 344, 352.

A verdict in favor of the only defendant who tendered an issue for trial, which issue related exclusively to his own several liability, having been returned into court and published, and thereupon, the jury having been

3. After Findings by Court. In an action tried by the court it is too late to move to dismiss after the court has announced its findings, under a statute providing that the motion "may" be made at any time before the court has announced its findings,[80] or under a statute permitting[81] or requiring plaintiff to make his motion before such submission to the court.[82] In another jurisdiction where there does not appear to be any statutory regulation of the character just mentioned, it is held that plaintiff may dismiss after the court has announced its finding but before a note has been made thereof.[83]

4. At Any Time Before Verdict. In England plaintiff originally had a right to abandon an action at law and become nonsuit at any time before verdict.[84] But the rule has been abolished there by a rule of the supreme court adopted under the Judicature Act,[85] and has been changed by statute in a large number of the United States.[86] So without any special statutory regulations on the subject the courts of many other states have declined to follow the rule.[87] In other states where there has been no statutory change of the rule, plaintiff may still dismiss his action at any time before verdict;[88] at least he can do so unless a set-off or remanded to their room to perfect the verdict by finding pro forma as to the other two defendants, it was too late for plaintiff to dismiss his whole action. After so much had transpired, the litigating defendant was entitled to have a verdict recorded for his protection. Meador v. Dollar Sav. Bank, 56 Ga. 605.

Where the jury found for defendant but neglected to calculate interest and retired to make the calculation, it is too late on their return to take a nonsuit. Lawrence v. Burns, 2 Browne (Pa.) 59.

80. Randles v. Randles, 63 Ind. 93; Walker v. Heller, 56 Ind. 298; Livergood v. Rhoades, 20 Ind. 411; Doughty v. Elliott, 8 Blackf. (Ind.) 405. See also Plant v. Edwards, 85 Ind. 588.

What amounts to announcement of finding. — Language used by the court after argument in stating that there was a lack of evidence necessary to sustain one branch of plaintiff's case is not the announcement of its finding (Burns v. Reigelsberger, 70 Ind. 522), nor is a mere intimation by the court of its judgment (Somerville v. Johnson, 3 Wash. 140, 28 Pac. 373); and it has been held that where the court states what the special finding in a case will be when written, such announcement is not the decision of the court, and notwithstanding such announcement the case may be dismissed at any time before the written finding is announced (Crafton v. Mitchell, 134 Ind. 320, 33 N. E. 1032; Mitchell v. Friedly, 126 Ind. 545, 26 N. E. 391). So plaintiff may dismiss after the hearing of the evidence and intimation by the court that there is no evidence to sustain some of plaintiff's material allegations, and a consent by the court to make special findings and before announcement thereof. Beard v. Becker, 69 Ind. 498.

81. Masterson v. McKelvey, (Tex. Civ. App. 1893) 21 S. W. 1005.

82. Reed v. Reed, 39 Mo. App. 473.

83. Adams v. Shepard, 24 Ill. 464; Howe v. Harroun, 17 Ill. 494; Deaton v. Central School Supply House, 61 Ill. App. 267; Turnock v. Walker, 54 Ill. App. 374; Shabad v. Hanchett, 40 Ill. App. 545; Prindiville v. Leon, 11 Ill. App. 657; Wilson Sewing Mach., etc., Co. v. White, 10 Ill. App. 191.

84. Outhwaite v. Hudson, 7 Exch. 380, 16 Jur. 430, 21 L. J. Exch. 151.

85. Wilson Pr. Supreme Ct. Jud. (7th ed.) 234.

86. See infra, II, C, 5, 6, 7, 9.

87. See infra, II, C, 9.

88. District of Columbia.—Jackson v. Merritt, 21 D. C. 276.

Georgia.— Peeples v. Root, 48 Ga. 592.

Pennsylvania.— Matter of Carter, 1 Phila. 507.

South Carolina.— Usher v. Sibley, 2 Brev. 32.

United States.— Stewart v. Gray, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,428*a*, 4 Hempst. 94.

Canada.— Grant v. Protection Ins. Co., 1 N. S. 12.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," §§ 20, 21.

Reason for rule.— The rule permitting plaintiff to suffer nonsuit at the last moment before verdict is rendered is intended to guard against accidents and surprises. Matter of Carter, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 507.

A statute prohibiting nonsuit after the jury are ready to give their verdict does not prohibit a nonsuit, where from manifest mistake he is prevented from giving any evidence. Franklin v. Mackey, 16 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 117.

Within the rule it has been held that plaintiff may dismiss at any time before the jury signify their willingness to give their verdict (McLugham v. Bovard, 4 Watts (Pa.) 308), at any time before the verdict is delivered to the clerk (Bulkley v. Treadway, 1 Root (Conn.) 552), after the jury return, enter the jury box, and after nine are called (Easton Bank v. Coryell, 9 Watts & S. (Pa.) 153), at any time before the verdict is read by the clerk (Johnson v. Basquere, 1 Speers (S. C.) 329; Lawrin v. Hanks, 3 McCord (S. C.) 558). It has been held, however, in one case that after the jury has sealed the counter-claim is pleaded by defendant,[89] or unless defendant has acquired a right to some affirmative relief.[90]

5. Before Submission to Court or Jury or Retirement of Jury. In many jurisdictions there are statutes which provide in substance either that plaintiff, if he desires to suffer a nonsuit or dismiss his cause, "must" do so before the cause is finally submitted to the court or jury or before the jury retire, or that he "may" suffer a nonsuit at any time before the final submission of the cause to the court or jury or before the jury retire. Under either class of statutes it is of course competent for plaintiff to dismiss or suffer a nonsuit before a final submission of the cause,[91] or what amounts to the same thing before the jury retire.[92] This right being one given by statute is it is believed absolute, and one which the court has no right to deny.[93]

6. After Submission to Court or Jury or Retirement of Jury. Both classes of statutes mentioned in the preceding section are very generally construed to mean that plaintiff is not entitled as of right to dismiss or take a nonsuit after the cause has been submitted to the jury or the court trying the case as a jury,[94] or verdict but before formal announcement it is too late. Newton v. Singlob, 5 Pa. Co. Ct. 151.

Under the practice act of New Jersey plaintiff has no right to dismiss after the coming in of the jury. Dunkle v. Rotholz, (N. J. Sup. 1890) 19 Atl. 260.

89. Merchants' Bank v. Schulenberg, 54 Mich. 49, 19 N. W. 741.

90. Tate v. Phillips, 77 N. C. 126; Graham v. Tate, 77 N. C. 120.

91. Iowa.— Jones v. Currier, 65 Iowa 533; Perry v. Heighton, 26 Iowa 451; Harris v. Laird, 25 Iowa 143; Burlington, etc., R. Co. v. Sater, 1 Iowa 421.

Kansas.—Amos v. Humboldt Loan Assoc., 21 Kan. 474; Schafer v. Weaver, 20 Kan. 294; St. Joseph, etc., R. Co. v. Dryden, 17 Kan. 278; McVey v. Burns, 14 Kan. 291.

Missouri.— Greene County Bank v. Gray, 146 Mo. 568, 48 S. W. 447; Wood v. Nortman, 85 Mo. 298; Lawrence v. Shreve, 26 Mo. 492; Templeton v. Wolf, 19 Mo. 101; Mayer v. Old, 51 Mo. App. 214; Wilson v. Stark, 42 Mo. App. 376.

Nebraska.— Sharpless v. Giffen, 47 Nebr. 146, 66 N. W. 285; Sheedy v. McMurtry, 44 Nebr. 499, 63 N. W. 21; Grimes v. Chamberlain, 27 Nebr. 605, 43 N. W. 395; Banks v. Uhl, 6 Nebr. 145.

New York.— Rothenberg v. Filarsky, 30 Misc. 610, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 721; Goldberg v. Victor, 26 Misc. 728, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 1044.

Ohio.— Dayton, etc., R. Co. v. Marshall, 11 Ohio St. 497; Scott v. Reedy, 5 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 388, 5 Am. L. Rec. 367.

United States.— Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Metalstaff, 101 Fed. 769, 41 C. C. A. 669; Ætna L. Ins. Co. v. Lakin, 59 Fed. 989, 8 C. C. A. 437.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," §§ 15, 16, 17.

92. Alabama.— Blackburn v. Minter, 22 Ala. 613.

Arkansas.— Fowler v. Lawson, 15 Ark. 148.

Florida.— National Broadway Bank v. Lesley, 31 Fla. 56, 12 So. 525.

Illinois.— Gordon v. Goodell, 34 Ill. 429; Amons v. Sennott, 5 Ill. 440; Berry v. Savage, 3 Ill. 261.

Indiana.— Dunning v. Galloway, 47 Ind. 182.

New Jersey.— Bauman v. Whiteley, 57 N. J. L. 487, 31 Atl. 982.

Tennessee.— Parltow v. Elliott, Meigs 547.

Texas.— Frois v. Mayfield, 31 Tex. 366.

United States.— Gassman v. Jarvis, 94 Fed. 603; Wolcott v. Studebaker, 34 Fed. 8.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 17.

93. New Hampshire Banking Co. v. Ball, 57 Kan. 812, 48 Pac. 137; Beals v. Western Union Tel. Co., 53 Nebr. 601, 74 N. W. 54; Sharpless v. Giffen, 47 Nebr. 146, 66 N. W. 285; Grimes v. Chamberlain, 27 Nebr. 605, 43 N. W. 395. But see Worthington v. White, 42 Mo. 462, where it was said in one case that a strict construction of the statute should perhaps not be allowed where it is manifest that the rights and interests of defendant would be prejudiced thereby.

94. Arkansas.— St. Louis Southwestern R. Co. v. White Sewing-Mach. Co., 69 Ark. 431, 64 S. W. 96.

California.— Westbay v. Gray, 116 Cal. 660, 48 Pac. 800; Casey v. Jordan, 68 Cal. 246, 9 Pac. 92, 305; Heinlein v. Castro, 22 Cal. 100; Brown v. Harter, 18 Cal. 76.

Iowa.— Dunn v. Wolf, 81 Iowa 688, 47 N. W. 887; McArthur v. Schultz, 78 Iowa 364, 43 N. W. 223; Belzor v. Logan, 32 Iowa 322; Mansfield v. Wilkerson, 26 Iowa 482; Hays v. Turner, 23 Iowa 214.

Kansas.— Mason v. Ryus, 26 Kan. 464; Ashmead v. Ashmead, 23 Kan. 262; Schafer v. Weaver, 20 Kan. 294; St. Joseph, etc., R. Co. v. Dryden, 17 Kan. 278; Dickerman v. Crane, 8 Kan. App. 795, 57 Pac. 305.

Kentucky.— Glenny Glass Co. v. Taylor, 99 Ky. 24, 34 S. W. 711, 17 Ky. L. Rep. 1331; Linn v. Valz, 11 Ky. L. Rep. 846; Hill v. Small, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 376.

Missouri.— Hesse v. Missouri State Mut. F., etc., Ins. Co., 21 Mo. 93; McLean v. Stuve, 15 Mo. App. 317.

Nebraska.— State v. Scott, 41 Nebr. 263, 59 N. W. 893; State v. Hazelet, 41 Nebr. 257, 59 N. W. 890; State v. Scott, 22 Nebr. 628, 36 N. W. 121.

what amounts to the same thing (in case of trial by jury) after retirement of the jury.[95] It is held, however, that while all legal right on the part of plaintiff has ended, the court may in its discretion permit plaintiff to recall such submission and dismiss without prejudice; and in such case the action of the court, unless it has abused its discretion, is no ground of error.[96] Furthermore, when the court so exercises its power, its ruling is conclusive in any collateral inquiry.[97] So also plaintiff may dismiss after submission to the jury, if plaintiff consent.[98]

7. What Amounts to a Submission or Retirement of Jury. Within the rule that plaintiff cannot dismiss or take a nonsuit after final submission, it has been said that "a submission is final only when nothing remains to be done to render it complete."[99] It has accordingly been held that plaintiff may dismiss or take a nonsuit after intimation by the court as to what the instructions will be but before they are given;[1] after the instructions are given but before the jury retire;[2] after motion for verdict and intimation by the court that it will sustain the motion, but before any entry to that effect or any direction to the jury to return a verdict;[3] before introduction of all the evidence upon the issues made by the pleadings;[4] where after the cause has once been submitted the court permits an amendment raising a new issue;[5] where after the jury have retired plaintiff suggests the death of defendant;[6] or after declarations of law are passed on by the court, but before they are settled.[7] A plaintiff is not entitled to a dismissal or nonsuit where a case, although finally submitted, is laid over on conditions which are not complied with;[8] after a final submission with an attempted reservation of a right to dismiss without prejudice;[9] after the jury had been considering their verdict and plaintiff learned that the court was about to instruct that in case nine

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," §§ 15, 16, 17.

In Maryland submission to the court, where the court acts as jury, does not deprive plaintiff of his right to a nonsuit. Hall v. Schuchardt, 34 Md. 15.

95. National Broadway Bank v. Lesley, 31 Fla. 56, 12 So. 525; Ross v. Chicago, 12 Ill. 366; McClelland v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 94 Ind. 276; Sanders v. Sanders, 24 Ind. 133. And see Torrey v. Forbes, 94 Ala. 135, 10 So. 320.

96. St. Louis Southwestern R. Co. v. White Sewing Mach. Co., 69 Ark. 431, 64 S. W. 96; Ashmead v. Ashmead, 23 Kan. 262; Schafer v. Weaver, 20 Kan. 294; Dickerman v. Crane, 8 Kan. App. 795, 57 Pac. 305.

97. Mason v. Ryus, 26 Kan. 464.

98. See Heinlin v. Castro, 22 Cal. 100.

99. Morrisey v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 80 Iowa 314, 45 N. W. 545.

1. Mullen v. Peck, 57 Iowa 430, 10 N. W. 829.

2. Hensley v. Peak, 13 Mo. 587.

Nonsuit after adverse charge.— Where the court overrules plaintiff's objections to testimony offered by defendant and charges adversely to his right to recover he may except to the rulings of the court and take a nonsuit. Blackburn v. Minter, 22 Ala. 613.

3. Oppenheimer v. Elmore, 109 Iowa 196, 198, 80 N. W. 307; Morrisey v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 80 Iowa 314, 45 N. W. 545; Vertress v. Newport News, etc., R. Co., 95 Ky. 314, 25 S. W. 1, 15 Ky. L. Rep. 680; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Metalstaff, 101 Fed. 769, 41 C. C. A. 669. In Oppenheimer v. Elmore, supra, the court said: "There was no final submission of this case to the jury. They had not received the charge of the court, and as yet had no authority to consider of or return a verdict. Appellant contends that, as the sustaining of the motion for verdict was, in effect, a final disposal of the case, there was a final submission of the case to the court before the plaintiff asked leave to dismiss. Surely, the submission of the motion was not a submission of the case to the court; for, whether the motion was overruled or sustained, it remained to submit the case to a jury for a verdict. There was no final submission of the case to the court or jury."

After defendant's motion for nonsuit and after the court has started to state his conclusions, the court may grant plaintiff's motion for nonsuit. Colorado Fuel, etc., Co. v. Menapace, (Colo. App. 1901) 64 Pac. 584.

Announcement by the court of its intention to give binding instructions for defendant does not bar plaintiff's right to a dismissal. Gassman v. Jarvis, 94 Fed. 603.

4. Osborne v. Davies, 60 Kan. 695, 57 Pac. 941.

5. Westbay v. Gray, 116 Cal. 660, 48 Pac. 800 (where it was said that the then case stands as though no submission had ever been had); Jones v. Currier, 65 Iowa 533, 22 N. W. 663.

6. Huthsing v. Maus, 36 Mo. 101.

7. Lawrence v. Shreve, 26 Mo. 492; Wilson v. Stark, 42 Mo. App. 376.

8. Crowley v. Chamberlain, 6 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 982, 9 Am. L. Rec. 377.

9. McArthur v. Schultz, 78 Iowa 364, 43 N. W. 223, holding that such reservation is not permissible. See also Oppenheimer v. Elmore, 109 Iowa 196, 80 N. W. 307.

of the jurors agreed they could return a verdict;[10] after a cause is submitted on demurrer to the petition and the demurrer sustained, although no opinion be filed;[11] after a demurrer to the evidence has been sustained;[12] or after the evidence was closed and the jury had returned their findings.[13] And if, in a cause tried before the court, at the close of the evidence of plaintiff defendant filed a demurrer to the evidence, and at the close of the evidence of defendant the court took the cause under advisement and the parties were required to furnish briefs, there is a final submission of both the law and facts to the court.[14] So it has been held that if the court has given the cause in charge to the jury for their consideration, even though they remain in the box, this constitutes a retirement within the meaning of the statutes.[15]

8. After Submission to Referees, Arbitrators, Etc. The decisions are not harmonious in regard to the effect of a submission of a cause to referees or arbitrators on the right to dismiss or take a nonsuit. In some jurisdictions it is held that plaintiff may submit to a nonsuit during a hearing before a referee.[16] In other jurisdictions it is held that after a voluntary submission under rule of court, plaintiff has no right to discontinue, dismiss, or suffer a nonsuit,[17] even before the hearing before the referees or arbitrators has begun.[18] Some decisions hold that after the report has been filed it is too late for plaintiff to dismiss or take a nonsuit; in one of them no statute is mentioned as a basis of the holding;[19] while in others the court relied on a statute making the report conclusive unless impeached by evidence, the view being taken that if a nonsuit were permitted this would in effect destroy the report by a nonsuit instead of by evidence;[20] and in another the court considered the report equivalent to the verdict of a jury.[21] But under statutes providing that plaintiff "may" or "must" if he so desires take a nonsuit before submission to the court or jury, it has been held that plaintiff may take a nonsuit after the referee has prepared but before he has filed his report,[22] or even after he has filed his report, but before judgment has been entered thereon,[23] the view being taken that there has been no final submission within the meaning of the statutes. So in another decision made without reference to any statute it was held that as a hearing on the trial before an auditor cannot terminate in a judgment for either party such hearing does not constitute a trial so as to preclude plaintiff from taking a nonsuit after the hearing but before the filing of the auditor's report.[24] After a company has obtained possession of land sought to be con-

10. McCauley v. Brown, 99 Mo. App. 625, 74 S. W. 464.

11. State v. Scott, 22 Nebr. 628, 36 N. W. 121.

12. St. Joseph, etc., R. Co. v. Dryden, 17 Kan. 278.

13. Dickerman v. Crane, 8 Kan. App. 795, 57 Pac. 306.

14. Lawyers' Co-operative Pub. Co. v. Gordon, 173 Mo. 139, 73 S. W. 155.

15. Gassman v. Jarvis, 94 Fed. 603, holding that the actual withdrawal from their seats to consider of their verdict is not necessary to constitute a retirement.

16. Plant v. Fleming, 20 Cal. 92; Coffin v. Reynolds, 37 N. Y. 640.

Where a motion by plaintiff to set aside a reference is denied, the court may refuse a motion to discontinue. It has the right to discontinue an action on terms or without terms or refuse to discontinue at all. Winans v. Winans, 54 N. Y. Super. Ct. 541.

17. Haskell v. Whitney, 12 Mass. 47; Wyatt v. Sweet, 48 Mich. 539, 12 N. W. 692, 53 N. W. 525; Allen v. Hickam, 156 Mo. 49, 56 S. W. 309; Pollock v. Hall, 4 Dall. (Pa.) 222, 1 L. ed. 809, 3 Yeates (Pa.) 42. And see Ives v. Ashelby, 26 Ill. App. 244; Horn v. Roberts, 1 Ashm. (Pa.) 45, holding that from the time jurisdiction of arbitrators attaches on a rule entered by defendant the case is out of court and plaintiff has no power to discontinue.

18. Haskell v. Whitney, 12 Mass. 47.

19. McCurdy v. Mather, Kirby (Conn.) 273.

20. Parker v. Burns, 57 N. H. 602; Fulford v. Converse, 54 N. H. 543.

Where report cannot be used as evidence.— In an action committed by order of court, under the referee law of 1874, to a referee, upon whose report plaintiff has elected a jury trial, plaintiff, if the report cannot be used as evidence to the jury, may at any time before the commencement of the trial become nonsuit. Benton v. Bellows, 61 N. H. 107.

21. Pollard v. Moore, 51 N. H. 188.

22. Belzor v. Logan, 32 Iowa 322.

23. Worthington v. White, 42 Mo. 462; Everett v. Taylor, 32 Mo. 390.

24. Carpenter v. New York, etc., R. Co., 184 Mass. 98, 63 N. E. 28. See also Jackson v. Roane, 96 Ga. 40, 23 S. E. 118, holding that the mere fact that matters of account demned and is occupying it by virtue of the condemnation proceedings, it will not be permitted to take a nonsuit against plaintiff's consent.[25]

9. At Any Time Before Trial. In a number of jurisdictions where there are no statutes regulating the practice, plaintiff as of right may discontinue or become nonsuit at any time before the trial has commenced,[26] whether the trial be by jury or by the court without the intervention of a jury;[27] and under the statutory provisions of some jurisdictions that plaintiff may dismiss at any time before trial if no counter-claim be filed, the right to dismiss at any time before trial if no counter-claim be filed is an absolute one which the court has no discretion to disregard.[28] It is also competent for plaintiff to dismiss his action at any time before trial where a statute permits a nonsuit at any time before the jury retire.[29]

10. After Commencement of Trial. In a number of jurisdictions, where there are no statutes regulating the practice, the rule is well settled that after the trial has commenced plaintiff is not entitled as a matter of right to dismiss or to take a nonsuit, but the matter rests in the discretion of the court, which may after the trial has commenced and before verdict grant or deny permission to dismiss or take a nonsuit,[30] and plaintiff may with defendant's consent dismiss after commencement of the trial.[31] So under statutes authorizing dismissal "at any time before trial" plaintiff cannot dismiss as matter of right, after commencement of trial.[32] have been referred to an auditor and are in process of determination does not prevent plaintiff from dismissing his petition.

25. Nevada, etc., R. Co. v. De Lissa, 103 Mo. 125, 15 S. W. 366.

26. Washburn v. Allen, 77 Me. 344; Worcester v. Lakeside Mfg. Co., 174 Mass. 299, 54 N. E. 833; Kempton v. Burgess, 136 Mass. 192; Burbank v. Woodward, 124 Mass. 357; Locke v. Wood, 16 Mass. 317; Haskell v. Whitney, 12 Mass. 47; Wright v. Bartlett, 45 N. H. 289; Probate Judge v. Abbot, 13 N. H. 21.

In an action against several defendants, the court may permit defendant to discontinue before trial. Exstein v. Robertson, 1 Silv. Supreme (N. Y.) 169, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 429, 17 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 23.

27. Washburn v. Allen, 77 Me. 344.

28. Kaufman v. San Francisco Super. Ct., 115 Cal. 152, 46 Pac. 904; Hancock Ditch Co. v. Bradford, 13 Cal. 637; Denver, etc., R. Co. v. Cobley, 9 Colo. 152, 10 Pac. 669. And see McCabe v. Southern R. Co., 107 Fed. 213.

"At any time before trial" as used in the statutes has in one jurisdiction been construed to mean before "commencement" of trial. St. Anthony Falls Water Power Co. v. King Wrought Iron Bridge Co., 23 Minn. 186, 23 Am. Rep. 682. In another it has been held to mean, "at any time before the jury retire" (Hancock Ditch Co. v. Bradford, 13 Cal. 637), and that plaintiff might dismiss after evidence closed on both sides (Toulouse v. Pare, 103 Cal. 251, 37 Pac. 146. And see Geary v. Simmons, 39 Cal. 224). In another a similar view was taken as to the meaning of the statute and plaintiff was permitted to take a nonsuit after his evidence had been stricken out on motion. Burns v. Rodefer, 15 Nev. 59. It has been held, however, that where a complaint contains three alleged causes of action, and defendant demurs thereto, and the demurrer is sustained as to two of the cases and overruled as to the third cause of action, and plaintiff dismisses as to it and does not amend his complaint, there is a trial, and he cannot afterward dismiss the entire action, but judgment may be rendered for defendants as to the issues raised by demurrer. Goldtree v. Spreckels, 135 Cal. 666, 67 Pac. 1091.

29. Douglass v. Montgomery, etc., R. Co., 37 Ala. 638, 79 Am. Dec. 76. And see Anderson v. Broward, (Fla. 1903) 34 So. 897.

30. Washburn v. Allen, 77 Me. 344; Derick v. Taylor, 171 Mass. 444, 50 N. E. 1038; Leavitt v. Leavitt, 135 Mass. 191; Burbank v. Woodward, 124 Mass. 357; Truro v. Atkins, 122 Mass. 418; Shaw v. Boland, 15 Gray (Mass.) 571; Means v. Welles, 12 Metc. (Mass.) 356; Locke v. Wood, 16 Mass. 317; Wright v. Bartlett, 45 N. H. 289; Probate Judge v. Abbot, 13 N. H. 21.

Reason for rule.— "The reason for denying in this Commonwealth the rule of the English common law was the injustice done to the defendant, who was subjected to being harassed a second time on one and the same cause of action on receiving costs, which in this Commonwealth are nominal. In that respect the burden of being subject to a second action is much greater here than in England, where costs are substantial." Carpenter, etc., Co. v. New York, etc., R. Co., 184 Mass. 98, 100, 68 N. E. 28.

After plaintiff has given in all his evidence and is not surprised by defendant's evidence, the court may properly refuse his application to dismiss. Johnson v. Bailey, 59 Fed. 670.

31. Emerson v. Joy, 34 Me. 347.

32. Day v. Mountin, 89 Minn. 297, 94 N. W. 887; Bettis v. Schreiber, 31 Minn. 329, 17 N. W. 863; St. Anthony Falls Water Power Co. v. King Wrought Iron Bridge Co., 23 Minn. 186, 23 Am. Rep. 682.

11. After Jury Impaneled or Sworn. In the absence of any statutory provision on the subject, the action may be discontinued as to some of the defendants after the jury has been impaneled,[33] or a nolle prosequi entered as to one of several counts in a declaration after the jury is sworn;[34] and under a statute permitting a dismissal at any time before the jury retire plaintiff may dismiss after the jury have been impaneled.[35] It has been held, however, that a dismissal as to one of several joint defendants should not be permitted after the jury is sworn, where plaintiff's purpose is to use him as a witness.[36]

12. After Removal of Cause. Where proper application is made by defendant for removal of the cause to a federal court, the former can proceed no further with the cause and a nonsuit cannot be taken therein by plaintiff.[37]

13. After Rescript Sent Down. After a rescript has been sent down affirming a judgment against several defendants, the trial court may allow plaintiff to discontinue as to one and enter final judgment against the others.[38]

14. After Reversal and Remand For New Trial. A nonsuit may be taken after reversal and remand for a new trial under a statute allowing a nonsuit at any time before trial as the cause then stands for trial de novo.[39]

D. Grounds of Objection — 1. Prejudice to Defendant's Rights. While a plaintiff may dismiss any claim where such dismissal will not prejudicially affect the interests of defendant,[40] he will not be permitted to dismiss, to discontinue, or to take a nonsuit, when by so doing he will obtain an advantage and defendant will be prejudiced or oppressed,[41] or deprived of any just defense.[42] Neverthe-

33. Catlin v. Jones, 1 Pinn. (Wis.) 130.

34. Breckenridge v. Lee, 3 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 446.

35. Gardner v. Black, 98 Ala. 638, 12 So. 813.

36. Gearhart v. Smallwood, 5 Mo. 452.

37. Beery v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 64 Mo. 533.

38. Gray v. Cook, 135 Mass. 189, holding that the rescript does not operate as a judgment, and that the judgment must be entered by the trial court.

39. Currie v. Southern Pac. Co., 23 Oreg. 400, 31 Pac. 963. And see Latimer v. Sullivan, 37 S. C. 120, 15 S. E. 798, where plaintiff was allowed, after a case had gone into the supreme court and had been sent back for a new trial, in term-time, to discontinue without notice one of his two causes of action.

40. Georgia.— Fountain v. Mills, 111 Ga. 122, 36 S. E. 428.

Louisiana.— Broussard v. Duhamel, 4 La. 366.

New York.— New York v. Lynch, 1 N. Y. App. Div. 544, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 467; Beadleston v. Alley, 4 Silv. Supreme 595, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 747.

North Carolina.— Gatewood v. Leak, 99 N. C. 363, 6 S. E. 706.

Texas.— McKee v. Simpkins, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 278.

Washington.— See Dane v. Daniel, 28 Wash. 155, 68 Pac. 446.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 32.

Application of rule.— A claimant cannot be denied the right to discontinue his suit, in which no plea of fraud or set-off has been filed, on statement of counsel for the government that dependent on future disclosures it may be necessary to protect the government to set up an alleged fraud in the matter of the claims, or a counter-claim showing an indebtedness to the government, since on motion to discontinue the rights of the parties must be determined on the record as it exists when the motion is filed. Atlantic Contracting Co. v. U. S., 35 Ct. Cl. 30.

41. Kentucky.— Sawyers v. Langford, 5 Bush 539.

Louisiana.— Leftwitch v. Leftwitch, 6 La. Ann. 346.

Missouri.—Nevada, etc., R. Co. v. De Lissa, 103 Mo. 125, 15 S. W. 366; Gray v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 81 Mo. 126; Browning v. Chrisman, 30 Mo. 353.

New Hampshire.— Wright v. Bartlett, 45 N. H. 289.

New Jersey.—Franklin v. Estell, 29 N. J. L. 264.

New York.— Kruger v. Persons, 52 N. Y. App. Div. 50, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 841, 7 N. Y. Cr. 425; Bowe v. Knickerbocker L. Ins. Co., 27 Hun 312; Parker v. Commercial Telegram Co., 3 N. Y. St. 174; Cunningham v. White, 45 How. Pr. 486; In re Bainbridge, 5 Alb. L. J. 104.

North Carolina.— Lane v. Morton, 81 N. C. 38; McKesson v. Mendenhall, 64 N. C. 502.

Pennsylvania.— Mechanics' Bank v. Fisher, 1 Rawle 341; Norman v. Hope, 2 Miles 142; Brooks v. Prentzel, 10 Wkly. Notes Cas. 319; Payne v. Grant, 7 Wkly. Notes Cas. 406.

South Carolina.—Adger v. Pringle, 11 S. C. 527.

Texas.— Schmick v. Noel, 64 Tex. 406; McKee v. Simpkins, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 278.

United States.— Stevens v. Railroads, 4 Fed. 97.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 32.

42. Adderton v. Collier, 32 Mo. 507; Keithley v. May, 29 Mo. 220.

less the injury which would be thus occasioned to defendant must be of a character that deprives him of some substantive rights concerning his defenses not available in a second suit or that may be endangered by the dismissal,[43] and not the mere ordinary inconveniences of double litigation which in the eye of the law would be compensated by costs.[44]

2. Demand of Defendant For Affirmative Relief — a. In General. Plaintiff in an action will be precluded from dismissing his action on his own motion where an answer has been filed showing defendant to be entitled to and praying for affirmative relief.[45] The consent of the adverse party is necessary in such case.[46] A mere resistance, however, to the claim of plaintiff does not deprive him of the right to take a nonsuit.[47] And the right of plaintiff to discontinue the action is not affected by the fact that a defendant has served an answer asking affirmative relief against a co-defendant, having no relation to the cause of action set out in the complaint.[48]

b. Set-Off or Counter-Claim. There is considerable conflict of authority as to the effect of the filing of a set-off or counter-claim on plaintiff's right to dismiss, discontinue, or take a nonsuit. In a large number of jurisdictions a plaintiff cannot on his own motion and without defendant's consent, or leave of court, dismiss, discontinue, or take a nonsuit after defendant has filed a plea of set-off or counter-claim;[49] but in these jurisdictions the court may, at any time before trial,

43. Stevens v. Railroads, 4 Fed. 97.

44. Stevens v. Railroads, 4 Fed. 97.

Enforcement of stipulation precluding dismissal.— Where plaintiff moves to dismiss an action, it is the duty of the counsel for defendant, if he relies on a stipulation of plaintiff as precluding a motion to dismiss, to bring forward the stipulation, or ask for delay to produce it. He cannot remain silent and afterward attack the judgment of dismissal. Higgins v. Mahoney, 50 Cal. 444.

45. California.— Rodgers v. Parker, 136 Cal. 313, 68 Pac. 975; Islais, etc., Water Co. v. Allen, 132 Cal. 432, 64 Pac. 713; Acock v. Halsey, 90 Cal. 215, 27 Pac. 193; Thompson v. Spray, (1884) 4 Pac. 418; Robinson v. Placerville, etc., R. Co., 65 Cal. 263, 3 Pac. 878; Brannan v. Paty, 58 Cal. 330.

Georgia.— Frierson v. Alexander, 74 Ga. 666.

Minnesota.— Koerper v. St. Paul, etc., R. Co., 40 Minn. 132, 41 N. W. 656; Griffin v. Jorgenson, 22 Minn. 92.

Montana.— State v. Lindsay, 24 Mont. 352, 61 Pac. 883.

Nebraska.—Adams v. Osgood, 55 Nebr. 766, 76 N. W. 446.

New York.— Price v. Price, 21 N. Y. App. Div. 597, 47 N. Y. Suppl. 772; Geenia v. Keah, 66 Barb. 245; Exstein v. Robertson, 1 Silv. Supreme 169, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 429, 17 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 23.

North Carolina.— Tate v. Phillips, 77 N. C. 126.

Oregon.— Bailey v. Wilson, 34 Oreg. 186, 55 Pac. 973.

South Dakota.— Axiom Min. Co. v. Little, 6 S. D. 438, 61 N. W. 441.

Texas.— White v. Williams, 13 Tex. 258; Peters v. Chandler, (Civ. App. 1899) 51 S. W. 281; Akard v. Western Mortg., etc., Co., (Civ. App. 1896) 34 S. W. 139; Midkiff v. Stephens, 9 Tex. Civ. App. 411, 29 S. W. 54; Giraud v. Ellis, (Civ. App. 1894) 24 S. W. 967.

Washington.— Washington Nat. Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Saunders, 24 Wash. 321, 64 Pac. 546.

United States.—McCabe v. Southern R. Co., 107 Fed. 213; Callahan v. Hicks, 90 Fed. 539.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 33.

Answer asking affirmative relief illustrated. — Where foreclosure proceedings are begun and defendants answer that the mortgage covers their homestead and ask to have it canceled as a cloud on their title, they ask affirmative relief, and the cause cannot be dismissed without their consent. Akard v. Western Mortg., etc., Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1896) 34 S. W. 139.

Demand insufficient to preclude right to nonsuit.— The maker of a note paid it to an indorsee, but did not take it up nor take a receipt. Subsequently such indorsee sued the maker and certain indorsers to which the maker pleaded payment and demanded that the note be delivered for cancellation. It was held that notwithstanding such demand plaintiff could take judgment of nonsuit as to the maker and proceed against the indorsers. Mercantile Bank v. Pettigrew, 74 N. C. 326.

46. Rodgers v. Parker, 136 Cal. 313, 68 Pac. 975; Islais, etc., Water Co. v. Allen, 132 Cal. 432, 64 Pac. 713; Akard v. Western Mortg., etc., Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1896) 34 S. W. 139.

47. Wilborn v. Elmendorf, (Tex. Civ. App. 1897) 40 S. W. 1059.

48. New York v. Lynch, 1 N. Y. App. Div. 544, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 467.

49. California.— Wood v. Jordan, 125 Cal. 263, 57 Pac. 998; Hinkel v. Donohue, 90 Cal. 389, 27 Pac. 301; Clark v. Hundley, 65 Cal. 96, 3 Pac. 131; Moyle v. Porter, 51 Cal. 639; People v. Pratt, 28 Cal. 166, 87 Am. Dec. 110; Hancock Ditch Co. v. Bradford, 13 Cal. 637.

Colorado.— Denver, etc., R. Co. v. Cobley, upon plaintiff's application and upon sufficient cause shown, dismiss an action, although defendant has made a counter-claim or demanded affirmative relief in his answer.[50] In other jurisdictions the right to dismiss is in no way affected by the filing of a plea of set-off or counter-claim,[51] even though it exceeds the amount 9 Colo. 152, 10 Pac. 669; Long v. McGowan, 16 Colo. App. 540, 66 Pac. 1076.

Georgia.— Jackson v. Roane, 96 Ga. 40, 23 S. E. 118; Scruggs v. Gibson, 45 Ga. 509.

Illinois.— Barker v. Barth, 192 Ill. 460, 61 N. E. 388; East St. Louis v. Thomas, 102 Ill. 453; U. S. Sav. Inst. v. Brockschmidt, 72 Ill. 370; Bingham v. Spruill, 84 Ill. App. 218; Butler v. Randall, 25 Ill. App. 586; Western Union Tel. Co. v. Horack, 9 Ill. App. 309.

Maine.— Dyer v. Morris, 68 Me. 472.

Massachusetts.— Means v. Welles, 12 Metc. 356; Cummings v. Pruden, 11 Mass. 206.

Michigan.— Merchants' Bank v. Schulenberg, 54 Mich. 49, 19 N. W. 741.

Minnesota.— Griffin v. Jorgenson, 22 Minn. 92.

New York.— Iselin v. Smith, 62 Hun 221, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 683; Gwathney v. Cheatham, 21 Hun 576; Van Allen v. Schermerhorn, 14 How. Pr. 287.

North Carolina.— Rumbough v. Young, 119 N. C. 567, 26 S. E. 143; Union Bank v. Oxford, 116 N. C. 339, 21 S. E. 410; Wilkins v. Suttle, 114 N. C. 550, 19 S. E. 606; Pass v. Pass, 109 N. C. 484, 13 S. E. 908; Piedmont Mfg. Co. v. Buxton, 105 N. C. 74, 10 S. E. 264; Gatewood v. Leak, 99 N. C. 363, 6 S. E. 706; McNeill v. Lawton, 97 N. C. 16, 1 S. E. 493; People's Bank v. Stewart, 93 N. C. 402; Lee v. Eure, 93 N. C. 5; Purnell v. Vaughan, 80 N. C. 46; Francis v. Edwards, 77 N. C. 271; McKesson v. Mendenhall, 64 N. C. 502. Compare Sydnor Pump, etc., Co. v. Rocky Mount Ice Co., 125 N. C. 80, 34 S. E. 198, which seems to limit the rule to cases where the counter-claim grows out of the same cause of action stated in the complaint.

Oregon.— Ferguson v. Ingle, 38 Oreg. 43, 62 Pac. 760; Dove v. Hayden, 5 Oreg. 500.

Tennessee.— Boone v. Bush, 91 Tenn. 29, 17 S. W. 792; Galbraith v. East Tennessee, etc., R. Co., 11 Heisk. 169; Riley v. Carter, 3 Humphr. 230.

Texas.— Hoodless v. Winter, 80 Tex. 638, 16 S. W. 427; Block v. Weiller, 61 Tex. 692; Wetsell v. Hopkins, (Civ. App. 1902) 67 S. W. 1075; Williams v. Williams, (Civ. App. 1896) 38 S. W. 261.

Utah.— Flygare v. Maloney, 12 Utah 497, 23 Pac. 879.

Wisconsin.— Grifnon v. Black, 76 Wis. 674, 45 N. W. 122, 938; Damp v. Dane, 33 Wis. 430; McLeod v. Bertschy, 32 Wis. 205, 33 Wis. 176, 34 Wis. 244, 14 Am. Rep. 755.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit." § 34.

Effect upon defendant's motion to dismiss. — If when plaintiff rests he has failed to prove his cause of action, defendant may move to dismiss notwithstanding that he may have set up a counter-claim in his answer. Slocum v. Minneapolis Millers Assoc., 33 Minn. 438, 23 N. W. 862.

50. Bingham v. Spruill, 84 Ill. App. 218; Mathews v. Taaffe, 44 Minn. 400, 46 N. W. 850.

In New York it is held that a discontinuance may be allowed in the discretion of the court upon payment of costs, if to do so will not jeopardize the counter-claim. Matter of Lasak, 131 N. Y. 624, 30 N. E. 112 [affirming 57 Hun 417, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 844]; Janssen v. Whitlock, 58 N. Y. App. Div. 367, 68 N. Y. Suppl. 1086; Yellow Pine Co. v. Lehigh Valley Creosoting Co., 52 N. Y. App. Div. 51, 52 N. Y. Suppl. 281; Walsh v. Walsh, 33 N. Y. App. Div. 579, 53 N. Y. Suppl. 881; Albany Brass, etc., Co. v. Hoffman, 30 N. Y. App. Div. 76, 51 N. Y. Suppl. 779; Iselin v. Smith, 62 Hun 221, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 683; Gwathney v. Cheatham, 21 Hun 576; Geenia v. Keah, 66 Barb. 245; Wilder v. Boynton, 63 Barb. 547; Livermore v. Bainbridge, 61 Barb. 358, 43 How. Pr. 272 [affirming 42 How. Pr. 53, and affirmed in 49 N. Y. 125]; Seaboard, etc., R. Co. v. Ward, 18 Barb. 595, 1 Abb. Pr. 46; Cockle v. Underwood, 3 Duer 676, 1 Abb. Pr. 1, 12 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 283; Oaksmith v. Southerland, 1 Hilt. 265, 4 Abb. Pr. 15; Wanamaker v. Megraw, 27 Misc. 591. 59 N. Y. Suppl. 81, 6 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 298; Washington Glass Co. v. Benjamin, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 135; Felix v. Vanslooten, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 844; Cohn v. Anathan, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 97, 16 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 178; Parker v. Commercial Telegram Co., 3 N. Y. St. 174; Tubbs v. Hall, 12 Abb. Pr. N. S. 237; Pacific Mail Steamship Co. v. Lueling, 7 Abb. Pr. N. S. 37; Livermore v. Berdell, 60 How. Pr. 308; Van Alen v. Schermerhorn, 14 How. Pr. 287; Rees v. Van Patten, 13 How. Pr. 258 [following Seaboard, etc., R. Co. v. Ward, 18 Barb. 595. and dissenting from Cockle v. Underwood, 3 Duer 676]; In re Bainbridge, 5 Alb. L. J. 104.

51. Connecticut.— Anderson v. Gregory, 43 Conn. 61.

Florida.— Clarke v. Wall, 5 Fla. 476; Buffington v. Quackenboss, 5 Fla. 196.

Kansas.— Amos v. Humboldt Loan Assoc., 21 Kan. 474.

Kentucky.— Northwestern Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Barbour, 95 Ky. 7, 23 S. W. 584, 15 Ky. L. Rep. 394; McCann v. Boyers, 8 B. Mon. 285.

Pennsylvania.— McCreedy v. Fey, 7 Watts 496.

South Carolina.— Branham v. Brown, 1 Bailey 262; Usher v. Sibley, 2 Brev. 32. And see cases in the two following notes.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit." § 34.

"From time immemorial such actions have been regarded as under the control of plain-sued for.[52] But the dismissal is only operative as to plaintiff's action, and defendant is still in court upon his counter-claim or set-off,[53] and may proceed to a trial thereof just as if he had brought an independent suit thereon.[54]

c. Cross Complaint or Reconventional Demand. Where defendant files a cross complaint or pleads in reconvention, plaintiff cannot dismiss, discontinue, or take a nonsuit over the opposition of defendant, so as to defeat the claim of the latter.[55] Defendant is entitled to have the case retained for the trial of his tiff, without reference to any pleas that may have been filed, and he has been allowed to withdraw them or suffer a nonsuit in them precisely as in other cases. 1 Swift Digest, 594; Homer v. Brown, 16 How. (U. S.) 354, 14 L. ed. 970." Anderson v. Gregory, 43 Conn. 61, 64.

52. Fowler v. Lawson, 15 Ark. 148; Fink v. Bruihl, 47 Mo. 173; Shannon v. Truefit, 1 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 248.

53. Indiana.— Egolf v. Bryant, 63 Ind. 365.

Iowa.— Burlington, etc., R. Co. v. Sater, 1 Iowa 421.

Kansas.— Amos v. Humboldt Loan Assoc., 21 Kan. 474.

Missouri.— Heman v. McNamara, 77 Mo. App. 1.

Ohio.— Smith v. Minchell, 6 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 1106, 10 Am. L. Rec. 484.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 34.

54. Indiana.— Tabor v. Mackkee, 58 Ind. 290.

Kentucky.— Brashears v. Letcher County Ct., 41 S. W. 22, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 478.

Ohio.—Quebec Bank v. Weyand, 30 Ohio St. 126; Smith v. Minchell, 6 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 1106, 10 Am. L. Rec. 484, 6 Cinc. L. Bul. 834.

Oklahoma.— Wyman v. Herard, 9 Okla. 35, 59 Pac. 1009.

United States.— Meyer v. Gateus, 4 Fed. 35, 2 Flipp. 559.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 34.

55. Arizona.—Hawke v. Wentworth, (1895) 39 Pac. 809.

Arkansas.— Pickett v. Ferguson, 45 Ark. 177, 55 Am. Rep. 545; Allen v. Allen, 14 Ark. 666.

Indiana.— Watts v. Sweeney, 127 Ind. 116, 26 N. E. 680, 22 Am. St. Rep. 618.

Iowa.— Russell v. Lamb, 82 Iowa 558, 48 N. W. 939; Worrell v. Wade, 17 Iowa 96.

Kentucky.— Terry v. Swinford, 41 S. W. 553, 19 Ky. L. Rep. 712.

Louisiana.— Davis v. Young, 35 La. Ann. 739; Smith v. Amacker, 15 La. Ann. 299; Barrow v. Robichaux, 15 La. Ann. 70; Hale v. Saunders, 14 La. Ann. 643; Donnell v. Parrott, 10 La. Ann. 703; Donovan v. Owen, 10 La. Ann. 463; Robertson v. Travis, 5 La. Ann. 401; Ludwig v. Kohlman, 5 La. Ann. 298; Smalley v. Lawrence, 9 Rob. 210; Coxe v. Downs, 9 Rob. 133; Gouron's Succession, 7 Rob. 422; McDonough v. Copeland, 9 La. 308; McDonough v. Hart, 3 La. 457; Adams v. Lewis, 7 Mart. N. S. 400; Lanusse v. Pimpienella, 4 Mart. N. S. 439.

Ohio.— Brinkerhoff v. Smith, 57 Ohio St. 610, 49 N. E. 1025.

Tennessee.— Partee v. Goldberg, 101 Tenn. 664, 49 S. W. 758.

Texas.— Brown v. Pfouts, 53 Tex. 221; Slaughter v. Hailey, 21 Tex. 537; McCoy v. Jones, 9 Tex. 363; Bradford v. Hamilton, 7 Tex. 55; Egery v. Power, 5 Tex. 501; Thomas v. Hill, 3 Tex. 270; Smith v. Wilson, 18 Tex. Civ. App. 24, 44 S. W. 556.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 36.

Reason for rule.— "The principle of the rule that the plaintiff cannot discontinue after the defendant has pleaded in reconvention, is, that as to the matter pleaded in reconvention, the defendant is the actor or plaintiff. This principle equally applies to every case in which the defendant sets forth matter in his answer which, if true, entitles him to have, and upon which he seeks, judgment against the plaintiff, and of course embraces the present case. Where the answer contains matter which constitutes a cause of action against the plaintiff, its effect upon his right to dismiss his suit must be the same, whether it be called a plea in reconvention or a petition in the nature of a cross action, or by whatever other designation; for the defendant, as to the cause of action set forth in his answer, is to be regarded as plaintiff." Short v. Hepburn, 89 Tex. 622, 623, 35 S. W. 1056 [quoting Bradford v. Hamilton, 7 Tex. 55], opinion of Brown, A. J.

In California a judgment of dismissal may be entered by the clerk of a court, notwithstanding a cross complaint has been filed, if the cross complaint does not set up a counter-claim. James v. Center, 53 Cal. 31. And when a cross complaint has been stricken from an answer, leaving therein matters of defense only, plaintiff may dismiss the case at any time before the trial on the payment of costs. Thompson v. Spraig, 66 Cal. 350, 5 Pac. 506.

Waiver of objection.—A motion to set aside a voluntary nonsuit filed by a defendant's attorney, who had filed before nonsuit a plea in reconvention, should not prevail when no sufficient reason is shown in the motion why they were not present and did not object when the nonsuit was applied for, and where the motion fails to show that there was merit in the plea in reconvention. Brown v. Pfouts, 53 Tex. 221.

Cross complaint against co-defendant.— A dismissal of a petition will not operate as a dismissal of a cross complaint by a defendant against a co-defendant. Spearing v. Chambers, 25 Iowa 99; King v. Thorp, 21 Iowa 67; Worrell v. Wade, 17 Iowa 96. Contra, Holzner v. Holzner, 48 Ind. 151.

demand,[56] and it has been held that this is so even though the matter in reconvention be not well pleaded.[57] Where the motion to dismiss is made before the cross complaint is filed it should be granted.[58]

3. Rights of Interveners and Third Persons. In accordance with the general rule that none but parties to suits will be permitted to interfere with or control the conduct of the same a stranger will not be allowed to interfere to prevent a dismissal of the case.[59] The right of a plaintiff to discontinue or dismiss may, however, be lost when his rights have been seized on execution by an intervener.[60] Even though plaintiffs are nonsuited, interveners in an action are entitled to proceed therewith and plaintiffs will be bound by the result of the suit as privies thereto.[61] Where mortgaged premises in the hands of a subsequent grantee are subject to the whole of the mortgage debt, and part of it is due to the mortgagor because the mortgage has been partly paid by him, and in foreclosure the equities of the parties have been so adjusted, the mortgagee, complainant, is not authorized, upon receiving the amount payable to him, to consent to the discontinuance of the suit, while the sum payable to the mortgagor remains unpaid.[62]

E. Dismissal as to Part of Cause of Action. In actions at law plaintiff may withdraw, dismiss, or enter a nolle prosequi as to a part of his demand or cause of action, where such action does not prejudice the rights of other parties and is taken at the proper time;[63] and when certain paragraphs of his complaint are dismissed the complaint stands as though they had never constituted a part thereof.[64] In chancery it has been held, however, that a complainant cannot dis-

56. Russell v. Lamb, 82 Iowa 558, 48 N. W. 939; Barrow v. Robichaux, 15 La. Ann. 70; Short v. Hepburn, 89 Tex. 622, 35 S. W. 1056; Schmidt v. Talbert, 74 Tex. 451, 12 S. W. 284; Brown v. Pfouts, 53 Tex. 221; Stacy v. Campbell, (Tex. Civ. App. 1898) 45 S. W. 759; Burford v. Burford, (Tex. Civ. App. 1897) 40 S. W. 602.

57. Cunningham v. Wheatly, 21 Tex. 184.

58. McClellan v. Tootle, 3 Indian Terr. 325, 58 S. W. 555.

59. Gay v. Orcutt, 169 Mo. 400, 69 S. W. 295.

60. State v. Rost, 48 La. Ann. 455, 19 So. 256; Baum's Succession, 11 Rob. (La.) 314.

Where defendant in attachment gave a bond for release of the property, the fact that the third persons intervened claiming privileges in the property does not deprive plaintiff of the right to dismiss at any time before submission to the jury. State v. Rost, 48 La. Ann. 455, 19 So. 256.

Where in an attachment interveners claim the property and seek to bond it, the intervention may stand, although the motion to bond is dismissed, for the interveners may on the trial be able to establish their rights. Letchford v. Jacobs, 17 La. Ann. 79.

61. McKesson v. Mendenhall, 64 N. C. 502.

62. Ferris v. Crawford, 2 Den. (N. Y.) 595.

63. Indiana.—Truitt v. Truitt, 37 Ind. 514.

Iowa.— Cooper v. Wilson, 71 Iowa 204, 32 N. W. 261; Ballinger v. Davis, 29 Iowa 512; Campbell v. Ayres, 9 Iowa 108.

Kentucky.— Thomas v. Tanner, 6 T. B. Mon. 52; Hatcher v. Fowler, 1 Bibb 337.

Massachusetts.— Hall v. Briggs, 18 Pick. 503; Somes v. Skinner, 16 Mass. 348.

Minnesota.— Estes v. Farnham, 11 Minn. 423.

Mississippi.— Shannon v. Rester, 69 Miss. 238, 13 So. 587.

Missouri.— Holliway v. Holliway, 77 Mo. 392.

North Carolina.— Grant v. Burgwyn, 84 N. C. 560.

Pennsylvania.— Steelman v. Sites, 35 Pa. St. 216.

Texas.— Throckmorton v. Davenport, 55 Tex. 236; Industrial Lumber Co. v. Texas Pine Land Assoc., 31 Tex. Civ. App. 375, 72 S. W. 875.

United States.—Hughes v. Moore, 7 Cranch 176, 3 L. ed. 307.

Canada.— Salvas v. Guevremont, 4 Rev. Leg. 233.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 4.

After a judgment on demurrer to the whole declaration and assessment of damages plaintiff cannot enter a nolle prosequi as to one of the counts in the declaration and take judgment on the others, but should obtain leave of the court for that purpose before awarding the writ of inquiry, one of the counts being held bad. Backus v. Richardson, 5 Johns. (N. Y.) 476.

After two actions are merged by order of interpleader it is too late to discontinue one of the original actions. Kelly v. Collins, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 436.

Where general money counts are joined with one on a promissory note in the same declaration, plaintiff cannot have his damages assessed by the clerk without first entering a nolle prosequi as to the former, but defendant cannot compel plaintiff to enter a nolle prosequi, this being at his option. Beard v. Van Wickle, 3 Cow. (N. Y.) 335 [citing Burr v. Waterman, 2 Cow. (N. Y.) 36 note f.].

64. Reynolds v. Linard, 95 Ind. 48; Truitt v. Truitt, 37 Ind. 514.

miss his own bill as to part of the relief prayed and proceed with the residue, but must apply to amend.[65]

F. Dismissal or Discontinuance as to One or More Co-Defendants — 1. In Actions Ex Delicto. Actions of tort being in their nature joint and several, plaintiff in such an action may at any stage of the cause enter a nolle prosequi, dismiss, or discontinue as to a part of the defendants without discharging the rest.[66]

2. In Actions Ex Contractu — a. In General. The general rule is well settled that in actions on joint contracts or obligations, a dismissal, discontinuance, or nonsuit as to one or more defendants served with process operates as a dismissal, discontinuance, or nonsuit as to all.[67]

A count as to which a nolle prosequi is entered is considered as stricken out of the declaration, except so far as referred to in other counts. Brown v. Feeter, 7 Wend. (N. Y.) 301.

Nolle prosequi as admission of truth of plea.— Where a plaintiff declares in one count upon a promissory note, and in another for money paid, and after a plea of actio non accrevit infra, etc., to the count upon the note, enters a nolle prosequi as to such count, such discontinuance is no admission of the truth of the plea; its only effect is to strike the count and the pleadings applicable to it from the record. Keeler v. Bartine, 12 Wend. (N. Y.) 110.

Withdrawal of evidence as to paragraph dismissed.— When a complaint is in two paragraphs plaintiff may upon the trial dismiss as to one of the paragraphs and withdraw all evidence which concerns only that paragraph, but he cannot without consent withdraw any evidence which concerns the paragraph not dismissed. Reynolds v. Linard, 95 Ind. 48.

The entry of a nolle prosequi upon a second count will not so operate as to strike out the breach of the contract at the close of a declaration, even if that is to be considered as attached to that count instead of applying equally to both. Moore v. Bradford, 3 Ala. 550.

65. Camden, etc., R. Co. v. Stewart, 19 N. J. Eq. 69.

66. Alabama.— Montgomery Gas Light Co. v. Montgomery, etc., R. Co., 86 Ala. 372, 5 So. 735.

Arkansas.— Criner v. Brewer, 13 Ark. 225.

Illinois.— Lasher v. Littell, 202 Ill. 551, 67 N. E. 372 [affirming 104 Ill. App. 211].

Kentucky.— Prince v. Flynn, 2 Litt. 240; Riley v. McGee, 1 A. K. Marsh. 432; Shields v. Perkins, 2 Bibb 227.

Maryland.— Gusdorff v. Duncan, 94 Md. 160, 50 Atl. 574.

Massachusetts.— Munroe v. Carlisle, 176 Mass. 199, 57 N. E. 332.

Michigan.— Thomas v. Hoffman, 22 Mich. 45.

Mississippi.— Hardy v. Thomas, 23 Miss. 544, 57 Am. Dec. 152.

New Jersey.— Allen v. Craig, 13 N. J. L. 294.

New York.— Dyett v. Hyman, 129 N. Y. 351, 29 N. E. 261, 26 Am. St. Rep. 533 [affirming 13 N. Y. Suppl. 895]; Popham v. Twenty-third St. R. Co., 48 N. Y. Super. Ct. 229; Hall v. Rochester, 3 Cow. 374.

Pennsylvania.— Wiest v. Electric Traction Co., 200 Pa. St. 148, 49 Atl. 391, 58 L. R. A. 666; Arundel v. Springer, 71 Pa. St. 398; Breidenthal v. McKenna, 14 Pa. St. 160; Weakly v. Royer, 3 Watts 460.

South Carolina.— Pearson v. Stroman, 1 Nott & M. 354.

Texas.— Lucas v. Johnson, (Civ. App. 1901) 64 S. W. 823.

Vermont.— Davenport v. Newton, 71 Vt. 11, 42 Atl. 1087.

West Virginia.— Porter v. Mack, 50 W. Va. 581, 40 S. E. 459; Bloss v. Plymale, 3 W. Va. 393, 100 Am. Dec. 752.

United States.— U. S. v. Linn, 1 How. 104, 11 L. ed. 64; Minor v. Alexandria Mechanics Bank, 1 Pet. 46, 7 L. ed. 47; Deloach v. Dixon, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,775, Hempst. 428.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 46.

The reason is said to be that the action is in its nature joint and several; and as plaintiff might originally have commenced his suit against one only, and proceeded to judgment and execution, so he might even after verdict against several elect to take his damages against either of them. Deloach v. Dixon, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,775, Hempst. 428.

67. Alabama.—Jones v. Engelhardt, 78 Ala. 505; Kendall v. Lassiter, 68 Ala. 181; Masterson v. Gibson, 56 Ala. 56; Fennell v. Masterson, 43 Ala. 268; Whitaker v. Van Horn, 43 Ala. 255; Duncan v. Hargrobe, 22 Ala. 150; Norwood v. Rossiter, 3 Ala. 134; Sadler v. Houston, 5 Stew. & P. 205; Adkins v. Allen, 1 Stew. 130.

Arkansas.—Pleasants v. State Bank, 8 Ark. 456; Ashley v. Hyde, 6 Ark. 92, 42 Am. Dec. 685; Sillivant v. Reardon, 5 Ark. 140; Ashley v. Hyde, 6 Ark. 92, 42 Am. Dec. 685; Hanly v. Real Estate Bank, 4 Ark. 598; Beebe v. Real Estate Bank, 4 Ark. 546; Frazier v. State Bank, 4 Ark. 509.

District of Columbia.— Linn v. Hoover, 6 Mackey 298.

Florida.— Hale v. Crowell, 2 Fla. 534, 50 Am. Dec. 301.

Illinois.— Tolman v. Spaulding, 4 Ill. 13.

Indiana.— Cox v. Davis, 16 Ind. 378; Britton v. Wheeler, 8 Blackf. 31; Klinger v. Brownell, 5 Blackf. 332.

Kentucky.— Hickman v. Anderson, 2 Dana 223; Coleman v. Edwards, 2 Bibb 595.

Michigan.— Fay v. Jenks, 78 Mich. 312, 44 N. W. 380; Munn v. Haynes, 46 Mich. 140, 9 N. W. 136; Anderson v. Robinson, 38 Mich. 407; Ballou v. Hill, 23 Mich. 60.

b. Where Defendant Pleads Matter in Personal Discharge. The rule just stated does not prevent the entry of a nolle prosequi as to a defendant who makes a defense personal to himself.[68] Plaintiff may enter a nolle prosequi as to a defendant who pleads infancy or coverture,[69] or matter in discharge aris-

New York.— Niles v. Battershall, 26 How. Pr. 93; Hall v. Rochester, 3 Cow. 374. And see Bauer v. Parker, 82 N. Y. App. Div. 289, 81 N. Y. Suppl. 995.

South Carolina.— Karck v. Avinger, 3 Hill 215.

Tennessee.— Holland v. Harris, 2 Sneed 68; State Bank v. Cowan, 11 Humphr. 126.

United States.— U. S. v. Linn, 1 How. 104, 11 L. ed. 64; Walker v. Windsor Nat. Bank, 56 Fed. 76, 5 C. C. A. 421.

Canada.—Canada Commercial Bank v. Cameron, 17 U. C. Q. B. 237.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 47.

Actions on promissory notes — Statutory changes.— Under the statutes of Kansas any one or more or all of the several makers of a promissory note may be sued thereon in one action, although the note may be joint, or joint and several; and if all are sued in one action, plaintiff may dismiss his action as to any one or more of the defendants, and proceed with his action as against the other defendants. Whittenhall v. Korber, 12 Kan. 618. In an action under the Arkansas statutes against several parties to a bill, a discontinuance as to one defendant served with process is a discontinuance as to all. Hanly v. Real Estate Bank, 4 Ark. 598; Beebe v. Real Estate Bank, 4 Ark. 526. The Mississippi statute authorizing a joint action against the makers and indorsers of negotiable paper does not enable a plaintiff to discontinue as to a maker after process served, and proceed to judgment against the indorsers. Smith v. Crutcher, 27 Miss. 455; Boush v. Smith, 2 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 512; Brunson v. Lea, 5 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 149; Wilkinson v. Tiffany, 5 How. (Miss.) 411. But he may "discontinue against any one or more of the indorsers or sureties that he may sue in any joint action before verdict, on payment of the costs that may have accrued, by joining said defendant in such suit." Wilkinson v. Tiffany, 5 How. (Miss.) 411; Vickery v. Rester, 4 How. (Miss.) 293. And see Kirk v. Seawell, 2 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 571. In Missouri in a suit against two or more on a joint note plaintiff may enter a nolle prosequi as to one without discharging the others. Brown v. Pearson, 8 Mo. 159. In Tennessee where an action is instituted against the maker and indorser jointly, a dismissal as to the maker dismisses the suit as to both. Holland v. Harris, 2 Sneed 68; State Bank v. Cowan, 11 Humphr. 126. And in Texas one bringing an action against the maker and indorser of a note cannot dismiss as to the former and proceed against the latter, unless the former is insolvent or resides outside the state or in an unorganized county. Rutherford v. Harris, 22 Tex. 166; Moore v. Janes, 6 Tex. 227. See also Groesbeck v. Campbell, 38 Tex. 36; Unger v. Anderson, 37 Tex. 550.

Sufficient dismissal as to one defendant.— An announcement by complainants in a suit for damages on a contract for sale of personalty that no personal judgment is sought against one of the defendants is a dismissal of the bill as to her, no other ground of relief being shown against her. Dorris v. King, (Tenn. Ch. App. 1899) 54 S. W. 683.

68. Alabama.—Jones v. Engelhardt, 78 Ala. 505.

Illinois.— Tolman v. Spaulding, 4 Ill. 13.

Indiana.— Britton v. Wheeler, 8 Blackf. 31.

Iowa.— Quigley v. Merritt, 4 Iowa 475.

Kentucky.— Shields v. Perkins, 2 Bibb 227.

New York.— Judson v. Gibbons, 5 Wend. 224.

Virginia.— Muse v. Farmers' Bank, 27 Gratt. 252.

West Virginia.— Carlon v. Ruffner, 12 W. Va. 297.

United States.— U. S. v. Linn, 1 How. 104, 11 L. ed. 64; Amis v. Smith, 16 Pet. 303, 10 L. ed. 973.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 47.

Effect of dismissal as to one in reference to amendments.— The dismissal as to one, of a suit brought against two defendants, upon a joint demand against both, does not alter the complaint or change the character of the action; and hence even after such dismissal it will be improper to allow plaintiff to amend his complaint by inserting a new count upon a separate demand against one of the defendants. Miller v. Northern Bank, 34 Miss. 412.

69. Alabama.— Mock v. Walker, 42 Ala. 668; Keebles v. Ford, 5 Ala. 183; Ivey v. Gamble, 7 Port. 545.

Indiana.— Kirby v. Cannon, 9 Ind. 371.

Massachusetts.— Woodward v. Newhall, 1 Pick. 500.

Michigan.— Munn v. Haynes, 46 Mich. 140, 9 N. W. 136.

New Jersey.—Dacosta v. Davis, 24 N. J. L. 319.

New York.— Fowler v. Elliget, 1 Sheld. 427; Butler v. Morris, 1 Bosw. 329; Waterbury Leather Mfg. Co. v. Krause, 9 Abb. Pr. 175 note; Wellington v. Classon, 18 How. Pr. 10; Cuyler v. Coats, 10 How. Pr. 141; Pell v. Pell, 20 Johns. 126; Hartness v. Thompson, 5 Johns. 160.

Pennsylvania.— Weist v. Jacoby, 62 Pa. St. 110; Beidman v. Vanderslice, 2 Rawle 334; Grace v. Kurts, 1 Phila. 105.

South Carolina.— Alexander v. Meroney, 30 S. C. 335, 9 S. E. 266.

Texas.— Mitchell v. Mitchell, 84 Tex. 303, 19 S. W. 477; Shipman v. Allee, 29 Tex. 17.

Vermont.— Allen v. Butler, 9 Vt. 122.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 55.

Misjoinder of feme covert is not cured by ing subsequent to the contract,[70] such as discharge in bankruptcy,[71] or against one who pleads the statute of limitations,[72] or a release on payment of his proportion of the debt,[73] and may then proceed against the others.[74]

c. Joint and Several Contracts. Although the contrary rule prevails in some jurisdictions,[75] the weight of authority holds that in an action against several defendants on a joint and several contract plaintiff may dismiss, discontinue, or enter a nolle prosequi against one or more of the defendants and proceed to judgment against the others.[76]

3. Parties Made Defendants by Mistake. Although it has been held that a plaintiff cannot avoid the effect of a misjoinder of defendants by entering a nolle prosequi as to defendant improperly joined, but must discontinue and commence a new action,[77] yet the weight of authority is to the effect that if in the course of an action ex contractu it appears that any defendant is not liable, such defendant may be discharged on proper terms and the action as to the others proceed;[78] at least where plaintiff can show sufficient excuse for the mistake.[79]

4. Non-Resident Defendants. Where some of the defendants are non-residents nolle prosequi as to her. McLean v. Griswold, 22 Ill. 218.

70. Ivey v. Gamble, 7 Port. (Ala.) 545; Farr v. Cate, 58 N. H. 367; Ashworth v. Wrigley, 1 Hall (N. Y.) 145; Hellman v. Licher, 9 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 288; Camp v. Gifford, 7 Hill (N. Y.) 169; Park v. Moore, 4 Hill (N. Y.) 592; Arden v. Merritt, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 91.

Right of plaintiff to retain bankrupt defendant.— In White v. Francis, 5 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 323, 4 Am. L. Rec. 501, three makers of a joint promissory note were all sued thereon by an indorsee in a state court, and all were served with summons. Two of them became bankrupt and received their certificate of discharge in bankruptcy. They moved the court under the provisions of the bankrupt law to stay further proceedings thereon. It was held that the motion should be denied, since no judgment could be rendered against the solvent defendants without the others remaining parties; the remedy being a stay of proceedings after judgment.

71. Illinois.— Smith v. Lozano, 1 Ill. App. 171.

Maine.— West v. Furbish, 67 Me. 17.

Michigan.— Munn v. Haynes, 46 Mich. 140, 9 N. W. 136.

New York.— Smith v. Skinner, 1 How. Pr. 122; Sandford v. Sinclair, 6 Hill 248.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Nesbitt, 2 Pa. St. 16.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit." § 55.

72. Mock v. Walker, 42 Ala. 668; Munn v. Haynes, 46 Mich. 140, 9 N. W. 136.

73. Burke v. Noble, 48 Pa. St. 168.

74. Connerly v. Planters', etc., Ins. Co., 66 Ala. 432; Gayle v. Bishop, 14 Ala. 552; Hallett v. Allaire, Minor (Ala.) 360. And see cases cited in preceding notes.

75. Keebles v. Ford, 5 Ala. 183; Gayle v. Agee, 4 Port. (Ala.) 507; Sadler v. Houston, 5 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 205; Purefoy v. Hill, 18 Ark. 361. And see Dean v. Whiton, 16 Hun (N. Y.) 203, holding that where a servant of a corporation seeks to enforce the joint and several liability imposed upon its stockholders by section 18 of chapter 40 of the laws of 1848, he must sue each stock-holder separately or join them all in one action, and that after bringing an action, to which all the stock-holders are made parties defendants, he cannot thereafter discontinue as to one defendant without the consent of the others.

76. Illinois.— Massey v. Farmers' Nat. Bank, 104 Ill. 327; Smith v. Lozano, 1 Ill. App. 171.

Indiana.— Maiden v. Webster, 30 Ind. 317.

Iowa.— Young v. Brown, 10 Iowa 537.

Mississippi.— Montgomery v. Sinking Fund Com'rs, 7 How. 13; Nevitt v. Natchez Steam Packet Co., 5 How. 196; Lynch v. Sinking Fund Com'rs, 4 How. 377; Peyton v. Scott, 2 How. 870; Lyons v. Jackson, 1 How. 474.

South Carolina.— Bomar v. Williams, 2 Rich. 12; Fitch v. Heise, Cheves 185; Karck v. Avinger, 3 Hill 215.

Tennessee.—Garrison v. Hollins, 2 Lea 684; Link v. Allen, 1 Heisk. 318; Lowry v. Hardwick, 4 Humphr. 188.

Texas.— Anderson v. Carter, 29 Tex. Civ. App. 240, 69 S. W. 78. Compare Horton v. Wheeler, 17 Tex. 52.

Virginia.— Brown v. Belches, 1 Wash. 9.

United States.— Amis v. Smith, 16 Pet. 303, 10 L. ed. 973; Smith v. Clapp, 15 Pet. 125, 10 L. ed. 684; Minor v. Mechanics Bank, 1 Pet. 46, 7 L. ed. 47.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 48.

77. Page v. De Leuw, 58 Ill. 85.

78. Massachusetts.— Turner v. Bissell, 14 Pick. 192.

New Hampshire.— Essex Bank v. Rix, 10 N. H. 201.

New York.— Marks v. Bard, 1 Abb. Pr. 63.

Pennsylvania.— Norman v. Hope, 2 Miles 142.

West Virginia.— Carlon v. Ruffner, 12 W. Va. 297.

And compare Hagebush v. Ragland, 78 Ill. 40.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 50.

79. Layman v. New York Bank Note Co., 20 N. Y. Suppl. 431, where it was held that of the county in which the action is brought a dismissal as to them does not divest the court of jurisdiction as to the others.[80] And where one of several joint defendants is a non-resident of the state so that he cannot be served, plaintiff may discontinue or dismiss as to him and have judgment against those who are within the jurisdiction.[81]

5. ABSCONDING DEFENDANTS. Even though defendant absconds and the object of the suit is thereby defeated, complainant cannot dismiss his bill without costs.[82]

6. ON DISCLAIMER. Where a party equally entitled with complainant to a legacy claimed by the bill is made a defendant and by his answer disclaims any claim for such legacy the bill as to him should be dismissed.[83]

7. DEFENDANTS NOT SERVED. A plaintiff may dismiss as to parties named as defendants but who have not been served with process.[84]

8. JOINT EXECUTORS, ADMINISTRATORS, AND TRUSTEES. Where there are several joint administrators residing in the state all must be joined as defendants and served with process, and a discontinuance as to one upon whom process is not in an action commenced against a wrong defendant plaintiff's motion for leave to discontinue without costs will be denied, where he shows no sufficient excuse for the mistake, and where defendant has been put to the expense of a trial.

80. Robertson v. Thompson, 3 Ind. 190.

Discontinuance as to resident maker of note. — Where the payee of a joint note, the makers of which reside in different counties, sues them all in a joint action in the county where one of them lived, and by writs to the different counties brings them all before the court of the county where the suit is instituted, and the maker residing in that county pleads in the action while the others make default, the holder of the note may discontinue his suit as to that maker and may take judgment by default final against the others. Read v. Renaud, 6 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 79.

Under a statute providing that when some of the defendants are non-residents of the county in which the action is brought, and the action is dismissed as to the residents, the non-residents may on motion obtain dismissal, they are not entitled to a dismissal where the action is still pending, although not urged against the resident defendants. McAlister v. Safley, 65 Iowa 719, 23 N. W. 139. And it has further been held that this statute applies only to actions purely personal. Porter v. Dalhoff, 59 Iowa 459, 13 N. W. 420.

81. Rand v. Nutter, 56 Me. 339; Berry v. Hoeffner, 56 Me. 170.

Dismissal as to non-resident maker of note in an action against maker and indorser. Pool v. Hill, 44 Miss. 306; Duncan v. McNeill, 31 Miss. 704.

82. Palmer v. Van Doren, 2 Edw. (N. Y.) 384.

83. Hanson v. Worthington, 12 Md. 418.

84. Alabama.— Wade v. Robinson, 1 Stew. 423.

California.— Harney v. Corcoran, 60 Cal. 314.

Illinois.— Flinn v. Barlow, 16 Ill. 39.

Kentucky.— Caldwell v. Price, Hard. 69. Contra, Allen v. Andrews, 4 Bibb 454; Butler v. Stump, 4 Bibb 387.

Ohio.— Harbeson v. Gano, 1 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 57, 1 West. L. J. 396.

Texas.— Decatur First Nat. Bank v. Houts, 85 Tex. 69, 19 S. W. 1080; Hopkins v. Keith, 27 Tex. 91; Robinson v. Mattison, 25 Tex. Suppl. 451; Underhill v. Thomas, 24 Tex. 283; Cook v. Phillips, 18 Tex. 31; Hawkins v. Tinnen, 10 Tex. 188; Ellis v. Park, 8 Tex. 205; Williams v. McNeil, 5 Tex. 381; Scalfi v. Graves, 31 Tex. Civ. App. 667, 74 S. W. 795; Pleasants v. State, 29 Tex. App. 214, 15 S. W. 43; Sanger v. Ker, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 1081; Hooks v. Bramlette, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 863.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 53.

In Alabama by statute every joint bond, covenant, bill, promissory note, or judgment of a court of record is made joint and several, and when a writ issues against two or more of such joint parties the action may be discontinued against any of the parties not served and plaintiff may proceed to judgment against the others, but the right to do so is limited to the cases enumerated in the statute. Smith v. Robinson, 11 Ala. 270; Gillaspie v. Wesson, 7 Port. (Ala.) 454, 31 Am. Dec. 715; Tindall v. Collins, 2 Port. (Ala.) 17; Sartain v. Weir, 3 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 421; Thompson v. Saffold, 2 Stew. (Ala.) 494; Martin v. Townsend, 2 Stew. (Ala.) 329. The right extends to actions against joint indorsers. Martin v. Townsend, 2 Stew. (Ala.) 329.

Where husband and wife are jointly sued, plaintiff cannot dismiss as to the husband, not served, and take judgment against the wife. Parker v. Hobgood, 16 Tex. 249.

Improper where proceedings by publication possible.— In a suit against stock-holders of an association, jointly liable, it was error to dismiss as to defendants not served with process, when if they were non-residents they could have been proceeded against by publication, under the act of congress of May 3, 1802, and brought before the court before a final decree. Mandeville v. Riggs, 2 Pet. (U. S.) 482, 7 L. ed. 493.

Necessity for return of process as to party not taken.— A plaintiff who has declared jointly against two defendants as being in custody, when in fact only one of the defendants was taken on the capias, cannot abate served will be a discontinuance of the action.[85] Where, however, service is not effected on one of several administrators by reason of his non-residence, a discontinuance as to him will not operate as a discontinuance as to all.[86] Where several trustees are necessary parties defendant to a suit, a dismissal as to one is a bar to further prosecution against the others.[87]

9. Defendants Sued as Copartners. Although the dismissal of an action against a partnership as to a partner served with process amounts to a dismissal as against the firm,[88] plaintiff may at any time discontinue an action as to those partners not served with process,[89] or as to those who, although sued as partners and served with process, are not partners.[90]

10. Parties Sued in Different Capacities. Where one is sued in the same action as executor of one person and also as administrator of another, it is irregular to enter a nonsuit so far as he is sued in the one capacity and a judgment against him in his other capacity. A nolle prosequi is the proper course.[91] Where an action is brought against an executor individually, and as executor on a joint note executed by him and his decedent, a judgment by default against him individually is a discontinuance of the suit against the estate which he represents as executor.[92]

11. Where Principal and Sureties Are Joined. It is held that a suit against principal and surety jointly may be dismissed as to the principal and continued as to the surety, if they be joint makers and not indorsers,[93] if the dismissal will not prejudice the surety,[94] or where the principal is not served with process.[95] his own action against the party not taken, unless authorized so to do by the return of the process against that party. Barton v. Petit, 7 Cranch (U. S.) 194, 3 L. ed. 313.

Presumption of discontinuance.— Plaintiff having merely mentioned a person in its petition as a defendant, without citing him and without his voluntary appearance, and not taking any judgment against him or joining him in its appeal, must be presumed to have discontinued its cause against him. Decatur First Nat. Bank v. Houts, 85 Tex. 69, 19 S. W. 1080.

85. Huff v. Davison, 44 Ala. 273; Caruthers v. Mardis, 3 Ala. 599; Owen v. Brown, 2 Ala. 126; Williams v. Sims, 8 Port. (Ala.) 579; Willard v. Wood, 1 App. Cas. (D. C.) 44. And see Masson v. Hill, 5 U. C. Q. B. 60.

One executor may be discharged on a plea of plene administravit and a verdict had against the other. Ivey v. Gamble, 7 Port. (Ala.) 545.

86. Shorter v. Urquhart, 28 Ala. 360; Moore v. Davidson, 18 Ala. 209; English v. Brown, 9 Ala. 504.

87. Zorn v. Lamar, 71 Ga. 80.

88. Storm v. Roberts, 54 Iowa 677, 7 N. W. 124; Phillips v. Hollister, 2 Coldw. (Tenn.) 269. But see White v. Leavitt, 20 Tex. 703, holding that the dismissal as to one of two partners who had been duly served does not ipso facto prevent plaintiff from rightfully proceeding to trial and judgment against the other, who is present in court, if the latter would object or claim the benefit from such dismissal he must do so by motion, exception, or plea.

89. Alabama.— Nall v. Adams, 7 Ala. 475; Clark v. Stoddard, 3 Ala. 366; Earbee v. Evans, 9 Port. 295; Gazzam v. Bebee, 8 Port. 49.

Mississippi.— Lyons v. Jackson, 1 How. 474.

Tennessee.— Link v. Allen, 1 Heisk. 318.

Texas.— Hawkins v. Tinnen, 10 Tex. 188.

Virginia.— Brown v. Belches, 1 Wash. 9.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 57.

90. Gazzam v. Bebee, 8 Port. (Ala.) 49; Wheeler v. Bullard, 6 Port. (Ala.) 352 (holding also that it is the duty of the court before whom a suit against the partnership is pending to discontinue the suit as to all persons ascertained not to be partners); Johnson v. Green, 4 Port. (Ala.) 127; Stoddart v. Van Dyke, 12 Cal. 437; Moore v. Otis, 18 Mo. 118; Carlon v. Ruffner, 12 W. Va. 297.

If a bill against two as partners is taken as confessed as to one and the other answers and disproves plaintiff's case it will be dismissed as to both defendants; but this doctrine has never been applied to the case of an answer by a defendant who had distinct rights, and no joint or common interest with the party who fails to answer. Phillips v. Hollister, 2 Coldw. (Tenn.) 269; Petty v. Hannum, 2 Humphr. (Tenn.) 102, 36 Am. Dec. 303.

91. Buie v. Buie, 24 N. C. 87.

92. Daves v. Mahorner, 41 Miss. 552.

93. Moore v. Knox, 46 Miss. 602; Pool v. Hill, 44 Miss. 306; Wilkinson v. Flowers, 37 Miss. 579, 75 Am. Dec. 78.

94. Dorriss v. Carter, 67 Mo. 544.

Dismissal after trial.— Where a person by indorsing a note payable to himself has made himself liable and sued the principal and other sureties for money paid on the note as indorser, the court will refuse to allow him after trial to discontinue against the principal in order to proceed against the surety alone for contribution. Chaffee v. Jones, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 260.

95. Hooks v. Bramlette, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 863, although as to the other defendant he is surety. See also supra, II, F, 8.

By statute in some jurisdictions a discontinuance of the suit as to the principal bars a judgment against the surety, unless it is shown that such principal resided out of the state or in such part of the state that he cannot be reached by ordinary process of law.[96] A suit also may be dismissed as to the surety and proceeded with as to the principal, if the surety is not a necessary or proper party to the suit,[97] or if there cannot be a joint recovery against both,[98] or where the surety is not served with process.[99]

G. Procedure to Effect Dismissal, Discontinuance, or Nonsuit — 1. In General. Plaintiff may discontinue or dismiss where entitled to do so, as of course, by filing a written order or notice in the form prescribed by statute,[1] and by giving due notice to the adverse party if the statute requires notice.[2] So the action will be considered dismissed by entry of dismissal written on the back of the petition, when this is done with intent to dismiss and both parties act accordingly.[3] And accepting money in satisfaction of the cause of action amounts to discontinuance.[4] Plaintiff's quashal of his own writ for error therein will also work a discontinuance,[5] and he may show his election to take a nonsuit by absenting himself from court when his presence is required there for purposes of the impending trial.[6] Destruction of the complaint after the action has been begun does not amount to a discontinuance but leaves the action still pending.[7]

2. Time of Moving.[8] A plaintiff may take a nonsuit before a clerk in vacation,[9] and may dismiss his suit in vacation by filing a dismissal with the clerk as effectually as if dismissed in open court,[10] and where plaintiff dismisses during

96. Keesey v. Old, 82 Tex. 22, 17 S. W. 928. See also Pool v. Hill, 44 Miss. 306.

97. Cole v. Robertson, 6 Tex. 356, 55 Am. Dec. 784, holding that a surety on a forfeited forthcoming bond is not a necessary or proper party to the suit to revive the original judgment and a discontinuance as to him is not a discontinuance of the suit.

98. Under the Vermont laws of 1852, a surety who has brought a joint action of assumpsit for money paid both against his principal and his cosurety may permit either of the defendants to be discharged by the court and take a judgment against the other, where he cannot have a recovery against both. Powers v. Thayer, 30 Vt. 361.

99. Pleasants v. State, 29 Tex. App. 214, 15 S. W. 43. See also supra, II, F, 8.

1. Illinois.— Wright v. Wright, 21 Ill. App. 200.

Indiana.— Whitcomb v. Stringer, (App. 1902) 63 N. E. 582 [rehearing denied in (App. 1902) 64 N. E. 636].

Maryland.— Price v. Taylor, 21 Md. 356.

Minnesota.— Thornton v. Webb, 13 Minn. 498.

Rhode Island.—De Wolf v. A. & W. Sprague Mfg. Co., 12 R. I. 133.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dismissal and Nonsuit," § 61.

Specification of grounds of motion.— Where a plaintiff may on his own motion procure a judgment of nonsuit unless a counter-claim has been pleaded as a defense plaintiff's motion therefor need not state any ground. Ferguson v. Ingle, 38 Oreg. 43, 62 Pac. 760.

A statutory provision that dismissal shall be made on written request to the clerk and by entry in the clerk's register is not mandatory and plaintiff may move in open court for dismissal. Richards v. Bradley, 129 Cal. 670, 62 Pac. 316.

2. Thornton v. Webb, 13 Minn. 498.

3. Ft. Dodge First Nat. Bank v. Haire, 36 Iowa 443.

In an action commenced against the receivers of a railroad company an amended petition alleging the discharge of the receivers and asking judgment against the company alone is equivalent to a dismissal as to the receivers. San Antonio, etc., R. Co. v. Mohl, (Tex. Civ. App. 1896) 37 S. W. 22.

4. Mellwraith v. Green, 14 Q. B. D. 766, 54 L. J. Q. B. 41, 52 L. T. Rep. N. S. 81.

5. Womsley v. Cummins, 1 Ark. 125.

6. Felts v. Delaware, etc., R. Co., 170 Pa. St. 432, 33 Atl. 97.

7. Ralli v. Pearsall, 69 N. Y. App. Div. 254, 74 N. Y. Suppl. 620.

8. See supra, II, C, where this question has been considered to some extent.

9. State Bank v. Gray, 12 Ark. 760; Whitcomb v. Stringer, (Ind. App. 1902) 63 N. E. 582.

Discontinuance at chambers.— An order for discontinuance may be made by a judge at chambers and out of the district, and if the order be recorded in the minutes after the orders of the previous term and before those of the next it will be sufficient. Gamble v. Jenkins, 12 Rich. (S. C.) 692.

10. Arkansas.— Lyons v. Green, 68 Ark. 205, 56 S. W. 1075.

Georgia.— Mountain v. Rowland, 30 Ga. 929.

Indiana.— St. John v. Hardwick, 17 Ind. 180.

Maryland.— Price v. Taylor, 21 Md. 356.

Rhode Island.— De Wolf v. A. & W. Sprague Mfg. Co., 12 R. I. 133.

vacation and the clerk neglects to make entry of the fact the omission may be cured at the next term of the court by a nunc pro tunc entry.[11]

3. Notice of Application and Discontinuance. Where the right to dismiss is absolute no notice of the motion need be given,[12] but in other cases due notice should be served on the adverse party,[13] where the latter has appeared.[14] A notice of the discontinuance of a civil action may be given in behalf of plaintiff by the officer who served the writ.[15] Notice need not be in writing except for the purpose of saving costs.[16] An error in a notice of the discontinuance of a suit "discontinuing the same with costs to the plaintiff" instead of to defendant is immaterial where the statute gives costs to defendant in all cases of discontinuance, since such error could not mislead.[17]

4. The Order — a. Form and Requisites. The order will be sufficient, it seems, if the record shows the nature of plaintiff's action,[18] and the reason why it was taken,[19] provided the order is not repugnant or contradictory.[20] Where an order of discontinuance is entered in term-time, it is presumed to have been made by the court, and the signature of the judge or commissioner thereto is not essential.[21]

b. Entry. An order of retraxit, dismissal, or discontinuance should be entered of record in order to be operative, except as between the parties.[22] And some statutes also require entry of judgment of dismissal in addition thereto,[23] but the omission to enter the dismissal may be supplied by a nunc pro tunc order at a 11. Mountain v. Rowland, 30 Ga. 929.

12. Pearson v. Chicago, 162 Ill. 383, 44 N. E. 739; Stanton v. Kinsey, 151 Ill. 301, 37 N. E. 871 [affirming 44 Ill. App. 229]; Northwestern Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Barbour, 95 Ky. 7, 23 S. W. 584, 15 Ky. L. Rep. 394; Angier v. Hager, 45 N. Y. App. Div. 32, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 811; Dane v. Daniel, 28 Wash. 155, 68 Pac. 446.

13. Thornton v. Webb, 13 Minn. 498; Bedell v. Powell, 13 Barb. (N. Y.) 183.

14. Gamble v. Jenkins, 12 Rich. (S. C.) 692, where it was held that if defendant has not appeared he has no right to a notice of a motion for discontinuance.

15. Jewett v. Locke, 6 Gray (Mass.) 233.

16. Ballou v. Ballou, 26 Vt. 673; Hill v. Dunlap, 15 Vt. 645. But see Wright v. Doolittle, 5 Vt. 390.

A written notice by plaintiff's solicitors, "We are instructed to proceed no further with the action," is a sufficient notice of discontinuance within Ord. XXIII, r. 1. The Pommerania, 4 P. D. 195, 48 L. J. P. 55, 39 L. T. Rep. N. S. 642.

Insufficient notice.— In an action for an injunction and damages the defense denied liability, but a sum was paid into court in respect of the claim for damages. Plaintiff accepted the sum in satisfaction of his claim for damages and informed defendants in writing that he should discontinue the action, take the money out of court, and tax his costs. It was held that plaintiff's letter was not a notice of discontinuance so as to entitle defendants to their costs under Ord. XXXI, r. 1. Moon v. Dickinson, 63 L. T. Rep. N. S. 371, 38 Wkly. Rep. 278.

17. Slocomb v. Thatcher, 20 Mich. 52.

18. See Alderman v. Roesel, 52 S. C. 162, 29 S. E. 385; Dunham v. Carson, 37 S. C. 269, 15 S. E. 960; Haldeman v. U. S., 91 U. S. 584, 23 L. ed. 433.

19. Where the judgment entry recites that "plaintiff excepted to the ruling of the court, and takes a nonsuit" it sufficiently appears that the nonsuit was taken because of the adverse ruling of the court. Downs v. Minchew, 30 Ala. 86.

20. In Thompson v. Griffis, 19 Tex. 115, it was held that the recital in a judgment, and "now come the parties by their attorneys, and plaintiff dismisses his suit as to" one of the defendants, "and the other defendants being called came not, but made default" is repugnant and contradictory, and the judgment is erroneous, and if the service is defective it will be reversed.

21. Hackett v. Bonnell, 16 Wis. 471.

22. Wormer v. Canovan, 7 Lans. (N. Y.) 36; Swart v. Borst, 17 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 69. And see Wolters v. Rossi, 126 Cal. 644, 59 Pac. 143.

Sufficient showing of entry of retraxit by plaintiff in person.— A judgment of retraxit, which is as complete a bar as a judgment on verdict, can only be entered by plaintiff in person; but a recital in the judgment entry that "the parties came by attorney, and the plaintiff enters a retraxit" sufficiently shows that the retraxit was entered by plaintiff in person. Thomason v. Odum, 31 Ala. 108, 68 Am. Dec. 159.

