CYCLOPEDIA

OF

LAW AND PROCEDURE

EDITED BY

WILLIAM MACK AND HOWARD P. NASH

VOLUME I

NEW YORK

THE AMERICAN LAW BOOK COMPANY

LONDON: BUTTERWORTH & CO., 12 BELL YARD

1901

J. B. LYON COMPANY
PRINTERS AND BINDERS
ALBANY, N. Y.

PREFACE

The cyclopedic method of treatment is far from being a new one in the law. As early as the time of Justinian I, at whose command the Roman law was compiled and annotated under the name "Corpus Juris Civilis," the desirability of the plan seems to have been recognized. Later, in England, Bacon and Viner, by their Abridgements of British jurisprudence, and in our own country Dane and Wait, by their Commentaries, demonstrated the merit of this system.

The need of a modern embodiment of this very old idea is apparent from the evident impracticability of consulting the ever-increasing number of reported cases themselves, and from the fact that while few practitioners have access to all the text-books and digests, fewer still are able to afford the time the use of such books entails. The Cyclopedia of Law and Procedure is designed to meet this need.

The titles of the Cyclopedia will group the law under certain well-defined heads, each of which will be preceded by a logical and minute analysis which will serve as a ready index to the matter treated thereafter, and which, taken with the cross-references immediately following, will render a general index to the work unnecessary. The cross-references will be arranged alphabetically in large type, making it possible to determine at a glance where kindred matter is treated elsewhere in the work.

With reference to the particular titles, there will be no splitting up of the law along an arbitrary line alleged to divide pleading and practice from substantive law; but the whole of each topic, including pleading, references to suitable forms, evidence, and questions of law and fact, will be treated under a single head. The statements of the text, which will be reduced to the utmost brevity consistent with precision of statement, will be supported, in the notes, by the adjudged cases of the various federal and state courts of the United States and of the courts of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of Canada, arranged in such a manner as will facilitate reference. Such exceptions, illustrations, and applications as seem necessary to a clear understanding of the text will also be included in the notes. To make the citations of greater value to the many lawyers who are not possessed of complete libraries, they will refer not only to the official reports, but also to the National Reporter System, to the American Reports, American Decisions, American State Reports, and the Lawyers' Reports Annotated, as well as, in many cases, to minor but valuable law magazines, which frequently give more exhaustive reports than the official series.

In addition to the larger titles and subdivisions of the law, the Cyclopedia of Law and Procedure will contain definitions of words and phrases which have been adjudged by the courts or explained by the leading lexicographers. Legal maxims will also be presented in both their original and the vernacular tongues, with citations referring to their use and to the cases in which they have been authoritatively quoted.

To render new editions unnecessary, and to prevent the Cyclopedia from falling behind the current of new decisions, a simple system of annual annotations has been adopted.

Fully realizing the magnitude of the task imposed upon them, the editors have undertaken this compilation in the belief that the plan adopted is feasible, and in the hope that such success may attend their efforts as will result in furnishing, in comparatively few volumes, a complete working library, not only to the members of the profession, but to all students of the law; and, ad majorem cautelam, in addition to the work of the regular corps of editors, it is proposed that many of the articles shall be written or examined and approved by men of marked learning and skill in the particular subjects edited by them.

WILLIAM MACK
HOWARD P. NASH

NEW YORK, May 1, 1901

TABLE OF TITLES, EDITORS, AND CONTRIBUTORS

CITE THIS VOLUME

1 Cyc.

FOLLOWED BY PAGE

CYCLOPEDIA

OF

LAW AND PROCEDURE

A. The indefinite article "a," while properly placed before a singular noun and having the meaning "one," [1] is not necessarily a singular term, and is often used in the sense of "any," and is then applied to more than one individual object.[2] It has also been held to be equivalent to the definite article "the." [3]

The letter "a" is often used to denote the first page of a folio,[4] the second being designated as "b." It is also used to signify "al." in the expression "et al." [5] When used in such an expression as "Int. a 6%," it is known and recognized among commercial people and business men as standing for the word "at." [6] The letter "a." was used formerly, also, as an abbreviation for "adversus" in the title of a cause.[7]

The letter "A" in connection with the figure "1," thus: "A 1," is used in "Lloyd's Register of British and Foreign Shipping" and the "Record of American and Foreign Shipping" as standing for the highest character of vessel, and in commerce has come to denote the highest mercantile credit.[8]

In Law Latin the word "a" is a preposition meaning "by," [9] "from," [10]

1. Wades v. Figatt, 75 Va. 575, where the court, in construing the expression "what is paid or secured not being more altogether than a year's rent in any case," in Va. Code (1873), c. 134, § 12, held that the words "a year's rent" were equivalent to "one year's rent."

2. Lowe v. Brooks, 23 Ga. 325; Thompson v. Stewart, 60 Iowa 223, 14 N. W. 247; National Union Bank v. Copeland, 141 Mass. 257, 4 N. E. 794; In re Sanders, 54 L. J. Q. B. 331; Thompson v. Wesleyan Newspaper Assoc., 8 C. B. 849, 65 E. C. L. 849.

3. Ex p. Hill, 23 Ch. D. 695, where Bowen, L. J., in construing a section of the bankruptcy act containing the words "with a view of giving such creditor a preference," held that the words "a view" meant "the view."

Contra, Sharff v. Com., 2 Binn. (Pa.) 514, where, on an indictment for publishing a libel on the characters of A and B, and also upon the memory of C, deceased, the jury found the defendant "guilty of writing and publishing a bill of scandal against A and B, but not guilty as to any C, deceased;" and it was held that the defendant was not found guilty of the offense charged in the indictment, the court saying, "'a' bill of scandal is very different from 'the' bill, and it would be extending liberality to an unwarrantable length to confound the articles 'a' and 'the.'"

4. For example, see Coke Litt. 114*a*, 114*b*.

5. For example, see Hitchins v. Pettingill, 58 N. H. 3.

6. Belford v. Beatty, 145 Ill. 414, 34 N. E. 254.

7. For example, see Cockle a. Underwood, 1 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 1.

8. Century Dict.

9. A multo fortiori,— by a much stronger reason. Adams Gloss. A provisione viri,— by the provision of man. 4 Kent Comm. 55.

10. A cancellando,— from cancelling. 3 Bl. Comm. 46. A cancellis curiæ explodi,— to be expelled from the bar of the court. Adams Gloss. A confectione,— from the making. Clayton's Case, 5 Coke, pt. II, 1*a*; Anonymous, 1 Ld. Raym. 480. A confectione præsentium,— from the making of the indentures. Clayton's Case, 5 Coke, pt. II, 1*a*. A dato,— from the date. Osbourn v. Rider, Cro. Jac. 135. A datu,— from the date. Anonymous, 1 Ld. Raym. 480; Haths v. Ash, 2 Salk. 413. A die confectionis,—

"in," [11] "of," [12] and "on." [13] It is also used in Law French as a preposition meaning "at," [14] "for," [15] "in," [16] "of," [17] "on," [18] "to," [19] and "with," [20] and in conjunction with other words as an adverb.[21]

In the Roman law the letter "A" was inscribed on the judges' and jurors' ballot in case of acquittal, it being the initial letter of "absolvo," meaning "I acquit." [22]

AB. The word "ab" is used in Law Latin as a preposition meaning "by," [23] "from," [24] "in," [25] and "of," [26] and in conjunction with other words as an adverb.[27]

AB ABUSU AD USUM NON VALET CONSEQUENTIA. A maxim meaning "from the abuse of a thing to its use a conclusion is invalid." [28] The maxim cannot apply where an abuse is directly charged and offered to be proved.[29]

AB ACTU AD POSSE, VALET CONSECUTIO. A maxim meaning "from the performance of a thing to what can be performed the sequence is valid." [30] from the day of making. Barwick's Case, 5 Coke 93*b*. A die datus,— from the day of the date. Hatter v. Ash, 1 Ld. Raym. 84; Anonymous, 1 Ld. Raym. 480; Seignorett v. Noguire, 2 Ld. Raym. 1241. A me,— from me. Gardner v. Scott, 2 Bell Sc. App. 129, 133. A mensa et thoro,— from table and bed. 1 Bl. Comm. 440. A nativitate,— from birth. 3 Bl. Comm. 332. A patre,— from the father. 2 Bl. Comm. 232. A qua,— from which. Broom & H. Comm. bk. IV, 366. A quo,— from whom. Mattueof's Case, 10 Mod. 4. A rubro ad nigrum,— from the red to the black. Trayn. Lat. Max. A tempore cujus contrarii memoria non existit,— from time of which memory to the contrary does not exist. Black L. Dict. A vinculo matrimonii,— from the bond of marriage. 2 Kent Comm. 95.

ABANDONEE. One to whom a right or property is abandoned by another.[31]

11. A retro,— in arrear. Adams Gloss.

12. A consiliis,— of counsel. Burrill L. Dict.

13. A latere,— on the side. Adams Gloss.

14. A cel jour,— at this day. Adams Gloss. A issue,— at issue. Benl. C. P. 21. A large,— at large. Burrill L. Dict.

15. A terme de sa vie,— for the term of his life. Y. B. 3 Edw. II, 55. A terme que n'est mye uncore passe,— for a term which is not yet passed. Adams Gloss. A terme que passe est,— for a term which is passed. Burrill L. Dict.

16. A lour foy,— in their allegiance. Burrill L. Dict.

17. A force,— of necessity. Adams Gloss.

18. A ma intent,— on my action. Mitchell v. Reynolds, 1 Smith Lead. Cas. (7th Am. ed.) 516.

19. A aver et tener,— to have and to hold. Burrill L. Dict. A la graunde grevaunce,— to the great grievance. Adams Gloss.

20. A force et armes,— with force and arms. Burrill L. Dict.

21. A remenaunt or a toutz jours,— forever. Kelham Dict.

22. Taylor Civ. L. 191.

23. Ab enumeratione partium,— by enumeration of parts. Adams Gloss. Ab olim consensu,— by ancient consent. 3 Bl. Comm. 95.

24. Ab ardendo,— from burning. 4 Bl. Comm. 220. Ab extra,— from without. Lunt v. Holland, 14 Mass. 149; The Harmonie, 3 C. Rob. 318; Best Ev. § 14. Ab inconvenienti,— from inconvenience. Broom & H. Comm. bk. I, 62. Ab ingressu ecclesiæ,— from entering the church. Broom & H. Comm. bk. IV, 169. Ab initio,— from the beginning. Sackrider v. McDonald, 10 Johns. (N. Y.) 253; Hopkins v. Hopkins, 10 Johns. (N. Y.) 369; Winterbourne v. Morgan, 11 East 395; Reniger v. Fogossa, Plowd. 1; 1 Bl. Comm. 434. Ab initio mundi usque ad hodiernum diem,— from the beginning of the world to this day. Y. B. 1 Edw. III, 25. Ab intestato,— from an intestate. 2 Bl. Comm. 490; Broom & H. Comm. bk. II, 649. Ab intra,— from within. Best Ev. § 14. Ab inutili,— from the useless. Manby v. Scott, 2 Smith Lead. Cas. (7th Am. ed.) 408.

25. Ab ante,— in advance. Allen v. McKeen, 1 Sumn. (U. S.) 276, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 229.

26. Ab antiquo,— of old. 3 Bl. Comm. 95.

27. Ab antecedente,— beforehand. Pattison v. Robinson, 5 M. & S. 105. Ab invito,— unwillingly. Bouvier L. Dict.

28. Adams Gloss.

29. Per Denman, C. J., in Stockdale v. Hansard, 9 A. & E. 1.

30. The maxim is intended to express the idea that when a thing has once happened it is logical to infer that a similar thing may occur again, or that "from what has happened we may infer what will happen." Adams Gloss.

31. Burrill L. Dict.

The word is applied to the underwriters of vessels in Case v. Davidson, 5 M. & S. 79.

ABANDONMENT

Edited by Frederick Geller

CROSS-REFERENCES

For Abandonment of:
Action, see Actions; Dismissal and Nonsuit.
Appeal, see Appeal and Error.
Attachment, see Attachment.
Attorney's Lien, see Attorney and Client.
Canal, see Canals.
Cemetery, see Cemeteries.
Charter, see Corporations.
Child, see Parent and Child.
Condemnation Proceedings, see Eminent Domain.
Contract, see Contracts; Sales; Vendor and Purchaser.
Copyright, see Copyright.
Dedication, see Dedication.
Easement, see Easements.
Execution, see Executions.
Factor's Lien, see Factors and Brokers.
Ferry, see Ferries.
Franchise, see Corporations; Franchises; Railroads; Street Railroads.
Highway, see Streets and Highways.
Homestead, see Homesteads.
Husband as Ground for Divorce, see Divorce.
Insured Vessel and Cargo, see Marine Insurance.
Invention, see Patents.
Lease, see Landlord and Tenant.
Levy, see Attachment; Executions.
Lien, see Liens.

For Abandonment of — (continued)
Literary Property, see LITERARY PROPERTY.
Maritime Lien, see MARITIME LIENS.
Mechanic's Lien, see MECHANICS' LIENS.
Mining Claim, see MINES AND MINERALS.
Motion, see MOTIONS.
Office, see OFFICERS.
Patent, see PATENTS.
Public Land, see PUBLIC LANDS.
Railroad Right of Way, see RAILROADS; STREET RAILROADS.
Salvor's Lien, see SALVAGE.
Street, see MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS; STREETS AND HIGHWAYS.
Trade-Mark, see TRADE-MARKS AND TRADE-NAMES.
Vendor's Lien, see VENDOR AND PURCHASER.
Warehouseman's Lien, see WAREHOUSEMEN.
Water Rights, see WATERS.
Wife, see DIVORCE; DOWER; HUSBAND AND WIFE.
Writ of Error, see APPEAL AND ERROR.

I. DEFINITION.

Abandonment is the giving up of a thing absolutely, without reference to any particular person or purpose.[1]

II. ELEMENTS OF ABANDONMENT.

A. In General — 1. RULE STATED. Abandonment includes both the intention to abandon and the external act by which the intention is carried into effect.[2]

2. ABANDONMENT OF PROPERTY. To constitute abandonment in respect of property, there must be a concurrence of the intention to abandon and an actual relinquishment of the property, so that it may be appropriated by the next comer.[3]

1. Burrill L. Dict.; Hickman v. Link, 116 Mo. 123, 22 S. W. 472.

"Abandonment is the relinquishment of a right, the giving up of something to which one is entitled." Per Wheeler, C. J., in Dikes v. Miller, 24 Tex. 417.

"Property is said to be abandoned when it is thrown away, or its possession is voluntarily forsaken by the owner." Per Fairchild, J., in Eads v. Brazelton, 22 Ark. 499, 79 Am. Dec. 88.

Distinguished from "surrender."—"There is a difference between 'abandon' and 'surrender;' between abandoning a right or thing, and the surrender of such right or thing to another; between giving it up because it is regarded as utterly useless or valueless, and surrendering, assigning, or transferring it to another as a valuable right or thing. When one surrenders a right or thing to another by solemn agreement in writing, he does not abandon it in the sense in which all understand the word 'abandon.'" Per Bird, V. C., in Hagan v. Gaskill, 42 N. J. Eq. 215, 6 Atl. 879.

Distinguished from "sale" and "gift."—Abandonment must be made by the owner without being pressed by any duty, necessity, or utility to himself, but simply because he desires no longer to possess the thing; and further it must be made without any desire that any other person shall acquire the same. For if it were made for a consideration it would be a sale or barter; and if without consideration, or with an intention that some other person should become the possessor, it would be a gift. Richardson v. McNulty, 24 Cal. 339; Stephens v. Mansfield, 11 Cal. 363.

2. Stevens v. Norfolk, 42 Conn. 377; Livermore v. White, 74 Me. 452, 43 Am. Rep. 600.

Estoppel in pais as an element.—An estoppel in pais does not constitute an element in abandonment, nor is it one of the circumstances from which abandonment may be found. Marquart v. Bradford, 43 Cal. 526.

3. Smith v. Cushing, 41 Cal. 97; Judson v. Malloy, 40 Cal. 299; Richardson v. McNulty, 24 Cal. 339; Hickman v. Link, 116 Mo. 123, 22 S. W. 472; Tayon v. Ladew, 33 Mo. 205; Barada v. Blumenthal, 20 Mo. 162; Page v. Scheibel, 11 Mo. 167; Miller v. Cresson, 5 Watts & S. (Pa.) 284; Perkins v. Blood, 36 Vt. 273.

Sunken steamboat.—A steamboat cargo having been sunk in a river for a period of thirty years, and during that time an island having been formed by the change of the current of the river over the wreck, and the owners having made no effort, nor done any act showing that a design was entertained to save the property, the law will imply an

3. ABANDONMENT OF RIGHT. To constitute abandonment in respect of a right secured, there must be a clear, unequivocal, and decisive act of the party; an act done which shows a determination in the individual not to have a benefit which is designed for him.[4]

B. Intention as Element. In determining whether one has abandoned his property or rights, the intention is the first and paramount object of inquiry; for there can be no abandonment without the intention to abandon.[5] Thus, in jurisdictions recognizing the doctrine that title to land may be lost by abandonment, ceasing to cultivate land, or mere inaction and removal to another place, is not enough, without some act of disclaimer or other fact importing and showing a positive intention to abandon all claim of ownership.[6] So the mere suspension of the exercise of a right, without evidence of the intention to abandon abandonment of it. Eads v. Brazelton, 22 Ark. 499, 79 Am. Dec. 88.

Property sunk in a steamboat and unclaimed for twenty-three years is derelict. Creevy v. Breedlove, 12 La. Ann. 745.

Manure dropped in street.— Manure which had accumulated in a frequented place in a public street was raked into heaps by the plaintiff in the evening and left in that condition to be carried away by him the next evening. During the afternoon of the next day, the defendant, finding the manure in heaps, loaded it into his cart and carried it away. In an action of trover brought by the plaintiff for the value of the manure, it was held that it belonged originally to the owners of the animals that dropped it, but was to be regarded as abandoned by them, and that, being abandoned property, plaintiff, the first occupant, who took it, had a right to appropriate it. Haslem v. Lockwood, 37 Conn. 500, 9 Am. Rep. 350.

Hides left in tannery.— The owner of a tannery, when removing his hides, omitted to remove all. The tannery was sold, and many years after, the plaintiff, while laboring for the defendant in erecting a factory on the premises, discovered the hides so left. The jury were instructed that if they should "find that the owners, for any reason satisfactory to themselves, intentionally abandoned the hides, expecting that the first finder, the first explorer, or excavater, should take possession and enjoy the property and the benefit, with an intention of the owner or agent not to resume possession and not to claim any control or dominion over them, thereafter finally relinquishing all interest in them . . . then these finders would have a right to the possession as against all persons whatsoever." But if the jury should find that "any owner, whoever he may have been, of the hides, intentionally, carefully, voluntarily, and in the ordinary course of business, placed them there as his property, and they were accidentally or inadvertently overlooked and forgotten, they remained the property of such owner or the heirs of such owner." It was held that such instruction was correct. Livermore v. White, 74 Me. 452, 43 Am. Rep. 600.

Land.— To abandon land, the owner must leave it free to the occupation of the next comer, whoever he may be, without any intention to repossess it, or reclaim it for himself, in any event, and regardless and indifferent as to what may become of it in the future. Moon v. Rollins, 36 Cal. 333, 95 Am. Dec. 181; Richardson v. McNulty, 24 Cal. 339; Clark v. Hammerle, 36 Mo. 620.

4. Masson v. Anderson, 3 Baxt. (Tenn.) 290; Breedlove v. Stump, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 257; Dawson v. Daniel, 2 Flipp. (U. S.) 305, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 3,669.

5. California.— Myers v. Spooner, 55 Cal. 257; Sweeney v. Reilly, 42 Cal. 402; Smith v. Cushing, 41 Cal. 97; Moon v. Rollins, 36 Cal. 333, 95 Am. Dec. 181; Davis v. Perley, 30 Cal. 630; St. John v. Kidd, 26 Cal. 263; Bell v. Bed Rock Tunnel. etc., Co., 36 Cal. 214; Keane v. Cannovan, 21 Cal. 291, 82 Am. Dec. 738; Waring v. Crow, 11 Cal. 366.

Illinois.— Wilson v. Pearson, 20 Ill. 81; McGoon v. Ankeny, 11 Ill. 558.

Maine.— Livermore v. White, 74 Me. 452, 43 Am. Rep. 600.

Massachusetts.— Dyer v. Sanford, 9 Metc. (Mass.) 395, 43 Am. Dec. 399.

Minnesota.— Rowe v. Minneapolis, 49 Minn. 148, 51 N. W. 907.

Mississippi.— Hicks v. Steigleman, 49 Miss. 377.

Missouri.— Tayon v. Ladew, 33 Mo. 205; Landes v. Perkins, 12 Mo. 238.

Nevada.— Weill v. Lucerne Min. Co., 11 Nev. 200; Mallett v. Uncle Sam Gold, etc., Min. Co., 1 Nev. 188, 90 Am. Dec. 484.

New York.— Wiggins v. McCleary, 49 N. Y. 346.

Oregon.— Dodge v. Marden, 7 Oreg. 456.

Pennsylvania.— Goodman v. Losey, 3 Watts & S. (Pa.) 526.

South Carolina.— Parkins v. Dunham, 3 Strobh. (S. C.) 224.

But see Paine v. Griffiths, 86 Fed. 452, 30 C. C. A. 182, 58 U. S. App. 38, wherein it was said that abandonment was not always a question of intention exclusively for the jury, without a controlling instruction from the court. Under a certain uncontradicted state of facts the law will pronounce the conduct of the party to be an abandonment, whatever may have been his intention.

6. Clark v. Hammerle, 36 Mo. 620; Kercheval v. Ambler, 4 Dana (Ky.) 166, wherein it was held that the fact that the agent of the owner of land, after receiving possession under a writ of possession, left the land, is not of itself sufficient to show abandonment in the absence of a showing as to his intention.

it, is not sufficient to destroy the right.[7] The intention to abandon is to be derived from all the facts and circumstances of the case.[8]

C. Time as Element. Time is not an essential element of abandonment. The moment the intention to abandon and the relinquishment of possession unite, the abandonment is complete.[9] Lapse of time is, however, a circumstance for the jury to consider in determining the question of abandonment.[10]

D. Non-User as Element. Non-user is not of itself sufficient to show an abandonment of a right;[11] nor will neglect for more than twenty years to assert a title to an undivided interest in land, by one who has a valid title, operate as an abandonment, where there is no adverse possession.[12] It has been held, however, that a right acquired by user may be lost by non-user.[13]

III. WHAT MAY BE ABANDONED.

A. Real Property. At common law a perfect legal title to a corporeal hereditament cannot, it would seem, be lost by abandonment;[14] but under the Spanish law in force in some of the states an owner might depart from his land with an intention that it should be no longer his, and it then became the property of him who first entered upon it.[15]

7. Banks v. Banks, 77 N. C. 186; Faw v. Whittington, 72 N. C. 321; Mouson v. Boehm, 26 Ch. D. 398.

8. Myers v. Spooner, 55 Cal. 257; Davis v. Perley, 30 Cal. 630.

Removal of fence.—The removal of an enclosure of land for the purpose of replacing it with a better one is not evidence of an intention to abandon the premises. Sweetland v. Hill, 9 Cal. 556.

9. Mallett v. Uncle Sam Gold, etc., Min. Co., 1 Nev. 188, 90 Am. Dec. 484; Snell v. Levitt, 110 N. Y. 595, 18 N. E. 370, 1 L. R. A. 414.

10. Moon v. Rollins, 36 Cal. 333, 95 Am. Dec. 181; Bell v. Bed Rock Tunnel, etc., Co., 36 Cal. 214; Gluckauf v. Reed, 22 Cal. 468; Keane v. Cannovan, 21 Cal. 291, 82 Am. Dec. 738; Mallett v. Uncle Sam Gold, etc., Min. Co., 1 Nev. 188, 90 Am. Dec. 484; Patchin v. Stroud, 28 Vt. 394.

Presumption from lapse of time.—An abandonment of the right of the state to personal property confiscated by it will not be presumed from lapse of time, where there is no evidence of a possession by individuals sufficient to authorize such a presumption in their favor. Kershaw v. Boykin, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 301.

11. Robie v. Sedgwick, 35 Barb. (N. Y.) 319.

Conveyance for specific purpose.—The fact that a building, conveyed to a corporation on condition that it should always be devoted to school purposes, had become out of repair, and that no school had been taught therein for a few years, does not amount to an abandonment of the property under a covenant of the deed. Carroll County Academy v. Gallatin Academy, (Ky. 1898) 47 S. W. 617.

Ditch.—Non-user of a ditch, brought about by circumstances over which the ditch-owner has no control, is not evidence of abandonment or of intention to abandon such ditch. Welch v. Garrett, (Ida. 1897) 51 Pac. 405.

Railroad right of way.—No abandonment of land taken for a railroad right of way can be presumed from a non-user of the land from the time of taking. Hummel v. Cumberland Valley R. Co., 175 Pa. St. 537, 34 Atl. 848.

12. Great Falls Co. v. Worster, 15 N. H. 412.

Absence for five years.—The intention to abandon is not necessarily inferable from the fact that the premises have been left vacant, unimproved, and without attention for more than five years, but such fact may be taken into consideration in deciding the question of abandonment. Judson v. Malloy, 40 Cal. 299.

Absence for eight years.—Absence from land for eight years will not be construed as necessarily amounting to an abandonment of a railroad pre-emption claim thereto. Cravens v. Moore, 61 Mo. 178.

Failure to exercise ownership for thirteen years.—The fact that a purchaser at a tax sale fails to exercise any act of ownership over land for thirteen years does not show an abandonment. Langdon v. Templeton, 66 Vt. 173, 28 Atl. 866. But where a party purchased, at execution sale, land held by entry, but received no deed from the sheriff, or instituted no proceeding against the former owner, who remained in possession for thirteen years after the execution sale, such facts constitute conclusive evidence that the purchaser has abandoned his claim. Crutsinger v. Catron, 10 Humph. (Tenn.) 24.

13. Farrar v. Cooper, 34 Me. 394.

14. Robie v. Sedgwick, 35 Barb. (N. Y.) 319; Philadelphia v. Riddle, 25 Pa. St. 259; Perkins v. Blood, 36 Vt. 273; 2 Washburn Real Prop. §§ 453, 457.

15. Clark v. Hammerle, 36 Mo. 620; Fine v. St. Louis Public Schools, 30 Mo. 166; Landes v. Perkins, 12 Mo. 238; Sideck v. Duran, 67 Tex. 256, 3 S. W. 264; Tiebout v. Millican, 61 Tex. 514; Dikes v. Miller, 24 Tex. 417.

Title acquired by possession merely may be lost by abandonment of it. Jones v. Merrimack River Lumber Co., 31 N. H. 381.

Inchoate rights in land, such as rights dependent on possession and not ripened into legal titles; mining claims and rights appurtenant thereto;[16] and equitable rights,[17] may be lost by abandonment.

Incorporeal hereditaments acquired by user may be lost by non-user continued for the time required for their acquisition; but incorporeal hereditaments acquired by deed cannot be lost by non-user unless there is also shown some adverse possession, or loss of title in some of the ways recognized by law, or the destruction of the easement, or some act of the owner making its legitimate use impossible, or some other unequivocal act showing an intention permanently to abandon the same and often accompanied by some act creating an estoppel.[18]

B. Personal Property. Title to personal property may be lost by abandonment.[19]

IV. Pleading and Proof of Abandonment.

Where the strict legal title is not involved, and the plaintiff relies upon a right to recover founded upon inchoate possession, the defendant, under the general issue, without pleading abandonment, may prove abandonment of the premises by the plaintiff before the defendant's entry.[20]

V. Evidence of Abandonment.

A. In General. Upon a question of abandonment, as upon a question of fraud, a wide range should be allowed as to evidence, for it is generally only from facts and circumstances that the truth is to be discovered, and both parties should be allowed to prove any fact or circumstance from which any aid for the solution of the question can be derived.[21]

B. Presumption and Burden of Proof. An intention to abandon property for which the party has paid a consideration will not be presumed,[22] and the burden of showing an abandonment rests upon the one who asserts it.[23]

16. Dikes v. Miller, 24 Tex. 417, wherein it was held that an incipient right to land, as a location, a survey, or other merely equitable title not perfected into a grant or vested by deed, may be lost by abandonment. Gluckauf v. Reed, 22 Cal. 469; Davis v. Butler, 6 Cal. 510; Dodge v. Marden, 7 Oreg. 456, 460; Philadelphia v. Riddle, 25 Pa. St. 259.

17. Picket v. Dowdall, 2 Wash. (Va.) 106.

Public rights.— In Derby v. Alling, 40 Conn. 410, it was held that public as well as private rights might be lost by an abandonment of them by those interested in enforcing them.

18. Arnold v. Stevens, 24 Pick. (Mass.) 106, 35 Am. Dec. 305; Smyles v. Hastings, 22 N. Y. 217; Wiggins v. McCleary, 49 N. Y. 346; Conabeer v. New York Cent., etc., R. Co., 156 N. Y. 474, 51 N. E. 402; Snell v. Levitt, 110 N. Y. 595, 18 N. E. 370; White v. Manhattan R. Co., 139 N. Y. 19, 34 N. E. 887; Roby v. New York Cent., etc., R. Co., 142 N. Y. 176, 36 N. E. 1053.

19. McGoon v. Ankeny, 11 Ill. 558; Tiebout v. Millican, 61 Tex. 514.

20. Willson v. Cleaveland, 30 Cal. 192.

Necessity of special plea.— Evidence of the abandonment of a mining claim by a party suing to recover the same is admissible, without a special plea thereof, under a denial of title in the plaintiff, pleaded by the defendant. Bell v. Bed Rock Tunnel, etc., Co., 36 Cal. 214.

21. Bell v. Bed Rock Tunnel, etc., Co., 36 Cal. 214, wherein it was held that, the leaving being established, it was competent for the opposite party to show any acts explanatory of the leaving which tend to show that it was not accompanied with an intent not to return.

Where the owner of land quit his occupancy, removed his mill from it, and subsequently, as an insolvent, made a sworn inventory which did not contain the land, these facts were held to be evidence for the jury. Barada v. Blumenthal, 20 Mo. 162.

Evidence of intent.— Evidence that the plaintiff left the premises sued for, removed his improvements to another tract in the vicinity, and knew of the entry of the defendants on the premises and their claim of title thereto, is competent as bearing upon the intentions of the plaintiff with reference to the premises. Sweeney v. Reilly, 42 Cal. 402.

22. Hicks v. Steigleman, 49 Miss. 377.

Land location.— In Troutman v. May, 33 Pa. St. 455, it was said that circumstances must be very strong to presume that the owner of a location has abandoned his title to the land.

Rebuttal of presumption.— The fact that a party, when ceasing to occupy premises, left an agent in charge of them, is sufficient, of itself, to rebut the presumption of abandonment arising from the cessation of his occupancy, and to render the question of abandonment one of intention proper for determination by a jury. Keane v. Cannovan, 21 Cal. 291, 82 Am. Dec. 738.

23. Tayon v. Ladew, 33 Mo. 205.

C. Acts and Declarations of the Party Abandoning. The acts and declarations of the party abandoning, made at the time of his alleged abandonment, are competent on the question of abandonment.[24]

VI. Province of Court and Jury.

The question of abandonment is one of fact to be determined by the jury from all the circumstances of the case.[25] In Pennsylvania, however, it has been held that an abandonment of land by a settler is not in all cases a matter of fact; it may be a conclusion of law from facts.[26] Thus, where the question arises from mere lapse of time it is a question of law to be decided by the court without regard to the intention of the party.[27]

VII. Effect of Abandonment.

An abandonment divests a title as fully as a conveyance[23] and operates from the time of the act of abandonment.[29]

ABARNARE. To discover and disclose to a magistrate any secret crime.[1]

AB ASSUETIS NON FIT INJURIA. A maxim meaning "from things to which we are accustomed, no legal wrong results."[2]

ABATAMENTUM. A word of art meaning an entry by interposition.[3]

ABATARE. In old English law, to Abate,[4] q. v.

ABATE. A generic term, derived from the French word "abattre," and signifying to quash, beat down, or destroy.[5]

24. Kercheval v. Ambler, 4 Dana (Ky.) 166; Dodge v. Marden, 7 Oreg. 456.

Where the defendant claims an abandonment of premises by the plaintiff's intestate, the declarations of the plaintiff's intestate, made in reply to an application to sell the premises, tending to rebut any presumption of abandonment, are admissible. Perkins v. Blood, 36 Vt. 273.

25. California.— Roberts v. Unger, 30 Cal. 676; Keane v. Cannovan, 21 Cal. 291, 82 Am. Dec. 738.

Connecticut.— McArthur v. Morgan, 49 Conn. 347; Russell v. Davis, 38 Conn. 562.

Illinois.— Wilson v. Pearson, 20 Ill. 81.

Missouri.— Clark v. Hammerle, 36 Mo. 620; Fine v. St. Louis Public Schools, 30 Mo. 166; Landes v. Perkins, 12 Mo. 238.

New York.— Wiggins v. McCleary, 49 N. Y. 346.

South Carolina.— Parkins v. Dunham, 3 Strobh. (S. C.) 224.

Texas.— Hollingsworth v. Holshousen, 17 Tex. 41; Simpson v. McLemore, 8 Tex. 448.

Vermont.— Langdon v. Templeton, 66 Vt. 173, 28 Atl. 866; Patchin v. Stroud, 28 Vt. 394.

26. Sample v. Robb, 16 Pa. St. 305; Atchison v. McCulloch, 5 Watts (Pa.) 13; Miller v. Cresson, 5 Watts & S. (Pa.) 284; Forster v. McDivit, 5 Watts & S. (Pa.) 359.

27. Brentlinger v. Hutchinson, 1 Watts (Pa.) 46; Clemmins v. Gottshall, 4 Yeates (Pa.) 330; Grant v. Allison, 43 Pa. St. 427, holding that a dereliction of possession for more than ten years, by a claimant of land by settlement and improvement, unexplained by evidence, amounts to abandonment by presumption of law and lapse of time.

Intention doubtful.— Where, from the evidence, the intention of a settler of land to abandon is doubtful, it must be referred to the jury. Heath v. Biddle, 9 Pa. St. 273.

28. Gluckauf v. Reed, 22 Cal. 468; McGoon v. Ankeny, 11 Ill. 558.

Property of finder.— Property derelict and abandoned, either on the high seas or anywhere else, belongs to the first finder who reduces it to possession. Wyman v. Hurlburt, 12 Ohio 81, 40 Am. Dec. 461.

29. Davis v. Butler, 6 Cal. 510.

Right of appropriation contingent on abandonment.— In Dougherty v. Creary, 30 Cal. 290, 89 Am. Dec. 116, it was held that if miners engaged in washing their mining claims with water abandon the water and tailings which pass from their mining grounds, any other persons have a right to take and appropriate the same to their own use, and their right to the water and tailings is contingent on the fact of continual abandonment; but it is not obligatory on the persons abandoning to continue to do so, even though other persons, encouraged by the circumstance of abandonment for a time, have incurred the expense of constructing flumes to use the water and tailings abandoned.

1. Jacob L. Dict.

2. Wharton L. Lex.

3. Coke Litt. 277*a*; Bedell v. Lull, Yelv. 151, Cro. Jac. 221.

4. Burrill L. Dict.

Used in the past tense (abatavit,— she abated) in Bedell v. Lull, Yelv. 151, Cro. Jac. 221.

5. Case v. Humphrey, 6 Conn. 130; 3 Bl. Comm. 168.

Abate is both an English and French word, and signifieth in its proper sense to diminish or take away. In another sense it signifieth to prostrate, beat down, or overthrow. Coke Litt. 277*a*.

ABATEMENT. A making less or destroying.[6] (For Abatement: Of Action, see Abatement and Revival. Of Appeal, see Appeal and Error; Criminal Law. Of Bastardy Proceedings, see Bastards. Of Criminal Prosecution, see Criminal Law. Of Freehold Estates, see Estates; Forcible Entry and Detainer. Of Nuisances, see Health; Intoxicating Liquors; Municipal Corporations; Nuisances. Of Obstructions, see Easements; Private Roads; Streets and Highways; Waters. Of Price of Land, see Vendor and Purchaser. Of Price on Account of Deficiency of Goods, see Sales. Of Rent, see Landlord and Tenant. Of Tax, see Taxation. Of Writ of Error, see Appeal and Error. On Foreclosure, see Mortgages. Pleas in, see Attachment; Criminal Law; Equity; Pleading.)

6. Wharton L. Lex.

ABATEMENT AND REVIVAL

By Archibald C. Boyd

CROSS-REFERENCES

For Abatement of:
Admiralty Proceedings, see ADMIRALTY.
Bastardy Proceedings, see BASTARDS.
Criminal Proceedings, see CRIMINAL LAW.
Proceedings on Appeal:
In Civil Cases, see APPEAL AND ERROR.
In Criminal Cases, see CRIMINAL LAW.
For Abatement of Action by Reason of:
Alienage of Party, see WAR.
Assignment for Benefit of Creditors, see ASSIGNMENTS FOR BENEFIT OF CREDITORS.
Bankruptcy of Party, see BANKRUPTCY.
Champertous Transaction, see CHAMPERTY AND MAINTENANCE.
Consolidation of Corporation-Party, see CORPORATIONS.
Coverture, see HUSBAND AND WIFE.
Defect in Process, see ATTACHMENT; DISMISSAL AND NONSUIT; PROCESS.
Defective Service of Process, see PROCESS.
Defect of Parties, see CORPORATIONS; EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS; HUSBAND AND WIFE; PARTIES; PARTNERSHIP.
Disqualification of Judge, see JUDGES.
Dissolution of Corporation-Party, see CORPORATIONS.
Divorce of Party, see DIVORCE.
Failure to Give Security for Costs, see COSTS.
Immunity from Process, see PROCESS.
Incapacity of Party to Sue or to Be Sued, see PARTIES.
Infancy, see INFANTS.
Insanity of Party, see INSANE PERSONS.
Insolvency of Party, see ASSIGNMENTS FOR BENEFIT OF CREDITORS; INSOLVENCY.
Loss of Instrument or Paper, see LOST INSTRUMENTS.
Marriage of Female Party, see HUSBAND AND WIFE.
Misjoinder of Parties, see PARTIES.

For Abatement of Action by Reason of — (continued).
Misnomer of Party, see PARTIES; PROCESS.
Non-Joinder of Parties, see PARTIES.
Premature Commencement of Suit, see ACTIONS.
Sentence in Criminal Prosecution, see CONVICTS.
Submission to Arbitration, see ARBITRATION AND AWARD.
Variance between Process and Other Papers, see ATTACHMENT; PROCESS.
Want of Jurisdiction, see COURTS; VENUE.
For Pleas or Answers in Abatement:
In General, see PLEADING.
In Admiralty Proceedings, see ADMIRALTY.
In Chancery, see EQUITY.
In Criminal Proceedings, see CRIMINAL LAW.

I. NATURE AND EFFECT OF ABATEMENT.

A. In General. Pleas in abatement, being dilatory pleas, are not favored either at common law[1] or under the code,[2] and can be used only to present matter which defeats the present suit.[3] Matter which denies the right of action must be pleaded in bar.[4]

B. At Law — 1. EFFECT ON PRINCIPAL SUIT. At law an abatement of a suit is a complete termination of it.[5]

2. EFFECT ON ANCILLARY PROCEEDING. The abatement of the main action abates proceedings ancillary or collateral to it.[6]

1. Alabama.— Nabors v. Nabors, 2 Port. (Ala.) 162.
Illinois.— Archer v. Claflin, 31 Ill. 306.
Kansas.— Bliss v. Burnes, McCahon (Kan.) 91.
Maryland.— Wilms v. White, 26 Md. 380, 90 Am. Dec. 113.
Missouri.— Hatry v. Shuman, 13 Mo. 547.
Pennsylvania.— Good Intent Co. v. Hartzell, 22 Pa. St. 277; Harrison v. Tillinghast, 3 Kulp (Pa.) 270; Fritz v. Thompson, 3 Clark (Pa.) 401, 5 Pa. L. J. 423; Chamberlin v. Hite, 5 Watts (Pa.) 373; Witmer v. Schlatter, 15 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 150.
Tennessee.— Grove v. Campbell, 9 Yerg. (Tenn.) 7.
Virginia.— Guarantee Co. of North America v. Lynchburg First Nat. Bank, 95 Va. 480, 28 S. E. 909.
Wisconsin.— Bevier v. Dillingham, 18 Wis. 529.
England.— Ryland v. Wormald, 2 M. & W. 393; Roberts v. Moon, 5 T. R. 487.

2. Bliss v. Burnes, McCahon (Kan.) 91.

3. Alabama.— Roberts v. Heim, 27 Ala. 678.
Arkansas.— Fowler v. Scott, 11 Ark. 675; Peel v. Ringgold, 6 Ark. 546; Didier v. Galloway, 3 Ark. 501.
California.— Primm v. Gray, 10 Cal. 522.
Missouri.— Kincaid v. Storz, 52 Mo. App. 564.
Texas.—Tinnin v. Weatherford, Dall. (Tex.) 590.
Subsequent irregularities.— If a suit is rightly commenced, no irregularity afterward is properly the subject of a plea in abatement. Stapp v. Thomason, 2 Litt. (Ky.) 214.

4. Roberts v. Heim, 27 Ala. 678; Morgan v. Butterfield, 3 Mich. 615; Kincaid v. Storz, 52 Mo. App. 564; Tinnin v. Weatherford, Dall. (Tex.) 590.
An accord and satisfaction, being matter in bar, is not pleadable in abatement. Pennington v. Hamilton, 50 Ind. 397.

5. Ex p. Kirtland, 49 Ala. 403; State Bank v. Bates, 10 Ark. 631; Crane v. French, 38 Miss. 503; Hoxie v. Carr, 1 Sumn. (U. S.) 173, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,802; 3 Bl. Comm. 108.
Another suit pending.— A plaintiff's claim is not defeated by the fact that a former action between the same parties for the same cause is pending, but the fact asserted by the plea of such prior action turns him over to the pursuit of his claim in the action first commenced. Com. v. Cope, 45 Pa. St. 161.
Not a bar to new suit.— A judgment of abatement is not a bar to the issuance of a new writ or the institution of a new suit. Adams v. State, 9 Ark. 33.

6. Wintz v. Webb, 14 N. C. 27; Robertson v. Bingley, 1 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 333; Hagerty v. Hughes, 4 Baxt. (Tenn.) 222; Maxwell v. Lea, 6 Heisk. (Tenn.) 247; Gibson v. Carroll, 1 Heisk. (Tenn.) 23; Jones v. Cloud, 4 Coldw. (Tenn.) 236.
For abatement of principal suit destroying ancillary proceeding, see also ATTACHMENT; EQUITY; GARNISHMENT.
Ancillary bill.— Where a bill in equity is merely ancillary to a suit at law, if the latter abates the former does also. Robertson v. Bingley, 1 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 333.
An interplea between a plaintiff and a garnishee is abated by the death of the defendant in the attachment. Wintz v. Webb, 14 N. C. 27.
Effect of abatement of attachment on main action.— Where a plea in abatement of an attachment in aid of a suit is sustained, the main suit may go on. Brackett v. Brackett,

C. In Equity. In equity an abatement means merely a state of suspended animation from which the suit may be revived.[7]

II. Another Action Pending.[8]

A. General Rule — 1. Statement of Rule. It is a general principle of the law that the pendency of a prior suit for the same thing, or as is commonly said, for the same cause of action, between the same parties in a court of competent jurisdiction, will abate a later suit.[9]

2. Reason of Rule. The principle on which pleas of another action pending are sustained is that the law, which abhors a multiplicity of suits, will not permit a debtor to be harassed and oppressed by two actions to recover the same demand where the creditor can obtain a complete remedy by one of them.[10]

61 Mo. 221; Jones v. Snodgrass, 54 Mo. 597; Peery v. Harper, 42 Mo. 131. But see Gayoso Sav. Inst. v. Burrow, 37 Tex. 88, which was a case of an attachment sued out by non-residents and levied on land of a non-resident corporation. The attachment was quashed on account of defects in the bond. It was held that the suit abated.

7. Floyd v. Ritter, 65 Ala. 501; Ex p. Kirtland, 49 Ala. 403; Zoellner v. Zoellner, 46 Mich. 511, 9 N. W. 831; Evans v. Cleveland, 72 N. Y. 486; Taylor v. Taylor, 43 N. Y. 578; De Agreda v. Mantel, 1 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 130; Clarke v. Mathewson, 12 Pet. (U. S.) 164, 9 L. ed. 1041; Mellus v. Thompson, 1 Cliff. (U. S.) 125, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,405; Hoxie v. Carr, 1 Sumn. (U. S.) 173, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,802.

8. As to another suit pending as a ground of continuance, see Continuances.

As to injunction against other action, see Injunctions.

As to stay of proceedings because of another suit pending, see Actions.

9. Numerous authorities sustain the text, among which may be cited the following cases:

Alabama.— Troy Fertilizer Co. v. Prestwood, 116 Ala. 119, 22 So. 262; Foster v. Napier, 73 Ala. 595.

Arkansas.— Moss v. Ashbrooks, 12 Ark. 369.

California.— Dyer v. Scalmanini, 69 Cal. 637, 11 Pac. 327.

Connecticut.— Damon v. Denny, 54 Conn. 253, 7 Atl. 409; Quinebaug Bank v. Tarbox, 20 Conn. 510; Beach v. Norton, 8 Conn. 71.

District of Columbia.— National Express, etc., Co. v. Burdette, 7 App. Cas. (D. C.) 551.

Georgia.— Heath v. Bates, 70 Ga. 633.

Illinois.— Steele v. Grand Trunk Junction R. Co., 125 Ill. 385, 17 N. E. 483; Branigan v. Rose, 8 Ill. 123.

Indiana.— Shepard v. Meridian Nat. Bank, 149 Ind. 20, 48 N. E. 352; Loyd v. Reynolds, 29 Ind. 299.

Iowa.— Rawson v. Guiberson, 6 Iowa 507.

Kansas.— Challiss v. Smith, 25 Kan. 563.

Kentucky.— Graves v. Dale, 1 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 190.

Louisiana.— Rochereau v. Lewis, 26 La. Ann. 581; Bischoff v. Theurer, 8 La. Ann. 15; Kline v. Freret, 5 La. Ann. 494; Dick v. Gilmer, 4 La. Ann. 520.

Maine.— Fahy v. Brannagan, 56 Me. 42.

Massachusetts.—Com. v. Churchill, 5 Mass. 174.

Michigan.— Wales v. Jones, 1 Mich. 254.

Minnesota.— Merriam v. Baker, 9 Minn. 40.

Missouri.— Warder v. Henry, 117 Mo. 530, 23 S. W. 776.

Nebraska.— State v. Matley, 17 Nebr. 564, 24 N. W. 200.

New Hampshire.—Rogers v. Odell, 39 N. H. 417.

New Jersey.— Hixon v. Schooley, 26 N. J. L. 461; Schenck v. Schenck, 10 N. J. L. 327.

New York.— Porter v. Kingsbury, 77 N. Y. 164; Baker v. Baker, 70 Hun (N. Y.) 95, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 1083; Lewis v. Maloney, 12 Hun (N. Y.) 207; Gregory v. Gregory, 33 N. Y. Super. Ct. 1; Ratzer v. Ratzer, 2 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 461; Danvers v. Dorrity, 14 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 206; Ward v. Gore, 37 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 119.

North Carolina.— Alexander v. Norwood, 118 N. C. 381, 24 S. E. 119; McNeill v. Currie, 117 N. C. 341, 23 S. E. 216; Smith v. Moore, 79 N. C. 82; Gray v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 77 N. C. 299; Claywell v. Sudderth, 77 N. C. 287; Woody v. Jordan, 69 N. C. 189; Harris v. Johnson, 65 N. C. 478.

Ohio.— Weil v. Guerin, 42 Ohio St. 299.

Oregon.— Crane v. Larsen, 15 Oreg. 345, 15 Pac. 326.

Pennsylvania.— Cleveland, etc., R. Co. v. Erie, 27 Pa. St. 380.

Rhode Island.— O'Reilly v. New York, etc., R. Co., 16 R. I. 388, 17 Atl. 171, 906, 19 Atl. 244, 5 L. R. A. 364.

South Carolina.— Walters v. Laurens Cotton Mills, 53 S. C. 155, 31 S. E. 1.

Vermont.— Kirby v. Jackson, 42 Vt. 552.

Washington.— Tacoma v. Commercial Electric Light, etc., Co., 15 Wash. 515, 46 Pac. 1043.

Wisconsin.— Blair v. Cary, 9 Wis. 543.

United States.— Renner v. Marshall, 1 Wheat. (U. S.) 215, 4 L. ed. 74; Harvey v. Lord, 10 Fed. 236; Wadleigh v. Veazie, 3 Sumn. (U. S.) 165, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 17,031.

England.— Sparry's Case, 5 Coke 61*a*.

Canada.— Bain v. Bain, 10 U. C. Q. B. 572; Commercial Bank v. Jarvis, 6 U. C. Q. B. O. S. 257.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 25 et seq.

10. The principle is based upon the supposition that the first is effective and available and affords an ample remedy to the cred-

3. Limitations of Rule. The rule, however, is not one of unbending rigor or of universal application, nor is it a principle of absolute law. It is rather a rule of justice and equity, generally applicable, and always so where the two suits are virtually alike and in the same jurisdiction.[11]

B. Vexatiousness of Second Action — 1. As Conclusion of Law. Upon a plea of a former action pending it has been held in some courts that vexatiousness is a conclusion of law drawn from the fact of two suits brought by one person against another for one cause and pending at one time.[12]

2. As Question of Fact. Other courts, instead of regarding the second suit as necessarily vexatious, have gone into inquiry as to whether it was in fact vexatious, on the principle that, as the reason for the adoption of the rule that the pendency of one action will abate a second is to prevent vexation, the rule should cease where the reason for it does not exist.[13] itor, and that hence the second suit is unnecessary and consequently vexatious.

Alabama.— Coaldale Brick, etc., Co. v. Southern Constr. Co., 110 Ala. 605, 19 So. 45; Foster v. Napier, 73 Ala. 595.

California.— Dyer v. Scalmanini, 69 Cal. 637, 11 Pac. 327.

Connecticut.— Hatch v. Spofford, 22 Conn. 485, 58 Am. Dec. 433; Quinebaug Bank v. Tarbox, 20 Conn. 510; Durand v. Carrington, 1 Root (Conn.) 355.

District of Columbia.— National Express, etc., Co. v. Burdette, 7 App. Cas. (D. C.) 551.

Illinois.— Branigan v. Rose, 8 Ill. 123.

Michigan.— Wales v. Jones, 1 Mich. 254.

Minnesota.— Merriam v. Baker, 9 Minn. 40.

Missouri.— Warder v. Henry, 117 Mo. 530, 23 S. W. 776; Jacobs v. Lewis, 47 Mo. 344; State v. Dougherty, 45 Mo. 294.

New Hampshire.— Gamsby v. Ray, 52 N. H. 513.

New York.— Porter v. Kingsbury, 77 N. Y. 164; Crossman v. Universal Rubber Co., 60 N. Y. Super. Ct. 68, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 609; Smith v. Compton, 20 Barb. (N. Y.) 262; Compton v. Green, 9 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 228.

North Carolina.— Smith v. Moore, 79 N. C. 82.

Vermont.— Downer v. Garland, 21 Vt. 362.

United States.— Peterson v. U. S., 26 Ct. Cl. 93; Earl v. Raymond, 4 McLean (U. S.) 233, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,243.

11. Hatch v. Spofford, 22 Conn. 485, 58 Am. Dec. 433.

First suit instituted without authority.— The rule will not apply where it appears that the first suit was commenced without plaintiff's authority. Wolf v. Great Northern R. Co., 72 Minn. 435, 75 N. W. 702.

12. 1 Bacon Abr. 13; Jones v. McPhillips, 82 Ala. 102, 2 So. 468; Napier v. Foster, 80 Ala. 379; Foster v. Napier, 73 Ala. 595; Gamsby v. Ray, 52 N. H. 513, holding that it is not a matter of fact depending upon the question whether the first action was defective, or whether plaintiff was justified in seeking better security in the second, or whether, upon some other special ground, it is equitable that the second should be commenced while the first is pending.

Void affidavit or process.— If the affidavit or process by which a suit was commenced is void, a plea of the pendency of such suit in abatement of a subsequent suit falls. Ernst v. Hogue, 86 Ala. 502, 5 So. 738; Minniece v. Jeter, 65 Ala. 222.

13. Dyer v. Scalmanini, 69 Cal. 637, 11 Pac. 327; Quinebaug Bank v. Tarbox, 20 Conn. 510.

It is upon the application of this principle that such courts hold that a second suit is not vexatious, and consequently not abatable, when it appears that the prior suit is ineffectual or so defective that the second is necessary to secure the demand.

California.— Dyer v. Scalmanini, 69 Cal. 637, 11 Pac. 327.

Connecticut.— Quinebaug Bank v. Tarbox, 20 Conn. 510; Ward v. Curtiss, 18 Conn. 290; Durand v. Carrington, 1 Root (Conn.) 355.

District of Columbia.— National Express, etc., Co. v. Burdette, 7 App. Cas. (D. C.) 551.

Georgia.— Gilmore v. Georgia R., etc., Co., 93 Ga. 482, 21 S. E. 50; Heath v. Bates, 70 Ga. 633; Rogers v. Hoskins, 15 Ga. 270.

Illinois.— Phillips v. Quick, 68 Ill. 324.

Michigan.— Wheeler v. Hatheway, 58 Mich. 77, 24 N. W. 780; Wales v. Jones, 1 Mich. 254.

Missouri.—State v. Dougherty, 45 Mo. 294.

New York.— Compton v. Green, 9 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 228.

Texas.— Langham v. Thomason, 5 Tex. 127.

Vermont.— Downer v. Garland, 21 Vt. 362; Hill v. Dunlap, 15 Vt. 645.

United States.— Peterson v. U. S., 26 Ct. Cl. 93.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 31 et seq.

Complaint stating no cause of action will not support a plea of a former action pending. Reynolds v. Harris, 9 Cal. 338; Drea v. Cariveau, 28 Minn. 280, 9 N. W. 802.

Failure to allege condition precedent.— The pendency of a bill in which full relief cannot be had by reason of the failure to allege a necessary condition precedent to suing will not abate a subsequent suit at law. Griffin v. Board of Mississippi Levee Com'rs, 71 Miss. 767, 15 So. 107.

Failure to make demand in first action.— The suit first commenced not being maintainable because of failure to make the proper statutory demand, its pendency will not defeat plaintiff's right to maintain an action

C. Pendency of Prior Action — 1. Necessity of Pendency. The first suit must be pending to be available in abatement of a second suit between the same parties for the same cause.[14]

2. When Action Deemed Pending — a. Suing Out of Writ. But there is much diversity of opinion as to what constitutes the pendency of an action to be thus available. Thus it has been held that, at law, the suing out of the writ constitutes the pendency of a suit without any further step.[15]

b. Service of Writ. In other states it is held that an action is not pending, to be available in abatement, until after service of the writ[16] or of process therein.[17] by giving the required notice and commencing again. O'Malia v. Glynn, 42 Ill. App. 51.

First action premature.—A prior suit pending in which there can be no recovery because it was prematurely brought is no bar to a recovery in a new suit for the same cause of action. Blackwood v. Brown, 34 Mich. 4.

Illegal service of process.— An illegal service of process is not the commencement of an action the pendency of which may be objected to a second suit. Byne v. Byne, 1 Rich. (S. C.) 438.

Informality in bond.— The dismissal of an action in replevin for informality in the replevin bond is no bar to a second action of replevin for the same property between the same parties. Morton v. Sweetser, 12 Allen (Mass.) 134.

New action to avoid statute of limitations. — A plea of the pendency of another action is properly overruled where, to avoid the bar of the statute of limitations, plaintiff institutes a second action before dismissing his first. Norfolk, etc., R. Co. v. Nunnally, 88 Va. 546, 14 S. E. 367.

14. California.— Primm v. Gray, 10 Cal. 522.

Colorado.— Craig v. Smith, 10 Colo. 220, 15 Pac. 337; Yentzer v. Thayer, 10 Colo. 63, 14 Pac. 53, 3 Am. St. Rep. 563.

Illinois.— Bancroft v. Eastman, 7 Ill. 259.

Indiana.— Lee v. Hefley, 21 Ind. 98.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Churchill, 5 Mass. 174; Clifford v. Cony, 1 Mass. 495.

Michigan.— Pew v. Yoare, 12 Mich. 16; Wales v. Jones, 1 Mich. 254.

Minnesota.— Phelps v. Winona, etc., R. Co., 37 Minn. 485, 35 N. W. 273, 5 Am. St. Rep. 867.

New York.— Porter v. Kingsbury, 77 N. Y. 164; O'Beirne v. Lloyd, 1 Sweeny (N. Y.) 19; Hadden v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 57 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 390.

Vermont.— Kirby v. Jackson, 42 Vt. 552; Downer v. Garland, 21 Vt. 362; Hill v. Dunlap, 15 Vt. 645.

Canada.— March v. Burns, 1 U. C. C. P. 334.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 35 et seq.

Destruction by fire of the papers in the first suit furnishes no ground for the institution of the second suit. The lost records should have been supplied as provided for by statute. Tolle v. Alley, (Ky. 1893) 24 S. W. 113.

Priority and not mere pendency of another suit founded on the same cause of action is available under a plea in abatement. Humphries v. Dawson, 38 Ala. 199.

See also infra, II, W.

Warrant in bastardy proceeding.— A complaint under the statute concerning the maintenance of bastard children, made before a police court five years previous, on which no proceedings have been had subsequent to the issuing of a warrant, and which has not been tried or brought forward on the docket, cannot be deemed to be a pending suit in any such sense as to operate in abatement of a new complaint. Meredith v. Wall, 14 Allen (Mass.) 155.

15. Fowler v. Byrd, Hempst. (U. S.) 213, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,999*a*, wherein it is held that neither service of process nor any other proceeding is required to form a ground of a plea of another action pending for the same cause.

Suit before appearance in garnishment.— A foreign attachment between the same parties for the same cause of action in another state does not become an action pending between them until appearance thereto by defendant. And where the appearance is after the service of the writ in the action in the state, the pendency of the foreign suit cannot be pleaded in bar or abatement of the action in the state. Wilson v. Mechanics' Sav. Bank, 45 Pa. St. 488.

Filing of bill.— An action by bill on a statute to recover a penalty is so far considered as pending from the day the bill is filed, and before any process issues, that it may be pleaded in abatement of a subsequent suit for the same cause. Hawkins P. C. bk. 2, cap. 26, § 63.

16. Kirby v. Jackson, 42 Vt. 552; Downer v. Garland, 21 Vt. 362.

Merely suing out of a writ, the same not being served, will not abate a writ subsequently sued out and served. Morton v. Webb, 7 Vt. 123.

Pendency of second suit.— In order to constitute the commencement and pendency of an action in the sense that the pendency of a prior suit would abate the latter, the service of the writ in the second suit must have been such as would call defendant to answer to such second suit. Kirby v. Jackson, 42 Vt. 552.

17. Primm v. Gray, 10 Cal. 522; Weaver v. Conger, 10 Cal. 233; D. G. Burton Co. v. Cowan, 80 Hun (N. Y.) 392, 30 N. Y. Suppl.

c. Return of Writ. Again it has been held that the writ in the suit pleaded in abatement must be returned and entered before it can be pleaded.[18]

d. Service of Complaint. It has also been held that a plea in abatement of the pendency of a prior action fails where it appears that, though a summons has been issued and served in such prior action, no complaint has been served or filed in it.[19]

D. Dismissal or Discontinuance of Prior Action — 1. Effect of Dismissal. By the great weight of modern authority the dismissal or discontinuance in apt time of a prior action defeats a plea in abatement of the pendency of such action.[20]

2. Dismissal for Want of Jurisdiction. The plea will not be sustained where the prior action was dismissed for want of jurisdiction before the second action was commenced.[21]

3. Time of Dismissal — a. Before Plea in Abatement. There is a general concurrence of opinion that the dismissal or discontinuance of the first suit before the plea of the pendency of such suit is filed in the second suit defeats the plea.[22]

317; Warner v. Warner, 6 Misc. (N. Y.) 249, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 160, 57 N. Y. St. 763.

Failure to serve process.— Where a process is not served on the day fixed for its return, the action is discontinued. Consequently such action cannot be pleaded in abatement of an action commenced on the return-day of the first process. Webster v. Laws, 86 N. C. 178.

Illegal service of process is not the commencement of an action the pendency of which may be objected to a second suit. Byne v. Byne, 1 Rich. (S. C.) 438.

18. Perkins v. Perkins, 7 Conn. 558, 18 Am. Dec. 120; Com. v. Churchill, 5 Mass. 174; Bullock v. Bolles, 9 R. I. 501.

Levy and return of attachment.— An attachment sued out and returnable into a court of record having jurisdiction of the case, when levied and returned, is the commencement of a suit and may be pleaded in abatement to a suit subsequently instituted for the same cause. Reynolds v. McClure, 13 Ala. 159; Dean v. Massey, 7 Ala. 601.

19. Phelps v. Gee, 29 Hun (N. Y.) 202; Hoag v. Weston, 10 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 92.

20. Arkansas.— Grider v. Apperson, 32 Ark. 332.

California.— Moore v. Hopkins, 83 Cal. 270, 23 Pac. 318, 17 Am. St. Rep. 248.

Iowa.— Rawson v. Guiberson, 6 Iowa 507.

Louisiana.— Schmidt v. Braunn, 10 La. Ann. 26.

Maryland.— Leavitt v. Mowe, 54 Md. 613.

Michigan.— Wales v. Jones, 1 Mich. 254.

Minnesota.— Nichols v. State Bank, 45 Minn. 102, 47 N. W. 462.

Missouri.— Warder v. Henry, 117 Mo. 530, 23 S. W. 776; Rhoades v. McNulty, 52 Mo. App. 301.

New York.— Crossman v. Universal Rubber Co., 127 N. Y. 34, 27 N. E. 400, 13 L. R. A. 91, 131 N. Y. 636, 30 N. E. 225; Hyatt v. Ingalls, 124 N. Y. 93, 26 N. E. 285; Averill v. Patterson, 10 N. Y. 500; Butler v. Jarvis, 51 Hun (N. Y.) 248, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 137; Hallett v. Hallett, 24 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 102, 30 N. Y. Suppl. 946; American Bible Soc. v. Hague, 4 Edw. (N. Y.) 117; Marston v. Lawrence, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 397; Beals v. Cameron, 3 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 414.

Pennsylvania.— Findlay v. Keim, 62 Pa. St. 112.

Rhode Island.— Banigan v. Woonsocket Rubber Co., (R. I. 1900) 46 Atl. 183.

Vermont.— Kirby v. Jackson, 42 Vt. 552.

Virginia.— Williamson v. Paxton, 18 Gratt. (Va.) 475.

Wisconsin.— Boland v. Benson, 50 Wis. 225, 6 N. W. 819.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 111 et seq.

But see Com. v. Churchill, 5 Mass. 174; Gamsby v. Ray, 52 N. H. 513; Parker v. Colcord, 2 N. H. 36; Le Clerc v. Wood, 2 Pinn. (Wis.) 37, wherein it was held that if a subsequent action be commenced while a prior one between the same parties and for the same cause of action is pending, the pendency of the prior one may be pleaded in abatement though discontinued before plea pleaded.

Dismissal at instance of defendant.— The defendant to a suit which has been dismissed at his own instance cannot, by moving to set aside the judgment, keep the suit pending so as to be an impediment in the way of a new suit in the same cause of action. Bailey v. Bremond, 7 Tex. 537.

Dismissal by stipulation.— An action will not be dismissed on the ground that at the time it was commenced there was another action pending between the same parties for the same cause of action, if prior to the trial of the second action the former had been dismissed by stipulation of the parties. Dyer v. Scalmanini, 69 Cal. 637, 11 Pac. 327.

21. Smith v. Walke, 43 S. C. 381, 21 S. E. 249.

22. Alabama.— Coaldale Brick, etc., Co. v. Southern Constr. Co., 110 Ala. 605, 19 So. 45.

Georgia.— Singer v. Scott, 44 Ga. 659.

Iowa.— Pray v. Life Indemnity, etc., Co., 104 Iowa 114, 73 N. W. 485; Toledo Sav. Bank v. Johnston, 94 Iowa 212, 62 N. W. 748.

Kentucky.— Adams v. Gardiner, 13 B. Mon. (Ky.) 197.

Maryland.— Leavitt v. Mowe, 54 Md. 613.

Michigan.— Wales v. Jones, 1 Mich. 254.

Oregon.— Hopwood v. Patterson, 2 Oreg. 49.

Virginia.— Archer v. Ward, 9 Gratt. (Va.) 622.

b. After Plea in Abatement — (I) Common-Law Rule. The authorities are not in accord, however, as to the effect of a dismissal or discontinuance made after the interposition of the plea of another action pending.[23] The rule at common law was to sustain the plea if it was true at the time it was filed. Accordingly, at common law, plaintiff could not, after a plea in abatement of the pendency of a prior suit, avoid the effect of the plea by discontinuing the prior action,[24] and this rule has been followed in some of the states.[25]

(II) Present Rule. The tendency of the later cases and a preponderance of authority sustain the doctrine that it is a good answer to a plea of the pendency of a prior action for the same cause that the former suit has been discontinued, whether the discontinuance be before or after the filing of the plea.[26] Under this doctrine the plea will be overruled unless the prior suit is pending at the time of the trial of the second.[27]

4. Order of Dismissal — a. Entry of Order. It has been held that a judgment or order of dismissal must be entered to make the dismissal of an action available in defeat of a plea of the pendency of such action.[28]

23. See infra, cases cited, notes 25–27.

24. Chitty Pl., (16th Am. ed.) 470.

25. Frogg v. Long, 3 Dana (Ky.) 157, 28 Am. Dec. 69.

26. Arkansas.— Grider v. Apperson, 32 Ark. 332.

Georgia.— Rogers v. Hoskins, 15 Ga. 270.

Kentucky.— Wilson v. Milliken, (Ky. 1898) 44 S. W. 660.

Missouri.— Warder v. Henry, 117 Mo. 530, 23 S. W. 776.

New York.— Porter v. Kingsbury, 77 N. Y. 164; Averill v. Patterson, 10 N. Y. 500; Lord v. Ostrander, 43 Barb. (N. Y.) 337; Trow Printing, etc., Co. v. New York Book-Binding Co., 16 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 120, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 59; Beals v. Cameron, 3 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 414; Marston v. Lawrence, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 397.

Oregon.— Farris v. Hayes, 9 Oreg. 81.

Pennsylvania.— Findlay v. Keim, 62 Pa. St. 112; Toland v. Tichenor, 3 Rawle (Pa.) 320.

Rhode Island.— Banigan v. Woonsocket Rubber Co., (R. I. 1900) 46 Atl. 183.

Texas.— Langham v. Thomason, 5 Tex. 127.

United States.— Chamberlain v. Eckert, 2 Biss. (U. S.) 124, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,576.

27. California.— Balfour-Guthrie Invest. Co. v. Woodworth, 124 Cal. 169, 56 Pac. 891; Moore v. Hopkins, 83 Cal. 270, 23 Pac. 318, 17 Am. St. Rep. 248; Dyer v. Scalmanini, 69 Cal. 637, 11 Pac. 327.

District of Columbia.— National Express, etc., Co. v. Burdette, 7 App. Cas. (D. C.) 551.

Iowa.— Moorman v. Gibbs, 75 Iowa 537, 39 N. W. 832; Ball v. Keokuk, etc., R. Co., 71 Iowa 306, 32 N. W. 354; Rush v. Frost, 49 Iowa 183.

Louisiana.— Schmidt v. Braunn, 10 La. Ann. 26.

Minnesota.— Nichols v. State Bank, 45 Minn. 102, 47 N. W. 462; Page v. Mitchell, 37 Minn. 368, 34 N. W. 896.

New York.— Clark v. Clark, 7 Rob. (N. Y.) 276.

Texas.— Trawick v. Martin Brown Co., 74 Tex. 522, 12 S. W. 216; Payne v. Benham, 16 Tex. 364; International, etc., R. Co. v. Barton, (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 57 S. W. 292; Texas, etc., R. Co. v. Kenna, (Tex. Civ. App. 1899) 52 S. W. 555.

Virginia.— Williamson v. Paxton, 18 Gratt. (Va.) 475.

Wisconsin.— Winner v. Kuehn, 97 Wis. 394, 72 N. W. 227; Bates v. Chesebro, 32 Wis. 594.

Noticing cause for trial.— Where defendant sets up in his answer a former suit pending for the same cause, plaintiff, to make his discontinuance of the first suit effectual and an answer to defendant's plea, must at least discontinue by the time that the issue is regarded as perfected and the cause noticed for trial in the second suit. Swart v. Borst, 17 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 69.

An order permitting the withdrawal of a counterclaim in the former action, obtained since issue was perfected in the second suit and after the same had been noticed by plaintiff upon the issues tendered by the plea, is not sufficient to defeat the plea of former action pending. Demond v. Crary, 1 Fed. 480.

28. Evans v. Johnston, 115 Cal. 180, 46 Pac. 906, wherein it was held that it was not sufficient that a dismissal was ordered by the court and was entered on the minutes; Trow Printing, etc., Co. v. New York Book-Binding Co., 16 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 120, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 59. But see Boland v. Benson, 50 Wis. 225, 6 N. W. 819, wherein defendant pleaded in abatement the pendency of another action in the county court for the same cause. On the trial of this issue by the circuit court it appeared that before the commencement of the second suit the county court, by an order in open court, not formally entered of record at the time it was made, had directed that action to be dismissed, and that afterward, on the hearing of a rule to show cause, it had directed such order to be entered nunc pro tunc. It was held that the circuit court did not err in treating such action as having been dismissed before the second action was brought.

b. Service of Order. It has also been held that the order of dismissal must be served in order to make the dismissal effectual.[29]

5. Payment of Costs. In some states the dismissal of an action after the appearance of defendant therein must be on payment of costs to defeat the plea of another action pending.[30]

E. Appeal or Writ of Error in Prior Action — 1. In General. The pendency of a prior action upon appeal or writ of error defeats a second action between the same parties for the same cause.[31]

2. Operation as Supersedeas. The appeal or writ of error must, however, operate as a supersedeas to be available in abatement of a second action.[32]

Entry of rule.—A pending action cannot be discontinued by notice to defendant. A rule for a discontinuance must be entered with the clerk. Averill v. Patterson, 10 N. Y. 500.

Ex parte order.— Where defendant interposes the plea of the pendency of a former action, plaintiff, if there has been no appearance by defendant in the former action, may effectually answer such plea by the subsequent entry of an ex parte order of discontinuance. Trow Printing, etc., Co. v. New York Book-Binding Co., 16 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 120, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 59.

Failure to enter mandate of appellate court.— A failure to enter final judgment in the trial court on the affirmance, on appeal, of an order of nonsuit, will not support a plea of another action pending, as the nonsuit was an abandonment of the cause. Karnes v. American F. Ins. Co., 53 Mo. App. 438.

29. Trow Printing, etc., Co. v. New York Book-Binding Co., 16 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 120, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 59, wherein it was held that an action could not be discontinued by mere notice.

Written notice of discontinuance.— In Vermont notice of discontinuance need not be in writing to avoid the effect of a plea in abatement of another action pending. Ballou v. Ballou, 26 Vt. 673; Hill v. Dunlap, 15 Vt. 645.

30. Trow Printing, etc., Co. v. New York Book-Binding Co., 16 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 120, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 59; Bedell v. Powell, 13 Barb. (N. Y.) 183; Smith v. White, 7 Hill (N. Y.) 520; International, etc., R. Co. v. Barton, (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 57 S. W. 292.

Discontinuance before appearance.— A suit having been commenced, plaintiff, before receiving notice of retainer, entered a rule for discontinuance without paying or tendering any costs and commenced a second suit against defendants for the same cause, to which they pleaded the pendency of the first suit in abatement. It was held that defendants, not having appeared in the first suit until after the second was commenced, were not entitled to costs, and that the rule formed an answer to the plea. Smith v. White, 7 Hill (N. Y.) 520.

Dismissal upon condition of payment of costs.— If complainant files a new bill for the same cause of action without paying the costs in pursuance of a conditional order to dismiss upon payment of costs, defendant may plead the pendency of the first suit as a bar to the commencement of the second before the order to discontinue had become absolute by the payment of costs. Simpson v. Brewster, 9 Paige (N. Y.) 245.

31. California.— Fisk v. Atkinson, 71 Cal. 452, 10 Pac. 374, 12 Pac. 498.

Illinois.— McJilton v. Love, 13 Ill. 486, 54 Am. Dec. 449; Hailman v. Buckmaster, 8 Ill. 498; Meilinger v. People, 83 Ill. App. 436.

Indiana.— Merritt v. Richey, 100 Ind. 416; Buchanan v. Logansport, etc., R. Co., 71 Ind. 265.

Minnesota.— Althen v. Tarbox, 48 Minn. 18, 50 N. W. 1018, 31 Am. St. Rep. 616.

New York.— Wemple v. Johnson, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 515; Allen v. Malcolm, 12 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 335.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 118 et seq.

Action to annul proceedings.—A party who has appealed from a judgment homologating the proceedings of a family meeting cannot at the same time carry on an action to annul these proceedings. Stone v. Tucker, 12 La. Ann. 726.

Appeal from justice.— A plea that plaintiff impleaded defendant for the same cause of action in a justice's court, and there obtained a judgment against him which he appealed to the county court, where the appeal was pending at the return-term of the writ, is a good plea in abatement. Boswell v. Tunnell, 10 Ala. 958.

Replevin for attached property.—The pendency, upon appeal, of an intervenor's claim for attached property, constitutes a bar to a proceeding in replevin for the property by the same parties. Jennings v. Warnock, 37 Iowa 278.

Reversal on appeal.— Where a judgment is reversed on appeal and the case remanded, and no final disposition has been made of it, the action in which such judgment was recovered is pending, and a complaint in a suit brought upon the same cause of action upon which the judgment was founded, and between the same parties in interest, is demurrable. Capehart v. Van Campen, 10 Minn. 158.

32. McJilton v. Love, 13 Ill. 486, 54 Am. Dec. 449; Hailman v. Buckmaster, 8 Ill. 498; Althen v. Tarbox, 48 Minn. 18, 50 N. W. 1018, 31 Am. St. Rep. 616; Wemple v. Johnson, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 515.

3. PRIORITY OF APPEAL. The appeal or writ of error must, too, have been taken or sued out prior to the institution of the second suit.[33]

4. APPEAL SUBSEQUENT TO SECOND SUIT. It has been held that if a writ of error is sued out subsequent to a second suit between the same parties for the same cause the proper practice is to apply for an order to stay proceedings in the second suit until the writ of error is disposed of.[34]

5. FROM JUDGMENT OF DISMISSAL. An appeal from a judgment of dismissal will not restore the action so as to allow the interposition of its pendency as a bar to a suit subsequently commenced.[35]

6. SUIT ON JUDGMENT. A writ of error pending may be pleaded in abatement of an action on the judgment, where it appears that it was brought prior to the commencement of the suit on the judgment and that the requisite steps had been taken to render it a supersedeas to an execution.[36]

F. Identity of Subject-Matter and of Relief Sought — 1. IN GENERAL. To sustain the plea of a former suit pending it must appear that the subject-matter and the relief sought in the second suit are the same as in the first suit.[37]

33. McJilton v. Love, 13 Ill. 486, 54 Am. Dec. 449; Hailman v. Buckmaster, 8 Ill. 498; Althen v. Tarbox, 48 Minn. 18, 50 N. W. 1018, 31 Am. St. Rep. 616; Wemple v. Johnson, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 515.

Action on undertaking on appeal.— In an action on an undertaking given on appeal it appeared that a former action had been brought, the complaint in which omitted to allege that notice of judgment had been served; that the complaint was demurred to and demurrer sustained because of this omission; that before the commencement of the second action the former suit had proceeded to final judgment on the demurrer, which judgment remained unsatisfied; that notice of judgment was served after the commencement of the first and prior to the second action; and that an appeal was brought in the first action after the commencement of the second. It was held that such facts do not support a plea of another action pending. Porter v. Kingsbury, 77 N. Y. 164.

Perfection of appeal.— An answer that prior to the commencement of the action proper steps had been taken toward perfecting an appeal in another action is not sufficient to abate the action. Fitzgerald v. Gray, 61 Ind. 109.

34. Hailman v. Buckmaster, 8 Ill. 498.

35. Lord v. Ostrander, 43 Barb. (N. Y.) 337; Haviland v. Wehle, 11 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 447, wherein it was held that where attachments in one court have been vacated for irregularity, and the suits dismissed and the costs paid, the pendency of an appeal from the judgments vacating the attachments and dismissing the suits does not preclude the issuing of attachments for the same cause in subsequent suits by the same plaintiff against the same defendant in another court. See also Trimmier v. Trail, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 480, wherein it was held that where an appeal from an order of nonsuit has been dismissed, the order of nonsuit and not the dismissal of the appeal is to be regarded as the legal termination of the suit; and the pendency of the appeal cannot be pleaded in abatement of a new action for the same cause brought in the interval between the order of nonsuit and the dismissal of the appeal.

But see Peck v. Hotchkiss, 52 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 226, wherein it was held that it is a good answer to an action for seizing property under an attachment that the suit in which the attachment was issued is still pending; and this though plaintiff's complaint in the attachment suit was dismissed, if an appeal from the judgment of dismissal has been duly taken and the appeal be pending undetermined.

Action on appeal bond.—The pendency of a bill in equity to reinstate an appeal from a justice, dismissed in the circuit court, will not abate a suit upon the appeal bond. Evans v. Lingle, 55 Ill. 455.

36. Wemple v. Johnson, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 515; Jenkins v. Pepoon, 2 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 312; Prynn v. Edwards, 1 Ld. Raym. 47.

37. Numerous authorities sustain the text, among which may be cited the following cases:

Arkansas.— Bourland v. Nixon, 27 Ark. 315.

California.— Ayres v. Bensley, 32 Cal. 620; Henry v. Everts, 30 Cal. 425; Vance v. Olinger, 27 Cal. 358.

Connecticut.— La Croix v. Fairfield County, 50 Conn. 321, 47 Am. Rep. 648.

Indiana.— Bryan v. Scholl, 109 Ind. 367, 10 N. E. 107; Paxton v. Vincennes Mfg. Co., 20 Ind. App. 253, 50 N. E. 583.

Kansas.— Snow v. Hudson, 56 Kan. 378, 43 Pac. 260; Mullen v. Mullock, 22 Kan. 598.

Kentucky.—Mattingly v. Elder, (Ky. 1898) 44 S. W. 215; Goff v. Welborn, (Ky. 1894) 24 S. W. 871.

Louisiana.— Carre v. New Orleans, 41 La. Ann. 996, 6 So. 893; Pacific Express Co. v. Haven, 41 La. Ann. 811, 6 So. 650; State v. Kreider, 21 La. Ann. 482; Morgan v. Tamiet, 21 La. Ann. 266; Hacket v. Lenares, 16 La. Ann. 204; Ingram v. Richardson, 2 La. Ann. 839; City Bank v. Walden, 1 La. Ann. 46.

Massachusetts.— Cobb v. Fogg, 166 Mass. 466, 44 N. E. 534; Hooton v. Gamage, 11 Allen (Mass.) 354.

Michigan.— Granger v. Wayne Circuit Judge, 27 Mich. 406, 15 Am. Rep. 195.

2. Test of Identity. A plea of the pendency of a prior action is not available unless the prior action is of such a character that, had a judgment been rendered therein on the merits, such judgment would be conclusive between the parties and could be pleaded in bar of the second action.[38]

3. Actions Seeking Different Relief. A plea in abatement of another action pending will fail where there is a substantial difference in the relief sought.[39]

Minnesota.— Wilson v. St. Paul, etc., R. Co., 44 Minn. 445, 46 N. W. 909; Mathews v. Hennepin County Sav. Bank, 44 Minn. 442, 46 N. W. 913; Mayerus v. Hoscheid, 11 Minn. 243.

Missouri.— State v. Dougherty, 45 Mo. 294.

Nebraska.— McReady v. Rogers, 1 Nebr. 124, 93 Am. Dec. 333.

New Hampshire.— Bennett v. Chase, 21 N. H. 570.

New Jersey.— Steers v. Shaw, 53 N. J. L. 358, 21 Atl. 940; Way v. Bragaw, 16 N. J. Eq. 213, 84 Am. Dec. 147.

New York.— Mandeville v. Avery, 124 N. Y. 376, 26 N. E. 951, 21 Am. St. Rep. 678; Pullman v. Alley, 53 N. Y. 637; Witty v. Campbell, 44 N. Y. 410; Walker v. Pease, 17 Misc. (N. Y.) 415, 41 N. Y. Suppl. 219; Morris v. Rexford, 18 N. Y. 552; Haire v. Baker, 5 N. Y. 357; Parker v. Selye, 3 N. Y. App. Div. 149, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 164; Lawatsch v. Cooney, 86 Hun (N. Y.) 546, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 775; Raven v. Smith, 71 Hun (N. Y.) 197, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 601; Dawley v. Brown, 65 Barb. (N. Y.) 107; Commercial Bank v. Heilbronner, 52 N. Y. Super. Ct. 388; Fink v. Allen, 36 N. Y. Super. Ct. 350; Paige v. Wilson, 8 Bosw. (N. Y.) 294; Kelsey v. Ward, 16 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 98; Leavitt v. De Launay, 4 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 281.

North Carolina.— Propst v. Mathis, 115 N. C. 526, 20 S. E. 710; Redfearn v. Austin, 88 N. C. 413.

Ohio.— Smith v. Findlay, 2 Handy (Ohio) 69.

Pennsylvania.— Hessenbruch v. Markle, 194 Pa. St. 581, 45 Atl. 669; Stewart's Appeal, 56 Pa. St. 413; Stecher v. Com., 6 Whart. (Pa.) 60.

Rhode Island.— Dodge v. Hogan, 19 R. I. 4, 31 Atl. 1059.

South Carolina.— Whaley v. Lawton, 57 S. C. 198, 35 S. E. 741; Trimmier v. Hardin, 32 S. C. 600, 11 S. E. 103.

Tennessee.— Parmelee v. Tennessee, etc., R. Co., 13 Lea (Tenn.) 600; Hall v. Calvert, (Tenn. Ch. 1897) 46 S. W. 1120.

Texas.— Payne v. Benham, 16 Tex. 364; Bryan v. Alford, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 85.

Vermont.— Thomas v. Freelon, 17 Vt. 138.

Virginia.— McAllister v. Harman, 97 Va. 543, 34 S. E. 474; Robinson v. Allen, 85 Va. 721, 8 S. E. 835.

Wisconsin.— Koch v. Peters, 97 Wis. 492, 73 N. W. 25.

United States.— De Grauw v. Attrill, 75 Fed. 764; Marshall v. Otto, 59 Fed. 249; Langstraat v. Nelson, 40 Fed. 783; Pierce v. Feagans, 39 Fed. 587; Hurd v. Moiles, 28 Fed. 897; Logan v. Greenlaw, 12 Fed. 10; Dwight v. Central Vermont R. Co., 9 Fed. 785; Steiger v. Heidelberger, 4 Fed. 455; Brooks v. Vermont Cent. R. Co., 14 Blatchf. (U. S.) 463, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,964; Wheeler v. McCormick, 8 Blatchf. (U. S.) 267, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,498; Certain Logs of Mahogany, 2 Sumn. (U. S.) 589, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,559.

England.— Devie v. Brownlow, 2 Dick. 611; Behrens v. Sieveking, 2 Myl. & C. 602.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 39 et seq.

38. Alabama.— Foster v. Napier, 73 Ala. 595.

California.— Hall v. Susskind, 109 Cal. 203, 41 Pac. 1012; Martin v. Splivalo, 69 Cal. 611, 11 Pac. 484; Montgomery v. Harrington, 58 Cal. 270; Vance v. Olinger, 27 Cal. 358.

Massachusetts.— Newell v. Newton, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 470.

Minnesota.— Beyersdorf v. Sump, 39 Minn. 495, 41 N. W. 101, 12 Am. St. Rep. 678.

Nebraska.— Richardson v. Opelt, (Nebr. 1900) 82 N. W. 377; State v. North Lincoln St. R. Co., 34 Nebr. 634, 52 N. W. 369.

Pennsylvania.— Pittsburg, etc., R. Co. v. Mt. Pleasant, etc., R. Co., 76 Pa. St. 481.

Tennessee.— Moore v. Holt, 3 Tenn. Ch. 141.

United States.— The Haytian Republic, 154 U. S. 118, 14 S. Ct. 992, 38 L. ed. 930; Watson v. Jones, 13 Wall. (U. S.) 679, 20 L. ed. 666; Hurd v. Moiles, 28 Fed. 897.

Same evidence sustaining both actions.— The criterion by which to decide whether two suits are for the same cause of action is whether the evidence properly admissible in the one will support the other. Steers v. Shaw, 53 N. J. L. 358, 21 Atl. 940; Steam-Packet Co. v. Bradley, 5 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 393, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,333.

Distinguished from res judicata.— The two pleas of the pendency of a prior action and of a former recovery have not the same but a like office. The difference is that the one is interposed because of the pendency of the first action, the other after its termination; the one is in abatement of the second suit, the other in bar to defeat it absolutely. Foster v. Napier, 73 Ala. 595.

39. California.— Heilbron v. Fowler Switch Canal Co., 75 Cal. 426, 17 Pac. 535, 7 Am. St. Rep. 183; Calaveras County v. Brockway, 30 Cal. 325.

Illinois.— Heuschkel v. Heuschkel, 86 Ill. App. 132.

Kentucky.— Johnson v. Robertson, (Ky. 1898) 45 S. W. 523.

Michigan.— Eaton v. Eaton, 68 Mich. 158, 36 N. W. 50.

Minnesota.— Coles v. Yorks, 31 Minn. 213, 17 N. W. 341.

United States.— Jenkins v. Eldredge, 3 Story (U. S.) 181, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,266.

4. Inability to Obtain Full Relief in First Action — a. In General. If the whole relief sought in the second suit is not attainable in the first,[40] or if the relief which may be given or the remedies available in the second suit are more extensive than can be attained in the first, a plea to the second suit of the pendency of the first is not good.[41]

b. Rule in Equity. The rule in equity is the same as at law, namely, that the plea of a prior suit pending can be pleaded only when all the relief sought for in the second action is obtainable in the first.[42]

5. Actions Differing in Form. Where the substantial facts upon which the plaintiff's right to relief is based are identical in the two actions, and the relief obtainable in the first includes all the relief sought in the second, the first will abate the second, although the actions differ in matters of form and in the relations of defendant to the infringement of plaintiff's rights.[43]

6. Second Action for Collateral Matter. Where the matter of the second suit is collateral to the matter of the first, though not embracing so much, a plea of former suit pending is good.[44]

7. Actions for Parts of Entire Demand. The pendency of a prior action for part of an entire and indivisible demand may be pleaded in abatement of a subsequent action for the balance of such demand.[45]

Actions for rent.— The pendency of four actions for rent, payable quarterly, is no bar to an action to recover rent upon the same tenancy under a claim that it is payable at the expiration of the year, as the actions are not for the same identical cause. Kelsey v. Ward, 16 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 98.

Proceedings for discovery and to wind up partnership.— Probate proceedings for discovery do not bar an otherwise proper suit in equity for winding up the concerns of a partnership. Perrin v. Lepper, 49 Mich. 347, 13 N. W. 768.

Suits affecting municipal bonds.—The pendency of a suit in equity brought to cancel bonds issued by a town is no bar to the remedy of a taxpayer to review by certiorari the proceedings on which the bonds were issued. People v. Morgan, 65 Barb. (N. Y.) 473.

Suits against insolvent.— A pending suit in equity under a bill filed on behalf of all the creditors of a dissolved partnership, seeking to have a conveyance of its property to one of its creditors, who is made a defendant, declared a general assignment for the equal benefit of all its creditors, is not a bar to a bill by the preferred creditor asserting his rights under the conveyance and asking relief against the claimants of adverse liens and incumbrances. Rapier v. Gulf City Paper Co., 64 Ala. 330.

40. Illinois.— Branigan v. Rose, 8 Ill. 123; Shepardson v. McDole, 49 Ill. App. 350.

Maryland.— McKaig v. Piatt, 34 Md. 249; Seebold v. Lockner, 30 Md. 133.

Massachusetts.— Scott v. Rand, 118 Mass. 215.

New Jersey.— Larter v. Canfield, (N. J. 1900) 45 Atl. 616.

New Mexico.— Bent v. Maxwell, etc., R. Co., 3 N. Mex. 158, 3 Pac. 721.

Pennsylvania.— Brooke v. Phillips, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 392, 24 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 132.

Rhode Island.— Horton v. Bassett, 17 R. I. 129, 20 Atl. 234.

Tennessee.— Macey v. Childress, 2 Tenn. Ch. 23.

Wisconsin.— Gibson v. Southwestern Land Co., 89 Wis. 49, 61 N. W. 282.

United States.— Carpenter v. Talbot, 33 Fed. 537.

41. Atlantic Mut. Ins. Co. v. Alexandre, 16 Fed. 279; Massachusetts Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 13 Fed. 857.

Stay of first suit.— The pendency of a prior suit will not be a bar to a subsequent suit if the latter embraces more of the subject-matter than the former; but it may justify an order of the court staying the further prosecution of the first suit. Foley v. Ruley, 43 W. Va. 513, 27 S. E. 268.

42. Parker v. Selye, 3 N. Y. App. Div. 149, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 164; Geery v. Webster, 11 Hun (N. Y.) 428; Hertell v. Van Buren, 3 Edw. (N. Y.) 20; Cordier v. Cordier, 26 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 187; Macey v. Childress, 2 Tenn. Ch. 23.

43. 1 Bacon Abr. p. 29; Mullen v. Mullock, 22 Kan. 598; Beyersdorf v. Sump, 39 Minn. 495, 41 N. W. 101, 12 Am. St. Rep. 678. See also Steers v. Shaw, 53 N. J. L. 358, 21 Atl. 940, wherein it was held that if there was identity of evidence in the two actions it was immaterial that the form of both was not the same.

Insertion of other causes in second action. — Where it appears that the cause of action in the second suit is, in a material and substantial part, the same as in the first, although other causes of action are inserted in the second, it is within the meaning of the rule of law that an action instituted for the same cause of action is good cause of abatement. Buffum v. Tilton, 17 Pick. (Mass.) 510.

44. Dickinson v. Codwise, 4 Edw. (N. Y.) 341.

45. Secor v. Sturgis, 16 N. Y. 548; O'Beirne v. Lloyd, 1 Sweeny (N. Y.) 19; Hughes v. Dundee Mortg. Trust Invest. Co., 26 Fed. 831.

Breaches of covenant.— Where there are breaches of several and distinct covenants contained in the same instrument, and a suit

8. Actions for Parts of Same Cause. It has been held that a second suit for some of the same things sued for in a former suit still pending will not abate, in whole or in part, the former suit.[46] So a plea in abatement to the entire action that another suit for the same cause was pending at the time of the second suit is not a good plea if the proof shows that the first suit was only for part of the same matter sued for in the second.[47]

9. Actions Involving Same Property — a. In General. It is not enough to sustain the plea of a former action pending that the same property is involved in both actions.[48]

b. Actions Involving Same Land — (I) In General. So it is not sufficient to sustain a plea in abatement of another action pending that the second action is brought in respect of the same land. It must be for the same injury, and the same matters must be in issue that were in issue and might have been tried in the first action; otherwise the causes of action are not identical.[49]

(II) Actions of Ejectment. The pendency of an action in ejectment is not pleadable in abatement of a like subsequent suit between the same parties.[50] is brought claiming damages for some of the breaches, and subsequently a second action is commenced claiming damages for other breaches, all of the causes of action having accrued at the time of the bringing of the first suit, the first action may be pleaded in abatement of the second. Bendernagle v. Cocks, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 207, 32 Am. Dec. 448.

46. Ballou v. Ballou, 26 Vt. 673.

47. Thompson v. Lyon, 14 Cal. 39; Bigelow v. Farmer, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 31, wherein it was held that a plea in abatement to the whole declaration in slander, consisting of four counts, that another action was pending for the same cause contained in two of the counts, was bad on general demurrer.

48. Watson v. Richardson, (Iowa 1899) 80 N. W. 416; Mandeville v. Avery, 124 N. Y. 376, 26 N. E. 951, 21 Am. St. Rep. 678.

Actions of replevin.— In replevin by one plaintiff against three defendants a plea in abatement was interposed of a prior action in replevin by two of the defendants against plaintiff and another by virtue of which the other defendant, as sheriff, took and detained the property. It was held that the issues in the two cases were not identical. Belden v. Laing, 8 Mich. 500.

Additional property.— Where it is not known at the time the first action was commenced that defendants had possession of other property of plaintiff than that sought to be recovered in that action, a second action may be brought for such additional property. Risley v. Squire, 53 Barb. (N. Y.) 280.

Injunction against sale and suit to quiet title.— The pendency of an action to enjoin the sheriff and the execution plaintiff from selling the property is no bar to an action by the same plaintiff to quiet the title to the property as against a third person who purchased at the sheriff's sale. Jones v. Brandt, 59 Iowa 332, 10 N. W. 854, 13 N. W. 310.

Replevin and action for value.— An action for the value of personal property may be maintained during the pendency of a replevin suit between the same parties for the delivery of the specific property. Mitchell Furniture Co. v. Payton, 4 Mo. App. 563.

49. Leonard v. Flynn, 89 Cal. 535, 26 Pac. 1097, 23 Am. St. Rep. 500; Martin v. Splivalo, 69 Cal. 611, 11 Pac. 484; Larco v. Clements, 36 Cal. 132; Vance v. Olinger, 27 Cal. 358; Bolton v. Landers, 27 Cal. 104.

Injunction against waste and action for recovery.— An action for the recovery of land will not bar plaintiff from suing out an injunction against defendant's committing waste, nor deprive him of his right to sequester timber cut from the land. Bogart v. Rils, 8 La. Ann. 55.

Joinder of other parties as plaintiffs.— In an action for the recovery of land, a plea in abatement setting up the pendency of a former suit brought by plaintiffs and others to recover the same land is bad on demurrer. Hall v. Holcombe, 26 Ala. 720.

Second action on subsequently acquired title.—A plaintiff may have two suits against the same defendant for the recovery of the possession of the same land pending at the same time, if the second is brought on a title acquired after the commencement of the first. Leonard v. Flynn, 89 Cal. 535, 26 Pac. 1097, 23 Am. St. Rep. 500.

Summary process before justice.— In the trial of an action to recover land, the pendency of a summary process of ejectment before a justice of the peace, under the landlord and tenant act, between the same parties, cannot be pleaded in bar, since the question of title is not within the jurisdiction of the justice. Campbell v. Potts, 119 N. C. 530, 26 S. E. 50.

50. Hall v. Wallace, 25 Ala. 438; Callahan v. Davis, 125 Mo. 27, 28 S. W. 162.— the reason for this rule being that a former judgment or recovery in ejectment cannot be pleaded in bar of a like suit between the same parties.

Ejectment and action to quiet title.—In an action to quiet plaintiff's title to land, alleged to be clouded by defendants' giving out that the title is in themselves and not in plaintiff, an action of ejectment pending in which defendants do not ask for affirmative relief is not available as a defense. Ayres v. Bensley, 32 Cal. 620.

Partition and ejectment.—The pendency of a partition suit in chancery, which has not

(III) Ejectment and Unlawful Detainer. The pendency of an action of ejectment will not abate a subsequent action of unlawful detainer brought by the same plaintiff for the possession of the same premises.[51]

(IV) Actions of Forcible Entry and Detainer. But the pendency of a prior action is a defense in an action of forcible entry and detainer to the same extent as in any other action.[52]

10. Creditors' Bills. The pendency of a creditor's bill brought by one creditor in behalf of all creditors of the common debtor cannot be pleaded in abatement of a subsequent bill brought by a different creditor in a different right.[53]

11. Actions for Personal Injuries and for Death. As an action for damages for an injury to plaintiff's person abates by his death, the pendency thereof cannot be pleaded in bar of a subsequent action brought by his personal representative for his death resulting from such injury and caused by the wrongful act or omission of defendant.[54]

12. Actions to Annul Marriage and for Divorce. The pendency of an action by the husband to annul the marriage on the ground of duress will not abate an action by the wife for divorce on the ground of non-support.[55]

13. Actions to Enforce and Set Aside Judgment. An action to enforce a judgment cannot be defeated by the pendency of an action by the judgment debtor to set such judgment aside.[56]

been revived by the heirs of a defendant after his death, does not deprive them of their right to bring ejectment to recover the premises. De Mill v. Port Huron Dry Dock Co., 30 Mich. 38.

51. Buettinger v. Hurley, 34 Kan. 585, 9 Pac. 197; Drey v. Doyle, 28 Mo. App. 249,— the reason being that these two actions are not the same either in substance or in form.

Deed and lease.— In ejectment in which plaintiff bases his right to recover on a deed from defendants to him, the pendency of an action brought by plaintiff against defendants for an unlawful detention by them of the same premises after the expiration of an alleged lease cannot be pleaded in abatement. Martin v. Splivalo, 69 Cal. 611, 11 Pac. 484.

52. Bond v. White, 24 Kan. 45.

Suits for different detentions.— An action of forcible detainer in which the complaint shows a notice to terminate the lease for non-payment of rent when due, and a subsequent action, brought after the lease has expired, for a holding over, are not the same and the pendency of the first will not operate to abate the latter. Steele v. Grand Trunk Junction R. Co., 125 Ill. 385, 17 N. E. 483.

Writ of possession and forcible detainer.— The remedies given a purchaser of land under a decree of foreclosure by writ of possession and by forcible detainer are concurrent, and both may be pursued until a satisfaction is had. Accordingly the pendency of proceedings by forcible detainer for possession on appeal cannot be set up in abatement of a motion for a writ of possession in the original cause. Kessinger v. Whittaker, 82 Ill. 22.

53. Maxwell v. Peters Shoe Co., 109 Ala. 371, 19 So. 412; Hall v. Alabama Terminal, etc., Co., 104 Ala. 577, 16 So. 439, 53 Am. St. Rep. 87; Sweeney Mfg. Co. v. Goldberg, 66 Ill. App. 568. But see also Penn Bank v. Hopkins, 111 Pa. St. 328, 2 Atl. 83, wherein it was held that the pendency of a creditor's suit brought against the directors of an insolvent corporation to which the assignee for the benefit of creditors of the same has been made a party defendant is a good plea in abatement to an action at law subsequently brought for the same cause by the assignee in the name of the bank against the directors.

Pendency of supplementary proceedings.— Proceedings supplementary to execution are not a bar to a bill by a creditor to set aside a fraudulent conveyance by the judgment debtor. Faber v. Matz, 86 Wis. 370, 57 N. W. 39.

54. Indianapolis, etc., R. Co. v. Stout, 53 Ind. 143.

Actions for injuries to married woman.— As a joint action by a husband and wife for personal injuries to the wife abates by her death, the pendency thereof is no defense to an action by the husband, after the death of the wife, for loss of the wife's services. Meese v. Fond du Lac, 48 Wis. 323, 4 N. W. 406.

55. Simpson v. Simpson, (Cal. 1895) 41 Pac. 804, assigning as a reason for this rule the fact that neither the cause of action nor the relief sought is the same.

Divorce a mensa and a vinculo.— The pendency of a libel for a divorce a mensa cannot be pleaded in abatement of a libel for a divorce a vinculo. Stevens v. Stevens, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 279.

Second action for different adultery.— In an action for a divorce for alleged adultery of defendant during a certain period, plaintiff is not required to proceed by supplementary complaint, but may commence a second action demanding the same relief for alleged adultery with the same person charged to have occurred after the commencement of the first action, and the answer of defendant to the second action, setting up the pendency of another action in the court for the same cause, is insufficient. Cordier v. Cordier, 26 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 187.

56. McGrath v. Maxwell, 17 N. Y. App. Div. 246, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 587.

14. Actions to Rescind and for Price. The pendency of an action by the buyer to rescind and for damages is not pleadable in abatement of a subsequent action by the seller for the price.[57]

15. Enforcement of Rights Secured by Chattel Mortgage. Under a statute providing that there can be but one action for the enforcement of any right secured by a mortgage upon personal property it is proper to dismiss an action of claim and delivery begun after the institution and during the pendency of an action to foreclose a chattel mortgage upon the same property.[58]

16. Criminal and Civil Proceedings — a. Larceny and Trover. An action of trover for the conversion of stolen goods may be instituted against the thief pending a criminal prosecution against him for larceny.[59]

b. Proceedings for Non-Payment of Taxes. A plea to a civil suit for the recovery of occupation taxes, alleging that a criminal prosecution has been instituted against defendant on account of the non-payment of such taxes, and that a fine was adjudged therein against defendant, from which an appeal has been taken which is still pending, presents no bar to the civil action, which is cumulative, where it is not shown that the criminal prosecution has resulted in the collection of the taxes.[60]

c. Proceedings for Violation of Liquor Law. License commissioners may take cognizance of an application for the revocation of a liquor license on the ground of a violation of law by the licensee while a criminal prosecution is pending against the licensee for the same violation of the law.[61]

17. Actions Relating to Public Office. The fact that a test proceeding between the persons claiming a public office is pending does not affect the right of the state to proceed by information against the incumbent.[62]

18. Proceedings against Attorney by Client. An application for an order to compel an attorney to pay money over to his client is properly denied where it appears that the client had, prior to the application, commenced an action against the attorney for such money, in which she had caused him to be arrested, and that such action was still pending.[63]

G. Identity of Parties — 1. Necessity of Identity. The rule is well settled that a suit pending which abates a subsequent one must be between the same parties.[64]

57. Jennison Hardware Co. v. Godkin, 112 Mich. 57, 70 N. W. 428. But see Bartholomay Brewing Co. v. Haley, 16 N. Y. App. Div. 485, 44 N. Y. Suppl. 915, wherein it was held that the pendency of an action by the buyer for breach of the contract of sale may be pleaded in abatement to a subsequent action by the seller for the price of the goods.

58. Cederholm v. Loofborrow, 2 Idaho, 176, 6 Pac. 641.

59. Keyser v. Rodgers, 50 Pa. St. 275, wherein it was held that if defendant desires to take advantage of the pendency of the public prosecution he may pray that the parol may demur, but beyond this he cannot defend for such a cause.

Rule at common law.— Originally at common law a party from whom goods had been stolen could only obtain restitution from the thief on an appeal of larceny. Hence it was held that an action of trover would not lie. Keyser v. Rodgers, 50 Pa. St. 275.

60. Heller v. Alvarado, 1 Tex. Civ. App. 409, 20 S. W. 1003.

61. La Croix v. Fairfield County, 50 Conn. 321, 47 Am. Rep. 648.

62. Vogel v. State, 107 Ind. 374, 8 N. E. 164.

63. Matter of Mott, 36 Hun (N. Y.) 569.

64. Numerous authorities sustain the text, among which may be cited the following cases:

Alabama.— Davis v. Petrinovich, 112 Ala. 654, 21 So. 344, 36 L. R. A. 615; Meyer v. Johnston, 53 Ala. 237.

Arkansas.— Bourland v. Nixon, 27 Ark. 315.

California.— Heilbron v. Fowler Switch Canal Co., 75 Cal. 426, 17 Pac. 535, 7 Am. St. Rep. 183; Kerns v. McKean, 65 Cal. 411, 4 Pac. 404; Walsworth v. Johnson, 41 Cal. 61; Calaveras County v. Brockway, 30 Cal. 325.

Connecticut.— La Croix v. Fairfield County, 50 Conn. 321, 47 Am. Rep. 648.

Georgia.— Rogers v. Hoskins, 15 Ga. 270.

Indiana.— Bryan v. Scholl, 109 Ind. 367, 10 N. E. 107; Dawson v. Vaughan, 42 Ind. 395; Loyd v. Reynolds, 29 Ind. 299; Paxton v. Vincennes Mfg. Co., 20 Ind. App. 253, 50 N. E. 583.

Kansas.— Mullen v. Mullock, 22 Kan. 598.

Kentucky.— Adams v. Gardiner, 13 B. Mon. (Ky.) 197.

Louisiana.— State v. Kreider, 21 La. Ann. 482; Hacket v. Lenares, 16 La. Ann. 204; Ingram v. Richardson, 2 La. Ann. 839.

2. Privies of Parties. An action by the privies of the parties to a prior action is within the rule.[65]

3. Actions against Different Defendants. Some of the authorities are inclined to hold that if the plaintiff is the same and the cause of action is the same the defendants need not be the same in each suit.[66]

4. Defendant in Different Capacities. If the characters in which defendant is sued be different, so that the funds from which satisfaction of the judgment is to be obtained are different, the rule that a pending suit abates a second one is not applicable.[67]

Maine.— Cumberland County v. Central Wharf Steam Tow-Boat Co., 90 Me. 95, 37 Atl. 867, 60 Am. St. Rep. 246.

Nebraska.— McReady v. Rogers, 1 Nebr. 124, 93 Am. Dec. 333.

New Hampshire.— Bennett v. Chase, 21 N. H. 570.

New York.— Middlebrook v. Travis, 68 Hun (N. Y.) 155, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 672; Dawley v. Brown, 65 Barb. (N. Y.) 107; Smith v. St. Francis Xavier College, 61 N. Y. Super. Ct. 363, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 533; Hertell v. Van Buren, 3 Edw. (N. Y.) 20.

North Carolina.— Blackwell Durham Tobacco Co. v. McElwee, 94 N. C. 425; Redfearn v. Austin, 88 N. C. 413.

Pennsylvania.—Streaper v. Fisher, 1 Rawle (Pa.) 155, 18 Am. Dec. 604.

South Carolina.— Davis v. Hunt, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 412; Jones v. Muse, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 67.

Tennessee.— Morley v. Power, 5 Lea (Tenn.) 691.

Texas.— Langham v. Thomason, 5 Tex. 127.

Virginia.— McAllister v. Harman, 97 Va. 543, 34 S. E. 474.

United States.— Langstraat v. Nelson, 40 Fed. 783; Estes v. Worthington, 30 Fed. 465; Brooks v. Mills County, 4 Dill. (U. S.) 524, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,955; Hacker v. Stevens, 4 McLean (U. S.) 535, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 5,887; Taylor v. The Royal Saxon, Wall. Jr. (U. S.) 311, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,803.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 73.

Thus an action in one court by a materialman against the contractor and owner to establish a mechanic's lien is not abated by the pendency of an action in another court by the contractor to foreclose his lien on the property, where the materialman is not made a party to the latter action. Egan v. Laemmle, 5 Misc. (N. Y.) 224, 25 N. Y. Suppl. 330.

Suits against different parties.— In an action against three it is no plea that there is another action pending against two of them for the same cause; nor to debt by two that the obligation was to three by whom an action is pending; nor that an action for the same cause is pending against a stranger; nor that a writ for the same cause is pending against others as executors of the same testator. Davis v. Hunt, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 412.

Suits against sheriff and deputy.— The pendency of an action against a deputy sheriff for wrongful acts done under the color of his office cannot be pleaded in abatement of an action against the sheriff for the same cause. Severy v. Nye, 58 Me. 246.

Suits by married woman.— A former suit pending on the same cause of action in the name of the wife alone is not a good plea in abatement to a suit in the name of the husband and wife. Langham v. Thomason, 5 Tex. 127.

Subsequent actions against each defendant. — The pendency of an action brought against persons claiming title under a referee's deed, to set aside such deed as fraudulent and for the recovery of the possession of the premises, may be pleaded in abatement of subsequent actions brought by the same plaintiff against each of the defendants in that action to recover the possession of the premises and for mesne profits. Dawley v. Brown, 65 Barb. (N. Y.) 107.

65. Richardson v. Opelt, (Nebr. 1900) 82 N. W. 377; Crane v. Larsen, 15 Oreg. 345, 15 Pac. 326; Morley v. Power, 5 Lea (Tenn.) 691; Moore v. Holt, 3 Tenn. Ch. 141; Watson v. Jones, 13 Wall. (U. S.) 679, 20 L. ed. 666.

Subsequent action by grantee.— If a person institutes a suit and afterward sells part of the property in question to another who files an original bill touching the part so purchased by him, a plea of a former suit pending, touching the whole property, is good. Holloway v. Holloway, 103 Mo. 274, 15 S. W. 536.

66. Rogers v. Hoskins, 15 Ga. 270; Bedford v. Bishop, Hob. 137.

Thus, if the same plaintiffs bring two actions at different times upon the same cause, the first one against a single defendant, and the second against the defendant in the prior action, and also against another joined as a defendant, the actions will, so far as concerns the defendant who is a party defendant to both actions, be between the same parties, and the second action as to him, by reason of the pendency of the prior action, may be abated. Rehman v. New Albany Belt, etc., R. Co., 8 Ind. App. 200, 35 N. E. 292.

Misjoinder of defendants.— In an action against A, the pendency of a former suit for the same cause, brought by plaintiff against A and B,— a misjoinder of defendants,— may be pleaded in abatement. Atkinson v. State Bank, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 84.

67. Thus, if two suits be instituted at the same time, on the same cause of action, by the same plaintiff against the same defendant, but one of them is against defendant in his personal capacity, and the other is against him in an official capacity, so that judgments in the suits would be capable of reaching different funds, a plea setting up the pendency

5. Cross-Actions — a. In General. The plea of a prior action pending applies only where plaintiff in both suits is the same person, and both are commenced by himself, and not to cases where there are cross-suits by a plaintiff in one suit who is a defendant in the other.[68]

b. Actions for Accounting. This general rule as to cross-suits does not apply, it has been held, to an action for an accounting between the same parties where one or more items of the accounting are afterward made the subject of a separate suit.[69]

c. Effect of Ability to File Cross-Petition. The fact that there is an action pending in which plaintiff might by cross-petition obtain against defendant the relief he seeks will not abate the second suit.[70]

6. Omission of Party. It has been held that where an amended complaint is made for the purpose of adding new parties the original defendant on whom new summons has not been served cannot treat it as a new action and plead the pendency of the former action.[71] of the one in abatement of the other is bad. Dengler v. Hays, (N. J. 1899) 42 Atl. 775.

Suits against partnership and partner.— A plea of the pendency of a former action cannot be sustained where in one case the action is against a firm on a joint or firm assignment, and in the other is against one of the firm alone and upon a several liability in which the firm has no interest and which can involve it in no responsibility. Blackburn v. Watson, 85 Pa. St. 241.

68. Alabama.— Hall v. Holcombe, 26 Ala. 720.

California.— Coubrough v. Adams, 70 Cal. 374, 11 Pac. 634; Walsworth v. Johnson, 41 Cal. 61; Felch v. Beaudry, 40 Cal. 439; Ayres v. Bensley, 32 Cal. 620; O'Connor v. Blake, 29 Cal. 312.

Connecticut.— Allen v. Rogers, 1 Root (Conn.) 471; Ratcliff v. Dewit, 1 Root (Conn.) 155.

Illinois.— Tompkins v. Gerry, 43 Ill. App. 255.

Iowa.— Pratt v. Howard, 109 Iowa 504, 80 N. W. 546.

Kentucky.— Johnson v. Robertson, (Ky. 1898) 45 S. W. 523.

New York.— Welch v. Sage, 47 N. Y. 143, 7 Am. Rep. 423.

North Carolina.— Casey v. Harrison, 13 N. C. 244.

Ohio.— Barr v. Chapman, 5 Ohio Cir. Ct. 69.

Vermont.— Thomas v. Freelon, 17 Vt. 138.

Wisconsin.— Wood v. Lake, 13 Wis. 84.

United States.— New England Screw Co. v. Bliven, 3 Blatchf. (U. S.) 240, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,156; Certain Logs of Mahogany, 2 Sumn. (U. S.) 589, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,559.

But see Crane v. Larsen, 15 Oreg. 345, 15 Pac. 326, wherein it was held that the fact that the parties, plaintiff and defendant, were reversed in the two suits, will not prevent the defense of another action pending, if the issues in the two suits were the same, and the same relief was attainable.

69. Coubrough v. Adams, 70 Cal. 374, 11 Pac. 634.

Accounting and action to set aside conveyance.— An action by a partner to set aside a conveyance made by a copartner is not barred by the pendency of an action for a partnership accounting. But the accounting cannot be had until it is determined whether or not the subject of the conveyance is a partnership asset. Maloy v. Associated Lace-Makers' Co., 8 N. Y. Suppl. 815.

Partnership accounting.— During the pendency of a bill in equity brought by two of the four members of a partnership against the other two, for an account, defendants commenced a bill in equity against plaintiffs for the same purpose. It was held that the second bill should be dismissed. Wallace v. Robinson, 52 N. H. 286.

70. Osborn v. Cloud, 23 Iowa 104, 92 Am. Dec. 413; Washburn, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Scutt, 22 Fed. 710. See also Fink v. Allen, 36 N. Y. Super. Ct. 350, wherein it was held that the pendency of an action in which one defendant, by his answer, attempts to force a co-defendant to settle therein a controversy respecting the right of such co-defendant under a certain instrument, cannot be pleaded in bar or in abatement as another action pending to an action subsequently commenced on such instrument by such co-defendant against the defendant who so answered in the first action.

71. Hurley v. Second Bldg. Assoc., 15 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 206 note. See also Owens v. Loomis, 19 Hun (N. Y.) 606, wherein it appeared that plaintiff attempted to commence an action against defendants, but by mistake omitted to state the proper name of one of the defendants in the summons and complaint served. Subsequently, an order was made setting aside the complaint, directing the summons to be amended by adding the name of the defendant improperly named, and allowing plaintiff to serve an amended complaint and a copy of the amended summons within a certain time, upon payment of certain costs. Plaintiff did not pay the costs or serve the amended summons within the time allowed, but subsequently brought another action against the same defendants for the same cause of action. It was held that the former action was not pending at the time of the commencement of the second action so as to prevent the prosecution of the latter.

7. Rule as to Ability to Be Made Party. The mere pendency of a suit to which a person may be made a party, but has not been, is no bar to an action by him in another court to enforce his rights.[72]

8. Suits against Several Obligors. In an action against one of several obligors a plea that there is another action pending against all the obligors for the same cause will abate the action.[73]

9. Suits against Joint and Several Obligors. But the pendency of an action against all of joint and several obligors on a joint liability in no wise affects the right of action against each on the several liability, and cannot be pleaded in abatement of the several suit.[74]

10. Suits against Joint Tort-Feasors. Where two joint tort-feasors are sued separately for the same tort, the pendency of the suit against one cannot be pleaded in abatement of the suit against the other.[75]

11. Suits of a Penal Nature. An exception to the rule that the plea of the pendency of a former action is restricted to the same parties has been held to exist in the case of a penal action where a suit for the same cause has been instituted by a third person.[76]

H. Necessity of Jurisdiction in Court of Prior Action. The principle that the pendency of a prior action is a good ground of abatement of a subsequent action is not applicable unless the court in which the first suit was brought and is pending has jurisdiction of the subject-matter.[77]

I. Prior Action in Inferior Court. A plea of another action pending must show the pendency of another action between the same parties and growing out of the same cause of action before the same court or another court of concurrent jurisdiction.[78] Accordingly the pendency of a prior action in a court of Suits in name of wrong party.— Where an administrator had sued as the representative of a wrong party, and was consequently compelled to bring a new action, a plea of the pendency of the prior action, pleaded in abatement of the new action, cannot be sustained. Cornelius v. Vanarsdallen, 3 Pa. St. 434.

72. Parsons v. Greenville, etc., R. Co., 1 Hughes (U. S.) 279, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,776.

73. Graves v. Dale, 1 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 190.

74. Turner v. Whitmore, 63 Me. 526; U. S. v. Cushman, 2 Sumn. (U. S.) 426, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 14,908,— for the reason that there are two distinct remedies on a joint and several contract, one against all the obligors jointly, the other against each severally.

Death of joint obligor.— In State Bank v. Welles, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 15, an action was brought against two obligors on a joint and several bond. One died, and his death was suggested on the record, and the action proceeded against the other. It was held that a separate action might be sustained against the executor of the deceased while the first action was pending against the survivor. To same effect is Union Bank v. Mott, 27 N. Y. 633.

75. State v. Boyce, 72 Md. 140, 19 Atl. 366, 20 Am. St. Rep. 458, 7 L. R. A. 272.

Agents of several joint tort-feasors.— Where a sheriff levies two or more attachments in favor of different creditors at the same time on the same property, the levy being wrongful, only one action for damages can be maintained against him. So held in Harmon v. McRae, 91 Ala. 401, 8 So. 548 [citing Sparkman v. Swift, 81 Ala. 231, 233, 8 So. 160] wherein it is held that, although in such a case the creditors must be considered as joint wrongdoers, the officer must be regarded as "their common agent," notwithstanding each creditor was endeavoring to secure the priority of lien.

76. Colt v. Partridge, 7 Metc. (Mass.) 570; Harris v. Johnson, 65 N. C. 478.

Indictment and action for penalty.— A former action pending for a penalty will abate a subsequent indictment to recover the same penalty. Com. v. Churchill, 5 Mass. 174.

77. Coaldale Brick, etc., Co. v. Southern Constr. Co., 110 Ala. 605, 19 So. 45; Rood v. Eslava, 17 Ala. 430; Phillips v. Quick, 68 Ill. 324; Newell v. Newton, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 470; McKay v. Garcia, 6 Ben. (U. S.) 556, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 8,844; White v. Whitman, 1 Curt. (U. S.) 494, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,561; Ex p. Balch, 3 McLean (U. S.) 221, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 790; Morgan v. Ault, 8 Ont. Pr. 429.

78. Ludewig v. Ludewig, 3 Rob. (La.) 92.

Actions in justice's court.—It has been held that the pendency of an action before a justice of the peace is a good ground of abatement of a second action before a justice (Langford v. Doniphan, 53 Mo. App. 62; Wentworth v. Barnum, 10 Johns. (N. Y.) 238), and it seems to make no difference whether such suit was commenced by a summons or by warrant (Wentworth v. Barnum, 10 Johns. (N. Y.) 238). But on the failure of plaintiff to appear before a justice at the time fixed in the summons, or to give sufficient reason for his non-appearance, a discontinuance of the cause takes place and an-inferior jurisdiction is not, it would seem, pleadable in abatement of a subsequent action in a court of superior jurisdiction.[79]

J. Actions in Different Jurisdictions — 1. Statement of Rule. The rule that a subsequent action may be abated by the pendency of a prior one between the same parties for the same cause is confined to those cases where the former one is pending in courts of the same state or government, and does not apply where such former action was commenced and is pending before the courts of a foreign or different jurisdiction.[80]

2. Action in Another State — a. Action in Personam. In the application of this doctrine the courts of the several states are regarded as foreign to one another.[81] Accordingly the pendency of an action in personam in one state is not, as a rule, pleadable in abatement of an action subsequently commenced in another state between the same parties on the same cause,[82] even though the court of other suit may at once be instituted. Yentzer v. Thayer, 10 Colo. 63, 14 Pac. 53, 3 Am. St. Rep. 563.

79. Bullock v. Bolles, 9 R. I. 501; Laughton v. Taylor, 6 M. & W. 695. But see Johnston v. Bower, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 487, wherein it was held that the pendency of a prior action for the same cause in an inferior court that has jurisdiction is good cause of abatement.

80. Arkansas.— Grider v. Apperson, 32 Ark. 332.

Connecticut.— Hatch v. Spofford, 22 Conn. 485, 58 Am. Dec. 433.

Delaware.— Howard v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 2 Harr. (Del.) 471.

Illinois.— McJilton v. Love, 13 Ill. 486, 54 Am. Dec. 449.

Kentucky.— Salmon v. Wootton, 9 Dana (Ky.) 422.

Massachusetts.—American Bank v. Rollins, 99 Mass. 313; Newell v. Newton, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 470; Lindsay v. Larned, 17 Mass. 190.

New Hampshire.— Goodall v. Marshall, 11 N. H. 88, 35 Am. Dec. 472.

New York.— Williams v. Ayrault, 31 Barb. (N. Y.) 364; Sargent v. Sargent Granite Co., 31 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 131, 6 Misc. (N. Y.) 384, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 737; Walsh v. Durkin, 12 Johns. (N. Y.) 99; Bowne v. Joy, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 221; Cook v. Litchfield, 5 Sandf. (N. Y.) 330; Mitchell v. Bunch, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 606; Hecker v. Mitchell, 5 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 453; Republic v. Arrangois, 1 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 437.

Pennsylvania.— Smith v. Lathrop, 44 Pa. St. 326, 84 Am. Dec. 448; Ralph v. Brown, 3 Watts & S. (Pa.) 395; Lowry v. Hall, 2 Watts & S. (Pa.) 129, 38 Am. Dec. 495.

South Carolina.— Chatzel v. Bolton, 3 McCord (S. C.) 33.

Tennessee.— Lockwood v. Nye, 2 Swan (Tenn.) 515, 58 Am. Dec. 73.

Texas.— Mexican Cent. R. Co. v. Charman, (Tex. Civ. App. 1894) 24 S. W. 958.

Virginia.— Davis v. Morriss, 76 Va. 21.

Wisconsin.— Wood v. Lake, 13 Wis. 84.

United States.— Mutual L. Ins. Co. v. Brune, 96 U. S. 588, 24 L. ed. 737; Briggs v. Stroud, 58 Fed. 717; Rawitzer v. Wyatt, 40 Fed. 609; Lynch v. Hartford F. Ins. Co., 17 Fed. 627; Radford v. Folsom, 14 Fed. 97; Lyman v. Brown, 2 Curt. (U. S.) 559, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,627; White v. Whitman, 1 Curt. (U. S.) 494, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,561.

England.— Foster v. Vassall, 3 Atk. 587; Cox v. Mitchell, 7 C. B. N. S. 55; Sparry's Case, 5 Co. 61*a*; Imlay v. Ellefsen, 2 East, 453; Ostell v. Lepage, 21 Eng. L. & Eq. 640; Scott v. Seymour, 31 L. J. Exch. 457; Bayley v. Edwards, 3 Swanst. 703; Maule v. Murray, 7 T. R. 470; Dillon v. Alvares, 4 Ves. Jr. 357.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 86 et seq.

81. Hill v. Hill, 51 S. C. 134, 28 S. E. 309.

82. Alabama.— Humphries v. Dawson, 38 Ala. 199.

Arkansas.— Moore v. Emerick, 38 Ark. 203; Grider v. Apperson, 32 Ark. 332.

Delaware.— Howard v. Wilmington, etc., R. Co., 2 Harr. (Del.) 471.

Georgia.— Chattanooga, etc., R. Co. v. Jackson, 86 Ga. 676, 13 S. E. 109.

Illinois.— Allen v. Watt, 69 Ill. 655; McJilton v. Love, 13 Ill. 486, 54 Am. Dec. 449.

Indiana.— Eaton, etc., R. Co. v. Hunt, 20 Ind. 457; De Armond v. Bohn, 12 Ind. 607.

Kentucky.— Davis v. Morton, 4 Bush (Ky.) 442, 96 Am. Dec. 309; Salmon v. Wootton, 9 Dana (Ky.) 422.

Maryland.— Cole v. Flitcraft, 47 Md. 312; Seevers v. Clement, 28 Md. 426.

Massachusetts.— Craig Silver Co. v. Smith, 163 Mass. 262, 39 N. E. 1116.

Michigan.— Wilcox v. Kassick, 2 Mich. 165.

Minnesota.— Sandwich Mfg. Co. v. Earl, 56 Minn. 390, 57 N. W. 938.

New Hampshire.— Yelverton v. Conant, 18 N. H. 123.

New Jersey.— Fairchild v. Fairchild, 53 N. J. Eq. 678, 34 Atl. 10, 51 Am. St. Rep. 650; Kerr v. Willetts, 48 N. J. L. 78, 2 Atl. 782; Fulton v. Golden, 25 N. J. Eq. 353; Vail v. Central R. Co., (N. J. 1886) 4 Atl. 663.

New York.— Smith v. Crocker, 14 N. Y. App. Div. 245, 43 N. Y. Suppl. 427; Williams v. Ayrault, 31 Barb. (N. Y.) 364; Hadden v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 57 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 390; Burrows v. Miller, 5 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 51; Cook v. Litchfield, 5 Sandf. (N. Y.) 330.

North Carolina.— Sloan v. McDowell, 75 N. C. 29.

Pennsylvania.— Hogg v. Charlton, 25 Pa. St. 200; Lowry v. Hall, 2 Watts & S. (Pa.) 129, 37 Am. Dec. 495.

the state where the prior suit is pending has complete jurisdiction.[83] A recovery in one may be pleaded to the further continuance of the other, but until that is obtained, or unless the court in its discretion grants a continuance by reason of the pendency of the first action,[84] each may proceed to judgment and execution, when a satisfaction of either will require a discharge of both.[85]

b. Attachment — (I) Abatement of Subsequent Action. The doctrine that the pendency of an action in another state is not a good plea in abatement is not confined to actions in personam. Authorities are not wanting which hold that the pendency of an attachment suit in another state will not abate a subsequent suit between the same parties on the same demand,[86] even though the attachment has been levied upon property sufficient to satisfy the demand.[87]

(II) Abatement of Subsequent Attachment. An attachment of property in one state will not bar the right to issue a writ of the same nature in another state, even when the assets bound by the first writ might be sufficient to pay the demand.[88]

c. Garnishment — (I) Abatement of Action by Prior Garnishment. An exception to the doctrine that the pendency of an action in another jurisdiction is not a good plea in abatement has been made in some states for the protection of persons who have been summoned as trustees or garnishees in other jurisdictions. In these states the rule obtains that a trustee process or garnishment pending in another jurisdiction is a good defense to a subsequent action brought within the

Rhode Island.—Ostby, etc., Co. v. Goldman, (R. I. 1899) 43 Atl. 101; O'Reilly v. New York, etc., R. Co., 16 R. I. 388, 17 Atl. 171, 906, 19 Atl. 244, 5 L. R. A. 364.

South Carolina.— Hill v. Hill, 51 S. C. 134, 28 S. E. 309.

Texas.— Drake v. Brander, 8 Tex. 351; Mexican Cent. R. Co. v. Charman, (Tex. Civ. App. 1894) 24 S. W. 958.

Pendency of probate proceedings in another state.— The pendency of proceedings for the allowance of a claim against an intestate in another state is no bar to the allowance of the claim against the estate within the state. Goodall v. Marshall, 11 N. H. 88, 35 Am. Dec. 472.

Restraining suit in other state.— Where, after the commencement of a suit in one state, plaintiff commences another suit for the same cause of action in the court of another state, and, after taking testimony in his suit in the first state, breaks off and proceeds to take testimony in his suit in the other state, the court of the first state has no power to make an order restraining him from prosecuting the latter suit. Hammond v. Baker, 3 Sandf. (N. Y.) 704.

83. Douglass v. Phenix Ins. Co., 138 N. Y. 209, 33 N. E. 938, 34 Am. St. Rep. 448, 20 L. R. A. 118.

84. Douglass v. Phenix Ins. Co., 138 N. Y. 209, 33 N. E. 938, 34 Am. St. Rep. 448, 20 L. R. A. 118.

85. Oneida County Bank v. Bonney, 101 N. Y. 173, 4 N. E. 332.

86. Barbe v. Glick, 20 Ill. App. 408; Clampitt v. Newport, 8 La. Ann. 124; Douglass v. Phenix Ins. Co., 138 N. Y. 209, 33 N. E. 938, 34 Am. St. Rep. 448, 20 L. R. A. 118; Sargent v. Sargent Granite Co., 31 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 131, 6 Misc. (N. Y.) 384, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 737; Osgood v. Maguire, 61 Barb. (N. Y.) 54; Nason Mfg. Co. v. Rankin Ice Mfg. Co., 1 N. Y. City Ct. 455; Lockwood v. Nye, 2 Swan (Tenn.) 515, 58 Am. Dec. 73. Contra, Lawrence v. Remington, 6 Biss. (U. S.) 44, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,141.

Reason of rule.— A security furnished by the mere service of an attachment in a legal sense neither extinguishes nor diminishes the debt and may not result in producing a satisfaction of the judgment ultimately recovered. The attachment itself may be vacated, superseded, or otherwise discharged, and the security released by proceedings had in the foreign jurisdiction, all without reference to any comity, credit, or respect which may have been given to it in proceedings pending in the state. Nason Mfg. Co. v. Rankin Ice Mfg. Co., 1 N. Y. City Ct. 455.

Subsequent action of assumpsit.—The pendency of an attachment suit in another state will not abate an action of assumpsit brought in the state upon the same cause of action between the same parties. Barbe v. Glick, 20 Ill. App. 408.

87. Hecker v. Mitchell, 6 Duer (N. Y.) 687.

88. Parsons v. Columbia Ins. Co., 2 Phila. (Pa.) 21, 13 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 12, wherein it is said: "An attachment is not like an execution, the end and accomplishment of the judgment of the law. It is primarily a means of compelling the appearance of the debtor, which may or may not end in satisfaction, but affords no reason against a simultaneous recourse to other remedies of the same or a different description in another state." But see Trubee v. Alden, 6 Hun (N. Y.) 75, wherein it appeared that plaintiff brought an action against defendant in another state to recover certain personal property which was seized by the sheriff and released upon the execution of a bond for its appraised value.— $14,000. Subsequently she brought an action in the state to recover state by defendant in the first suit against his debtor, the trustee or garnishee.[89] A defense on this ground is not, however, an absolute one. It is available only so long as the peril elsewhere continues.[90]

(II) Abatement of Action by Subsequent Garnishment. It is to be observed that the exception obtains only where the garnishment in the other jurisdiction was pending at the institution of the suit within the state. Accordingly one who has been sued by his creditor cannot plead in abatement of the suit the fact that after it was commenced he was summoned in another jurisdiction as garnishee in an action against plaintiff.[91]

(III) Assignment before Garnishment. It has been held that the rule that the pendency of a prior garnishment proceeding in another state is sufficient to abate a subsequent suit in behalf of the creditor of the garnishee, defendant in the writ, has no application when an assignee, who has acquired the right to the debt sought to be reached by garnishment before the service of it, sues to enforce collection.[92]

(IV) Abatement of Garnishment by Subsequent Action. It has also been held that garnishment proceedings commenced in a state are not abated by the subsequent commencement of an action in another state by defendant in the garnishment against his debtor, the garnishee.[93]

3. Actions in State and Federal Courts — a. Abatement of Action in Federal Court. The pendency of a prior suit in personam in a state court cannot be pleaded in abatement of a suit between the same parties for the same cause in a federal court.[94] And the rule obtains even in the case of a suit brought in damages for the conversion of the same property, and attached property of defendant of the value of $31,000. It was held that plaintiff should be allowed to attach only so much property as was necessary to secure the additional amount claimed in the second action, unless she elected to abandon the suit in the other state, in which case she might retain her attachment for the full amount.

89. Massachusetts.— Craig Silver Co. v. Smith, 163 Mass. 262, 39 N. E. 1116; American Bank v. Rollins, 99 Mass. 313; Whipple v. Robbins, 97 Mass. 107, 93 Am. Dec. 64.

Minnesota.— Harvey v. Great Northern R. Co., 50 Minn. 405, 52 N. W. 905.

New York.— Embree v. Hanna, 5 Johns. (N. Y.) 101; O'Neil v. Nagle, 14 Daly (N. Y.) 492.

Ohio.— Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. May, 25 Ohio St. 347.

Pennsylvania.— Irvine v. Lumbermen's Bank, 2 Watts & S. (Pa.) 190.

United States.— Mattingly v. Boyd, 20 How. (U. S.) 128, 15 L. ed. 845; Wallace v. McConnell, 13 Pet. (U. S.) 136, 10 L. ed. 95.

But see Lynch v. Hartford F. Ins. Co., 17 Fed. 627, wherein it was held that in an action in a federal court it was not a good plea in abatement that the amount in defendant's hands due plaintiff had been attached by trustee process in a state court, but that a continuance would be granted ex comitate that plaintiff, in the action in the state court, may have an opportunity to make his attachment available. Compare Mars v. Virginia Home Ins. Co., 17 S. C. 514.

Reason of exception.— The attachment which the courts allow to be set up in abatement is an attachment of the debt which the suit sought to be abated was instituted to recover, and not an attachment of the goods of defendant in a suit pending in another state to recover the same debt; and the rule is for the protection of the garnishee and not at all for the benefit of defendant in the attachment. Barbe v. Glick, 20 Ill. App. 408.

Suit before appearance in garnishment.— A foreign attachment between the same parties for the same cause of action in another state does not become an action pending between them until appearance thereto by defendant. And where the appearance is after service of the writ in the action in the state, the pendency of the foreign suit cannot be pleaded in bar or abatement of the action in the state. Wilson v. Mechanics' Sav. Bank, 45 Pa. St. 488.

90. Craig Silver Co. v. Smith, 163 Mass. 262, 39 N. E. 1116.

91. Whipple v. Robbins, 97 Mass. 107, 93 Am. Dec. 64; Wood v. Lake, 13 Wis. 84; Wallace v. McConnell, 13 Pet. (U. S.) 136, 10 L. ed. 95.

In federal court.— Garnishment proceedings in a state court are not pleadable in abatement of a prior action in a federal court. Greenwood v. Rector, Hempst. (U. S.) 708, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,792; Campbell v. Emerson, 2 McLean (U. S.) 30, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,357.

92. North British Mercantile Ins. Co. v. Tyler First Nat. Bank, 3 Tex. Civ. App. 293, 22 S. W. 992.

93. Willard v. Sturm, 96 Iowa 555, 65 N. W. 847, wherein it was held that garnishee proceedings commenced in a state against a railroad company for wages due one of its employees are not abated by the subsequent bringing of an action in another state by the employee against the railroad company for such wages.

94. Gordon v. Gilfoil, 99 U. S. 169, 25 L. ed. 383; Mutual L. Ins. Co. v. Brune, 96

a federal court for the district embraced by the state.[95] The two courts, though not foreign to each other, belong to different jurisdictions in such sense that the doctrine of the pendency of a prior suit as matter of abatement is not applicable.[96]

b. Abatement of Action in State Court. So, too, the pendency of a suit in personam in a federal court cannot be pleaded in abatement of a like suit in a state court.[97]

c. Abatement as Matter of Comity and Discretion. Though a party pleading the pendency of a prior suit in a federal or state court is not entitled, as a matter of strict legal right, to have the subsequent one in the other court abated, either court, as a matter of sound discretion and comity, may abate a suit where a like one is pending in the other.[98]

U. S. 588, 24 L. ed. 737; Stanton v. Embrey, 93 U. S. 548, 23 L. ed. 983; The Kalorama, 10 Wall. (U. S.) 204, 19 L. ed. 944; Humphrey v. Thorp, 89 Fed. 66; Green v. Underwood, 86 Fed. 427, 57 U. S. App. 535, 30 C. C. A. 162; Zimmerman v. So Relle, 80 Fed. 417, 49 U. S. App. 387, 25 C. C. A. 518; Gamble v. San Diego, 79 Fed. 487; Merritt v. American Steel-Barge Co., 79 Fed. 228, 49 U. S. App. 85, 24 C. C. A. 530; Wonderly v. Lafayette County, 77 Fed. 665; Marks v. Marks, 75 Fed. 321; Short v. Hepburn, 75 Fed. 113, 41 U. S. App. 520, 21 C. C. A. 252; Marshall v. Otto, 59 Fed. 249; Converse v. Michigan Dairy Co., 45 Fed. 18; Rawitzer v. Wyatt, 40 Fed. 609; Pierce v. Feagans, 39 Fed. 587; Washburn, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Scutt, 22 Fed. 710; Sharon v. Hill, 22 Fed. 28; Weaver v. Field, 16 Fed. 22; Currie v. Lewiston, 15 Fed. 377; Logan v. Greenlaw, 12 Fed. 10; Crescent City Live-Stock, etc., Co., v. Butchers Union Live-Stock, etc., Co., 12 Fed. 225; McKay v. Garcia, 6 Ben. (U. S.) 556, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 8,844; New England Screw Co. v. Bliven, 3 Blatchf. (U. S.) 240, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,156; Loring v. Marsh, 2 Cliff. (U. S.) 311, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,514; White v. Whitman, 1 Curt. (U. S.) 494, 29 Fed. Cas. No. 17,561; Lyman v. Brown, 2 Curt. (U. S.) 559, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,627; Wadleigh v. Veazie, 3 Sumn. (U. S.) 165, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 17,031. Contra, Nelson v. Foster, 5 Biss. (U. S.) 44, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 10,105; Earl v. Raymond, 4 McLean (U. S.) 233, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,243; Ex p. Balch, 3 McLean (U. S.) 221, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 790.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 87.

Pendency of bill in equity in state court.— The pendency of a suit in equity in a state court cannot be pleaded in abatement of a like suit involving the same subject-matter and between the same parties in a federal court. Latham v. Chafee, 7 Fed. 520; Hughes v. Elsher, 5 Fed. 263.

Pendency of probate proceedings in state court.— The pendency of administration proceedings in a state probate court does not bar proceedings in a federal court involving the same issues. Holton v. Guinn, 76 Fed. 96.

Pendency of replevin in state court.— A suit in a state court by replevin or by an attachment of the property cannot supersede the right of a court of admiralty to proceed by a suit in rem to enforce a right or lien against the property. Certain Logs of Mahogany, 2 Sumn. (U. S.) 589, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,559.

95. North Muskegon v. Clark, 62 Fed. 694, 22 U. S. App. 522, 10 C. C. A. 591; Wilcox, etc., Guano Co. v. Phœnix Ins. Co., 61 Fed. 199; Dwight v. Central Vermont R. Co., 9 Fed. 785; Hughes v. Elsher, 5 Fed. 263. Contra, Radford v. Folsom, 14 Fed. 97.

96. International, etc., R. Co. v. Barton, (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 57 S. W. 292; Marshall v. Otto, 59 Fed. 249.

97. California.— Russell v. Alvarez, 5 Cal. 48.

New Jersey.— Vail v. Central R. Co., (N. J. 1886) 4 Atl. 663.

New York.—Hollister v. Stewart, 111 N. Y. 644, 19 N. E. 782; Oneida County Bank v. Bonney, 101 N. Y. 173, 4 N. E. 332; Litchfield v. Brooklyn, 13 Misc. (N. Y.) 693, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 1090; Walsh v. Durkin, 12 Johns. (N. Y.) 99; Lorillard F. Ins. Co. v. Meshural, 7 Rob. (N. Y.) 308; Mitchell v. Bunch, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 606.

North Carolina.— Sloan v. McDowell, 75 N. C. 29.

Pennsylvania.— Smith v. Lathrop, 44 Pa. St. 326, 84 Am. Dec. 448; McGeorge v. Hancock, Steele, etc., Co., 11 Phila. (Pa.) 602, 32 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 372.

Washington.— State v. Superior Ct., 14 Wash. 686, 45 Pac. 670; Caine v. Seattle, etc., R. Co., 12 Wash. 596, 41 Pac. 904.

But see Wilson v. Milliken, (Ky. 1898) 44 S. W. 660, wherein it was held that the pendency of another action for the same cause in a federal court of the same state is a good plea in abatement. To same effect is Smith v. Atlantic Mut. F. Ins. Co., 22 N. H. 21.

Pendency of libel in federal court.— In an action for freight-money brought in a state court it is not a sufficient answer to set up that the vessel has been libelled for the non-delivery of freight in a federal court. Russell v. Alvarez, 5 Cal. 48.

Pendency of proceedings to set aside assignment for creditors in federal court.— An action pending in the district court of the United States, brought by creditors of an assignor to set aside an assignment made for the benefit of creditors, is not a bar to a proceeding in the state court to enjoin the assignee from paying dividends under such assignment. Wurtz v. Hart, 13 Iowa 515.

98. Martin v. Baldwin, 19 Fed. 340.

Stay of subsequent suit.— In Vail v. Central R. Co., (N. J. 1886) 4 Atl. 663, it was

K. Actions at Law and in Equity. Since the jurisdiction of equity is limited to cases in which the law does not afford a complete and adequate remedy, it has been held by cases both at law and in equity that two causes, one at law and one in equity, are ex necessitate so dissimilar that the pendency of one cannot be pleaded in abatement of the other.[99]

L. Suits in Equity — 1. Statement of Rule. As a general rule the pendency of a prior suit in chancery may be pleaded to the prosecution of a subsequent suit in chancery between the same parties and upon the same equity.[1]

2. Practice on Sustaining Plea. In equity, where the defense of another suit pending is duly made and established, the court, it seems, will dismiss the second said that defendant's remedy in the case of a prior suit pending in a federal court was to apply to the court of the state to stay the subsequent suit or to refuse to enter final judgment until the former suit shall have been discontinued.

99. Alabama.— Humphries v. Dawson, 38 Ala. 199.

Connecticut.— Hatch v. Spofford, 22 Conn. 485, 58 Am. Dec. 433.

Illinois.— Kelderhouse v. Hall, 116 Ill. 147, 4 N. E. 652.

Iowa.— Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Heard, 44 Iowa 358.

Kentucky.— Peak v. Bull, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 428; Curd v. Lewis, 1 Dana (Ky.) 351.

Maine.— Haskins v. Lombard, 16 Me. 140, 33 Am. Dec. 645.

Massachusetts.— Connihan v. Thompson, 111 Mass. 270; Colt v. Partridge, 7 Metc. (Mass.) 570.

Michigan.—Wheeler v. Hatheway, 58 Mich. 77, 24 N. W. 780; Robertson v. Baxter, 57 Mich. 127, 23 N. W. 711; McGunn v. Hanlin, 29 Mich. 476; Joslin v. Millspaugh, 27 Mich. 517; Granger v. Wayne Circuit Judge, 27 Mich. 406, 15 Am. Rep. 195.

New Jersey.— Fulton v. Golden, 25 N. J. Eq. 353; Way v. Bragaw, 16 N. J. Eq. 213, 84 Am. Dec. 147.

New York.— Consolidated Fruit Jar Co. v. Wisner, 38 N. Y. App. Div. 369, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 723; Livingston v. Kane, 3 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 224.

Oregon.— Farris v. Hayes, 9 Oreg. 81.

Pennsylvania.—Brooke v. Phillips, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 392, 24 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 132.

South Carolina.—Denny v. Garden, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 70.

Tennessee.— Lockwood v. Nye, 2 Swan (Tenn.) 515, 58 Am. Dec. 73.

Virginia.—Williamson v. Paxton, 18 Gratt. (Va.) 475; Warwick v. Norvell, 1 Rob. (Va.) 308.

Wisconsin.— Quinn v. Quinn, 27 Wis. 168; Wilson v. Jarvis, 19 Wis. 597.

United States.— Griswold v. Bacheller, 77 Fed. 857; Thorne v. Towanda Tanning Co., 15 Fed. 289; Graham v. Meyer, 4 Blatchf. (U. S.) 129, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,673; Hunt v. Danforth, Brunn. Col. Cas. (U. S.) 678, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6.888; Paul v. Hulbert, 24 Int. Rev. Rec. 53, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,841.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 100.

But see Monroe v. Reid, 46 Nebr. 316, 64 N. W. 983, and State v. North Lincoln St. R. Co., 34 Nebr. 634, 52 N. W. 369, wherein it was held that the pendency of an equitable action might be pleaded in abatement of a suit at law based upon substantially the same facts.

Damages and specific performance.— The pendency of an action at law by the owner of land through which a railroad passes, for damages for the appropriation of the right of way, cannot be pleaded in abatement of an equitable action by the company against the landowner to compel specific performance of an agreement to convey the right of way in controversy. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Heard, 44 Iowa 358.

Debt and creditor's suit.— The pendency of an action at law to recover a judgment for a debt does not preclude the plaintiff from proceeding by a suit in chancery to subject to the payment of his demand property fraudulently conveyed by the debtor. Anderson v. Newman, 60 Miss. 532.

Compelling election between remedies.— But the court may compel a plaintiff suing at law and in equity at the same time for the same cause to elect in which court he will proceed, and stay one suit until the other is determined. See Election of Remedies.

1. Indiana.— Loyd v. Reynolds, 29 Ind. 299.

Kentucky.— Savary v. Taylor, 10 B. Mon. (Ky.) 334; Curd v. Lewis, 1 Dana (Ky.) 351.

Maryland.— McKaig v. Piatt, 34 Md. 249; Seebold v. Lockner, 30 Md. 133.

New Jersey.— Way v. Bragaw, 16 N. J. Eq. 213, 84 Am. Dec. 147.

Ohio.— Weil v. Guerin, 42 Ohio St. 299.

Oregon.— Crane v. Larsen, 15 Oreg. 345, 15 Pac. 326.

Pennsylvania.— Streater v. Ricketts, 2 Kulp (Pa.) 529.

Wisconsin.— Rowley v. Williams, 5 Wis. 151.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 26.

Conveyance subsequent to bill.— A bill for a partition of lands filed by a recent grantee of a part thereof without notice that another bill for the same purpose, filed seventeen years before, was still pending, will not be dismissed where such prior bill, by reason of conveyances to other parties, will not justify the making of a decree, and it appears that under the new bill the interests of all parties can be speedily adjusted. Parcell v. Demorest, 48 N. J. Eq. 524, 22 Atl. 351.

bill, or, if the prior suit be in the same court and defective, a dismissal of the first suit may be ordered and complainant permitted to proceed in the second bill.[2]

M. Accounting by Personal Representative — 1. Proceedings by Same Creditor. It has been held that if a creditor who has filed a bill in chancery against an executor or administrator for an account afterward cites him to account before the surrogate, the pendency of the suit in chancery may be set up before the surrogate in the nature of a plea in abatement.[3]

2. Proceedings by Different Creditors. In analogy to the established right of different creditors to proceed simultaneously against the executor or administrator, in the same or different courts of equity, until a decree has been made in one of the courts, so that all may come in under the decree, the simple institution of a suit by one creditor in a court of chancery for an account, if the suit has not proceeded to a decree, is no bar to a proceeding instituted before the surrogate by another creditor for an account.[4]

N. Suits in Rem and in Personam — 1. Libel in Rem and Action at Law. As a general rule a libel in rem and an action at law for the same demand are not pleadable in abatement of each other.[5]

2. Attachment and Action in Personam[6] — a. Doctrine that Attachment Abates Action. The authorities are not in accord as to the effect of the pendency of an attachment suit on a subsequent action in personam. In some states it is held that an attachment is a suit at law admitting any plea appropriate to a common-law action on the same liability, and to which the pendency of another suit between the same parties for the same cause is a good plea in abatement.[7]

b. Doctrine that Attachment Does Not Abate Action. In other states it is held that the pendency of an attachment suit will not, of itself, abate a subsequent suit in personam for the same cause.[8]

2. Curd v. Lewis. 1 Dana (Ky.) 351; Moore v. Holt, 3 Tenn. Ch. 141; Anderson v. Piercy, 20 W. Va. 282.

Election between suits.— In Gaines v. Park, 3 B. Mon. (Ky.) 223, 38 Am. Dec. 185, it was held that in the case of two suits in equity pending at the same time the court would compel an election by the plaintiff as to which suit he would further prosecute. See also Election of Remedies.

3. Matter of De Pierris, 79 Hun (N. Y.) 279, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 360; Rogers v. King, 8 Paige (N. Y.) 210.

Filing claim and action.— In Indiana the mode prescribed by statute for filing claims against a decedent's estate — entering them upon the appearance docket and afterward, if necessary, upon the issue docket — is a mode of getting them into court to receive final adjudication as in a suit at law. Accordingly a claim so filed is a bar to an action against the administrator upon a note due from decedent. Morgan v. Squier, 8 Ind. 511.

4. Rogers v. King, 8 Paige (N. Y.) 210.

5. Granger v. Wayne Circuit Judge, 27 Mich. 406, 15 Am. Rep. 195; The Kalorama, 10 Wall. (U. S.) 204, 19 L. ed. 944; Wolf v. Cook, 40 Fed. 432; Providence Washington Ins. Co. v. Wager, 35 Fed. 364; Atlantic Mut. Ins. Co. v. Alexandre, 16 Fed. 279; The Ship Prince Albert, 5 Ben. (U. S.) 386, 19 Fed. Cas. No. 11,426; Certain Logs of Mahogany, 2 Sumn. (U. S.) 589, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,559; Harmer v. Bell, 22 Eng. L. & Eq. 62.

Libel against vessel and action against owner.— The pendency of a libel in admiralty against a vessel is no bar to an attachment suit at law against the owners of the vessel for the same cause of action. Wolf v. Cook, 40 Fed. 432.

6. As to attachment in another jurisdiction see supra, II, J, 2, b.

7. Reynolds v. McClure, 13 Ala. 159; Dean v. Massey, 7 Ala. 601; McKinsey v. Anderson, 4 Dana (Ky.) 62; Scott v. Coleman, 5 Litt. (Ky.) 349, 15 Am. Dec. 71.

Attachment against non-resident.—In Challiss v. Smith, 25 Kan. 563, plaintiff commenced an action against defendant, a non-resident, attached certain real estate, made service by publication, and obtained judgment and an order of sale of the attached property. The defendant did not personally appear, and jurisdiction was obtained in the attachment by publication only. Thereafter, and before any sale of the attached property, defendant coming into the state, plaintiff, ignoring the attachment proceedings, commenced an action on the original indebtedness and caused the arrest of defendant, who pleaded in abatement the attachment proceedings. It was held that in the absence of evidence that the attachment proceedings had been consummated by a sale, or that they were valueless by reason of defect of title in the property attached, encumbrances thereon, or otherwise, the plea was properly sustained.

8. Illinois.— Haldeman v. Starrett, 23 Ill. 393; Branigan v. Rose, 8 Ill. 123.

Louisiana.— Gibson v. Huie, 14 La. 124.

Maryland.— Cole v. Flitcraft, 47 Md. 312.

New York.—Bowne v. Joy, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 221.

Pennsylvania.— Swartz v. Lawrence, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 181, 34 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 114.

3. Garnishment and Action in Personam[9] — a. Doctrine that Garnishment Abates Action. There is also a wide diversity of views entertained by the courts as to the effect of garnishment proceedings when the garnishee is sued by his creditor, defendant in attachment. It is the doctrine in some jurisdictions that where one is summoned as a garnishee in an attachment proceeding, and defendant in attachment, before judgment entered against the garnishee sequestering or condemning the debt, sues the garnishee for that debt, the garnishee may plead the attachment in abatement.[10]

b. Doctrine that Garnishment Does Not Abate Action. In other jurisdictions it is held that the pendency of garnishment proceedings is not pleadable in abatement of an action against the garnishee by his creditor, defendant in attachment.[11] Protection is afforded the garnishee in such jurisdictions by either suspending all proceedings in the action until the garnishment suit is determined,[12] or so molding the judgment as to stay execution for so much of the debt as ought to be held until the garnishee is set free from the garnishment proceedings.[13]

c. Abatement of Garnishment by Action. In some states the rule obtains that an attachment by trustee process may be made notwithstanding an action is pending in favor of the principal debtor against the trustee to recover the same debt.[14] But the court in such case will be careful to see that the trustee is not subjected to any danger of being compelled to pay his debt twice.[15] The practice

9. As to garnishment in another jurisdiction see supra, II, J, 2, c.

10. Iowa.— Clise v. Freeborne, 27 Iowa 280.

Maryland.— Brown v. Somerville, 8 Md. 444.

Michigan.— Grosslight v. Crisup, 58 Mich. 531, 25 N. W. 505; Near v. Mitchell, 23 Mich. 382.

New York.— Sargent v. Sargent Granite Co., 31 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 131, 6 Misc. (N. Y.) 384, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 737; Bowne v. Joy, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 221.

Pennsylvania.— Fitzgerald v. Caldwell, 1 Yeates (Pa.) 274.

England.— Brook v. Smith, 1 Salk. 280; McDaniel v. Hughes, 3 East 267.

11. California.— McKeon v. McDermott, 22 Cal. 667, 83 Am. Dec. 86; Pierson v. McCahill, 21 Cal. 122; McFadden v. O'Donnell, 18 Cal. 160.

Georgia.— Shealy v. Toole, 56 Ga. 210.

Idaho.— Van Ness v. McLeod, 2 Idaho 1147, 31 Pac. 798.

Maine.— Ladd v. Jacobs, 64 Me. 347.

Massachusetts.— Creed v. Creed, 161 Mass. 107, 36 N. E. 749; Winthrop v. Carlton, 8 Mass. 456.

Mississippi.— Yazoo, etc., R. Co. v. Fulton, 71 Miss. 385, 14 So. 271.

New Hampshire.— Drew v. Towle, 27 N. H. 412; Wadleigh v. Pillsbury, 14 N. H. 373.

New Mexico.— Herlow v. Orman, 3 N. Mex. 291, 6 Pac. 935.

Pennsylvania.— Brown v. Scott, 51 Pa. St. 357.

Texas.— McRee v. Brown, 45 Tex. 503.

Vermont.— Hicks v. Gleason, 20 Vt. 139; Morton v. Webb, 7 Vt. 123.

England.— Nathan v. Giles, 5 Taunt. 558.

Assignment before garnishment.— In an action on a note by the assignee of the payee against the maker, the pendency of an attachment suit against the payee, wherein the maker was sued as garnishee, constitutes no defense if the assignment was made before the garnishment. Wilson v. Murphy, 45 Mo. 409.

12. Alabama.— Crawford v. Slade, 9 Ala. 887, 44 Am. Dec. 463.

California.— McKeon v. McDermott, 22 Cal. 667; 83 Am. Dec. 86; Pierson v. McCahill, 21 Cal. 122; McFadden v. O'Donnell, 18 Cal. 160.

Idaho.—Van Ness v. McLeod, 2 Idaho 1147, 31 Pac. 798.

Kansas.— McDonald v. Carney, 8 Kan. 20.

Massachusetts.— Thorndike v. De Wolf, 6 Pick. (Mass.) 120; Winthrop v. Carlton, 8 Mass. 456.

Minnesota.— Blair v. Hilgedick, 45 Minn. 23, 47 N. W. 310.

New Hampshire.— Foster v. Dudley, 30 N. H. 463; Wadleigh v. Pillsbury, 14 N. H. 373.

Rhode Island.— Smith v. Carroll, 17 R. I. 125, 21 Atl. 343.

Vermont.— Spicer v. Spicer, 23 Vt. 678; Trombly v. Clark, 13 Vt. 118.

13. Alabama.— Crawford v. Slade, 9 Ala. 887, 44 Am. Dec. 463.

Georgia.— Shealy v. Toole, 56 Ga. 210.

Minnesota.— Blair v. Hilgedick, 45 Minn. 23, 47 N. W. 310.

Mississippi.— Yazoo, etc., R. Co. v. Fulton, 71 Miss. 385, 14 So. 271.

Montana.— Marden v. Wheelock, 1 Mont. 49.

Vermont.— Spicer v. Spicer, 23 Vt. 678.

14. Maine.— Smith v. Barker, 10 Me. 458.

Massachusetts.— Whipple v. Robbins, 97 Mass. 107, 93 Am. Dec. 64.

New Hampshire.— Foster v. Dudley, 30 N. H. 463.

Pennsylvania.— Sweeny v. Allen, 1 Pa. St. 380.

Rhode Island.— Smith v. Carroll, 17 R. I. 125, 21 Atl. 343.

Vermont.—Trombly v. Clark, 13 Vt. 118.

15. Jones v. Wood, 30 Vt. 268.

where the garnishment suit is subsequent in point of time to the action, and the fact is brought to the attention of the court, is to suspend all proceedings in the action or stay execution of the judgment therein until the garnishment suit is determined.[16]

0. Suits to Foreclose Lien and for Personal Judgment — 1. In General. The pendency of a suit in chancery for attaching and enforcing a lien is no cause for abating a suit at law on a note for the same debt.[17]

2. Foreclosure of Mortgage and Action in Personam. Upon the same principle a suit in equity to foreclose a mortgage and a suit at law to recover the debt secured by the mortgage may be pending at the same time. Neither is pleadable in abatement of the other.[18]

3. Foreclosure of Mechanic's Lien and Action in Personam. Upon the same principle, proceedings to foreclose a mechanic's lien and a suit to recover the debt secured by the lien may be pending at the same time.[19]

16. Michigan.— Burt v. Reilly, 82 Mich. 251, 46 N. W. 380.

Minnesota.— Blair v. Hilgedick, 45 Minn. 23, 47 N. W. 310.

Montana.— Marden v. Wheelock, 1 Mont. 49.

New Hampshire.— Foster v. Dudley, 30 N. H. 463.

Rhode Island.— Smith v. Carroll, 17 R. I. 125, 21 Atl. 343.

Vermont.— Trombly v. Clark, 13 Vt. 118.

Plea puis darrein continuance.— In Grosslight v. Crisup, 58 Mich. 531, 25 N. W. 505, it was held that the proper practice was to bring the fact of the subsequent garnishment to the attention of the court by plea puis darrein continuance.

17. Turner v. New Farmers' Bank, (Ky. 1897) 39 S. W. 425; Julian v. Pilcher, 2 Duv. (Ky.) 254; Peak v. Bull, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 428; Black v. Lackey, 2 B. Mon. (Ky.) 257,— the reason being that the two suits are brought for different purposes and are not commensurate in their objects. The chancery suit could afford no relief beyond the effects sought to be attached, and the creditor should not thereby be deprived of the right to obtain a personal judgment for the debt which might be essential to his security and ultimate satisfaction.

Second suit for personal judgment.— The pendency of an action on a promissory note secured by a mortgage, to have the amount due on the note found, and for a decree for the sale of the property described in the mortgage, but in which no personal judgment was demanded, is not a bar to another action upon the note against the maker for a personal judgment. Spence v. Union Cent. L. Ins. Co., 40 Ohio St. 517.

18. Arkansas.— Very v. Watkins, 18 Ark. 546.

Georgia.— Heath v. Bates, 70 Ga. 633; Clark v. Tuggle, 18 Ga. 604.

Kentucky.— Peak v. Bull, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 428; Black v. Lackey, 2 B. Mon. (Ky.) 257.

Michigan.— Joslin v. Millspaugh, 27 Mich. 517.

Missouri.— Jacobs v. Lewis, 47 Mo. 344.

New Jersey.— Copperthwait v. Dummer, 18 N. J. L. 258.

New York.— Gillette v. Smith, 18 Hun (N. Y.) 10; Suydam v. Bartle, 9 Paige (N. Y.) 294; Jones v. Conde, 6 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 77; Dunkley v. Van Buren, 3 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 330.

Ohio.— Spence v. Union Cent. L. Ins. Co., 40 Ohio St. 517.

Virginia.— Priddy v. Hartsook, 81 Va. 67.

Wisconsin.—Witter v. Neeves, 78 Wis. 547, 47 N. W. 938.

United States.— Atlantic Mut. Ins. Co. v. Alexandre, 16 Fed. 279.

Actions on note and to foreclose.— The pendency of an action on a note is not a bar to an action to foreclose a mortgage given to secure the payment of the note. Copperthwait v. Dummer, 18 N. J. L. 258; Gillette v. Smith, 18 Hun (N. Y.) 10; Witter v. Neeves, 78 Wis. 547, 47 N. W. 938.

Subsequent action by assignee.— The pendency of an action at law brought by the original payee of a note secured by a mortgage is not a bar to a proceeding in chancery by the assignee to foreclose the mortgage. Guest v. Byington, 14 Iowa 30.

Suits for different instalments.— The pendency of a suit to foreclose a mortgage for the non-payment of one instalment on a note is not sufficient ground for the abatement of a subsequent suit to foreclose the same mortgage based on the non-payment of the next instalment on the same note, although the parties to the note and to the mortgage are the same. Jacobs v. Lewis, 47 Mo. 344.

19. Culver v. Elwell, 73 Ill. 536; Delahay v. Clement, 4 Ill. 201; Gambling v. Haight, 59 N. Y. 354; Raven v. Smith, 71 Hun (N. Y.) 197, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 601; Maxey v. Larkin, 2 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 540; Gridley v. Rowland, 1 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 670; Parmelee v. Tennessee, etc., R. Co., 13 Lea (Tenn.) 600.

Actions on note and to foreclose lien.— An action upon a note given to a sub-contractor as collateral security for the payment of work done by him in the erection of a building may be maintained at the same time with proceedings to enforce a mechanic's lien filed by him against the premises. Gambling v. Haight, 59 N. Y. 354. But see contra, Ogden v. Bodle, 2 Duer (N. Y.) 611.

Actions for wages and to foreclose lien.— The pendency of proceedings to enforce a mechanic's lien is no bar to the maintenance of an action to recover from the contractor for wages. Maxey v. Larkin, 2 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 540.

P. Actions by Attachment. It has been held that the pendency of one attachment may be pleaded in abatement of a subsequent attachment between the same parties for the same cause of action in the same county.[20]

Q. Proceedings by Mandamus. The pendency of a proceeding by mandamus may be pleaded in abatement of a subsequent mandamus proceeding where the parties and the matter are the same, the practice being assimilated to that in other civil suits.[21]

R. Mandamus and Other Action. As mandamus is a civil action, the plea of the pendency of another suit is as applicable to it as to any other civil action.[22]

S. Simultaneous Actions. Where two suits are brought simultaneously, each, it has been held, abates the other. The complaint, as a penalty for the misuse of the process of the court, is deemed bad in both actions.[23] But if two writs be sued out on the same day and both are served at different times, the one first served will abate the other.[24]

T. Set-Off or Counterclaim in Prior Action — 1. EFFECT OF SET-OFF IN PRIOR ACTION. It is a good plea in abatement that in a prior suit the plaintiff in the second suit, defendant in the first, filed a counterclaim for the same cause of action.[25]

2. ABILITY TO SET OFF CLAIM IN PRIOR ACTION. In the absence of a statute requiring the set-off of all claims in a pending suit, a party having a claim against another may institute an action thereon, although at the same time an action is pending against him by his debtor wherein he might have set up his claim as a counterclaim.[26]

U. Prior Proceeding by Petition. In the application of the doctrine that the pendency of one proceeding is a bar to a subsequent proceeding for the same cause between the same parties it has been held that it matters not that the prior proceeding is not an action, but was instituted by the petition of the party who sets it up as a bar.[27]

20. James v. Dowell, 7 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 333; Harris v. Linnard, 9 N. J. L. 73.

As to attachment in another jurisdiction see supra, II, J, 2, b.

Attachment and bail writ.— A proceeding by attachment and another by bail writ cannot be pending at the same time between the same parties. Clark v. Tuggle, 18 Ga. 604.

First attachment insufficient.— A complainant obtaining an attachment in chancery in one county and levying it upon property not sufficient to pay the debt is no objection to his prosecuting another suit by attachment in another county and attaching other property. Savary v. Taylor, 10 B. Mon. (Ky.) 334.

21. State v. Sumter County, 20 Fla. 859. But see Foote v. Myers, 60 Miss. 790, wherein it was held that the existence of a proceeding by a person individually for a mandamus against the secretary of state is not a bar to the prosecution of a suit for mandamus by the district attorney on the relation of such person against the secretary of state, although both proceedings are founded upon the same state of facts and seek the accomplishment of the same performance.

22. People v. Chicago, 53 Ill. 424; People v. Wiant, 48 Ill. 263, 268; People v. Warfield, 20 Ill. 159; State v. North Lincoln St. R. Co., 34 Nebr. 634, 52 N. W. 369; State v. Matley, 17 Nebr. 564, 24 N. W. 200. But see Calaveras County v. Brockway, 30 Cal. 325, wherein it was held that the writ of mandamus was a high prerogative writ to abate or bar which a plea that another action was pending for the same cause was not available. See also State v. Kreider, 21 La. Ann. 482, wherein it was held that the plea of lis pendens was not available where it is shown that a suit by mandamus had been brought in the name of the state on the relation of a claimant for office and was still pending, and another suit had been brought in the name of the state by the district attorney, joining the same claimant for office as in the mandamus suit.

23. Beach v. Norton, 8 Conn. 71; Wales v. Jones, 1 Mich. 254; Davis v. Dunklee, 9 N. H. 545.

Rule in Georgia.— In Georgia a suitor is put to his election where two actions are commenced simultaneously for the same cause. Ga. Code, § 3737; Heath v. Bates, 70 Ga. 633.

24. Morton v. Webb, 7 Vt. 123.

25. Pennsylvania R. Co. v. Davenport, 154 Pa. St. 111, 25 Atl. 890; Tomlinson v. Nelson, 49 Wis. 679, 6 N. W. 366; Demond v. Crary, 1 Fed. 480.

Set-off in second suit.— In Stroh v. Uhrich, 1 Watts & S. (Pa.) 57, it was held that the pendency of a suit is no objection to a set-off of the debt upon which it is founded in another action between the same parties.

26. Jemison Hardware Co. v. Godkin, 112 Mich. 57, 70 N. W. 428; Seventh-Day Adventist Pub. Assoc. v. Fisher, 95 Mich. 274, 54 N. W. 759; Lignot v. Redding, 4 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 285.

27. Groshon v. Lyon, 16 Barb. (N. Y.) 461.

V. Proceedings by Scire Facias. While a scire facias to make parties is in some of its features in the nature of a suit, it is more properly a continuation of the old case than the inception of a new one, and it is not such a suit or action as will abate under a plea setting out the pendency of another scire facias between the same parties and for the same purpose.[28]

W. Second Action in Abatement of First. The original or first suit cannot be abated by a plea that another action for the same cause was afterward commenced.[29]

X. Trial of Issue Raised by Plea — 1. At Common Law. At common law the issues arising upon a plea of another action pending must be disposed of before pleading to the merits.[30]

2. In Equity — a. Setting Plea Down for Argument. In equity several courses are open to the complainant on the filing of a plea of another suit pending. He may set such plea down for argument on its sufficiency;[31] but this course admits the truth of the plea and it must be allowed if not defective in form.[32]

b. Joinder of Issue upon Facts of Plea. Complainant may join issue upon the facts of the plea.[33]

c. Reference to Master — (1) In General. The complainant may obtain a reference to a master or other officer to ascertain whether both suits are for the same matter, which is the usual English practice.[34] Or the complain-

28. Heath v. Bates, 70 Ga. 633.

29. Numerous authorities hold that though the pendency of another suit may be pleaded in abatement of a suit subsequently commenced, the converse of the proposition does not hold true.

Indiana.—Sherwood v. Hammond, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 504.

Kansas.—Rizer v. Gillpatrick, 16 Kan. 564.

Maryland.—U. S. Bank v. Merchants Bank, 7 Gill (Md.) 415.

Massachusetts.— Webster v. Randall, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 13; Buffum v. Tilton, 17 Pick. (Mass.) 510.

Michigan.— Callanan v. Port Huron, etc., R. Co., 61 Mich. 15, 27 N. W. 718.

New Hampshire.—Rogers v. Odell, 39 N. H. 452.

New York.— Nicholl v. Mason, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 339; Haight v. Holley, 3 Wend. (N. Y.) 258; Embree v. Hanna, 5 Johns. (N. Y.) 101.

Ohio.— Spinning v. Ohio L. Ins., etc., Co., 2 Disney (Ohio) 336.

Texas.— Connor v. Saunders, 9 Tex. Civ. App. 56, 29 S. W. 1140.

Wisconsin.— Wood v. Lake, 13 Wis. 84.

United States.— Renner v. Marshall, 1 Wheat. (U. S.) 215, 4 L. ed. 74.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 33.

30. Peck v. Kirtz, 15 N. Y. St. 598.

Disposition of issue.— The court cannot dismiss a case on motion, on the ground of a former suit pending, when a plea of such suit pending has been replied to and the issue thereon remains undisposed of. Gruler v. McRoberts, 48 Mich. 316, 12 N. W. 201.

31. Moore v. Holt, 3 Tenn. Ch. 141; Macey v. Childress, 2 Tenn. Ch. 23; Searight v. Payne, 1 Tenn. Ch. 186; Montgomery v. Olwell, 1 Tenn. Ch. 183.

32. Battell v. Matot, 58 Vt. 271, 5 Atl. 479; Rowley v. Williams, 5 Wis. 151; Tarleton v. Barnes, 2 Keen 632. But see McEwen v. Broadhead, 11 N. J. Eq. 129, wherein it was held that the only question for the court to determine when the plea of another action pending is set down for argument is whether the plea is good in point of form. If it is, then complainant may still reply if he desires, or he may take a reference to a master to ascertain the fact upon which the plea stands.

33. McEwen v. Broadhead, 11 N. J. Eq. 129; Allen v. Allen, 3 Tenn. Ch. 145; Searight v. Payne, 1 Tenn. Ch. 186; Montgomery v. Olwell, 1 Tenn. Ch. 183.

Practice in New Jersey.— In New Jersey, where a plea of a former suit pending is pleaded, complainant may take issue upon the facts of the plea, or a reference to a master to ascertain the fact whether both suits are for the same matter. If he does neither, defendant must set the plea down for argument. McEwen v. Broadhead, 11 N. J. Eq. 129.

Replication to plea.— In Tennessee the complainant may join issue on the plea of a former suit pending, and, whether a formal replication is required or not, a general replication, if filed, can do no harm. Allen v. Allen, 3 Tenn. Ch. 145.

34. New Jersey.— McEwen v. Broadhead, 11 N. J. Eq. 129.

New York.— Hart v. Philips, 9 Paige (N. Y.) 293.

North Carolina.— Brice v. Mallett, 3 N. C. 432.

Tennessee.—Searight v. Payne, 1 Tenn. Ch. 186.

Vermont.— Battell v. Matot, 58 Vt. 271, 5 Atl. 479.

Wisconsin.— Rowley v. Williams, 5 Wis. 151.

England.— Beames' Orders, p. 176; Urlin v. Hudson, 1 Vern. 332; Jones v. Segueira, 1 Phil. 82; Long v. Storie, 9 Hare 542; Tarleton v. Barnes, 2 Keen 632.

Practice in Vermont.—In Vermont the prac-ant may admit as much of the plea as he likes and take a reference for the remainder.[35]

(II) Nature of Reference. It has been held that where defendant pleads another suit pending for the same cause, the reference to the master to inquire and report as to the truth of the plea is a mere preliminary proceeding. And where the report is in favor of the truth of the plea no further proceedings can be had thereon by either party until the plea has been argued and disposed of.[36]

(III) Manner of Obtaining Reference. It seems that a reference as to whether two suits are for the same matter is obtained by plea and not by motion,[37] except where two suits are brought in the name of an infant. In such case it is a motion of course to obtain a reference on the statement of counsel that both suits are for the same purpose, to see which of them is most for the infant's benefit, and so most proper to be proceeded with.[38]

3. Under the Codes. By the code the distinction in the method of pleading another action pending and of proceeding upon the issue in that respect has been abolished. The plea of another action pending is joined by the answer with matter going to the merits, and all the issues raised by the answer are tried together.[39] If the jury find for defendant on such plea, other issues raised by the answer need not be considered.[40]

4. Proof of Plea — a. Necessity of Proof. The pendency of a former suit between the same parties cannot, it seems, be determined by the pleadings. There must be proof of the former suit.[41]

b. Burden of Proof. A plea of another action pending is an affirmative plea and casts the burden of proof on the party pleading it.[42]

tice on the filing of a plea of another action pending is not to reply to such a plea, nor to set it down for argument, but to refer it on motion at once and of course to a master, to ascertain and report whether or not both suits are for the same matter. The plaintiff may except to the master's report and bring the matter on to be argued before the court, and if he conceives the plea to be defective in form or otherwise, independent of the mere truth of the matter pleaded, he may set down the plea to be argued as in the case of pleas in general. Battell v. Matot, 58 Vt. 271, 5 Atl. 479.

Practice in Wisconsin.— In Rowley v. Williams, 5 Wis. 151, 153, the court said: "As we have no masters in chancery in this state, nor any corresponding officer, with correlative powers and duties, many of the functions of that officer devolve upon the court, and we see no reason why a plea of [another suit pending] may not be disposed of by the court, as the like duties are performed in respect to other pleas, in like manner as the court would dispose of it upon hearing after the report of the master."

Reference to clerk of court.— Upon a plea in equity of another action pending, it is proper practice to refer the plea to the clerk to report whether the suits are for the same cause of action. Green v. Neal, 2 Heisk. (Tenn.) 217.

Reference to court commissioner.— In equity, on the filing of a plea of another action pending, the plea will be referred to a commissioner of the court to report upon the facts. Johnston v. Bower, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 487.

35. Searight v. Payne, 1 Tenn. Ch. 186; Jones v. Segueira, 1 Phil. 82.

36. Hart v. Philips, 9 Paige (N. Y.) 293, wherein it was held that where a defendant pleads another suit pending for the same cause, and the report of the master finds that the plea is true, defendant cannot obtain an order, on motion, to dismiss complainant's bill, but he must bring the cause on to be heard upon the plea and the master's report to enable the court to decide upon the validity of the plea.

37. Murray v. Shadwell, 17 Ves. Jr. 353.

38. Battell v. Matot, 58 Vt. 271, 5 Atl. 479; Sullivan v. Sullivan, 2 Meriv. 40.

39. Peck v. Kirtz, 15 N. Y. St. 598; Montague v. Brown, 104 N. C. 161, 10 S. E. 186; Blackwell v. Dibbrell, 103 N. C. 270, 9 S. E. 192; Hawkins v. Hughes, 87 N. C. 115.

40. Montague v. Brown, 104 N. C. 161; 10 S. E. 186; Blackwell v. Dibbrell, 103 N. C. 270, 9 S. E. 192; Hawkins v. Hughes, 87 N. C. 115.

41. People v. De la Guerra, 24 Cal. 73, wherein it was held that the annexation in an answer of a copy of the record of a former suit did not do away with the necessity of a trial and the introduction of the record in evidence.

Time of proof of plea.— In an action of ejectment, where, in addition to the defense of abatement by reason of the pendency of a former action, defendant relies upon other defenses which go directly to the merits of the cause, it is better practice for the trial court to require defendant to present his evidence upon his plea in abatement at the opening of his defense. Leonard v. Flynn, 89 Cal. 535, 26 Pac. 1097, 23 Am. St. Rep. 500.

42. Fowler v. Byrd, Hempst. (U. S.) 213, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,999*a*.

c. Record Evidence. The proper proof to sustain a plea of another action pending is record evidence.[43]

d. Parol Evidence. In determining whether the first suit is for the same cause of action as the second, parol evidence has been held to be competent.[44] It has, however, been held that where no complaint is served in an action commenced by summons the subject of the controversy cannot be proven by parol evidence.[45]

e. Sufficiency of Proof. The defense of the pendency of another action for the same cause is a dilatory one not going to the merits, and hence of a character requiring full and complete proof to sustain it.[46]

f. Province of Court and Jury. It has been held that if there is any conflict in the evidence or objection by plaintiff to the court's passing upon the sufficiency of facts introduced in support of the plea of another action pending without the intervention of a jury, the question of fact may properly be referred to a jury.[47]

III. Death of Party.

A. Abatement or Survival of Action — 1. Effect of Death at Common Law. At common law a suit abated by the death of a party before trial or verdict. If the cause of action was one that did not survive, death put a final end to the suit. If the cause was one that survived or could survive, plaintiff or his personal representative was obliged to bring a new action against defendant or his personal representative.[48]

43. Smiley v. Dewey, 17 Ohio 156; Fowler v. Byrd, Hempst. (U. S.) 213, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,999*a*.

Certified copy of record.— In Parmelee v. Tennessee, etc., R. Co., 13 Lea (Tenn.) 600, it was held that the proper proof to support a plea of a former suit pending was a certified copy of the record of such suit.

Evidence supporting plea of former recovery.— A plea of the pendency of a prior action for the same cause between the same parties is supported by like evidence as a plea of a former recovery. Foster v. Napier, 73 Ala. 595.

Secondary evidence.— In Woodward v. Stark, 4 S. D. 588, 57 N. W. 496, it was held that, to support a plea of another action pending, secondary evidence was competent only when record evidence is shown to be unavailable.

Transcript of justice.— A transcript of the record of an action before a justice, showing the filing and approval of an appeal, is competent to show the pendency of a prior action between the same parties for the same cause. Bond v. White, 24 Kan. 45.

44. Damon v. Denny, 54 Conn. 253, 7 Atl. 409. But see Wright v. Maseras, 56 Barb. (N. Y.) 521, wherein it was held that the pendency of another action could not be proved by the testimony of witnesses.

Explanation of variance.—Where the pendency of a prior action is pleaded in abatement, and the record which is offered to sustain the plea shows a difference in the names of the plaintiffs in the two actions, parol evidence to explain the variance is not admissible without an averment in the plea that such plaintiffs are one and the same. Morris v. State, 101 Ind. 560.

Service of writ.— Where defendant pleads in abatement the pendency of another action for the same cause, commenced at the same time, the plaintiff, on a replication that the other action was not commenced and pending at the same time, may give evidence that it was commenced on a subsequent day, notwithstanding both writs bear date the same day. Davis v. Dunklee, 9 N. H. 545.

45. Phelps v. Gee, 29 Hun (N. Y.) 202; Curry v. Wiborn, 12 N. Y. App. Div. 1, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 178,— the reason for this being that by simply serving a summons plaintiff is under no legal obligation to follow it up with a complaint setting forth any particular claim or demand.

46. Hoag v. Weston, 10 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 92.

Papers purporting to be a complaint and answer in an action similarly entitled, but not shown to have been filed, served, or used in any action, with no evidence of a summons or its service, are insufficient to support a plea of another action pending. Woodward v. Stark, 4 S. D. 588, 57 N. W. 496.

Replication of nul tiel record.— The plea of another action pending is sustained as against a replication of nul tiel record by the bare record of an action between the same parties and involving the same issues. Merriam v. Baker, 9 Minn. 40.

47. Harmon v. McRae, 91 Ala. 401, 8 So. 548.

48. Connecticut.— Booth v. Northrop, 27 Conn. 325.

Georgia.— Henderson v. Alexander, 2 Ga. 81; Neal v. Haygood, 1 Ga. 514.

Illinois.— Brown v. Parker, 15 Ill. 307.

Iowa.— Shafer v. Grimes, 23 Iowa 550.

Maine.— Fulton v. Nason, 66 Me. 446; Treat v. Dwinel, 59 Me. 341; Dwinal v. Holmes, 37 Me. 97.

Massachusetts.— Putnam v. Putnam, 4 Pick. (Mass.) 139; Mellen v. Baldwin, 4 Mass. 480.

Missouri.— Kingsbury v. Lane, 21 Mo. 115; Carlisle v. Rawlings, 18 Mo. 166.

2. Rule as Modified by Statute. The inconvenience resulting from the defect in the common-law system of remedies on the death of a party led to the adoption of statutes which provided a mode for making the representative of the deceased party, where the cause of action survived, a party to the action;[49] and it is only by statute that the survivorship of the original action is given.[50]

3. Causes of Action Which Survive — a. What Law Governs — (I) In General. The question of the survivorship of an action on the death of a party depends on the laws of the state in which the cause of action accrued, and not on the laws of the state in which the action is brought.[51]

(II) Actions in Federal Court. If an action is brought in a federal court, and is based upon some act of congress, or arises under some rule of general law recognized in the courts of the Union, the question of survival will depend upon the statutes of the United States relating to that subject. Otherwise it depends upon the laws of the state in which it is commenced.[52]

New Hampshire.— Ela v. Rand, 4 N. H. 54.

New Jersey.—Hayden v. Vreeland, 37 N. J. L. 372, 18 Am. Rep. 723; Freeborn v. Denman, 8 N. J. L. 142.

New York.— Matter of Palmer, 115 N. Y. 493, 22 N. E. 221; Holsman v. St. John, 90 N. Y. 461; Evans v. Cleveland, 72 N. Y. 486; Wade v. Kalbfleisch, 58 N. Y. 282, 17 Am. Rep. 250; Benjamin v. Smith, 17 Wend. (N. Y.) 208; Reed v. Butler, 11 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 128.

Ohio.— Carter v. Jennings, 24 Ohio St. 182.

Tennessee.— Lewis v. Outlaw, 1 Overt. (Tenn.) 139.

Texas.— Alexander v. Barfield, 6 Tex. 400.

Vermont.— Wright v. Eldred, 2 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 37.

Virginia.— Lee v. Hill, 87 Va. 497, 12 S. E. 1052, 24 Am. St. Rep. 666; Reid v. Strider, 7 Gratt. (Va.) 76, 54 Am. Dec. 120.

West Virginia.— Henning v. Farnsworth, 41 W. Va. 548, 23 S. E. 663.

United States.— Ransom v. Williams, 2 Wall. (U. S.) 313, 17 L. ed. 803; Warren v. Furstenheim, 35 Fed. 691, 1 L. R. A. 40; Griswold v. Hill, 1 Paine (U. S.) 483, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 5,834; Elliot v. Teal, 5 Sawy. (U. S.) 188, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,389.

England.— 2 Tidd's Prac. 1168; Wallop v. Irwin, 1 Wils. C. P. 315.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 294.

49. Alabama.— Evans v. Welch, 63 Ala. 250.

Illinois.— Brown v. Parker, 15 Ill. 307.

New York.— Heinmuller v. Gray, 35 N. Y. Super. Ct. 196.

Ohio.— Carter v. Jennings, 24 Ohio St. 182.

Vermont.— Whitcomb v. Cook, 38 Vt. 477.

United States.— Martin v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 151 U. S. 673, 14 S. Ct. 533, 38 L. ed. 311; Elliot v. Teal, 5 Sawy. (U. S.) 188, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,389.

England.— Flynn v. Perkins, 8 Jur. N. S. 1177.

50. Gould v. Carr, 33 Fla. 523, 15 So. 259, 24 L. R. A. 130; Neal v. Haygood, 1 Ga. 514; Matter of Palmer, 115 N. Y. 493, 22 N. E. 221; Matter of Schlesinger, 36 N. Y. App. Div. 77, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 514; Green v. Watkins, 6 Wheat. (U. S.) 260, 5 L. ed. 256.

"Judicial expositions of the statutes which have been passed touching the survivorship of actions and causes of action seem to have been made in the same liberal spirit which has led to the various enactments. If the language of a statute will allow it, no reason is perceived why such a construction should not be adopted as will give to executors and administrators, for the benefit of heirs or creditors as the law may require, authority to institute or maintain suits for the recovery of such damages as the deceased party, whom they represent, may have suffered in his lifetime, either in his person or his property, by reason of the tortious or other acts of any person, in the same manner as the party injured might have done if living." Per May, J., in Hooper v. Gorham, 45 Me. 209, 213.

A statutory provision that a cause of action shall survive is equivalent to saying that the personal representative may sue on it. Rogers v. Windoes, 48 Mich. 628, 12 N. W. 882.

51. Davis v. New York, etc., R. Co., 143 Mass. 301, 9 N. E. 815; Whitford v. Panama R. Co., 23 N. Y. 465; Crowley v. Panama R. Co., 30 Barb. (N. Y.) 99; Beach v. Bay State Steamboat Co., 30 Barb. (N. Y.) 433; O'Reilly v. New York, etc., R. Co., 16 R. I. 388, 17 Atl. 171, 906, 19 Atl. 244, 5 L. R. A. 364; Needham v. Grand Trunk R. Co., 38 Vt. 294 (wherein it was held that a cause of action which by the rules of the common law is extinguished by the death of the party is by such death fully discharged unless it survives by force of some statute law of the state where it accrued); Burgess v. Gates, 20 Vt. 326.

Law of domicile.— The question of the survival of an action against the estate of a decedent is determined by the law of the jurisdiction within which he was domiciled at the time of his decease, and not by that of the jurisdiction where the cause of action arose. Whitten v. Bennett, 77 Fed. 271.

52. Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. Joy, 173 U. S. 226, 19 S. Ct. 387, 43 L. ed. 677; Martin v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 151 U. S. 673, 14 S. Ct. 533, 38 L. ed. 311; Henshaw v. Miller, 17 How. (U. S.) 212, 15 L. ed. 222; Webber v. St. Paul City R. Co., 97 Fed. 140, 38 C. C. A.

b. Tests of Survivorship — (I) In General. As a general test an executor or administrator cannot come in and prosecute a suit unless he was in a condition to commence a like suit if it had not been begun by his testator or intestate.[53]

(II) Assignability. At common law, as a general rule, the qualities of assignability and survival are tests each of the other and are convertible terms.[54]

(III) Nature and Not Form of Action. The question whether an action survives depends upon the nature of the action and not upon the form of it.[55]

(IV) Injury to Property and Not to Person. It has been held that the line of demarcation at common law, separating those actions which survive from those which do not, is that in the first the wrong complained of affects primarily and principally property and property rights, and the injuries to the person are merely incidental; while in the latter the injury complained of is to the person, and the property and rights of property affected are merely incidental.[56]

c. Actions Ex Contractu. At common law the rule was a general one that 79; Great Western Min., etc., Co. v. Harris, 96 Fed. 503; Henderson v. Henshall, 54 Fed. 320, 7 U. S. App. 565, 4 C. C. A. 357; U. S. v. De Goer, 38 Fed. 80; Warren v. Furstenheim, 35 Fed. 691, 1 L. R. A. 40; Witters v. Foster, 26 Fed. 737; Hatfield v. Bushnell, 1 Blatchf. (U. S.) 393, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,211; Barker v. Ladd, 3 Sawy. (U. S.) 44, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 990.

Action for penalty.— The question whether an action for a penalty under a statute of the United States survives on the death of defendant is determined by the laws of the United States. Schreiber v. Sharpless, 110 U. S. 76, 3 S. Ct. 423, 28 L. ed. 65.

Forfeitures under revenue laws.— Actions for forfeitures under the revenue laws arise solely under the statutes of the United States, and are in no way subject to state legislation; and the question of the survival of such actions is not affected by the statutes of the state where the cause of action arose. U. S. v. De Goer, 38 Fed. 80.

53. Ferrin v. Kenney, 10 Metc. (Mass.) 294.

In Iowa it is the rule that the death of a party to an action does not have the effect to abate it unless, from the nature of the case, further proceedings would be of no avail. Geyer v. Douglass, 85 Iowa 93, 52 N. W. 111.

54. Blake v. Griswold, 104 N. Y. 613, 11 N. E. 137; Brackett v. Griswold, 103 N. Y. 425, 9 N. E. 438; Hegerich v. Keddie, 99 N. Y. 258, 1 N. E. 787, 52 Am. Rep. 25; Morenus v. Crawford, 51 Hun (N. Y.) 89, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 453; Dininny v. Fay, 38 Barb. (N. Y.) 18; Cardington v. Fredericks, 46 Ohio St. 442, 21 N. E. 766; Comegys v. Vasse, 1 Pet. (U. S.) 193, 7 L. ed. 108.

55. Connecticut.— Booth v. Northrop, 27 Conn. 325.

Georgia.— Petts v. Ison, 11 Ga. 151, 56 Am. Dec. 419.

Indiana.— Feary v. Hamilton, 140 Ind. 45, 39 N. E. 516; Boor v. Lowrey, 103 Ind. 468, 3 N. E. 151, 53 Am. Rep. 519.

Maryland.— Ott v. Kaufman, 68 Md. 56, 11 Atl. 580, in which it was held that an action by a husband to recover damages for an assault and battery on his wife, per quod he lost her services and was obliged to expend money for medical and other attendance on her, does not survive on the death of defendant.

Massachusetts.— Cutter v. Hamlen, 147 Mass. 471, 18 N. E. 397, 1 L. R. A. 429; Smith v. Sherman, 4 Cush. (Mass.) 408.

South Carolina.— Huff v. Watkins, 20 S. C. 477.

Virginia.— Lee v. Hill, 87 Va. 497, 12 S. E. 1052, 24 Am. St. Rep. 666.

United States.— Martin v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 151 U. S. 673, 14 S. Ct. 533, 38 L. ed. 311; Schreiber v. Sharpless, 110 U. S. 76, 3 S. Ct. 423, 28 L. ed. 65; Webber v. St. Paul City R. Co., 97 Fed. 140, 38 C. C. A. 79.

Thus an action for a false warranty, although in form an action in tort, is yet founded on the contract of warranty, and is therefore not abated by the death of plaintiff during its pendency. Booth v. Northrop, 27 Conn. 325.

56. Indiana.— Feary v. Hamilton, 140 Ind. 45, 39 N. E. 516; Hess v. Lowrey, 122 Ind. 225, 23 N. E. 156, 17 Am. St. Rep. 355, 7 L. R. A. 90; Boor v. Lowrey, 103 Ind. 468, 3 N. E. 151, 53 Am. Rep. 519.

Massachusetts.— Stebbins v. Palmer, 1 Pick. (Mass.) 71, 11 Am. Dec. 146.

New Hampshire.— Jenkins v. French, 58 N. H. 532.

New York.— Fried v. New York Cent. R. Co., 25 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 285.

South Carolina.— Nettle v. D'Oyley, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 27.

United States.— Webber v. St. Paul City R. Co., 97 Fed. 140, 38 C. C. A. 79.

The injury sustained by the owner of personal property, by the larceny thereof, necessarily results in direct and immediate damage to his personal estate, and hence the right of action given by statute against the person convicted of larceny, in favor of the owner of the property taken, survives the death of the owner. Aylsworth v. Curtis, 19 R. I. 517, 34 Atl. 1109, 61 Am. St. Rep. 785, 33 L. R. A. 110.

actions ex contractu survived the death of a party to the action,[57] but where the damage resulting was to the person the rule was otherwise.[58]

d. Actions Ex Delicto — (1) In General. At common law, if an injury was done to either the person or the property of another, for which damages only could be recovered in satisfaction, the action died with the person to whom or by whom the wrong was done.[59] It was early perceived in England, as personal property

57. Arkansas.— Wilson v. Young, 58 Ark. 593, 25 S. W. 870.

Colorado.— Kelley v. Union Pac. R. Co., 16 Colo. 455, 27 Pac. 1058.

Connecticut.— Booth v. Northrop, 27 Conn. 325.

District of Columbia.— Hines v. District of Columbia, MacArthur & M. (D. C.) 141.

Georgia.— Bradley v. Saddler, 54 Ga. 681; Dempsey v. Hertzfield, 30 Ga. 866; Neal v. Haygood, 1 Ga. 514.

Indiana.— Boor v. Lowrey, 103 Ind. 468, 3 N. E. 151, 53 Am. Rep. 519.

Kentucky.— Winnegar v. Central Pass. R. Co., 85 Ky. 547, 4 S. W. 237.

Maine.— Hovey v. Page, 55 Me. 142.

Massachusetts.— Kelley v. Riley, 106 Mass. 339, 8 Am. Rep. 336; Hunt v. Whitney, 4 Mass. 620.

New Hampshire.— Clark v. Manchester, 62 N. H. 577; Jenkins v. French, 58 N. H. 532; Vittum v. Gilman, 48 N. H. 416; Ela v. Rand, 4 N. H. 54.

New York.— Holsman v. St. John, 90 N. Y. 461; Cregin v. Brooklyn Crosstown R. Co., 75 N. Y. 192, 31 Am. Rep. 459; Potter v. Van Vranken, 36 N. Y. 619; McGregor v. McGregor, 35 N. Y. 218; Zabriskie v. Smith, 13 N. Y. 322, 64 Am. Dec. 551; Mott v. Mott, 11 Barb. (N. Y.) 127; People v. Starkweather, 40 N. Y. Super. Ct. 453.

Ohio.— Cardington v. Fredericks, 46 Ohio St. 442, 21 N. E. 766; Wolf v. Wall, 40 Ohio St. 111.

South Carolina.—Huff v. Watkins, 20 S. C. 477; Chaplin v. Barrett, 12 Rich. (S. C.) 284, 75 Am. Dec. 731; Kincaid v. Blake, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 20.

Texas.— Gibbs v. Belcher, 30 Tex. 79; Watson v. Loop, 12 Tex. 11.

Vermont.— Barrett v. Copeland, 20 Vt. 244; Wright v. Eldred, 2 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 37.

Virginia.— Lee v. Hill, 87 Va. 497, 12 S. E. 1052, 24 Am. St. Rep. 666.

West Virginia.— Cunningham v. Sayre, 21 W. Va. 440.

United States.— The Steamship City of Brussels, 6 Ben. (U. S.) 370, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,745; Jones v. Vanzandt, 4 McLean (U. S.) 599, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,503; Crapo v. Allen, Sprague (U. S.) 184, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,360.

England.— 3 Bl. Comm. 302.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 251.

An action for the breach of a covenant in a bond occurring during the lifetime of the obligee survives, on his death, to his personal representatives. Hurt v. Dougherty, 3 Sneed (Tenn.) 418.

An action on a note survives on the death of either of the parties whether plaintiff or defendant. Waller v. Nelson, 48 Ala. 531; Nettles v. Barnett, 8 Port. (Ala.) 181.

An action to rescind a transfer of personal property survives to the transferrer's executor. Coon v. Dennis, 111 Mich. 450, 69 N. W. 666.

58. Thus an executor or administrator could not maintain an action upon an express or implied promise to the deceased, where the damage consisted entirely of the suffering of the deceased, whether mental or corporeal.

Indiana.— Feary v. Hamilton, 140 Ind. 45, 39 N. E. 516.

Massachusetts.— Chase v. Fitz, 132 Mass. 359; Stebbins v. Palmer, 1 Pick. (Mass.) 71, 11 Am. Dec. 146.

New Hampshire.— Jenkins v. French, 58 N. H. 532; Vittum v. Gilman, 48 N. H. 416.

New York.— Wade v. Kalbfleisch, 58 N. Y. 282, 17 Am. Rep. 250; Zabriskie v. Smith, 13 N. Y. 322, 64 Am. Dec. 551.

Ohio.— Cardington v. Fredericks, 46 Ohio St. 442, 21 N. E. 766.

Pennsylvania.— Miller v. Wilson, 24 Pa. St. 114; Lattimore v. Simmons, 13 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 183.

England.— Chamberlain v. Williamson, 2 M. & S. 408; Bradshaw v. Lancashire, etc., R. Co., L. R. 10 C. P. 189; Potter v. Metropolitan Dist. R. Co., 30 L. T. Rep. N. S. 765; Knights v. Quarles, 2 B. & B. 102.

59. In other words, where the declaration imputed a tort to the person or property of another, and the plea must have been not guilty, the maxim was actio personalis moritur cum persona.

Alabama.— Nettles v. Barnett, 8 Port. (Ala.) 181.

Arkansas.— Ward v. Blackwood, 41 Ark. 295, 48 Am. Rep. 41.

Colorado.— Letson v. Brown, 11 Colo. App. 11, 52 Pac. 287.

District of Columbia.— Chichester v. Union Transfer Co., 1 MacArthur (D. C.) 295.

Georgia.— Neal v. Haygood, 1 Ga. 514.

Illinois.— Holton v. Daly, 106 Ill. 131; Knox v. Sterling, 73 Ill. 214; Bunker v. Green, 48 Ill. 243; Reed v. Peoria, etc., R. Co., 18 Ill. 403; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. O'Connor, 19 Ill. App. 591.

Indiana.— Boor v. Lowrey, 103 Ind. 468, 3 N. E. 151, 53 Am. Rep. 519; Indianapolis, etc., R. Co. v. Stout, 53 Ind. 143.

Kentucky.— Williams v. Morgan, 1 Litt. (Ky.) 167; Hawkins v. Glass, 1 Bibb (Ky.) 246.

Louisiana.—Jones v. Hoss, 29 La. Ann. 564.

Maryland.— Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. Ritchie, 31 Md. 191.

Massachusetts.— Chase v. Fitz, 132 Mass. 359; Hollenbeck v. Berkshire R. Co., 9 Cush. (Mass.) 478; Wilbur v. Gilmore, 21 Pick. (Mass.) 250.

became more and more valuable, that it ought to be in some degree withdrawn from the rule admitted to prevail. Accordingly 4 Edw. III, c. 7, was enacted, which gave an action to an executor for an injury done to the personal property of his testator in his lifetime, which was subsequently extended, by other statutes, to the executor of an executor and to an administrator.[60]

(II) Benefit to Wrongdoer's Estate. But at common law, in order that a right of action arising out of a tort should survive against the executor or administrator of the tort-feasor, it was essential that the latter should, by the wrongful act, have acquired specific property by which, or by the proceeds of which, the assets in the hands of his personal representative were increased. It was not enough that benefit resulted or that expense was saved to the tort-feasor, by which his estate was larger than it otherwise would have been.[61] But where there was a duty as well as a wrong an action survived against the executor.[62]

Missouri.— Davis v. Morgan, 97 Mo. 79, 10 S. W. 881; Kingsbury v. Lane, 21 Mo. 115; Higgins v. Breen, 9 Mo. 497; Melvin v. Evans, 48 Mo. App. 421.

New Hampshire.— Sawyer v. Concord R. Co., 58 N. H. 517; Jenkins v. French, 58 N. H. 532; Vittum v. Gilman, 48 N. H. 416; Wilson v. Knox, 12 N. H. 347.

New Jersey.— Ten Eyck v. Runk, 31 N. J. L. 428.

New York.— Zabriskie v. Smith, 13 N. Y. 322, 64 Am. Dec. 551; Kelsey v. Jewett, 34 Hun (N. Y.) 11; People v. Gibbs, 9 Wend. (N. Y.) 29; Grafton v. Union Ferry Co., 22 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 402, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 966; Smith v. Lynch, 12 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 348; Wood v. Phillips, 11 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 1; Putnam v. Van Buren, 7 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 31.

Ohio.— Cardington v. Fredericks, 46 Ohio St. 442, 21 N. E. 766.

Pennsylvania.— Moe v. Smiley, 125 Pa. St. 136, 17 Atl. 228, 3 L. R. A. 341; Means v. Associate Reformed Presb. Church, 3 Pa. St. 93; Penrod v. Morrison, 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 126; Keite v. Boyd, 16 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 300; Lattimore v. Simmons, 13 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 183.

Rhode Island.— Reynolds v. Hennessy, 17 R. I. 169, 20 Atl. 307, 23 Atl. 639; Moies v. Sprague, 9 R. I. 541; Aldrich v. Howard, 8 R. I. 125, 86 Am. Dec. 615.

South Carolina.— Jenkins v. Bennett, 40 S. C. 393, 18 S. E. 929; Carson v. Bryant, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 159.

Texas.— Gibbs v. Belcher, 30 Tex. 79; Watson v. Loop, 12 Tex. 11.

Utah.— Mason v. Union Pac. R. Co., 7 Utah 77, 24 Pac. 796.

Vermont.— Winhall v. Sawyer, 45 Vt. 466; Whitcomb v. Cook, 38 Vt. 477; Barrett v. Copeland, 20 Vt. 244; Wright v. Eldred, 2 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 37.

Virginia.— Grubb v. Sult, 32 Gratt. (Va.) 203; Harris v. Crenshaw, 3 Rand. (Va.) 14.

West Virginia.— Curry v. Mannington, 23 W. Va. 14; Cunningham v. Sayre, 21 W. Va. 440.

Wisconsin.— Milwaukee Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Sentinel Co., 81 Wis. 207, 51 N. W. 440, 15 L. R. A. 627.

United States.— Martin v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 151 U. S. 673, 14 S. Ct. 533, 38 L. ed. 311; Henshaw v. Miller, 17 How. (U. S.) 212, 15 L. ed. 222; Macker v. Thomas, 7 Wheat. (U. S.) 530, 5 L. ed. 515; Green v. Watkins, 6 Wheat. (U. S.) 260, 5 L. ed. 256; Mellus v. Thompson, 1 Cliff. (U. S.) 125, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,405; Hatch v. Eustis, 1 Gall. (U. S.) 160, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,207.

England.— Flynn v. Perkins, 8 Jur. N. S. 1177; Chamberlain v. Williamson, 2 M. & S. 408; Sale v. Lichfield, Owen 99; Hambly v. Trott, 1 Cowp. 371; 3 Bl. Comm. 302.

Canada.— Cameron v. Milloy, 22 U. C. C. P. 331.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 255 et seq.

Tort of third person.— The maxim actio personalis moritur cum persona does not apply to a case where the tort out of which the cause of action grows is the tort of a third party and not of the party deceased. Dayton v. Lynes, 30 Conn. 351.

60. Alabama.— Nettles v. Barnett, 8 Port. (Ala.) 181.

Illinois.— Bunker v. Green, 48 Ill. 243.

New York.— Zabriskie v. Smith, 13 N. Y. 322, 64 Am. Dec. 551.

Pennsylvania.— Lattimore v. Simmons, 13 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 183.

South Carolina.— Huff v. Watkins, 20 S. C. 477; Chaplin v. Barrett, 12 Rich. (S. C.) 284, 75 Am. Dec. 731.

United States.— U. S. v. De Goer, 38 Fed. 80.

61. California.— Fox v. Hale, etc., Silver Min. Co., 108 Cal. 478, 41 Pac. 328.

Connecticut.— Payne's Appeal, 65 Conn. 397, 32 Atl. 948, 48 Am. St. Rep. 215.

Georgia.—Ellington v. Bennett, 56 Ga. 158.

Massachusetts.— Houghton v. Butler, 166 Mass. 547, 44 N. E. 624; Cheney v. Gleason, 125 Mass. 166.

Missouri.— Melvin v. Evans, 48 Mo. App. 421.

New Jersey.— Hayden v. Vreeland, 37 N. J. L. 372, 18 Am. Rep. 723.

Pennsylvania.— Penrod v. Morrison, 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 126.

South Carolina.— Nettle v. D'Oyley, 2 Brev. (S. C.) 27; Middleton v. Robinson, 1 Bay (S. C.) 58, 1 Am. Dec. 596.

United States.— U. S. v. Daniel, 6 How. (U. S.) 11, 12 L. ed. 323; Head v. Porter, 70 Fed. 498.

62. Stebbins v. Palmer, 1 Pick. (Mass.) 71, 11 Am. Dec. 146.

(III) Statutory Enactments. In many, if not all, of the states of the United States there are statutes that very much limit the application of the common-law rule as to the effect of the death of a party in actions ex delicto,[63] so that it is now the general American doctrine that all causes of action arising from torts to property, real or personal — injuries to the estate by which its value diminishes — survive and go to the executor or administrator as assets in his hands.[64] And in some states statutory provision is made for the survival of actions of tort for injuries to the person.[65]

e. Actions Relating to Specific Property — (I) Detinue. An action of detinue, it seems, survives the death of the plaintiff,[66] and it has been held that at common law an action of detinue may be revived against the personal representative of a deceased defendant if the chattel demanded actually came into the representative's possession.[67]

(II) Replevin. At common law a cause of action in replevin survived the death of plaintiff, and such is the present general rule.[68] Upon the death of Wrongful release of security.— Where one wrongfully releases a security which he holds for the benefit of another, the right of action is not one which dies with the person, and a suit in equity for an account may be maintained against the executor. Whittemore v. Hamilton, 51 Conn. 153.

63. Putnam v. Putnam, 4 Pick. (Mass.) 139; U. S. v. De Goer, 38 Fed. 80.

See, generally, the statutes of the several states.

64. Musick v. Kansas City, etc., R. Co., 114 Mo. 309, 21 S. W. 491; Plumer v. McDonald Lumber Co., 74 Wis. 137, 42 N. W. 250; Great Western Min., etc., Co. v. Harris, 96 Fed. 503; Henderson v. Henshall, 54 Fed. 320, 7 U. S. App. 565, 4 C. C. A. 357.

65. Mumford v. Wright, 12 Colo. App. 214, 55 Pac. 744; Cutter v. Hamlen, 147 Mass. 471, 18 N. E. 397, 1 L. R. A. 429; Leggate v. Moulton, 115 Mass. 552; Slauson v. Schwabacher, 4 Wash. 783, 31 Pac. 329, 31 Am. St. Rep. 948.

A statutory provision that actions of tort for damage to the person survive includes every action the substantial cause of which is a bodily injury, or, in the words of Chief Justice Shaw, "damage of a physical character," where the connection between the cause and the effect is so close as to support an action of trespass, or so indirect as to require an action on the case at common law. Norton v. Sewall, 106 Mass. 143, 8 Am. Rep. 298.

"Trespass" in sense of "tort."— In Ten Eyck v. Runk, 31 N. J. L. 428, it was held that under the New Jersey act relating to the abatement of suits [Nix. Dig. 4], which provides that where any deceased person shall, in his lifetime, have "committed any trespass" upon person or property, such cause of action shall survive to the injured party, the word "trespass" means "tort."

Diversion of watercourse.— It has been held that the obstruction and diversion of water flowing from a spring belonging to plaintiff is an injury to property within the meaning of a statute providing that actions for wrongs done to the property rights or interest of another may be maintained against the personal representatives of the wrongdoer. Miller v. Young, 90 Hun (N. Y.) 132, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 643. See also Brown v. Dean, 123 Mass. 254, wherein it was held that an action of tort against a mill-owner who obstructs the flow of water of a stream by maintaining his dam at too great a height survives under Mass. Gen. Stat. c. 127, § 1. But at common law such an action died with the person. Holmes v. Moore, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 257.

Overflowing land.— Under the statutes of some of the states an action to recover damages sustained by water being flowed back upon plaintiffs' land does not abate on the death of a party. Ten Eyck v. Runk, 31 N. J. L. 428; Howcott v. Warren, 29 N. C. 20; Howcott v. Coffield, 29 N. C. 24 (wherein it was held that the remedy given by the North Carolina statute relating to the recovery of damages for overflowing land by a mill-pond may be had against the executors or administrators of the person who committed the injury); Upper Appomattox Co. v. Hardings, 11 Gratt. (Va.) 1. But at common law the rule was otherwise. Kennedy v. McAfee, 1 Litt. (Ky.) 169; McLaughlin v. Dorsey, 1 Harr. & M. (Md.) 224; Chalk v. McAlily, 10 Rich. (S. C.) 92.

66. Trigg v. Conway, Hempst. (U. S.) 711, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,173.

67. Daniel v. Cobb, 1 N. C. 35; Hunt v. Martin, 8 Gratt. (Va.) 578; Catlett v. Russell, 6 Leigh (Va.) 344; Allen v. Harlan, 6 Leigh (Va.) 42, 29 Am. Dec. 205; 1 Wms. Saund. 216, note 1; Bro. Abr. tit. Detinue 19; 8 Vin. Abr. tit. Detinue, D, pl. 1, 4. Compare McDermott v. Doyle, 17 Mo. 362; Jones v. Littlefield, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 133.

68. Illinois.— McCrory v. Hamilton, 39 Ill. App. 490.

Maryland.— Fister v. Beall, 1 Harr. & J. (Md.) 31.

Massachusetts.— Mellen v. Baldwin, 4 Mass. 480; Pitts v. Hale, 3 Mass. 321.

Missouri.— Kingsbury v. Lane, 21 Mo. 115.

New York.— Potter v. Van Vranken, 36 N. Y. 619; Webbers v. Underhill, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 447; Lahey v. Brady, 1 Daly (N. Y.) 443; Hopkins v. Adams, 5 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 351; Emerson v. Bleakley, 5 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 350.

defendant, however, the action abated,[69] although statutes now generally provide for the survival of such actions.[70]

(III) TROVER. As a general rule statutes provide that a cause of action for the wrongful taking and conversion of personal property survives the death of a party.[71]

(IV) ATTACHMENT. Though there is some conflict among the authorities, the weight of authority, as well as the better reason, is to the effect that an attachment is not dissolved by the death of defendant unless some statute expressly so declares,[72] or, in some states, unless attended by insolvency of his estate or admin-

Pennsylvania.— Reist v. Heilbrenner, 11 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 131.

South Carolina.— Miller v. Tollison, Harp. Eq. (S. C.) 145, 14 Am. Dec. 712.

Vermont.— Wright v. Eldred, 2 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 37.

England.— Berwick v. Andrews, 2 Ld. Raym. 971; Rutland v. Rutland, 1 Cro. Eliz. 377, 378; Sale v. Coventry, Anderson 241.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 280.

But see Burkle v. Luce, 1 N. Y. 163, wherein it was held that on the death of a plaintiff in replevin the action abates and cannot be revived by scire facias.

Action on replevin bond.— In Waples v. Adkins, 5 Harr. (Del.) 381, it was held that an action on a replevin bond does not abate by the death of one of the parties.

69. Maine.— Merritt v. Lumbert, 8 Me. 128.

Massachusetts.— Badlam v. Tucker, 1 Pick. (Mass.) 284; Mellen v. Baldwin, 4 Mass. 480; Pitts v. Hale, 3 Mass. 321.

Missouri.— Rector v. Chevalier, 1 Mo. 345.

New York.— Potter v. Van Vranken, 36 N. Y. 619; Webbers v. Underhill, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 447; Lahey v. Brady, 1 Daly (N. Y.) 443; Burnham v. Brennan, 60 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 310; Hopkins v. Adams, 5 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 351.

England.— Hambly v. Trott, 1 Cowp. 371.

70. Dakota.— O'Neill v. Murry, 6 Dak. 107, 50 N. W. 619.

Illinois.— McCrory v. Hamilton, 39 Ill. App. 490.

Missouri.— Kingsbury v. Lane, 21 Mo. 115.

New York.— Roberts v. Marsen, 23 Hun (N. Y.) 486.

Pennsylvania.— Keite v. Boyd, 16 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 300.

South Carolina.— Talvande v. Cripps, 2 McCord (S. C.) 164.

71. Alabama.— Nations v. Hawkins, 11 Ala. 859.

Arkansas.— Eubanks v. Dobbs, 4 Ark. 173.

California.— Coleman v. Woodworth, 28 Cal. 567.

Georgia.— Woods v. Howell, 17 Ga. 495; Parrott v. Dubignon, T. U. P. Charlt. (Ga.) 261.

New Jersey.— Terhune v. Bray, 16 N. J. L. 54.

North Carolina.— Weare v. Burge, 32 N. C. 169; Clark v. Kenan, 2 N. C. 308; Avery v. Moore, 2 N. C. 362, 1 Am. Dec. 560.

Pennsylvania.— Schott v. Sage, 4 Phila. (Pa.) 87, 17 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 221.

Waiver of tort.— In Baker v. Huddleston, 3 Baxt. (Tenn.) 1, it was held that where the owner of property converted elects to waive the tort, his right of action for the value of the property converted exists against the personal representative of the person converting it. To same effect is Middleton v. Robinson, 1 Bay (S. C.) 58, 1 Am. Dec. 596.

Originally at common law such actions abated on the death of a party.

Iowa.— Shafer v. Grimes, 23 Iowa 550.

Massachusetts.— Barnard v. Harrington, 3 Mass. 228. But see Towle v. Lovet, 6 Mass. 394, wherein it was held that an action of trover for the conversion of title-deeds survived at common law.

Pennsylvania.— Hench v. Metzer, 6 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 272.

Tennessee.— Cherry v. Hardin, 4 Heisk. (Tenn.) 199.

England.— Hambly v. Trott, 1 Cowp. 371.

72. Supporting the rule, see:

Arkansas.— Frellson v. Green, 19 Ark. 376.

Florida.— Loubat v. Kipp, 9 Fla. 60.

Illinois.— Dow v. Blake, 148 Ill. 76, 35 N. E. 761, 39 Am. St. Rep. 156; Davis v. Shapleigh, 19 Ill. 386; Rauh v. Ritchie, 1 Ill. App. 188.

Iowa.— Lord v. Allen, 34 Iowa 281.

Michigan.— Van Kleeck v. McCabe, 87 Mich. 599, 49 N. W. 872, 24 Am. St. Rep. 182; Smith v. Jones, 15 Mich. 281.

Mississippi.— Lowenberg v. Tironi, 62 Miss. 19; Holman v. Fisher, 49 Miss. 472; Melius v. Houston, 41 Miss. 59.

Missouri.— Abernathy v. Moore, 83 Mo. 65.

New Hampshire.— Waitt v. Thompson, 43 N. H. 161, 80 Am. Dec. 136; Bowman v. Stark, 6 N. H. 459.

New Jersey.— Smith v. Warden, 35 N. J. L. 346.

New York.— More v. Thayer, 10 Barb. (N. Y.) 258; Thacher v. Bancroft, 15 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 243.

Ohio.— Cochran v. Loring, 17 Ohio 409.

Oregon.— Bunneman v. Wagner, 16 Oreg. 433, 18 Pac. 841, 8 Am. St. Rep. 306; Mitchell v. Schoonover, 16 Oreg. 211, 17 Pac. 867, 8 Am. St. Rep. 282.

Tennessee.— Perkins v. Norvell, 6 Humphr. (Tenn.) 151.

Texas.— Rogers v. Burbridge, 5 Tex. Civ. App. 67, 24 S. W. 300.

Vermont.— Miller v. Williams, 30 Vt. 386.

West Virginia.— White v. Heavner, 7 W. Va. 324.

istration upon it within a certain time.[73] Nor will an attachment proceeding abate by plaintiff's death pending the proceeding.[74]

(v) Garnishment—(a) Death of Garnishee. Where, pending a trustee suit, the trustee dies, and his estate is reported insolvent, the action is not abated, but the administrator may be summoned in and the case proceed.[75]

(b) Death of Defendant. It has also been held that the death of the defendant in a foreign attachment after final judgment does not dissolve the attachment.[76]

(vi) Enforcement of Lien—(a) Vendor's Lien. It has been held that a vendor's lien does not die with the vendor, but survives to his personal representatives.[77]

(b) Mechanic's Lien. As a general rule the right to file a mechanic's lien and to proceed for its foreclosure is not defeated by the death of a party;[78] nor will the death of a party pending proceedings to enforce a mechanic's lien abate the proceedings.[79]

(vii) Infringement of Patent. A cause of action in equity for the infringement of a patent does not abate on the death of either plaintiff or defendant.[80]

Opposed to the rule, see:

California.— Ham v. Cunningham, 50 Cal. 365; Hensley v. Morgan, 47 Cal. 622; Myers v. Mott, 29 Cal. 359, 89 Am. Dec. 49.

Connecticut.— Green v. Barker, 14 Conn. 431.

Louisiana.— Collins v. Duffy, 7 La. Ann. 39.

Missouri.— Harrison v. Renfro, 13 Mo. 446; Sweringen v. Eberius, 7 Mo. 421, 38 Am. Dec. 463.

Pennsylvania.— Farmers, etc., Bank v. Little, 8 Watts & S. (Pa.) 207, 42 Am. Dec. 293.

Rhode Island.— Dwyer v. Benedict, 12 R. I. 459; Vaughn v. Sturtevant, 7 R. I. 372.

South Carolina.— Crocker v. Radcliffe, 1 Treadw. (S. C.) 83. Compare Kincaid v. Blake, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 20.

United States.— Pancost v. Washington, 5 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 507, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,706.

See also Graham v. Boynton, 35 Tex. 712, wherein it was held that the death of one of the members of a firm whose property is attached in an action against the firm operates to dissolve the attachment as to him.

See, generally, Attachment.

Rule in Alabama.— In Alabama the death of defendant in attachment, unless attended by the insolvency of his estate judicially ascertained, does not affect the lien on personal property or the right to judgment on which process of execution may issue. McClellan v. Lipscomb, 56 Ala. 255; Woolfolk v. Ingram, 53 Ala. 11; Hale v. Cummings, 3 Ala. 398. But the death of defendant pending suit works a loss of the lien created by the levy of an attachment on real estate. Lipscomb v. McClellan, 72 Ala. 151; Phillips v. Ash, 63 Ala. 414.

73. Ridlon v. Cressey, 65 Me. 128; Willard v. Whitney, 49 Me. 235; Maxwell v. Pike, 2 Me. 8; Patterson v. Patten, 15 Mass. 473; Grosvenor v. Gold, 9 Mass. 209; Rockwood v. Allen, 7 Mass. 254; Bullard v. Dame, 7 Pick. (Mass.) 239; Day v. Lamb, 6 Gray (Mass.) 523; Parsons v. Merrill, 5 Metc. (Mass.) 356; Edes v. Durkee, 8 N. H. 460; Clindenin v. Allen, 4 N. H. 385.

74. Buller v. Woods, 43 Mo. App. 494; Boyd v. Roberts, 10 Heisk. (Tenn.) 474.

75. Rollins v. Robinson, 35 N. H. 381; Chapman v. Gale, 32 N. H. 141. But see White v. Ledyard, 48 Mich. 264, 12 N. W. 216, wherein it was held that garnishment proceedings cannot be revived against the administrator of a garnishee who died without making disclosure, and against whom no default was taken. See also Ward v. Vance, 3 Ont. Pr. 323.

See, generally, Garnishment.

76. Fitch v. Ross, 4 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 557.

See, generally, Garnishment.

Proceedings against garnishee.— The death of an absent debtor after attachment issued will not vitiate proceedings against garnishees who make default in not returning on oath what effects they have in their hands. Kennedy v. Raguet, 1 Bay (S. C.) 484.

77. Robinson v. Appleton, 124 Ill. 276, 15 N. E. 761 [affirming 22 Ill. App. 351]; Hubbard v. Clark, (N. J. 1886) 7 Atl. 26. Contra, Buford v. Guthrie, 14 Bush (Ky.) 677.

78. Death of contractor.—In Telfer v. Kiersted, 9 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 418, it was held that the right to file a mechanic's lien and to proceed for its foreclosure is not lost by the death of the contractor.

Death of owner.— In Williams v. Webb, 2 Disney (Ohio) 430, it was held that under the Ohio mechanic's lien law the death of the owner of the property does not defeat the lien for labor or materials.

79. Robins v. Bunn, 34 N. J. L. 322. But see Leavy v. Gardner, 63 N. Y. 624, wherein it was held that a foreclosure of a mechanic's lien under N. Y. Laws (1863), c. 500, relating to mechanics' liens in the city of New York, is not an action within Code, § 121, and the proceeding abates on defendant's death and cannot be revived against devisees or representatives.

See, generally, Mechanics' Liens.

80. Illinois Cent. R. Co. v. Turrill, 110 U. S. 301, 4 S. Ct. 5, 28 L. ed. 154; Griswold v. Hilton, 87 Fed. 256; Head v. Porter, 70 Fed. 498; Hohorst v. Howard, 37 Fed. 97; May v. Logan County, 30 Fed. 250; Kirk v. Du Bois, 28 Fed. 460; Smith v. Baker, 1 Bann. & A. Pat. Cas. 117, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,010; Atterbury v. Gill, 2 Flipp. (U. S.) 239, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 638. Contra, Draper v.

(VIII) Trial of Right of Property. It has been held that, if a plaintiff in execution dies pending a statutory trial of the right of property, the proceeding may be revived in the name of his personal representative.[81]

f. Actions Involving Particular Relations — (I) Fiduciary Relations. Where a relation has existed which involved the performance of certain duties for pay, and especially where that relation was of a fiduciary character, and there was a failure to perform those duties, the remedy of the person injured by such failure survives against the estate of the other after his death.[82]

(II) Misfeasance of Sheriff. Originally at common law an action for the misfeasance of a sheriff or his deputy did not survive against his personal representatives, nor in favor of the personal representatives of the party injured.[83] But statutes, as a general rule, now provide for the survival of such actions.[84]

Hudson, Holmes (U. S.) 208, 7 Fed. Cas. No. 4,069. See Peabody v. Norfolk, 98 Mass. 452, 96 Am. Dec. 664, wherein it was held that where plaintiff in a bill in equity to restrain defendant from making use of a secret process of manufacture belonging to him dies pending the suit, the executors of his will succeed to his rights. To same effect is Morison v. Moat, 9 Hare 241.

Infringement of trade-mark.— An action to restrain the infringement of a registered trade-mark, with the usual claim for an account of profits and damages, may be continued by the executors of plaintiff after his death. Oakey v. Dalton, 35 Ch. D. 700.

81. Gayle v. Bancroft, 22 Ala. 316.

82. Wineburgh v. U. S. Steam, etc., Railway Advertising Co., 173 Mass. 60, 53 N. E. 145; Warren v. Para Rubber Shoe Co., 166 Mass. 97, 44 N. E. 112; Houghton v. Butler, 166 Mass. 547, 44 N. E. 624; Cheney v. Gleason, 125 Mass. 166; Reyburn v. Mitchell, 106 Mo. 365, 16 S. W. 592, 27 Am. St. Rep. 350; Dodd v. Wilkinson, 41 N. J. Eq. 566, 7 Atl. 337; Concha v. Murrieta, 40 Ch. D. 543. See also Hazard v. Durant, 19 Fed. 471, wherein it was held that the personal representatives of a deceased trustee are liable to the extent of their interest in the trust property for breaches of trust committed by the trustee in his lifetime. And see Pierson v. Morgan, 52 Hun (N. Y.) 611, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 898, wherein it was held that an action by a receiver of a corporation against its trustees for an account of the assets of the company alleged to have been misapplied by them does not abate by the death of one of the defendants, but may be revived against his administratrix. To same effect is O'Brien v. Blaut, 17 N. Y. App. Div. 288, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 217.

Misappropriation of trust fund, etc.— Thus an action against a defendant for misappropriation or misuse of a trust fund or breach of duty occasioned through neglect while he was acting in a fiduciary capacity survives his death. Warren v. Robison, (Utah 1900) 61 Pac. 28. But see Brandon First Nat. Bank v. Briggs, 70 Vt. 599, 41 Atl. 580, wherein it was held that if claims in favor of a bank are lost through the neglect of its cashier to perform his duty, the cause of action arising to the bank therefrom dies with the cashier and cannot be enforced against his estate. And see Witters v. Foster, 26 Fed. 737, wherein it was held that an action against a director of a national bank for negligent performance of duty in not requiring a bond from the cashier, and otherwise mismanaging the affairs of the bank, abates by his death and cannot be revived against his administrator.

Death of cestui que trust.—At common law a suit in equity to charge defendant with the character of a trustee, and to enforce the trust, survives the death of the cestui que trust. Cheney v. Gleason, 125 Mass. 166; Allen v. Frawley, (Wis. 1900) 82 N. W. 593.

Vacation of order discharging trustee.— A proceeding by a cestui que trust to vacate an order discharging the trustee, which order was granted on the application of the trustee, may, upon the death of the trustee, be revived and continued against his personal representatives. Matter of Foster, 7 Hun (N. Y.) 129.

83. Alabama.—Logan v. Barclay, 3 Ala. 361.

Connecticut.— McEvers v. Pitkin, 1 Root (Conn.) 216.

Georgia.— Neal v. Haygood, 1 Ga. 514.

Maine.— Valentine v. Norton, 30 Me. 194; Gent v. Gray, 29 Me. 462.

Massachusetts.— Cravath v. Plympton, 13 Mass. 454.

New Jersey.— Cunningham v. Jaques, 19 N. J. L. 42.

New York.— People v. Gibbs, 9 Wend. (N. Y.) 29; Franklin v. Low, 1 Johns. (N. Y.) 396; Martin v. Bradley, 1 Cai. (N. Y.) 124.

North Carolina.— Rhodes v. Gregory, 3 N. C. 539.

Vermont.— Barrett v. Copeland, 20 Vt. 244.

United States.— U. S. v. Daniel, 6 How. (U. S.) 11, 12 L. ed. 323.

Escape.—At common law an action of debt against a sheriff for an escape out of final process does not survive against his representatives. Neal v. Haygood, 1 Ga. 514; Shafer v. Grimes, 23 Iowa 550; Cunningham v. Jaques, 19 N. J. L. 42; Franklin v. Low, 1 Johns. (N. Y.) 396; Martin v. Bradley, 1 Cai. (N. Y.) 124.

False return.— At common law an action of trespass on the case against a sheriff or marshal for a false return upon process does not survive to the administrator of the plaintiff (Barrett v. Copeland, 20 Vt. 244), nor against the executors of the deceased defendant (U. S. v. Daniel, 6 How. (U. S.) 11, 12 L. ed. 323).

84. Arkansas.— Wilson v. Young, 58 Ark. 593, 25 S. W. 870.

(III) Negligence of Attorney. According to the general present rule an action for a breach of the duty of an attorney in not exercising due care and skill in the business of his client survives.[85] At common law the rule was otherwise.[86]

(IV) Negligence of Druggist. It has been held that an action against a druggist for the negligent sale of a poison survives to the personal representative of the person to whom such poison was so sold.[87]

(V) Negligence of Surveyor. It has also been held that assumpsit will lie against executors for the negligent performance, by their testator, of a contract to survey a tract of land.[88]

g. Actions for the Recovery of Land — (I) Real Actions. By the common law the death of a party in a real action pending the suit causes an abatement.[89] By statute, however, in most states, the common-law rule has been abrogated and provision made for the survival of such actions.[90]

Connecticut.— Dayton v. Lynes, 30 Conn. 351.

Kentucky.— Lynn v. Sisk, 9 B. Mon. (Ky.) 135, wherein it was held that an action against a sheriff for breach of official duty may be revived against his executor by scire facias.

Massachusetts.— Cravath v. Plympton, 13 Mass. 454; Paine v. Ulmer, 7 Mass. 317.

Missouri.— Jewett v. Weaver, 10 Mo. 234, wherein it was held that a right of action against a sheriff for a false return of an execution survives against his personal representatives.

New York.— Dininny v. Fay, 38 Barb. (N. Y.) 18.

Vermont.— Dana v. Lull, 21 Vt. 383 (wherein it was held that an action of trespass on the case against a sheriff for the default of his deputy in not keeping property attached, and not delivering it to the officer holding the execution obtained in the suit, will survive under a statute providing that actions of trespass on the case for damages done to real or personal estate survive); Bellows v. Allen, 22 Vt. 108 (wherein it was held that under the same statute an action against a sheriff for the default of his deputy in not paying to plaintiff money collected by the deputy upon an execution in favor of plaintiff against a third person will survive).

England.— Williams v. Cary, 4 Mod. 403.

Failure to justify sureties.— In Hamilton v. Gorman, 25 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 70, 14 Misc. (N. Y.) 114, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 183, it was held that an action against a sheriff to enforce the liability as bail arising from his failure to require the justification of sureties on a bail-bond given on the issuance of an order of arrest does not abate on the death of the sheriff.

Money had and received.— In Chenault v. Walker, 22 Ala. 275, it was held that an action of debt against a sheriff for money had and received may be revived against his administrator.

85. Stimpson v. Sprague, 6 Me. 470; Tichenor v. Hayes, 41 N. J. L. 193, 32 Am. Rep. 186; Miller v. Wilson, 24 Pa. St. 114. See also Knights v. Quarles, 2 B. & B. 102, which was a suit in assumpsit by an administrator growing out of an understanding by defendant, who was an attorney, to investigate and see that a title about to be conveyed to the intestate was a good one, the breach being that defendant failed to do so, and that the intestate, in consequence, took an insufficient title, to the injury of his personal estate. It was held that such cause of action survived to the personal representative even by the rule of the common law.

86. Lee v. Hill, 87 Va. 497, 12 S. E. 1052, 24 Am. St. Rep. 666; Tichenor v. Hayes, 41 N. J. L. 193, 32 Am. Rep. 186.

87. Norton v. Sewall, 106 Mass. 143, 8 Am. Rep. 298.

88. Troup v. Smith, 20 Johns. (N. Y.) 33.

89. The common-law doctrine is that on the occurrence of the death the right descends to the heir, and a new cause of action springs up which changes the condition of the cause.

Florida.— Gould v. Carr, 33 Fla. 523, 15 So. 259, 24 L. R. A. 130.

Kentucky.— Gaines v. Conn, 2 Dana (Ky.) 231.

Maine.— Trask v. Trask, 78 Me. 103, 3 Atl. 37.

Massachusetts.— Ferrin v. Kenney, 10 Metc. (Mass.) 294; Alley v. Hubbard, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 243; Holmes v. Holmes, 2 Pick. (Mass.) 23.

Michigan.— Hoffman v. St. Clair Circuit Judge, 40 Mich. 351.

United States.— Macker v. Thomas, 7 Wheat. (U. S.) 530, 5 L. ed. 515.

Writs of entry.— In a writ of entry at common law the death of a sole tenant of the freehold necessarily abates the writ. Pierce v. Jaquith, 48 N. H. 231.

Writs of right.— By the common law a writ of right abates by the death of a party pending suit. Gaines v. Conn, 2 Dana (Ky.) 231; Alley v. Hubbard, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 243; Cutts v. Haskins, 11 Mass. 56; Lovell v. Arnold, 2 Leigh (Va.) 16; Drago v. Stead, 2 Rand. (Va.) 454; Carter v. Carr, Gilmer (Va.) 145.

90. Thus in New Hampshire the common-law rule that the death of a sole tenant of the freehold necessarily abates a writ of entry because the heir is seized in his own right, and must therefore bring a new action, is changed by Comp. Stat. c. 198, § 14, providing that real actions shall not abate by the death of either party. Pierce v. Jaquith, 48 N. H. 231; Ladd v. Sanborn, 5 N. H. 337. So in Massachusetts, by virtue of Act 1826, c. 70, providing that in all actions to recover lands or tenements the writ or suit shall not abate by the death of the demandant, a complaint by a landlord against a tenant to recover possession of a tenement does not abate by the death of complainant. Sacket v. Wheaton, 17 Pick. (Mass.) 103. And in New York under Code, § 121, providing that no action shall abate by the death of a party if the cause of action survive or continue, and that the court may, on a supplemental complaint, allow the action to be continued by or against his representative or successor in interest, an action against a sole defendant to recover the possession of land may be continued, after the death of defendant intestate, against his heir at law claiming to have succeeded to his legal rights and to own the land. Waldorph v. Bortle, 4 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 358.

(II) EJECTMENT — (A) In General. It has long been the settled doctrine that the action of ejectment or the corresponding statutory real action may be revived on the death of plaintiff;[91] but at common law — and the rule still prevails in some states — in case of the death of defendant in an action of ejectment the action abates.[92]

Suit to enforce vendor's lien.— A suit against a vendee to enforce a lien reserved in the conveyance of land is not an action for the recovery of real property within the meaning of a statute providing that upon the death of a defendant in an action for the recovery of real property only, the action may be revived, and consequently such action cannot be revived. Buford v. Guthrie, 14 Bush (Ky.) 677. See supra, III, A, 3, e, (VI), (A).

91. Alabama.— Ex p. Swan, 23 Ala. 192; Rowland v. Ladiga, 21 Ala. 9; Baker v. Chastang, 18 Ala. 417; State ex rel. Nabor, 7 Ala. 459.

California.— Barrett v. Birge, 50 Cal. 655.

Florida.— Gould v. Carr, 33 Fla. 523, 15 So. 259, 24 L. R. A. 130.

Georgia.— Dean v. Feeley, 66 Ga. 273; O'Byrne v. Feeley, 61 Ga. 77. Compare Watson v. Tindal, 24 Ga. 494, 71 Am. Dec. 142.

Illinois.— Coleman v. Henderson, 3 Ill. 251.

Kentucky.— Duncan v. Forsyth, 3 Dana (Ky.) 229; Bonta v. Clay, 5 Litt. (Ky.) 129; Robertson v. Morgan, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 148.

Maryland.— Stevenson v. Howard, 3 Harr. & J. (Md.) 554; Howard v. Moale, 2 Harr. & J. (Md.) 249. Compare Howard v. Gardiner, 3 Harr. & M. (Md.) 98.

Michigan.— McKenzie v. A. P. Cook Co., 113 Mich. 452, 71 N. W. 868.

Mississippi.— Pintard v. Griffing, 32 Miss. 133.

Missouri.— Fine v. Gray, 19 Mo. 33.

New Jersey.— Den v. Sayre, 3 N. J. L. 183.

New York.— James v. Bennett, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 540; Doe v. Butler, 3 Wend. (N. Y.) 149; Austin v. Jackson, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 27; Frier v. Jackson, 8 Johns. (N. Y.) 495; Waldorph v. Bortle, 4 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 358.

North Carolina.— Thomas v. Kelly, 35 N. C. 43; Wilson v. Hall, 35 N. C. 489.

Virginia.— Purvis v. Hill, 2 Hen. & M. (Va.) 614; Kinney v. Beverley, 1 Hen. & M. (Va.) 531.

United States.— Hatfield v. Bushnell, 1 Blatchf. (U. S.) 393, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,211; Baylor v. Neff, 3 McLean (U. S.) 302, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,143.

England.— Moore v. Goodright, 2 Str. 899; Thrustout v. Grey, 2 Str. 1056.

Canada.— Doe v. Hunt, 12 U. C. Q. B. 625.

As to persons who may revive action of ejectment, see infra, III, B, 7, c, (II).

Death of one plaintiff.— Where ejectment is brought by seven plaintiffs, brothers and sisters, and one of them dies unmarried before trial, and no executor or administrator is appointed, the remaining co-plaintiffs and her mother being her heirs at law, inheriting her share of the land, the mother inheriting one seventh thereof and not being party plaintiff, the right of action for such mother's share does not survive to the brothers and sisters. Coffee v. Groover, 20 Fla. 64. See infra, III, A, 5.

Ejectment for mansion-house.— Where the widow dies pending an action of ejectment by her for the recovery of possession of the mansion-house, the suit may be revived in the name of the administrator and recovery had for rents and profits by way of damages to the time of her death. Roberts v. Nelson, 86 Mo. 21.

92. Illinois.— Guyer v. Wookey, 18 Ill. 536.

Massachusetts.— Alley v. Hubbard, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 243.

Michigan.— Hoffman v. St. Clair Circuit Judge, 40 Mich. 351.

New York.— Bradstreet v. Clark, 18 Wend. (N. Y.) 620; Kissam v. Hamilton, 20 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 369; Moseley v. Albany Northern R. Co., 14 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 71; Mosely v. Mosely, 11 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 105; Putnam v. Van Buren, 7 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 31.

North Carolina.— Anonymous, 2 N. C. 500.

Wisconsin.— Farrall v. Shea, 66 Wis. 561, 29 N. W. 634.

Action against husband and wife.— In Missouri it has been held that though an action in ejectment against husband and wife abates as to the husband by his death pending an appeal from a judgment rendered against him and his wife jointly for land in which the husband had a marital interest as against her, and after his death the possession becomes hers, yet this will not support the pending judgment against her or authorize the rendition of a new one. The plaintiff must commence a new action against her. Wilson v. Garaghty, 70 Mo. 517.

Death of one defendant.— In ejectment, if one of several defendants dies pending the suit, the action abates as to him and cannot be revived against his personal representative, or heirs, or either of them, but may proceed against the surviving defendants. Hoff-

(B) Mesne Profits. It has been held that a right of action for the recovery of the mesne profits of lands which accrued during the pendency of an action of ejectment survives where plaintiff dies after recovery is had in the action of ejectment;[93] and in states where recovery for mesne profits can be had in the action of ejectment the same rule obtains.[94] In states where the action of ejectment dies with the death of defendant, it seems that trespass for mesne profits also dies.[95]

h. Breach of Covenant. At common law a cause of action arising on a covenant on which the testator or intestate might have sued in his lifetime survives his death and is enforceable against his executor or administrator.[96]

i. Claim for Usury. A claim for money paid as usury survives against the estate of the person to whom it was paid.[97]

j. Creditors' Suits. In a creditor's suit, if he by whom the suit was commenced, or any one who has afterward come in and taken the position of a plaintiff, dies, the suit does not abate if there be at the time any other unsatisfied creditor standing as plaintiff;[98] but the filing of a judgment creditor's bill without answer, or the appointment of a receiver, creates no lien upon the debtor's property, and complainant, upon defendant's death, in such a case loses his right to prosecute the suit.[99] man v. St. Clair Circuit Judge, 40 Mich. 351. See infra, III, A, 6.

Statutory change of rule.—In Alabama the action of ejectment or the corresponding statutory real action may be revived on the death of defendant. Evans v. Welch, 63 Ala. 250. In Illinois an action for ejectment does not abate by the death of a sole defendant after service and before plea. Guyer v. Wookey, 18 Ill. 536.

93. Means v. Associate Reformed Presb. Church, 3 Pa. St. 93. See also Rhodes v. Crutchfield, 7 Lea (Tenn.) 518, wherein it was held that where plaintiff dies pending an action of ejectment, a right of action for rents and profits survives to his personal representative on the theory that the tort or trespass may be waived and the right of action be considered one ex contractu.

94. See cases cited supra, note 91.

95. Matter of Renwick, 2 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 80; Burgess v. Gates, 20 Vt. 326. Farrall v. Shea, 66 Wis. 561, 29 N. W. 634, wherein it was held that as the claim for mesne profits and the counterclaim for the value of improvements are mere incidents of the action of ejectment, upon the death of defendant the action cannot be revived even for the purpose of adjusting those claims. But see Molton v. Miller, 10 N. C. 490, wherein it was held that, under a statute allowing the revivor of actions in tort, an original action of trespass for mesne profits may be brought against the personal representatives to recover profits received by intestate in his lifetime. See also Arundel v. Springer, 71 Pa. St. 398 [overruling Harker v. Whitaker, 5 Watts (Pa.) 474; Bard v. Nevin, 9 Watts (Pa.) 328; Means v. Associate Reformed Presb. Church, 3 Pa. St. 93], wherein it was held that under the Pennsylvania statute of Feb. 24, 1834, trespass for mesne profits does not abate by the death of defendant in ejectment.

Recovery on contract.—In Campbell v. Renwick, 2 Bradf. Surr. (N. Y.) 80, it was held that trespass for mesne profits does not survive against the wrongdoer's personal representatives. They must be sued for in an action on contract.

96. Sprague v. Greene, 20 R. I. 153, 37 Atl. 699.

An action of covenant does not lie against the devisee of land to recover damages for a breach of covenant made by the devisor. Wilson v. Knubley, 7 East 128.

97. Roberts v. Burton, 27 Vt. 396.

98. Young v. Kelly, 3 App. Cas. (D. C.) 296; Austin v. Cochran, 3 Bland (Md.) 337, 339 (wherein the reason for this rule is stated to be "because, although the interest of the deceased does not survive to any of the other parties; yet there are other plaintiffs to whom all the rights, privileges, and benefits of the suit do survive, and who are competent to call upon the court for its decree; and who must, therefore, be permitted to support their own interests, and to prosecute the suit for themselves"); Pringle v. Sizer, 2 S. C. 59. But see Hammond v. Hammond, 2 Bland (Md.) 306, wherein it was held that a creditor's suit by and against legatees and devisees abates by the death of one of the plaintiffs whose interest did not survive or fall into the common stock for the benefit of any one or all of the others.

Penalty for fraudulent conveyance.—If two joint creditors commence an action qui tam, as being the party aggrieved, to recover the penalty given by statute against fraudulent conveyances, and pending the action one of the plaintiffs dies, the action survives to the surviving plaintiff. Wright v. Eldred, 2 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 37.

99. German American Seminary v. Saenger, 66 Mich. 249, 33 N. W. 301; Jones v. Smith, Walk. (Mich.) 115; Mathews v. Neilson, 3 Edw. (N. Y.) 346. See also Austin v. Cochran, 3 Bland (Md.) 337, wherein it was held that a creditor's suit will abate by the death of the defendant, heir, or devisee, whether there be any surplus of the proceeds of the sale returned to him or not.

k. Husband's Action for Injury to Wife. Under a statute preserving from abatement actions "for wrongs done to the property, rights, or interests of another," upon the death of the husband in an action by him for a wrongful injury to the person of his wife the right to damages for the loss of the wife's services and the expenses necessarily incurred by reason of the injury survive to his personal representatives, as they are a pecuniary loss diminishing his estate; but the right of action for the loss of the society of his wife and the comforts of that society dies with him.[1]

l. Injuries to Passenger. According to the general present rule an action brought by a passenger against a common carrier to recover damages for personal injuries does not abate by the death of the passenger.[2]

m. Probate of Will. It has been held that a proceeding to probate a will, being quasi in rem, does not abate by the death of either proponent or contestant.[3]

n. Special Proceedings. By statute in some states a pending undetermined special proceeding may be continued in the name of an administrator or executor of a deceased party, if the right to the relief sought survives.[4] In the absence of such statute it has been held that such a proceeding abates on the death of a party.[5]

o. Summary Proceedings. As summary proceedings are purely statutory, and the regulations governing them vary in the several states, reference should be made to the statutes of the particular state to determine whether such proceedings survive the death of a party.[6]

p. Taxpayer's Action. It has been held that a taxpayer's action survives plaintiff's death.[7]

1. Cregin v. Brooklyn Crosstown R. Co., 75 N. Y. 192, 31 Am. Rep. 459, 83 N. Y. 595, 38 Am. Rep. 474 [reversing 19 Hun (N. Y.) 341]; Foels v. Tonawanda, 65 Hun (N. Y.) 624, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 447. See also Fordyce v. Dixon, 70 Tex. 694, 8 S. W. 504, wherein it was held that although the damages to be recovered for personal injuries to a married woman would be community property, the cause of action does not cease on the death of the husband pending the action. And see Mexican Cent. R. Co. v. Goodman, 20 Tex. Civ. App. 109, 48 S. W. 778, wherein it was held that after the husband's death the wife may continue an action brought by him for personal injuries to her.

Assault on wife.— In Maryland it has been held that under Rev. Code, art. 50, § 146, providing that actions for personal injuries shall not survive against an administrator or executor, an action to recover consequential damages for an assault and battery on the plaintiff's wife is not maintainable against the executor of the deceased, as the right depends upon the nature of the action, and not upon the character of damages claimed. Ott v. Kaufman, 68 Md. 56, 11 Atl. 580.

2. Peebles v. North Carolina R. Co., 63 N. C. 238; Bradshaw v. Lancashire, etc., R. Co., L. R. 10 C. P. 189; Potter v. Metropolitan Dist. R. Co., 30 L. T. Rep. N. S. 765. Contra, Jacksonville St. R. Co. v. Chappell, 22 Fla. 616, 1 So. 10; Norton v. Wiswall, 14 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 42.

3. Van Alen v. Hewins, 5 Hun (N. Y.) 44.

4. Matter of Camp, 81 Hun (N. Y.) 387, 30 N. Y. Suppl. 884.

Proceedings in surrogate's court.— In New York it has been held that the statute [Code Civ. Proc. § 755, as amended in 1891] providing that a special proceeding does not abate if the right to the relief sought survives, does not apply to proceedings in surrogates' courts. Matter of Schlesinger, 36 N. Y. App. Div. 77, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 514; Matter of Camp, 81 Hun (N. Y.) 387, 30 N. Y. Suppl. 884.

5. Matter of Palmer, 115 N. Y. 493, 22 N. E. 221 [affirming 43 Hun (N. Y.) 572]; Matter of Marshall, 55 Hun (N. Y.) 606, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 861; Matter of Roberts, 53 Hun (N. Y.) 338, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 195; Matter of Barney, 53 Hun (N. Y.) 480, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 401,— in which cases it was held that proceedings to vacate assessments were special proceedings which abated on the death of petitioners and could not be revived in the names of their executors or administrators.

6. Rule in Alabama.— In Jones v. Brooks, 30 Ala. 588, it was held that a summary proceeding against a sheriff for failing to make the money on an execution abates by the death of the plaintiff in execution, and cannot be revived in the name of his personal representative. In James v. Auld, 9 Ala. 462, it was held that in case of the death of a constable, a motion for judgment against his sureties for the constable's default cannot be maintained. In such case resort must be had to the common law for redress.

Rule in North Carolina.— In Mooring v. James, 13 N. C. 254, it was held that the right of plaintiff in execution to a summary remedy survives to his personal representatives.

Rule in Tennessee.— In Burroughs v. Goodall, 2 Head (Tenn.) 29, it was held that prior to the act of 1858 the remedy by motion did not extend to the personal representative of a deceased officer, or of his security. By that act, if the officer or either of his securities shall die during the pendency of a suit by motion against them, it may be revived against the personal representative of such officer or security. To same effect are Park v. Walker, 2 Sneed (Tenn.) 503; State v. Deberry, 9 Humphr. (Tenn.) 605.

7. Gorden v. Strong, 158 N. Y. 407, 53 N. E. 33, holding that in such a case the action

q. Wrongful Discharge of Servant. An action of trespass on the case for the wrongful dismissal of plaintiff by decedent from his service will survive even at common law.[8]

4. Actions and Proceedings Which Abate — a. In General — (I) Amendment to Save Abatement. On the death of defendant pending a suit defective for want of averments in the petition necessary to give the court jurisdiction, the action will abate, and no amendment will be allowed so as to relate back to the date of the filing of the petition.[9]

(II) Stipulation to Save Abatement. It has been held that jurisdiction of the person in an action for injury to the person may by stipulation be conferred upon the court so as to save the action from abatement by the death of a party.[10]

b. Personal Actions — (I) In General. At common law, and in the absence of statutes to the contrary, a purely personal action comes within the maxim actio personalis moritur cum persona,— a personal action dies with the person.[11] This rule has been applied to actions for assault and battery,[12] breach of promise of marriage,[13] may be continued in the name of the executor or administrator on motion of such executor or administrator or on motion of defendant.

8. Lee v. Hill, 87 Va. 497, 12 S. E. 1052, 24 Am. St. Rep. 666 [disapproving Boyles v. Overby, 11 Gratt. (Va.) 202], the reason being that though in form an action ex delicto the cause of action in reality arises ex contractu.

9. Littlefield v. Fry, 39 Tex. 299.

10. Cox v. New York Cent., etc., R. Co., 63 N. Y. 414; Ames v. Webbers, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 575. See also Garlington v. Clutton, 1 Call (Va.) 520, wherein it was held that an agreement that a suit shall not abate by the death of either party is obligatory, and, being entered of record, operates as a release of errors.

Stipulation for judgment absolute.— In New York a stipulation for judgment absolute in case of affirmance, given by defendant on appeal from the general term's order of reversal, does not prevent the abatement of the action where plaintiff dies after the appeal. Corbett v. Twenty-third St. R. Co., 114 N. Y. 579, 21 N. E. 1033.

Stipulation to abide decision in other action.— Plaintiff and defendant stipulated that a cause between them pending in the supreme court should abide the decision in another cause then pending in the court of errors, but there was no stay of proceedings by the court. The decision in the latter case was favorable to defendant, but at the time it was rendered he had died. It was held that, notwithstanding the stipulation, the cause abated, and, as it was not a case where the delay had proceeded from the court, judgment in the stipulated cause nunc pro tunc, as of a day previous to defendant's death, could not be entered. Ogden v. Lee, 3 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 153.

11. For this maxim see post.

12. An action for assault, at common law, does not survive. Hadley v. Bryars, 58 Ala. 185; Perkins v. Stein, 94 Ky. 433, 22 S. W. 649, 20 L. R. A. 861; Winnegar v. Central Pass. R. Co., 85 Ky. 547, 4 S. W. 237; Anderson v. Arnold, 79 Ky. 370; Melvin v. Evans, 48 Mo. App. 421; Lattimore v. Simmons, 13 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 183.

In some states, by special statutory provision, such an action does survive. Brown v. Kendall, 6 Cush. (Mass.) 292; Wilkins v. Wainwright, 173 Mass. 212, 53 N. E. 397 (an action for injury to one's person from assault by another's dog).

In other states the statutes expressly provide that the action shall not survive. Perkins v. Stein, 94 Ky. 433, 22 S. W. 649, 20 L. R. A. 861 (wherein it is held that to constitute an assault and battery, within the meaning of the Kentucky statute, which provides that actions for assault and battery shall die with the person, the act complained of must be done with a hostile intent, and that mere acts of negligence do not constitute such an assault and battery, even when trespass would lie therefor); Winnegar v. Central Pass. R. Co., 85 Ky. 547, 4 S. W. 237 (wherein it is held that a right of action for assault, committed on a passenger by a servant of the carrier, will survive in favor of the administrator, if the plaintiff counts upon the injury as a breach of contract, although the Kentucky statute excepts, from actions that survive, actions for assault and battery); Hannah v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 87 N. C. 351.

13. An action for breach of promise of marriage, where no special damage is alleged, does not survive the death of either party.

Maine.— Hovey v. Page, 55 Me. 142.

Massachusetts.— Chase v. Fitz, 132 Mass. 359; Kelley v. Riley, 106 Mass. 339, 8 Am. Rep. 336; Smith v. Sherman, 4 Cush. (Mass.) 408; Stebbins v. Palmer, 1 Pick. (Mass.) 71, 11 Am. Dec. 146.

Missouri.— Melvin v. Evans, 48 Mo. App. 421.

New Jersey.— Hayden v. Vreeland, 37 N. J. L. 372, 18 Am. Rep. 723.

New York.— Wade v. Kalbfleisch, 58 N. Y. 282, 17 Am. Rep. 250; Zabriskie v. Smith, 13 N. Y. 322, 64 Am. Dec. 551.

Pennsylvania.— Lattimore v. Simmons, 13 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 183.

Tennessee.— Hullett v. Baker, 101 Tenn. 689, 49 S. W. 757; Weeks v. Mays, 87 Tenn. 442, 10 S. W. 771.

Virginia.— Lee v. Hill, 87 Va. 497, 12 S. E. 1052, 24 Am. St. Rep. 666; Grubb v. Sult, 32 Gratt. (Va.) 203.

criminal conversation,[14] enticing servant,[15] false imprisonment,[16] forcible entry and detainer,[17] libel and slander,[18] malicious prosecution;[19] malprac-

England.— Chamberlain v. Williamson, 2 M. & S. 408.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 252.

The reason of the rule is stated by Van Syckel, J., in Hayden v. Vreeland, 37 N. J. L. 372, 379, 18 Am. Rep. 723, in which he says that an action for breach of promise of marriage "does not survive at common law, not because it is not an action ex contractu, as distinguished from tort, but for the reason that the injury is purely personal, in which the representative of the estate has no interest. If it is not a tort in the legal acceptation of the term, refusal to consummate the engagement is a wrong in the same sense that it is a wrong to fail in the performance of any other agreement. It is not a quasi-tort, but purely a case of contract broken and disregarded, and upon this recovery in the action must be based." And in Webber v. St. Paul City R. Co., 97 Fed. 140, 38 C. C. A. 79, it is said that an action for the breach of a promise of marriage does not survive, although it is on a contract and the breach occasions pecuniary loss, because the chief damage, the substance of the cause of action, is disappointed hope, which is an injury to the person, and the pecuniary loss is merely incidental thereto.

Where there is an allegation of special damage which will cause the action to survive, it must be an allegation of damage to the property, not to the person merely, and such as would be sufficient of itself to sustain a suit. Hovey v. Page, 55 Me. 142, wherein it was held that an allegation in an action for the alleged breach of promise of marriage, that after such promise the deceased promisee had a child born to her out of wedlock, and that the promisor is the father of such child, is not an allegation of special damage to property such as would cause the action to survive.

Antenuptial contract within statute of frauds.— An allegation of special damage for not executing an antenuptial contract which is within the statute of frauds is not sufficient to bring the case within the rule. Chase v. Fitz, 132 Mass. 359.

In New Hampshire and North Carolina, by statute, an action for breach of promise of marriage does not abate on the death of defendant. Stewart v. Lee, (N. H. 1900) 46 Atl. 31; Allen v. Baker, 86 N. C. 91, 41 Am. Rep. 444; Shuler v. Millsaps, 71 N. C. 297.

14. An action for criminal conversation, on the death of defendant before final judgment, abates and cannot be revived. Garrison v. Burden, 40 Ala. 513; Cox v. Whitfield, 18 Ala. 738; Clarke v. McClelland, 9 Pa. St. 128.

15. An action for enticing away the servant of another, being at common law actionable as a tort only, dies with the person. Huff v. Watkins, 20 S. C. 477.

16. False imprisonment.— In Harker v. Clark, 57 Cal. 245, it was held that a right of action for false imprisonment does not survive the death of defendant.

17. An action of forcible entry and detainer, or of unlawful detainer, in the absence of a saving statute, abates on the death of either plaintiff or defendant. Tucker v. Burns, 2 Swan (Tenn.) 35, wherein it appears the rule has been changed by statute; Havins v. Bickford, 9 Humphr. (Tenn.) 673; Moran v. Eldridge, 2 W. Va. 574.

In Alabama an action of unlawful detainer has been held to be within a statute authorizing the revival of real actions to try title or for the recovery of the possession of land. Ridgeway v. Waugh, 51 Ala. 423.

In Missouri an action of forcible entry and detainer does not abate by the death of one of the plaintiffs or of defendant. Brewington v. Stephens, 31 Mo. 38; Carlisle v. Rawlings, 18 Mo. 166.

In West Virginia it has been held that an action of unlawful entry and detainer may be revived on the death of a party, under a statute providing for the revival of "any action, whether the cause of action would survive at common law or not." Cunningham v. Sayre, 21 W. Va. 440, 443.

18. An action for libel or slander, at common law, does not survive to the representatives of a deceased plaintiff, nor against the representatives of a deceased defendant. Shafer v. Grimes, 23 Iowa 550 [but see Carson v. McFadden, 10 Iowa 91]; Walters v. Nettleton, 5 Cush. (Mass.) 544; Long v. Hitchcock, 3 Ohio 274. In Ireland v. Champney, 4 Taunt. 884, it was held that, although an assessment of damages takes place in the lifetime of a party plaintiff in an action for libel, and the death of plaintiff took place before entry of judgment, the action abated. And in some states there are specific provisions in the statutes that such an action shall not survive. Jones v. Townsend, 23 Fla. 355, 2 So. 612; Johnson v. Haldeman, (Ky. 1897) 43 S. W. 226; Moore v. Bennett, 65 Barb. (N. Y.) 338; Haight v. Hayt, 19 N. Y. 464; Roberts v. Marsen, 23 Hun (N. Y.) 486. In other states, however, the statutes expressly provide that the action shall survive. Johnson v. Bradstreet Co., 87 Ga. 79, 13 S. E. 250 [but see Swift Specific Co. v. Davis, 76 Ga. 787]; Carson v. McFadden, 10 Iowa 91 [but see Shafer v. Grimes, 23 Iowa 550]; Nutting v. Goodridge, 46 Me. 82; Alpin v. Morton, 21 Ohio St. 536.

In case of death of plaintiff pending the suit, by statute in Maine and Ohio, an action for slander survives. Nutting v. Goodridge, 46 Me. 82; Alpin v. Morton, 21 Ohio St. 536.

Loss of office by libel.— A right of action for libel does not survive by force of a statute providing that actions for "damage done to real or personal estate" survive, even though the party injured lost by the libel a valuable office. Cummings v. Bird, 115 Mass. 346.

19. An action for malicious prosecution, at common law, and in states where the statutes do not provide to the contrary, abates on the death of a party. Ward v. Blackwood, 41 Ark. 295, 48 Am. Rep. 41; Clark v. Carroll, tice;[20] mental suffering for failure to deliver telegram;[21] misconduct on the part of an agent;[22] nuisance;[23] personal injuries.[24] The rule has also been held to 59 Md. 180; Conly v. Conly, 121 Mass. 550; Nettleton v. Dinehart, 5 Cush. (Mass.) 543; Bolin v. Stewart, 7 Baxt. (Tenn.) 298.

In Ohio an action for malicious prosecution does not abate by the plaintiff's death pending the action. Flynn v. Hirschauer, 1 Handy (Ohio) 480.

Suing out of malicious injunction.— An action for maliciously and without probable cause suing out an injunction, whereby the operation of plaintiff's mill was suspended, abates on the latter's death. Mumpower v. Bristol, 94 Va. 737, 27 S. E. 581.

20. Action for malpractice.— At common law a cause of action against a physician or a surgeon, arising from want of care or skill, does not survive the death of either party.

Indiana.— Long v. Morrison, 14 Ind. 595, 77 Am. Dec. 772, wherein it is held that although the action does not survive at common law, the husband had a right of action for loss of wife's services, between the commission of the injury and her death, and if the action grew out of a breach of contract for skilful service it survives the death of the wife.

New Hampshire.— Jenkins v. French, 58 N. H. 532; Vittum v. Gilman, 48 N. H. 416.

New York.— Zabriskie v. Smith, 13 N. Y. 322, 64 Am. Dec. 551.

Ohio.— Wolf v. Wall, 40 Ohio St. 111.

Virginia.— Lee v. Hill, 87 Va. 497, 12 S. E. 1052, 24 Am. St. Rep. 666.

United States.— Webber v. St. Paul City R. Co., 97 Fed. 140, 38 C. C. A. 79.

And this is true by express provision of statute in some states. Boor v. Lowrey, 103 Ind. 468, 3 N. E. 151, 53 Am. Rep. 519; Best v. Vedder, 58 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 187. But under 3 How. Stat. Mich. § 7397, which provides for the survival of actions for negligent injuries to the person, it had been held that an action for malpractice against a physician will survive against his executors. Norris v. Grove, 100 Mich. 256, 58 N. W. 1006.

21. An action against a telegraph company to recover for mental suffering caused by the failure of defendant to deliver within a reasonable time a message sent by plaintiff abates by the latter's death. Fitzgerald v. Western Union Tel. Co., 15 Tex. Civ. App. 143, 40 S. W. 421.

22. An action for misconduct of clerk of a deceased postmaster will not lie against the personal representative of the postmaster. So held in Franklin v. Low, 1 Johns. (N. Y.) 396.

23. An action on the case for a nuisance, at common law, dies with the person. Upper Appomattox Co. v. Hardings, 11 Gratt. (Va.) 1. See also Thayer v. Dudley, 3 Mass. 296, wherein it was held that where the plaintiff in review dies pending the review, the original action being case for special damage from a common nuisance in which the plaintiff in review was defendant, his administrator cannot be made a party to the review.

But see Aldrich v. Howard, 8 R. I. 125, 86 Am. Dec. 615, wherein it was held that by virtue of a statute providing that causes of actions and actions of trespass and trespass on the case for damages to the person or to real and personal estate shall survive the death of the plaintiff or defendant therein, an action on the case for erecting and maintaining a stable so near a hotel as to be a nuisance thereto survives the death of the defendant pending the action and may be prosecuted against his personal representative.

Liquor nuisance.— In New Hampshire a petition for the abatement of a liquor nuisance, under N. H. Laws (1887), c. 77, which provides that on petition of no less than twenty legal voters the supreme court shall have jurisdiction to restrain the same, being in its nature a criminal proceeding by the state, the jurisdiction of the court is not affected by the death of any of the petitioners after the petition has been filed. Beebe v. Wilkins, (N. H. 1892) 29 Atl. 693.

Nuisance in highway.— In Hawkins v. Glass, 1 Bibb (Ky.) 246, it was held that an action on the case will not lie against an executor for a nuisance erected by the testator in a highway, whereby the plaintiff's horse was killed. See also Cardington v. Fredericks, 46 Ohio St. 442, 21 N. E. 766, wherein it was held that an action against a municipal corporation, founded upon a petition alleging that a street much used by the public was so unskilfully and negligently constructed and left by the defendant as to be in an unsafe and dangerous condition, and allowed to become out of repair, and obstructed by the rubbish and refuse of the village so that it was highly dangerous, and that the plaintiff, while lawfully passing along the street, accidentally and without fault or negligence on her part, was precipitated down an enbankment whereby she was greatly bruised and injured, for which damages she asks judgment, is an action for a nuisance and abates on the death of the party injured.

An action by a city which has been charged for a nuisance, brought to recover over against an individual responsible in the first instance for creating it, does not survive the death of the defendant, so that it can be prosecuted against his estate. So held in Knox v. Sterling, 73 Ill. 214.

24. An action for personal injuries at common law abates on the death of the person injured or of the person inflicting the injury.

District of Columbia.— Chichester v. Union Transfer Co., 1 MacArthur (D. C.) 295.

Florida.— Jacksonville St. R. Co. v. Chappell, 22 Fla. 616, 1 So. 10.

Indiana.— Hilliker v. Citizens St. R. Co., 152 Ind. 86, 52 N. E. 607. Compare Burns v. Grand Rapids, etc., R. Co., 113 Ind. 169, 15 N. E. 230.

Maryland.— Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. Ritchie, 31 Md. 191.

Minnesota.— Green v. Thompson, 26 Minn. 500, 5 N. W. 376.

apply to actions for seduction;[25] trespass for injury to real property.[26]

Missouri.— Davis v. Morgan, 97 Mo. 79, 10 S. W. 881; Stanley v. Bircher, 78 Mo. 245; Stanley v. Vogel, 9 Mo. App. 98.

New Hampshire.— Sawyer v. Concord R. Co., 58 N. H. 517.

New York.— Norton v. Wiswall, 14 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 42.

North Carolina.— Harper v. Nash County, 123 N. C. 118, 31 S. E. 384.

Texas.— Gibbs v. Belcher, 30 Tex. 79.

Wisconsin.— Milwaukee Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Sentinel Co., 81 Wis. 207, 51 N. W. 440, 15 L. R. A. 627.

United States.— Munal v. Brown, 70 Fed. 967.

England.— Flynn v. Perkins, 8 Jur. N. S. 1177.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 261 et seq.

By express statutory provision the action was held to survive in the following cases:

Delaware.— Quinn v. Johnson Forge Co., 9 Houst. (Del.) 338, 32 Atl. 858.

Georgia.— Pritchard v. Savannah St., etc., R. Co., 87 Ga. 294, 13 S. E. 493, 14 L. R. A. 721.

Illinois.— Wehr v. Brooks, 21 Ill. App. 115.

Iowa.—McKinlay v. McGregor, 10 Iowa 111.

Kansas.— Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. Rowe, 56 Kan. 411, 43 Pac. 683.

Kentucky.— Perkins v. Stein, 94 Ky. 433, 22 S. W. 649, 20 L. R. A. 861; Hansford v. Payne, 11 Bush (Ky.) 380.

Maine.— Hooper v. Gorham, 45 Me. 209.

Massachusetts.— Norton v. Sewall, 106 Mass. 143, 8 Am. Rep. 298; Bancroft v. Boston, etc., R. Corp., 11 Allen (Mass.) 34; Demond v. Boston, 7 Gray (Mass.) 544; Hollenbeck v. Berkshire R. Co., 9 Cush. (Mass.) 478 (holding that instantaneous death vests no right of action in decedent, and hence no right can pass to the administrator).

Mississippi.— Vicksburg, etc., R. Co. v. Phillips, 64 Miss. 693, 2 So. 537.

Nebraska.— Webster v. Hastings, (Nebr. 1900) 81 N. W. 510.

Ohio.— Ohio, etc., Coal Co. v. Smith, 53 Ohio St. 313, 41 N. E. 254.

Pennsylvania.— Birch v. Pittsburg, etc., R. Co., 165 Pa. St. 339, 30 Atl. 826.

Vermont.— Eames v. Brattleboro, 54 Vt. 471; Bradley v. Andrews, 51 Vt. 525.

Wisconsin.— Lehmann v. Farwell, 95 Wis. 185, 70 N. W. 170, 60 Am. St. Rep. 111, 37 L. R. A. 333.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 255 et seq.

In Illinois, where the plaintiff, pending an action brought by him to recover for a personal injury resulting from negligence, dies from some other cause than such injury, the action will survive and may be prosecuted in the name of his administrator. Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. O'Connor, 119 Ill. 586, 9 N. E. 263.

Cause of action not accruing during life of wrongdoer.— It has also been held that an action cannot be maintained against the administrator of a wrongdoer, for damages for personal injuries, where the wrongdoer was killed by the negligent act causing the injury, since the cause of action did not accrue against the deceased during his lifetime. Letson v. Brown, 11 Colo. App. 11, 52 Pac. 287. See also Dayton M. E. Church v. Rench, 7 Ohio St. 369, wherein it was held that the cause of action did not accrue during the lifetime of the decedent.

25. Action by father for seduction of his daughter, in the absence of statutory provision to the contrary, does not survive the death of either party.

Georgia.— Brawner v. Sterdevant, 9 Ga. 69.

Iowa.— See Shafer v. Grimes, 23 Iowa 550.

New Jersey.— But see Noice v. Brown, 39 N. J. L. 569, wherein an action for the seduction of a daughter, in the lifetime of the father, was allowed to be maintained by his personal representative.

New York.— Holliday v. Parker, 23 Hun (N. Y.) 71; George v. Van Horn, 9 Barb. (N. Y.) 523.

North Carolina.— McClure v. Miller, 11 N. C. 133.

Canada.— Udy v. Stewart, 10 Ont. 591; Healey v. Crummer, 11 U. C. C. P. 527; Ball v. Goodman, 10 U. C. C. P. 174; Cross v. Goodman, 20 U. C. Q. B. 242. Compare Chisholm v. Goodman, 6 U. C. L. J. 88.

Action by woman for her seduction survives to her administrator upon her death during its pendency. Shafer v. Grimes, 23 Iowa 550.

Seduction of servant.— A cause of action by a master for the seduction of his servant does not, it seems, survive. People v. Tioga C. Pl., 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 73.

26. An action of trespass for an injury to land, at common law, and in the absence of a statutory provision to the contrary, does not survive the death of a party.

Alabama.— Blakeney v. Blakeney, 6 Port. (Ala.) 109, 30 Am. Dec. 574.

California.—O'Conner v. Corbitt, 3 Cal. 370.

Georgia.— Petts v. Ison, 11 Ga. 151, 56 Am. Dec. 419.

Illinois.— Reed v. Peoria, etc., R. Co., 18 Ill. 403.

Kentucky.—Cowan v. Campbell, 17 B. Mon. (Ky.) 522, 66 Am. Dec. 184.

New Hampshire.— Forist v. Androscoggin River Imp. Co., 52 N. H. 477.

Pennsylvania.— McCallion v. Gegan, 9 Phila. (Pa.) 240, 29 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 12.

Tennessee.— Baker v. Dansbee, 7 Heisk. (Tenn.) 229.

Virginia.— Harris v. Crenshaw, 3 Rand. (Va.) 14.

By express statutory provision, however, in some states this action will survive.

California.— Haight v. Green, 19 Cal. 113.

Indiana.— Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Swinney, 97 Ind. 586.

Massachusetts.— Goodridge v. Rogers, 22 Pick. (Mass.) 495; Wilbur v. Gilmore, 21 Pick. (Mass.) 250.

Mississippi.— New Orleans, etc., R. Co. v. Moye, 39 Miss. 374.

Missouri.— Musick v. Kansas City, etc., R. Co., 114 Mo. 309, 21 S. W. 491.

In some states, however, an action to recover damages for an unlawful arrest survives the death of the person injured.[27]

(II) Divorce. From the very nature of things a cause of action does not survive the death of a party where the only relief sought is a dissolution of the marriage relation; death effectuates the very end which it is the purpose of the suit to accomplish.[28] But where the consequences of the divorce are such as affect

New Hampshire.— Forist v. Androscoggin River Imp. Co., 52 N. H. 477.

Pennsylvania.— McCallion v. Gegan, 9 Phila. (Pa.) 240, 29 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 12.

Wisconsin.— Cotter v. Plumer, 72 Wis. 476, 40 N. W. 379.

Benefits enuring from trespass.— A cause of action arising from one's trespass on land does not survive against his executrix except to the extent of enabling a recovery for the amount which actually enured to the benefit of the estate from the trespass. Rabb v. Patterson, 42 S. C. 528, 20 S. E. 540, 46 Am. St. Rep. 743.

Damages as incident to injunction.— An action for an injunction in which incidentally damages for the maintenance of a railroad are demanded is not an action for trespass, and on the death of the plaintiff may be revived in the name of his devisee and executor. Henderson v. New York Cent. R. Co., 78 N. Y. 423; Sanders v. New York El. R. Co., 15 Daly (N. Y.) 388, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 64.

Restraining trespass.— An action to restrain the defendant from entering upon land and cutting timber abates by the death of the defendant pending the action. Johnson v. Elwood, 82 N. Y. 362.

Trespass quare clausum fregit, it seems, is not converted into an action de bonis asportatis and thus made to survive by an allegation in the declaration that trees cut were carried away. Harris v. Crenshaw, 3 Rand. (Va.) 14.

Wilful cutting of forest.— It has been held that an action of debt for wilful cutting of the plaintiffs' forest trees, contrary to a statute, does not survive. Little v. Conant, 2 Pick. (Mass.) 527.

27. Unlawful arrest.— In Whitcomb v. Cook, 38 Vt. 477, it was held that an action to recover damages for an unlawful arrest survives the death of the person injured and may be maintained by his administrator. To same effect is Griffin v. Wilcox, 21 Ind. 370; Huggins v. Toler, 1 Bush (Ky.) 192.

28. Alabama.— Pearson v. Darrington, 32 Ala. 227.

California.—Kirschner v. Dietrich, 110 Cal. 502, 42 Pac. 1064.

Iowa.— Barney v. Barney, 14 Iowa 189.

Maryland.— McCurley v. McCurley, 60 Md. 185, 45 Am. Rep. 717; Thomas v. Thomas, 57 Md. 504.

Michigan.— Wilson v. Wilson, 73 Mich. 620, 41 N. W. 817; Zoellner v. Zoellner, 46 Mich. 511, 9 N. W. 831.

Oregon.— Nickerson v. Nickerson, 34 Oreg. 1, 48 Pac. 423, 54 Pac. 277.

England.— Stanhope v. Stanhope, 11 P. D. 103.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Divorce," § 269 et seq.

As to effect of death of husband or wife upon claims for alimony, see Divorce.

Action for separation.— Where a bill was filed by the wife against her husband for a separation from bed and board on account of alleged cruel treatment, and the assignees of the husband's interest in the wife's real estate were made defendants, and the husband died before a decree, but the wife failed to make out a case which would have entitled her to a decree of separation if the husband had lived until the hearing, the other defendants are entitled to have the bill dismissed as to them, with costs. Sackett v. Giles, 3 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 204.

Allowance for counsel fees.— In Pearson v. Darrington, 32 Ala. 227, it was held that an allowance for counsel fees in a suit for divorce cannot be made after the husband's death. But see Ballard v. Caperton, 2 Metc. (Ky.) 412, wherein it was held that in actions for divorce and alimony the attorney's fee, with the other items of cost for which the husband is liable, may be fixed after the death of the wife.

In McCurley v. McCurley, 60 Md. 185, 45 Am. Rep. 717, 720, the court said: "It is well settled that the death of either party to a divorce suit before decree, it being a personal action, abates the divorce proceedings; and this effect must extend to whatever is identified with those proceedings. The allowance of money to pay the wife's counsel fees is in furtherance of the procedure to obtain or prevent the divorce. When, therefore, the jurisdiction to pass a decree is ended, no jurisdiction can survive as to matters purely ancillary to that object."

Death of libellant before suit.— A libel for divorce cannot be prosecuted by libellant's father, or any third person, where libellant dies before entry of the libel, in order to exclude libellee from a share of her husband's estate or from the custody of their child. Kimball v. Kimball, 44 N. H. 122, 82 Am. Dec. 194.

Death pending trial.— By a fiction of law, all judicial proceedings during a term are treated as if they took place on the first day of the term. Under this rule, where plaintiff in a suit for divorce on the ground of adultery dies pending the trial, after it has been entered upon and before the retirement of the jury, if all issues are found by the jury in favor of plaintiff, judgment of divorce will be entered as of the first day of the term, while the plaintiff was still alive. Webber v. Webber, 83 N. C. 280.

Modification of decree.— The death of a husband pending his wife's proceeding for a modification of a decree of divorce abates the proceeding. O'Hagan v. O'Hagan, 4 Iowa 509.

the property rights of the parties to the suit, the heirs or personal representatives may have such an interest in the litigation as that the cause will survive, not for the purpose of continuing the controversy touching the right of divorce within itself, but for the ascertainment of whether the property has been rightfully diverted from its appropriate channel of devolution.[29] It has also been held that the right of a party against whom a decree of divorce has been rendered, to have the same reversed for error, is not defeated by the death of the other party pending the appeal or writ of error.[30]

(III) Dower. The death of plaintiff pending an action to have her rights of dower determined abates the action;[31] and, in a suit at law, if a dowress dies before her right is established, her representatives have no remedy, either for costs or for the mesne profits of the premises after her right accrued.[32] But in some states the rule in chancery is different.[33] It has also been held that, as a

29. Thomas v. Thomas, 57 Md. 504; Nickerson v. Nickerson, 34 Oreg. 1, 48 Pac. 423, 54 Pac. 277; Stanhope v. Stanhope, 11 P. D. 103.

Wife claiming as widow.— Where the husband, in an action by him for divorce, had, after the wife had filed a counterclaim asking for divorce and alimony, filed an amended petition seeking to have the marriage declared void ab initio, his administrators had the right, after his death, to revive the cause of action set up in the amended petition, it being alleged in the amended petition that defendant was asserting certain rights in plaintiff's estate, as his widow. Barth v. Barth, (Ky. 1897) 42 S. W. 1116.

30. Danforth v. Danforth, 111 Ill. 236, wherein it was held that a divorced wife may, after her husband's death, prosecute a writ of error to reverse the decree, and thereby be restored to her rights as widow in the estate of her deceased husband. To same effect is Wren v. Moss, 7 Ill. 72. But see Carr v. Carr, 92 Ky. 552, 18 S. W. 453, 36 Am. St. Rep. 614, wherein it was held that a decree of divorce rendered against a non-resident on defective service, in that the affidavit for the warning order did not specify defendant's post-office address, will not be set aside after plaintiff's death because of such error, where it appears that defendant has no defense to the suit. See also note 92, p. 79.

Action to set aside decree.— An action may be maintained to set aside a decree of divorce fraudulently obtained, even after the death of the party obtaining such decree. Bomsta v. Johnson, 38 Minn. 230, 36 N. W. 341; Watson v. Watson, 47 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 240; Fidelity Ins. Co.'s Appeal, 93 Pa. St. 242; Boyd's Appeal, 38 Pa. St. 241; Johnson v. Coleman, 23 Wis. 452, 99 Am. Dec. 193.

Rule in Tennessee.— In Tennessee it has been held that after a decree of divorce and the death of one of the parties there is no statute authorizing a revivor of the cause,— it can be revived only by an appeal. Owens v. Sims, 3 Coldw. (Tenn.) 544.

31. Delaware.—Betts v. Matthews, 4 Harr. (Del.) 427.

Florida.— Roan v. Holmes, 32 Fla. 295, 13 So. 339, 21 L. R. A. 180.

Illinois.— Hitt v. Scammon, 82 Ill. 519; Turney v. Smith, 14 Ill. 242.

Maine.— Rowe v. Johnson, 19 Me. 146.

Massachusetts.— Atkins v. Yeomans, 6 Metc. (Mass.) 438.

New Hampshire.— Tuck v. Fitts, 18 N. H. 171.

New Jersey.— Parks v. McClellan, 44 N. J. L. 552.

New York.— Robinson v. Govers, 138 N. Y. 425, 34 N. E. 209; McKeon v. Fish, 33 Hun (N. Y.) 28.

Ohio.— Miller v. Woodman, 14 Ohio 518.

Pennsylvania.— Sandback v. Quigley, 8 Watts (Pa.) 460.

See 17 Cent. Dig. tit. "Dower," § 356.

32. Florida.—Roan v. Holmes, 32 Fla. 295, 13 So. 339, 21 L. R. A. 180.

Illinois.— Turney v. Smith, 14 Ill. 242.

Massachusetts.— Atkins v. Yeomans, 6 Metc. (Mass.) 438.

New Jersey.— Parks v. McClellan, 44 N. J. L. 552.

New York.— Johnson v. Thomas, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 377.

Pennsylvania.— Sandback v. Quigley, 8 Watts (Pa.) 460.

Death after judgment.— The fact that a plaintiff suing for dower, and the rental value thereof from the time of her husband's death, died after the rendition of judgment dismissing her petition, does not prevent a reversal of the judgment, her personal representatives being entitled to the rents. Kincaid v. Wilson, (Ky. 1899) 49 S. W. 333. But see Hitt v. Scammon, 82 Ill. 519, wherein it was held that where a decree assigning dower to a widow at her suit against the alienees of her husband is reversed on appeal and remanded for further proceedings, and before any further proceedings are had in the court below she died, her administrator cannot prosecute the suit for the recovery of damages and mesne profits.

33. Thus it has been held that, if the husband dies seized, the widow may recover, against the heir or devisee, her share of the rents and profits from the time the right accrued; and the death of the dowress pending suit does not deprive her personal representatives of the arrears of dower, but they may revive for the purpose of having such arrears determined by the decree of the court.

Kentucky.— Kincaid v. Wilson, (Ky. 1899) 49 S. W. 333; Magruder v. Smith, 79 Ky. 512.

Maryland.— Price v. Hobbs, 47 Md. 359.

widow's right to dower in the personalty of her deceased husband is absolute, a suit for its conversion does not abate upon her death, but survives to her personal representatives.[34]

(IV) Fraud and Deceit — (A) In General. At common law an action for fraud or deceit dies with the person, as it is an action ex delicto.[35] In some states the common-law rule has been changed by statute;[36] in others it still obtains.[37]

(B) Fraudulent Procurement of Marriage. It has been held that an action for deceit in falsely pretending that a party was divorced from his wife, whereby plaintiff was induced to marry him, does not survive against his personal representatives.[38]

Mississippi.— Harper v. Archer, 28 Miss. 212.

Montana.— Lynde v. Wakefield, 19 Mont. 23, 47 Pac. 5.

New Jersey.— Pollitt v. Kerr, 49 N. J. Eq. 65, 22 Atl. 800; McLaughlin v. McLaughlin, 20 N. J. Eq. 190.

New York.— Johnson v. Thomas, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 377.

Pennsylvania.— Paul v. Paul, 36 Pa. St. 270.

England.— Curtis v. Curtis, 2 Bro. Ch. 620.

See also Tibbets v. Langley Mfg. Co., 12 S. C. 465, wherein it was held that where a widow, after obtaining a decree for dower, died while an appeal was pending, her administrator is entitled to an account for rents and profits.

34. Clark v. Bramlett, (Ark. 1891) 16 S. W. 119.

35. Alabama.—Coker v. Crozier, 5 Ala. 369.

Georgia.— Newsom v. Jackson, 29 Ga. 61.

Maine.— Smith v. Estes, 46 Me. 158.

Vermont.— Jones v. Ellis, 68 Vt. 544, 35 Atl. 488.

Virginia.—Boyles v. Overby, 11 Gratt. (Va.) 202.

False answers in examination.— An action for making false answers in an examination under a trustee process is defeated by defendant's death. Stillman v. Hollenbeck, 4 Allen (Mass.) 391.

False representations.— A bill in equity seeking compensation in damages for alleged false and fraudulent representations does not survive unless the personal representatives have received an estate benefited by the fraud, or unless the person committing the fraud holds a fiduciary relation toward the person defrauded. Houghton v. Butler, 166 Mass. 547, 44 N. E. 624; Cheney v. Gleason, 125 Mass. 166.

False representations as to credit of third person.— An action on the case against a person to recover damages for fraudulently recommending a third person as worthy of credit, whereby a loss was incurred, does not survive. Henshaw v. Miller, 17 How. (U. S.) 212, 15 L. ed. 222. But see Hadcock v. Osmer, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 618, wherein it was held that a cause of action for deceit in inducing plaintiff's testator to loan money to a third person by falsely representing that such third person was good for the amount of the loan survives. To same effect is Bond v. Smith, 4 Hun (N. Y.) 48. Nor is such action embraced in a statute providing that actions of trespass and trespass on the case for damage done to real or personal estate shall survive. Read v. Hatch, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 47; Winhall v. Sawyer, 45 Vt. 466.

In Tennessee an action of deceit for false representations as to the credit of another survives by the peculiar law of that state saving the right of survival of the cause of action as well as the right of revival of the suit in all cases pending at the death of a party. And in an action brought in a federal court in Tennessee the same rule obtains. Warren v. Furstenheim, 35 Fed. 691, 1 L. R. A. 40.

Mere fraud or cheat by which one sustains a pecuniary loss cannot, it seems, be regarded as a "damage done to personal estate" within the meaning of a statute providing that actions for "damage done to personal estate" survive. Leggate v. Moulton, 115 Mass. 552; Stillman v. Hollenbeck, 4 Allen (Mass.) 391; Cutting v. Tower, 14 Gray (Mass.) 183; Read v. Hatch, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 47. Compare Reynolds v. Hennessy, 17 R. I. 169, 20 Atl. 307, 23 Atl. 639.

36. Billson v. Linderberg, 66 Minn. 66, 68 N. W. 771; Baker v. Crandall, 78 Mo. 584, 47 Am. Rep. 126; Byxbie v. Wood, 24 N. Y. 607; Haight v. Hayt, 19 N. Y. 464; Henderson v. Henshall, 54 Fed. 320, 7 U. S. App. 565, 4 C. C. A. 357.

Conspiracy to cheat.— In some states a cause of action for a conspiracy to cheat and defraud has been held to affect property rights, and so survives. Fox v. Hale Silver Min. Co., 108 Cal. 475, 41 Pac. 328; Brackett v. Griswold, 103 N. Y. 425; Penrod v. Morrison, 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 126.

37. Bryant v. Rich, 104 Mich. 124, 62 N. W. 146; Stebbins v. Dean, 82 Mich. 385, 46 N. W. 778; Killen v. State Bank, (Wis. 1900) 82 N. W. 536; Lane v. Frawley, 102 Wis. 373, 78 N. W. 593; John V. Farwell Co. v. Wolf, 96 Wis. 10, 70 N. W. 289, 71 N. W. 109, 65 Am. St. Rep. 22.

In Massachusetts an action for deceit in letting a dwelling-house infected with diphtheria, causing injury to the person, survives. Cutter v. Hamlen, 147 Mass. 471, 18 N. E. 397, 1 L. R. A. 429. But an action for deceit in the sale of poisoned grain, whereby the purchaser's horses were killed, does not survive. Cutting v. Tower, 14 Gray (Mass.) 183.

38. Grim v. Carr, 31 Pa. St. 533. See also Price v. Price, 75 N. Y. 244, 31 Am. Rep. 463, wherein it appeared that, by fraudulently representing that his first wife was dead, defendant induced plaintiff to marry him. He

c. Accounting. Proceedings for the settlement of the accounts of an executor or administrator abate, in some states, by the death of such executor or administrator pending the proceedings, and cannot be revived.[39]

d. Actions for Penalties—(1) In General. In the absence of express statutory provisions, actions for the recovery of statutory penalties do not survive. The death of either party, plaintiff or defendant, is an incurable abatement.[40] subsequently abandoned her, and had the marriage annulled on the ground that his first wife was still living. It was held that as the cause of action was for a personal wrong, and not for a wrong to the property rights or interests of plaintiff, it would not, on the death of defendant, survive against his executor. But see Withee v. Brooks, 65 Me. 14, wherein it was held that under Me. Rev. Stat. c. 87, § 8, providing that actions of trespass and trespass on the case survive, an action against a man for inducing plaintiff to marry him by false representations that he was single may be revived against defendant's personal representatives after his death.

Action for services.— If a woman goes through a form of marriage and lives with a man as his wife for many years, performing all the duties of that relation, and after his death learns for the first time that he had a wife living and not divorced from him, she cannot recover from his administrator for her services as housekeeper under an implied contract with the intestate. Cooper v. Cooper, 147 Mass. 370, 17 N. E. 892, 9 Am. St. Rep. 721. Contra, Higgins v. Breen, 9 Mo. 497.

Action for support.— Where a woman induces a man to marry her by falsely representing that she is single, his cause of action is for a personal injury, and the damage to his estate, by reason of the support given to her, is but incidental to the wrong, and cannot be recovered on the theory of a quasi-contract, and therefore the cause of action therefor does not survive against her estate. Payne's Appeal, 65 Conn. 397, 32 Atl. 948, 48 Am. St. Rep. 215.

Action to cancel marriage contract.— The right of action to cancel a marriage contract which, if genuine and followed by the requisite consummation, would create rights in the property of the alleged husband, survives to his executor or administrator. Sharon v. Terry, 36 Fed. 337, 1 L. R. A. 572.

Action to impeach marriage.— In case of a marriage procured by fraud unknown to the injured party, no right to impeach the marriage survives to his personal representatives, where he died without discovering the fraud. Tomppert v. Tomppert, 13 Bush (Ky.) 326, 26 Am. Rep. 197.

39. Herbert v. Stevenson, 3 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 236. See also Matter of Steencken, 51 N. Y. App. Div. 417, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 660, wherein it was held that where co-executors, one of whom was also temporary administrator, filed their account, which was referred to a referee, who, after hearing, reported to the surrogate, and pending action by the surrogate the executor and administrator died, the right of the surrogate to enter any personal decree against such party abated by his death, except so far as such deceased had in his hands property of the estate for which he should personally account.

But see Quick v. Campbell, 44 S. C. 386, 22 S. E. 479, wherein it was held that under S. C. Code, § 142, providing that an action on a cause of action which survives shall not abate by the death of a party, but that, on motion within a year from such death, the court may allow the action to be continued by or against his representative or successor in interest, an action pending against an administrator for an accounting may, on the death of defendant after trial, and before judgment, be continued by a substitution of his representative, and judgment may be rendered against the substituted defendant without a second trial.

Accounting by guardian.— In Illinois it has been held that a proceeding in the county court against a guardian, to compel him to account, is not a suit either at law or in equity, and abates on his death, even after appeal to the circuit court, and no citation lies against his administrator to compel a settlement of the account. Harvey v. Harvey, 87 Ill. 54.

Death pending appeal.—Where an appeal is taken from the allowance of an administrator's account, and, pending the appeal, the administrator dies, the administrator of the administrator cannot be cited to appear before the court where the appeal was pending to settle such account. Wentworth v. Wentworth, 12 Vt. 244.

40. Alabama.— Willis v. Byrne, 106 Ala. 425, 17 So. 332; Jones v. Brooks, 30 Ala. 588; Fairley v. Davis, 6 Ala. 375.

Connecticut.— Mitchell v. Hotchkiss, 48 Conn. 9, 40 Am. Rep. 146.

Illinois.— Diversey v. Smith, 103 Ill. 378, 42 Am. Rep. 14.

Indiana.— Davis v. State, 119 Ind. 555, 22 N. E. 9.

Kentucky.— Cowan v. Campbell, 17 B. Mon. (Ky.) 522, 66 Am. Dec. 184.

Massachusetts.—Yarter v. Flagg, 143 Mass. 280, 9 N. E. 649; Little v. Conant, 2 Pick. (Mass.) 527.

New York.— Carr v. Rischer, 119 N. Y. 117, 23 N. E. 296, 28 N. Y. St. 260; Blake v. Griswold, 104 N. Y. 613, 11 N. E. 137; Brackett v. Griswold, 103 N. Y. 425, 9 N. E. 438; Stokes v. Stickney, 96 N. Y. 323.

North Carolina.— Fite v. Lander, 52 N. C. 247; Mason v. Ballew, 35 N. C. 483; Blount v. Fish, 2 N. C. 502; Estis v. Lenox, 1 N. C. 204.

Pennsylvania.— Reed v. Cist, 7 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 183.

Rhode Island.— Moies v. Sprague, 9 R. I. 541.

Tennessee.— Governor v. McManus, 11 Humphr. (Tenn.) 152.

(11) Against Corporate Officers. The action given by statute in some states against the officers of a corporation for failure to file a report of the condition of the corporation is penal in its character and hence does not survive.[41]

e. Actions under Civil-Damage Acts. It has been held that an action under the New York civil-damage act by a widow, to recover for an injury to her means of support, against a person who had sold intoxicants to her husband, who by reason thereof was drowned, is abated by the death of defendant and cannot be revived and prosecuted against his representatives.[42]

Texas.—Watson v. Loop, 12 Tex. 11; Nolan v. Tennison, 21 Tex. Civ. App. 332, 50 S. W. 1028; State v. Schuenemann, 18 Tex. Civ. App. 485, 46 S. W. 260.

Vermont.—Benson v. Egerton, Brayt. (Vt.) 21.

United States.—U. S. v. De Goer, 38 Fed. 80; Schreiber v. Sharpless, 17 Fed. 589; Jones v. Vanzandt, 4 McLean (U. S.) 604, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,504.

England.—Kirkham v. Wheely, 3 Salk. 282.

But see Prescott v. Knowles, 62 Me. 277, wherein it was held that an action of trespass for double damages under Me. Rev. Stat. c. 30, § 1, for injury done by a dog, survives plaintiff's death during its pendency. See also Wiener v. Peacock, 31 Mo. App. 238, wherein it was held that under Mo. Rev. Stat. § 96, providing that all wrongs to the property rights or interests of another shall survive, an action lies against the legal representatives of a mortgagee under Mo. Rev. Stat. §§ 3311, 3312, declaring that a mortgagee who fails to acknowledge satisfaction after demand on payment of the debt shall forfeit ten per cent., and any other damages sustained.

Illegal sale of liquor.—An action on a liquor-dealer's bond to recover a penalty for an alleged infraction of the bond abates on the death of defendant. State v. Schuenemann, 18 Tex. Civ. App. 485, 46 S. W. 260. But an action by a father on such bond, for "$500 as liquidated damages" for the sale of liquor to his son, does not abate on the principal's death. Nolan v. Tennison, 21 Tex. Civ. App. 332, 50 S. W. 1028.

Issuance of marriage license without authority.—An action against a probate judge to recover the statutory penalty for issuing a marriage license to one under age, without the consent of the parent or guardian, is incurably abated by the death of the judge or of plaintiff. Willis v. Byrne, 106 Ala. 425, 17 So. 332; Fairley v. Davis, 6 Ala. 375.

Issuance of writ without security.—An action against a clerk of court on his official bond, to recover a statutory penalty for issuing a writ without requiring security, abates on the death of the clerk. Fite v. Lander, 52 N. C. 247.

Removal of pauper.—An action upon a statute for transporting a pauper from one town to another without an order of removal, with intent to charge the latter town with the support of such pauper, does not survive. Winhall v. Sawyer, 45 Vt. 466.

Rule in Indiana.—A cause of action against a telegraph company for the statutory penalty is one that survives, and may be enforced by the representative of the person in whom the right existed after his death. Under the Indiana statute it is only causes of action arising out of an injury to the person which do not survive. Western Union Tel. Co. v. Scircle, 103 Ind. 227, 2 N. E. 604.

41. Mitchell v. Hotchkiss, 48 Conn. 9, 40 Am. Rep. 146; Diversey v. Smith, 103 Ill. 378, 42 Am. Rep. 14; Carr v. Rischer, 119 N. Y. 117, 23 N. E. 296; Blake v. Griswold, 104 N. Y. 613, 11 N. E. 137; Brackett v. Griswold, 103 N. Y. 425, 9 N. E. 438; Stokes v. Stickney, 96 N. Y. 323; California Bank v. Collins, 5 Hun (N. Y.) 209; Reynolds v. Mason, 54 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 213; Moies v. Sprague, 9 R. I. 541.

Directors of national bank.—It has been held that the act of congress imposing a liability on the directors of a national bank for acts resulting in injury to the bank, its stockholders or creditors, and making them liable for the amount of the damage, is a remedial and not a penal statute, and that an action under it survives against the estate of a director. Stephens v. Overstolz, 43 Fed. 465.

False report.—Under N. Y. Laws (1875), c. 611, § 21, providing that if any certificate or report made by the officers of a corporation created under the statute shall be false all the officers signing it shall be liable for all debts of the corporation contracted during their term of office, it has been held that the cause of action thus given abates with the death of the creditor. Dalton v. Godwin, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 257; Boyle v. Thurber, 50 Hun (N. Y.) 259, 2 N. Y. Suppl. 789.

42. Moriorty v. Bartlett, 99 N. Y. 651, 1 N. E. 794 [reversing 34 Hun (N. Y.) 272]. But see Morenus v. Crawford, 51 Hun (N. Y.) 89, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 453, wherein it was held that an action by a wife under the "civil-damage act," for the value of a horse killed by her husband while in a state of intoxication produced by liquor furnished by defendant, may be revived and prosecuted in the name of plaintiff's administrator after her death. See also Kilburn v. Coe, 48 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 144, wherein it was held that where an injury to the property or estate of an habitual drunkard results from selling such person liquor, an action for damages may be brought, in case of his decease, in favor of his executors or administrators.

Recovery back for illegal sale.—In Vermont an action as provided by statute, to recover money paid by plaintiff to a liquor-dealer for liquor sold in violation of the liquor law to plaintiff, a retail liquor-dealer, survives on the death of the seller. Yearteau v. Bacon, 65 Vt. 516, 27 Atl. 198.

f. Audita Querela. Where the basis of an audita querela is altogether personal, it will die with the person.[43]

g. Devastavit. A scire facias suggesting a devastavit by an executor or administrator does not survive against his personal representatives.[44]

h. Discovery. After answer and discovery the rule is that a suit brought merely for discovery cannot be revived.[45]

i. Habeas Corpus. Where, pending an appeal by petitioner in a habeas corpus proceeding to obtain possession of a child, respondent dies, the proceeding abates and cannot be revived against respondent's representatives.[46]

j. Insolvency Proceedings. It has been held that where an alleged insolvent dies before the return-day of an application for his insolvency, the proceedings in insolvency abate, and orders that have been made therein cease to have any force.[47]

k. Mandamus. An application for a mandamus has been classed with those personal actions which die with the person.[48]

l. Partition. Upon a writ of partition at common law, on which partition is to be made among all tenants, as well plaintiffs as defendants, it has been held that the death of any one of the parties abates the writ if it takes place before the interlocutory judgment is rendered.[49] But the death of a plaintiff after judgment quod partitio fiat does not abate the writ.[50]

m. Proceeding for Violation of Municipal Ordinance. A proceeding for the violation of a city ordinance abates upon defendant's death.[51]

n. Recovery of Life Estate. An action to recover land by one who has only a life estate therein is abated by his death.[52]

o. Supplementary Proceedings. Where, on the appearance for examination of persons alleged to be indebted to a judgment debtor, it is shown that the 43. Connecticut, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Bliss, 24 Vt. 411, holding that in such case the bail upon the recognizance cannot be held.

44. Conrad v. Dalton, 14 N. C. 251. To same effect is Griffith v. Beasly, 10 Yerg. (Tenn.) 434. But see note 84, p. 99.

45. Horsburg v. Baker, 1 Pet. (U. S.) 232, 7 L. ed. 125; Gould v. Barnes, 1 Dick. 133,—the reason being that the object is obtained and plaintiff has no motive for reviving it.

46. Brown v. Rainor, 108 N. C. 204, 12 S. E. 1028.

47. Vermont Marble Co. v. Superior Ct., 99 Cal. 579, 34 Pac. 326. See also In re McDonald, 10 Phila. (Pa.) 273, 30 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 232, wherein it was held that, on the death of an involuntary bankrupt before a jury trial has been had to determine whether he has committed an act of bankruptcy, the proceedings abate.

A cause of action against an assignee in bankruptcy for wrongfully paying the assets in his hands to other creditors of the bankrupt than plaintiff does not abate on the assignee's death. U. S. v. Dewey, 39 Fed. 251.

48. Booze v. Humbird, 27 Md. 1.

Public officer.—In U. S. v. Boutwell, 17 Wall. (U. S.) 604, 21 L. ed. 721, it was held that in the absence of statutory provisions to the contrary a mandamus against an officer of the government abates on his death or retirement from office. His successor in office cannot be brought in by way of amendment of the proceeding or on order for the substitution of parties. But see Felts v. Memphis, 2 Head (Tenn.) 650, wherein it was held that in a suit for mandamus prosecuted by a public officer for the public benefit, if plaintiff dies or his term of office expires before the determination of the suit, it will not abate, but may be continued by his successor.

49. Brown v. Wells, 12 Metc. (Mass.) 501; Mitchell v. Starbuck, 10 Mass. 5. But see Osgood v. Taggard, 18 N. H. 318, wherein it was held that upon the death of one of several petitioners for partition the petition does not abate, but notice is to be given to his heirs, who, if competent, may come in as petitioners; otherwise they may be treated as petitionees. See also Wilkinson v. Parish, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 653, wherein it was held that a suit for partition may be revived, after the death of one of the parties, by petition and order. And see Speck v. Pullman Palace Car Co., 121 Ill. 33, 12 N. E. 213, wherein it was held that under Ill. Rev. Stat. (1874), c. 1, § 22, providing that no suit for the partition of land shall abate by the death of any party thereto, where the heirs of a deceased person brought suit for partition against the widow, and, pending the suit, two of the complainants died intestate, leaving as their only heirs at law their co-complainants, the suit did not abate as to the interests of the deceased complainants.

Death of respondent.— Upon the death of a respondent named in a petition for partition his heirs cannot be admitted to defend, and the petition abates. Dwinal v. Holmes, 37 Me. 97; Thomas v. Smith, 2 Mass. 479.

50. Frohock v. Gustine, 8 Watts (Pa.) 121. As to persons who may revive see infra, III, B, 7, c, (VI).

51. Carrollton v. Rhomberg, 78 Mo. 547.

52. Brown v. Kendall, 13 Gray (Mass.) 272.

debtor was dead at the time the order for examination was made, the proceedings will abate.[53]

5. Death of One or More of Several Plaintiffs — a. In General. If there be two or more plaintiffs, and one or more of them die, and the cause of action survives to the surviving plaintiff or plaintiffs, the action will not be thereby abated, but may proceed at the suit of the surviving plaintiff or plaintiffs.[54]

b. Suit by Husband and Wife — (1) Death of Wife. Where a suit is brought by husband and wife to recover a demand in her right or for an injury solely to her interest in land, and during the pendency of the suit and before judgment the wife dies, the suit abates and the husband cannot proceed alone.[55]

53. Hasewell v. Penman, 2 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 230.

54. Alabama.— Rosser v. Timberlake, 78 Ala. 162; Evans v. Welch, 63 Ala. 250; Bebee v. Miller, Minor (Ala.) 364.

Georgia.— Castor v. Pace, 24 Ga. 137.

Illinois.—Speck v. Pullman Palace Car Co., 121 Ill. 33, 12 N. E. 213.

Indiana.— Hess v. Lowrey, 122 Ind. 225, 23 N. E. 156, 17 Am. St. Rep. 355, 7 L. R. A. 90; Meek v. Ruffner, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 23.

Kentucky.— Smith v. Ferguson, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 424.

Louisiana.— McCord v. West Feliciana R. Co., 1 Rob. (La.) 519.

Maine.— Barron v. Burrill, 86 Me. 66, 29 Atl. 939; Treat v. Dwinel, 59 Me. 341; Haven v. Brown, 7 Me. 421, 22 Am. Dec. 208.

Massachusetts.— Richardson v. Pond, 15 Gray (Mass.) 387.

Minnesota.— Landis v. Olds, 9 Minn. 90.

Missouri.— Keyser v. Rawlings, 22 Mo. 126; Carlisle v. Rawlings, 18 Mo. 166.

New Jersey.— Freeborn v. Denman, 8 N. J. L. 142.

New York.— Webster v. Kings County Trust Co., 145 N. Y. 275, 39 N. E. 964; Doherty v. Matsell, 54 N. Y. Super. Ct. 17; Brown v. Story, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 594; Lachaise v. Libby, 21 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 362.

North Carolina.— Bond v. Hilton, 51 N. C. 180.

South Carolina.— Boyleston v. Cordes, 4 McCord (S. C.) 144.

Vermont.— Wright v. Eldred, 2 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 37.

Virginia.— Beckham v. Duncan, (Va. 1888) 5 S. E. 690; Clarkson v. Booth, 17 Gratt. (Va.) 490; Nichols v. Campbell, 10 Gratt. (Va.) 560; Rose v. Burgess, 10 Leigh (Va.) 186; Hairston v. Woods, 9 Leigh (Va.) 308.

England.—2 Tidd's Prac. 1116 et seq.; Wilson v. Wilson, L. R. 9 Eq. 452; Cave v. Cork, 2 Y. & C. Ch. 130.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 315 et seq.

As to revival on death of one or more plaintiffs see infra, III, B, 7, f.

Assumpsit by several plaintiffs does not abate by the death of one of them. Meek v. Ruffner, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 23.

Petition by some of several infants against others to have land sold for their benefit does not abate by the death of one of them. Tilly v. Tilly, 2 Bland (Md.) 436.

Suit by trustees.— Where one of two trustees, plaintiffs in an action of detinue to recover the trust property, dies, the right of action survives to the other trustee. Nichols v. Campbell, 10 Gratt. (Va.) 560. So a suit by trustees of a mortgage for its foreclosure is not abated by the death of one of them. Shaw v. Norfolk County R. Co., 5 Gray (Mass.) 162.

Trespass quare clausum fregit survives to the co-plaintiffs on the death of one of several plaintiffs. Haven v. Brown, 7 Me. 421, 22 Am. Dec. 208; Boynton v. Rees, 9 Pick. (Mass.) 528.

55. California.— Gee v. Moore, 14 Cal. 472.

Connecticut.— Buck v. Goodrich, 33 Conn. 37.

Kentucky.— Crozier v. Bryant, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 174.

Maine.— Ryder v. Robinson, 2 Me. 127.

New Hampshire.— Pettingill v. Butterfield, 45 N. H. 195.

Virginia.— Archer v. Colly, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 410.

England.—Checchi v. Powell, 6 B. & C. 253.

But see Syme v. Sanders, 2 Strobh. (S. C.) 332, wherein it was held that an action of trespass to try title, brought by husband and wife, is not abated by the death of the wife. See also Sankey v. Sankey, 6 Ala. 607 (wherein it was held that a proceeding by husband and wife to obtain the distributive share of the wife in an estate does not abate on the death of the wife, but may be continued by the husband as administrator of his wife); Baker v. Red, 4 Dana (Ky.) 158 (wherein it was held that where a husband and wife sued jointly for the settlement of her father's estate and to recover her share, and the wife died pending the suit, the right to sue survived to the husband as to so much of her interest as accrued pending coverture). Compare Jefcoat v. Knotts, 11 Rich. (S. C.) 649.

Money lent by wife when sole.—Where husband and wife commenced an action for money lent by the wife before marriage, and she died pending the action, it was held that it thereby abated. Checchi v. Powell, 6 B. & C. 253. But where the husband takes out administration on her estate he may prosecute the suit as administrator. Pattee v. Harrington, 11 Pick. (Mass.) 221.

Recovery of estate by curtesy.— A statute providing that if one of the demandants in a real action die, such death shall not abate the writ, does not permit a husband in a real action, brought by him and his wife in her right, to proceed, after the death of the wife, for his estate by the curtesy. Ryder v. Robinson, 2 Me. 127.

(II) Death of Husband. But where, pending an action brought by husband and wife to recover a demand or the possession of land to which they are entitled in her right, the husband dies, the action survives to the wife, and, upon her death, to her heirs and devisees.[56]

(III) Personal Injuries to Wife. A joint action by a husband and wife for personal injuries to the wife abates by her death,[57] but may, in some states, be continued by the wife's personal representatives.[58]

c. Suit by Partnership. The law is well settled that in a suit by partners in favor of the partnership, and relating to partnership affairs, if one or more of them die, the right to prosecute the action survives to the other members of the firm alone.[59]

56. Kentucky.— Weagle v. Hensley, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 378.

New Hampshire.— Little v. Downing, 37 N. H. 355.

New York.— McDowl v. Charles, 6 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 132.

North Carolina.— King v. Little, 77 N. C. 138.

Virginia.— Vaughan v. Wilson, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 452.

Canada.— Harrington v. McManamin, 4 Allen (N. Brunsw.) 599.

See also Teneick v. Flagg, 29 N. J. L. 25, wherein it was held that as to such of the wife's choses in action as accrued subsequent to the coverture, the husband may sue either in their joint names or alone at his pleasure. If he join her in the action and recover judgment and die, the judgment will survive to her. But see Shepherd v. Harrell, 9 Humphr. (Tenn.) 641, wherein it was held that where, during the pendency of a suit in chancery by a married woman, her husband dies, a decree cannot be made in her favor without making her husband's heirs parties or showing that they have no interest in the subject-matter of the suit.

Election of widow to proceed.— A bill filed by the husband in the name of himself and wife, although for a claim in the right of the wife, is considered as a bill of the husband. If he dies before a decree in the cause, the widow may proceed in the suit or not, at her election. Dewall v. Covenhoven, 5 Paige (N. Y.) 581.

Personalty in right of wife.— In a suit by husband and wife for the recovery of personal property in her right, if the husband dies the right survives to her. Vaughan v. Wilson, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 452.

57. Meese v. Fond du Lac, 48 Wis. 323, 4 N. W. 406.

For husband's action for injuries to wife, see supra, III, A, 3, k.

58. Norcross v. Stuart, 50 Me. 87; Saltmarsh v. Candia, 51 N. H. 71.

59. Alabama.— Davis v. Davis, 93 Ala. 173, 9 So. 736; Phœnix Ins. Co. v. Moog, 81 Ala. 335, 1 So. 108.

Georgia.— Guill v. Pierce, 78 Ga. 49; Atlanta v. Dooly, 74 Ga. 702.

Illinois.— Roberts v. Stigleman, 78 Ill. 120; Finnegan v. Allen, 60 Ill. App. 354.

Kentucky.— Robinson v. Pikeville Bank, (Ky. 1900) 56 S. W. 660; Wilson v. Soper, 13 B. Mon. (Ky.) 411, 56 Am. Dec. 573; McCandless v. Hadden, 9 B. Mon. (Ky.) 186; Smith v. Ferguson, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 424.

Louisiana.— Todd v. Young, 16 La. Ann. 162.

Maryland.— Keirle v. Shriver, 11 Gill & J. (Md.) 405.

Missouri.— Matney v. Gregg Brothers Grain Co., 19 Mo. App. 107.

Montana.— Bohm v. Dunphy, 1 Mont. 333.

New York.— Shale v. Schantz, 35 Hun (N. Y.) 622; Lachaise v. Libby, 21 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 362; Taylor v. Church, 9 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 190. Compare Hackett v. Belden, 10 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 123.

North Carolina.— Bond v. Hilton, 51 N. C. 180.

Pennsylvania.— Struthers v. Peacock, 3 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 517.

Rhode Island.— Tucker v. Providence, etc., R. Co., 18 R. I. 322, 27 Atl. 448.

Texas.— Dunman v. Coleman, 59 Tex. 199; Gunter v. Jarvis, 25 Tex. 581; Blackman v. Green, 17 Tex. 322.

West Virginia.— Ruffner v. Hewitt, 14 W. Va. 737.

England.— Anderson v. Wallis, 4 Y. & C. Exch. 336.

As to revival on death of one or more partners see infra, III, B, 7, f, (II).

In Maine, where one of several plaintiffs dies, his administrator has until the second term after his death to determine whether or not he will come in to prosecute. Consequently the other plaintiffs cannot be compelled to elect before then whether they will join the administrator in prosecuting the suit as surviving partners, or will themselves prosecute it in that character in case the administrator fails to appear. Snow v. Bartlett, 64 Me. 384.

Death of all partners.— Where plaintiffs, who are partners, both die, the personal representatives of both may be made parties plaintiff. Blackman v. Green, 17 Tex. 322.

Death pending motion for new trial.—In an action to enforce a partnership claim, where one of the partners dies after verdict for defendant and pending a motion for new trial, the surviving partners are in court as plaintiffs and are entitled to prosecute the motion in the interest of the late firm. State v. Stratton, 110 Mo. 426, 19 S. W. 803.

Dissolution pending action.—A and B, partners, brought an action to foreclose a mortgage on land executed to them to secure a debt. Pending the action A and B dissolved

d. Suit by Tenants in Common. In case of the death of one of several plaintiffs who sue as tenants in common, the action may be continued in the name of the survivors.[60]

6. Death of One or More of Several Defendants. — a. In General. If there be two or more defendants, and one or more of them die, and the cause of action survives, the action will not be thereby abated, but may proceed against the surviving defendant or defendants.[61] There are also numerous authorities partnership, but agreed "to hold as tenants in common" the debt in question. It was held that the partnership ceased as to the debt, and that, A having died pending the action, his personal representative should have been made a party thereto. Preston v. Fitch, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 849.

Slander of partnership.—An action brought by the members of a firm to recover damages for an alleged slander relating to the financial condition of the firm does not abate by the death of one of the plaintiffs during its pendency. The entire cause of action vests in the surviving plaintiffs, and the action may be prosecuted by them. Shale v. Schantz, 35 Hun (N. Y.) 622. To same effect is Taylor v. Church, 9 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 190.

Trustee in liquidation who signed and swore to the bill in a suit brought by a partnership association is not a party, and the status of the suit is not affected by his death. Manhard Hardware Co. v. Rothschild, 121 Mich. 657, 80 N. W. 707.

60. Kansas.— Crane v. Lowe, 59 Kan. 606, 54 Pac. 666.

Massachusetts.— Tyler v. Mather, 9 Gray (Mass.) 177.

New York.— Webster v. Kings County Trust Co., 145 N. Y. 275, 39 N. E. 964; Bucknam v. Brett, 35 Barb. (N. Y.) 596.

Texas.— Watrous v. McGrew, 16 Tex. 506.

West Virginia.— Rowe v. Shenandoah Pulp Co., 42 W. Va. 551, 26 S. E. 320, 57 Am. St. Rep. 870.

See also Wilson v. Wilson, L. R. 9 Eq. 452, which was a bill by two persons, one claiming to be tenant for life of an estate, the other to be tenant in fee, subject to the first plaintiff's life-estate, of one third of the entirety, against a defendant who claimed the entirety by an adverse title, and other defendants who claimed the remaining two thirds under the same title as the second plaintiff. The bill alleged that the first defendant had begun to cut timber on the estate and threatened to cut the whole. The first plaintiff died. It was held that a revivor was not necessary, and that the surviving plaintiff had a sufficient interest in the subject-matter to continue the suit.

Where joint tenants file a bill, and by the death of one the interest survives, there is no abatement, but the survivor may go on. Fallowes v. Williamson, 11 Ves. Jr. 306; Young v. Woollaston, Hardres 112; Harris v. Philips, Hardres 161.

61. Alabama.— Phœnix Ins. Co. v. Moog, 81 Ala. 335, 1 So. 108; Evans v. Welch, 63 Ala. 250; Garrett v. Lynch, 44 Ala. 324; Rupert v. Elston, 35 Ala. 79; Hood v. Branch Bank, 9 Ala. 335; Gayle v. Agee, 4 Port. (Ala.) 507; Harrison v. King, Minor (Ala.) 364.

Arkansas.— Rheubottom v. Sadler, 19 Ark. 496.

Connecticut.— Bundy v. Williams, 1 Root (Conn.) 543.

Georgia.— Stancil v. Kenan, 35 Ga. 102; Castor v. Pace, 24 Ga. 137.

Illinois.— Steele v. Thatcher, 79 Ill. 400; Ballance v. Samuel, 4 Ill. 380.

Indiana.— Hess v. Lowrey, 122 Ind. 225, 23 N. E. 156, 17 Am. St. Rep. 355, 7 L. R. A. 90.

Iowa.— Harper v. Drake, 14 Iowa 533.

Kentucky.— Wilson v. Slaughter, 3 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 593; White v. Turner, 1 B. Mon. (Ky.) 130.

Massachusetts.— Tucker v. Utley, 168 Mass. 415, 44 N. E. 534; Cobb v. Fogg, 166 Mass. 466, 44 N. E. 534; Cochrane v. Cushing, 124 Mass. 219; Ricker v. Gerrish, 124 Mass. 367; New Haven, etc., Co. v. Hayden, 119 Mass. 361; Sumner v. Tileston, 4 Pick. (Mass.) 308; Foster v. Hooper, 2 Mass. 572.

Michigan.— Newberry v. Trowbridge, 13 Mich. 263.

Minnesota.—Lanier v. Irvine, 24 Minn. 116.

Missouri.— Carlisle v. Rawlings, 18 Mo. 166.

Nevada.— Fowler v. Houston, 1 Nev. 469.

New Jersey.— Hendrickson v. Herbert, 38 N. J. L. 296; Fisher v. Allen, 36 N. J. L. 203.

New York.— Scholey v. Halsey, 72 N. Y. 578; Potter v. Van Vranken, 36 N. Y. 619; Union Bank v. Mott, 27 N. Y. 633; Pierson v. Morgan, 52 Hun (N. Y.) 611, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 898; Masten v. Blackwell, 8 Hun (N. Y.) 313; Livermore v. Bushnell, 5 Hun (N. Y.) 285; Brown v. Andrews, 1 Barb. (N. Y.) 227; Mott v. Petrie, 15 Wend. (N. Y.) 317; Grant v. Shurter, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 148; Jenkins v. De Groot, 1 Cai. Cas. (N. Y.) 122; Leake, etc., Orphan House v. Lawrence, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 80; Halstead v. Cockroft, 49 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 342; Heinmuller v. Gray, 44 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 260; Gardner v. Walker, 22 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 405; Lachaise v. Libby, 21 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 362; Gordon v. Sterling, 13 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 405.

Pennsylvania.— Miller v. Reed, 27 Pa. St. 244, 67 Am. Dec. 459; Walter v. Ginrich, 2 Watts (Pa.) 204; Machette v. Magee, 9 Phila. (Pa.) 24, 29 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 300.

Rhode Island.— Baker v. Braslin, 16 R. I. 635, 18 Atl. 1039, 6 L. R. A. 718.

Tennessee.— Claiborne v. Goodloe, Cooke (Tenn.) 391.

Texas.— Aldridge v. Mardoff, 32 Tex. 204.

Vermont.— Newton v. Higgins, 2 Vt. 366.

West Virginia.— Henning v. Farnsworth, 41 W. Va. 548, 23 S. E. 663.

which hold that the action in such case may be continued against the personal representatives of the deceased defendant.[62]

b. Suit against Husband and Wife — (I) Death of Husband. A suit against a husband and wife for a tort of the wife does not abate by the death of the husband pending the suit, unless the tort was committed by her in his presence or by his coercion.[63]

(II) Death of Wife. It has been held that an action against husband and wife for a debt of the wife before marriage abates by the death of the wife after commencement of the suit but before declaration filed.[64]

c. Suit against Partnership. If a partner dies pending an action against the firm, the action does not abate, but may proceed to judgment against the surviving partner, unless the cause of action dies, not only as against the personal representatives of the deceased partner, but as against the surviving partner also.[65]

Wisconsin.— Cairns v. O'Bleness, 40 Wis. 469; Jones v. Keep, 23 Wis. 45.

England.— 2 Tidd's Pr. 1116 et seq.; Young v. Woollaston, Hardres 112; Harris v. Philips, Hardres 161.

Canada.— Beatty v. Neelon, 9 Ont. 385; Allan v. McLagan, 1 Leg. News (Que.) 4.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 322 et seq.

As to death of principal or surety, see Principal and Surety.

As to joinder of representatives of deceased see infra, III, B, 8, e, (v).

Assault and battery.— On the death of one of two defendants an action of assault and battery does not abate, but may be continued against the survivor. Hill v. Tempest, Cro. Eliz. 145.

Damages for erection of dam.— The death, pending suit, of one of three defendants in an action for erecting a dam by which plaintiff's mills were obstructed does not abate the action. Sumner v. Tileston, 4 Pick. (Mass.) 308.

Death of resident defendant.— Where suit was properly brought against two defendants in the county of the residence of one of them, and defendants pleaded to the merits, the death of the defendant residing in the county where suit was brought, and dismissal as to his estate, will not defeat the jurisdiction as to the other defendant. Lewis v. Davidson, 51 Tex. 251.

62. Colt v. Learned, 133 Mass. 409; Union Bank v. Mott, 27 N. Y. 633; Githers v. Clarke, 158 Pa. St. 616, 28 Atl. 232; Ash v. Guie, 97 Pa. St. 493, 39 Am. Rep. 818; Dingman v. Amsink, 77 Pa. St. 114; Megrath v. Gilmore, 15 Wash. 558, 46 Pac. 1032; Donnerberg v. Oppenheimer, 15 Wash. 290, 46 Pac. 254.

Where, pending an accounting of receivers, one dies, the court may summon in his executor in his stead. Matter of Columbian Ins. Co., 30 Hun (N. Y.) 342.

63. Douge v. Pearce, 13 Ala. 127. See also Baker v. Braslin, 16 R. I. 635, 18 Atl. 1039, 6 L. R. A. 718, holding that where, in trespass for assault and battery against a husband and wife jointly, the husband died pending the action, the action did not abate but could be prosecuted against the wife alone.

As to revival of suit on death of one spouse see infra, III, B, 8, e, (II).

Contract of wife before coverture.— An action against a husband and wife upon a contract of the wife before marriage abates as to the husband at his death. Nutz v. Reutter, 1 Watts (Pa.) 229.

Death pending appeal in ejectment.—Where judgment goes against husband and wife jointly for land in which the husband has a marital interest as against her, and pending an appeal the husband dies, the suit abates as to him. After his death the possession becomes hers, but this will not support the pending judgment against her or authorize the rendition of a new one. Wilson v. Garaghty, 70 Mo. 517.

Suit by wife against husband.—If the wife survive she may sue her husband's personal representatives for a conversion of her separate property. If the husband survive, her personal representatives may sue him. Jenkins v. McConico, 26 Ala. 213.

Suit for dower.—An action against husband and wife to recover dower in lands of the wife survives against her, on the death of the husband pending the action. Cozens v. Long, 3 N. J. L. 331.

64. Williams v. Kent, 15 Wend. (N. Y.) 360.

65. Alabama.— Clark v. Stoddard, 3 Ala. 366; Cullum v. Batre, 1 Ala. 126.

Georgia.— Crapp v. Dodd, 92 Ga. 405, 17 S. E. 666. And see Ross v. Everett, 12 Ga. 30.

Illinois.— Ballance v. Samuel, 4 Ill. 380.

Indiana.— Hess v. Lowrey, 122 Ind. 225, 23 N. E. 156, 17 Am. St. Rep. 355, 7 L. R. A. 90.

Louisiana.— Todd v. Young, 16 La. Ann. 162.

Massachusetts.— Pingree v. Coffin, 12 Gray (Mass.) 288.

Nebraska.— King v. Bell, 13 Nebr. 409, 14 N. W. 141.

New York.— Pope v. Briggs, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 718; Voorhies v. Baxter, 1 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 43.

Tennessee.— Hammond v. St. John, 4 Yerg. (Tenn.) 107.

Virginia.— Townes v. Birchett, 12 Leigh (Va.) 173.

United States.— Troy Iron, etc., Factory v. Winslow, 11 Blatchf. (U. S.) 513, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,199.

As to revival on death of partner see infra, III, B, 8, e, (III).

Malpractice.—Where, pending a suit against two physicians, partners, for damages for an injury alleged to have been caused by the

d. Suit against Personal Representatives. It seems that on the death of one of several defendant executors or administrators the action may be continued against the survivors.[66]

e. Effect on Counterclaim. It has been held that the death, pending suit, of one of two defendants entitled to a counterclaim, does not abate the prosecution of the counterclaim.[67]

7. Death of Person Suing in Representative Capacity. As a general rule an action prosecuted by a person in a representative capacity does not abate on the death of such party pending the action.[68] This rule has been applied to suits by next friend,[69] by personal representatives,[70] and by trustees.[71] unskilful manner in which they reset and treated plaintiff's shoulder, one of the partners dies, the action, while abating against the personal representatives of the deceased partner, may be prosecuted to judgment against the surviving partner. Hess v. Lowrey, 122 Ind. 225, 23 N. E. 156, 17 Am. St. Rep. 355, 7 L. R. A. 90.

Sale of liquor.— In an action against partners as saloon-keepers for injury caused by the sale of liquor by them, the action does not abate by reason of the death of one of the partners pending the action. King v. Bell, 13 Nebr. 409, 14 N. W. 141.

Suit against partner.— In Ex p. Ware, 48 Ala. 223, it was held that an action brought against one member of a partnership on a contract made by the partnership survives upon the death of defendant and may be revived in the name of the personal representative as defendant. To same effect is Travis v. Tartt, 8 Ala. 574.

66. Castor v. Pace, 24 Ga. 137; Hicks v. Harris, 26 Miss. 420; Patterson v. Copeland, 52 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 460.

An action of devastavit against two joint administrators is not abated by the death of one of them pending the suit, but, the death being suggested on the record, the action may proceed against the survivor. Castor v. Pace, 24 Ga. 137.

67. Moorehead v. Hyde, 38 Iowa 382.

68. Edrington v. Mathews, 30 Ark. 665; Wright v. Rogers, 26 Ind. 218; Greer v. Howard, 41 Ohio St. 591; Bell v. Humphrey, 8 W. Va. 1.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 330 et seq.

As to persons entitled to revive see infra, III, B, 7, g.

Action by administrator and agent.— Replevin does not abate by the death of one who sued as administrator and agent for heirs. Talvande v. Cripps, 2 McCord (S. C.) 164.

Action on official bond.— In Rabun v. Fowler, R. M. Charlt. (Ga.) 60, it was held that an action on an official bond in the name of the governor does not abate by the death of the governor pending the suit; and it may proceed to judgment without amendment or substitution of the name of the successor. And see Anonymous, 2 N. C. 166, wherein it was held that where the obligee in a bond is a public trustee, as a president of the county court, the action will not abate if he die pendente lite.

69. A suit by infants by their next friend is not abated by the death, pending the suit, of the next friend. Tucker v. Wilson, 68 Miss. 693, 9 So. 898.

As to persons who may continue suit see infra, III, B, 7, g, (III).

Death of ward.— A suit commenced by a trustee of an intemperate person, appointed to manage and preserve the latter's estate, to set aside a conveyance of land made after plaintiff's appointment, abates upon the death of the ward, and cannot be revived and prosecuted by his heirs. Ex p. Williams, 87 Ala. 547, 6 So. 314.

70. An action instituted by an executor or administrator does not abate on the death of such executor or administrator.

Alabama.— Wells v. American Mortg. Co., 109 Ala. 430, 20 So. 136; Reynolds v. Crook, 95 Ala. 570, 11 So. 412.

Arkansas.— Hemphill v. Hamilton, 11 Ark. 425; State v. Murray, 8 Ark. 199.

Georgia.— Walton v. Gill, 46 Ga. 600. And see Saffold v. Banks, 69 Ga. 289.

Kentucky.—Bardstown, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Howell, (Ky. 1891) 17 S. W. 481; Fletcher v. Sanders, 7 Dana (Ky.) 345, 32 Am. Dec. 96.

New Jersey.— Crane v. Alling, 14 N. J. L. 593.

North Carolina.— Merrill v. Merrill, 92 N. C. 657; North Carolina University v. Hughes, 90 N. C. 537.

Tennessee.— Brasfield v. Cardwell, 7 Lea (Tenn.) 252; Stott v. Alexander, 2 Sneed (Tenn.) 650.

West Virginia.—List v. Pumphrey, 3 W. Va. 672.

As to persons entitled to revive see infra, III, B, 7, g, (IV).

71. An action instituted by a trustee in his own name on a cause of action affecting the trust estate does not abate by the death of such trustee pending the action. McDougald v. Carey, 38 Ala. 320; Mauldin v. Armistead, 14 Ala. 702; Reyburn v. Mitchell, 106 Mo. 365, 16 S. W. 592, 27 Am. St. Rep. 350; Hook v. Dyer, 47 Mo. 214. And see Means v. Associate Reformed Presb. Church, 3 Pa. St. 93, wherein it was held that where an action of ejectment for the recovery of land is brought in the name of a trustee for the use of a church, and a recovery is had, and an action is brought in such trustee's name for the mesne profits which accrued during the pendency of the action of ejectment, and the trustee dies, the action does not abate by his death, and his heir at law is the proper party to be substituted on the record to prosecute such action to judgment.

8. Death of Person Sued in Representative Capacity. As a general rule an action prosecuted against a person in his representative capacity does not abate by the death of such party pending the action.[72] This rule has been applied to suits against committees of lunatics,[73] guardians,[74] or personal representatives.[75]

9. Death of Nominal Plaintiff. The death of a nominal plaintiff pending the suit does not abate the suit, but it may progress in the name of the real plaintiff.[76]

10. Death of Beneficial Plaintiff. It has been held that the death of the person for whose use a suit is brought does not abate the suit, but it may proceed in the name of the nominal plaintiff.[77]

As to persons entitled to revive see infra, III, B, 7, g, (v).

Death of cestui que trust.— If a trustee in whom the legal title is vested brings suit for real property, and the cestui que trust, who is a married woman, dies pendente lite, and there is no administration on her estate, the action does not abate, but may be continued for the recovery of the property for her heirs. Artope v. Goodall, 53 Ga. 318.

Trustee and executor.— Upon the death of the vendor of an estate, certain persons who, under an order in chancery, had been appointed trustees of the vendor's personal estate for the purpose of his will, filed their bill against the representatives of the purchaser for specific performance of the agreement for sale; after the commencement of the suit one of the trustees, who was also executor of the vendor, died. It was held that the suit thereby became wholly abated. Cave v. Cork, 2 Y. & C. Ch. 130.

72. Edrington v. Mathews, 30 Ark. 665.

As to persons entitled to revive, see infra, III, B, 7, g.

73. In a suit to which a lunatic and his committee are defendants the death of the committee before decree does not warrant an order substituting the new committee as defendant. Rudd v. Speare, 3 De G. & Sm. 374.

Death after decree.— Where, after a decree in a suit in which a lunatic and his committee are defendants, the committee dies and a new one is appointed, it is proper, upon motion, that the new committee should be named as such in all future proceedings in the cause. Lyon v. Mercer, 1 Sim. & St. 356.

Death of lunatic.— Where, pending a suit against a lunatic represented by his committee, the lunatic dies, the committee ipso facto becomes functus officio, and the suit abates and must be revived and proceeded with in the name of the lunatic's personal representative and heirs; and all proceedings had after the lunatic's death and before such revival are void. Paxton v. Stuart, 80 Va. 873.

74. Death of a guardian pending a suit against him for a debt contracted by him for the benefit of his ward does not abate the suit. Lewis v. Allen, 68 Ga. 398.

As to persons who may revive suit see infra, III, B, 7, g, (II).

75. Suit against a personal representative on a cause of action against his decedent does not abate on the death of such personal representative pending the action. Portevant v. Pendleton, 23 Miss. 25; Jones v. Jones, 8 Humphr. (Tenn.) 705; Parks v. Lubbock, (Tex. Civ. App. 1899) 50 S. W. 466. But see Merrill v. Merrill, 92 N. C. 657, wherein it was held that a suit by next of kin against an administrator for the distribution of the estate abates on the death of the administrator pending the suit.

As to accounting by personal representatives see supra, III, A, 4, c.

As to persons who may revive see infra, III, B, 7, g, (IV).

76. Alabama.— Tait v. Frow, 8 Ala. 543; Bates v. Terrell, 7 Ala. 129.

Illinois.— Phillips v. Wilson, 25 Ill. App. 427.

Mississippi.—Anderson v. Leland, 46 Miss. 290; Denton v. Stephens, 32 Miss. 194; Grand Gulf Bank v. Jeffers, 12 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 486; Humphreys v. Irvine, 6 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 205.

Pennsylvania.— Mehaffy v. Share, 2 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 361.

Texas.— Moore v. Rice, 51 Tex. 289; Clark v. Hopkins, 34 Tex. 139; Price v. Wiley, 19 Tex. 142, 70 Am. Dec. 323.

United States.— Campbell v. Strong, Hempst. (U. S.) 265, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 2,367a.

But see Morrison v. Deaderick, 10 Humphr. (Tenn.) 342, wherein it was held that, where a bill is filed in the name of an assignor for the benefit of the assignee, on the death of the assignor the suit abates.

As to revival of suit on death of nominal plaintiff see infra, III, B, 7, e.

Action by agent for use of principal.— An action by an agent for the use of the principal is virtually an action by the principal, and the death of the agent before or pending the action will not affect the suit. Martin v. Lamb, 77 Ga. 252, 3 S. E. 10.

77. Gray v. Turner, 7 Ala. 30; Wright v. Rogers, 26 Ind. 218; Lee v. Gardiner, 26 Miss. 521; Holt v. Briscoe, Walk. (Miss.) 19. See also Royce v. Barnes, 11 Metc. (Mass.) 276, wherein it was held that, where the holder of a note payable to bearer transfers it to an agent for collection, an action by such agent on the note does not abate by the death of the principal. But see Barker v. Bethune, 3 Ga. 159, wherein it was held that in a claim case brought to foreclose a mortgage by A for the use of B, administrator of C, the death of B suspends the case until the legal representative of C is made a party.

Action by grantee in name of grantor.— An action brought by a grantee in the name of his grantor against one who, at the time of

11. Death of Both Parties. It has been held that a statute providing that the death of either party shall not cause the suit to abate if the cause of action survives should be construed as embracing a case in which both parties die before the substitution of the personal representatives of either of them.[78]

12. Death after Hearing. In courts of equity it is the practice, when a party dies after a cause has been submitted upon the final hearing, for the court, notwithstanding, to go on and render its decision and direct a final decree to be entered up as of the day when the cause was submitted for decision,[79] and the same practice obtains in courts of law.[80]

13. Death after Report of Referee. In some states, if either party to an action dies after a report by a referee, final judgment may be entered in the name of the original parties.[81]

14. Death after Verdict — a. Common-Law Rule. At common law, if either party dies after verdict and pending the time taken for argument or advising thereon, judgment may be entered after his death as of a date preceding such the execution of the deed, was in possession of the premises under an adverse claim of title, does not abate by the death of the grantee, but the same may be revived and continued by his devisees. Ward v. Reynolds, 25 Hun (N. Y.) 385.

Action on bond.—In Logan v. State, 39 Md. 177, and State v. Dorsey, 3 Gill & J. (Md.) 75, it was held that, where a suit is brought on a bond for the use of an individual, the individual for whose use it is entered is not the legal plaintiff. The use is entered only for the protection of his equitable interest, and if he dies pending the suit his death is not the subject of a plea, but the suit goes on as if he were still living or the use had never been entered. But see McLaughlin v. Neill, 25 N. C. 294, wherein it was held that, where an action is brought on an official bond for the benefit of a person injured, in the name of the state or of an officer of the state to whom the bond is made payable, it is the action of the relator, and on his death is abated as other actions abate by the death of plaintiff, unless revived in the manner prescribed by law. To same effect is Johnson v. State, 2 Houst. (Del.) 378. Compare Harvey v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 70 Md. 319, 17 Atl. 88.

Death of one beneficiary.— In an action by trustees for damages to property, plaintiff's rights are not affected by the death of one of the beneficiaries subsequent to the commencement of the action, the action being for such damages as accrued prior to the suit. Knox v. Metropolitan El. R. Co., 58 Hun (N. Y.) 517, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 848.

78. Georgia.— Henderson v. Alexander, 2 Ga. 81.

Illinois.— Northern Trust Co. v. Palmer, 171 Ill. 383, 49 N. E. 553.

Maine.— Fulton v. Nason, 66 Me. 446.

Massachusetts.— Hunt v. Whitney, 4 Mass. 620.

New York.— Holsman v. St. John, 90 N. Y. 461.

Ohio.—Carter v. Jennings, 24 Ohio St. 182.

Case standing under rule of reference.— In Price v. Tyson, 2 Gill & J. (Md.) 475, it was held that it was the duty of the court to continue a case standing under a rule of reference until an award is returned, and the death of both parties while it remains under that rule does not abate the action.

Probate proceedings.— In Lafferty v. Lafferty, 5 Redf. Surr. (N. Y.) 326, it was held that, after the death of all the parties, probate proceedings may be revived by bringing in their successors in interest.

79. California.— Fox v. Hale, etc., Silver Min. Co., 108 Cal. 478, 41 Pac. 328.

New Jersey.—Benson v. Wolverton, 16 N. J. Eq. 110.

New York.—Wood v. Keyes, 6 Paige (N. Y.) 478; Vroom v. Ditmas, 5 Paige (N. Y.) 528; Campbell v. Mesier, 4 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 334, 8 Am. Dec. 570; Reed v. Butler, 11 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 128.

South Carolina.—Hall v. Clifton, 2 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 88.

England.— Davies v. Davies, 9 Ves. Jr. 461.

80. Jennings v. Ashley, 5 Ark. 128; Mannix v. Elder, 1 Ohio Cir. Ct. 59; Griswold v. Hill, 1 Paine (U. S.) 483, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 5,834; Cumber v. Wane, 1 Str. 426.

Death after continuance for advisement.— Where, after a continuance, by order of court, for advisement, the defendant in the action dies, judgment will be entered as of the former term. Perry v. Wilson, 7 Mass. 393; McLean v. State, 8 Heisk. (Tenn.) 22.

Death after expiration of rule to plead.— The death of defendant after the expiration of the rule to plead does not abate the action, as, on the expiration of the rule to plead, plaintiff is entitled to enter up interlocutory judgment. Kincaid v. Blake, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 20.

81. Burhans v. Burhans, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 601; Scranton v. Baxter, 3 Sandf. (N. Y.) 660; Kissam v. Hamilton, 20 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 369.

Reference to compute amount due on mortgage.— The report of a referee appointed to compute the amount due, etc., in a foreclosure suit, is not a report within the meaning of a statute providing that if either party to an action dies [after a report], but before final judgment is entered, the court must enter final judgment, in the name of the original parties. Smith v. Joyce, 14 Daly (N. Y.) 73.

death, that the delay arising from the act of the court may not turn to the prejudice of the party.[82]

b. Statutory Rule. By statute, in many states, a rule similar to the common-law rule obtains, the usual statutory provision being that no action shall abate by the death of a party after a verdict or decision shall have been rendered.[83]

15. Death Pending Motion for New Trial — a. Actions Which Survive. The death of a party pending a motion for a new trial of an action on a cause of action which survives does not bring about an abatement of the action,[84] nor does it affect the power of the court to consider and determine the motion.[85] On the

82. Connecticut.— Brown v. Wheeler, 18 Conn. 199; Collins v. Prentice, 15 Conn. 423.
Illinois.— Bunker v. Green, 48 Ill. 243; Brown v. Parker, 15 Ill. 307.
Indiana.— Hilker v. Kelley, 130 Ind. 356, 30 N. E. 304, 15 L. R. A. 622.
Kentucky.— Gaines v. Conn, 2 Dana (Ky.) 231.
Maine.— Lewis v. Soper, 44 Me. 72; Goddard v. Bolster, 6 Me. 427, 20 Am. Dec. 320.
Massachusetts.— Tapley v. Martin, 116 Mass. 275; Kelley v. Riley, 106 Mass. 339; Springfield v. Worcester, 2 Cush. (Mass.) 52; Currier v. Lowell, 16 Pick. (Mass.) 170.
New Hampshire.— Blaisdell v. Harris, 52 N. H. 191.
New York.— Grant v. Griswold, 21 Hun (N. Y.) 509; Crawford v. Wilson, 4 Barb. (N. Y.) 504; Gilbert v. Corbin, 18 Wend. (N. Y.) 600; Ryghtmyer v. Durham, 12 Wend. (N. Y.) 244; Springsted v. Jayne, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 423; Mackay v. Rhinelander, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 408; Diefendorf v. House, 9 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 243; Ehle v. Moyer, 8 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 245.
North Carolina.— Beard v. Hall, 79 N. C. 506.
Ohio.— Dial v. Holter, 6 Ohio St. 228.
Oregon.— Mitchell v. Schoonover, 16 Oreg. 211, 17 Pac. 867, 8 Am. St. Rep. 282.
Pennsylvania.— Chase v. Hodges, 2 Pa. St. 48; Wood v. Boyle, 17 Pa. Co. Ct. 325; Griffith v. Ogle, 1 Binn. (Pa.) 172.
South Carolina.—Miller v. Jones, 2 Speers (S. C.) 315.
Tennessee.— McLean v. State, 8 Heisk. (Tenn.) 22.
United States.— Hatch v. Eustis, 1 Gall. (U. S.) 160, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,207.
England.— Green v. Cobden, 4 Scott 486; Doe v. Roe, 4 Burr. 1970; Tooker v. Beaufort, 1 Burr. 146; Fewins v. Lethbridge, 4 H. & N. 418; Toulmin v. Anderson, 1 Taunt. 385; Kramer v. Waymark, L. R. 1 Exch. 241.
Canada.— Neil v. McMillan, 27 U. C. Q. B. 257; Davy v. Cameron, 15 U. C. Q. B. 175; Proctor v. Jarvis, 15 U. C. Q. B. 157.
Rule nisi for setting aside verdict.— Where the court made absolute a rule nisi for setting aside a verdict, and directed a nonsuit to be entered pursuant to leave reserved at the trial, and plaintiff died between the term at which the rule nisi was granted and that in which it was made absolute, the court, in order to prevent an abatement of the suit, ordered the judgment of nonsuit to be entered as of the term preceding the death. Moor v. Roberts, 3 C. B. N. S. 830.

83. Illinois.— Murphy v. McGrath, 79 Ill. 594.
Massachusetts.— Holyoke v. Haskins, 9 Pick. (Mass.) 259.
Minnesota.—Cooper v. St. Paul City R. Co., 55 Minn. 134, 56 N. W. 588.
Missouri.— State v. Stratton, 110 Mo. 426, 19 S. W. 803.
New York.— Vitto v. Farley, 6 N. Y. App. Div. 481, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 683; Morris v. Corson, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 281; Lyons v. Third Ave. R. Co., 7 Rob. (N. Y.) 605; Wood v. Phillips, 11 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 1; Adams v. Nellis, 59 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 385.
Virginia.— Hooe v. Pierce, 1 Wash. (Va.) 212.
A statute providing that, "after verdict, report, or decision in an action to recover damages for a personal injury, the action does not abate by the death of a party," refers to a verdict or decision which remains unopened and unimpaired at the time of the death of the judgment creditor, and not to a case where, prior to such death, defendant was allowed to come in and defend, the judgment standing merely as security for any future recovery. Smith v. Lynch, 8 N. Y. St. 341, 342.
Death after nonsuit.— A nonsuit is not a "decision" within the meaning of a statute providing that after decision in an action to recover damages for a personal injury the action does not abate by the death of a party. Consequently an action to recover damages for a personal injury in which the court orders a nonsuit abates by the death of a party. Corbett v. Twenty-third St. R. Co., 114 N. Y. 579, 21 N. E. 1033.

84. Illinois.— Bunker v. Green, 48 Ill. 243.
Kentucky.—Turner v. Booker, 2 Dana (Ky.) 334.
Missouri.— State v. Stratton, 110 Mo. 426, 19 S. W. 803.
New Jersey.— Den v. Tomlin, 18 N. J. L. 14, 35 Am. Dec. 525.
New York.—Spalding v. Congdon, 18 Wend. (N. Y.) 543.
Pennsylvania.— Rothstein v. Brooks, 6 Pa. Co. Ct. 411.
Canada.— Swan v. Clelland, 13 U. C. Q. B. 335.
See also supra, note 59, p. 71.
Exceptions to verdict.— Where defendant dies after taking exceptions to a verdict for plaintiff, the supreme court may pass thereon and, if justice requires, enter judgment nunc pro tunc. Tapley v. Martin, 116 Mass. 275.

85. Turner v. Booker, 2 Dana (Ky.) 334; Sinclair v. Fear, 2 Ohio N. P. 373, 1 Ohio Leg. Dec. 26.

denial or dismissal of the motion judgment may be entered as of a day in which the party was in life.[86]

b. Actions Which Do Not Survive — (I) Recovery by Plaintiff. The death of a party pending a motion for a new trial of an action on a cause of action which does not survive does not abate the action if there has been a recovery by the plaintiff, as by the recovery the cause of action is merged therein.[87]

(II) Recovery by Defendant. But it has been held that the death of a party pending a motion for a new trial after verdict for defendant on a cause of action which does not survive abates the action.[88]

16. Death after Judgment — a. Statement of Rule. Numerous decisions support the doctrine that the death of a party after judgment does not abate the action or open or vacate the judgment; but such judgment survives in favor of or against the representatives of the deceased.[89]

b. Actions Which Do Not Survive. This doctrine has been held to apply even in cases of a recovery on a cause of action which does not survive the death of a party.[90]

86. Connecticut.— Collins v. Prentice, 15 Conn. 423.

Indiana.— Hilker v. Kelley, 130 Ind. 356, 30 N. E. 304, 15 L. R. A. 622.

New Jersey.— Den v. Tomlin, 18 N. J. L. 14, 35 Am. Dec. 525.

New York.—Spalding v. Congdon, 18 Wend. (N. Y.) 543.

Ohio.— Dial v. Holter, 6 Ohio St. 228.

Pennsylvania.— Fitzgerald v. Stewart, 53 Pa. St. 343.

87. Connecticut.— Collins v. Prentice, 15 Conn. 423.

Indiana.— Hilker v. Kelley, 130 Ind. 356, 30 N. E. 304, 15 L. R. A. 622.

New York.—Ex p. Webber, 18 Wend. (N. Y.) 510.

Ohio.— Dial v. Holter, 6 Ohio St. 228.

Pennsylvania.— Fitzgerald v. Stewart, 53 Pa. St. 343.

88. Webbers v. Underhill, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 447; Benjamin v. Smith, 17 Wend. (N. Y.) 208, wherein it was held that where there is a verdict for defendant in an action for a false return, and plaintiff applies for a new trial and, pending the motion, dies, the suit abates and cannot be revived.

89. Indiana.—Kelly v. Kelly, 137 Ind. 690, 37 N. E. 545.

Kentucky.—Turner v. Booker, 2 Dana (Ky.) 334.

Maryland.— Thomas v. Thomas, 57 Md. 504.

Massachusetts.— Wilkins v. Wainwright, 173 Mass. 212, 53 N. E. 397.

Missouri.—Beck v. Dowell, 40 Mo. App. 71; Remmler v. Shenuit, 15 Mo. App. 192.

New York.— Robinson v. Govers, 138 N. Y. 425, 34 N. E. 209; Carr v. Rischer, 119 N. Y. 117, 23 N. E. 296, 28 N. Y. St. 260.

North Carolina.— Farley v. Lea, 20 N. C. 169, 32 Am. Dec. 680.

Pennsylvania.—Gemmill v. Butler, 4 Pa. St. 232; Stroop v. Swarts, 12 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 76.

Rhode Island.— Hambly v. Hayden, 20 R. I. 558, 40 Atl. 417.

Tennessee.—Kimbrough v. Mitchell, 1 Head (Tenn.) 539.

Texas.— Gibbs v. Belcher, 30 Tex. 79.

See also supra, notes 32, p. 65; 73, p. 75.

As to revival of judgment see Judgments.

As to issuance of execution after death of party see Executions.

Death of a party before enrollment of the decree does not prevent the enrollment. Harrison v. Simons, 3 Edw. (N. Y.) 394.

Death after decision rendered.— Where, after decision rendered, but before judgment entered, the defendant dies, the action does not abate. Wilkins v. Wainwright, 173 Mass. 212, 53 N. E. 397; Robinson v. Govers, 138 N. Y. 425, 34 N. E. 209; Fulton v. Fulton, 8 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 210; Hambly v. Hayden, 20 R. I. 558; 40 Atl. 417; Fox v. Hopkinson, 19 R. I. 704, 36 Atl. 824. The proper manner to enter judgment, where the party dies after decision has been rendered and before judgment has been entered, is in the names of the original parties. Long v. Stafford, 103 N. Y. 274, 8 N. E. 522; Tuomy v. Dunn, 77 N. Y. 515; Arents v. Long Island R. Co., 36 N. Y. App. Div. 379, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 401; Wasson v. Hoff, 27 Misc. (N. Y.) 55, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 953.

If a defendant die after an order for judgment, final judgment may be entered at any time within two terms afterward. Lynch v. Inglis, 1 Bay (S. C.) 449; Dubose v. Dubose, Cheves (S. C.) 29.

90. The theory upon which this rule is based is that by judgment the cause of action is merged therein.

Indiana.— Kelly v. Kelly, 137 Ind. 690, 37 N. E. 545.

Missouri.— Beck v. Dowell, 40 Mo. App. 71.

New Hampshire.— Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352.

New York.—Carr v. Rischer, 119 N. Y. 117, 23 N. E. 296; Blake v. Griswold, 104 N. Y. 613, 11 N. E. 137; Stokes v. Stickney, 96 N. Y. 323; Hart v. Washburn, 62 Hun (N. Y.) 543, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 923.

Pennsylvania.— Stroop v. Swarts, 12 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 76.

Tennessee.—Akers v. Akers, 16 Lea (Tenn.) 7, 57 Am. Rep. 207; Kimbrough v. Mitchell, 1 Head (Tenn.) 539.

Texas.— Gibbs v. Belcher, 30 Tex. 79 [overruling Taney v. Edwards, 27 Tex. 224].

17. Death Pending Writ of Review. It has been held that the personal representatives may come in and prosecute a writ of review pending at the death of their decedent, even though the original cause of action does not survive.[91]

18. Death Pending Appeal or Writ of Error — a. Statement of Rule. As a general rule the death of a party pending an appeal or writ of error furnishes no ground for the abatement of the action.[92] In such case it is a common practice for the appellate court to affirm or reverse the judgment nunc pro tunc.[93]

b. Actions Which Do Not Survive — (I) Judgment for Plaintiff. The rule applies in cases where there has been a judgment for plaintiff on a cause of action which does not survive, as by the judgment the cause of action is merged therein.[94]

Virginia.— Harris v. Crenshaw, 3 Rand. (Va.) 14.

In an action for a penalty the death of one of the parties after judgment does not abate the action. Carr v. Rischer, 119 N. Y. 117, 23 N. E. 296, 28 N. Y. St. 260; Stokes v. Stickney, 96 N. Y. 323; Hart v. Washburn, 62 Hun (N. Y.) 543, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 923.

91. Otis v. Bixby, 9 Mass. 520; Monumoi Great Beach v. Rogers, 1 Mass. 159; Knox v. Knox, 12 N. H. 352 [overruling Fernald v. Ladd, 4 N. H. 145]. See also Colman v. Churchill, 2 N. H. 407, wherein it was held that, notwithstanding plaintiff's death immediately after judgment in trover in his favor, defendant could sue out a writ of review against plaintiff's administratrix within a year after such death. But see Thayer v. Dudley, 3 Mass. 296, wherein it was held that, where plaintiff in review dies pending the review, the original action being case for special damage from a common nuisance in which plaintiff in review was defendant, his administrator cannot be made a party to the review.

92. Danforth v. Danforth, 111 Ill. 236. See also supra notes 39, p. 67; 63, p. 73.

As to abatement of appeal or writ of error see Appeal and Error.

Appeal from justice.— A perfected appeal from a justice's judgment devests it of legal effect; and the action, if one whose cause does not survive, will abate on defendant's death before entry of judgment above. Carrollton v. Rhomberg, 78 Mo. 547.

Divorce proceedings.— Where the party seeking a divorce appeals from a judgment, simply denying it, and pending the appeal either party dies, the appeal and the action abate absolutely and cannot be revived, there being no one living who can legally have any interest in the same. Downer v. Howard, 44 Wis. 82. But see, contra, McCollum v. McCollum, 1 Heisk. (Tenn.) 565 note. See also supra III, A, 4, b, (II).

Ejectment against husband and wife.— A judgment in ejectment was rendered against husband and wife; defendants filed a motion in error, and while it was pending the husband died. It was held not to affect the case. Norris v. Sullivan, 47 Conn. 474.

In real actions the death of either party after a writ of error sued out does not abate the suit. Macker v. Thomas, 7 Wheat. (U. S.) 530, 5 L. ed. 515; Green v. Watkins, 6 Wheat. (U. S.) 260, 5 L. ed. 256.

Trial de novo in appellate court.— When a party appeals from the decree of a chancery court to the supreme court, which appeal is never abandoned or dismissed, the cause stands for trial de novo in the supreme court, and if, upon the death of the other party, an abatement takes place, it is an abatement of the suit and not merely of the appeal. Maskall v. Maskall, 3 Sneed (Tenn.) 208.

93. Alabama.— Powe v. McLeod, 76 Ala. 418.

California.— Phelan v. Tyler, 64 Cal. 80, 28 Pac. 114.

Illinois.—O'Sullivan v. People, 144 Ill. 604, 32 N. E. 192, 20 L. R. A. 143; Danforth v. Danforth, 111 Ill. 236.

Indiana.— Jeffries v. Lamb, 73 Ind. 202.

Missouri.—Central Sav. Bank v. Shine, 48 Mo. 456, 8 Am. Rep. 112; Meade v. Meade, 1 Mo. App. 247.

New Jersey.— Hess v. Cole, 23 N. J. L. 116.

North Carolina.— Lea v. Gauze, 26 N. C. 9.

Vermont.— Adams v. Newell, 8 Vt. 190.

United States.— Coughlin v. District of Columbia, 106 U. S. 7, 1 S. Ct. 37, 27 L. ed. 74.

94. Alabama.—Pope v. Welsh, 18 Ala. 631.

Indiana.— Kelly v. Kelly, 137 Ind. 690, 37 N. E. 545.

Missouri.— Lewis v. McDaniel, 82 Mo. 577; Remmler v. Shenuit, 15 Mo. App. 192.

New York.—Carr v. Rischer, 119 N. Y. 117, 23 N. E. 296; Blake v. Griswold, 104 N. Y. 613, 11 N. E. 137; Hart v. Washburn, 62 Hun (N. Y.) 543, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 923; Vitto v. Farley, 3 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 308, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 683.

Tennessee.— Akers v. Akers, 16 Lea (Tenn.) 7, 57 Am. Rep. 207; Kimbrough v. Mitchell, 1 Head (Tenn.) 539.

Texas.— Galveston City R. Co. v. Nolan, 53 Tex. 139; Gibbs v. Belcher, 30 Tex. 79 [overruling Taney v. Edwards, 27 Tex. 224]; Pullman Palace Car Co. v. Fowler, 6 Tex. Civ. App. 755, 27 S. W. 268.

United States.—In re St. Albans First Nat. Bank, 49 Fed. 120.

But see Faith v. Carpenter, 33 Ga. 79, wherein it was held that where a judgment is obtained at common law against a defendant in a suit for slander, from which an appeal is taken, and, pending the appeal, defendant dies, the suit, the judgment, and all its incidents abate. See also Miller v. Umbehower, 10 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 31, wherein it was held that an action of assault and battery abates

(II) Judgment for Defendant. There are cases, however, which hold the rule to be otherwise where a judgment is rendered for defendant on a cause of action which does not survive and a party dies pending the appeal. In such case the cause of action is that on which the suit was originally founded, and does not survive.[95]

19. Death after Reversal on Appeal. The reversal on appeal of a judgment in a cause of action which does not survive restores the demand to its original character, and the subsequent death of a party abates the suit as though no judgment had been obtained.[96]

20. Suggestion of Death — a. Necessity of Suggesting Death. An action does not abate ipso facto by the death of a party. There must be a suggestion of such death to the court to effect an abatement.[97]

by plaintiff's death after an appeal by defendant from an award in favor of plaintiff. And see Harrison v. Moseley, 31 Tex. 608, in which it appeared that appellant, against whom a judgment had been rendered for assault and battery, appealed, and died pending appeal. It was held that the whole proceeding abated.

Appeal from intermediate appellate court. —In an action for personal injuries, the death of plaintiff pending an appeal by him from a reversal, by an intermediate court, of a judgment in his favor, does not abate the suit. Lewis v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 59 Mo. 495, 21 Am. Rep. 385.

Erroneous setting aside of judgment.— A judgment for plaintiff in an action for personal injuries having been erroneously set aside and a subsequent final judgment against him brought up by writ of error, pending which he dies, the judgment in his favor will be affirmed nunc pro tunc to prevent the abatement of the action. Coughlin v. District of Columbia, 106 U. S. 7, 1 S. Ct. 37, 27 L. ed. 74.

95. Davis v. Morgan, 97 Mo. 79, 10 S. W. 881; Woehrlin v. Schaffer, 17 Mo. App. 442; Galveston City R. Co. v. Nolan, 53 Tex. 139; Pullman Palace Car Co. v. Fowler, 6 Tex. Civ. App. 755, 27 S. W. 268. And see Pessini v. Wilkins, 54 N. Y. Super. Ct. 146, wherein it was held that N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 764, providing that, after verdict, report, or decision in an action to recover damages for a personal injury, the action does not abate by the death of a party, but the subsequent proceedings are the same as in a case where the cause of action survives, is not applicable to a case where defendant dies pending an appeal by plaintiff from a judgment of dismissal. Plaintiff must show a verdict or decision in his favor at the time of the death of defendant.

Ejectment.— If, in ejectment, judgment be given for defendant, and plaintiff appeals, pending which defendant dies, plaintiff cannot sue out scire facias against his heirs. Tomkies v. Walters, 6 Call (Va.) 44.

Malicious prosecution.— Where, in an action for malicious prosecution, plaintiff appeals from a judgment in favor of defendant, and after appeal taken defendant dies, the suit will abate. Clark v. Carroll, 59 Md. 180.

Unlawful detainer.— Where defendant in a proceeding of unlawful detainer dies pending an appeal by plaintiff below, the cause cannot be revived. Chapman v. Dunlap, 4 Gratt. (Va.) 86.

96. Georgia.— Thompson v. Central R. Co., 60 Ga. 120.

Indiana.— Stout v. Indianapolis, etc., R. Co., 41 Ind. 149.

New York.— Carr v. Rischer, 119 N. Y. 117, 23 N. E. 296; Kelsey v. Jewett, 34 Hun (N. Y.) 11; Comstock v. Dodge, 43 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 97.

Tennessee.— Hullett v. Baker, 101 Tenn. 689, 49 S. W. 757; Akers v. Akers, 16 Lea (Tenn.) 7, 57 Am. Rep. 207.

Wisconsin.— Randall v. Northwestern Tel. Co., 54 Wis. 140, 11 N. W. 419, 41 Am. Rep. 17.

Action for dower.— If a widow, to whom dower has been assigned in her suit against the alienees of her husband, dies after her decree has been reversed in the supreme court and remanded for further proceedings, and before any further proceedings are had in the circuit court, her administrator cannot prosecute the suit for the recovery of damages and mesne profits. Hitt v. Scammon, 82 Ill. 519.

Reversal by intermediate appellate court. —In an action for personal injuries, the death of plaintiff pending an appeal by him from a reversal, by an intermediate appellate court, of a judgment in his favor, does not abate the suit. Lewis v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 59 Mo. 495, 21 Am. Rep. 385.

97. California.— Judson v. Love, 35 Cal. 463.

Delaware.— Smith v. Simmons, 1 Pennew. (Del.) 249, 40 Atl. 59; Johnson v. State, 2 Houst. (Del.) 378.

Kentucky.— Crook v. Turpin, 10 B. Mon. (Ky.) 243.

Maryland.—Appold v. Prospect Bldg. Assoc., 37 Md. 457; Hall v. Hall, 1 Bland (Md.) 130.

Mississippi.— Young v. Pickens, 45 Miss. 553.

Missouri.—Sargeant v. Rowsey, 89 Mo. 617, 1 S. W. 823.

New Jersey.— Hendrickson v. Herbert, 38 N. J. L. 296.

North Carolina.— Moore v. North Carolina R. Co., 74 N. C. 528; Baggarly v. Calvert, 70 N. C. 688; Burke v. Stokely, 65 N. C. 569.

Tennessee.— Hargis v. Ayres, 8 Yerg. (Tenn.) 467.

Texas.— Hanley v. Lemmon, 28 Tex. 155.

b. Manner of Suggesting Death — (I) Plea in Abatement. To avail of the fact of the death of a party such death must, in some states, be pleaded in abatement.[98]

(II) Asking Instruction of Court. In other states advantage may be taken of the death of a party by asking the instruction of the court without pleading such death in abatement.[99]

(III) Filing Suggestion with Clerk. In others it will be sufficient if a suggestion of the death in writing is filed with the clerk.[1]

c. Time of Suggesting Death. A suggestion of the death of a party should be made in apt time after the occurrence of the death, to be available as a ground of abatement, otherwise it will be deemed waived.[2]

d. By Whom Suggestion May Be Made. A suggestion of the death of a party may be made by either party.[3]

e. Proof of Suggestion of Death. The truth of the suggestion of the death of a party may be put in issue,[4] and if put in issue must be proved.[5]

United States.—Nevitt v. Clarke, Olc. Adm. 316, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,138.

England.— Pinkus v. Sturch, 5 C. B. 474.

But see Logan v. State, 39 Md. 177, and State v. Dorsey, 3 Gill & J. (Md.) 75, wherein it was held that, where a suit is brought on a bond for the use of an individual, the individual for whose use it is entered is not the legal plaintiff, and that upon his death pending the suit there is no necessity of suggesting his death.

As to necessity of suggesting death to permit revival see infra, III, B, 9, a, (II).

98. Life Assoc. of America v. Fassett, 102 Ill. 315; Stoetzell v. Fullerton, 44 Ill. 108; Camden v. Robertson, 3 Ill. 507; McPherson v. Wood, 52 Ill. App. 170; Spalding v. Wathen, 7 Bush (Ky.) 659.

Plea puis darrein continuance.— The death of a party suggested on the record at one term cannot be pleaded in abatement at a subsequent term by plea puis darrein continuance. Gaines v. Conn, 2 Dana (Ky.) 231.

99. Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. Ritchie, 31 Md. 191.

1. Smith v. Simmons, 1 Pennew. (Del.) 249, 40 Atl. 59.

2. Roberts v. Marsen, 23 Hun (N. Y.) 486 (wherein it was held that, after the administrator of the sole defendant in a replevin suit has been substituted by an order entered upon the written stipulation of the parties, and has appeared and proceeded with the trial, it is too late for plaintiff to insist that the action abated by the death); McAdams v. Stilwell, 13 Pa. St. 90 (wherein it was held that the death of a defendant while a suit is pending cannot be taken advantage of if not suggested until after judgment on the verdict); Dana v. Lull, 21 Vt. 383 (wherein it was held that if plaintiff in a suit, the cause of action in which does not survive, dies while the suit is pending in the county court, and his administrator enters and prosecutes the suit, and trials are had in the county court, and the case is carried to the supreme court on exceptions, and no motion to dismiss the suit is filed in the county court, such motion, filed for the first time in the supreme court, will be out of time). But see Judson v. Love, 35 Cal. 463, and May v. North Carolina State Bank, 2 Rob. (Va.) 56, 40 Am. Dec. 726,— wherein it was held that a suggestion of the death of a party to a pending action may be made at any stage of the proceedings. See also Bremer v. Porch, 17 N. J. L. 377.

After return-term.— In Hargis v. Ayres, 8 Yerg. (Tenn.) 467, it was held that a plea in abatement of the death of a party cannot be filed after the return-term of the writ without leave of court.

Suit in equity.— Defendant may raise the objection at the hearing that the suit has abated as to some of the parties whose rights should be before the court to enable it to make a proper decree. And if it appears that the suit is not properly revived, or that complainant had no right to revive, he cannot have a decree. Douglass v. Sherman, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 358.

3. Stoetzell v. Fullerton, 44 Ill. 108; May v. North Carolina State Bank, 2 Rob. (Va.) 56, 40 Am. Dec. 726.

Suggestion by plaintiff.— In Burke v. Stokely, 65 N. C. 569, it was held that plaintiff should make the suggestion of the death of one of the defendants.

Suggestion by personal representative.— The administrator of a deceased plaintiff may move the court to dismiss the action on the ground that the cause thereof does not by law survive. Nettleton v. Dinehart, 5 Cush. (Mass.) 543. So the motion of one not a party to the record, except as represented by an administratrix whose authority he denies, to dismiss a suit instituted by a deceased claimant, will be allowed. Cosgrove v. U. S., 33 Ct. Cl. 167.

4. Johnson v. State, 2 Houst. (Del.) 378; Armstrong v. Nixon, 16 Tex. 610.

5. Johnson v. State, 2 Houst. (Del.) 378.

Necessity of admission or proof of suggestion.—In Settle v. Settle, 10 Humphr. (Tenn.) 474, and Young v. Officer, 7 Yerg. (Tenn.) 137, it was held that a suggestion of the death of a party cannot be noticed unless it be admitted or proved. But see Stebbins v. Duncan, 108 U. S. 32, 2 S. Ct. 313, 27 L. ed. 641, wherein it was held that the suggestion of the death of a plaintiff in the record, and an order to make his devisees parties, are prima facie evidence of his death for the pur-

21. Necessity of Order of Abatement. To give effect to the abatement of a suit by the death of a party, it must be declared by act of the court, for though the cause is abated de facto, yet the abatement must be judicially pronounced; and the rule applies to all cases, whether before or after a decision upon the merits, whether the cause of action does or does not survive to the representatives of the deceased party, or whether the death be that of a sole plaintiff or defendant or of one of several joint plaintiffs or defendants.[6]

B. Revival or Continuance of Action — 1. Nature of Right to Revive. The right to revive an action at law, where the cause of action survives, is not dependent upon the discretion of the court, but is a matter of right, if sought under the conditions and within the time limited by the statute or the practice of the particular state.[7] And the same is true of the right to bring a bill of revivor in equity.[8] It has also been held that the fact that the proceedings in an action poses of the trial. And see Thompson v. Real Estate Bank, 5 Ark. 59, wherein it was held that where no exception is taken it is not error to discontinue a cause as to one defendant on suggestion of his death, though the death of the defendant was not proved. See also Gillespie v. Bailey, 12 W. Va. 70, 29 Am. Rep. 445, wherein it was held that the court may render a decree without regard to defendant's suggestion of plaintiff's death, if the same appears not to have been based on actual knowledge thereof.

Sufficiency of admission.—Where defendant pleads the death of the nominal plaintiff, and that plea is stricken out after a demurrer filed thereto on the motion of the use plaintiff, it cannot be considered and taken as a suggestion of the nominal plaintiff's death which is admitted, so as to abate the suit. Hargis v. Ayres, 8 Yerg. (Tenn.) 467.

Use of affidavits.—In North Carolina, upon the suggestion of the death of a party, which is denied, the court will decide the question on affidavits. Lee v. Gause, 25 N. C. 585.

6. May v. North Carolina State Bank, 2 Rob. (Va.) 56, 40 Am. Dec. 726. But see Sprawles v. Barnes, 1 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 629, wherein it was held that on the death of one of two partners, plaintiffs in an action, the survivor, on suggesting the death, may proceed to judgment without any formal judgment in abatement of the suit as to the deceased being entered. And see Brunson v. Henry, 140 Ind. 455, 39 N. E. 256, wherein it was held that the failure of the clerk to enter a formal minute of the action of the court in striking from a complaint the names of some of the plaintiffs who were dead, and whose names were inserted by mistake as joint heirs with other plaintiffs, does not affect meritorious claims of the survivors.

Suit in equity.— The death of a party to a suit in chancery does not abate it until an order of the court is entered abating it. Crook v. Turpin, 10 B. Mon. (Ky.) 243.

The entry of an order abating an action is nothing more than evidence of the fact that the action has abated, and is not the abatement thereof. The abatement takes place by the death of a party, and not by virtue of the record which evidences such death. Meese v. Fond du Lac, 48 Wis. 323, 4 N. W. 406.

Time of entry of order.— In Kentucky the practice is not to have an order of abatement entered on the death of a party, but to let the case remain on the docket for revivor within a reasonable time; and if no steps are taken to revive within such time it is stricken from the docket. Hull v. Deatly, 7 Bush (Ky.) 687. In Tennessee, by statute, a suit does not abate until the second term after the death has been suggested and proven or admitted, and entry to that effect made of record. Brooks v. Jones, 5 Lea (Tenn.) 244.

7. Gillette v. Morrison, 7 Nebr. 263; O'Sullivan v. New York El. R. Co., 25 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 163, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 16; Dalton v. Sandland, 4 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 73; Roach v. La Farge, 43 Barb. (N. Y.) 616; Bornsdorff v. Lord, 41 Barb. (N. Y.) 211; Garvey v. Owens, 9 N. Y. St. 227; Carter v. Jennings, 24 Ohio St. 182; Arthur v. Allen, 22 S. C. 432; Parnell v. Maner, 16 S. C. 348. Contra, Beach v. Reynolds, 53 N. Y. 1. See also Mayer v. Bruns, 15 Misc. (N. Y.) 695, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 1021, wherein it was held that N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 757, providing that, in case of the death of a sole defendant, if the cause of action survives or continues, the court must, on motion, allow the action to be continued against his representatives, does not require the court to allow substitution of defendant's administrator where the complaint shows on its face that the action was not begun within the statutory period, and the answer pleads the statute.

Failure to pay costs of prior order.— The fact that the original plaintiff had failed to pay the costs of a prior order is no objection to a motion to revive. Matter of Clute, 50 Hun (N. Y.) 604, 16 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 123, 2 N. Y. Suppl. 874.

8. Crook v. Turpin, 10 B. Mon. (Ky.) 243; Lyle v. Bradford, 7 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 111; Reid v. Stuart, 20 W. Va. 382; Clarke v. Mathewson, 12 Pet. (U. S.) 164, 9 L. ed. 1041; Fitzpatrick v. Domingo, 14 Fed. 216.

Security for costs.— In an equitable action the court has power to require plaintiff to give security for costs as a condition to making an order reviving the action against an executrix of a deceased defendant. Collins v. Jewell, 23 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 153, 3 Misc. (N. Y.) 341, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 716. Compare Van Loan v. Squires, 51 Hun (N. Y.) 360, 4 N. Y.

at the time of the death of one of the parties do not disclose facts showing that the action survives does not defeat the right to continue it in favor of or against the representative of deceased if the cause of action in fact survives.[9]

2. Pendency of Suit as Determining Right of Revival. There is much diversity of opinion as to when a suit is deemed pending so as to permit of revival on the death of a party. In some states it is held that a suit is so pending from the time of the suing out of the writ,[10] or of filing the complaint or bill.[11] In other states a suit is not considered as pending until after service of the writ [12] or of the summons.[13] Again, it has been held that where a party dies after service of process, but before the action is entered in court, the action is not pending within the Suppl. 371; Knoch v. Funke, 28 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 240, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 242.

9. Plumer v. McDonald Lumber Co., 74 Wis. 137, 42 N. W. 250.

Justices of the peace.—In Nebraska the provisions of the code for the revival of actions have been held to apply to actions before justices of the peace. Hunter v. Leahy, 18 Nebr. 80, 24 N. W. 680; Miller v. Curry, 17 Nebr. 321, 22 N. W. 559.

Rights pending proceedings to revive.—Where a suit abates by the death of complainant, those who succeed to his rights may apply to the court to punish a breach of an injunction which has taken place, either before or after his death, as soon as they have taken the preliminary steps to revive the suit, either by filing a bill of revivor or otherwise. And it is not necessary for them to wait until a decree of revivor is actually obtained. Hawley v. Bennett, 4 Paige (N. Y.) 163.

10. Lyle v. Bradford, 7 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 111; Hubbard v. Johnson, 77 Me. 139; Heard v. March, 12 Cush. (Mass.) 580.

"After issue joined."—In N. J. Rev. Stat. p. 953, § 3, providing that if any plaintiff die after issue joined the action shall not abate, the words "after issue joined" mean after the end of the pleadings in the case, and not the joining of issue on any one plea. Dickerson v. Stoll, 24 N. J. L. 550.

Impetration of writ.—The death of one of the parties named as defendant in a writ before the impetration of it is ground of abatement. McLaughlin v. De Young, 3 Gill & J. (Md.) 4.

Settlement pending action.—While an action of foreclosure by the receiver of a corporation was pending, the land was discharged from the mortgage, by arrangement between the parties, on payment of the fund into the receiver's hands. It was held that the action was not discontinued, and might be revived, on the death of the receiver, by his successor. Palmer v. Murray, 18 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 545.

11. Rheubottom v. Sadler, 19 Ark. 496; Stevenson v. Kurtz, 98 Mich. 493, 57 N. W. 580; Gordon v. Tyler, 53 Mich. 629, 19 N. W. 560, 20 N. W. 70; Lavell v. Frost, 16 Mont. 93, 40 Pac. 146; In re Connaway, 178 U. S. 421, 20 S. Ct. 951, 44 L. ed. 1134. See also Thacher v. Bancroft, 15 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 243, wherein it was held that, in an action which by law survives, the court has power to continue an attachment against defendant's representatives after defendant's death, though no summons was served.

Suits in equity.—There are cases which hold that until defendant in a suit in equity has been served with process and appeared there is no cause in court against him, and therefore, if he dies before service of process and appearance, the suit cannot be continued against his representatives, and that in such case an original bill is necessary. U. S. v. Fields, 4 Blatch. (U. S.) 326, 25 Fed. Cas. No. 15,089; Bland v. Davison, 21 Beav. 312; Foster v. Foster, 16 Sim. 637; Hardy v. Hull, 14 Sim. 21; Crowfoot v. Mander, 9 Sim. 396; Oxburgh v. Fingham, 1 Vern. 308; Stewart v. Nicholls, Tamlyn 307; Watson v. Ham, 1 Ch. Chamb. (U. C.) 398.

12. Clark v. Helms, 1 Root (Conn.) 486; Buswell v. Babbitt, 65 N. H. 168, 18 Atl. 748; Clindenin v. Allen, 4 N. H. 385.

13. White v. Johnson, 27 Oreg. 282, 40 Pac. 511, 50 Am. St. Rep. 726. See also Maxwell v. Lea, 6 Heisk. (Tenn.) 247, wherein it was held that where a summons issued is not served before the term to which it was made returnable, and no alias is issued during the term, the action is discontinued. And see Green v. McMurtry, 20 Kan. 189, wherein it appeared that an attachment was issued before and served after the death of plaintiff, and his administrator filed, as such, a new petition, on which was indorsed a waiver of service of summons by defendant's attorney. It was held that this was no authority for a revivor, and that the attachment was irregular and could be set aside on notice and motion.

Service by publication.—In Auerbach v. Maynard, 26 Minn. 421, 4 N. W. 816, it was held that where a defendant dies after publication of summons has been commenced against him, but before the expiration of the time during which the publication is required to be made, the court acquires no jurisdiction, and the action cannot be revived as to such defendant. See also Reilly v. Hart, 130 N. Y. 625, 29 N. E. 1099, 27 Am. St. Rep. 540, wherein it was held that where service of summons is commenced by publication, and before the expiration of the time of publication plaintiff dies, the continuance of the publication without regard to his death does not complete the service so as to authorize a revival of the action by plaintiff's personal representative. But see Moore v. Thayer, 6 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 47, wherein it was held that under N. Y. Code, § 139, providing that, from the time of an allowance of a provisional remedy in a civil action, the court shall be deemed to have acquired jurismeaning of a statute authorizing a revival of a pending action by or against personal representatives.[14]

3. Presentation of Claim to Personal Representative. It has been held that the usual statutory requirement that unless a claim has been exhibited to an executor or administrator, and has been disallowed, he shall not be liable at the suit of a creditor, does not apply to proceedings to revive an action against the personal representative of a deceased party.[15]

4. Necessity of Revival — a. Statement of Rule. It is a general rule that where the death of a party takes place during the pendency of an action, though the cause of action continues in favor of or against some one else, nothing further can be done in the action until the person in whose favor or against whom the cause of action survives is brought before the court by some proper proceeding.[16] And it has been held that even an admission or agreement by the surviving parties to a suit, that the interest of a deceased party has been extinguished or satisfied, will not dispense with the necessity of bringing his representatives before the court.[17] diction, where, in an action in which an attachment had been obtained and an order made for service of summons by publication, defendant died before the period of publication had expired, the court had jurisdiction to substitute defendant's representatives. Compare Barron v. South Brooklyn Saw Mill Co., 18 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 352.

14. Hyde v. Leavitt, 2 Tyler (Vt.) 170.

15. Musser v. Chase, 29 Ohio St. 577; Strong v. Eldridge, 8 Wash. 595, 36 Pac. 696.

16. Alabama.— Wells v. American Mortg. Co., 109 Ala. 430, 20 So. 136; Frowner v. Johnson, 20 Ala. 477; Koger v. Weakly, 2 Port. (Ala.) 516; Kennedy v. Pickering, Minor (Ala.) 137.

California.— Judson v. Love, 35 Cal. 463; Ewald v. Corbett, 32 Cal. 493.

District of Columbia.— Corbett v. Pond, 10 App. Cas. (D. C.) 17.

Georgia.— Glisson v. Carter, 28 Ga. 516.

Illinois.— Life Assoc. of America v. Fassett, 102 Ill. 315; Bunker v. Green, 48 Ill. 243; Barbour v. White, 37 Ill. 164; Thorpe v. Starr, 17 Ill. 199; Singleton v. Wofford, 4 Ill. 576; King v. Mitchell, 83 Ill. App. 632.

Indiana.— Binkley v. Forkner, (Ind. 1888) 15 N. E. 343.

Kentucky.— Rains v. Lee, (Ky. 1896), 36 S. W. 176; Smith v. Ferguson, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 424; Grider v. Payne, 9 Dana (Ky.) 188; Morgan v. Dickerson, 1 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 20; Morton v. Long, 3 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 414.

Louisiana.— Norton v. Jamison, 23 La. Ann. 102; Woodman v. Richardson, 15 La. Ann. 508; Hiriat v. Hildreth, 8 La. Ann. 54; McMicken v. Smith, 5 Mart. N. S. (La.) 427.

Maine.— Trask v. Trask, 78 Me. 103, 3 Atl. 37.

Maryland.— Glenn v. Clapp, 11 Gill & J. (Md.) 1; Tilly v. Tilly, 2 Bland (Md.) 436.

Massachusetts.— Smith v. Sherman, 4 Cush. (Mass.) 408.

Michigan.— Botsford v. Sweet, 49 Mich. 120, 13 N. W. 385.

Missouri.— Gamble v. Daugherty, 71 Mo. 599; Murphy v. Redmond, 46 Mo. 317; Harkness v. Austin, 36 Mo. 47.

Nebraska.— Hendrix v. Rieman, 6 Nebr. 516.

New Hampshire.— Miles v. Miles, 32 N. H. 147, 64 Am. Dec. 362; Parker v. Badger, 26 N. H. 466; Ela v. Rand, 4 N. H. 54.

New York.— Reilly v. Hart, 130 N. Y. 625, 29 N. E. 1099, 27 Am. St. Rep. 540; Lyon v. Park, 111 N. Y. 350, 18 N. E. 863; Hasbrouck v. Bunce, 62 N. Y. 475; Arents v. Long Island R. Co., 36 N. Y. App. Div. 379, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 401; Gueli v. Lenihan, 55 Hun (N. Y.) 608, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 453; Anderson v. Anderson, 20 Wend (N. Y.) 585; Secor v. Clark, 54 N. Y. Super. Ct. 461; Jarvis v. Felch, 14 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 46; Reed v. Butler, 11 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 128; Holmes v. Honie, 8 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 383.

North Carolina.— Aycock v. Harrison, 71 N. C. 432; Simmons v. Ratcliff, 5 N. C. 113; Stephenson v. Prescott, 3 N. C. 350.

Ohio.— Mannix v. Elder, 1 Ohio Cir. Ct. 59.

Pennsylvania.— Finney v. Ferguson, 3 Watts & S. (Pa.) 413.

South Carolina.— Parnell v. Maner, 16 S. C. 348.

Tennessee.— Wheatley v. Harvey, 1 Swan (Tenn.) 484; Morrison v. Deaderick, 10 Humphr. (Tenn.) 342; Perkins v. Norvell, 6 Humphr. (Tenn.) 151; Green v. Shaver, 3 Humphr. (Tenn.) 139; Breedlove v. Stump, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 257.

Texas.— Clayton v. Preston, 54 Tex. 418; McCampbell v. Henderson, 50 Tex. 601; Hollingsworth v. Bagley, 35 Tex. 345.

Vermont.— Dow v. Batchelder, 45 Vt. 60.

Virginia.— Paxton v. Stuart, 80 Va. 873.

West Virginia.— Nichols v. Nichols, 8 W. Va. 174.

Wisconsin.— La Pointe v. O'Malley, 47 Wis. 332, 2 N. W. 632.

United States.— Maury v. Fitzwater, 88 Fed. 768; Wright v. Phipps, 58 Fed. 552; Baldwin v. Lamar, Chase (U. S.) 432, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 800.

England.— Smith v. Horsfall, 24 Beav. 331.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 364 et seq.

17. Glenn v. Clapp, 11 Gill & J. (Md.) 1. But see Boog v. Bayley, R. M. Charlt. (Ga.) 190, wherein it was held that the necessity of filing a bill of revivor to make the representative of a deceased complainant a party

b. Suits in Equity. In equity a suit is abated by the death of a party during its pendency. Such abatement, however, merely suspends the progress of the suit until new parties are brought before the court. The abatement is either as to the suit or as to the party. If there is no longer any person before the court by or against whom the suit can proceed, it must be revived before any further proceedings can be had.[18] But if, on the death of a party, the cause of action survives to or against some other of the parties so that a perfect decree can be made between the surviving parties, the suit does not abate as to the survivors and may proceed without a revival.[19]

c. Counterclaim. On the death of a defendant who has filed a counterclaim it is necessary that his representatives, if they wish to prosecute the counterclaim against plaintiff in the original action, should obtain an order of revivor against him.[20]

d. Effect on Judgment of Want of Revival. It has been held that where one of the defendants in an action on a joint contract dies before judgment, and the judgment is taken against all the defendants without any suggestion of his death or making his representatives parties, such judgment is not void, but merely voidable.[21]

5. Revival by Consent. In some states a suit may be revived by consent on to the suit may be waived by agreement between such representative and defendant, and under such circumstances a replication may be dispensed with. See also Spalding v. Wathen, 7 Bush (Ky.) 659.

18. Alabama.— Floyd v. Ritter, 65 Ala. 501; Frowner v. Johnson, 20 Ala. 477; Eldridge v. Turner, 11 Ala. 1049; Koger v. Weakly, 2 Port. (Ala.) 516.

Florida.— Mitchell v. Wamble, 18 Fla. 169.

Georgia.— Grace v. Rowell, 30 Ga. 764; Schley v. Dixon, 24 Ga. 273, 71 Am. Dec. 121; Berry v. Mathewes, 7 Ga. 457; Howard v. Darien Bank, R. M. Charlt. (Ga.) 216.

Kentucky.— Ullery v. Blackwell, 3 Dana (Ky.) 300; Morgan v. Dickerson, 1 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 20.

Maryland.— Glenn v. Clapp, 11 Gill & J. (Md.) 1; Brogden v. Walker, 2 Harr. & J. (Md.) 285; Austin v. Cochran, 3 Bland (Md.) 337.

Nebraska.— Fox v. Abbott, 12 Nebr. 328, 11 N. W. 303.

New Hampshire.— Miles v. Miles, 32 N. H. 147, 64 Am. Dec. 362.

New York.— Livermore v. Bainbridge, 49 N. Y. 125; Taylor v. Taylor, 43 N. Y. 578; Requa v. Holmes, 16 N. Y. 193; Penniman v. Norton, 1 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 246; Quackenbush v. Leonard, 9 Paige (N. Y.) 334; Reynolds v. Reynolds, 5 Paige (N. Y.) 161; Fayerweather v. Smith, 3 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 98.

Ohio.— Carter v. Jennings, 24 Ohio St. 182.

Tennessee.— Rogers v. Breen, 9 Heisk. (Tenn.) 679; Kelly v. Hooper, 3 Yerg. (Tenn.) 395.

Virginia.— Ayres v. Alphin, 88 Va. 416, 13 S. E. 899; Sexton v. Crockett, 23 Gratt. (Va.) 857; Reid v. Strider, 7 Gratt. (Va.) 76, 54 Am. Dec. 120.

West Virginia.— Bock v. Bock, 24 W. Va. 586.

United States.— Mandeville v. Riggs, 2 Pet. (U. S.) 482, 7 L. ed. 493; Wright v. Phipps, 58 Fed. 552.

England.— Boddy v. Kent, 1 Meriv. 361; Williams v. Kinder, 4 Ves. Jr. 387.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 365, and supra, I, C.

19. Illinois.— Stoetzell v. Fullerton, 44 Ill. 108.

Maine.— Adams v. Stevens, 49 Me. 362.

Nebraska.— Fox v. Abbott, 12 Nebr. 328, 11 N. W. 303.

New York.— Leggett v. Dubois, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 211; Lachaise v. Libby, 13 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 6.

United States.— Fisher v. Rutherford, Baldw. (U. S.) 188, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,823.

England.— Williamson v. Llanelly R., etc., Co., L. R. 10 Eq. 401; Finch v. Winchelsea, 1 Eq. Cas. Abr. 2, par. 7.

Revival against heirs.— Where one of the defendants in an equity suit dies while the suit is pending, and his heirs cannot be prejudiced by the proceedings, they need not be made parties. Adams v. Stevens, 49 Me. 362.

20. Andrew v. Aitken, 21 Ch. D. 175.

21. Swasey v. Antram, 24 Ohio St. 87. See also Smith v. Joyce, 11 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 257, 259, which was an action to foreclose a mortgage. All the defendants except certain infants defaulted, and they interposed the usual general answer by guardian ad litem. The plaintiff died after the report of the referee appointed "to compute the amount due to the plaintiff for the principal and interest upon the bond and mortgage set forth in the plaintiff's complaint, and also to take [all the] facts and circumstances stated in the plaintiff's complaint, and to examine the plaintiff or his agent on oath as to any payment which may have been made." It was held that there should have been a revival of the action before entry of judgment on the report, but that judgment entered in the absence of such revival was simply irregular and not void.

the death of a party.[22] But in such states the agreement to revive must be entered of record.[23]

6. REVIVAL AS TO PARTS OF CAUSES. An action may be revived as to causes of action which survive, even though some of the causes of action declared on do not survive.[24]

7. WHO MAY REVIVE OR CONTINUE — a. In General — (1) SUCCESSORS IN INTEREST. On the death of plaintiff a suit should be revived in the name of the person succeeding to his interest.[25]

22. Williams v. Thompson, 80 Ky. 325; Pugh v. Bell, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 399; Durrett v. Simpson, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 517; Greenlee v. Bailey, 9 Leigh (Va.) 526.

Notice of revival.— In Pugh v. Bell, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 399, it was held that where a revivor is made by consent the decree rendered is not irregular where no service of notice upon those against whom it was revived is shown.

Status of cause on revival by consent.— Upon the death of a defendant in detinue, if his administrator consents that the cause shall stand revived against him, such consent places the cause in the same situation that it would be in after the service of a scire facias against the administrator alleging that the property had come to his possession and was detained by him. Greenlee v. Bailey, 9 Leigh (Va.) 526.

Waiver of objections.—In Tompkins v. Vintroux, 3 W. Va. 148, 100 Am. Dec. 735, it was held that trespass quare clausum fregit cannot be revived in the name of the personal representative of one of the joint plaintiffs who dies pending the action and before verdict; but that such revival, if by consent in the name of the sole devisee of the decedent, is not a ground for reversal.

23. Williams v. Thompson, 80 Ky. 325.

24. Booth v. Northrop, 27 Conn. 325. See also Andrews v. Scotton, 2 Bland (Md.) 629, wherein it was held that a suit which, by the death of a party, has abated as well to real as to personal estate, may be revived as against either, leaving the abatement to stand as to either. And see Cregin v. Brooklyn Crosstown R. Co., 83 N. Y. 595, 38 Am. Rep. 474, wherein it was held that where a right of action for damages which can survive involves (mingled with but separable from it) damages of such a character as die with the party, the revival of the action does not permit the recovery of the latter class of damages.

Determination of costs.— Where, upon the abatement of a suit by the death of complainant, the cause of action does not survive, the suit cannot be revived to settle a question of costs. Johnson v. Thomas, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 377.

Striking out cause which does not survive. — Where two causes of action are joined in one complaint, only one of which survives the death of defendant, the court has power to order, as a condition of granting an order to revive, that the cause of action which does not survive shall be stricken from the complaint. Forster v. Cantoni, 4 N. Y. Annot. Cas. 375, 19 N. Y. App. Div. 306, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 118.

25. Arkansas.— Driver v. Hays, 51 Ark. 82, 9 S. W. 853; Grace v. Neel, 41 Ark. 165; Martin v. Tyree, 41 Ark. 314.

California.— Blakeslee v. Hall, 94 Cal. 159, 29 Pac. 623.

Illinois.— Funk v. Stubblefield, 62 Ill. 405.

Kentucky.— Russell v. Craig, 3 Bibb (Ky.) 377.

Louisiana.— Bourguinon v. Boudousquie, 3 La. 526.

Maryland.— Hawkins v. Chapman, 36 Md. 83.

Minnesota.— Landis v. Olds, 9 Minn. 90.

Mississippi.— Hamilton v. Homer, 46 Miss. 378.

Missouri.— Brewington v. Stephens, 31 Mo. 38.

Nebraska.— Morrow v. Jones, 41 Nebr. 867, 60 N. W. 369.

New York.— Northrup v. Smith, 58 N. Y. Super. Ct. 120, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 802; St. John v. Croel, 10 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 253.

West Virginia.— Gainer v. Gainer, 30 W. Va. 390, 4 S. E. 424; Reid v. Stuart, 20 W. Va. 382.

United States.— Barribeau v. Brant, 17 How. (U. S.) 43, 15 L. ed. 34.

Grantee of heir.— Where, in an action of partition, a sole plaintiff dies intestate, the action may be revived by the grantee of his heir at law as being the successor in interest of the intestate. Cheney v. Rankin, 27 Misc. (N. Y.) 609, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 263.

Heirs of devisee.—A husband and daughter of a devisee who dies after commencing an action to set aside for fraud a judgment refusing to admit the will to probate have such an interest, as the heirs of such plaintiff, as make them proper parties plaintiff after her death. Burnett v. Milnes, 148 Ind. 230, 46 N. E. 464.

Overseers of poor on death of pauper.— In Pennsylvania the overseers of the poor have a right to be substituted as plaintiffs for one who, after bringing an action of ejectment, became and died a pauper. Jester v. Jefferson Tp., 11 Pa. St. 540.

Where inability to obtain administration exists.—In some states actions which should be revived in the name of the personal representatives of a deceased plaintiff may be revived by his heirs if no one can be found who will administer upon the estate. Campbell v. Hubbard, 11 Lea (Tenn.) 6; Edgington v. Jamison, 2 Lea (Tenn.) 569; Brown v. Rocco, 9 Heisk. (Tenn.) 187; Boyd v. Titzer, 6 Coldw. (Tenn.) 568; Bandy v. Walker, 3 Head (Tenn.) 568. But in Texas the heir cannot sue as such without alleging that there is no administration pending and that there is no necessity for an administration

(II) Assignee— (A) Assignment Before Death of Plaintiff. Where plaintiff assigns his interest in the subject-matter of an action during its pendency, and then dies, the action, if the cause thereof survives, may be revived in the name of the assignee.[26] But in such case notice of motion for substitution should be given both to defendant and the representatives of decedent.[27]

(B) Assignment After Death of Plaintiff. It has been held, however, that one to whom a cause of action has been assigned by the personal representative of a plaintiff who died pending the suit cannot revive the same.[28]

(III) Defendant or His Representatives— (A) Death Before Decree. It is a general rule that where a suit abates by the death of a party before a decree or decretal order is made by which defendant becomes entitled to an interest in the further continuance of the suit, neither he nor his representatives can have it revived.[29]

(B) Death After Decree—(1) In General. The rule is otherwise after a decree or decretal order.[30] on the estate of the deceased. Low v. Felton, 84 Tex. 378, 19 S. W. 693; Gayle v. Hoffman, 29 Tex. 1; Grayson v. Winnie, 13 Tex. 288; Houston, etc., R. Co. v. Rogers, 15 Tex. Civ. App. 680, 39 S. W. 1112; Galveston, etc., R. Co. v. Kelley, (Tex. Civ. App. 1894) 26 S. W. 470.

26. Reynolds v. Quaely, 18 Kan. 361; Schell v. Devlin, 82 N. Y. 333; Moore v. North Carolina R. Co., 74 N. C. 528. Compare Barribeau v. Brant, 17 How. (U. S.) 43, 15 L. ed. 34.

Option of court.— In Sheldon v. Havens, 7 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 268, it was held that in case of a transfer of plaintiff's interest in the subject of the action it is optional with the court, on plaintiff's death, whether or not to allow the assignee to be substituted and the action continued in his name; and, on the application, defendant should be heard and his interests taken into account.

27. Abadie v. Lobero, 36 Cal. 390; McLaughlin v. New York, 8 Daly (N. Y.) 474; Howard v. McKenzie, 54 Tex. 171; Smith v. Harrington, 3 Wyo. 503, 27 Pac. 803. But see Bennett v. Thompson, 76 Hun (N. Y.) 125, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 565, wherein it was held that where plaintiff assigns his cause of action and afterward dies, the assignee may be substituted as plaintiff without notice to the personal representative of decedent.

28. Rogers v. Adriance, 22 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 97. But see Dock v. South Brooklyn Saw Mill Co., 6 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 144, which was an action to foreclose a mortgage. Plaintiff died before the cause was tried, and thereafter one A moved to be substituted as plaintiff on proof that plaintiff died testate; that his will was probated in a foreign state; that the executrix, who was sole legatee under the will, had qualified and had assigned the mortgage to A. It was held that the motion should be granted. See also Robinson v. Brisbane, 7 Hun (N. Y.) 180, wherein it appeared that after judgment of foreclosure and before sale the plaintiff died and his executor assigned the judgment. It was held that the assignee was properly allowed to file a supplemental complaint to carry the judgment into effect.

29. The reason for the rule is that no one can be compelled to commence, renew, or revive a suit against another. Griffith v. Bronaugh, 1 Bland (Md.) 547; Benson v. Wolverton, 16 N. J. Eq. 110; Peer v. Cookerow, 13 N. J. Eq. 136; Livermore v. Bainbridge, 49 N. Y. 125; Republic v. Reeves, 40 N. Y. Super. Ct. 316; Keene v. La Farge, 1 Bosw. (N. Y.) 671; Souillard v. Dias, 9 Paige (N. Y.) 393; McDermott v. McGown, 4 Edw. (N. Y.) 592; Kissam v. Hamilton, 20 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 369; Hooe v. Pierce, 1 Wash. (Va.) 212.

30. The reason is that the rights of the parties are then ascertained. In such case plaintiff and defendant are equally entitled to the benefit of the decree, and either has a right to revive it.

Maryland.— Ridgely v. Bond, 18 Md. 433; Glenn v. Clapp, 11 Gill & J. (Md.) 1.

New Jersey.— Benson v. Wolverton, 16 N. J. Eq. 110; Peer v. Cookerow, 13 N. J. Eq. 136.

New York.— Halstead v. Cockcroft, 40 N. Y. Super. Ct. 519; Anderson v. White, 10 Paige (N. Y.) 575; Souillard v. Dias, 9 Paige (N. Y.) 393; Rogers v. Paterson, 4 Paige (N. Y.) 409; Pell v. Elliot, Hopk. (N. Y.) 86.

Tennessee.— Thompson v. Hill, 5 Yerg. (Tenn.) 418.

West Virginia.— Reid v. Stuart, 20 W. Va. 382.

England.— Horwood v. Schmedes, 12 Ves. Jr. 311; Williams v. Cooke, 10 Ves. Jr. 406; Gordon v. Bertram, 1 Meriv. 154.

See also Quackenbush v. Leonard, 10 Paige (N. Y.) 131, wherein it was held that where the situation of a suit is such that defendant as well as complainant has the right to have it revived, the court will direct that if complainant does not procure it to be revived within a specified time defendant shall be at liberty to file a bill of revivor.

To permit appeal.— Where there is a decree against a defendant, and the suit then abates by the death of the adverse party, defendant cannot appeal from such decree until the suit is revived. Such defendant has therefore a right to revive the suit in case the adverse party neglects to revive for the purpose of enabling him to appeal if he has no other remedy, and an appeal will lie. Anderson v. White, 10 Paige (N. Y.) 575.

(2) Decree to Account. After a decree to account, defendant or his representative has an interest in the further continuance of the suit, and may accordingly revive the suit in case of its abatement by the death of a party.[31]

(c) Filing of Counterclaim. Where a defendant has become an actor in the proceedings by the presentation of a counterclaim, he or his representatives may revive the suit on the death of a party.[32]

(d) Compelling Revival or Suffering Dismissal. In many states the rule obtains that on the failure of plaintiff or his representatives to institute proceedings for the revival or continuance of an action on the death of a party, defendant or his representatives may compel the institution of such proceedings or else have the action abated or dismissed.[33]

(iv) Special Administrator. It has been held that where a plaintiff dies pending suit the court before which the cause is pending may appoint a special administrator to conduct the suit.[34]

(v) Where Defendant Is Personal Representative of Plaintiff. On the death of plaintiff pending suit and the qualification of defendant as the 31. Griffith v. Bronaugh, 1 Bland (Md.) 547; Halstead v. Cockcroft, 40 N. Y. Super. Ct. 519; Horwood v. Schmedes, 12 Ves. Jr. 311; Stowell v. Cole, 2 Vern. 219; Devaynes v. Morris, 1 Myl. & C. 213; Anonymous, 3 Atk. 691.

32. Livermore v. Bainbridge, 49 N. Y. 125; Pierson v. Morgan, 44 Hun (N. Y.) 517.

Cross-bill.— In Woolsey v. Livingston, 5 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 265, a cross-bill filed by defendant in a suit to foreclose, in which he prayed relief against the mortgage and also against a judgment and execution, was held to be in the nature of an original bill, and on the abatement of the suit by the death of defendant his representatives were permitted to revive the suit.

33. Georgia.— Anderson v. Cary, 89 Ga. 258, 15 S. E. 309.

Kentucky.—Hull v. Deatly, 7 Bush (Ky.) 687.

Mississippi.— Germania F. Ins. Co. v. Francis, 52 Miss. 457, 24 Am. Rep. 674.

New York.— Holsman v. St. John, 90 N. Y. 461; Livermore v. Bainbridge, 49 N. Y. 125; Johnson v. Elwood, 15 Hun (N. Y.) 14; Banta v. Marcellus, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 373; Williamson v. Moore, 5 Sandf. (N. Y.) 647; Harrington v. Becker, 2 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 75; Pells v. Coon, Hopk. (N. Y.) 450; Pell v. Elliot, Hopk. (N. Y.) 86; Jarvis v. Felch, 14 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 46; Crawford v. Whitehead, Code Rep. N. S. (N. Y.) 345; Keene v. La Farge, 16 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 377; Chapman v. Foster, 15 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 241.

North Carolina.— Coggins v. Flythe, 114 N. C. 274, 19 S. E. 701.

South Carolina.— Parnell v. Maner, 16 S. C. 348.

Texas.— McCampbell v. Henderson, 50 Tex. 601; Beck v. Avondino, 20 Tex. Civ. App. 330, 50 S. W. 207; Tucker v. Bryan, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 1157.

West Virginia.— Gainer v. Gainer, 30 W. Va. 390, 4 S. E. 424.

Wisconsin.— Plumer v. McDonald Lumber Co., 74 Wis. 137, 42 N. W. 250.

England.— Pearce v. Wrigton, 24 Beav. 253; Chichester v. Hunter, 3 Beav. 491; Hogan v. Morgan, 2 Molloy 417; Norton v. White, 2 De G. M. & G. 678; Adamson v. Hall, Turn. & R. 258.

Canada.— Watson v. Watson, 6 Ont. Pr. 229.

See also Whitehear v. Hughes, 1 Dick. 283, wherein it was held that if a plaintiff files a bill to revive, and neglects to do so, defendant may be allowed to revive and carry on the decree under plaintiff's bill. And see Hutchings v. Eddy, 6 Kan. App. 490, 50 Pac. 944, wherein it was held that where a case is commenced against the receivers of a railroad, and afterward the receivers die, and a receiver de bonis non is appointed as their executor, and no attempt is made to substitute or revive the action in the name of the receiver de bonis non for more than a year after his appointment, a motion to abate the action for the reason that it has not been revived will be sustained. And see New Hampshire Banking Co. v. Ball, 57 Kan. 812, 48 Pac. 137, wherein it was held that if by lapse of time the action cannot be revived, it abates, and any rights that have been acquired by virtue of the pendency of the suit will be lost to the plaintiff. But see Treadway v. Pharis, (Ky. 1892) 18 S. W. 225, wherein it was held that, in proceedings by administrators to have their decedent subrogated to the rights of certain judgment creditors, a motion to strike the action in which the judgment was rendered from the docket because no revivor has been had within a year from the qualification of the administrator, or from the time the action could have been revived, will be denied where all the parties to such action are still living.

Waiver of right to dismissal.—In McKey v. Torry, 28 Miss. 78, it was held that failure to make a motion to have a discontinuance of the cause entered because two terms of the court had elapsed, after a party's death was suggested, before the administrator became a party to the suit, and proceeding to trial on the merits, waives the right to have the case dismissed.

34. Mangum v. Cooper, 28 Ark. 253. See also Masterson v. Brown, 51 Iowa 442, 1 N. W. 791, wherein it was held that a special administrator of a deceased plaintiff in an action for personal injuries may be substituted to prosecute the action.

executor of his estate, the action may be revived and continued by the co-executor.[35]

b. In Actions Affecting Personalty. If a suit is in respect of the personalty of a deceased plaintiff, and the cause of action survives, the personal representatives of deceased are the proper persons to revive or continue.[36]

c. In Actions Affecting Realty — (I) Damages to Land. If plaintiff die pending a suit for the recovery of damages done to his land the suit may be revived by his personal representatives.[37]

(II) Ejectment. An action of ejectment, or the statutory real action in the nature of ejectment, for the recovery of a freehold, should be revived on the death of plaintiff in the name of his heirs or devisees.[38] It has, however, been

35. McGregor v. McGregor, 35 N. Y. 218. See also Smith v. Pattison, 45 Miss. 619, wherein it was held that where one of several defendants in a chancery suit becomes administrator of complainant on his death pending suit, and voluntarily suggests the death of complainant, the case may be revived in his name as administrator.

36. Alabama.— Thompson v. Lee, 31 Ala. 292.

Arkansas.— Grace v. Neel, 41 Ark. 165; Martin v. Tyree, 41 Ark. 314; Noland v. Leech, 10 Ark. 504.

Illinois.— McLean County Coal Co. v. Long, 91 Ill. 617.

Kansas.— Rexroad v. Johnson, 4 Kan. App. 333, 45 Pac. 1008.

Kentucky.— Hull v. Deatly, 7 Bush (Ky.) 687; Russell v. Craig, 3 Bibb (Ky.) 377; Meek v. Ealy, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 329.

Maryland.— Hawkins v. Chapman, 36 Md. 83.

Missouri.— Brewington v. Stephens, 31 Mo. 38.

New York.— Emerson v. Bleakley, 2 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 22.

Ohio.—Welton v. Williams, 28 Ohio St. 472.

United States.— Mellus v. Thompson, 1 Cliff. (U. S.) 125, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,405.

A lease for a term of years, being a mere chattel interest, goes to the administrator upon the death of the intestate and not to the heirs, and therefore a suit respecting it is properly revived in the name of the administrator. Sutter v. Lackmann, 39 Mo. 91.

Money demand.— On the death of plaintiff pending an action by him for a mere money demand, the action should be revived by the administrator and not by the heir. Martin v. Tyree, 41 Ark. 314.

Replevin.— Where plaintiff in an action of replevin dies intestate, the administrator of his estate is the person in whose name the action must be revived. Rexroad v. Johnson, 4 Kan. App. 333, 45 Pac. 1008.

Waiver of objection.—Where plaintiff in an action to have a deed of trust given him declared a prior lien died pending suit, there should have been a revival in the name of his administrator. But where the amended petition sets out the death of the original plaintiff and alleges that plaintiffs therein are his only heirs at law, and no objection is made by demurrer on the ground of defect of parties plaintiff, the defect is thereby waived. Rogers v. Tucker, 94 Mo. 346, 7 S. W. 414.

37. Seymour v. Cummins, 119 Ind. 148, 21 N. E. 549; Conklin v. Keokuk, 73 Iowa 343, 35 N. W. 444; Clark v. Hannibal, etc., R. Co., 36 Mo. 202; Upper Appomattox Co. v. Hardings, 11 Gratt. (Va.) 1.

Interference with easement.—In Matthews v. Delaware, etc., Canal Co., 20 Hun (N. Y.) 427, it was held that an action to recover for interference with an easement may be revived and continued by the personal representatives of the deceased plaintiff.

Trespass quare clausum fregit.—The action of trespass quare clausum fregit is purely a personal action sounding wholly in damages, and, if permitted to survive the person damaged, survives to his executor or administrator. It cannot be revived by the heir or devisee of the person injured. Dobbs v. Gullidge, 20 N. C. 68; McPherson v. Sequine, 14 N. C. 153.

Proceedings under mill act.— In Massachusetts, on the death of complainant pending proceedings under the mill act, the administrator of his estate may be admitted to prosecute the complaint and recover such damages as he might have recovered. Darling v. Blackstone Mfg. Co., 16 Gray (Mass.) 187.

38. Alabama.— Rowland v. Ladiga, 21 Ala. 9; Jordan v. Abercrombie, 15 Ala. 580.

Florida.— Gould v. Carr, 33 Fla. 523, 15 So. 259, 24 L. R. A. 130. Compare Whitlock v. Willard, 18 Fla. 156.

Illinois.— Milliken v. Marlin, 66 Ill. 13; Funk v. Stubblefield, 62 Ill. 405.

Maryland.— James v. Boyd, 1 Harr. & G. (Md.) 1.

Michigan.— Cook v. Bertram, 86 Mich. 356, 49 N. W. 42.

New York.—More v. Deyoe, 22 Hun (N. Y.) 208.

Pennsylvania.— Ballantine v. Negley, 158 Pa. St. 475, 27 Atl. 1051.

As to survival of action of ejectment on the death of the plaintiff see supra, III, A, 3, g, (II).

Infant heir.—The lessor of plaintiff in ejectment died pending the action, and his heirs at law were made parties in his place without objection. It was held that it was not competent for defendant to defeat the action by giving evidence that one of the heirs was an infant when she was made a party, and that evidence that she was an infant at the time of the trial would not entitle defendant to a verdict against the other heirs who were of full age. James v. Boyd, 1 Harr. & G. (Md.) 1.

held that where damages are sought for the mesne profits as well as the lands, the personal representatives, as well as the heirs or devisees, are necessary parties in order to revive the suit.[39]

(III) Enforcement of Vendor's Lien. It has been held that on the death of complainant in a bill to enforce a vendor's lien on land his personal representatives are the proper persons to revive, and not the heirs.[40]

(IV) Redemption from Mortgage. On the death of the mortgagor an action to redeem from the mortgage may be maintained by the person who succeeded, by the mortgagor's death, to his interest in the mortgaged premises.[41]

(V) Recovery of Realty. If a suit is for the recovery of the realty of a deceased plaintiff, the heirs or devisees of deceased are the proper persons to revive or continue,[42] unless the will creates in the executor a title to the land

Person "next in interest."— If a tenant in tail institutes ejectment for land and dies pending the suit, the child and next heir in tail is such "person next in interest" as may be substituted as party plaintiff. Schoemaker v. Huffnagle, 4 Watts & S. (Pa.) 437.

Purchaser at execution sale.— In Hamilton v. Homer, 46 Miss. 378, it was held that the purchaser at execution sale of the title of plaintiff in a pending action of ejectment, who has died, is not the "legal representative" of plaintiff within the meaning of Miss. Code, art. 25, which provides that in such actions the legal representative of the deceased plaintiff may be substituted, and the action proceed.

Revival by all of heirs.—Where a sole plaintiff in an action of ejectment dies it is not necessary that the suit be revived in the names of all his heirs at law, and it is not error to allow the suit to be revived and prosecuted by a part of his heirs. Funk v. Stubblefield, 62 Ill. 405.

Substitution of personal representative.— In Cook v. Bertram, 86 Mich. 356, 49 N. W. 42, it was held that the substitution of an administrator to prosecute in ejectment on the death of plaintiff was not prejudicial error. See also Williams v. Savannah, etc., R. Co., 94 Ga. 540, 20 S. E. 487, wherein it was held that though the personal representatives of a plaintiff in ejectment who dies pending the suit, and not his heirs, are the proper persons to succeed him in the suit where the heirs have been made parties by order of court, they may recover if the personal representatives could had they been made parties.

Successors to title.— In James v. Bennett, 10 Wend. (N. Y.) 540, it was held that parties succeeding to the title of a plaintiff in ejectment dying after issue joined and before verdict may be substituted.

39. Evans v. Welch, 63 Ala. 250; Ex p. Swan, 23 Ala. 192; State ex rel. Nabor, 7 Ala. 459. See also Roberts v. Nelson, 86 Mo. 21, wherein it was held that where the widow dies pending an action of ejectment by her for the recovery of possession of the mansion-house and messuages, the suit may be revived in the name of her administrator, and recovery be had for rents and profits, by way of damages, to the time of her death. But see Means v. Associate Reformed Presb. Church, 3 Pa. St. 93, wherein it was held that on the death of plaintiff in ejectment after recovery, an action for the recovery of mesne profits which accrued during the pendency of the action of ejectment should be brought in the name of the heirs.

40. Batre v. Auze, 5 Ala. 173; Meek v. Ealy, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 329.

41. Morrow v. Jones, 41 Nebr. 867, 60 N. W. 369.

Revival by heirs.—In Putnam v. Putnam, 4 Pick. (Mass.) 139, it was held that where a bill in equity to redeem mortgaged premises is abated by the death of complainant, his heirs may revive the suit. See also Sutherland v. Rose, 47 Barb. (N. Y.) 144, wherein it was held that on the death of a mortgagor in an action by him for the cancellation and satisfaction of the mortgage, the heirs, and not the personal representatives, are the proper parties to continue the action, as the heirs alone have an interest in the satisfaction of the mortgage and in the right to redeem.

Recovery of surplus on sale.— In Cope v. Wheeler, 41 N. Y 303, it was held that an action brought by a mortgagor against a mortgagee to recover a surplus arising after foreclosure and sale does not abate by the death of plaintiff, but may be continued in the name of his administrator.

Foreclosure of mortgage.— In Tennessee, where a mortgagee files his bill to foreclose the mortgage and dies, his heir, or the assignee of the heir, may maintain a bill of revivor to revive the suit without joining the personal representative of the mortgagee. Atchison v. Surguine, 1 Yerg. (Tenn.) 400.

42. Kentucky.— Kincart v. Sanders, 2 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 26; Jameson v. Smith, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 307; Russell v. Craig, 3 Bibb (Ky.) 377.

Maryland.— Hawkins v. Chapman, 36 Md. 83.

Missouri.— Brewington v. Stephens, 31 Mo. 38.

Nebraska.— Rakes v. Brown, 34 Nebr. 304, 51 N. W. 848.

New Jersey.— Lanning v. Cole, 6 N. J. Eq. 102.

Wisconsin.— Jones v. Graham, 80 Wis. 6, 49 N. W. 122.

United States.— Mellus v. Thompson, 1 Cliff. (U. S.) 125, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,405.

Joinder of widow.— On the death of plaintiff in an action to recover real property it is not necessary that the widow should join in the petition of the heir for leave to continue which authorizes him to prosecute the suit. It seems that it is only in such case that he will be permitted to revive.[43]

(VI) Partition. On the death of plaintiff pending a suit for partition the personal representatives cannot revive,[44] except so far as the suit is for the recovery of the rents and profits.[45]

(VII) Rescission of Contract for Sale of Land. If complainant dies in a suit for the rescission of a contract for the sale of lands the suit should be revived in the name of the heirs and not of the personal representatives.[46]

(VIII) Specific Performance of Contract for Sale of Land. Where a suit for the specific performance of a contract to convey land abates by the death of plaintiff, his heirs at law may revive the suit.[47]

d. In Actions Affecting Both Realty and Personalty. If a suit is in respect of both the personalty and the realty of a deceased plaintiff it should be revived in the names of both the heirs and the personal representatives.[48]

e. On Death of Nominal Plaintiff. On the death of the nominal plaintiff after the name of the beneficial plaintiff has been stricken from the declaration, the suit is properly continued by the substitution of the nominal plaintiff's personal representatives.[49]

f. On Death of One or More of Several Plaintiffs — (I) In General. If there be two or more plaintiffs and one or more of them die, and the entire cause the suit or be made party to the subsequent proceeding until her dower is assigned. Ash v. Cook, 3 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 389.

Writ of right.— In Taylor v. Rightmire, 8 Leigh (Va.) 468, it was held that a writ of right should be revived in the names of the devisees on the death of demandant pending the action.

43. Webb v. Janney, 9 App. Cas. (D. C.) 41.

44. Greeley v. Hendricks, 23 Fla. 366, 2 So. 620; Whitlock v. Willard, 18 Fla. 156; Richards v. Richards, 136 Mass. 126.

As to survival of suits for partition see supra, III, A, 4, l.

Infant devisee.— Where a bill for partition is filed and complainant subsequently dies, and his devisee thereupon files a bill to revive and continue the proceedings in the original suit, it is no objection to this last bill that the devisee is an infant and therefore incapable of commencing an original suit for the partition of lands. McCosker v. Brady, 1 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 329.

45. Hoffman v. Tredwell, 6 Paige (N. Y.) 308. See also Ruffners v. Lewis, 7 Leigh (Va.) 720, 30 Am. Dec. 513, in which it appeared that after a decree ascertaining the rights of plaintiffs in respect to certain land, and after partition made and a conveyance directed to A of the moiety sued for, A died. It was held that as the suit was then proceeded in for the lands and profits only to which the executors of A were entitled it was proper to revive it in their names, and not in the names of the heirs of A.

46. Webb v. Janney, 9 App. Cas. (D. C.) 41; Huston v. Noble, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 130; Kincart v. Sanders, 2 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 26. See also Scott v. Scott, 3 B. Mon. (Ky.) 2, wherein it was held that where a father conveyed land to his son on condition that he should maintain his parents during their life, and the father afterward brought an action to cancel the deed, on his death the bill should be revived in the name of his widow and heirs. But see Roberts v. Hoskins, (Ky. 1887) 4 S. W. 35, which was an action to enforce notes given for the purchase-money of land. The vendee, who had only a title-bond, set up a defect in the title and by cross-petition claimed a rescission of the purchase and a cancellation of the notes, but died before the trial. It was held that the action should have been revived, not only in the name of his administrator, but also in those of his heirs.

47. Quackenbush v. Leonard, 9 Paige (N. Y.) 334. See also Nevill v. Rentzell, 39 Ark. 289, wherein it was held that to a suit for the specific performance of the covenants of a title-bond the heirs of the obligee are, after his death pending the suit, necessary parties plaintiff.

Contract to make lease.— In Reynolds v. Stark County, 5 Ohio 204, it was held that where a plaintiff brought a bill to enforce specific performance of a contract to make a lease, and died during the pendency of the suit, his administrators should be made parties to a bill of revivor.

48. Smith v. Mosby, 3 Bibb (Ky.) 283; Owing's Case, 1 Bland (Md.) 370, 17 Am. Dec. 311; Lanning v. Cole, 6 N. J. Eq. 102.

Land and rents.—Upon the death of a plaintiff in a suit in equity for lands and rents, the suit should be revived in the name of his heirs and also of his administrator in consideration of the latter's right to possession for the payment of debts. Grace v. Neel, 41 Ark. 165.

49. Katz v. Moessinger, 110 Ill. 372. See also Phillips v. Wilson, 25 Ill. App. 427, wherein it was held that a suit commenced by an assignor for the use of the assignee may be continued on the death of the assignor in the name of his legal representatives.

As to survival of action see supra, III, A, 9.

of action survives to the survivor or survivors, the action may proceed in the name of the survivor or survivors without a revival as to the deceased plaintiff or plaintiffs.[50] And in such case it has been held to be improper to join the representatives of deceased as co-plaintiffs with the survivor or survivors.[51] Where, however, the cause of action survives to the representatives of deceased, the action may be continued in the name of the survivors and the representatives of deceased.[52]

(II) Suit by Partnership. In a suit by partners in favor of the partnership and relating to partnership affairs, if one or more of the partners die it is unnecessary to revive the suit in the name of the personal representatives of the deceased partner or partners.[53]

g. On Death of Person Suing in Representative Capacity — (I) In General. An action prosecuted by a person in a representative capacity should be revived, on the death of such person pending the action, in the name of his successor in such capacity.[54]

(II) Suit by Guardian. Where a bond or note given to one as guardian is sued on in his name, and he dies, the suit should be revived in the name of his administrator and not in that of the minor or guardian subsequently appointed.[55]

(III) Suit by Next Friend. Where, in a suit by infants by their next

50. See cases cited supra, note 54, p. 70.

As to survival on death of one or more plaintiffs see supra, III, A, 5.

51. Rupert v. Elston, 35 Ala. 79; Gregg v. Bethea, 6 Port. (Ala.) 9; Gayle v. Agee, 4 Port. (Ala.) 507; Bebee v. Miller, Minor (Ala.) 364; Bostwick v. Williams, 40 Ill. 113; Hairston v. Woods, 9 Leigh (Va.) 308.

52. Watson v. White, 152 Ill. 364, 38 N. E. 902 (wherein it was held that where, pending a suit for specific performance, the complainant dies testate, and it appears that the firm of which he was a member had a beneficial interest in the contract, it was proper, on revival of the suit, to join his executors, devisees, and surviving partner as parties complainant); Wilson v. Paxton, 2 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 193 (wherein it was held that where one of the joint obligees of a bond died during the pendency of the suit, the survivors should not proceed to a decree without reviving the suit in the name of the heirs of the deceased complainant); Cope v. Wheeler, 41 N. Y. 303 (which was a joint action by mortgagors to recover for surplus money arising upon a foreclosure. It was held that on the death of one of the plaintiffs the action was properly continued in the name of the surviving plaintiff and the representative of the deceased plaintiff). And see Powell v. Glenn, 21 Ala. 458, wherein it was held that where one of several co-plaintiffs in an action of trover dies pending the suit, and his personal representative is not made a party, the objection can only avail to reduce the amount of the recovery.

53. See cases cited supra, note 59, p. 71.

As to survival of suit see supra, III, A, 5, c.

54. See cases cited supra, note 68, p. 74.

Action by assignee for benefit of creditors. — An executor of an assignee for the benefit of creditors is not entitled to be substituted as plaintiff in an action brought by the decedent as such assignee unless such executor has been substituted as assignee. Steinhouser v. Mason, 135 N. Y. 635, 32 N. E. 69.

Action by officer. — Where a suit by or against an officer in his official capacity is abated by his death, his successor and not his administrator should be substituted. Edrington v. Mathews, 30 Ark. 665.

Action by sheriff. — In New York it has been held that where a sheriff dies pending an action prosecuted in his name it is not proper to substitute his personal representatives or the claimant for whose benefit the action is brought, but the successor in office of the sheriff should be substituted. Orser v. Glenville Woolen Co., 60 Barb. (N. Y.) 371, 11 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 85. But in Virginia it has been held that where a suit in equity is brought by a high sheriff against his deputy for a settlement of accounts in several administrations which had been committed to him, and which had gone into the hands of his deputy, on the death of the sheriff the suit was properly revived in the name of his personal representative and not in the names of the representatives of the different estates administered. Tyler v. Nelson, 14 Gratt. (Va.) 214.

Action by deputy sheriff. — In Tucker v. Potter, (R. I. 1900) 45 Atl. 741, it was held that a statute providing that no action pending by or against any officer shall abate by reason of his death, but his successor in office shall come in and defend, does not preclude the personal representative of a deputy sheriff from being substituted as plaintiff in an action commenced by such officer before his death upon a delivery bond running to him, since a deputy sheriff has no successor in office.

Action by tax-collector. — In Vermont, where a tax-collector dies pending a suit commenced by him for the collection of taxes, his administrator may be substituted as plaintiff and prosecute the suit to judgment. Smith v. Blair, 67 Vt. 658, 32 Atl. 504.

55. Godbold v. Meggison, 16 Ala. 140.

friend, the next friend dies, the court may continue the suit by appointing a guardian ad litem.[56]

(IV) Suit by Personal Representative. Where an executor or administrator brings an action and dies pending it, the administrator de bonis non of the original testator should continue the suit.[57]

(V) Suit by Trustee. Where the statute does not otherwise provide, a cause of action affecting a trust estate pending at the death of the trustee in his own name should be revived and prosecuted in the name of his executor or administrator.[58]

h. On Death of Unnecessary Party. On the death, pending suit, of an unnecessary or formal party the suit may proceed without making the representatives of such party parties to the suit.[59]

8. Against Whom Suits May Be Revived or Continued — a. In General — (I) Successors in Interest. A suit should be revived on the death of defendant in the name of his successor in interest.[60]

56. Long v. Behan, 19 Tex. Civ. App. 325, 48 S. W. 555.

As to survival of suit see supra, III, A, 7.

Attainment of majority.—In Tucker v. Wilson, 68 Miss. 693, 9 So. 898, it was held that where minors who have sued by their next friend attain their majority, after the death of the next friend all that is necessary is for complainants to appear as adults and prosecute the suit; but a bill of revivor, though unnecessary, is a proper mode of giving notice to the court and adverse parties.

A prochein ami may sign judgment for a deceased infant plaintiff without the administrator intervening. Kramer v. Waymark, 12 Jur. N. S. 395.

Proceedings in revivor are not necessary in substituting a new next friend for one who had previously acted in behalf of an infant. Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. Moffatt, 60 Kan. 113, 55 Pac. 837, 72 Am. St. Rep. 343.

57. See cases cited supra, note 70, p. 74.

"Executor or administrator" as descriptio personæ.— Where a plaintiff styles himself executor or administrator and declares on a note payable to himself in that capacity, but the declaration does not aver that the note is assets of the estate, the words "executor or administrator" are a mere descriptio personæ, and on the death of plaintiff the suit is properly revived in the name of his personal representative. Arrington v. Hair, 19 Ala. 243. So, upon the death of a plaintiff who has described himself in the caption of his declaration as administrator in right of his wife, but has declared on a right of action accruing to him individually, the suit should be revived in the name of his personal representative. Tate v. Shackelford, 24 Ala. 510, 60 Am. Dec. 488.

Foreign administrator.— On the death of a foreign administrator pending a suit on a judgment obtained by him in the state in which he was appointed, the suit may be revived in the name of his administrator. Tittman v. Thornton, 107 Mo. 500, 17 S. W. 979, 16 L. R. A. 410.

Note given to administrator.—Where a note given to one as administrator, for a debt due the estate, is sued by the administrator in his representative capacity, and the administrator dies before the suit is determined, revivor may be had either by his own administrator or by an administrator de bonis non of the original intestate; recovery in either case to be subject to all proper accounts between the two estates. Wood v. Tomlin, 92 Tenn. 514, 22 S. W. 206.

Revival of decree.— In Owen v. Curzon, 2 Vern. 237, it was held that where an administrator obtains a decree and dies the administrator de bonis non may revive the decree. See also Crane v. Crane, 51 Ark. 287, 11 S. W. 1, wherein it was held that where an administrator obtains a judgment and, after the estate has been fully settled and the debts paid, dies pending scire facias sued out by him on the judgment, the proceedings therein may be revived in the names of the distributees.

58. See cases cited supra, note 71, p. 74.

"Trustee" as descriptio personæ.— Where, in the original action, the designation "trustee" was appended to the plaintiff's name as a mere descriptio personæ, it is not necessary to continue the action on the death of the plaintiff in the name of his successor as "trustee." People v. Donohue, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 36.

59. Dennis v. Green, 8 Ga. 197; Hancock v. Hancock, 22 N. Y. 568 (wherein it was held that as a prior mortgagee is not a necessary party to a foreclosure suit, if he dies, or his interest devolves on another pending the action, the proceedings may go on without reviving or continuing them against his successor); Lemon v. Smith, 20 N. Y. App. Div. 523, 47 N. Y. Suppl. 158 (wherein it was held that where a defendant without whose presence the issues between plaintiffs and other defendants can be determined and a proper judgment be rendered dies before the referee to whom the controversy has been referred has delivered his report, the survivors may proceed without bringing in as a party the successor to the rights and liabilities of the deceased party).

60. Alabama.— Batre v. Auze, 5 Ala. 173.

Arkansas.—Greer v. Ferguson, 56 Ark. 324, 19 S. W. 966; Price v. Sanders, 39 Ark. 306; Dixon v. Thatcher, 8 Ark. 134.

Iowa.— Parshall v. Moody, 24 Iowa 314.

(II) Executor De Son Tort. It has been held that an action may be revived against an executor de son tort as well as against a rightful executor or administrator.[61]

(III) Foreign Executor or Administrator. In the absence of a permissive statute[62] an action cannot be revived against an executor or administrator appointed in another state.[63]

(IV) Where Plaintiff Is Personal Representative of Defendant. It has been held that the fact that a plaintiff in a suit is appointed administrator of a deceased defendant does not affect the revival of the suit by the substitution of such administrator in the stead of defendant.[64]

Kentucky.— De Wolf v. Mallet, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 401; Shields v. Craig, 6 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 373; Archer v. Robinet, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 70.

Maryland.— Glenn v. Hebb, 17 Md. 260.

Missouri.—Brewington v. Stephens, 31 Mo. 38.

New York.—Coit v. Campbell, 82 N. Y. 509; Benedict v. Cobb, 17 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 245, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 916; Green v. Martine, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 129; Weyh v. Boylan, 62 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 397; Gordon v. Sterling, 13 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 405; Putnam v. Van Buren, 7 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 31.

North Carolina.— Fellow v. Fulgham, 7 N. C. 254.

Guardian of minor heirs.— On a bill to be relieved from a judgment for breach of contract by specific execution the defendant, after duly answering, died. His death was duly suggested and it was shown that his heirs were all minors. A guardian ad litem was appointed for the minor heirs, and he appeared and accepted the appointment. It was held that the action was then properly revived against them. Morrow v. Mason, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 326.

Proceedings to restrain liquor nuisance.— In an action to set aside a decree granted to restrain a liquor nuisance it appeared that defendant in the action, plaintiff in the injunction suit, died pending an appeal. It was held that either the state or any citizen qualified to commence the original action might be substituted as defendant in his stead. Geyer v. Douglass, 85 Iowa 93, 52 N. W. 111.

Revival against all representatives.—A failure to make one of several executors of a deceased defendant a party on the revival of a suit will not avail as error where it appears that such executor died before any objection was made to the fact that he was not made a party. Sherrod v. Hampton, 25 Ala. 652.

Where no administration has been obtained, generally.— In some states actions which should be revived against the personal representatives of a deceased defendant may be revived against his heirs if no personal representative qualifies. Hagan v. Patterson, 10 Bush (Ky.) 441; Preston v. Golde, 12 Lea (Tenn.) 267; Bandy v. Walker, 3 Head (Tenn.) 568; Smith v. Stump, Peck (Tenn.) 278. But see Anderson v. McRoberts, 1 Tenn. Ch. 279, wherein it was held that the personal representative of a decedent cannot come into a case by petition to set aside or review proceedings had prior to his appointment by revivor against the heirs of decedent.

Compliance with statute.—The heirs can be proceeded against alone only by strict compliance with the statute. There must be a suggestion of record that no one can be procured to administer, and a motion for a scire facias to revive against the heirs on this ground. Preston v. Golde, 12 Lea (Tenn.) 267; Britton v. Thompson, 6 Yerg. (Tenn.) 325.

In Texas, where, after the death of defendant in a pending action, there is no administration on his estate, and especially if, from lapse of time, administration cannot be granted, the action may be revived against the heirs in possession of the property. Low v. Felton, 84 Tex. 378, 19 S. W. 693; Webster v. Willis, 56 Tex. 468; McCampbell v. Henderson, 50 Tex. 601; Hearne v. Erhard, 33 Tex. 60; Thomas v. Jones, 10 Tex. 52; Tucker v. Bryan, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 1157.

61. Norfolk v. Gantt, 2 Harr. & J. (Md.) 435, wherein it was held that on defendant's death pending an action of debt an executor de son tort may be summoned in, there being no legal executor or administrator; Cobb v. Lanier, 4 Hayw. (Tenn.) 296; Keena v. O'Hara, 16 U. C. C. P. 435. Contra, Irwin v. Sterling, 27 Ga. 563.

62. In Brown v. Brown, 35 Minn. 191, 192, 28 N. W. 238, it was held that under Minn. Gen. Stat. (1878), c. 53, § 16, providing that in actions pending against a deceased person at the time of his death, if the cause of action survives, "the executor or administrator may be admitted to defend the same," a foreign administrator may be admitted to defend an action pending against his intestate at the time of the latter's decease.

63. Alabama.— Branch Bank v. McDonald, 22 Ala. 474.

Arkansas.—Greer v. Ferguson, 56 Ark. 324, 19 S. W. 966.

Illinois.— Judy v. Kelley, 11 Ill. 211, 50 Am. Dec. 455.

Missouri.— Rentschler v. Jamison, 6 Mo. App. 135.

New York.— Lyon v. Park, 111 N. Y. 350, 18 N. E. 863.

United States.— Vaughan v. Northup, 15 Pet. (U. S.) 1, 10 L. ed. 639; Mellus v. Thompson, 1 Cliff. (U. S.) 125, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,405.

64. Rice v. Hodge, 26 Kan. 164. See also Hill v. Clay, 26 Tex. 650, wherein it appeared that an agent sold property of his principal,

b. In Suits Affecting Personalty. If defendant in a suit in respect of personalty dies, the suit should be revived in the name of his personal representatives.[65]

c. In Suits Affecting Realty — (I) Affecting Title to Realty. On the death of defendant pending a suit involving the title to land, the suit should be continued in the name of his heirs or devisees.[66]

(II) Damages to Land. Where defendant in an action for injury to land dies, the action should be revived against his personal representatives and not against his heirs.[67]

(III) Ejectment. In jurisdictions permitting the revival of an action of ejectment on the death of defendant the revival should be in the name of the heirs or devisees of the deceased.[68] But if damages for the mesne profits as well as the took a note therefor in his own name, and died pending a suit by the principal against him and the maker for the proceeds. The principal, administering upon his estate, moved to be made a party plaintiff as administrator. It was held that although the plaintiff was not a proper person to represent the interest of the deceased defendant, yet the court may make him a party as administrator and protect the surviving defendant by its decree.

65. Shields v. Craig, 6 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 373; Mellus v. Thompson, 1 Cliff. (U. S.) 125, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,405.

Accounting.—Where an action which sought an accounting and recovery of a balance due was revived against the executors of the testator, and after such revivor plaintiff moved to bring in the devisees and heirs at law and to revive and continue the said action against them on the ground that the personalty would not be sufficient to satisfy the judgment if recovered, it was held that as the action did not seek to charge the testator's real estate it was completely revived when the personal representatives of the testator were made parties, and that the devisees and heirs at law should not be made parties. Green v. Martine, 1 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 129.

66. Arkansas.— Haley v. Taylor, 39 Ark. 104; McCauley v. Six, 34 Ark. 379.

Iowa.— Walker v. Schreiber, 47 Iowa 529.

New York.—Coit v. Campbell, 82 N. Y. 509.

Virginia.— Key v. Lambert, 1 Hen. & M. (Va.) 330.

United States.— Mellus v. Thompson, 1 Cliff. (U. S.) 125, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,405.

See also Thomas v. Jones, 10 Tex. 52, wherein it was held that where defendant dies during the pendency of a suit to recover land, and no one will administer, plaintiff may make his heirs parties defendant and proceed to judgment.

Condemnation proceedings.—Where defendant in a proceeding under a statute to condemn land for public use dies during the pendency of the proceeding, the revivor of the proceeding must be had in the names of the heirs or devisees and not in the name of the administrator. Valley R. Co. v. Bohm, 29 Ohio St. 633.

Suit to charge separate realty of married woman.— When a married woman dies pending a suit to charge her separate realty with her debts, it is not proper to make her personal representative a party thereto, but the same should proceed thereafter against her heirs or devisees only. Clifton v. Anderson, 40 Mo. App. 616.

Suit to enforce lien of street assessment.— An action to enforce the lien of a street assessment should, on the death of defendant, be revived against his heirs or devisees and not against his executor. Louisville v. Hexagon Tile-Walk Co., (Ky. 1898) 45 S. W. 667.

Suit to enforce mechanic's lien.—Where the owner of real estate dies pending a statutory proceeding of scire facias to enforce a mechanic's lien, the suit must be revived against his heirs and not against his personal representatives. Belcher v. Schaumburg, 18 Mo. 189.

Suit to enforce vendor's lien.— In Price v. Sanders, 39 Ark. 306, it appeared that a vendor of land by title-bond indorsed the purchase-money note. Suit was brought by the indorsee against the makers and indorser to enforce the vendor's lien. The indorser and one of the makers died pending suit. It was held that the heirs of each were necessary parties. See also Batre v. Auze, 5 Ala. 173, wherein it was held that a bill against a subpurchaser to enforce the vendor's lien for the purchase-money due from the first purchaser must be revived, after the death of the subpurchaser, against his heirs at law unless he has parted with his interest by assignment or devise; and if the suit is revived against his personal representatives it is error.

67. Fellow v. Fulgham, 7 N. C. 254.

Trustee of defendant.— An action was begun to recover damages for malicious trespass and for an injunction against maintaining brick-stacks on defendants' land. Defendants died. It was held that a trustee of the property of one of the defendants could not be made a party to the suit. Equitable L. Assur. Soc. v. Schermerhorn, 60 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 477.

68. Shipley v. Johns, 72 Md. 542, 20 Atl. 180; Estes v. Nell, 140 Mo. 639, 41 S. W. 940; Love v. Scott, 26 N. C. 79; Davis v. Davis, 13 Pa. Co. Ct. 221. See also Moss v. Scott, 2 Dana (Ky.) 271, wherein it was held that if one of several defendants in ejectment dies the surviving parties cannot revive the suit by agreement, but the heirs or devisees of defendant must be summoned.

As to survival of action of ejectment on the death of the defendant see supra, III, A, 3, g, (II).

Rule in Tennessee.— It has been held that lands are sought the revival should be in the name of both the personal representatives and the heirs or devisees.[69]

(IV) Rescission of Contract for Sale of Land. Where defendant in a suit for the rescission of a contract for the sale of lands dies, the suit should be revived in the name of the heirs or devisees.[70]

d. In Suits Affecting Both Realty and Personalty. On the death of defendant pending an action affecting both personalty and realty the suits should be revived in the names of both the heirs and the personal representatives of the deceased.[71]

e. On Death of One or More of Several Defendants — (I) In General. It is a well-settled principle of law that on the death of one of two defendants, jointly and severally liable, plaintiff may proceed against the survivor without bringing in the representative of the deceased co-defendant.[72]

Tenn. Laws (1819), c. 16, authorizing a plaintiff in ejectment to proceed against the heirs or devisees of the deceased landlord, does not compel plaintiff to revive the suit against them, but he may proceed against the tenant in possession alone. Huff v. Lake, 9 Humphr. (Tenn.) 137.

Joinder of person claiming adversely.— In Richter v. Beaumont, 71 Miss. 713, 16 So. 293, it was held that where defendant in ejectment dies pending the action, and an order is made to revive against his heirs, it is erroneous to make a person defendant who is in possession, asserting an independent adverse title, and not claiming as heir, and to render judgment against him.

69. Crutchfield v. Hudson, 23 Ala. 393; Ex p. Swan, 23 Ala. 192; Jordan v. Abercrombie, 15 Ala. 580; Cavender v. Smith, 8 Iowa 360.

70. Kincart v. Sanders, 2 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 26.

Setting aside fraudulent conveyance.— Where the purchaser of lands conveyed in fraud of creditors dies pending a suit to set the conveyance aside and apply the lands to the payment of the debts of the vendor, no revivor as to his personal representative is necessary. McCutchen v. Pigue, 4 Heisk. (Tenn.) 565.

71. Owing's Case, 1 Bland (Md.) 370, 17 Am. Dec. 311; Brewington v. Stephens, 31 Mo. 38; De Agreda v. Mantel, 1 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 130; Townsend v. Champernowne, 9 Price 130.

Forcible entry and detainer.— In Brewington v. Stephens, 31 Mo. 38, it was held that on the death of the defendant in an action of forcible entry and detainer the suit should be revived in the names of the heirs and the administrator, since it is an action for damages and also for the possession of the land.

Suit to rescind and to recover back purchase-money.— If the vendor dies while a bill is pending against him by the vendee for a rescission of the contract for the sale of the land and to recover the amount paid as purchase-money, the cause should be revived against his administrator as well as against his heirs. Preston v. Golde, 12 Lea (Tenn.) 267.

72. Alabama.— Foster v. Chamberlain, 41 Ala. 158; Rupert v. Elston, 35 Ala. 79; Mobile, etc., R. Co. v. Talman, 15 Ala. 472; Gregg v. Bethea, 6 Port. (Ala.) 9; Gayle v. Agee, 4 Port (Ala.) 507; Bebee v. Miller, Minor (Ala.) 364.

Delaware.— Farmers', etc., Bank v. Polk, 1 Del. Ch. 167.

Georgia.—Gardner v. Granniss, 57 Ga. 539; Sanders v. Etcherson, 36 Ga. 404; Henderson v. Hackney, 13 Ga. 282.

Illinois.— Ballance v. Samuel, 4 Ill. 380.

Kentucky.— White v. Turner, 1 B. Mon. (Ky.) 130.

Massachusetts.—Colt v. Learned, 133 Mass. 409; New Haven, etc., Co. v. Hayden, 119 Mass. 361; Foster v. Hooper, 2 Mass. 572.

Minnesota.—Lanier v. Irvine, 24 Minn. 116.

Nevada.— Fowler v. Houston, 1 Nev. 469.

New Jersey.— Fisher v. Allen, 36 N. J. L. 203.

New York.— Lyon v. Park, 111 N. Y. 350, 18 N. E. 863; Davis v. Van Buren, 72 N. Y. 587; Risley v. Brown, 67 N. Y. 160; Wood v. Fisk, 63 N. Y. 245, 20 Am. Rep. 528; Getty v. Binsse, 49 N. Y. 385, 10 Am. Rep. 379; Angell v. Lawton, 14 Hun (N. Y.) 70; Livermore v. Bushnell, 5 Hun (N. Y.) 285; Parker v. Jackson, 16 Barb. (N. Y.) 33; American Copper Co. v. Lowther, 25 Misc. (N. Y.) 441, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 960; Mott v. Petrie, 15 Wend. (N. Y.) 317; Grant v. Shurter, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 148; Jenkins v. De Groot, 1 Cai. Cas. (N. Y.) 122; Higgins v. Freeman, 2 Duer (N. Y.) 650; Leake, etc., Orphan House v. Lawrence, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 80; Halstead v. Cockroft, 49 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 342; Gardner v. Walker, 22 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 342; Gordon v. Sterling, 13 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 405.

Pennsylvania.— Githers v. Clarke, 158 Pa. St. 616, 28 Atl. 232; Ash v. Guie, 97 Pa. St. 493, 39 Am. Rep. 818; Dingman v. Amsink, 77 Pa. St. 114; Miller v. Reed, 27 Pa. St. 244, 67 Am. Dec. 459; Mechanics, etc., Ins. Co. v. Spang, 5 Pa. St. 113; Walter v. Ginrich, 2 Watts (Pa.) 204; Machette v. Magee, 9 Phila. (Pa.) 24, 29 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 300.

Tennessee.— Gilchrist v. Cannon, 1 Coldw. (Tenn.) 581; Claiborne v. Goodloe, Cooke (Tenn.) 391.

Texas.— Aldridge v. Mardoff, 32 Tex. 204.

Virginia.— Richardson v. Jones, 12 Gratt. (Va.) 53.

West Virginia.— Henning v. Farnsworth, 41 W. Va. 548, 23 S. E. 663.

But see Vietor v. Goodman, 26 Misc. (N. Y.) 545, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 599, wherein it

(II) Suit against Husband and Wife. Where a husband is joined as a defendant in a suit against his wife simply, in compliance with a statute requiring him to be so joined, and not to obtain any relief against him, the action may be continued against the wife after the death of the husband without a revivor against his administrator.[73]

(III) Suit against Partnership. In a suit against partners on a cause of action relating to partnership affairs, if one or more of the partners die, it is unnecessary to revive the suit in the name of the personal representatives of the deceased partner or partners.[74]

(IV) Suit against Tenants in Common. It has been held that the death of a tenant in common pending an action for partition does not necessitate the revival of the action against his administrator, where his share descended to his cotenants and where no effort was made to charge him with the rents and profits of the land.[75]

(V) Joinder of Survivors and Representatives of Deceased. The doctrine very generally obtains that on the death of one of several defendants jointly and severally liable the action cannot be revived, in the absence of a permissive statute,[76] as a joint action against the surviving defendant and the reprewas held that where, after judgment, creditors have brought an action to set aside transfers made by one defendant, their judgment debtor, to another, the transferrer dies, and appoints his transferee his administratrix, she should be made a party defendant in her representative capacity, as her presence in that capacity is necessary to complete the determination of the controversy.

Death of life-tenant.— Where a life-tenant dies pending an action to subject the remainder interest in land it is not necessary to revive the action against her personal representative. Ritchey v. Buricke, (Ky. 1899) 54 S. W. 173.

Probate of will.— In Stancil v. Kenan, 35 Ga. 102, it was held that if one of several caveators die pending the proceeding to probate a will, the propounder may proceed and try the case without making the representative of the deceased a party.

73. Crook v. Tull, 111 Mo. 283, 20 S. W. 82; Parker v. Steed, 1 Lea (Tenn.) 206.

See also Haggins v. Peck, 10 B. Mon. (Ky.) 210, wherein it was held that where the husbands of heirs who are sued die pending suit in chancery to subject lands descended to their wives, no revivor is necessary against their personal representative unless they have received of the estate of decedents, and it is designed to hold them responsible.

As to survival of suit on death of one spouse see supra, III, A, 6, b.

Curtesy.— Upon the death of the wife, in an action against her and her husband to enforce a lien on her land for taxes, no revival against the husband is necessary in order to subject his life-estate as tenant by the curtesy. Louisville v. Woolley, (Ky. 1900) 57 S. W. 499.

Foreclosure of trust deed on wife's land.— In Lawrence v. Armstrong, (Tenn. Ch. 1898) 48 S. W. 403, it was held that where, pending a suit against a husband and wife to foreclose a trust deed on her land given by them to secure a joint note, the husband dies, plaintiff may proceed against the wife alone, and obtain a decree of sale without reviving the cause against the husband's representatives or heirs. But see Thomson v. Dudley, 3 Edw. (N. Y.) 137, wherein it was held that upon the death of the husband in a suit against him and his wife to foreclose a mortgage executed by them, after the bill had been taken pro confesso but before decree, no decree could be had without a revivor of the suit against the representatives of the husband.

74. See cases cited supra, note 65, p. 73.

As to survival of suit against partners see supra, III, A, 6, c.

Assignment for benefit of creditors.—Where one of two assignors for the benefit of creditors who were partners dies during an accounting by the assignee, before a reference in an action by a creditor for the payment of his share of the assigned estate, a motion by the assignee to suspend the reference until some representative of the deceased assignor can be brought in will not be granted where it does not appear that the deceased ever had any individual property; for as to the firm rights and property he is represented by the surviving partner. Pope v. Briggs, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 718.

Specific performance.—In an action for specific performance against a firm, where one of the members dies pending the action, his heirs become necessary parties. Salinger v. Gunn, 61 Ark. 414, 33 S. W. 959.

Suit for accounting.—In Pearce v. Bruce, 38 Ga. 444, it was held that in an action by a third person against partners for an account, if one of the defendants dies pending the suit his representatives must be made parties unless it is shown that there are no firm assets, or that they are insufficient to pay the debts of the concern, so that such representatives would have no interest in the partnership effects.

75. Donnor v. Quartermas, 90 Ala. 164, 8 So. 715, 24 Am. St. Rep. 778; Waring v. Waring, 7 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 472.

76. In the following cases statutes were held to permit the continuance of the action sentatives of the deceased defendant.[77] It has been held, however, that if two parties to a contract whose liability is several are joined as defendants in an action thereon under a statute permitting such joinder, and one of them dies, his personal representative may be summoned in to defend the action as against him.[78] It has also been held that in an equity action against several defendants for an accounting, on the death of one of them the action survives and his executors and representatives should be made parties.[79]

(VI) Revival as Separate Actions. On the death of one of several defendants jointly and severally liable the action may be separated and continued as two actions, one against the survivors and the other against the representatives of deceased.[80]

as a joint action against the survivor and the representatives of the deceased: Smith v. Crutcher, 27 Miss. 455; Woodhouse v. Lee, 6 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 161; Henderson v. Talbert, 5 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 109; Brown v. Clary, 2 N. C. 107; Dingman v. Amsink, 77 Pa. St. 114. Compare Bennett v. Spillars, 9 Tex. 519.

Election to proceed against survivors.— In Harrell v. Park, 32 Ga. 555, it was held that where one of several defendants dies pending the action, and the plaintiff elects to proceed against the survivors without joining the representative of the deceased, such plaintiff, after judgment has been rendered against the survivors, cannot maintain scire facias against the representative of the deceased to have him made a party to the suit.

77. Alabama.— Gilbreath v. Jones, 66 Ala. 129; Jay v. Stein, 49 Ala. 514; Foster v. Chamberlain, 41 Ala. 158; Gayle v. Agee, 4 Port. (Ala.) 507.

Arkansas.— Bruton v. Gregory, 8 Ark. 177.

Illinois.— Eich v. Sievers, 73 Ill. 194; Ballance v. Samuel, 4 Ill. 380.

Iowa.— Pecker v. Cannon, 11 Iowa 20.

Kentucky.— Com. v. York, 9 B. Mon. (Ky.) 40.

Maine.— Treat v. Dwinel, 59 Me. 341.

Massachusetts.— Ricker v. Gerrish, 124 Mass. 367; Cochrane v. Cushing, 124 Mass. 219; New Haven, etc., Co. v. Hayden, 119 Mass. 361; Foster v. Hooper, 2 Mass. 572.

New Jersey.—Fisher v. Allen, 36 N. J. L. 203.

New York.— Hanck v. Craighead, 67 N. Y. 432; Union Bank v. Mott, 27 N. Y. 633; Jersey City First Nat. Bank v. Lenk, 57 Hun (N. Y.) 588, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 261; Masten v. Blackwell, 8 Hun (N. Y.) 313; Livermore v. Bushnell, 5 Hun (N. Y.) 285; Arthur v. Griswold, 2 Hun (N. Y.) 606; McVean v. Scott, 46 Barb. (N. Y.) 379; Grant v. Shurter, 1 Wend. (N. Y.) 148; Jenkins v. De Groot, 1 Cai. Cas. (N. Y.) 122; Wright v. Marshall, 3 Daly (N. Y.) 331; Heinmuller v. Gray, 35 N. Y. Super. Ct. 196; Leake, etc., Orphan House v. Lawrence, 11 Paige (N. Y.) 80; Gardner v. Walker, 22 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 405.

Pennsylvania.— Given v. Albert, 5 Watts & S. (Pa.) 333.

Texas.— Martin v. Harrison, 2 Tex. 456.

Wisconsin.— Cairns v. O'Bleness, 40 Wis. 469; Jones v. Keep, 23 Wis. 45.

United States.— Seaman v. Slater, 18 Fed. 485.

Joint tort-feasors.—An action against joint tort-feasors, upon the death of either, becomes incapable of being continued as a joint action against the survivor and the representatives of the deceased. Heinmuller v. Gray, 35 N. Y. Super. Ct. 196.

78. Colt v. Learned, 133 Mass. 409.

79. Halstead v. Cockcroft, 40 N. Y. Super. Ct. 519. And see Wood v. Leland, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 387, wherein it was held that in a bill for contribution by a surety against the heirs of his co-surety, one of the heirs summoned having died pending the suit, his administrator should be summoned in, and that the same decree would be passed against him that would have been passed against his intestate.

Specific performance.—In De Agreda v. Mantel, 1 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 130, it was held that in an action against two purchasers of land to enforce the contract a judgment rendered after the death of one of the defendants decreeing performance, and, in case of non-compliance therewith, directing the sale of the property and the entry of a judgment for a deficiency if there should be any, could not be carried into effect until the representatives of the deceased were before the court. See also Madison v. Wallace, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 581, wherein it was held, in a suit for specific performance against heirs, that suggestion, on the record, of the death of a female heir who retained her patronymic name to her death, does not dispense with the necessity of revivor against her representatives.

80. Massachusetts.— State Bank v. Welles, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 15.

Mississippi.— Woodhouse v. Lee, 6 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 161.

New York.— Union Bank v. Mott, 27 N. Y. 633; Bond v. Smith, 4 Hun (N. Y.) 48; Arthur v. Griswold, 2 Hun (N. Y.) 606; McVean v. Scott, 46 Barb. (N. Y.) 379; Rogers v. Paterson, 4 Paige (N. Y.) 409; Heinmuller v. Gray, 44 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 260; Gardner v. Walker, 22 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 405.

Wisconsin.— Cairns v. O'Bleness, 40 Wis. 469; Jones v. Keep, 23 Wis. 45.

United States.— Seaman v. Slater, 18 Fed. 485.

But see Gas Works Constr. Co. v. Monheimer, 65 Hun (N. Y.) 626, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 501, wherein it was held that where, in an action to set aside certain transfers of a patent to which the deceased defendant was a party, it appeared that all of the parties defendant should be before the court in one action, a continuance of the action against the admin-

f. On Death of Person Sued in Representative Capacity — (I) Suit against Guardian. Upon the death of a guardian pending a suit against him for a debt contracted by him for the benefit of his ward, his personal representative may be made a party in his stead.[81]

(II) Suit against Officer. On the death of an officer pending a suit against him in his official capacity the suit should be continued in the name of his successor in office.[82]

(III) Suit against Personal Representatives. On the death of an administrator pending an action against him on a cause of action against his intestate, the action should be continued in the name of the administrator de bonis non of the intestate.[83] It has, however, been held that where an administrator dies pending a proceeding against him to hold him accountable for maladministration, his administrator, and not the administrator de bonis non of his intestate, is the proper party against whom to revive.[84]

9. Proceedings to Revive or Continue — a. Conditions Precedent — (I) Leave of Court. Leave of court is not necessary for the institution of proceedings to revive or continue an action[85] except in the case of a bill in the nature of a bill of revivor and supplement.[86]

(II) Suggestion of Death. A suggestion of the death of a party is necessary to permit the revival or continuance of the action in the name of the successors in interest.[87] istratrix of such deceased defendant was proper.

81. Lewis v. Allen, 68 Ga. 398.

As to survival of suit see supra, III, A, 8.

82. Edrington v. Mathews, 30 Ark. 665.

As to survival of suit see supra, III, A, 8.

Assignee of bankrupt.— A cause of action against one as assignee of a bankrupt does not survive against such assignee's personal representatives. Hall v. Cushing, 8 Mass. 521; Richards v. Maryland Ins. Co., 8 Cranch (U. S.) 84, 3 L. ed. 496.

County treasurer.— In a proceeding against a county treasurer to compel the application of taxes, as directed by N. Y. Laws (1869), c. 907, defendant answered that such taxes had been applied under the direction of the board of supervisors, and afterward died pending an inquiry before a referee as to the facts of such application. It was held that his successor in office was properly made defendant to the proceeding in his stead. Matter of Marvin, 60 Hun (N. Y.) 585, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 500.

Officer of corporation.—Where an officer has been made a party to a bill to discover corporate assets solely on account of the knowledge of the corporation's affairs he was supposed to possess, and to coerce a disclosure of such knowledge, and he dies pending the hearing, his personal representative cannot be brought in as a party defendant by revivor. Le Grand v. McKenzie, 110 Ala. 493, 20 So. 131.

83. Jones v. Jones, 8 Humph. (Tenn.) 705.

As to survival of suit see supra, III, A, 8.

Widow's support.— In Holliday v. Holland, 41 Miss. 528, it was held that an action commenced by a widow against the administrator of her husband for the year's support and the exempt property cannot be revived against the representatives of the administrator, but only against the administrator de bonis non of the husband.

84. Leonard v. Cameron, 39 Miss. 419. And see Brandon v. Mason, 1 Lea (Tenn.) 615, wherein it was held that where an executor of a will authorizing him to sell lands comes into court to have the will construed, becomes a commissioner of the court to sell the lands, and dies before final decree, defendants or their representatives may maintain a bill of supplement and revivor in the nature of a cross-bill to hold his sureties liable for the proceeds, and in such case the court may, in its discretion, dispense with the presence of an administrator de bonis non.

Devastavit.— In Clopton v. Haughton, 57 Miss. 787, it was held that where an executor dies pending suit for devastavit it is necessary to revive the suit against his administrator in order to procure a personal decree. But see supra, III, A, 4, g.

85. Crook v. Turpin, 10 B. Mon. (Ky.) 243; Webster v. Hitchcock, 11 Mich. 56; Roach v. La Farge, 43 Barb. (N. Y.) 616; Bornsdorff v. Lord, 41 Barb. (N. Y.) 211; Stewart v. Powers, 38 N. Y. Super. Ct. 56; Garvey v. Owens, 9 N. Y. St. 227; Pendleton v. Fay, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 204; Arthur v. Allen, 22 S. C. 432; Parnell v. Maner, 16 S. C. 348. Contra, Chapman v. Foster, 15 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 241.

86. Pendleton v. Fay, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 204.

87. California.— Campbell v. West, 93 Cal. 653, 29 Pac. 219; Judson v. Love, 35 Cal. 463; Gregory v. Haynes, 21 Cal. 443.

Delaware.— Johnson v. State, 2 Houst. (Del.) 378.

Maryland.— Appold v. Prospect Bldg. Assoc., 37 Md. 457; Price v. Tyson, 2 Gill & J. (Md.) 475; Hall v. Hall, 1 Bland (Md.) 130.

Massachusetts.— Holyoke v. Haskins, 9 Pick. (Mass.) 259.

Mississippi.— Young v. Pickens, 45 Miss. 553.

Missouri.—Sargeant v. Rowsey, 89 Mo. 617, 1 S. W. 823.

b. Modes of Revival — (I) In General. The mode of revival of a suit abated by the death of a party is determined by the statutes of the particular state,[88] and with the mode so prescribed there must be a substantial compliance.[89]

(II) By Amendment of Pleadings. In some states substitution may be made on an amendment of the complaint showing the appointment and qualification of a personal representative.[90]

(III) By Motion. In other states the statutes provide that a suit may be revived on motion.[91]

New Jersey.— Hendrickson v. Herbert, 38 N. J. L. 296.

North Carolina.— Lynn v. Lowe, 88 N. C. 478; Burke v. Stokely, 65 N. C. 569.

Pennsylvania.—Philadelphia v. Jenkins, 162 Pa. St. 451, 29 Atl. 794.

Tennessee.—Hargis v. Ayres, 8 Yerg. (Tenn.) 467.

Texas.— Siese v. Malsch, 54 Tex. 355; Hanley v. Lemmon, 28 Tex. 155; Gowings v. Loyd, 4 Tex. 483. Compare Blum v. Goldman, 66 Tex. 621, 1 S. W. 899.

But see Stoetzell v. Fullerton, 44 Ill. 108, wherein it was held that the suggestion of the death of a party to a suit is a mere matter of form to prevent abatement where the cause of action survives. It may be made by any party, or, if not made at all, the judgment is not necessarily invalidated by its omission. See also Alexander v. Patton, 90 N. C. 557, wherein it was held that where the record shows that a party, through his counsel, assumed the defense of an action as administrator, the regularity of his substitution for his intestate is sufficiently established though there was no suggestion of death and no service on the administrator of notice to appear. And see Remington v. Willard, 15 Wis. 583, wherein it was held that where a married woman was made a defendant in a complaint for foreclosure in order to bar her right of dower, and it appeared by the officer's return and by one of the answers that she had died before service of process, it was not necessary to suggest her death or to mention her further in the proceedings.

In equity.—Upon the death of a party to a suit in equity the court should be informed of the fact, so that new parties should be made or other proceedings had. Appold v. Prospect Bldg. Assoc., 37 Md. 457.

Correction of entry.— An entry suggesting plaintiff's death and ordering his administrator (leaving the name blank) to be substituted as plaintiff can be subsequently corrected by a nunc pro tunc order inserting the name of the administratrix. Maish v. Crangle, 80 Iowa 650, 45 N. W. 578.

Oral suggestion.— In Pope v. Irby, 57 Ala. 105, it was held that a mere oral suggestion of plaintiff's death, not acted on or entered of record, was not sufficient to revive the suit.

The effect of a suggestion of the death of a party is simply to give notice to the court of the facts stated in order that any further action may be taken intelligently. The suggestion does not make the heirs parties to the cause — it simply points them out. Philadelphia v. Jenkins, 162 Pa. St. 451, 29 Atl. 794.

88. See the statutes of the several states, and 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 445 et seq.

In Nebraska, where a party dies or his authority as a representative ceases, two methods of revivor coexist. A conditional order of revivor may issue and be served, and the order made final, unless cause be shown against it or the court may substitute the new party and supplementary pleadings may be filed and summons served. Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. Fox, 56 Nebr. 746, 77 N. W. 130; Rakes v. Brown, 34 Nebr. 304, 51 N. W. 848; Fox v. Abbott, 12 Nebr. 328, 11 N. W. 303.

89. Singleton v. Wofford, 4 Ill. 576; Durbin v. Waldo, 15 Wis. 352. See also Hill v. Truby, 117 Pa. St. 320, 11 Atl. 300, wherein the record showed that the suit was brought against H., and T., his surety on a promissory note. T. died before trial, and his administrators were erroneously substituted as co-defendants — as they claimed — without their knowledge or consent and without notice. The record failed to show how they were brought in. It was held that the record was fatally defective.

Filing of petition.— That a petition for the revival of a suit against the heirs of the original defendant was filed sufficiently appears from a recital of that fact in the order of revival. Stevenson v. Kurtz, 98 Mich. 493, 57 N. W. 580.

Revival against infant.—No decree or order of revival can be made against an infant by default; but if the infant neglects to appear and procure the appointment of a guardian the same steps for the appointment of a guardian ad litem must be taken as in other cases where the infant neglects to appear. Wilkinson v. Parish, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 653.

90. Campbell v. West, 93 Cal. 653, 29 Pac. 219. See also Floyd v. Ritter, 65 Ala. 501, wherein it was held that an amendment of the bill is not the regular or usual mode of bringing in the personal representatives or heirs of a deceased defendant, but it may serve the purpose of a suggestion of the death of the deceased and of the names of the legal representatives; and when they are served with notice requiring them to appear and plead or answer, a decree pro confesso may be taken against them and the cause treated thereafter as revived against them. To same effect is Wells v. American Mortg. Co., 109 Ala. 430, 20 So. 136.

91. In code states this is the usual method of revival where the revival is sought within a year from the death causing the abatement.

Alabama.— Evans v. Welch, 63 Ala. 250.

California.— Campbell v. West, 93 Cal. 653, 29 Pac. 219.

(iv) By Supplemental Complaint. In other states the statutes provide for the filing of a supplemental complaint to effect a revival.[92]

(v) By Scire Facias. Statutes in still other states provide for the issuance of a scire facias to revive a suit.[93]

(vi) In Suits in Equity—(a) In General. In the ordinary course of proceedings in equity, where no statute or rule in chancery intervenes, the mode of continuing a bill on the death of a party is by bill of revivor or by an original bill in the nature of a bill of revivor and supplement.[94]

Georgia.— Dean v. Feeley, 66 Ga. 273.

Massachusetts.— Cheney v. Gleason, 125 Mass. 166.

Minnesota.— Willoughby v. St. Paul German Ins. Co., (Minn. 1900) 83 N. W. 377; Lough v. Pitman, 25 Minn. 120; Landis v. Olds, 9 Minn. 90.

New York.— Holsman v. St. John, 90 N. Y. 461; Palen v. Bushnell, 51 Hun (N. Y.) 423, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 63; Matter of Bainbridge, 67 Barb. (N. Y.) 293; Bornsdorff v. Lord, 41 Barb. (N. Y.) 211; Lyon v. Park, 55 N. Y. Super. Ct. 539; Halstead v. Cockcroft, 40 N. Y. Super. Ct. 519; O'Sullivan v. New York El. R. Co., 25 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 163, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 16; Gordon v. Sterling, 13 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 405; Coon v. Knapp, 13 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 175; Garvey v. Owens, 9 N. Y. St. 227.

Rhode Island.— Robinson v. Bailey, 17 R. I. 546, 23 Atl. 637.

South Carolina.— Dunham v. Carson, 42 S. C. 383, 20 S. E. 197; Lyles v. Haskell, 35 S. C. 391, 14 S. E. 829; Arthur v. Allen, 22 S. C. 432; Parnell v. Maner, 16 S. C. 348.

Tennessee.— Campbell v. Hubbard, 11 Lea (Tenn.) 6; Berrigan v. Fleming, 2 Lea (Tenn.) 271; Mayfield v. Stephenson, 6 Baxt. (Tenn.) 397; Foster v. Burem, 1 Heisk. (Tenn.) 783.

Virginia.—Wilson v. Smith, 22 Gratt. (Va.) 493.

Washington.— Strong v. Eldridge, 8 Wash. 595, 36 Pac. 696.

Wisconsin.— Tarbox v. French, 27 Wis. 651; Stephens v. Magor, 25 Wis. 533.

Rule in federal courts.— In an action in a federal court, upon suggestion to the court of the death of the plaintiff, where the cause of action continues, the executor or administrator may upon motion be substituted as plaintiff without filing any supplemental pleading showing the transfer of the cause of action. Equitable L. Assur. Soc. v. Trimble, 83 Fed. 85, 48 U. S. App. 565, 27 C. C. A. 404.

92. In code states this is the usual method where the revival is sought after a year from the death causing the abatement.

Indiana.— Holland v. Holland, 131 Ind. 196, 30 N. E. 1075.

Minnesota.— Stocking v. Hanson, 22 Minn. 542; Lee v. O'Shaughnessy, 20 Minn. 173.

Nebraska.— Rakes v. Brown, 34 Nebr. 304, 51 N. W. 848; Fox v. Abbott, 12 Nebr. 328, 11 N. W. 303.

New York.— Lyon v. Park, 55 N. Y. Super. Ct. 539; Mackey v. Duryea, 22 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 284, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 573; Coon v. Knapp, 13 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 175; Gordon v. Sterling, 13 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 405; Greene v. Bates, 7 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 296.

South Carolina.— Arthur v. Allen, 22 S. C. 432; Parnell v. Maner, 16 S. C. 348.

Wisconsin.— Plumer v. McDonald Lumber Co., 74 Wis. 137, 42 N. W. 250.

Death of one of several defendants.—Where, upon the death of one or more of several defendants, the cause of action does not survive against the other defendants, but does survive against the representatives of the deceased, the proper remedy is to bring them in by a supplementary summons and complaint. Mackey v. Duryea, 22 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 284, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 573.

93. Mississippi.— Morris v. Henderson, 37 Miss. 492.

Missouri.— Harkness v. Austin, 36 Mo. 47; Ferris v. Hunt, 18 Mo. 480; Doering v. Kenamore, 36 Mo. App. 147.

Pennsylvania.— Philadelphia v. Jenkins, 162 Pa. St. 451, 29 Atl. 794.

West Virginia.— Garrison v. Myers, 12 W. Va. 330.

United States.—Allen v. Fairbanks, 40 Fed. 188.

94. Alabama.— Wells v. American Mortg. Co., 109 Ala. 430, 20 So. 136; Floyd v. Ritter, 65 Ala. 501; Cullum v. Batre, 2 Ala. 415; Bowie v. Minter, 2 Ala. 406; Duval v. McLoskey, 1 Ala. 708.

Illinois.— Welch v. Louis, 31 Ill. 446.

Kentucky.— Peyton v. McDowell, 3 Dana (Ky.) 314; Smith v. Bryant, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 374; Hall v. Johnston, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 284; Holder v. Mount, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 187; Feemster v. Markham, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 303, 19 Am. Dec. 131; Nall v. Combs, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 323; Lyle v. Bradford, 7 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 111; Shields v. Craig, 6 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 373; Gatewood v. Rucker, 1 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 21; Russell v. Craig, 3 Bibb (Ky.) 377.

Massachusetts.— Pingree v. Coffin, 12 Gray (Mass.) 288.

Michigan.—Brown v. Thompson, 29 Mich. 72.

New York.— Coit v. Campbell, 82 N. Y. 509; Bornsdorff v. Lord, 41 Barb. (N. Y.) 211; Philips v. Drake, 1 Code Rep. (N. Y.) 63; Johnson v. Snyder, 7 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 395.

Ohio.— Curtis v. Hawn, 14 Ohio 185.

Tennessee.— Foster v. Burem, 1 Heisk. (Tenn.) 783; Carson v. Richardson, 3 Hayw. (Tenn.) 231; Lewis v. Outlaw, 1 Overt. (Tenn.) 139; Cobb v. Conway, 1 Overt. (Tenn.) 294.

West Virginia.— Bock v. Bock, 24 W. Va. 586; Reid v. Stuart, 20 W. Va. 382.

United States.— Head v. Porter, 70 Fed. 498.

England.— Spencer v. Wray, 1 Vern. 463.

In Alabama, on motion ex parte, or upon a verbal suggestion before a registrar in vaca-

(B) By Bill of Revivor. According to the strict chancery practice, whenever a suit abates by death, and the interest of the person whose death has caused the abatement is transmitted to a representative which the law gives or ascertains, as an heir at law or an executor or administrator, the suit may be continued by a bill of revivor merely.[95]

(C) By Bill in Nature of Bill of Revivor and Supplement. But when, by the death of a party, his interest in the property in controversy is transmitted by a devise or in any other manner, so that the title as well as the person entitled may be questioned, the suit cannot be continued by a bill of revivor. In such case an original bill in the nature of a bill of revivor and supplement must be filed.[96] The ground of distinction is that bills of revivor proper are founded on tion, or to the chancellor in term-time, of the fact and cause of the abatement, an order may be made for a summons to issue to the proper parties to appear and defend; and upon the expiration of the period appointed for them to appear, service of summons having been made, if they interpose no just objection the cause is considered as revived. Wells v. American Mortg. Co., 109 Ala. 430, 20 So. 136.

In Indiana it has been held that if a defendant in chancery dies before he has answered, the suit can be revived only by a bill of revivor; but if he die after answer filed the suit may be revived, by virtue of the statute, on motion of the complainant, without such bill. Aldridge v. Dunn, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 249, 41 Am. Dec. 224.

Under the law and practice in Mississippi, suits in equity may be revived in the name of the representative of a deceased complainant before the clerk at rules. A bill of revivor is not required. Mitchell v. Conner, 42 Miss. 550.

95. 2 Daniel Ch. Pr. (4th Am. ed.) 1507.

New Jersey.— Peer v. Cookerow, 14 N. J. Eq. 361; Ross v. Hatfield, 2 N. J. Eq. 363.

New York.— Douglass v. Sherman, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 358.

Rhode Island.— Manchester v. Mathewson, 2 R. I. 416.

Tennessee.— Northman v. Liverpool, etc., Ins. Co., 1 Tenn. Ch. 312.

United States.— Mellus v. Thompson, 1 Cliff. (U. S.) 125, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,405; Slack v. Walcott, 3 Mason (U. S.) 508, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 12,932.

As to requisites of bill of revivor see infra, III, B, 9, d, (III), (B).

Death of partner pending suit against partnership.— On the death of a partner pending suit against the partnership the representatives of the deceased partner may be made parties by a bill of revivor. Wilson v. Seligman, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,832*a*.

96. Kentucky.— Russell v. Craig, 3 Bibb (Ky.) 377.

Massachusetts.— Pingree v. Coffin, 12 Gray (Mass.) 288.

Michigan.— Barnett v. Powers, 40 Mich. 317.

New Jersey.— Lyons v. Van Riper, 26 N. J. Eq. 337; Peer v. Cookerow, 14 N. J. Eq. 361; Ross v. Hatfield, 2 N. J. Eq. 363; Pelletreau v. Rathbone, 1 N. J. Eq. 331.

New York.— Brady v. McCosker, 1 N. Y. 214; Douglass v. Sherman, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 358; Spier v. Robinson, 9 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 325.

Rhode Island.— Manchester v. Mathewson, 2 R. I. 416.

Tennessee.— Anderson v. McNeal, 4 Lea (Tenn.) 303; Thompson v. Hill, 5 Yerg. (Tenn.) 418; Northman v. Liverpool, etc., Ins. Co., 1 Tenn. Ch. 312.

United States.— Currell v. Villars, 72 Fed. 330; Metal Stamping Co. v. Crandall, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,493*c*; Slack v. Walcott, 3 Mason (U. S.) 508, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 12,932.

England.— Ryland v. Green, 5 Bro. P. C. 403; Huet v. Lord Say & Seal, Cas. t. King 53; Backhouse v. Middleton, Ch. Cas. 173.

As to requisites of bill in nature of bill of revivor and supplement see infra, III, B, 9, d, (III), (B).

Death of all parties.—Where all the parties to a suit in chancery have died, the course indicated by the practice in chancery by which to bring the case again before the court is by a bill in the nature of a bill of revivor by the heirs at law of one party against the heirs at law of the other party. Welch v. Louis, 31 Ill. 446.

Death of defendant before appearance.— If a defendant dies before appearance the suit cannot be continued against his personal representatives by a bill of revivor, but a bill ought to be filed against him which will be an original bill as far as respects him, but a supplemental bill with respect to the suit. Hardy v. Hull, 14 Sim. 21.

Devisees claiming under different wills.— Where a suit has been originally instituted by a devisor, and upon his death revived by a party claiming under a first will, the proper course to be adopted by a devisee under a second will is not to file a supplemental bill praying to have the benefit of the proceedings in the revived suit, but to revive de novo the suit as abated on the death of the devisor. Rylands v. Latouche, 2 Bligh 566.

Intervention of third person.—Where a suit abates by the death of one of the original defendants and a third party subsequently acquires the interest of the deceased party by purchase from his heirs before the revival of the suit against such heirs, the suit must be revived by a bill of revivor and supplement against the purchaser. Harrington v. Becker, 2 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 75. So, where the complainant in a suit assigns all his interest therein to a third person and then dies, his grantee cannot revive and continue the proceedings by a simple bill of revivor. It can mere privity of blood or representation by proof of law and original bills in the nature of bills of revivor upon privity of estate or title by the act of the party.[97]

(D) Statutory Mode. Modes prescribed by statute for continuing a suit in equity on the death of a party may of course be followed.[98]

(VII) Voluntary Appearance of Representative. The representative of a deceased party, either plaintiff or defendant, may come voluntarily into court and make himself a party to the suit.[99]

(VIII) Revival of Several Suits by One Proceeding. It has been held that a person interested in distinct suits cannot, on abatement, revive all by one bill of revivor and supplement.[1]

c. Time of Instituting Proceedings — (I) When Right to Revive Accrues. The time in which proceedings may be instituted to revive or continue an action on the death of a party varies in the different states and is largely dependent upon statutes.[2] be done in such case only by an original bill in the nature of a bill of revivor and supplement. Anderson v. White, 10 Paige (N. Y.) 575.

Suit affecting dower.— If the husband dies pending a partition suit to which the wife is not made a party, the suit can be revived or continued against the widow as to her right of dower in the premises only by an original bill in the nature of a bill of revivor and supplement. Wilkinson v. Parish, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 653.

97. Northman v. Liverpool, etc., Ins. Co., 1 Tenn. Ch. 312; Metal Stamping Co. v. Crandall, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,493*c*.

A bill of revivor and supplement is a compound of a supplemental bill and bill of revivor, and not only continues the suit which has abated by the death of a plaintiff, but supplies any defects in the original bill arising from subsequent events so as to entitle the plaintiff to relief on the whole merits of his case. Westcott v. Cady, 5 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 334, 9 Am. Dec. 306.

98. Massachusetts.— Cheney v. Gleason, 125 Mass. 166.

Minnesota.— Landis v. Olds, 9 Minn. 90.

New York.— Halstead v. Cockcroft, 40 N. Y. Super. Ct. 519; White v. Buloid, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 475; Douglass v. Sherman, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 358.

Rhode Island.— Robinson v. Bailey, 17 R. I. 546, 23 Atl. 637.

Tennessee.— Foster v. Burem, 1 Heisk. (Tenn.) 783.

Virginia.— Vaughan v. Wilson, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 480.

West Virginia.— Garrison v. Myers, 12 W. Va. 330.

Cumulative remedy.— Such modes do not, as a rule, supersede the chancery mode by bill of revivor or by an original bill in the nature of a bill of revivor and supplement, but are merely cumulative of such mode. Floyd v. Ritter, 65 Ala. 501; Hall v. Hall, 1 Bland (Md.) 130; Griffith v. Bronaugh, 1 Bland (Md.) 547; Cobb v. Conway, 1 Overt. (Tenn.) 294; Bock v. Bock, 24 W. Va. 586.

99. Arkansas.— Noland v. Leech, 10 Ark. 504.

Indiana.— Holland v. Holland, 131 Ind. 196, 30 N. E. 1075; Watson v. State, 21 Ind. 109.

Kentucky.— Roberts v. Elliott, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 395.

Mississippi.— McKey v. Torry, 28 Miss. 78.

Missouri.— Harkness v. Austin, 36 Mo. 47; Ferris v. Hunt, 18 Mo. 480.

Vermont.— Babcock v. Culver, 46 Vt. 715.

United States.— Griswold v. Hill, 1 Paine (U. S.) 483, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 5,834.

Appearance without questioning the mode of revival of an action waives any objection to the mode of revival.

Connecticut.— Ashmead v. Colby, 26 Conn. 287.

Kansas.— Reed v. Sexton, 20 Kan. 195.

Kentucky.— Greer v. Powell, 1 Bush (Ky.) 489; Biggs v. McIlvain, 3 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 360.

Mississippi.— McKey v. Torry, 28 Miss. 78.

North Carolina.— Borden v. Thorpe, 35 N. C. 298.

Texas.— Boone v. Roberts, 1 Tex. 147.

As to effect of appearance as waiving objection to want of notice see infra, III, B, 9, e, (III).

1. McDermott v. McGown, 4 Edw. (N. Y.) 592.

2. Thus in some states the death of a party may be suggested and his representatives made a party to the action while the trial is progressing. Farley v. Nelson, 4 Ala. 183; Hatch v. Cook, 9 Port. (Ala.) 177.

Close of evidence.— In Meade v. Rutledge, 11 Tex. 44, it was held that the death of a party may be suggested after the close of the evidence and his executor made a party to the suit, it being sufficient to have a party at the time of the verdict and judgment.

In federal court.— The Judiciary Act of 1789, § 31, declares "that where any suit shall be depending in any court of the United States, and either of the parties shall die before final judgment, the executor or administrator of such deceased party, if the cause of action survived, shall have full power to prosecute or defend any such suit or action." Under this act it has been held that an executor or administrator may come in voluntarily and instanter and be made a party on motion, without a scire facias, and may proceed to trial immediately if he pleases and the cause is ready for trial: but may have a continuance if he wishes. Griswold v.

(II) Limitation of Time—(A) In General. In the absence of a statute prescribing a time within which an application to revive or continue an action must be made, lapse of time will not of itself defeat such an application.[3]

(B) Statutory Limitation—(1) In General. In states prescribing a time within which applications to continue or revive an action should be made, a failure to apply for a continuance or revival within the time so prescribed is usually fatal.[4] And the same rule applies where revivor is sought in the name of a suc-

Hill, 1 Paine (U. S.) 483, 485, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 5,834.

In justice's court.—In Iowa it has been held that where, in an action in a justice's court, defendant dies after service is completed and before the return-day, the administrator or executor may be substituted as party defendant and the cause may be adjourned for more than thirty days, or, if necessary, more than once, to make such substitution. Caughlin v. Blake, 55 Iowa 634, 8 N. W. 475.

In other states the statutes provide that an order to revive cannot be made, unless by consent, until the expiration of a specified time after the qualification of the personal representatives. McNutt v. State, 48 Ark. 30, 2 S. W. 254; Rexroad v. Johnson, 4 Kan. App. 333, 45 Pac. 1008; Forst v. Davis, 101 Ky. 343, 41 S. W. 27; Thomson v. Williams, 86 Ky. 15, 4 S. W. 914; Buford v. Guthrie, 14 Bush (Ky.) 677.

3. Brighton Bank v. Russell, 13 Allen (Mass.) 221; Pringle v. Long Island R. Co., 157 N. Y. 100, 51 N. E. 435; Mason v. Sanford, 137 N. Y. 497, 33 N. E. 546; Holsman v. St. John, 90 N. Y. 461; Coit v. Campbell, 82 N. Y. 509; Evans v. Cleveland, 72 N. Y. 486; Crowley v. Murphy, 33 N. Y. App. Div. 456, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 54; Markell v. Nester, 29 N. Y. App. Div. 55, 51 N. Y. Suppl. 852; Van Brocklin v. Van Brocklin, 17 N. Y. App. Div. 226, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 541; Greene v. Martine, 21 Hun (N. Y.) 136; Shipman v. Long Island R. Co., 17 Misc. (N. Y.) 102, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 498; Lehman v. Koch, 18 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 301, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 302; Parnell v. Maner, 16 S. C. 348. See also Coggins v. Flythe, 114 N. C. 274, 19 S. E. 701, wherein it was held that as it is within the power of defendant at any time after the death of plaintiff to apply to the court to have the action abated as to them unless proper parties are brought in, where this is not done it is within the discretion of the court to allow plaintiff's representatives to file a supplementary complaint and prosecute the action upon his motion to that effect, made before the final determination of the cause. And see Beck v. Avondino, 20 Tex. Civ. App. 330, 50 S. W. 207, wherein it was held that where plaintiff dies leaving minor heirs, no administrator of his estate is appointed, and defendant does not move to discontinue the suit, the heirs, on becoming of age, may move for a revival of the suit.

In Tennessee, if a personal representative appears and asks to revive at any time before the suit is actually abated by order, a revivor will be allowed notwithstanding a previous motion to abate. Brooks v. Jones, 5 Lea (Tenn.) 244; Churchwell v. East Tennessee Bank, 1 Heisk. (Tenn.) 780; Holland v. Harris, 2 Sneed (Tenn.) 68; Young v. Officer, 7 Yerg. (Tenn.) 137. Compare Evens v. Jackson, 1 Overt (Tenn.) 237.

4. Alabama.— Beasley v. Howell, 117 Ala. 499, 22 So. 989; Phœnix Ins. Co. v. Moog, 81 Ala. 335, 1 So. 108; Ex p. Sayre, 69 Ala. 184; Glenn v. Billingslea, 64 Ala. 345; Evans v. Welch, 63 Ala. 250; Brown v. Tutwiler, 61 Ala. 372; Pope v. Irby, 57 Ala. 105; Dumas v. Robbins, 48 Ala. 545; Waller v. Nelson, 48 Ala. 531.

Arkansas.— State Bank v. Tucker, 15 Ark. 39.

District of Columbia.— Danenhower v. Ball, 8 App. Cas. (D. C.) 137.

Indian Territory.— Bell v. Eddy, (Indian Terr. 1899) 51 S. W. 959.

Kentucky.— Horsley v. Asher, 94 Ky. 314, 22 S. W. 434; Bardstown, etc., Turnpike Road Co. v. Howell, (Ky. 1891) 17 S. W. 481; Thomson v. Williams, 86 Ky. 15, 4 S. W. 914.

Maryland.— Shipley v. Johns, 72 Md. 542, 20 Atl. 180.

Missouri.— Prior v. Kiso, 96 Mo. 303, 9 S. W. 898; Rutherford v. Williams, 62 Mo. 252; Gallagher v. Delargy, 57 Mo. 29; Ranney v. Bostic, 15 Mo. 216; Doerge v. Heimenz, 1 Mo. App. 238. Compare Posthlewaite v. Ghiselin, 97 Mo. 420, 10 S. W. 482.

North Carolina.— Lea v. Gauze, 26 N. C. 9; McLaughlin v. Neill, 25 N. C. 294.

Oregon.— White v. Ladd, 34 Oreg. 422, 56 Pac. 515; Mitchell v. Schoonover, 16 Oreg. 211, 17 Pac. 867, 8 Am. St. Rep. 282; Dick v. Kendall, 6 Oreg. 166.

West Virginia.— Gainer v. Gainer, 30 W. Va. 390, 4 S. E. 424.

Computation of time.—In Missouri the suit must be revived on or before the third term after the term at which the suggestion of death is made. In making the application the term at which the death is suggested must be excluded. Gallagher v. Delargy, 57 Mo. 29.

Proceedings in probate court.—In Alabama the statute which requires actions to be revived within eighteen months after the death of a party does not apply to a proceeding for the settlement of an administrator's accounts in the probate court. Glenn v. Billingslea, 64 Ala. 345.

Rule in Connecticut.— In Connecticut, in case of the death of plaintiff during the pendency of a suit, his executor or administrator may enter at the next term as a matter of right, but he will not be permitted to enter afterward without showing good reason for his neglect. Johnson v. New York, etc., R. Co., 56 Conn. 172, 14 Atl. 773; Russell v. Hosmer, 8 Conn. 229.

ceeding administrator or other successor in the right to sue or to be sued in the place of the one removed, as where the revivor is made necessary by the death of the original party.[5]

(2) Institution of Proceedings. It seems, however, that the representatives need not actually be made parties within the time prescribed by the statute.[6]

(3) Failure to Make All Representatives Parties. It has also been held that a failure to make all the representatives of a deceased plaintiff and a deceased defendant parties to the suit within the time required by the statute will cause the suit to abate only as to those representatives not brought in and made parties.[7]

(c) In Equity—(1) Statement of Rule. Courts of equity, in the matter of the revival of suits, are governed by their own rules of limitation. The limitation usually is the time required to bar the cause of action,[8] but it is subject to the discretion of the court and may be diminished when necessary to subserve the purposes of justice.[9]

Rule in Ohio.— In Ohio the court has authority, on application and good cause shown, to allow the representative of a deceased party to be made a party to the proceeding and to direct the cause to be carried on against such representative, although more than a year may have intervened from the death of such defendant to the time of making the application. Pavey v. Pavey, 30 Ohio St. 600; Black v. Hill, 29 Ohio St. 86; Carter v. Jennings, 24 Ohio St. 182; Barr v. Chapman, 11 Ohio Cir. Ct. 196; McArthur v. Williamson, 45 Fed. 154.

Rule in Vermont.—In Vermont an administrator or executor cannot be cited in to maintain or defend a suit in which deceased was a party if a term of the court has elapsed in which he could have been cited. Babcock v. Culver, 46 Vt. 715; Wentworth v. Wentworth, 12 Vt. 244; Tyler v. Whitney, 8 Vt. 26. Compare Treasurer v. Raymond, 16 Vt. 364.

Waiver of delay.— Where the executors of a plaintiff filed a motion to revive an action more than one year after the time when the order might have been made, the filing of a brief in the action by defendant is not a consent to a revivor. Houghton v. Lannon, 1 Kan. App. 510, 40 Pac. 819.

5. Beasley v. Howell, 117 Ala. 499, 22 So. 989; Waller v. Nelson, 48 Ala. 531.

6. It is sufficient if proceedings have been taken within such time to make them such. Keyser v. Fendall, 5 Mackey (D. C.) 47; Thomson v. Williams, 86 Ky. 15, 4 S. W. 914. See also Clements v. Hussey, 4 N. C. 611, wherein it was held that if a scire facias regularly issue from term to term, in order to make a defendant's administrator a party, which is not effected till after a lapse of five or more terms, the suit is not abated. But see Love v. Scott, 26 N. C. 79, wherein it was held that in an action of ejectment, upon the death of defendant, a scire facias and a copy of the declaration must be served on the heirs at law within two terms after the decease of defendant, or the suit will be abated. It is not sufficient to apply for such process within the two terms.

Filing letters of administration.—In Wilson v. Harbaugh, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 315, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,807, it was held that in case of plaintiff's death the filing of letters of administration by his administrator is such a "proceeding" in the case as will justify the court in retaining cognizance of the case, under Md. Act (1785), c. 80, § 1, providing that if there be no appearance or other proceeding before the tenth day of the second court, etc., the action shall be struck off.

Order granting made after time.— In Oregon the representatives or successors in interest of a deceased party have a year after his death within which to make application for a continuance of the action, and the application, if made within the year, is in time although the order granting the continuance be not made until the expiration of the year. Dick v. Kendall, 6 Oreg. 166.

7. Farrell v. Brennan, 25 Mo. 88.

8. Story Eq. Pl. § 831, and see also the following cases:

Alabama.— Fearn v. Ward, 80 Ala. 555, 2 So. 114; Ex p. Kirtland, 49 Ala. 403.

District of Columbia.— Young v. Kelly, 3 App. Cas. (D. C.) 296.

New York.— Coit v. Campbell, 82 N. Y. 509; Beach v. Reynolds, 53 N. Y. 1.

South Carolina.— Best v. Sanders, 22 S. C. 589.

United States.—Mason v. Hartford, etc., R. Co., 19 Fed. 53.

England.— Hollingshead's Case, 1 P. Wms. 742; Perry v. Jenkins, 1 Myl. & C. 118; Murray v. East India Co., 5 B. & Ald. 204.

But see Best v. Sanders, 22 S. C. 589, wherein it was held that where a case is prematurely marked "Ended" on the docket the right to proceed by bill of revivor and supplement is not affected by the statute of limitations, though relief on the merits of the action may be barred.

Decree to account.— The statute of limitations cannot be pleaded in bar to a bill of revivor after a decree to account; but it rests in the discretion of the court to be regulated by the circumstances of the particular case whether relief shall be given. Egremont v. Hamilton, 1 Ball & B. 516.

9. Fearn v. Ward, 80 Ala. 555, 2 So. 114; Ex p. Kirtland, 49 Ala. 403; Lyle v. Bradford, 7 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 111; Pells v. Coon, Hopk. (N. Y.) 450.

(2) When Statute Begins to Run. In equity, on the death of complainant, the statute of limitations does not begin to run against the right to revive until administration is taken out on complainant's estate.[10]

(d) In Federal Court. It has been held that the time in which an action must be revived in a federal court on the death of a party is governed by the practice of the state in which the action is brought.[11]

(e) Laches in Reviving — (1) Refusal of Leave. In jurisdictions where lapse of time is not of itself sufficient to defeat an application to revive or continue an action the court may in its discretion refuse leave to revive or continue where the applicant has been guilty of laches in the institution of proceedings to revive or continue.[12]

(2) Imposition of Conditions. Conditions may be imposed on granting leave to continue an action where there has been long delay in instituting proceedings to continue.[13]

d. Requisites and Sufficiency of Application — (1) In General. An appli-

10. Coe v. Finlayson, (Fla. 1899) 26 So. 704; Mason v. Hartford, etc., R. Co., 19 Fed. 53; Perry v. Jenkins, 1 Myl. & C. 118; Murray v. East India Co., 5 B. & Ald. 204.

11. Barker v. Ladd, 3 Sawy. (U. S.) 44, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 990.

12. Georgia.— Pickett v. Crumbley, 90 Ga. 147, 15 S. E. 910; Wilcher v. Outz, 67 Ga. 401.

Massachusetts.— Terry v. Briggs, 12 Cush. (Mass.) 319.

Minnesota.— Stocking v. Hanson, 22 Minn. 542.

New York.— Pringle v. Long Island R. Co., 157 N. Y. 100, 51 N. E. 435; Mason v. Sanford, 137 N. Y. 497, 33 N. E. 546; Duffy v. Duffy, 117 N. Y. 647, 23 N. E. 119; Lyon v. Park, 111 N. Y. 350, 18 N. E. 863; Beach v. Reynolds, 53 N. Y. 1; Crowley v. Murphy, 33 N. Y. App. Div. 456, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 54; Markell v. Nester, 29 N. Y. App. Div. 55, 51 N. Y. Suppl. 852; Wright v. Chase, 77 Hun (N. Y.) 90, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 310; Gas Works Constr. Co. v. Monheimer, 65 Hun (N. Y.) 626, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 501; Matter of Palmer, 59 Hun (N. Y.) 625, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 675; Matter of Roberts, 53 Hun (N. Y.) 338, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 195; Shipman v. Long Island R. Co., 17 Misc. (N. Y.) 102, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 498.

Ohio.— Carter v. Jennings, 24 Ohio St. 182.

Texas.— Weaver v. Shaw, 5 Tex. 286.

Wisconsin.— Carberry v. German Ins. Co., 86 Wis. 323, 56 N. W. 920; Cavanaugh v. Scott, 84 Wis. 93, 54 N. W. 328.

United States.— Goodyear Dental Vulcanite Co. v. White, 46 Fed. 278.

England.— Alsop v. Bell, 24 Beav. 451.

Delay of eight years.— In Wilcher v. Outz, 67 Ga. 401, it was held that where, pending suit by an administrator, he died and the parties in interest failed for eight years to have a plaintiff substituted, though they were all that time sui juris, it was then too late to do so.

Delay of twelve years.—In Goodyear Dental Vulcanite Co. v. White, 46 Fed. 278, it was held that after the lapse of nearly twelve years after the death of a sole defendant in a suit in which issue has never been joined, though the suit was begun four years before his death, the suit cannot be revived against his executor.

Delay of fifteen years.—In Baker v. Baker, 13 B. Mon. (Ky.) 406, it was held that where a bill of revivor was not brought until fifteen years after the death of complainant the right to revive was barred by lapse of time.

Delay of twenty years.— In Bland v. Davison, 21 Beav. 312, it was held that a suit which had been abated for more than twenty years will not be revived.

Delay of twenty-two years.— In Beach v. Reynolds, 53 N. Y. 1, it was held that a delay of twenty-two years in instituting proceedings to revive a suit was fatal.

Purchaser pendente lite.—Where defendant dies pending suit to subject an estate to the satisfaction of a debt, and complainant fails to revive within a reasonable time, one who purchases the estate between the date of the abatement and the time within which the action ought to have been revived will be protected, notwithstanding the lis pendens subsequently revived, unless complainant can show a good excuse for the delay. Watson v. Wilson, 2 Dana (Ky.) 406, 26 Am. Dec. 459.

13. Van Horne v. France, 32 Hun (N. Y.) 504; McInnis v. Gardiner, 26 Misc. (N. Y.) 487, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 471 (wherein it appeared that the executors of a deceased plaintiff delayed two years in moving to continue an action, and in the meantime some of defendant's witnesses died. The court granted the motion on payment by the executors of all costs to date as well as costs of the motion, and also required the executors to stipulate that they would try the case when it was reached); Livingston v. Olyphant, 3 Rob. (N. Y.) 639 (which was an action by the receiver of an insurance company upon a promissory note which defendants alleged to be without consideration. Plaintiff died pending the action. After seven years his successor in office applied for permission to continue the action by supplemental complaint. It was held that as a condition of granting such application plaintiff should be required to prove the consideration of the note).

cation to revive or continue an action should set forth the grounds upon which the application is based.[14]

(II) Name of Person Summoned in. The application should set out the name of the person sought to be summoned in.[15]

(III) Showing Title to Revive—(A) In General. An application to revive in whatever form made should show a title in the applicant to revive.[16]

14. Stocking v. Hanson, 22 Minn. 542; Winter v. Shankland, 3 Tenn. Ch. 361. See also Landis v. Olds, 9 Minn. 90, wherein it appeared that, pending an action to foreclose a mortgage, plaintiff died, and his executor filed a notice of motion asking that the foreclosure sale be set aside and "for such further order in the premises as to the court shall seem meet and proper," and with such notice were copies of plaintiff's will and of letters testamentary issued to the executor. It was held that under the prayer for further relief the court properly allowed the executor to be substituted as plaintiff in the action. Compare Gueli v. Lenihan, 55 Hun (N. Y.) 608, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 453.

Application in writing.— In Georgia, objection to an order to make parties on the ground that the motion was not in writing should be made at the time of the order, or it will be deemed waived. Dean v. Feeley, 66 Ga. 273.

Court of appearance.— A citation issued to the executor of a deceased assignee to revive the suit against him must show with certainty in what court he must appear. Waddill v. John, 48 Ala. 232.

Supplementary complaint.—In Minnesota a supplementary complaint to continue a cause made a year after the decease of a party should set forth, not only the grounds upon which the application is based, but also some sufficient excuse for the delay in making it. Stocking v. Hanson, 22 Minn. 542.

Detinue.—A scire facias to revive an action of detinue against the administrator should suggest the coming of the property into the hands of the administrator since the death of the testator. Hunt v. Martin, 8 Gratt. (Va.) 578; Catlett v. Russell, 6 Leigh (Va.) 344; Allen v. Harlan, 6 Leigh (Va.) 42, 29 Am. Dec. 205.

15. Ex p. Sayre, 69 Ala. 184, wherein it was held that leave granted to revive against defendant's personal representative without giving the representative's name or adding "when known" does not amount to a motion to revive. See also Caller v. Malone, 1 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 305, wherein it was held that a scire facias to bring in the representatives of a deceased party must be directed to them in their representative capacity. But see Preston v. Dunn, 25 Ala. 507, wherein it was held that where an infant defendant to a bill of revivor is described as the deceased defendant's "only infant son, whose name is unknown," the decree rendered against him is not void for uncertainty and cannot be collaterally impeached, especially when the infant, by his subsequent bill to redeem lands sold under the decree, shows that he is the person against whom the bill of revivor was filed. And see McCracken v. Nelson, 15 Lea (Tenn.) 312, wherein it was held that where one is actually served in scire facias to revive, the revivor is valid although the party so served was not named in the order, or although the officer's return misstated the name. Compare Brigham v. Smith, 2 Ch. Chamb. (U. C.) 257.

Names of heirs.— A bill of revivor against an administrator and minor heirs must state the name of at least one of the heirs. Pickering v. Walcott, 1 Ind. 262.

16. California.— Campbell v. West, 93 Cal. 653, 29 Pac. 219.

Kentucky.—Walter v. Clark, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 629.

New Jersey.— Grant v. Chambers, 7 N. J. Eq. 223.

New York.— Northrup v. Smith, 58 N. Y. Super. Ct. 120, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 802; Jauncey v. Rutherford, 9 Paige (N. Y.) 273; Rogers v. Paterson, 4 Paige (N. Y.) 409; Wilkinson v. Parish, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 653; Phinney v. Phinney, 17 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 197; Spier v. Robinson, 9 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 325.

Texas.— Houston, etc., R. Co. v. Rogers, 15 Tex. Civ. App. 680, 39 S. W. 1112.

Applications of the rule.— Where a person moving to be substituted as plaintiff claims under assignments made by the administratrix of the deceased plaintiff, the assignments should be put in evidence so that the court may judge if they have the efficacy claimed; and a petition which alleges that the cause of action was duly assigned by the administratrix by an instrument duly executed to a third person, who thereafter transferred the same to petitioner, states mere results of opinion and is insufficient. Northrup v. Smith, 58 N. Y. Super. Ct. 120, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 802.

An amended complaint alleged that the original plaintiff died testate, and that D. was "duly appointed and qualified as executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, and ever since has been, and now is, the duly acting and qualified executor of the estate of said deceased." It was held that while the allegation of representative capacity would have been insufficient if the action had been originally brought by the executor, it served the purpose where the amended complaint was filed by leave of court, in connection with a decree, for the purpose of showing that the action was continued in the name of plaintiff as executor. Campbell v. West, 93 Cal. 653, 29 Pac. 219.

In a supplemental complaint by a devisee of an original plaintiff, an allegation that the latter died on, etc., and by his last will devised all his interest in the said land to plaintiff, his son, is sufficient on demurrer. Phinney v. Phinney, 17 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 197; Spier v. Robinson, 9 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 325.

(B) Bills of Revivor and Supplement—(1) In General. One who files a bill of revivor or bill in the nature of a bill of revivor and supplement should state so much of the original bill as is necessary to show that he has a right to revive.[17]

(2) Introduction of New Matter. New matter may be introduced into a bill of revivor or bill in the nature of a bill of revivor and supplement, to the end that defects in the original bill arising from subsequent events may be supplied.[18] But this cannot be done where there is nothing in the original bill by which it may be sustained.[19]

(3) Parties to Bill. In a bill of revivor, or a bill in the nature of a bill of revivor, filed by a person who was not a party to the original suit, all the surviving parties to such original suit who have any interest in the further proceedings to be had therein should be made parties, either as complainants or defendants.[20] But where the abatement of a suit is caused by the death of one of several defendants, and the suit is revived by complainant in the original suit, it appears to be only necessary, in a simple bill of revivor, to bring the representatives of deceased before the court without making surviving defendants parties to such bill.[21]

An allegation in a petition for substitution that petitioner is a "legal representative" is insufficient. Petitioner must allege a valid appointment, by a court of competent jurisdiction, as executor or administrator of the decedent's estate. Houston, etc., R. Co. v. Rogers, 15 Tex. Civ. App. 680, 39 S. W. 1112.

17. Feemster v. Markham, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 303, 19 Am. Dec. 131; Taylor v. Taylor, 43 N. Y. 578; Gillett v. Robbins, 12 Wis. 319; Griffith v. Ricketts, 3 Hare 476; Vigers v. Audley, 9 Sim. 72; Phelps v. Sproule, 4 Sim. 318.

Applications of the rule.—A statement in a bill of revivor that complainants therein are the heirs at law of complainant in the original bill, who has died intestate, is a sufficient allegation of heirship without a more minute statement of the facts which show them to be such heirs. Gillett v. Robbins, 12 Wis. 319.

In a bill of revivor it is only necessary to state how plaintiff became entitled to revive, and to charge that the cause ought to be revived and to stand in the same condition with respect to the parties to the original bill as it was at the time the abatement happened. Taylor v. Taylor, 43 N. Y. 578.

Where a party brings his bill in his own right as assignee he cannot be entitled to a decree as administrator of his assignor on simply stating, in a supplemental bill, that since the suit was commenced the assignor had died and that complainant had become his administrator. Walter v. Clark, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 629.

A conveyed land to B, and B gave back a deed of defeasance providing for a reconveyance on A's paying, etc. A filed a bill to redeem, and, after answer, replication, and some proofs, died. C filed a bill stating the proceedings on A's bill, and that A, in his lifetime, conveyed all his interest in the premises to him, C, and praying that the said suit of A might stand revived, etc., without saying in what character C sought to revive. B pleaded that D was the true administrator of the personal estate of A, and not B. It was held that the plea was properly sustained. Grant v. Chambers, 7 N. J. Eq. 223.

Rule in Tennessee.—A bill of revivor resorted to in place of a scire facias need state only the matters required by statute to be stated in a scire facias when that remedy is used. Foster v. Burem, 1 Heisk. (Tenn.) 783.

18. Alabama.—Bowie v. Minter, 2 Ala. 406.

New Hampshire.—Eastman v. Batchelder, 36 N. H. 141.

New York.—Pendleton v. Fay, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 204; Westcott v. Cady, 5 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 334, 9 Am. Dec. 306.

Rhode Island.—Manchester v. Mathewson, 2 R. I. 416.

England.—Bampton v. Birchall, 5 Beav. 330.

Remedy for introduction of improper matter.—If the matter added be irrelevant or improper, defendant may avail himself of the objection by plea, by demurrer, or by exceptions for impertinence. Bowie v. Minter, 2 Ala. 406; Randolph v. Dickerson, 5 Paige (N. Y.) 517; Pendleton v. Fay, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 204.

19. The original bill must show a case for complainant, otherwise new matter would be a new cause in court. Eastman v. Batchelder, 36 N. H. 141; Westcott v. Cady, 5 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 334, 9 Am. Dec. 306; Bampton v. Birchall, 5 Beav. 330.

20. Peer v. Cookerow, 14 N. J. Eq. 361; Penniman v. Norton, 1 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 246; Farmers' L. & T. Co. v. Seymour, 9 Paige (N. Y.) 538.

21. Farmers' L. & T. Co. v. Seymour, 9 Paige (N. Y.) 538. See also Randolph v. Dickerson, 5 Paige (N. Y.) 517, wherein it was held that where a complainant files a bill to set aside a conveyance made by him on the ground of fraud in obtaining it, if the suit abates by the death of complainant, and the wife of defendant is one of the heirs at law, the other heirs may file a bill of revivor against the wife and her husband without alleging therein that she refused to join.

(4) Demurrer to Bill. If the bill is not properly a bill of revivor, or if supplemental matter is improperly inserted in it, defendant may demur.[22] But a bill of revivor cannot be demurred to for want of a party who was not before the court at the time of the abatement of the suit.[23]

(5) Answer to Bill. No answer to a bill of revivor is either necessary or proper except to put in issue the fact as to whether the party sought to be brought in bears such a relation to deceased as makes him a proper party; as, for example, whether he is the heir at law or administrator or executor of such deceased party.[24]

e. Notice of Application — (1) Necessity of Notice — (A) In General. In some states the practice requires that notice of an application to revive be given to the opposite party.[25] But where one of the surviving parties has no interest in the question and would have no right to resist the application notice, it seems, is not necessary.[26]

The same principle is applicable to a supplemental bill in the nature of a bill of revivor to revive or continue the suit against the devisee or assignee of one of the original defendants. Farmers' L. & T. Co. v. Seymour, 9 Paige (N. Y.) 538.

22. Bowie v. Minter, 2 Ala. 406; Bornsdorff v. Lord, 41 Barb. (N. Y.) 211; Randolph v. Dickerson, 5 Paige (N. Y.) 517; Nanney v. Totty, 11 Price 117; Codrington v. Houlditch, 5 Sim. 286; Lewis v. Bridgman, 2 Sim. 465.

Demurrer to supplemental matter.— Where supplemental matter is improperly inserted in a bill of revivor and supplement it does not authorize defendant to demur to the whole bill; he should demur to the supplemental matter only. Randolph v. Dickerson, 5 Paige (N. Y.) 517.

Scire facias.—A defendant may plead or demur to a scire facias given by statute to revive a suit in the same manner as he could to a bill of revivor under the old chancery practice. Vaughan v. Wilson, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 480.

23. Bettes v. Dana, 2 Sumn. (U. S.) 383, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,368; Metcalfe v. Metcalfe, 1 Keen 74.

And this rule holds good notwithstanding the suit might have been imperfect without such party, as it is not the office of a demurrer to a bill of revivor to correct such imperfection. Metcalfe v. Metcalfe, 1 Keen 74.

24. Story Eq. Pl. §§ 370, 377; Feemster v. Markham, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 303, 19 Am. Dec. 131; Quick v. Campbell, 44 S. C. 386, 22 S. E. 479; Dunham v. Carson, 42 S. C. 383, 20 S. E. 197; Fretz v. Stover, 22 Wall. (U. S.) 198, 22 L. ed. 769; Gunnell v. Bird, 10 Wall. (U. S.) 304, 19 L. ed. 913; Sharon v. Terry, 36 Fed. 337, 1 L. R. A. 572. But see Douglass v. Sherman, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 358, wherein it was held that it sometimes becomes necessary, on a simple bill of revivor, to call for an answer, as in the case of an executor or administrator of a deceased defendant, to ascertain whether he has assets to pay complainant's demand.

Accordingly statements in an answer to a bill of revivor which merely show irregularity and misconduct in the former proceedings in the suit are impertinent. Wagstaff v. Bryan, 1 Russ. & M. 28.

Admission by failure to answer.—If a party fails to answer a bill of revivor against the administrator of a defendant to the original bill, the fact that he was such administrator must be considered as admitted by such failure. Sprague v. Sprague, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 331.

25. The reason for this notice is that he may have an opportunity to be heard as to the right of the applicant to revive.

Alabama.— Wells v. American Mortg. Co., 109 Ala. 430, 20 So. 136; Floyd v. Ritter, 65 Ala. 501.

Georgia.— Meeks v. Johnson, 75 Ga. 629.

Minnesota.—Lee v. O'Shaughnessy, 20 Minn. 173.

New York.— Douglass v. Sherman, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 358; White v. Buloid, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 475; Gordon v. Sterling, 13 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 405.

Ohio.— Bishop v. Stoddard, 1 Cleve. L. Rep. 201, 4 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 276.

Oregon.— White v. Ladd, 34 Oreg. 422, 56 Pac. 515.

Texas.— Beck v. Avondino, 20 Tex. Civ. App. 330, 50 S. W. 207.

Wisconsin.— Brooks v. Northey, 48 Wis. 455, 4 N. W. 589.

Canada.— Goodeve v. Manners, 4 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 101.

In California the practice in case of the death of a party to an action is to allow the substitution of his legal representative to be made upon suggestion of the death on an ex parte motion showing the appointment and qualification of the executor or administrator of the estate of the deceased party. Campbell v. West, 93 Cal. 653, 29 Pac. 219; Taylor v. Western Pac. R. Co., 45 Cal. 323.

Waiver of notice.— Where plaintiff dies while the cause is pending on demurrer to the complaint, and the court makes an order reviving the action in the name of one who petitions therefor as executor of such deceased, and defendant afterward appears and argues the demurrer without moving to set aside the order for want of notice to him of the petition, such objection is waived. Brooks v. Northey, 48 Wis. 455, 4 N. W. 589.

26. Gordon v. Sterling, 13 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 405. See also White v. Ladd, 34 Oreg. 422, 56 Pac. 515, wherein it was held that if the original defendant was not served before his

(B) Bills of Revivor—(1) DEATH OF PLAINTIFF. By the standard practice in chancery the representatives of a deceased plaintiff, on filing a bill of revivor, should cause process to issue on the bill in the absence of the voluntary appearance of defendant.[27]

(2) DEATH OF DEFENDANT. So a suit in equity cannot be revived by bill of revivor against the representatives of a deceased defendant, in the absence of their voluntary appearance without process executed upon them.[28]

(II) SERVICE OF NOTICE—(A) In General. A process to make parties on the death of a party should be served.[29]

(B) Bills of Revivor. Process should be executed on a bill of revivor in the same manner as process on an original bill.[30]

(III) APPEARANCE AS WAIVER OF NOTICE. But appearance without questioning the want of notice is a waiver of such notice.[31] death, and did not appear, his representative is not entitled to notice of an application for an order of continuance, since on the service of summons he can make all objections that could have been urged on the application for the order.

27. Barnes v. Smith, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 311; Hall v. Johnston, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 284; Stout v. Higbee, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 632; Shields v. Craig, 6 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 373; Roberts v. Elliott, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 395; Sweets v. Biggs, 5 Litt. (Ky.) 17; Robenson v. Hopkins, 3 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 564; Yates v. Payne, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 412; Duguid v. Patterson, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 445.

28. Chambers v. Warren, 6 B. Mon. (Ky.) 244; Moss v. Scott, 2 Dana (Ky.) 271; Kincart v. Sanders, 2 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 26; Lawrence v. Bolton, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 294; Lewis v. Outlaw, 1 Overt. (Tenn.) 139. But see MacGregor v. Gardner, 14 Iowa 326, wherein it was held that the heirs and executors of a deceased person, who were all co-defendants with him in a proceeding in chancery, pending which he died, are to be charged with notice of his decease and of their substitution as his legal representatives; and they cannot object to the decree, upon appeal, on the ground that they were not made parties, as deceased's representatives, by service of original notice.

Service on part of defendants.— A decree upon a bill of revivor against a foreign executor, without actual service upon him, and against resident heirs and devisees who are served with process within the jurisdiction, though void as to the executor for want of jurisdiction, is not void as to the heirs and devisees. Warren v. Hall, 6 Dana (Ky.) 450.

29. Wells v. American Mortg. Co., 109 Ala. 430, 20 So. 136; Holland v. Holland, 131 Ind. 196, 30 N. E. 1075; Segars v. Segars, 76 Me. 96; Harkness v. Austin, 36 Mo. 47; Ferris v. Hunt, 18 Mo. 480.

In Vermont, on the death of a party, the action is continued until the appointment of an executor or administrator, who may thereupon appear voluntarily to prosecute or defend the action. If he does not appear voluntarily it is made the duty of the surviving party to cite him in. Babcock v. Culver, 46 Vt. 715.

Upon whom served.— Where the heirs of a deceased plaintiff to a bill in equity against whom a revivor is sought are infants residing with their mother, the widow of their deceased ancestor, a service of summons to answer, made on them personally and not on the mother, is sufficient. Wells v. American Mortg. Co., 109 Ala. 430, 20 So. 136.

An acknowledgment of service by an attorney is not equivalent to legal service where no appearance follows. Segars v. Segars, 76 Me. 96.

Time of service.— In Doering v. Kenamore, 36 Mo. App. 147, it appeared that a scire facias to revive a suit, the defendant in which had deceased intestate, was issued before the appointment of an administrator and directed to one K., individually, who was subsequently appointed administrator of the deceased's estate. It was held that an order made thereon, reviving the suit as against K. as administrator, was a nullity. In Segars v. Segars, 76 Me. 96, it was held that a citation issued before the time allowed for the representative to appear voluntarily is of no effect.

30. Chambers v. Warren, 6 B. Mon. (Ky.) 244; Moss v. Scott, 2 Dana (Ky.) 271; Barnes v. Smith, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 311; Hall v. Johnston, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 284; Stout v. Higbee, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 632; Shields v. Craig, 6 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 373; Roberts v. Elliott, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 395; Sweets v. Biggs, 5 Litt. (Ky.) 17; Robenson v. Hopkins, 3 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 564; Kincart v. Sanders, 2 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 26; Lawrence v. Bolton, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 294; Lewis v. Outlaw, 1 Overt. (Tenn.) 139; Yates v. Payne, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 412; Duguid v. Patterson, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 445.

Absent defendants.— The practice as to reviving where plaintiff dies and there are absent and home defendants is to issue process to revive as well against the absent as against the home defendant, and then to make publication. Yates v. Payne, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 412; Duguid v. Patterson, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 445. See also Foster v. Burem, 1 Heisk. (Tenn.) 783, wherein it was held that the Tennessee statute authorizing publication in lieu of personal service of process in certain specific cases is applicable to bills of revivor, and the difficulty of non-residents may be thereby obviated. To same effect is Otis v. Wells, 1 Edw. (N. Y.) 83.

31. Alabama.— Parker v. Abrams, 50 Ala. 35.

f. Proof of Title to Revive — (I) In General. An applicant for the revival of a suit should prove both the death of the party necessitating the revival and his own title to revive.[32]

(II) Revival by Personal Representatives. In case of a revival by a personal representative there should be proof of the death of his decedent and of his own appointment as personal representative.[33] It has been held, however, that the court may permit a petitioner to continue an action without proof of his representative capacity where such capacity is not denied by the opposite party.[34]

g. Objections to Revival — (I) In General. Where persons claiming to be Indiana.— Watson v. State, 21 Ind. 109.

Kentucky.—Bently v. Gregory, 7 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 368; Roberts v. Elliott, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 395.

North Carolina.— Alexander v. Patton, 90 N. C. 557; Newland v. Tate, 38 N. C. 226.

Texas.— Boone v. Roberts, 1 Tex. 147.

United States.—Wilson v. Codman, 3 Cranch (U. S.) 193, 2 L. ed. 408.

32. Alabama.—Copewood v. Taylor, 7 Port. (Ala.) 33.

Louisiana.—Hawkins v. Dartest, 3 La. Ann 547.

Mississippi.— Myrick v. McRaven, 54 Miss 11; Clifton v. Galbraith, 23 Miss. 292.

New York.—Boynton v. Hoyt, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 53; Day v. Potter, 9 Paige (N. Y.) 645.

Tennessee.— Anderson v. McNeal, 4 Lea (Tenn.) 303; Settle v. Settle, 10 Humphr. (Tenn.) 474.

But see Stebbins v. Duncan, 108 U. S. 32, 2 S. Ct. 313, 27 L. ed. 641, wherein it was held that the suggestion of the death of the sole plaintiff, and the substitution of his heir, without objection, settles prima facie the fact of his death, and the defendant cannot on the trial require further proof thereof without notice of his purpose to raise that issue. See also Isham v. Davison, 3 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 745, which was an action originally brought by plaintiff's testator, and continued in the name of plaintiff as executrix. It was held that the fact that the court had, on suggestion of the testator's death, ordered the action to be revived in the name of plaintiff as executrix was an answer to the objection that there was no proof of the testator's death.

Amicable scire facias.—In Pennsylvania, if the person coming in is denied to be the legal representative of plaintiff, the court, on reasonable ground laid, will order the parties to appear to an amicable scire facias, to which this defense may be made, and will stay proceedings in the meantime. Deiser v. Sterling, 10 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 119.

Oral suggestion of death.— In Louisiana it has been held that a mere oral suggestion of plaintiff's death made on the day fixed for trial, without being supported by affidavit, is insufficient. Hawkins v. Dartest, 3 La. Ann. 547.

Proof of heirship.— In Tennessee proof of heirship may be made in open court or by the depositions of witnesses taken upon notice or before the clerk upon a reference to him for that purpose. Campbell v. Hubbard, 11 Lea (Tenn.) 6.

33. Conwell v. Watkins, 71 Ill. 488; Vickery v. Beir, 16 Mich. 50; Douglass v. Sherman, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 358. See also Moore v. Rand, 1 Wis. 245, wherein it was held that if an appearance has been entered by an administrator on the death of his intestate pending the suit, his right to appear must be proved in the same manner as though he had originally commenced the suit, but he cannot be required to prove it before he becomes a party.

Presumption of proof.— The action of the court in ordering the revival of a cause in the name of a certain person claiming to be administratrix of the deceased party will be presumed to have been based on sufficient proof of the appointment of the administratrix, where the record fails to show that any evidence was offered on that point. Hendrix v. Rieman, 6 Nebr. 516.

Production of letters testamentary.— The opposite party may insist upon the production of the letters testamentary before the executor will be permitted to prosecute. Wilson v. Codman, 3 Cranch (U. S.) 193, 2 L. ed. 408. But see Curry v. Paine, 3 Ala. 154, wherein it was held that, in a proceeding to revive a suit in the name of an administrator, defendant, after pleading the general issue, cannot require the production of the letters of administration.

Waiver of proof.—In Brooks v. Northey, 48 Wis. 455, 4 N. W. 589, it was held that where plaintiff dies while the cause is pending on demurrer to the complaint, and the court makes an order reviving the action in the name of one who petitions therefor as executor of such deceased, and defendant afterward appears and argues the demurrer without moving to set aside the order, on the ground that such order was made without sufficient evidence of the petitioner's representative character, this is a waiver of such objection. See also Bond v. Bishop, 18 La. Ann. 549, wherein it was held that the proper time to require proof of the death of a party to a suit, and of the qualification of the administrator in whose name the suit is revived, is at the time the suggestion of death and the motion to revive are made. Proceeding to trial on the merits is a waiver of proof.

34. Warner v. Shweitzer, 52 N. Y. App. Div. 520, 65 N. Y. Suppl. 384.

the representatives of deceased parties present themselves and move to revive, the adverse party may resist the revivor upon any sufficient ground.[35]

(II) Manner of Raising Objections. In some states the question whether a cause of action survives after the death of plaintiff may be raised by demurrer.[36]

(III) Time of Raising Objections. If a suit is improperly revived, or complainant has no right to revive it, the objection may be made at the hearing.[37] And this is true where revivor is sought by conditional order.[38]

h. Questions Determinable on Proceedings to Revive. The sole questions before the court on proceedings to revive are the competency of the parties to revive and the sufficiency of the application therefor.[39]

10. Order of Revival — a. Necessity. Regularly there should be a formal order of revival on the substitution of a party.[40] It has been held, however, that

35. Campbell v. Hubbard, 11 Lea (Tenn.) 6; Berrigan v. Fleming, 2 Lea (Tenn.) 271; Mayfield v. Stephenson, 6 Baxt. (Tenn.) 397. See also Newman v. Pryor, 18 Ala. 186, wherein it was held that where a suit abated by the death of plaintiff is, without notice, afterward revived on motion under the statute in the name of a third person as his personal representative, the defendant may deny, by plea, the representative character of the new plaintiff, and contest his right to maintain the action.

36. Leggate v. Moulton, 115 Mass. 552.

Motion to dismiss.— The question whether a cause of action survives to the personal representatives cannot be raised by a motion to dismiss the suit after the administratrix has been substituted in the place of the deceased plaintiff, as a motion to dismiss reaches only defects apparent upon the face of the record. Holton v. Daly, 106 Ill. 131.

37. Rowland v. Ladiga, 21 Ala. 9; Douglass v. Sherman, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 358.

Delay in raising objection.— Where executors are substituted for deceased plaintiff July 31, 1872, a plea of ne unques executor, filed Nov. 19, 1872, comes too late. Barton Coal Co. v. Cox, 39 Md. 1, 17 Am. Rep. 525.

Objection that action does not survive.— An objection that a cause of action does not survive on the death of plaintiff may be taken at the trial and is not waived by defendant's consenting to the revival of the action in favor of one claiming the right of action. Mundt v. Glokner, 20 Misc. (N. Y.) 63, 44 N. Y. Suppl. 430.

38. Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. Fox, 56 Nebr. 746, 77 N. W. 130.

39. Georgia.— McArdle v. Bullock, 45 Ga. 89.

Nebraska.— Gillette v. Morrison, 7 Nebr. 263.

New York.— Taylor v. Taylor, 43 N. Y. 578; Palen v. Bushnell, 51 Hun (N. Y.) 423, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 63; Matter of Clute, 50 Hun (N. Y.) 604, 16 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 123, 2 N. Y. Suppl. 874; Boynton v. Hoyt, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 53; McCosker v. Brady, 1 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 329.

North Carolina.— Grant v. Bell, 91 N. C. 495.

South Carolina.— Dunham v. Carson, 42 S. C. 383, 20 S. E. 197.

Tennessee.— Reed v. Brewer, Peck (Tenn.) 275.

United States.—Allen v. Fairbanks, 40 Fed. 188; Bettes v. Dana, 2 Sumn. (U. S.) 383, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,368.

Illustrations.— Upon a summary application to revive an action of ejectment in the name of the deceased plaintiff's representative, the question as to whether the deeds under which plaintiff claimed were illegal and void under a particular statute, or as to the validity of her claim for damages, cannot be raised. Such questions are matters of defense to the action after it is revived. Matter of Clute, 50 Hun (N. Y.) 604, 16 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 123, 2 N. Y. Suppl. 874.

After an action to set aside a conveyance as fraudulent has been referred it is too late, on a motion to revive against defendant's executor, to raise the objection that plaintiff is a non-resident of the state, that his bond is void, or that plaintiffs in the supplementary proceedings are dead and have no personal representatives, as all such questions will be assumed to have been determined before the reference was ordered. Palen v. Bushnell, 51 Hun (N. Y.) 423, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 63.

Where an action survives defendant's death and his executor asks to be made a party defendant, the question of assets or no assets cannot then be raised, having nothing to do with the matter. Grant v. Bell, 91 N. C. 495.

It is not ground for a motion to dismiss a scire facias to revive a suit upon the death of a defendant that the bill does not state a cause of action or is not sustained by the proofs. Allen v. Fairbanks, 40 Fed. 188.

40. Arkansas.— Hodges v. Taylor, (Ark. 1890) 13 S. W. 129; Moore v. Estes, 23 Ark. 152.

Georgia.— McDougald v. Carey, 17 Ga. 185.

Kentucky.— Greer v. Powell, 1 Bush (Ky.) 489; Hunter v. Miller, 6 B. Mon. (Ky.) 612.

Michigan.— Ferguson v. Wilson, (Mich. 1899) 80 N. W. 1006.

Missouri.— Baker v. Crandall, 78 Mo. 584, 47 Am. Rep. 126; Shockley v. Fischer, 21 Mo. App. 551.

New York.—Day v. Potter, 9 Paige (N. Y.) 645.

Tennessee.—Boyd v. Titzer, 6 Coldw. (Tenn.) 568.

England.— Troward v. Bingham, 4 Sim. 483.

Canada.—Matthews v. Mears, 21 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 99.

proceeding in a cause without objection to a formal order of revival is a waiver of such order.[41]

b. Requisites. The order of revival should state the character in which the substituted party is permitted to revive,[42] but it need not show that the court was satisfied of the truth of the facts suggested as the reason for revival.[43]

c. Amendment. The court may during the same term amend an order of revival.[44]

d. Notice. Notice of an order for the continuance of a suit should be given the opposite party.[45]

e. Service. According to the practice in some states an order of revival should be served in the same manner as a summons is served.[46]

But see Moore v. Rand, 1 Wis. 245, wherein it was held that in case of the death of a party while the suit is pending the executor or administrator may appear, the death having been suggested on the record, and take upon himself the prosecution or defense of the suit. No order of the court for the revival of the suit is necessary. To same effect are Tarbox v. French, 27 Wis. 651; Durbin v. Waldo, 15 Wis. 352.

41. Jones v. Acre, Minor (Ala.) 5; Moore v. Estes, 23 Ark. 152; Greer v. Powell, 1 Bush (Ky.) 489; Baker v. Crandall, 78 Mo. 584, 47 Am. Rep. 126; Judy v. St. Louis Ice Mfg., etc., Co., 60 Mo. App. 114; Shockley v. Fischer, 21 Mo. App. 551. See also Ferguson v. Wilson, (Mich. 1899) 80 N. W. 1006, wherein it appeared that after plaintiff's death the suit was revived in the name of his administrator, the order of revival being signed by the attorneys in the case but not by the court. No objection was taken to the form of it when the declaration was filed, but a plea to the general issue was interposed. At the trial objection was made that the case had not been revived. It was held that, it being an order which the court would have granted, the case will be treated as if the court then and there granted the order. And see De Ford v. Furniss, 43 Miss. 132, wherein it appeared that plaintiff in an action died before the cause was ready for trial. His death was suggested and the suit was revived and prosecuted to judgment in the name of his administrator, but the record did not show any formal order of revival. It was held that inasmuch as the record distinctly showed two facts,— the death of plaintiff, and the substitution of the administrator, in his stead, as a party,— the appellate court would not disregard the facts and reverse the judgment merely because the entries in the record were awkwardly and inartificially made.

42. Douglass v. Sherman, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 358.

Names of infants.— The christian names of infant parties need not be inserted in the order of revival. Wilson v. Smith, 22 Gratt. (Va.) 493.

Waiver of irregularities in order.— When defendant is in court and consents to the revival of a suit in the name of an administrator as plaintiff, and at a subsequent term continues the cause, he will be held to have waived all objections to the order of revival. Townsend v. Jeffries, 24 Ala. 329. But where a suit has been irregularly revived no presumption of a waiver of the irregularity can be made against a party not before the court by service of publication. Batre v. Auze, 5 Ala. 173.

43. Miller v. Koger, 9 Humphr. (Tenn.) 231.

44. Shull v. Caughman, 54 S. C. 203, 32 S. E. 301, wherein it was held that the court may during the same term amend an order authorizing an action to be continued against the administrator cum testamento annexo of a deceased defendant by permitting the substitution of the devisee of the deceased for the said administrator.

Vacation of order.— An order of court reviving against the personal representatives of a deceased defendant an action which had abated and by statute did not survive is void, and no error is committed by the court in vacating it at a subsequent term. Garrison v. Burden, 40 Ala. 513.

45. Hodges v. Taylor, (Ark. 1890) 13 S. W. 129; McCreery v. Everding, 44 Cal. 284; Judson v. Love, 35 Cal. 483; Hunter v. Miller, 6 B. Mon. (Ky.) 612; Hawkins v. Marshall, 4 Bibb (Ky.) 472; Harkness v. Austin, 36 Mo. 47; Fine v. Gray, 19 Mo. 33; Ferris v. Hunt, 18 Mo. 480.

46. Arkansas.— McNutt v. State, 48 Ark. 30, 2 S. W. 254; Haley v. Taylor, 39 Ark. 104; Evans v. Davies, 39 Ark. 235.

Kentucky.—Arnyx v. Smith, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 529.

Nebraska.— Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. Fox, 56 Nebr. 746, 77 N. W. 130.

Ohio.— Carter v. Jennings, 24 Ohio St. 182.

Wyoming.— Wolcott v. Fee, 1 Wyo. 255.

Canada.— Smith v. Lines, 1 Ch. Chamb. (U. C.) 398.

See also Lyles v. Haskell, 35 S. C. 391, 14 S. E. 829, wherein it was held that the service of an order of continuance containing substantially all the elements of a summons is sufficient.

Time of service.— In Kentucky, under Civ. Code, §§ 501–509, an order to revive cannot be made within six months from the qualification of the personal representative of defendant; and if made after six months from the qualification and entered of record, if there is no service of the order for twelve months from the time of qualification, or from the time the order could have been made, it is a bar to the right to revive, and plaintiff is required to resort to his action against the

f. Conclusiveness. It has been held that an order of revivor is conclusive upon the point whether the action had been properly revived in the name of the person therein named as plaintiff, and whether a recovery could be had in his name.[47]

11. Proceedings after Revival or Continuance — a. In General. On the revival or continuance of an action the issues and proceedings are taken up at the point where the death of the party as to whom the change is made left them. The new or substituted party takes the place of the former one, and the case proceeds in all respects as if the new party had been in the case from the beginning.[48]

b. Title of Action. An action subsequent to its revival should be entitled according to the character in which the substituted party revives it,[49] and all proceedings thereafter should be had in his name.[50]

c. Continuance. It has been held that the death of a party plaintiff and the personal representatives. Thomson v. Williams, 86 Ky. 15, 4 S. W. 914.

Upon whom served.— Service of the order of revival must be made on the same parties upon whom the subpœna would have to be served if a bill of revivor was filed (Wilkinson v. Parish, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 653), and service upon the attorney of record is insufficient unless a summons may be so served (Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. Fox, 56 Nebr. 746, 77 N. W. 130).

Appearance as waiver of service.—A failure to serve a conditional order of revivor goes only to the jurisdiction of the person and is waived by a voluntary general appearance. Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. Fox, 56 Nebr. 746, 77 N. W. 130. To same effect is Bently v. Gregory, 7 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 368.

47. Underhill v. Crawford, 18 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 112, 29 Barb. (N. Y.) 664. See also Riley v. Gitterman, 55 Hun (N. Y.) 605, 24 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 89, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 38, wherein it was held that an improper order of revival made by the court of appeals cannot be collaterally attacked, but can be remedied only by an application to vacate the order.

48. Alabama.— Wells v. American Mortg. Co., 109 Ala. 430, 20 So. 136; Evans v. Welch, 63 Ala. 250.

Florida.— Parker v. Hendry, 8 Fla. 53.

Indiana.—Champ v. Kendrick, 130 Ind. 549, 30 N. E. 787.

Iowa.— Muldowney v. Illinois Cent. R. Co., 36 Iowa 462.

Kentucky.— French v. Frazier, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 425.

Massachusetts.— Guild v. Richardson, 6 Pick. (Mass.) 364.

Michigan.— Mason v. Finch, 28 Mich. 282.

New Jersey.—Havens v. Seashore Land Co., 57 N. J. Eq. 142, 41 Atl. 755; Marlatt v. Warwick, 19 N. J. Eq. 439.

New York.— Moore v. Hamilton, 44 N. Y. 666; People v. Donohue, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 36; Westcott v. Cady, 5 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 334, 9 Am. Dec. 306; Tindal v. Jones, 11 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 258, 19 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 469; Carpenter v. Willett, 28 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 376.

Oregon— White v. Ladd, 34 Oreg. 422, 56 Pac. 515.

Tennessee.— Berrigan v. Fleming, 2 Lea (Tenn.) 271; Reed v. Brewer, Peck (Tenn.) 275.

Texas.— McCampbell v. Henderson, 50 Tex. 601.

United States.—Green v. Watkins, 6 Wheat. (U. S. 260, 5 L. ed. 256; Hatfield v. Bushnell, 1 Blatchf. (U. S.) 393, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,211; Trigg v. Conway, Hempst. (U. S.) 711, Fed. Cas. No. 14,173.

England.— 1 Bacon Abr. 11.

Canada.— Burke v. Pyne, 2 Ch. Chamb. (U. C.) 193.

Defendant succeeding to interest of co-defendant.—Where, pending an equitable action, the principal defendant dies and the title and interest in the subject-matter of the suit descends to his co-defendants as his heirs, they take his rights of remedy and defense without prejudice by reason of their own stand as defendants in court. Harper v. Drake, 14 Iowa 533.

Order of reference is not affected by the death or substitution of a new party. Moore v. Hamilton, 44 N. Y. 666.

49. Stimpson v. Judge, 41 Mich. 3; Rogers v. Paterson, 4 Paige (N. Y.) 450; Douglass v. Sherman, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 358.

Failure to change title.— In Brandt v. Albers, 6 Nebr. 504, it was held that where, upon the death of plaintiff, there is an order of revivor in the name of the administrator duly entered, the failure of the clerk to change the title of the case accordingly is not fatal to the judgment subsequently rendered. It is a mistake that may be remedied on motion even after judgment.

50. Thorpe v. Starr, 17 Ill. 199. See also Montgomery v. Sawyer, 100 U. S. 571, 25 L. ed. 692, wherein it was held that in Louisiana, if a person dies pending suit against him and the proceedings are continued by his heirs becoming parties, the judgment should be against his succession or them. If, without reference to the revival of the suit, it be entered only against the deceased eo nomine and be so recorded, it is, as a judicial mortgage, void against third persons. But see Clow v. Brown, 1 Yeates (Pa.) 324, wherein it was held that where no declaration has been filed in plaintiff's lifetime, and the suit has been continued after his death, it must be filed in the name of the original party. To the same effect is Haussman v. Reiss, 11 Phila. (Pa.) 196, 33 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 83.

substitution of his administrator do not constitute a sufficient ground for the continuance of the action.[51]

d. Publication De Novo. On the continuance of an action on the death of a plaintiff, publication against defendant should commence de novo and continue for the requisite time.[52]

e. Pleadings. On the revival or continuance of an action the pleadings remain the same as before.[53] They need not be altered by the insertion of the name of the substituted party.[54]

f. Evidence. Evidence properly taken in a cause before the death of a party remains admissible, and is properly used on the final hearing on the revival of the cause.[55]

g. Amount Recoverable. It has been held that as an administrator succeeds to the cause of action as it existed at the time of the death of his intestate he may recover just such damages as the intestate would have been entitled to recover if he had survived.[56] But where a right of action for damages which can survive involves (mingled with but separable from such damages), other damages of a character that die with the party, the revival of the action does not draw the latter with it and permit a recovery therefor.[57]

51. Masterson v. Brown, 51 Iowa 442, 1 N. W. 791; Wilson v. Codman, 3 Cranch (U. S.) 193, 2 L. ed. 408. But see Grove v. Grove, (Ky. 1892) 18 S. W. 456, wherein it was held that where a propounder of a will dies before term-time and a revivor is necessary, the contestants are entitled to a continuance. See also Minor v. Jones, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 480, wherein it was held that the party against whom a suit is revived is allowed one term after the return of process to prepare for trial. But as the rule is for such party's benefit he may waive it. Chew v. Hoe, 4 Hen. & M. (Va.) 489. And see St. Clair v. Hotchkiss, 28 Tex. 474, wherein it was held that unless a representative of a deceased party to a suit in the district court has been served with scire facias to revive five days before the term, he is not liable to answer at the return-term.

52. Reilly v. Hart, 130 N. Y. 625, 29 N. E. 1099, 27 Am. St. Rep. 540.

53. Bentley v. Dickson, 1 Ark. 165; Moore v. Hamilton, 44 N. Y. 666; People v. Donohue, 64 Hun (N. Y.) 635, 19 N. Y. Suppl. 36. See also Woodhouse v. Lee, 6 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 161, wherein it was held that where a defendant dies pending suit and his administrators are brought in by scire facias, a plea filed during the lifetime of the intestate will be considered as the plea of the administrators if they omit to file a plea to the scire facias.

Amendment of complaint.— In Shirk v. Coyle, 2 Ind. App. 354, 27 N. E. 638, it was held that where a defendant dies pending suit and the suit is properly revived against his administrator, the court has jurisdiction of any cause of action stated in any amendment properly allowed to the complaint, though such amendment is allowed after the substitution has taken place.

Filing new declaration.—Where an executor, pending a suit against him, dies after narr. filed, and the administrator is made a party, a new narr. need not be filed. Mitchell v. Williamson, 9 Gill (Md.) 71.

54. Towns v. Mathews, 91 Ga. 546, 17 S. E. 955; Hoes v. Van Alstyne, 20 Ill. 201; Stimpson v. Judge, 41 Mich. 3; Webster v. Hitchcock, 11 Mich. 56; Douglass v. Sherman, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 358. But see Central Branch Union Pac. R. Co. v. Andrews, 34 Kan. 563, 9 Pac. 213, wherein it was held that where an action is revived in the name of the personal representative of deceased plaintiff the petition originally filed should be amended so as to allege, in an issuable form, his representative capacity and the appointment or authority under which he proceeds. See also Simons v. Busby, 119 Ind. 13, 21 N. E. 451, wherein it was held that though a complaint, on the death of defendant and the substitution of his administrator, is not amended so as to aver his death and the appointment of the administrator, yet the defect is merely an informality; and where the administrator appears and answers and the cause appears to have been fairly tried the error is merely an imperfection.

55. Wells v. American Mortg. Co., 109 Ala. 430, 20 So. 136. See also Russell v. Moore, 8 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 700, wherein it was held that where an appeal is taken from a justice to the circuit court, and plaintiff dies, and the suit is revived in the name of his administrator before trial is had in the circuit court, the administrator will be permitted to prove, on the trial in such court, what the plaintiff stated when examined on oath before the justice.

56. Muldowney v. Illinois Cent. R. Co., 36 Iowa 462.

Exemplary damages for wrongful attachment.— The death of plaintiff pending suit for wrongful attachment, and the substitution of his administrator, will not prevent the recovery of exemplary damages which might have been recovered by decedent himself. Union Mill Co. v. Prenzler, 100 Iowa 540, 69 N. W. 876.

57. Cregin v. Brooklyn Crosstown R. Co., 83 N. Y. 595, 38 Am. Rep. 474.

IV. Transfer or Devolution of Title, Right, Interest, or Liability.[58]

A. Abatement or Survival of Action — 1. Plaintiff's Title, Right, or Interest — a. Statement of Rule — (I) At Common Law. At common law the termination, or transfer pendente lite, of the interest of the plaintiff in the subject-matter of the action abated it.[59]

(II) In Equity. It is also a well-settled principle that a complainant in equity suing in his own right, and alone, cannot, after he has parted with his whole interest in the subject-matter of the litigation, further prosecute the suit.[60] It has been held, however, that a transfer by plaintiff of part only of his interest will not abate the suit.[61]

(III) Under the Statute. The common-law rule above stated has been abrogated, however, in most of the states; and it is now the general American doctrine that the termination or transfer of plaintiff's interest in the subject-matter of the action after the commencement thereof furnishes no ground for abatement.[62]

58. As to effect of assignment generally, see Assignments.

As to effect of assignment for benefit of creditors, see Assignments for Benefit of Creditors.

As to effect of bankruptcy, see Bankruptcy.

As to effect of insolvency, see Insolvency.

59. Maine.— Rowell v. Hayden, 40 Me. 582; Howard v. Chadbourne, 5 Me. 15.

Maryland.— Cresap v. Hutson, 9 Gill (Md.) 269.

Massachusetts.— Wolcot v. Knight, 6 Mass. 418.

New Hampshire.— Bailey v. March, 2 N. H. 522.

Pennsylvania.— McCulloch v. Cowher, 5 Watts & S. (Pa.) 427.

United States.— Elliot v. Teal, 5 Sawy. (U. S.) 188, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,389.

Release obtained by duress.— In Weiser v. Welch, 112 Mich. 134, 70 N. W. 438, it was held that a release obtained from plaintiff by duress does not abate the suit.

Severance of joint interest.— Where parties having a joint right of action bring suit and pending the litigation sever their interests, the suit will not abate. Alford v. Dewin, 1 Nev. 207.

Transfer of negotiable instrument.—An action on a promissory note transferred pending suit cannot be further maintained even though it was agreed at the time of the transfer that it should be continued in the name of the plaintiff. Hayden v. Goodnow, 39 Conn. 164; Clark v. Connecticut Peat Co., 35 Conn. 303; Vila v. Weston, 33 Conn. 42; Curtis v. Bemis, 26 Conn. 1, 68 Am. Dec. 377; Lee v. Jilson, 9 Conn. 94; Rothschild v. Bruschke, 33 Ill. App. 282. Contra, Dolberry v. Trice, 49 Ala. 207; Keyser v. Shepherd, 2 Mackey (D. C.) 66; Newberry v. Trowbridge, 13 Mich. 263; Arnold v. Keyes, 37 N. Y. Super. Ct. 135; Converse v. Sorley, 39 Tex. 515.

Transfer of part interest.— Where a plaintiff assigns a part only of his interest in the subject-matter of the suit, an objection that the suit has abated will be overruled. McDonell v. Upper Canada Min. Co., 2 Ch. Chamb. (U. C.) 400.

60. 2 Daniel Ch. Pr. § 1518; Story Eq. Pl. § 348.

Illinois.— Smith v. Brittenham, 109 Ill. 540.

Maine.— Mason v. York, etc., R. Co., 52 Me. 82.

Michigan.— Bigelow v. Booth, 39 Mich. 622; Brewer v. Dodge, 28 Mich. 359; Perkins v. Perkins, 16 Mich. 162; Webster v. Hitchcock, 11 Mich. 56; Wallace v. Dunning, Walk. (Mich.) 416.

New Jersey.— Johnson v. Clarke, (N. J. 1894) 28 Atl. 558; Fulton v. Greacen, 44 N. J. Eq. 443, 15 Atl. 827.

New York.— Van Hook v. Throckmorton, 8 Paige (N. Y.) 33; Mills v. Hoag, 7 Paige (N. Y.) 18, 31 Am. Dec. 271; Sedgwick v. Cleveland, 7 Paige (N. Y.) 287.

Rhode Island.—Bailey v. Smith, 10 R. I. 29.

Wisconsin.— Boyle v. Laird, 2 Wis. 431.

United States.— Tappan v. Smith, 5 Biss. (U. S.) 73, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,748; Hoxie v. Carr, 1 Sumn. (U. S.) 173, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,802; Barnard v. Hartford, etc., R. Co., 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,003.

England.— Binks v. Binks, 2 Bligh 593.

Reassignment.— Where a complainant in a suit in chancery assigns his interest in the subject-matter of the suit pendente lite and obtains a reassignment thereof before any further proceedings are had in the cause, it is not necessary to bring the temporary assignee before the court by a bill in the nature of a bill of revivor, but the party may proceed in the same manner as if no such assignment had been made. Scouten v. Bender, 1 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 647.

61. Begole v. Hershey, 86 Mich. 130, 48 N. W. 790. See also Sharon v. Terry, 36 Fed. 337, 1 L. R. A. 572, wherein it was held that the transfer of plaintiff's property pending a suit to cancel a forged marriage contract will not abate the suit if plaintiff retains a right during his life to claim the rents and profits of the property.

62. Alabama.— Dolberry v. Trice, 49 Ala. 207.

California.— California Cent. R. Co. v. Hooper, 76 Cal. 404, 18 Pac. 599; Walker v. Felt, 54 Cal. 386; Camarillo v. Fenlon, 49 Cal. 202; Barstow v. Newman, 34 Cal. 90; Moss v. Shear, 30 Cal. 467.

Colorado.— Perkins v. Marrs, 15 Colo. 262, 25 Pac. 168.

b. Transfer by Plaintiff to Co-Plaintiff. A transfer by a plaintiff of his interest in the action to a co-plaintiff during the pendency of the suit is no ground for dismissal.[63]

c. Transfer by Plaintiff to Defendant. If, pending a real action, the title to the land in question and the right of possession pass from plaintiff to defendant, this fact may be pleaded to the further maintenance of the suit.[64] It has been held, however, that if one plaintiff in a suit has assigned his interest in the cause of action to the defendants, the remaining plaintiffs may proceed with the suit and recover the judgment to which they are entitled.[65]

2. Defendant's Title, Interest, or Liability. An assignment, by a defendant, of his interest in the subject-matter of a pending suit does not necessarily defeat the suit.[66] But it has been held that where one of several defendants

District of Columbia.— Keyser v. Shepherd, 2 Mackey (D. C.) 66.

Georgia.— Wood v. McGuire, 21 Ga. 576.

Indiana.— Mathis v. Thomas, 101 Ind. 119; Taylor v. Elliott, 52 Ind. 588; Keller v. Miller, 17 Ind. 206.

Iowa.— Kreuger v. Sylvester, 100 Iowa 647, 69 N. W. 1059; Price v. Baldauf, 90 Iowa 205, 57 N. W. 710; Chickasaw County v. Pitcher, 36 Iowa 593; Jordan v. Ping, 32 Iowa 64.

Kansas.— Werner v. Hatton, 54 Kan. 250, 38 Pac. 279; Crocker v. Ball, (Kan. App. 1900) 59 Pac. 691.

Kentucky.— Smith v. Price, (Ky. 1890) 13 S. W. 428; Bonta v. Clay, 5 Litt. (Ky.) 129; Jackson v. Jeffries, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 88.

Louisiana.— Blake v. State Bank, 22 La. Ann. 572.

Maine.— Berry v. Whitaker, 58 Me. 422.

Massachusetts.— Hooton v. Holt, 139 Mass. 54, 29 N. E. 221; Casey v. King, 98 Mass. 503; King v. Lawson, 98 Mass. 309; Blish v. Harlow, 15 Gray (Mass.) 316.

Michigan.— McKenzie v. A. P. Cook Co., 113 Mich. 452, 71 N. W. 868; Rajnowski v. Detroit, etc., R. Co., 78 Mich. 681, 44 N. W. 335; Toledo, etc., R. Co. v. Johnson, 55 Mich. 456, 21 N. W. 888; Snyder v. Hemmingway, 47 Mich. 549, 11 N. W. 381; Michigan Cent. R. Co. v. McNaughton, 45 Mich. 87, 7 N. W. 712; Moon v. Harder, 38 Mich. 566; Peters v. Gallagher, 37 Mich. 407.

Minnesota.— Chisholm v. Chitherall, 12 Minn. 375; Whitacre v. Culver, 9 Minn. 295.

Missouri.— State v. Philips, 97 Mo. 331, 10 S. W. 855; Smith v. Phelps, 74 Mo. 598; Spurlock v. Sproule, 72 Mo. 503; Green's Bank v. Wickham, 23 Mo. App. 663.

Montana.— Campbell v. Irvine, 17 Mont. 476, 43 Pac. 626.

Nebraska.— Howell v. Alma Milling Co., 36 Nebr. 80, 54 N. W. 126, 38 Am. St. Rep. 694; Northeastern Nebraska R. Co. v. Frazier, 25 Nebr. 42, 40 N. W. 604; Dodge v. Omaha, etc., R. Co., 20 Nebr. 276, 29 N. W. 936; Temple v. Smith, 13 Nebr. 513, 14 N. W. 527; Magemau v. Bell, 13 Nebr. 247, 13 N. W. 277.

Nevada.— Virgin v. Brubaker, 4 Nev. 31.

New York.— McGean v. Metropolitan El. R. Co., 133 N. Y. 9, 30 N. E. 647; Hirshfeld v. Bopp, 27 N. Y. App. Div. 180, 50 N. Y. Suppl. 676; Mutual Bank v. Burrell, 29 Misc. (N. Y.) 322, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 522; Boston Woven Hose, etc., Co. v. Jackson, 25 Misc. (N. Y.) 781, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 573; Pegram v. New York El. R. Co., 8 Misc. (N. Y.) 425, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 592; Arnold v. Keyes, 37 N. Y. Super. Ct. 135; Moss v. New York El. R. Co., 27 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 318, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 586; Van Rensselaer v. Owen, 33 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 12; Emmet v. Bowers, 23 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 300; St. John v. Croel, 10 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 253; Ford v. David, 1 Bosw. (N. Y.) 569.

North Carolina.— Murray v. Blackledge, 71 N. C. 492.

Pennsylvania.— McClure v. McClure, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 117, 7 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 195.

Texas.— Lee v. Salinas, 15 Tex. 495; Ostrom v. Layer, (Tex. Civ. App. 1898) 48 S. W. 1095; Drouilhet v. Pinckard, (Tex. Civ. App. 1897) 42 S. W. 135; Bailey v. Laws, 3 Tex. Civ. App. 529, 23 S. W. 20.

Wisconsin.—La Pointe v. O'Malley, 47 Wis. 332, 2 N. W. 632; Noonan v. Orton, 31 Wis. 265, 34 Wis. 259, 17 Am. Rep. 441.

United States.— Rodgers v. Pitt, 96 Fed. 668; Elliot v. Teal, 5 Sawy. (U. S.) 188, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,389; French v. Edwards, 4 Sawy. (U. S.) 125, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,097.

Ejectment.— In Michigan the general rule that judgment in ejectment is determined by the state of the title at the beginning of suit is modified by Mich. Comp. Laws, § 6232, which makes the expiration of plaintiff's title pending suit and before trial operate in partial abatement of the action. Hurd v. Raymond, 50 Mich. 369, 15 N. W. 514.

63. Luebbering v. Oberkoetter, 1 Mo. App. 393; Magemau v. Bell, 13 Nebr. 247, 13 N. W. 277. See also Coburn v. Palmer, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 124, wherein it was held that an action by two landlords, under Mass. Rev. Stat. c. 104, against a tenant is not abated by a release of his interest by one plaintiff to the other. But see McCulloch v. Cowher, 5 Watts & S. (Pa.) 427, wherein it was held that where one of two plaintiffs conveys his interest to his co-plaintiff after action brought, such co-plaintiff cannot recover.

64. Leavitt v. School Dist. No. 19, 78 Me. 574, 7 Atl. 600.

65. McPike v. McPherson, 41 Mo. 521.

66. Moseley v. Albany Northern R. Co., 14 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 71; Ex p. South, etc., Alabama R. Co., 95 U. S. 221, 24 L. ed. 355.

In detinue, if, after action brought and issue joined, plaintiff gets possession of the thing sued for, that fact may be pleaded since the last continuance in abatement of the suit, assigns to the complainant, the suit abates if the principal relief was sought against such defendant.[67]

3. Termination or Devolution of Representative or Official Capacity[68] — a. Actions by or against Executors and Administrators. Authorities are not wanting which hold that an action by or against an executor or administrator as such is not abated by the resignation, discharge, or removal of such executor or administrator pending the action.[69]

b. Actions by Guardians — (1) In General. An action by a guardian as such is not abated by his resignation or removal pending the action.[70] but it seems that it would not be a good plea in bar. Morgan v. Cone, 18 N. C. 234 [overruling Merritt v. Merritt, 1 N. C. 1].

Transfer to co-defendant.— In partition, where some defendants have conveyed their interest to others, the suit may be dismissed as to the alienors, or the jury may find in their favor on a plea of non tenent insimul, but the suit will not be dismissed entirely. McClure v. McClure, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 117, 7 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 195.

67. Widner v. Olmstead, 14 Mich. 124.

Dissolution of municipal corporation.— In Bowlby v. Dover, (N. J. 1899) 44 Atl. 844, it appeared that a certiorari was issued against a city corporation pending proceedings by quo warranto to dissolve it, and before the certiorari was brought to a hearing a judgment of ouster was rendered, and the municipal government passed into the control of a previously existing town corporation. It was held that judgment should not be pronounced on the certiorari unless the town corporation was brought into court, and, the prosecutor having failed to bring it in before the hearing, the certiorari should be dismissed. See also Plunkett's Creek Tp. v. Crawford, 27 Pa. St. 107; O'Connor v. Memphis, 6 Lea (Tenn.) 730.

Voluntary dissolution of corporation.— In Owen v. Kellogg, 56 Hun (N. Y.) 455, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 75, it was held that there is no "devolution of liability" where a receiver is appointed on the voluntary dissolution of a corporation, within N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 756, providing that in case of a "devolution of liability" an action may be continued against the original party unless the court directs the person on whom the liability is devolved to be substituted in the action or joined with the original party, as the case requires. Compare People v. Troy Steel, etc., Co., 82 Hun (N. Y.) 303, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 337.

68. See case cited infra, notes 69–76.

69. Alabama.—Lunsford v. Lunsford, (Ala. 1899) 25 So. 171; Ex p. Jones, 54 Ala. 108; Townsend v. Jeffries, 24 Ala. 329; Witherington v. Brantley, 18 Ala. 197; Elliott v. Eslava, 3 Ala. 568.

Arkansas.— Hill v. Bryant, 61 Ark. 203, 32 S. W. 506.

California.— Peck v. Agnew, 126 Cal. 607, 59 Pac. 125.

Massachusetts.—National Bank v. Stanton, 116 Mass. 435.

Mississippi.— Cox v. Martin, 75 Miss. 229, 21 So. 611, 65 Am. St. Rep. 604, 36 L. R. A. 800.

Nebraska.— Burlington, etc., R. Co. v. Crockett, 17 Nebr. 570, 24 N. W. 219.

South Carolina.— Henderson v. McClure, 2 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 466.

Texas.— Hall v. Pearman, 20 Tex. 168.

United States.— Taylor v. Savage, 1 How. (U. S.) 282, 11 L. ed. 132, 2 How. (U. S.) 395, 11 L. ed. 313.

But see Vaugh v. Cox, 27 Miss. 701, wherein it was held that a bill to enjoin an executor from removing decedent's property, in possession of complainants, out of the state, with a view of defeating the rights of complainants as creditors, and to require the executor to apply the property in payment of complainants' debt and to permit complainants to retain the property until such security should be given, abates on the resignation of the executor and should not be revived against administrators de bonis non appointed by the probate court. See also Gormly v. Skinner, Wright (Ohio) 680, wherein it was held that in the absence of a saving statute the removal of an executor pending an action against him as such abates the suit.

Action for account.— Pending a suit against an administrator for an account, and where the cause was nearly ready for a decree, the administration was revoked and administration was immediately granted to another person. It was held that the plaintiff might proceed to a decree by making the new administrator a party to the suit. Henderson v. McClure, 2 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 466.

Pendency of removal proceedings.— The pendency of proceedings to remove an administrator de bonis non is not a ground for staying or abating proceedings in an action brought by him. Langsdale v. Woollen, 99 Ind. 575.

Public administrator.— A suit by or against a public administrator does not abate by such administrator's going out of office pending the action. Russell v. Erwin, 41 Ala. 292; Carley v. Barnes, 11 Ark. 291; Burras v. Looker, 2 Edw. (N. Y.) 499. And where, pending a suit against the ordinary who had taken charge of a derelict estate to enforce a debt of the intestate, the act under which the suit was instituted was repealed, a plea setting up such repeal in abatement is insufficient without a further plea of plene administravit or plene administravit præter. Strobhart v. Morrall, 7 Rich. (S. C.) 140.

70. Horning v. Poyer, 18 Ohio Cir. Ct. 732. See also Wade v. Carpenter, 4 Iowa 361, wherein it was held that the resignation of a guardian pending proceedings for the sale of his ward's realty does not abate such proceedings.

(II) Attainment of Majority by Infant Pending Suit. A suit by a guardian or by an infant by his next friend is not abated by the coming of age of the ward or infant pending the suit.[71]

c. Actions by or against Public Officers — (I) In General. An action by or against a public officer is not abated by a change in the incumbency of the office pending the action, if the action is in its nature by or against the office.[72] But if the delinquency of a public officer is personal and does not involve any charge against the office itself the rule is otherwise.[73]

71. Georgia.— Lasseter v. Simpson, 78 Ga. 61; Sims v. Renwick, 25 Ga. 58.

Indiana.— Holmes v. Adkins, 2 Ind. 398.

Iowa.— Reed v. Lane, 96 Iowa 454, 65 N. W. 380.

Kentucky.— Clements v. Ramsey, (Ky. 1887) 4 S. W. 311.

Mississippi.— Tucker v. Wilson, 68 Miss. 693, 9 So. 898.

New York.— Campbell v. Bowne, 5 Paige (N. Y.) 34.

Ohio.— Gard v. Neff, 39 Ohio St. 607; Hanly v. Levin, 5 Ohio 227.

South Carolina.—Shuttlesworth v. Hughey, 6 Rich. (S. C.) 329, 60 Am. Dec. 130.

Texas.— Zachary v. Gregory, 32 Tex. 452. See also Simpson v. Belvin, 37 Tex. 674.

England.— Ballard v. White, 2 Hare 158, 7 Jur. 506; Anonymous, Cary 22.

See also Hamlin v. Stevenson, 4 Dana (Ky.) 597, wherein it was held that the infancy of plaintiff and the want of a next friend cannot be pleaded in abatement after plaintiff has become of age, though the suit was brought while he was under age. To same effect is Woodman v. Rowe, 59 N. H. 453.

72. Alabama.— Smith v. Inge, 80 Ala. 283; Russell v. Erwin, 41 Ala. 292.

Arkansas.— Edrington v. Mathews, 30 Ark. 665; Carley v. Barnes, 11 Ark. 291.

Colorado.—Nance v. People, 25 Colo. 252, 54 Pac. 631; Parks v. Hays, 11 Colo. App. 415, 53 Pac. 893.

Florida.— Columbia County v. Bryson, 13 Fla. 281.

Kentucky.— Clark v. McKenzie, 7 Bush (Ky.) 523; Lindsey v. Auditor, 3 Bush (Ky.) 231; Maddox v. Graham, 2 Metc. (Ky.) 56; Louisville v. Kean, 18 B. Mon. (Ky.) 9.

Maryland.— State v. Dorsey, 3 Gill & J. (Md.) 75.

Massachusetts.— Holten v. Cook, 12 Mass. 574.

Michigan.— People v. Treasurer, 37 Mich. 351.

Mississippi.— McDuff v. Beauchamp, 50 Miss. 531; Hardee v. Gibbs, 50 Miss. 802.

Nebraska.— State v. Cole, 25 Nebr. 342, 41 N. W. 245.

New York.— Griggs v. Griggs, 56 N. Y. 504; Board of Excise v. Garlinghouse, 45 N. Y. 249; Manchester v. Herrington, 10 N. Y. 164; People v. Carson, 78 Hun (N. Y.) 544, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 619; People v. Board of Police Com'rs, 23 Hun (N. Y.) 351; People v. Cram, 30 Misc. (N. Y.) 561, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 1027; Colegrove v. Breed, 2 Den. (N. Y.) 125; People v. Collins, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 56; People v. Champion, 16 Johns. (N. Y.) 61; Matter of City Bank, 10 Paige (N. Y.) 378; Burras v. Looker, 2 Edw. (N. Y.) 499; Flynn v. Cornell, 24 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 2.

North Carolina.— State v. McKee, 98 N. C. 500, 4 S. E. 545; Pegram v. Cleaveland County, 65 N. C. 114; Anonymous, 2 N. C. 166.

Ohio.— Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Martin, 53 Ohio St. 386, 41 N. E. 690; Covington, etc., Bridge Co. v. Mayer, 31 Ohio St. 317.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Overseers of Poor, 4 Kulp (Pa.) 87.

Rhode Island.— Saunders v. Pendleton, 19 R. I. 659, 36 Atl. 425.

South Carolina.— Clowney v. Foote, 1 Hill (S. C.) 421.

Tennessee.—State v. Puckett, 7 Lea (Tenn.) 709; Felts v. Memphis, 2 Head (Tenn.) 650.

Virginia.— Chapline v. Overseers of Poor, 7 Leigh (Va.) 231, 30 Am. Dec. 504.

Wisconsin.— State v. Warner, 55 Wis. 271, 9 N. W. 795, 13 N. W. 255; State v. Gates, 22 Wis. 210; State v. Madison, 15 Wis. 30.

United States.— Thompson v. U. S., 103 U. S. 480, 26 L. ed. 521; Leavenworth County v. Sellew, 99 U. S. 624, 25 L. ed. 333.

Action by foreign sovereign.— An action by a foreign sovereign does not abate by a change in the person of the sovereign pending the suit. The Sapphire, 11 Wall. (U. S.) 164, 20 L. ed. 127.

Action for teacher's wages.—A suit against the trustees of a school district to recover a teacher's wages does not abate and is not discontinued by the expiration of defendants' term of office pending the suit. Colegrove v. Breed, 2 Den. (N. Y.) 125.

Proceedings in mandamus do not abate by the expiration of defendant's term of office where there is a continuing duty irrespective of the incumbent and the proceeding is undertaken to enforce an obligation of the corporation or municipality to which the office is attached.

Florida.— Columbia County v. Bryson, 13 Fla. 281.

Michigan.— People v. Treasurer, 37 Mich. 351.

New York.— People v. Collins, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 56; People v. Champion, 16 Johns. (N. Y.) 61.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Overseers of Poor, 4 Kulp (Pa.) 87.

United States.— Thompson v. U. S., 103 U. S. 480, 26 L. ed. 521; Leavenworth County v. Sellew, 99 U. S. 624, 25 L. ed. 333.

Contra, State v. Guthrie, 17 Nebr. 113, 22 N. W. 77.

73. Ex p. Rowe, 7 Cal. 175; Beachy v. Lamkin, 1 Idaho 50; Warner Valley Stock Co. v. Smith, 165 U. S. 28, 17 S. Ct. 225, 41

(II) Abolition of Office and Creation of New One. It has been held that a suit by or against a public officer is not abated by the enactment, pending the suit, of a statute abolishing the office and creating a new one in its stead.[74]

d. Actions by Receivers. It has been held that the removal of a receiver of a corporation pending an action brought by him as receiver does not abate the action.[75]

e. Actions by Trustees. Where the trustee of an express trust commences an action on a cause of action relating to the trust estate and resigns or is removed the action is not thereby abated.[76]

B. Continuance or Revival of Action — 1. By and against Whom Action May Be Continued or Revived — a. On Change of Executor or Administrator. On the resignation, removal, or discharge of a personal representative pending an action brought by or against him in his representative capacity the action should be continued in the name of his successor in the administration.[77]

b. On Change of Guardian. Where, pending a suit by a guardian, a new

L. ed. 621; U. S. v. Lochren, 164 U. S. 701, 17 S. Ct. 1001, 41 L. ed. 1181; U. S. v. Chandler, 122 U. S. 643; U. S. v. Boutwell, 17 Wall. (U. S.) 604, 21 L. ed. 721; Secretary v. McGarrahan, 9 Wall. (U. S.) 298, 19 L. ed. 579.

Filing additional bond.— A suit to compel an officer to file an additional office bond abates on his resignation of the office. Ex p. Rowe, 7 Cal. 175.

74. People v. Cram, 30 Misc. (N. Y.) 561, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 1027; Board of Excise v. Garlinghouse, 45 N. Y. 249; Hemingway v. Stansell, 106 U. S. 399, 1 S. Ct. 473, 27 L. ed. 245. See also State v. Black River Phosphate Co., 32 Fla. 82, 13 So. 640, 21 L. R. A. 189, wherein it was held that the Florida act of June 9, 1891, which gives to the board of phosphate commissioners control of the phosphate interests of the state and authorizes it to institute suits and legal proceedings in the name of the state to protect such interests, does not abate an action previously instituted by the attorney-general in the name of the state. But see Judges v. Phillips, 2 Bay (S. C.) 519, wherein it was held that where a suit is brought in the name of "the judges of the county court," and the court is abolished, it is a good plea in abatement that there are no such judges.

Action by use plaintiff.— Where a levy court is abolished pending a suit brought in the name of the state for the use of that court against the obligors in a collector's bond, a plea in abatement puis darrein continuance that the court was abolished will not stop the further prosecution of the suit. State v. Dorsey, 3 Gill & J. (Md.) 75.

75. Hegewisch v. Silver, 140 N. Y. 414, 35 N. E. 658; Sheldon v. Adams, 18 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 405.

76. Dumas v. Robbins, 48 Ala. 545; Cobb v. Edmondson, 30 Ga. 30; Shaw v. Norfolk County R. Co., 16 Gray (Mass.) 407.

Trustees of charity.— If, pending a suit by trustees of a charity, one of the plaintiffs resigns, this may be pleaded in abatement. Adams v. Leland, 7 Pick. (Mass.) 62.

77. Alabama.—Lunsford v. Lunsford, (Ala. 1899) 25 So. 171; Brown v. Tutwiler, 61 Ala. 372; Townsend v. Jeffries, 24 Ala. 329; Elliott v. Eslava, 3 Ala. 568.

California.— More v. More, 127 Cal. 460, 59 Pac. 823.

Massachusetts.—National Bank v. Stanton, 116 Mass. 435; Conkey v. Kingman, 24 Pick. (Mass.) 115.

Mississippi.— Cox v. Martin, 75 Miss. 229, 21 So. 611, 65 Am. St. Rep. 604, 36 L. R. A. 800.

Nebraska.— Burlington, etc., R. Co. v. Crockett, 17 Nebr. 570, 24 N. W. 219.

New Jersey.— Trimmer v. Todd, 52 N. J. Eq. 426, 28 Atl. 581.

Ohio.— Greer v. Howard, 41 Ohio St. 591; Matter of Dunham, 8 Ohio Cir. Ct. 160.

United States.— Taylor v. Savage, 1 How. (U. S.) 282, 11 L. ed. 132, 2 How. (U. S.) 395, 11 L. ed. 313.

Change of one of several representatives.— If there be more than one personal representative the suit will proceed in the name of or against those remaining. Elliott v. Eslava, 3 Ala. 568.

Public administrator.— Where a public administrator goes out of office a suit brought by or against him may be revived in the name of his successor in the administration. Russell v. Erwin, 41 Ala. 292; Carley v. Barnes, 11 Ark. 291; Burras v. Looker, 2 Edw. (N. Y.) 499.

Reinstatement of administrator.— Under Sand. & H. Ark. Dig. (1894) § 5925, providing that when one's powers as personal representative cease before judgment the action may be revived if the right of action survive in favor of his successor, an action by an administrator that had been abated by the revocation pending the action of his letters of administration may be revived by him on his subsequent reinstatement as administrator. Hill v. Bryant, 61 Ark. 203, 32 S. W. 506.

Waiver of failure to revive.— Where an action is commenced by an administrator who is discharged before judgment is rendered, defendants waive revivor in the proper parties when, with notice of the discharge, they fail to plead it. Bailey v. Rockafellow, 57 Ark. 216, 21 S. W. 227.

guardian is appointed, the court may order the latter substituted and that the action proceed in his name.[78]

c. On Change in Incumbency of Public Office. In case of a change in the incumbency of a public office the action may proceed as commenced,[79] or the new incumbent may be substituted.[80]

d. On Change of Receiver. On the resignation or removal of the receiver of a corporation pending an action brought by him as such receiver the action may still be prosecuted in his name,[81] or the new receiver may be substituted as plaintiff.[82]

e. On Change of Trustee. On the resignation of a trustee of an express trust 78. Horning v. Poyer, 18 Ohio Cir. Ct. 732.

79. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Martin, 53 Ohio St. 386, 41 N. E. 690; Clowney v. Foote, 1 Hill (S. C.) 421.

Actions by attorney-general.—In New York the duty prescribed by the code in relation to actions by the people is an official one pertaining to the office of attorney-general and not to the person who at any time happens to be the incumbent of the office; it is a duty which goes with the office and devolves in turn upon each incumbent, and it is contrary to the theory of the action that each successive incumbent of the office of attorney-general should be required to be individually substituted for his predecessor by an order of the court before he can proceed in behalf of the people with the prosecution of those actions which are pending when he succeeds to such office. People v. Carson, 78 Hun (N. Y.) 544, 29 N. Y. Suppl. 619.

Action by or against highway commissioner.— In New York, in an action brought by or against a commissioner of highways as such, his opponent, if successful, is entitled to a personal judgment against him, and therefore his successor in office cannot be substituted in his place as a party to such action, even though such successor consents to be so substituted. Hitchman v. Baxter, 5 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 226.

Action by overseers of poor.— Where the term of office of one of two overseers of the poor expired, and his successor was elected and qualified after the commencement of the circuit at which the cause was tried, but before the trial, there is no ground of nonsuit or any objection to a recovery in the name of plaintiffs upon the record. Manchester v. Herrington, 10 N. Y. 164.

Action by town supervisor.— Under N. Y. Code, § 1926, providing that when the term of a town supervisor expires pending an action brought by him the court may, "in a proper case," substitute his successor as plaintiff, it is ground for a refusal to make such substitution that it is desired apparently rather for the purposes of defendant than for anything else. Farnham v. Benedict, 29 Hun (N. Y.) 44.

80. Alabama.— Smith v. Inge, 80 Ala. 283; Russell v. Erwin, 41 Ala. 292.

Arkansas.— Edrington v. Mathews, 30 Ark. 665; Carley v. Barnes, 11 Ark. 291.

California.— Ex p. Tinkum, 54 Cal. 201.

Colorado.— Parks v. Hays, 11 Colo. App. 415, 53 Pac. 893.

Kentucky.— Clark v. McKenzie, 7 Bush (Ky.) 523.

Louisiana.— Louisiana Mut. Ins. Co. v. Costa, 32 La. Ann. 1.

Massachusetts.— Holten v. Cook, 12 Mass. 574.

Mississippi.— Hardee v. Gibbs, 50 Miss. 802.

New York.— Board of Excise v. Garlinghouse, 45 N. Y. 249; Flynn v. Cornell, 24 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 2.

North Carolina.— Anonymous, 2 N. C. 166.

Ohio.— Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Martin, 53 Ohio St. 386, 41 N. E. 690.

Rhode Island.— Saunders v. Pendleton, 19 R. I. 659, 36 Atl. 425.

Tennessee.— Felts v. Memphis, 2 Head (Tenn.) 650; Polk v. Plummer, 2 Humphr. (Tenn.) 500, 37 Am. Dec. 556.

Abolition of office.— In Matter of City Bank, 10 Paige (N. Y.) 378, it was held that where a bill has been filed by bank commissioners against an incorporated insolvent bank, and the office of bank commissioners has been abolished, any creditor who has presented and proved his claim, or any creditor who has duly presented his claim and who presents a petition on oath showing the validity of his claim, will be permitted to revive the suit. But see Carson v. Cleaveland County, 64 N. C. 566, wherein it was held that the board of county commissioners is the successor, not the representative, of the former county court as regards matters of administration; therefore a suit pending against the latter at the time of its dissolution cannot be revived against the former.

Certiorari.— In People v. Oswego County Ct. Sess., 2 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 431, an overseer of the poor of a town, as relator, obtained a common-law writ of certiorari to review proceedings in a bastardy case instituted by him. After the writ was served and return thereto made, his term of office expired. It was held that the certiorari was a special proceeding and not an "action" or "suit" under the provisions of 2 N. Y. Rev. Stat. p. 474, § 100, relating to suits by or against certain officers, and his successor in office could not be substituted as relator.

81. Hegewisch v. Silver, 140 N. Y. 414, 35 N. E. 658.

82. Sheldon v. Adams, 18 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 405.

pending an action by him on a cause of action relating to the trust estate the action should be continued in the name of his successor in the trust.[83]

f. On Transfer of Interest — (1) In General. On the transfer pending suit of plaintiff's interest in the subject-matter in litigation the action may be continued in such plaintiff's name,[84] or the assignee may be substituted as plaintiff[85]

83. Dumas v. Robbins, 48 Ala. 545; Cobb v. Edmondson, 30 Ga. 30; Shaw v. Norfolk County R. Co., 16 Gray (Mass.) 407. See also Dillon v. Dougherty, 2 Grant (Pa.) 99, wherein it was held that succeeding trustees may be substituted in ejectment for those by whom the suit was brought. And see Roane v. Brodie, 7 Ark. 264, which was an action by fifteen original trustees. Defendant pleaded that since the commencement of the suit plaintiffs ceased to be trustees by limitation of the deed of assignment, and that five residuary trustees had been elected from their number under the provisions of the deed, to whom the assets of the corporation, including the notes sued on, passed. It was held on demurrer that while the election by which the number of original trustees was reduced from fifteen to five did not occasion such a change of interest as would operate to defeat the suit in the names of the latter in case the election of the five and a transfer of the assets to them had been suggested on the record, it was improper to permit the suit to proceed in the names of the entire fifteen.

84. California.— Camarillo v. Fenlon, 49 Cal. 202; Moss v. Shear, 30 Cal. 467.

Colorado.— Perkins v. Marrs, 15 Colo. 262, 25 Pac. 168.

District of Columbia.— Keyser v. Shepherd, 2 Mackey (D. C.) 66.

Georgia.— Wood v. McGuire, 21 Ga. 576.

Illinois.— Rothschild v. Bruschke, 33 Ill. App. 282.

Indiana.—Mathis v. Thomas, 101 Ind. 119; Taylor v. Elliott, 52 Ind. 588.

Iowa.—Kreuger v. Sylvester, 100 Iowa 647, 69 N. W. 1059; Chickasaw County v. Pitcher, 36 Iowa 593; Jordan v. Ping, 32 Iowa 64; Allen v. Newberry, 8 Iowa 65.

Kansas.— Werner v. Hatton, 54 Kan. 250, 38 Pac. 279; Crocker v. Ball, (Kan. App. 1900) 59 Pac. 691.

Michigan.— McKenzie v. A. P. Cook Co., 113 Mich. 452, 71 N. W. 868; Rajnowski v. Detroit, etc., R. Co., 78 Mich. 681, 44 N. W. 335; Peters v. Gallagher, 37 Mich. 407; Newberry v. Trowbridge, 13 Mich. 263.

Minnesota.— Whitacre v. Culver, 9 Minn. 295.

Missouri.— Asher v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 89 Mo. 116, 1 S. W. 123; Spurlock v. Sproule, 72 Mo. 503; Green's Bank v. Wickham, 23 Mo. App. 663.

Nebraska.— Dodge v. Omaha, etc., R. Co., 20 Nebr. 276, 29 N. W. 936; Temple v. Smith, 13 Nebr. 513, 14 N. W. 527.

New York.— Boston Woven Hose, etc., Co. v. Jackson, 25 Misc. (N. Y.) 781, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 573; Cuff v. Dorland, 7 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 194.

Ohio.— Pennsylvania F. Ins. Co. v. Carnahan, 19 Ohio Cir. Ct. 97.

Texas.— Hearne v. Erhard, 33 Tex. 60; Ostrom v. Layer, (Tex. Civ. App. 1898) 48 S. W. 1095; Bailey v. Laws, 3 Tex. Civ. App. 529, 23 S. W. 20.

United States.— Elliot v. Teal, 5 Sawy. (U. S.) 188, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,389; French v. Edwards, 4 Sawy. (U. S.) 125, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,097.

Assignment for benefit of creditors.—A bill in equity alleged that petitioner had an interest in certain patents under which respondents were licensees, and a right to a share of the tariffs which they were to pay under their license, and called for an account. While the suit was pending petitioner made an assignment of all his property, including his interest in the patents and his claim on respondents, to a trustee for the benefit of his creditors, with a provision that any surplus of the property that should be left should be returned to him. It was held that this did not so completely devest the petitioner of all interest that he could not further maintain the suit, but that it was necessary that the trustee should be brought in as a party. Judson v. Metropolitan Washing Mach. Co., 33 Conn. 467. See also Lawson v. Woodstock, 37 Hun (N. Y.) 352, wherein it was held that where plaintiff, pending the action, makes a general assignment for the benefit of creditors, the action may be continued in plaintiff's name, for he still has an interest in whatever surplus there may be.

Part interest.— Pending an action to prevent injury to plaintiff's land and its appurtenances he agreed to sell, but retained title to secure the price. It was held that he could prosecute the action to final determination, since, though there was a change of interest, there was not a transfer of all interest. Price v. Baldauf, 90 Iowa 205, 57 N. W. 710.

85. Alabama.—Davis v. Davis, 93 Ala. 173, 9 So. 736.

California.— California Cent. R. Co. v. Hooper, 76 Cal. 404, 18 Pac. 599.

District of Columbia.— Young v. Kelly, 3 App. Cas. (D. C.) 296.

Louisiana.—Towne v. Couch, 7 La. Ann. 93.

Minnesota.— Chisholm v. Clitherall, 12 Minn. 375.

Missouri.— Neilon v. Kansas City, etc., R. Co., 85 Mo. 599; Childs v. Thompson, 81 Mo. 337.

Montana.— Campbell v. Irvine, 17 Mont. 476, 43 Pac. 626.

Nebraska.— Howell v. Alma Milling Co., 36 Nebr. 80, 54 N. W. 126, 38 Am. St. Rep. 694.

Nevada.— Virgin v. Brubaker, 4 Nev. 31.

New York.— Hirshfeld v. Bopp, 27 N. Y. App. Div. 180, 50 N. Y. Suppl. 676; Moss v. New York El. R. Co., 27 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 318, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 586; Emmet v. Bowers, 23 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 300; Shearman v. Coman, 22 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 517; St. John v.

or be joined with the original plaintiff, as the case may require.[86] But the original plaintiff must still be in esse after a transfer in order to permit the proceedings to continue in his name or in the joint names of the original plaintiff and the person to whom the cause of action has been transferred.[87]

(II) Transfer by Plaintiff to Co-Plaintiff. It has been held that where one of the plaintiffs, after the commencement of the suit, transfers his interest in the controversy to his co-plaintiffs, such co-plaintiffs may continue the action in their name and to their use.[88]

2. Modes of Continuing or Reviving Action — a. In General. The mode by which an action may be continued in the name of the successor in interest on the transfer or devolution of title pendente lite is governed by the statutes of the particular state.[89] Thus in some states the continuance may be had on motion;[90] in other states provision is made for the filing of supplemental pleadings;[91] in others the continuance may be had by scire facias.[92]

b. In Equity — (I) Transfer of Complainant's Interest. If complainant in a suit in chancery assigns his interest in the subject-matter in controversy pending the suit, the only mode by which the assignee may revive or get the benefit of the suit is by filing an original bill in the nature of a bill of revivor and supplement.[93]

Croel, 10 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 253; Sheldon v. Havens, 7 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 268; Harris v. Bennett, 6 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 220; Ford v. David, 1 Bosw. (N. Y.) 569.

North Carolina.— Murray v. Blackledge, 71 N. C. 492.

Pennsylvania.— McClure v. McClure, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 117, 7 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 195.

Texas.— Converse v. Sorley, 39 Tex. 515.

86. McGean v. Metropolitan El. R. Co., 133 N. Y. 9, 30 N. E. 647. But see Mutual Bank v. Burrell, 29 Misc. (N. Y.) 322, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 522, wherein it was held that a statute providing that an action does not abate if the cause survives, and that in case of transfer of interest the action may be continued unless the court directs the person to whom the interest is transferred to be substituted or joined, as the case requires, cannot be invoked to aid a receiver of a membership corporation to continue an action for dues brought in the name of a bank to which they had been assigned by the corporation as collateral, where the bank had no right to commence it.

87. La Pointe v. O'Malley, 47 Wis. 332, 2 N. W. 632, wherein it was held that Wis. Rev. Stat. 1878, § 2801, which provides that in case of a transfer of interest the action may be continued by the original party, etc., has no application to a case where the original sole plaintiff, a town, has ceased to exist.

88. Luebbering v. Oberkoetter, 1 Mo. App. 393.

Transfer to one of several defendants.— In Hackley v. Hope, 2 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 298, it was held that after a sole plaintiff has assigned his interest in the subject of litigation to one of several defendants and a decree has been made in favor of such defendant against the other defendant, an appeal cannot be maintained in the name of plaintiff for the benefit of the unsuccessful defendant.

89. See the statutes of the several states.

In Indiana it has been held that a transfer of interest in the cause of action pending the suit requires no additional pleading except, perhaps, to show the transfer. Keller v. Miller, 17 Ind. 206.

In Nevada it has been held that after the issues in a cause are all made up a person claiming to be assignee of the cause of action may be substituted as plaintiff; and if so substituted it is not necessary for him to file a supplementary complaint. Virgin v. Brubaker, 4 Nev. 31.

90. Alabama.— Smith v. Inge, 80 Ala. 283; Russell v. Erwin, 41 Ala. 292.

Georgia.—Cobb v. Edmondson, 30 Ga. 30.

Massachusetts.— Holten v. Cook, 12 Mass. 574; Cutts v. Parsons, 2 Mass. 440.

Missouri.— Gamble v. Johnson, 9 Mo. 605.

Ohio.— Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Martin, 53 Ohio St. 386, 41 N. E. 690.

Appointment of new trustee.— In Georgia, in an action by a trustee of a married woman, the court may substitute, upon motion, the name of a new trustee who has been duly appointed in place of the former, and allow the case to proceed. Cobb v. Edmondson, 30 Ga. 30.

Change in incumbency of office.— Where plaintiff sues in an official character and his term of office expires by limitation of law before termination of the suit, his successor may be substituted on motion. Smith v. Inge, 80 Ala. 283; Holten v. Cook, 12 Mass. 574; Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co. v. Martin, 53 Ohio St. 386, 41 N. E. 690.

91. Styles v. Fuller, 101 N. Y. 622, 4 N. E. 348; Murray v. Blackledge, 71 N. C. 492.

92. Hardee v. Gibbs, 50 Miss. 802.

93. Illinois.— Lunt v. Stephens, 75 Ill. 507.

Iowa.— Wright v. Meek, 3 Greene (Iowa) 472.

Maine.— Mason v. York, etc., R. Co., 52 Me. 82.

Michigan.— Perkins v. Perkins, 16 Mich. 162; Webster v. Hitchcock, 11 Mich. 56.

New Jersey.— Fulton v. Greacen, 44 N. J. Eq. 443, 15 Atl. 827.

(II) Transfer of Defendant's Interest. And the same mode of revival is necessary against an assignee pendente lite of the interest of defendant in the subject-matter of the suit.[94]

3. Notice. It has been held that the revivor of an action by the substitution as plaintiff of the successor of a resigned administrator must be on notice to the adverse parties.[95]

V. Presentation of Grounds of Abatement.

A. Necessity of Presentation — 1. Statement of Rule. It is a well-settled rule of law that matter in abatement of an action, excepting objections to the jurisdiction over the subject-matter,[96] must be pleaded, or in some way presented to the court, to be available.[97]

New York.— Van Hook v. Throckmorton, 8 Paige (N. Y.) 33; Sedgwick v. Cleveland, 7 Paige (N. Y.) 287; Botts v. Cozine, Hoffm. (N. Y.) 79.

United States.— Barnard v. Hartford, etc., R. Co., 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,003.

See also Griggs v. Detroit, etc., R. Co., 10 Mich. 117, wherein it was held that where a third person has acquired an interest in having a decree executed he should be brought in by a supplemental bill rather than by a bill of revivor.

In Tennessee an assignee pendente lite of the subject-matter of the suit may prosecute in the assignor's name, or in his own by supplemental bill. Paul v. Williams, 12 Lea (Tenn.) 215.

Bankruptcy of complainant.— Where complainant in equity becomes a bankrupt pending suit the appropriate proceeding by his assignee is an original bill in the nature of a supplemental bill. Springer v. Vanderpool, 4 Edw. (N. Y.) 362; Northman v. Liverpool, etc., Ins. Co., 1 Tenn. Ch. 312; Anonymous, 1 Atk. 88.

94. Van Hook v. Throckmorton, 8 Paige (N. Y.) 33, wherein it was held that if complainant in a foreclosure suit assigns all his interest in the mortgage pendente lite, and defendant also sells his interest in the equity of redemption, it is irregular to proceed in the name of the original complainant to foreclose the equity of redemption as against such assignee of the mortgagor. The suit should be continued against him by a bill in the nature of a bill of revivor and supplement filed by the assignee of complainant. See also Barnard v. Hartford, etc., R. Co., 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,003, wherein it was held that if defendant in a bill to foreclose or redeem a mortgage conveys his interest in the property pending the suit to a third person, and that person desires to have the benefit of the title so gained for affirmative relief in respect to the matters charged in the original bill, as, for example, to redeem the mortgaged property, he must obtain such relief by filing a bill in the nature of a cross-bill.

Bankruptcy of defendant husband.— In Johnson v. Fitzhugh, 3 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 360, it was held that where a bill is filed against a husband and wife to foreclose a mortgage, and before decree the husband is declared bankrupt, complainant must file a supplemental bill in the nature of a bill of revivor to continue the proceedings against the assignee in bankruptcy.

95. Bishop v. Stoddard, 1 Clev. L. Rep. (Ohio) 201, 4 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 276. But see Farrell v. Jones, 63 Cal. 194, wherein it was held that where a third person, during the pendency of an action, succeeds to the rights of plaintiff, the court has power to substitute such person as plaintiff, and notice of the substitution need not be given to a defendant defaulted for failure to appear.

96. Alabama.— Wyatt v. Judge, 7 Port. (Ala.) 37.

Indiana.— Lane v. Taylor, 40 Ind. 495; Loeb v. Mathis, 37 Ind. 306; Riley v. Butler, 36 Ind. 51.

Michigan.— Farrand v. Bentley, 6 Mich. 281.

Nevada.— Phillips v. Welch, 11 Nev. 187.

New Jersey.— Collins v. Keller, 58 N. J. L. 429, 34 Atl. 753; School District No. 28 v. Stocker, 42 N. J. L. 115.

New York.— Chambers v. Feron, etc., Co., 56 N. Y. Suppl. 338.

North Carolina.— Randleman Mfg. Co. v. Simmons, 97 N. C. 89, 1 S. E. 923; Branch v. Houston, 44 N. C. 85.

Ohio.— Steamboat General Buell v. Long, 18 Ohio St. 521.

South Dakota.— Wayne v. Caldwell, 1 S. D. 483, 47 N. W. 547, 36 Am. St. Rep. 750.

Texas.— Swigley v. Dickson, 2 Tex. 192; Wright v. Cullers, 2 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 750; Heidenheimer v. Marx, 1 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 171.

Wisconsin.— Collette v. Weed, 68 Wis. 428, 32 N. W. 753; Mathie v. McIntosh, 40 Wis. 120.

United States.— Maisonnaire v. Keating, 2 Gall. (U. S.) 325, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 8,978.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 495 et seq.

97. Numerous authorities sustain the text, among which may be cited the following cases:

Alabama.— Abraham v. Hall, 59 Ala. 386; Long v. Bakefield, 48 Ala. 608; Blount v. McNeill, 29 Ala. 473.

Arkansas.— Neale v. Smith, 61 Ark. 564, 33 S. W. 1058; Bailey v. Rockafellow, 57 Ark. 216, 21 S. W. 227; Hanna v. Harter, 2 Ark. 392.

California.— Small v. Gwinn, 6 Cal. 447.

Colorado.— Western Union Tel. Co. v. Claymore, 2 Colo. 32.

2. Another Suit Pending. The rule applies to the defense of another suit pending.[98]

B. By Whom Presented — 1. Presentation in Propria Persona. A plea in abatement to the jurisdiction of the person must be pleaded in propria persona

District of Columbia.— White v. Hilton, 2 Mackey (D. C.) 339.

Florida.— Bucki v. Cone, 25 Fla. 1, 6 So. 160.

Illinois.— Camden v. Robertson, 3 Ill. 507.

Indiana.— Hancock County v. Leggett, 115 Ind. 544, 18 N. E. 53; Bass Foundry, etc., Works v. Parke County, 115 Ind. 234, 17 N. E. 593; Glidden v. Henry, 104 Ind. 278, 1 N. E. 369, 54 Am. Rep. 316; Ayres v. Foster, (Ind. App. 1900) 57 N. E. 725; Norris v. Scott, 6 Ind. App. 18, 32 N. E. 865.

Iowa.— Allison v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 42 Iowa 274.

Kansas.— Burton v. Cochran, 5 Kan. App. 508, 47 Pac. 569.

Kentucky.— Anderson v. Irvine, 11 B. Mon. (Ky.) 341.

Maine.— Blaisdell v. Pray, 68 Me. 269; Page v. McGlinch, 63 Me. 472.

Maryland.— Wilms v. White, 26 Md. 380, 90 Am. Dec. 113; Hawkins v. Bowie, 9 Gill & J. (Md.) 428; Shivers v. Wilson, 5 Harr. & J. (Md.) 130, 9 Am. Dec. 497.

Massachusetts.— Martin v. Woods, 9 Mass. 377. But see Adams v. Leland, 7 Pick. (Mass.) 62, wherein it was held that where the want of plaintiff's capacity to maintain the action was suggested by plaintiff himself, defendant may take advantage of the suggestion though he has not pleaded it.

Michigan.— Breckon v. Ottawa Circuit Judge, 109 Mich. 615, 67 N. W. 906.

Minnesota.— McNair v. Toler, 21 Minn. 175.

Mississippi.— Commercial Bank v. Thompson, 7 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 443; Lanier v. Trigg, 6 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 641, 45 Am. Dec. 293.

Missouri.— Montgomery v. Tipton, 1 Mo. 446.

Nebraska.— Forbes v. McHaffie, 32 Nebr. 742, 49 N. W. 721; Brown v. Goodyear, 29 Nebr. 376, 45 N. W. 618; Johnson v. Jones, 2 Nebr. 126.

New Hampshire.— Bishop v. Silver Lake Min. Co., 62 N. H. 455; Amoskeag Mfg. Co. v. Barnes, 48 N. H. 25.

New York.— Burnside v. Matthews, 54 N. Y. 78; Swartwout v. Roddis, 5 Hill (N. Y.) 118.

North Carolina.— Fort v. Penny, 122 N. C. 230, 29 S. E. 362; Branch v. Houston, 44 N. C. 85; Newman v. Tabor, 27 N. C. 231; Clark v. Cameron, 26 N. C. 161; Green v. Mangum, 7 N. C. 39.

Oklahoma.— Leader Printing Co. v. Lowry, 9 Okla. 89, 59 Pac. 242.

Oregon.— Fiore v. Ladd, 29 Oreg. 528, 46 Pac. 144; Elder v. Rourke, 27 Oreg. 363, 41 Pac. 6.

Pennsylvania.— But see Hurst v. Fisher, 1 Watts & S. (Pa.) 438, where plaintiff's death at time of commencement of action was allowed to be pleaded in bar.

South Carolina.— Drago v. Moso, 1 Speers (S. C.) 212, 40 Am. Dec. 592; Edwards v. Ford, 2 Bailey (S. C.) 461; Treasurers v. Wiggins, 1 McCord (S. C.) 568.

Tennessee.—Isaacks v. Edwards, 7 Humphr. (Tenn.) 465; Covington v. Neilson, 6 Yerg. (Tenn.) 475; Martin v. Carter, 1 Yerg. (Tenn.) 489.

Texas.— Hoffman v. Cleburne Bldg., etc., Assoc., 85 Tex. 409, 22 S. W. 154; Little v. State, 75 Tex. 616, 12 S. W. 965; Piedmont, etc., L. Ins. Co. v. Ray, 50 Tex. 511; Beville v. Rush, (Tex. Civ. App. 1894) 25 S. W. 1022.

Wisconsin.— Reif v. Paige, 55 Wis. 496, 13 N. W. 473, 42 Am. Rep. 731; Plath v. Braunsdorff, 40 Wis. 107.

United States.— Providence Rubber Co. v. Goodyear, 9 Wall. (U. S.) 788, 19 L. ed. 566; Fremont v. Merced Mining Co., McAll. (U. S.) 267, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,095; Walker v. Flint, 2 McCrary (U. S.) 341, 7 Fed. 435; Evans v. Davenport, 4 McLean (U. S.) 574, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,558; Blachly v. Davis, 1 McLean (U. S.) 412, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,456.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 495 et seq.

As to necessity of suggesting death as ground of abatement see supra, III, A, 20, a.

98. California.— Brown v. Campbell, 110 Cal. 644, 43 Pac. 12; Walsworth v. Johnson, 41 Cal. 61; Lake Merced Water Co. v. Cowles, 31 Cal. 215.

Georgia.— Welchel v. Thompson, 39 Ga. 559, 99 Am. Dec. 470; Williams v. Rawlins, 33 Ga. 117.

Illinois.— Shepardson v. McDole, 49 Ill. App. 350.

Indiana.— Lorch v. Aultman, 75 Ind. 162.

Kansas.— Ft. Scott v. Peck, 5 Kan. App. 593, 49 Pac. 111.

Kentucky.— Curd v. Lewis, 1 Dana (Ky.) 351; Anderson v. Barry, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 265.

Louisiana.— State v. Riedy, 50 La. Ann. 258, 23 So. 327.

Maine.— North Bank v. Brown, 50 Me. 214, 79 Am. Dec. 609.

Massachusetts.— Morton v. Sweetser, 12 Allen (Mass.) 134.

Michigan.— Sullings v. Goodyear Dental Vulcanite Co., 36 Mich. 313.

Minnesota.—Williams v. McGrade, 18 Minn. 82; Estes v. Farnham, 11 Minn. 423.

Missouri.— Bernecker v. Miller, 44 Mo. 102.

Nebraska.— Gregory v. Kenyon, 34 Nebr. 640, 52 N. W. 685.

New York.— Hollister v. Stewart, 111 N. Y. 644, 19 N. E. 782; Golden v. Metropolitan El. R. Co., 1 Misc. (N. Y.) 142, 20 N. Y. Suppl. 630.

North Carolina.— Curtis v. Piedmont Lumber, etc., Co., 109 N. C. 401, 13 S. E. 944; Montague v. Brown, 104 N. C. 161, 10 S. E. 186; Blackwell v. Dibbrell, 103 N. C. 270, 9 S. E. 192; Hawkins v. Hughes, 87 N. C. 115; Wells v. Goodbread, 36 N. C. 9.

and not by attorney, since appearance by attorney is deemed to be by leave of court, and hence constitutes an acknowledgment of the court's jurisdiction.[99]

2. Plea Personal to One Defendant. A plea in abatement by two defendants of a matter personal to one of them is bad.[1] And the same rule applies to a plea by one defendant of matter which affects his co-defendant alone.[2] It has been held, however, that where two or more defendants are sued on a joint cause of action they may jointly plead in abatement a defect in service as to one of them.[3]

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Cope, 45 Pa. St. 161.

Washington.— State v. Superior Ct., 14 Wash. 686, 45 Pac. 670.

West Virginia.— Riley v. Jarvis, 43 W. Va. 43, 26 S. E. 366.

Wisconsin.— Witte v. Foote, 90 Wis. 235, 62 N. W. 1044; Quinn v. Quinn, 27 Wis. 168; Wilson v. Jarvis, 19 Wis. 597.

Pendency of an arbitration proceeding, to be available as a defense, must be pleaded in abatement. Small v. Thurlow, 37 Me. 504.

Pendency of an attachment execution ought to be pleaded in abatement and not in bar of the suit. Derham v. Berry, 5 Phila. (Pa.) 475, 21 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 188.

Pendency of garnishment proceedings.—The rule requiring the pendency of another suit to be pleaded in abatement and not in bar applies as well where the prior suit is a garnishee proceeding as in other cases. Near v. Mitchell, 23 Mich. 382; Navigation Co. v. Navigation Co., 3 Phila. (Pa.) 214, 15 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 325; Irvine v. Lumbermen's Bank, 2 Watts & S. (Pa.) 190.

Judgments for taxes.—In Illinois the pendency of an application for judgment against land for the taxes of a prior year is a good defense against the rendition of judgment for the same taxes on a second application. The statute prescribing that the causes of objection to the rendering of judgment shall be specified in writing embraces every defense, and the objector is therefore not bound to plead the pendency of the former suit in abatement. Andrews v. People, 75 Ill. 605.

99. Arkansas.— Watkins v. Brown, 5 Ark. 197.

Illinois.— Mineral Point R. Co. v. Keep, 22 Ill. 9, 74 Am. Dec. 124.

Tennessee.— Boon v. Rahl, 1 Heisk. (Tenn.) 12; Shelby v. Johnson, 7 Humphr. (Tenn.) 503.

Vermont.— Kenney v. Howard, 67 Vt. 375, 31 Atl. 850.

Virginia.— Hortons v. Townes, 6 Leigh (Va.) 47.

Contra, Yoe v. Gelston, 37 Md. 233; Guild v. Richardson, 6 Pick. (Mass.) 364; Richardson v. Wells, 3 Tex. 223. Compare Tyler v. Murray, 57 Md. 418.

See also Brisco v. Brewer, 2 Ga. Dec. 105, wherein it was held that "a plea to the jurisdiction" is a personal right and available only by defendant himself.

By amicus curiæ.— A motion to dismiss cannot be made by an amicus curiæ. Piggott v. Kirkpatrick, 31 Ind. 261; Little v. Thompson, 24 Ind. 146.

By corporation.— An objection to the jurisdiction by a corporation must be interposed by attorney, since a corporation cannot appear in person. Nispel v. Western Union R. Co., 64 Ill. 311; Nixon v. Southwestern Ins. Co., 47 Ill. 444.

1. Brown v. Campbell, 110 Cal. 644, 43 Pac. 12; Coubrough v. Adams, 70 Cal. 374, 11 Pac. 634; Shannon v. Comstock, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 457, 34 Am. Dec. 262; De Forest v. Jewett, 1 Hall (N. Y.) 137. See also Weaver v. Crenshaw, 6 Ala. 873, wherein it was held that the right of a freeholder to be sued in the county of his residence is a personal privilege, and therefore a joint plea by two defendants, one of whom is liable to the suit, is bad.

2. Moore v. Smith, 2 B. Mon. (Ky.) 340 (wherein it was held that an objection to the jurisdiction on a personal ground, available by one defendant, is not available on behalf of another); Bonzey v. Redman, 40 Me. 336 (wherein it was held that a defendant cannot plead in abatement that his co-defendant was a deputy of the sheriff who served the writ); Harrison v. Urann, 1 Story (U. S.) 64, 11 Fed. Cas. No. 6,146 (wherein it was held that in an action in a federal court a plea that the court has no jurisdiction over a co-defendant because he is a citizen of the same state with the plaintiff, where the bill alleges diverse citizenship, is personal to such co-defendant). See also Campbell v. Hampton, 11 Lea (Tenn.) 440, wherein it was held that where defendants in ejectment plead not guilty, and afterward another is admitted to defend on his own application, he can plead only to the merits, and cannot plead in abatement that the original defendants were not served.

3. Butts v. Francis, 4 Conn. 424; Sawtelle v. Jewell, 34 Me. 543. See also Draper v. Moriarty, 45 Conn. 476, wherein it was held that a defendant on whom service has been made in an action founded on contract can by himself plead in abatement the want of service upon a co-defendant. To same effect is Curtis v. Baldwin, 42 N. H. 398. But see Harker v. Brink, 24 N. J. L. 333 (wherein it was held that in an action on a joint contract a defendant cannot plead in abatement want of service on his co-defendants, such being a matter which in no wise prejudices his rights, but is personal and peculiar to the others); Boots v. Boots, 84 Ind. 171 (wherein it was held that a return of process not served as to one of two joint obligors sued together does not abate the suit as to him, nor is it a ground for a plea in abatement by the other defendant); Cooper v. Gordon, 4 McLean (U. S.) 6, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,195, and Craig v. Cummings, 2 Wash. C. C. (U. S.) 505, Pet. C. C. (U. S.) 431 note, 6 Fed. Cas. No. 3,331 (in which cases it was held that in a suit in the federal circuit court on a joint contract, where only part of the defendants are found within the district and served with process, it is not a good plea in abatement that the other defendant is a citizen of another district).

C. Manner of Presentation — 1. Grounds Existing at Commencement of Action — a. Statement of Rule — (I) At Common Law. At common law a ground of abatement existing at the commencement of an action and not going to the jurisdiction of the court over the subject-matter must be pleaded by a plea in abatement or it will be deemed to be waived.[4]

(II) In Equity. In chancery, matter constituting a ground for the abatement of the suit apparent on the face of the bill may be taken advantage of by demurrer.[5] If the matter is not so apparent a plea is necessary.[6]

(III) Under the Codes. In code states, as the designation of pleas in abatement has disappeared and the matter which at common law was interposed by them falls into the term of defenses indiscriminately applied to matter going to defeat the alleged cause of action, advantage should be taken of a ground of abatement existing at the commencement of the action by demurrer where it is apparent on the face of the record, otherwise by answer.[7]

4. Numerous authorities sustain the text, among which may be cited the following cases:

Alabama.— Jordan v. Bell, 8 Port. (Ala.) 53.

Arkansas.— Melvin v. Steamboat General Shields, 15 Ark. 207.

Connecticut.— Bishop v. Vose, 27 Conn. 1.

District of Columbia.— Barbour v. Moore, 4 App. Cas. (D. C.) 535.

Florida.— Bucki v. Cone, 25 Fla. 1, 6 So. 160.

Illinois.— Greer v. Young, 120 Ill. 184, 11 N. E. 167; Union Nat. Bank v. Centreville First Nat. Bank, 90 Ill. 56; Wallace v. Cox, 71 Ill. 548; Holloway v. Freeman, 22 Ill. 197.

Indiana.— Baily v. Schrader, 34 Ind. 260; Ludwick v. Beckamire, 15 Ind. 198.

Iowa.— Funk v. Israel, 5 Iowa 438.

Kansas.— Bliss v. Burnes, McCahon (Kan.) 91.

Kentucky.— Anderson v. Irvine, 11 B. Mon. (Ky.) 341.

Maine.— Stephenson v. Davis, 56 Me. 73; North Bank v. Brown, 50 Me. 214, 79 Am. Dec. 609; Badger v. Towle, 48 Me. 20.

Massachusetts.— Crosby v. Harrison, 116 Mass. 114; Lincoln v. Taunton Copper Mfg. Co., 11 Cush. (Mass.) 440; Simonds v. Parker, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 508; Nye v. Liscombe, 21 Pick. (Mass.) 263; Guild v. Richardson, 6 Pick. (Mass.) 364.

Michigan.— Webb v. Mann, 3 Mich. 139.

New Hampshire.— Bishop v. Silver Lake Min. Co., 62 N. H. 455; Educational Soc. v. Varney, 54 N. H. 376.

North Carolina.— McLean v. McDugald, 53 N. C. 383; Whicker v. Roberts, 32 N. C. 485; Killian v. Fulbright, 25 N. C. 9; State Bank v. Davenport, 19 N. C. 45; Allison v. Hancock, 13 N. C. 296; Sheppard v. Briggs, 9 N. C. 369.

Pennsylvania.— Machette v. Musgrave, 1 Phila. (Pa.) 186, 8 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 74.

South Carolina.— Comstock v. Alexander, 2 Speers (S. C.) 274.

Tennessee.— Peters v. Neely, 16 Lea (Tenn.) 275; Grove v. Campbell, 9 Yerg. (Tenn.) 7; Posey v. McCubbins, 5 Yerg. (Tenn.) 235; Agee v. Dement, 1 Humphr. (Tenn.) 332.

Vermont.— Connecticut, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181.

Virginia.— Guarantee Co. of North America v. Lynchburg First Nat. Bank, 95 Va. 480, 28 S. E. 909.

West Virginia.— Middleton v. White, 5 W. Va. 572; Valley Bank v. Gettinger, 3 W. Va. 309; Valley Bank v. Berkeley Bank, 3 W. Va. 386.

United States.— Wickliffe v. Owings, 17 How. (U. S.) 47, 15 L. ed. 44; Marshall v. Otto, 59 Fed. 249; Pierce v. Feagans, 39 Fed. 587; U. S. v. American Bell Telephone Co., 29 Fed. 17; Van Antwerp v. Hulburd, 7 Blatchf. (U. S.) 426, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,826; Hoyt v. Wright, 1 McCrary (U. S.) 130, 2 McCrary (U. S.) 222, 4 Fed. 168.

England.— Addison v. Overend, 6 T. R. 766; Cabell v. Vaughan, 1 Saund. 291.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Abatement and Revival," § 495 et seq.

5. Kendrick v. Whitfield, 20 Ga. 379; Varick v. Dodge, 9 Paige (N. Y.) 149; Municipal Invest. Co. v. Gardiner, 62 Fed. 954.

In Tennessee, under the Code, § 4309, providing that the jurisdiction of the court of chancery in which the suit is brought can be resisted only by a plea in abatement, demurrer, or motion to dismiss, an objection to the jurisdiction is not available by answer. Boyd v. Martin, 9 Heisk. (Tenn.) 382.

6. Cummins v. Bennett, 8 Paige (N. Y.) 79; Battell v. Matot, 58 Vt. 271, 5 Atl. 479; Livingston v. Story, 11 Pet. (U. S.) 351, 9 L. ed. 746; Pierce v. Feagans, 39 Fed. 587.

7. Arkansas.— Grider v. Apperson, 32 Ark. 332.

California.— Doll v. Feller, 16 Cal. 432.

Colorado.— Davis v. Wannamaker, 2 Colo. 637.

Connecticut.— G. M. Williams Co. v. Mairs, 72 Conn. 430, 44 Atl. 729.

Indiana.— Wilcox v. Moudy, 82 Ind. 219; Toledo, etc., R. Co. v. Milligan, 52 Ind. 505; Keiser v. Yandes, 45 Ind. 174; Ragan v. Haynes, 10 Ind. 348.

Iowa.— Meunch v. Breitenbach, 41 Iowa 527; Rawson v. Guiberson, 6 Iowa 507.

Kansas.— Burton v. Cochran, 5 Kan. App. 508, 47 Pac. 569; Bliss v. Burnes, McCahon (Kan.) 91.

(iv) When Presented by Motion. In some states advantage may be taken of matter in abatement by motion where such matter is apparent on the face of the record.[8]

b. Another Suit Pending. At common law the pendency of another suit between the same parties and involving the same subject-matter must be pleaded by a plea in abatement.[9] In equity this defense should be made by plea and not Kentucky.— Moore v. Sheppard, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 97; Grant v. Tams, 7 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 218.

Missouri.— Warder v. Henry, 117 Mo. 530, 23 S. W. 776.

Nebraska.— Barry v. Wachosky, 57 Nebr. 534, 77 N. W. 1080; Kyd v. Exchange Bank, 56 Nebr. 557, 76 N. W. 1058; Burlington Voluntary Relief Dept. v. Moore, 52 Nebr. 719, 73 N. W. 15; Herbert v. Wortendyke, 49 Nebr. 182, 68 N. W. 350; Hurlburt v. Palmer, 39 Nebr. 158, 57 N. W. 1019.

New York.— Peck v. Kirtz, 15 N. Y. St. 598; Wright v. Maseras, 56 Barb. (N. Y.) 521; Bishop v. Bishop, 7 Rob. (N. Y.) 194; Ansorge v. Kaiser, 22 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 305, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 785; Christy v. Libby, 5 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 192; Hornfager v. Hornfager, 6 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 279.

North Carolina.— Alexander v. Norwood, 118 N. C. 381, 24 S. E. 119; Curtis v. Piedmont Lumber, etc., Co., 109 N. C. 401, 13 S. E. 944; Montague v. Brown, 104 N. C. 161, 10 S. E. 186; Blackwell v. Dibbrell, 103 N. C. 270, 9 S. E. 192; Hawkins v. Hughes, 87 N. C. 115; Smith v. Moore, 79 N. C. 82; Flack v. Dawson, 69 N. C. 42; Charlotte Bank v. Britton, 66 N. C. 365; Harris v. Johnson, 65 N. C. 478.

Ohio.— Allen v. Miller, 11 Ohio St. 374; Smith v. Smith, 21 Cinc. L. Bul. 295, 10 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 494.

Oregon.— Fiore v. Ladd, 29 Oreg. 528, 46 Pac. 144; Crane v. Larsen, 15 Oreg. 345, 15 Pac. 326.

Texas.— Bigham v. Talbot, 51 Tex. 450; Johnston v. Price, 2 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 756.

Wisconsin.— Vincent v. Starks, 45 Wis. 458; Dutcher v. Dutcher, 39 Wis. 651; Moir v. Dodson, 14 Wis. 279; Millett v. Hayford, 1 Wis. 401.

8. Alabama.— Blankenship v. Blackwell, (Ala. 1900) 27 So. 551.

Colorado.— Western Union Tel. Co. v. Claymore, 2 Colo. 32.

Connecticut.— Bishop v. Vose, 27 Conn. 1.

Florida.— Campbell v. Chaffee, 6 Fla. 724.

Georgia.— Central R., etc., Co. v. Coleman, 88 Ga. 294, 14 S. E. 382.

Illinois.— Greer v. Young, 120 Ill. 184, 11 N. E. 167; Holloway v. Freeman, 22 Ill. 197.

Iowa.— Funk v. Israel, 5 Iowa 438.

Maine.— Mansur v. Coffin, 54 Me. 314; Badger v. Towle, 48 Me. 20; Chamberlain v. Lake, 36 Me. 388; Cook v. Lothrop, 18 Me. 260.

Maryland.— Gittings v. State, 33 Md. 458; Hamilton v. State, 32 Md. 348.

Massachusetts.— Crosby v. Harrison, 116 Mass. 114; Haynes v. Saunders, 11 Cush. (Mass.) 537; Brown v. Webber, 6 Cush. (Mass.) 560; Amidown v. Peck, 11 Metc. (Mass.) 467; Simonds v. Parker, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 508; Nye v. Liscombe, 21 Pick. (Mass.) 263.

Michigan.— Jewell v. Lamoreaux, 30 Mich. 155.

New Hampshire.— Educational Soc. v. Varney, 54 N. H. 376; Crawford v. Crawford, 44 N. H. 428.

Ohio.— Craig v. Toledo, etc., R. Co., 3 Ohio Dec. 146.

Tennessee.— Padgett v. Ducktown Sulphur, etc., Co., 97 Tenn. 690, 37 S. W. 698; Willey v. Roirden, 2 Baxt. (Tenn.) 227; Armstrong v. Harrison, 1 Head (Tenn.) 379.

Vermont.— Gustin v. Carpenter, 51 Vt. 585; Bent v. Bent, 43 Vt. 42; Bliss v. Smith, 42 Vt. 198; Howard v. Walker, 39 Vt. 163; Barrows v. McGowan, 39 Vt. 238; Bennett v. Allen, 30 Vt. 684; Ferris v. Ferris, 25 Vt. 100; Bliss v. Connecticut, etc., Rivers R. Co., 24 Vt. 428; Connecticut, etc., Rivers R. Co. v. Bailey, 24 Vt. 465, 58 Am. Dec. 181; Culver v. Balch, 23 Vt. 618; Overseers of Poor v. Overseers of Poor, 2 Vt. 200.

United States.— U. S. v. American Bell Telephone Co., 29 Fed. 17; Walker v. Flint, 2 McCrary (U. S.) 341, 7 Fed. 435.

Defects in attachment writ or bond.— In attachment proceedings, defects in the writ or apparent on the face of the affidavit or bond may be raised by motion to quash or vacate. Blankenship v. Blackwell, (Ala. 1900) 27 So. 551; Melvin v. Steamboat General Shields, 15 Ark. 207.

Failure to take bond in replevin.— An objection to the maintenance of an action of replevin on the ground that the sheriff serving the writ of replevin did not take a bond from plaintiff may be interposed by a motion to dismiss, since such fact appears from the record. Bent v. Bent, 43 Vt. 42.

9. Alabama.—Holley v. Younge, 27 Ala. 203.

Georgia.— Welchel v. Thompson, 39 Ga. 559, 99 Am. Dec. 470.

Indiana.—Sherwood v. Hammond, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 504; Smock v. Graham, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 314.

Kentucky.— Anderson v. Barry, 2 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 265.

Massachusetts.— Craig Silver Co. v. Smith, 163 Mass. 262, 39 N. E. 1116; Mattel v. Conant, 156 Mass. 418, 31 N. E. 487; Moore v. Spiegel, 143 Mass. 413, 9 N. E. 827; Morton v. Sweetser, 12 Allen (Mass.) 134.

Michigan.— Sullings v. Goodyear Dental Vulcanite Co., 36 Mich. 313; Near v. Mitchell, 23 Mich. 382.

New York.— Wemple v. Johnson, 13 Wend. (N. Y.) 515; Percival v. Hickey, 18 Johns. (N. Y.) 257, 9 Am. Dec. 210.

North Carolina.— Blackwell v. Dibbrell, 103 N. C. 270, 9 S. E. 192; Harris v. Johnson, 65 N. C. 478.

by answer.[10] Under the code advantage should be taken of it by demurrer where the fact of such pendency appears on the face of the complaint, otherwise by answer.[11]

2. Grounds Arising Subsequent to Commencement of Action. Matter constituting a ground for the abatement of an action arising subsequent to the interposition of a plea in bar may be pleaded by a plea puis darrein continuance.[12]

3. Joinder of Matter in Abatement with Matter in Bar — a. At Common Law. At common law a plea in abatement cannot be joined with a plea in bar,[13]

Pennsylvania.— Gardner v. Kiehl, 182 Pa. St. 194, 37 Atl. 829; Com. v. Cope, 45 Pa. St. 161; Matter of Linn, 2 Pearson (Pa.) 487.

Tennessee.— Southern R. Co. v. Brigman, 95 Tenn. 624, 32 S. W. 762.

United States.— Stephens v. Monongahela Nat. Bank, 111 U. S. 197, 4 S. Ct. 336, 337, 28 L. ed. 399; North Muskegon v. Clark, 62 Fed. 694, 22 U. S. App. 522, 10 C. C. A. 591; Certain Logs of Mahogany, 2 Sumn. (U. S.) 589, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,559.

By affidavit.— In Kellogg v. Sutherland, 38 Ind. 154, it was held that an affidavit cannot serve the purpose of an answer in abatement.

10. Cummins v. Bennett, 8 Paige (N. Y.) 79; Battell v. Matot, 58 Vt. 271, 5 Atl. 479; Pierce v. Feagans, 39 Fed. 587.

By plea or motion to dismiss.— In Anderson v. Piercy, 20 W. Va. 282, it was held that an objection to a suit in a chancery court that another chancery suit was pending in the same court for the same cause of action should be presented by a plea or motion to dismiss.

11. Arkansas.— Grider v. Apperson, 32 Ark. 332.

Kentucky.— Moore v. Sheppard, 1 Metc. (Ky.) 97.

Missouri.— Warder v. Henry, 117 Mo. 530, 23 S. W. 776.

New York.— Peck v. Kirtz, 15 N. Y. St. 598; Wright v. Maseras, 56 Barb. (N. Y.) 521; Bishop v. Bishop, 7 Rob. (N. Y.) 194; Ansorge v. Kaiser, 22 Abb. N. Cas. (N. Y.) 305, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 785; Christy v. Libby, 5 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 192; Hornfager v. Hornfager, 6 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 279.

North Carolina.— Alexander v. Norwood, 118 N. C. 381, 24 S. E. 119; Curtis v. Piedmont Lumber, etc., Co., 109 N. C. 401, 13 S. E. 944; Montague v. Brown, 104 N. C. 161, 10 S. E. 186; Blackwell v. Dibbrell, 103 N. C. 270, 9 S. E. 192; Hawkins v. Hughes, 87 N. C. 115; Smith v. Moore, 79 N. C. 82; Harris v. Johnson, 65 N. C. 478.

Oregon.— Crane v. Larsen, 15 Oreg. 345, 15 Pac. 326.

By motion to dismiss.— By the apparent weight of authority the pendency of another action cannot be taken advantage of in defense by a motion to dismiss. Maxwell v. Peters Shoe Co., 109 Ala. 371, 19 So. 412; Danforth v. Tennessee, etc., R. Co., 93 Ala. 614, 11 So. 60; Central R., etc., Co. v. Coleman, 88 Ga. 294, 14 S. E. 382; Kennon v. Petty, 59 Ga. 175; Killen v. Compton, 57 Ga. 63; Champ v. Kendrick, 130 Ind. 549, 30 N. E. 787; Morton v. Sweetser, 12 Allen (Mass.) 134. Contra, Curd v. Lewis, 1 Dana (Ky.) 351; Long v. Jarratt, 94 N. C. 443; Claywell v. Sudderth, 77 N. C. 287; State v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 77 N. C. 299. See also Rogers v. Odell, 39 N. H. 417, wherein it was held that advantage may be taken of a former suit pending, in the discretion of the court, on motion to dismiss as a vexatious abuse of the authority of the court.

By motion to quash writ.— The pendency of a prior action is the subject of a plea in abatement, not of a motion to quash the second writ. Gardner v. Kiehl, 182 Pa. St. 194, 37 Atl. 829.

12. Georgia.— Mott v. Hall, 41 Ga. 117; Howes v. Chester, 33 Ga. 89.

Maryland.— Young v. Citizens' Bank, 31 Md. 66; Eschbach v. Bayley, 28 Md. 492; U. S. Bank v. Merchants' Bank, 7 Gill (Md.) 415; Chapman v. Davis, 4 Gill (Md.) 166; Semmes v. Naylor, 12 Gill & J. (Md.) 358; Agnew v. Gettysburg Bank, 2 Harr. & G. (Md.) 478.

Mississippi.— Simmons v. Thomas, 43 Miss. 31, 5 Am. Rep. 470; Planters Bank v. Sharp, 4 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 17.

New York.— Ressequie v. Brownson, 4 Barb. (N. Y.) 541.

Tennessee.— Yancey v. Marriott, 1 Sneed (Tenn.) 28.

United States.— Thompson v. U. S., 103 U. S. 480, 26 L. ed. 521; Yeaton v. Lynn, 5 Pet. (U. S.) 224, 8 L. ed. 105.

Submission to arbitration.— A plea in abatement puis darrein continuance is the proper mode of taking advantage of an agreement to submit to arbitration the matters of controversy in a suit entered into after issue joined. Ressequie v. Brownson, 4 Barb. (N. Y.) 541.

13. Alabama.— Holley v. Younge, 27 Ala. 203; Hart v. Turk, 15 Ala. 675; Cleveland v. Chandler, 3 Stew. (Ala.) 489.

Illinois.— Grand Lodge, etc. v. Randolph, 186 Ill. 89, 57 N. E. 882.

Indiana.— Carmien v. Cornell, 148 Ind. 83, 47 N. E. 216; Smith v. Pedigo, 145 Ind. 361, 33 N. E. 777, 44 N. E. 363, 19 L. R. A. 433; Watts v. Sweeney, 127 Ind. 116, 26 N. E. 680, 22 Am. St. Rep. 615; Brink v. Reid, 122 Ind. 257, 23 N. E. 770; Moore v. Sargent, 112 Ind. 484, 14 N. E. 466; Field v. Malone, 102 Ind. 251, 1 N. E. 507; Thompson v. Greenwood, 28 Ind. 327.

Iowa.— Rush v. Frost, 49 Iowa 183.

Louisiana.— Mix v. His Creditors, 39 La. Ann. 624, 2 So. 391.

Maryland.— Glenn v. Williams, 60 Md. 93; Cruzen v. McKaig, 57 Md. 454.

Mississippi.— Dean v. McKinstry, 2 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 213.

and if so pleaded by a party defendant the matter in abatement will be deemed waived.[14]

b. Under the Codes. But under the codes, permitting defendant to present by his answer as many defenses as he may have, the rule is otherwise. Accordingly in most code states defendant may plead matter in abatement with matter in bar, and such joinder does not constitute a waiver of the matter in abatement.[15]

D. Time of Presentation — 1. Grounds Existing at Commencement of Action — a. At Common Law. A ground of abatement existing at the commencement of an action, and not going to the jurisdiction of the court over the subject-matter, must be interposed, at common law, where it is not waived by

New Jersey.— Kerr v. Willetts, 48 N. J. L. 78, 2 Atl. 782.

New York.— Sweet v. Tuttle, 14 N. Y. 465; Peck v. Kirtz, 15 N. Y. St. 598; Gardiner v. Clark, 6 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 449.

Oregon.— Oregon Cent. R. Co. v. Scoggin, 3 Oreg. 161; Hopwood v. Patterson, 2 Oreg. 49.

Pennsylvania.— Lindsley v. Malone, 23 Pa. St. 24; Gallagher v. Thornley, 10 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 189; Reimer v. Philadelphia, 5 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 449.

South Carolina.— Preston v. Simons, 1 Rich. (S. C.) 262.

Tennessee.— Douglass v. Belcher, 7 Yerg. (Tenn.) 105.

Vermont.— Lyman v. Central Vermont R. Co., 59 Vt. 167, 10 Atl. 346.

United States.— Spencer v. Lapsley, 20 How. (U. S.) 264, 15 L. ed. 902; Sheppard v. Graves, 14 How. (U. S.) 505, 14 L. ed. 518; Marshall v. Otto, 59 Fed. 249; Wythe v. Myers, 3 Sawy. (U. S.) 595, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,119; Adams v. White, 2 Pittsb. (Pa.) 21, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 68.

Canada.— Mercer v. Cosman, 13 N. Brunsw. 240; Brown v. York County, 8 Ont. Pr. 139.

14. Alabama.— Cleveland v. Chandler, 3 Stew. (Ala.) 489; Wilson v. Oliver, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 46.

Indiana.— State v. Ruhlman, 111 Ind. 17, 11 N. E. 793; Glidden v. Henry, 104 Ind. 278, 1 N. E. 369, 54 Am. Rep. 316; Dwiggins v. Clark, 94 Ind. 49, 48 Am. Rep. 140; Voluntary Relief Dept. v. Spencer, 17 Ind. App. 123, 46 N. E. 477.

Maryland.— Tyler v. Murray, 57 Md. 418.

Minnesota.— Gerrish v. Pratt, 6 Minn. 53.

Mississippi.— Pearce v. Young, Walk. (Miss.) 259.

Missouri.— Moody v. Deutsch, 85 Mo. 237; Fordyce v. Hathorn, 57 Mo. 120.

Tennessee.— Southern R. Co. v. Brigman, 95 Tenn. 624, 32 S. W. 762; Waggoner v. St. John, 10 Heisk. (Tenn.) 503; Grove v. Campbell, 9 Yerg. (Tenn.) 7.

United States.— De Sobry v. Nicholson, 3 Wall. (U. S.) 420, 18 L. ed. 263; Marshall v. Otto, 59 Fed. 249; Wythe v. Myers, 3 Sawy. (U. S.) 595, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,119.

But see Gardner v. James, 5 R. I. 235, wherein it was held, under Rhode Island rules of practice requiring defendant to plead all his defenses at one time, whether in abatement or in bar, that a plea in abatement filed by defendant at the same time that he filed a plea in bar will not be deemed waived though the plea in bar was first in order. See also O'Loughlin v. Bird, 128 Mass. 600 [overruling Machinist Nat. Bank v. Dean, 124 Mass. 81; Morton v. Sweetser, 12 Allen (Mass.) 134; Pratt v. Sanger, 4 Gray (Mass.) 84], wherein it was held that where an answer in abatement and one to the merits are filed in apt time and in proper order, the answer in abatement is not waived though both were filed on the same paper.

15. Arkansas.— Union Guaranty, etc., Co. v. Craddock, 59 Ark. 593, 28 S. W. 424; Erb v. Perkins, 32 Ark. 428; Grider v. Apperson, 32 Ark. 332.

Georgia.— Jernigan v. Carter, 51 Ga. 232.

Minnesota.— Page v. Mitchell, 37 Minn. 368, 34 N. W. 896.

Missouri.— Johnson v. Detrick, 152 Mo. 243, 53 S. W. 891; Christian v. Williams, 111 Mo. 429, 20 S. W. 96; Cohn v. Lehman, 93 Mo. 574, 6 S. W. 267; Byler v. Jones, 79 Mo. 261; Little v. Harrington, 71 Mo. 390; McIntire v. Calhoun, 27 Mo. App. 513; Thompson v. Bronson, 17 Mo. App. 456.

Nebraska.— Hurlburt v. Palmer, 39 Nebr. 158, 57 N. W. 1019.

New York.— Gardner v. Clark, 21 N. Y. 399 [overruling 6 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 449]; Sweet v. Tuttle, 14 N. Y. 465; Owens v. Loomis, 19 Hun (N. Y.) 606; Peck v. Kirtz, 15 N. Y. St. 598.

North Carolina.— Curtis v. Piedmont Lumber, etc., Co., 109 N. C. 401, 13 S. E. 944.

Wisconsin.—Hooker v. Greene, 50 Wis. 271, 6 N. W. 816; Dutcher v. Dutcher, 39 Wis. 651; Freeman v. Carpenter, 17 Wis. 126.

In Oregon, though the statute provides that defendant may set forth by answer as many defenses as he may have, an answer in the nature of a plea in abatement should be pleaded separately and disposed of before an answer to the merits is interposed. Oregon Cent. R. Co. v. Scoggin, 3 Oreg. 161; Hopwood v. Patterson, 2 Oreg. 49.

In Wisconsin, while the code allows defenses in abatement and bar to be pleaded in one answer, it does not permit the same defense to be pleaded in abatement and in bar (Hooker v. Greene, 50 Wis. 271, 6 N. W. 816), and if so pleaded the latter waives the former (Crowns v. Forest Land Co., 99 Wis. 103, 74 N. W. 546).

Another suit pending.— In code states the defense of another action pending is properly joined in the same answer with defenses on the merits. Grider v. Apperson, 32 Ark. 332; Gardner v. Clark, 21 N. Y. 399; Owens v. Loomis, 19 Hun (N. Y.) 606; Peck v. Kirtz, 15 N. Y. St. 598; Curtis v. Piedmont Lumber, etc., Co., 109 N. C. 401, 13 S. E. 944.

appearance,[16] before pleading to the merits, or it will not be available.[17] As a general demurrer is considered as a plea to the merits, it follows that defendant cannot plead such matter in abatement after filing a general demurrer.[18] It has

16. As to effect of appearance as waiver of grounds of abatement see APPEARANCES.

17. Numerous authorities sustain the text, among which may be cited the following cases:

Alabama.— Nabors v. Nabors, 2 Port. (Ala.) 162; Cleveland v. Chandler, 3 Stew. (Ala.) 489.

Arkansas.— State Bank v. Whiting, 12 Ark. 119; Heilman v. Martin, 2 Ark. 158.

Connecticut.— James v. Morgan, 36 Conn. 348; Prosser v. Chapman, 29 Conn. 515.

Delaware.— Lycoming F. Ins. Co. v. Bush, 1 Marv. (Del.) 181, 40 Atl. 947; Townsend v. Steward, 4 Harr. (Del.) 94.

Illinois.— Kreitz v. Behrensmeyer, 125 Ill. 141, 17 N. E. 232, 8 Am. St. Rep. 349; Fisher v. Cook, 125 Ill. 280, 17 N. E. 763.

Indiana.— Estep v. Larsh, 21 Ind. 190; Keller v. Miller, 17 Ind. 206.

Kentucky.— Wickliffe v. Carroll, 14 B. Mon. (Ky.) 169; Hopkins v. Chambers, 7 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 254.

Louisiana.— Robbins v. Martin, 43 La. Ann. 488, 9 So. 108; Giraud v. Mazier, 13 La. Ann. 147.

Maine.— Hazen v. Wright, 85 Me. 314, 27 Atl. 181; Otis v. Ellis, 78 Me. 75, 2 Atl. 851.

Maryland.— Spencer v. Patten, 84 Md. 414, 35 Atl. 1097; Cruzen v. McKaig, 57 Md. 454.

Massachusetts.— Pierce v. Equitable L. Assur. Soc., 145 Mass. 56, 12 N. E. 858, 1 Am. St. Rep. 433; Breed v. Breed, 110 Mass. 532.

Michigan.— Pangborn v. Smith, 65 Mich. 1, 31 N. W. 599.

Mississippi.— Lewis v. State, 65 Miss. 468, 4 So. 429; McKey v. Torry, 28 Miss. 78.

New Hampshire.— Bedford v. Rice, 58 N. H. 227; Kimball v. Wellington, 20 N. H. 439.

New York.— Smith v. Elder, 3 Johns. (N. Y.) 105.

North Carolina.— Burroughs v. McNeill, 22 N. C. 297; Dalzell v. Stanley, 1 N. C. 40.

Pennsylvania.— Smith v. People's Mut. Live Stock Ins. Co., 173 Pa. St. 15, 33 Atl. 567; Larkin v. Scranton City, 162 Pa. St. 289, 29 Atl. 910.

Rhode Island.— Potter v. Smith, 7 R. I. 55; Gardner v. James, 5 R. I. 235.

South Carolina.— King v. Ferguson, 2 Nott & M. (S. C.) 588.

Tennessee.— Foster v. Hall, 4 Humphr. (Tenn.) 346; Webber v. Houston, 6 Yerg. (Tenn.) 314.

Vermont.— Lyman v. Central Vermont R. Co., 59 Vt. 167, 10 Atl. 346; Wilder v. Stafford, 30 Vt. 399.

Virginia.— Guarantee Co. of North America v. Lynchburg First Nat. Bank, 95 Va. 480, 28 S. E. 909; May v. North Carolina State Bank, 2 Rob. (Va.) 56, 40 Am. Dec. 726.

West Virginia.— Riley v. Jarvis, 43 W. Va. 43, 26 S. E. 366; Valley Bank v. Berkeley Bank, 3 W. Va. 386.

Wisconsin.— Goodrich v. Compound School Dist. No. 5, 2 Wis. 102; Knowlton v. Culver, 2 Pinn. (Wis.) 86.

United States.— Spencer v. Lapsley, 20 How. (U. S.) 264, 15 L. ed. 902; Sheppard v. Graves, 14 How. (U. S.) 505, 14 L. ed. 518.

England.— Buddle v. Willson, 6 T. R. 369; Roberts v. Moon, 5 T. R. 487.

Before affidavits of merits.— In Massachusetts, a defendant, after filing an affidavit of merits under Stat. (1852), c. 312, § 10, providing that a default shall be entered against a defendant unless within a specified time he shall have filed an affidavit declaring that he verily believes he has a substantial defense to the action on its merits and intends to bring the same to trial, cannot interpose a plea in abatement, since the affidavit is equivalent to a plea in bar (Walpole v. Gray, 11 Allen (Mass.) 149; Cole v. Ackerman, 7 Gray (Mass.) 38); and this rule is not changed by the fact that the affidavit omits to state that the defense alluded to is "on the merits" (Whipple v. Rogerson, 12 Gray (Mass.) 347) or that it is interposed with an express reservation that it should be without prejudice to a plea in abatement (Pattee v. Harrington, 11 Pick. (Mass.) 221).

Amendment of declaration.— An amended declaration becomes to all intents a new declaration, and defendant, though he has pleaded to the merits of the original declaration, may plead either in abatement or in bar to the amended declaration. Shaw v. Brown, 42 Miss. 309.

Interposition in first court.— A plea in abatement should be filed in the first court in which defendant has an opportunity to file it, and failure so to do constitutes a waiver. Hence where defendant demanded a jury trial in an action brought in a police court, and, after it was transferred to a court wherein a jury trial could be had, for the first time pleaded in abatement, the plea was held too late. Bedford v. Rice, 58 N. H. 227.

18. Alabama.— Powers v. Bryant, 7 Port. (Ala.) 9; Callison v. Lemons, 2 Port. (Ala.) 145.

Arkansas — Foreman v. Gibson, 15 Ark. 206; Heilman v. Martin, 2 Ark. 158.

Indiana.— Slauter v. Hollowell, 90 Ind. 286; Indiana, etc., R. Co. v. Scearce, 23 Ind. 223.

Massachusetts.— Ripley v. Warren, 2 Pick. (Mass.) 592.

Michigan.— Thompson v. Michigan Mut. Ben. Assoc., 52 Mich. 522, 18 N. W. 247.

Texas.— Meyer v. Smith, 3 Tex. Civ. App. 37, 21 S. W. 995.

Wisconsin.— Knowlton v. Culver, 2 Pinn. (Wis.) 86.

But see Bauer v. Samson Lodge, etc., 102 Ind. 262, 1 N. E. 571, wherein it was held that the interposition of a demurrer does not preclude defendant from thereafter filing a plea to the jurisdiction, on the ground that the cause of action, being one against a mutual benefit association, is, by the terms of the contract under which plaintiff became a member, to be adjusted by the supreme lodge of also been held in a long line of cases that such matter cannot be pleaded after the granting of a general imparlance.[19]

b. In Equity. In chancery, matter in abatement should be presented as a preliminary question.[20]

c. Under the Codes. Under the rule established by the codes such matter must be set up by demurrer or answer, or in some way insisted on before trial on the merits, or it will be deemed waived.[21] the order rather than in the civil courts. See also Deane v. Echols, 2 App. Cas. (D. C.) 522, wherein it was held that a plea in abatement may be interposed after the overruling of a demurrer as a matter of grace.

19. Arkansas.— Watkins v. Brown, 5 Ark. 197.

District of Columbia.— Deane v. Echols, 2 App. Cas. (D. C.) 522.

Illinois.— Archer v. Claflin, 31 Ill. 306.

Kentucky.— Rives v. Rives, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 533.

Maine.— Otis v. Ellis, 78 Me. 75, 2 Atl. 851; Cook v. Lothrop, 18 Me. 260; Barker v. Norton, 17 Me. 416.

Maryland.— Tyler v. Murray, 57 Md. 418; Young v. Citizens' Bank, 31 Md. 66; Eschbach v. Bayley, 28 Md. 492; Chapman v. Davis, 4 Gill (Md.) 166.

Massachusetts.— Cole v. Ackerman, 7 Gray (Mass.) 38; Simonds v. Parker, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 508; Coffin v. Jones, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 61; Campbell v. Stiles, 9 Mass. 217; Martin v. Com., 1 Mass. 347.

Pennsylvania.— Ralph v. Brown, 3 Watts & S. (Pa.) 395; Chamberlin v. Hite, 5 Watts (Pa.) 373; Witmer v. Schlatter, 15 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 150; Fritz v. Thompson, 3 Clark (Pa.) 401, 5 Pa. L. J. 423; Coates v. McCamm, 2 Browne (Pa.) 173; McCarney v. McCamp, 1 Ashm. (Pa.) 4.

Tennessee.— State v. Faust, 7 Coldw. (Tenn.) 109; Shaw v. Bowen, 1 Overt. (Tenn.) 248.

West Virginia.— Valley Bank v. Berkeley Bank, 3 W. Va. 386.

England.— Buddle v. Willson, 6 T. R. 369; Doughty v. Lascelles, 4 T. R. 520; Jenkes v. Lyon, 2 Show. 145; Baron v. Hayne, 2 Rolle 59; Lloyd v. Williams, 2 M. & S. 484; Barnes v. Ward, 1 Sid. 29; Unston v. Milner, 1 Show. 49; Neave v. Nelson, 1 Lev. 54; Wentworth v. Squib, 1 Lutw. 20.

Special imparlance.—In Chamberlin v. Hite, 5 Watts (Pa.) 373, it was held that after a general imparlance a plea in abatement cannot be interposed, but the right to interpose such plea can be preserved only by asking a special imparlance and having the reservation entered on the record. See also Robbins v. Hill, 12 Pick. (Mass.) 569, wherein it was held that under a statute providing that if the principal defendant in a trustee process shall be absent from the commonwealth when such writ shall be served the court shall continue the action two terms, defendant may plead in abatement at the third term, since such continuances will be deemed in the nature of special imparlance saving defendant's rights.

20. Hertell v. Van Buren, 3 Edw. (N. Y.) 20; Anderson v. Piercy, 20 W. Va. 282, wherein it was held that an objection to a suit in a chancery court, that another chancery suit was pending in the same court for the same cause of action, presented as an incident among other matters in an answer on the merits, would not avail.

21. Numerous authorities sustain the text, among which may be cited the following cases:

Alabama.—Blankenship v. Blackwell, (Ala 1900) 27 So. 551; Hawkins v. Armour Packing Co., 105 Ala. 545, 17 So. 16.

Arkansas.— Hickey v. Thompson, 52 Ark. 234, 12 S. W. 475; Erb v. Perkins, 32 Ark. 428.

California.— Luco v. Superior Ct., 71 Cal. 555, 12 Pac. 677.

Colorado.— Smith v. District Ct., 4 Colo. 235.

Georgia.— Paulk v. Tanner, 106 Ga. 219, 32 S. E. 99; Beall v. Rust, 68 Ga. 774; Jernigan v. Carter, 51 Ga. 232; Welchel v. Thompson, 39 Ga. 559, 99 Am. Dec. 470.

Iowa.— Rush v. Frost, 49 Iowa 183.

Kansas.— Reed v. Sexton, 20 Kan. 195; Bliss v. Burnes, McCahon (Kan.) 91.

Minnesota.— McNair v. Toler, 21 Minn. 175.

Missouri.—Johnson v. Detrick, 152 Mo. 243, 53 S. W. 891; Lindell Real Estate Co. v. Lindell, 133 Mo. 386, 33 S. W. 466; Cohn v. Lehman, 93 Mo. 574, 6 S. W. 267.

Nebraska.— Smith v. Spaulding, 40 Nebr. 339, 58 N. W. 952.

New York.— Pyro-Gravure Co. v. Staber, 30 Misc. (N. Y.) 658, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 520; Bunker v. Langs, 76 Hun (N. Y.) 543, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 210; Peck v. Kirtz, 15 N. Y. St. 598; Gardiner v. Clark, 6 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 449.

North Carolina.— Montague v. Brown, 104 N. C. 161, 10 S. E. 186; Blackwell v. Dibbrell, 103 N. C. 270, 9 S. E. 192; Hawkins v. Hughes, 87 N. C. 115.

Oklahoma.— Leader Printing Co. v. Lowry, 9 Okla. 89, 59 Pac. 242.

Texas.— Corsicana v. Kerr, 75 Tex. 207, 12 S. W. 982; Graham v. McCarty, 69 Tex. 323, 7 S. W. 342; Allen v. Read, 66 Tex. 13, 17 S. W. 115; Hartford F. Ins. Co. v. Shook, (Tex. Civ. App. 1896) 35 S. W. 737.

In Indiana, under the statute (Horner Rev. Stat. § 368) an answer in abatement should precede an answer to the merits. Moore v. Harmon, 142 Ind. 555, 41 N. E. 599; Black v. Thompson, 136 Ind. 611, 36 N. E. 643; Watts v. Sweeney, 127 Ind. 116, 26 N. E. 680, 22 Am. St. Rep. 615; Field v. Malone, 102 Ind. 251, 1 N. E. 507; Dwiggins v. Clark, 94 Ind. 49, 48 Am. Rep. 140; Sanders v. Hartge, 17 Ind. App. 243, 46 N. E. 604.

In Oregon, under the code, the common-law rule is followed, and answers in the na-

d. Time Limited by Statute or Rule of Court — (I) In General. In jurisdictions where the time within which matter in abatement may be interposed is limited by statute or rule of court, a defendant must interpose such matter within the time so limited or it will be deemed waived,[22] unless the failure so to do is caused by the misconduct of plaintiff[23] or the fault of the court.[24] It has been held that even ignorance of the existence of the facts constituting grounds of abatement will not justify the filing of a plea in abatement after the time limited therefor, if by the use of ordinary diligence they could have been ascertained.[25]

(II) Discretion of Court. In some jurisdictions, however, the court may, in its discretion, permit a plea in abatement to be filed after the time for filing such a plea has expired,[26] if the defendant has done nothing indicating an intention to waive the matter in abatement.[27]

2. Grounds Arising Subsequent to Commencement of Action. Matter of abatement arising subsequent to the commencement of the action should be pleaded at the first opportunity after the happening of the facts on which it is founded.[28]

ture of pleas in abatement must be interposed before answering to the merits. Fiore v. Ladd, 29 Oreg. 528, 46 Pac. 144; Derkeny v. Belfils, 4 Oreg. 258; Hopwood v. Patterson, 2 Oreg. 49; Winter v. Norton, 1 Oreg. 42.

22. Connecticut.— Witter v. Mott, 2 Conn. 67.

Illinois.— Thomas v. Lowy, 60 Ill. 512; Archer v. Claflin, 31 Ill. 306.

Kentucky.—Wickliffe v. Carroll, 14 B. Mon. (Ky.) 169; Pendleton v. State Bank, 1 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 171; Simpson v. Shannon, 5 Litt. (Ky.) 322.

Maine.— Delcourt v. Whitehouse, 92 Me. 254, 42 Atl. 394; Richardson v. Rich, 66 Me. 249; Mitchell v. Union L. Ins. Co., 45 Me. 104, 71 Am. Dec. 529; Snell v. Snell, 40 Me. 307; Nickerson v. Nickerson, 36 Me. 417; Pattee v. Lowe, 35 Me. 121; Shorey v. Hussey, 32 Me. 579.

Maryland.— Yoe v. Gelston, 37 Md. 233; State v. Gittings, 35 Md. 169.

Massachusetts.— Joyner v. School Dist. No. 3, 3 Cush. (Mass.) 567; Simonds v. Parker, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 508; Thompson v. Hatch, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 512; Cleveland v. Welsh, 4 Mass. 591.

New Hampshire.— Crawford v. Crawford, 44 N. H. 428; Parsons v. Swett, 32 N. H. 87, 64 Am. Dec. 352.

Pennsylvania.— Daniels v. Sanderson, 22 Pa. St. 443; Harrison v. Tillinghast, 3 Kulp (Pa.) 270; Williams v. Etzell, 4 Clark (Pa.) 38, 6 Pa. L. J. 294.

Vermont.— Jennison v. Hapgood, 2 Aik. (Vt.) 31.

West Virginia.— Robrecht v. Marling, 29 W. Va. 765, 2 S. E. 827; Carey v. Burruss, 20 W. Va. 571, 43 Am. Rep. 790; Hinton v. Ballard, 3 W. Va. 582.

United States.— Brooklyn White Lead Co. v. Pierce, 4 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 531, 4 Fed. Cas. No. 1,940.

Entry of a special appearance does not dispense with the necessity of complying with a rule of court providing that pleas in abatement must be filed within two days after entry of the action. Mitchell v. Union L. Ins. Co., 45 Me. 104, 71 Am. Dec. 529.

Motion to quash writ.— A motion to quash the writ on a ground also appropriate for a plea in abatement must be made within the time limited for filing pleas in abatement. Nickerson v. Nickerson, 36 Me. 417; Shorey v. Hussey, 32 Me. 579; Trafton v. Rogers, 13 Me. 315; Simonds v. Parker, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 508; Parsons v. Swett, 32 N. H. 87, 64 Am. Dec. 352.

23. State Bank v. Hervey, 21 Me. 38, wherein it was held that where plaintiff wrongfully withheld a writ from the files until after the expiration of the time within which, under the rules of court, defendant might plead in abatement, defendant may thereafter and on the inspection of the writ move in abatement.

24. Brunswick First Nat. Bank v. Lime Rock F. & M. Ins. Co., 56 Me. 424, wherein it was held that a plea in abatement filed on the third day of the term, no judge having appeared on the first day, is in time.

25. Huntley v. Holt, 59 Conn. 102, 22 Atl. 34, 21 Am. St. Rep. 71; James v. Morgan, 36 Conn. 348; Hastings v. Bolton, 1 Allen (Mass.) 529.

26. Massey v. Steele, 11 Ala. 340; Cobb v. Miller, 9 Ala. 499; Charter Oak Bank v. Reed, 45 Conn. 391; Hurst v. Fisher, 1 Watts & S. (Pa.) 438; Riddle v. Stevens, 2 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 537. See also Coubrough v. Adams, 70 Cal. 374, 11 Pac. 634, wherein it was held that it was within the discretion of the court to permit defendant, at the close of the trial, to amend his answer by setting up the pendency of another action involving the same cause of action.

27. Hawkins v. Armour Packing Co., 105 Ala. 545, 17 So. 16; Vaughan v. Robinson, 22 Ala. 519.

28. Georgia.— Mott v. Hall, 41 Ga. 117.

Maryland.— Cruzen v. McKaig, 57 Md. 454; Young v. Citizens' Bank, 31 Md. 66; Eschbach v. Bayley, 28 Md. 492; Chapman v. Davis, 4 Gill (Md.) 166.

Mississippi.— Simmons v. Thomas, 43 Miss. 31, 5 Am. Rep. 470.

Pennsylvania.— Stoever v. Gloninger, 6 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 63.

Tennessee.— Yancey v. Marriott, 1 Sneed (Tenn.) 28.

Virginia.— May v. North Carolina State Bank, 2 Rob. (Va.) 56, 40 Am. Dec. 726.

3. WITHDRAWAL OF PLEA IN BAR AND INTERPOSITION OF PLEA IN ABATEMENT. In some states the court may in its discretion permit defendant to withdraw a plea in bar and thereafter interpose a plea in abatement.[29]

E. Hearing and Determination of Grounds — 1. TIME OF HEARING AND DETERMINATION. Regularly issues in abatement should be tried and disposed of before issues on the merits.[30] It has been held, however, that the trial of issues on the merits, first, in an attachment action where defendant has pleaded in abatement and in bar, is not of itself reversible error.[31]

2. BURDEN OF PROOF. Upon a plea in abatement the burden of proof is on defendant.[32]

3. ISSUES DETERMINABLE. The merits of plaintiff's case are not the subject of inquiry on the trial of a plea in abatement.[33] The only issue determinable is the matter of abatement.[34]

4. PROVINCE OF COURT AND JURY. An issue of law raised by a plea in abate-

Reasonable time.— In James v. Morgan, 36 Conn. 348, it was held that matter of abatement arising after the commencement of the action should be pleaded within a reasonable time after the facts on which it is based arose.

29. Harrison v. Tillinghast, 3 Kulp (Pa.) 270; Sandback v. Quigley, 8 Watts (Pa.) 460; Myers v. Wogan, 5 Pa. Co. Ct. 266; Eden v. Osborne, 14 Tex. Civ. App. 314, 37 S. W. 182; Kern v. Huidekoper, 103 U. S. 485, 26 L. ed. 354; Eberly v. Moore, 24 How. (U. S.) 147, 16 L. ed. 612; Spencer v. Lapsley, 20 How. (U. S.) 264, 15 L. ed. 902. But see Lycoming F. Ins. Co. v. Bush, 1 Marv. (Del.) 181, 40 Atl. 947, wherein it was held that an objection that plaintiff corporation had ceased to exist cannot be interposed after pleas to the merits by withdrawing the pleas in bar. See also Watts v. Sweeney, 127 Ind. 116, 26 N. E. 680, 22 Am. St. Rep. 615, wherein it was held that under Ind. Rev. Stat. 1881, § 365, which provides that answers in abatement must precede, and cannot be pleaded with, an answer in bar, when a party files an answer in bar he cannot afterward file an answer in abatement, even though by leave of court the plea in bar was withdrawn. To same effect is Brink v. Reid, 122 Ind. 257, 23 N. E. 770.

Abuse of discretion.— It is an abuse of discretion to permit defendant, after waiting four years and until the cause is barred by the statute of limitations, to withdraw an answer to the merits and interpose an objection that the amount in controversy is beneath the jurisdiction of the court. Eden v. Osborne, 14 Tex. Civ. App. 314, 37 S. W. 182.

30. Illinois.— White v. Thompson, 1 Ill. 72.

Kansas.— Wells v. Patton, 50 Kan. 732, 33 Pac. 15.

Louisiana.— Flournoy v. Flournoy, 29 La. Ann. 737.

Maryland.— Tyler v. Murray, 57 Md. 418.

Missouri.— Coombs Commission Co. v. Block, 130 Mo. 668, 32 S. W. 1139; Boland v. Ross, 120 Mo. 208, 25 S. W. 524.

Pennsylvania.— Hummel v. Meyers, 26 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 279.

Wisconsin.— Brown County v. Van Stralen, 45 Wis. 675.

United States.— Fremont v. Merced Min. Co., McAll. (U. S.) 267, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,095.

As to trial of issue raised by plea of another suit pending see supra, II, X, 1-3.

See also Stoever v. Gloninger, 6 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 63, wherein it was held that on the removal of a cause to a county created from portions of adjoining counties it is error for the court to which the cause is removed to disregard a plea in abatement alleging the absence of those facts which alone could authorize a removal, and to decide in favor of its own jurisdiction without submitting the issue of fact raised by the plea to the jury.

Discretion of court.— In Tynburg v. Cohen, 67 Tex. 220, 2 S. W. 734, it was held that it rested in judicial discretion to permit a plea in abatement, which is to be determined after hearing evidence in support thereof, to be tried as a separate issue and before a trial upon the merits. To same effect see Robertson v. Ephraim, 18 Tex. 118.

Distribution of funds pending determination.— While pleas in abatement in attachment suits are undetermined, a distribution of the funds among the attaching creditors should not be made. Boland v. Ross, 120 Mo. 208, 25 S. W. 524.

Preservation of status quo.—The court will direct an argument of a plea to the jurisdiction to be made forthwith, and intermediately direct a temporary injunction to issue to keep the parties in statu quo until the plea is disposed of. Fremont v. Merced Min. Co., McAll. (U. S.) 267, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 5,095.

31. Coombs Commission Co. v. Block, 130 Mo. 668, 32 S. W. 1139.

32. Jewett v. Davis, 6 N. H. 518; Hart v. Kanady, 33 Tex. 720; Robertson v. Ephraim, 18 Tex. 118; Hopson v. Caswell, 13 Tex. Civ. App. 492, 36 S. W. 312; Gilmer v. Grand Rapids, 16 Fed. 708.

As to burden of proof of another suit pending see supra, II, X, 4, b.

Jurisdiction over the person.— Where defendant is alleged to be a resident of the county where the suit is brought, and pleads in abatement that he does not reside in that county, but in another, the burden of proof is on defendant. Robertson v. Ephraim, 18 Tex. 118.

33. Chouteau v. Boughton, 100 Mo. 406, 13 S. W. 877; Sauerwein v. Renard Champagne Co., 68 Mo. App. 29.

34. Tyler v. Murray, 57 Md. 418.

ment is of course triable to the court.[35] An issue of fact raised by such a plea may be submitted to the jury;[36] but is triable to the court if the parties so agree.[37]

F. Successive Pleas. Successive pleas in abatement of the same general character and setting out matter existing at the time of filing the first plea will not be entertained.[38] It has been held, however, that where a demurrer to a plea in abatement has been sustained for the reason that the plea was not pleaded with sufficient formality, defendant may again be permitted to plead the same matter in abatement.[39]

VI. Waiver of Grounds of Abatement.

A. By Continuance After Interposition of Plea. In some states the continuance of a cause without a disposition of a plea in abatement previously filed is a waiver of such plea.[40] But where the continuance is had by consent[41] or is

35. Dickinson v. Noland, 7 Ark. 25, wherein it was held that issues to pleas in abatement for variance between the writ and declaration should be determined by the court upon an inspection of the record and should not be submitted to the jury. See also Gouhenant v. Anderson, 20 Tex. 459, wherein it was held that the issue whether or not plaintiff has not sought improperly to bring the cause within the cognizance of the district court is triable by the court without the jury.

Where raised by motion for non pros.— Where the question of jurisdiction over the person is presented by a motion for a non pros. the inquiry is made before the court without the intervention of a jury. Tyler v. Murray, 57 Md. 418; Gittings v. State, 33 Md. 458.

36. McCormick v. Blossom, 40 Iowa 256; Enders v. Beck, 18 Iowa 86; Tyler v. Murray, 57 Md. 418; Stoever v. Gloninger, 6 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 63; Robertson v. Ephraim, 18 Tex. 118.

37. Tyler v. Murray, 57 Md. 418; Anderson v. Garrett, 9 Gill (Md.) 120.

38. Arkansas.— Denning v. Kelly, 9 Ark. 435.

Illinois.— Grand Lodge, etc. v. Cramer, 165 Ill. 9, 45 N. E. 165; Cook v. Yarwood, 41 Ill. 115.

Kentucky.— Gaines v. Conn, 2 Dana (Ky.) 231.

Louisiana.—McAlpine v. Jones, 13 La. Ann. 409.

Maine.— Cassidy v. Holbrook, 81 Me. 589, 18 Atl. 290.

South Carolina.— Mitchum v. Droze, 11 Rich. (S. C.) 196.

Pennsylvania.— Witmer v. Schlatter, 15 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 150.

See also Tynberg v. Cohen, 76 Tex. 409, 13 S. W. 315, wherein it was held that a plea in abatement tried before a former appeal, though submitted with the merits, is not subject to be again tried, though on the former appeal the judgment was reversed on a ground not affecting the decision on the plea in abatement. But see Stoddard v. Miller, 29 Ill. 291, wherein it was held that a plea in abatement to an attachment writ will not preclude defendant from afterward moving to dismiss the suit because the declaration was not filed in apt time.

Pleas of non-joinder of parties.—Where defendants have once abated the suit by pleading the non-joinder of other joint contractors, a similar plea cannot thereafter be interposed, though offered by defendants who were not parties at the time of the first abatement of the action. Witmer v. Schlatter, 15 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 150.

Plea to jurisdiction.— A plea to the jurisdiction cannot be interposed after the interposition of a dilatory motion. Union Nat. Bank v. Centreville First Nat. Bank, 90 Ill. 56. So an objection to the jurisdiction is waived by a motion to require plaintiff to file security for costs. Denning v. Kelly, 9 Ark. 435.

Subsequent motion.—After a plea in abatement has been disposed of, a motion based on substantially the same grounds will not be entertained (Grand Lodge, etc. v. Cramer, 60 Ill. App. 212; Cassidy v. Holbrook, 81 Me. 589, 18 Atl. 290); but where defendant has interposed a plea in abatement and subsequently by motion seeks to dismiss the action on the same grounds as those alleged in his plea in abatement, he will be deemed to have waived his plea and elected to take the objection to the jurisdiction by motion (Gomer v. Shiner, 4 Colo. 246).

39. Anderson v. Rountree, 1 Pinn. (Wis.) 115.

40. Aldridge v. Webb, 92 Tex. 122, 46 S. W. 224; Peveler v. Peveler, 54 Tex. 53; Weekes v. Sunset Brick, etc., Co., (Tex Civ. App. 1900) 56 S. W. 243; Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. Reilly, (Tex. Civ. App. 1894) 30 S. W. 491. But see Parmelee v. Tennessee, etc., R. Co., 13 Lea (Tenn.) 600, wherein it was held that a plea of a former suit pending may be filed after a continuance of the cause, with leave to defendant to make defense to the bill and the attachment sued out thereon.

As to waiver by failure to plead see supra, V, A.

As to waiver by failure to plead matter in proper manner see supra, V, C.

As to waiver by failure to plead matter at proper time see supra, V, D.

41. Simpson v. East Tennessee, etc., R. Co., 89 Tenn. 304, 15 S. W. 735; State v. Woodville, 13 Tex. Civ. App. 217, 35 S. W. 861. See also Dorroh v. McKay, (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 56 S. W. 611, wherein it was held that a plea in abatement in a cause continued under an order which recites that it was "continued by agreement without prejudice to the pleas of privilege" is not waived by con-for the purpose of trying the issues raised by the plea in abatement, the rule in such jurisdictions has been held to be otherwise.[42]

B. By Pleading in Bar after Interposition of Plea — 1. In General. As a general rule the interposition of a plea in bar and proceeding to trial on the merits before a previously filed plea in abatement has been disposed of is a waiver of such plea,[43] even though issue has been joined on a replication to the plea in abatement.[44] It has been held, however, under a rule of court requiring dilatory pleas to be disposed of before the issue on the merits is tried, that on the refusal of the court to try a plea in abatement until the whole case is ready for trial, defendant does not waive his objection by failure to request judgment thereon until after a jury has been impaneled.[45] It has also been held that defendant, by pleading in bar in an action of attachment brought on the ground that he was a non-resident, does not thereby waive his previously interposed objection, based on the ground that he was not a non-resident, to the further maintenance of the attachment.[46]

2. After Overruling of Plea. But a defendant, by pleading in bar of an action after a demurrer has been sustained to his plea in abatement, does not thereby waive his rights under the plea in abatement, if no appeal lies from the tinuances subsequent to the first, though no reference be made to the plea in abatement.

42. Behrens Drug Co. v. Hamilton, 92 Tex. 284, 48 S. W. 5; Howeth v. Clark, (Tex. App. 1892) 19 S. W. 433.

43. Numerous authorities sustain the text, among which may be cited the following cases:

Alabama.— Brown v. Powell, 45 Ala. 149; Robertson v. Lea, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 141; Wilson v. Olwer, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 46.

Connecticut.—Prosser v. Chapman, 29 Conn. 515.

Illinois.— Gilmore v. Nowland, 26 Ill. 200; Fergerson v. Rawlings, 23 Ill. 69.

Indiana.— Watts v. Sweeney, 127 Ind. 116, 26 N. E. 680, 22 Am. St. Rep. 615; Teagle v. Deboy, 8 Blackf. (Ind.) 134.

Iowa.— Hotchkiss v. Thompson, Morr. (Iowa) 156; Starr v. Wilson, Morr. (Iowa) 438.

Kansas.— Wells v. Patton, 50 Kan. 732, 33 Pac. 15; Bliss v. Burnes, McCahon (Kan.) 91.

Kentucky.—Gaines v. Park, 3 B. Mon. (Ky.) 223, 38 Am. Dec. 185; Ragland v. Allin, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 592.

Louisiana.— Phoebe v. Vienne, 11 La. Ann. 688; Goldenbow v. Wright, 13 La. 371.

Maryland.— Cruzen v. McKaig, 57 Md. 454.

Massachusetts.—Clark v. Montague, 1 Gray (Mass.) 446; Carlisle v. Weston, 21 Pick. (Mass.) 535; Burnham v. Webster, 5 Mass. 266.

Mississippi.— Duncan v. McNeill, 31 Miss. 704; Alliston v. Lindsey, 12 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 656; Webster v. Tiernan, 4 How. (Miss.) 352.

Missouri.— Moody v. Deutsch, 85 Mo. 237; Rippstein v. St. Louis Mut. L. Ins. Co., 57 Mo. 86; Ellis v. Lamme, 42 Mo. 153.

New York.— Palmer v. Green, 1 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 101; Gardiner v. Clark, 6 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 449.

North Carolina.— Woody v. Jordan, 69 N. C. 189.

Oregon.— Winter v. Norton, 1 Oreg. 42.

Pennsylvania.— Potter v. McCoy, 26 Pa. St. 458; Utz v. Raish, 4 Kulp (Pa.) 375; Chamberlin v. Hite, 5 Watts (Pa.) 373.

Rhode Island.— Gardner v. James, 5 R. I. 235.

Tennessee.— Eller v. Richardson, 89 Tenn. 575, 15 S. W. 650; Epperson v. State, 5 Lea (Tenn.) 291; Morgan v. McCarty, 3 Humphr. (Tenn.) 146; Chambers v. Haley, Peck (Tenn.) 159.

Texas.— Howard v. Britton, 71 Tex. 286, 9 S. W. 73; Blum v. Strong, 71 Tex. 321, 6 S. W. 167; Stevens v. Lee, 70 Tex. 279, 8 S. W. 40; Halbert v. San Saba Springs Land, etc., Assoc., (Tex. Civ. App. 1895) 34 S. W. 636; Jolly v. Pryor, 12 Tex. Civ. App. 149, 33 S. W. 889; Waco Ice, etc., Co. v. Wiggins, (Tex. Civ. App. 1895) 32 S. W. 58; Creswell Ranche, etc., Co. v. Waldstein, (Tex. Civ. App. 1894) 28 S. W. 260.

Wisconsin.— Goodrich v. Compound School Dist. No. 5, 2 Wis. 102.

United States.— Baltimore, etc., R. Co. v. Harris, 12 Wall. (U. S.) 65, 20 L. ed. 354; Sheppard v. Graves, 14 How. (U. S.) 505, 14 L. ed. 518; Bailey v. Dozier, 6 How. (U. S.) 23, 12 L. ed. 328; Fenwick v. Grimes, 5 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 603, 8 Fed. Cas. No. 4,734; Adams v. White, 2 Pittsb. (Pa.) 21, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 68.

Another action pending.—An answer to the merits constitutes a waiver of a previously interposed objection to the jurisdiction of the court on the ground of another action pending. Mix v. His Creditors, 39 La. Ann. 624, 2 So. 391; Halbert v. San Saba Springs Land, etc., Assoc., (Tex. Civ. App. 1895) 34 S. W. 636.

44. Cruzen v. McKaig, 57 Md. 454.

45. Hartford F. Ins. Co. v. Shook, (Tex. Civ. App. 1896) 35 S. W. 737. See also State v. Woodville, 13 Tex. Civ. App. 217, 35 S. W. 861.

46. Chattanooga Third Nat. Bank v. Foster, 90 Tenn. 735, 18 S. W. 267. See also Coombs Commission Co. v. Block, 130 Mo. 668, 32 S. W. 1139 [overruling Green v. Craig, 47 Mo. 90; Cannon v. McManus, 17 Mo. 345; Hatry v. Shuman, 13 Mo. 547; Fugate v. Glasscock, 7 Mo. 577; Houghland v. Dent, 52 Mo. App. 237; Audenreid v. Hull, 45 Mo.

action of the court in sustaining the demurrer.[47] The rule is otherwise, however, in jurisdictions where an appeal may be so taken. In such jurisdictions defendant, to avail himself of the advantage of a plea in abatement, must abide by it and decline to plead over or appear to the merits.[48]

3. EFFECT OF STIPULATION. Effect will be given to a stipulation providing that defendant, by going to trial on the merits, does not waive a plea in abatement previously filed.[49]

ABATER. In Law French, a verb spelled also "Abatre" or "Abbatre," meaning "to ABATE,"[1] q. v. (See also ABATOR.)

ABATOR or ABATER. One who abates a nuisance, or who enters into a house or land vacant by the death of the former possessor and not yet taken possession of by his heir or devisee.[2]

ABATRE. See ABATER.

ABATUDA or ABATUDE. Anything diminished.[3]

ABATUS. Beaten; thrown down; abated; quashed.[4]

App. 202], wherein it was held, under Mo. Rev. Stat. 1889, § 561, providing that the truth of an attachment affidavit may be denied by a plea in the nature of a plea in abatement, that defendant, by pleading to the merits of the main action, did not thereby waive his previously interposed denial of the truth of the attachment affidavit.

47. Grand Lodge, etc. v. Cramer, 164 Ill. 9, 45 N. E. 165; Weld v. Hubbard, 11 Ill. 573; Delahay v. Clement, 4 Ill. 201 [overruling, on rehearing, 3 Ill. 575]; Galveston City R. Co. v. Hook, 40 Ill. App. 547; Union Mut. Acc. Assoc. v. Riel, 38 Ill. App. 414; Ames v. Winsor, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 247; Rathbone v. Rathbone, 4 Pick. (Mass.) 89; Cleveland v. Welsh, 4 Mass. 591; Harkness v. Hyde, 98 U. S. 476, 25 L. ed. 237. See also Goldstein v. Goldsmith, 28 Misc. (N. Y.) 569, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 677, wherein it was held that where defendant, on the return-day of a summons, appeared specially and objected to the jurisdiction of the court on the ground that there had been no service of the process on him, and, on such objections being overruled for want of proper proof, asked for time within which to answer, he will be deemed to have waived the objection.

In equity the rule appears to be otherwise. Railway Pass., etc., Mut. Aid, etc., Assoc. v. Robinson, 38 Ill. App. 111.

In justice's court.— Defendant in an action in a justice's court, by pleading to the merits after his objection in abatement has been overruled, does not waive his right to urge the objection on appeal to the county court. Dorroh v. McKay, (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 56 S. W. 611. See also Knoff v. Puget Sound Co-operative Colony, 1 Wash. 57, 24 Pac. 27.

Saving of exception.— In Norvell v. Porter, 62 Mo. 309, it was held that in attachment actions, where defendant seasonably interposes a plea in abatement and it is overruled by the trial court and an exception is reserved by defendant, he does not, by subsequently pleading to the merits, waive the objection so as to make it unavailable on appeal. To same effect see Ellis v. Lamme, 42 Mo. 153.

48. Prosser v. Chapman, 29 Conn. 515; Union County v. Knox County, 90 Tenn. 541, 18 S. W. 254; Simpson v. East Tennessee, etc., R. Co., 89 Tenn. 304, 15 S. W. 735; Wilson v. Scruggs, 7 Lea (Tenn.) 635. See also Rice v. Peteet, 66 Tex. 568, 1 S. W. 657, wherein it was held that where defendant pleads to the merits after his motion to dismiss has been overruled he will be deemed to have waived all grounds of abatement other than those on which the motion was based.

49. Murray v. Spencer, 46 La. Ann. 452, 15 So. 25; Macon v. Willson, 9 La. Ann. 178. See also Sallee v. Ireland, 9 Mich. 154, wherein it appeared that defendant interposed a plea in abatement. The magistrate before whom the action was pending desired to take time for the consideration of the motion, and plaintiff stipulated to submit the motion without argument if defendant would plead to the complaint. It was held that defendant, by complying with the stipulation, did not waive his plea in abatement. But see Atchison, etc., R. Co. v. Reilly, (Tex. Civ. App. 1894) 30 S. W. 491, wherein it was held that where a cause is continued under a stipulation that the continuance shall not be prejudicial to plaintiff's objection that the action was not brought in the proper county, and is subsequently continued several times by consent but without reference to the stipulation, defendant will be deemed to have waived the stipulation.

Stipulation to plead to merits.— Where defendants, in consideration of an extension of time within which they might answer, stipulated to answer to the merits of the bill, they are precluded from interposing a plea in abatement. Morgan v. Corlies, 81 Ill. 72.

Stipulation to waive errors.— A stipulation that defendant should plead at the present term and the cause stand for trial at the succeeding term, and that all errors were waived, constitutes a waiver of defendant's right to plead in abatement. Ward v. Crenshaw, 4 Yerg. (Tenn.) 197.

1. Burrill L. Dict.

2. Wharton L. Lex.

3. Jacob L. Dict.; Wharton L. Lex.

Moneta abatuda.— Money clipped or diminished in value. Jacob L. Dict.

4. Burrill L. Dict.

ABBACY. The government of a religious house, and the revenues thereof, subject to an abbot.[5]

ABBAS or ABBAT. See ABBOT.

ABBATIS. An ostler.[6]

ABBATRE. See ABATER.

ABBAYANCE. See ABEYANCE.

ABBETTARE or ABETTARE. To ABET,[7] q. v.

ABBETTATOR or ABETTATOR. An ABETTOR,[8] q. v.

ABBEY or ABBY. A place or house for religious retirement.[9]

ABBOT, ABBAT, or ABBAS. A spiritual lord or governor having the rule of a religious house.[10]

ABBREVIATE OF ADJUDICATION. In Scotch law, an abstract of the decree of adjudication, and of the lands adjudged, with the amount of the debt.[11]

ABBREVIATIO. An abbreviation.[12]

ABBREVIATIONS. Short conventional expressions, employed as substitutes for names, phrases, dates, and the like, for the saving of space, etc.[13] (Abbreviations: In Affidavits, see AFFIDAVITS. In Ballots, see ELECTIONS. In Certificate of Record on Appeal, see APPEAL AND ERROR. In Contracts, see CONTRACTS. In Deeds, see DEEDS. In Indictments or Informations, see INDICTMENTS AND INFORMATIONS. In Judgments, see JUDGMENTS. In Names, see NAMES; SIGNATURES. In Negotiable Instruments, see BILLS AND NOTES. In Pleadings, see PLEADING. In Process, see PROCESS. In Public Records, see RECORDS. In Returns, see ATTACHMENT; EXECUTIONS; PROCESS. In Tax Proceedings, see TAXATION. In Wills, see WILLS. In Verdicts, see TRIAL. Judicial Notice of, see EVIDENCE. Parol Evidence to Explain, see EVIDENCE.)

ABBREVIATIONUM ILLE NUMERUS ET SENSUS ACCIPIENDUS EST, UT CONCESSIO NON SIT INANIS. A maxim meaning "in abbreviations that number and that sense is to be taken by which the grant is not rendered void."[14]

ABBREVIATIO PLACITORUM. See PLACITORUM ABBREVIATIO.

ABBREVIATURE. A short draft.[15]

ABBROACH. To forestall a market.[16]

ABBROCHMENT, ABBROACHMENT, ABROACHMENT, or ABBROCAMENTUM. The forestalling of a market or fair.[17]

ABBUTTALS. See ABUTTALS.

ABBY. See ABBEY.

ABCARIARE. To carry away.[18]

ABDICATE. To renounce or refuse anything.[19]

ABDICATIO. An ABDICATION,[20] q. v.

5. Jacob L. Dict.
6. Jacob L. Dict.
7. Burrill L. Dict.
8. Burrill L. Dict.
9. Wharton L. Lex.

Right of sanctuary.—An abbey was formerly a sanctuary for persons escaping from penalties of infringed law, even murderers. Wharton L. Lex.

10. Wharton L. Lex.
11. Wharton L. Lex.
12. Burrill L. Dict.
13. Abbott L. Dict.

A narrower definition is "a shortened form of a word, obtained by the omission of one or more letters or syllables from the middle or end of the word." Bouvier L. Dict. This definition is too narrow, however, to embrace such signs as "$" (Jackson v. Cummings, 15 Ill. 449), "&" (Brown v. State, 16 Tex. App. 245), "&c." (Berry v. Osborn, 28 N. H. 279), which have been recognized as abbreviations of "dollars," "and," "and so forth," respectively.

14. Burrill L. Dict.; Shrewsbury's Case, 9 Coke 46*b*, 48*a*.
15. Wharton L. Lex.
16. Wharton L. Lex.
17. Jacob L. Dict.
18. Burrill L. Dict.
19. Wharton L. Lex.

In People v. Board of Police, 26 Barb. (N. Y.) 487, 501, Clerke, J., quoted from the speech of Lord Somers, delivered in 1688, when James II vacated the throne, as follows: "The word 'abdicate' doth naturally and properly signify entirely to renounce, throw off, disown, relinquish any thing or person, so as to have no further to do with it; and that whether it be done by express words, or in writing, or by doing such acts as are inconsistent with the holding and retaining of the thing."

20. Adams Gloss.

ABDICATION. The renunciation or giving up of an office by a magistrate or person in office before the term of service is expired.[21]

21. Jacob L. Dict.

Distinguished from "resignation."— While "abdication" is frequently confounded with "resignation" it differs from it in that "abdication" is done purely and simply, while "resignation" is in favor of some person. Jacob L. Dict.

Used in sense of "resignation."— In People v. Board of Police, 26 Barb. (N. Y.) 487, where the word "abdication" is used in the sense of "resignation," Clerke, J., made use of the following language: "I do not think that a formal notice of an intention to abdicate an office is necessary to constitute a legal resignation. . . . But, nevertheless, whatever may be the manner by which the incumbent of an office indicates his intention of resigning or abdicating it, whether by acts inconsistent with the retention of the office or by a formal renunciation of it, it is never consummated — he is never legally out of office — until his resignation is accepted either expressly or by the appointment of another in his place."

ABDUCTION

By John Lehman

CROSS-REFERENCES

For Enticing Away of:
Apprentices, see APPRENTICES.
Child, see PARENT AND CHILD.
Husband, see HUSBAND AND WIFE.
Servant, see MASTER AND SERVANT.
Ward, see GUARDIAN AND WARD.
Wife, see HUSBAND AND WIFE.
See also KIDNAPPING; SEDUCTION.
For General Matters Relating to Criminal Law and Criminal Procedure, see CRIMINAL LAW.

I. DEFINITION.

"Abduction" in its broadest legal sense signifies the act of taking and carrying away by force (which may be by fraud, persuasion, or open violence) a child, ward, wife, etc.[1] In its more restricted sense it is confined to the taking of females for the purpose of marriage, concubinage, or prostitution.[2]

II. NATURE AND ELEMENTS OF THE OFFENSE.

A. Not Offense at Common Law. At common law, conspiracy to procure an infant female to have carnal connection with a man,[3] or to induce a woman to

1. Carpenter v. People, 8 Barb. (N. Y.) 603; State v. Chisenhall, 106 N. C. 676, 11 S. E. 518; State v. George, 93 N. C. 567; 3 Bl. Comm. 139, 140; Bouvier L. Dict.

2. 4 Steph. Comm. 84 [cited in Bouvier L. Dict. (Rawle's ed.)].

Scope of article.— The comprehensive definition first given might include kidnapping or any forcible taking without regard to the purpose for which it is effected. It is intended to treat in this article, however, the taking of females only, and where the purpose of the taking is the doing of some illegal or immoral act, as compelling marriage or defiling, or the commission of other sexual offenses, under the various statutory provisions punishing such acts and defining them to be abduction. Cases are included which involve the taking of females under general statutes punishing the taking without regard to the purpose for which it is effected, where the taking for the immoral or illegal purposes above mentioned is manifestly included in the intention of the statute, and the facts of the particular case justify such classification. See also infra, II, C.

3. Reg. v. Mears, 2 Den. C. C. 79.

become a prostitute,[4] or to procure a marriage of a daughter, being an heir apparent, was a punishable offense.[5] To this extent the English statutes relating to abduction have been held not to create any new offense, but merely to impose aggravated punishment for the conspiracy.[6] But that the mere abduction of a female for the purposes usually designated in the statutes was not an offense at common law unless accompanied with other circumstances which would of themselves be unlawful or constitute an offense, as conspiracy, there is direct authority,[7] as well as support in other cases in which the question was not directly involved,[8] notwithstanding there is some intimation to the contrary.[9]

4. Reg. v. Howell, 4 F. & F. 160, held that the offense was indictable notwithstanding the vocation of prostitution itself was not punishable at common law.

5. Rex v. Twisleton, 2 Keb. 432, 1 Lev. 257.

6. Rex v. Twisleton, 2 Keb. 432, 1 Lev. 257.

7. State v. Sullivan, 85 N. C. 506; Anderson v. Com., 5 Rand. (Va.) 627, 16 Am. Dec. 776.

Marriage procured by improper practices. — At common law, if a man marries a woman under age, without the consent of her father or guardian, this act of itself is not indictable, but if he takes a child from her parents or guardian, or those intrusted with her care, by deceit, violence, or any corrupt or improper practice, as by intoxication, for the purpose of marrying her, such criminal means will make the act an offense at common law, notwithstanding the parties themselves consented to the marriage. 1 Russ. Crimes 962 [citing 1 East P. C. c. 11, § 9, p. 458].

8. In State v. Sullivan, 85 N. C. 506, the court refers to a statement in a note in 2 Archb. Crim. Pr. 301, that the abduction, enticing, or carrying away of any person by force or fraud is an indictable offense at common law, and to 1 East P. C. 458, and 1 Russ. Crimes 569, cited to the statement, and points out that instead of giving sanction to such a position the authorities mentioned are rather to the contrary. In East it is only said that by virtue of the chief prohibitory clause of 4 & 5 Ph. & M. c. 8, an indictment for the abduction of a child will lie by the rule of the common law, which rule, as explained, is that where a thing is prohibited from being done by a statute, and a penalty is affixed to it by a separate and distinct clause, the prosecutrix is not bound to pursue the latter remedy, but may proceed under the prior general clause by indictment for a misdemeanor; and no suggestion is made that such an indictment could be maintained by force of the common law alone; that the case of Rex v. Grey, 9 St. Tr. 127, cited in Russ. Crimes 569, as the case of a prosecution at common law for an abduction, was not a case of indictment for abduction, but was an information lodged against that lord and five others by which they were charged with a conspiracy the unlawful purpose of which was to induce Lady Henrietta Berkeley to quit her father's house and custody and live in secret adultery.

In Rex v. Ossulston, 2 Str. 1107, an information was granted for the taking of a young woman from her guardian and marrying her, though she went voluntarily, because there was a taking within the meaning of 4 & 5 Ph. & M. c. 8, § 3, the offense being a conspiracy. In this case it is said that the information was granted, though "in 4 Mod. 144, it was said not to be an offense at common law." The case referred to is Rex v. Marriot, 4 Mod. 144, which was an indictment for keeping an alehouse without a license, and the indictment was quashed upon the ground that where a new offense is created by statute and a particular mode of punishment is prescribed, that method must be pursued, and not the common-law method by indictment. In this case the chief justice, in stating his opinion that the indictment would lie, expressly says, arguendo, that the taking of a female from her parent was not an indictable offense at common law.

In like manner may be cited, arguendo, Reg. v. Mears, 2 Den. C. C. 79; Reg. v. Miller, 13 Cox C. C. 179, 14 Moak 633. In the first case the girl in question was a poor orphan out of employment, and upon applying to a public house for a bed for the night, one of the defendants, who was a prostitute, offered her a bed and took the girl to her house without disclosing its character, and afterward the defendants attempted to persuade her to lead a life of prostitution. In this case it was held that conspiracy to procure an infant to have illicit carnal connection with a man was an indictable misdemeanor at common law. In the second case the defendant was indicted in one count under 24 & 25 Vict. c. 100, § 55, for the taking of a girl out of the custody of her father in one count, and the taking her from the lawful care of her master in another count. Under the particular facts it was held that there was no such taking as the statute intended, and that therefore there could be no abduction.

9. In Rex v. Delaval, 3 Burr. 1434, it seems that the act of assigning a girl to persons for the purpose of prostitution was considered by Lord Mansfield as contra bonos mores, justifying punishment; but the opinion was intimated upon the question of the jurisdiction of the court of king's bench, and the motion for the information was finally granted upon the ground that there was a conspiracy and confederation. And so in Rex v. Moor, 2 Mod. 128, it was held that an information would lie in the king's bench under 4 & 5 Ph. & M. c. 8, for the taking of a female as described therein, though the punishing clause prescribed such fine, etc., "as shall be assessed in the star chamber," the court holding that the offense was a common-

B. General Nature under Statutes — 1. In England. From an early day the subject of abduction has been regulated by statute in England.[10] law one, but adding further that even if it was not an offense at common law, the remedy by information in the court of king's bench was proper, as there were no negative words in the statute restraining the general jurisdiction of that court. To the proposition that the offense was punishable at common law two cases are cited in a note: Rex v. Twisleton, 1 Lev. 257, and Rex v. Ossulston, 2 Str. 1107,— which cases, however, have been referred to heretofore in this section.

2. In United States. In the United States 4 & 5 Ph. & M. has in some instances been adopted as a part of the common law of the land,[11] as far as not inconsistent with American institutions,[12] and where statutes of a similar character have not been enacted.[13] In many of the states the statutes in express terms look to the punishment and suppression of the vices which are involved in the sexual acts usually contemplated in the unlawful taking or enticing of females. They are variously directed against the taking of a woman against her will for the purpose of compelling her by force, menace, etc., to marry;[14] against the taking of a female under a designated age, without the consent of her lawful custodian, for the purpose of marriage;[15] against the taking and detaining of any woman against her will, with intent to have carnal knowledge of her, or that another shall have such knowledge;[16] against the inveigling or enticing of an

10. English statutes.— 4 & 5 Ph. & M. prohibited the taking away, or causing to be taken, of any maid or woman child, unmarried, within a designated age, out of the possession and against the will of her father, mother, or any person in whose legal custody she is, and the taking away, or causing to be taken away, and deflowering any such maid or woman child as aforesaid, or the marrying of such maid or woman child against the will of her parents, etc.

3 Hen. VII prohibited the taking of women having substances in goods movable and in lands and tenements, or, being heirs apparent, for the lucre of such substances, contrary to their will, and afterward marrying or defiling them. 39 Eliz. c. 9 made the offense defined in 3 Hen. VII a capital offense as against principals, procurers, and accessories before the fact, and it so remained until the act of 1 Geo. IV, c. 115, by which the capital penalty was repealed. Wakefield's Case, 2 Lewin 1 note.

9 Geo. IV, c. 31, § 20, prohibited the taking, etc., of any unmarried girl, under a designated age, out of the possession and against the will of her parents or other lawful custodian. Reg. v. Hopkins, C. & M. 254.

These statutes were repealed by 24 & 25 Vict. c. 100, under the various sections of which provision is made against the taking away or detaining, from motives of lucre, any woman having any interest, etc., in any real or personal property, or who shall be a presumptive heiress or co-heiress, or presumptive next of kin, or one of the presumptive next of kin, to any one having such interest, with intent to marry or carnally know her, or cause her to be married or carnally known; against the fraudulent luring or taking away of such a woman, who is under the age of twenty-one years, out of the possession and against the will of her father, mother, or other person having the lawful care or charge of her, with the intent above mentioned; against the taking by force, or a detention against her will, of any woman with intent to marry or carnally know her, or cause her to be married or carnally known; against the taking of an unmarried female, under a designated age, out of the possession and against the will of her parents or any person having the lawful care or charge of her.

Aiders and abettors.— In South Carolina, under 4 & 5 Ph. & M. c. 8, § 4, providing a punishment for any person who shall take away or cause to be taken away a maid or woman child against the will of her lawful custodian, and marry her, it was held that one aiding in such marriage could be convicted with and to the same extent as the one who actually married the woman child. State v. Tidwell, 5 Strobh. (S. C.) 1. But under 3 Hen. VII, c. 2, where the female was under no restraint at the time of the marriage, those who were present but were ignorant of the previous circumstances were held not to share in the guilt of the abduction. Fulwood's Case, Cro. Car. 488.

11. State v. Tidwell, 5 Strobh. (S. C.) 1; State v. Findlay, 2 Bay (S. C.) 418; State v. O'Bannon, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 144.

12. State v. Tidwell, 5 Strobh. (S. C.) 1. See also infra, III, A, 1.

13. Anderson v. Com., 5 Rand. (Va.) 627, 16 Am. Dec. 776. See also State v. Chisenhall, 106 N. C. 676, 11 S. E. 518; and infra, II, C, 2, f.

14. Malone v. Com., 91 Ky. 307, 15 S. W. 856; Lampton v. State, (Miss. 1892) 11 So. 656; State v. Maloney, 105 Mo. 10, 16 S. W. 519.

15. Haygood v. State, 98 Ala. 61, 13 So. 325; Ala. Crim. Code (1886), § 3744; State v. Jamison, 38 Minn. 21, 35 N. W. 712; State v. McCrum, 38 Minn. 154, 36 N. W. 102; People v. Parshall, 6 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 129; N. Y. Pen. Code, § 282; Com. v. Kaniper, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 276; U. S. v. Zes Cloya, 35 Fed. 493.

16. Malone v. Com., 91 Ky. 307, 15 S. W. 856; Huff v. Com., (Ky. 1896) 37 S. W. 1046; unmarried female of previous chaste character into a house of ill fame, assignation, or elsewhere, for the purpose of prostitution or sexual intercourse,[17] or the inveigling of a woman child, under a designated age, into such a place with a like purpose;[18] against the taking of any female from her lawful custodian, without his consent, for the purpose of prostitution or concubinage;[19] against the enticing or taking away of any unmarried female of chaste life and conversation for the purpose of prostitution or concubinage;[20] against the taking of a female, under a designated age, for the purpose of prostitution or sexual intercourse;[21] against the taking of a female, under a designated age, from the custody of her lawful custodian, for the purpose of prostitution or concubinage;[22] or against the taking and seduction of a girl under a designated age.[23] In like manner the receiving, employing, harboring, or causing or procuring the taking for the purposes inhibited by the statute,[24] or aiding or assisting, or concealing, or aiding or abetting in the concealment, for such purposes, are made punishable as in the case of the principal act.[25] Where the taking, for the particular purpose, from the custody of the parent, guardian, etc., is prohibited, it is sometimes provided that consent to the taking by such person having the legal custody, for the purpose mentioned in the statute, shall be punishable as the taking itself.[26]

C. Specific Elements — 1. In General. To constitute the offense under statutes which define it or make punishable the acts embraced in the treatment of this article, an act must contain all the elements defined by statute.[27]

2. The Taking — a. In General. Where the statute provides against the taking away, etc., of a female, the taking as contemplated by the statute is a material ingredient of the offense,[28] and the offense will be as incomplete by sexual Couch v. Com., (Ky. 1895) 29 S. W. 29; Krambiel v. Com., (Ky. 1887) 2 S. W. 555.

17. State v. McCrum, 38 Minn. 154, 36 N. W. 102; People v. Brown, 71 Hun (N. Y.) 601, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 1111; Beyer v. People, 86 N. Y. 369.

18. Com. v. Kaniper, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 276.

19. South v. State, 97 Tenn. 496, 37 S. W. 210; Scruggs v. State, 90 Tenn. 81, 15 S. W. 1074; Jenkins v. State, 15 Lea (Tenn.) 674.

20. People v. Roderigas, 49 Cal. 9; Henderson v. People, 124 Ill. 607, 17 N. E. 68, 7 Am. St. Rep. 391; Slocum v. People, 90 Ill. 274; Carpenter v. People, 8 Barb. (N. Y.) 603.

21. State v. Keith, 47 Minn. 559, 50 N. W. 691; State v. McCrum, 38 Minn. 154, 36 N. W. 102; State v. Jamison, 38 Minn. 21, 35 N. W. 712; Com. v. Kaniper, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 276.

22. Ala. Crim. Code (1886), § 3744; State v. Round, 82 Mo. 679; State v. Feasel, 74 Mo. 524; People v. Parshall, 6 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 129; U. S. v. Zes Cloya, 35 Fed. 493.

23. State v. Gordon, 46 N. J. L. 432.

24. Beyer v. People, 86 N. Y. 369; N. Y. Pen. Code, § 282.

"Procurer" and "enticer" distinguished.— In California it was held that to "procure a female to have illicit carnal connection with any man" was intended to cover only the offense of being a procurer or procuress, and not to extend to a mere enticing and seduction by the enticer. It refers to the act of a person who procures the gratification of the passion of lewdness for another. People v. Roderigas, 49 Cal. 9, 11. See also infra, II, C, 2, f, (III).

25. State v. Terrill, 76 Iowa 149, 40 N. W. 128; Carpenter v. People, 8 Barb. (N. Y.) 603; Wis. Laws (1887), c. 214, § 4, in which it was provided that any person, being the owner of any premises, or assisting in the management or control thereof, who influences or knowingly suffers any girl under the age of twenty-one years to resort to or be in or upon the premises for the purpose of being unlawfully and carnally known by any person or persons, shall be punished, etc.

Commission by same and different persons. — The inveigling or enticing of a female to a house of ill fame, and knowingly concealing or assisting or abetting the concealing of such female so enticed, are, under the statute punishing such acts, two separate offenses. They may be committed by the same person in connection with the same female or by different persons with concert of action. State v. Terrill, 76 Iowa 149, 40 N. W. 128. But in Carpenter v. People, 8 Barb. (N. Y.) 603, it was said that the aid or assistance by the person charged must be rendered to some one who is guilty of the same offense.

26. State v. Jamison, 38 Minn. 21, 35 N. W. 712; Minn. Pen. Code, § 240; State v. Feasel, 74 Mo. 524; Mo. Rev. Stat. (1879), § 1257.

27. State v. O'Bannon, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 144.

28. Illinois.— Bradshaw v. People, 153 Ill. 156, 38 N. E. 652.

Minnesota.— State v. Jamison, 38 Minn. 21, 35 N. W. 712.

New York.— People v. Parshall, 6 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 129; People v. Plath, 100 N. Y. 590, 3 N. E. 790, 53 Am. Rep. 236.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Kaniper, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 276.

intercourse where there has been no taking as if there had been a taking without the intention which under the statute makes the act criminal.[29]

b. Force—(I) Actual Force Unnecessary. Even under the strictest definition of abduction,—the taking or carrying away of the child of a parent, or the wife of a husband, etc., either by fraud, persuasion, or open violence,—actual manual capture or violence is not necessary,[30] and under many statutes actual force is not required. The commonest provisions are against the taking of young girls, and as in such cases consent on the girl's part is not material,[31] the taking contemplated being from the parent or other person having the legal custody of the female, actual violence is unnecessary.[32] The taking may be accomplished where the girl is merely induced, or yields to the persuasion of defendant to go with him,[33] or is induced to such course by fraud or deception.[34]

(II) Detention against Will. Where the statute prohibits the taking or detention of a woman, by force or against her will, with a particular intent, the offense is not complete unless the defendant interposes between the woman and the free exercise of her will. The taking must be with force or against the will,[35] and the detention thus inhibited must be something more than mere per-

England.—Reg. v. Olifier, 10 Cox C. C. 402.

The word "take," in the statute against the taking of a female, etc., for the purpose of prostitution, seems to be used to distinguish the act prohibited from those cases where the female is merely received or allowed to follow a life of prostitution without persuasion or inducement by the person. People v. Plath, 100 N. Y. 590, 3 N. E. 790, 53 Am. Rep. 236.

Seduction does not mean a taking. People v. Parshall, 6 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 129. See also Lampton v. State, (Miss. 1892) 11 So. 656.

29. Com. v. Kaniper, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 276.

30. See People v. Seeley, 37 Hun (N. Y.) 190.

31. See infra, II, C, 2, c.

32. Kansas.—State v. Bussey, 58 Kan. 679, 50 Pac. 891.

New York.—People v. Seeley, 37 Hun (N. Y.) 190.

Pennsylvania.—Com. v. Kaniper, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 276.

Tennessee.—South v. State, 97 Tenn. 496, 37 S. W. 210; Scruggs v. State, 90 Tenn. 81, 15 S. W. 1074; Tucker v. State, 8 Lea (Tenn.) 633.

England.—Reg. v. Manktelow, 6 Cox C. C. 143; Rex v. Pierson, Andr. 310.

Evidence of threats immaterial.—Under the statute in Missouri forbidding the taking of a female, under a designated age, from her parents, etc., for the purpose of concubinage, it is not material to the defense that there is some evidence that defendant threatened the girl. It seems that defendant in this case claimed that the evidence showed that the offense for which he should have been indicted was rape, but the court held that there was absence of those elements which constitute the latter offense. State v. Stone, 106 Mo. 1, 16 S. W. 890.

33. California.—People v. Demousset, 71 Cal. 611, 12 Pac. 788; People v. Marshall, 59 Cal. 386.

Kansas.—State v. Bussey, 58 Kan. 679, 50 Pac. 891.

Minnesota.—State v. Keith, 47 Minn. 559, 50 N. W. 691; State v. Jamison, 38 Minn. 21, 35 N. W. 712.

Missouri.—State v. Johnson, 115 Mo. 480, 22 S. W. 463.

Pennsylvania.—Com. v. Kaniper, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 276.

England.—Reg. v. Hopkins, C. & M. 254.

Direct proposal not necessary.—One cannot evade the statute by artfully avoiding a direct proposal that the female should go away with him, when his conduct is equivalent to such a proposal, and not only suggests it, but is calculated and designed to induce her to go. People v. Carrier, 46 Mich. 442, 9 N. W. 487.

Fraud or deception unnecessary.—Under the statute against the taking, using, employing, or causing to be taken, used, or employed, etc., a girl, under a designated age, for immoral purposes mentioned, the taking is sufficient if it is upon the request, advice, or persuasion of the defendant, and no deception or fraud is necessary. People v. Seeley, 37 Hun (N. Y.) 190.

As against one who aids or assists.—In Carpenter v. People, 8 Barb. (N. Y.) 603, it was held that where a person, by inveigling or persuading, obtains the consent of a female to go away for the purpose of prostitution, and she thereupon, at the request of or by uniting with her seducer, persuades another person to take her away for the same purpose, the latter person may be guilty of aiding or assisting in her abduction. But if the female of her own accord decides to go away for the purpose mentioned, and thereupon, at her request and upon her persuasion, such person furnishes her with the means of going or carries her away, this would not be such assisting.

34. South v. State, 97 Tenn. 496, 37 S. W. 210; Reg. v. Hopkins, C. & M. 254; Rex v. Pierson, Andr. 310.

35. Beaven v. Com., (Ky. 1895) 30 S. W. 968; Payner v. Com., (Ky. 1892) 19 S. W. 927; Cargill v. Com., (Ky. 1890) 13 S. W. 916; Krambiel v. Com., (Ky. 1887) 2 S. W. 555; Wilder v. Com., 81 Ky. 591; Lamp-

suasion or an exhibition of desire to gratify the animal passion;[36] but it is not necessary that actual physical violence should be used. It is sufficient if the female is induced to go by false representations or by fear induced by threats,[37] or if she is unconscious or incapable of exercising her will, as where she is asleep[38] or of unsound mind.[39] If the detention is effected against the will of the female, it is immaterial whether the intention to carry out the purpose of the detention is by force or persuasion, where the latter is not by statute a material ingredient.[40]

c. Consent. Under a statute prohibiting the taking of a female, under a designated age, from her lawful custodian, or from such person without his consent, it is immaterial whether the act was done with or without the consent of the female, as the gist of the offense is the taking from the custody or without the consent of the person indicated, and consent of the female, therefore, is no defense.[41] But as fraud and violence are equivalent, if a parent is induced by ton v. State, (Miss. 1892) 11 So. 656; State v. Maloney, 105 Mo. 10, 16 S. W. 519.

Refusal after consent.— If a woman first consents to her taking away, but subsequently refuses to continue with the offender and is compelled to remain by force, there is a sufficient taking against her consent; and in such case it is not material whether she was married or defiled with her own consent or not. Fulwood's Case, Cro. Car. 488, 493.

"Woman" including "girl."— Under a statute of the nature mentioned in the text, prohibiting the taking and detention of a woman, a girl between the age of thirteen and fourteen years is contemplated. Woman is synonymous with female. Couch v. Com., (Ky. 1895) 29 S. W. 29.

36. Cargill v. Com., (Ky. 1890) 13 S. W. 916.

37. What constitutes a taking or detention.— Where defendant admittedly went to the house of a woman and falsely represented to her that he had been sent by a relation of hers to notify her to come to the house of said relation on account of sickness in his family, and upon her leaving with defendant he made insulting proposals to her, which she rejected, and, in the language of the woman, "run against me in front and jammed up against me, jammed up against my side and back," it was held that there was a detention within the meaning of the statute. Huff v. Com., (Ky. 1896) 37 S. W. 1046.

Where the prosecutrix was induced by false representations on the part of the defendant, upon which she relied, to go to a house for the purpose of securing a situation, which house was of a disreputable character, where the act of defilement was accomplished, it was held that this was a taking against her will within the meaning of the statute. Beyer v. People, 86 N. Y. 369.

Where the prosecutrix, who was a foreigner and had been in the United States but a short time, sought employment at a place which was a house of prostitution, but of the character of which she was ignorant, and was kept at the place by the proprietor by being induced to fear that she would be arrested if she left, after which she was compelled to submit herself to be defiled against her will, this is a sufficient taking against her will for the purpose prohibited by the statute. Schnicker v. People, 88 N. Y. 192.

Where a confederate of the accused inveigled a girl of fourteen years, having a portion of five thousand pounds, to go with her and a maid-servant in a coach into a park, where the prisoner got into the coach and the confederate got out, and the prisoner detained the girl while the coach took them to a lodging in the Strand, and the next morning prevailed upon her by threats to marry him, this constituted a taking. Brown's Case, Vent. 243; Swendsen's Case, 5 St. Tr. 450.

38. Malone v. Com., 91 Ky. 307, 15 S. W. 856; Couch v. Com., (Ky. 1895) 29 S. W. 29.

Laying hands upon sleeping child.— The word "take," as used in this statute, means to seize or lay hold upon; and where accused lays his hand upon the person of a female child while asleep, in such manner as to indicate the evil purpose, this is a taking within the meaning of the statute. Couch v. Com., (Ky. 1895) 29 S. W. 29.

39. Higgins v. Com., 94 Ky. 54, 21 S. W. 231.

40. Payner v. Com., (Ky. 1892) 19 S. W. 927.

41. California.— People v. Dolan, 96 Cal. 315, 31 Pac. 107; People v. Demousset, 71 Cal. 611, 12 Pac. 788; People v. Cook, 61 Cal. 478.

Kansas.— State v. Bussey, 58 Kan. 679, 50 Pac. 891.

Missouri.— State v. Bobbst, 131 Mo. 328, 32 S. W. 1149; State v. Stone, 106 Mo. 1, 16 S. W. 890.

Tennessee.—Scruggs v. State, 90 Tenn. 81, 15 S. W. 1074; Tucker v. State, 8 Lea (Tenn.) 633.

England.— Reg. v. Manktelow, 6 Cox C. C. 143; Reg. v. Kipps, 4 Cox C. C. 167; Reg. v. Biswell, 2 Cox C. C. 279; Rex v. Ossulston, 2 Str. 1107.

Consent of parents.— If the girl goes with the consent of her parents there can be no guilt. Brown v. State, 72 Md. 468, 20 Atl. 186.

In Reg. v. Primelt, 1 F. & F. 50, it was held that where a mother had by her conduct countenanced the daughter in a lax course of life, by permitting her to go out alone at night and to dance at public-houses, the case did not come within 9 Geo. IV, c. 31, against the unlawful taking of an un-fraudulent representations to allow his daughter to be taken away, such taking will constitute an abduction or a taking against the will of the father.[42]

d. Taking to Place of Particular Character. Under statutes prohibiting the taking or enticing of a female to a house of ill fame, assignation, or elsewhere, for the purpose of prostitution, the words "or elsewhere" do not neutralize the preceding words of description, but mean any place where prostitution of the character common to houses of ill fame or assignation is practised. Under such a statute the offense is not committed by inveigling or enticing a female to any place without regard to its character and for the mere purpose of sexual intercourse.[43]

e. From Custody of Lawful Custodian — (1) In General. Under a statute merely prohibiting the taking of a female, under a designated age, for certain purposes, it is not necessary that the taking should be from her parents or other lawful custodian of her person.[44] But under statutory provisions against the taking of a female from the custody or possession of her parent, guardian, or other person having the legal charge of her person, the rule already stated as to the necessity of a taking, where the statutes make such taking an ingredient of the offense, is applicable, and in order to constitute the offense the defendant must have got the female away from her parents or other lawful custodian by some positive act.[45]

(II) Sufficiency of Custody. The father has by nature and by law the legal charge of the persons of his children until they arrive at the age of majority;[46] but where the minor female is in the actual custody of her mother, the married girl, under a designated age, out of the possession and against the will of her parents, etc., for it could not be said to have happened against the mother's will, although what occurred in this case was unknown to her.

Consent of stepfather is no defense where the child is taken from the custody of its mother. Ratcliff's Case, 3 Coke 37.

Right of custody as between father and mother.— It is no defense that the father had a better right to the custody of the child as between the father and the mother, and gave his consent to the abduction, where the child is taken from the custody of its mother, as the latter is legally in charge of the person of her daughter in such a case. People v. Fowler, 88 Cal. 136, 25 Pac. 1110.

Marriage — Continued refusal.— Under 4 & 5 Ph. & M. c. 8, § 4, it is held that there must have been a continued refusal on the part of the parent or guardian to consent to the marriage, for, if he once agree, though afterward he dissent, yet it is an assent within the statute. Calthrop v. Axtel, 3 Mod. 168.

Public marriage without enticement.— In Hicks v. Gore, 3 Mod. 84, it was held that 4 & 5 Ph. & M. was made to prevent children from being seduced from their parents or guardians by flattery, enticement, promises, or gifts, and married in a secret way, to their disparagement; that it did not apply to a case where one in whose charge a parent had placed his daughter married the child to his own son, the marriage being solemnized in a parish church at a canonical hour and without any attempt at privacy.

42. Reg. v. Hopkins, C. & M. 254.

43. Nichols v. State, 127 Ind. 406, 409, 26 N. E. 839; Miller v. State, 121 Ind. 294, 23 N. E. 94; State v. McCrum, 38 Minn. 154, 36 N. W. 102; Carpenter v. People, 8 Barb. (N. Y.) 603.

The principle upon which this conclusion is based is that where words of a particular description in the statute are followed by general words, less specific and limited, the general words are to be construed as applicable to persons, things, or cases of like kind to those designated by the words, unless there be a clear manifestation of a contrary purpose. Nichols v. State, 127 Ind. 406, 26 N. E. 839.

44. State v. Jamison, 38 Minn. 21. 35 N. W. 712; People v. Seeley, 37 Hun (N. Y.) 190.

45. California.— People v. Dolan, 96 Cal. 315, 31 Pac. 107.

Illinois.— Bradshaw v. People, 153 Ill. 156, 38 N. E. 652.

Maryland.— Brown v. State, 72 Md. 468, 20 Atl. 186.

New York.— People v. Parshall, 6 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 129.

Tennessee.—South v. State, 97 Tenn. 496, 37 S. W. 210.

England.— Reg. v. Manktelow, 6 Cox C. C. 143; Reg. v. Kipps, 4 Cox C. C. 167; Reg. v. Roob. 4 F. & F. 59; Reg. v. Robins, 1 C. & K. 456.

Custodian other than parent or guardian. — In California it was held that under the statutory provision against the taking of a minor female from her father, mother, guardian, or other person having the legal charge of her person, it was not necessary to allege or prove legal custody of the father, mother, or guardian. Ex p. Estrado, 88 Cal. 316, 26 Pac. 209.

46. People v. Cook, 61 Cal. 478, in which case it was held that if one takes a daughter from the charge of her father for the purpose inhibited by the statute, it is im-latter is legally in charge of the person of her daughter, within the statutory provision against the taking from the father, mother, or other person having the legal custody of the child, and it is no defense that the father had the better right to the custody as between the father and the mother.[47] Where the want of consent of the father, mother, guardian, or other person having the legal care of the person of the female child, is a necessary ingredient of the offense, it is not contemplated that such person intended to be covered by the words "or other person having the legal charge of her person" shall have all the power and authority over the child possessed by a parent or legally appointed guardian.[48]

(III) Sufficiency of Taking from Custody. Whenever a man goes away with a girl within the statutory age from the house and possession of the girl's father, there is a taking away within the meaning of the statute, whether the proposal first emanated from the man or the girl.[49] It is not necessary, however, that the female should be in the actual possession of her custodian at the time of the taking, nor that the defendant should be present at the time of her leaving[50] if the leaving was the result of prior inducement on the part of the defendant;[51] and it is not necessary that the taking or enticing should be to a place distant from the family residence, or that any particular length of time material whether the defendant knew that the female had a father living. But see infra, II, C, 2, e, (III).

Presumption as to custody.— Under the statute against the enticing or taking away of a female, of less than sixteen years of age, from her lawful custodian, for the purpose of prostitution, concubinage, or marriage, it was held that all girls under the age mentioned, and who were not leading depraved lives, were presumed to be in the charge of some one. People v. Carrier, 46 Mich. 442, 9 N. W. 487.

Reputed father.— An information has been granted for the taking away of a natural daughter who was living under the care of her reputed father. Rex v. Cornforth, 2 Str. 1162, under 3 Hen. VII, c. 2, § 3.

47. People v. Fowler, 88 Cal. 136, 25 Pac. 1110.

After second marriage.— Under such a statute the mother retains the guardianship of her child, notwithstanding the mother's subsequent marriage. Ratcliff's Case, 3 Coke 37.

48. An orphan adopted into a family without legal guardianship, and a girl abandoned by her parents and given a home by charitable persons, are as much within the reason and intent of the statute as any other female. People v. Carrier, 46 Mich. 442, 9 N. W. 487; State v. Ruhl, 8 Iowa 447.

Custody permitted by parent.— The offense would be complete if the taking was without the consent of the person who, with the permission of parents, was intrusted with the care and custody of the child. State v. Ruhl, 8 Iowa 447.

Ward in chancery.— In Rex v. Pierson, Andr. 310, the court was of the opinion that an information lay against persons concerned in inveigling a young lady, under 4 & 5 Ph. & M. against the taking of a woman child, etc., out of the possession and against the will of her father, mother, or such person or persons as shall then happen to have by any lawful ways or means the order, keeping, education, etc., of such woman child, where the girl was a ward of chancery.

49. Reg. v. Biswell, 2 Cox C. C. 279.

Where the defendant went to the house of the father, placed a ladder against it for the daughter to descend, whereupon the daughter descended and eloped with the defendant, this was held to be a taking out of the possession of the father under 9 Geo. IV, c. 31, § 20, although the daughter had herself planned the bringing of the ladder as well as the elopement. Reg. v. Robins, 1 C. & K. 456.

50. Reg. v. Sinclair, 13 Cox C. C. 28, applying the text to a case where the evidence showed that the girl left her home for the purpose of meeting the defendant, as she had often done before, and that while walking with him he induced her to run away, notwithstanding this last meeting was at the solicitation of the female.

In Reg. v. Meadows, 1 C. & K. 399, under 9 Geo. IV, c. 31, § 20, it was held that where a girl, who was in service, was asked by the defendant, as she was returning from an errand, if she would go to London to the defendant's mother, who wanted a servant, upon which the two went away together and were apprehended, this was not a taking or causing to be taken. But in Reg. v. Kipps, 4 Cox C. C. 167, holding that the consent of the girl abducted is not material under that statute if those in whose lawful possession or control she was did not consent to her departure, and disapproving Reg. v. Meadows, 1 C. & K. 399, supra, the reporter adds a note showing that the real facts in that case did not justify the marginal note, as the defendant and girl alleged to have been abducted were schoolfellows and were about of the same age, and that under the facts of that particular case, if the acts involved had been held to be abduction, any two schoolgirls playing truant in company might have been indicted each for taking the other.

51. State v. Bussey, 58 Kan. 679, 50 Pac. 891.

should pass in order to bring the case within the statute.[52] Whenever a girl is taken from her father's roof and placed in a situation inconsistent with the relation of father and daughter there is a taking from the father against his will under the statute; the girl is in constructive possession as long as she has the intention of returning,[53] though it has been held that there is no obligation to restore, under the statutory provision which inhibits merely the taking, where there was no prior inducement to the leaving.[54]

f. Intent of Taking — (1) In General. As hereinbefore stated, the statutes sometimes provide against the taking of females without regard to the purpose for which they are taken.[55] Such statutes, however, seem to contemplate not only the protection of parental rights,[56] but the protection of young persons of this sex,[57] very like the statutes which expressly look to the punishment of the taking with intent to commit sexual offenses.[58]

52. Slocum v. People, 90 Ill. 274; South v. State, 97 Tenn. 496, 37 S. W. 210.

53. People v. Cook, 61 Cal. 478; State v. Gordon, 46 N. J. L. 432; Reg. v. Timmins, 8 Cox C. C. 401; Reg. v. Manktelow, 6 Cox C. C. 143.

54. Bradshaw v. People, 153 Ill. 156, 38 N. E. 652; Reg. v. Olifier, 10 Cox C. C. 402; Reg. v. Hibbert, 11 Cox C. C. 246, holding that where the accused met on the street a girl under the age designated, and induced her to go with him, after some persuasion, to a public-house, where he seduced her, there is no guilt unless it is shown that the defendant knew, had reason to know, or believed that the girl was under the care of her father at the time. Contra, People v. Cook, 61 Cal. 478.

Girl out of custody of master.— Under 24 & 25 Vict. c. 100, § 55, defendant was indicted in two counts, one describing the girl as having been taken out of the custody of her father, and the other alleging that she was under the lawful care of her master. The facts were that she was a girl in service and had obtained permission to leave her master for a visit to her father. Concealing from her father the length of time she was at liberty to remain with him, she left his house before the expiration of her leave of absence, met defendant by appointment, and remained out with him over night. She could still have returned to her master before the expiration of her leave of absence, but did not do so, although she spent no more time alone with defendant. It was held that this was not such a case as the statute was intended to mean; that there was no evidence that the accused had taken the girl out of her father's or her master's possession, and that hence there was no abduction. Reg. v. Miller, 13 Cox C. C. 179, 14 Moak 633.

55. See supra, II, B.

56. Reg. v. Timmins, 8 Cox C. C. 401, wherein it is said that 9 Geo. IV, c. 31, § 20, against the taking of girls under a designated age from the custody of their parents, etc., was intended for the protection of parental rights.

57. Reg. v. Kipps, 4 Cox C. C. 167.

In Rex v. Pigot, 12 Mod. 516, of the offense of attempting forcibly to carry away a woman of great fortune, Holt, C. J., said that the offense concerned all the people in England who would dispose of their children well.

58. Applications of general statutes.— In Reg. v. Tinkler, 1 F. & F. 513, where the prisoner, who was a widower, had married the elder sister of the child alleged to have been abducted, and the child, who was an orphan, had lived in the prisoner's house, and upon the death of his first wife was placed under the care of a guardian, it was held that as it did not appear that the prisoner had any improper motive, but honestly believed that he had a right to the custody of the child, he would be entitled to an acquittal, although, as a matter of law under 9 Geo. IV, c. 37, § 20, he was not justified in the taking. See also Reg. v. Timmins, 8 Cox C. C. 401.

In North Carolina the statute is in the nature of a general provision against the taking of children without regard to the purpose of the taking. N. C. Code, §§ 973, 974. But this statute would seem to embrace a prosecution for the taking of a female child under the age designated in the statute, where the purpose of the taking is one of the immoral and inhibited acts usually aimed at in the statutes of other states. Thus in State v. Sullivan, 85 N. C. 506, it is held that an indictment for the abduction of a female under the age of fifteen years, with intent to defile her, could not be supported under the statute, which had exclusive reference to the abduction of children under the age of fourteen years; but in State v. Chisenhall, 106 N. C. 676, 11 S. E. 518, which was a prosecution under this general statute, where the child appeared to have been a female thirteen years old, it was held not to be error to permit the state to prove the character of the house to which the child was taken, as a house of prostitution, as the character of the house was only collaterally involved and was used only for the purpose of showing the intent with which the act was done, as that defendant's object was to prostitute the child.

In Louisiana the statute provided generally against the forcible seizure and carrying of any person from one part of the state to the other, or imprisoning and secreting any person without authority of law, and under it an indictment was sustained for forcibly seizing and carrying a woman to a house of

Under other statutory provisions, however, the taking prescribed must be accompanied with a peculiar intent, as an intent to marry or defile, or to reduce the female to a condition of prostitution or concubinage. Under such provisions the intent becomes a material ingredient of the offense,[59] and a mere taking will not complete the offense unless accompanied with the specific intent mentioned in the statute,[60] any more than mere sexual intercourse, or other act of this character alone, will constitute the offense, unless there had been a taking or enticing for that purpose as required by the statute.[61]

(II) For Purpose of Prostitution or Concubinage. Under statutes against the taking of females for the purpose of prostitution, the term "prostitution" means the act or practice of a female offering her body for indiscriminate intercourse with men. Cohabitation with defendant, or acts of sexual intercourse with him alone, will not support an indictment under such a statute.[62] So, if the taking is prohibited for the purpose of concubinage, the purpose must ill fame, though the intent with which she was seized and carried had no bearing upon the case. The indictment charged that the acts were done with intent to abduct, and in this connection the court said that whether abduction was or was not an offense in that state, the indictment was sufficient because it charged the offense created by the statute in the terms thereof. State v. Backarow, 38 La. Ann. 316.

59. Illinois.— Bunfill v. People, 154 Ill. 640, 39 N. E. 565; Slocum v. People, 90 Ill. 274.

Maryland.— Brown v. State, 72 Md. 468, 20 Atl. 186.

Minnesota.— State v. Jamison, 38 Minn. 21, 35 N. W. 712.

Missouri.—State v. Gibson, 108 Mo. 575, 18 S. W. 1109.

New York.— People v. Platt, 4 N. Y. Crim. 53.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Kaniper, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 276.

Tennessee.— South v. State, 97 Tenn. 496, 37 S. W. 210.

England.— Fulwood's Case, Cro. Car. 484; Reg. v. Barratt, 9 C. & P. 387.

Taking for lucre — Real affection between parties.— In Reg. v. Barratt, 9 C. & P. 387, under 9 Geo. IV, c. 31, § 19, the court distinguishes between a taking for lucre and a case where there is a previous intimacy between the persons and all inducement to the act arises out of real passion and affection. Under the latter circumstances there is wanting that sordid motive which would justify a conviction.

60. People v. Plath, 100 N. Y. 590, 3 N. E. 790, 53 Am. Rep. 236.

61. Com. v. Kaniper, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 276.

62. Alabama.— Haygood v. State, 98 Ala. 61, 13 So. 325.

Illinois.— Bunfill v. People, 154 Ill. 640, 39 N. E. 565; Slocum v. People, 90 Ill. 274.

Indiana.— Osborn v. State, 52 Ind. 526.

Iowa.— State v. Ruhl, 8 Iowa 447.

Kansas.— State v. Goodwin, 33 Kan. 538, 6 Pac. 899.

Maine.— State v. Stoyell, 54 Me. 24, 89 Am. Dec. 716.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Cook, 12 Metc. (Mass.) 93.

Missouri.— State v. Gibson, 111 Mo. 92, 19 S. W. 980.

New Hampshire.— State v. Brow, 64 N. H. 577, 15 Atl. 216.

New York.— Carpenter v. People, 8 Barb. (N. Y.) 603; People v. Parshall, 6 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 129.

United States.— U. S. v. Zes Cloya, 35 Fed. 493.

Prostitution included in terms used.— Under the statute against taking for the purpose of prostitution, the court, in speaking to the jury of the claim of the people, said that they claim that the girl was taken for the purpose of prostitution, "and for the purpose of sexual connection with a man not her husband." It was held that "prostitution" might include more general acts than would necessarily be within the phrase "sexual connection with a man not her husband," and that the purpose charged in the indictment being prostitution, which was plainly included in the terms used, no harm is done to defendant. People v. Brandt, 14 N. Y. St. 419.

Act to prevent occupation of procurers. — Under the statute designed to prevent the occupation of procurers and procuresses for the purpose of prostitution, the intent to cause the female to become a prostitute is the predominant idea of the crime; and the mere fact of the confinement of a female against her will, and, under such circumstances, having improper relations with her, will not constitute guilt. Bunfill v. People, 154 Ill. 640, 39 N. E. 565.

Repeated sexual intercourse.— Under a statute providing punishment for one who "fraudulently and deceitfully entices or takes away an unmarried female from her father's house, or wherever else she may be found, for the purpose of prostitution, at a house of ill fame, assignation, or elsewhere," etc., an indictment charging this offense is not supported by proof that defendant persuaded an unmarried female to go with him to a neighboring town, where, having induced partial intoxication, he had repeated sexual intercourse with her. State v. Stoyell, 54 Me. 24, 89 Am. Dec. 716.

be to cohabit with the female in sexual commerce without the authority of law or a legal marriage,[63] and while it is not necessary that the illicit intercourse should continue for any indefinite or considerable length of time, so long as there is a fixed determination to cohabit,[64] it seems that the weight of authority supports the rule that a single act of sexual intercourse, or sexual intercourse for a single night, without the fixed purpose of a continued cohabitation, will not constitute the offense.[65] But one or several of such acts may be considered, with other facts and circumstances shown by the evidence, in determining whether or not defendant's purpose was habitual and continued cohabitation with the female.[66] In other cases, however, a broader significance has been given to these terms than that above mentioned.[67]

63. State v. Goodwin, 33 Kan. 538, 6 Pac. 899; State v. Gibson, 111 Mo. 92, 19 S. W. 980.

Natural as distinguished from legal marriage.—"Concubinage," in the statute, means for the purpose of creating the relation between defendant and the female which comes from a natural marriage as contradistinguished from a legal or civil marriage; that is, for the purpose of an habitual or continued cohabitation. U. S. v. Zes Cloya, 35 Fed. 493.

64. State v. Bussey, 58 Kan. 679, 50 Pac. 891; U. S. v. Zes Cloya, 35 Fed. 493.

65. Slocum v. People, 90 Ill. 274; State v. Bobbst, 131 Mo. 328, 32 S. W. 1149; State v. Wilkinson, 121 Mo. 485, 26 S. W. 366; State v. Gibson, 111 Mo. 92, 19 S. W. 980; State v. Gibson, 108 Mo. 575, 18 S. W. 1109.

Under the statute against the taking of a female under the designated age for the purpose of concubinage or prostitution, the taking must have been for one of these purposes. A taking for another purpose, notwithstanding that defendant, after the taking, had improper relations with the female, will not sustain an indictment under the statute. In this case the evidence showed that a son of defendant was responsible for the condition of pregnancy in which the female was found, and that defendant contrived to take her away for the purpose of hiding her disgrace and shielding his own son, and that while in the execution of his purpose he committed the act complained of. State v. Gibson, 108 Mo. 575, 18 S. W. 1109.

Unsuccessful attempt at intercourse.—Where it appears that defendant was a married man living with his wife, and the girl was under fourteen years of age, too young and physically too undeveloped, according to her own evidence, to be able to afford defendant the gratification which the presumed motive for such a relation implies, and that upon discovery of this fact in an attempt at such gratification he abandoned its pursuit, there can be no inference of a purpose of concubinage. People v. Parshall, 6 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 129.

Harmless error in instruction.—Where the court charged that if defendant's purpose in taking a female away was to cohabit with her "even for a single night," the taking for that purpose would be for the purpose of concubinage within the meaning of the statute, it was held that even if the taking for one act of intercourse, or for one night, did not come within the meaning of the statute, defendant could not complain where the evidence showed that he did actually cohabit with the female on many occasions, and lived with her as his wife for three months at a time. State v. Johnson, 115 Mo. 480, 491, 22 S. W. 463.

66. U. S. v. Zes Cloya, 35 Fed. 493.

A count for enticing a female for the purpose of concubinage is supported by evidence which shows that the female was induced to leave a parent's house and go to the house of defendant, after which defendant finally succeeded in overcoming her virtue, and had improper relations with her for a number of months, several times during each week, and that defendant solicited the female to live with him under promise of money, etc. Slocum v. People, 90 Ill. 274.

Cohabitation while carrying away.—Evidence that defendant, a married man, secretly carried off the daughter of the prosecutor and cohabited with her on his way from the state, is sufficient to establish the purpose of concubinage. Tucker v. State, 8 Lea (Tenn.) 633.

67. In Michigan it was held, under a statute against the enticing away of the female, etc., for the purpose of prostitution, concubinage, or marriage, that in enumerating these three purposes it was intended to cover every purpose of unlawful enticement to sexual intercourse; that the word "concubinage" had no settled common-law meaning. People v. Bristol, 23 Mich. 118, 126; People v. Cummons, 56 Mich. 544, 545, 23 N. W. 215.

In Missouri it was held that intercourse for a single night, and apparently without regard to the purpose of a continued cohabitation without a legal marriage, was sufficient to constitute the offense of taking for the purpose of concubinage. State v. Feasel, 74 Mo. 524. This case, however, has been overruled, as will appear from the Missouri cases cited in note 65.

In Kansas one case — State v. Overstreet, 43 Kan. 299, 23 Pac. 572 — seems to approve the ruling in State v. Feasel, 74 Mo. 524, supra. The court, however, expressly states that it was not necessary to go as far as the Missouri case, because it appeared in evidence that the female had in fact been the mistress of defendant for some time past. It was intended by this case, either that the mere act of sexual intercourse was not sufficient, but that there should be

(III) For Purpose of Sexual Intercourse. Under a statute against the taking of a female for sexual intercourse it is not necessary that the taking should be for the purpose of sexual intercourse with a person or persons other than the defendant,[68] and on the other hand, under a provision against the procuring, etc., of a female to have sexual intercourse with any person other than himself, it is not necessary that defendant should have had any particular person in mind.[69]

g. Continued Force or Taking. Where a girl is taken from one jurisdiction into another, with intent to commit the offense designated in the statute, and defendant there interposes his will between the girl and the control of her guardian, so as to overcome her intention to return to her home, the abduction is committed in the jurisdiction into which the girl is so brought,[70] and it has been held that where a girl is forced from one county into another, and there married, and at the time of the marriage is in such fear as to be unconscious of her actions, the taking in the first county continues in the second.[71]

3. Station of Female. To constitute the offense of taking away a female having substance, or who is an heir apparent, it must appear that the woman was of such station.[72]

4. Age of Female. As already pointed out, the offense consists, under some statutes, in taking women generally, without regard to their age, for certain purposes, while other statutes relate only to females under a prescribed age. When the age is thus prescribed it is a material ingredient of the offense.[73] The fact that the female is under the age limit is the gist of the offense, and therefore knowledge of her age is not necessary to the guilt of the party committing the an intention to cohabit, which intent was considered to be sufficiently shown by the facts; or else that the case has been in effect overruled in State v. Bussey, 58 Kan. 679, 690, 50 Pac. 891. In this case defendant objected to an instruction upon the definition of "concubinage" to the effect that it was not necessary that the cohabitation should be continuous for any length of time, and that if there is cohabitation on one occasion without lawful marriage it constitutes concubinage. After defining the term "cohabitation" substantially as first defined in this section, the court pointed out that the language used in the instruction did not make one act of sexual intercourse sufficient, but used the term "cohabitation;" and that as cohabitation for a long period of time was not necessary, the fact that the instruction used the expression "one occasion" was not misleading.

Broad use without adjudicating meaning. — The word "prostitution" has been used in the broad sense of a submission by the female to sexual intercourse with the abductor. South v. State, 97 Tenn. 496, 37 S. W. 210.

68. Com. v. Kaniper, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 276. But as to the provision against the procuring of a female to have carnal connection with any man, see People v. Roderigas, 49 Cal. 9.

69. Stevens v. State, 112 Ind. 433, 14 N. E. 251.

70. Taking from one state into another. — State v. Gordon, 46 N. J. L. 432; People v. Wah Lee Mon, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 767.

Bringing into state and county of father's residence.— Under the statute in Missouri it was held that where the female was temporarily visiting a relative in another state, and was taken away by defendant — under an arrangement between defendant and the female, made before the latter's leaving the state of Missouri — and brought into the state of Missouri and the county of her father's residence, for the purpose of prostitution, defendant was guilty of taking the female from her father and might be indicted in the county of the latter's residence. State v. Round, 82 Mo. 679.

Taking from one county into another.— In Com. v. Kaniper, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 276,— under the statute against the taking of a female child under a designated age for the purpose of prostitution or sexual intercourse, or without the consent of her parents, etc., for the purpose of marriage, or the inveigling or enticing such child into a house of ill fame, etc., for the purpose of prostitution or sexual intercourse,— it was held that where the child within this statute consents in the county in which the taking occurs, the courts of another county into which she is taken for the purpose of the intercourse have not jurisdiction; but if a taking with the intent was done in the first county, but the girl did not know of the intention until she came into another county where the act was committed, then the taking was continuous and the court of the county in which the intercourse took place would have jurisdiction.

71. Fulwood's Case, Cro. Car. 488.

72. Fulwood's Case, Cro. Car. 484; Baker v. Hall, 12 Coke 100; Wakefield's Case, 2 Lewin 1.

73. Anderson v. Com., 5 Rand. (Va.) 627, 16 Am. Dec. 776.

act, and ignorance thereof is not a defense,[74] unless under a statute of a different purport.[75] Consequently testimony to prove that the female had told the defendant, previous to the alleged enticement, that she was over the age designated in the statute, is properly excluded.[76]

5. Previous Chaste Character of Female. Where the statute makes the previous chaste life and conversation of the female an ingredient of the offense, the mere taking or enticing of a female for the purpose mentioned in the statute is not sufficient to constitute the offense.[77] But under statutes prohibiting the taking of females under a certain age for purposes designated, without making the previous character of the female an ingredient of the offense, the defendant may be guilty notwithstanding the previous unchastity of the female.[78]

74. California.— People v. Dolan, 96 Cal. 315, 31 Pac. 107; People v. Fowler, 88 Cal. 136, 25 Pac. 1110.

Mississippi.— Riley v. State, (Miss. 1895) 18 So. 117.

Missouri.— State v. Johnson, 115 Mo. 480, 22 S. W. 463.

New York.— People v. Stott, 4 N. Y. Crim. 306 [affirmed in 5 N. Y. Crim. 61].

England.— Reg. v. Olifier, 10 Cox C. C. 402; Reg. v. Robins, 1 C. & K. 456.

Belief as to age.— Defendant cannot avail himself of a bona fide belief on his part that the girl was older than the age limit prescribed in the statute. State v. Ruhl, 8 Iowa 447; State v. Johnson, 115 Mo. 480, 22 S. W. 463; Reg. v. Prince, 13 Cox C. C. 138.

The reason of this rule is that if defendant enticed the female away for the purpose prohibited by the statute, there existed a criminal or wrong intent notwithstanding that she might have been over the age limit designated in the statute, and therefore evidence in support of such justification would tend merely to show that defendant intended one wrong and by mistake committed another; and in such a case, although the wrong intended is not indictable, if an indictable offense is committed, defendant is liable. State v. Ruhl, 8 Iowa 447.

75. As under Wis. Laws (1887), c. 214, § 4, providing that any person, being the owner of any premises, or assisting in the management or control thereof, who induces or knowingly suffers any girl under the age of twenty-one years to resort to or be in or upon the premises for the purpose of being unlawfully and carnally known by any person or persons, shall be punished, etc. Hermann v. State, 73 Wis. 248, 41 N. W. 171, 9 Am. St. Rep. 789.

76. State v. Ruhl, 8 Iowa 447.

77. People v. Roderigas, 49 Cal. 9; Bradshaw v. People, 153 Ill. 156, 38 N. E. 652; Slocum v. People, 90 Ill. 274; Com. v. Whittaker, 131 Mass. 224; Kauffman v. People, 11 Hun (N. Y.) 82; Carpenter v. People, 8 Barb. (N. Y.) 603. These cases hold that if the woman is of unchaste life and conversation no offense is committed within the meaning of the act.

"Character" and "reputation" distinguished.— In Carpenter v. People, 8 Barb. (N. Y.) 603, it was held that previous chaste character is not the same as previous chaste reputation; that reputation may be good evidence of character, but is not the character itself; and that therefore an instruction that if the female was known as a person of chaste character and reputation at the time of the abduction, and that if it should turn out on the trial that she had, previous to the alleged abduction, been guilty of a single act of unchastity, it would constitute no defense, is erroneous, because it might be a logical inference from such a rule that a female perfectly pure in heart and life, but who at the time of the abduction sustained a bad reputation, could not be the subject of the offense. But see State v. Bobbst, 131 Mo. 328, 32 S. W. 1149.

"Conversation" and "character."— The words "of chaste life and conversation," used in the statute, are equivalent to "chaste life and previous character," and an instruction upon the presumption of chastity and the onus of overcoming such a presumption by defendant, which uses the latter expression instead of the words employed in the statute, is not erroneous. Bradshaw v. People, 153 Ill. 156, 159, 38 N. E. 652.

Effect of subsequent reform of woman.— If, however, the female had previously fallen from virtue, and subsequently reforms and is leading a chaste life at the time of the act complained of, she is a proper subject of the offense declared in the statute. Carpenter v. People, 8 Barb. (N. Y.) 603; Scruggs v. State, 90 Tenn. 81, 15 S. W. 1074.

Enticing back into a life of shame is sometimes expressly aimed at by statute. See State v. Terrill, 76 Iowa 149, 40 N. W. 128.

78. People v. Demousset, 71 Cal. 611, 12 Pac. 788; Cargill v. Com., 93 Ky. 578, 20 S. W. 782; State v. Bobbst, 131 Mo. 328, 32 S. W. 1149 [in effect overruling State v. Gibson, 111 Mo. 92, 19 S. W. 980, though citing it apparently with approval]; State v. Johnson, 115 Mo. 480, 22 S. W. 463; People v. Stott, 4 N. Y. Crim. 306. Contra, Scruggs v. State, 90 Tenn. 81, 15 S. W. 1074; Jenkins v. State, 15 Lea (Tenn.) 674.

Evidence as to previous character, however, has been held to be admissible in such prosecutions, as tending to throw light upon the question of intent on the part of the accused and consent on the part of the parent. Beaven v. Com., (Ky. 1895) 30 S. W. 968; Brown v. State, 72 Md. 468, 20 Atl. 186. And also as bearing upon the credibility of the female as a witness. State v. Bobbst, 131 Mo. 328, 32 S. W. 1149; People v. Stott, 4 N. Y. Crim. 306.

6. When Offense Complete. Under statutes against the taking of a female for certain purposes it is the intention which controls[79] rather than the actual consummation of the act for which the taking is effected. But where the statute provides not only against the taking, but as well against the doing of acts subsequent to the taking, the doing of the latter acts becomes a material ingredient of the offense.[80]

III. Prosecution for the Offense.

A. The Indictment or Information — 1. In General. The material elements of the offense as prescribed by the particular statute must be covered by the allegations in the indictment or information.[81]

Previous acts of illicit intercourse between the parties have been held admissible, on behalf of the prosecution, upon the question of intent to entice. People v. Carrier, 46 Mich. 442, 9 N. W. 487.

General submission where evidence inapplicable.— Where a defendant was charged in one count with having taken a woman unlawfully, against her will, and by force, menace, or duress compelled her to be defiled, which was one offense under one statute; and in another count with having inveigled and enticed away an unmarried female of previous chaste character, etc., for the purpose of prostitution, which was an offense under another and different statute,— the first being a felony, and the second a misdemeanor, and the two being entirely different and distinct offenses,— it was held that where there was a conviction under the first count, upon the general submission of the cause to the jury without confining the evidence to the particular count to which it was applicable, the admission of evidence as to the previous chaste character of the female, which could only have been admitted under the second count, constituted a reversible error, as upon the charge in the first count such evidence was only admissible in rebuttal of character evidence. Kauffman v. People, 11 Hun (N. Y.) 82.

79. Slocum v. People, 90 Ill. 274; Payner v. Com., (Ky. 1892) 19 S. W. 927; Malone v. Com., 91 Ky. 307, 15 S. W. 856; People v. Seeley, 37 Hun (N. Y.) 190.

Offense is therefore complete immediately upon the taking with the intent at that time to accomplish the particular purpose.

Illinois.— Henderson v. People, 124 Ill. 607, 17 N. E. 68, 7 Am. St. Rep. 391; Slocum v. People, 90 Ill. 274.

Kansas.— State v. Bussey, 58 Kan. 679, 50 Pac. 891.

Missouri.— State v. Bobbst, 131 Mo. 328, 32 S. W. 1149.

New York.— People v. Stott, 4 N. Y. Crim. 306.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Kaniper, 3 Pa. Co. Ct. 276.

United States.— U. S. v. Zes Cloya, 35 Fed. 493.

Taking out of jurisdiction.— Under the rule stated in the text, the offense is complete notwithstanding the consummation of the particular immoral act outside of the jurisdiction of the court where the indictment is found. State v. Johnson, 115 Mo. 480, 22 S. W. 463.

Lawful marriage contemplated.— Under the statute against the taking of a female under a designated age, etc., for the purpose of prostitution, concubinage, or marriage, it is held that a lawful marriage is contemplated, and that the statute does not apply to a case where an Indian, a married man, who had been put upon a United States military reservation under guard, escaped, carrying with him an Indian girl under the age designated. U. S. v. Zes Cloya, 35 Fed. 493.

In Kentucky the statute against the unlawful taking or detaining of any woman against her will, with intent to marry her or have her married to another, or with intent to have carnal knowledge of her or that another shall have such knowledge, was held to be intended to create an offense of a lower grade than rape or attempt to commit rape. Malone v. Com., 91 Ky. 307, 15 S. W. 856; Payner v. Com., (Ky. 1892) 19 S. W. 927.

80. Lampton v. State, (Miss. 1892) 11 So. 656; Baker v. Hall, 12 Coke 100; Fulwood's Case, Cro. Car. 484.

De facto marriage is sufficient under the statute against the taking and marrying of a female, etc. Fulwood's Case, Cro. Car. 488, 493.

81. Thus under 3 Hen. VII, against the taking and defiling or marrying a woman who has goods or lands or is an heir apparent, an indictment must allege that the woman was married or defiled, and that she had goods or lands or was an heir apparent, as the enacting clause has reference to the preamble. Fulwood's Case, Cro. Car. 484. But see State v. Tidwell, 5 Strobh. (S. C.) 1, under 4 & 5 Ph. & M.

Negativing exceptions — English statute administered in United States.— In South Carolina, where 4 & 5 Ph. & M. was adopted and administered, it was held that negative averments in an indictment, corresponding with the exemption from liability, in the third section of that statute, of him of whom the female abducted should hold lands or tenements by knight-service, and with the exception in the fourth section of a contract of marriage by consent of such as by title of wardship should be entitled to have the marriage of such maid or woman child, were unnecessary, since no such relation arising out of tenure by knight-service or title of wardship existed in that state. State v. Tidwell, 5 Strobh. (S. C.) 1.

2. CHARGE IN LANGUAGE OF STATUTE. It is sufficient if the charge in the indictment or information pursues the language of the statute creating the offense and prescribing the elements thereof.[82]

3. ALLEGATION OF TAKING OR DETENTION — a. In General. Where the taking of a female for certain purposes is prohibited in general terms it is not necessary to allege the means by which the abduction was accomplished.[83] But where the statutory inhibition is against the detention of a woman against her will it must be alleged that the detention was thus effected.[84]

b. Taking from Custody. Where the taking of a female for certain purposes is made punishable without regard to the custody from which she is taken or the consent of her parents or other custodian, it is not necessary to allege from whose custody she was taken or that the taking was without the consent of her parents or other custodian,[85] but it is otherwise where the statute prohibits a taking from a parent or other custodian or without the consent of such persons.[86]

c. Taking to Place of Particular Character. Under a provision against the taking and enticing of a female to a house of ill fame, assignation, or elsewhere, for the purpose of prostitution or like acts, it must be charged that the taking was to a house of ill fame, assignation, or to a place of a character similar to such houses and where such acts are practised.[87]

4. ALLEGATION OF INTENT — a. In General. The particular intent which, under statute, characterizes the taking or detention as criminal, must be alleged,[88] but

Forms of indictments or informations, in whole or in part, may be found in the following cases:

Indiana.— Nichols v. State, 127 Ind. 406, 26 N. E. 839.

Kansas.— State v. Overstreet, 43 Kan. 299, 23 Pac. 572.

Minnesota.— State v. Keith, 47 Minn. 559, 50 N. W. 691; State v. Jamison, 38 Minn. 21, 35 N. W. 712.

Missouri.— State v. Johnson, 115 Mo. 480; 22 S. W. 463.

New York.— Beyer v. People, 86 N. Y. 369; People v. Betsinger, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 136; People v. Sheppard, 44 Hun (N. Y.) 565; People v. Seeley, 37 Hun (N. Y.) 190; People v. Brandt, 14 N. Y. St. 419; People v. Stott, 4 N. Y. Crim. 306; People v. Powell, 4 N. Y. Crim. 585; People v. Parshall, 6 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 129.

South Carolina.— State v. Tidwell, 5 Strobh. (S. C.) 1.

England.— Wakefield's Case, 2 Lewin 1; Reg. v. Hopkins, C. & M. 254; Reg. v. Howell, 4 F. & F. 160; Reg. v. Mears, 2 Den. C. C. 79.

82. People v. Fowler, 88 Cal. 136, 25 Pac. 1110; Higgins v. Com., 94 Ky. 54, 21 S. W. 231; Payner v. Com., (Ky. 1892) 19 S. W. 927; Cargill v. Com., (Ky. 1890) 13 S. W. 916; State v. Keith, 47 Minn. 559, 50 N. W. 691.

The exact language of the statute need not be employed; it is sufficient if equivalent terms are used. Nichols v. State, 127 Ind. 406, 26 N. E. 839.

83. Alleging the taking in the general terms of the statute is enough in such cases. Payner v. Com., (Ky. 1892) 19 S. W. 927; Cargill v. Com., (Ky. 1890) 13 S. W. 916; State v. Keith, 47 Minn. 559, 50 N. W. 691. But see Fulwood's Case, Cro. Car. 484.

Feloniously.— Where the statute does not characterize the crime as a felony it is not necessary, in charging the offense, to allege that it was done "feloniously." Higgins v. Com., 94 Ky. 54, 57, 21 S. W. 231. See also INDICTMENTS AND INFORMATIONS.

84. Krambiel v. Com., (Ky. 1887) 2 S. W. 555.

"Unlawfully detained" is not sufficient as an allegation that the detention was against the will. Wilder v. Com., 81 Ky. 591.

85. State v. Keith, 47 Minn. 559, 50 N. W. 691; State v. Jamison, 38 Minn. 21, 35 N. W. 712.

86. Jones v. State, 16 Lea (Tenn.) 466. See also State v. Johnson, 115 Mo. 480, 486, 22 S. W. 463, holding that an indictment alleging in this connection that defendant "did then and there being one Rosa Price, a female under the age of eighteen years, to wit, seventeen years, unlawfully and feloniously take from one Lewis Price, her father, he the said Lewis Price then and there having the legal charge of the person of said Rosa Price, without the consent and against the will of the said Lewis Price," is sufficient.

87. Miller v. State, 121 Ind. 294, 23 N. E. 94; State v. McCrum, 38 Minn. 154, 36 N. W. 102.

Insufficient charge — Time for objection. — A mere charge that defendant enticed and took the female to a certain named city of the state, with the felonious intent then and there of rendering the said female a prostitute, was held bad as failing to show a taking to a house of ill fame or other place where prostitution might be accomplished, if objected to by motion to quash, but it was held too late, after verdict, to make the objection on motion in arrest. Nichols v. State, 127 Ind. 406, 26 N. E. 839.

88. Jones v. State, 16 Lea (Tenn.) 466. Thus, as mere sexual intercourse does not constitute prostitution, an allegation of an enticement for such purpose is not sufficient to charge the offense of enticing for the pura charge in terms equivalent to the language of the statute is sufficient, and need not be in the precise words thereof.[89]

b. Addition of Acts Not Embraced in Statute. An additional allegation of an intent to commit further acts not embraced in terms of the statute may be rejected as superfluous, and will not invalidate an indictment where the intent to commit the acts which are embraced in the terms of the statute is sufficiently charged.[90] But if it is attempted to allege the manner in which the purpose is to be consummated, and the acts so alleged could not, under the law, operate as a consummation of such purpose, the indictment will be bad.[91]

5. Allegation of Previous Character. Under statutes which make the previous chastity of the female an ingredient of the offense, such previous chastity must be alleged in the indictment.[92]

6. Allegation of Age. Where the statute makes it an element of the offense that the taking shall be by a defendant over a designated age, or of a female under a designated age, the defendant as well as the female must be brought within the terms of the statute.[93] But as his ignorance of the age of the female is immaterial,[94] knowledge on the part of defendant that the female was under the age prescribed need not be alleged.[95]

7. Joinder of Counts and Offenses — a. Taking for Several Purposes. Under a statute against the taking of a female, etc., for the purpose of prostitution or concubinage, the takings for these purposes constitute separate and distinct offenses and cannot properly be joined in a single count,[96] but as they are of a like nature, pose of prostitution. Osborn v. State, 52 Ind. 526.

Charging a taking for lucre and a marriage sufficiently shows that the taking was with intent to marry. Fulwood's Case, Cro. Car. 488.

89. "With intent of rendering her a prostitute" was held to be equivalent to and sufficient for the purpose of charging the intent to take "for the purpose of prostitution" as prescribed by the statute. Nichols v. State, 127 Ind. 406, 408, 26 N. E. 839.

For the purpose of prostituting.— But in Miller v. State, 121 Ind. 294, 23 N. E. 94, it was held that the charge in an indictment that defendant enticed the female "for the purpose of unlawfully and feloniously prostituting her," was not equivalent to the words used in the statute as above indicated.

90. People v. Parshall, 6 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 129.

In Kansas it was held that an indictment was sufficient which charged a taking for the purpose of concubinage, but added "by having sexual intercourse with him," the defendant. State v. Overstreet, 43 Kan. 299, 305, 23 Pac. 572.

91. Concubinage — Intercourse with three persons.— Under a statute against the taking away of a female for the purpose of concubinage, it was held that a count which charged a taking for the purpose of concubinage, and that a concubinage was to be effected by illicit intercourse with three separate persons, was bad, because, under the definition of "concubinage," it was plainly impossible that several men could each have the same woman for his concubine at the same time. State v. Gibson, 111 Mo. 92, 97, 19 S. W. 980.

92. People v. Roderigas, 49 Cal. 9.

93. State v. O'Bannon, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 144, under 4 & 5 Ph. & M.

Sufficiency of allegation.— Under 4 & 5 Ph. & M. c. 8, making it punishable for anyone over the age of fourteen years to take away an heiress who is within the age of sixteen years, an information sufficiently charges that defendant was above the age of fourteen years by charging that defendant, "being above the age of fourteen," etc., committed the act. Rex v. Moor, 2 Mod. 128, 129.

94. See supra, II, C, 4.

95. People v. Fowler, 88 Cal. 136, 25 Pac. 1110.

96. State v. Bussey, 58 Kan. 679, 50 Pac. 891; State v. Goodwin, 33 Kan. 538, 6 Pac. 899; Tucker v. State, 8 Lea (Tenn.) 633.

Concubinage with several.— Under a statute prohibiting the taking away of a female for the purpose of concubinage or prostitution, a count is bad which, alleging the taking for the purpose of concubinage, charges that the concubinage is to be effected by having illicit sexual intercourse with three separate persons alleged to have committed the taking, because it is impossible that several men could each have the same woman for his concubine; and as the statute defines two separate and distinct offenses which cannot be joined in one count, if it is intended to charge both they should be charged in separate counts. State v. Gibson, 111 Mo. 92, 19 S. W. 980.

Contra.— Under the statute in New York against the taking of a female under a designated age for the purpose of prostitution or sexual intercourse, etc., it was held that an indictment charging that defendant took such female for the purpose of prostitution and sexual intercourse was not demurrable upon the ground that it charged two offenses in one count, because the taking for either purpose constituted one offense, and to constitute two offenses there must be two offenses charged; are punishable alike,[97] and spring from the same facts, they may be joined in separate counts to meet the several phases of the evidence.[98] Even if there could be no conviction for both offenses at the same time, yet there is no error in refusing to compel the state to elect, where, after a verdict of guilty on both counts, a nolle prosequi is entered upon one of the counts.[99]

b. Taking or Causing to Be Taken. Under a statute against the taking or causing to be taken of a female it has been held that the indictment alleging both a taking and causing to be taken must charge the offenses conjunctively.[1]

c. One Who Marries and One Who Assists in Abduction. Under 4 & 5 Ph. & M., one aiding in the marriage of a female abducted may be convicted with, and to the same extent as, the one who actually marries her.[2]

d. Abductor and Keeper of House. The persons who entice a woman for the purpose of compelling her to be defiled may be jointly indicted with the keeper of the house to which the woman was enticed, and it is not necessary that a conspiracy between such parties be shown in order to convict of the taking with the particular intent.[3]

e. Enticement and Concealing or Assisting in Concealment. Under a statute against the enticement of a female for a certain purpose, and the concealing or abetting or assisting in the concealment of such enticement, the offenses may be joined in separate counts.[4]

f. Kidnapping and Abduction. Kidnapping and abduction are separate and distinct offenses; but where, under the statute, they are offenses of the same character, differing only in degree, a count for kidnapping and for abducting a female for the purpose of prostitution may be joined in the same indictment.[5]

B. Evidence — 1. Burden of Proof. The burden of proof is on the state to prove the offense charged,[6] by evidence either positive or circumstantial.[7] that proof of the one taking for either purpose under a charge of one taking for both purposes is admissible. People v. Powell, 4 N. Y. Crim. 585. See also People v. Brown, 71 Hun (N. Y.) 601, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 1111.

Allegation in conjunctive form.— Under the statute in New York making it an offense to take a female for the purpose of prostitution, concubinage, or marriage, it was held that an indictment charging a taking for the purpose of "prostitution, concubinage, and marriage," instead of alleging a taking for the purposes in the alternative, would justify a conviction for a taking for either of these purposes. People v. Parshall, 6 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 129.

97. Tucker v. State, 8 Lea (Tenn.) 633.

98. State v. Bussey, 58 Kan. 679, 50 Pac. 891.

99. State v. Bussey, 58 Kan. 679, 50 Pac. 891.

1. Hence an indictment under 4 & 5 Ph. & M., charging the taking and causing to be taken in the alternative, was held bad on motion in arrest of judgment. State v. O'Bannon, 1 Bailey (S. C.) 144.

2. State v. Tidwell, 5 Strobh. (S. C.) 1.

3. Beyer v. People, 86 N. Y. 369.

4. State v. Terrill, 76 Iowa 149, 40 N. W. 128.

In South Carolina it was held, under 4 & 5 Ph. & M. c. 8, that a count on the third section thereof, which prohibited the taking or causing to be taken of any maid or woman child, under a designated age, out of the possession and against the will of her father or mother, or out of the possession and against the will of such person or persons as then happened to have, by any lawful ways or means, the order, keeping, etc., of said woman child; and a count on the fourth section of said statute, against the taking or causing to be taken away as aforesaid and deflowering any such maid or woman child as aforesaid, or contracting marriage with any such maid or woman child against the will of her father, etc., and providing a greater punishment for the latter offense,— were well joined, as the latter offense included the former. State v. Tidwell, 5 Strobh. (S. C.) 1.

5. Mason v. State, 29 Tex. App. 24, 14 S. W. 71, under the rule that it is not a valid objection to an indictment that it charges separate and distinct offenses in several counts, even where the offenses charged are felonies, if they be of the same character differing only in degree.

6. People v. Roderigas, 49 Cal. 9; Com. v. Whittaker, 131 Mass. 224; People v. Platt, 4 N. Y. Crim. 53.

Defense inconsistent with element of offense.— Where defendant in a prosecution, under the statute, for taking a minor female from the custody of her parents or guardian, for the purpose of prostitution, bases his defense upon the ground that he and the alleged victim were engaged to be married, and that he took her from her mother for that purpose, he is not under the necessity of establishing this defense by a preponderance of evidence, as such a doctrine would deprive him of the benefit of the rule relating to reasonable doubt, and would change the cardinal rule in criminal cases that the burden of proof rests on the prosecution. People v. Marshall, 59 Cal. 386.

7. People v. Platt, 4 N. Y. Crim. 53, 100 N. Y. 590, 3 N. E. 790, 53 Am. Rep. 236.

2. As to Taking. Under the statute against the taking of a female under a designated age from the custody of her parents, etc., the parent from whose custody she was taken may be permitted to testify that the daughter was taken without the consent of the witness, and to the latter's efforts to find the child;[8] and under a charge of taking a female against her will with intent to compel her to be defiled, actual force not being necessary to constitute the taking, prosecutrix may give evidence as to her reason for going to the house of defendant.[9]

3. As to Taking with Particular Intent — a. In General. When a specific intent is required in order to make an act an offense, the mere doing of the act will not raise the presumption that it was done with the specific intent. Therefore evidence which establishes only a taking, and fails to show that it was for the prohibited purpose, is not sufficient.[10]

b. Inference from Acts Proven. It is not necessary, however, that the particular intent shall be shown by positive evidence on this point, as it may be inferred from acts proved.[11] But the fact that a certain end has been attained is only a fact from which the jury may draw conclusions as to the purpose for which the taking was effected,[12] and such presumptions may be rebutted by showing circumstances inconsistent therewith and consistent with lawful conduct on the part of defendant.[13]

c. Evidence of Other Criminal Acts. Prior acts of sexual intercourse between defendant and prosecutrix have been held admissible in evidence as bearing upon the intention of defendant in the particular taking involved,[14] although the state cannot in the first instance introduce evidence of other criminal acts on the part

8. Mother.— State v. Stone, 106 Mo. 1, 16 S. W. 890.

Father — Testimony not prejudicial.— Under an indictment for taking a female under the age designated in the statute from the custody of her father, for the purpose of concubinage, testimony by the father of prosecutrix that he sent to the latter money to enable her to return to her home from the place to which she was taken by defendant is not material to the charge involved, but it is not prejudicial. State v. Bobbst, 131 Mo. 328, 32 S. W. 1149.

9. Schnicker v. People, 88 N. Y. 192.

10. State v. Jamison, 38 Minn. 21, 35 N. W. 712; People v. Platt, 4 N. Y. Crim. 53, 100 N. Y. 590, 3 N. E. 790, 53 Am. Rep. 236.

11. May be inferred from end attained. — Thus, under the provision against taking for the purpose of prostitution, concubinage, or defilement, the intent may fairly be inferred from the end attained, and the acts of sexual intercourse or defilement are admissible as evidence of the original intention. State v. Bobbst, 131 Mo. 328, 32 S. W. 1149; State v. Johnson, 115 Mo. 480, 22 S. W. 463; People v. Brown, 71 Hun (N. Y.) 601, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 1111; Beyer v. People, 86 N. Y. 369; People v. Powell, 4 N. Y. Crim. 585.

So under the statutory provision against the enticing of a female for the purpose of prostitution, where it is shown that the female was taken to a house of prostitution, the prima facie presumption is that she was taken there for the purpose inhibited by the statute. People v. Marshall, 59 Cal. 386; Ex p. Estrado, 88 Cal. 316, 26 Pac. 209; Brown v. State, 72 Md. 468, 20 Atl. 186.

Testimony of prosecutrix — Res gestae.— Where prosecutrix, a German girl not long in the United States, sought employment in a house of prostitution, being ignorant of the character of the place, and she was there kept by the proprietor, by being induced to fear arrest if she left, after which she was compelled to submit to be defiled against her will, this is a sufficient taking against her will for the purpose prohibited by the statute, and evidence is admissible as to what occurred in the room where the prosecutrix was compelled to submit, as a part of the res gestæ. Schnicker v. People, 88 N. Y. 192.

12. Henderson v. People, 124 Ill. 607, 17 N. E. 68, 7 Am. St. Rep. 391; State v. Johnson, 115 Mo. 480, 22 S. W. 463; People v. Brown, 71 Hun (N. Y.) 601, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 1111.

13. Rebutting evidence.— Where it appeared that a girl was taken by a man to a bawdy-house kept by defendant, it was held to be competent for defendant to show that prosecutrix had asserted that she was over eighteen years of age; that defendant permitted the girl to remain over night for the purpose of securing her a home in the town; that defendant did actually, on the next day, make an effort to secure such home; and that during the time the girl remained in the house she had no improper relations with anyone,— for the purpose of rebutting the presumption, arising from the character of the house and the youth of the prosecutrix, that the latter was enticed there, and to rebut the presumption arising from the character of the house that the girl was permitted to remain there for the purpose of prostitution. Brown v. State, 72 Md. 468, 20 Atl. 186.

14. People v. Carrier, 46 Mich. 442, 9 N. W. 487; People v. Wah Lee Mon, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 767.

of defendant to support the probability of the evidence that he has committed the particular offense.[15]

4. As to Previous Chaste Character of Female — a. In General. Where the previous chaste character of the female is a material ingredient of the offense such chastity must be established by proof,[16] and while it has been held that such proof cannot be allowed to rest merely upon the legal presumption of chastity, but the fact must be shown by affirmative testimony,[17] it is apprehended that from the nature of the subject the more accurate statement of the rule is that, though it may be necessary to prove the fact, evidence directly upon the point is not necessary, but the fact may be shown prima facie by presumption from other facts and circumstances, as that the unmarried female was at the time residing with her parents or guardian or in some respectable household, or by proof of other like circumstances consistent with and the usual concomitants of chaste female character.[18]

b. Specific Acts. Under the rule requiring proof of the woman's chastity on the part of the state, and permitting proof of her unchastity on the part of defendant, it is held that mere proof of reputation to impeach character of the female is not admissible.[19] But on the other hand, where evidence as to unchastity is admissible only for the purpose of affecting the credibility of the prosecutrix, it is held that evidence of individual acts of this character should not be received.[20] So, where evidence of this character is admissible upon the question of the intent of the accused or the consent of the female, facts tending to show her character are admissible,[21] but it is held that specific acts of unchastity are inadmissible in a prosecution for taking and detaining a woman against her will with a particular intent.[22]

15. Cargill v. Com., (Ky. 1890) 13 S. W. 916; People v. Gibson, 6 N. Y. Crim. 390, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 170.

16. People v. Roderigas, 49 Cal. 9; Com. v. Whittaker, 131 Mass. 224.

17. Com. v. Whittaker, 131 Mass. 224. Contra, Bradshaw v. People, 153 Ill. 156, 38 N. E. 652; Slocum v. People, 90 Ill. 274.

Evidence in support of presumption.— On the trial of an indictment for enticing an unmarried female of chaste life and conversation from her parents' house for the purpose of prostitution, etc., under the statute, while it is not necessary for the prosecution in the first instance to offer evidence on the subject of the chaste life and conversation of the female, it is not error to permit the father of the female to testify that prior to her association with defendant she attended Sunday-school and church, was a member of the church, associated with the young people of the neighborhood generally, and was received in their society as other young ladies of the community, as such evidence tends to fortify the presumption of law as to the female's chastity. Bradshaw v. People, 153 Ill. 156, 38 N. E. 652.

Evidence of reputation.— In New York, under a statute against the taking, enticing, etc., of a female of previous chaste character, for the purpose of prostitution, the female must be unmarried and chaste at the time of the commission of the offense, and it is held incompetent to prove such chastity by evidence as to the reputation of the female for chastity. Kauffman v. People, 11 Hun (N. Y.) 82.

Lewd character of mother or sister.— Evidence as to the lewd character of the mother and sister of the woman is inadmissible to prove the unchaste character of the prosecutrix. Scruggs v. State, 90 Tenn. 81, 15 S. W. 1074.

18. People v. Roderigas, 49 Cal. 9. While the Illinois cases cited contra in the preceding note hold broadly that chastity will be presumed, they are not inconsistent with the rule last above stated in the text, because in each case the taking was from the home of the parent. The cases themselves, however, do not thus confine the holding, and are in fact decided under statutes against the taking from the custody of the parent or wherever the female may be found.

19. Kauffman v. People, 11 Hun (N. Y.) 82.

20. State v. Bobbst, 131 Mo. 328, 32 S. W. 1149, holding that the better form in which to instruct the jury in such a case is that although they might believe from the evidence that the general reputation of the female for chastity and virtue is bad, want of chastity constitutes no justification to anyone to take her from her father's custody for the purpose of prostitution or concubinage, but should be considered by the jury in weighing her testimony and is admitted for that purpose only.

21. Thus, evidence on behalf of defendant that there were a number of lewd women on the public fair-ground (where the alleged taking and detention occurred) who were plying their trade, and that when defendant saw the woman in question he believed she belonged to that class of women, is admissible to explain the intent of the accused and as tending to exculpate him of the charge that he was taking and detaining her against her will; and defendant may testify to these facts and that he was informed that the prosecutrix was one of the lewd women on the fair-ground. Beaven v. Com., (Ky. 1895) 30 S. W. 968.

22. Cargill v. Com., 93 Ky. 578, 20 S. W. 782, the court alleging, as a reason for the rule, that such evidence might be true with-

5. As to Unchastity after Taking. Evidence of acts of unchastity on the part of the woman after the alleged abduction is not admissible for the purpose of showing her previous unchaste character.[23]

6. As to Age — a. Testimony of Parent. Where the offense in the statute is against the taking of a girl under a designated age, testimony of the parent from whose custody she is taken is the proper testimony by which to prove her age.[24]

b. Personal Appearance of Woman. And where evidence obtained by view is sanctioned in criminal cases, under a statute directed against the owner of premises, or one assisting in the management or control thereof, who induces or knowingly suffers any girl under a designated age to resort thereto for purposes mentioned, the court may allow the jury to determine, from her personal appearance or view only, whether the defendant knew the girl to be under the age prescribed at the time of the alleged offense, where there is other evidence that she was under such age.[25]

7. As to Character of Defendant. In a prosecution under the statute against the taking of a female, under the designated age, for the purpose of sexual intercourse, evidence of the good character of defendant may be taken into consideration by the jury upon the question of reasonable doubt as to the purpose for which the taking was done.[26]

8. Statements and Letters by Defendant. Expressions by the accused which tend to show his motive,[27] or letters written by him to the prosecutrix tending to explain the relations of the parties, are admissible in evidence in a prosecution for the taking of a female.[28] out tending to show that there had been no detention for the purpose mentioned in the statute.

On behalf of prosecution.— But it has been held that evidence of former illicit acts between prosecutrix and defendant is admissible on behalf of the prosecution as bearing upon the intent of the particular taking. People v. Carrier, 46 Mich. 442, 9 N. W. 487; People v. Wah Lee Mon, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 767.

23. Scruggs v. State, 90 Tenn. 81, 15 S. W. 1074, in which it was held that the defense that the female was unchaste at the time of the taking cannot be shown by evidence that a certain man had sexual intercourse with her, at her own solicitation, soon after the arrest of defendant, the court saying in effect that evidence of the habits of the girl after the alleged abduction, however lewd, could not in any appreciable degree disclose her previous character for virtue and indicate defendant's innocence of the crime charged, but, on the contrary, the natural tendency of defendant's conduct, if he is guilty as charged, is rather to lead the woman into a life of shame.

24. Hermann v. State, 73 Wis. 248, 41 N. W. 171, 9 Am. St. Rep. 789.

Not a case of pedigree.— Under an indictment for taking a female, under the age designated in the statute, for the purpose of sexual intercourse, where the father of the female is alive, it is incompetent to prove her age by an entry in the family bible as to her birth, as such evidence is hearsay and admissible only in matters of pedigree. This is not a case of pedigree. People v. Sheppard, 44 Hun (N. Y.) 565.

25. Hermann v. State, 73 Wis. 248, 41 N. W. 171, 9 Am. St. Rep. 789, in which case the court said that the age prescribed being twenty-one years, and there being evidence that the girl was only sixteen at the time of the offense, the jury was properly allowed to consider her personal appearance, though such evidence would have been more unreliable had the girl been nearer to the age of twenty-one.

26. People v. Stott, 4 N. Y. Crim. 306.

Character of examination.— In such a prosecution, upon the question of the reputation of defendant, the evidence in chief can only be that of a general character; and if the state wishes the foundation of such opinion, the witness may be asked for the particulars, but the party proffering the evidence can in no way support the opinion by showing the circumstances upon which it is founded. This principle was applied where the state attempted to rebut the testimony of the witness on behalf of defendant by asking the rebutting witness upon what his opinion was founded. People v. Gibson, 6 N. Y. Crim. 390, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 170.

27. Motives of lucre.— Expressions by accused respecting the woman's property, as that he had seen a will under which the lady would have a certain income, are admissible upon the question of motive in a prosecution for a taking for motives of lucre. Reg. v. Barratt, 9 C. & P. 387.

28. Purpose of prostitution or concubinage.— Thus letters written by defendant which tend to explain the feeling existing between defendant and prosecutrix are admissible in evidence in a prosecution for taking for the purpose of prostitution and concubinage. South v. State, 97 Tenn. 496, 37 S. W. 210.

Letters written after offense.— But letters written after the alleged commission of the offense, containing threats against the pros-

9. STATEMENTS BY CO-DEFENDANTS. Where several are jointly indicted for abducting a female for certain purposes prohibited by the statute, upon the theory that they were acting in concert, it is proper to show the statements and acts of some of the defendants in the presence of another in carrying forward the plans in furtherance of the scheme to accomplish the illegal purpose.[29]

10. STATEMENTS BY PROSECUTRIX. Where, under the statute, the offense consists in taking a female with a particular intent, it is the intention of the abductor, rather than any intention on the part of the female, which controls, and evidence of statements made by prosecutrix before the abduction, with reference to her intention to leave the custody of the person in whose charge she was living, is inadmissible for any purpose except that of impeaching her.[30]

11. COMPETENCY OF WIFE. It is only where there has been a valid marriage that the wife is excluded from giving evidence against her husband by the common law,[31] and in a prosecution for forcibly taking and marrying a female, testimony of the woman is admissible against defendant, if not upon the theory that her liberty and person are involved,[32] because she is only a wife de facto and not de jure.[33] In like manner the wife may testify for the husband on the trial of such a charge, though she cohabited with him from the time of the marriage.[34]

12. CORROBORATION OF FEMALE — a. In General. Where the statute requires the corroboration of the female no conviction can be had for abduction upon the unsupported testimony of the female abducted,[35] though it is otherwise where the statute does not require such corroboration.[36]

b. Sufficiency. Such corroborating testimony should tend to show every material fact necessary to the establishment of the commission of the crime,[37] but ecutrix, are not admissible in the prosecution for a taking with intent to compel marriage. State v. Maloney, 105 Mo. 10, 16 S. W. 519.

29. People v. Brown, 71 Hun (N. Y.) 601, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 1111.

30. State v. Ruhl, 8 Iowa 447. See also State v. Bobbst, 131 Mo. 328, 32 S. W. 1149.

To prove absence of enticement — Hearsay.— Under a statute providing against the enticing and taking away of any unmarried female of chaste life and conversation from her parents' house, for the purpose of prostitution or concubinage, if the female left her father's house of her own accord — that is to say, was not enticed away by the defendant — there can be no guilt; but that fact cannot be proved by evidence as to what the female had said upon the subject, as such evidence is merely hearsay. Bradshaw v. People, 153 Ill. 156, 38 N. E. 652.

Conversation between prosecutrix and another.— Under an indictment under N. Y. Pen. Code, § 282, subs. 1, the admission of evidence of a conversation between prosecutrix and another person who took her to the house of defendant (tending only to show how the prosecutrix happened to go to that house), nothing appearing in the conversation which tends to show defendant's guilt, is not erroneous. People v. Brandt, 14 N. Y. St. 419.

31. State v. Gordon, 46 N. J. L. 432.

Examination on voir dire.— Under a statute for the punishment of abduction and seduction, the female is a competent witness against a defendant charged with this crime, and where defendant objects to the witness upon the ground that she was defendant's wife and therefore incompetent to testify against him, the court may direct that she be examined on her voir dire as to the alleged marriage. State v. Gordon, 46 N. J. L. 432.

32. In Wakefield's Case, 2 Lewin 279, the court was strongly of opinion that the evidence was admissible upon this ground.

33. Brown's Case, Vent. 243; Wakefield's Case, 2 Lewin 279.

After marriage by consent.— Such evidence is said to be admissible although the actual marriage was by her consent after the forcible abduction; and so, where the marriage was against her will, but she subsequently assented, her testimony is admissible. 1 Russ. Crimes 939; 4 Bl. Comm. 209; 1 East P. C., c. 11, § 5, p. 454.

34. 1 Russ. Crimes 949 [citing Perry's Case, Bristol 1794].

35. State v. Keith, 47 Minn. 559, 50 N. W. 691; People v. Powell, 4 N. Y. Crim. 585; People v. Platt, 4 N. Y. Crim. 53; People v. Stott, 4 N. Y. Crim. 306.

36. State v. Stone, 106 Mo. 1, 16 S. W. 890.

37. People v. Platt, 4 N. Y. Crim. 53; People v. Powell, 4 N. Y. Crim. 585.

Instruction in terms of statute.— An instruction, in accordance with the terms of the statute, that there could be no conviction upon the testimony of the female "unsupported by other evidence," is not a correct embodiment of the law, because the jury might understand from it that it was enough if the principal witnesses were corroborated in one material matter only. State v. Keith, 47 Minn. 559, 561, 50 N. W. 691.

any facts or circumstances which legitimately tend to prove the existence of the material facts may be admitted in corroboration.[38]

C. Province of Court and Jury. On an indictment for abduction for the purpose of prostitution, the meaning of the term "prostitution" is a question of law for the court, and not for the jury,[39] but it is for the jury to determine, upon the evidence of the particular facts, whether defendant was guilty or innocent,[40] and from the facts adduced on the trial it is for the jury to say whether the taking was with the intent which, under the statute, is made to characterize the crime.[41]

38. People v. Stott, 4 N. Y. Crim. 306.

Sufficient corroboration — Generally.— Under the statute against the receiving, harboring, employing, etc., of a female for the purpose of prostitution, it is sufficient where the prosecutrix is corroborated: as to the taking, receiving, employing, etc., by defendant and another witness; as to her age, by her parents; as to the purpose of prostitution, by the testimony of a witness that the house was a house of this character; by defendant's testimony that the house had several rooms, and beds in all of them, occupied only by herself, prosecutrix, and another woman; that defendant allowed men and women to go up into the parlors, and that she did not know anything about them after leaving the parlors; that there was a bed in the basement; and that she did not know whether the prosecutrix had had connection with any one in the house or not. People v. Brandt, 14 N. Y. St. 419.

As to purpose — Attainment of end.— While the conclusion that the taking was for the purpose of sexual intercourse does not rest upon the single fact that such intercourse was permitted, where the intercourse was the culminating fact and the antecedent acts of defendant with which it could be connected plainly pointed to it, and where the facts of the taking and of the intercourse are corroborated by several witnesses, the purpose may be inferred from all the transactions taken together. People v. Powell, 4 N. Y. Crim. 585. See also supra, III, B, 3, b.

Testimony of examining physician.— Testimony as to the condition of the female (who was twelve years old), given by a physician who, eight months after the alleged offense, made a personal examination of her, and who testified that such condition might have resulted from sexual intercourse or another cause, should be received as bearing upon the purpose for which defendant took the girl to the place charged, although the act of intercourse was not an essential ingredient of the offense. State v. Keith, 47 Minn. 559, 50 N. W. 691.

Corroboration by defendant.— Under an indictment for taking a female of previous chaste character for the purpose of prostitution or sexual intercourse, defendant himself may corroborate the prosecutrix that he did actually have intercourse at the time charged. But the fact that the intercourse was accomplished is only one from which the jury may draw conclusions as to the purpose with which defendant took the female. People v. Brown, 71 Hun (N. Y.) 601, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 1111.

By confederate of defendant.— The female may be corroborated by defendant's confederate. People v. Powell, 4 N. Y. Crim. 585.

Insufficient corroboration.— Under a statute against the taking of a female for the purpose of prostitution, where the female goes of her own accord to a place of prostitution and signifies her intention of remaining there, without any inducement on the part of the keeper of the place, and these circumstances are given in evidence with the fact that a physical examination showed that, while sexual intercourse had been attempted, it had not been accomplished, the testimony of the female alone is not corroborated. People v. Plath, 100 N. Y. 590, 3 N. E. 790, 53 Am. Rep. 236.

Where the indictment charged an abduction, for the purpose of sexual intercourse and prostitution, committed in 1886, the testimony of a physician as to a physical examination of the female, made by him in 1890, upon which examination he found a broken hymen, is not admissible. People v. Betsinger, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 136.

39. Carpenter v. People, 8 Barb. (N. Y.) 603.

40. People v. Brown, 71 Hun (N. Y.) 601, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 1111.

It is for the jury to determine whether, under the particular facts proved, defendant knew, or could by the exercise of ordinary judgment have known, that the female was in such a condition as rendered her incapable of consenting to the acts of the accused, which, it is alleged, amounted to a detention under the statute. Beaven v. Com., (Ky. 1895) 30 S. W. 968.

41. Huff v. Com., (Ky. 1896) 37 S. W. 1046; Brown v. State, 72 Md. 468, 20 Atl. 186; People v. Brown, 71 Hun (N. Y.) 601, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 1111; People v. Platt, 4 N. Y. Crim. 53, 100 N. Y. 590, 3 N. E. 790, 53 Am. Rep. 236.

Where evidence is introduced to show that the prosecutrix asserted that she was over eighteen years of age, and that defendant permitted the girl to remain over night for the purpose of securing her a home, and actually did on the next day make an effort to procure such home, and that the girl had no improper relations with any one during the time she remained in the house, in order to rebut the presumption arising from the character of the house, whether or not the effort to secure a home for the prosecutrix

D. Verdict. Where a defendant is charged with offenses embraced in several sections of the statute, arising out of the same transaction, to meet the different phases of the evidence, a verdict of guilty on one count is equivalent to an acquittal on the others, and the fact that the other counts are left undisposed of is not such an irregularity as to require a reversal.[42] But where different persons are involved in the offenses charged in different counts which charge separate offenses, a verdict of guilty cannot be sustained where the record fails to show upon what count the jury found.[43]

ABEARANCE. Carriage or behavior.[1]

ABEREMURDER or ABEREMURDRUM. Plain or downright murder as distinguished from the less heinous crimes of manslaughter or chance-medley.[2]

ABET. To aid, encourage, or promote the commission of an offense.[3]

ABETMENT. An encouraging or instigation.[4]

ABETTARE. See ABBETTARE.

ABETTATOR. See ABBETTATOR.

ABETTOR. See CRIMINAL LAW; INDICTMENTS AND INFORMATIONS.

ABEYANCE or ABBAYANCE. Expectation, remembrance, and contemplation was made in good faith or for the purpose of concealing the real motives of defendant in permitting the girl to remain in her house, are questions for the jury. Brown v. State, 72 Md. 468, 20 Atl. 186.

In a prosecution under the statute for taking a female of previous chaste character, for the purpose of prostitution or sexual intercourse, against defendant, who was guilty of the sexual act, jointly with others who participated in the alleged taking for the purpose of aiding in the consummation of the act, a charge that if the first defendant had inveigled or enticed the girl for the purpose of prostitution or sexual intercourse the offense was made out as to him, is sufficiently favorable to defendant, and it is proper to refuse to charge that the jury would not have the right to find from the evidence that defendant personally and alone induced the girl or enticed and inveigled the girl for the purpose of prostitution or sexual intercourse, as it is for the jury to determine the question of fact involved in this request. People v. Brown, 71 Hun (N. Y.) 601, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 1111.

42. People v. Seeley, 37 Hun (N. Y.) 190. Contra, People v. Parshall, 6 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 129.

43. In Iowa it was held that the inveigling or enticing of a female, before reputed virtuous, to a house of ill fame, constitutes a complete offense under the statute; and to knowingly conceal, or assist or abet in concealing, such female so deluded or enticed, for the purpose of prostitution or lewdness, constitutes another offense; that the two offenses could be committed by the same person in connection with the same female, or by different persons with concert of action; and that where an indictment charged the commission of these offenses by the same person in one count, their commission by different persons in another count, and by the same and different persons together in another count, and by the same and different persons together in other counts, a general verdict of "guilty as charged in the indictment" could not be sustained where the record failed to show upon what count or counts the jury found. State v. Terrill, 76 Iowa, 149, 40 N. W. 128. But see otherwise, under 4 & 5 Ph. & M., State v. Tidwell, 5 Strobh. (S. C.) 1.

1. Wharton L. Lex.

Recognizance for good abearance signifies a recognizance for good behavior. 4 Bl. Comm. 256.

2. Jacob L. Dict.

Was declared a capital offense, without fine or commutation, by laws of Canute, c. 93, and Hen. I, c. 13. Jacob L. Dict.

3. Anderson L. Dict.

What acts necessary.— It has been said that no particular acts are necessary to constitute an abetting. Raiford v. State, 59 Ala. 106. But in State v. Teahan, 50 Conn. 92, where it was held that a purchaser of intoxicating liquor is not an abettor of the offense of illegally selling intoxicating liquors within the meaning of the statute providing for the prosecution, as principals, of persons aiding, abetting, etc., the court, per Carpenter, J., said: "The 'abetting' intended by it [the statute] is a positive act in aid of the commission of the offense — a force, physical or moral, joined with that of the perpetrator in producing it."

Used with "aid."— The word "abet" is generally used with the word "aid," as in the phrase "to aid and abet." Burrill L. Dict.

Synonymous with "aid."— The words "aid" and "abet," in legal phrase, are pretty nearly synonyms of each other. They comprehend all assistance rendered by acts, words of encouragement or support, or by presence, actual or constructive, to render assistance should it become necessary. Raiford v. State, 59 Ala. 106.

4. Burrill L. Dict.

in law.[5] The expression is used of a fee simple;[6] of a freehold;[7] of a capture until it has been passed upon by a prize court;[8] of the franchise of a corporation;[9] of a grant of land to charity;[10] of parsonage lands;[11] and of all property rights of a bankrupt until final adjudication.[12]

ABIDE. To await;[13] also to perform, to execute, to conform to.[14] (Agreements or Bonds to Abide Award, Decision, Judgment, or Order, see ARBITRATION AND AWARD; BAIL; RECOGNIZANCES. Costs or Deposits in Court to Abide Event, see COSTS; DEPOSITS IN COURT. Stay of Proceeding or Stipulations to Abide Event of Action, see ACTIONS; STIPULATIONS.)

ABIDING. Settled and fixed.[15]

5. 2 Bl. Comm. 107; Coke Litt. § 646.

Equivalent expressions are: In gremio legis,— in the breast of the law (Carter v. Barnadiston, 1 P. Wms. 505, 516). In nubibus,— in the clouds (Carter v. Barnadiston, 1 P. Wms. 505, 517; Coke Litt. § 646; 4 Kent Comm. 258). In pendenti,— in suspension (Bracton fol. 19*a* [cited in Colthirst v. Bejushin, Plowd. 21, 29]).

6. 2 Bl. Comm. 107; Coke Litt. §§ 646, 650.

7. Coke Litt. § 647; Colthirst v. Bejushin, Plowd. 21.

8. 1 Kent Comm. 102.

9. Dartmouth College v. Woodward, 4 Wheat. (U. S.) 518, 691, 4 L. ed. 629, wherein Story, J., said: "When . . . the corporation is to be brought into existence by some future acts of the corporators, the franchise remains in abeyance until such acts are done."

10. Pawlet v. Clark, 9 Cranch (U. S.) 292, 332, 3 L. ed. 735.

11. Weston v. Hunt, 2 Mass. 500; Terrett v. Taylor, 9 Cranch (U. S.) 43, 3 L. ed. 650; 1 Washburn Real Prop. 48.

12. International Bank v. Sherman, 101 U. S. 403, 406, 25 L. ed. 866.

13. To "abide by" an award means simply "to await" the award without revoking the submission. It can never be construed to mean that the party should not be at liberty to dispute the validity of any award that might be made. Shaw v. Hatch, 6 N. H. 162, 163; Marshall v. Reed, 48 N. H. 36.

But in Wilson v. State, 7 Tex. App. 38, it was held that a recognizance conditioned that defendant should "await the action of the court of appeals" did not substantially conform to the requirements of a statute providing that defendant should give recognizance "to abide the judgment of the court of appeals."

14. To "abide" a judgment or order is to perform, to execute, to conform to such judgment or order. Jackson v. State, 30 Kan. 88, 1 Pac. 317; Erickson v. Elder, 34 Minn. 370, 25 N. W. 804; Hodge v. Hodgdon, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 294.

To pay or satisfy.— It has been held that a bond given in bastardy proceedings, conditioned that the accused should appear and abide the order of court, obliged defendant to pay such money as the court should order for the maintenance of the child. Jackson v. State, 30 Kan. 88, 1 Pac. 317; Corson v. Tuttle, 19 Me. 409; Taylor v. Hughes, 3 Me. 433; Hodge v. Hodgdon, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 294. And in Molton v. Hooks, 10 N. C. 342, Taylor, C. J., in construing the condition of a bond given upon obtaining a certiorari, said: "One of the senses in which the word 'abide' is used is 'to bear or support the consequences of a thing;' and had it been used without the adverb 'by' it might be construed that he would bear the consequences of the judgment rendered in the superior court. Succeeded by the adverb it gives it something of an active signification and imports not merely that he would suffer or bear the consequences of the judgment, but that he would likewise defend and support and maintain it; all partaking of the primary sense of the word, 'a firm and steady continuance.' A person who shall promise to abide by a judgment would break his promise by refusing to pay it." But in McGarry v. State, 37 Kan. 9, 14 Pac. 491, it was held that the word cannot mean more than a willingness and readiness to have the judgment of the court enforced against defendant; that is, that when final judgment is rendered defendant will surrender himself to the court to give bond to perform such judgment or to be committed to prison. In this case the court said in effect that in Jackson v. State, 30 Kan. 88, 1 Pac. 317, and Hodge v. Hodgdon, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 294, there was unquestionably a breach of recognizance. Defendant did not wait in court until judgment was rendered and then surrender himself into the custody of the court to endure or suffer the consequences of such judgment. In each case defendant was absent when his presence was required. It is true that in both cases language is used which would go to the extent of saying that the recognizance or bond is not satisfied unless the judgment is paid, but this is at most only dicta, and the dictum in the case of Hodge v. Hodgdon, 8 Cush. (Mass.) 294, was overruled by the supreme court of Massachusetts in the subsequent case of Towns v. Hale, 2 Gray (Mass.) 199. See also Griswold's Petition, 13 R. I. 125, 126, to the effect that a bond conditioned to "abide and perform" differs from a bond conditioned to "abide."

15. Hopt v. Utah, 120 U. S. 430, 439, 7 S. Ct. 614, 30 L. ed. 708.

Abiding conviction.— In Hopt v. Utah, 120 U. S. 430, 439, 7 S. Ct. 614, 30 L. ed. 708, Field, J., in discussing the instruction, "but if, after such impartial comparison and consideration of all the evidence, you can truthfully say that you have an abiding conviction of the defendant's guilt such as you would be ABILITY. In its broadest sense "ability" means the state or condition of being able, power or capacity to do an act in any relation, or competence in any occupation or field of action, from the possession of capacity, skill, means, or other qualification;[16] but as used in statutes relating to abandonment of wife,[17] or divorce,[18] and in Lord Tenterden's Act,[19] it has come to mean rather "pecuniary ability."

ABINDE. From thence; thenceforth.[20]

ABISHERING or ABISHERSING. Quit of amercements.[21]

ABJUDICARE. To deprive of a thing by the judgment of a court.[22]

ABJUDICATIO. The depriving of a thing by the judgment of a court; a putting out of court.[23]

ABJURARE. To ABJURE,[24] q. v.

ABJURATION. A forswearing or renouncing by oath.[25]

ABJURE. To renounce or abandon by or upon oath.[26]

ABLE. Fit; proper.[27]

ABLE-BODIED. The term does not imply an absolute freedom from all physical ailments, but imports an absence of those palpable and physical defects which evidently incapacitate a person for performing the ordinary duties of a soldier.[28] willing to act upon in the more weighty and important matters relating to your own affairs, you have no reasonable doubt," said: "The word 'abiding,' here, has the signification of 'settled and fixed,' a conviction which may follow a careful examination and comparison of the whole evidence."

The expression "an abiding conviction" implies such a degree of certainty as would justify a verdict of guilty in a criminal case. Griffith v. State, 90 Ala. 583, 588, 8 So. 812. Such certainty is not required in a civil case. Battles v. Tallman, 96 Ala. 403, 11 So. 247.

16. Century Dict.

17. State v. Witham, 70 Wis. 473, 35 N. W. 934, where the court, in construing Wis. Laws (1885), c. 422, relating to the abandonment of a wife, held that the words "being of sufficient ability" refer as well to the husband's capacity or skill to earn or acquire money as to property actually owned by him.

18. Washburn v. Washburn, 9 Cal. 475, where the court held that the "ability" mentioned in the statute relating to divorce had reference to the possession by the husband of the means in property to provide necessaries, not to his capacity of acquiring such means by labor.

19. The word "ability" in Lord Tenterden's Act, 9 Geo. IV, c. 14, relating to actions brought to charge a person by reason of a representation made as to the ability of another, means pecuniary ability. Lyde v. Barnard, 1 M. & W. 101.

20. Adams Gloss.; Bridges v. Bedingfield, 2 Mod. 27.

21. Wharton L. Lex.

It originally meant a forfeiture or amercement and is more properly "mishering," "mishersing," or "miskering" according to Spelman. Jacob L. Dict.

It has been termed a liberty or freedom because wherever this word is used in a grant or charter the persons to whom made have their forfeitures and amercements of all others and are themselves free from the control of any within their fee. Jacob L. Dict. [citing Termes de la Ley 7].

22. Burrill L. Dict.

23. Adams Gloss.

24. Burrill L. Dict.

25. Jacob L. Dict.

Abjuration of allegiance.— A declaration under oath, before a competent authority, that the party making the oath renounces and abjures all the allegiance and fidelity which he owes to a particular sovereign. This is a formality required of all aliens by the laws of the United States previous to their being naturalized. Burrill L. Dict.

See, generally, ALIENS.

Abjuration of the realm.— The taking an oath to depart from the kingdom and never to return unless by permission. This was a species of sworn or self banishment, formerly allowed to offenders who confessed their crimes after fleeing to a sanctuary, as a means of saving their lives. Burrill L. Dict. This privilege was abolished by 21 Jac. I, c. 28. Jacob L. Dict.; Mead v. Hughes, 15 Ala. 141, 50 Am. Dec. 123.

26. Burrill L. Dict.

Implying total abandonment of state.— In Arthur v. Broadnax, 3 Ala. 557, 37 Am. Dec. 707, the supreme court of Alabama affirmed that, if the husband has abjured the state and remains abroad, the wife, meanwhile trading as a feme sole, could recover on a note which was given to her as such. In Mead v. Hughes, 15 Ala. 141, 50 Am. Dec. 123, the court, referring to that case, said: "We must consider the term 'abjure,' as there used, as implying a total abandonment of the state: a departure from the state without the intention of returning; and not a renunciation of one's country, upon an oath of perpetual banishment [see supra, note 25], as the term originally implied."

27. Burrill L. Dict., giving as an example, from Y. B. 11 Hen. VI, 13, the expression ables e'e vend'.— fit to be sold.

28. Darling v. Bowen, 10 Vt. 148.

ABLEGATI. Papal ambassadors of the second rank, who are sent to a country where there is not a nuncio, with a less extensive commission than that of a nuncio.[29]

ABODE. One's fixed place of residence for the time being.[30]

ABOLERE. In old English law, "to obliterate."[31]

ABOLITION. A destroying or effacing. It also means leave given to a criminal accuser to desist from further prosecution.[32]

ABONDANCE. Surplusage.[33]

ABORDAGE. Collision between vessels.[34]

Ability to perform labor not criterion.— In Marlborough v. Sisson, 26 Conn. 57, it became an important question to determine whether a certain person residing in the state of Vermont was for one whole year a healthy and able-bodied person within the meaning of a statute of that state, then in force, which provided that every such person residing within the state . . . should be deemed and adjudged to be legally settled, etc.; and it was held that, in determining whether one was healthy and able-bodied within the intent of the statute, the test is not his ability or inability during the time to perform ordinary labor and thereby to support himself and family, but that a person is to be deemed not to have been able-bodied and healthy who during the year received an injury which afterward resulted in permanent disability, although not incapacitating him during the year for ordinary labor.

29. Wharton L. Lex.

30. Vanderpœl v. O'Hanlon, 53 Iowa 246, 5 N. W. 119, 36 Am. Rep. 216.

Personal residence essential.— How a place could be made a place of abode without personal residence it is difficult to imagine. Per Kennedy, J., in Pfoutz v. Steel, 2 Watts (Pa.) 409.

Reg. v. Hammond, 17 Q. B. 772, holding that a place of business is not one's abode unless one resides there.

31. Burrill L. Dict.

32. Jacob L. Dict.

Corresponds to entry of nolle prosequi.— In the latter sense of the word it corresponds to the entry of a nolle prosequi. Burrill L. Dict.

33. Burrill L. Dict.

34. Rapalje & L. L. Dict.

ABORTION

Edited by William H. Hamilton

CROSS-REFERENCES

For Civil Responsibility for Malpractice, see PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.
Conspiracy to Produce an Abortion, see CONSPIRACY.
Death Resulting from Abortion or Attempt to Commit Abortion, see HOMICIDE.
General Matters Relating to Criminal Law and Criminal Procedure, see CRIMINAL LAW.

I. DEFINITION.

Abortion is defined to be the delivery or expulsion of the human fœtus prematurely, or before it is yet capable of sustaining life.[1]

II. NATURE AND ELEMENTS OF THE OFFENSE.

A. Defendant's Intent. The defendant's intent to cause or produce an abortion controls and constitutes an essential element of the offense.[2] An intent to produce a miscarriage may exist without absolute knowledge of pregnancy.[3]

B. Means Employed — 1. IN GENERAL. Intent constituting the gravamen of the offense, the means employed to cause or produce the abortion is immaterial; the means adopted may be unusual, provided the intent to produce an abortion exists.[4]

1. Abbott L. Dict.; Abrams v. Foshee, 3 Iowa 274, 66 Am. Dec. 77; Butler v. Wood, 10 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 222; Belt v. Spaulding, 17 Oreg. 130, 20 Pac. 827; Mills v. Com., 13 Pa. St. 631.

Abortion as a crime, it has been said, is to be found only in modern treatises and in modern statutes, no trace of it being found in the "ancient common-law writers." State v. Cooper, 22 N. J. L. 52, 51 Am. Dec. 248.

Miscarriage distinguished.—The word "miscarriage" is often used as synonymous with and equivalent to "abortion" (Abbott L. Dict.; Century Dict.; Mills v. Com., 13 Pa. St. 631), and has been applied to the expulsion of the fœtus at any time during the period of gestation (State v. Howard, 32 Vt. 380). But when used with reference to pregnancy, "miscarriage" signifies, in the strict medical sense, an expulsion of the fœtus from the womb within the first six weeks after conception. Abbott L. Dict.

"Miscarriage," as used in an indictment for procuring a miscarriage, does not necessarily include the idea of destroying the life of the fœtus before delivery, nor exclude a case where the functions of life are exercised, briefly, after birth. Abbott L. Dict.; Smith v. State, 33 Me. 48, 54 Am. Dec. 607.

2. California.— People v. Josselyn, 39 Cal. 393.

Colorado.— Dougherty v. People, 1 Colo. 514.

Iowa.— State v. Fitzgerald, 49 Iowa 260, 31 Am. Rep. 148; State v. Hollenbeck, 36 Iowa 112.

Massachusetts.—Com. v. Morrison, 16 Gray (Mass.) 224.

Minnesota.— State v. Owens, 22 Minn. 238.

New Jersey.— State v. Gedicke, 43 N. J. L. 86; State v. Drake, 30 N. J. L. 422; State v. Murphy, 27 N. J. L. 112.

New York.— People v. Lohman, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 216.

Ohio.— Wilson v. State, 2 Ohio St. 319.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. W——, 3 Pittsb. (Pa.) 462.

England.— Rex v. Coe, 6 C. & P. 403; Reg. v. Titley, 14 Cox C. C. 502; Reg. v. Hillman, L. & C. 343; Reg. v. Isaacs, L. & C. 220.

Hence one who assaults and beats a pregnant woman and thereby causes her miscarriage is not guilty of producing an abortion, since there was no intent so to do. Slattery v. People, 76 Ill. 217.

The woman's intent not to take the drug furnished is not material. Reg. v. Hillman, 9 Cox C. C. 386.

3. Powe v. State, 48 N. J. L. 34, 2 Atl. 662.

4. Com. v. W——, 3 Pittsb. (Pa.) 462, wherein it is held that one who, having control over a pregnant woman, induces her to indulge in violent and excessive exercise with intent thereby to produce a miscarriage, is guilty of abortion.

2. Drugs and Noxious Substances — a. In General. Unlawfully administering or prescribing a drug, medicine, or other noxious thing to or for a woman, with intent to procure her miscarriage, constitutes, by some statutes, an offense.[5]

b. Nature of Substance. The drug or substance administered need not be poisonous in the general acceptation of the term.[6] If the quantity of the substance prescribed is capable of producing a miscarriage, it is a noxious thing within the meaning of the statute.[7] However, under statutes prohibiting the administration of "any drug, medicine, or substance," with intent thereby to cause a miscarriage, it has been held that the substance need not even be actually capable of producing a miscarriage,[8] provided the party administering it believed it would produce a miscarriage.[9]

c. What Constitutes an Administering. The act of administering a drug consists not simply in furnishing or prescribing it, but also in directing and causing it to be taken;[10] but neither a delivery of the drug by the hand of the one alleged to have administered it,[11] nor a taking of the medicine in the presence of defendant, seems to be necessary.[12]

3. Having Means in Possession with Intent to Furnish. One giving a pregnant woman an instrument designed and intended for a lawful purpose, and instructing her how to use it for the purpose of producing an abortion, is not guilty of a violation of a statute providing that any person who has in his possession, with intent to sell, loan, or give away, any medicine, article, or thing designed or intended for procuring an abortion, shall on conviction be punished.[13]

C. Pregnancy. Though quickening may not be,[14] pregnancy of the woman is, as a rule, a necessary ingredient of the offense,[15] and especially when this is the obvious intent of the statute.[16]

5. Eggart v. State, 40 Fla. 527, 25 So. 144, and cases cited infra, II, B, 2, b, c.

6. Dougherty v. People, 1 Colo. 514, holding it to be sufficient if it be shown that the substance be of such a character as would disturb the economy of the female organism. This prosecution was under a statute prohibiting the administration of "any noxious or destructive substance" with intent to produce abortion.

Noxious character of drug.— Evidence that a pregnant woman went to defendant, who informed her that he would give her something "to put her right;" that he thereafter gave her a drug which she took, and which made her sick; and that a miscarriage followed,— is sufficient to support a finding that the substance administered was noxious. Reg. v. Hollis, 12 Cox C. C. 463.

7. Reg. v. Cramp, 5 Q. B. D. 307.

8. Iowa.— State v. Fitzgerald, 49 Iowa 260, 31 Am. Rep. 148.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Morrison, 16 Gray (Mass.) 224.

Minnesota.— State v. Owens, 22 Minn. 238.

New Jersey.— State v. Gedicke, 43 N. J. L. 86.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. W——, 3 Pittsb. (Pa.) 462.

South Carolina.— State v. Morrow, 40 S. C. 221, 18 S. E. 853.

England.—Rex v. Coe, 6 C. & P. 403.

But compare Willingham v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 98, 25 S. W. 424; Williams v. State, (Tex. App. 1892) 19 S. W. 897. In these cases it was held that under the Texas statute the substance used must be calculated to produce a miscarriage either by reason of its dangerous character or on account of the quantity administered.

9. Rex v. Phillips, 3 Campb. 73, holding that without such belief there could be no intent to produce a miscarriage, without which intent the offense would not be complete.

10. Robbins v. State, 8 Ohio St. 131.

Voluntary taking, by a woman, of a drug furnished by another, is a fact tending to show that the drug was administered by such other. State v. Hyer, 39 N. J. L. 598.

11. Rex v. Harley, 4 C. & P. 369.

Thus the sending of a drug through the mail to a pregnant woman for the purpose of producing a miscarriage was held to constitute an administering. State v. Moothart, 109 Iowa 130, 80 N. W. 301.

12. State v. Moothart, 109 Iowa 130, 80 N. W. 301; Jones v. State, 70 Md. 326, 17 Atl. 89, 14 Am. St. Rep. 362, wherein it was held that one who furnished to a pregnant woman medicine calculated to produce an abortion, and by letter directed her to take the same, was guilty of using means for the production of abortion; Reg. v. Wilson, Dears. & B. 127; Reg. v. Farrow, Dears. & B. 164.

But a taking, in the absence of defendant, of a drug contrary to his expressed wishes, has been held not to constitute an administering. Reg. v. Fretwell, L. & C. 161.

13. State v. Forsythe, 78 Iowa 595, 43 N. W. 548.

14. See infra, II, D.

15. State v. Fitzgerald, 49 Iowa 260, 31 Am. Rep. 148; Smith v. State, 33 Me. 48, 54 Am. Dec. 607; Com. v. Tibbetts, 157 Mass. 519, 32 N. E. 910; Wilson v. State, 2 Ohio St. 319.

16. Com. v. Grover, 16 Gray (Mass.) 602,

D. Quickening. At common law it is a criminal offense to cause or procure an abortion upon a woman who has become quick with child,[17] but as to whether a common-law offense is committed by causing or procuring, with the consent of the woman, an abortion before such a quickening, there is a conflict of authority.[18] under a statute containing the words "any woman pregnant with child."

And under 43 Geo. III, c. 5, § 2, providing that if any person, with intent to procure the miscarriage of any woman not being or not proven to be quick with child, unlawfully and maliciously administer, etc., to her, with intent to procure a miscarriage, he shall be punished, it was held that pregnancy of the woman was necessary. This was based on the theory that the statute was passed to eliminate the distinction theretofore prevailing in the common law, to the effect that a miscarriage produced before quickening was not criminal, and on the theory that the statute presumed that pregnancy in some stage existed. Rex v. Scudder, 3 C. & P. 605.

Under some statutes, however, pregnancy of the woman has been held not to be necessary. Com. v. Taylor, 132 Mass. 261, under a statute providing that whoever, with intent to procure the miscarriage of a woman, unlawfully administers to her or causes to be taken by her any poisonous drug or other noxious thing, or unlawfully uses any instruments or other means with like intent, shall be punished. Reg. v. Goodall, 2 Cox C. C. 41, 1 Den. C. C. 187; Reg. v. Goodchild, 2 C. & K. 293; Reg. v. Titley, 14 Cox C. C. 502.

Pregnancy may exist, within the meaning of a statute punishing abortion where the woman is pregnant, even though the fœtus be dead. State v. Howard, 32 Vt. 380. Contra, it seems, Com. v. Wood, 11 Gray (Mass.) 85.

Pregnancy ceases on the eviction of the fœtus from the womb, though the umbilical cord be not yet severed; hence acts done thereafter cannot be done to a "pregnant" woman with intent to produce a miscarriage. Com. v. Brown, 14 Gray (Mass.) 419; Reg. v. Trilloe, C. & M. 650.

But the whole body of the fœtus must be expelled, and the fact that the child has respired does not prove conclusively that the birth was completed. Rex v. Poulton, 5 C. & P. 329; Rex v. Sellis, 7 C. & P. 850.

17. 1 Bl. Comm. 129; 1 Russ. Crimes 671; State v. Hyer, 39 N. J. L. 598; State v. Cooper, 22 N. J. L. 52, 51 Am. Dec. 248; Evans v. People, 49 N. Y. 86.

"Quick with child" and "with quick child" are synonymous terms. State v. Cooper, 22 N. J. L. 52, 51 Am. Dec. 248 [citing Baynton's Case, 14 How. St. Tr. 598, 634; 1 Hale P. C. 368; 4 Bl. Comm. 395]. Contra, Reg. v. Wycherley, 8 C. & P. 262. The words "big" and "great" are tantamount to the word "quick." State v. Cooper, 22 N. J. L. 52, 51 Am. Dec. 248 [citing 1 Hale P. C. 433; 1 Hawk. bk. 1, c. 31, § 16].

In Evans v. People, 49 N. Y. 86, 90, Allen, J., says: "'Quick' is synonymous with 'living,' and both are the opposite of 'dead.' The woman is not pregnant with a living child until the child has become quick. If the child is a living child from the instant of conception, then all the authorities, medical and legal, are sadly at fault in their attempts to distinguish between mere 'pregnancy' and 'pregnancy with a quick child,' and legislators have been laboring under the same hallucination in legislating upon the subject, for all the acts passed in reference to abortion in this country and in England recognize the fact that the child does 'quicken,' that is, becomes endowed with life, at a certain period, longer or shorter, after conception, and that there is a period during gestation when, although there may be embryo life in the fœtus, there is no living child." And to the same effect see Smith v. State, 33 Me. 48, 54 Am. Dec. 607; Com. v. Parker, 9 Metc. (Mass.) 263, 43 Am. Dec. 396; Rex v. Phillips, 3 Campb. 73.

18. To the effect that such an abortion constitutes no criminal offense are the following authorities:

Iowa.— Hatfield v. Gano, 15 Iowa 177; Abrams v. Foshee, 3 Iowa 274, 66 Am. Dec. 77.

Maine.— Smith v. State, 33 Me. 48, 54 Am. Dec. 607.

Maryland.— Lamb v. State, 67 Md. 524, 10 Atl. 208, 298.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Bangs, 9 Mass. 387; Com. v. Wood, 11 Gray (Mass.) 85; Com. v. Parker, 9 Metc. (Mass.) 263, 43 Am. Dec. 396.

Michigan.— People v. McDowell, 63 Mich. 229, 30 N. W. 68.

New Jersey.— State v. Murphy, 27 N. J. L. 112; State v. Cooper, 22 N. J. L. 52, 51 Am. Dec. 248.

New York.— Evans v. People, 49 N. Y. 86.

But, contra, see the following cases:

Arkansas.— State v. Reed, 45 Ark. 333.

North Carolina.— State v. Slagle, 83 N. C. 630.

Pennsylvania.— Mills v. Com., 13 Pa. St. 631; Com. v. Reid, 8 Phila. (Pa.) 385; Com. v. Demain, 6 Pa. L. J. 29, 3 Clark (Pa.) 487.

In Com. v. Parker, 9 Metc. (Mass.) 263, 43 Am. Dec. 396, Shaw, C. J., following Com. v. Bangs, 9 Mass. 387, said: "The court are of the opinion that at common law no indictment will lie for attempts to procure abortion with the consent of the mother until she is quick with child." And in People v. McDowell, 63 Mich. 229, 30 N. W. 68, where defendant was charged by information with manslaughter, setting forth the means employed as an attempted abortion, an instruction was considered proper which charged the jury that in order to warrant a verdict of guilty they must find "that said pregnancy

However, by statutory provisions the necessity of a quickening has generally been done away with so far as making it one of the essential ingredients of the offense.[19]

E. Woman's Consent. Consent of the woman does not affect the criminality of the offense.[20]

F. Woman's Death. The death of the mother is not necessary to the commission of the crime of abortion.[21]

G. Woman's Miscarriage. At common law, as well as under some statutes, an actual abortion must follow the administration of the noxious substance or the use of the instruments, in order to complete the offense;[22] but under statutes prohibiting the administration of any drug or the use of any instrument to "any woman" [or "any pregnant woman"] with intent thereby to produce her miscarriage, a resulting miscarriage is not, as has been pointed out, essential to the commission of the offense.[23]

III. Advising to Commit Abortion.

A. In General. Advising a woman to take a drug with intent to procure a miscarriage may, under the provisions of some statutes, constitute a criminal offense.[24]

B. Actual Taking of Drug. It is not necessary, it seems, to the consummation of this offense that the woman should actually take the drug.[25]

IV. Attempts to Commit Abortion.

A. In General. An attempt to commit the crime of abortion may constitute a punishable offense under some statutes.[26] Merely soliciting a pregnant woman had so far advanced as to have developed into a live, unborn child, liable to be killed by violence; in other words, had become a quick child."

But in Mills v. Com., 13 Pa. St. 631, Coulter, J., criticising the rule requiring a quickening as an essential ingredient of the offense, says: "Although it has been so held in Massachusetts and some other states, it is not, I apprehend, the law in Pennsylvania, and never ought to have been the law anywhere." And to the same effect is the dissenting opinion of Alvey, C. J., in Lamb v. State, 67 Md. 524, 10 Atl. 208, 298.

19. State v. Fitzgerald, 49 Iowa 260, 31 Am. Rep. 148; Smith v. State, 33 Me. 48, 54 Am. Dec. 607; Com. v. Jackson, 15 Gray (Mass.) 187; Com. v. Wood, 11 Gray (Mass.) 85; Wilson v. State, 2 Ohio St. 319.

A more severe punishment is often prescribed by statute for the commission of the offense after a quickening. State v. Cooper, 22 N. J. L. 52, 51 Am. Dec. 248.

20. State v. Moore, 25 Iowa 128, 95 Am. Dec. 776; Com. v. Snow, 116 Mass. 47; Com. v. Wood, 11 Gray (Mass.) 85. See also infra, IX, C.

At common law, however, the woman's consent to an operation before she is quick with child was material. Without her consent the offense would be an assault. Com. v. Parker, 9 Metc. (Mass.) 263, 43 Am. Dec. 396.

With her consent, it seems, there would be no offense at all. Evans v. People, 49 N. Y. 86, and supra, II, D.

21. Com. v. Adams, 127 Mass. 15, which was a prosecution under a statute making the production of an abortion punishable more severely in case the death of the mother ensues than when it does not. Compare, however, State v. Springer, 3 Ohio N. P. 120, a case decided under a special statute providing for punishment in case of the death of the mother.

22. Com. v. Bangs, 9 Mass. 387; State v. Springer, 3 Ohio N. P. 120. The latter case was a prosecution under a statute providing that the administration of drugs or the use of instruments, with intent to produce a miscarriage, shall be punishable in case the death of the mother ensues or an abortion is produced.

23. State v. Moothart, 109 Iowa 130, 80 N. W. 301; State v. Morrow, 40 S. C. 221, 18 S. E. 853. Compare, however, Willingham v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 98, 25 S. W. 424, as to the necessity of an actual abortion in a prosecution under the Texas statute.

24. State v. Murphy, 27 N. J. L. 112, under a statute providing that any person who, with intent thereby to procure the miscarriage of a woman, advises her to take any drug or substance, is guilty of an abortion.

25. Eggart v. State, 40 Fla. 527, 25 So. 144. Contra, People v. Phelps, 133 N. Y. 267, 30 N. E. 1012, 61 Hun (N. Y.) 115, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 440, 10 N. Y. Crim. 185.

26. Dougherty v. People, 1 Colo. 514; State v. Moothart, 109 Iowa 130, 80 N. W. 301; Willingham v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 98, 25 S. W. 424; Williams v. State, (Tex. App. 1892) 19 S. W. 897.

to take a drug for the purpose of producing an abortion does not, however, constitute an attempt to commit abortion.[27]

B. Failure of the Attempt. Failure of the attempt has no bearing, in such cases, upon the guilt of the defendant;[28] as the actual production of a miscarriage is unnecessary to the consummation of the offense.[29]

C. Nature of Means Used. Some statutes provide that, to constitute such an attempt a punishable offense, the means used must be such as are calculated to produce a miscarriage.[30]

D. Quickening. At common law an unsuccessful attempt, with the mother's consent, to effect the destruction of an infant quick in its mother's womb, was deemed to be a misdemeanor;[31] but an attempt by the woman to produce her own miscarriage has been held not to constitute an offense unless she was at the time quick with child.[32]

E. Using Means or Taking Drug. It does not even seem to be necessary in such case that the intended means be used or the drug be taken by the woman.[33]

V. Parties to the Offense.

A. As Principals — 1. Married Woman. A married woman is guilty as a principal in the commission of the offense when, in the presence of her husband and acting without coercion by him, she administers a drug or uses an instrument for the purpose of producing a miscarriage of another woman.[34]

2. Person Furnishing Drug. One who prescribes and furnishes the drug to the woman with intent to cause an abortion is principal either in the commission of the abortion[35] or in the attempt to commit it.[36]

3. Woman on Whom Abortion Is Produced. The woman on whom the abortion is produced is not a principal.[37] In some states, however, by statute, the woman is made punishable; but her offense is separable from that of the person administering the drug or performing the operation.[38]

27. Lamb v. State, 67 Md. 524, 10 Atl. 208, 298.

28. Maine.— Smith v. State, 33 Me. 48, 54 Am. Dec. 607.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Bangs, 9 Mass. 387.

Minnesota.— State v. Owens, 22 Minn. 238.

New Jersey.— State v. Murphy, 27 N. J. L. 112; State v. Cooper, 22 N. J. L. 52, 51 Am. Dec. 248.

Texas.— Willingham v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 98, 25 S. W. 424; Williams v. State, (Tex. App. 1892) 19 S. W. 897.

England.— 3 Coke Inst. 50; Russ. Crimes 671.

29. Dougherty v. People, 1 Colo. 514; State v. Moothart, 109 Iowa 130, 80 N. W. 301, so held under a statute prohibiting the wilful administration of any drug or substance, or the use of any instrument or other means, with intent to produce the miscarriage of a pregnant woman.

30. Willingham v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 98, 25 S. W. 424; Williams v. State, (Tex. App. 1892) 19 S. W. 897. In the Willingham case defendant was acquitted because the substance administered was not calculated to produce an abortion. In the Williams case it was held not to be an offense, under such a statute, to administer an insufficient quantity of a substance capable of producing an abortion when administered in sufficient quantities.

31. 3 Coke Inst. 50; 1 Bl. Comm. 129; Russ. Crimes 671; State v. Hyer, 39 N. J. L. 598; State v. Cooper, 22 N. J. L. 52, 51 Am. Dec. 248.

Actual destruction of the child in the womb, however, in such a case, constituted a high crime. See authorities last above cited. See also supra, II, E, and the title Homicide.

32. Hatfield v. Gano, 15 Iowa 177; State v. Murphy, 27 N. J. L. 112.

33. State v. Moothart, 109 Iowa 130, 80 N. W. 301.

34. Tabler v. State, 34 Ohio St. 127, holding that the presumption of husband's coercion is rebuttable.

35. State v. Murphy, 27 N. J. L. 112; Moore v. State, 37 Tex. Crim. 552, 40 S. W. 287.

36. Willingham v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 98, 25 S. W. 424, under a statute providing that in case no abortion results the person administering shall be guilty of an attempt.

37. State v. Hyer, 39 N. J. L. 598; State v. Murphy, 27 N. J. L. 112; Moore v. State, 37 Tex. Crim. 552, 40 S. W. 287.

38. People v. McGonegal, 136 N. Y. 62, 32 N. E. 616; People v. Meyers, 5 N. Y. Crim. 120.

But a statute prohibiting the administration by any person, to any pregnant woman, of any drug or substance with intent to procure her miscarriage, does not make it an offense for a woman to take a drug with in-

B. As Accomplices — 1. In General. One who encourages and acquiesces in the criminal act is an accomplice.[39] But where it is not shown that defendant advised, aided, or assisted in producing the abortion he cannot be considered an accomplice.[40]

2. Person Administering Drug. The person administering the drug is not an accomplice of the woman.[41]

3. Person Furnishing Drug. One who, knowing the purpose for which a drug is intended, furnishes it to one who administers it, is an accomplice.[42]

4. Woman on Whom Abortion Is Produced. In the absence of statutory provisions to the contrary the woman on whom the abortion has been produced is not an accomplice of the person administering the drug or performing the operation, though done with her consent.[43] By statute, however, in some states, a woman who voluntarily takes a drug administered by another for the purpose of producing an abortion is an accomplice.[44]

VI. Venue and Jurisdiction.

Where a resident in one state procures drugs and medicines therein and sends them through the mail to a pregnant woman living in another state, with advice to her to take the same for the purpose of causing a miscarriage, he may be prosecuted for the abortion in the state from which they were sent.[45] The courts of the county where the drug is administered have jurisdiction of the prosecution thereof,[46] though the miscarriage subsequently occurs in another county.[47] Under some statutes the courts of either county have jurisdiction.[48] tent to produce a miscarriage. Smith v. Gaffard, 31 Ala. 45.

39. Watson v. State, 9 Tex. App. 237. In this case it was held that where a physician charged with having produced an abortion had informed the woman's father of her condition, and had stated to the father that he could give her a powder and make her all right, to which the father replied, "All right, anything to save my child," the father was an accomplice.

Furnishing a domicile for a pregnant woman and attending her during an illness following the administration to her of a noxious substance by another with intent to procure her miscarriage constitutes one an accessary before the fact. Reg. v. Hollis, 12 Cox C. C. 463.

40. Com. v. Drake, 124 Mass. 21; People v. McGonegal, 136 N. Y. 62, 32 N. E. 616.

41. State v. Murphy, 27 N. J. L. 112, wherein the court held that under a statute prohibiting the administration of any drug or substance to a pregnant woman with intent to produce a miscarriage the person administering the drug is not an accomplice of the woman, much less is he an accessary to a crime in which the woman is the principal.

42. Moore v. State, 37 Tex. Crim. 552, 40 S. W. 287; Tex. Pen. Code (1895), art. 642.

In Com. v. Follansbee, 155 Mass. 274, 29 N. E. 471, evidence that a person procured ether which defendant administered to a woman, it not appearing that she knew of the use for which it was intended, was considered insufficient to authorize the court to say, as a matter of law, that she was an accomplice.

43. Kentucky.— Peoples v. Com., 87 Ky. 487, 9 S. W. 509, 810.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Follansbee, 155 Mass. 274, 29 N. E. 471; Com. v. Brown, 121 Mass. 69; Com. v. Boynton, 116 Mass. 343; Com. v. Wood, 11 Gray (Mass.) 85.

Minnesota.— State v. Pearce, 56 Minn. 226, 57 N. W. 652, 1065; State v. Owens, 22 Minn. 238.

New Jersey.— State v. Hyer, 39 N. J. L. 598.

New York.— People v. McGonegal, 136 N. Y. 62, 32 N. E. 616; People v. Vedder, 98 N. Y. 630; Dunn v. People, 29 N. Y. 523, 86 Am. Dec. 319; People v. Meyers, 5 N. Y. Crim. 120.

Texas.— Hunter v. State, 38 Tex. Crim. 61, 41 S. W. 602; Watson v. State, 9 Tex. App. 237; Willingham v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 98, 25 S. W. 424.

Compare, however, People v. Murphy, 101 N. Y. 126, 4 N. E. 326, 54 Am. Rep. 661, wherein the court speaks of the woman as an accomplice or co-conspirator.

44. Fixmer v. People, 153 Ill. 123, 38 N. E. 667; State v. McCoy, 52 Ohio St. 157, 39 N. E. 316. Both these cases were decided under general statutes providing that "whoever aids, [abets,] or procures another to commit any offense may be prosecuted and punished as if he were the principal offender."

Conviction of principal offender, however, seems to be a prerequisite to the conviction of the woman as an accomplice in such cases. Fixmer v. People, 153 Ill. 123, 38 N. E. 667.

45. State v. Morrow, 40 S. C. 221, 18 S. E. 853.

46. State v. Hollenbeck, 36 Iowa 112; Moore v. State, 37 Tex. Crim. 552, 40 S. W. 287.

47. Moore v. State, 37 Tex. Crim. 552, 40 S. W. 287.

48. Under Ind. Rev. Stat. (1881), § 1580, providing that where an offense is committed partly in one county and partly in another

VII. LIMITATION OF PROSECUTION.

That the abortion was committed within the period limited by statute for its prosecution must be shown by the state.[49]

VIII. INDICTMENT OR INFORMATION.[50]

A. In General — 1. CONFORMITY TO STATUTE. It is necessary to charge the offense named in the statute,[51] but it is sufficient if it alleges all the facts which the statute requires to constitute the offense.[52]

2. NAMING OFFENSE. It is not necessary that the indictment should name the offense.[53]

3. SURPLUSAGE. Facts alleged which are not necessary to the commission of the offense may be regarded as mere surplusage.[54]

4. VERDICT CURING DEFECTS. Failure to aver that two separate counts of an indictment for producing an abortion were different descriptions of the same offense is cured by a verdict of not guilty and the entry of a nolle prosequi as to one of the counts.[55] Where an indictment contains two counts only one of which is good, a general verdict finding the defendant guilty will be sustained.[56]

B. Allegations as to Intent — 1. IN GENERAL. Defendant's evil intent, being the gravamen of the offense, must be alleged.[57]

2. FELONIOUS OR MALICIOUS INTENT. It is not necessary to allege that the acts constituting the offense were done with a felonious or malicious intent, in the absence of statutory provisions making such intent an ingredient of the crime.[58] the courts of either may take jurisdiction, the courts of the county in which an operation for abortion was performed have jurisdiction, as have also the courts of the county where the woman miscarries or dies. Hauk v. State, 148 Ind. 238, 46 N. E. 127.

49. State v. Schuerman, 70 Mo. App. 518.

50. See also, generally, INDICTMENTS AND INFORMATIONS.

51. State v. Crook, 16 Utah 212, 51 Pac. 1091.

So it has been held that where the statute constitutes the killing of a woman in an attempt to produce an abortion a crime, an indictment will not lie for manslaughter in an attempt to do an unlawful act when it was done in an attempt to produce an abortion. The prosecution must conform the indictment to the offense described by statute. Montgomery v. State, 80 Ind. 338, 41 Am. Rep. 815.

52. Cochran v. People, 175 Ill. 28, 51 N. E. 845; Com. v. Jackson, 15 Gray (Mass.) 187; People v. Stockham, 1 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 424.

53. Although the indictment gives an erroneous appellation or fails to give any appellation to the offense, if the acts constituting the offense defined by the statute are sufficiently stated, the requirements of the statute are sufficiently complied with. State v. Crook, 16 Utah 212, 51 Pac. 1091.

54. Com. v. Snow, 116 Mass. 47, wherein it appears that the indictment alleged that defendant assaulted the woman and then committed the acts constituting the abortion. The allegations of assault were considered surplusage.

55. Com. v. Holmes, 103 Mass. 440.

56. Com. v. Adams, 127 Mass. 15; Crichton v. People, 6 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 363. See infra, XI, G, 2.

57. Com. v. Hersey, 2 Allen (Mass.) 173.

58. Com. v. Thompson, 108 Mass. 461; Com. v. Sholes, 13 Allen (Mass.) 554; Com. v. Jackson, 15 Gray (Mass.) 187.

In Com. v. Thompson, 108 Mass. 461, an indictment which charged that defendant "maliciously and without any lawful justification" administered, etc., was held sufficiently to charge an offense within the meaning of a statute which provided that any one who "unlawfully administers," etc.; but in Com. v. Sholes, 13 Allen (Mass.) 554, it was held that charging that the acts were done "unlawfully and with intent," etc., sufficiently negatived any inference that the acts were done under circumstances justifying them, and that an allegation that the acts were committed "maliciously" or "without lawful justification" was unnecessary.

Sufficiency of allegation of felonious intent. — An allegation in an indictment that defendant did feloniously, unlawfully, and wilfully employ and use a certain instrument with intent then and there thereby to produce miscarriage sufficiently alleges the use of the instrument with a felonious intent. Charging that an act was done feloniously and unlawfully is tantamount to charging that it was done with a felonious intent. Holland v. State, 131 Ind. 568, 31 N. E. 359. See also State v. Thurman, 66 Iowa 693, 24 N. W. 511, which was a prosecution for murder, wherein an indictment charging that the defendant wilfully, maliciously, and feloniously administered a drug with intent then and there to produce a miscarriage was held sufficiently to allege malice aforethought.

3. Intent to Destroy Child. An indictment under a statute making the intent to destroy the child an element of the offense must charge that the drug was administered or the instrument used with intent to destroy such child.[59]

4. Intent to Produce Miscarriage. That the instrument was used or the drug administered "with intent to produce a miscarriage" must be alleged, where the statute makes such intent an ingredient of the offense;[60] and under a statute making it an offense to use any means to procure a miscarriage with intent to cause and procure a miscarriage, the intent to cause and procure must be charged in the conjunctive.[61]

C. Allegations as to Means Used — 1. Certainty and Particularity. The indictment should state the manner of committing the offense with such reasonable particularity as will furnish the accused with such reasonable information as to enable him to rebut or explain away, if he can, the acts or circumstances likely to be adduced against him on the trial.[62] It should state the means by which the abortion was produced with as much certainty as the nature of the evidence adduced before the grand jury will warrant.[63]

2. Charging in the Alternative. An indictment alleging that defendant did administer a certain poison or drug or medicine or noxious thing to the jurors unknown is defective.[64]

3. External Violence. An indictment may charge the production of an abortion by the use of external violence applied to the person of the pregnant woman.[65]

4. Manner of Administering Drug. The manner in which the drug was administered need not be alleged.[66] Alleging that defendant did advise and procure

59. Mitchell v. Com., 78 Ky. 204, 39 Am. Rep. 227; Smith v. State, 33 Me. 48, 54 Am. Dec. 607; Lohman v. People, 1 N. Y. 379, 49 Am. Dec. 340, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 216.

An allegation that defendant introduced an instrument into the womb of a certain person "with intent to cause and procure her to miscarry and bring forth the child of which she was then pregnant and quick" does not charge an intent on the part of defendant to destroy the child. Smith v. State, 33 Me. 48, 54 Am. Dec. 607.

60. Scott v. People, 141 Ill. 195, 30 N. E. 329; Com. v. Boynton, 116 Mass. 343; State v. Drake, 30 N. J. L. 422.

Applications of the rule.— Charging that the defendant inserted an instrument into the womb of a certain pregnant woman, and thereby attempted to produce the miscarriage of such woman (Scott v. People, 141 Ill. 195, 30 N. E. 329); or that defendant did thrust an instrument into the womb of a certain pregnant woman, with intent then and there to produce her miscarriage (Howard v. People, 185 Ill. 552, 57 N. E. 441); or that defendant thrust an instrument "into the body and womb of one Georgianna Goff, the said Goff being then and there pregnant with child, with intent thereby, then and there, to cause and procure the miscarriage of the said Goff" (Com. v. Boynton, 116 Mass. 343),— sufficiently alleges an intent to produce a miscarriage.

For forms of indictments or informations containing allegations of intent to produce a miscarriage see the following cases:

Florida.— Eggart v. State, 40 Fla. 527, 25 So. 144.

Indiana.— State v. Sherwood, 75 Ind. 15.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Jackson, 15 Gray (Mass.) 187.

New Hampshire.— State v. Wood, 53 N. H. 484.

New York.— People v. Stockham, 1 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 424.

Pennsylvania.— Mills v. Com., 13 Pa. St. 631.

61. State v. Drake, 30 N. J. L. 422.

62. State v. Rupe, 41 Tex. 33, to the effect that the indictment should allege the manner in which the abortion was, or was attempted to be, produced, whether by force or violence, or by the administration of drugs, or by the use of instruments.

63. Com. v. Noble, 165 Mass. 13, 42 N. E. 328.

64. State v. Drake, 30 N. J. L. 422, alleging, as a reason for the insufficiency of the indictment, that it does not charge that defendant administered the whole of the prohibited things or any one of them, and does not apprise defendant against what he has to defend himself.

But in State v. Owens, 22 Minn. 238, where, under the Minnesota statute, the offense may have been committed by the use of different means, it was held that the indictment may allege in the alternative the different means of committing the offense.

65. Navarro v. State, 24 Tex. App. 378, 6 S. W. 542, in which case will be found set out an indictment held sufficient, on motion in arrest, as properly charging this method of committing the offense.

66. State v. Moothart, 109 Iowa 130, 80 N. W. 301; State v. Owens, 22 Minn. 238.

the woman to take a certain medicine is sufficient.[67] It is not necessary to allege that she "swallowed" the drug.[68]

5. Manner of Using Instrument. In charging the commission of an abortion by the use of an instrument it is necessary to allege the manner in which the instrument was used.[69]

6. Naming Instrument or Drug. It is not necessary to allege the name of the instrument used,[70] or the name of the drug or substance administered.[71]

7. Quantity and Quality of Drug. The indictment need not describe the drug administered as being noxious,[72] or allege the quantity or quality administered.[73]

8. Advertising Means. Under a statute prohibiting the advertising or making public of information as to how or where means for the procurement of an abortion can be obtained, an indictment should allege the manner in which the information was published.[74]

67. People v. Stockham, 1 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 424.

For forms of indictments containing sufficient allegations as to the administering of the drug see People v. Stockham, 1 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 424; Mills v. Com., 13 Pa. St. 631.

68. State v. Owens, 22 Minn. 238.

So under a statute providing that if any person or persons, with intent to cause the miscarriage of a woman then pregnant with child, shall administer to her, prescribe for her, or advise or direct her to take or swallow any poison, drug, medicine, or noxious thing, such person, on conviction thereof, etc., it is not necessary to allege the taking or swallowing of the drug, since the actual taking or swallowing of the drug constitutes no element of the crime. State v. Murphy, 27 N. J. L. 112.

69. Cochran v. People, 175 Ill. 28, 51 N. E. 845; Baker v. People, 105 Ill. 452; Rhodes v. State, 128 Ind. 189, 27 N. E. 866; Com. v. Corkin, 136 Mass. 429.

Applications of the rule.— An indictment charging that defendant inserted an instrument into the "private parts" of a certain pregnant woman sufficiently alleges the manner of committing the offense. Baker v. People, 105 Ill. 452.

An indictment that charges defendant with having feloniously introduced an instrument into the womb of a pregnant woman with the intent to produce a miscarriage is sufficient though it does not allege what kind of a wound it produced or what disease it caused. Rhodes v. State, 128 Ind. 189, 27 N. E. 866.

An indictment charging that defendant did "feloniously, maliciously, and unlawfully use a certain instrument, the name of which instrument is to the jurors unknown, which instrument defendant in his hands then and there had and held, by then and there forcing and thrusting the instrument aforesaid into the body and womb of a certain woman, with intent thereby then and there to cause and procure the miscarriage," sufficiently alleges that defendant unlawfully used an instrument with intent to procure a miscarriage, and it sufficiently describes the instrument and the manner in which defendant used it. Com. v. Corkin, 136 Mass. 429.

But where an indictment charged in the first count that defendant did administer and use on one Stella Roberts a certain instrument, and in the second count that defendant did use on and administer to one Stella Roberts a certain instrument with intent to produce her miscarriage, it was held that the manner in which the instrument was used was not sufficiently alleged. Cochran v. People, 175 Ill. 28, 51 N. E. 845.

For forms of indictments sufficiently alleging the manner of using the instrument see State v. Sherwood, 75 Ind. 15; Com. v. Jackson, 15 Gray (Mass.) 187; State v. Wood, 53 N. H. 484; People v. Stockham, 1 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 424.

70. Arkansas.—State v. Reed, 45 Ark. 333.

Illinois.— Baker v. People, 105 Ill. 452.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Noble, 165 Mass. 13, 42 N. E. 328; Com. v. Thompson, 159 Mass. 56, 33 N. E. 1111; Com. v. Corkin, 136 Mass. 429; Com. v. Jackson, 15 Gray (Mass.) 187.

New Hampshire.— State v. Wood, 53 N. H. 484.

New York.— People v. Stockham, 1 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 424.

"A certain instrument the name of which is to the jurors unknown" is a sufficient description of the instrument used. Com. v. Snow, 116 Mass. 47.

71. Arkansas.— State v. Reed, 45 Ark. 333.

Colorado.— Dougherty v. People, 1 Colo. 514.

Indiana.— State v. Vawter, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 592; Carter v. State, 2 Ind. 617.

Iowa.— State v. Fitzgerald, 49 Iowa 260, 31 Am. Rep. 148.

Missouri.— State v. Van Houten, 37 Mo. 357.

New York.— People v. Stockham, 1 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 424.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. W——, 3 Pittsb. (Pa.) 462.

Texas.— Cave v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 335, 26 S. W. 503; Watson v. State, 9 Tex. App. 237.

72. State v. Vawter, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 592; State v. Van Houten, 37 Mo. 357; Watson v. State, 9 Tex. App. 237.

73. State v. Van Houten, 37 Mo. 357; Com. v. W——, 3 Pittsb. (Pa.) 462; Watson v. State, 9 Tex. App. 237.

74. Thus an indictment charging defendant with making public by written words in-

D. Allegations as to Physiological Conditions — 1. DEATH OF MOTHER. Under a statute providing that whoever, with intent to procure the miscarriage of a woman, shall do certain acts or use certain means, shall, if the woman dies in consequence, be imprisoned for a certain time, and if the woman do not die in consequence thereof such person shall be punished less severely, the indictment need not allege whether the woman did or did not die, since it charges the lesser offense.[75]

2. GENDER. That the drug was administered or that the operation was performed on a woman may be inferred from the language of the indictment and need not be specifically alleged.[76]

3. MISCARRIAGE. At common law an indictment which alleged the administration of a drug for the purpose of producing an abortion, but which failed to allege that a miscarriage followed the administration of the drug, is defective.[77]

4. QUICKENING AND PREGNANCY. At common law, the indictment should allege that the woman was quick with child,[78] but this rule does not obtain in prosecutions under statutes where quickening is not material to the commission of the offense.[79]

On the other hand, under a statute which makes it a felony to produce an abortion before the period of quickening, an indictment attempting to charge that offense which does not allege that the criminal act was done before the quickening is defective.[80]

In like manner it is unnecessary to allege that the woman was pregnant, where her pregnancy is not an element of the offense as defined by the statute under which the prosecution is instituted,[81] but under a statute prohibiting the formation as to where advice and medicine might be obtained for the purpose of producing an abortion has been held insufficient, though in the words of the statute, since it should have apprised the defendant of the manner in which it is claimed it was published. State v. Fiske, 66 Vt. 434, 29 Atl. 633.

75. Com. v. Homer, 153 Mass. 343, 26 N. E. 872; Com. v. Thompson, 108 Mass. 461; State v. Gedicke, 43 N. J. L. 86. See supra, II, F.

But a conviction for administering a drug with intent to cause a miscarriage may be sustained under an indictment charging the administration of a drug with intent to produce a miscarriage "and resulting in the death of the mother." Lohman v. People, 1 N. Y. 379, 49 Am. Dec. 340.

76. An indictment which charges that the defendant committed the offense "by then and there forcing and thrusting the instrument aforesaid into the body and womb of one Georgianna Goff, the said Goff being then and there pregnant with child, with intent thereby then and there to cause and procure miscarriage of the said Goff," sufficiently alleges that the act charged was committed on a woman, since the language used necessarily imports such fact. Com. v. Boynton, 116 Mass. 343.

77. Com. v. Bangs, 9 Mass. 387. See supra, II, G.

78. Mitchell v. Com., 78 Ky. 204, 39 Am. Rep. 227; Com. v. Bangs, 9 Mass. 387. Contra, Mills v. Com., 13 Pa. St. 631. See also State v. Slagle, 83 N. C. 630. See supra, II, C, D.

"Big and pregnant."— An indictment alleging that the woman is big and pregnant sufficiently alleges that she is quick with child. Com. v. Demain, 3 Clark (Pa.) 487, 6 Pa. L. J. 29.

There is no inconsistency between the averment in the indictment that a woman is pregnant with a quick child and an averment that she is pregnant. Mills v. Com., 13 Pa. St. 631.

79. Eggart v. State, 40 Fla. 527, 25 So. 144; State v. Smith, 32 Me. 369, 54 Am. Dec. 578, a prosecution under a statute providing that whoever, with intent to procure the miscarriage of a woman, shall do certain acts or use certain means, shall, if the woman dies in consequence, be imprisoned for a certain time, and, if she does not die in consequence thereof, such person shall be punished less severely.

80. State v. Reed, 45 Ark. 333.

81. Eggart v. State, 40 Fla. 527, 25 So. 144; Com. v. Surles, 165 Mass. 59, 42 N. E. 502.

Thus, under Mass. Pub. Stat. (1882), c. 207, § 9, providing that whoever, with intent to procure the miscarriage of a woman, shall do certain acts or use certain means, shall, if the woman dies in consequence, be imprisoned in the state prison not exceeding twenty nor less than five years, and, if the woman do not die in consequence thereof, such person shall be punished less severely, an indictment is not defective though it contains no averment that the woman was in fact pregnant, or that the defendant knew, believed, supposed, or suspected that she was pregnant. Com. v. Tibbetts, 157 Mass. 519, 32 N. E. 910; Com. v. Follansbee, 155 Mass. 274, 29 N. E. 471.

use of any means to produce the miscarriage of "any pregnant woman" the pregnancy must be alleged.[82]

E. Allegations as to Time and Place. The indictment should allege the time and place when and where the drugs were administered or the operation was performed.[83]

F. Defendant's Relation to the Offense. Facts showing defendant's relation to the offense committed, either as principal or accomplice, should be alleged.[84] One may be charged as an accessary of an unknown principal.[85]

G. Duplicity — 1. CHARGING DEFENDANT AS BOTH PRINCIPAL AND ACCOMPLICE. Charging facts showing defendant to be guilty as both principal and accomplice is bad for duplicity.[86]

2. CHARGING MISCARRIAGE AND DEATH. Charging both the miscarriage and death of the woman has been held not to render the indictment bad for duplicity.[87]

3. CHARGING USE OF BOTH DRUGS AND INSTRUMENTS. An indictment which charges that defendant used instruments and administered drugs with intent to cause and produce a miscarriage, does not charge more than one offense.[88]

H. Negativing Exceptions — 1. ADVICE OF PHYSICIAN. Under statutes providing that the administration of drugs or use of instruments with intent to pro-

82. Thus, under a statute making it an offense to use or employ any instruments or other means with intent thereby to produce the miscarriage of any pregnant woman, an indictment which charges that the defendant used an instrument on the body of one P, she being then a woman with child, is sufficient. Eckhardt v. People, 83 N. Y. 462, 38 Am. Rep. 462.

For forms of indictments sufficiently charging pregnancy see State v. Sherwood, 75 Ind. 15; Com. v. Jackson, 15 Gray (Mass.) 187; State v. Wood, 53 N. H. 484; People v. Stockham, 1 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 424.

83. Eggart v. State, 40 Fla. 527, 25 So. 144; Howard v. People, 185 Ill. 552, 57 N. E. 441.

Several dates.— Where an indictment alleges the commission of the offense on a specified date, and the subsequent administration of drugs between that date and another specified date, the allegations as to the subsequent administration of drugs may be treated as surplusage. Eggart v. State, 40 Fla. 527, 25 So. 144.

For forms of indictments sufficiently alleging time and place see Howard v. People, 185 Ill. 552, 57 N. E. 441; Beasley v. People, 89 Ill. 571.

84. Fixmer v. People, 153 Ill. 123, 38 N. E. 667; Com. v. Adams, 127 Mass. 15.

In Fixmer v. People, 153 Ill. 123, 38 N. E. 667, an indictment charging the commission of an offense by one other than defendant, and alleging that defendant feloniously incited, procured, aided, counseled, and commanded such other to perform the operation for the production of an abortion was held to charge defendant as an accessary before the fact, and, where the principal was not convicted, to be insufficient to support a conviction of defendant.

85. Com. v. Adams, 127 Mass. 15. In this case it is held that an indictment charging that a person to the grand jury unknown did on a certain day use some unlawful means to the said jurors unknown, with intent to produce the miscarriage of a pregnant woman, and that the woman died in consequence thereof, and "that before the abortion was committed" defendants "did feloniously and maliciously incite, move, etc., and command the said person as aforesaid unknown, the said felony and abortion, in manner and form aforesaid, then and there to do and commit," sufficiently charges that defendants incited and procured the doing of the acts causing the abortion, with intent to cause it.

For form of indictment charging defendant as accessary before the fact see Com. v. Adams, 127 Mass. 15.

86. Hence, under Tex. Pen. Code (1895), art. 536, providing that if any person shall designedly administer to a pregnant woman, with her consent, any drug, or shall by any means whatever procure an abortion, he shall be punished by confinement in a penitentiary, and art. 537, providing that any person who furnishes the means for procuring an abortion, knowing the purpose intended, is guilty as an accomplice, an indictment charging that defendant designedly furnished a pregnant woman with an instrument for the purpose, on her part, of procuring an abortion of herself with the instrument so furnished, and that they knew of her purpose and that she did, by means of the instrument so furnished, procure an abortion, is bad for duplicity, since it charges facts in one count which constitute the defendant a principal as well as an accomplice. Wandell v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 25 S. W. 27.

87. So held under a statute providing that whoever administers with intent, etc., shall, if the woman miscarries or dies in consequence thereof, be punished, etc. Hauk v. State, 148 Ind. 238, 46 N. E. 127; Rhodes v. State, 128 Ind. 189, 27 N. E. 866.

88. State v. Baldwin, 79 Iowa 714, 45 N. W. 297; Com. v. Brown, 14 Gray (Mass.) 419; People v. Davis, 56 N. Y. 95.

duce an abortion shall be criminal unless advised by a physician [or two physicians] to be necessary to save the mother's life, the indictment should allege that the production of the abortion was not advised by a physician [or physicians, as the case may be] to be necessary for the purpose of saving the mother's life.[89]

2. Necessity of Saving Mother's Life — a. Exception Embodied in Enacting Clause. Under statutes providing that it shall be an offense to produce an abortion unless the production thereof was necessary to save the woman's life, the indictment should allege that the production of the miscarriage was not necessary to save the woman's life.[90] Alleging that "the use of said instrument [or "the administration of said drug," as the case may be] was not necessary to save the life of the woman," does not sufficiently negative the necessity of producing the miscarriage for the purpose of saving the woman's life.[91] Charging that the

89. Hays v. State, 40 Md. 633; State v. McIntyre, 19 Minn. 93; State v. Meek, 70 Mo. 355, 35 Am. Rep. 427.

Applications of the rule.—Under a statute prohibiting the production of an abortion, and further providing that it shall not be construed to prohibit the production of an abortion by a physician when, after consulting with one or more respectable physicians, he shall be satisfied that the fœtus is dead or that no other method will save the mother's life, an indictment charging two persons jointly which alleges that neither of them were physicians sufficiently negatives the proviso of the statute. Hays v. State, 40 Md. 633.

An allegation that defendant administered a drug to a pregnant woman with intent thereby to destroy such child, not being then and there advised by two physicians that the administration thereof was necessary to preserve the life of the woman, does not sufficiently show that it was not administered on the advice of two physicians, since it is not necessary that the advice should be given at the time and place when and where the medicine, drug, or substance is administered. State v. McIntyre, 19 Minn. 93.

For forms of indictments negativing the fact that the abortion was produced under advice of physician see Hays v. State, 40 Md. 633; State v. Fitzporter, 93 Mo. 390, 6 S. W. 223; Hatchard v. State, 79 Wis. 357, 48 N. W. 380.

90. Delaware.— State v. Quinn, (Del. 1899) 45 Atl. 544.

Illinois.— Beasley v. People, 89 Ill. 571.

Indiana.— Hauk v. State, 148 Ind. 238, 46 N. E. 127; Willey v. State, 52 Ind. 246; Bassett v. State, 41 Ind. 303.

Iowa.— State v. Leeper, 70 Iowa 748, 30 N. W. 501; State v. Aiken, 109 Iowa 643, 80 N. W. 1073.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Sholes, 13 Allen (Mass.) 554.

Missouri.— State v. Fitzporter, 93 Mo. 390, 6 S. W. 223; State v. Meek, 70 Mo. 355, 35 Am. Rep. 427; State v. Schuerman, 70 Mo. App. 518.

Vermont.— State v. Stevenson, 68 Vt. 529, 35 Atl. 470.

Wisconsin.— Hatchard v. State, 79 Wis. 357, 48 N. W. 380.

The exception in the statute is sufficiently negatived by alleging "that defendant did unlawfully use an instrument on the woman, so intending to procure the miscarriage of her, the same not being necessary to preserve the life of the said woman" (State v. Quinn, (Del. 1899) 45 Atl. 544); or, "that defendant, by means of a certain instrument, produced an abortion, it not being then and there necessary to cause such miscarriage for the preservation of the mother's life" (Beasley v. People, 89 Ill. 571); or, "neither the employment of said instrument nor the procurement of said miscarriage being then and there necessary to preserve the life of the said Mary L. Willey" (Willey v. State, 52 Ind. 246); or even, in the language of the statute, "that the production of the abortion was not necessary to preserve the life of the woman" (State v. Schuerman, 70 Mo. App. 518).

But it has been held that charging that the performance of "said operation was not necessary to preserve the life of the mother" does not sufficiently negative the exception in the statute. State v. Stevenson, 68 Vt. 529, 35 Atl. 470; Hatchard v. State, 79 Wis. 357, 48 N. W. 380.

For forms of indictments sufficiently negativing necessity of saving mother's life see State v. Quinn, (Del. 1899) 45 Atl. 544; Hauk v. State, 148 Ind. 238, 46 N. E. 127; State v. Sherwood, 75 Ind. 15; Hatchard v. State, 79 Wis. 357, 359, 48 N. W. 380.

91. Willey v. State, 46 Ind. 363.

Necessity of producing abortion is not sufficiently negatived by charging that the defendant inserted an instrument into the womb of a certain woman with intent then and there and thereby to produce the miscarriage of the woman, the said employment of the said instrument not being then and there necessary to preserve the life of the said woman (Bassett v. State, 41 Ind. 303); or, that the defendant administered a drug with intent thereby to procure an abortion and miscarriage, the administering of said medicine and drugs not being then necessary to preserve the life of the woman (State v. Meek, 70 Mo. 355, 35 Am. Rep. 427; State v. Stevenson, 68 Vt. 529, 35 Atl. 470). But see contra, State v. Leeper, 70 Iowa 748, 30 N. W. 501, wherein it was held that an indictment alleging that certain acts were done with the design and intention to produce a miscarriage, and that the doing of such acts was not necessary to save the life of the wo-defendant maliciously and without legal justification procured and caused the abortion is not sufficient;[92] but it has been held that charging that the acts constituting the offense were done "unlawfully" and with intent to cause and procure the miscarriage of the woman sufficiently negatives any inference that the act was done for the purpose of saving the woman's life.[93]

b. Exception Not Embodied in Enacting Clause. Where the exception is not contained in the enacting clause of the statute defining the offense, but is embodied in a subsequent paragraph, the indictment need not allege that the abortion was not necessary to save the mother's life. It is a matter of defense to be taken advantage of by the answer.[94]

I. Joinder of Counts. It is proper to join in one indictment several counts where the offenses described in them are similar in their nature, mode of trial, and punishment;[95] hence, the allegation, in different counts of an indictment, of the use of different means of producing an abortion, does not constitute a misjoinder.[96]

IX. Defenses.

A. Advice of Physician. Under statutes prohibiting abortions unless the same shall have been advised by two physicians to have been necessary to save the mother's life, the fact that the abortion was actually advised by two physicians to be necessary to save the mother's life will of course constitute a valid defense;[97] but the fact that one of the defendants, being a physician, deemed it necessary to perform an abortion to save the woman's life, is no defense.[98] Under a statute providing that it shall be an offense to produce an abortion unless necessary to preserve the life of the mother, or unless it shall have been advised by a physician to be necessary for that purpose, the existence of the necessity, or the fact that it was so advised by a physician, each constitute an adequate defense, and it is not essential that the necessity and the advising that it was necessary should both exist.[99]

B. Coercion of Husband. It is a good defense for a married woman charged with the production of an abortion to show that it was committed by her under the coercion of her husband.[1]

C. Consent of Woman. The consent of the woman to the production of the abortion is no defense to a prosecution of the person producing or attempting to produce it.[2] man, sufficiently negatived the necessity of producing the miscarriage for the purpose of saving the woman's life.

92. State v. Stokes, 54 Vt. 179.

93. Com. v. Sholes, 13 Allen (Mass.) 554.

94. State v. Rupe, 41 Tex. 33. See infra, IX, G.

95. Com. v. Leach, 156 Mass. 99, 30 N. E. 163.

Thus a count in an indictment charging defendant with administering poison with intent to kill the mother may be joined with a count charging defendant with administering a drug with intent to cause and procure the miscarriage of the mother, since each of the counts of the indictment charge a misdemeanor at common law and are punishable in the same manner. State v. Slagle, 82 N. C. 653. To the same effect see Eggart v. State, 40 Fla. 527, 25 So. 144.

Separate operations on two women.—The performance of an operation on two women on separate occasions may be joined in separate counts of a single indictment. Com. v. Brown, 121 Mass. 69.

96. Com. v. Thompson, 159 Mass. 56, 33 N. E. 1111.

Separate acts on different days.—The charging in different counts of the doing of separate acts on different days with intent to produce a miscarriage does not constitute a misjoinder. Com. v. Follansbee, 155 Mass. 274, 29 N. E. 471; Com. v. Adams, 127 Mass. 15; Com. v. Brown, 14 Gray (Mass.) 419.

Several means.—The joinder of a count alleging an abortion to have been produced by drugs with another count charging its production by means of instruments does not constitute a misjoinder. Beasley v. People, 89 Ill. 571; People v. Aikin, 66 Mich. 460, 33 N. W. 821, 11 Am. St. Rep. 512.

97. State v. Fitzporter, 93 Mo. 390, 6 S. W. 223; Hatchard v. State, 79 Wis. 357, 48 N. W. 380.

98. Hatchard v. State, 79 Wis. 357, 48 N. W. 380.

99. State v. Fitzporter, 93 Mo. 390, 6 S. W. 223.

1. Tabler v. State, 34 Ohio St. 127.

2. State v. Moore, 25 Iowa 128, 95 Am. Dec. 776; Com. v. Snow, 116 Mass. 47; Com.

D. Death of Fœtus. Showing that the fœtus had lost its vitality, so that it could never have matured into a living child, may constitute a defense in prosecutions for abortion under some statutes.[3]

E. Desire to Avoid Disgrace. The desire of defendant to screen the woman and himself from disgrace constitutes no defense.[4]

F. Former Acquittal. A plea of former acquittal has been held to be properly interposed to a subsequent indictment for abortion, where it appears that the offense charged in the second indictment is the same referred to in the first indictment, to which the court sustained a demurrer without directing a resubmission to the grand jury.[5]

G. Necessity of Saving Mother's Life. That the production of the abortion was necessary to save the mother's life can always be shown by way of defense;[6] but that it was produced to prevent the mother from committing suicide is not a defense.[7]

X. Evidence.[8]

A. Admissibility — 1. Declarations of Accomplices — a. In General. Declarations of an accomplice showing knowledge of the woman's pregnancy, made before the operation, are admissible against defendant,[9] but not declarations to the effect that declarant was in the habit of producing abortions;[10] nor should such evidence be received before the conspiracy is proven or the defendant connected with the commission of the offense.[11]

b. Of the Woman, a Co-Conspirator. A pregnant woman who actively promotes and adopts means for the performance of an abortion on her person is a co-conspirator with the person who actually performs the operation, in such a sense as will make her acts and declarations in the furtherance of that object admissible against defendant.[12] But statements made by her subsequent to the

v. Wood, 11 Gray (Mass.) 85; People v. Abbott, 116 Mich. 263, 74 N. W. 529.

3. So held in Com. v. Wood, 11 Gray (Mass.) 85, which was a prosecution under a statute providing that whoever, with intent to cause the miscarriage of a woman "then pregnant with child," shall administer to her any drug with intent to produce her miscarriage, shall, etc. But under a later statute providing that whoever shall administer to "any woman" any drug, etc., with intent to produce a miscarriage, shall be punished, it was held not to be a defense to show that the fœtus had lost its vitality. Com. v. Surles, 165 Mass. 59, 42 N. E. 502.

4. Com. v. Wood, 11 Gray (Mass.) 85.

5. State v. Crook, 16 Utah 212, 51 Pac. 1091, wherein it appears that the first indictment charged defendant with procuring an abortion by the administration of drugs, and that the second indictment charged him with procuring an abortion by means of a drug and the use of an instrument.

6. Beasley v. People, 89 Ill. 571; State v. Fitzporter, 93 Mo. 390, 6 S. W. 223; State v. Rupe, 41 Tex. 33.

7. That the mother had threatened to commit suicide unless she could be relieved of the child with which she was pregnant does not present such a necessity for the performance of the operation to save the mother's life as is contemplated by the statute. The statute was intended to apply only to a case where the death of the mother might reasonably be anticipated to result from natural causes unless the fœtus was destroyed. Hatchard v. State, 79 Wis. 357, 48 N. W. 380.

8. See also, generally, Criminal Law.

9. Hays v. State, 40 Md. 633, wherein it is held that evidence of declarations of a person jointly indicted with defendant, made prior to the operation, are admissible against defendant for the purpose of showing that the declarant knew that the woman was pregnant, when accompanied with an offer to follow such evidence with proof of a conspiracy to produce the abortion.

10. Thus, on trial of one accused of having procured another to perform an operation, evidence of declarations of the person who performed the operation, to the effect that she "was in the habit of performing operations for the purpose of producing abortions," is inadmissible against defendant, as such evidence is mere hearsay. People v. Abbott, 116 Mich. 263, 74 N. W. 529.

11. Hays v. State, 40 Md. 633, wherein it is held that where defendant and another were jointly indicted, a note written by such other, directing the woman at what time to leave home and where to meet such other for the apparent purpose of going to a place where the abortion was to be performed, is inadmissible against defendant where no proof showing a conspiracy between the parties jointly indicted has been given and defendant has in no way been connected with the commission of the offense.

12. Solander v. People, 2 Colo. 48.

production of the abortion are not admissible, since not made in furtherance of the common object.[13]

2. Declarations of Defendant. Defendant's declarations of his willingness and ability to produce an abortion, made prior to the commission of the offense charged, are admissible,[14] as is also evidence that such declarations were brought to the woman's knowledge.[15] Declarations of the defendant tending to show his intention to produce an abortion are admissible,[16] as is also his failure to deny the woman's accusation that he had caused her to miscarry.[17]

3. Declarations of Woman — a. In General — (I) Made at Time of Operation. Declarations of the woman, made at the time of visiting defendant, as to the object of her visit, are admissible as a part of the res gestæ.[18]

(II) Made before or after Operation. Statements made by the woman either before or after the acts with which defendant is charged, in regard to his acts or his connection with the offense, are inadmissible,[19] since such evi-

13. State v. Young, 55 Kan. 349, 40 Pac. 659; People v. Davis, 56 N. Y. 95.

14. Cards found in the possession of defendant and calculated to impart the information of his willingness to produce abortions are admissible in evidence. Com. v. Barrows, (Mass. 1900) 56 N. E. 830.

Circular issued by defendant three years previous to the commission of the alleged offense, wherein he advertised his willingness to produce unlawful abortions, is admissible for the purpose of showing the commission of the offense by him and the intent with which the abortion was performed. Weed v. People, 56 N. Y. 628, 3 Thomp. & C. (N. Y.) 50.

Statements made by defendant prior to the alleged operation, to the effect that she, defendant, had instruments and knew how to perform operations to produce abortions, are admissible. People v. Sessions, 58 Mich. 594, 26 N. W. 291.

15. Com. v. Holmes, 103 Mass. 440.

16. Thus, where defendant refers, in a letter written by him to the woman, to a certain proposition made by him to her, it is competent for her to show by parol that it was a proposition that she submit to an operation. It is a declaration of the defendant and is admissible as such. Lamb v. State, 66 Md. 285, 7 Atl. 399.

17. Com. v. Brown, 121 Mass. 69, wherein it was held that statements by a woman on whom an abortion has been performed, made in the presence of defendant, to the effect that he, defendant, had performed an operation for the production of an abortion on her, and not denied by him, are admissible in evidence, and this notwithstanding defendant is under arrest at the time and asked the woman if she had not been previously operated on by another person.

Declarations of defendant's agent.— In a prosecution for abortion, evidence of statements made by defendant's father to the woman's father, that defendant had telephoned from the place where the girl was, to the effect that she was sick and wanted her mother to come and see her, is admissible as a part of the res gestæ where the theory of the prosecution is that the defendant had gotten the woman with child and then enticed her away for the purpose of procuring an abortion. People v. McDowell, 63 Mich. 229, 30 N. W. 68.

18. Solander v. People, 2 Colo. 48; State v. Howard, 32 Vt. 380; State v. Dickinson, 41 Wis. 299.

At time of departure for defendant's house. — Declarations made by a woman at the time of her departure for defendant's house for the purpose of having an abortion performed are admissible as a part of the res gestæ. State v. Howard, 32 Vt. 380; State v. Dickinson, 41 Wis. 299.

19. Illinois.— Howard v. People, 185 Ill. 552, 57 N. E. 441.

Indiana.— Hauk v. State, 148 Ind. 238, 46 N. E. 127.

Kansas.— State v. Young, 55 Kan. 349, 40 Pac. 659.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Leach, 156 Mass. 99, 30 N. E. 163; Com. v. Felch, 132 Mass. 22.

Michigan.— People v. Aikin, 66 Mich. 460, 33 N. W. 821, 11 Am. St. Rep. 512.

New Hampshire.— State v. Wood, 53 N. H. 484.

New York.— People v. Davis, 56 N. Y. 95; Maine v. People, 9 Hun (N. Y.) 113.

Oregon.— State v. Clements, 15 Oreg. 237, 14 Pac. 410.

Application of the rule, generally.— Declarations by the woman on whom an alleged operation has been performed, made several days before the operation with which defendant is charged, purporting to recite that she had attempted to operate on herself, are inadmissible. Hauk v. State, 148 Ind. 238, 46 N. E. 127. And so also her declarations, not made in the presence of the defendant, on her return from the place where it is alleged the operation was performed, and purporting to state what was done at such place, are inadmissible. State v. Wood, 53 N. H. 484; People v. Murphy, 101 N. Y. 126, 4 N. E. 326, 54 Am. Rep. 661; People v. Davis, 56 N. Y. 95; Maine v. People, 9 Hun (N. Y.) 113.

In a prosecution for producing a miscarriage resulting in the death of the woman, evidence of statements made by her to the effect that she was pregnant by a certain person and that if such person did not perform an operation to procure a miscarriage or get someone else to do so she should perform the operation on herself, is inadmissible. Com. v. Felch, 132 Mass. 22.

dence is merely hearsay,[20] and not a part of the res gestæ.[21] For the same reason statements made to her physician, by a woman on whom an operation has been performed, as to matters which had occurred before his being called to attend her, are inadmissible.[22]

(III) To Show Pregnancy. Statements made by a woman to her physician are admissible for the purpose of showing that she was pregnant,[23] as are also statements made by her to others.[24]

(IV) To Show Present Pain. Declarations of a woman on whom it is alleged an operation has been performed, indicating present pain or suffering, are admissible to prove her physical condition at the time of making such statements.[25]

b. Dying Declarations — (I) Inadmissible as a Rule. In a prosecution for producing an abortion, dying declarations of the woman are not admissible though her death is a result of the acts done;[26] though in some states such evidence is made admissible by statute.[27]

(II) Qualification of Rule — (A) Where Death Is the Gravamen of the Offense. Where, however, the death of the woman is the gravamen of the offense and the subject of the charge, her dying declarations are admissible.[28]

(B) Must Be Made In Extremis. Dying declarations, to be admissible, in any event, must have been made by the woman under a belief that she was about

As to instrument used.— Statements of a woman upon whom an abortion has been performed, to the effect that defendant had used instruments on her, are inadmissible. State v. Clements, 15 Oreg. 237, 14 Pac. 410.

As to medicine used.— Statements made by the woman after the birth of the child, regarding certain medicine which she claimed defendant had induced her to take a few days previous to the making of such statements, are inadmissible. People v. Aikin, 66 Mich. 460, 33 N. W. 821, 11 Am. St. Rep. 512.

As to time of operation.— Declarations of one on whom an operation has been performed, not made at the time of the operation, are inadmissible for the purpose of showing when and by whom the operation was performed. Com. v. Leach, 156 Mass. 99, 30 N. E. 163; Howard v. People, 185 Ill. 552, 57 N. E. 441.

20. Howard v. People, 185 Ill. 552, 57 N. E. 441; Com. v. Felch, 132 Mass. 22; State v. Clements, 15 Oreg. 237, 14 Pac. 410.

21. Maine v. People, 9 Hun (N. Y.) 113; People v. Murphy, 101 N. Y. 126, 4 N. E. 326, 54 Am. Rep. 661; People v. Davis, 56 N. Y. 95.

22. Hays v. State, 40 Md. 633.

23. State v. Gedicke, 43 N. J. L. 86.

24. State v. Glass, 5 Oreg. 73.

25. Rhodes v. State, 128 Ind. 189, 27 N. E. 866; Com. v. Leach, 156 Mass. 99, 30 N. E. 163; People v. Aikin, 66 Mich. 460, 33 N. W. 821, 11 Am. St. Rep. 512.

26. Georgia.— Wooten v. Wilkins, 39 Ga. 223.

Massachusetts.— Com. v. Homer, 153 Mass. 343, 26 N. E. 872.

New Jersey.— State v. Meyer, (N. J. 1900) 45 Atl. 779.

New York.— People v. Davis, 56 N. Y. 95; Wilson v. Boerem, 15 Johns. (N. Y.) 286.

Ohio.— State v. Harper, 35 Ohio St. 78, 35 Am. Rep. 596.

Pennsylvania.— Railing v. Com., 110 Pa. St. 100, 1 Atl. 314; Com. v. Keene, 7 Pa. Super. Ct. 293.

England.— Rex v. Lloyd, 4 C. & P. 233; Reg. v. Hind, 8 Cox C. C. 300; Rex v. Mead, 2 B. & C. 605; Rex v. Hutchinson, 2 B. & C. 608 note.

27. Com. v. Homer, 153 Mass. 343, 26 N. E. 872 [citing Mass. Stat. (1889), c. 100]; Maine v. People, 9 Hun (N. Y.) 113 [citing N. Y. Laws (1875), c. 352].

28. Montgomery v. State, 80 Ind. 338, 41 Am. Rep. 815; Peaples v. Com., 87 Ky. 487, 9 S. W. 509, 810; State v. Dickinson, 41 Wis. 299. See also Traylor v. State, 101 Ind. 65; Clarke v. People, 16 Colo. 511, 27 Pac. 724, where such evidence seems to have been received without objection.

Applications of the rule.— Under a statute providing that whoever administers a drug with intent to produce a miscarriage shall, if the woman die, be punished, the dying declarations of the woman are admissible to prove what was done at the time of the commission of the unlawful act which caused the death, but not to prove what occurred before or afterward. Montgomery v. State, 80 Ind. 338, 41 Am. Rep. 815.

So, under a statute providing that in case the death of the woman ensues defendant shall be deemed guilty of manslaughter, dying declarations of a woman on whom an abortion has been performed are admissible for the purpose of showing whether or not defendant had anything to do with the producing of the abortion, where the death of the woman resulted from the abortion and is the subject of inquiry. State v. Dickinson, 41 Wis. 299.

But under a statute providing that defendant shall be guilty of a felony in case the death of the mother results from an attempt to produce an abortion, dying declarations are not admissible, since homicide is not the subject of the charge, and the death of the child or mother, or of both, merely augments the punishment. People v. Davis, 56 N. Y. 95. To the same effect substantially see State v. Meyer, (N. J. 1900) 45 Atl. 779.

to die;[29] and declarations of the deceased, not made in extremis, contradictory of statements made by her when in extremis, are not admissible for the purpose of disproving the latter declarations.[30]

(c) Subject-Matter of the Declaration. When admissible, dying declarations must relate to facts and not to mere matters of opinion or belief,[31] and must also be confined to the circumstances connected with the act resulting in death.[32]

4. Defendant's Good Character. Evidence of defendant's good character is admissible.[33]

5. Illicit Sexual Intercourse. Evidence showing a motive for making an attempt to produce an abortion is admissible, and for that purpose evidence tending to show that defendant had had illicit sexual intercourse with the woman is admissible,[34] also that one jointly indicted with defendant had had intercourse with her,[35] but not that a third person had such intercourse.[36]

6. Medical Works. Medical books cannot be read to the jury,[37] as affirmative proof, unless they have been first read to medical experts and by them testified to accord with their observations in practice.[38] But medical books may be read to the jury to contradict testimony of an expert who testified that his opinion was based on the teachings of such book, and to show that the book does not promulgate the theory advanced.[39]

7. Opportunity to Commit Offense. Evidence tending to show that defendant had an opportunity to commit the offense is admissible.[40]

8. Other Abortions or Attempts. Acts of the defendant tending to show his knowledge of the woman's pregnancy and his intention to commit an abortion upon her may be proved whether they were prior or subsequent to the particular act charged in the indictment;[41] hence evidence of other operations performed by defendant before the operation charged is admissible for the purpose of showing

29. Maine v. People, 9 Hun (N. Y.) 113, holding also that it is no objection to such evidence that the declarations were obtained by means of leading questions and under earnest solicitation.

30. Maine v. People, 9 Hun (N. Y.) 113.

31. Hence, declarations to the effect "that he [defendant] is the cause of my death; he is my murderer; they abused me terribly," are inadmissible, since mere expressions of opinion. State v. Baldwin, 79 Iowa 714, 45 N. W. 297.

So a declaration of a person in extremis, to the effect that the operation was performed for the purpose of producing an abortion, is not admissible. Montgomery v. State, 80 Ind. 338, 41 Am. Rep. 815.

But a statement by the woman that defendant had operated on her is a statement of a substantive fact and not an expression of an opinion. Maine v. People, 9 Hun (N. Y.) 113.

32. Montgomery v. State, 80 Ind. 338, 41 Am. Rep. 815; Maine v. People, 9 Hun (N. Y.) 113.

In the Indiana case just cited it is held that what occurs before or after the act has been done does not constitute a part of the res gestæ although the interval of separation may be very brief. Montgomery v. State, 80 Ind. 338, 41 Am. Rep. 815. See also supra, X, A, 3.

33. Holland v. State, 131 Ind. 568, 31 N. E. 359. See infra, XI, F, 6.

34. Scott v. People, 141 Ill. 195, 30 N. E. 329.

35. People v. Josselyn, 39 Cal. 393, holding that, pregnancy being a necessary fact to be shown, evidence of the woman's cohabitation with one jointly indicted with defendant is admissible as tending to show that fact.

36. Crichton v. People, 1 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 467.

37. Eggart v. State, 40 Fla. 527, 25 So. 144; Com. v. Brown, 121 Mass. 69; Com. v. Sturtivant, 117 Mass. 122, 19 Am. Rep. 401; Collier v. Simpson, 5 C. & P. 73.

38. Scott v. People, 141 Ill. 195, 30 N. E. 329.

39. Eggart v. State, 40 Fla. 527, 25 So. 144.

40. Hays v. State, 40 Md. 633; Com. v. Mitchell, 6 Pa. Super. Ct. 369.

Applications of the rule.— In a prosecution of a physician for producing an abortion, under a claim that it was done at a certain hotel, evidence that the woman had written defendant a letter, and that she had also sent him a telegram to meet her on a certain train, is admissible as tending to show that the meeting was prearranged and for a purpose. Com. v. Mitchell, 6 Pa. Super. Ct. 369.

The time, place, and circumstances under which a crime was committed are always admissible. That the house where an abortion was performed was a house of ill fame is admissible as bearing on the question of whether the crime could be there committed without fear of detection. Such evidence is not introduced as an attack on the character of defendant. Hays v. State, 40 Md. 633.

41. Scott v. People, 141 Ill. 195, 30 N. E. 329.

the intent with which the act charged was done,[42] as is also evidence of a subsequent attempt.[43] But in a prosecution of a man and woman for producing an abortion evidence of a previous attempt made by the man alone is inadmissible, such previous attempt constituting a separate and distinct offense.[44] And so, in a prosecution for producing an abortion, evidence that one other than the person whom it is alleged defendant procured to produce the abortion had prescribed for the woman is inadmissible where it is not shown that the prescription was used.[45]

9. Relating to Means of Commission — a. Character and Effect of Drug. Evidence that the substance administered is popularly supposed to be an abortive is admissible for the purpose of showing the intent with which it was administered,[46] as is also evidence respecting the effect of the medicine prescribed by defendant.[47]

b. Possession of Instruments. Evidence that instruments adapted to the performance of operations were found in the possession of defendant is admissible against him.[48]

10. Subsequent Condition of the Woman — a. Mental Condition. In a prosecution for an assault with intent to produce an abortion, evidence of acts of the woman occurring after the time of the alleged assault, and indicating fear of the defendant, is admissible as tending to prove that an assault had been committed.[49]

b. Physical Condition. Evidence of the physical condition and appearance of the woman at a time subsequent to the time when it is alleged the operation was performed is admissible.[50] Evidence of subsequent sexual intercourse is admissible where the woman is shown to be enceinte at a time subsequent to the alleged miscarriage.[51]

42. Com. v. Corkin, 136 Mass. 429.

Two operations on separate days.— Under an indictment charging the commission of an offense with an instrument the state may give evidence of two separate operations with an instrument on separate days. King v. State, 35 Tex. Crim. 472, 34 S. W. 282.

43. Thus, in a prosecution for attempting to produce an abortion by the administration of drugs, a letter written by defendant to the woman subsequent to the alleged attempt, wherein he advised her to use an instrument which he had previously furnished her for the production of an abortion, has been held to be admissible for the purpose of showing the intent with which the drug was administered. State v. Moothart, 109 Iowa 130, 80 N. W. 301. And to the same effect see Lamb v. State, 66 Md. 285, 7 Atl. 399.

44. Baker v. People, 105 Ill. 452.

45. State v. Gunn, 106 Iowa 120, 76 N. W. 510, wherein it is held that evidence that a woman presented to a druggist a prescription for drugs calculated to produce a miscarriage, and that such prescription was signed by a physician other than the physician whom it is charged defendant procured to produce the abortion, is inadmissible where it is shown that such prescription was not filled by the druggist.

46. Carter v. State, 2 Ind. 617.

47. People v. Van Zile, 73 Hun (N. Y.) 534, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 390.

48. Com. v. Blair, 126 Mass. 40; Com. v. Brown, 121 Mass. 69; Moore v. State, 37 Tex. Crim. 552, 40 S. W. 287.

Reason for the rule.— In a prosecution for producing a miscarriage, evidence that defendant, five months previous to the time the operation is alleged to have been performed, had in his possession an instrument adapted to the performance of an operation, is admissible, since it tends to show that the defendant was knowingly in the possession of the means of committing such a crime. Com. v. Blair, 126 Mass. 40.

As showing intent.— Evidence that defendant procured another to make an instrument adapted to the performance of an operation about the time the operation was performed is admissible to show the intent with which he acted, though he never got the instrument. Moore v. State, 37 Tex. Crim. 552, 40 S. W. 287.

49. State v. Lee, 69 Conn. 186, 37 Atl. 75.

50. Com. v. Follansbee, 155 Mass. 274, 29 N. E. 471; Com. v. Fenno, 134 Mass. 217; Com. v. Wood, 11 Gray (Mass.) 85; People v. Olmstead, 30 Mich. 431.

Subsequent death of the mother is admissible as bearing upon the effect and purpose of the acts done by defendant. People v. Van Zile, 73 Hun (N. Y.) 534, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 390.

Weakness of the woman, as shown by her declarations made shortly after the time at which it is alleged an operation for the production of an abortion was performed on her, is admissible. Such evidence is admissible as tending to show the performance of the operation. Com. v. Fenno, 134 Mass. 217.

51. Testimony of the woman that defendant had sexual intercourse with her after the alleged abortion is admissible to rebut the inference that no operation had been performed, arising from testimony tending to show that she was enceinte at a time subsequent to the alleged abortion. Com. v. Wood, 11 Gray (Mass.) 85.

11. To Rebut Presumption Arising from Delay in Prosecution. Evidence is admissible to explain why a prosecution has been long delayed and to rebut any unfavorable inferences arising from failure to institute a prosecution.[52]

12. To Show Animus of Prosecution. Evidence that the prosecuting witness had offered not to prosecute in case defendant paid a certain sum of money is admissible for the purpose of showing the animus of the prosecution.[53]

13. Want of Knowledge of Pregnancy. Lack of knowledge of pregnancy may be given in evidence by defendant for the purpose of showing that there was no intent to produce a miscarriage.[54]

B. Burden of Proof — 1. As to Advice of Physician. The burden of proof rests on defendant to show that it was performed on the advice of one or more physicians, as the case may be.[55]

2. As to Character of Substance Administered. In a prosecution for administering a noxious substance with intent to produce an abortion, the burden of proof rests upon the state to show that the substance administered was noxious, where a miscarriage did not ensue.[56]

3. As to Necessity of Saving Mother's Life. The burden of proof rests upon the state to show that the production of the miscarriage was not necessary for the purpose of saving the mother's life.[57] Such burden is complied with, however, where no evidence is introduced to the contrary, by the presumption that it was not necessary to save her life.[58]

C. Presumptions — 1. As to Mother's Consent. There is no presumption that an operation was performed with the mother's consent.[59]

2. As to Necessity of Saving Mother's Life. Where the performance of an abortion is shown, it will be presumed, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, that it was not necessary to save the mother's life.[60]

3. As to Wife's Acts in Husband's Presence. The presumption that a criminal act performed by a married woman in the presence of her husband was done under his constraint and coercion is only prima facie and may be rebutted.[61]

D. Variance. A fatal variance does not arise where the evidence discloses

52. People v. Lohman, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 216.

53. Watson v. State, 9 Tex. App. 237.

54. Powe v. State, 48 N. J. L. 34, 2 Atl. 662. See also supra, II, C.

55. Hatchard v. State, 79 Wis. 357, 48 N. W. 380. See supra, IX, A.

Reason for rule.— While it is necessary for the state to produce some evidence that the abortion was unnecessary to save the life of the mother, the burden of showing that it was advised by a physician to be necessary for that purpose is on defendant, since, from the very nature of the case, knowledge of such fact resting exclusively with the defendant could be easily produced by him, though impossible of production by the prosecution. State v. Meek, 70 Mo. 355, 35 Am. Rep. 427.

56. State v. Gedicke, 43 N. J. L. 86. See also supra, II, B, 2, b.

57. Connecticut.— State v. Lee, 69 Conn. 186, 37 Atl. 75.

Iowa.— State v. Aiken, 109 Iowa 643, 80 N. W. 1073.

Missouri.— State v. Meek, 70 Mo. 355, 35 Am. Rep. 427.

New York.— People v. Meyers, 5 N. Y. Crim. 120. Contra, People v. McGonegal, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 147.

Ohio.— Moody v. State, 17 Ohio St. 111.

Oregon.— State v. Clements, 15 Oreg. 237, 14 Pac. 410; State v. Glass, 5 Oreg. 73.

See supra, IX, G.

New York rule.— It is not necessary, it seems, in New York, for the state, in order to secure a conviction where an instrument has been used, to show that its use was not necessary to preserve the life of the mother or of the child,—in other words, to prove that the cause is one not excepted by the provisions of the statute. This is on the theory that the facts lie peculiarly within defendant's knowledge. Bradford v. People, 20 Hun (N. Y.) 309. See also New York cases cited supra, this note.

58. State v. Lee, 69 Conn. 186, 37 Atl. 75. See also infra, X, C, 2, as to the presumption regarding the necessity of saving the mother's life.

59. Com. v. Reid, 8 Phila. (Pa.) 385. See supra, IX, C.

60. State v. Lee, 69 Conn. 186, 37 Atl. 75; State v. Schuerman, 70 Mo. App. 518. See supra, IX, G; X, B, 3.

61. Tabler v. State, 34 Ohio St. 127. See supra, IX, B.

Thus, where an indictment charges that an abortion was performed by a husband and wife acting jointly, evidence of offers made by the wife, not in the presence of her husband, to perform the operation, is admissible for the purpose of rebutting the presumption. Hatchard v. State, 79 Wis. 357, 48 N. W. 380.

that the abortion was produced by means of the same general nature as the means alleged.[62]

E. Weight and Sufficiency — 1. In General. The cases furnish many illustrations of facts which, when properly shown in evidence, have been held to be sufficient to sustain a conviction of the offense of abortion or of attempting to commit the same.[63]

62. Maine.— State v. Smith, 32 Me. 369, 54 Am. Dec. 578.

Michigan.— People v. Abbott, 116 Mich. 263, 74 N. W. 529.

New York.— Crichton v. People, 1 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 467.

Texas.— Moore v. State, 37 Tex. Crim. 552, 40 S. W. 287.

England.— Rex v. Phillips, 3 Campb. 73.

Applications of rule.— Where an indictment alleges that the abortion was caused by the use of a specified metallic instrument it is not necessary that the proof should show that it was done by that particular instrument. It will be sufficient if proved to have been done by some other instrument if the nature of the violence and the kind of death occasioned by it be the same as alleged. State v. Smith, 32 Me. 369, 54 Am. Dec. 578. Where an indictment charges that certain acts for the production of an abortion were done with force and violence, proof that they were done with the mother's consent does not constitute a variance, since the mother's consent was immaterial. People v. Abbott, 116 Mich. 263, 74 N. W. 529. Where an indictment alleges that defendant advised a certain woman, she being then and there pregnant, to take certain pills known as "Dr. James Clark's Female Pills," and the evidence is that he bought a bottle of said pills and told her to take them, there is no variance between the proof and the allegations. Crichton v. People, 1 Abb. Dec. (N. Y.) 467. Where an indictment charged an abortion to have been produced by a certain instrument, evidence that defendant also used another instrument to open up the parts operated on does not constitute a variance. Moore v. State, 37 Tex. Crim. 552, 40 S. W. 287. Where the indictment charges the administration of a decoction, proof of the administration of an infusion does not constitute a variance. Rex v. Phillips, 3 Campb. 73.

63. To convict of abortion, generally.—Evidence that an unmarried woman, apparently in good health, and who was able to perform her duties as stenographer, called on defendant, a practising physician, and had a consultation with him; that thereafter she went to defendant's house, taking with her a night-dress and articles indicating an intention to stay there a greater or less length of time; that she was admitted by defendant and directed to a room, and that defendant afterward sent a meal to her; that thereafter she went to defendant's office and remained alone there with the physician for twenty or thirty minutes; that she suffered hemorrhage of the private parts and gave evidence of pain: that defendant visited her in her room and subsequently again took her to his office, where she remained alone with him for a like period of time; that she thereafter manifested grave functional disorders, with discharges of blood and water; that defendant took her in his carriage to her boarding-house and left her on the porch in an enfeebled condition; and that a subsequent examination showed that an abortion had been produced,— was held sufficient to support a conviction. Howard v. People, 185 Ill. 552, 57 N. E. 441.

Evidence that a woman was enceinte by defendant; that she informed him of her condition; that she was a servant in his family; and that he thereafter gave her certain drugs which made her sick,— is sufficient to support a conviction, though he testified that he did not know that she was pregnant. State v. Montgomery, 71 Iowa 630, 33 N. W. 143.

Evidence showing that a miscarriage was effected by violence; that witness and the woman on whom the operation is alleged to have been performed went to defendant's house for the purpose of procuring the abortion; that the pregnant woman disclosed her condition to defendant and was alone with her for some fifteen minutes, the witness being sent out of the room; that on the night following the woman suffered great pain; that two days thereafter they went to defendant's, where they remained two or three days, the woman being under defendant's care,— defendant testifying that the woman had never been in her house, and this testimony being conclusively proven to be false,— was held sufficient to support a conviction. Com. v. Drake, 124 Mass. 21.

Evidence that defendant had had sexual intercourse with a woman; that she informed him that she was pregnant; that he told her he would give her some medicine which would relieve her; that he gave her a drug which would produce an abortion; that she took it and it made her sick and a miscarriage followed,— it being also shown that defendant had asked a physician to produce an abortion; that he had refused; and that the woman herself had done nothing to produce the miscarriage,— was held sufficient to support a conviction. State v. McLeod, 136 Mo. 109, 37 S. W. 828.

Evidence that defendant administered to the pregnant woman powerful abortive medicines, and also performed an operation on her for the purpose of producing a miscarriage, is sufficient to support a conviction, though the miscarriage did not occur until an unusually long time after the administration of the drug and the performance of the operation, during which time the woman was subjected to violent physical exercises and fatigue. Moore v. State, 37 Tex. Crim. 552, 40 S. W. 287.

To convict of attempting to commit.— Evidence that defendant administered ergot to

2. Animus or Interest of Witness. While the woman is not technically an accomplice, the fact that she voluntarily submitted to the production of the abortion involves her in the moral turpitude of the offense and tends to weaken the weight of her testimony.[64]

3. Circumstantial Evidence. By reason of the secret nature of the offense, circumstantial evidence must be relied upon to a considerable extent to prove its commission; and in fact such evidence alone may support a conviction;[65] so also the absence of a necessity of producing the abortion in order to save the mother's life may be shown by circumstantial evidence.[66]

a pregnant woman, and that it would, under certain conditions, produce a miscarriage, is sufficient to sustain a conviction of an attempt to produce an abortion. Hunter v. State, 38 Tex. Crim. 61, 41 S. W. 602.

To convict of being accessary.— That defendant, knowing that a woman was enceinte, received her into her house as a boarder and for the purpose of having an operation, and procured a physician to perform an operation for abortion, is sufficient to support a verdict finding defendant to be an accessary before the fact to the abortion. Com. v. Adams, 127 Mass. 15.

To convict of procuring one to commit.— Evidence that the woman had been seduced and was enceinte by defendant; that she had attempted to produce an abortion on herself and had lacerated the cervix of her womb, and that pus and septic matter had formed there; that, after an unsuccessful attempt to produce her own miscarriage, defendant had an interview with her and then went to a neighboring city and had an interview with a physician; that a few days thereafter the woman left her home for the city to which defendant had previously journeyed and was met on the train by defendant; that in the evening of that day defendant took the woman to the office of the physician whom he had previously interviewed; that she remained with the doctor for over an hour, later went to a hotel and registered under a fictitious name; that defendant had an interview with the physician after she had left the latter's office, and that defendant then returned to his own home; that he afterward returned to the city, and, after again seeing the physician, returned with her on the train a part of the distance to her home; that a few days thereafter she miscarried and subsequently died of peritonitis due to septic poisoning; that an instrument passing through the cervix of the womb, covered with pus, would be liable to collect septic substance and introduce it into the womb, where it would be absorbed by the fallopian tubes into the peritoneum, causing peritonitis; and that physicians usually produced abortion by introducing an instrument into the womb,— was held sufficient to convict defendant of procuring the physician to produce an abortion. Cook v. People, 177 Ill. 146, 52 N. E. 273.

Defendant wrote and asked a certain woman, whom it is shown committed the offense, to treat a female friend. He subsequently took the woman, who was pregnant by him, to the house where the abortion was produced, and left her there. He gave directions as to her care and comfort and paid the bills. It was held that the evidence was sufficient to support a verdict finding him guilty of counseling and procuring the commission of the offense. Com. v. Thompson, 108 Mass. 461.

64. Com. v. Boynton, 116 Mass. 343; Com. v. Wood, 11 Gray (Mass.) 85; Dunn v. People, 29 N. Y. 523, 86 Am. Dec. 319; Frazer v. People, 54 Barb. (N. Y.) 306; Willingham v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 98, 25 S. W. 424; Wandell v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 25 S. W. 27; Watson v. State, 9 Tex. App. 237. See also supra, V, B, 4.

Hence an instruction that if the jury find that defendant performed the operation at the request of the woman, they should carefully consider her connection with those acts in reference to her testimony, and should scrutinize her statements with particular care on that account, is not erroneous. Com. v. Boynton, 116 Mass. 343.

But compare Com. v. Brown, 121 Mass. 69, wherein it was held not to be error to refuse to instruct that the testimony of a woman who has been operated upon by the defendant is to be taken with great circumspection, caution, and discredit.

65. Com. v. Leach, 156 Mass. 99, 30 N. E. 163; State v. Lilly, (W. Va. 1900) 35 S. E. 837, also holding it to be unnecessary to show that it was beyond the power of any person other than defendant to commit the crime.

66. Howard v. People, 185 Ill. 552, 57 N. E. 441; State v. Aiken, 109 Iowa 643, 80 N. W. 1073; Bradford v. People, 20 Hun (N. Y.) 309.

Applications of the rule.— Evidence that the woman was unmarried and apparently in good health; that she worked up to the time the operation is alleged to have been performed and then went to defendant's house with articles indicating an intention to stay there some time; and that she was about four and a half months advanced in pregnancy,— is sufficient to support a finding that the production of the abortion was not necessary to save the woman's life. Howard v. People, 185 Ill. 552, 57 N. E. 441. So evidence that a woman, being five or six months advanced in pregnancy, went to the office of defendant, a physician, and that the operation was successfully performed, there being no evidence as to whether or not she was married, and nothing to indicate the condition of her health except that she walked to defendant's office two or three times, was held not to constitute prima facie evidence that

4. Defendant's Confession. A voluntary confession of the defendant is insufficient to support a conviction unless corroborated by evidence tending to prove the corpus delicti.[67]

5. Manner of Obtaining Dying Declarations. That dying declarations were elicited by leading questions and under pressure and earnest solicitation is proper for the consideration of the jury as affecting their weight.[68]

6. Necessity of Proving Facts Alleged — a. In General. It is not necessary to prove every fact alleged in the indictment or information if the facts proven embrace all the elements of the offense.[69]

b. Corpus Delicti. The alleged unlawful procurement of the miscarriage constitutes the corpus delicti and must be proven beyond a reasonable doubt, and mere proof of premature birth under suspicious circumstances is not sufficient.[70]

7. Testimony of Accomplices — a. Necessity of Corroboration — (I) In General. Although, at common law, it does not seem to be necessary, in order to render a conviction for abortion valid, that the testimony of an accomplice should be corroborated by other evidence,[71] in some states it is provided by statute that a conviction cannot be had on the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice.[72]

(II) Corroborating Woman's Testimony. While a woman on whom an abortion has been performed is not an accomplice so as to require corroboration of her testimony, within the rule requiring evidence in corroboration of an accomplice's testimony[73] in order to convict, some statutes provide that a conviction shall not be had on the uncorroborated testimony of the woman.[74]

the procurement of the miscarriage was necessary to save the life of the mother. State v. Aiken, 109 Iowa 643, 80 N. W. 1073.

67. Dougherty v. People, 1 Colo. 514.

Evidence corroborating confession.— Where the evidence showed that defendant applied to several persons for information as to what would produce an abortion; that he had been having illicit sexual intercourse with the woman; that he afterward obtained a medicine and stated to another that he had given it to the woman; that it contained boneset, but did not have the desired effect; that a post mortem examination showed that the woman had been pregnant and that a miscarriage had occurred,— it was held that defendant's confession was sufficiently corroborated to prove the pregnancy of the woman and the administration of the drug with intent to produce a miscarriage, and hence was sufficient to support a conviction. Dougherty v. People, 1 Colo. 514.

68. Maine v. People, 9 Hun (N. Y.) 113.

69. Thus, where an indictment charges that an attempt has been made to produce a miscarriage with several different instruments, it is not necessary to prove that defendant used all of the instruments described. The indictment will be sustained by proving that one of the instruments was used as alleged. Scott v. People, 141 Ill. 195, 30 N. E. 329.

So it has been held that it is not necessary to a conviction that the evidence should show the nature of the instrument used to produce the miscarriage, or the time of its use. State v. Lilly, (W. Va. 1900) 35 S. E. 837.

70. Traylor v. State, 101 Ind. 65. In this case defendant was shown to have had illicit sexual relations with the mother, an unmarried woman, for about a year preceding the alleged abortion; that on the afternoon of the day when the miscarriage occurred they took a buggy ride together and were absent for about two hours, returning about dark; that about five hours thereafter the mother was delivered of a fœtus indicating about seven months' advance in pregnancy. The physician who attended her saw nothing to indicate that improper means had been used to induce the miscarriage. The mother on her deathbed denied that defendant had done anything to produce a miscarriage. It was held insufficient to prove that an abortion had been committed.

71. Reg. v. Boyes, 1 B. & S. 311, also holding that it is nevertheless a rule of general and usual practice for the trial court, in its discretion, to advise the jury not to convict upon the testimony of an accomplice alone.

72. Wandell v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 25 S. W. 27; Watson v. State, 9 Tex. App. 237.

73. Com. v. Wood, 11 Gray (Mass.) 85; Dunn v. People, 29 N. Y. 523, 86 Am. Dec. 319; People v. Meyers, 5 N. Y. Crim. 120; Willingham v. State, 33 Tex. Crim. 98, 25 S. W. 424; Watson v. State, 9 Tex. App. 237.

Contra, however, now in Texas. Wandell v. State, (Tex. Crim. 1894) 25 S. W. 27, wherein it is held that a woman who voluntarily submits to the performance of an operation for the production of an abortion, though not indictable for the offense, is an accomplice within the purview of Tex. Code Crim. Proc. (1895), § 741, providing that a conviction cannot be had on the testimony of an accomplice unless corroborated by other evidence tending to connect defendant with the offense committed.

74. People v. Josselyn, 39 Cal. 393 [citing Crimes Act, § 45]; State v. Owens, 22 Minn. 238 [citing Laws (1875), p. 49]; Com. v. Keene, 7 Pa. Super. Ct. 293 [citing P. L. (1895), 387].

b. Sufficiency of Corroboration. It seems to be enough that the evidence in corroboration satisfies the jury that the accomplice testified to the truth,[75] but it has been held, under a statute requiring the woman's testimony to be corroborated, that the corroborative evidence should not merely tend to prove that an offense has been committed, but should also tend to identify the defendant as the criminal or to show his connection with the offense.[76]

F. Witnesses — 1. Experts — a. Qualifications. A physician may give his opinion as an expert on a subject concerning which he has had no practical experience and his knowledge of which is derived from study alone.[77] He is not disqualified to testify as to conditions which he found on a post mortem examination, merely because he made the examination without authority.[78]

b. Questioned Hypothetically. Hypothetical questions, assuming facts concerning which evidence has been introduced, may be propounded to experts.[79]

c. Their Opinions — (I) In General. Experts may testify to matters within the scope of their special knowledge and experience, and which are beyond the range of general knowledge.[80]

(II) As Showing an Abortion and the Manner of Its Production. A physician who has examined one on whom an abortion is alleged to

75. Reg. v. Boyes, 1 B. & S. 311, also holding that it is not necessary that there should be corroborative evidence as to the very act charged.

Applications of the rule.— That an accomplice who resided in another city was able to describe the entrance to defendant's house where it is alleged the operation was performed, and that a hack-driver had driven the accomplice and the woman on whom the operation had been performed to a point near the defendant's house, are corroborative of the testimony of the accomplice to the effect that an operation had been performed at the defendant's house, where the defendant denies that either the accomplice or the woman on whom the operation is alleged to have been performed were ever in her house, since their visit to defendant's house is a material fact. Com. v. Drake, 124 Mass. 21.

That defendant employed a reputable physician to attend a woman at the time of her giving birth to the child is not corroborative of testimony tending to show that a few months prior thereto he had been instrumental in attempting to procure an abortion. Frazer v. People, 54 Barb. (N. Y.) 306.

76. Testimony of a woman that a physician used an instrument on her is not corroborated by evidence of others showing the fact of pregnancy, that she visited the office of the defendant, and that there was a miscarriage. People v. Josselyn, 39 Cal. 393.

In a prosecution for advising the procurement of an abortion there was evidence tending to show that instruments adapted to the performance of an operation were found in the office of the person who it was alleged performed the operation. It was held to be error to refuse to instruct that such evidence was not corroborative of the woman's testimony to the effect that defendant had advised the performance of such operation. People v. Vedder, 34 Hun (N. Y.) 280.

Corroboration of woman's dying declarations.— Under Pa. P. L. (1895), 387, making dying declarations admissible in prosecutions for producing abortion, but providing that a conviction shall not be had on the uncorroborated testimony of the woman, it is not necessary that every detail of the woman's ante-mortem statement shall be established by independent proof, or that the evidence shall be sufficient to convict without the aid of the statement. The corroborative evidence should relate to some portion of the testimony which is material to the issue, but need not extend to every material fact. It should not merely tend to prove that an offense has been committed, but should also tend to identify defendant as the criminal, or to show his connection with the offense. Com. v. Keene, 7 Pa. Super. Ct. 293.

77. Medical witnesses may testify as to the effects of poisons on the human system, from information derived by them from medical books. Carter v. State, 2 Ind. 617; State v. Wood, 53 N. H. 484.

78. Com. v. Taylor, 132 Mass. 261.

79. Thus, where evidence has been introduced tending to prove the facts embraced in the question, it is not error to ask a physician whether, in his opinion, a woman on whom an operation has been performed could continue to perform her duties as a stenographer without her associates noticing her condition. Howard v. People, 185 Ill. 552, 57 N. E. 441.

So, where evidence has been introduced strongly tending to show that an operation with instruments has been performed, it is not error to permit hypothetical questions assuming such fact to be propounded to medical experts. Cook v. People, 177 Ill. 146, 52 N. E. 273.

80. Application of the rule.— Medical experts may testify that certain instruments shown to them and found in the possession of defendant are adapted to the performance of operations for the production of an abortion, such matter being within the scope of their special experience and beyond the range of general knowledge. Com. v. Brown, 121 Mass. 69; Navarro v. State, 24 Tex. App. 378, 6 S. W. 542.

have been performed may testify as to whether or not, in his opinion, an abortion has been performed,[81] and the manner in which, in his opinion, it was produced.[82] Such evidence is not admissible, however, when based in part on statements, made to the witness by the woman, as to what had been done.[83]

(III) As Showing Pregnancy. An expert may testify as to whether or not, in his opinion, the woman was pregnant, and, in case of her death, may give his opinion as to the cause thereof.[84]

2. Non-Experts and Their Opinions. Opinions of persons not shown to be experts are inadmissible.[85] A non-expert may, however, testify to facts which tend to rebut the opinions of experts.[86]

3. Woman as a Witness — a. In General. A woman on whom an abortion has been produced, with her consent, is a competent witness against the person producing it.[87]

b. Against Husband. A wife on whom an abortion has been produced is a competent witness against her husband, charged therewith.[88]

XI. TRIAL.[89]

A. Opening Statement to Jury. In opening, the prosecuting attorney should state the charge against defendant and the evidence which he expects to present to prove that the offense has been committed and that defendant committed it.[90]

81. People v. Sessions, 58 Mich. 594, 26 N. W. 291; State v. Glass, 5 Oreg. 73.

82. State v. Wood, 53 N. H. 484.

83. People v. Murphy, 101 N. Y. 126, 4 N. E. 326, 54 Am. Rep. 661.

84. State v. Smith, 32 Me. 369, 54 Am. Dec. 578.

85. Illustrations of the rule.— A non-expert who has observed the physical condition of the woman subsequent to the time when it is alleged the operation had been performed should not be allowed to state her opinion as to whether or not the woman had been delivered of a fœtus. People v. Olmstead, 30 Mich. 431.

In a prosecution for producing an abortion by means of an assault and external violence the woman should not be permitted to testify that the abortion was the result of the violence, since such evidence is proper subject-matter for expert testimony and the witness should have been allowed to state only the physical facts and symptoms experienced by her. Navarro v. State, 24 Tex. App. 378, 6 S. W. 542.

Testimony of the woman that defendant killed the child and came very near killing her is inadmissible, since it is merely the expression of her opinion. King v. State, 35 Tex. Crim. 472, 34 S. W. 282.

86. Thus, where, in a prosecution for producing an abortion, expert testimony is introduced for the purpose of showing that certain acts could not have been performed by the woman on herself, it has been held that testimony of a person not an expert is admissible for the purpose of showing that the witness had performed such an act on herself. Com. v. Leach, 156 Mass. 99, 30 N. E. 163.

87. People v. Josselyn, 39 Cal. 393; State v. Dyer, 59 Me. 303; People v. Lohman, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 216; People v. Costello, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 83; Com. v. Reid, 8 Phila. (Pa.) 385.

88. State v. Dyer, 59 Me. 303; Navarro v. State, 24 Tex. App. 378, 6 S. W. 542.

Cross-examination tending to incriminate husband.— Where, in an abortion case, the woman on whom the operation is alleged to have been performed testifies to the acts causing the abortion, she cannot be compelled to answer, on cross-examination, questions which tend to incriminate her husband, merely because sustaining her objections would be violative of her oath to tell the whole truth. Com. v. Reid, 8 Phila. (Pa.) 385.

In a prosecution against husband and a third person for the producing of a miscarriage of the wife, the latter is a competent witness as against the person who performed the operation at the solicitation of her husband. State v. Dyer, 59 Me. 303; Com. v. Reid, 8 Phila. (Pa.) 385.

In prosecution against third person.— In State v. Briggs, 9 R. I. 361, 11 Am. Rep. 270, it is held that a wife on whom an abortion has been produced is competent to testify against a third person, whom her husband has procured to produce the abortion, where no use can thereafterward be made of such testimony in direct proceedings against the husband, but that, if the witness object, such evidence cannot be compelled.

89. See also, generally, Criminal Law.

90. Hence a statement by the prosecuting attorney, in his opening, that defendant had been jointly indicted with another, and on the trial of such other the defendant became a witness for the latter; that the indictment on which such other had been tried contained but one count charging that the abortion had been committed by mechanical means, but that on the trial it was disclosed that defendant had given a prescription which was

B. Argument to Jury. Where cards, claimed to be advertisements of his willingness to produce abortions, are found in the possession of defendant, it is not error to permit the prosecuting attorney to argue their meaning to the jury, when they are couched in suggestive language.[91]

C. Election between Counts. Under an indictment charging in one count the commission of the offense by use of drugs, and in another count by use of an instrument, the state will not be required to elect as to which count it will proceed under, where but one offense is charged.[92]

D. Order of Proof. Proof that an abortion has been committed should precede any evidence tending to connect defendant with its commission.[93]

E. Questions for Jury. The character and capabilities of a drug alleged to have been used in the production of an abortion;[94] the degree of credit to be given to the testimony of a witness;[95] and whether or not a certain person is an accomplice,—are respectively questions for the determination of the jury.[96]

F. Instructions — 1. Must Be Construed Together. The instructions should be construed together as a whole. Hence, an error in one instruction may be cured by other instructions.[97]

2. Relating to Death of Woman. It is not error to refuse to instruct that a conviction cannot be had unless the death of the woman resulted, where the statute makes the offense complete in case her death or miscarriage results.[98]

3. Relating to Method of Producing Abortion. Where one count of an indictment charged the destruction of the fœtus by the use of drugs, and another count charged its destruction by the use of an instrument, it is not error to refuse to aid in producing the abortion; that it had become necessary to reindict defendant; and that now he was charged in two counts with having brought about the abortion by means of mechanical appliances and also for giving a prescription for that purpose, and that the attempt was successful,—is not erroneous. People v. Van Zile, 73 Hun (N. Y.) 534, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 390.

91. Com. v. Barrows, (Mass. 1900) 56 N. E. 830.

92. Moore v. State, 37 Tex. Crim. 552, 40 S. W. 287.

93. Traylor v. State, 101 Ind. 65, assigning as a reason for this rule the fact that the production of the miscarriage, being the corpus delicti, should be first shown.

94. Dougherty v. People, 1 Colo. 514.

95. As to alibi.—Where defendant in a prosecution proves that he was not at the place where the abortion was alleged to have been performed at the time testified to by the state's witnesses, the effect of such fact is one for the determination of the jury, and it is not error to refuse to instruct that if the jury are satisfied defendant did not commit the act on that day they cannot convict. Com. v. Snow, 116 Mass. 47.

Dying declarations.—The degree of credit to be given to dying declarations is to be determined by the jury; hence it is not error to refuse to instruct "that the declarations of deceased are not to be received with the same credit as though she had testified to the same under oath upon examination." State v. Pearce, 56 Minn. 226, 57 N. W. 652, 1065.

Testimony of accomplice.—The degree of credit to be given to the testimony of an accomplice is wholly a question for the jury. Maine v. People, 9 Hun (N. Y.) 113.

Testimony of woman.—The degree of credit to be attributed to the testimony of a woman who has been operated on, because of her complicity in the unlawful act, is one for the determination of the jury and not properly a subject for direction by the court. Com. v. Brown, 121 Mass. 69.

96. Com. v. Follansbee, 155 Mass. 274, 29 N. E. 471.

97. Cook v. People, 177 Ill. 146, 52 N. E. 273, in which it is held that an instruction defining the relation of one who advises, assists, or encourages the production of an operation, which assumes that an operation was performed, is not erroneous where other instructions were given to the effect that the jury had no right to assume that an operation had been performed, but that such fact must be proven beyond all reasonable doubt.

So, also, it has been held that the inclusion by the court, in giving instructions to the jury, in the hypothesis on which the jury were instructed to find defendant not guilty, of the absence of the fact that the defendant did not aid or assist in the abortion, is not erroneous. Cook v. People, 177 Ill. 146, 52 N. E. 273.

98. Thus, in a prosecution under Burns' Rev. Stat. Ind. (1894), § 1996, providing that whoever administers to any pregnant woman any drug or substance with intent thereby to procure the miscarriage of such woman, unless such miscarriage is necessary to preserve her life, shall, if the woman miscarries or dies in consequence thereof, be fined, etc., it is not error to refuse to instruct that it is necessary, in order to convict, to show that the woman had died. Hauk v. State, 148 Ind. 238, 46 N. E. 127.

to charge that if the abortion was not solely the result of one or the other of the causes named there could be no conviction under the indictment.[99]

4. Relating to Necessity of Saving Mother's Life. An instruction that defendant should be found guilty unless the abortion was produced to save the life of the mother on the advice of a physician is erroneous, since the necessity alone would justify the act.[100]

5. Requiring Different Degrees of Proof. An instruction should not require a different degree of proof as to any one fact the existence of which is essential to the commission of the abortion.[101]

6. Withdrawing Evidence from Jury. An instruction withdrawing material evidence from the consideration of the jury, such as evidence of defendant's good character, is erroneous.[102]

G. Verdict — 1. Conformity to Indictment. A verdict finding defendant guilty of a lesser offense under an indictment charging a greater is sufficient, provided the facts constituting the lesser are included in the commission of the greater offense.[103]

2. Form of Verdict. A general verdict finding defendant guilty without specifying the offense may be sufficient where the indictment for abortion con-

99. Tabler v. State, 34 Ohio St. 127.

100. Thus, in a prosecution under Mo. Rev. Stat. (1879), § 1241, providing that the production of an abortion shall be criminal unless the same shall be necessary to preserve the life of the mother or shall have been advised by a physician to be necessary for that purpose, an instruction authorizing the jury to find defendant guilty unless the act was done for the purpose of saving the life of the mother on the advice of a physician that it was necessary to perform the operation to save the life of the mother, is erroneous. State v. Fitzporter, 93 Mo. 390, 6 S. W. 223.

101. Thus an instruction that if the fact of the pregnancy of the woman was fully and clearly proven, and the fact that defendant administered to the woman some drug or substance with the intent to produce the miscarriage, or that he used some instrument with intent to procure her miscarriage, is proven beyond a reasonable doubt, then the jury should find defendant guilty, is erroneous in that it does not require them to find the fact of pregnancy to have been proven beyond a reasonable doubt. State v. Stewart, 52 Iowa 284, 3 N. W. 99.

102. Thus, in a prosecution where evidence of good character has been given in behalf of defendant, an instruction that if the jury find from all the evidence in the cause, independent of the evidence of defendant's good character, that there is a reasonable doubt as to his guilt, then they should give him the benefit of his good character and acquit him; and that if they should find from all the evidence given in the cause, independent of the evidence of previous good character, that the defendant did commit the crime, evidence of previous good character would not avail him anything, and they should find him guilty,— is erroneous as excluding from the consideration of the jury the evidence of defendant's good character. Holland v. State, 131 Ind. 568, 31 N. E. 359. See also supra, X, A, 4.

Hence, in a prosecution for producing an abortion, it is not error to refuse to charge that if the jurors were not convinced beyond a reasonable doubt that the accused took the woman to the office of the person who it is alleged performed the operation, for the purpose of having an abortion procured, they must acquit him unless it appears that after he arrived at the office he in some way aided and assisted in the procurement of the abortion, since Ind. Rev. Stat. (1894), § 1857, provides that every person who shall aid or abet in the commission of a felony, or who shall counsel, encourage, hire, or command, or otherwise procure a felony to be committed, may be charged as if he were the principal, as such instruction eliminated the counseling, encouraging, hiring, or commanding of the commission of the felony, prohibited by the statute. Hauk v. State, 148 Ind. 238, 46 N. E. 127.

103. State v. Watson, 30 Kan. 281, 1 Pac. 770; Com. v. Adams, 127 Mass. 15.

Applications of the rule.— Where the statute makes the administration of any drug or substance to a pregnant woman quick with child, with intent thereby to destroy such child, manslaughter in the second degree, and by another section it is provided that the administration of any drug or substance to a pregnant woman, with intent thereby to procure the miscarriage of such woman, a misdemeanor, a verdict finding defendant guilty of the latter offense under an indictment charging the former is not erroneous, since the facts constituting the former necessarily include the latter. State v. Watson, 30 Kan. 281, 1 Pac. 270. So, where an indictment charges an abortion and that the woman died as a consequence thereof, the court may, on motion of the prosecuting attorney and with defendant's consent, nol. pros. so much of the indictment as charges the death as a consequence, where the jury return into court and state that they have agreed that defendants are guilty as accessories before the fact, but are not agreed as to whether or not the death resulted from the abortion, and such verdict may be received. Com. v. Adams, 127 Mass. 15.

tains more than one count.[104] But if the verdict attempts to find the facts, it should find either the name of the woman on whom the attempt was made, or that she was the person named in the indictment;[105] but it need not find the ingredients, kinds, quality, or quantity of the drug administered.[106]

3. RECEPTION IN DEFENDANT'S ABSENCE. A verdict finding one guilty of an attempt to produce an abortion may be received in the absence of defendant.[107]

ABORTIVE TRIAL. A term descriptive of a trial where the case has gone off and no verdict has been pronounced without the fault, contrivance, or management of the parties, but not where there has been a verdict, though that has been set aside.[1]

ABORTUS. The fruit of an abortion; a child born before the proper time.[2]

ABOUT. The word "about" is a relative term which may indicate one thing when applied to one state of facts, and another under different circumstances.[3] It is an ordinary word, however, of no artificial meaning or technical signification, and should receive the rendering which is given to it in common parlance.[4] It commonly denotes nearness or proximity in degree,[5] quality,[6] quantity,[7] performance,[8] place,[9] or time;[10] making preparation to do a thing, or being actually engaged in doing something;[11] round.[12] The use of the word "about" gives a 104. Armstrong v. People, 37 Ill. 459, holding that such a verdict will be presumed to refer to the offense alleged in the indictment. See supra, VIII, A, 4.

Hence, where one count of an indictment charged the destruction of the fœtus by means of an instrument, and another count charged its destruction by the use of a drug, a verdict finding the defendant guilty is not bad for repugnancy. Tabler v. State, 34 Ohio St. 127.

105. Thus a verdict finding defendant guilty of having used and employed certain instruments upon the person of a pregnant woman, with intent thereby to procure the miscarriage of such woman, which does not specify the name of the woman or that she is the woman named in the indictment, is insufficient to support a conviction under an indictment charging the defendant with using instruments on the person of a certain designated woman with intent to produce her miscarriage. Cobel v. People, 5 Park. Crim. (N. Y.) 348.

106. State v. Owens, 22 Minn. 238, wherein it is held that it is not necessary that the jury should be able to determine the ingredients, kinds, quality, or quantity of whatever thing is prescribed, procured, or provided with intent to produce an abortion, and that the statement in the verdict that the ingredients, kinds, quality, and quantity of the thing which defendant procured the woman to take with the guilty intent are unknown to the jury, did not affect their finding that he did procure her to take something with intent then and there thereby to cause premature labor.

107. Holliday v. People, 9 Ill. 111, assigning as a reason for this rule that the offense is a misdemeanor, and in misdemeanor cases defendant's presence is not essential.

1. Croker v. Orpen, Jebb & B. 43, 51.

2. Century Dict.

A synonymous term is "abortion," which is applied alike to the crime and to the fruit thereof. Abbott L. Dict.

3. Per Waite, C. J., in Von Lingen v. Davidson, 4 Fed. 346, 350, 1 Fed. 178.

It has a more uncertain meaning than the words "almost," "nearly," "well-nigh." Von Lingen v. Davidson, 1 Fed. 178, 186.

4. Myers v. Farrell, 47 Miss. 281, 283.

5. Hockspringer v. Ballenburg, 16 Ohio 304, 312.

6. Hockspringer v. Ballenburg, 16 Ohio 304, 312.

7. Indianapolis Cabinet Co. v. Herrman, 7 Ind. App. 462, 467, 34 N. E. 579.

8. Myers v. Farrell, 47 Miss. 281, 283; Jackson v. Burke, 4 Heisk. (Tenn.) 610, 614 [citing Webster Dict.].

9. State v. McManus, 89 N. C. 555, 558, holding that a weapon concealed "about" the person is "concealed near, in close proximity to him, and within his convenient control and easy reach."

Moving with the person.—Warren v. State, 94 Ala. 79, 10 So. 838, holding that where a weapon was concealed in a small handbag hung over the shoulder, "manifestly the weapon was being carried 'about' the person, in the sense of moving with the person."

10. Hockspringer v. Ballenburg, 16 Ohio 304, 312; Alabama G. S. R. Co. v. Arnold, 84 Ala. 159, 168, 4 So. 359, 5 Am. St. Rep. 354, where in each count of the complaint it was averred that "plaintiff attempted to descend the steps when the train was about arriving," and it was held that "'about,' in the connection here used, means 'nearly,'—'not far from,'—that is, near—not far from the arrival of the train."

11. Myers v. Farrell, 47 Miss. 281, 283; Hockspringer v. Ballenburg, 16 Ohio 304, 312.

"About" equivalent to "will."—An affidavit in attachment proceedings that a debtor "will" convert, etc., has been held equivalant to "about" to convert, etc. Frere v. Perret, 25 La. Ann. 500.

12. Rex v. Culkin, 5 C. & P. 121, holding, of an allegation in an indictment for homicide, that "about the breast might mean only near the breast, but about the neck means round it."

margin for a moderate excess in, or diminution of, the quantity mentioned[13] and negatives the idea that exact precision is intended.[14] It imports that the actual quantity is a near approximation to that mentioned,[15] and, when the context limits and restrains its meaning, does not materially impair the certainty of a description.[16] (For Construction of the Word "About:" In Contracts, see CONTRACTS; SALES; SHIPPING; VENDOR AND PURCHASER. In Deeds, see DEEDS. In Entry of Lands, see PUBLIC LANDS. In Statutes Relating to — Attachment, see ATTACHMENT; Carrying Weapons, see WEAPONS; Sales of Liquor to Be Drunk About Premises, see INTOXICATING LIQUORS.)

ABOUTIR. To ABUT,[17] q. v.

ABOUTISSEMENT. An abutment or ABUTTAL,[18] q. v.

ABOVE. Higher, superior;[19] excess.[20]

ABOVE-CITED or ABOVE-MENTIONED. Quoted above.[21]

ABRADERE. To scrape off; to erase.[22]

ABRASIO. A scraping off; an erasure.[23]

ABRIDGE. To epitomize; to reduce; to contract.[24]

ABRIDGMENT. An epitome of another and larger work.[25] To constitute a true abridgment the whole of the original work must be preserved in sense;[26] yet it is original in its nature,[27] and intellectual labor and judgment must be bestowed thereon,[28] so that it may with propriety be called a new book.[29] An abridgment is 13. Reuter v. Sala, 4 C. P. D. 239, 244.

14. Cutts v. King, 5 Me. 482, 486; Purinton v. Sedgley, 4 Me. 283, 286.

"Say about."—In McConnel v. Murphy, L. R. 5 P. C. 203, 217, the court said: "There is not merely the word 'about,' which in itself creates some uncertainty, but 'say about.' These two words used together seem to be employed for the purpose of showing that nothing absolute or definite in the way of allegation of quantity was intended on the part of the vendor."

15. Baltimore Permanent Bldg. Soc. v. Smith, 54 Md. 187, 39 Am. Rep. 374; Sample v. Pickard, 74 Mich. 416, 421, 42 N. W. 54; Stevens v. McKnight, 40 Ohio St. 341.

16. Adams v. Harrington, 114 Ind. 66, 72, 14 N. E. 603; Corey v. Swagger, 74 Ind. 211, 213; Jones v. Plummer, 2 Litt. (Ky.) 161; Purinton v. Sedgley, 4 Me. 283, 286.

17. Burrill L. Dict.

18. Burrill L. Dict.

19. Burrill L. Dict.

20. Williams v. McDonald, 42 N. J. Eq. 392, 395, 7 Atl. 866, construing the expression "above all encumbrances."

21. Wharton L. Lex.

A figurative expression taken from the ancient manner of writing books on scrolls, where whatever is mentioned or cited before in the same roll must be above. Encycl. Lond.

22. Burrill L. Dict.

23. Adams Gloss.

24. Story v. Holcombe, 4 McLean (U. S.) 306, 310, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,497.

25. Bouvier L. Dict.

"Abridgment" and "digest" are used as synonyms. D'Almaine v. Boosey, 1 Y. & C. Exch. 288, 301. And the term "digest" has now supplanted that of "abridgment." Black L. Dict. [citing Sweet Dict.].

Distinction between "abridgment" and "compilation."— In Story v. Holcombe, 4 McLean (U. S.) 306, 314, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,497, the court said: "Between a 'compilation' and an 'abridgment' there is a clear distinction; and yet it does not seem to have been drawn in any opinion cited. A compilation consists of selected extracts from different authors: an abridgment is a condensation of the views of the author. The former can not be extended so as to convey the same knowledge as the original work: the latter contains an epitome of the work abridged, and consequently conveys substantially the same knowledge. The former can not adopt the arrangement of the works cited; the latter must adopt the arrangement of the work abridged."

26. Story v. Holcombe, 4 McLean (U. S.) 306, 314, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,497; Newbery's Case, Lofft 775.

27. D'Almaine v. Boosey, 1 Y. & C. Exch. 288, 301.

28. Lawrence v. Dana, 4 Cliff. (U. S.) 1, 79, 2 Am. L. T. Rep. N. S. 402, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,136; Folsom v. Marsh, 2 Story (U. S.) 100, 107, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,901.

Facile use of scissors not sufficient.— In Folsom v. Marsh, 2 Story (U. S.) 100, 107, 9 Fed. Cas. No. 4,901, Story, J., said: "What constitutes a fair and bona fide abridgment, in the sense of the law, is one of the most difficult points, under particular circumstances, which can well arise for judicial discussion. It is clear that a mere selection or different arrangement of parts of the original work, so as to bring the work into a smaller compass, will not be held to be such an abridgment. There must be real, substantial condensation of the materials, and intellectual labor and judgment bestowed thereon; and not merely the facile use of the scissors; or extracts of the essential parts, constituting the chief value of the original work."

29. Newbery's Case, Lofft 775; Gyles v. Wilcox, 2 Atk. 141, 143, "because not only the paper and print, but the invention, learning, and judgment of the author is shown in them."

a meritorious work in that it renders the original less expensive and more convenient,[30] but abridgments are not to be considered as absolute authorities.[31] (See also COPYRIGHT; LITERARY PROPERTY.)

ABROACHMENT. See ABBROCHMENT.

ABROAD. In English chancery law, BEYOND THE SEAS,[32] q. v.

ABROGATE. To annul by an authoritative act; to repeal.[33]

ABROGATION. The act of abrogating; the annulment or repeal of a law by authority of the legislative power.[34]

ABSCOND. To go in a clandestine manner out of the jurisdiction of the courts;[35] to absent one's self clandestinely;[36] or to lie concealed in order to avoid the process of the courts.[37] The word is not synonymous with "remove,"[38] for one may be about to remove from the state publicly and not in a clandestine manner, as is meant by the word "abscond."[39]

ABSCONDING or ABSENT DEBTOR. One who lives without the state, or who has intentionally concealed himself from his creditors or withdrawn himself from the reach of their suits, with intent to frustrate their just demands.[40] (Absconding Debtor: Arrest of, see ARREST. Attaching Property of, see ATTACHMENT. Bankruptcy Proceedings against, see BANKRUPTCY. Insolvency Proceedings against, see INSOLVENCY. Suspension of Statute of Limitations against, see LIMITATIONS OF ACTIONS.)

ABSENCE. In common usage, a state of being away from, or at a distance from, not in company with.[41] Primarily the word imported prior presence,[42] and 30. Newbery's Case, Lofft 775.

Useful to practical men.— In D'Almaine v. Boosey, 1 Y. & C. Exch. 288, 301, where "abridgment" and "digest" are used synonymously, they are said to be "of great use to practical men, though not so, comparatively speaking, to students."

31. Far v. Denn, 1 Burr. 362, 364; Palmer's Case, 5 Coke 24*b*; Wyndham v. Chetwynd, 1 W. Bl. 95, 101; Stevens v. Tyrrell, 2 Wils. C. P. 1.

32. Anderson L. Dict.

33. Burrill L. Dict.

34. Burrill L. Dict.

35. Bouvier L. Dict. [quoted in Malvin v. Christoph, 54 Iowa 562, 7 N. W. 6; Norman v. Zieber, 3 Oreg. 197, 205].

36. Thompson v. Newton, 2 La. 411, 413; Stouffer v. Niple, 40 Md. 477, 482; Gandy v. Jolly, 34 Nebr. 536, 539, 52 N. W. 376; Bennett v. Avant, 2 Sneed (Tenn.) 152, 153.

But see Conard v. Conard, 17 N. J. L. 154, to the effect that a statute requiring that an affidavit for attachment should state that the debtor "absconds" from his creditors is not satisfied by stating that he "absents" himself from them.

37. Malvin v. Christoph, 54 Iowa 562, 7 N. W. 6; Gandy v. Jolly, 34 Nebr. 536, 539, 52 N. W. 376; Norman v. Zieber, 3 Oreg. 197, 205; Bennett v. Avant, 2 Sneed (Tenn.) 152, 153.

Equivalent to "conceal."— The term "abscond" has been considered as equivalent to the term "conceal." Thompson v. Newton, 2 La. 411, 413; Wallis v. Wallace, 6 How. (Miss.) 254, 256.

Departure from the state unnecessary.—A party may abscond, and subject himself to the operation of the attachment laws against absconding debtors, and still not depart from the limits of the state. Field v. Adreon, 7 Md. 209, 213.

The word "absconded," used in Kan. Gen. Stat. (1897), c. 95, § 15, relating to limitation of actions, refers to acts of the party within the state of Kansas. Myers v. Center, 47 Kan. 324, 27 Pac. 978; Hoggett v. Emerson, 8 Kan. 262.

38. In re Proctor, 27 Vt. 118, holding that a certificate that the subscribing authority is not of the opinion that a debtor is about to "abscond" is not sufficient to meet an affidavit that he is about to "remove."

39. Mandel v. Peet, 18 Ark. 236, 243; Boardman v. Bickford, 2 Aik. (Vt.) 345, 348; Dunlop v. Harris, 5 Call (Va.) 16, 47.

Equivalent to "remove privately."— An affidavit that one is "about to abscond himself and his property out of the state" is equivalent to the assertion that he is "about to remove himself and property out of the state privately." Ware v. Todd, 1 Ala. 199.

40. Fitch v. Waite, 5 Conn. 117, 121; Burrichter v. Cline, 3 Wash. 135, 28 Pac. 367.

One shut up from his creditors in his own house is an absconding debtor. Ives v. Curtiss, 2 Root (Conn.) 133.

One who has removed himself from his home to avoid process is an absent debtor. Hodges v. Deaderick, 1 Yerg. (Tenn.) 125, 135.

The term "absent debtor" applies equally to non-residents and residents. Cochran v. Fitch, 1 Sandf. Ch. (N. Y.) 142.

41. Paine v. Drew, 44 N. H. 306, 317.

Not necessarily outside of state.— "We find no reason to interpret 'absence' as meaning 'out of the state' only." James v. Townsend, 104 Mass. 367, 371.

Constructive absence.— One may be constructively absent though actually present, as where a judge, though on the bench, does not sit in the cause and is taken as absent in contemplation of law. Bingham v. Cabbot, 3 Dall. (U. S.) 19, 36, 1 L. ed. 491; Byrne v. Arnold, 24 N. Brunsw. 161, 164.

42. Paine v. Drew, 44 N. H. 306, 317.

still does so under certain circumstances,[43] although under others it has been held equivalent to "non-residence."[44] It has also been held the equivalent of non-appearance,[45] and also applied to all cases of default without service of process.[46] (Absence: Of Accused from Examination or Trial, see CRIMINAL LAW. Of Counsel as Ground for — Continuance, see CONTINUANCES, CRIMINAL LAW; New Trial, see CRIMINAL LAW, NEW TRIAL; Opening Default, see JUDGMENTS. Of Debtor as Ground for — Attachment, see ATTACHMENT; Bankruptcy Proceedings, see BANKRUPTCY; Insolvency Proceedings, see INSOLVENCY. Of Judge, see JUDGES. Of Juryman, see JURIES. Of Justice of Peace, see JUSTICES OF THE PEACE. Of Party as Ground for — Continuance, see CONTINUANCES; New Trial, see NEW TRIAL; Opening Default, see JUDGMENTS. Of Witness — Accounting for, see CRIMINAL LAW, TRIAL; As Ground for Continuance, see CONTINUANCES, CRIMINAL LAW; As Ground for New Trial, see CRIMINAL LAW, NEW TRIAL; Taking and Using Depositions in, see DEPOSITIONS; Using Former Testimony in, see EVIDENCE. Presumption of Death Arising from, see DEATH. Suspension of Statute of Limitations During, see LIMITATIONS OF ACTIONS. See also ABSENTEES.)

ABSENT. As a verb, to make absent;[47] as an adjective, not in a certain place at a given time.[48] In general the word imports a prior presence,[49] a cessation of, 43. Snoddy v. Cage, 5 Tex. 106, holding that the word "absence," in the statute of limitations, imports former residence.

44. State v. Superior Ct., 6 Wash. 352, 355, 33 Pac. 827, holding that the word "absence," as used in Wash. Laws (1887–8), p. 26, § 5, does not mean simply being away from a usual place of residence or not being within the county when an action is pending, but that it is equivalent to non-residence.

Contra, Croxall v. Hutchings, 12 N. J. L. 97, holding that in attachment it is not sufficient for plaintiff to swear "that the debtor absconds from his creditors and is not at this time within the state," etc., but that he must swear that the debtor is not resident in the state. "Absence and non-residence are not convertible terms. The latter is required."

45. Covart v. Haskins, 39 Kan. 571, 574, 18 Pac. 522, wherein the court said: "'Absence' is the opposite of 'appearance at a specified time.' We hold that 'absence,' as used in Kan. Comp. Laws (1879), c. 81, § 114, relating to judgments rendered in a justice's court against a defendant in his absence, means a failure of the parties to appear at the trial upon which a judgment is rendered."

Strine v. Kaufman, 12 Nebr. 423, 11 N. W. 867, where, in considering the meaning of "absence" in the code provision relating to setting aside a judgment in a justice's court rendered in the absence of defendant, it was held equivalent to non-appearance to the action. "In this we are supported by Worcester, who, in his unabridged dictionary, adopting the definition of Burrill, says: 'Absence,' in law, means 'non-appearance.'"

Phillips v. Phillips, L. R. 1 P. & D. 169, holding that absence means non-appearance in the suit, and not absence without knowledge or notice of the suit.

46. James v. Townsend, 104 Mass. 367, 371, discussing the use of the word in Mass. Gen. Stat. c. 146, § 21, concerning petitions for writs of review.

47. Century Dict.

To remove from United States.— In In re Davison, 4 Fed. 507, it was held that "absented himself," as used in U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 1342, relating to courts-martial, means an absence from the jurisdiction of the military courts; that is, from the United States.

48. Century Dict.

49. Wheeler v. Wheeler, 35 Ill. App. 123 [citing Snoddy v. Cage, 5 Tex. 106; Buchanan v. Rucker, 9 East 192], holding that in statutes other than of limitations the word "absent" must be taken to apply only to persons who had been present.

Buchanan v. Rucker, 9 East 192, wherein Lord Ellenborough, C. J., said: "By persons 'absent from the island' must necessarily be understood persons who have been present and within the jurisdiction, so as to have been subject to the process of the court; but it can never be applied to a person who for aught appears never was present within or subject to the jurisdiction."

Distinction between verb and adjective.— In Paine v. Drew, 44 N. H. 306, 317, the court said: "The word 'absent,' when used as a verb, as in the sentence 'to absent himself,' implies prior presence . . . And the word 'absent,' when used as an adjective in common and ordinary use, simply means 'not present' and refers only to the condition or situation of the person or thing spoken of at the time of speaking, without any allusion or reference to any prior situation or condition of the same person or thing."

"Absent" distinguished from "non-resident."— In Curd v. Letcher, 3 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 443, 445, Underwood, J., distinguishing between an absent and non-resident defendant, said: "A man may be a citizen of Kentucky and yet a non-resident, and he may be a resident and yet an absent defendant."

But in Wash v. Heard, 27 Miss. 400, 406, it is said that the word "absent," in Hutchinson's Code, 756, § 20, includes non-residents.

and probability or possibility of returning presence.[50] One who is dead is not absent.[51]

ABSENT DEBTOR. See ABSCONDING DEBTOR.

ABSENTE. Being absent.[52]

50. Wheeler v. Wheeler, 35 Ill. App. 123; Wash v. Heard, 27 Miss. 400, 405, holding that "absent," in Hutchinson's Code, 764, § 5, relating to service by publication on absent defendants, does not embrace non-resident defendants, but has reference to parties resident in the state but temporarily absent.

51. Rockland v. Morrill, 71 Me. 455, 457; Redfern v. Rumney, 1 Cranch C. C. (U. S.) 300, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,627.

52. Burrill L. Dict.

Frequently used in old reports in such an expression as "All the three justices, absente North, Chief Justice, were clear of opinion that," etc. Williamson v. Hancock, 2 Mod. 14.

ABSENTEES

Edited by Archibald C. Boyd

CROSS-REFERENCES

For Other Matters Relating to Absentees, as:
Attachment against Property of, see ATTACHMENT.
Confiscation of Property of, During War, see WAR.
Representation of Absent Heirs, see DESCENT AND DISTRIBUTION; EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Representation of Absent Parties, see EQUITY; PARTIES.
Service of Process on, see PROCESS.
For Temporary Administration of Estates of Absent Persons, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

I. DEFINITION.[1]

An absentee is a person who has resided in the state and has departed without leaving anyone to represent him.[2] An absentee has also been

1. Scope of article.—The law of absentees as here considered is confined almost exclusively to the state of Louisiana and is governed entirely by statutory provisions. Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), art. 47 et seq. The Texas statute, which was similar to that of Louisiana, is no longer in force. Thouvenin v. Rodrigues, 24 Tex. 468; Mills v. Alexander, 21 Tex. 154; Grassmeyer v. Beeson, 18 Tex. 753, 70 Am. Dec. 309, 13 Tex. 524.

2. Bartlett v. Wheeler, 31 La. Ann. 540; Morris v. Bienvenu, 30 La. Ann. 878; Lasere v. Rochereau, 21 La. Ann. 205; Samory v. Montgomery, 19 La. Ann. 333; State v. Second Dist. Ct. Judge, 16 La. Ann. 390; Farrell v. Klumpp, 13 La. Ann. 311; Guillemin's Succession, 2 La. Ann. 634; State v. Parish Ct. Judge, 15 La. 81; Hill v. Bowman, 14 La. 445; Voorhies' Rev. Civ. Code La. (1875), art. 3556.

Departure after arrest.—One who, after having been arrested and given bond to remain, departs from the state, is an absentee. Loughery v. Crooks, 5 La. Ann. 484; McMicken v. Smith, 12 La. 155.

Departure after service of citation and before service of petition.—A person who departs from the state after service of citation and before service of petition upon him is an absentee. Zacharie v. Blandin, 4 La. 154.

Absence on public business, as being temporarily absent from the state in attendance on congress, has been held sufficient to constitute one an absentee. Ramsay v. Livingston, 6 Mart. N. S. (La.) 15.

Mere temporary absence from the state may not constitute one an absentee. Dreville v. Cucullu, 18 La. Ann. 695.

Proof of absence.—The return of the sheriff to the effect that a person had removed from defined to be one who has never been domiciled in the state and who resides abroad.[3]

II. Statutes Construed.

A. In General. Statutory provisions empowering the courts to decide upon the rights of absentees, being in derogation of the general principles of jurisprudence, must be strictly construed and every formality complied with.[4]

B. Separate Provisions. The several statutory provisions relating to absentees must be construed together.[5]

III. Representatives of Absentees.

A. Curators — 1. Definition. A curator is a person appointed to administer the estate of an absentee.[6]

2. Appointment — a. When Authorized. A curator may be appointed to administer the estate of an absentee if the latter be possessed of either movable or immovable property within the state and has left no agent to take care of it, or when the agent who has been appointed dies or is unwilling or unable to continue the administration.[7]

b. Who May Be Appointed. A woman other than the wife of the absentee cannot be his curatrix.[8]

c. Preferences in Appointment. The wife of an absentee is to be preferred to his presumptive heirs, the presumptive heirs to the other relatives, the relatives to strangers, and creditors to those who are not otherwise interested.[9]

d. Demand by Petition. The person seeking to be appointed curator must make a demand by petition addressed to the judge of the jurisdiction in which the estate is situated.[10]

e. Curator's Oath. The curator must take oath to fulfill the duties of his administration.[11]

3. Powers, Duties, and Liabilities — a. Administration of Estate — (1) In General. The only power possessed by the curator is that of administering the estate.[12] He must do this in the way a prudent administrator would do, and is responsible for damages resulting from maladministration ;[13] and the absentee his domicile at a certain street where previous notices had been served upon him, and that he could not be found after diligent search in the neighborhood and among his acquaintances, does not justify the assumption of absence where it is shown that the person is actually residing with a relative in another part of the city. Farrell v. Klumpp, 13 La. Ann. 311.

Effect of leaving representative.— In State v. Second Dist. Ct. Judge, 16 La. Ann. 390, it was held that one who left at his dwelling a person of suitable age and discretion, upon whom service could be made, or one who left a duly authorized agent to represent him, could not be considered an absentee.

Death of the agent appointed to represent one who has departed from the state constitutes the latter an absentee, where no other agent has been appointed. Dixey v. Irwin, 23 La. Ann. 426.

3. Penn v. Evans, 28 La. Ann. 576; Guillemin's Succession, 2 La. Ann. 634; Dreville v. Cucullu, 18 La. Ann. 695; State v. Parish Ct. Judge, 15 La. 81; Hill v. Bowman, 14 La. 445; George v. Fitzgerald, 12 La. 604; Zacharie v. Blandin, 4 La. 154; Voorhies' Rev. Civ. Code La. (1875), art. 3556.

Temporary residence.— In Morris v. Bienvenu, 30 La. Ann. 878, it was held that a resident of another state, who had a temporary domicile in Louisiana, which he occupied a portion of the time, was nevertheless an absentee.

4. Farrell v. Klumpp, 13 La. Ann. 311; Hill v. Barlow, 6 Rob. (La.) 142.

5. Dupuy v. Hunt, 2 La. Ann. 562; Dreville v. Cucullu, 18 La. Ann. 695.

6. Voorhies' Rev. Civ. Code La. (1875), art. 47.

7. Wilson v. Smith, 14 La. Ann. 368; Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), art. 963; Voorhies' Code Pr. La. (1882), art. 963.

8. Carraby v. Carraby, 7 Mart. N. S. (La.) 466.

9. Rust v. Randolph, 4 Mart. (La.) 370; Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), art. 48.

10. Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), art. 1114; Voorhies' Code Pr. La. (1982), art. 966.

11. Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), art. 49.

12. Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), art. 50.

13. Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), arts. 50, 337.

has a mortgage on the curator's property as security for a proper administration of the estate.[14]

(II) Alienation of Estate. The curator cannot alienate or mortgage the estate.[15]

b. Recovery of Legacies. The curator may accept or recover any legacy or inheritance to which the absentee may be entitled; but before receiving any portion thereof he must give security therefor.[16]

c. Inventory, Appraisement, and Bond. The curator must cause to be made a faithful inventory and appraisement of the estate and give good and sufficient security to the amount of the inventory.[17]

d. Accounts. The curator must file annual accounts, and also one at the termination of his curatorship.[18]

e. Substitution of Other Person. The curator cannot, after having refused the appointment, substitute someone else in his place.[19]

f. Appearance in Suits. In suits against the absentee upon the appointment of a curator ad hoc, the curator must cause himself to be substituted for the curator ad hoc.[20]

g. Advances. The curator has a mortgage upon the estate of the absentee for advances made.[21]

4. Termination of Curatorship. The curatorship is terminated when the absentee appoints an attorney in fact for the administration of his estate,[22] or when, after a certain time without hearing of the absentee, his heirs cause themselves to be put into possession of his estate.[23] The curator may be removed by the court which appointed him, for cause shown.[24]

5. Compensation. The curator is entitled to a commission of ten per cent. on the annual revenues of the property intrusted to his charge.[25]

B. Curators Ad Hoc — 1. Definition. A curator ad hoc is a person appointed to represent an absentee in a suit instituted against him.[26]

2. Appointment — a. When Authorized — (I) In General. If a suit be instituted against an absentee who has no known agent in the state, or in the administration of whose property no curator has been appointed, a curator ad hoc may be appointed to represent him in such suit.[27] The suit must be one

14. Brownson v. Baker, 11 La. 409; Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), art. 3314.

Unauthorized interference.— Any person who without authority intermeddles in the administration of an absentee's estate is liable therefor, and the law gives a mortgage on the intermeddler's estate in favor of the absentee. Ward v. Brandt, 11 Mart. (La.) 331, 13 Am. Dec. 352.

15. Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), art. 50.

16. Dolhonde v. Lemoine, 32 La. Ann. 251.

17. Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), art. 49.

18. Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), arts. 54, 59.

19. Cestia v. Ferrandon, 18 La. Ann. 730.

20. Taylor v. Graham, 18 La. Ann. 656, 89 Am. Dec. 699.

21. Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), art. 3314.

22. Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), art. 52.

23. Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), art. 52.

24. Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), art. 1158; Voorhies' Code Pr. La. (1882), art. 1013.

25. Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), arts. 56, 349.

26. Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), art. 56; Black L. Dict.

Attorney ad litem is a name sometimes applied to a curator ad hoc; the two terms are synonymous. Bienvenu v. Factors', etc., Ins. Co., 33 La. Ann. 209; Dixey v. Irwin, 23 La. Ann. 426; Hall v. Laurence, 21 La. Ann. 692; Hooke v. Hooke, 6 La. 472.

27. Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), arts. 116, 962, 963.

Prior to the adoption of the codes the appointment of a curator ad hoc was unauthorized. State v. Parish Ct. Judge, 15 La. 81.

Construction of word "suit."— Under the old code a curator ad hoc could not be appointed to represent an absentee in a suit instituted directly against such absentee, but only in cases where a suit which involved the interests of the absentee was pending. Astor v. Winter, 8 Mart. (La.) 171; Holliday v. McCulloch, 3 Mart. N. S. (La.) 176. The new code, however, provides for the appointment of a curator ad hoc "if a suit be against an absentee;" hence the decisions in the cases above cited are obsolete. Ramsay v. Livingston, 6 Mart. N. S. (La.) 15.

Existence of special attorney.— In Taylor v. Graham, 18 La. Ann. 656, 89 Am. Dec. 699, it was held that the appointment of a curator ad hoc was authorized although a special which may be lawfully instituted, and which is pending before the judge who makes the appointment.[28] The appointment should be made with caution, in the cases clearly designated by statute, and then only in the manner prescribed by statute.[29] It is essential, moreover, to the validity of the appointment, that the absentee is the owner of property in the state or at least within the jurisdiction of the court.[30]

(II) In Personal Actions. The institution of a purely personal action against an absentee will not authorize the appointment;[31] and the only effect of such an appointment would be to give notice as far as possible to the absentee of the pendency of the suit.[32]

(III) In Proceedings Relating to Specific Property. When the proceeding or suit relates to specific property within the jurisdiction of the court, — such as petitory actions to establish title to land;[33] applications for orders of seizure and sale of property of absent mortgagors;[34] applications for the dissolution of a sale of immovable property coupled with a demand for possession;[35] suits to annul a donation of land;[36] to annul judgments relating to land;[37] to enforce paving claims against particular property;[38] to cancel contracts for the sale of land;[39] to compel partition of property in which absent minors have an interest;[40] to have specific performance of agreements to exchange land;[41] to define the status of realty and determine the validity of liens thereon;[42] to determine title to and partition of realty;[43] to enforce a mortgage and vendor's priviattorney to represent the absentee had been appointed, it not being shown that such attorney had power to represent the absentee in the suit.

Sufficiency of representation.— The substitution, by an attorney in fact who has refused to act, of another person in his place, is without effect, and, the absentee being unrepresented, a curator ad hoc may be appointed in a suit against the absentee. Cestia v. Farrandon, 18 La. Ann. 730.

28. Dupuy v. Hunt, 2 La. Ann. 562, in which it is also held that no power is conferred to bring the absentee into court on the simple demand of a creditor.

29. Holbrook v. Bronson, 25 La. Ann. 51; Gates v. Gaither, 46 La. Ann. 286, 15 So. 50, in which case the appointment was void.

30. Field v. New Orleans Delta Newspaper Co., 19 La. Ann. 36; Hedrick v. Banister, 10 La. Ann. 208; Stephens v. Graves, 9 La. Ann. 239; Prindle v. Williams, 9 La. Ann. 34; Peterson v. McRae, 3 La. Ann. 101; Dupuy v. Hunt, 2 La. Ann. 562.

In Laughlin v. Louisiana, etc., Ice Co., 35 La. Ann. 1184, and Bracey v. Calderwood, 36 La. Ann. 796, it was held — following Pennoyer v. Neff, 95 U. S. 714, 24 L. ed. 565 — that except in actions affecting personal status, or in those partaking of the nature of proceedings in rem, the appointment of a curator ad hoc was unauthorized unless property in the state belonging to the absentee was brought under the control of the court by process adapted to that purpose; in effect reversing the former decisions of the supreme court (George v. Fitzgerald, 12 La. 604; State v. Parish Ct. Judge, 15 La. 81; Jelks v. Smith, 5 La. Ann. 674; Ackley v. Lyons, 6 La. Ann. 648) which had held that the appointment was authorized in suits against absentees, even though they had no property within the state.

In Augusta Ins., etc., Co. v. Morton, 3 La. Ann. 417, which was a suit against a husband and wife, who were absentees, on notes secured by mortgages on realty belonging to the separate estate of the wife, it was held that a curator ad hoc to represent the husband could not be appointed, no property of his being under control of the court.

But see McDonald v. Vaughan, 13 La. Ann. 405 [distinguishing Dupuy v. Hunt, 2 La. Ann. 562], wherein it was held that a curator ad hoc could be appointed to represent an absentee, his property having been subjected to the jurisdiction of the court by sequestration.

31. Bracey v. Calderwood, 36 La. Ann. 796; Laughlin v. Louisiana, etc., Ice Co., 35 La. Ann. 1184; Pagett v. Curtis, 15 La. Ann. 451; Walker v. Sanchez, 13 La. Ann. 505; Tudor v. Thayer, 6 La. Ann. 27; Reynolds v. Horn, 4 La. Ann. 187; Flowers v. Foreman, 23 How. (U. S.) 132, 16 L. ed. 405.

32. Pagett v. Curtis, 15 La. Ann. 451; Smith v. McWaters, 7 La. Ann. 145.

33. Beaumont v. Covington, 6 Rob. (La.) 189.

34. State v. Second Dist. Ct. Judge, 16 La. Ann. 390; Thayer v. Tudor, 2 La. Ann. 1010; Millaudon v. Beazley, 2 La. Ann. 916.

35. McKenzie v. Bacon, 38 La. Ann. 764.

36. Wunstel v. Landry, 39 La. Ann. 312.

37. Ferguson v. Thomas, 6 La. Ann. 218.

38. O'Hara v. Booth, 29 La. Ann. 817.

39. Robbins v. Martin, 43 La. Ann. 488, 9 So. 108.

40. Crawford v. Binion, 46 La. Ann. 1261, 15 So. 693.

41. Mason v. Benedict, 43 La. Ann. 397, 8 So. 930.

42. Duruty v. Musacchia, 42 La. Ann. 357, 7 So. 555.

43. Hansell v. Hansell, 44 La. Ann. 548, 10 So. 941; Morris v. Bienvenu, 30 La. Ann. 878.

lege;[44] to enforce a pledge on certain stock;[45] to enforce the transfer of an interest in a judgment;[46] to quiet title;[47] to recover the value of improvements;[48] to remove an apparent encumbrance;[49] to rescind a sale;[50] to set aside a sale of property by an insolvent;[51] to subject to seizure property in which the absentee has an interest,[52]—the appointment of a curator ad hoc is authorized.

b. Time of Appointment. The suit must have been commenced before the appointment can be made;[53] but it is not necessary that service of citation be had prior to the appointment.[54]

c. Proceedings for Appointment—(I) Showing Cause. The person asking for the appointment must show absence or other sufficient cause;[55] but need not make oath of the fact of such absence or produce authentic proof thereof.[56] Nor is it necessary that he should presume that the general agent of the absentee has power to represent the absentee in the suit.[57]

(II) Affidavit. The affidavit may be made by the agent of the party seeking appointment.[58]

(III) Petition. The petition or motion for appointment should generally allege the existence in the state of property belonging to the absentee and subject to the jurisdiction of the court;[59] but where the property has already been subjected to the jurisdiction of the court by proper proceedings the averment of absence and non-residence is sufficient.[60]

(IV) Order. The disqualification of the judge after the appointment for a cause existing at the time of the appointment does not render the order of appointment invalid.[61] Nor is the order signed by a person other than the judge of itself invalid.[62]

d. Oath. A curator ad hoc need not be sworn.[63]

e. Notification. Service of citation and petition amounts to a notification of appointment.[64]

f. Acceptance. It must appear that the appointment has been accepted.[65]

g. Effect as a Citation. The appointment of a curator ad hoc supplies the place of a citation to the absentee.[66]

3. Powers, Duties, and Liabilities—a. Powers Generally. The powers of a curator ad hoc are confined to the performance of such acts as tend to the defense of the rights and interests of the absentee.[67] He cannot, by any informality in his

44. Bartlett v. Wheeler, 31 La. Ann. 540.
45. Dwight v. Bellocq, 18 La. Ann. 209.
46. Young v. Upshur, 42 La. Ann. 362, 7 So. 557, 21 Am. St. Rep. 381.
47. Bartels v. Souchon, 48 La. Ann. 783, 19 So. 941.
48. Seymour v. Cooley, 9 La. 72.
49. Pasley v. McConnell, 38 La. Ann. 470.
50. Derepas v. Shallus, 15 La. 371.
51. Brown v. Ferguson, 4 La. 257.
52. Adler v. Wolff, 36 La. Ann. 169.
53. Seymour v. Cooley, 9 La. 78.

Appointment pendente lite will raise the presumption that a vacancy existed by death or otherwise. Beaumont v. Covington, 6 Rob. (La.) 189.

54. Gillis v. Cuny, 21 La. Ann. 462.
55. Farrell v. Klumpp, 13 La. Ann. 311.
56. Frost v. McLeod, 19 La. Ann. 80.
57. Taylor v. Graham, 18 La. Ann. 656, 89 Am. Dec. 699.
58. Seymour v. Cooley, 9 La. 72.
59. In Rogay v. Juilliard, 25 La. Ann. 305 [distinguishing Field v. New Orleans Delta Newspaper Co., 19 La. Ann. 36], it was held that a simple averment of absence, and non-residence without alleging the existence of property within the state was insufficient.
60. Hall v. Laurence, 21 La. Ann. 692.
61. Fellows v. Reid, 6 La. Ann. 724.
62. Cavaroc v. Fournet, 28 La. Ann. 587, stating, as a reason for this rule, the fact that a new order may subsequently be made by the proper person.
63. Woolverton v. Stevenson, 52 La. Ann. 1147, 27 So. 674; Hansell v. Hansell, 44 La. Ann. 548, 10 So. 941; Thayer v. Tudor, 2 La. Ann. 1010.
64. Carpenter v. Beatty, 12 Rob. (La.) 540; Hill v. Barlow, 6 Rob. (La.) 142, also holding that until service of citation the curator has no capacity to act.
65. Tucker v. Agricultural Bank, 2 La. Ann. 446.
66. Brown v. Ferguson, 4 La. 257.
67. Carpenter v. Beatty, 12 Rob. (La.) 540; Hill v. Barlow, 6 Rob. (La.) 142.

Contract by curator ad hoc.—In an action to rescind a contract for a sale of land on the ground of non-payment of purchase-price, the curator ad hoc of the vendee entered into an agreement with the attorney of the vendor, by which agreement the vendor waived all claim for rents and revenues which had or might have accrued during the occupancy of the vendee, and the vendor waived all pleadings, invest the court with the jurisdiction which the subject-matter of the suit does not give;[68] nor can he waive any of the legal rights of his absentee.[69]

b. Particular Powers and Duties. While a curator has no power to waive service of citation;[70] to abandon a plea taken by him;[71] to dispense with the production of legal evidence or with any of the forms required by law in the taking thereof;[72] to submit a case to the decision of the court in vacation;[73] or to enter a joint denial or demand a joint trial,[74] — he has power to acknowledge in writing service of citation on him, and by such action bind the absentee;[75] to enter a demurrer;[76] to appoint an attorney;[77] and to sign an appeal bond[78] for the absentee.

c. Performance of Duty Presumed. It must be presumed that the curator ad hoc performed his duty, nothing to the contrary appearing.[79]

d. Neglect of Duty. A curator ad hoc is responsible to his absentee for neglect of duty.[80]

4. Termination of Curatorship. The curatorship does not terminate[81] until the cause has been passed upon by the court of last resort, except when terminated by death of the curator ad hoc,[82] or by his discharge by the court upon sufficient cause shown.[83] Having accepted the appointment the curator ad hoc cannot resign the trust so as to defeat the action.[84]

5. Compensation — a. When Allowed. Compensation to the curator ad hoc may be allowed in the discretion of the court,[85] but only for defending the interests of his absentee.[86]

b. Amount of Allowance. But one fee will be allowed for representing several absentees unless application is made for an increase in proportion to the services rendered.[87]

c. Against Whom Taxed. No fee can be taxed against a plaintiff who has succeeded in the suit.[88]

d. Order or Judgment Allowing. An ex parte summary order for a fee against the absentee is invalid;[89] and the judgment entered without the consent of the curator allowing him a fee, and which he never ratifies, is not binding on him.[90] right to any claim for the repayment of any part of the purchase-price already paid. It was held that the curator had no authority to enter into such a contract. George v. Knox, 23 La. Ann. 354.

68. Bush v. Visant, 40 Ark. 124; Walker v. Sanchez, 13 La. Ann. 505.

69. Carpenter v. Beatty, 12 Rob. (La.) 540; Hyde v. Craddick, 10 Rob. (La.) 387; Hill v. Barlow, 6 Rob. (La.) 142; Collins v. Pease, 17 La. 116.

70. Ticknor v. Calhoun, 28 La. Ann. 258; Hill v. Barlow, 6 Rob. (La.) 142.

71. Bienvenu v. Factors', etc., Ins. Co., 33 La. Ann. 209.

72. Edmonson v. Mississippi, etc., R. Co., 13 La. 282.

73. Clacor v. Lane, 5 La. Ann. 499.

74. Bush v. Visant, 40 Ark. 124.

75. Bartlett v. Wheeler, 31 La. Ann. 540; Millaudon v. Beazley, 2 La. Ann. 916.

76. Henry v. Blackburn, 32 Ark. 445, held, however, that such an act does not amount to entering an appearance for the absentee.

77. Cooley v. Beauvais, 9 La. 85.

78. Bach v. Ballard, 13 La. Ann. 487, also holding it to be the duty of the curator ad hoc to appeal on behalf of his absentee whenever in his opinion it is best to do so.

79. Story v. Jones, 14 La. Ann. 73; Cooley v. Seymour, 9 La. 274; Beaumont v. Covington, 6 Rob. (La.) 189.

80. Cooley v. Seymour, 9 La. 274.

But see Cobb v. Richardson, 30 La. Ann. 1228, where, upon the dissolution of an injunction issued at the instance of the curator ad hoc, damages were not allowed to be assessed against either the absentee or the curator ad hoc, it appearing that the latter, acting without the scope of his authority, had done so conscientiously.

81. Bach v. Ballard, 13 La. Ann. 487.

82. Greig v. Muggah, 11 La. 357, in which case it was held that no subsequent proceedings could be had in the case until after the appointment of another curator ad hoc.

83. Thayer v. Tudor, 2 La. Ann. 1010.

84. Thayer v. Tudor, 2 La. Ann. 1010.

85. Hiriart v. Morgan, 5 La. 43.

86. Whitney v. O'Bearne, 11 La. 266, denying an allowance where plaintiff suffered a nonsuit.

87. Taylor v. Simpson, 12 La. Ann. 587.

88. Hewet v. Wilson, 7 La. 71; Pontalba v. Pontalba, 2 La. 466. Otherwise, however, where defendant succeeds, as was held in Bowie v. Davis, 33 La. Ann. 345, wherein the curator ad hoc, after filing an answer asking that his fee be taxed as costs against plaintiff, proved the value of his services and judgment was entered for defendant against plaintiff for the fee.

89. Cooley v. Beauvais, 9 La. 85.

90. Gilbert v. Neal, 2 La. Ann. 904.

IV. PROPERTY AND CONVEYANCES.

A. Provisional Possession by Heirs. Where an absentee does not appear at the place of his residence for five years and has not been heard of, his presumptive heirs may be put in possession of his estate and may enjoy a portion of the revenues on condition of their giving security for their administration.[91]

B. Mortgages. The same formalities must be observed with respect to mortgages on property of the absentee as are prescribed for mortgages on property of residents.[92] But a mortgage in favor of an absentee is valid, though not accepted by him.[93]

V. ACTIONS.

A. How Prosecuted. All suits in which an absentee is interested must be prosecuted by or against his curator.[94]

B. Conditions Precedent — 1. APPOINTMENT OF CURATOR AD HOC. Before suit can be commenced against an absentee, an application must be made for the appointment of a curator ad hoc if no other representative exists.[95]

2. DEMAND. A demand is not necessary in a suit against an absent mortgagor.[96]

C. Jurisdiction. A probate court has no jurisdiction of a suit against an absentee represented by a curator ad hoc.[97]

D. Service of Citation and Petition — 1. NECESSITY FOR. Service should be made on the curator or curator ad hoc, and is binding on the absentee.[98] If, however, the absentee has an attorney in fact, service should be made upon him.[99]

2. MANNER OF SERVICE. Service may be made by delivery in person or by leaving a copy at the curator's domicile.[100] It is immaterial that the citation is addressed to the absentee if it is served upon the curator ad hoc.[101] When addressed to the curator ad hoc it should be in his official capacity, and it should be so stated in the citation.[102] It is not necessary to post the citation on the door of the court-house.[103]

E. Waiver of Defects in Citation. A curator ad hoc does not waive defects in a citation by filing an answer.[104]

F. Reconventional Demand. A demand in reconvention may be instituted against an absentee.[105]

G. Communication with Absentee. Sufficient time should be allowed the curator ad hoc in which to communicate with his absentee.[106]

H. Pleading. A petition in an action against an absentee which enables the curator ad hoc to answer, and which authorizes judgment against the absentee if

91. Westover v. Aime, 11 Mart. (La.) 443; Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), art. 57.

92. Levasseur v. Martin, 11 La. Ann. 684; Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), art. 3302.

93. Millaudon v. Allard, 2 La. 547; Lamkin v. Maxwell, Mann. Unrep. Cas. (La.) 322; Hill v. Barlow, 6 Rob. (La.) 142.

But in McLean v. Pargoud, Mann. Unrep. Cas. (La.) 264, it was held that a mortgage given by a person owning property jointly with an absentee was not binding on the absentee.

94. Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), art. 51; Voorhies' Code Pr. La. (1882), art. 108.

95. Moore v. Nicholls, 5 La. 488.

96. Millaudon v. Beazley, 2 La. Ann. 916.

97. Soulie v. Soulie, 5 La. 26.

98. O'Hara v. Booth, 29 La. Ann. 817; Hall v. Laurence, 21 La. Ann. 692; Byrne v. Marshall, Mann. Unrep. Cas. (La.) 196; Derepas v. Shalus, 15 La. 371; Seymour v. Cooley, 9 La. 78; Copley v. Berry, 12 Rob. (La.) 79.

99. Voorhies' Code Pr. La. (1882), art. 196.

100. Morris v. Bienvenu, 30 La. Ann. 878.

101. Cooper v. Polk, 2 La. Ann. 158; Byrne v. Marshall, Mann. Unrep. Cas. (La.) 196.

102. Galoche v. Grivot, 18 La. Ann. 481.

In McDonald v. Vaughan, 13 La. Ann. 405, it was held that a citation addressed to the representative of an absentee under the name of an advocate, when he should have been styled curator ad hoc, was bad.

103. Morris v. Bienvenu, 30 La. Ann. 878.

104. Galoche v. Grivot, 18 La. Ann. 481.

105. Woolfolk v. Ship Graham's Polly, 18 La. Ann. 693.

106. Weil v. Hillbron, Mann. Unrep. Cas. (La.) 218; Thomas v. Mahone, 9 Bush (Ky.) 111, holding, however, that the fact that an absentee's attorney was unable to communicate with him will not render the judgment void; Brown v. Early, 2 Duv. (Ky.) 372.

the facts alleged therein are found to be true, cannot be objected to as being too special.[107]

I. Issues Joined. Issue must be joined, or judgment by default regularly taken, before the cause can be tried.[108]

J. Evidence. In a suit on a written instrument against an absentee represented only by a curator ad hoc, the signature of the absentee thereto must be proved with the same strictness as though it had been specially denied in person.[109]

K. Judgment against Absentee — 1. VALIDITY AND EFFECT. The judgment must show on its face an intent to bind the absentee,[110] and must be restricted to the property of the absentee subject to the jurisdiction of the court.[111]

2. BY DEFAULT. Where the curator ad hoc, after exceptions overruled, fails to file an answer, a judgment by default is proper.[112]

L. Appeal. An appeal by an attorney appointed to represent an absentee, which alleges that an error in the judgment is to the prejudice of the absentee, is the appeal of the absentee, not of the attorney.[113]

ABSENTIA. ABSENCE,[1] q. v.

ABSOILE or ASSOILE. To ABSOLVE,[2] q. v.

ABSOLUTA. ABSOLUTE,[3] q. v.

ABSOLUTA SENTENTIA EXPOSITORE NON INDIGET. A maxim meaning "an absolute sentence or proposition needs not an expositor."[4]

ABSOLUTE. The term "absolute" has no fixed, unvarying meaning,[5] but it has various significations which it receives in popular use;[6] as, certain; clear;[7] complete;[8] exclusive;[9] final;[10] finished;[11] independent;[12] perfect;[13]

107. Moore v. Nicholls, 5 La. 488.

108. Schnaufer v. Schnaufer, 4 La. Ann. 355.

109. Ticknor v. Calhoun, 29 La. Ann. 277.

110. Duruty v. Musacchia, 42 La. Ann. 357, 7 So. 555.

111. George v. Le Grand, 3 La. Ann. 652, also holding that the judgment, not being a personal one, cannot, on being recorded, operate as a judicial mortgage upon the other property belonging to the absentee.

In Smith v. McWaters, 7 La. Ann. 145, it was held that a judgment rendered against an absent warrantor represented by a curator ad hoc has no force outside of the state, unless the absentee has authorized the curator to defend the suit.

112. Story v. Jones, 14 La. Ann. 73.

113. Kraeutler v. U. S. Bank, 12 Rob. (La.) 456.

1. Burrill L. Dict.

2. Kelham Dict.

3. Burrill L. Dict.

4. Burrill L. Dict. [citing 2 Inst. 533].

5. Miller, J., in Washington F. Ins. Co. v. Kelly, 32 Md. 421, 450, who further said: "When used in connection with an interest in property it is not always synonymous with 'unqualified.' Used in connection with 'estate' it means an estate in lands not subject to or defeasible upon any condition. Burrill L. Dict. It may be quite as often and as pertinently used in contradistinction to 'contingent' or 'conditional' as to 'qualified' or 'encumbered.'"

6. Walker, J., in Johnson v. Johnson, 32 Ala. 637, 640.

7. People v. Ferry, 84 Cal. 31, 34, 24 Pac. 33.

8. Alabama.— Johnson v. Johnson, 32 Ala. 637, 640 [citing Webster Dict.; Johnson Dict.].

California.— People v. Ferry, 84 Cal. 31, 34, 24 Pac. 33 [citing Webster Dict.].

Illinois.— Campbell v. Campbell, 130 Ill. 466, 477, 22 N. E. 620.

South Carolina.— Fuller v. Missroon, 35 S. C. 314, 330, 14 S. E. 714 [citing Rapalje & L. L. Dict.].

Vermont.— Matter of Reed, 21 Vt. 635, 638.

In its signification of "complete," "not limited," it is used to distinguish an estate in fee from an estate in remainder. Walker, J., in Johnson v. Johnson, 32 Ala. 637, 640.

"By the term 'absolute' I do not mean that the lien is unconditional, but that it is complete and perfect." Matter of Reed, 21 Vt. 635, 638.

9. Johnson v. McIntosh, 8 Wheat. (U. S.) 543, 588, 5 L. ed. 681, where Marshall, C. J., said: "An absolute, must be an exclusive title, or at least a title which excludes all others not compatible with it." And in Johnson v. Johnson, 32 Ala. 637, 641, Walker, J., said: "We doubt whether the word 'absolute' is ever used in a sense which would import an exclusion of the marital rights."

10. Fuller v. Missroon, 35 S. C. 314, 330, 14 S. E. 714 [citing Rapalje & L. L. Dict.].

11. People v. Ferry, 84 Cal. 31, 34, 24 Pac. 33 [citing Webster Dict.].

12. Johnson v. Johnson, 32 Ala. 637, 641, where Walker, J., said: "In its sense of 'independent of anything extraneous' it is used in algebra to designate any pure number standing without the conjunction of literal characters."

13. California.— People v. Ferry, 84 Cal. 31, 34, 24 Pac. 33 [citing Webster Dict.].

positive;[14] total;[15] unconditional;[16] uncontrolled;[17] unlimited;[18] unrelated;[19] and vested.[20] The word has the effect in some cases of an intensive.[21] (Absolute Conviction or Moral Certainty, Instructions as to, see CRIMINAL LAW. Absolute Ownership or Property in Fire Insurance, see FIRE INSURANCE. Absolute Total Loss in Marine Insurance, see MARINE INSURANCE.)

ABSOLUTELY. Completely; wholly; without qualification; without reference to, or dependence upon, any other person, thing, or event;[22] utterly.[23] The word also has the effect of an intensive.[24] (See also ABSOLUTE.)

ABSOLUTION. In canon law, a judgment of the clergy that the sins of the Illinois.— Campbell v. Campbell, 130 Ill. 466, 477, 22 N. E. 620.

New York.— Converse v. Kellogg, 7 Barb. (N. Y.) 590, 597 [citing Bouvier L. Dict.]; Williams v. Lande, 74 Hun (N. Y.) 425, 428, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 703.

South Carolina.— Fuller v. Missroon, 35 S. C. 314, 330, 14 S. E. 714 [citing Rapalje & L. L. Dict.].

Vermont.— Matter of Reed, 21 Vt. 635, 638.

14. People v. Ferry, 84 Cal. 31, 34, 24 Pac. 33.

15. People v. Ferry, 84 Cal. 31, 34, 24 Pac. 33; Campbell v. Campbell, 130 Ill. 466, 477, 22 N. E. 620.

16. Alabama.— Johnson v. Johnson, 32 Ala. 637, 641.

California.— People v. Ferry, 84 Cal. 31, 34, 24 Pac. 33 [citing Webster Dict.].

Maryland.— Miller, J., in Washington F. Ins. Co. v. Kelly, 32 Md. 421, 450 [citing Burrill L. Dict.].

New York.—Falconer v. Buffalo, etc., R. Co., 69 N. Y. 491, 498; Lott v. Wykoof, 2 N. Y. 355, 357; Converse v. Kellogg, 7 Barb. (N. Y.) 590, 597 [citing Bouvier L. Dict.]; Williams v. Lande, 74 Hun (N. Y.) 425, 428, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 703.

Pennsylvania.— Greenawalt v. Greenawalt, 71 Pa. St. 483, 487.

South Carolina.— Fuller v. Missroon, 35 S. C. 314, 330, 14 S. E. 714 [citing Rapalje & L. L. Dict.].

In its signification of "unconditional" it describes a bond or conveyance or estate without condition. Johnson v. Johnson, 32 Ala. 637, 640.

An absolute conveyance, an absolute right, an absolute estate, an absolute sale is that which cannot be defeated or changed by any condition, restriction, or limitation. So in an absolute petition. Falconer v. Buffalo, etc., R. Co., 69 N. Y. 491, 498.

"'Absolute' is not a word used legally to distinguish a fee from a life estate, but to distinguish a qualified or conditional from a simple fee." Sharswood, J., in Greenawalt v. Greenawalt, 71 Pa. St. 483, 487.

17. People v. Ferry, 84 Cal. 31, 34, 24 Pac. 33 [citing Webster Dict.]; Williams v. Vancleave, 7 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 388, 393.

"Absolute [property] means [property which is] free, not controlled by others." Williams v. Vancleave, 7 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 388, 393.

18. Johnson v. Johnson, 32 Ala. 637, 640.

19. People v. Ferry, 84 Cal. 31, 34, 24 Pac. 33 [citing Webster Dict.].

In its signification of "not relative" it describes the rights of man in a state of nature as contradistinguished from those which pertain to him in his social relations. Johnson v. Johnson, 32 Ala. 637, 641. "By the absolute rights of individuals we mean those which are so in their primary and strictest sense, such as would belong to their persons merely in a state of nature, and which every man is entitled to enjoy whether out of society or in it." People v. Berberrich, 20 Barb. (N. Y.) 224, 229 [citing 1 Bl. Comm. 123].

20. Loventhal v. Home Ins. Co., 112 Ala. 108, 116, 20 So. 419, 57 Am. St. Rep. 17, 36 L. R. A. 258; Hough v. City F. Ins. Co., 29 Conn. 10, 76 Am. Dec. 581; Commercial Ins. Co. v. Spankneble, 52 Ill. 53, 4 Am. Rep. 582; Wooddy v. Old Dominion Ins. Co., 31 Gratt. (Va.) 362, 375, 31 Am. Rep. 732.

21. People v. Davis, 64 Cal. 440, 1 Pac. 889, where the court said: "A philologist may be able to say that the word 'absolute,' in the instruction requested and rejected, adds no force to the words 'moral certainty.' But the word suggests a degree of certainty greater than that moral certainty, which can be reached upon such evidence as is securable in courts of justice."

People v. Ferry, 84 Cal. 31, 34, 24 Pac. 33, where the following language was used, to wit: "Is there any difference between 'conviction' and 'absolute conviction'? Do they mean the same? . . . We think there is a difference, and absolute conviction means conviction beyond a possibility of doubt, which the law does not require a jury to attain to render a verdict against a defendant.

22. Burrill L. Dict.

23. In the expression "absolutely void" the word means "utterly" and is not used as contrasted with "relatively." Pearsoll v. Chapin, 44 Pa. St. 9, 14.

24. "While, in a general sense, it may be said that the word 'necessary,' like the word 'perfect,' implies the superlative degree, and that, therefore, when a thing is declared to be necessary, it is essential, and ex vi termini implies all that would be expressed by the words 'absolutely necessary,' still, the word 'absolutely' is not unfrequently used to emphasize the degree of necessity when it is intended to express an extreme case. This latter use is sanctioned by custom, and it can not be said to be either improper or meaningless." State v. Tetrick, 34 W. Va. 137, 11 S. E. 1002.

penitent are remitted; in civil law, a decree declaring the innocence of the accused.[25]

ABSOLUTUM ET DIRECTUM DOMINIUM. Absolute and direct ownership.[26]

ABSOLVE. To acquit of a crime; to pardon or set free from excommunication.[27]

ABSOLVITOR. In Scotch law, an acquittal or a decree in favor of defendant in any action.

ABSQUE. Without.[29]

ABSQUE HOC. Literally, "without this." In pleading these were technical words of denial used in pleading by way of special traverse.[30]

ABSQUE TALI CAUSA. Literally, "without such cause." In pleading these were technical words used in the now obsolete replication de injuria.[31]

ABSTRACT. As a noun the word "abstract" denotes a less quantity containing the virtue and force of a greater quantity.[32] It ordinarily means a mere brief, and not a copy of that from which it is taken,[33] although sometimes used in the sense of copy.[34] As a verb the word "abstract" signifies to take or withdraw from.[35] (Abstract: Of Judgment, Recording, see JUDGMENTS. Of Record — as Evidence, see EVIDENCE; On Appeal or Error, see APPEAL AND ERROR. Of Title, see ABSTRACTS OF TITLE.)

ABSTRACT OF A FINE. See NOTE OF A FINE.

25. Brown L. Dict.

26. Burrill L. Dict. [citing 2 Bl. Comm. 105; Coke Litt. 1*b*].

27. Wharton L. Lex.

28. Wharton L. Lex.

29. Stimson L. Gloss.

30. Burrill L. Dict.; Stephen Pl. 165.

31. Wharton L. Lex.

32. McCracken v. Graham, 14 Pa. St. 209; Harrison v. Southern Porcelain Mfg. Co., 10 S. C. 278, 283.

33. Dickinson v. Chesapeake, etc., R. Co., 7 W. Va. 390, 413.

Distinguished from transcript.— A transcript is generally defined as a copy and is more comprehensive than an abstract. Harrison v. Southern Porcelain Mfg. Co., 10 S. C. 278, 283.

34. Wilhite v. Barr, 67 Mo. 284.

35. U. S. v. Harper, 33 Fed. 471, 479; U. S. v. Northway, 120 U. S. 327, 334, 7 S. Ct. 580, 30 L. ed. 664.

Has no technical meaning.— The term "abstract," as used in U. S. Rev. Stat. (1878), § 5209, has no technical meaning like "embezzle;" but it is employed in the statute, and is to be understood, in its ordinary and popular sense, as "taking" or "withdrawing from," so that to abstract the moneys, funds, credits, and assets of a bank is to take or withdraw them. U. S. v. Harper, 33 Fed. 471, 479; U. S. v. Northway, 120 U. S. 327, 334, 7 S. Ct. 580, 30 L. ed. 664.

ABSTRACTS OF TITLE

EDITED BY JOHN S. WILKES
Associate Justice Supreme Court of Tennessee

CROSS-REFERENCES

For Matters Relating to:

Admissibility of Abstracts of Title in Evidence, see DEEDS; EVIDENCE; LOST INSTRUMENTS.

For Matters Relating to — (continued)
Examination of Records by Abstracter, see RECORDS.
Furnishing Abstract and Its Effect in Particular Cases, see EJECTMENT; MORTGAGES; TRESPASS TO TRY TITLE; VENDOR AND PURCHASER.
Limitation of Actions against an Abstracter, see LIMITATIONS OF ACTIONS.
Right to Copyright Abstract Books, see COPYRIGHT.

I. DEFINITION.

An abstract of title is a memorandum or concise statement of the conveyances and encumbrances which appear on the public records affecting the title to real property.[1]

II. OBJECT.

The object of an abstract of title is to enable the purchaser, or his counsel, to pass readily upon the validity of the title in question.[2]

III. REQUISITES.

A. In General. The abstract should contain whatever concerns the source and condition of the title.[3] It should contain a note of all conveyances and transfers or other facts relied on as evidences of the title, together with all such facts appearing of record as may impair the title.[4] But just how full or minute a description of the instruments abstracted should be given is, to a certain extent, a matter for the abstracter himself to decide,[5] although it has been held that material parts of all patents, deeds, wills, judicial proceedings, and other records or documents which touch the title, and also liens and encumbrances of every nature, should be set forth.[6]

B. Legal Effect of Instruments Abstracted. The abstract need not state the legal effect of any instrument noted therein.[7]

C. Inconsistency in Descriptions of Premises. It is not necessary to state in the abstract that the descriptions of the premises in the various instruments are inconsistent.[8]

1. Smith v. Taylor, 82 Cal. 533, 23 Pac. 217; Union Safe Deposit Co. v. Chisholm, 33 Ill. App. 647; Dickinson v. Chesapeake, etc., R. Co., 7 W. Va. 390, 413. In Banker v. Caldwell, 3 Minn. 94, the court quoted with approval the following definition from Burrill L. Dict.: "An abstract or summary of the most important parts of the deeds and other instruments composing the evidences of a title to real estate, arranged usually in chronological order. . . . It also contains a statement of all charges, encumbrances, liens, and liabilities to which the property may be subjected, and of which it is in any way material for purchasers to be apprised."

Epitome of facts.—In Heinsen v. Lamb, 117 Ill. 549, 7 N. E. 75, the court said: "We understand an abstract, in a legal sense, to be a summary or an epitome of the facts relied on as evidence of title."

2. Taylor v. Williams, 2 Colo. App. 559, 31 Pac. 504; Kane v. Rippey, 22 Oreg. 296, 23 Pac. 180; Burnaby v. Equitable Reversionary Interest Soc., 54 L. J. Ch. 466, 52 L. T. Rep. N. S. 350.

Avoids reference to deeds.— In Banker v. Caldwell, 3 Minn. 94, the court quoted with approval a definition from Burrill L. Dict., which states that the abstract of title is "intended to show the origin, course, and incidents of the title, without the necessity of referring to the deeds themselves."

3. Taylor v. Williams, 2 Colo. App. 559, 31 Pac. 504; Kane v. Rippey, 22 Oreg. 296, 23 Pac. 180.

4. Heinsen v. Lamb, 117 Ill. 549, 7 N. E. 75; Wacek v. Frink, 51 Minn. 282, 53 N. W. 633, 38 Am. St. Rep. 502. See also Peabody Bldg., etc., Assoc. v. Houseman, 89 Pa. St. 261, 33 Am. Rep. 757, in which it was held that a recorder of deeds making a certificate of search for one desiring to secure a loan on property could not omit therefrom existing mortgages, on the statement of the party ordering the search that the mortgages would be promptly satisfied.

5. Wacek v. Frink, 51 Minn. 282, 53 N. W. 633, 38 Am. St. Rep. 502.

6. Taylor v. Williams, 2 Colo. App. 559, 31 Pac. 504; Burnaby v. Equitable Reversionary Interest Soc., 54 L. J. Ch. 466, 52 L. T. Rep. N. S. 350, where it was said that the abstract ought to set out every part of the documents abstracted which may affect the judgment of the purchaser, and the purchaser is entitled to consider that no part of the documents which is not set out has any bearing upon the title.

7. Wacek v. Frink, 51 Minn. 282, 53 N. W. 633, 38 Am. St. Rep. 502.

8. American Trust Invest. Co. v. Nashville Abstract Co., (Tenn. Ch. 1896) 39 S. W. 877.

D. When Prepared for Limited Period or Certain Records. When the abstract is prepared to cover only a limited period[9] or certain records[10] it need not include anything of record outside of such period or such records.

IV. Duties and Liabilities of Abstracter.

A. Must Give Bond. Under some statutes an abstracter of title is required to give a bond, which is designed to secure those who may be damaged through the inefficiency, negligence, or fraud of such abstracter.[11]

B. Must Possess Skill and Exercise Due Care. The undertaking implied by law from engaging in the business of making abstracts of title for compensation is that the abstracter possesses the requisite knowledge and skill, and that he will use due and ordinary care in the performance of his duties.[12]

C. Legal Knowledge Required. It has been said that no professional opinion is required of an abstracter,[13] but abstracters of title are bound to have a sufficient knowledge of law to know what is and what is not a lien upon real estate.[14]

D. Occupies Trust Relation toward Employer. Persons engaged in the business of making abstracts of title occupy a relation of confidence toward those employing them.[15]

E. Does Not Guarantee Title. One who furnishes an abstract of title does not become a guarantor of the title.[16]

F. Must Examine Record. An abstracter, in preparing an abstract of title, must examine the record itself, and is not justified in relying on marginal notes.[17] He is bound to use sufficient diligence to find any encumbrances when properly made matter of record so as to affect all parties interested with notice.[18]

9. Wakefield v. Chowen, 26 Minn. 379, 4 N. W. 618, where an abstracter agreed to furnish an abstract of title between certain dates, and it was held that he was under no obligation to note therein an unsatisfied judgment against one of the grantees of the title, which appeared of record only before the first date, although it did not become a lien until within the period covered.

10. Thomas v. Carson, 46 Nebr. 765, 65 N. W. 899, where an abstracter certified that he had searched the records of the county clerk, the clerk of the district court, and the county treasurer, and that there were no liens on the property except as mentioned in the abstract, and it was held that he was not liable for the omission of a prior mortgage of record in the office of the register of deeds. The fact that the omission of the former mortgage was the result of a conspiracy between the abstracter and others was held not material, since the certificate of the abstracter imparted notice of the abstracter's engagement and the extent of his liability.

11. Thomas v. Carson, 46 Nebr. 765, 65 N. W. 899.

12. California.— Lattin v. Gillette, 95 Cal. 317, 30 Pac. 545, 29 Am. St. Rep. 115.

Illinois.— Chase v. Heaney, 70 Ill. 268.

Michigan.— Smith v. Holmes, 54 Mich. 104, 19 N. W. 767.

Minnesota.— Wacek v. Frink, 51 Minn. 282, 53 N. W. 633, 38 Am. St. Rep. 502.

Missouri.— Schade v. Gehner, 133 Mo. 252, 34 S. W. 576; Rankin v. Schaeffer, 4 Mo. App. 108.

Tennessee.— American Trust Invest. Co. v. Nashville Abstract Co., (Tenn. Ch. 1896) 39 S. W. 877; Dickle v. Nashville Abstract Co., 89 Tenn. 431, 14 S. W. 896, 24 Am. St. Rep. 616.

13. Dickle v. Nashville Abstract Co., 89 Tenn. 431, 14 S. W. 896, 24 Am. St. Rep. 616.

14. Dodd v. Williams, 3 Mo. App. 278.

"That the making of a perfect abstract of the title to a piece of land, with all the encumbrances which affect it, involves a great exercise of legal learning and careful research, I presume no lawyer will dispute. The person preparing such an abstract must understand fully all the laws on the subject of conveyances, descents and inheritances, uses and trusts, devises, and in fact every branch of the law that can affect real estate in its various mutations from owner to owner, sometimes by operation of law and again by act of the parties." Flandrau, J., in Banker v. Caldwell, 3 Minn. 94.

15. Vallette v. Tedens, 122 Ill. 607, 14 N. E. 52, 3 Am. St. Rep. 502, wherein the court said: "They should be held to a strict responsibility in the exercise of the trust and confidence which are necessarily reposed in them. Any abuse of such trust and confidence should be met with emphatic rebuke." In this case it was held that where one was engaged, as the result of his employment as an abstracter, to look up certain property and purchase it for a fixed sum for his employer, he was estopped from purchasing it for his own use.

16. Wacek v. Frink, 51 Minn. 282, 53 N. W. 633, 38 Am. St. Rep. 502; Schade v. Gehner, 133 Mo. 252, 34 S. W. 576; Rankin v. Schaeffer, 4 Mo. App. 108.

17. Wacek v. Frink, 51 Minn. 282, 53 N. W. 633, 38 Am. St. Rep. 502.

18. Dodd v. Williams, 3 Mo. App. 278.

G. Liability for Act of Employee. Where one contracts to search for taxes and assessments it is of no consequence whether he employs another; he alone is responsible to his employer for the correctness of his certificate.[19]

H. Injury Must Be Direct. An abstracter is liable only for injuries which result directly from the defects in his abstract.[20]

I. To Whom Liable — 1. In General. By the weight of authority an abstracter is liable only to the person ordering and paying for the abstract;[21] and where this view obtains, the fact that an abstracter has knowledge that his abstract is to be used in a sale or loan to advise a purchaser or person about to lend money does not affect the rule as to his liability.[22]

2. Third Persons. In some jurisdictions, however, the abstracter's liability has been extended to protect those who, relying on the correctness of the abstract, are injured.[23]

J. Limiting Liability. An abstracter cannot limit his liability by an obscure

19. Morange v. Mix, 44 N. Y. 315.

20. Roberts v. Sterling, 4 Mo. App. 593, appendix, in which it was held that no recovery could be had against an examiner of titles for failure to report in his certificate of examination a judgment lien against the property, where it was shown that at the time of the examination plaintiff had already bought and paid for the property and advanced no money on faith of the examiner's certificate, or where the existence of the lien omitted could be material to the purchaser only on account of an understanding between him and his apparent grantor, of which the examiner had no notice and by reason of which a deed appearing on its face to be absolute was held to be a mortgage.

Failure to avoid consequences of error.— In Roberts v. Leon Loan, etc., Co., 63 Iowa 76, 18 N. W. 702, defendant abstracters made an erroneous statement in the abstract whereby plaintiff was led to believe that she had ten days longer to redeem land from a sheriff's sale than the time actually allowed for redemption. The mistake was discovered by plaintiff before the time for redemption expired, and it was held that she could not recover for the error where she had not used ordinary diligence in endeavoring to procure money to redeem after the mistake was discovered, and did not promptly inform defendants of the mistake, so that they might take steps to avoid the consequences of failure to redeem.

Voluntary payment of judgment.— There can be no recovery against an examiner of titles for failure to report in his certificate of examination a judgment lien against the property, where the judgment omitted is voluntarily paid and satisfied of record by the purchaser. Roberts v. Stirling, 4 Mo. App. 593, appendix.

Voluntary payment of mortgage.— A purchaser of property on which there was an outstanding mortgage not included in the abstract has no right of action against the abstracter in respect to payments on the mortgage voluntarily made by him after notice of the omission. Brega v. Dickey, 16 Grant Ch. (U. C.) 494.

21. Arkansas.— Talpey v. Wright, 61 Ark. 275, 32 S. W. 1072, 54 Am. St. Rep. 206.

Indiana.— Mechanics Bldg. Assoc. v. Whitacre, 92 Ind. 547.

Kansas.— Symns v. Cutter, (Kan. App. 1900) 59 Pac. 671; Mallory v. Ferguson, 50 Kan. 685, 32 Pac. 410, 22 L. R. A. 99.

Missouri.— Schade v. Gehner, 133 Mo. 252, 34 S. W. 576; Clark v. Marshall, 34 Mo. 429; Zweigardt v. Birdseye, 57 Mo. App. 462.

Nebraska.— Security Abstract of Title Co. v. Longacre, 56 Nebr. 469, 76 N. W. 1073.

United States.— National Sav. Bank v. Ward, 100 U. S. 195, 25 L. ed. 621; Dundee Mortg., etc., Co. v. Hughes, 20 Fed. 39.

A guaranty by an abstracter to the person ordering the search, "his heirs, devisees, and grantees," does not render the abstracter liable for damages, resulting from errors in the abstract, to one who is not an immediate grantee of the promisee, but derives title through a mesne conveyance. Glawatz v. People's Guaranty Search Co., 49 N. Y. App. Div. 465, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 691.

22. Zweigardt v. Birdseye, 57 Mo. App. 462.

23. Gate City Abstract Co. v. Post, 55 Nebr. 742, 76 N. W. 471, where it was held that the object of Nebr. Comp. Stat. (1897), c. 73, §§ 65–69, was to extend the common-law liability of abstracters.

Dickle v. Nashville Abstract Co., 89 Tenn. 431, 14 S. W. 896, 24 Am. St. Rep. 616, which held that where an abstracter furnishes the owner of property with an abstract of title for the purpose of enabling such owner to effect a sale, the abstracter is liable to the purchaser, who buys upon the faith of such abstract, for damages resulting from negligence or want of skill in the preparation of such abstract.

National Sav. Bank v. Ward, 100 U. S. 195, 25 L. ed. 621, dissenting opinion of Waite, C. J., Swayne and Bradley, JJ.

Abstract furnished to prospective lender.— Where an abstracter furnishes an abstract to a third person, at the request of the owner of lands, and is aware that it will be used by such third person in deciding whether it is safe to make a loan thereon, he will be liable for loss sustained by such third person through defects in the title not disclosed by the abstract. Brown v. Sims, 22 Ind. App. 317, 53 N. E. 779.

clause in the certificate appended to the abstract without specially calling it to the attention of the party ordering the abstract.[24]

K. Search by Public Officer — 1. When Authorized. In some of the states it is the practice for the examiner, after having ascertained the chain of title by inspection of the records, to direct written requisitions to the clerks of the various offices for searches for encumbrances or liens of record that may affect the property.[25]

2. Effect of Requesting Search by Particular Clerk. The fact that the plaintiff, in requesting a search by a public officer, requested that it be made by a particular clerk, does not constitute that clerk plaintiff's agent.[26]

3. Information to Be Given Officer. A public officer, when he is called upon to make a search, is entitled to have such information — either by the names of parties or by reference to the records in his office — as will enable him, by examining the indexes, or the record to which he is referred, to ascertain the premises in relation to which he is required to make a search.[27]

4. Liability of Officer — a. In General. Where a public officer is required by statute to make searches he is liable to respond in damages for a false search.[28] But where an officer is not required by statute to make a search, a false certificate creates no civil liability,[29] although it may render the officer subject to indictment for misconduct in office.[30] A public officer who is not required by statute to make

24. Chase v. Heaney, 70 Ill. 268.

Where an abstracter does not choose to assume the liability of settling what is or is not an encumbrance, he may easily avoid it by noting in his certificate every question which arises upon the title as to which there can be the slightest doubt in the legal mind, or by giving a list of deeds and encumbrances and refraining from expressing any opinion as to their legal effect. Dodd v. Williams, 3 Mo. App. 278.

25. Martindale Abstr. Tit. § 183.

A person is not bound to make a personal search, but may rely upon the official certificate of a public officer, designated by law, to perform the service required. Van Schaick v. Sigel, 58 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 211.

26. Van Schaick v. Sigel, 58 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 211.

27. Ballinger v. Deacon, 44 N. J. L. 559.

Error in names furnished officer.— In Com. v. Owen, 2 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 200, plaintiff, desiring to purchase real estate of one Louis Talman, had ordered a search for mortgages remaining unsatisfied of record against Louis Tolman. The officer certified that there were no mortgages against Tolman, but that there were three against Talman. Plaintiff, relying on this information, purchased the property and lost his purchase money by reason of a fourth mortgage which the officer had omitted. In an action against the officer plaintiff was nonsuited, and in this case a motion for a rule to take off the nonsuit was dismissed.

Cannot carve out description of lands.— A party desiring a search by the county clerk cannot carve out a description of lands at his will and require the services of the clerk to ascertain the condition of the title. He must furnish the clerk with such information as to the state of the title as will enable him to ascertain the present status thereof by a simple inspection of the records. Ballinger v. Deacon, 44 N. J. L. 559.

28. Lusk v. Carlin, 5 Ill. 395; Houseman v. Girard Mut. Bldg., etc., Assoc., 81 Pa. St. 256; McCaraher v. Com., 5 Watts & S. (Pa.) 21.

Failure to attach seal to certificate or to require fee.— The fact that the officer making a certificate of judgments neglects to attach a seal thereto, and that there is no proof of payment of his fee, will not exempt him or his sureties from liability for errors in the certificate. The law will not permit him to take advantage of his own negligence in omitting to attach the seal, and his failure to charge for the certificate is his own affair. Ziegler v. Com., 12 Pa. St. 227.

For misconstruction of certificate.— In Tripp v. Hopkins, 13 R. I. 99, plaintiff received a certificate from a town clerk on a quitclaim deed conveying "all the right and title" of two grantors in certain realty to two grantees, to the effect that the clerk had examined all the records in relation to the premises covered by the deed and found "no encumbrances on the same, and that it now remains in the name of within-named grantees." It was held that this did not imply that the grantees each held an undivided moiety of the whole realty, and, in an action for damages resulting from plaintiff's acting on the assumption that it did, defendant had judgment.

29. Mechanics Bldg. Assoc. v. Whitacre, 92 Ind. 547; Mallory v. Ferguson, 50 Kan. 685, 32 Pac. 410, 22 L. R. A. 99.

30. State v. Leach, 60 Me. 58, 11 Am. Rep. 172, where a register of deeds was indicted for misconduct in office when he certified that he had examined the title to certain land and found no encumbrances thereon, with knowledge that his certificate was false, although it was not his official duty to make such examination.

search may, however, contract to do so, and he will then be liable for a breach of his contract.[31]

b. For Act of Deputy. A public officer is liable for errors in a certificate of search made by his deputies.[32]

c. Where Description Includes Only Part of Premises. Where an officer is called upon for a search, he is under no obligation to certify that a description which he certifies from the record includes only part of the premises described in the order for the search.[33]

d. Only for Direct Consequence of Error. A public officer is not liable for damages resulting from errors in his certificates of search, unless the loss to the party is the direct consequence of such error.[34]

e. Only to Person Who Ordered Search. Whatever liability is incurred in any case by a public officer who makes a search is to the person for whom the search is made, and not to his grantee.[35]

f. Remedy on Official Bond. The remedy against an officer required to make searches is by action on his official bond,[36] and the sureties on the bond are liable for all that the principal is.[37]

V. Action against Abstracter or Examiner.

A. Nature of Action. The action against an abstracter is based on contract, and not on tort.[38]

B. Accrual of Right of Action. The right of action against an abstracter for damages resulting from an incorrect abstract accrues at the time the examination is made and reported, and not when the error is discovered or damages result therefrom.[39]

C. Defenses. The defendant may avail himself of the fact that plaintiff is protected by covenant in his deed against encumbrances,[40] or that a person against whom an omitted judgment was rendered had at the time such judgment was

31. Mechanics Bldg. Assoc. v. Whitacre, 92 Ind. 547.

32. Van Schaick v. Sigel, 58 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 211. In this case a register of deeds was held liable for errors in a certificate of search made by a deputy duly appointed by him under a statute authorizing such appointment, the deputy not being required to furnish bond, and holding office at the pleasure of the register. The requisition for the search had been addressed to the register, and the fees therefor had been received by him, although the certificate was not signed by him in person.

33. Ballinger v. Deacon, 44 N. J. L. 559, wherein it was said: "If he gives the description as it is on the record, with all its qualifications and recitals, it is the province of counsel to advise as to whether the description covers the entire premises."

34. U. S. Wind Engine, etc., Co. v. Linville, 43 Kan. 455, 23 Pac. 597; Kimball v. Connolly, 3 Keyes (N. Y.) 57, 33 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 247.

35. Mallory v. Ferguson, 50 Kan. 685, 32 Pac. 410, 22 L. R. A. 99; Morano v. Shaw, 23 La. Ann. 379; Day v. Reynolds, 23 Hun (N. Y.) 131; Houseman v. Girard Mut. Bldg., etc., Assoc., 81 Pa. St. 256; Com. v. Harmer, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 90, 22 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 76.

Republication to third person.—Where a prothonotary, after making a search for one intending to borrow, was requested by the lender to make a fresh search, but instead of doing so affirmed the correctness of the one already made, such affirmance amounted to a republication of the certificate directly to the lender, and rendered the prothonotary liable to the lender for errors therein. Siewers v. Com., 87 Pa. St. 15.

36. Lusk v. Carlin, 5 Ill. 395.

37. McCaraher v. Com., 5 Watts & S. (Pa.) 21.

Liability cannot be extended.— The liability of sureties cannot be extended beyond the terms of the condition of the bond, and where the bond of a recorder of deeds was merely conditioned "to deliver up the records and other writings belonging to said office whole, safe, and undefaced to his successor," the sureties were not liable for false searches. Com. v. Harmer, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 90, 22 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 76.

38. Russell v. Polk County Abstract Co., 87 Iowa 233, 54 N. W. 212, 43 Am. St. Rep. 381; Knights v. Quarles, 4 Moore K. B. 532, 2 B. & B. 102, holding that the action survives to the administrator of the party ordering the abstract.

39. Lattin v. Gillette, 95 Cal. 317, 30 Pac. 545; Russell v. Polk County Abstract Co., 87 Iowa 233, 54 N. W. 212, 43 Am. St. Rep. 381; Provident Loan Trust Co. v. Wolcott, 5 Kan. App. 473, 47 Pac. 8; Schade v. Gehner, 133 Mo. 252, 34 S. W. 576; Rankin v. Schaeffer, 4 Mo. App. 108.

40. Morange v. Mix, 44 N. Y. 315.

paid by plaintiff other unencumbered real estate subject to execution sufficient to pay the same.[41]

D. Pleading — 1. MUST ALLEGE FACTS SHOWING DAMAGE. In an action against an abstracter for damages resulting from an incorrect abstract the plaintiff must allege facts showing that he has been injured.[42]

2. DEFENDANT'S WANT OF CARE. A general allegation of defendant's want of care in his investigations is sufficient.[43]

E. Evidence — 1. IN GENERAL. In an action against a recorder of deeds for furnishing an erroneous abstract, entries in the records of his office of instruments omitted from the abstract are competent evidence of his negligence, whether such entries be in his own handwriting or not.[44]

2. THAT OMITTED MATTER WAS OF RECORD. In an action against an abstracter for failure to show the existence of an execution sale of the land, it is not necessary that plaintiff should prove that at the time the abstract was made such sale was of record, but it will be presumed, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, that the officers conducting the sale made the necessary records thereof.[45]

F. Instructions. The court should instruct the jury that an abstracter who relies on a marginal reference and does not examine the record itself is guilty of negligence, and should not leave the question to the jury.[46]

G. Damages. The measure of damages in an action for failure to note on an abstract an encumbrance on the property is the amount which plaintiff was compelled to expend in removing the cloud cast on the title by the encumbrance.[47]

41. Roberts v. Sterling, 4 Mo. App. 593, appendix.

42. Batty v. Fout, 54 Ind. 482, where plaintiff applied to defendant for an abstract of title to certain land which he was about to purchase, and in an action for damages resulting from an erroneous abstract it was held that the plaintiff must allege that he purchased the land in question.

U. S. Wind Engine, etc., Co. v. Linville, 43 Kan. 455, 23 Pac. 597, where plaintiff brought an action against the clerk of the district court to recover damages resulting from the making of a false certificate as to the nonexistence of liens, it appearing from plaintiff's petition and its exhibits that, at the time such certificate was made, an abstract of title was presented to the clerk, showing a conveyance to plaintiff long before the lien against the property was filed in his office, and that no damage resulted from his certificate, and a demurrer to the petition was sustained.

Puckett v. Waco Abstract, etc., Co., 16 Tex. Civ. App. 329, 40 S. W. 812, in which case plaintiff's petition against an abstract company alleged that defendants had omitted from the abstract a deed under which certain persons were claiming land adversely; that plaintiff had litigated the question of title to the land and had judgment for the same, but that on a similar state of facts the appellate court in another case having reversed a similar judgment he released his judgment and conveyed the land in question to the adverse claimant. It was held that a demurrer to the petition was properly sustained, because it did not appear from the averments that the judgment would probably have been set aside or vacated on appeal or otherwise. The date of the judgment and the date of the release not being stated, it did not appear that the adverse party intended to make an appeal, or that at the time the judgment was released the time allowed by statute within which to appeal or sue out a writ of error had not elapsed. Prima facie the judgment was valid. Nor did it appear anywhere from the averments that the persons claiming the land had been in adverse possession thereof for five years prior to the time of bringing suit, nor that they had been claiming the land during that time under a deed duly recorded, and had for that time paid the taxes due thereon. These three concurrent facts were necessary to defeat plaintiff's title to the land.

43. Gilman v. Hovey, 26 Mo. 280, in which case a general allegation that the defendants "were guilty of neglect and want of due diligence in examining into, and in the investigation of, the situation of said land and the title thereto," was held sufficient to warrant the court in making a finding as to the negligence of defendants in failing to ascertain whether there were judgments which were liens on the land.

44. Smith v. Holmes, 54 Mich. 104, 19 N. W. 767.

Burden of proof is on defendant where, in an action to recover damages for negligence in the performance of a search for taxes and assessments, defendant attempts to avail himself of the fact that plaintiff is protected by covenant in plaintiff's deed against encumbrances. Morange v. Mix, 44 N. Y. 315.

45. Chase v. Heaney, 70 Ill. 268.

46. Wacek v. Frink, 51 Minn. 282, 53 N. W. 633, 38 Am. St. 502.

47. Chase v. Heaney, 70 Ill. 268.

Only nominal damages are recoverable where plaintiff, the purchaser of a tax lien, alleges that by reason of the omission from the abstract of a mortgage, and pending suit

ABSURDITY. By an absurdity or nullity is meant not only that which is physically impossible but also that which is morally so.[1]

ABUNDANS CAUTELA NON NOCET. A maxim meaning "extreme caution does no harm."[2]

ABUSE. As a noun the word "abuse" in its largest sense signifies ill use or improper treatment of another,[3] and as a verb it signifies to injure, diminish in value, or wear away, by using improperly.[4] When applied to a woman the word is used with reference to sexual intercourse.[5] (Abuse: Of Children, see INFANTS; MASTER AND SERVANT; PARENT AND CHILD. Of Discretion, see ABUSE OF DISCRETION. Of Female Child, see ASSAULT AND BATTERY; RAPE. Of Process, see ARREST; PROCESS.)

ABUSE OF DISCRETION. An abuse of discretion is merely a discretion exercised to an end or purpose not justified by and clearly against reason and evidence.[6] to foreclose it, he failed to make the mortgagee a party to his suit to foreclose such tax lien, since the lien for taxes was the superior lien, and the sale under the tax lien and the purchase of the property by plaintiff passed title to him, notwithstanding the mortgagee was not made a party to the foreclosure proceedings, and the averment that plaintiff was compelled to pay out money in order to protect his title was not sustained by the specific facts alleged. Williams v. Hanly, 16 Ind. App. 464, 45 N. E. 622.

1. State v. Hayes, 81 Mo. 574, 585, where it is further said: "And that is to be regarded as morally impossible, which is contrary to reason, or in other words, which could not be attributed to a man in his right senses."

2. Abbott L. Dict.

Applied to proceedings in practice, adopted in cases of doubt, in order to make sure. Burrill L. Dict. [citing 11 Coke 6].

3. Brickell, C. J., in Dawkins v. State, 58 Ala. 376, 29 Am. Rep. 754, who further said: "Its proper signification must be ascertained by reference to the subject-matter or the context and the meaning of the words with which it is associated."

Includes "misuse."—The word "abuse" includes "misuse." Erie, etc., R. Co. v. Casey, 26 Pa. St. 287, 318; Baltimore v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 3 Pittsb. (Pa.) 20, 22.

Abuse and misuse of corporate privileges is defined thus: "Any positive act in violation of the charter, and in derogation of public right, wilfully done or caused to be done by those appointed to manage the general concerns of the corporation." Erie, etc., R. Co. v. Casey, 26 Pa. St. 287, 319; Baltimore v. Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co., 3 Pittsb. (Pa.) 20, 22.

4. Erie, etc., R. Co. v. Casey, 26 Pa. St. 287, 318, where it is said: "To 'abuse' is compounded of 'ab' and 'utor;' and in strictness it signifies to injure, diminish in value, or wear away, by using improperly. Catiline abused the patience of the Roman senate. A man abuses his constitution by excesses which impair its vigor. A judge abuses his office not only by taking bribes, but by misconduct which detracts from its dignity and usefulness. To abuse the freedom of the press, or the right of debate, is a phrase from which we take a perfectly definite idea. We know very well what is meant when it is said that legislative authority or executive power has been abused. Why, then, are we expected not to know that a corporate privilege has been abused, when we see it used as a color and a pretext for that which the law pronounces a wrong and injury to the public?"

Synonym of "injure."—"'Abuse' is stated by Webster to be the synonym of 'injure.'" Brickell, C. J., in Dawkins v. State, 58 Ala. 376, 29 Am. Rep. 754.

5. In Matter of Thompson, 6 H. & N. 193, 200, Pollock, C. B., said: "I am not aware that the word 'abuse,' applied to a woman, is ever used except with reference to sexual intercourse. Certainly, in more than one act of parliament the word 'abuse' has had that meaning applied to it, and in my opinion it always imports some offense of that nature."

The verb "abuse" used in section 12 of the criminal code of Nebraska is synonymous with "ravish," and as a noun "abuse" is defined as "violation," "rape." Palin v. State, 38 Nebr. 862, 867, 57 N. W. 743 [citing Webster Dict.].

In a statute punishing "any person who has carnal knowledge of any female under the age of ten years, or abuses such female," etc., the word "abuse" applies only to injuries to the genital organs in an unsuccessful attempt at rape, and does not include mere forcible or wrongful ill usage. Dawkins v. State, 58 Ala. 376, 29 Am. Rep. 754.

6. Sharon v. Sharon, 75 Cal. 1, 48, 16 Pac. 345; Murray v. Buell, 74 Wis. 14, 19, 41 N. W. 1010.

Bad motive or wrong purpose not essential.—In Murray v. Buell, 74 Wis. 14, 19, 41 N. W. 1010, it is said: "The term 'abuse of discretion' exercised in any case by the trial court, as used in the decisions of courts and in the books, implying in common parlance a bad motive or wrong purpose, is not the most appropriate." And in Sharon v. Sharon, 75 Cal. 1, 48, 16 Pac. 345, it is said: "Abuse of discretion . . . does not necessarily imply a wilful abuse or intentional wrong." But in People v. New York Cent. R. Co., 29 N. Y. 418, 431, Hogeboom, J., in a dissenting opinion, said: "The exercise of an honest judgment, however erroneous it may appear to be, is not an abuse of discretion. Abuse of discretion, and especially, gross and palpable ABUSIVE LANGUAGE. See Disorderly Conduct.

ABUT. To reach; to touch.[7] In a narrow and restricted sense the term is used in reference to that which touches a lot at the end as distinguished from that which adjoins it on the side.[8] The term is not ordinarily used in such restricted sense, however, but refers to that which touches other premises whether at the ends or on the sides.[9]

ABUTMENT. A part of a bridge,[10] consisting of that mass of stone or solid work at the end of the bridge by which the extreme arches or timbers are sustained.[11] The word is sometimes used to designate that which unites one thing to another.[12]

ABUTTALS or ABBUTTALS. The buttings and boundings of lands, east, west, north, or south, with respect to the places by which they are limited and bounded.[13]

ABUTTARE. To Abut,[14] q. v.

ABUTTER. One whose property abuts, is contiguous or joins at a border or boundary, as where no other land, road, or street intervenes.[15]

ABUTTING OWNERS. See Adjoining Landowners; Eminent Domain; Fish; Municipal Corporations; Railroads; Street Railroads; Streets and Highways.

AC. Latin, "and."[16] abuse of discretion, which are the terms ordinarily employed to justify an interference with the exercise of discretionary power, implies not merely error of judgment, but perversity of will, passion, prejudice, partiality, or moral delinquency."

7. Abbott L. Dict.

Necessity for actual contact.— In Holt v. Somerville, 127 Mass. 408, it was held that certain estates were not abutting estates because they did not touch the land laid out by the city. But in Cohen v. Cleveland, 43 Ohio St. 190, 196, 1 N. E. 589, the court said: "Doubtless it is true that the words 'bounding' and 'abutting' have no such inflexible meaning as to require the lots assessed or injured to touch the improvement, though the usual meaning of the words is that the things spoken of do actually adjoin. Without entering very much into the origin of the word 'abutting' it is sufficient to say that according to Latham it does not imply that the things spoken of are 'necessarily in contact;' and to the same effect see Webster, Worcester, and Murray. In ascertaining the meaning of such word, of course regard must be had to the intent of the lawmaker, though it will be seen that the usual meaning conveyed is that the things spoken of touch or come together."

And in Wakefield Local Board of Health v. Lee, 1 Ex. D. 336, where a person's premises were divided from a street by a small stream, and by two bridges over the stream the premises were connected with it, it was held per Grove and Field, JJ., that such premises abutted upon such street; and per Cleasby, B., hesitating, that the premises adjoined such street.

8. Lawrence v. Killam, 11 Kan. 499, 511 [citing Bouvier L. Dict.].

9. Springfield v. Green, 120 Ill. 269; Lawrence v. Killam, 11 Kan. 499, 511.

See also Hughes v. Metropolitan El. R. Co., 130 N. Y. 14, 26, 28 N. E. 765, where the court said: "To prevent a misapplication of this rule it will be well to define the term 'abutting lot.' It denotes a lot bounded on the side of a public street in the bed or soil of which the owner of the lot has no title, estate, interest, or private rights except such as are incident to a lot so situated." And Abendroth v. Manhattan R. Co., 122 N. Y. 1, 11, 25 N. E. 496, where the court said: "The term 'abutting owner' will be used in this judgment to denote a person having land bounded on the side of a public street and having no title or estate in its bed or soil and no interests or private rights in the street except such as are incident to lots so situated."

10. Board of Chosen Freeholders v. Strader, 18 N. J. L. 108, 112; Bardwell v. Jamaica, 15 Vt. 438, 442, where it was said that "the abutment is such an immediate connection with the other parts of the bridge that in speaking of a bridge, in connection with the use for which bridges are erected, we can no more exclude the abutment from our minds than the flooring or the framework of the bridge," and where it was held that where a declaration alleged an injury to have been occasioned by the insufficiency of the bridge, and the proof was of a defect in the abutment, there was no such variance as to be a ground for reversing the judgment.

11. Board of Chosen Freeholders v. Strader, 18 N. J. L. 108, 112.

12. Board of Chosen Freeholders v. Strader, 18 N. J. L. 108, 112 [citing Webster Dict.].

13. Jacob L. Dict.

In a narrow sense the limits or boundary lines of lands on the ends, as distinguished from those on the sides. Burrill L. Dict. Well expressed in the phrase "buttals and sidings" in Winckworth v. Mayo, Cro. Jac. 183.

14. Burrill L. Dict.

15. Bouvier L. Dict.

16. Burrill L. Dict.

ACADEMY. See Schools and School Districts.

ACC. See Accordant.

ACCEDAS AD CURIAM. Literally, "you go to court." In English practice, a common-law writ to remove a cause from an inferior court not of record, such as a hundred court, or court-baron, into one of the superior courts.[17]

ACCEDAS AD VICECOMITEM. Literally, "you go to the sheriff." In English practice, a writ sent to the coroner, commanding him to deliver a writ to the sheriff, where the latter had a writ called a "pone" delivered to him but suppressed it.[18]

ACCELERATION. The shortening of the time for the vesting in possession of an expectant interest.[19]

ACCEPT. To receive with approval or satisfaction; to receive with intent to retain.[20]

ACCEPTANCE. The taking and accepting of anything in good part, and, as it were, a tacit agreement to a preceding act which might have been defeated and avoided were it not for such acceptance.[21] (Acceptance: Of Abandonment in Marine Insurance, see Marine Insurance. Of Bill of Exchange, see Bills and Notes. Of Charitable Trust or Gift, see Charities. Of Dedication, see Dedication. Of Devise or Legacy, Generally, or in Lieu of Dower or Distributive Share, see Wills. Of Gift, see Gifts. Of Goods within Statute of Frauds, see Frauds, Statute of. Of Order, see Bills and Notes. Of Payment or Performance, see Accord and Satisfaction; Contracts; Payment. Of Service of Process, see Process. Of Tender, see Tender. Of Trust, see Trusts.)

ACCEPTARE. To Accept,[22] q. v.

ACCEPTOR. See Bills and Notes.

ACCESS. Approach or means of approach.[23] In law the term is usually employed with reference to sexual intercourse, denoting either its actual occurrence or opportunity therefor.[24] (Access: Of Husband, see Bastards; Evidence. Of Light and Air, see Adjoining Landowners; Easements. To Property, see Easements; Streets and Highways.)

ACCESSARIUS. An accessary.[25]

ACCESSARY. See Criminal Law; Indictments and Informations.

17. Burrill L. Dict.; 3 Bl. Comm. 34; 1 Tidd Pr. 38.

18. Jacob L. Dict.

19. Wharton L. Lex.

20. Abbott L. Dict.

A word of contract.— The terms "accept" and "assent to" are words of contract, and it was by virtue of such and similar terms in the constitution of the United States that the federal government, when it received the sanction of the people and the requisite number of states, became a compact between the parties to it and the federal government and not a mere confederacy or league. Chesapeake, etc., Canal Co. v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 4 Gill & J. (Md.) 1, 130.

"Now the word 'accepted' [in the statute of frauds] imports not merely that there should be a delivery by the seller, but that each party should do something by which the bargain should be bound." Abbott, C. J., in Tempest v. Fitzgerald, 3 B. & Ald. 680, 683.

"Accept" distinguished from "receive."— In Hall v. Los Angeles County, 74 Cal. 502, 16 Pac. 313, 315, Hayne, C., said: "But the resolution does not say 'accepted.' It says 'received.' Probably most men have received many invitations and proposals which they never accepted. In popular usage the words certainly differ in meaning. And we are not aware of any technical meaning which they have." In this case it was held that where the board of supervisors of a county accepted the plans of an architect on the condition that a bid by a reliable party was "received" on the basis of such plan, the word "received" was not intended to include an acceptance.

21. Jacob L. Dict.

22. Burrill L. Dict.

Used in the past tense (acceptavit,— he accepted) in Ereskine v. Murray, 2 Str. 817, and (non acceptavit,— he did not accept) in Blake v. Beaumont, 4 M. & G. 7.

23. Burrill L. Dict.

24. Abbott L. Dict.

25. Burrill L. Dict.

ACCESSION

Edited by William H. Hamilton

CROSS-REFERENCES

For Additions to:

Personal Property, see Confusion of Goods.

Real Property:

Generally, see Betterments; Fixtures.

By Accretion, see Waters.

By Reliction, see Waters.

For Increase of Animals, see Animals.

I. Definition.

Accession, in its broadest sense, may be defined to be the means by which title to the increments to one's property, movable or immovable, is acquired, whether by natural or artificial means.[1] In the restricted sense in which it is herein treated it is the acquisition of title to the increments to one's personalty, brought about by artificial means, such as labor or the addition of materials, other than the intermixture of goods or things of the same kind. The doctrine of title by accession was recognized by the civil law,[2] and the general principles as there laid down adopted into the common law[3] and applied in the adjudication of cases both in England[4] and in the United States.[5]

II. Title of Owner.

A. As against Trespasser — 1. Inadvertent Trespasser — a. In Case of Change of Species or Identity — (I) General Rule. While there is no conflict of authority as to the right of the original owner of a chattel to recover the same from one who has wilfully and wrongfully taken it and converted it into some other thing,[6] there seems to be much uncertainty and conflict among the authori-

1. Anderson L. Dict.; 2 Bl. Comm. 404; Black L. Dict.; Burrill L. Dict.; Century Dict.; 2 Kent Comm. 360; Merrick's Rev. Civ. Code La. (1900), art. 498; Eaton v. Munroe, 52 Me. 63; Pulcifer v. Page, 32 Me. 404, 54 Am. Dec. 582.

2. Inst. lib. 2, tit. 1, §§ 25, 26, 34.

3. 2 Bl. Comm. 404, 405; Bracton, lib. 2, cc. 2, 3; 2 Kent Comm. 361; 2 Schouler Pers. Prop. § 30.

4. 2 Bl. Comm. 405; Batchellor v. Salmon, 2 Campb. 525; Y. B. 5 Hen. VII, 15; Y. B. 12 Hen. VIII, 10; Austin v. Baker, F. Moore 17; Lupton v. White, 15 Ves. 432.

5. Pulcifer v. Page, 32 Me. 404, 54 Am. Dec. 582; Peirce v. Goddard, 22 Pick. (Mass.) 559, 33 Am. Dec. 764.

6. See infra, II, A, 2.

ties as to the right and title of the original owner of chattels which have been taken under mistake or claim of right and changed or altered in form or increased in value. In the latter case it is true that, as regards the original owner of the thing taken, the person taking it is a trespasser; but it has been contended that, because of the fact that his trespass was without thought of wrongdoing, he should not be deprived of the labor, time, or materials which he has added to or expended upon the thing taken. The weight of authority seems to be that one whose property has been appropriated by another without authority, but under a bona fide mistake as to ownership, may follow and reclaim it, even though it has been changed or altered by the addition of labor or materials, so long as it still remains capable of identification.[7]

(11) What Constitutes Such Change. In applying this rule the susceptibility of the property to identification becomes the controlling test; but it is difficult of application, and much confusion and difference of opinion arises in determining what does or does not constitute a change in species or identity, both in cases where the rights of inadvertent and in cases where the rights of wilful trespassers are involved, and it seems impossible to lay down a hard and fast rule which can be followed in all cases.[8]

7. Alabama.— Riddle v. Driver, 12 Ala. 590.

Illinois.— Davis v. Easley, 13 Ill. 192.

Indiana.— Ricketts v. Dorrel, 55 Ind. 470.

Iowa.— Murphy v. Sioux City, etc., R. Co., 55 Iowa 473, 8 N. W. 320, 39 Am. Rep. 175.

Kentucky.— Strubbee v. Cincinnati R. Co., 78 Ky. 481, 39 Am. Rep. 251; Lampton v. Preston, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 454; Burris v. Johnson, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 196.

Maine.— Eaton v. Munroe, 52 Me. 63.

Massachusetts.— Harding v. Coburn, 12 Metc. (Mass.) 333, 46 Am. Dec. 680.

Michigan.— Isle Royale Min. Co. v. Hertin, 37 Mich. 332, 26 Am. Rep. 520; Wetherbee v. Green, 22 Mich. 311, 7 Am. Rep. 653.

New York.— Barry v. Brune, 8 Hun (N. Y.) 395; Brown v. Sax, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 95; Silsbury v. McCoon, 3 N. Y. 379, 53 Am. Dec. 307.

United States.— E. E. Bolles Wooden-ware Co. v. U. S., 106 U. S. 432, 1 S. Ct. 398, 27 L. ed. 230.

In Gates v. Rifle Boom Co., 70 Mich. 309, and Busch v. Fisher, 89 Mich. 192, it was held that a trespasser, however innocent, acquired no property in logs cut from the land of another.

8. Wetherbee v. Green, 22 Mich. 311, 7 Am. Rep. 653.

Difficulty of establishing rule.— In Lampton v. Preston, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 454, which was a suit involving title to certain bricks made from clay on the land of another by a person in temporary possession under a claim of right, the court, in determining the question of change in identity, through Robertson, J., said: "The difficulties of this case result from the various and indefinite characters of the cases which have been excepted from this rule. It is hence very difficult to ascertain any principle of uniform and universal application on which the rule itself is founded. In some authorities it is said that the proper test of the right of the first owner is the identity of the thing or material; in others, its capacity for being reconverted into the original species; in others, the non-accession of adventitious value exceeding that of the original materials, and in others, the retention, by the material, of its specific character, or kind, or qualities."

And in Silsbury v. McCoon, 3 N. Y. 379, 53 Am. Dec. 307, Ruggles, J., in delivering the opinion of the court, said: "There is great confusion in the books upon the question of what constitutes change of identity. In one case (Y. B. 5 Hen. VII, 15) it is said that the owner may reclaim the goods so long as they may be known, or, in other words, ascertained by inspection. But this in many cases is by no means the best evidence of identity, and the examples put by way of illustration serve rather to disprove than to establish the rule. The court says that if grain be made into malt it cannot be reclaimed by the owner because it cannot be known. But if clothing be made into a coat, a tree into squared timber, or iron into a tool, it may. Now as to the cases of the coat and the timber they may or may not be capable of identification by the senses merely, and the rule is entirely uncertain in its application; and as to the iron tools it certainly cannot be identified as made of the original material, without other evidence. This illustration, therefore, contradicts the rule. In another case (Austin v. Baker, F. Moore, 17, 20) trees were made into timber and it was adjudged that the owner of the trees might reclaim the timber 'because the greater part of the substance remained.' But if this were the true criterion it would embrace the cases of wheat made into bread, milk into cheese, grain into malt, and others which are put into books as examples of change of identity. Other writers say that when the thing is so changed that it cannot be reduced from its new form to its former state its identity is gone. But this would include many cases in which it has been said by the courts that the identity is not gone; as the case of leather made into a garment, logs into timber or boards, cloth into a coat, etc. There is therefore no definite settled rule on the question."

Converting broad-gage rolling-stock into

b. In Case of Increase in Value. There are also some authorities which hold that where the innocent trespasser, by the addition of materials or labor, increases the value of the thing taken to an amount disproportionate to its original value, he acquires title thereto by accession, and the former owner can recover only its original value.[9]

c. Allowance for Labor or Materials Added. The innocent trespasser should usually be allowed, by way of compensation, the value of the labor or materials he has added to the chattel upon its recovery by the original owner;[10] but this narrow-gage does not so change its identity as to divest the original owner of his title thereto. So held in Hamlin v. Jerrard, 72 Me. 62, which was a case involving title to the property as between mortgagees thereof.

Converting clay into bricks, the bricks being unburned, has been held not to so change the identity of the property as to deprive the owner thereof of title. This decision was based on the theory that the unburned bricks could easily be reconverted into the clay; but it was also held in the same case that title to a portion of the bricks, which had been burned, was in the manufacturer thereof, the identity of the clay having been destroyed, and it being practically impossible to reconvert the bricks into the clay. Lampton v. Preston, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 454.

Converting cucumbers into pickles was held not to be such a change in identity as would divest the title of the owner of the cucumbers. Crosby v. Baker, 6 Allen (Mass.) 295.

Converting grain into whisky has been held not to be such a change in the identity of the grain as would give title to the person making the change. Silsbury v. McCoon, 3 N. Y. 379, 53 Am. Dec. 307 [reversing 6 Hill (N. Y.) 425, 4 Den. (N. Y.) 332].

Converting standing timber into: coal (Curtis v. Groat, 6 Johns. (N. Y.) 168, 5 Am. Dec. 204), cord-wood (Brock v. Smith, 14 Ark. 431; Isle Royale Min. Co. v. Hertin, 37 Mich. 332, 26 Am. Rep. 520), logs (Firmin v. Firmin, 9 Hun (N. Y.) 572; Nesbitt v. St. Paul Lumber Co., 21 Minn. 491), lumber (Davis v. Easley, 13 Ill. 192; Brown v. Sax, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 95), rails and posts (Snyder v. Vaux, 2 Rawle (Pa.) 423, 21 Am. Dec. 466), shingles (Betts v. Lee, 5 Johns. (N. Y.) 348, 4 Am. Dec. 368; Chandler v. Edson, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 362; Rice v. Hollenbeck, 19 Barb. (N. Y.) 664), staves (Heard v. James, 49 Miss. 236), or ties (Stotts v. Brookfield, 55 Ark. 307, 18 S. W. 179; McKinnis v. Little Rock, etc., R. Co., 44 Ark. 210; Strubbee v. Cincinnati R. Co., 78 Ky. 481, 39 Am. Rep. 251), will not effect such a change of identity in the timber as to destroy the original owner's title thereto.

The addition to a rifle, which consisted of a pistol stock with a metallic skeleton stock and an under-action lock, of a new wooden stock and an over-action lock, was held, in Comins v. Newton, 10 Allen (Mass.) 518, not to be such a change in the identity of the rifle as would divest the title of the owner thereof.

9. Lewis v. Courtright, 77 Iowa 190, 41 N. W. 615; Murphy v. Sioux City, etc., R. Co., 55 Iowa 473, 8 N. W. 320, 39 Am. Rep. 175; Strubbee v. Cincinnati R. Co., 78 Ky. 481, 39 Am. Rep. 251; Burris v. Johnson, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 196; E. E. Bolles Wooden-ware Co. v. U. S., 106 U. S. 432, 1 S. Ct. 398, 27 L. ed. 230.

Accession of mere value is generally not sufficient to transfer title to the operator. There must be the addition of some other material, belonging to the operator, before the product can vest in him; but an exception to this rule occurs where the increase in value is so far beyond the value of the original that to deprive the operator of the fruits thereof would be a gross injustice. Lampton v. Preston, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 454.

Relative value.— "No test which satisfies the reason of the law can be applied in the adjustment of questions of title to chattels by accession, unless it keeps in view the circumstances of relative value. When we bear in mind the fact that what the law aims at is the accomplishment of substantial equity, we shall readily perceive that the fact of the value of the materials having been increased a hundredfold, is of more importance in the adjustment than any chemical change or mechanical transformation, which, however radical, neither is expensive to the party making it, nor adds materially to the value." Per Cooley, J., in Wetherbee v. Green, 22 Mich. 311, 7 Am. Rep. 653.

Bricks.— Converting clay into bricks has been held to so increase the value of the clay as to deprive the owner thereof of any title to the bricks. Lampton v. Preston, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 454; Baker v. Meisch, 29 Nebr. 227, 45 N. W. 685.

Converting timber into hoops was held to have so changed the value of the timber as to give the operator title to the hoops, where the timber was worth but twenty-five dollars, and the hoops worth seven hundred dollars. Wetherbee v. Green, 22 Mich. 311, 7 Am. Rep. 653.

There was no such increase in value as to deprive the original owner of his property where a new wooden stock and an over-action lock were added to a rifle which formerly consisted of a pistol stock with a metallic skeleton stock and an under-action lock. Comins v. Newton, 10 Allen (Mass.) 518.

10. Connecticut.— Swift v. Barnum, 23 Conn. 523.

Indiana.— Peters Box, etc., Co. v. Lesh, 119 Ind. 98, 20 N. E. 291, 12 Am. St. Rep. 367.

Iowa.— Clement v. Duffy, 54 Iowa 632, 7 N. W. 85.

Maine.— Cushing v. Longfellow, 26 Me. 306.

Michigan.— Winchester v. Craig, 33 Mich. 205.

rule does not apply where the labor has not destroyed its identity, converted it into something substantially different, or essentially enhanced its value.[11]

2. WILFUL TRESPASSER. Under the civil law a trespasser who wilfully and maliciously took the property of another and changed its form or increased its value acquired no title thereto, on the theory that he would not be permitted to derive any benefit from his own wilful and malicious acts.[12] This rule has been generally adopted by the courts of this country in cases where it can be shown that the article in question was made from the property or materials so taken; and the original owner may reclaim it without any allowance to the trespasser for the value of the time, money, labor, or materials he has expended thereon.[13]

B. As to Manufactured Articles — 1. WHERE OWNER FURNISHED MATERIALS. Where property or materials out of which an article is to be made are furnished by the person for whom it is to be made, title to the finished article is in him.[14]

2. WHERE MANUFACTURER ADDED MATERIALS. Where, however, other property or materials are added by the manufacturer, the proportion which they bear to the original property or materials governs in determining the title to the finished article. If the bulk of the property or materials is furnished by the manufac-

Mississippi.— Heard v. James, 49 Miss. 236.

New York.— Hyde v. Cookson, 21 Barb. (N. Y.) 92.

Pennsylvania.— Herdic v. Young, 55 Pa. St. 176, 93 Am. Dec. 739.

Wisconsin.— Hungerford v. Redford, 29 Wis. 345; Single v. Schneider, 24 Wis. 299; Weymouth v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 17 Wis. 550, 84 Am. Dec. 763.

United States.— Aborn v. Mason, 14 Blatchf. (U. S.) 405, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 19.

Contra, see Gates v. Rifle Boom Co., 70 Mich. 309, and Busch v. Fisher, 89 Mich. 192, in which it was held that a trespasser, however innocent, acquired no lien on logs cut from the land of another for the value of the labor and the expense of such cutting.

In Moody v. Whitney, 38 Me. 174, 61 Am. Dec. 239, which was an action to recover the value of timber wrongfully taken and converted into logs, and hauled to a stream preparatory to floating them, it was held that, the possession of the trespasser having been uninterrupted from the time of the conversion of the timber to the time of its seizure, the owner of the timber could recover only the value thereof when first cut, and not its value at the place where the logs had been hauled preparatory to floating.

11. Isle Royale Min. Co. v. Hertin, 37 Mich. 332, 26 Am. Rep. 520.

12. 1 Bell Comm. 277; Civ. L. Dig. lib. 10, tit. 4, c. 12, § 3; Puff. b. 4, c. 7, § 10; Wood Inst. Civ. L. 92.

13. Alabama.— Riddle v. Driver, 12 Ala. 590.

Arkansas.— Brock v. Smith, 14 Ark. 431.

Illinois.— Davis v. Easley, 13 Ill. 192.

Indiana.— Ricketts v. Dorrel, 55 Ind. 470.

Iowa.— Murphy v. Sioux City, etc., R. Co., 55 Iowa 473, 8 N. W. 320, 39 Am. Rep. 175; Clement v. Duffy, 54 Iowa 632, 7 N. W. 85.

Kentucky.— Strubbee v. Cincinnati R. Co., 78 Ky. 481, 39 Am. Rep. 251; Lampton v. Preston, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 454.

Massachusetts.— Peirce v. Goddard, 22 Pick. (Mass.) 559, 33 Am. Dec. 764.

Michigan.— Isle Royale Min. Co. v. Hertin, 37 Mich. 332, 26 Am. Rep. 520; Wetherbee v. Green, 22 Mich. 311, 7 Am. Rep. 653.

Minnesota.— Nesbitt v. St. Paul Lumber Co., 21 Minn. 491.

Mississippi.— Heard v. James, 49 Miss. 236.

Nebraska.— Baker v. Meisch, 29 Nebr. 227, 45 N. W. 685.

New York.— Chandler v. Edson, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 362; Curtis v. Groat, 6 Johns. (N. Y.) 168, 5 Am. Dec. 204; Betts v. Lee, 5 Johns. (N. Y.) 348, 4 Am. Dec. 368; Brown v. Sax, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 95; Silsbury v. McCoon, 3 N. Y. 379, 53 Am. Dec. 307 [reversing 6 Hill (N. Y.) 425, 4 Den. (N. Y.) 332]; Baker v. Wheeler, 8 Wend. (N. Y.) 505, 24 Am. Dec. 66; Firmin v. Firmin, 9 Hun (N. Y.) 571; Hyde v. Cookson, 21 Barb. (N. Y.) 92; Rockwell v. Saunders, 19 Barb. (N. Y.) 473; Levy v. Barnett, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 991.

North Carolina.— Worth v. Northam, 26 N. C. 102.

Pennsylvania.— Snyder v. Vaux, 2 Rawle (Pa.) 423, 21 Am. Dec. 466.

Texas.— Missouri, etc., R. Co. v. Starr, 22 Tex. Civ. App. 353, 55 S. W. 393.

Wisconsin.— Weymouth v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 17 Wis. 550, 84 Am. Dec. 763.

United States.— E. E. Bolles Wooden-ware Co. v. U. S., 106 U. S. 432, 1 S. Ct. 398, 27 L. ed. 230.

14. Connecticut.— Swift v. Barnum, 23 Conn. 523.

Maine.— Eaton v. Munroe, 52 Me. 63.

Massachusetts.— Putnam v. Cushing, 10 Gray (Mass.) 334; Eaton v. Lynde, 15 Mass. 242.

New York.— Pierce v. Schenck, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 28; Gregory v. Stryker, 2 Den. (N. Y.) 628; Babcock v. Gill, 10 Johns. (N. Y.) 287; Foster v. Pettibone, 7 N. Y. 433, 57 Am. Dec. 530.

North Carolina.— Worth v. Northam, 26 N. C. 102.

Vermont.— Gallup v. Josselyn, 7 Vt. 334.

United States.— Aborn v. Mason, 14 Blatchf. (U. S.) 405, 1 Fed. Cas. No. 19.

turer, he acquires title to the finished article; but if it is furnished by the person for whom the article is to be made, the title is in such person. The disposition of the title to the property in this manner is based on the theory that the smaller quantity, being merely accessory to the larger, becomes a part thereof by accession.[15]

C. As to Repairs. Ordinary repairs upon a personal chattel become a part thereof by accession,[16] and this rule has been held to apply even where the value of the repairs greatly exceeds the value of the original article,[17] but if they are separable, and easily capable of being distinguished from the article to which they have been added, the rule is otherwise.[18]

III. TITLE OF PURCHASER.

The purchaser of property which has been taken by a trespasser, and changed in form or added to in value, acquires no title thereto as against the original owner, where its identity can be traced or ascertained. This rule is applicable even to the case of a bona fide purchaser, and is based on the theory that, the trespasser having no title to give, the purchaser acquires none.[19] But it has been held that if chattels wrongfully taken are innocently purchased by a third person, and by him converted into something else, thereby enhancing their value and destroying their identity, the original owner cannot reclaim them.[20]

ACCESSORIUM. An accessory thing; an incident.[1]

ACCESSORIUM NON DUCIT, SED SEQUITUR, SUUM PRINCIPALE. A maxim meaning "the incident does not draw, but follows, its principal."[2] 15. Kansas.— Arnott v. Kansas Pac. R. Co., 19 Kan. 95.

Maine.— Pulcifer v. Page, 32 Me. 404, 54 Am. Dec. 582.

Massachusetts.— Stevens v. Briggs, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 177; Harding v. Coburn, 12 Metc. (Mass.) 333, 46 Am. Dec. 680.

New York.— Mack v. Snell, 140 N. Y. 193, 35 N. E. 493, 37 Am. St. Rep. 534; McConihe v. New York, etc., R. Co., 20 N. Y. 495, 75 Am. Dec. 420; Hyde v. Cookson, 21 Barb. (N. Y.) 92; Gregory v. Stryker, 2 Den. (N. Y.) 628; Merritt v. Johnson, 7 Johns. (N. Y.) 473, 5 Am. Dec. 289.

North Carolina.— Worth v. Northam, 26 N. C. 102.

Pennsylvania.— Coursin's Appeal, 79 Pa. St. 220.

Tennessee.— Dunn v. Oneal, 1 Sneed (Tenn.) 106, 60 Am. Dec. 140.

16. Clark v. Wells, 45 Vt. 4, 12 Am. Rep. 187.

New sails to replace old.— In Southworth v. Isham, 3 Sandf. (N. Y.) 448, it was held that new sails replacing old were in the nature of repairs and became part of the vessel by accession.

Repairs on rolling-stock of a railroad were held, in Hamlin v. Jerrard, 72 Me. 62, to become a part of the rolling-stock by accession.

Repairs on vessel.— In Coursin's Appeal, 79 Pa. St. 220, it was held that where one repaired his vessel with the materials of another he acquired title thereto by accession, but that if he built his vessel, from the keel up, from the materials of another, the title thereto passed to the owner of the materials, following the civil-law maxim proprietas totius navis carinæ causam sequitur.

Repairs on a rifle.— Where a new wooden stock and an over-action lock were added to a rifle in the form of a pistol stock with a metallic skeleton stock and an under-action lock, they were considered as repairs and held to become a part of the rifle. Comins v. Newton, 10 Allen (Mass.) 518.

17. Gregory v. Stryker, 2 Den. (N. Y.) 628.

18. Fowler v. Hoffman, 31 Mich. 215; Clark v. Wells, 45 Vt. 4, 12 Am. Rep. 187.

19. Arkansas.— McKinnis v. Little Rock, etc., R. Co., 44 Ark. 210.

Kentucky.— Strubbee v. Cincinnati R. Co., 78 Ky. 481, 39 Am. Rep. 251.

Maine.— Freeman v. Underwood, 66 Me. 229.

Minnesota.— Nesbitt v. St. Paul Lumber Co., 21 Minn. 491.

New York.— Silsbury v. McCoon, 3 N. Y. 379, 53 Am. Dec. 307; Rockwell v. Saunders, 19 Barb. (N. Y.) 473.

Texas.— Missouri, etc., R. Co. v. Starr, 22 Tex. Civ. App. 353, 55 S. W. 393.

United States.— E. E. Bolles Wooden-ware Co. v. U. S., 106 U. S. 432, 1 S. Ct. 398, 27 L. ed. 230.

Contra, see Lake Shore, etc., R. Co. v. Hutchins, 32 Ohio St. 571; Single v. Schneider, 30 Wis. 570.

20. Wetherbee v. Green, 22 Mich. 311, 7 Am. Rep. 653; Silsbury v. McCoon, 3 N. Y. 379, 53 Am. Dec. 307.

1. Burrill L. Dict.

2. Burrill L. Dict.

Applied in 2 Bl. Comm. 176; Coke Litt. 152*a*; Van Wicklen v. Paulson, 14 Barb. (N. Y.) 654, 656; Cooper v. Newland, 17 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 342, 344.

ACCESSORIUM NON TRAHIT PRINCIPALE. A maxim meaning "the accessory does not draw the principal." [3]

ACCESSORIUM SEQUITUR NATURAM REI CUI ACCEDIT. A maxim meaning "the accessory follows the nature of the thing to which it relates." [4]

ACCESSORIUM SEQUITUR PRINCIPALE. A maxim meaning "the accessory follows its principal." [5]

ACCESSORIUS. An accessary. [6]

ACCESSORIUS SEQUITUR NATURAM SUI PRINCIPALIS. A maxim meaning "an accessary follows the nature of his principal." [7]

ACCESSORIUS SEQUITUR PRINCIPALEM. A maxim meaning "an accessary follows [depends upon] his principal." [8]

ACCESSORY. As an adjective the word "accessory" means "appurtenant," "belonging to," "incident." [9] As a noun it signifies the incident or thing appurtenant. [10] (Accessory in Criminal Law, see CRIMINAL LAW; INDICTMENTS AND INFORMATIONS.)

ACCESSORY TO ADULTERY. A phrase used in the law of divorce to describe one who directly commands, advises, or procures the commission of adultery. [11]

ACCIDENT. In its most commonly accepted meaning the word "accident" denotes an event that takes place without one's foresight or expectation; an event which proceeds from an unknown cause, or is an unusual effect of a known cause, and therefore not expected; chance, casualty, contingency. [12] But accidents (cognizable in actions at law, and distinguished from those peculiarly regarded in

3. Adams Gloss.

Applied in Battle v. Coit, 26 N. Y. 404, 406.

4. Stimson L. Gloss.

5. Adams Gloss.

Applied in Turnbull v. Cowan, 6 Bell Sc. App. 222; Harding v. Pollock, 6 Bing. 25, 63.

In Marshall v. Moseley, 21 N. Y. 280, 282, the maxim is written accessorium sequitur naturam sui principalis,— an accessory follows the nature of its principal.

6. Burrill L. Dict.

7. Burrill L. Dict. [citing 3 Coke Inst. 139].

An application of the maxim results in the proposition that an accessary cannot be guilty of a higher crime than his principal. Broom Leg. Max. 497.

8. Adams Gloss. [citing 4 Coke 44].

No principal, no accessary.— The maxim freely translated means that where there is no principal there can be no accessary. Burrill L. Dict.

9. Burrill L. Dict.

An accessory contract is made for assuring the performance of a prior contract, either by the same parties or by others; such as suretyship, mortgage, and pledge. La. Rev. Civ. Code (1875), art. 1771.

Accessory obligation is one incident to another or principal obligation, as the obligation of a surety. Burrill L. Dict. [citing Pothier Oblig. pt. 2, c. 1, § 6; Bell Dict.].

10. Burrill L. Dict.

11. Wharton L. Lex.

Distinguished from "conniver."— The term is to be distinguished from "conniver," which imports one having knowledge of the adultery but abstaining from interference. Wharton L. Lex.

12. Webster Dict.

Alabama.— Grant v. Moseley, 29 Ala. 302, 305.

California.— Richards v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 89 Cal. 170, 27 Pac. 762, 23 Am. St. Rep. 455.

Indiana.— Supreme Council, etc., v. Garrigus, 104 Ind. 133, 140, 3 N. E. 818, 54 Am. Rep. 298; Newman v. Railway Officials', etc., Acc. Assoc., 15 Ind. App. 29, 42 N. E. 650.

Iowa.— Feder v. Iowa State Traveling Men's Assoc., 107 Iowa 538, 78 N. W. 252, 70 Am. St. Rep. 212, 43 L. R. A. 693.

Louisiana.— Konrad v. Union Casualty, etc., Co., 49 La. Ann. 636, 640, 21 So. 721.

Maryland.— Providence L. Ins., etc., Co. v. Martin, 32 Md. 310.

Mississippi.— Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Johnson, 72 Miss. 333, 17 So. 2, 30 L. R. A. 206.

Missouri.— Lovelace v. Travelers' Protective Assoc., 126 Mo. 104, 28 S. W. 877, 47 Am. St. Rep. 638, 30 L. R. A. 209; Henry v. Grand Ave. R. Co., 113 Mo. 525, 537, 21 S. W. 214.

Nebraska.— Railway Officials', etc., Acc. Assoc. v. Drummond, 56 Nebr. 235, 76 N. W. 562.

North Carolina.— State v. Lewis, 107 N. C. 967, 978, 12 S. E. 457, 13 S. E. 247, 11 L. R. A. 105; Crutchfield v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 76 N. C. 320, 322.

Pennsylvania.— North American L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Burroughs, 69 Pa. St. 43, 8 Am. Rep. 212.

Wisconsin.— Schneider v. Provident L. Ins. Co., 24 Wis. 28, 1 Am. Rep. 157.

"In the more popular and common acceptation of the word, 'accident,' if not in its precise meaning, includes any event which takes place without the foresight or expectation of the person acted upon or affected by the event." Withey, J., in Ripley v. Railway Passengers' Assur. Co., 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,854, 2 Big. Ins. Cas. 738.

equitable proceedings) resulting from lawful acts differ in character, and the distinctions and the right use of terms to characterize them have not always been sufficiently appreciated or regarded.[13] Bearing in mind these differences, "accident" may be defined to be an event happening unexpectedly, from the uncontrollable operations of nature alone, and without human agency;[14] or an event resulting undesignedly and unexpectedly from human agency alone;[15] or from the joint operation of both.[16] Whatever may be the difficulties, however, of giving a definition of universal application, it may safely be said that in accident some violence, casualty, or vis major is necessarily involved;[17] and the fact that the negligence of the person injured contributed to produce the result will not make it any less an accident.[18] (Accident: Action for Injuries Resulting from, see

13. Morris v. Platt, 32 Conn. 75, 85.

14. Morris v. Platt, 32 Conn. 75, 85; Hutchcraft v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 87 Ky. 300, 8 S. W. 570, 12 Am. St. Rep. 484; McGlinchey v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 80 Me. 251, 14 Atl. 13, 6 Am. St. Rep. 190.

Inevitable accident.— In this class are included all accidents which are inevitable, or absolutely unavoidable, because effected or influenced by the uncontrollable operation of nature. Morris v. Platt, 32 Conn. 75, 85. As the killing of a person by lightning. Here the elementary properties of lightning and its flash are not caused or controlled by human agency; but the fact that the person was struck by unintentionally placing himself within its range is, as to him, accident. Hutchcraft v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 87 Ky. 300, 8 S. W. 570, 12 Am. St. Rep. 484.

In Brown v. Kendall, 6 Cush. (Mass.) 292, 296, Shaw, C. J., said: "To make an accident, or casualty, or as the law sometimes states it, 'inevitable accident,' it must be such an accident as the defendant could not have avoided by the use of the kind and degree of care necessary to the exigency, and in the circumstances in which he was placed."

To the same effect see Dygert v. Bradley, 8 Wend. (N. Y.) 469, 473.

15. Morris v. Platt, 32 Conn. 75, 85; Hutchcraft v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 87 Ky. 300, 8 S. W. 570, 12 Am. St. Rep. 484; McGlinchey v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 80 Me. 251, 14 Atl. 13, 6 Am. St. Rep. 190.

Unavoidable under circumstances.— In this class are included those accidents which result from human agency alone, but were unavoidable under the circumstances. Morris v. Platt, 32 Conn. 75, 85. These may be further divided into four classes, to wit:

Accident to person by own agency.— As where one is walking or running and accidentally falls and hurts himself. Here he falls by reason of his agency in walking or running, but he did not intend to fall; he did not foresee that he would fall in time to avoid it; the fall was therefore accidental. Hutchcraft v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 87 Ky. 300, 8 S. W. 570, 12 Am. St. Rep. 484.

Accident through involuntary agency of third person.— As where one, standing on a scaffold, unintentionally lets a brick fall from his hand, and it strikes a person below. Here the dropping of the brick, as it was not intended by the former and was unforeseen by the latter, is, in the broadest sense, an accident. Hutchcraft v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 87 Ky. 300, 8 S. W. 570, 12 Am. St. Rep. 484. See also State v. Lewis, 107 N. C. 967, 978, 12 S. E. 457, 13 S. E. 247, 11 L. R. A. 105.

Accident through intentional agency of third person.— As where one intentionally fires a gun in the air and accidentally shoots another person. Here the act of firing the gun was intentional, but the shooting of the person was unintentional. Therefore, on the part of the person firing the gun, the shooting of the other would be accidental, though not in as broad a sense as in the former case, because some part of his act was intentional; but as to the person shot, it was by purely accidental means. Hutchcraft v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 87 Ky. 300, 8 S. W. 570, 12 Am. St. Rep. 484.

Accident through intentional injury by third person.— As where one person intentionally injures another, which was not the result of a rencounter or the misconduct of the latter, but was unforeseen by him. Such injury as to the latter, although intentionally inflicted by the former, would be accidental. When the injury is not the result of the misconduct or the participation of the injured party, but is unforeseen, it is, as to him, accidental, although inflicted intentionally by the other party. Hutchcraft v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 87 Ky. 300, 8 S. W. 570, 12 Am. St. Rep. 484.

16. Morris v. Platt, 32 Conn. 75, 85.

Avoidable accident.— In this class are included those accidents which are avoidable, because the act was not called for by any duty or necessity, and the injury resulted from the want of that extraordinary care which the law reasonably requires of one doing such lawful act, or because the accident was the result of actual negligence or folly, and might with reasonable care adapted to the exigency have been avoided. Morris v. Platt, 32 Conn. 75, 85.

17. Sinclair v. Maritime Passengers' Assur. Co., 3 E. & E. 478, 107 E. C. L. 478 [cited in Schneider v. Provident L. Ins. Co., 24 Wis. 28, 1 Am. Rep. 157].

Misfortunes in business are not accidents. Langdon v. Bowen, 46 Vt. 512, 516.

18. McCarty v. New York, etc., R. Co., 30 Pa. St. 247, 251, where the court said: "If accident and negligence be not opposites, we cannot regard them as identical, without confounding cause and effect. Accident, and its NEGLIGENCE. As Ground for Equitable Jurisdiction, see EQUITY. As Ground for New Trial, see NEW TRIAL. In Admiralty, see COLLISION. Insurance Against, see ACCIDENT INSURANCE. See also ACT OF GOD.)

ACCIDENTAL. Happening by chance or unexpectedly; taking place not according to the usual course of things; casual; fortuitous.[19] synonyms casualty and misfortune, may proceed or result from negligence, or other cause known, or unknown."

Schneider v. Provident L. Ins. Co., 24 Wis. 28, 29, 1 Am. Rep. 157, where it was said: "But the position most strongly urged by the respondent's counsel in this court, was, that inasmuch as the negligence of the deceased contributed to produce the injury, therefore the death was not occasioned by an accident at all, within the meaning of the policy. I cannot assent to this proposition. It would establish a limitation to the meaning of the word 'accident,' which has never been established, either in law or common understanding. A very large proportion of those events which are universally called accidents happen through some carelessness of the party injured, which contributes to produce them. Thus, men are injured by the careless use of fire-arms, of explosive substances, of machinery, the careless management of horses, and in a thousand ways, where it can readily be seen afterward that a little greater care on their part would have prevented it. Yet such injuries, having been unexpected, and not caused intentionally or by design, are always called accidents, and properly so. Nothing is more common than items in the newspapers, under the heading, 'accidents through carelessness.' There is nothing in the definition of the word that excludes the negligence of the injured party as one of the elements contributing to produce the result."

19. North American L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Burroughs, 69 Pa. St. 43, 8 Am. Rep. 212 [citing Webster Dict.]; U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc. v. Barry, 131 U. S. 100, 121, 9 S. Ct. 755, 33 L. ed. 60.

Happening from cause not apparent.— "Where an event takes place, the real cause of which can not be traced, or is at least not apparent, it ordinarily belongs to that class of occurrences which are designated as purely accidental." Wabash, etc., R. Co. v. Locke, 112 Ind. 404, 411, 14 N. E. 391, 2 Am. St. Rep. 193.

Not happening from negligence.— "It is true that, in strictness, the word accidental may be employed in contradistinction to wilful, and so the same fire might both begin accidentally and be the result of negligence. But it may equally mean a fire produced by mere chance, or incapable of being traced to any cause, and so would stand opposed to the negligence of either servants or masters." Filliter v. Phippard, 11 Q. B. 347, 357, 63 E. C. L. 347 [cited in Read v. Pennsylvania R. Co., 44 N. J. L. 280].

ACCIDENT INSURANCE

EDITED BY THOMAS A. MORAN

CROSS-REFERENCES

For Indemnity against Loss Occasioned by:
Breakage of Plate Glass, see PLATE-GLASS INSURANCE.
Death of Animals Due to Disease or Accident, see LIVE-STOCK INSURANCE.
Defective Titles, Liens, or Encumbrances, see TITLE INSURANCE.
Default or Dishonesty of Employees, see FIDELITY AND GUARANTY INSURANCE.
Explosions of Boilers, see BOILER INSURANCE.
Failure to Make Prompt Payment of Rent, see RENT INSURANCE.
Fire, see FIRE INSURANCE.
Hail, see HAIL INSURANCE.
Injury or Death of Employees in Service, by Reason of Employers' Liability Therefor, see EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY INSURANCE.
Insolvency of Debtors, see CREDIT INSURANCE.
Lightning, see LIGHTNING INSURANCE.
Perils of the Sea, see MARINE INSURANCE.
Winds, Cyclones, or Tornadoes, see CYCLONE INSURANCE.

For Matters Relating to :
Insurance, Generally, see INSURANCE.
Life Insurance, see LIFE INSURANCE.
Lloyd's Insurance, see LLOYD'S INSURANCE.
Mutual Insurance, see MUTUAL INSURANCE.
For Reformation of Policy, see REFORMATION OF INSTRUMENTS.

I. DEFINITION.

Accident insurance is a contract to pay a fixed sum in case of death resulting from accident, either generally, or limited to accidents of a particular kind. The policy also usually provides for payment of a fixed weekly sum during incapacity caused by an accidental injury.[1]

II. ANALOGY TO OTHER KINDS OF INSURANCE.

By the general weight of authority accident insurance is considered as being akin to life insurance; and essentially the same principles underlie, and the same rules govern, both life and accident insurance.[2]

III. POWER OF INSURER TO INSURE.

A. In General. A corporation chartered for the purpose of publishing a newspaper has no franchise to insure against accidents.[3]

B. Limitations of Power. An accident-insurance company which is restricted by law to the issuance of certain classes of policies has no power to issue policies covering any other kind of insurance.[4]

1. Rapalje & L. L. Dict.
Other definitions may be found in Com. v. Wetherbee, 105 Mass. 149; Logan v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 146 Mo. 114, 47 S. W. 948; English L. Dict.

2. Bouvier L. Dict.; Brown L. Dict.; Logan v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 146 Mo. 114, 47 S. W. 948.
Analogy to life insurance.— In Logan v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 146 Mo. 114, 124, 47 S. W. 948, the court, in determining the application of Mo. Rev. Stat. (1889), § 5855, to accident policies, says: "Neither the enlarged provisions covering death from the usual as well as the unusual or accidental causes, as in the ordinary life policy, nor the restricted provisions as in some accident policies, covering liability for death alone from accidental causes, nor the insertion of an indemnity clause, in case of disability, in an accident policy covering death from external, violent, or accidental means, in any wise affect the nature or construction of the provisions which are common to all the policies . . . An examination of the various schemes of accident and life insurance must convince any one that although there are differences, in the results sought, of accomplishment in some particulars, there are many requirements and provisions in common to both, and that the only substantial difference between the two plans of insurance on life is that in the accident contract death must result from a more limited number of causes than is covered by the other and broader contract of insurance on life, called 'life-insurance contracts.'" See also, generally, LIFE INSURANCE.
Analogy to fire insurance.— In 7 Am. L. Rev. 587, the writer of an article on accident insurance says that it is more analogous to fire insurance than to any other branch of insurance, for the reason that it is a contract for indemnity, except in case of death. See also Niblack Ben. Soc. & Acc. Ins. § 363; and, generally, FIRE INSURANCE.

3. Com. v. Philadelphia Inquirer, 15 Pa. Co. Ct. 463, 3 Pa. Dist. 742.

4. Atty.-Gen. v. Bay State Beneficiary Assoc., 171 Mass. 455, 50 N. E. 929; Atty.-Gen. v. Berkshire Health, etc., Assoc., 171 Mass. 458 note, 50 N. E. 930 [construing Mass. Stat. (1890), c. 421, § 1]. In Miller v. American Mut. Acc. Ins. Co., 92 Tenn. 167, 21 S. W. 39, 20 L. R. A. 765, it was held that an accident-insurance company, organized under a statute limiting its powers to insurance against injuries while traveling, had no power to insure against injuries incurred in any other manner; and that a policy issued in excess of its power was void, although broad enough to cover the injury which it purported to insure against. But it was also held that where the act creating such company had been amended so as to permit it to insure against disabilities resulting from sickness or disease, or from other bodily infirmity, it had power to issue policies covering injuries resulting from external, violent, and accidental means; and that the company could not contend that it had no such power because of the fact that it had not accepted the amendment as provided for by the creative act, that is, to accept in some manner the amendment or wind up its business, when it had done neither.

IV. AGENTS.

A. General Principle as to Substitution. The general principle in the law of agency, that where an authority is conferred requiring skill or discretion on the part of the agent, and no power of substitution is given, the agent must act in person,[5] has no application to the responsibility of an accident-insurance company for the acts of its subagent.[6]

B. Whether Agent for Insurer or Insured — 1. Provision in Application. A provision in the application, that "the agent securing the application shall be deemed the agent of the applicant only," applies only to such an agent as can be the agent of the applicant.[7]

2. Authority — a. How Shown. An agency for the insurer may be shown by the acts of the person claimed to have acted as agent, and by the acquiescence in and acceptance of such acts, or the benefits accruing therefrom, by the insurer.[8]

b. Limitations. A limitation of the agent's authority, of which insured has no notice, is not binding upon him.[9]

3. Knowledge of Agent Knowledge of Insurer. Actual knowledge of an agent is constructive knowledge of the insurer.[10]

V. INSURABLE INTEREST.

A. In General. Every person has an insurable interest in his own life.[11]

5. See, generally, PRINCIPAL AND AGENT.

6. Brown v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 45 Mo. 221, holding that where a subagent of such a company sells an accident-insurance ticket, the contract is that of the company.

7. Bushaw v. Women's Mut. Ins., etc., Co., 55 Hun (N. Y.) 607, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 423, holding that this provision will apply to an insurance broker or soliciting agent, but not to an agent of the company.

8. Thus in Sheanon v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 83 Wis. 507, 53 N. W. 878, it was held that where a certain person, who was in the office of the general manager of the company and had charge of the claim of insured, wrote to the company with reference to the matter, signing the name of the manager, adding his own initials, and the company replied to the manager, and this person received the letter and communicated to the insured the contents thereof, consisting of a denial of full liability under the claim, the authority of such person to act for the company was sufficiently established.

One who has ceased to be the regular agent of the insurer, but continues to solicit and take renewals from persons whom he had previously insured, taking a commission from the premiums paid, the insurer accepting the renewals, will be deemed the agent of the insurer and not of the insured. Back v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp., 93 Fed. 930.

Relationship and circumstances.— Where insured was injured and rendered utterly helpless in a strange and distant country, with no relation near him except his brother, and it was important that the business in relation to the insurance should be settled before removing insured to his home, it was held that the agency of his brother to act for him in relation to all matters connected with the insurance would be implied. Sheanon v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 83 Wis. 507, 53 N. W. 878.

A special adjuster, when occupying the office and performing the duties of a chief adjuster, comes within the scope of his apparent authority in contracting to pay the policy on certain conditions, notwithstanding secret limitations to the contrary. Van Cleave v. Union Casualty, etc., Co., 82 Mo. App. 668.

9. Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Ebert, (Ky. 1898) 47 S. W. 865, 866. In this case an accident-insurance ticket was issued to a woman, pursuant to an oral contract with the agent to insure her against loss of time, the ticket being paid for at the rate of such insurance. The ticket stipulated for an indemnity both for loss of time and for death, but contained this clause: "Except that this ticket insures females against death only." It was held that the company was bound for the indemnity for loss of time by accident.

Secret instructions to an agent will not bind the insured who has no knowledge of such instructions. Van Cleave v. Union Casualty, etc., Co., 82 Mo. App. 668.

10. Follette v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 110 N. C. 377, 14 S. E. 923; Back v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp., 93 Fed. 930; New York Acc. Ins. Co. v. Clayton, 59 Fed. 559, 19 U. S. App. 304, 8 C. C. A. 213; Pac. Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Snowden, 58 Fed. 342, 12 U. S. App. 704, 7 C. C. A. 264; Mutual Ben. L. Ins. Co. v. Robison, 58 Fed. 723, 19 U. S. App. 266, 7 C. C. A. 444, 22 L. R. A. 325.

11. Provident L. Ins., etc., Co. v. Baum, 29 Ind. 236; Van Cleave v. Union Casualty, etc., Co., 82 Mo. App. 668; Tucker v. Mutual Ben. L. Co., 50 Hun (N. Y.) 50, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 505,—holding that, having such an insurable interest, one may take out an accident policy payable to any person he may name therein as beneficiary.

B. As between Husband and Wife. One living with a person as his wife, though she is not such, has an insurable interest in him;[12] but a statute creating an insurable interest in the "life" of a person in favor of his wife has been held to have no application to accident insurance.[13]

C. As between Parent and Child. Under 14 Geo. III, c. 48, § 1, it seems that a son has no insurable interest in the life of his father.[14]

VI. Change of Beneficiaries.

The insured may, with the consent of the insurer, substitute a new beneficiary for the one originally designated in the policy.[15]

VII. Commencement and Duration of Risk.

A. Commencement — 1. Before Issuance and Delivery of Policy — a. In General. The contract of insurance having been agreed upon, the execution and delivery of the policy is not essential to its taking effect, in the absence of an express stipulation to the contrary in the contract.[16]

b. After Acceptance of Application. Generally the contract of insurance is complete when the application is accepted and credit given for the premium,[17] and any act on the part of the insurer which leads the applicant to believe that his application has been accepted, in consequence of which he neglects to take out other insurance, will be deemed sufficient;[18] but mere intention to accept is not sufficient.[19]

12. Lampkin v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 11 Colo. App. 249, 52 Pac. 1040. Compare Van Cleave v. Union Casualty, etc., Co., 82 Mo. App. 668.

13. Steinhausen v. Preferred Mut. Acc. Assoc., 59 Hun (N. Y.) 336, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 36 [construing N. Y. Laws (1840), c. 80].

14. This statute provided that no insurance should be made on lives or any other event wherein the person for whose benefit the policy was made should have no beneficial interest. In Shilling v. Accidental Death Ins. Co., 1 F. & F. 116, construing this statute, it was held that a son could not insure the life of his father against accident.

15. Hoffman v. Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co., 56 Mo. App. 301; Steinhausen v. Preferred Mut. Acc. Assoc., 59 Hun (N. Y.) 336, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 36; Robinson v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 68 Fed. 825,— assigning as a reason for this rule the fact that the beneficiary has at most only an inchoate interest in the policy.

16. Preferred Acc. Ins. Co. v. Stone, 61 Kan. 48, 58 Pac. 986.

An oral agreement for present insurance, made by an agent of the insurer, has been held to be a binding contract at once, and the insurer is liable thereon, although the application contains a provision, unknown to the applicant, that the insurer incurs no liability prior to the receipt and acceptance of the application and membership fee by its designated officer, and the policy subsequently issued bears date later than the oral agreement, since the applicant relies on the oral agreement between himself and the agent, who, under the statutory provision, was presumed to have the power to make such agreement. Mathers v. Union Mut. Acc. Assoc., 78 Wis. 588, 47 N. W. 1130, 11 L. R. A. 83 [construing Wis. Rev. Stat. (1898) § 1977, relating to general agent of insurance companies]. But compare Fowler v. Preferred Acc. Ins. Co., 100 Ga. 330, 28 S. E. 398, cited infra, note 20.

17. Dailey v. Preferred Masonic Mut. Acc. Assoc., 102 Mich. 289, 57 N. W. 184, 26 L. R. A. 171.

Provision for acceptance by general manager.— Where the application, which was expressly made a part of the policy, stated that the insured was not to be liable until the receipt and acceptance of the application and membership fee by the general manager of the insurer, it was held that the contract was not complete until such acceptance, and the insurer was not estopped to deny its liability for a death occurring prior to such acceptance merely because it had received the application and retained the membership fee. Coker v. Atlas Acc. Ins. Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1895) 31 S. W. 703.

18. So held in a case where an insurance company received and accepted an application for insurance, though not in the usual and formal way, and received and retained the cash premium accompanying the application, but delayed the issuance of the policy to the applicant until an accounting could be had with its agent in respect to the premium; and in the meantime another agent of the company, whose duty it would have been to receive the policy if issued, and deliver it to the insured or to receive back from the company the premium paid upon the application in case it was rejected, and to return it to the applicant, informed him that his application had been accepted and that a policy would presently be issued to him; and such applicant relied upon such statements, and, because thereof, failed to take out other insurance. Preferred Acc. Ins. Co. v. Stone, 61 Kan. 48, 58 Pac. 986.

19. Allen v. Massachusetts Mut. Acc. Assoc., 167 Mass. 18, 44 N. E. 1053, the reason for the rule being that the insurer has a

2. Upon Issuance and Delivery of Policy. Where the policy provides for the payment of a certain sum on its delivery, and for the payment of a further sum without specifying when it is to be paid, the policy takes effect upon the payment of the sum required on its delivery.[20] A policy bearing a given date and insuring for the future only will not permit a recovery for a loss occurring prior to such date.[21]

B. Duration. Where the policy insured against accidents for twelve calendar months from a certain date, the effect of the word "from" is to exclude the date of the policy from the period of insurance.[22]

VIII. Payment of Premiums and Assessments.

A. In General — 1. May Be Regulated in Policy. The payment of premiums may be regulated by express provision in the policy.[23]

2. Diligence Required of Insured. Insured should exercise diligence to pay premiums when due.[24] right to change its intention and refuse to accept the application or issue a policy thereon.

20. Bushaw v. Women's Mut. Ins., etc., Co., 55 Hun (N. Y.) 607, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 423.

Thus a mere verbal assurance by an agent of the insurer, made to the applicant, to the effect that he is insured from the date of his application, coupled with a receipt purporting to be for the first quarterly premium, will not constitute a contract of insurance on which an action can be maintained, where the application states that the basis of the contract between the insurer and the applicant shall be the application and a premium paid by the applicant; that no statements made by the solicitor of the application shall bind the insurer unless written on the application; that the application shall not be binding on the insurer unless accepted by its secretary; and that the policy shall not be in force until actually issued from the home office of the insurer,— since the verbal assurance made by the agent becomes merged in the written agreement, which in this case is the application. Fowler v. Preferred Acc. Ins. Co., 100 Ga. 330, 28 S. E. 398. But compare Mathers v. Union Mut. Acc. Assoc., 78 Wis. 588, 47 N. W. 1130, 11 L. R. A. 83, cited supra, note 16.

21. Fowler v. Preferred Acc. Ins. Co., 100 Ga. 330, 28 S. E. 398.

Relating back.— In Gordon v. U. S. Casualty Co., (Tenn. Ch. 1899) 54 S. W. 98, where an indorsement on the back of the policy stated that the insurance was to take effect on a certain date, and the policy itself contained a provision that it was to take effect on the same date, but contained a further provision that it was not to take effect until issued and delivered, it was held that the contract became complete only upon its issuance and delivery, but that, having once been delivered, it would relate back to the particular date mentioned in the indorsement and policy, and where an injury was received subsequent to such date, but before the delivery of the policy, a liability arose.

In Rogers v. Equitable Mut. L., etc., Assoc., 103 Iowa 337, 72 N. W. 538, it was held that where the agent of a mutual accident company had no authority to accept memberships, and was required to send all applications therefor to the company for acceptance, the acceptance of the application and issuance of a certificate by the company did not make such certificate relate back to the time when the application was made to the agent, in the absence of anything in the application binding the company in the meantime; and in case of an injury to the applicant after the application has been made, but before the issuance of the certificate, the company was not liable therefor, although the application was made a part of the certificate.

22. South Staffordshire Tramways Co. v. Sickness, etc., Assur. Assoc., [1891] 1 Q. B. 402.

23. Simpson v. Accidental Death Ins. Co., 2 C. B. N. S. 257, 89 E. C. L. 257, 3 Jur. N. S. 1079, where, by the terms of the policy, the insurer was given the option of accepting or refusing premiums after a certain time.

24. Cronkhite v. Accident Ins. Co. of North America, 35 Fed. 26.

Delegation of performance of duty to another.— The general agent, upon issuing a policy to the insured, gave him until a certain time to pay the premium. On that day, in company with the soliciting agent, who had conducted the negotiations and was authorized to collect the premium, insured went to the general agent's office to make the payment, but was informed by the person who had acted as general agent at the time the policy was issued that he was no longer such agent, and that his successor was absent. Thereupon insured and the soliciting agent went out, the latter promising insured that he would return in the afternoon, pay the premium, and look to insured for the same. The soliciting agent did call at the office of the general agent two or three times during that afternoon, but was unable to find him and the premium was not paid. It was held that insured had not exercised sufficient diligence to avoid a forfeiture for non-payment, since at the time when the premium became due he should have paid the same to the soliciting agent, who was authorized to receive pay-

3. MADE TO AGENT. Payment of premium to a local agent, who in turn pays it over to the general agent, has been held to constitute payment to the insurer.[25]

4. NOTICE REQUIRING PAYMENT BEFORE DUE. Payment of assessment before due under the contract or by-laws cannot be required. Notice demanding such payment is unavailing as against insured.[26]

5. EFFECT OF FAILURE TO PAY. A policy cannot be avoided for non-payment of an assessment notice of which has not been given to the insured as required by the contract of insurance,[27] nor does a failure to pay an assessment within the time stipulated for its payment deprive the certificate-holder of his membership in the association, but does suspend his right to indemnity for an injury received after the assessment becomes due and before its payment.[28]

6. WAIVER OF PAYMENT. Waiver of payment of premium, as to time and manner of making, may be made by an agent who has the authority to do so.[29]

B. By Giving Notes. Where promissory notes are accepted in payment of premiums, it seems a policy cannot be avoided for non-payment of such a note, even under a provision to that effect, where the non-payment is due to the fault of the insurer rather than of the insured.[30]

C. By Giving Order on Employer[31] — 1. DUTY OF INSURED. The duty of ment, when he found that the general agent was absent. Cronkhite v. Accident Ins. Co. of North America, 35 Fed. 26.

25. Preferred Acc. Ins. Co. v. Stone, 61 Kan. 48, 58 Pac. 986. In this case the premium was paid to a local agent of the insurer, who forwarded it, together with the application, to the general agent, who in his turn forwarded the application to the insurer, but retained the premium. The insurer received and retained the application, awaiting a settlement with the general agent, without notifying the applicant of its reason for so doing.

26. In U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc. v. Mueller, 151 Ill. 254, 37 N. E. 882, the by-laws of an accident society provided that assessments were to be paid within thirty days from the date of the notice thereof. It was held that such provision meant that assessments were to be paid within thirty days from the date of the service of the notice, and not from the date of the notice itself, and that where insured received a notice of an assessment on November 30 requiring him to pay the same December 28, he was not required to do so, but was entitled to thirty days from November 30.

27. Ball v. Northwestern Mut. Acc. Assoc., 56 Minn. 414, 57 N. W. 1063. In this case the agreement was to the effect that the insurance should cease whenever insured should fail to make a payment of the assessment levied upon him; that a notice mailed, postage prepaid, to his last address given, should be a sufficient notification of the making of the assessment; and that one calendar month should be allowed for the payment of any such assessment. The envelope in which insured received his certificate contained a notice, indorsed thereon, that the first premium was payable Feb. 1, 1892. Assessment was made upon insured on Jan. 1, 1892, notice of which was mailed to his last address given, but was never received by him. Insured was injured on Jan. 30, 1892. The association set up the defense that the certificate had been forfeited because of a non-payment of the premium. It was held that insured, never having received the notice of the assessment of Jan. 1, 1892, was justified in assuming that the first assessment which could be made against him would become due on Feb. 1, 1892, and that he would then have thirty days from that date in which to pay such assessment.

28. National Masonic Acc. Assoc. v. Burr, 44 Nebr. 256, 62 N. W. 466.

Injury received while member resulting in death while not member.— Where the certificate insures against death resulting from injuries within ninety days after the accident, the association is not relieved from liability for the death of a member who dies within ninety days after an accident because before his death he ceased to be a member by reason of a default in paying an assessment falling due after the accident. Burkheiser v. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 61 Fed. 816, 18 U. S. App. 704, 10 C. C. A. 94, 26 L. R. A. 112.

29. Standard Acc., etc., Ins. Co. v. Friedenthal, 1 Colo. App. 5, 27 Pac. 88; Kerlin v. National Acc. Assoc., 8 Ind. App. 628, 35 N. E. 39; Gordon v. U. S. Casualty Co., (Tenn. Ch. 1899) 54 S. W. 98, where it is held that a policy will be deemed to have taken effect, notwithstanding the fact that the policy itself provides that it is not to take effect until the payment of the premium, where such payment has been waived.

30. Equitable Acc. Ins. Co. v. Van Etten, 40 Ill. App. 232, where it appeared that it was customary to collect the notes from insured wherever he might be, and that the unpaid note was in the hands of an agent for collection, but was not presented for payment, no notice given to insured, or his attention called to the fact that it was unpaid.

31. It is customary with some companies to accept from the insured an order upon his employer, in lieu of a cash premium. See cases cited in notes infra, 32–40.

insured in such cases is usually fully performed if he leaves a sufficient amount in the hands of his employer to meet the instalments as they fall due.[32]

2. Duty of Insurer. It devolves upon the insurer to present the orders for payment as the instalments fall due,[33] and also to notify insured of their non-payment;[34] but notice of non-payment is not necessary where insured has drawn all his wages and left nothing in his employer's hands with which to pay the instalments,[35] and in such a case it cannot be contended that the order has been paid.[36]

3. Periods Covered by Order. Where, in such cases, it is agreed that the instalments specified in the order, payable at stated intervals, shall apply only to the payment of premiums for corresponding insurance periods, and that there shall be no liability for personal injuries occurring in any period for which the instalment shall not have been paid, no recovery can be had for an injury happening in one of the periods for which the instalment remains unpaid.[37] Nor is it incumbent on the insurer in such a case, in order to escape liability, to return the order to the insured and notify him that the contract is at an end.[38] It is the duty

32. Lyon v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 55 Mich. 141, 20 N. W. 829, 54 Am. Rep. 354; Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Johnson, 72 Miss. 333, 17 So. 2, 30 L. R. A. 206; Eury v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 89 Tenn. 427, 14 S. W. 929, 10 L. R. A. 534.

33. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Walker, 67 Ark. 147, 53 S. W. 675; Cotten v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 41 Fed. 506, holding that a failure to present an order for payment estops the insurer from setting up non-payment.

34. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Walker, 67 Ark. 147, 53 S. W. 675, holding that a failure on the part of the insurer to give this notice will prevent a forfeiture for non-payment.

Mistake of employer.— In National Ben. Assoc. v. Jackson, 114 Ill. 533, 2 N. E. 414, this rule was held to be applicable even where the installment had not been paid through mistake on the part of the employer.

35. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Walker, 67 Ark. 147, 53 S. W. 675; Landis v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 6 Ind. App. 502, 33 N. E. 989; McMahon v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 77 Iowa 229, 42 N. W. 179.

But see Travelers' L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Cash, 14 Ind. App. 3, 42 N. E. 246. In that case the policy recited that it was issued in consideration of an order on the employer, and provided that in the case of a just claim before the first premium should be due, if the sum due insured should be less than the sum of all the payments called for by the order, it should be credited thereon, but if greater the order should be receipted in full and the balance paid to insured. Insured's wages were due from his employer on the eighteenth of the month after they had been earned; the day before the policy went into effect, but after its delivery, insured left his employer, drawing all the wages that were then due him. It was held that, notwithstanding the fact that there was no money in the hands of his former employer with which to pay the premium when due, insured was entitled to recover, since the policy contemplated the happening of a contingency whereby insured might not be entitled to enough money to pay the premium, and provided that in such an event it should be carried over.

36. McMahon v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 77 Iowa 229, 42 N. W. 179; Employer's Liability Assur. Corp. v. Rochelle, 13 Tex. Civ. App. 232, 35 S. W. 869.

37. McMahon v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 77 Iowa 229, 42 N. W. 179; Bane v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 85 Ky. 677, 4 S. W. 787,— holding this to be the correct rule, even though at the time of the injury the insured had due him sufficient wages, subsequently earned, since the insurance covered only the periods for which instalments had been paid.

In Employer's Liability Assur. Corp. v. Rochelle, 13 Tex. Civ. App. 232, 35 S. W. 869, a policy was issued in consideration of an order on insured's employer, directing the payment of a certain sum for each of four consecutive months, and reciting that the first payment made the policy good for two months, the second for four months, the third for seven months, and the fourth for twelve months from the date of the order. The policy declared that the premiums specified in the order were for the consecutive periods of two, three, and five months, and that each should apply only to its corresponding insurance period, and that the insurer would not be liable for any injuries sustained by insured during any period for which its respective premium had not been paid. It was held that the policy was not a contract of insurance for an entire period of a year, but for separate periods; that, the employer having, after making two of the payments, returned the order to the insurer with refusal of payment, stating that insured had left its employment and nothing was due him that month, the policy ceased to operate from the expiration of the periods for which premiums had been paid, and that it was immaterial that insured re-entered the employment of the employer, so that wages were due him for the next month.

38. Bane v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 85 Ky. 677, 4 S. W. 787; Employer's Liability Assur. Corp. v. Rochelle, 13 Tex. Civ. App. 232, 35 S. W. 869,— holding that by the very terms of the contract the insurance was to cease at the end of any period if the succeeding period's premium was not paid.

of the insured, if he desires to continue the policy, to pay the instalments as they fall due, and his failure to do so terminates the liability of the company.[39]

4. Deduction of Wages without Consent of Insurer. A deduction by an employer, from the wages of an employee, of dues to an employees' relief association, has been held not to amount to an acceptance of the employee's application to become a member of the association, it not appearing that the employer had been officially notified by the association that the employee had been admitted to membership.[40]

D. Reinstatement. The receipt and retention, by the association, of an assessment remitted by a member after an accident, does not so reinstate the member as to make the certificate relate back to the time of the accident;[41] but where the policy has lapsed and the insurer writes insured that he will be reinstated if he remits a check, the reinstatement takes effect from the day insured mails his check.[42]

E. Renewals. A renewal of the policy may be effected without the actual payment of the renewal premium, where an agent, according to the usual course of business, delivers the renewal receipt to the insured.[43]

IX. The Policy in General.

A. General Rules of Interpretation — 1. Liberal Construction. As a general rule the policy should be liberally construed,[44] and the terms thereof should be understood in their plain, ordinary, and popular sense.[45]

2. Interpretation of Conditions, Exceptions, and Provisions — a. Against Insurer and in Favor of Insured. All provisions, conditions, or exceptions which in any way tend to work a forfeiture of the policy should be construed most strongly against those for whose benefit they are inserted, and most favorably toward those against whom they are meant to operate,[46] this rule being

39. Bane v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 85 Ky. 677, 4 S. W. 787.

40. Baltimore, etc., Employees' Relief-Assoc. v. Post, 122 Pa. St. 579, 15 Atl. 885, 9 Am. St. Rep. 147, 2 L. R. A. 44. In this case the constitution and by-laws of the association authorized the employer to deduct dues to the association from the wages of his employees who were also members of the association.

41. National Masonic Acc. Assoc. v. Burr, 44 Nebr. 256, 62 N. W. 466.

42. Colvin v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 66 Hun (N. Y.) 543, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 734, holding that "remit" means to send back, and in the absence of any specific direction as to the mode of sending the check there will be implied a direction to send it in the usual way, which is by mail.

43. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Willey, 80 Fed. 497, 39 U. S. App. 599, 25 C. C. A. 593 [affirming 77 Fed. 961], where it was held that where the insurer had forwarded to its agent a renewal receipt and had charged him with the premium represented thereby, such being the usual course of dealing, and the agent had countersigned the receipt and delivered it to the policy-holder, such charge against the agent and delivery of the policy or premium receipt to the assured might be treated as a transfer of the assured's indebtedness to the agent, and consequently a payment as between the former and the company, or as an estoppel of the company against setting up the stipulation for prepayment of the premium in avoidance of the policy; the court adding: "We are not called on to consider the reasonableness of this rule; it has become a part of the law of insurance. Companies can avoid it by avoiding the facts on which it rests, but in no other way."

44. Lowenstein v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 88 Fed. 474.

45. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc. v. Newman, 84 Va. 52, 3 S. E. 805.

46. California.— Berliner v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 121 Cal. 458, 53 Pac. 918, 66 Am. St. Rep. 49.

Illinois.— Globe Acc. Ins. Co. v. Gerisch, 163 Ill. 625, 45 N. E. 563, 54 Am. St. Rep. 486; Union Mut. Acc. Assoc. v. Frohard, 134 Ill. 228, 25 N. E. 642, 25 Am. St. Rep. 664, 10 L. R. A. 383; Healey v. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 133 Ill. 556, 25 N. E. 52, 23 Am. St. Rep. 637, 9 L. R. A. 371.

Indiana.— Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Martin, 133 Ind. 376, 33 N. E. 105; McElfresh v. Odd Fellows Acc. Co., 21 Ind. App. 557, 52 N. E. 819.

Maine.— Young v. Travelers Ins. Co., 80 Me. 244, 13 Atl. 896; McGlinchey v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 80 Me. 251, 14 Atl. 13, 6 Am. St. Rep. 190.

Michigan.— Blackstone v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 74 Mich. 592, 42 N. W. 156, 3 L. R. A. 486.

Missouri.— McFarland v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 124 Mo. 204, 27 S. W. 436; Cunningham v. Union Casualty, etc., Co., 82 Mo. App. 607.

applicable to purely benefit accident policies as well as to the ordinary accident policy;[47] and any provision, condition, or exception which is uncertain or ambiguous in its meaning[48] or is capable of two constructions should receive that construction which is most favorable to the insured.[49] At the same time the language of the contract should be construed as a whole and should receive a reasonable interpretation, and it should not be extended beyond what is fairly within the terms of the policy;[50] and the language of the provision, condition, or exception should, if possible, be given its legal effect.[51]

b. Effect of Judicial Construction. Where the insurer continues to issue, without change, policies, clauses of which have been judicially construed unfavorably to its contention, it will be considered as issuing them with that construction placed upon them.[52]

B. Application as Part of the Policy — 1. In General. The application of the insured usually constitutes a part of the insurance contract or policy,[53] especially where the latter contains an express provision to that effect.[54]

2. Statements in Application — a. As to Effect of Policy. Statements in the application expressing the applicant's understanding of what will be the effect of the insurance cannot control the legal construction of a policy.[55]

New York.— Paul v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 112 N. Y. 472, 20 N. E. 347, 8 Am. St. Rep. 758; Neill v. Order of United Friends, 78 Hun (N. Y.) 255, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 928.

Vermont.— Duran v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 63 Vt. 437, 22 Atl. 530, 25 Am. St. Rep. 773, 13 L. R. A. 637.

Virginia.— Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Chambers, 93 Va. 138, 24 S. E. 896.

United States.— Lowenstein v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 88 Fed. 474; Cotten v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 41 Fed. 506.

47. Matthes v. Imperial Acc. Assoc., (Iowa 1900) 81 N. W. 484.

48. Globe Acc. Ins. Co. v. Gerisch, 61 Ill. App. 140; Cook v. Benefit League, 76 Minn. 382, 79 N. W. 320; Lowenstein v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 88 Fed. 474.

49. Colorado.— Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Murray, 16 Colo. 296, 26 Pac. 774, 25 Am. St. Rep. 267.

Illinois.— Railway Officials, etc., Acc. Assoc. v. Coady, 80 Ill. App. 563.

Kentucky.— American Acc. Co. v. Reigart, 94 Ky. 547, 23 S. W. 191, 42 Am. St. Rep. 374.

Michigan.— Utter v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 65 Mich. 545, 32 N. W. 812, 8 Am. St. Rep. 913.

Missouri.— Hoffman v. Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co., 56 Mo. App. 301.

New York.— Sneck v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 88 Hun (N. Y.) 94, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 545; Neill v. Order of United Friends, 78 Hun (N. Y.) 255, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 928.

Pennsylvania.— Humphreys v. National Ben. Assoc., 139 Pa. St. 264, 20 Atl. 1047, 11 L. R. A. 564, 27 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 357; Burkhard v. Travellers' Ins. Co., 102 Pa. St. 262, 48 Am. Rep. 205; Spicer v. Commercial Mut. Acc. Co., 16 Pa. Co. Ct. 163, 4 Pa. Dist. 271.

Clerical error.— In Commercial Travelers' Mut. Acc. Assoc. v. Fulton, 79 Fed. 423, 424, 45 U. S. App. 578, 24 C. C. A. 654, a clause in the policy provided that the insurance should "not extend to or cover accidental injuries or death resulting from or caused directly or indirectly, wholly or in part, by hernia, fits, vertigo, somnambulism, or disease in any form, or while effected thereby." It was held, following the rule that where an ambiguity or obscurity exists it should be resolved in favor of the insured, that the word "effected," which through a clerical error had been inserted in the clause, would be construed to mean "affected," although the clause as it stood was without meaning.

50. Duran v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 63 Vt. 437, 22 Atl. 530, 25 Am. St. Rep. 773, 13 L. R. A. 637.

Thus, in Merrill v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 91 Wis. 329, 64 N. W. 1039, it was held that some particular operation, effect, and meaning should be given to each sentence, phrase, and word used; and, that this might fairly and properly be done, no part of the language used should be rejected as superfluous and unmeaning, and that hence the rule that where reasonably intelligent men would honestly differ as to the meaning of the policy, the doubt should be resolved against the insurer, could not be applied where the doubt would be raised by a disregard of the rule as first stated.

51. Young v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 80 Me. 244, 13 Atl. 896.

52. Lowenstein v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 88 Fed. 474.

53. Reynolds v. Atlas Acc. Ins. Co., 69 Minn. 93, 71 N. W. 831.

54. Travelers Ins. Co. v. Lampkin, 5 Colo. App. 177, 38 Pac. 335; Van Cleave v. Union Casualty, etc., Co., 82 Mo. App. 668.

Application annexed to or indorsed upon policy.— Where the policy contains a clause to the effect that it is issued "in consideration of the warranties and agreements contained in the application indorsed hereon," the application is "indorsed" where a copy thereof is attached to the back of the policy. Reynolds v. Atlas Acc. Ins. Co., 69 Minn. 93, 71 N. W. 831.

55. Accident Ins. Co. of North America v. Crandal, 120 U. S. 527, 7 S. Ct. 685, 30 L. ed.

b. As to Warranties. Statements in the application will not be construed as warranties unless the application and the policy, taken together, leave no room for any other construction.[56]

c. Estoppel to Deny. Accepting and retaining without objection a policy and the application attached thereto has been held to operate as an estoppel, against both insured and his beneficiary, from asserting that the answers of the insured were incorrectly inserted in the application without his knowledge.[57]

d. Inconsistency between Application and Policy. In case of any inconsistency between the application and the policy, the latter will control.[58]

C. By-Laws and Constitution as Part of the Policy. A by-law not made a part of the policy has no effect in determining the rights of the parties.[59] But the constitution of a fraternal association becomes a part of the contract of insurance under a stipulation to that effect in the application.[60]

D. Clauses in Blank. A policy containing blank clauses for two kinds of accident insurance, one clause of which, providing for the payment of a weekly indemnity in case of injury, is properly filled out, and the other clause of which, providing for the payment of a fixed sum in case of death, is left blank and unfilled, operates only as to the injury clause, not as to the death clause.[61]

E. Substituted Policies — 1. In General. A mistake made in the policy may be corrected by the issuance of a new policy.[62]

740 [affirming 27 Fed. 40]. In this case the rule stated in the text was upheld, notwithstanding the application itself warranted the facts therein stated to be true, and the policy in terms was expressed to have been made in consideration of the warranties made in the application. But compare Reynolds v. Atlas Acc. Ins. Co., 69 Minn. 93, 71 N. W. 831, cited infra, note 57.

56. Modern Woodman Acc. Assoc. v. Shryock, 54 Nebr. 250, 74 N. W. 607, 39 L. R. A. 826. See also Travelers Ins. Co. v. Lampkin, 5 Colo. App. 177, 38 Pac. 335.

57. Reynolds v. Atlas Acc. Ins. Co., 69 Minn. 93, 71 N. W. 831, stating, as a reason for this rule, that the insured in such case must be deemed to have approved of the application and accepted it as correctly stating his answers contained therein. But compare Accident Ins. Co. of North America v. Crandal, 120 U. S. 527, 7 S. Ct. 685, 30 L. ed. 740, cited supra, note 55.

58. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Jones, 94 Ala. 434, 10 So. 530, assigning as a reason for this rule that the policy, being the later expression of the minds of the parties, and indeed the only expression of those matters upon which their minds have finally met, should control.

59. Mutual Acc., etc., Assoc. v. Kayser, 14 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 86, assigning as a reason for this rule the fact that the policy in mutual accident insurance constitutes the agreement between the parties.

By-laws amended subsequently to issuance of policy.— A by-law of a benefit association in force at the time of the issuance of its policy controls, and not a by-law amended subsequent to the issuance thereof. Maynard v. Locomotive Engineers' Mut. L., etc., Ins. Assoc., 16 Utah 145, 51 Pac. 259.

In Carnes v. Iowa State Traveling Men's Assoc., 106 Iowa 281, 76 N. W. 683, 68 Am. St. Rep. 306, the constitution of the association, at the time the certificate was issued to insured, provided for indemnity whenever the death of a member occurred from "accidental cause." As afterward amended, the articles of incorporation and by-laws limited the indemnity to injuries effected "through or by external, violent, or accidental means." The power of the association to amend the laws was limited to matters not provided for in the constitution. Nothing in the constitution authorized the association to amend, and thereby bind a member to any change in the contract without his assent, and the amended articles did not purport to change existing contracts. It was held that the articles and by-laws as amended could not be given a retroactive effect, and the certificate was not affected by such amendment.

60. Hutchinson v. Supreme Tent, etc., 68 Hun (N. Y.) 355, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 801.

61. Hall v. American Employers Liability Ins. Co., 96 Ga. 413, 23 S. E. 10.

In Rosenberry v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 14 Ind. App. 625, 43 N. E. 317, the insured died within twenty-four hours after the injury. The personal representative was not even allowed to recover the entire amount of weekly indemnity to which insured would have been entitled had he lived and become totally disabled.

In Dawson v. Accident Ins. Co. of North America, 38 Mo. App. 355, the insured was almost instantly killed. His personal representative waited a certain number of weeks and then sued for the indemnity on the theory that insured, having been killed, was totally disabled within the meaning of the policy, and, as such, entitled to indemnity for the number of weeks mentioned therein. It was held that the action could not be maintained.

62. Ford v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Relief Co., 148 Mass. 153, 19 N. E. 169, 1 L. R. A. 700, where the mistake consisted of a misstatement of the occupation of insured.

2. Of New Company. Where a company issues its own policies free of charge to the policy-holders of an insolvent company, stipulations in the substituted policies, and not those in the old, will control.[63]

X. Misrepresentations in Application Avoiding Policy.

A. False Statements of Applicant. False representations material to the risk, made by an applicant in his application,[64] such as misrepresentations concerning his mental or physical condition [65] or as to his occupation [66] will avoid the 63. Brown v. U. S. Casualty Co., 88 Fed. 38.

64. Van Cleave v. Union Casualty, etc., Co., 82 Mo. App. 668, holding, however, that false representations not material to the risk will not avoid the policy.

Representations are distinguishable from warranties; the latter must be literally fulfilled, whereas the former need not be. Van Cleave v. Union Casualty, etc., Co., 82 Mo. App. 668.

65. Indiana.— Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Martin, 133 Ind. 376, 33 N. E. 105.

Michigan.—Ketcham v. American Mut. Acc. Assoc., 117 Mich. 521, 76 N. W. 5.

Nebraska.— Modern Woodman Acc. Assoc. v. Shryock, 54 Nebr. 250, 74 N. W. 607, 39 L. R. A. 826.

New York.— Brink v. Guaranty Mut. Acc. Assoc., 55 Hun (N. Y.) 606, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 847.

United States.— Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co. v. Dorgan, 58 Fed. 945, 16 U. S. App. 290, 7 C. C. A. 581, 22 L. R. A. 620; Bernays v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 45 Fed. 455; Cotten v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 41 Fed. 506.

Health.— In Ketcham v. American Mut. Acc. Assoc., 117 Mich. 521, 76 N. W. 5, the policy was avoided for misrepresentations as to applicant's health. But in Brink v. Guaranty Mut. Acc. Assoc., 55 Hun (N. Y.) 606, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 847, it was held that applicant had not misrepresented his physical condition by a statement to the effect that he had no disease and was not subject to fits, etc., which would render him liable to accidental injuries, several persons, who had known him for years, having testified that he was strong and robust and that they had never known him to have an ailment, notwithstanding it was also shown that he had several times been thrown from his buggy, receiving injuries and in some instances had remained unconscious for a while, and upon one occasion had fallen down without apparent cause and acted strangely.

Mental and bodily infirmities, generally.— It seems that a statement that applicant never had, and has not then, any bodily or mental infirmity, will not be construed to mean that he has always been, and is at the time of making such warranty, free from every ailment that flesh is heir to. Bernays v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 45 Fed. 455.

Heart disease unknown to applicant, although existing at the time of the application, will not constitute a breach of representation that applicant "is free from bodily or mental infirmity." Modern Woodman Acc. Assoc. v. Shryock, 54 Nebr. 250, 74 N. W. 607, 39 L. R. A. 826. An anæmic murmur indicating no structural defect of the heart, but arising simply from mere temporary disability or weakened condition of the body, is not a "bodily or mental infirmity." Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co. v. Dorgan, 58 Fed. 945, 16 U. S. App. 290, 7 C. C. A. 581, 22 L. R. A. 620.

Near-sightedness is not a bodily infirmity within the meaning of a warranty to the effect that the applicant was not possessed of or subject to any bodily infirmity. Cotten v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 41 Fed. 506.

Physical injuries.— In Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Martin, 133 Ind. 376, 33 N. E. 105, it was held that a statement by applicant that he had never been physically injured did not mean that he had never received any physical injury, but merely that at the time of the application he was free from serious physical injury, and that any injuries which he might have sustained previously had disappeared and left no trace behind which would render him an unfit subject for accident insurance.

66. Arkansas.— Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Ward, 65 Ark. 295, 45 S. W. 1065.

Illinois.— High Court, etc. v. Schweitzer, 70 Ill. App. 139.

New York.— Cram v. Equitable Acc. Assoc., 58 Hun (N. Y.) 11, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 462.

Wisconsin.— Murphey v. American Mut. Acc. Assoc., 90 Wis. 206, 62 N. W. 1057.

England.— Perrins v. Marine, etc., Ins. Soc., 2 E. & E. 317, 105 E. C. L. 317 [affirmed in 6 Jur. N. S. 627].

Thus statements that one's occupation was that of "an ice-dealer and proprietor of transportation company, office work only," where it appeared that he was engaged in the cattle business (Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Ward, 65 Ark. 295, 45 S. W. 1065); or that one was "an oil producer" and his duties were those of "supervision only," whereas in fact he was a lessee of oil lands, operating several wells, and performing every part of the work himself (Cram v. Equitable Acc. Assoc., 58 Hun (N. Y.) 11, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 462),— constitute misrepresentations.

But in High Court, etc. v. Schweitzer, 70 Ill. App. 139, it was held that a statement by applicant that he was "managing a restaurant," etc., it appearing that he was employed in a restaurant as a barkeeper, was not such a misrepresentation.

Omitting to state the occupation of the applicant in an application containing a provision requiring such a statement to be made was not allowed to avoid the policy where the premium which insured paid was the same as would have been payable by him policy. So also it has been held that false representations as to other insurance are material to the risk and will avoid the policy.[67]

B. False Statements Inserted by Agent — 1. In General. If by fraud, mistake, or inadvertence a false statement is inserted in the application by the agent, it will not have the effect of avoiding the policy.[68]

2. At the Request of Applicant. If, however, an untrue statement is inserted in the application by an agent at the request of the applicant, it constitutes a misrepresentation which will avoid the policy.[69]

C. Waiver — 1. In General. The right to avoid a policy for false representations in the application may be waived.[70]

2. Knowledge of Insurer. Knowledge of the insurer waives an omission or misrepresentation in the application,[71] and actual knowledge by an agent of the falsity of an answer to a question in the application will be imputed to the insurer.[72] had he described his occupation and been insured as such, notwithstanding the fact that the policy contained a provision "that if any statement or allegation contained in the aforesaid declaration or proposal be untrue, or if this policy has been obtained or shall hereafter be continued through any misrepresentation, concealment, or untrue averment whatsoever, . . . then this policy shall be void." Perrins v. Marine, etc., Ins. Soc., 2 E. & E. 317, 318 [affirmed in 6 Jur. N. S. 627].

67. Union Casualty, etc., Co. v. Bailey, (Kan. App. 1900) 61 Pac. 452.

Misstatement as to the relationship of beneficiary to the insured is neither a warranty nor a representation material to the risk. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Martin, 133 Ind. 376, 33 N. E. 105, the reason for this being that it is merely an indication of the person to whom the policy is payable.

In Lampkin v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 11 Colo. App. 249, 52 Pac. 1040 [distinguishing Travelers Ins. Co. v. Lampkin, 5 Colo. App. 177, 38 Pac. 335], part of the application was as follows: "Write policy payable, in case of death under the provisions of the policy, to Mrs. Lou Lampkin, whose relationship to me is that of wife." It was held that such a statement was not a warranty that the beneficiary was insured's wife, or a material representation, but a mere description of the person to whom the policy was to be paid in case of the death of insured. To the same effect is Van Cleave v. Union Casualty, etc., Co., 82 Mo. App. 668.

68. Howe v. Provident Fund Soc., 7 Ind. App. 586, 34 N. E. 830; Brink v. Guaranty Mut. Acc. Assoc., 55 Hun (N. Y.) 606, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 847, 28 N. Y. St. 921; Wilder v. Preferred Mut. Acc. Assoc., 14 N. Y. St. 365; Sawyer v. Equitable Acc. Ins. Co., 42 Fed. 30. Thus, where the applicant, in answer to a question, states the fact fully, and the agent writes down the answer in accordance with his interpretation of the facts stated, no misrepresentation such as will avoid the policy can be said to have been made. Whitney v. National Masonic Acc. Assoc., 57 Minn. 472, 59 N. W. 943; Bushaw v. Women's Mut. Ins., etc., Co., 55 Hun (N. Y.) 607, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 423; Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Fraser, 76 Fed. 705, 44 U. S. App. 694, 22 C. C. A. 499.

As to age of applicant.— In Brink v. Guaranty Mut. Acc. Assoc., 55 Hun (N. Y.) 606, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 847, 28 N. Y. St. 921, it was held that a mistake as to the age of insured, made in writing it down after it had been correctly given, would not avoid the policy.

As to income of applicant.— In Sawyer v. Equitable Acc. Ins. Co., 42 Fed. 30, it was held that where, after insured had signed an application for an accident policy, the statements in which were warranted, an agent of the insurance company, without his knowledge, inserted a statement that applicant's income was not less than a hundred dollars a week, and such statement appeared in a different handwriting from the rest of the application, the company would be liable on the policy, although insured was practically insolvent and his income much less than that stated in the application.

69. Wilder v. Preferred Mut. Acc. Assoc., 14 N. Y. St. 365.

70. Van Cleave v. Union Casualty, etc., Co., 82 Mo. App. 668.

71. Bayley v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp., 125 Cal. 345, 58 Pac. 7 [reversing 56 Pac. 638], where the waiver was as to a failure of applicant to state that he had received compensation for previous injuries; Emlaw v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 108 Mich. 554, 66 N. W. 469; Dailey v. Preferred Masonic Mut. Acc. Assoc., 102 Mich. 289, 57 N. W. 184, 26 L. R. A. 171,— where the waiver was as to misrepresentations concerning other insurance.

72. Follette v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 110 N. C. 377, 14 S. E. 923; Carpenter v. American Acc. Co., 46 S. C. 541, 24 S. E. 500.

But see Ketcham v. American Mut. Acc. Assoc., 117 Mich. 521, 76 N. W. 5, where it was held that misstatements in the application as to the health of the applicant would avoid the policy, even though the agent of the insurer had knowledge thereof; and Cook v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 84 Mich. 12, 47 N. W. 568, where, under a policy providing that none of the conditions therein could be waived by any agent of the insurer, it was

3. SUBSEQUENT PROVISION IN POLICY. A clause in the policy to the effect that, if the insured engages in other business or vocation and is injured, he will be indemnified according to a schedule of prices fixed by the rules of the insurer governing such cases, is not a waiver of the breach of warranty that the callings named in the application are the callings engaged in at the time of the making thereof.[73]

XI. ACCIDENTS AND RISKS INSURED AGAINST.

A. Accidental Injuries — 1. TERM "ACCIDENT" DEFINED. The term "accident" has been variously defined.[74]

2. "EXTERNAL, VIOLENT, AND ACCIDENTAL MEANS." The policy usually insures only against injuries effected through "external, violent, and accidental means." Under such a provision it is not essential that the injury, but only the means which cause the injury, should be external.[75] This provision is not enlarged by an additional clause in the policy excluding modes of violent injury or death;[76] but it seems that if the cause of the injury or death can be shown to be due to accidental means it follows that such injury or death is due to external and violent means.[77]

3. WHAT ARE ACCIDENTAL INJURIES. An effect which is the natural and probable consequence of an act or course of action cannot be said to be produced by accidental means.[78] This rule has been applied to death or injuries caused by or resulting from carrying heavy baggage,[79] contact with a poisonous substance,[80] held that the fact that an agent knew that insured's representations as to the use of intoxicants were false would not affect the right of the insurer to avoid the policy for misrepresentations.

Receipt of an unpaid premium, after death of insured, by an agent who has knowledge of facts which might be pleaded in avoidance of the policy, has been held to amount to a waiver of such defense. Cotten v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 41 Fed. 506.

73. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Ward, 65 Ark. 295, 45 S. W. 1065, wherein it was held that such a clause would operate merely as a sanction of the future pursuit of other callings than those named in the application.

74. See ACCIDENT, ante, p. 227.

75. So held in American Acc. Co. v. Reigart, 94 Ky. 547, 23 S. W. 191, 42 Am. St. Rep. 374, where it was held that the death of insured caused by the accidental lodging of a piece of meat in the windpipe was caused by external, violent, and accidental means.

76. Southard v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 34 Conn. 574, holding that the injury or death must still be caused by "violent and accidental means."

77. Paul v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 112 N. Y. 472, 20 N. E. 347, 8 Am. St. Rep. 758. See also cases cited infra, notes 78–99, 1–9.

78. Connecticut.— Southard v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 34 Conn. 574.

Georgia.— Cobb v. Preferred Mut. Acc. Assoc., 96 Ga. 818, 22 S. E. 976.

Iowa.— Feder v. Iowa State Traveling Men's Assoc., 107 Iowa 538, 78 N. W. 252, 70 Am. St. Rep. 212.

Kentucky.— American Acc. Co. v. Carson, (Ky. 1895) 30 S. W. 879.

Mississippi.— Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Johnson, 72 Miss. 333, 17 So. 2, 30 L. R. A. 206.

New York.— Bacon v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 123 N. Y. 304, 25 N. E. 399, 20 Am. St. Rep. 748 [reversing 44 Hun (N. Y.) 599, 607].

United States.— Western Commercial Travelers' Assoc. v. Smith, 85 Fed. 401, 56 U. S. App. 393, 29 C. C. A. 223, 40 L. R. A. 653; Taliaferro v. Travelers' Protective Assoc., 80 Fed. 368, 49 U. S. App. 275, 25 C. C. A. 494; Dozier v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 46 Fed. 446, 13 L. R. A. 114.

England.— Sinclair v. Maritime Pass. Assur. Co., 3 E. & E. 478; Clidero v. Scottish Acc. Ins. Co., 29 Sc. L. Rep. 303.

79. Cobb v. Preferred Mut. Acc. Assoc., 96 Ga. 818, 22 S. E. 976, wherein it appears that insured, while in an emaciated and feeble condition, after safely alighting from a train, carried his baggage, weighing sixty or eighty pounds, a distance of about fifty yards, and in so doing received an injury in some way, so that soon after putting the baggage down a defect in the vision of one of his eyes became apparent, which finally resulted in a total loss of the sight of that eye, though he did not fall or receive a blow, jar, or shock of any kind, and there was nothing unusual in his manner of carrying the baggage or in his method of walking while so doing. The court said that even if the plaintiff's injury was attributable to the carrying of the baggage, it was not effected by "external, violent, or accidental means" within the meaning of the policy.

80. Bacon v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 123 N. Y. 304, 25 N. E. 399, 20 Am. St. Rep. 748 [reversing 44 Hun (N. Y.) 599, 607], wherein the death of insured was caused by the infliction on a portion of the body of a putrid animal substance, producing a malignant pustule.

hanging by mob,[81] jumping from railroad car,[82] resisting arrest,[83] rupture of blood-vessel,[84] stooping,[85] sunstroke,[86] or sustained by insured while in the commission of an assault.[87]

Where, however, the effect is not the natural and probable consequence of the means which produce it,— an effect which does not ordinarily follow and cannot be reasonably anticipated from the use of the means, or an effect which the actor did not intend to produce, and which he cannot be charged with a design of producing,— it is produced by accidental means.[88] This rule has been applied to death or injuries caused by or resulting from accidental

81. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Johnson, 72 Miss. 333, 17 So. 2, 30 L. R. A. 206.

82. Southard v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 34 Conn. 574, wherein it appeared that an internal injury was brought about by hastily jumping from a railroad car and running a considerable distance, such action having been voluntarily undertaken and nothing unforeseen, accidental, or involuntary having occurred. But see infra, note 97.

83. American Acc. Co. v. Carson, (Ky. 1895) 30 S. W. 879.

84. Feder v. Iowa State Traveling Men's Assoc., 107 Iowa 538, 78 N. W. 252, 70 Am. St. Rep. 212 (where the rupture was caused in an attempt to close the shutters of a window); McCarthy v. Traveler's Ins. Co., 8 Biss. (U. S.) 362, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,682 (where the rupture was caused by using Indian clubs in the ordinary way). But see infra, note 99.

85. Clidero v. Scottish Acc. Ins. Co., 29 Sc. L. Rep. 303. In this case insured, who had just gotten out of bed, while stooping over in the act of putting on his stockings, was injured by the displacement of the colon or large intestine, causing a great distention and obstruction of the intestines, which, with the resultant pressure on the heart, caused his death. But see infra, note 4.

86. Dozier v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 46 Fed. 446, 13 L. R. A. 114; Sinclair v. Maritime Pass. Assur. Co., 3 E. & E. 478. But see infra, note 14, and compare Railway Official, etc., Acc. Assoc. v. Johnson, (Ky. 1900) 58 S. W. 694.

87. Taliaferro v. Travelers' Protective Assoc., 80 Fed. 368, 49 U. S. App. 275, 25 C. C. A. 494, where insured was shot in a quarrel in which he was the aggressor. But see infra, notes 2, 8.

88. Alabama.— Equitable Acc. Ins. Co. v. Osborn, 90 Ala. 201, 9 So. 869, 13 L. R. A. 267.

Arkansas.— Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Schmaltz, 66 Ark. 588, 53 S. W. 49.

California.— Richards v. Travelers Ins. Co., 89 Cal. 170, 26 Pac. 762, 23 Am. St. Rep. 455.

Georgia.— Atlanta Acc. Assoc. v. Alexander, 104 Ga. 709, 30 S. E. 939, 42 L. R. A. 188.

Illinois.— Healey v. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 133 Ill. 556, 25 N. E. 52, 23 Am. St. Rep. 637, 9 L. R. A. 371 [reversing 35 Ill. App. 17]; Mutual Acc. Assoc. v. Tuggle, 39 Ill. App. 509.

Indiana.— Peele v. Provident Fund Soc., 147 Ind. 543, 44 N. E. 661.

Iowa.— Meyer v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 96 Iowa 378, 65 N. W. 328, 59 Am. St. Rep. 374; Jones v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 92 Iowa 652, 61 N. W. 485.

Kentucky.— Omberg v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 101 Ky. 303, 40 S. W. 909, 72 Am. St. Rep. 413; American Acc. Co. v. Carson, 99 Ky. 441, 36 S. W. 169, 59 Am. St. Rep. 473, 34 L. R. A. 301; Hutchcraft v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 87 Ky. 300, 8 S. W. 570, 12 Am. St. Rep. 484.

Maine.— McGlinchey v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 80 Me. 251, 14 Atl. 13, 6 Am. St. Rep. 190.

Michigan.— Blackstone v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 74 Mich. 592, 42 N. W. 156, 3 L. R. A. 486.

Missouri.— Lovelace v. Travelers' Protective Assoc., 126 Mo. 104, 28 S. W. 877, 47 Am. St. Rep. 638, 30 L. R. A. 209; Collins v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 63 Mo. App. 253, 1 Mo. App. Rep. 773; Phelan v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 38 Mo. App. 640.

New Mexico.— Rodey v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 3 N. Mex. 316, 9 Pac. 348.

New York.— Wehle v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 153 N. Y. 116, 47 N. E. 35, 60 Am. St. Rep. 598; Paul v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 112 N. Y. 472, 20 N. E. 347, 8 Am. St. Rep. 758 [affirming 45 Hun (N. Y.) 313]; Mallory v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 47 N. Y. 52, 7 Am. Rep. 410; De Van v. Commercial Travelers' Mut. Acc. Assoc., 92 Hun (N. Y.) 256, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 931 [affirmed in 157 N. Y. 690, 51 N. E. 1090]; Reynolds v. Equitable Acc. Assoc., 59 Hun (N. Y.) 13, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 738; Tucker v. Mutual Ben. L. Co., 50 Hun (N. Y.) 50, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 505; Hill v. Hartford Acc. Ins. Co., 22 Hun (N. Y.) 187.

Ohio.— U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc. v. Hubbell, 56 Ohio St. 516, 47 N. E. 544; Interstate Casualty Co. v. Bird, 18 Ohio Cir. Ct. 488.

Pennsylvania.— Pickett v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 144 Pa. St. 79, 22 Atl. 871, 27 Am. St. Rep. 618, 13 L. R. A. 661, 28 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 456 [distinguishing Pollock v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 102 Pa. St. 230, 48 Am. Rep. 204]; North American L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Burroughs, 69 Pa. St. 43, 8 Am. Rep. 212.

Tennessee.— Union Casualty, etc., Co. v. Harroll, 98 Tenn. 591, 40 S. W. 1080, 60 Am. St. Rep. 873; Miller v. American Mut. Acc. Ins. Co., 92 Tenn. 167, 21 S. W. 39, 20 L. R. A. 765; Accident Ins. Co. of North America v. Bennett, 90 Tenn. 256, 16 S. W. 723.

Virginia.— U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc. v. Newman, 84 Va. 52, 3 S. E. 805.

United States.— Accident Ins. Co. of North America v. Crandal, 120 U. S. 527, 7 S. Ct. 685, 30 L. ed. 740 [affirming 27 Fed. 40]; Western Commercial Travelers' Assoc. v. Smith, 85 Fed. 401, 56 U. S. App. 393, 29 C. C. A. 223, 40 L. R. A. 653; Robinson v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 68 Fed. 825; Manu-and unintentional taking of poison,[89] blood-poisoning,[90] blows,[91] discharge of loaded gun,[92] eating dangerous food,[93] falls,[94] fright,[95] involuntary drownfacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co. v. Dorgan, 58 Fed. 945, 16 U. S. App. 290, 7 C. C. A. 581, 22 L. R. A. 620. But see Bayless v. Travellers' Ins. Co., 14 Blatchf. (U. S.) 143, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,138.

England.— Lawrence v. Accidental Ins. Co., 7 Q. B. D. 216; Winspear v. Accident Ins. Co., 6 Q. B. D. 42; Hamlyn v. Crown Accidental Ins. Co., [1893] 1 Q. B. 750; Martin v. Travellers' Ins. Co., 1 F. & F. 505; Reynolds v. Accidental Ins. Co., 22 L. T. Rep. N. S. 820.

89. Healey v. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 133 Ill. 556, 25 N. E. 52, 23 Am. St. Rep. 637, 9 L. R. A. 371 [reversing 35 Ill. App. 17]; Mutual Acc. Assoc. v. Tuggle, 39 Ill. App. 509; Carnes v. Iowa State Traveling Men's Assoc., 106 Iowa 281, 76 N. W. 683, 68 Am. St. Rep. 306.

In Hill v. Hartford Acc. Ins. Co., 22 Hun (N. Y.) 187, it was held that death caused by accidentally taking poison was a death caused by "accidental means," but not through "external and violent means."

Taking morphine.—In Carnes v. Iowa State Traveling Men's Assoc., 106 Iowa 281, 76 N. W. 683, 68 Am. St. Rep. 306, it was held that where the death of insured was caused by his taking more morphine than he intended, his death was due to an accidental cause; but that where his death was caused by his taking morphine knowing at the time how much he was taking, but not knowing that such an amount would cause death, his death was not due to an accidental cause.

Taking overdose of opiate prescribed by physician.— In Bayless v. Travellers' Ins. Co., 14 Blatchf. (U. S.) 143, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,138, it was held that death caused by an overdose of an opiate which had been prescribed for the insured by his physician for the purpose of allaying a nervous disorder was not a death effected through "external, violent, and accidental means."

90. Western Commercial Travelers' Assoc. v. Smith, 85 Fed. 401, 56 U. S. App. 393, 29 C. C. A. 233, 40 L. R. A. 653, wherein it appears that the death was caused by blood-poisoning resulting from an abrasion of the skin on a toe, due to wearing new shoes.

91. Stout v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., (Cal. 1900) 62 Pac. 732; Richards v. Travelers Ins. Co., 89 Cal. 170, 26 Pac. 762, 23 Am. St. Rep. 455; Atlanta Acc. Assoc. v. Alexander, 104 Ga. 709, 30 S. E. 939, 42 L. R. A. 188; Owens v. Travelers' Ins. Co., (Ind. 1883) 12 Ins. L. J. 75; Reynolds v. Equitable Acc. Assoc., 59 Hun (N. Y.) 13, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 738.

Blow by third person.— See Richards v. Travelers Ins. Co., 89 Cal. 170, 26 Pac. 762, 23 Am. St. Rep. 455, where it was held that even though it was doubtful whether the death of insured was caused by a fall or a blow given by a third person it was nevertheless caused by accidental means.

Falling of heavy weight.— In Owens v. Travelers' Ins. Co., (Ind. 1883) 12 Ins. L. J. 75, insured, while engaged in severe manual labor, was injured by a heavy weight falling on a very sensitive portion of the body, which resulted in his death. There was no laceration of the parts injured, his clothing having protected him at the time of the injury. It was held that the injury was accidental.

Inflammation caused by blow.— In North American L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Burroughs, 69 Pa. St. 43, 8 Am. Rep. 212, insured, who formerly had been a farmer, while pitching hay in the field of a relative whom he was visiting, received an injury caused by the handle of a pitchfork, which he was using, slipping through his hand and striking him in the bowels, producing peritoneal inflammation resulting in death. It was held that the death resulted from an injury occasioned by accident.

Rupture caused by striking blow.— In Atlanta Acc. Assoc. v. Alexander, 104 Ga. 709, 30 S. E. 939, 42 L. R. A. 188, a blacksmith, a hale and hearty man, in striking a slanting blow with a sledge-hammer, suddenly felt a severe pain in the lower part of his abdomen; the injury proved to be a rupture, producing hernia, which resulted in a few days in death. It was held that his death was caused by accidental means.

92. Miller v. American Mut. Acc. Ins. Co., 92 Tenn. 167, 21 S. W. 39, 20 L. R. A. 765, wherein it seems insured was shot through the wrist while cleaning a shot-gun, handling it in the usual way, and believing it to be unloaded.

93. Miller v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 97 Fed. 836, where it appeared that insured sustained bodily injuries by swallowing certain hard, pointed, and resistant substances of food, which accidentally, by reason of the weakened condition of his intestinal tissues, caused by an illness from which he had afterward recovered, and which weakened condition was unknown to him, so perforated and wounded the intestinal canal as to cause his death.

94. Equitable Acc. Ins. Co. v. Osborn, 90 Ala. 201, 9 So. 869, 13 L. R. A. 267; Richards v. Travelers Ins. Co., 89 Cal. 170, 26 Pac. 762, 23 Am. St. Rep. 455; Meyer v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 96 Iowa 378, 65 N. W. 328, 59 Am. St. Rep. 374; Interstate Casualty Co. v. Bird, 18 Ohio Cir. Ct. 488; Lawrence v. Accidental Ins. Co., 7 Q. B. D. 216.

Fall due to a temporary and unexpected physical disorder.— It has been held that injury caused by a fall due to temporary and unexpected physical disorder was caused by external violence and accidental means. Meyer v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 96 Iowa 378, 65 N. W. 328, 59 Am. St. Rep. 374; Interstate Casualty Co. v. Bird, 18 Ohio Cir. Ct. 488.

Falling from platform of station in fit.— In Lawrence v. Accidental Ins. Co., 7 Q. B. D. 216 [following Winspear v. Accident Ins. Co., 6 Q. B. D. 42], insured, while standing on the platform of a railway station, was suddenly seized with a fit and fell from the platform across the tracks, where he was run over and killed by a passing train. It was held that his death was caused by accident.

95. McGlinchey v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 80

ing,[96] jumping from moving train,[97] lifting,[98] rupture of blood-vessel,[99] rupture of tympanum of ear,[1] shooting,[2] sting of insect,[3] stooping,[4] strain,[5] suicide while insane,[6] unintentional inhalation of gas,[7] and injuries sustained while engaged in an affray,[8] as well as injuries inflicted by a third person without fault of insured.[9]

Me. 251, 14 Atl. 13, 6 Am. St. Rep. 190, where death was caused by the fright incident to being run away with by a horse.

96. Indiana.— Peele v. Provident Fund Soc., 147 Ind. 543, 44 N. E. 661.

New York.— Wehle v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 153 N. Y. 116, 47 N. E. 35, 60 Am. St. Rep. 598; Mallory v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 47 N. Y. 52, 7 Am. Rep. 410; De Van v. Commercial Travelers Mut. Acc. Assoc., 92 Hun (N. Y.) 256, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 931 [affirmed in 157 N. Y. 690, 51 N. E. 1090]; Tucker v. Mutual Ben. L. Co., 50 Hun (N. Y.) 50, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 505.

Ohio.— U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc. v. Hubbell, 56 Ohio St. 516, 47 N. E. 544.

United States.— Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co. v. Dorgan, 58 Fed. 945, 16 U. S. App. 290, 7 C. C. A. 581, 22 L. R. A. 620.

England.— Reynolds v. Accidental Ins. Co., 22 L. T. Rep. N. S. 820; Winspear v. Accident Ins. Co., 6 Q. B. D. 42; Trew v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 6 H. & N. 839 [reversing 5 H. & N. 211].

97. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc. v. Barry, 131 U. S. 100, 9 S. Ct. 755, 33 L. ed. 60. But see supra, note 82.

98. Martin v. Travellers' Ins. Co., 1 F. & F. 505, holding that an injury caused by lifting a heavy burden is occasioned by external causes.

99. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Schmaltz, 66 Ark. 588, 53 S. W. 49; McCarthy v. Traveler's Ins. Co., 8 Biss. (U. S.) 362, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,682. But see supra, note 84.

Exercising with Indian clubs.— In McCarthy v. Traveler's Ins. Co., 8 Biss. (U. S.) 362, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,682, it was held that where the death of insured is alleged to have occurred by reason of a rupture of a blood-vessel sustained while exercising with Indian clubs, if while engaged in such exercise there occurred any unforeseen accidental or involuntary movement of the body of insured which, in connection with the use of the clubs, brought about the injury; or if there occurred any unforeseen or unexpected circumstance which interfered with or obstructed the usual course of such exercise, and there was thereby produced an involuntary movement, strain, or wrenching by means of which the injury was occasioned,— then such injury was due to accidental means.

Sudden wrench of the body while removing a heavy cylinder-head from an engine caused a rupture of a blood-vessel which resulted in death. This was held to be death through external, violent, and accidental means. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Schmaltz, 66 Ark. 588, 53 S. W. 49.

1. Rodey v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 3 N. Mex. 316, 9 Pac. 348, where a rupture of tympanum of ear was caused by diving from a plank into water six or seven feet deep.

2. Lovelace v. Travelers' Protective Assoc., 126 Mo. 104, 28 S. W. 877, 46 Am. St. Rep. 638, 30 L. R. A. 209; Union Casualty, etc., Co. v. Harroll, 98 Tenn. 591, 40 S. W. 1080, 60 Am. St. Rep. 873; Accident Ins. Co. of North America v. Bennett, 90 Tenn. 256, 16 S. W. 723. In Lovelace v. Travelers' Protective Assoc., 126 Mo. 104, 28 S. W. 877, 47 Am. St. Rep. 638, 30 L. R. A. 209, death of insured was caused by being shot while attempting to put another out of the office of a hotel at which insured was a guest. In Union Casualty, etc., Co. v. Harroll, 98 Tenn. 591, 40 S. W. 1080, 60 Am. St. Rep. 873, insured was shot by a fellow employee. At the time the injury was inflicted insured was advancing upon his adversary in a threatening manner and using abusive language; he did not know that his adversary was armed. It was held that his death was accidental, because it would be presumed that insured thought that if a fight occurred it would be without the use of a deadly weapon. But see Taliaferro v. Travelers' Protective Assoc., 80 Fed. 368, 49 U. S. App. 275, 25 C. C. A. 494, cited supra, note 87; and compare infra, note 8.

3. Omberg v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 101 Ky. 303, 40 S. W. 909, 72 Am. St. Rep. 413.

4. Hamlyn v. Crown Accidental Ins. Co., [1893] 1 Q. B. 750, where insured sustained an injury to the cartilage of his knee by a wrench in stooping forward to pick up an object from the floor. But see supra, note 85.

5. Reynolds v. Equitable Acc. Assoc., 59 Hun (N. Y.) 13, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 738; Ætna L. Ins. Co. v. Hicks, (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 56 S. W. 87; McCarthy v. Traveler's Ins. Co., 8 Biss. (U. S.) 362, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,682.

6. Blackstone v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 74 Mich. 592, 42 N. W. 156, 3 L. R. A. 486; Accident Ins. Co. of North America v. Crandal, 120 U. S. 527, 7 S. Ct. 685, 30 L. ed. 740 [affirming 27 Fed. 40].

7. Paul v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 112 N. Y. 472, 20 N. E. 347, 8 Am. St. Rep. 758 [affirming 45 Hun (N. Y.) 313]; Pickett v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 144 Pa. St. 79, 22 Atl. 871, 27 Am. St. Rep. 618, 13 L. R. A. 661, 28 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 456 [distinguishing Pollock v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 102 Pa. St. 230, 48 Am. Rep. 204]; U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc. v. Newman, 84 Va. 52, 3 S. E. 805; Sinclair v. Maritime Pass. Assur. Co., 3 E. & E. 478.

8. In Supreme Council, etc. v. Garrigus, 104 Ind. 133, 3 N. E. 818, it was contended that insured was injured while "engaged in an affray," and that therefore the injury was not accidental. It was held that the injury having occurred in Kentucky, where there is no statutory definition of an "affray," the word would be given its common-law definition, which does not involve an agreement to fight, and that hence the injury might have been received in an affray and still be accidental.

9. California.— Richards v. Travelers Ins. Co., 89 Cal. 170, 26 Pac. 762, 23 Am. St. Rep. 455.

B. "External and Visible Signs of Injury." The external and visible sign or mark required by the proviso that the policy will not cover "any injury, fatal or otherwise, of which there is no visible mark upon the body," need not necessarily be a bruise, contusion, laceration, or broken limb; it may be any visible evidence of an internal strain.[10] Nor is it necessary that such evidence be present immediately after the happening of the accident.[11] A proviso, however, to the effect that the risk is not to extend "to any bodily injury of which there shall be no external and visible signs upon the body of the insured," will, it seems, refer only to those injuries which are non-fatal;[12] and where the proviso is that the policy does not insure against death or disablement from accidents that shall bear "no external and visible marks," it does not mean that there must be external and visible marks on the body of insured, but only that there must be some external and visible evidence that the death or disablement was accidental.[13]

C. Injuries Sustained While in Discharge of Duty. That the insured was injured while "actually engaged in the discharge of his duties" is all that is necessary to satisfy a provision for insurance against injuries sustained by insured while in the discharge of his duty.[14]

D. Risks of Occupation[15] — 1. In General — a. Term "Occupation." The

Iowa.— Jones v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 92 Iowa 652, 61 N. W. 485.

Kentucky.— American Acc. Co. v. Carson, 99 Ky. 441, 36 S. W. 169, 59 Am. St. Rep. 473, 34 L. R. A. 301; Hutchcraft v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 87 Ky. 300, 8 S. W. 570, 12 Am. St. Rep. 484.

Missouri.— Collins v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 63 Mo. App. 253; Phelan v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 38 Mo. App. 640.

Tennessee.— Accident Ins. Co. of North America v. Bennett, 90 Tenn. 256, 16 S. W. 723.

United States.— Robinson v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 68 Fed. 825; Ripley v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 2 Big. Ins. Cas. 738, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,854.

10. Thayer v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 68 N. H. 577, 578, 41 Atl. 182; Gale v. Mutual Aid, etc., Assoc., 66 Hun (N. Y.) 600, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 893; U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc. v. Barry, 131 U. S. 100, 9 S. Ct. 755, 33 L. ed. 60.

Ascertainment of injury by application of hand.— In Gale v. Mutual Aid, etc., Assoc., 66 Hun (N. Y.) 600, 21 N. Y. Suppl. 893, the physicians testified that they could feel the injury complained of by applying the hand externally to the parts claimed to be injured; there was no external sign of the injury. It was held that the proviso was sufficiently complied with if the injury could be ascertained by applying the hand to the exterior of the body.

Discoloration of the arm and shoulder of insured satisfies this provision. Thayer v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 68 N. H. 577, 41 Atl. 182.

11. Thayer v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 68 N. H. 577, 41 Atl. 182; Pennington v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 85 Iowa 468, 52 N. W. 482, 39 Am. St. Rep. 306, holding it to be sufficient if such external and visible mark or sign of injury be apparent shortly after the happening of the accident and in consequence thereof.

12. McGlinchey v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 80 Me. 251, 14 Atl. 13, 6 Am. St. Rep. 190; Paul v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 112 N. Y. 472, 2 N. E. 347, 8 Am. St. Rep. 758 [affirming 45 Hun (N. Y.) 313]; Mallory v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 47 N. Y. 52, 7 Am. Rep. 410; Eggenberger v. Guarantee Mut. Acc. Assoc., 41 Fed. 172.

13. Signs of death by drowning.— In Wehle v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 11 Misc. (N. Y.) 36, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 865, it was held that where, after taking the body of insured from the water, it was found filled with water, which ran from the mouth, there was sufficient visible and external signs of accidental death by drowning.

Signs of death by inhalation of gas.— In Menneiley v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp., 148 N. Y. 596, 43 N. E. 54, 51 Am. St. Rep. 716, 31 L. R. A. 686, there were no external visible signs upon insured's body, but the room was full of gas, and, upon resorting to artificial respiration, the emanation of the gas from the body could be perceived. It was held that there were sufficient external and visible signs of death by accidental means.

14. Thus a recovery was properly allowed in a case in which it appeared that insured, a railway employee, was killed on his way home, a few minutes after leaving his work, while crossing a track in his employer's railway yards (Kinney v. Baltimore, etc., Employes' Relief Assoc., 35 W. Va. 385, 14 S. E. 18, 15 L. R. A. 142), as well as in a case where it appeared that insured, a railway signalman, while attempting to prevent a train accident, received such a nervous shock as to incapacitate him from work (Pugh v. London, etc., R. Co., [1896] 2 Q. B. 248).

Death from sunstroke received while in the line of insured's duty was held to be a case warranting a recovery, notwithstanding the policy contained a clause reducing the liability of the insurer in case of death by sunstroke while not suffered in the line of insured's duty. Railway Official, etc., Acc. Assoc. v. Johnson, (Ky. 1900) 58 S. W. 694.

15. The provision in the policy.— The policy usually insures against injuries or death incurred while engaged in a certain oc-word "occupation," as it is generally used in accident policies, refers to the vocation, profession, trade, or calling in which insured is engaged for hire or profit.[16]

b. What Risks Are Included. Under such a provision it will be assumed that the parties to the contract contemplate that the insured will be exposed to the dangers incident to his occupation,[17] and the insured will not be precluded from doing such acts and performing such duties as are simply incident to and connected with the daily life of men engaged in any and all occupations,[18] nor will he be prevented from engaging in any mere acts of exercise, diversion, or recreation.[19] To entitle the insurer to avoid the policy on the ground that the cupation or employment. See cases cited infra, notes 16–28.

16. Berliner v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 121 Cal. 458, 53 Pac. 918, 66 Am. St. Rep. 49; Union Mut. Acc. Assoc. v. Frohard, 134 Ill. 228, 25 N. E. 642, 23 Am. St. Rep. 664, 10 L. R. A. 383; Star Acc. Co. v. Sibley, 57 Ill. App. 315; Travellers Preferred Acc. Assoc. v. Kelsey, 46 Ill. App. 371; Eaton v. Atlas Acc. Ins. Co., 89 Me. 570, 36 Atl. 1048. See also cases cited infra, notes 17–28.

17. Wilson v. Northwestern Mut. Acc. Assoc., 53 Minn. 470, 55 N. W. 626.

18. California.— Berliner v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 121 Cal. 458, 53 Pac. 918, 66 Am. St. Rep. 49.

Illinois.— Union Mut. Acc. Assoc. v. Frohard, 134 Ill. 228, 25 N. E. 642, 23 Am. St. Rep. 664, 10 L. R. A. 383; Star Acc. Co. v. Sibley, 57 Ill. App. 315; Travellers Preferred Acc. Assoc. v. Kelsey, 46 Ill. App. 371; National Acc. Soc. v. Taylor, 42 Ill. App. 97.

Iowa.— Holiday v. American Mut. Acc. Assoc., 103 Iowa 178, 72 N. W. 448, 64 Am. St. Rep. 170.

Kansas.— Wildey Casualty Co. v. Sheppard, 61 Kan. 351, 59 Pac. 651.

Kentucky.— Kentucky L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Franklin, (Ky. 1897) 43 S. W. 709.

Maine.— Eaton v. Atlas Acc. Ins. Co., 89 Me. 570, 36 Atl. 1048.

Michigan.— Johnson v. London Guarantee, etc., Co., 115 Mich. 86, 72 N. W. 1115, 69 Am. St. Rep. 549, 40 L. R. A. 440; Hess v. Preferred Masonic Mut. Acc. Assoc., 112 Mich. 196, 70 N. W. 460.

New Jersey.— Stone v. U. S. Casualty Co., 34 N. J. L. 371.

Wisconsin.— Hall v. American Masonic Acc. Assoc., 86 Wis. 518, 57 N. W. 366.

United States.— Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Fraser, 76 Fed. 705, 44 U. S. App. 694, 22 C. C. A. 499.

This rule has been applied to one designated, with respect to his occupation, as:

"Agricultural superintendent." Travellers Preferred Acc. Assoc. v. Kelsey, 46 Ill. App. 371, where insured was temporarily acting as police superintendent of a state fair.

"Banker." Hess v. Preferred Masonic Mut. Acc. Assoc., 112 Mich. 196, 70 N. W. 460, where insured, a banker, while in a sawmill for the purpose of having some boards sawed with which to make a cabinet, operated the saw himself for the purpose of sawing off some blocks for handles, and lost his hand.

"Merchant." Hall v. American Masonic Acc. Assoc., 86 Wis. 518, 57 N. W. 366, wherein it was held that insured had not changed his occupation of merchant to that of a "grocer delivering goods," which occupation was classified as more hazardous, from the fact that he sometimes, but not usually, delivered goods, and especially where it was shown that he was injured by falling from his wagon while at the depot engaged in receiving goods.

"Proprietor of a bar and billiard-room not tending bar." Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Fraser, 76 Fed. 705, 44 U. S. App. 694, 22 C. C. A. 499, wherein it was held that insured, so classified, did not change his occupation to that of "bartender" merely because he occasionally relieved his bartender during meal hours.

"Secretary of a grocery company." Johnson v. London Guarantee, etc., Co., 115 Mich. 86, 72 N. W. 1115, 69 Am. St. Rep. 549, 40 L. R. A. 440, where it was held that the mere fact that insured, so classified, owned a farm on which he resided only a part of the time, did not make him a farmer, so as to preclude his recovery on the ground that at the time of his injury he was engaged in an occupation other than that in which he was classified.

"Supervising farmer." National Acc. Soc. v. Taylor, 42 Ill. App. 97, wherein it was held that a supervising farmer, within the meaning of the term as used in an accident policy classifying insured as such, is one who has the care and oversight of a farm, and who does such things as may be required for keeping it in order, and that the term does not preclude the doing of any work whatever.

"Teacher." Stone v. U. S. Casualty Co., 34 N. J. L. 371, wherein it was held that where insured, a teacher, was killed by falling from the second story of a barn which he was having built, it could not be said that he had changed his occupation to that of a contractor.

19. This rule has been applied to persons injured or killed while hunting for pleasure, where it did not appear that the insured was engaged in or following the business of hunting as an occupation. Holiday v. American Mut. Acc. Assoc., 103 Iowa 178, 72 N. W. 448, 64 Am. St. Rep. 170 (insured being a bookkeeper); Wildey Casualty Co. v. Sheppard, 61 Kan. 351, 59 Pac. 651 (insured being a barber and restaurant-keeper); Kentucky L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Franklin, (Ky. 1897) 43 S. W. 709 (insured being a grocer). See also Union Mut. Acc. Assoc. v. Frohard, 134 Ill. 228, 25 N. E. 642, 23 Am. St. Rep. 664, 10 L. R. A. 383.

But in Knapp v. Preferred Mut. Acc. Assoc., 53 Hun (N. Y.) 84, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 57, it was injury to or death of insured was incurred in some other occupation or employment than that which he was pursuing at the time of the insurance, the policy must expressly provide that there shall be no liability in case of injuries or death so incurred.[20]

2. Occupations Classified as More Hazardous — a. Validity of Such Classification. The parties to the contract may provide that a forbidden hazard shall make the policy void, or that the amount of the insurance shall be diminished in proportion in case the hazard is increased;[21] and the classification of the applicant in an occupation in which he is not actually engaged, with the understanding that he is thereafter to engage in it, is valid;[22] but where insured is injured in an occupation other than the one in which he was classed, the insurer cannot, after the injury, place such occupation in any special class.[23]

b. Duty of Insurer to Ascertain Facts. In the classification of a risk, if the insurer requires anything more definite as to the occupation, it is its duty to ascertain such facts by proper inquiries.[24]

c. Insurer Bound by Classification of Agent. Where the applicant makes a true and full statement of his occupation to the insurer's agent, the company is bound, after loss, by the classification given him by the agent.[25] held that the operation of a buzz-saw for pleasure merely was not incident to the occupation of a "retired gentleman," and that no recovery could be had for injuries sustained thereby.

20. Provident L. Ins. Co. v. Fennell, 49 Ill. 180.

Representation that applicant is engaged in a certain occupation does not amount to a covenant that he will do nothing not connected with such occupation, or that he will not engage in a different one. Provident L. Ins. Co. v. Fennell, 49 Ill. 180, in which the insured, represented in the application as a switchman, met his death while acting as a brakeman.

Change in occupation may be made by a notification thereof to the insuring company and an acceptance thereof by it; and it is as effectual as though the change had actually been written in the policy. Fox v. Masons' Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 96 Wis. 390, 71 N. W. 363.

21. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Martin, 133 Ind. 376, 33 N. E. 105.

Occupation not mentioned in the manual of classification used by the insurer cannot be said to be non-insurable. Wilson v. Northwestern Mut. Acc. Assoc., 53 Minn. 470, 55 N. W. 626.

22. Hart v. National Masonic Acc. Assoc., 105 Iowa 717, 75 N. W. 508.

23. In Bushaw v. Women's Mut. Ins., etc., Co., 55 Hun (N. Y.) 607, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 423, insured was classified as a "jobber and contractor." The by-laws of the association divided the risks into five classes, the occupation of a jobber and contractor being placed in the second class. Insured was injured while working as a farm-hand, and the insurer claimed that hence he was entitled to indemnity only at third-class rates, by reason of a clause in the application that rates and classifications should conform to the latest editions of the manual, which, however, were neither brought to plaintiff's knowledge nor put in evidence. Nothing was introduced to show that farm-hands were graded in the third class, and it was held that the insurer could not, after the injury, in pursuance of its undivulged scale of rating, change the class or rate of pay.

24. So held where the applicant stated his occupation to be that of a "livery-stable proprietor, not working." Brink v. Guaranty Mut. Acc. Assoc., 7 N. Y. Suppl. 847, 28 N. Y. St. 921.

Special classification.—In Schmidt v. American Mut. Acc. Assoc., 96 Wis. 304, 305, 71 N. W. 601, insured, in his application, stated that he was a "bakery and confectionery proprietor, supervising," and that he was working for himself. The insurer classified him as a "bakery and confectionery proprietor." There was also another classification of "baker working," for which the indemnity was less. It was held that the insurer had a sufficient knowledge of the facts and had made a special classification in regard to insured, and that it would be liable for the indemnity under such classification.

25. Emlaw v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 108 Mich. 554, 66 N. W. 469; Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Snowden, (Nebr. 1900) 83 N. W. 66; New York Acc. Ins. Co. v. Clayton, 19 U. S. App. 304, 59 Fed. 559, 8 C. C. A. 213; Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Snowden, 12 U. S. App. 704, 58 Fed. 342, 7 C. C. A. 264.

But see Employers' Liability Assur. Corp. v. Back, 102 Fed. 229, where insured was classified as an "importer and dealer in Chinese merchandise and contractor for Chinese labor." He was killed while working as foreman of a gang of Chinese laborers. At the time the classification was made the insurer's agent knew that insured was engaged in or intended to engage in such employment. It was held that this knowledge by the agent did not affect the right of the company to limit the amount recoverable in accordance with the provision in the application and policy.

Although wrongly classified, the fact that insured certified to an understanding of the

d. Effect of Such Classification — (I) In General. If the injury to or death of insured occurs while he is engaged in a more hazardous occupation, then no recovery can be had, or, if a recovery can be had, it can be only for the amount provided for injuries or death incurred while engaged in such hazardous occupation;[26] but it must always appear that the insured, when injured, was actually engaged in an occupation classified as more hazardous.[27]

(II) Does Not Waive Specially Excepted Risks. A provision classifying occupations will not operate to waive risks elsewhere specially excepted in the policy.[28]

E. Risks of Travel — 1. What Risks Included. The provision limiting the risks covered[29] includes only accidents received while traveling as a passenger in the kind of conveyance designated,[30] and does not extend to accidents sustained insurer's classification of risks, and that he belonged to the class given, is immaterial, since the only means he has of understanding such classification is through the representations. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Snowden, 12 U. S. App. 704, 58 Fed. 342, 7 C. C. A. 264.

26. Kentucky.— American Acc. Co. v. Carson, (Ky. 1895) 30 S. W. 879, where insured was classified as a "dealer" and sustained injuries while acting as a deputy sheriff.

Maine.— Eaton v. Atlas Acc. Ins. Co., 89 Me. 570, 36 Atl. 1048, holding that insured, while riding home on his bicycle from a friend's funeral, taking a more circuitous route in going home than was necessary, was engaged in "amateur bicycling."

Massachusetts.—Aldrich v. Mercantile Mut. Acc. Assoc., 149 Mass. 457, 21 N. E. 873, where insured, classified as a "conductor," was injured while acting as a brakeman on a freight train.

New York.— Moore v. Citizens' Mut. L. Ins. Assoc., 75 Hun (N. Y.) 262, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 1014, where the extra-hazardous occupation was that of a "yard-conductor" or "yard-master."

Texas.— Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Taylor, 12 Tex. Civ. App. 386, 34 S. W. 781, where insured, classified as a "blacksmith," was killed while acting as a "switchman and car-coupler," which occupations were classed as more hazardous than blacksmithing.

United States.—Employers' Liability Assur. Corp. v. Back, 102 Fed. 229, cited supra, note 25.

27. Illinois.— Union Mut. Acc. Assoc. v. Frohard, 134 Ill. 228, 25 N. E. 642, 23 Am. St. Rep. 664, 10 L. R. A. 383; National Acc. Soc. v. Taylor, 42 Ill. App. 97, holding that the driving of piles by means of an ax or sledge did not constitute the more hazardous occupation of "pile-driver."

Minnesota.— Miller v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 39 Minn. 548, 40 N. W. 839; Wilson v. Northwestern Mut. Acc. Assoc., 53 Minn. 470, 55 N. W. 626, holding that the work of pointing, cleaning, and repairing brick walls was a part of the trade or occupation of a brick-mason, and that insured, who was injured while engaged in such work, could recover under the classification of a "brick-mason."

Missouri.— Brown v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 45 Mo. 221.

New Jersey.— Stone v. U. S. Casualty Co., 34 N. J. L. 371.

New York.— Neafie v. Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co., 55 Hun (N. Y.) 111, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 202 (holding that "iceman, proprietor," covers not merely a proprietor who conducts a general ice business, but also an iceman who might be a deliverer of ice and at the same time the owner and proprietor of the business); Tucker v. Mutual Ben. L. Co., 50 Hun (N. Y.) 50, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 505 (holding that one classified as a "farmer," attempting to rescue the crew of a wrecked steamer, was not "engaged in wrecking"); Baldwin v. Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 21 Misc. (N. Y.) 124, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 1016 (holding that one who was injured while riding a bicycle for pleasure was not a "professional bicyclist." But compare Eaton v. Atlas Acc. Ins. Co., 89 Me. 570, 36 Atl. 1048, cited supra, note 26).

Wisconsin.— Fox v. Masons' Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 96 Wis. 390, 71 N. W. 363.

28. Yancey v. Ætna L. Ins. Co., 108 Ga. 349, 33 S. E. 979; Miller v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 39 Minn. 548, 40 N. W. 839.

29. The provision in policy.— A form of accident policy frequently used is that which insures against accidents incurred while "traveling in a public conveyance provided by a common carrier," or "while riding as a passenger in any passenger conveyance using steam, cable, or electricity as a motive power." See cases cited infra, notes 30–36.

30. After alighting from train.— Under such a provision it has been held that where insured, while on a journey, alights from the train at a station, with the intent of getting on again and continuing his journey, he remains a passenger, and the fact that he is killed when attempting to board the train while it is in motion will not preclude a recovery. Tooley v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 3 Biss. (U. S.) 399, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,098. But in Hendrick v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp., 62 Fed. 893, insured, a passenger in a public conveyance provided by a common carrier, after having alighted from the train at a station from which he intended to continue his journey by a later train, attempted to speak to the engineer of the train about a matter having no connection with the continuation of his journey or his condition as a passenger, and, while crossing the platform or received while not a passenger, as where insured died from injuries sustained in falling from the hay-loft of a livery barn.[31]

2. DOUBLE INDEMNITY CLAUSE. Where the policy provides for a double indemnity for injury sustained through accidental means while riding as a passenger in any passenger conveyance, an accidental injury sustained by insured while attempting to alight from a moving electric street car will entitle him to such double indemnity.[32] But an injury sustained while riding on the platform of a railway car will not entitle insured to such double indemnity.[33] of the car for this purpose, fell therefrom and was injured. It was held that he could not recover under the policy, since he had ceased to be a passenger.

3. REQUIRING COMPLIANCE WITH CARRIER'S RULES. Under a provision in the policy requiring insured to comply with all the rules and regulations of the carrier, in order to constitute an act of insured a violation of a rule of a railroad company the rule alleged to have been violated must be one which is known to insured and in force at the time of the alleged violation.[34] It is not necessary for insured to make himself acquainted with all the rules of the carrier,[35] but a violation of a known rule will preclude a recovery.[36]

Walking from one conveyance to another. — In Northrup v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 43 N. Y. 516, 3 Am. Rep. 724 [reversing 2 Lans. (N. Y.) 166], insured, in the course of her journey, had to change from a steamboat to a railway train. The railway station was some little distance from the steamboat landing, but it was the general custom for passengers to walk from the steamboat landing to the railway station, though there were hacks at the landing, on the night of the accident, which could have been hired. Insured started to walk the distance, but slipped and fell on the sidewalk, receiving injuries from which she afterward died. It was held that her death was covered by a policy insuring against accidents while traveling by public or private conveyance, since she was walking in the actual prosecution of her journey; and that the fact that hacks could have been hired for the purpose of transporting her from the landing to the station was immaterial.

While getting on or off trains persons may be considered passengers; hence injuries received by insured under such circumstances are covered by the policy. Tooley v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 3 Biss. (U. S.) 399, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,098; Theobald v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 10 Exch. 45.

While riding on engine.—A passenger who, at the request of an official of the road, alights from the coach and rides in the engine, does not by such act cease to be a passenger, and a recovery can be had for his death. Berliner v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 121 Cal. 458, 66 Am. St. Rep. 49, 53 Pac. 918.

31. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Teter, 136 Ind. 672, 36 N. E. 283.

Traveling on foot is not traveling by a public or private conveyance within the meaning of a policy insuring against accidents while traveling by public or private conveyance. So held in Ripley v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 2 Big. Ins. Cas. 738, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,854, where insured was waylaid and beaten into insensibility by robbers while walking from a village to his home, a distance of about twelve miles. But compare Northrup v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 43 N. Y. 516, 3 Am. Rep. 724 [reversing 2 Lans. (N. Y.) 166], cited supra, note 30.

32. King v. Travelers Ins. Co., 101 Ga. 64, 28 S. E. 661, 65 Am. St. Rep. 288, wherein it was held that a clause in an accident policy providing that it did not cover injuries occasioned by "entering, or trying to enter, or leaving a moving conveyance using steam as a motive power (except cable and electric street cars)" had no reference to the amount to be paid, but was merely an enumeration of cases in which there was to be no liability, and therefore had no relation to a clause providing that if injuries are sustained while riding as a passenger in any conveyance using steam, cable, or electricity as a motive power, the amount payable shall be double the sum otherwise specified, and that hence, where insured was injured while attempting to alight from a moving electric street car, he could recover the double indemnity.

33. Ætna L. Ins. Co. v. Vandecar, 86 Fed. 282, 57 U. S. App. 446, 30 C. C. A. 48.

In Van Bokkelen v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 34 N. Y. App. Div. 399, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 307, the policy provided that if insured was injured while riding as a passenger in any passenger conveyance using steam, cable, or electricity as a motive power, the amount to be paid should be double the sum specified in the clause in the policy under which the claim is made. Insured fell from the platform of a railroad car and was killed. It did not appear by what means or from what cause insured fell or was thrown from the platform. It was held that the double indemnity could not be recovered, since the clause covered only injuries sustained while riding "in" such conveyance.

34. In Marx v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 39 Fed. 321, it was held that where a rule forbidding passengers on a railroad train to ride on the platform of a car was generally disregarded by both passengers and trainmen, it could not be said that so to ride was a violation of a rule of a corporation within the meaning of a policy excluding injuries sustained in "a violation of a rule of the railroad company."

35. Tooley v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 3 Biss. (U. S.) 399, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,098.

36. Bon v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 56 Iowa 664, 10 N. W. 225, 41 Am. Rep. 127.

XII. Accidents and Risks Excepted.

A. Validity of the Exception. The insurer may, in its policy, make a special exception as to a class of injuries; and it does not matter how general the description of the class may be, provided the description so designates it as to distinguish it from other classes of injuries.[37]

B. Intentional Injuries — 1. Usually Considered Accidental. Intentional injuries inflicted on the person of insured are usually considered "accidental" and as coming within the proviso that the insurance shall extend to injuries sustained through "external, violent, and accidental means."[38]

2. The Provision in Policy and Its Effect. Where, however, the policy provides that it shall not extend to injuries or death resulting from "intentional injuries inflicted by the insured or any other person," such provision is valid and binding,[39] and no recovery can be had for injuries or death so inflicted.[40]

3. What Constitutes Such an Injury — a. Consent of Insured as an Element. It is not necessary that the injury be inflicted with the consent or knowledge, or at the instance or procurement, of the insured.[41]

b. Intent of Person Inflicting Injury as an Element. The existence of an intent on the part of the person inflicting the injury is necessary, and this intent must be to inflict the injury actually inflicted.[42]

c. Effect of Insanity or Intoxication of Inflicting Party. Where it is 37. Metropolitan Assur. Assoc. v. Taylor, 71 Ill. App. 132, holding sufficient a designation which permits the identification of a particular case as falling or not falling within the exception.

38. See supra, XI, A.

39. Travellers' Ins. Co. v. Houston, 3 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 429.

40. Orr v. Travelers Ins. Co., 120 Ala. 647, 24 So. 997; American Acc. Co. v. Carson, (Ky. 1895) 30 S. W. 879; De Graw v. National Acc. Soc., 51 Hun (N. Y.) 142, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 912. See also cases cited infra, notes 41–45.

Where the word "death" is omitted from the provision, it seems that the exception will not include non-fatal injuries. American Acc. Co. v. Carson, 99 Ky. 441, 36 S. W. 169, 59 Am. St. Rep. 473, 34 L. R. A. 301.

Where the words "inflicted by insured or other person" were omitted from the provision, but the words "intentional injuries" were preceded and followed by a long list of injuries imputing more or less of intent, consent, or participation on the part of the insured, a recovery for which is excluded because of such intent, etc., the exception does not cover intentional injuries inflicted by a third person which as to the insured are accidental. Button v. American Mut. Acc. Assoc., 92 Wis. 83, 65 N. W. 861, 53 Am. St. Rep. 900.

41. Alabama.— Orr v. Travelers Ins. Co., 120 Ala. 647, 24 So. 997. Compare Equitable Acc. Ins. Co. v. Osborn, 90 Ala. 201, 9 So. 869, 13 L. R. A. 267, where the injury was not deemed intentional within the exception.

California.— Fischer v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 77 Cal. 246, 19 Pac. 423, 1 L. R. A. 572.

Colorado.—Travelers' Ins. Co. v. McCarthy, 15 Colo. 351, 25 Pac. 713, 22 Am. St. Rep. 410, 11 L. R. A. 297.

Kentucky.— Hutchcraft v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 87 Ky. 300, 8 S. W. 570, 12 Am. St. Rep. 484.

Texas.— Johnson v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 15 Tex. Civ. App. 314, 39 S. W. 972.

Wisconsin.— Butero v. Travelers' Acc. Ins. Co., 96 Wis. 536, 71 N. W. 811. But compare Button v. American Mut. Acc. Assoc., 92 Wis. 83, 65 N. W. 861, 53 Am. St. Rep. 900, cited supra, note 40.

United States.— Travellers' Ins. Co. v. McConkey, 127 U. S. 661, 8 S. Ct. 1360, 32 L. ed. 308.

42. Alabama.— Orr v. Travelers Ins. Co., 120 Ala. 647, 24 So. 997.

California.— Richards v. Travelers Ins. Co., 89 Cal. 170, 26 Pac. 762, 23 Am. St. Rep. 455.

Illinois.—Railway Officials, etc., Acc. Assoc. v. McCabe, 61 Ill. App. 565.

Kentucky.— Hutchcraft v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 87 Ky. 300, 8 S. W. 570, 12 Am. St. Rep. 484.

Michigan.— Utter v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 65 Mich. 545, 32 N. W. 812, 8 Am. St. Rep. 913.

Missouri.— Phelan v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 38 Mo. App. 640.

Nebraska.— Railway Officials, etc., Acc. Assoc. v. Drummond, 56 Nebr. 235, 76 N. W. 562.

New York.— De Graw v. National Acc. Soc., 51 Hun (N. Y.) 142, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 912.

Wisconsin.— Butero v. Travelers' Acc. Ins. Co., 96 Wis. 536, 71 N. W. 811.

In Hutchcraft v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 87 Ky. 300, 8 S. W. 570, 12 Am. St. Rep. 484, it was held that the exception included only those injuries which were intentionally directed against the person injured, and did not include injuries received at the hands of third persons attempting to do mischief generally, or attempting to injure a particular individual other than the insured. But see Matson attempted to show that the infliction of an injury by a third person is unintentional by reason of insanity or intoxication, the insanity or intoxication must be such as to deprive the insane or intoxicated person of capacity to understand the nature of the act and its results.[43]

d. Qualification as to Injuries Inflicted by Burglars, etc. Where the proviso excepts injuries received while in the act of defending one's person, family, or property from the assaults of burglars, robbers, thieves, or pickpockets, it must be shown that the injuries were so received.[44]

e. Waiver of Exception. The condition excepting from insurance the risk of death by intentional injury may be waived.[45]

C. Resulting from Exposure to Unnecessary Danger — 1. The Provision in Policy. The policy often contains a proviso excepting from risk injury or death caused by "voluntary exposure to unnecessary danger."[46] In some policies this proviso is varied by the use of the terms "wilful and wanton exposure,"[47]

v. Travellers' Ins. Co., 93 Me. 469, 45 Atl. 518, where it was held that no recovery could be had, although the injury sustained was not precisely the one intended, there being an intent to inflict some injury.

Illustrations of insufficient intent.— It was held that there was such a lack of intent on the part of the inflicting party as to take the case out of the exception relating to intentional injuries in Richards v. Travelers Ins. Co., 89 Cal. 170, 26 Pac. 762, 23 Am. St. Rep. 455, where the blow was not intended to kill, but unfortunately and undesignedly caused death; in Utter v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 65 Mich. 545, 32 N. W. 812, 8 Am. St. Rep. 913, where insured was killed by a deputy sheriff in an attempt to arrest him, it not being shown that the deputy was aware of the identity of insured when he killed him; in Railway Officials, etc., Acc. Assoc. v. Drummond, 56 Nebr. 235, 76 N. W. 562, where it appeared that the death of insured resulted from a gun-shot wound inflicted by a robber, it not appearing that the shooting of insured was the robber's intentional act [but see De Graw v. National Acc. Soc., 51 Hun (N. Y.) 142, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 912, cited infra, this note].

Illustrations of sufficient intent.— It was held that there was sufficient intent on the part of the inflicting party to constitute an injury intentional within the meaning of the exception in Orr v. Travelers Ins. Co., 120 Ala. 647, 24 So. 997, where insured, being unable to gain admittance to his wife's room through the door, went into the yard near a window of the room, whereupon a man who was in the room fired through the window, the bullet killing insured; in American Acc. Co. v. Carson, (Ky. 1895) 30 S. W. 879, where the death of insured was caused by his being shot by a prisoner resisting arrest; in Phelan v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 38 Mo. App. 640, where the injuries were inflicted on insured in a preconcerted attempt to assassinate him; in De Graw v. National Acc. Soc., 51 Hun (N. Y.) 142, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 912, where the injuries were inflicted upon insured by a third person attempting to rob him [but see Railway Officials, etc., Acc. Assoc. v. Drummond, 56 Nebr. 235, 76 N. W. 562, cited supra, this note]; in Butero v. Travelers' Acc. Ins. Co., 96 Wis. 536, 71 N. W. 811, where it appeared that insured was shot by a person unknown, the evidence showing that the murderer knew his victim when he fired, and that he fired with intent to kill him.

Murder of insured has been held to be within the proviso excepting from the risk injuries or death resulting from intentional injuries inflicted by insured or any other person. Railway Officials, etc., Acc. Assoc. v. McCabe, 61 Ill. App. 565; Travellers' Ins. Co. v. McConkey, 127 U. S. 661, 8 S. Ct. 1360, 32 L. ed. 308; Brown v. U. S. Casualty Co., 88 Fed. 38; Travelers' Protective Assoc. v. Langholz, 86 Fed. 60, 52 U. S. App. 643, 29 C. C. A. 628.

43. Travellers' Ins. Co. v. Houston, 3 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 429; Berger v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 88 Fed. 241.

44. Ging v. Travelers Ins. Co., 74 Minn. 505, 77 N. W. 291.

45. Henderson v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 65 Fed. 438. In this case the general agents had authority to receive and pass upon applications and complete contracts without referring them to the company; and on application for a policy they were informed that the applicant was in danger of being attacked and killed, and that he desired a policy which would protect his family in that event. The agents assured applicant that the policy to be issued, which was received and accepted by the applicant without reading it, contained a condition to the effect that it should be good if insured came to his death by intentional injuries inflicted by another person. Upon renewing the policy insured again inquired if it would be good in case he was killed, and the agents assured him that it would. It was held that a condition as to death by intentional injury was waived, and that the policy should be reformed by omitting such condition.

46. See cases cited infra, notes 47–58.

See also infra, XVI, C, 4, as to the effect of negligence of insured as a defense to an action on the policy.

47. Providence L. Ins., etc., Co. v. Martin, 32 Md. 310; Schneider v. Provident L. Ins. Co., 24 Wis. 28, 1 Am. Rep. 157.

"exposure to obvious risk of injury," [48] or exposure to "unnecessary danger, hazard, or perilous adventure." [49]

2. What Constitutes Such Exposure — a. Conscious, Intentional Exposure. The words "voluntary exposure to unnecessary danger" imply a conscious, intentional exposure,— something of which one is consciously willing to take the risk; [50] hence something more than ordinary negligence is necessary: there must be a design or intention on the part of insured to expose himself to danger.[51] The injury or death must, however, result from such conscious exposure.[52]

48. Cornish v. Accident Ins. Co., 23 Q. B. D. 453; Lovell v. Accident Ins. Co., (Q. B. 1874) 3 Ins. L. J. 877.

49. Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Jones, 80 Ga. 541, 7 S. E. 83, 12 Am. St. Rep. 270; Neill v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 12 Can. Supreme Ct. 55.

50. Alabama.— Equitable Acc. Ins. Co. v. Osborn, 90 Ala. 201, 9 So. 869, 13 L. R. A. 267.

Illinois.— Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Sittig, 181 Ill. 111, 54 N. E. 903, 48 L. R. A. 359 [affirming 79 Ill. App. 245].

Iowa.— Matthes v. Imperial Acc. Assoc., (Iowa 1900) 81 N. W. 484.

Kansas.—Employers' Liability Assur. Corp. v. Anderson, 5 Kan. App. 18, 47 Pac. 331.

Kentucky.— Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Clark, (Ky. 1900) 59 S. W. 7.

Massachusetts.— Tuttle v. Travellers' Ins. Co., 134 Mass. 175, 45 Am. Rep. 316.

Michigan.— Johnson v. London Guarantee, etc., Co., 115 Mich. 86, 72 N. W. 1115, 69 Am. St. Rep. 549, 40 L. R. A. 440.

Missouri.— Collins v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 63 Mo. App. 253.

New York.— Duncan v. Preferred Mut. Acc. Assoc., 59 N. Y. Super. Ct. 145, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 620, 36 N. Y. St. 928.

North Dakota.— Cornwell v. Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 6 N. Dak. 201, 69 N. W. 191, 66 Am. St. Rep. 601.

Ohio.— U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc. v. Hubbell, 56 Ohio St. 516, 47 N. E. 544.

Pennsylvania.— De Loy v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 171 Pa. St. 1, 32 Atl. 1108, 50 Am. St. Rep. 787, 37 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 239.

Tennessee.— Union Casualty, etc., Co. v. Harroll, 98 Tenn. 591, 40 S. W. 1080, 60 Am. St. Rep. 873; Miller v. American Mut. Acc. Ins. Co., 92 Tenn. 167, 21 S. W. 39, 20 L. R. A. 765.

Virginia.— Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Chambers, 93 Va. 138, 24 S. E. 896.

Wisconsin.— Scheiderer v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 58 Wis. 13, 16 N. W. 47, 46 Am. Rep. 618; Pierce v. Travelers' L. Ins. Co., 34 Wis. 389.

United States.— Ashenfelter v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp., 87 Fed. 682, 59 U. S. App. 479, 31 C. C. A. 193.

England.— Cornish v. Accident Ins. Co., 23 Q. B. D. 453; Lovell v. Accident Ins. Co., (Q. B. 1874) 3 Ins. L. J. 877.

Substantial character of danger.—In Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Randolph, 78 Fed. 754, 47 U. S. App. 260, 24 C. C. A. 305, it was said that the words "voluntary exposure to unnecessary danger," literally interpreted, would embrace every exposure of insured not actually required by the circumstances of his situation or enforced by the superior will of others, as well as every danger attending such exposure that might have been avoided by the exercise of care and diligence upon his [insured's] part; but that the words "might fairly be interpreted" as referring only to dangers of a real, substantial character which insured recognized, but to which he nevertheless purposely and consciously exposed himself, intending, at the time, to assume all the risks thereof.

51. Equitable Acc. Ins. Co. v. Osborn, 90 Ala. 201; Commercial Travelers Mut. Acc. Assoc. v. Springsteen, 23 Ind. App. 657, 55 N. E. 973; Williams v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 82 Hun (N. Y.) 268, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 343; Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Chambers, 93 Va. 138, 24 S. E. 896.

In Schneider v. Provident L. Ins. Co., 24 Wis. 28, 1 Am. Rep. 157, it was held that if insured were to be prevented from recovering for an injury merely because he had contributed thereto by his own carelessness or negligence, the proviso that the insurance should not extend to injuries happening by reason of a wilful and wanton exposure to unnecessary danger would be meaningless.

Actual knowledge of danger has been held to be not always essential. Carpenter v. American Acc. Co., 46 S. C. 541, 24 S. E. 500.

52. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp. v. Anderson, 5 Kan. App. 18, 47 Pac. 331; Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Chambers, 93 Va. 138, 24 S. E. 896; Scheiderer v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 58 Wis. 13, 16 N. W. 47, 46 Am. Rep. 618; Pierce v. Travelers' L. Ins. Co., 34 Wis. 389.

In Jones v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 92 Iowa 652, 61 N. W. 485, insured was shot immediately after leaving a bawdy-house. It was held that his death was not caused by a voluntary exposure to unnecessary danger, since it could not be said that the shooting followed as a natural consequence of, or that it was the result of, going into the bawdy-house.

Voluntary exposure sufficient to bring the death or injury within the exception has been held to exist where the insured was injured or came to his death while:

Attempting in broad daylight to cross the main line of a railway in front of an approaching train, there being nothing to show that insured was near-sighted or deaf, the place where the accident happened not being a proper crossing and there being no obstruction preventing a person about to cross from seeing an approaching train. Cornish v. Accident Ins. Co., 23 Q. B. D. 453.

Attempting on a dark night to drive over a network of railway tracks in a station-yard at a place where there was no roadway

b. Reckless or Wanton Conduct. Reckless or wanton conduct, under certain for carriages. Neill v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 12 Can. Supreme Ct. 55.

Attempting to climb between two freight cars, which comprised a part of a freight train standing on the crossing, where insured did not attempt to ascertain whether the engine was attached to the train or where he could have gone around it. Bean v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp., 50 Mo. App. 459.

Attempting to cross a railroad track between the cars of a freight train at a place where there was no implied invitation by the company to cross, and when the train was in readiness to be moved, of which fact insured was aware, although he thought he had time to get across in safety. Willard v. Masonic Equitable Acc. Assoc., 169 Mass. 288, 47 N. E. 1006, 61 Am. St. Rep. 285.

Attempting to pass from one car to another. Sawtelle v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 15 Blatchf. (U. S.) 216, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,392.

Falling off the platform of moving car while standing thereon. Sawtelle v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 15 Blatchf. (U. S.) 216, 21 Fed. Cas. No. 12,392.

Jumping from moving train. Smith v. Preferred Mut. Acc. Assoc., 104 Mich. 634, 62 N. W. 990, wherein it appeared that the train had left the station.

Jumping on a dark night from a rapidly moving freight train without any reasonable cause therefor. Shevlin v. American Mut. Acc. Assoc., 94 Wis. 180, 68 N. W. 866, 36 L. R. A. 52.

Putting arm out of window of railroad car. Morel v. Mississippi Valley L. Ins. Co., 4 Bush (Ky.) 535.

Attempting to walk across a trestle on a dark and rainy night, insured's arms being encumbered with packages. Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Jones, 80 Ga. 541, 7 S. E. 83, 12 Am. St. Rep. 270.

Attempting to walk across a railroad trestle on a dark night, there being no railings and nothing to walk on but ties ten inches apart. Follis v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 94 Iowa 435, 62 N. W. 807, 58 Am. St. Rep. 408, 28 L. R. A. 78.

Running along track in front of train. Tuttle v. Travellers' Ins. Co., 134 Mass. 175, 45 Am. Rep. 316.

Sitting on the track. Metropolitan Acc. Assoc. v. Taylor, 71 Ill. App. 132.

Walking on a railroad track on a rainy night, at a time when insured knew that trains were likely to pass. Lovell v. Accident Ins. Co., (Q. B. 1874) 3 Ins. L. J. 877.

Attempting to escape from arrest. Shaffer v. Travelers' Ins. Co., (Ill. 1889) 22 N. E. 589 [affirming 31 Ill. App. 112].

Fighting, where insured provoked the difficulty. Collins v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 63 Mo. App. 253; Union Casualty, etc., Co. v. Harroll, 98 Tenn. 591, 40 S. W. 1080, 60 Am. St. Rep. 873.

Voluntary exposure insufficient to bring the death or injury within the exception has been held not to exist where insured was injured or came to his death while:

Attempting to board moving train. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Sittig, 181 Ill. 111, 54 N. E. 903, 48 L. R. A. 359 [affirming 79 Ill. App. 245]; Schneider v. Provident L. Ins. Co., 24 Wis. 28, 1 Am. Rep. 157, where the train was moving at a slow rate of speed.

Slipping and falling against a moving train. Equitable Acc. Ins. Co. v. Osborn, 90 Ala. 201, 9 So. 869, 13 L. R. A. 267.

Standing on platform of car. Scheiderer v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 58 Wis. 13, 16 N. W. 47, 46 Am. Rep. 618 (where insured, while asleep and unconscious, involuntarily arose and walked out upon the platform); Marx v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 39 Fed. 321 (where insured, overcome by heat and suffering from nausea, went out upon the platform of a moving train).

Stepping on railroad track without noticing an approaching train. Lehman v. Great Eastern Casualty, etc., Co., 7 N. Y. App. Div. 424, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 912 [affirmed in 158 N. Y. 689, 53 N. E. 1127]. But see Williams v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 133 N. Y. 366, 31 N. E. 222, where, under the facts, it was held that insured had exposed himself voluntarily and unnecessarily.

Crossing a railroad track at a point where thousands of persons crossed daily. Keene v. New England Mut. Acc. Assoc., 161 Mass. 149, 36 N. E. 891, this being true notwithstanding insured was carrying an umbrella which obstructed his view.

Sitting on a railroad track. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Chambers, 93 Va. 138, 24 S. E. 896, it appearing in this case that insured, on being warned of the approach of the train, started up, and, on reaching for his bag, was killed.

Crossing a slough in a public road. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc. v. Hubbell, 56 Ohio St. 516, 47 N. E. 544, where it appeared that the injury was a result incident to travel.

Driving in a carriage. Schilling v. Accidental Death Ins. Co., 1 F. & F. 116, notwithstanding insured was an old and very feeble man.

Climbing a high bank with loaded gun in hand. Cornwell v. Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 6 N. Dak. 201, 69 N. W. 191, 66 Am. St. Rep. 601.

Handling gun without knowledge of its being loaded. Miller v. American Mut. Acc. Ins. Co., 92 Tenn. 167, 21 S. W. 39, 20 L. R. A. 765.

Hunting for game in the ordinary way. Cornwell v. Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 6 N. Dak. 201, 69 N. W. 191, 66 Am. St. Rep. 601.

Fishing in a boat on a dark night without knowing of the presence of snags in the river. Collins v. Bankers' Acc. Ins. Co., 96 Iowa 216, 64 N. W. 728, 59 Am. St. Rep. 367.

Fighting, where the difficulty was brought on without the fault or expectation of insured. Collins v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 63 Mo. App. 253.

Slipping and falling against a saw. Hess circumstances, may be sufficient to constitute an exposure to unnecessary danger within a proviso excepting from risks injuries or death caused by exposure.[53]

c. Danger Apparent to Ordinary Prudence. If the danger is one that a reasonably prudent man ought to know, voluntary exposure thereto will come within the exception.[54] If, however, the danger or hazard is such as would not be visible to an ordinarily prudent person, then there is no voluntary exposure to unnecessary danger.[55]

d. Distinction between Necessary and Unnecessary Danger. The term "voluntary exposure to unnecessary danger" does not include a voluntary exposure to necessary danger,— as where one is injured in attempting to rescue others in supposed danger,[56] or in the performance of a necessary duty.[57]

e. Distinction between Voluntary Act and Voluntary Exposure. There is a clear distinction between a voluntary act and a voluntary exposure to danger. The act may be voluntary and the exposure involuntary, as where one approaches an unknown and unexpected danger.[58]

D. Resulting from Bodily Infirmities or Disease[59] — 1. "Bodily Infirmity" and "Disease" Defined. The words "bodily infirmity or disease"

v. Van Auken, 11 Misc. (N. Y.) 422, 32 N. Y. Suppl. 126.

Accustomed situation.— In Matthes v. Imperial Acc. Assoc., (Iowa 1900) 81 N. W. 484, it was held that where insured, a house-painter accustomed to work at great heights, was injured while using a rope sling some thirty feet above his barn floor by the breaking of a truck supporting it, and it was shown that before using the sling he had examined it carefully, he was not guilty of a voluntary or unnecessary exposure to danger or obvious risk.

53. Georgia.— Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Jones, 80 Ga. 541, 7 S. E. 83, 12 Am. St. Rep. 270.

Illinois.— Metropolitan Acc. Assoc. v. Taylor, 71 Ill. App. 132.

Iowa.— Follis v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 94 Iowa 435, 62 N. W. 807, 58 Am. St. Rep. 408, 28 L. R. A. 78.

Massachusetts.— Willard v. Masonic Equitable Acc. Assoc., 169 Mass. 288, 47 N. E. 1006, 61 Am. St. Rep. 285.

Michigan.— Johnson v. London Guarantee, etc., Co., 115 Mich. 86, 72 N. W. 1115, 69 Am. St. Rep. 549, 40 L. R. A. 440.

Missouri.— Bean v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp., 50 Mo. App. 459.

South Carolina.— Carpenter v. American Acc. Co., 46 S. C. 541, 24 S. E. 500.

Wisconsin.— Shevlin v. American Mut. Acc. Assoc., 94 Wis. 180, 68 N. W. 866, 36 L. R. A. 52.

United States.— Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co. v. Dorgan, 58 Fed. 945, 16 U. S. App. 290, 7 C. C. A. 581, 22 L. R. A. 620.

England.— Cornish v. Accident Ins. Co., 23 Q. B. D. 453.

Canada.— Neill v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 12 Can. Supreme Ct. 55.

54. Illinois.— Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Sittig, 181 Ill. 111, 54 N. E. 903, 48 L. R. A. 359 [affirming 79 Ill. App. 245].

Pennsylvania.— De Loy v. Travellers' Ins. Co., 171 Pa. St. 1, 32 Atl. 1108, 50 Am. St. Rep. 787; Burkhard v. Travellers' Ins. Co., 102 Pa. St. 262, 48 Am. Rep. 205.

South Carolina.— Carpenter v. American Acc. Co., 46 S. C. 541, 24 S. E. 500.

Virginia.— Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Chambers, 93 Va. 138, 24 S. E. 896.

England.— Cornish v. Accident Ins. Co., 23 Q. B. D. 453; Lovell v. Accident Ins. Co., (Q. B. 1874) 3 Ins. L. J. 877.

55. Duncan v. Preferred Mut. Acc. Assoc., 59 N. Y. Super. Ct. 145, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 620; Cornwell v. Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 6 N. Dak. 201, 69 N. W. 191, 66 Am. St. Rep. 601; Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Chambers, 93 Va. 138, 24 S. E. 896.

56. Williams v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 60 Hun (N. Y.) 580, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 728; Tucker v. Mutual Ben. L. Co., 50 Hun (N. Y.) 50, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 505.

57. National Ben. Assoc. v. Jackson, 114 Ill. 533, 2 N. E. 414; Providence L. Ins., etc., Co. v. Martin, 32 Md. 310.

58. In Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Sittig, 181 Ill. 111, 54 N. E. 903, 48 L. R. A. 359 [affirming 79 Ill. App. 245], the court said that the term "voluntary exposure" does not mean simply that the act was voluntary or was consciously and intentionally performed, but also that insured was conscious of the danger to which he then exposed himself, and voluntarily assumed it, or that the danger was so apparent that a man of ordinary intelligence would, under the circumstances, necessarily have known it. One may voluntarily do an act exposing himself to great danger, which danger he does not apprehend and which is not obvious. In such a case it cannot be said that he voluntarily exposed himself to danger.

In Burkhard v. Travellers' Ins. Co., 102 Pa. St. 262, 48 Am. Rep. 205, it was held that where insured stepped off a railway train which had stopped on a drawbridge at night, and fell through a concealed hole in the bridge, and was killed, he had not been guilty of a voluntary exposure to unnecessary danger so as to preclude a recovery for his death.

59. The provision in policy.— The policy usually provides that the insurer shall not be liable where the death of insured is caused by a "bodily infirmity or disease." In some policies this provision is varied somewhat, and the construction often depends upon the form of the provision. See cases cited infra, notes 60–66.

are practically synonymous, and refer only to an ailment or disease of a settled character,[60] but they do not include insanity.[61]

2. Due Solely to Accident. The rule is that if the injury or death is due to an accident, without the intervention of any diseased condition of the body, it will not fall within the exception;[62] otherwise, of course, when the death or injury happened in consequence of the disease or bodily infirmity and not of the accident.[63]

3. Due to Combined Effects of Accident and Disease. If the death is not the result of the accident alone, but is due to both the accident and the disease, the case falls within the exception.[64]

60. Meyer v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 96 Iowa 378, 65 N. W. 328, 59 Am. St. Rep. 374, holding that a temporary disorder arising from some sudden or unexpected disarrangement of the system, producing unconsciousness, cannot be considered a "disease" or "bodily infirmity."

Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co. v. Dorgan, 58 Fed. 945, 16 U. S. App. 290, 7 C. C. A. 581, 22 L. R. A. 620, holding that a fainting-spell produced by indigestion or a lack of proper food for a number of hours, being merely a temporary disturbance or enfeeblement, is not a bodily infirmity or disease.

Apoplexy has been held to be a bodily disease or infirmity. Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Selden, 78 Fed. 285, 42 U. S. App. 253, 24 C. C. A. 92.

Malignant pustule.—In Bacon v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 123 N. Y. 304, 25 N. E. 399, 20 Am. St. Rep. 748, it was held that the death of insured, resulting from a malignant pustule, caused by the infliction on the body of a certain kind of animal substance or contact with diseased or putrid animal matter, was the effect of "disease."

Sunstroke or heat prostration is a disease. Dozier v. Fidelity & Casualty Co., 46 N. Y. 446; Sinclair v. Maritime Pass. Assur. Co., 3 E. & E. 478.

61. Distinguished from "insanity."—"Bodily infirmity or disease" does not include insanity. Blackstone v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 74 Mich. 592, 42 N. W. 156, 3 L. R. A. 486.

In Accident Ins. Co. of North America v. Crandal, 120 U. S. 527, 7 S. Ct. 685, 30 L. ed. 740 [affirming 27 Fed. 40], it was held that although insanity or unsoundness of mind often is, if not always, accompanied by or results from disease of the body, still, in the common speech of mankind, mental are distinguished from bodily diseases; that in the phrase "bodily infirmities or disease" the word "bodily" grammatically applies to disease as well as to infirmities, and cannot but be so applied without disregarding the fundamental rule of interpretation that policies of insurance are to be construed most strongly against the insurers who framed them; and that the prefix of "bodily" hardly affects the meaning of infirmities, and that it would be difficult to conjecture any purpose in inserting it in the proviso other than to exclude mental disease from the enumeration of the causes of death or disability to which the insurance does not extend.

62. Ætna L. Ins. Co. v. Hicks, (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 56 S. W. 87, where insured, though ill at the time, was killed while unnecessarily taking a trip by rail against the advice of his physician, during which he sustained an accident entirely independent of his weak condition, and one which might have happened to a man in good health.

Lawrence v. Accidental Ins. Co., 7 Q. B. D. 216, where insured, while standing on a railway platform, was seized with a fit and fell from the platform across the track and was run over and killed by a passing train.

Winspear v. Accident Ins. Co., 6 Q. B. D. 42, where insured, while fording a stream, was seized with an epileptic fit, fell into the stream, and was drowned. See, however, Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co. v. Dorgan, 58 Fed. 945, 16 U. S. App. 290, 7 C. C. A. 581, 22 L. R. A. 620, cited infra, note 63.

63. Sharpe v. Commercial Travelers' Mut. Acc. Assoc., 139 Ind. 92, 37 N. E. 353, where it was shown that a fall which it was claimed caused the death of insured was not the cause of death, but that death was due entirely to a fatty degeneration of the heart and brain.

Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Selden, 78 Fed. 285, 42 U. S. App. 253, 24 C. C. A. 92, wherein it appears that insured, a stout and apparently healthy man, while engaged in a piece of work which required him to assume a stooping position, was suddenly taken with violent pains in the head and died some days thereafter, his attending physician testifying that he died of apoplexy.

Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co. v. Dorgan, 58 Fed. 945, 16 U. S. App. 290, 7 C. C. A. 581, 22 L. R. A. 620, where insured, while in a fit, fell into the water and was drowned. But see Winspear v. Accident Ins. Co., 6 Q. B. D. 42, cited supra, note 62.

Smith v. Accident Ins. Co., L. R. 5 Exch. 302, where insured accidentally cut his foot against the broken side of an earthenware pan and died shortly thereafter from intervening erysipelas.

64. Freeman v. Mercantile Mut. Acc. Assoc., 156 Mass. 351, 30 N. E. 1013, 17 L. R. A. 753; Modern Woodman Acc. Assoc. v. Shryock, 54 Nebr. 250, 74 N. W. 607, 39 L. R. A. 826; Commercial Travelers' Mut. Acc. Assoc. v. Fulton, 79 Fed. 423, 45 U. S. App. 578, 24 C. C. A. 654; Cawley v. National Employers' Acc., etc., Assur. Assoc., Cab. & El. 597; Anderson v. Scottish Acc. Ins. Co., 17 Sc. Sess. Cas. 4th ser. 6,— the theory upon which this rule is based being that the accident alone

4. Special Proviso as to Hernia. A provision in the policy that the insurance shall not cover injuries or death resulting from or due to hernia or rupture will not prevent a recovery for the death of insured caused by rupture or hernia accidentally produced.[65]

5. Special Proviso Limiting General Proviso. A special provision enumerating certain infirmities which are excepted from the risk will not limit the general provision that the death must result from bodily injuries effected through external, violent, and accidental means independently of all other causes.[66]

E. Resulting from Inhaling Gas. Where the policy contains a proviso excepting the insurer from liability for death by inhaling gas, the term "inhaling gas" must be taken to contemplate a voluntary and intelligent act on the part of insured, and not an involuntary and unconscious act; and hence the death of insured, caused by the accidental inhalation of gas which has escaped into his room, does not come within the proviso; and the rule is the same[67] even where the proviso is to the effect that the insurance shall not cover death resulting from "anything accidentally or otherwise taken, administered, absorbed, or inhaled."[68] would not have caused the death, but that it merely aggravated the effect of the disease, both the accident and the disease contributing to the result.

In National Masonic Acc. Assoc. v. Shryock, 73 Fed. 774, 36 U. S. App. 658, 20 C. C. A. 3, under a policy excluding a recovery for death resulting from disease or bodily infirmity, it was held that the insurer was not liable if, at the time of the accident, insured was suffering from a pre-existing disease or bodily infirmity, and that the accident would not have caused his death if he had not been so affected, but he died because the accident aggravated the effect of the disease, or the disease aggravated the effect of the accident.

In Freeman v. Mercantile Mut. Acc. Assoc., 156 Mass. 351, 30 N. E. 1013, 17 L. R. A. 753, insured died of peritonitis localized in the region of the liver, induced by a fall; he had previously had peritonitis in the same part, which rendered him liable to a recurrence of it. It was held that if at the time of the accident insured was suffering from the disease there could be no recovery.

65. Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Murray, 16 Colo. 296, 26 Pac. 774, 25 Am. St. Rep. 267; Atlanta Acc. Assoc. v. Alexander, 104 Ga. 709, 30 S. E. 939, 42 L. R. A. 188; Miner v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 2 Ohio N. P. 103, 3 Ohio Dec. 289.

In Fitton v. Accidental Death Ins. Co., 17 C. B. N. S. 122, it was held that death from hernia, caused solely and directly by external violence, followed by a surgical operation performed for the purpose of relieving insured, was not within such an exception.

66. In Hubbard v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 98 Fed. 932, the policy insured against death only when "resulting from bodily injuries . . . through external, violent, and accidental means . . . independently of all other causes," and provided that the insurance should not cover death "resulting wholly or partly, directly or indirectly, from any of the following causes: . . . disease or bodily infirmity, hernia, fits, vertigo, sleep-walking." It was held that the phrases "all other causes, . . . disease or bodily infirmity," etc., were not limited by the subsequent enumeration of specific diseases or infirmities, and that the policy did not cover a death resulting from rupture of the heart caused in part by its diseased condition and in part by a fall on a slippery pavement.

67. Menneiley v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp., 148 N. Y. 596, 43 N. E. 54, 51 Am. St. Rep. 716, 31 L. R. A. 686 [reversing 72 Hun (N. Y.) 477, 25 N. Y. Suppl. 230]; Paul v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 112 N. Y. 472, 20 N. E. 347, 8 Am. St. Rep. 758 [affirming 45 Hun (N. Y.) 313]; Pickett v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 144 Pa. St. 79, 22 Atl. 871, 27 Am. St. Rep. 618, 13 L. R. A. 661, 28 Wkly. Notes Cas. 456 [distinguishing Pollock v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 102 Pa. St. 230, 48 Am. Rep. 204]; Lowenstein v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 88 Fed. 474 [affirmed in 97 Fed. 17, 38 C. C. A. 29, 46 L. R. A. 450].

But see Richardson v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 46 Fed. 843 [disapproving Paul v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 112 N. Y. 472, 20 N. E. 347, 8 Am. St. Rep. 758], where it was held that under a policy which exempted the insurer from liability in case of death caused by inhaling gas no recovery could be had for the death of insured caused by the inhalation of illuminating gas, where it was uncertain whether the death was the result of an accident or of suicide.

68. Menneiley v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp., 148 N. Y. 596, 43 N. E. 54, 51 Am. St. Rep. 716, 31 L. R. A. 686 [reversing 72 Hun (N. Y.) 477, 25 N. Y. Suppl. 230]; Lowenstein v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 88 Fed. 474.

In Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Waterman, 161 Ill. 632, 636, 44 N. E. 283, 32 L. R. A. 654, it was held that the proviso meant no more than if it actually read "anything accidentally or otherwise, consciously and by an act of volition, drawn into the system by inspiration."

The word "absorbed," in Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Waterman, 161 Ill. 632, 44 N. E. 283, 32 L. R. A. 654, was held to refer only to the process of absorption by sucking up or imbibing through the pores of the body.

F. Resulting from Lifting or Over-Exertion — 1. INJURIES WITHIN THE EXCEPTION. Where the policy contains a clause relieving the insurer from liability for injuries or death caused by "lifting or over-exertion," in order to bring the injury or death of insured within this clause the lifting or over-exertion must be a voluntary and unnecessary act upon the part of insured.[69]

2. INJURIES NOT WITHIN THE EXCEPTION. An act of lifting, however, which is apparently reasonable and is performed in the line of duty, is not within the exception.[70] Nor is an effort to lift, or an over-exertion put forth in an emergency of danger, within the exception.[71]

G. Resulting from Medical or Surgical Treatment. Where the policy excepts death or injury resulting from "medical or surgical treatment," death caused by an overdose of an opiate prescribed by a physician for the purpose of allaying another disease,[72] or by suffocation due to the administration of chloroform preliminary to the performance of a surgical operation, is within the exception.[73]

H. Resulting from Poison.[74] The weight of authority seems to be that the taking of poison by accident or mistake is included in the proviso.[75] The phrase

The words "or otherwise" are used merely in connection with the preceding word "accidentally" and mean an injury of a kindred character, and do not qualify the act of inhaling. Lowenstein v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 88 Fed. 474.

69. Reynolds v. Equitable Acc. Assoc., 59 Hun (N. Y.) 13, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 738, 17 N. Y. St. 337, holding that the lifting or over-exertion must be a voluntary and unnecessary act from which injury might reasonably be anticipated, and which might, in the exercise of reasonable care, have been avoided.

Thus no recovery can be had under a policy excluding liability occasioned by "lifting or over-exertion" where it appears that insured was injured while attempting to alter the position of a pump-stock in a wall by lifting it, it not being shown that the injury was sustained in any other way. Metropolitan Acc. Assoc. v. Bristol, 69 Ill. App. 492.

"Voluntary over-exertion" has been defined to be a conscious or intentional over-exertion, or a reckless disregard of consequences likely to ensue from great physical effort. Rustin v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 58 Nebr. 792, 79 N. W. 712.

Disability caused by hemorrhage of the lungs brought on by lifting a heavy iron or stone manhole-covering of a sewer is a case within this exception. Rose v. Commercial Mut. Acc. Co., 12 Pa. Super. Ct. 394.

70. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Schmaltz, 66 Ark. 588, 53 S. W. 49; Rustin v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 58 Nebr. 792, 79 N. W. 712, where the over-exertion consisted of the slight elevation of a three-hundred-pound weight by a strong man accustomed to lifting. But compare Rose v. Commercial Mut. Acc. Co., 12 Pa. Super. Ct. 394, cited supra, note 69.

Death ensuing from a rupture caused by a sudden wrench of the body while removing a heavy cylinder-head from an engine, it being a part of the duties of insured, who was a machinist, to lift cylinder-heads in this way when necessary, is not within this exception. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Schmaltz 66 Ark. 588, 53 S. W. 49.

71. Reynolds v. Equitable Acc. Assoc., 59 Hun (N. Y.) 13, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 738, 17 N. Y. St. 337, where an injury to insured, a bridge-builder, was caused while he was employed, with his men, in raising the bent of a bridge, by being struck on the side by a pike-pole which he was using, or by being subjected to a strain of great severity caused by the sudden slipping of the bent.

72. Bayless v. Travellers' Ins. Co., 14 Blatchf. (U. S.) 143, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,138, holding that the fact that an overdose was taken was immaterial, since the opiate was prescribed for the cure of a disease and was taken for that purpose.

73. Westmoreland v. Preferred Acc. Ins. Co., 75 Fed. 244. But see Fitton v. Accidental Death Ins. Co., 17 C. B. N. S. 122, cited supra, note 65.

74. The modern policy often contains a proviso to the effect that the risk shall not extend to "death by poison," "death from poison," "death resulting from poison," "death by taking poison," "death from poison or anything accidentally or otherwise taken, administered, absorbed, or inhaled." See cases cited infra, notes 75, 76.

75. Michigan.— Early v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 113 Mich. 58, 71 N. W. 500, 67 Am. St. Rep. 445.

New York.— Hill v. Hartford Acc. Ins. Co., 22 Hun (N. Y.) 187.

Pennsylvania.— Pollock v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 102 Pa. St. 230, 48 Am. Rep. 204.

United States.— McGlother v. Provident Mut. Acc. Co., 89 Fed. 685, 60 U. S. App. 705, 32 C. C. A. 318.

England.— Cole v. Accident Ins. Co., 61 L. T. Rep. N. S. 227.

Contra, Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Dunlap, 160 Ill. 642, 643, 43 N. E. 765, 52 Am. St. Rep. 355.

Absorption of poison.— In Kasten v. Interstate Casualty Co., 99 Wis. 73, 74 N. W. 534, 40 L. R. A. 651, it was held that no recovery could be had for the death of insured by blood-poisoning from absorption of septic

"in any way taken" has been held to refer to the manner of taking the poison, not to the intent with which it is taken.[76]

I. Suicide or Self-Inflicted Injuries[77] — 1. Effect of Words "Sane or Insane." Where the proviso contains the additional phrase "sane or insane" it precludes a recovery for the death of insured caused by suicide while insane;[78] otherwise where the proviso does not contain these additional words.[79]

2. Extent of the Exception — a. In General. A clause in the policy which provides that no profits shall be paid for self-inflicted injuries includes all classes of benefits.[80]

b. In Case of Accidental Self-Infliction. The death of insured cannot be attributed to self-inflicted injuries where they are incurred unconsciously and without knowledge or realization thereof.[81]

J. While Entering or Leaving Conveyance — 1. The Exception and Its Validity. A clause excepting liability for accident or death sustained while entering or trying to enter or leave a moving conveyance is valid, and no recovery can be had for injuries or death so incurred.[82]

2. Necessity of Design on Part of Insured. Where, however, the provision is to the effect that no benefit shall be payable where the disability is caused by poison evolved by germs in cotton inserted by a dentist into wounds caused by the removal of teeth, to stop a hemorrhage, under a policy containing a condition that the liability of the insurer should not extend to "injuries, fatal or otherwise, resulting wholly or in part from poison or anything accidentally or otherwise taken, administered, absorbed, or inhaled." But in Bacon v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 44 Hun (N. Y.) 599, the death of insured was caused by the infliction, upon a portion of his body, of a putrid animal substance which produced "malignant pustule," a disease invariably produced by the infliction of animal substance upon the body, and usually communicated from the skins or bodies of animals which were suffering from that disease. It was held that the death of insured did not come within a provision of the policy excepting from the risk death or disability caused wholly or in part by poison in any manner or form.

Death from blood-poison caused by the sting of an insect has been held not to be the result of poison in any form or manner, or of contact with poisonous substances, within the meaning of such a provision in the policy. Omberg v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 101 Ky. 303, 40 S. W. 909, 72 Am. St. Rep. 413.

76. Metropolitan Acc. Assoc. v. Froiland, 161 Ill. 30, 43 N. E. 766, 52 Am. St. Rep. 359.

77. The provision in policy.— Accident policies usually contain a proviso that the risk shall not be extended to death caused by "suicide or self-inflicted injuries." This proviso is similar to the one contained in life policies. Some policies, instead of the phrase "suicide or self-inflicted injuries," substitute the terms "shall die by his own hand," "shall commit suicide," or "shall die by suicide." All these phrases, however, mean substantially the same thing. Blackstone v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 74 Mich. 592, 42 N. W. 156, 3 L. R. A. 486. See also cases cited infra, notes 78–81.

Effect of statutory provision.—A statutory provision that it shall be no defense to an action on a policy of life insurance that insured committed suicide, unless it is shown that at the time of making the application insured contemplated suicide, applies equally to accident policies. Logan v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 146 Mo. 114, 47 S. W. 948 [construing Mo. Rev. Stat. (1899), § 5855].

78. Travellers' Ins. Co. v. McConkey, 127 U. S. 661, 8 S. Ct. 1360, 32 L. ed. 308.

Taking carbolic acid.— In Cotter v. Royal Neighbors of America, 76 Minn. 518, 79 N. W. 542, it was held that an accident certificate which in effect read that if the member should "die by any means or act which, if used or done by such member while in possession of all natural faculties, would be deemed self-destruction," then the certificate should be void, precluded a recovery for the death of insured caused by taking a quantity of carbolic acid sufficient to cause death, administered by insured's own hand, not by accident, but while insane.

79. Blackstone v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 74 Mich. 592, 42 N. W. 156, 3 L. R. A. 486; Accident Ins. Co. v. Crandal, 120 U. S. 527, 7 S. Ct. 685, 30 L. ed. 740 [affirming 27 Fed. 40],— holding that in such case the exception does not cover suicide while insane.

80. Weber v. Home Benev. Soc., 21 Ind. App. 345, 52 N. E. 462, where the policy divided the benefits to be paid into several classes, and provided that no benefits should be paid for self-inflicted injuries.

81. So held in Scheiderer v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 58 Wis. 13, 16 N. W. 47, 46 Am. Rep. 618, where insured, who was traveling by rail, walked onto the platform of the car, while in a dazed and unconscious condition, and fell therefrom and was injured.

82. Miller v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 39 Minn. 548, 40 N. W. 839; Travelers Ins. Co. v. Snowden, 45 Nebr. 249, 63 N. W. 392. Compare King v. Travelers Ins. Co., 101 Ga. 64, 28 S. E. 661, 65 Am. St. Rep. 288, cited supra, note 32.

insured's jumping on any moving car, unless it shall be established by positive proof that the injury was caused by external, violent, and accidental means not the result of design on the part of insured, a recovery can be had if the means of the injury were not the result of design.[83]

3. Qualification as to Railroad Employees. A qualification excepting railroad employees from the operation of this provision is valid; hence a recovery may be had by such an employee injured while attempting to board or leave a moving train;[84] and even without such qualification it has been held that an insured railroad employee will not be precluded from recovering where it is shown that the insurer had knowledge that he was a railroad employee and that it was part of his duty to get on and off trains while in motion;[85] and this is particularly true where insured's occupation is so stated in the application, specifically made a part of the policy, as to give this information to the insurer.[86]

K. While Engaged in Violation of Law.[87] To bring the injury or death within the terms of this exception there must be a clear violation of some criminal law;[88] and this rule, it seems, applies to violations of city ordi-

83. Travelers' Preferred Acc. Assoc. v. Stone, 50 Ill. App. 222.

84. Dailey v. Preferred Masonic Mut. Acc. Assoc., 102 Mich. 299, 60 N. W. 694, 26 L. R. A. 171 [affirming 102 Mich. 289, 57 N. W. 184, 26 L. R. A. 171]; Employer's Liability Assur. Corp. v. Rochelle, 13 Tex. Civ. App. 232, 35 S. W. 869; Cotten v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 41 Fed. 506 (where insured, a baggage-checker of a transfer company, was killed while attempting to board a moving train); Accident Ins. Co. of North America v. McFee, 7 Montreal Q. B. 255.

Even after employee has left the employ of the railroad company he has been allowed to recover for such an injury, it appearing that he had paid the higher premium for insurance against such risk. Employer's Liability Assur. Corp. v. Rochelle, 13 Tex. Civ. App. 232, 35 S. W. 869, where insured at the time of his injury had ceased to be a railroad employee and had become a farmer.

85. Accident Ins. Co. of North America v. McFee, 7 Montreal Q. B. 255, where a policy was issued to a superintendent of a railway stipulating against liability for injuries resulting from getting on or off trains while in motion, it appearing that the insurer knew him to be a superintendent whose duty required him to get on and off trains while in motion.

86. Dailey v. Preferred Masonic Mut. Acc. Assoc., 102 Mich. 299, 60 N. W. 694, 26 L. R. A. 171 [affirming 102 Mich. 289, 57 N. W. 184, 26 L. R. A. 171], wherein insured stated his occupation as that of conductor of a passenger train. The application contained no restriction against boarding moving conveyances, but the policy did.

87. The provision in policy.— A proviso is usually inserted in the policy to the effect that the risk shall not cover injuries or death sustained "while engaged in an unlawful and vicious act," or "while in violation of the law." See cases cited infra, notes 88–92.

88. Iowa.— Matthes v. Imperial Acc. Assoc., (Iowa 1900) 81 N. W. 484; Collins v. Bankers' Acc. Ins. Co., 96 Iowa 216, 64 N. W. 778, 59 Am. St. Rep. 367.

Maine.— Eaton v. Atlas Acc. Ins. Co., 89 Me. 570, 36 Atl. 1048.

New York.— Johanns v. National Acc. Soc., 16 N. Y. App. Div. 104, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 117; Lehman v. Great Eastern Casualty, etc., Co., 7 N. Y. App. Div. 424, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 912 [affirmed in 158 N. Y. 689, 53 N. E. 1127].

North Dakota.— Cornwell v. Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 6 N. Dak. 201, 69 N. W. 191, 66 Am. St. Rep. 601.

Tennessee.— Accident Ins. Co. of North America v. Bennett, 90 Tenn. 256, 16 S. W. 723.

Texas.— Morris v. Travelers' Ins. Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1897) 43 S. W. 898.

Vermont.— Duran v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 63 Vt. 437, 22 Atl. 530, 25 Am. St. Rep. 773, 13 L. R. A. 637.

Fighting.— In Morris v. Travelers' Ins. Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1897) 43 S. W. 898, it was held that no recovery could be had where insured came to his death from a pistol-shot while engaged in a fight brought on by himself and in open violation of law.

Fishing.— In Collins v. Bankers' Acc. Ins. Co., 96 Iowa 216, 64 N. W. 778, 59 Am. St. Rep. 367, it was held that in view of § 2 of an act which makes it lawful to catch fish with hook or line it was not a violation of law (under § 6 of the same act, prohibiting the placing across any body of water of a trot-line so as to prevent the free passage of fish up, down, or through such water) to place a trot-line across a stream, unless so placed as to prevent the free passage of the fish.

Killing prairie-chickens.— In Cornwell v. Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 6 N. Dak. 201, 69 N. W. 191, 66 Am. St. Rep. 601, it was held that the fact that insured, when injured, had started out with a loaded gun with the intention of killing prairie-chickens at a time when it was unlawful to do so, did not make him guilty either of the offense of killing prairie-chickens out of season, or of the attempt to do so, since he had done no overt act leading to the commission of the offense.

Violation of Sunday law.— In Duran v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 63 Vt. 437, 22 Atl. 530, 25 Am. St. Rep. 773, 13 L. R. A. 637, it

nances.[89] A mere breach of some obligation of morality or rule of policy is insufficient.[90] The injury or death must be shown to have resulted from the act which is claimed to be unlawful,[91] or at least to have had a causative connection therewith.[92]

L. While Engaged in Violation of Rules of Employment. Where the policy excepts injuries resulting directly or indirectly from a violation of the rules of insured's employment, it is not the duty of the insurer to inform insured of the existence of such rules.[93]

M. While Fighting or Provoking Assault. In order to bring the injury or death within the exception in the policy as to injury or death occurring "while engaged in fighting," it is generally necessary that the fight or quarrel shall be one from which bodily injury or death might reasonably be expected.[94] It is not was held that no recovery could be had where insured was injured by slipping upon a frozen plowed field across which he was returning home from a combined hunting and visiting expedition on Sunday, since he was in violation of the law both as to hunting and traveling on the Sabbath. But in Eaton v. Atlas Acc. Ins. Co., 89 Me. 570, 36 Atl. 1048, it was held that riding to and from a friend's funeral on a bicycle, or riding a bicycle for health and exercise, was not a violation of Me. Rev. Stat. c. 124, § 20, relating to the observation of the Lord's Day, and hence an injury received while so engaged was not received while in violation of law. And in Matthes v. Imperial Acc. Assoc., (Iowa 1900) 81 N. W. 484, it was held that where insured was injured on Sunday in an attempt to procure pigeons from his barn for food, a claim that he was injured while violating the law by working on Sunday could not be sustained, it not being shown that the work was not one of necessity.

Walking on railroad track.— In Lehman v. Great Eastern Casualty, etc., Co., 7 N. Y. App. Div. 424, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 912 [affirmed in 158 N. Y. 689, 53 N. E. 1127], it was held that where a railroad company permitted the public to go over its tracks, at a place not a street crossing, for a sufficient length of time to create a license, a person crossing the track at such place was not guilty of violating the law within the clause of an accident policy exempting the insurer from liability for injuries received while violating the law, although N. Y. Laws (1892), c. 676, § 53, provides that no person shall walk on or along a railroad track except where the same shall be laid across or along streets or highways.

89. Violation of city ordinance.—In Johanns v. National Acc. Soc., 16 N. Y. App. Div. 104, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 117, it was held that a city ordinance providing that no passenger should be allowed on the front platform of a street car when in operation, except that such front platform could be used for ingress or egress of passengers at stoppages, had no application to the case of an injury to insured while attempting to board a slowly moving car, and did not bring such injury within a clause of the policy which provided that it should not cover or extend to disability happening to insured "while violating the law."

90. Accident Ins. Co. of North America v. Bennett, 90 Tenn. 256, 16 S. W. 723, wherein it was held that fornication, although immoral, was not a misdemeanor unless attended with such circumstances as give it publicity and notoriety, and was not therefore an unlawful act.

91. Indiana.— Conboy v. Railway Officials, etc., Acc. Assoc., 17 Ind. App. 62, 46 N. E. 363, 60 Am. St. Rep. 154, 43 N. E. 1017.

Iowa.— Jones v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 92 Iowa 652, 61 N. W. 485 (where insured was killed while engaged in a difficulty soon after leaving a bawdy-house and while he was carrying concealed weapons, it not appearing that his death was the natural result of either his visit to the house or the act of carrying the weapon); Prader v. National Masonic Acc. Assoc., 95 Iowa 149, 63 N. W. 601 (where the accident was caused while on a hunting-trip on Sunday, it appearing that the accident happened at the house of a friend several hours after the hunting-trip had been finished).

Michigan.— Utter v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 65 Mich. 545, 32 N. W. 812, 8 Am. St. Rep. 913, where insured, who was a deserter from the army, was killed by an officer who had been instructed to arrest him, it not being shown that he was engaged in an unlawful act at the time he was killed.

Tennessee.— Accident Ins. Co. of North America v. Bennett, 90 Tenn. 256, 16 S. W. 723.

United States.— Travellers' Ins. Co. v. Seaver, 19 Wall. (U. S.) 531, 22 L. ed. 155 (where insured was killed while engaged in violating the Vermont statute making racing for money a misdemeanor); Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Fraser, 76 Fed. 705, 44 U. S. App. 694, 22 C. C. A. 499 (where insured was killed shortly after having engaged in a game of dice with the person by whom he was killed,— such gaming being made a misdemeanor by a statute of the State,— it appearing that the shooting was not brought on by any quarrel or dispute incident to the game or in any way connected with it).

92. Conboy v. Railway Officials, etc., Acc. Assoc., 17 Ind. App. 62, 46 N. E. 363, 60 Am. St. Rep. 154, 43 N. E. 1017.

93. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Jones, 94 Ala. 434, 10 So. 530, holding that it will be presumed that insured is aware of the existence of such rules.

94. Accident Ins. Co. of North America v. Bennett, 90 Tenn. 256, 16 S. W. 723. In Robinson v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 68 Fed. 825, it was held that the death of in-essential that insured should be the aggressor.[95] The fact that the other party to the quarrel or fight was insane is not material if insured willingly engaged therein.[96]

N. While Intoxicated. A proviso that the insurance shall not extend to injuries or death happening to insured while intoxicated, "or in consequence of his having been under the influence of intoxicating drinks," covers all injuries while intoxicated,[97] and it is not necessary that the intoxication contribute to the injury,[98] since the proviso relates to the condition of insured and not to the cause which produced the injury or death.[99]

O. While Riding in Conveyance Not Provided for Passengers. Under a policy excepting liability for injuries sustained while in a conveyance not provided for the transportation of passengers, riding on an engine drawing a passenger train has been held not to come within the exception.[1]

P. While Riding on Platform of Moving Conveyance. Some policies provide that there shall be no liability for injury or death incurred while riding on the steps or platform of a moving conveyance.[2] Railroad employees in the performance of their duty are, however, often excepted from the operation of this provision.[3]

Q. While Walking on Railroad[4] — 1. What is a Walking on the Road-Bed.[5] sured, who was shot by a third person while engaged in an altercation with him, insured being at the time unarmed and having made no menacing or threatening gestures, was not a death resulting from or caused by fighting.

95. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc. v. Millard, 43 Ill. App. 148.

96. Gresham v. Equitable Acc. Ins. Co., 87 Ga. 497, 13 S. E. 752, 27 Am. St. Rep. 263, 13 L. R. A. 838.

97. Shader v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 66 N. Y. 441, 23 Am. Rep. 65 [affirming 3 Hun (N. Y.) 424]; Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Jones, 94 Ala. 434, 10 So. 530; Hester v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 69 Mo. App. 186.

The phrase "under the influence of intoxicating drinks," as used in accident policies, has come to mean that "insured must have drunk enough to disturb the action of the physical or mental faculties, so that they are no longer in their natural or normal condition," or, in other words, that the influence must in reality amount to intoxication; and hence that there is no material difference between an application which stipulates that the policy to be issued "will not cover any accidental injury which may happen to me, either while under the influence of narcotics or intoxicating drinks, or in consequence of having been under the influence of either," and the policy issued thereunder which contained the proviso that "this insurance does not cover . . . death or disablement happening to the insured while intoxicated, or in consequence of his having been under the influence of any narcotic or intoxicating drink whatsoever." Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Jones, 94 Ala. 434, 437, 10 So. 530.

98. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Jones, 94 Ala. 434, 10 So. 530; Shader v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 66 N. Y. 441, 23 Am. Rep. 65 [affirming 3 Hun (N. Y.) 424].

In Flint v. Travelers' Ins. Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1898) 43 S. W. 1079, it was held that no recovery could be had for the death of insured, who became intoxicated and, when far toward delirium tremens, was taken to a sanitarium for treatment, where several hypodermic injections of morphine were administered, from the immediate effects of which he died.

99. Shader v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 66 N. Y. 441, 23 Am. Rep. 65 [affirming 3 Hun (N. Y.) 424].

1. Berliner v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 121 Cal. 458, 53 Pac. 918, 66 Am. St. Rep. 49, on the theory that "the locomotive is part of the 'conveyance' provided for the transportation of passengers."

2. Being upon platform for a temporary and necessary purpose will not, however, preclude a recovery for an injury sustained while there, under a policy containing such an exception. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Thornton, 100 Fed. 582, 40 C. C. A. 564.

3. Hull v. Equitable Acc. Assoc., 41 Minn. 231, 42 N. W. 936, in which case, however, it was held that no recovery could be had by insured for an injury sustained by him while riding on the platform of a train on his way home from his employment, since he was not in the performance of any duty.

4. The provision in policy.— The policy may exclude from the risk injury or death incurred while "walking or being on the road-bed or bridge of any railway." See cases cited infra, notes 5–10.

5. The term "road-bed," as used in such an exception, will not be construed to mean the entire right of way, nor even that part of it which has been leveled off and constructed for the purpose of putting a track thereon. De Loy v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 171 Pa. St. 1, 32 Atl. 1108, 50 Am. St. Rep. 787, 37 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 239, wherein it was held that it is evidently intended only to exempt the insurer from accidents to insured incurred while walking upon the tracks or ties, or, at least, while so near thereto that he would be likely to be hit by trains passing or repassing on the tracks.

In Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Langston,

The phrase "walking on the road-bed of any railroad" includes not only walking thereon, but also running, using the road-bed as a foot-path, and even stopping on it in the course of such use;[6] but the mere crossing of a railroad track,[7] especially at a well-recognized and long-used crossing, is not within the exception.[8]

2. QUALIFICATION AS TO RAILWAY EMPLOYEES. Railway employees in the performance of their duties are, however, usually excepted from the operation of this provision,[9] and in such cases the term "railway employee" refers to a person employed to work on and about a railroad.[10]

XIII. EXTENT OF INJURY AS AFFECTING INSURER'S LIABILITY.

A. "Total Disability"[11] — 1. TERMS NOT DEFINABLE. No general definition seems to have been given by the courts to the words "total disability;"[12] and what is or is not a total disability depends largely upon the circumstances of each case.[13]

2. CONSTRUCTION AND EFFECT OF PARTICULAR WORDS USED. "Total disability," "totally disabled," or words of like import as used in accident-insurance policies, are often accompanied by certain words or clauses which define the meaning of or restrict the application of such terms, as clauses restricting the total disability to such a disability as will prevent the insured from following "any occupation

60 Ark. 381, 30 S. W. 427, it was held that the phrase "road-bed," as used in a clause excluding recovery for injuries while "walking or being on the road-bed of any railway," meant the bed or foundation on which the superstructure of the railway rested, and that the superstructure was the sleepers or ties, rails and fastenings, and included the side-tracks which formed a part of the railway; but that it did not include the ends of ties of unusual and extraordinary length, extending to a place where there could be no possible collisions with trains, and where persons standing or sitting would be beyond reach of passing trains.

In Meadows v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 129 Mo. 76, 31 S. W. 578, 50 Am. St. Rep. 427, it was held that the term "road-bed" meant that part of the railroad company's right of way which was occupied by the ties and rails constituting the railroad track, and did not include the entire space of such right of way, and that a space of ten feet between the two tracks was not part of the road-bed within the meaning of the term in an accident policy providing that it does not cover accidents on a railroad bridge, trestle, or road-bed.

6. Metropolitan Acc. Assoc. v. Taylor, 71 Ill. App. 132.

Stumbling and falling against the steam-chest on the side of the engine of a passing train, while running toward the train, is not within the clause of the policy. Equitable Acc. Ins. Co. v. Osborn, 90 Ala. 201, 9 So. 869, 13 L. R. A. 267.

Stepping off a railway train, which had stopped at a drawbridge at night, and falling through a concealed hole in the bridge, is not within the exception, since the clause merely implies that insured must not be on the road-bed or bridge for any length of time, and was not for the purpose of guarding against injuries resulting from defects, but against liability for injury from passing trains. Burkhard v. Travellers' Ins. Co., 102 Pa. St. 262, 48 Am. Rep. 205.

Use of road-bed by many people.— In Piper v. Mercantile Mut. Acc. Assoc., 161 Mass. 589, 37 N. E. 759, it was held that under such a policy no recovery could be had for the death of insured while walking between the tracks of a railroad, when parallel to the tracks was a sidewalk which he could have used; and that the fact that the road-bed was used by many people was immaterial.

7. Duncan v. Preferred Mut. Acc. Assoc., 59 N. Y. Super. Ct. 145, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 620, 36 N. Y. St. 928.

8. Dougherty v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 154 Pa. St. 385, 25 Atl. 739; Travelers, etc., Acc. Co. v. Wagley, 74 Fed. 457, 45 U. S. App. 39, 20 C. C. A. 588, wherein it was held that the phrase "walking or being on the road-bed" of a railroad was not to be construed with absolute literalness, and did not obligate insured not to cross a railroad track at the place provided for the public to cross it on a public thoroughfare.

9. See cases cited infra, note 10.

10. Yancey v. Ætna L. Ins. Co., 108 Ga. 349, 33 S. E. 979; Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Howell, 13 Ind. App. 519, 41 N. E. 968.

11. The provision in policy.— The policy usually provides for the payment of a weekly indemnity for accidents or injuries which result in a total disability. The form of this provision is often varied by an additional clause limiting the disability to some form of occupation or employment. See cases cited infra, notes 12–22.

12. Lobdill v. Laboring Men's Mut. Aid Assoc., 69 Minn. 14, 71 N. W. 696, 65 Am. St. Rep. 542, 38 L. R. A. 537.

13. McMahon v. Supreme Council, etc., 54 Mo. App. 468; Hutchinson v. Supreme Tent, etc., 68 Hun (N. Y.) 355, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 801; Wolcott v. United L., etc., Ins. Assoc., 55 Hun (N. Y.) 98, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 263.

whereby he can obtain a livelihood," [14] "his usual occupation," [15] "his usual or other occupation," [16] "his usual or some other occupation," [17] or as will prevent insured from transacting "all kinds of business," [18] or "any and every kind of business pertaining to his occupation." [19] Where the phrase "total inability to

14. Occupation whereby livelihood can be obtained.— Where the clause "permanently disabled from following his or her usual or other occupation" is restricted by a clause defining the total disability to be such as prevents insured "from following any occupation whereby he or she can obtain a livelihood," no recovery can be had for a disability which, although it disables insured from following his usual occupation, does not prevent him from earning a living by some other means. Albert v. Order of Chosen Friends, 34 Fed. 721. See, however, McMahon v. Supreme Council, etc., 54 Mo. App. 468, wherein the insured was totally disabled from following any occupation whereby he could obtain a livelihood.

15. Usual occupation.—Inability to do substantially all kinds of accustomed labor to some extent is essential to satisfy a provision requiring the insured to be totally disabled from following his usual occupation. Sawyer v. U. S. Casualty Co., (Mass. 1869) 8 Am. L. Reg. N. S. 233, holding that where insured, after the accident, is able to do some parts of the work he has been accustomed to do, though only for a short time and with great difficulty, he cannot recover, although, if he is unable to do certain portions of his work at all, he can recover.

In Smith v. Supreme Lodge, etc., (Kan. 1900) 61 Pac. 416, it was held that insured, a druggist, who accidentally lost his arm, could not recover as for a total disability, under a policy containing such a provision.

In Neafie v. Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co., 55 Hun (N. Y.) 111, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 202, 28 N. Y. St. 55, it was held that insured, who was classified in the policy as an "iceman, proprietor" was totally disabled from attending to his occupation, where his injuries were such that he was unable to deliver ice, although capable of giving directions to those who took his place.

In Hooper v. Accidental Death Ins. Co., 5 H. & N. 546, 7 Jur. N. S. 73, the policy provided that in case the accident did not cause the death of insured immediately, but caused any bodily injury to insured so serious as wholly to disable him from following his usual business, occupation, or pursuits, the insurer would pay compensation in money at a certain rate per week during the continuance of such disability. Insured, a solicitor and registrar of a county court, sprained his ankle severely and was unable to get downstairs for some weeks; thus he was prevented from passing his accounts as registrar, and from attending various places in the interests of his clients, but he was able to write letters and give directions to a clerk. It was held that he was totally disabled from following his usual occupation, business, or pursuits, within the meaning of the policy.

16. The words "or other occupation" have been construed not to mean "or other occupation of the same kind." So held in Albert v. Order of Chosen Friends, 34 Fed. 721, where the provision was for a benefit to any member of the order becoming "permanently disabled from following his or her usual or other occupation."

17. Usual or some other occupation.— A provision for payment in case of disability arising from "following his usual 'or some other' occupation" has been held not to mean that the insured must be unable to follow his "usual 'and all other' occupations." Neill v. Order of United Friends, 78 Hun (N. Y.) 255, 28 N. Y. Suppl. 928, construing a policy containing such a provision and holding that if, by reason of his injury, the insured is prevented from following his usual occupation, he is entitled to recover.

18. Transacting all kinds of business.— Under a policy insuring against a total disability preventing the transaction of all kinds of business, no recovery can be had unless the disability is such as to prevent insured from doing work in any and all kinds of business. Lyon v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 46 Iowa 631.

19. Transacting all business pertaining to occupation.— To constitute a total disability to transact any and every kind of business pertaining to one's occupation it is not necessary that the disability should be of such a character as to prevent insured from transacting any kind of business pertaining to his occupation. It is sufficient if it prevents him from doing all the substantial acts required of him in his business. Thus the mere fact that insured is able occasionally to perform some single act connected with some kind of business pertaining to his occupation will not render his disability partial instead of total.

Indiana.— Commercial Travelers Mut. Acc. Assoc. v. Springsteen, 23 Ind. App. 657, 55 N. E. 973.

Maine.— Young v. Travelers Ins. Co., 80 Me. 244, 13 Atl. 896.

Michigan.— Hohn v. Inter State Casualty Co., 115 Mich. 79, 72 N. W. 1105; Turner v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 112 Mich. 425, 70 N. W. 898, 67 Am. St. Rep. 428, 38 L. R. A. 529.

Minnesota.— Lobdill v. Laboring Men's Mut. Aid Assoc., 69 Minn. 14, 71 N. W. 696, 65 Am. St. Rep. 542, 38 L. R. A. 537.

New Hampshire.— Thayer v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 68 N. H. 577, 41 Atl. 182.

New York.— Baldwin v. Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 21 Misc. (N. Y.) 124, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 1016; Wolcott v. United L., etc., Ins. Assoc., 55 Hun (N. Y.) 98, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 263.

But see Saveland v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 67 Wis. 174, 30 N. W. 237, 58 Am. Rep. 863 (where, under a policy providing for the payment of indemnity in case of injury which should wholly disable and prevent insured labor" is used, it is more inclusive and means a total disability to earn a livelihood at any employment.[20] Where the policy insures against the "total loss of such business time as may result from his injuries"[21] it is not necessary that insured should be totally disabled from performing any and all kinds of business, but only that he should be totally disabled from performing the duties of his own particular occupation.[22]

3. Double Occupation. Where insured is classified as being engaged in two occupations, in order to entitle him to recover he must show a total disability preventing him from engaging in either.[23]

4. Provision for Payment of Half of Total Amount. Where the policy pro-

"from the prosecution of any and every kind of business pertaining to his occupation" for a period "of continuous total disability not exceeding twenty-six weeks," it was held that no recovery could be had unless insured had, by reason of his injury, been wholly disabled and prevented "from the prosecution of any and every kind of business pertaining to his occupation," and then only for a "period of continuous total disability not exceeding the amount stipulated;" and that an instruction that insured was entitled to recover for such time as by reason of his injury "he was rendered wholly unable to do his accustomed labor,—that is, to do substantially all kinds of his accustomed labor to some extent,"—was erroneous); U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc. v. Millard, 43 Ill. App. 148 (where it was held that insured, a lawyer who was able to attend to his business during his injury, could not recover under a policy insuring against injuries which wholly and continuously disabled him from transacting any and every kind of business pertaining to his occupation); and Knapp v. Preferred Mut. Acc. Assoc., 53 Hun (N. Y.) 84, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 57 (where it was held that no recovery could be had by insured, who was classified as a retired gentleman, for a total disability caused by an injury to the hand which deprived him of its use to a greater or less extent during a period of some months).

And it has been held that a total disability exists if insured's injuries are of such a character that common prudence requires him to desist from his labors and rest so long as it is reasonably necessary to effect a speedy cure. Young v. Travelers Ins. Co., 80 Me. 244, 13 Atl. 896; Lobdill v. Laboring Men's Mut. Aid Assoc., 69 Minn. 14, 71 N. W. 696, 65 Am. St. Rep. 542, 38 L. R. A. 537.

But an inability to transact some parts of his business, however, is not sufficient to constitute a total disability under such a policy.

Iowa.— McKinley v. Banker's Acc. Ins. Co., 106 Iowa 81, 75 N. W. 670.

Kansas.— Smith v. Supreme Lodge, etc., (Kan. 1900) 61 Pac. 416.

Minnesota.— Lobdill v. Laboring Men's Mut. Aid Assoc., 69 Minn. 14, 71 N. W. 696, 65 Am. St. Rep. 542, 38 L. R. A. 537.

Pennsylvania.— Spicer v. Commercial Mut. Acc. Co., 16 Pa. Co. Ct. 163, 4 Pa. Dist. 271.

Texas.— Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Getzendanner, 93 Tex. 487, 56 S. W. 326 [reversing 55 S. W. 179, and affirming 22 Tex. Civ. App. 76, 53 S. W. 838]. In this case the policy insured against bodily injuries sustained through external, violent, and accidental means which, independently of all other causes, should immediately, continuously, and wholly disable and prevent insured from performing any and every kind of duty pertaining to his occupation. The occupation of insured was that of visiting yards and ranches, buying and selling cattle not in transit. While driving cattle insured fell from his horse and sustained injuries from which he afterward became insane. It was held that an instruction that insured would be entitled to recover if the injury immediately and continuously disabled him from performing any and every kind of duty materially essential to his occupation, in a manner reasonably as effective as it would have been performed if the injury had not been sustained, was erroneous.

Wisconsin.— Merrill v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 91 Wis. 329, 64 N. W. 1039.

20. Hutchinson v. Supreme Tent, etc., 68 Hun (N. Y.) 355; 22 N. Y. Suppl. 801; Baltimore, etc., Employees' Relief Assoc. v. Post, 122 Pa. St. 579, 15 Atl. 885, 9 Am. St. Rep. 147, 2 L. R. A. 44, holding that if, in such a case, insured is able to earn a living at an employment other than the one in which he was injured, he cannot recover.

21. The meaning of these words is that insured shall only be totally disabled from performing the duties of his own particular occupation. Pennington v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 85 Iowa 468, 52 N. W. 482, 39 Am. St. Rep. 306.

22. Pennington v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 85 Iowa 468, 52 N. W. 482, 39 Am. St. Rep. 306.

23. Ford v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Relief Co., 148 Mass. 153, 19 N. E. 169, 1 L. R. A. 700. In this case the policy described insured as a "leather-cutter and merchant," and provided that he should receive a certain weekly indemnity if he should be wholly disabled from pursuing his occupation by an accident. It also recited that he was insured under "classification, medium," and that engaging in a more hazardous occupation should increase the indemnity proportionately, and that he should not be entitled to indemnity beyond the money value of his time. The back of the policy contained a "classification of risks," the preferred class including "merchant," and the medium class providing for less indemnity, but not in terms including a "leather-cutter." It was held that, in order to recover an indemnity under the policy, insured must show a disability both as a leather-cutter and as a merchant.

vides for the payment of half of the total amount of the policy in case of a total and permanent disability at the option of the insurer, the provision is not binding where the insurer has not exercised its option.[24]

B. Immediate Disability. The word "immediately," as used in a policy insuring against loss of time resulting from bodily injuries incurred which, independently of other causes, immediately, wholly, and continuously disables insured from transacting any kind of business pertaining to his occupation, is a word of time, and does not mean within a reasonable time, but presently and without any substantial interval.[25]

C. Permanent Disability. Where the policy provides that the injury must be permanent as well as total, no recovery can be had for an injury which is but temporary.[26]

D. Loss of Member of Body. Where the policy provides for the payment of an indemnity for the "loss of one entire hand or foot," or the "loss of two entire hands or feet," it is not necessary, in order to recover thereunder, that there should be an actual physical severance of the member from the body. Any loss which renders it practically useless is sufficient.[27] But where the policy provides for the payment of a certain sum for the "loss of one entire hand and one entire foot, or two entire hands or two entire feet," it shows a distinct purpose to stipu-

24. Atty.-Gen. v. Bay State Beneficiary Assoc., 171 Mass. 455, 50 N. E. 929.

25. Merrill v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 91 Wis. 329, 64 N. W. 1039, holding that for the reason stated in the text, where a space of time intervenes between the injury and the total disability, during which insured is able to attend to his business, occupation, or employment, no recovery can be had.

In Preferred Masonic Mut. Acc. Assoc. v. Jones, 60 Ill. App. 106, it was held that no recovery could be had under a policy where insured, who was injured while passing through a cellar door by accidentally and violently striking his head on the casing overhead, was able, after a space of five days, to continue his business before he was wholly disabled.

In Williams v. Preferred Mut. Acc. Assoc., 91 Ga. 698, 17 S. E. 982, it was held that such a policy did not cover a claim for loss of time resulting from an injury where it appeared that insured, for a month after the date of the injury, was able to be in his store every day, giving more or less attention to his business during that time, since the word "immediately," being preceded by the words "independently of all other causes," refers to the time of disablement and not to the cause and the period of time indicated thereby, and is not the same as would be indicated by the phrase "reasonable time."

Rule applied in case of additional injuries. — This rule is applicable to a case where, after the accident, insured is able to attend to his business for some time and then becomes totally disabled on receiving additional injuries which aggravate the original injury, it not appearing that the original injury would have produced a total disability. Rhodes v. Railway Pass. Ins. Co., 5 Lans. (N. Y.) 71.

26. In Hollobaugh v. Peoples' Ins. Assoc., 138 Pa. St. 595, 22 Atl. 29, a certificate of membership in a mutual accident association stipulated for the payment of weekly relief in the event of accidental injury to the member permanently disabling him, totally or partially. It also contained an indorsement to the effect that a payment of weekly relief for periods scheduled should be in satisfaction of all claims where the injuries were totally or partially disabling. The schedule specified certain injuries with a period of relief for each, and stated that the injuries not specified would be adjusted on the merits. It was held that no recovery could be had for an injury which was but temporary, since the stipulation and the indorsement must be construed as applying to such injuries only as are within the terms of the contract found in the body of the certificate, which include only the injuries which, while they may be total or partial, must be permanent.

27. Sneck v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 88 Hun (N. Y.) 94, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 545; Gahagan v. Morrisey, 3 Lack. Leg. N. (Pa.) 168, 19 Pa. Co. Ct. 238, 6 Pa. Dist. 135; Lord v. American Mut. Acc. Assoc., 89 Wis. 19, 61 N. W. 293; 46 Am. St. Rep. 815, 26 L. R. A. 741; Sheanon v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 77 Wis. 618, 46 N. W. 799, 20 Am. St. Rep. 151, 9 L. R. A. 685, in which case insured was accidentally shot in the spine, thereby causing paralysis of the lower limbs, by reason of which he was entirely deprived of the use thereof.

But see Stevers v. Peoples Mut. Acc. Ins. Assoc., 150 Pa. St. 132, 24 Atl. 662, 16 L. R. A. 446, 30 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 358, in which, the policy providing for the payment of a certain sum for partial permanent disability, namely, the loss of one hand or foot, insured, by reason of an injury to his spine, was unable to use one leg and foot without the use of a mechanical contrivance called a plaster jacket, though by using this jacket he was able to move about nearly as well as ever. It was held that he was not entitled to recover.

late for the loss of two and not one limb, or part of two limbs, before a liability can accrue.[28] Under a policy providing for the payment of a certain sum for the "complete and irrevocable loss of sight in both eyes" the insurer is liable to insured, a one-eyed man, who loses the sight of his remaining eye.[29]

E. Limitation of Amount of Liability by Provisions of Policy. A limitation of the amount of indemnity recoverable for an accident to a certain length of time applies only to the amount recoverable for any one accident, and will not prevent a recovery of indemnity for a second accident occurring during the life of the policy.[30] Where the policy provides for the payment of an indemnity for a total permanent disability, and also for a temporary disability, a further provision that the indemnity will be allowed only for such time as the person injured is under the care of a physician or surgeon, or, in case of an amputation, until it is healed, refers only to cases of temporary total disability.[31]

XIV. PROXIMATE CAUSE.

A. Application of Doctrine. As applied to contracts of accident insurance the doctrine of proximate cause is clearly distinguished from its application to a case of ordinary negligence.[32]

B. What Constitutes. The phrase "proximate cause," as used in accident-insurance policies, has been held to mean that cause which directly produces the effect, as distinguished from the remote cause,[33] — the cause which sets in motion

28. Gentry v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 6 Ohio Dec. 114, 5 Ohio N. P. 331.

29. Thus, under a policy which provides for the payment of a certain sum in case of permanent disability by the "total and permanent loss of the sight of both eyes" from accidental bodily injuries, insured, who had lost the sight of one eye previous to his taking out the policy in suit, is entitled to recover for the loss of sight in his remaining eye, since he has incurred a total loss of sight, the insurer having knowledge of the fact, through its general agent, that insured had but one eye at the time he took out the policy; and this is so although the policy makes no provision for indemnity for loss of one eye, and although the risk is greater by reason of insured's having but one eye. Humphreys v. National Ben. Assoc., 139 Pa. St. 264, 20 Atl. 1047, 11 L. R. A. 564, 27 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 357; Bawden v. London, etc., Assur. Co., [1892] 2 Q. B. 534.

30. Crenshaw v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 63 Mo. App. 678.

31. In Cook v. Benefit League, 76 Minn. 382, 79 N. W. 320, the policy provided for indemnity against loss of time for injuries which totally and permanently disabled insured from prosecuting any and every kind of business pertaining to his occupation, by the payment of a certain sum per week not exceeding fifty-two weeks. It also provided for indemnity at the same rate per week for loss of time caused by a temporary total disability, or by sickness caused by disease. The application and by-laws provided that benefits would be allowed only while insured was under the care of a physician or surgeon, or, in the case of an amputation, until it healed. Insured, by reason of having the fingers of both hands amputated, was totally and permanently disabled from prosecuting any and every kind of business pertaining to his occupation. It was held that the provisions in the application and by-laws did not apply to such a case as this, but only to cases of temporary total disability and to cases of sickness from disease, and that insured was entitled to recover for the whole fifty-two weeks, although the amputation healed before the end of that time.

32. Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Melick, 65 Fed. 178, 27 U. S. App. 547, 12 C. C. A. 544, 27 L. R. A. 629, holding that in accident-insurance contracts the liability is measured by the contract, and the doctrine of proximate cause is applicable only in determining whether or not a fatal result is caused solely by the act or accident against which indemnity is given; in ordinary negligence cases the proximate cause determines the existence of the liability.

33. So held in McCarthy v. Traveler's Ins. Co., 8 Biss. (U. S.) 362, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,682, wherein the policy provided that in order to bring the death of insured within the terms of the policy it must result directly from the accidental injury, or that the accidental injury must be the proximate and sole cause of the death.

Illustrations of "proximate cause" may be found in the following cases:

Colorado.— Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Murray, 16 Colo. 296, 26 Pac. 774, 25 Am. St. Rep. 267.

Iowa.— Prader v. National Masonic Acc. Assoc., 95 Iowa 149, 63 N. W. 601.

Kentucky.— Omberg v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 101 Ky. 303, 40 S. W. 909, 72 Am. St. Rep. 413.

Massachusetts.— Mogé v. Société de Bienfaisance St. Jean Baptiste, 167 Mass. 298, 45 N. E. 749, 35 L. R. A. 736; Freeman v. Mer-a train of events which brings about a result without the intervention of any force operating and working actively from a new and independent source;[34] but this does not necessarily mean the cause or condition nearest in time or place to the result.[35]

XV. Notice and Proof of Death or Injury.

A. Provision for, in Policy — 1. Within Specified Time — a. Necessity of Giving. Where the policy contains a stipulation that, in order to entitle insured or his beneficiary to recover thereunder, a notice of the accident or injury, containing full particulars thereof, must be furnished the insurer within a certain time, such stipulation is valid and must be complied with before a recovery can be had on the policy,[36] except where not made a condition precedent to such right of recovery[37] or where impossible of performance.[38] Such a condition, however, cantile Mut. Acc. Assoc., 156 Mass. 351, 30 N. E. 1013, 17 L. R. A. 753.

New York.— Martin v. Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co., 151 N. Y. 94, 45 N. E. 377; Martin v. Equitable Acc. Assoc., 61 Hun (N. Y.) 467, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 279; Peck v. Equitable Acc. Assoc., 52 Hun (N. Y.) 255, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 215.

Ohio.— Miner v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 2 Ohio N. P. 103, 3 Ohio Dec. 289.

United States.— Western Commercial Travelers' Assoc. v. Smith, 85 Fed. 401, 56 U. S. App. 393, 29 C. C. A. 223, 40 L. R. A. 653; Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Melick, 65 Fed. 178, 27 U. S. App. 547, 12 C. C. A. 544, 27 L. R. A. 629; Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co. v. Dorgan, 58 Fed. 945, 16 U. S. App. 290, 7 C. C. A. 581, 22 L. R. A. 620.

England.— Isitt v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 22 Q. B. D. 504.

Canada.— Young v. Accident Ins. Co. of North America, 6 Montreal Super. Ct. 3 [overruled in 20 Can. Supreme Ct. 280, on another point].

Illustrations of remote cause may be found in Harris v. Travelers' Ins. Co., (Chicago 1868) 8 Alb. L. J. 86; Hubbard v. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 98 Fed. 930; McCarthy v. Traveler's Ins. Co., 8 Biss. (U. S.) 362, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,682.

34. Miner v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 2 Ohio N. P. 103, 3 Ohio Dec. 289.

35. Freeman v. Mercantile Mut. Acc. Assoc., 156 Mass. 351, 353, 30 N. E. 1013, 17 L. R. A. 753, in which case it is held that "the law will not go farther back in the line of causation than to find the active, efficient, procuring cause, of which the event under consideration is a natural and probable consequence in view of the existing circumstances and conditions." Thus "an injury which might naturally produce death in a person of a certain temperament or state of health is the cause of his death, if he dies by reason of it, even if he would not have died if his temperament or previous health had been different; and this is so as well when death comes through the medium of a disease directly induced by the injury as when the injury immediately interrupts the vital processes."

36. United Ben. Soc. v. Freeman, (Ga. 1900) 36 S. E. 764; Kimball v. Mason's Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 90 Me. 183, 38 Atl. 102 (holding that the act of March 17, 1893, (Me. Pub. Laws (1893) c. 223, as amended, Pub. Laws (1895) c. 46), limiting to thirty days the time within which notice of accident, injury, or death shall be given to accident-insurance companies, did not apply to a policy written previous to the passage of the act and stipulating for a notice of ten days); Heywood v. Maine Mut. Acc. Assoc., 85 Me. 289, 27 Atl. 154; Cawley v. National Employers' Acc., etc., Assur. Assoc., Cab. & El. 597.

37. Stoneham v. Ocean, etc., Acc. Ins. Co., 19 Q. B. D. 237.

Provision considered subsequent.— In Brown v. Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 18 Utah 265, 55 Pac. 63, where the provision concerning notice was considered a condition subsequent, it was held that it must receive a reasonable and liberal construction in favor of the beneficiary under the contract.

38. United Ben. Soc. v. Freeman, (Ga. 1900) 36 S. E. 764.

Claimant unknown.—In Globe Acc. Ins. Co. v. Gerisch, 163 Ill. 625, 630, 45 N. E. 563, 54 Am. St. Rep. 486, the provision of the policy was as follows: "Unless claimant gives home office, . . . within seven days, written notice, . . . and within thirty days from date of death verified written proof thereof, all claims therefor shall be forfeited." The policy was payable, in case of death of insured, to his legal representative, and insured died on the seventh day after he was injured. Within thirty days after his death plaintiff caused "verified written proof thereof" to be sent to defendant at its home office. It was held that plaintiff did not become the "claimant" until she had taken out letters of administration, and there was consequently no claimant within seven days from the date of the injury, the court saying, "It is clear that this provision for notice within seven days cannot apply to her. It is applicable to the insured only, and not to his legal representative. No other construction of it is reasonable."

Death not occurring within time.—In Hoffman v. Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co., 56 Mo. App. 301, it was held that a provision that a notice of death must be given within ten days from the date of an accident causing should be strictly construed against the insurer,[39] although the fact that death was caused instantaneously has been held not to render such notice unnecessary.[40]

b. When Time for Serving Notice Begins to Run — (I) In General. Where, in view of the facts, it is impossible to be certain that death has ensued,[41] or to be aware of the particulars of the accident, the time for serving notice begins to run from the date of the discovery of death or of such particulars.[42]

(II) Where Existence of Policy Was Unknown. Where the existence of the policy was unknown to the beneficiary, a notice forwarded by him as soon as he discovered the existence thereof is sufficient within the provision requiring notice as soon as possible after the injury or death.[43]

c. Place of Giving Notice. A clause in the policy which provides that claims are payable at the home office of the insurer does not require the notice and proof of loss to be made there.[44]

d. Persons Who May Give Notice — (I) In General. A provision in the policy requiring insured or his representatives to give notice of injury or death death, being impossible of performance where insured does not die until after ten days from the date of the accident, was void, and a notice given within ten days after his death was sufficient.

39. Thus, where the stipulation provided for written notice of an accident or injury to be given within ten days from the date thereof, and that there should be no claim for disability unless such disability occurred within thirty days from the date of the accident, of which the insurer shall have had notice within ten days, and that there should be no claim for the death of insured unless such death results within ninety days from the date of the accident, of which the insurer shall have had notice within ten days, a notice of an accident which does not immediately disable insured from pursuing his occupation, and which does not, within ten days, give rise to a claim for indemnity or death, need not be given within ten days. Odd Fellows Fraternal Acc. Assoc. v. Earl, 70 Fed. 16, 34 U. S. App. 285, 16 C. C. A. 596.

40. Patton v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp., 20 Ir. L. 93; Gamble v. Accident Assur. Co., 4 Ir. R. C. L. 204, where it was held that the provision was not discharged by reason of the fact that, owing to the act of God, the accident was of so sudden and fatal a character that it was impossible to have given the required notice within seven days after the accident, inasmuch as the terms of the policy were such as to negative any presumption bringing it within the class of cases in which it has been held that, in the nature and import of the contract itself, there was that which involved the implied condition that the destruction of the person or thing with which the contract dealt should have absolved from its performance.

41. Insured killed by drowning.— In Peele v. Provident Fund Soc., 147 Ind. 543, 44 N. E. 661, it was held that where insured came to his death by drowning under circumstances which made it impossible to determine the cause of his death until the finding of a coroner's jury had been made known, a notice of the death given five days after such finding, but eleven days after the death of insured, was sufficient under a policy requiring a notice with full particulars within ten days after the injury or death.

Insured killed by fall of building.— In Trippe v. Provident Fund Soc., 140 N. Y. 23, 35 N. E. 316, 37 Am. St. Rep. 529, 22 L. R. A. 432 [affirming 3 Misc. (N. Y.) 445, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 173] the insured was killed by the fall of a building, and his body was not found until three days after, until which time it was not known that he was dead. The certificate contained a provision that notice of an accident for which a claim is to be made must be given in writing within ten days from its occurrence, stating the full particulars of the accident, and that failure to give such notice would invalidate all claim. Notice was served on the insurer within ten days from the discovery of the body, but more than ten days after the accident. Such notice was held sufficient.

42. Phillips v. U. S. Benevolent Soc., 120 Mich. 142, 79 N. W. 1, holding that where the policy required notice of an accident to be given within five days thereafter, a notice given within five days after insured ascertained that an accident was the cause of the injury was sufficient.

Insured in delirium during period.— In Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co. v. Fletcher, 5 Ohio Cir. Ct. 633, it was held that a failure to give a written notice within the time required by the policy was excused where insured, during such time, was in a state of delirium.

Loss of sight.— A notice of an accident causing the loss of the sight of one eye need not be given until it has become reasonably certain that the sight of the eye has been lost, the claim being for such loss. Peoples Mut. Acc. Assoc. v. Smith, 126 Pa. St. 317, 17 Atl. 605, 12 Am. St. Rep. 870.

43. Provident L. Ins., etc., Co. v. Baum, 29 Ind. 236.

44. Pennington v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 85 Iowa 468, 52 N. W. 482, 39 Am. St. Rep. 306, in which it was held that where insured furnished the notice and proofs of injury to a person representing himself to be the general agent of the insurer, and who had examined insured, it was sufficient.

in writing to the insurer does not require such notice to be given by the legal personal representatives of insured.[45]

(II) Personal Representatives. It is not essential that the personal representative of insured furnish the proofs of death, but he may rely upon those furnished by a third person.[46]

2. Immediate Notice — a. Necessity of Giving — (I) In General. Some policies require an immediate notice of the injury or death of insured to be given, and such a provision has been held to be valid.[47] A provision of this character should receive, however, a liberal and reasonable construction in favor of the beneficiary.[48]

(II) In Case of Successive Injuries. Where the policy provides for the giving of an immediate notice of injury a new notice must be given for each successive injury.[49]

b. What Constitutes. In such policies "immediate" notice is usually held to mean a notice given within a reasonable time in view of all the circumstances of the case.[50]

45. Patton v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp., 20 Ir. L. 93, holding that the notice may be given by any person appointed by insured for that purpose, or by any person acting on his behalf or on behalf of the persons interested in the policy.

46. Wilson v. Northwestern Mut. Acc. Assoc., 53 Minn. 470, 55 N. W. 626.

47. Lyon v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 46 Iowa 631.

48. McFarland v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 124 Mo. 204, 27 S. W. 436, wherein the policy provided for immediate notice in case of injury causing total disability, and, in case such injury caused death, for notice to be given "in like manner." It was held that where the injury caused death, but did not at the time totally disable insured from working, it was unnecessary to give notice at the time of the accident, the policy failing to provide for notice in such case.

See also Western Commercial Travelers' Assoc. v. Smith, 85 Fed. 401, 56 U. S. App. 393, 29 C. C. A. 223, 40 L. R. A. 653, wherein the policy provided that in case of "any accident or injury for which any claim shall be made under this certificate, or in case of death resulting therefrom, immediate notice shall be given in writing," with full particulars of the accident, and that a failure to give such notice should invalidate the claim. It was held that there were two classes of notices intended,— one an immediate notice of the accident or injury when not resulting in death, and the other an immediate notice of death resulting from accident or injury, the latter to be given by the beneficiary; and that a notice so given in the latter case was sufficient, though no notice of the inquiry was given before death.

49. Spicer v. Commercial Mut. Acc. Co., 16 Pa. Co. Ct. 163, 4 Pa. Dist. 271.

50. Illinois.— Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Weise, 80 Ill. App. 499; Sun Acc. Assoc. v. Olson, 59 Ill. App. 217.

Indiana.— Railway Pass. Assur. Co. v. Burwell, 44 Ind. 460.

Louisiana.—Konrad v. Union Casualty, etc., Co., 49 La. Ann. 636, 21 So. 721.

Missouri.— McFarland v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 124 Mo. 204, 27 S. W. 436.

Ohio.— Crane v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 6 Ohio Dec. 118; Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co. v. Fletcher, 5 Ohio Cir. Ct. 633; Coldham v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 2 Ohio Dec. 314.

Pennsylvania.— Peoples Mut. Acc. Assoc. v. Smith, 126 Pa. St. 317, 16 Atl. 605, 12 Am. St. Rep. 870, 24 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 33.

Wisconsin.— Kentzler v. American Mut. Acc. Assoc., 88 Wis. 589, 60 N. W. 1002, 43 Am. St. Rep. 934.

Death of insured unknown.— In Kentzler v. American Mut. Acc. Assoc., 88 Wis. 589, 60 N. W. 1002, 43 Am. St. Rep. 934, insured, a tugboat engineer, disappeared in November, and his body was not found until the ice broke up the following April. His beneficiary did not learn of his death and the finding of the body until May, when she immediately notified the company, and in July furnished proofs of death. The company denied liability on the ground that the notice and proofs of loss had not been furnished as required by the policy, but it was held that the notice and proofs of death furnished were sufficient.

Existence of policy unknown.— In Konrad v. Union Casualty, etc., Co., 49 La. Ann. 636, 21 So. 721, insured died, and the beneficiary was unaware of the existence of the policy until some time thereafter, but upon its discovery the notice of death was given. It was held that the failure to give an immediate notice was sufficiently excused.

In American Acc. Co. v. Card, 13 Ohio Cir. Ct. 154, insured failed to notify any one of the existence of the policy, and upon his death the beneficiary did not discover it until over four months thereafter. Notice was given immediately after its discovery, and it was held that the failure of insured to advise some one of the existence of the policy was not such negligence as would release the insurer from liability; and also that the notice given immediately after the discovery of the policy was sufficient.

Post-mortem examination necessary.— In Sun Acc. Assoc. v. Olson, 59 Ill. App. 217, the

c. Persons Who May Give Notice. Where the notice required is simply a written one, and there is no requirement as to the person by whom it must be made, the insured is not required to furnish such notice himself, but it may be given by some one on his behalf.[51]

B. Sufficiency of Notice — 1. In General. Notice should state the accident and its cause,[52] but it is not necessary that the notice should contain every detail of the accident.[53]

2. Mere Knowledge of Agent Insufficient. The fact that a local agent of the insurer knew of the death of insured is not such a notice to the company as is contemplated by the policy.[54]

3. Copy of Report of Autopsy in Lieu of Physician's Certificate. Where the blank proofs furnished by the insurer contain a blank certificate to be filled out and signed by the attending physician, and the proofs are returned with an indorsement to the effect that the attending physician refuses to sign the blank certificate, but a copy of the report of the autopsy is furnished in its place, such proofs are sufficient.[55]

4. Disclosure of Facts Available as Defense. A disclosure, in the proofs of death, of facts which might be available as a defense to an action on the policy, will not affect their sufficiency.[56]

5. Failure to Disclose Subsequent Injuries. Failure to disclose injuries happening subsequent to the accident, by which the original injury is aggravated, is not the suppression of a material fact within the meaning of a stipulation requiring a notice of an injury containing full particulars without suppression of any material fact.[57] physician attending insured, whose death was caused by falling from a lumber pile, and who was also the physician of the insurer, claimed that there was no liability. Thereupon a post-mortem examination was held, and the notice was given eighteen days after the death of insured. It was held that it was given within a reasonable time.

In Ewing v. Commercial Travelers' Mut. Acc. Assoc., 55 N. Y. App. Div. 241, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 1056, it was held that where an autopsy had been made, and the body interred, but the cause of death was unknown until after the autopsy, and hence plaintiff had no knowledge as to whether insured died from accidental injury within the terms of the policy, a notice sent promptly on the day after receipt of the report of the chemist who made an analysis was sufficient.

Thirteen months' delay is too great, even where the insured fell upon an icy sidewalk and died two days thereafter from the effect of the fall, and the beneficiary made every effort to find the person or persons who witnessed the accident, but without success until thirteen months thereafter. Coldham v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 2 Ohio Dec. 314.

Thirty-eight days' delay fatal.— In Accident Ins. Co. of North America v. Young, 20 Can. Supreme Ct. 280 [reversing 6 Montreal Super. Ct. 3] notice sent April 29 of an accident occurring March 21 was held too late.

Twenty-nine days' unexplained delay fatal. — In Foster v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 99 Wis. 447, 75 N. W. 69, 40 L. R. A. 833, the beneficiary did not give notice until twenty-nine days after learning of the accident which caused the death of insured, and it was held that it was not given within a reasonable time.

Six days' delay was held fatal in Railway Pass. Assur. Co. v. Burwell, 44 Ind. 460, where there was an agent of the insurer at the place where insured was injured, no excuse having been shown for the delay.

51. Brown v. Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 18 Utah 265, 55 Pac. 63, where it was said that this was so because the object of the clause requiring immediate notice is to enable the insurer to inquire into the facts and circumstances surrounding the accident while they were fresh in the memory of witnesses, in order to determine whether or not there was a liability under the policy, and that such object could be accomplished as well where the notice was sent by a person other than insured.

52. Simons v. Iowa State Traveling Men's Assoc., 102 Iowa 267, 71 N. W. 254.

53. American Acc. Co. v. Card, 13 Ohio Cir. Ct. 154; Brown v. Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 18 Utah 265, 65 Pac. 63.

In McFarland v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 124 Mo. 204, 27 S. W. 436, the policy required immediate notice of an injury, giving the full name, occupation, and address of insured, with full particulars of the accident, and further required, in case of death, an immediate notice "in like manner." It was held that the words "in like manner" referred to the method of giving the notice, and not to the information to be given.

54. American Acc. Co. v. Card, 13 Ohio Cir. Ct. 154.

55. Sun Acc. Assoc. v. Olson, 59 Ill. App. 217.

56. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp. v. Anderson, 5 Kan. App. 18, 47 Pac. 331.

57. Rhodes v. Railway Pass. Ins. Co., 5 Lans. (N. Y.) 71.

6. Misstatements — a. In General. A misstatement in the notice of the accident, made without any improper motive on the part of insured, will not affect its sufficiency.[58]

b. Conclusiveness. The former rule seems to have been that misstatements in the notice and proofs of loss were conclusive, upon insured and his beneficiary, of the facts therein contained;[59] but this rule seems to have been modified so that now it may be stated generally that such misstatements are conclusive only in cases where the insurer has been prejudiced thereby.[60]

C. Waiver — 1. May Be Waived. A failure to furnish the notice or proofs of accident within the required time, or defects in those furnished, may be waived by the insurer or its general agent,[61] and the waiver may be temporary merely and capable of subsequent revocation.[62]

2. What Constitutes. Waiver consists of some act on the part of the insurer inconsistent with its claim that the policy has become inoperative through failure to furnish notice of accident or proofs of loss within the time required, or because of defects in those furnished; as, furnishing blanks;[63] receiving and retaining proofs furnished without objection, and demanding further information or additional proofs;[64] refusal to furnish required

58. Young v. Travelers Ins. Co., 80 Me. 244, 13 Atl. 896, holding that a misstatement as to the date of the accident under such circumstances did not invalidate it.

59. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp. v. Anderson, 5 Kan. App. 18, 47 Pac. 331.

Ignorance of how injury occurred.— In Mutual Acc. Assoc. v. Simons, 69 Ill. App. 94, it was held that where the notice of injury stated that insured did not know how the injury had been incurred it could not afterward be shown that it was caused by being violently thrown to the ground by the sudden starting of a cable car while attempting to alight therefrom.

60. Kansas.— Wildey Casualty Co. v. Sheppard, 61 Kan. 351, 59 Pac. 651; Employers' Liability Assur. Corp. v. Anderson, 5 Kan. App. 18, 47 Pac. 331.

Kentucky.— Prudential Ins. Co. v. Breustle, (Ky. 1897) 41 S. W. 9.

Michigan.— Phillips v. U. S. Benevolent Soc., 120 Mich. 142, 79 N. W. 1.

Pennsylvania.— North American L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Burroughs, 69 Pa. St. 43, 8 Am. Rep. 212.

Wisconsin.— Jarvis v. Northwestern Mut. Relief Assoc., 120 Wis. 546, 78 N. W. 1089, 72 Am. St. Rep. 895.

Have effect of admissions against interest. —Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Melick, 65 Fed. 178, 27 U. S. App. 547, 12 C. C. A. 544, 27 L. R. A. 629, wherein it was held that, after the company had received notice of the mistake and that claimant would endeavor to show that death was the result of a different cause from that stated in his proofs, the proof had the probative force of solemn admissions against interest, but were not conclusive.

61. Owens v. Travelers Ins. Co., (Ind. 1883) 12 Ins. L. J. 75; American Acc. Co. v. Fidler, (Ky. 1896) 35 S. W. 905. See also Traveler's Ins. Co. v. Harvey, 82 Va. 949, 5 S. E. 553, where it was held that a clause in the policy denying insured's right to claim a waiver of forfeiture by reason of any acts of any agent of the insurer, unless such waiver was specially authorized in writing by the president or secretary of the insurer, was confined to those provisions and conditions in the policy which entered into and formed a part of the contract of insurance, and which were essential to make it a binding contract, and did not extend to those stipulations which were to be performed after the loss had occurred, such as giving notice and furnishing proofs of death.

62. Allibone v. Fidelity, etc., Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1895) 32 S. W. 569, where it was held that a communication from the insurer to claimant's attorney, to the effect that it had received no formal notice of the claim beyond a request for a claim blank, but that it did not consider it necessary that formal proofs be made, as insurer could do this in the course of the investigation if considered necessary, was not a present final waiver of such proofs, but only a temporary waiver which might subsequently be revoked.

63. Crenshaw v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 71 Mo. App. 42, holding that where the insurer furnished blanks for proof of disability it waived failure to furnish a notice of the accident, but that this did not tend to show that four months' additional time should be allowed in which to make the proofs.

64. Illinois.— National Acc. Soc. v. Taylor, 42 Ill. App. 97.

Kansas.— Wildey Casualty Co. v. Sheppard, 61 Kan. 351, 59 Pac. 651; Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Davis, 59 Kan. 521, 53 Pac. 856.

Maine.— Peabody v. Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 89 Me. 96, 35 Atl. 1020.

Massachusetts.— Moore v. Wildey Casualty Co., (Mass. 1900) 57 N. E. 673.

Michigan.— Hohn v. Inter State Casualty Co., 115 Mich. 79, 72 N. W. 1105.

New York.— Martin v. Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co., 151 N. Y. 94, 45 N. E. 377; Trippe v. Provident Fund Soc., 140 N. Y. 23, 35 N. E. 316, 37 Am. St. Rep. 529, 22 L. R. A. 432; De Van v. Commercial Travelers' Mut. Acc. Assoc., 92 Hun (N. Y.) 256, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 931; Brink v. Guaranty Mut. Acc.

blanks;[65] requiring insured, or the claimant under the policy, to do some act or incur some expense or trouble inconsistent with a claim of forfeiture;[66] sending medical director, after oral notice, to examine wound;[67] treating an agent as having authority to receive proofs;[68] or by a denial of liability on other grounds.[69] Mere silence on the part of the insurer, however, is not sufficient to constitute a waiver, nor will a suggestion that the proofs of loss be furnished where the insurer expressly reserves its right to declare the forfeiture.[70]

XVI. ACTIONS.

A. Right of Action — 1. Conditions Precedent — a. In General. Where the policy expressly stipulates that it is to be subject to the several provisions Assoc., 55 Hun (N. Y.) 606, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 847, 28 N. Y. St. 921; Bushaw v. Women's Mut. Ins., etc., Co., 55 Hun (N. Y.) 607, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 423; Guldenkirch v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 5 N. Y. Suppl. 428.

65. Hoffman v. Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co., 56 Mo. App. 301; Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co. v. Fletcher, 5 Ohio Cir. Ct. 633.

Refusal unless claimant signed prejudicial stipulation.— In American Acc. Ins. Co. v. Norment, 91 Tenn. 1, 18 S. W. 395, it was held that a failure to furnish the affirmative proofs of death required was waived where the insurer refused to furnish the necessary blanks unless the claimant signed a stipulation which might have prejudiced him or prevented a recovery.

Refusal where preliminary blanks were furnished.— In Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Schmaltz, 66 Ark. 588, 53 S. W. 49, the beneficiary notified the company of the death of insured and requested it to furnish blanks. The company sent a blank notice of death, informing the beneficiary that it would furnish the other blanks necessary, and, by its acts and communications, induced him to rely on it to furnish the necessary blanks until after the time for furnishing the proofs of death had expired. It was held that the company could not take advantage of such actions and defeat a recovery on the grounds that the proofs of death had not been furnished within the specified time.

66. Trippe v. Provident Fund Soc., 140 N. Y. 23, 35 N. E. 316, 37 Am. St. Rep. 529, 22 L. R. A. 432; American Acc. Ins. Co. v. Norment, 91 Tenn. 1, 18 S. W. 395.

But see Sharpe v. Commercial Travelers' Mut. Acc. Assoc., 139 Ind. 92, 37 N. E. 353, wherein it was held that the fact that the claimant had been put to considerable expense in obtaining the proofs of loss would not estop the insurer from avoiding the policy, where it had not requested such proofs and had continually denied its liability.

Requiring several physical examinations.— Where, at the request of the company, insured submitted to several examinations by its physicians, and, after the time for furnishing proofs had expired, procured and sent to the company, at its request, a statement of his family physician showing his condition, it was held that there was a waiver of the formal proofs of loss entitling insured to the full sum. Sheanon v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 83 Wis. 507, 53 N. W. 878.

67. Martin v. Equitable Acc. Assoc., 61 Hun (N. Y.) 467, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 279.

68. Travellers' Ins. Co. v. Edwards, 122 U. S. 457, 7 S. Ct. 1249, 30 L. ed. 1178 [affirming 20 Fed. 661]. See also American Acc. Ins. Co. v. Norment, 91 Tenn. 1, 18 S. W. 395, where it was held that the requirement of an immediate notice of injury was waived where a verbal notice was given to the local agent, who communicated the same to the home office in writing, and the company participated in an examination of the case before and after death.

69. Colorado.— Lampkin v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 11 Colo. App. 249, 52 Pac. 1040.

Illinois.— Metropolitan Acc. Assoc. v. Froiland, 161 Ill. 30, 43 N. E. 766, 52 Am. St. Rep. 359; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Garner, 83 Ill. App. 118.

Indiana.— Railway Officials Acc. Assoc. v. Armstrong, 22 Ind. App. 406, 53 N. E. 1037.

Kentucky.— Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Thomas, (Ky. 1891) 17 S. W. 275.

Michigan.— Phillips v. U. S. Benevolent Soc., 120 Mich. 142, 79 N. W. 1.

Missouri.— Crenshaw v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 71 Mo. App. 42.

New York.— Hutchinson v. Supreme Tent, etc., 68 Hun (N. Y.) 355, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 801.

Ohio.— Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co. v. Fletcher, 5 Ohio Cir. Ct. 633.

Tennessee.— Standard Loan, etc., Ins. Co. v. Thornton, 97 Tenn. 1, 40 S. W. 136.

Texas.— Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Koen, 11 Tex. Civ. App. 273, 33 S. W. 133.

United States.— Unthank v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 4 Biss. (U. S.) 357, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 16,795.

But see Lyon v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 55 Mich. 141, 20 N. W. 829, 54 Am. Rep. 354, where it was held that a denial of liability because of the non-payment of the premium did not estop the insurer from setting up any other defense it might have; and Employer's Liability Assur. Corp. v. Rochelle, 13 Tex. Civ. App. 232, 35 S. W. 869, wherein it was held that a denial of liability by the insurer, made after the time within which the notice and proof of accident could have been furnished under the policy, did not constitute a waiver of the failure to furnish them within such time.

70. Meech v. National Acc. Soc., 50 N. Y. App. Div. 144, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 1008.

thereinafter contained and the conditions and stipulations thereon indorsed, which are to be conditions precedent to the right of insured to recover, such conditions are conditions precedent not only to the right of insured to recover, but also to the right of his legal personal representative.[71]

b. Execution and Delivery of Policy. Where the execution and delivery of the policy is not essential to the taking effect of the insurance contract, insured may bring an action upon the policy before its issuance, a loss having occurred in the meantime.[72]

c. Furnishing Proof of Character of Injury. Under a policy providing that no claim shall be made by insured in respect to any injury unless the same shall be caused by some outward or visible means of which satisfactory proof can be furnished, the insured is not required to furnish such proof before bringing suit.[73]

d. Good Standing of Member. It is only necessary that the insured be in good standing at the time of the injury, where the certificate provides that a member must be in good standing in order to enable him to recover for a disability.[74]

e. Release of Claim against Railroad. A release of all claims for damages against a railroad company, by the person legally entitled to such damages, is necessary where the constitution of a railroad relief association provides for such release before the association will pay the beneficiary of a member killed the amount of benefits due.[75]

f. Submission of Claim to Arbitration. A condition in the policy that all claims thereunder shall, or may on demand, be submitted to arbitration before any action can be brought thereon, is usually held void as constituting an attempt to oust the courts of jurisdiction;[76] but, whether considered void or not, it is not generally considered a condition precedent to the right of recovery,[77] although 71. Cawley v. National Employers' Acc., etc., Assur. Assoc., Cab. & El. 597. See also supra, XV, A, 1, a.

72. Preferred Acc. Ins. Co. v. Stone, 61 Kan. 48, 58 Pac. 986.

73. Railway Pass. Assur. Co. v. Burwell, 44 Ind. 460.

74. McMahon v. Supreme Council, etc., 54 Mo. App. 468.

75. Fuller v. Baltimore, etc., Employes' Relief Assoc., 67 Md. 433, 10 Atl. 237, where the constitution of the association contained such a provision and insured had designated his mother as his beneficiary, but, having been killed while a member of the association and an employee of the railroad company, his wife and minor child sued the railroad company for damages resulting from his death and recovered therefor. It was held that the provision in the constitution of the association was valid and that, the wife and child not having released the railroad, the beneficiary could not recover.

76. Indiana.— Voluntary Relief Dept. v. Spencer, 17 Ind. App. 123, 46 N. E. 477.

Iowa.— Prader v. National Masonic Acc. Assoc., 95 Iowa 149, 63 N. W. 601.

Minnesota.— Whitney v. National Masonic Acc. Assoc., 52 Minn. 378, 54 N. W. 184.

New York.— Baldwin v. Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 21 Misc. (N. Y.) 124, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 1016; Keeffe v. National Acc. Soc., 4 N. Y. App. Div. 392, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 854.

Wisconsin.— Fox v. Masons' Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 96 Wis. 390, 71 N. W. 363.

Reference pending action.— In Sanford v. Commercial Travelers' Mut. Acc. Assoc., 147 N. Y. 326, 41 N. E. 694 [affirming 86 Hun (N. Y.) 380, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 512], it was held that an agreement in the certificate that the issues in any action on the policy should, on demand, be referred to a referee to be appointed by the court in which the action is brought, was void.

77. Badenfeld v. Massachusetts Mut. Acc. Assoc., 154 Mass. 77, 27 N. E. 769, 13 L. R. A. 263; National Masonic Acc. Assoc. v. Burr, 44 Nebr. 256, 62 N. W. 466; Kinney v. Baltimore, etc., Employes' Relief Assoc., 35 W. Va. 385, 14 S. E. 8, 15 L. R. A. 142; Smith v. Preferred Masonic Mut. Acc. Assoc., 51 Fed. 520.

Submission with provision for appeal to advisory committee.— In Voluntary Relief Dept. v. Spencer, 17 Ind. App. 123, 46 N. E. 477, it was held that a rule of a railroad relief association, requiring all claims or controversies to be submitted to the determination of the superintendent of the association, whose decision was to be final and conclusive, subject to the right of appeal to the advisory committee, whose opinion was to be final and conclusive upon all parties without exception or appeal, did not make it necessary, as a condition precedent to a right of action, that insured should appeal from the decision of the superintendent.

Compare Albert v. Order of Chosen Friends, 34 Fed. 721, wherein it is held that a subordinate council of an association cannot, by a provision of this character, prevent insured from resorting to the court to enforce his claim.

decisions to the contrary are not lacking,[78] and the condition may be waived by a denial of any liability under the policy[79] or by a failure on the part of the insurer to make request for arbitration and an expression of its willingness to test the matter in the courts.[80]

g. Tender or Payment Back of Amount Received. Where insured, through excusable mistake and negligence, has executed a release in full for his claim for disability, and has received therefor a sum much less in amount than he is entitled to under his claim for total disability, he will not be required, as a condition precedent to bringing an action, to tender or pay back the amount so received, since it can be credited against the amount he is entitled to recover.[81]

2. Time to Sue, and Limitations — a. Accrual of Right of Action. Where the policy provides for the payment of a certain sum in case of death, the right of action does not accrue until death;[82] but under a policy providing for the payment of a weekly indemnity not to exceed a specified sum for loss of time, or for the payment of the money value of insured's time for a period during which he is continuously and totally disabled, not to exceed, however, a certain number of weeks from the time of the accident, insured, after giving satisfactory proof of the injury received, is entitled to a weekly indemnity, and need not wait until his disability has ceased, or until the end of the period limiting the time for which indemnity can be recovered, before bringing his action for his loss of time.[83]

b. Limitation in Policy — (I) Validity. A provision in the policy limiting the time within which an action thereon can be brought is valid,[84] but if the limitation is contained in a by-law which has not been made a part of the contract of insurance it is of no effect.[85]

(II) Time from Which Period Begins to Run — (A) Date of Filing Proofs. Where the policy provides that no action shall be brought until a certain time after the date of filing proofs, nor at all unless brought within a certain period, the period of limitation has been held in some cases to begin at the expiration of such time after the filing of proofs,[86] while in others it has been held to run from the date of the receipt of proofs.[87]

(B) Date of Death. A limitation in a policy against accidental death, providing that the action must be brought within a certain period from the date of the happening of the alleged injury, begins to run from the death of insured.[88]

(III) Waiver. The limitation may be waived by acts of the insurer causing insured or claimant under the policy to delay bringing suit until after the time

78. Eighmy v. Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, (Iowa 1900) 83 N. W. 1051; Rood v. Railway Pass., etc., Mut. Ben. Assoc., 31 Fed. 62.

Submission with provision for appeal to supreme council.— In McMahon v. Supreme Council, etc., 54 Mo. App. 468, where the by-laws of the society provided that all claims should be proved by a committee, whose decision should be final unless reversed on appeal by the supreme council, and that the claimant might appeal to such council, it was held that before any action could be brought on any claim the claimant must first have appealed from the decision of the committee to the supreme council, but that such a requirement was waived by the act of the supreme council in passing on the decision of the committee of its own motion.

79. Baldwin v. Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 21 Misc. (N. Y.) 124, 46 N. Y. Suppl. 1016.

80. Gnau v. Masons' Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 109 Mich. 527, 67 N. W. 546.

81. Sheanon v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 83 Wis. 507, 53 N. W. 878.

82. Knowlton v. Equitable Acc. Assoc., (Mass. 1900) 55 N. E. 890.

83. Kentucky L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Franklin, (Ky. 1897) 43 S. W. 709.

84. Provident Fund Soc. v. Howell, 110 Ala. 508, 18 So. 311; Law v. New England Mut. Acc. Assoc., 94 Mich. 266, 53 N. W. 1104; Lowe v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 115 N. C. 18, 20 S. E. 169.

85. Mutual Acc., etc., Assoc. v. Kayser, 14 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 86.

86. Standard L., etc., Co. v. Davis, 59 Kan. 52, 53 Pac. 856; Allibone v. Fidelity, etc., Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1895) 32 S. W. 569.

87. Provident Fund Soc. v. Howell, 110 Ala. 508, 18 So. 311; Ritch v. Masons' Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 99 Ga. 112, 25 S. E. 191.

88. Cooper v. U. S. Mutual Ben. Assoc., 132 N. Y. 334, 30 N. E. 833, 28 Am. St. Rep. 581, 16 L. R. A. 138 [affirming, on other grounds, 57 Hun (N. Y.) 407, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 748]; McFarland v. Railway Officials, etc., Acc. Assoc., 5 Wyo. 126, 38 Pac. 347, 677, 63 Am. St. Rep. 29.

provided for in the policy,[89] by denial of liability,[90] or by refusing to settle except upon illegal and prejudicial conditions;[91] but mere negotiations for a settlement will not constitute a waiver.[92]

(IV) What Constitutes Commencement of Action. Where a petition is filed, and a non-resident notice served within the time required by the policy, the action is brought within such time, although the citation is not served until after the lapse thereof. The issuance of summons is the commencement of suit, and stops the running of the statute of limitations.[93]

3. Who May Sue. The person designated as payee therein may maintain an action on the policy.[94] A widow may waive her right as beneficiary and sue as administratrix of her deceased husband's estate.[95]

B. Form of Action. An action at law lies to recover a sum insured, to be realized by assessment.[96] A cause of action in equity for the specific performance of the contract to issue the policy may be joined with a cause of action on the contract of insurance where the execution and delivery of the policy were not necessary to the taking effect of the contract of insurance.[97]

C. Defenses — 1. Effect of Waiver in Policy. No defense except that of suicide can be made where the policy expressly waives all others.[98]

2. Another Suit Pending. It is no defense to an action, brought by a substituted beneficiary, that another action on the same policy is pending, brought by the original beneficiary in another state, in which the substituted beneficiary has intervened and been nonsuited.[99]

3. Assignment of Interest of Heir of Distributee. Where an accident policy contained a clause forbidding an assignment of the policy, it is no objection to a recovery that an heir of one of the distributees of the fund has sold his interest therein after suit brought.[1]

4. Contributory Negligence — a. In General. Since one of the chief objects of an accident policy is to protect the insured against his own carelessness or negligence, the general rule of law regarding contributory negligence does not apply,[2] and the mere fact that insured was guilty of negligence contributing to the injury will not prevent a recovery[3] unless the policy in terms exempts the insurer from liability for injuries so caused.[4] But the insertion of a clause requiring insured to use due diligence for his safety and protection does not necessitate the exercise of a higher degree of diligence or care than prudent persons are accustomed habitually to use.[5]

89. Turner v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 112 Mich. 425, 70 N. W. 898, 67 Am. St. Rep. 428, 38 L. R. A. 529; Harold v. People's Mut. Acc. Ins. Assoc., 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 454, 2 Pa. Dist. 503.

90. Phillips v. U. S. Benevolent Soc., 120 Mich. 142, 79 N. W. 1.

91. American Acc. Ins. Co. v. Norment, 91 Tenn. 1, 18 S. W. 395.

92. Metropolitan Acc. Assoc. v. Clifton, 63 Ill. App. 152.

93. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Askew, 11 Tex. Civ. App. 59, 32 S. W. 31, where it appeared that plaintiff promptly tried to bring defendant into court and continued his efforts to do so until he finally succeeded.

Suing out summons is the beginning of the action. Hekla Ins. Co. v. Schroeder, 9 Ill. App. 472.

94. American Employers' Liability Ins. Co. v. Barr, 68 Fed. 873, 32 U. S. App. 444, 16 C. C. A. 51; Robinson v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 68 Fed. 825.

95. Enright v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 91 Mich. 238, 51 N. W. 928.

96. Covenant Mut. L. Assoc. v. Kentner, 188 Ill. 431, 58 N. E. 966; Reynolds v. Equitable Acc. Assoc., 59 Hun (N. Y.) 13, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 738.

97. Preferred Acc. Ins. Co. v. Stone, 61 Kan. 48, 58 Pac. 986.

98. Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Nicklas, 88 Md. 470, 41 Atl. 906.

99. Robinson v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 68 Fed. 825.

1. Knickerbocker Casualty Ins. Co. v. Jordan, 7 Cinc. L. Bul. 71, 8 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 313.

2. Rhodes v. Railway Pass. Ins. Co., 5 Lans. (N. Y.) 71.

3. Providence L. Ins., etc., Co. v. Martin, 32 Md. 310; Wilson v. Northwestern Mut. Acc. Assoc., 53 Minn. 470, 55 N. W. 626; Schneider v. Provident L. Ins. Co., 24 Wis. 28, 1 Am. Rep. 157.

4. Pratt v. Travellers' Ins. Co., (N. Y. 1871) 7 Am. L. Rev. 595; Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Randolph. 78 Fed. 754, 47 U. S. App. 260, 24 C. C. A. 305.

5. Kentucky L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Franklin, (Ky. 1897) 43 S. W. 709.

Thus in Stone v. U. S. Casualty Co., 34

b. What Constitutes — (I) Running or Walking on Railroad Track. Running or walking on a railroad track has been held sufficient negligence on the part of insured to prevent a recovery.[6]

(II) Sleeping on Railroad Track. Sleeping on a railroad track is such negligence as will bar a recovery under the policy.[7]

(III) Standing on Platform of Moving Car. The mere fact that insured was standing upon the rear platform of a moving street car does not, of itself, show such want of care as will defeat a recovery.[8]

5. Facts Available as Defense Apparent from Proofs of Death. That the proofs of death show the existence of facts which might be made available as a defense to the action, or which might lead the insurer to refuse payment, will not bar the right of action.[9]

6. Forfeiture of Policy. A forfeiture of the policy may be set up as a defense, but it must rest upon a clear and definite provision, more particularly so when the forfeiture relied upon is in language selected and employed by the insurer.[10] The forfeiture may be waived, as by the acceptance of a premium with knowledge that insured was killed while engaged in an act prohibited by the policy,[11] or by an offer of a sum of money in settlement of the claim under such circumstances.[12]

7. Fraud in Obtaining Policy. Where there is indorsed on the policy a provision that it is not to take effect until issued and delivered, but it is held to take effect from an earlier date stated on its face, the fact that insured, having sustained an injury after such earlier date, but before a delivery of the policy, called for and secured the same without mentioning his injury, but without making any misrepresentation to secure the policy, will not make him guilty of fraud so as to bar an action thereon.[13]

8. No Examination of Body. That no examination of the body of insured has been made by the medical examiner of the insurer, under a clause in the policy providing that it might be done at any time, is no defense to an action on the policy where no request was made for such an examination within a reasonable time after death.[14] But if, after the expiration of such time, circumstances or

N. J. L. 371, it was held that insured had not violated the clause requiring him to use all due diligence for his personal safety and protection, where it appeared that he was killed by falling from the second story of a barn in consequence of the breaking of a joist having a hidden defect.

6. Tuttle v. Travellers' Ins. Co., 134 Mass. 175, 45 Am. Rep. 316 (holding that insured was not in the use of that due diligence for his personal safety and protection required by a clause in the policy, where he was killed by being struck by a train while running along the track in front of it for the purpose of getting on a train approaching in an opposite direction on a parallel track); Hoffman v. Travellers' Ins. Co., (N. Y. 1873) 7 Am. L. Rev. 594 (where insured was walking on a railroad track, and, upon a signal being given by an approaching engine when quite a distance from him, stepped off the track on the side, and then, when the engine had almost reached him, stepped onto the track again, and was struck by the engine and killed).

7. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Langston, 60 Ark. 381, 30 S. W. 427.

8. Sutherland v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 87 Iowa 505, 54 N. W. 453.

9. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp. v. Anderson, 5 Kan. App. 18, 47 Pac. 331.

10. Globe Acc. Ins. Co. v. Gerisch, 61 Ill. App. 140.

11. Morris v. Travelers' Ins. Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1897) 43 S. W. 898.

12. Wildey Casualty Co. v. Sheppard, 61 Kan. 351, 59 Pac. 651.

13. Gordon v. U. S. Casualty Co., (Tenn. Ch. 1899) 54 S. W. 98.

14. A delay of some weeks after burial and then demanding examination of widow instead of beneficiary is unreasonable. American Employers' Liability Ins. Co. v. Barr, 68 Fed. 873, 32 U. S. App. 444, 16 C. C. A. 51.

A delay of nearly a month after the burial is unreasonable, where, immediately after death, an autopsy had been made under direction of the coroner, and the organs affected were removed from the body and not subsequently replaced. Ewing v. Commercial Travelers' Mut. Acc. Assoc., 55 N. Y. App. Div. 241, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 1056.

A delay of ten days is unreasonable where, immediately after the death of insured, which was caused by drowning, notice of his death had been forwarded to the insurer, and the body was not interred until an interval of five days had elapsed, it not being shown that insurer had any reason to believe that death was caused by a means excepted from the risk. Wehle v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 153 facts coming to the knowledge of insurer warrant a reasonable belief that death was caused by means or causes excepted from the contract, the insurer is justified in insisting upon an exhumation of the body and a dissection of it.[15]

9. Release. A release of all claims on account of an injury received, made by insured on the honest representations of both his own and the insurer's physician that he has recovered from the injury, bars any recovery for a further loss of time or for death resulting from the same injury, either on the old or a substituted policy.[16] Such a release cannot be avoided on the ground that the representations were untrue, where it is not shown that they were not honestly made.[17] But where insured, through excusable mistake or negligence, signs a release for all claims to which he is entitled under the policy, he is not bound thereby.[18]

10. Rumor That Insured Has Absconded. A rumor that insured is not dead, but has absconded for the purpose of defrauding the company, will not justify a refusal to pay the loss.[19]

11. Time of Death or Disability. Where the policy provides that no recovery can be had for the death of insured unless it results within a certain time after the injuries sustained, no recovery can be had if the insured dies after that time, but before the expiration of the term of the policy.[20]

D. Venue. An association which pays its benefits by assessments, being an insurance company, may be sued in any county in the state in which the injuries are sustained.[21]

E. Service of Process. A statute providing that, in an action on a life policy or certificate issued by a fraternal society, service of process may be had on the chief officer, or, in his absence, on the secretary of any subordinate lodge of

N. Y. 116, 47 N. E. 35, 60 Am. St. Rep. 598.

15. Wehle v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 153 N. Y. 116, 47 N. E. 35, 60 Am. St. Rep. 598 [affirming 11 Misc. (N. Y.) 36, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 865].

16. Wood v. Massachusetts Mut. Acc. Assoc., 174 Mass. 217, 54 N. E. 541.

In case of alternative indemnities, however, provided for in the policy, for the loss of limb or sight or continued disability, it was held in Cunningham v. Union Casualty, etc., Co., 82 Mo. App. 607, that a release as to "a continued disability" would not bar a second claim for "loss of entire eyesight," it appearing that insured sent in a claim for continued disability within thirty days, and afterward, within ninety days as stipulated in the policy, gave notice of loss of sight.

17. Wood v. Massachusetts Mut. Acc. Assoc., 174 Mass. 217, 54 N. E. 541.

18. Shearon v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 83 Wis. 507, 53 N. W. 878, where an agent of the insurer procured the signature of insured to a claim for weekly indemnity, which was paid to him; and a receipt taken from him releasing the company from all further claim. Insured, by reason of his total disability, was entitled to a much greater sum than that which he received, and it was held that he was not bound by the release given by him and could recover a further sum.

19. Travelers Ins. Co. v. Sheppard, 85 Ga. 751, 12 S. E. 18.

20. So held in Brown v. U. S. Casualty Co., 95 Fed. 935, wherein the policy provided for the payment of a weekly indemnity to insured for loss of time resulting from bodily injuries sustained through external, violent, and accidental means, and also provided for the payment, to a beneficiary named, of a specified sum if death resulted from such injuries alone within ninety days of the event causing such injuries.

"Such injuries alone."—In Moore v. Wildey Casualty Co., (Mass. 1900) 57 N. E. 673, the policy provided for the payment of an indemnity for bodily injury effected during the life of the certificate, through external, violent, and accidental means, and also for the payment of a stated amount if the death of insured should result from such injuries alone within ninety days from the date of the accident. It was held that the words "such injuries alone" referred to the kind of injury which furnished the basis of indemnity, namely, bodily injury effected during the life of the certificate through external, violent, and accidental means.

21. Prader v. National Masonic Acc. Assoc., 95 Iowa 149, 63 N. W. 601, holding such an association to be an insurance company under Iowa Code § 2584.

Where, however, the association is not an insurance company or subject to the laws governing insurance companies, as in the case of an association organized under the Illinois statutes for the purpose of furnishing accident or permanent disability indemnity to its members, without allowing such members to receive any of the profits, an action cannot be begun against such association in any county in the state other than that in which the association has its principal place of business. Union Mut. Acc. Assoc. v. Riel, 38 Ill. App. 414.

such society in the state, applies to an action to recover an indemnity for the death of insured by accidental means.[22]

F. Pleading — 1. Time for Pleading in Abatement. A provision in the policy that no action can be maintained thereon until a certain time after the proofs of loss have been given, being in abatement of the action merely, a plea in abatement, filed after pleading to the merits, is too late.[23]

2. Complaint, Declaration, or Petition — a. In General. A complaint alleging in substance that all the conditions and requirements of the policy have been complied with by insured is sufficient.[24]

b. Particular Averments — (I) Accidental Character of Injury. The complaint should allege that the injury or death was caused by accidental means;[25] but a failure to do so is cured by an averment of such fact in the answer.[26]

(II) Denial of Liability by Insurer. A complaint alleging that, from the time of the death of insured, the insurer first denied and continues to deny its liability, sufficiently shows a continuous denial of liability from the time of the death of insured.[27]

(III) Disability of Insured — (A) Language of Policy. Stating the disability of insured in the language of the policy is generally sufficient.[28]

(B) Bodily Injury. A complaint alleging that insured received an injury while engaged in a lawful vocation, which caused a total and permanent loss of his right eye, is sufficient, it not being necessary in such case to allege the existence of a bodily injury.[29]

(C) Existence of Marks on Body. Where the complaint alleges that the death of insured was caused by means which sufficiently imply the existence of physical marks on the body, it is not necessary to allege the existence of physical marks, although the policy provided that such marks should be visible.[30]

(IV) Insurable Interest. Insurable interest need not be alleged and shown by the plaintiff when he is the person designated as payee in the policy.[31]

22. Travelers' Protective Assoc. v. Gilbert, 101 Fed. 46, holding that Ark. Acts (1895) p. 188, applied to an action to recover an indemnity for death by accident, and also holding that Ark. Acts (1897) p. 31, providing for a different method of service in actions on insurance policies generally, did not repeal the prior act.

23. American Acc. Co. v. Fidler, (Ky. 1896) 35 S. W. 905.

24. Richards v. Travelers Ins. Co., 89 Cal. 170, 26 Pac. 762, 23 Am. St. Rep. 455; Scheiderer v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 58 Wis. 13, 16 N. W. 47, 46 Am. Rep. 618.

For forms of complaints or declarations on accident policies, see Gray v. National Ben. Assoc., 111 Ind. 531, 11 N. E. 477; Railway Pass. Assur. Co. v. Burwell, 44 Ind. 460; Costikyan v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 59 Hun (N. Y.) 616, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 413 (held sufficient against the objection that it stated more than one cause of action); Farrell v. American Employers' Liability Ins. Co., 68 Vt. 136, 34 Atl. 478; Bickford v. Travelers Ins. Co., 67 Vt. 418, 32 Atl. 230.

25. Newman v. Railway Officials, etc., Acc. Assoc., 15 Ind. App. 29, 42 N. E. 650.

Sufficient allegations.— In Richards v. Travelers Ins. Co., 89 Cal. 170, 26 Pac. 762, 23 Am. St. Rep. 455, it was held that a complaint which averred that insured sustained bodily injuries effected through external, violent, and accidental means, and that his death was caused by such injuries alone, was sufficient. And in Railway Officials Acc. Assoc. v. Armstrong, 22 Ind. App. 406, 53 N. E. 1037, where the policy insured against injury or death only where such injury or death was the direct and immediate result of physical bodily injury undoubtedly proceeding from external, violent, and accidental means, it was held that a complaint alleging that the death of insured resulted solely from physical bodily injuries proceeding from and inflicted by external, violent, and accidental means, producing immediate death, sufficiently showed an accidental death.

26. Railway Officials, etc., Acc. Assoc. v. Drummond, 56 Nebr. 235, 76 N. W. 562.

27. Railway Officials Acc. Assoc. v. Armstrong, 22 Ind. App. 406, 53 N. E. 1037.

28. McElfresh v. Odd Fellows Acc. Co., 21 Ind. App. 557, 52 N. E. 819.

29. Maynard v. Locomotive Engineers' Mut. L., etc., Ins. Assoc., 16 Utah 145, 51 Pac. 259, 67 Am. St. Rep. 602.

30. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Koen, 11 Tex. Civ. App. 273, 33 S. W. 133, where the complaint alleged that insured was killed by falling houses and flying timbers produced by a cyclone, and it was held that it was not necessary to allege the existence of physical marks on the body.

31. Robinson v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 68 Fed. 825; American Employers' Liability Ins. Co. v. Barr, 68 Fed. 873, 32 U. S. App. 444, 16 C. C. A. 51.

(v) Negativing Conditions or Exceptions. It is not necessary that the complaint should negative any of the conditions or exceptions contained in the policy, these being matters of defense.[32]

(vi) Occupation of Insured. Under a policy providing for the payment of a reduced sum in case insured is killed in an occupation classified by the company as more hazardous than that of insured at the time the policy is issued, a beneficiary who sues for the full amount of the policy must allege and prove that insured was not killed in a more hazardous occupation.[33] But if it appears in the policy attached to the petition that the occupation in which insured was engaged at the time the policy was issued to him is stated in the application therefor, and such application is alleged to be in the hands of the insurer, it is not necessary for the petition to allege the occupation of insured at such time.[34]

(vii) Right of Employer to Sue as Trustee. Where an employer is insured as trustee for the benefit of any employee who may be injured, no action can be maintained by the employer on such a policy unless it is shown that he sues, not in his own right, but as trustee for the employee or his legal representatives, and in such case the existence of legal representatives must be averred.[35]

(viii) Service or Waiver of Notice and Proofs. The plaintiff should allege and prove a compliance with a clause in the policy requiring notice and proofs of loss,[36] or allege and prove facts showing a waiver, estoppel, or excuse sufficient to authorize a recovery notwithstanding a non-compliance with such provision,[37] although evidence of such waiver has been held admissible without a special allegation thereof in the complaint.[38]

c. Effect of Policy as Exhibit. Where the policy is attached to the petition as an exhibit, recitals of description in the policy become matters of averment, and no material variance arises because such descriptive and additional recitals are not fully averred in the pleading.[39]

32. Indiana.— National Ben. Assoc. v. Bowman, 110 Ind. 355, 11 N. E. 316.

Iowa.— Jones v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 92 Iowa 652, 61 N. W. 485.

Nebraska.— Railway Officials, etc., Acc. Assoc. v. Drummond, 56 Nebr. 235, 76 N. W. 562.

New York.— Whitlatch v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 71 Hun (N. Y.) 146, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 537.

Texas.— Employer's Liability Assur. Corp. v. Rochelle, 13 Tex. Civ. App. 232, 35 S. W. 869; Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Koen, 11 Tex. Civ. App. 273, 33 S. W. 133.

In Voluntary Relief Dept. v. Spencer, 17 Ind. App. 123, 46 N. E. 477, it was held that a complaint which set out the contract and rules of the company, and alleged that the injury was received without any fault or negligence on the part of insured, and that he had complied with all the terms of the policy, was sufficient to negative the idea that any of the conditions precedent contained in the rules had been violated.

33. American Acc. Co. v. Carson, 99 Ky. 441, 36 S. W. 169, 59 Am. St. Rep. 473, 34 L. R. A. 301.

34. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Koen, 11 Tex. Civ. App. 273, 33 S. W. 133.

35. American Employers' Liability Ins. Co. v. Sloss Iron, etc., Co., 100 Ga. 679, 28 S. E. 458.

36. Meech v. National Acc. Soc., 50 N. Y. App. Div. 144, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 1008.

37. Commercial Travelers Mut. Acc. Assoc. v. Springsteen, 23 Ind. App. 657, 55 N. E. 973; Railway Pass. Assur. Co. v. Burwell, 44 Ind. 460; Meech v. National Acc. Soc., 50 N. Y. App. Div. 144, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 1008.

Sufficient allegation of waiver.— In Railway Officials Acc. Assoc. v. Armstrong, 22 Ind. App. 406, 53 N. E. 1037, the policy required satisfactory proofs of death within seven months, but did not indicate what proofs would be satisfactory. An allegation in the complaint was held sufficient which showed that the insurer, on being notified and requested to furnish information as to the proofs necessary, failed to furnish them or to indicate what further proofs would be required in time for them to be secured within the period limited; and a further allegation that, upon the death of insured, an immediate satisfactory notice thereof was given to the insurer, but that further proofs of death were not given because waived by the insurer, and that more than ninety days had elapsed since such waiver, and that after the expiration of the ninety days, and before suit, demand was made and liability denied, sufficiently averred that the waiver of further proofs was made at the time the notice of the death was given, and that the denial of insurer's liability occurred within the seven months within which the policy required a satisfactory proof of death.

38. Owens v. Travelers' Ins. Co., (Ind. 1883) 12 Ins. L. J. 75; Foster v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 99 Wis. 447, 75 N. W. 69, 40 L. R. A. 833.

39. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Koen, 11 Tex. Civ. App. 273, 33 S. W. 133.

3. Answer or Plea — a. Act of Agent Unauthorized. Where defendant relies on the fact that, by reason of an unauthorized act of one of its agents and its failure to assent to such act, the contract of insurance has not been completed, it must allege knowledge of such excess of authority on the part of the insured.[40]

b. Contributory Negligence. An answer setting up contributory negligence must allege the facts constituting such negligence, and not state mere conclusions.[41]

c. Denial of Accidental Means. An answer denying the accidental character of an injury must do so directly and not argumentatively.[42]

d. Denial of Existence of Marks on Body. Where the complaint alleges that the death of insured was caused by accidental injuries, leaving visible marks upon his body, it is not necessary, in the answer, specially to deny this allegation, since a general denial is sufficient to allow proof of falsity of such allegation.[43] If the answer admits the death of insured from erysipelas, ensuing upon the accidental cutting and laceration of one of his fingers, a subsequent allegation that there is no visible mark of said accidental injury upon the body of insured is repugnant to the admission.[44]

e. Failure to Serve Notice and Proofs. To take advantage of a failure to serve the notice or proofs of injury as required by the policy, such failure must be specially pleaded,[45] and if it is denied that affirmative proofs of injury were served, facts showing such failure must be alleged.[46]

f. False Representations. Where false representations are relied on as a defense, the particulars must be stated.[47]

g. Injury Caused by Excepted Risk — (1) In General. Where defendant relies on the fact that insured came to his death through some means which are excepted from the risk, such defense should be specially pleaded,[48] as where the defendant claims that the injury was received by insured while engaged in a more hazardous class of employment than that under which he was insured,[49] that death was due to intentional injuries,[50] or intoxication,[51] or suicide.[52]

40. American Employers' Liability Ins. Co. v. Barr, 68 Fed. 873, 32 U. S. App. 444, 16 C. C. A. 51.

41. Voluntary Relief Dept. v. Spencer, 17 Ind. App. 123, 46 N. E. 477.

42. In Bernays v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 45 Fed. 455, 456, an answer averring that by its terms the policy was not to "extend to or cover death resulting from or caused by poison, . . . or contact with poisonous substances," and that "said alleged injury was caused by poison and by contact with poisonous substances," was held bad, as being merely an argumentative denial of the allegation in the petition that insured, a physician, while examining a patient, "accidentally cut and lacerated one of his fingers with forceps then being used, and by reason and means of said accidental injuries to his finger . . . became thereupon afflicted with the disease of erysipelas, and died . . . within thirty days after the time of said injury, and that death resulted alone from said injury."

43. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Martin, 133 Ind. 376, 33 N. E. 105.

44. Bernays v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 45 Fed. 455.

45. Hart v. National Masonic Acc. Assoc., 105 Iowa 717, 75 N. W. 508; Coburn v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 145 Mass. 226, 13 N. E. 604.

46. Bean v. Travelers Ins. Co., 94 Cal. 581, 29 Pac. 1113, where an answer admitting that insured furnished what purported to be affirmative proofs of injury, but denying that they amounted to affirmative proofs of the duration of the disability, was held bad as stating a legal conclusion.

47. Allibone v. Fidelity, etc., Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1895) 32 S. W. 569; American Employers' Liability Ins. Co. v. Barr, 68 Fed. 873, 32 U. S. App. 444, 16 C. C. A. 51.

Concealment of disease.— Where the petition alleges that insured's death was caused by a disease due to the accidental laceration of a portion of the body, an answer which avers that insured had warranted that he never had, and had not then, any bodily or mental infirmity, and which also avers that insured had, on various occasions prior thereto, been afflicted, and was then afflicted, with the disease mentioned in the petition, and that said disease caused his death, but which fails to show that said disease was an infirmity which would increase the risk in the event of an accident, is bad. Bernays v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 45 Fed. 455.

48. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Jones, 94 Ala. 434, 10 So. 530; Hester v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 69 Mo. App. 186.

49. Globe Acc. Ins. Co. v. Helwig, 13 Ind. App. 539, 41 N. E. 976, 55 Am. St. Rep. 247.

50. Coburn v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 145 Mass. 226, 13 N. E. 604.

51. National Masonic Acc. Assoc. v. Shryock, 73 Fed. 774, 36 U. S. App. 658, 20 C. C. A. 3.

52. National Masonic Acc. Assoc. v. Shryock, 73 Fed. 774, 36 U. S. App. 658, 20 C. C. A. 3.

(II) Unlawful Act. Where defendant relies on the fact that insured met his death while engaged in an unlawful act, if such act is a statutory offense the answer must set out all the statutory elements thereof, and the omission of any essential element makes the answer bad;[53] and it is further necessary for the answer to allege a causative connection between the offense and the injury sustained.[54]

(III) Voluntary Exposure to Unnecessary Danger. An answer alleging that the death of insured was caused by a voluntary exposure to unnecessary danger is insufficient where it does not show that insured had knowledge of the danger and voluntarily exposed himself thereto.[55]

h. Limitation — (I) As to Amount Recoverable. Where the policy provides that insured shall not be entitled to indemnity in excess of his salary or the money value of his time, in order to take advantage of such provision the answer must specially allege it.[56]

(II) As to Time of Suing. The fact that the action is not brought within the time limited by the policy, to be available as a defense, must be specially pleaded.[57]

i. Policy Issued for Unauthorized Amount. The fact that tickets have been issued for an amount in excess of that which the agents had power to issue may be specially pleaded or shown under the general issue.[58]

j. Setting Out By-Laws. Where defendant relies upon rules and by-laws of the association they must be set out in the answer, and it is not sufficient merely to allege that they have been violated.[59]

4. Replication. The replication must sufficiently deny the material parts of the plea.[60]

53. National Ben. Assoc. v. Bowman, 110 Ind. 355, 11 N. E. 316; Conboy v. Railway Officials, etc., Acc. Assoc., 17 Ind. App. 62, 46 N. E. 363, 60 Am. St. Rep. 154, 43 N. E. 1017, where the insurer claimed that insured was drowned while unlawfully seining in a river. The answer alleged such fact, but did not state that the waters in which insured was seining were "above tide-waters," it being necessary to the statutory offense that the seining should be "above tide-waters."

54. National Ben. Assoc. v. Bowman, 110 Ind. 355, 11 N. E. 316.

55. National Ben. Assoc. v. Bowman, 110 Ind. 355, 11 N. E. 316; Conboy v. Railway Officials, etc., Acc. Assoc., 17 Ind. App. 62, 46 N. E. 363, 60 Am. St. Rep. 154, where the answer which was held insufficient alleged that insured, who could not swim, was seining, at the time of his death, in a river in which there were sink-holes, and that he stepped into one of such holes and was caught and drowned, but did not allege that insured knew of the danger or voluntarily exposed himself thereto.

56. Crenshaw v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 71 Mo. App. 42.

57. Harold v. Peoples Mut. Acc. Ins. Assoc., 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 454, 2 Pa. Dist. 503.

An answer is insufficient where the policy provides that there can be no recovery "unless action is begun within six months from the date when the society shall have received proofs of the injury," and the answer merely sets up as a defense that the policy provides that "no suit or proceeding at law or in equity shall be brought to recover any sum hereby provided for unless the same is commenced within one year from the date of the accident." Keeffe v. National Acc. Soc., 4 N. Y. App. Div. 392, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 854.

58. Standard Loan, etc., Ins. Co. v. Thornton, 97 Tenn. 1, 40 S. W. 136.

59. Gray v. National Ben. Assoc., 111 Ind. 531, 11 N. E. 477.

60. Denying want of due diligence.— In Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Jones, 94 Ala. 434, 10 So. 530, which was an action on a policy covering injuries resulting from dangers incident to the occupation of insured, but not those resulting from negligence or want of care in the performance of his customary duties, the plea averred that insured failed to use due diligence for his personal safety and protection, but "contributed directly and proximately to his own injury and death by getting off an engine in motion, in the nighttime, with his back toward the direction in which said engine was going, which was an unsafe and dangerous way of alighting from it." The replication, alleging "that said insured was a railroad switchman, was insured as such, and met the accident which caused his death while in the discharge of his customary duties as such switchman," was held demurrable in that it did not sufficiently deny the allegation in the plea.

Denial of release by parties entitled to damages.— In Fuller v. Baltimore, etc., Employés' Relief Assoc., 67 Md. 433, 10 Atl. 237, where the plea averred that certain parties entitled to damages on account of the accident to insured have brought suit against the railroad company and have recovered damages and have not released the company, a replication which alleges that the accident

G. Evidence — 1. Presumptions — a. As to Accidental Character of Injury. On an issue as to whether the injury to or death of insured was caused by accidental means or by some cause excepted by the policy the legal presumption is against the insanity of insured,[61] intentional injuries by third persons,[62] lack of due care and diligence,[63] self-inflicted injuries,[64] and suicide.[65] These presumptions may be overcome, however, by facts and circumstances establishing the contrary.[66]

b. As to Payment. The payment of an indemnity to insured will not raise a presumption that all the instalments of a premium payable in instalments have been paid.[67]

2. Burden of Proof — a. As to Character or Cause of Injury. The burden of proof is on plaintiff to show that the injury or death was due to accidental or other means specified in the policy,[68] and the introduction of the defense of sui-was not the result of any negligence on the part of the company, and that the parties were not entitled to damages unless there was such negligence, does not sufficiently negative the material parts of the plea.

61. Blackstone v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 74 Mich. 592, 42 N. W. 156, 3 L. R. A. 486.

62. New York.— Peck v. Equitable Acc. Assoc., 52 Hun (N. Y.) 255, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 215.

Tennessee.— Accident Ins. Co. of North America v. Bennett, 90 Tenn. 256, 16 S. W. 723.

Utah.— Warner v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 8 Utah 431, 32 Pac. 696, 22 Ins. L. J. 704, where it was held that the presumption of law, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, would be that the death of insured was not due to murder.

Wisconsin.— Butero v. Travelers' Acc. Ins. Co., 96 Wis. 536, 71 N. W. 811; Cronkhite v. Travelers Ins. Co., 75 Wis. 116, 43 N. W. 731, 17 Am. St. Rep. 184.

United States.— Travellers' Ins. Co. v. McConkey, 127 U. S. 661, 8 S. Ct. 1360, 32 L. ed. 308, where insured was found dead with a pistol-bullet wound through his heart, and it was held that there would be no presumption from the mere fact of death that he had been murdered.

63. Meadows v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 129 Mo. 76, 31 S. W. 578, 50 Am. St. Rep. 427, where it was shown that insured, a man fifty-nine years of age and of business habits, left a railroad depot for the purpose of boarding a freight train standing at the station, and was soon afterward found dead on the track, and it was held that it would be presumed, in the absence of other evidence, that his death was due to accident and not to a lack of due care and diligence.

64. Peck v. Equitable Acc. Assoc., 52 Hun (N. Y.) 255, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 215; Cronkhite v. Travelers Ins. Co., 75 Wis. 116, 43 N. W. 731, 17 Am. St. Rep. 184.

65. Georgia.— Travelers Ins. Co. v. Sheppard, 85 Ga. 751, 12 S. E. 18.

Illinois.— Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Weise, 80 Ill. App. 499; Star Acc. Co. v. Sibley, 57 Ill. App. 315.

Indiana.— Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Nitterhouse, 11 Ind. App. 155, 38 N. E. 1110.

Iowa.— Carnes v. Iowa State Traveling Men's Assoc., 106 Iowa 281, 76 N. W. 683, 68 Am. St. Rep. 306.

Kentucky.— Couadeau v. American Acc. Co., 95 Ky. 280, 25 S. W. 6.

Louisiana.— Konrad v. Union Casualty, etc., Co., 49 La. Ann. 636, 21 So. 721.

Maryland.— Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Nicklas, 88 Md. 470, 41 Atl. 906.

New York.— Mallory v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 47 N. Y. 52, 7 Am. Rep. 410; De Van v. Commercial Travelers' Mut. Acc. Assoc., 92 Hun (N. Y.) 256, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 931 [affirmed in 157 N. Y. 690, 51 N. E. 1090]; Washburn v. National Acc. Soc., 57 Hun (N. Y.) 585, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 366.

Ohio.— Knickerbocker Casualty Ins. Co. v. Jordan, 7 Cinc. L. Bul. 71, 8 Ohio Dec. (Reprint) 313.

Tennessee.— Accident Ins. Co. of North America v. Bennett, 90 Tenn. 256, 16 S. W. 723.

Utah.— Warner v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 8 Utah 431, 32 Pac. 696, 22 Ins. L. J. 704.

United States.— Travellers' Ins. Co. v. McConkey, 127 U. S. 661, 8 S. Ct. 1360, 32 L. ed. 308.

England.— Macdonald v. Refuge Assur. Co., 17 Sc. Sess. Cas. 4th ser. 955.

66. Accident Ins. Co. of North America v. Bennett, 90 Tenn. 256, 16 S. W. 723; Johns v. Northwestern Mut. Relief Assoc., 90 Wis. 332, 63 N. W. 276, 41 L. R. A. 587, where it was said that while it was undoubtedly correct that when the dead body of insured was found under circumstances and with such injuries that death might have resulted from negligence, accident, or suicide, the presumption would be against suicide as contrary to the general conduct of humanity; yet that where, as in the case in hand, it was shown that insured went to bed as usual, and in the morning was found drowned in a cistern, the presumption of suicide was raised so as to defeat a recovery on the policy.

67. Melin v. Accident Ins. Co. of North America, 70 Wis. 579, 36 N. W. 258.

68. Georgia.— Travelers Ins. Co. v. Wyness, 107 Ga. 584, 34 S. E. 113.

Indiana.— Sharpe v. Commercial Travelers' Mut. Acc. Assoc., 139 Ind. 92, 37 N. E. 353.

Iowa.— Taylor v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., (Iowa 1900) 82 N. W. 326; Carnes v. Iowa State Traveling Men's Assoc., 106 Iowa 281, 68 Am. St. Rep. 306, 76 N. W. 683.

cide does not shift the burden, although the presumption in favor of sanity, in the absence of countervailing proof, is sufficient in itself to establish prima facie that death occurred otherwise than by self-destruction.[69]

b. As to Conditions or Exceptions. The burden rests on the defendant to show that the policy has been avoided by reason of a breach of some condition precedent,[70] or that the injury or death was caused by some act which is made an exception to the risk in the policy,[71] or that the action was not brought within the Michigan.— Merrett v. Preferred Masonic Mut. Acc. Assoc., 98 Mich. 338, 57 N. W. 169.

Missouri.— Meadows v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 129 Mo. 76, 31 S. W. 578, 50 Am. St. Rep. 427.

New York.— Larkin v. Inter-State Casualty Co., 43 N. Y. App. Div. 365, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 205.

United States.— Ætna L. Ins. Co. v. Vandecar, 86 Fed. 282, 57 U. S. App. 446, 30 C. C. A. 48; National Masonic Acc. Assoc. v. Shryock, 73 Fed. 774, 36 U. S. App. 658, 20 C. C. A. 3; McCarthy v. Traveler's Ins. Co., 8 Biss. (U. S.) 362, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,682.

Suicide while insane.— Where plaintiff contends that insured took his life while insane, thus bringing his death within the risks insured against, the burden of establishing such fact is on him. Blackstone v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 74 Mich. 592, 42 N. W. 156, 3 L. R. A. 486.

69. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Weise, 182 Ill. 496, 55 N. E. 540 [reversing 80 Ill. App. 499]; Whitlatch v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 149 N. Y. 45, 43 N. E. 405.

70. Lampkin v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 11 Colo. App. 249, 52 Pac. 1040; Ball v. Northwestern Mut. Acc. Assoc., 56 Minn. 414, 57 N. W. 1063; Gordon v. U. S. Casualty Co., (Tenn. Ch. 1899) 54 S. W. 98, wherein it was held that the burden was on the insurer to show that a representation in the application was false.

71. Michigan.— Hess v. Preferred Masonic Mut. Acc. Assoc., 112 Mich. 196, 70 N. W. 460.

Missouri.— Hester v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 69 Mo. App. 186.

Nebraska.— Railway Officials, etc., Acc. Assoc. v. Drummond, 56 Nebr. 235, 76 N. W. 562.

Ohio.— Interstate Casualty Co. v. Bird, 18 Ohio Cir. Ct. 488.

Wisconsin.— Cronkhite v. Travelers Ins. Co., 75 Wis. 116, 43 N. W. 731, 17 Am. St. Rep. 184.

United States.— Cotten v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 41 Fed. 506.

Contributory negligence.— In the following cases it has been held that the burden of proof is on the insurer to show that the death of insured was due to contributory negligence on his part, and failure to use diligence for his personal safety and protection. Sutherland v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 87 Iowa 505, 54 N. W. 453; Keene v. New England Mut. Acc. Assoc., 161 Mass. 149, 36 N. E. 891; Badenfeld v. Massachusetts Mut. Acc. Assoc., 154 Mass. 77, 27 N. E. 769, 13 L. R. A. 263; Freeman v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 144 Mass. 572, 12 N. E. 372; Meadows v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 129 Mo. 76, 31 S. W. 578, 50 Am. St. Rep. 427; Mulville v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 19 Mont. 95, 47 Pac. 650.

Disease.— The burden of proof is on insurer to show that death of insured was caused by disease. McCarthy v. Traveler's Ins. Co., 8 Biss. (U. S.) 362, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,682.

Intentional injuries.— In the following cases it has been held that the insurer has the burden of showing that the death of insured was caused by intentional injuries:

Colorado.— Lampkin v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 11 Colo. App. 249, 52 Pac. 1040.

Georgia.— Travelers Ins. Co. v. Wyness, 107 Ga. 584, 34 S. E. 113.

Iowa.— Jones v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 92 Iowa 652, 61 N. W. 485.

New York.— Guldenkirch v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 5 N. Y. Suppl. 428.

Wisconsin.— Butero v. Travelers' Acc. Ins. Co., 96 Wis. 536, 71 N. W. 811.

Intoxication.— The burden of proof is on the insurer to show that the injury was caused by the intoxication of insured. Sutherland v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 87 Iowa 505, 54 N. W. 453.

Suicide.— In the following cases it has been held that the burden of proof is on the insurer to show that the death of insured was caused by suicide:

Illinois.— Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Weise, 80 Ill. App. 499.

Indiana.— Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Nitterhouse, 11 Ind. App. 155, 38 N. E. 1110.

Maryland.— Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Nicklas, 88 Md. 470, 41 Atl. 906.

New York.— Williams v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 82 Hun (N. Y.) 268, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 343; Whitlatch v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 71 Hun (N. Y.) 146, 24 N. Y. Suppl. 537.

United States.— Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Thornton, 100 Fed. 582, 40 C. C. A. 564; Supreme Lodge, etc. v. Beck, 94 Fed. 751, 36 C. C. A. 467.

Canada.— Wright v. Sun Mut. L. Ins. Co., 29 U. C. C. P. 221.

Violation of law.— The burden of proof is on insurer to show that the accident was the result of a violation of law by insured. Conboy v. Railway Officials, etc., Acc. Assoc., 17 Ind. App. 62, 46 N. E. 363, 60 Am. St. Rep. 154.

Voluntary exposure to unnecessary danger. — The burden of proof is on the insurer to show that insured came to his death in consequence of a voluntary exposure to unnecessary danger.

Indiana.— Conboy v. Railway Officials, etc., Acc. Assoc., 17 Ind. App. 62, 46 N. E. 363, 60 Am. St. Rep. 154.

time required by the policy.[72] The fact that the complaint unnecessarily negatives a breach of the condition will not shift the burden of proof.[73] Nor, it seems, will the burden of proof be shifted by the fact that plaintiff introduces in evidence proofs of death containing statements tending to show that insured was killed or injured in the breach of some condition or while within a risk excepted in the policy.[74]

c. As to Payment of Premiums. The burden of proof is on the insurer to show forfeiture for non-payment of assessments.[75]

d. As to Sum Realized from Assessment. Where the policy provides that the insurer shall not be liable in an amount greater than that realized on an assessment of its members, the burden of proof is on it to show that the amount realized from the assessment is less than the amount claimed.[76]

3. Admissibility — a. As to Cause of Injury — (I) In General — (A) Contributory Negligence of Insured. Evidence that insured made a practice of jumping on and off trains while in motion is inadmissible to prove contributory negligence.[77] In rebuttal of evidence tending to show contributory negligence on the part of insured, plaintiff may introduce evidence tending to establish the fact that it was physically impossible for insured to have done the act constituting such alleged contributory negligence.[78]

(B) Effect of Instantaneous Death. The testimony of a physician as to the effect on the body of instantaneous death is admissible on an issue of whether death was caused by accident or by suicide.[79]

Iowa.— Follis v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 94 Iowa 435, 62 N. W. 807, 58 Am. St. Rep. 408, 28 L. R. A. 78.

Massachusetts.— Anthony v. Mercantile Mut. Acc. Assoc., 162 Mass. 354, 38 N. E. 973, 44 Am. St. Rep. 367, 26 L. R. A. 406; Keene v. New England Mut. Acc. Assoc., 161 Mass. 149, 36 N. E. 891; Badenfeld v. Massachusetts Mut. Acc. Assoc., 154 Mass. 77, 27 N. E. 769, 13 L. R. A. 263.

Missouri.— Meadows v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 129 Mo. 76, 31 S. W. 578, 50 Am. St. Rep. 427.

New York.— Williams v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 82 Hun (N. Y.) 268, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 343.

72. Allibone v. Fidelity, etc., Co., (Tex. Civ. App. 1895) 32 S. W. 569.

73. Jones v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 92 Iowa 652, 61 N. W. 485; Mulville v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 19 Mont. 95, 47 Pac. 650.

74. Supreme Lodge, etc. v. Beck, 94 Fed. 751, 36 C. C. A. 467, wherein the fact that plaintiff introduced in evidence proofs of death containing statements that insured committed suicide, and the verdict of a coroner's jury to the same effect, was held not to shift the burden of proof so as to require plaintiff to prove by a preponderance of evidence that the death of insured resulted from other causes, even though such evidence, standing alone, would establish the fact of suicide prima facie.

But see Prudential Ins. Co. v. Breustle, (Ky. 1897) 41 S. W. 9, where the proofs of death showed that insured came to his death by his own hand and act, and it was held that no recovery could be had on a policy excluding a recovery for death by suicide unless some satisfactory explanation of such proof was given, or until it had been withdrawn; and that where it was averred that the proofs were furnished merely as evidence of death and for no other purpose, the burden of proof was on the claimant to establish such fact where it had been denied by a rejoinder.

75. Ball v. Northwestern Mut. Acc. Assoc., 56 Minn. 414, 57 N. W. 1063 (for the reason that forfeitures are not favored in law); Farrell v. American Employers' Liability Ins. Co., 68 Vt. 136, 34 Atl. 478 (in which it was held that where the policy provides that it shall not continue in force unless the amount of an order on insured's employer, a railroad company, is left with the paymaster of the company, it is incumbent upon the plaintiff to prove that such amount has been so left).

76. Gnau v. Masons' Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 109 Mich. 527, 67 N. W. 546, the reason being that such fact is peculiarly within the knowledge of the insurer.

77. Mulville v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 19 Mont. 95, 47 Pac. 650.

78. Mulville v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 19 Mont. 95, 47 Pac. 650, where, insured having been killed by a railroad train, it was shown, on the issue of contributory negligence, that he was found between the rails of the track, and it was held permissible to show in rebuttal the space between the cars and the track, since it tended to establish the fact that it was a physical impossibility for insured to have been between the cars and the track without being more badly crushed.

79. Washburn v. National Acc. Soc., 57 Hun (N. Y.) 585, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 366, where, on such an issue, the body of insured having been found lying on the ground with a bullet-hole in his head, the right hand lying at the right side unclinched, and a pistol with an empty chamber lying between the legs, a physician's testimony to the effect that, in cases of instantaneous death, there is an involuntary and immediate rigidity of the mus-

(c) Facts Developed at Autopsy. Facts developed at an autopsy on the body of insured are admissible for the purpose of showing the cause of death.[80]

(d) Intentional Injury by Third Person—(1) In General. Any evidence is admissible which tends to show that the injury was intentional, or which constitutes a link in the chain of proof necessary to establish such fact.[81]

(2) Homicide. To show that insured was intentionally killed by a third person, circumstantial evidence is admissible,[82] but neither the indictment of such third person for the murder of insured[83] nor the record of his pardon[84] is admissible to show such facts.

(e) Intoxication of Insured. Evidence of acts committed by insured when intoxicated on former occasions is not admissible to show that insured met his death while intoxicated.[85] A physician who saw insured at a hospital cannot testify as to whether he noticed anything about insured's breath indicating intoxication, where it is not shown at what time he saw insured;[86] but a witness may testify as to whether or not insured had the appearance of being intoxicated, such statement being one of fact.[87]

(f) Opinions of Attendants and Relatives. Attendants and relatives who are not experts cannot testify as to the cause of death of insured.[88]

(g) Previous Health of Insured. Testimony showing the health of insured from his infancy until his last sickness is admissible to show whether his death was caused by accident or disease,[89] as is evidence that insured had been continuously at work prior to the accident, to show his habits, health, vigor, and ability to perform continuous hard labor up to the time thereof,[90] and evidence of the physical and mental condition of insured just prior to the accident, to show that insured was in fair condition at the time of the accident, and not a confirmed invalid;[91] but evidence that insured appeared to be in good health is inadmissible.[92]

(h) Violation of Company's Rules. Evidence of a custom or usage of people generally to cross a railroad track at the point where insured was killed is admissible on an issue as to whether insured was killed while violating the rules of defendant company against crossing railroad tracks.[93]

cles which would cause the hand to clutch the pistol and render it impossible for insured, after shooting himself, to have placed it where found, was held admissible.

80. Sun Acc. Assoc. v. Olson, 59 Ill. App. 217, holding that such evidence is admissible notwithstanding the fact that the insurer was not notified of the time and place of holding such autopsy, there being no provision in the policy requiring such notification.

81. Ætna L. Ins. Co. v. Vandecar, 86 Fed. 282, 57 U. S. App. 446, 30 C. C. A. 48.

82. Masons' Fraternal Acc. Assoc. v. Riley, 65 Ark. 261, 45 S. W. 684 (where evidence that a person who was alleged to have killed insured surrendered himself to the officer within half an hour after insured's death, and near his house, stating that he had killed insured while retreating, and evidence that such third person and insured had disputed previously over business transactions, was held admissible); Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Askew, 11 Tex. Civ. App. 59, 32 S. W. 31 (where it was contended that insured was intentionally killed by a third person, and evidence that the sheriff made a search for such third person after the death of insured, and could not find him, was held admissible as tending to show that such third person did the killing).

83. Masons' Fraternal Acc. Assoc. v. Riley, 65 Ark. 261, 45 S. W. 684; Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Askew, 11 Tex. Civ. App. 59, 32 S. W. 31.

84. Masons' Fraternal Acc. Assoc. v. Riley, 65 Ark. 261, 45 S. W. 684.

85. Traveler's Ins. Co. v. Harvey, 82 Va. 949, 5 S. E. 553, where insured was found dead in front of a house, and evidence that previously, when intoxicated, he had attempted to jump from the window was held inadmissible.

86. Sutherland v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 87 Iowa 505, 54 N. W. 453.

87. Cook v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 84 Mich. 12, 47 N. W. 568.

88. American Acc. Co. v. Fidler, (Ky. 1896) 35 S. W. 905.

89. McCarthy v. Traveler's Ins. Co., 8 Biss. (U. S.) 362, 15 Fed. Cas. No. 8,682.

90. Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Murray, 16 Colo. 296, 26 Pac. 774, 25 Am. St. Rep. 267.

91. Ten Broeck v. Traveler's Ins. Co., 6 N. Y. St. 100.

92. Sharpe v. Commercial Travelers' Mut. Acc. Assoc., 139 Ind. 92, 37 N. E. 353.

93. Duncan v. Preferred Mut. Acc. Assoc., 59 N. Y. Super. Ct. 145, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 620, 36 N. Y. St. 928 [affirmed in 129 N. Y. 622, 29 N. E. 1029].

(II) Proof Required by Policy. In some policies it is provided that the policy will not extend to a case of personal injury unless by direct and positive proof it is established that the injury or death was caused by external violence and accidental means, and under such a policy it is incumbent on plaintiff to show that the injury or death was so caused;[94] yet the ordinary rules of evidence cannot be changed by such a provision,[95] and evidence sufficient to satisfy a jury that the accident or death resulted from one of the causes insured against is sufficient,[96] although it may involve an inference of a main fact from other facts.[97] The use of the words "affirmative proof" does not mean that there must be direct and positive proof of the accident or death.[98]

b. As to Character of Injury—(I) Acts Done by Insured. Evidence that insured, a physician, wrote a number of prescriptions during the time of his alleged total disability, without charge, is inadmissible to rebut evidence in regard to the permanent character of his injury.[99]

(II) Testimony of Insured. Insured may testify as to his ability to work after the accident.[1]

(III) Testimony of Physician. A physician may testify as to the physical condition of insured at the date of the trial, as bearing on the question of permanent disability; but a written report of the physician concerning the physical condition of insured, made for the purpose of furnishing the insurer with information to aid it in determining whether to allow or reject the claim, is not admissible to show claimant's condition at the time of the action.[2]

c. As to Concealment of Material Facts. Evidence of a conversation between insured and an officer of the insurer, upon a matter wholly unconnected with the contract of insurance, is inadmissible to show a fraudulent concealment of a material fact which would vitiate the policy.[3] But where it is contended that insured has suppressed facts as to his bodily condition, it is competent to show that the agent who took the application of insured knew of this defect, although, in his application, insured stated that he was free from any bodily infirmity.[4]

94. Travellers' Ins. Co. v. McConkey, 127 U. S. 661, 8 S. Ct. 1360, 32 L. ed. 308.

95. Utter v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 65 Mich. 545, 32 N. W. 812, 8 Am. St. Rep. 913; Reynolds v. Equitable Acc. Assoc., 59 Hun (N. Y.) 13, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 738.

96. Travelers Ins. Co. v. Sheppard, 85 Ga. 751, 12 S. E. 18; Larkin v. Inter-State Casualty Co., 43 N. Y. App. Div. 365, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 205; Preferred Acc. Ins. Co. v. Barker, 93 Fed. 158, 35 C. C. A. 250.

97. Travelers Ins. Co. v. Sheppard, 85 Ga. 751, 12 S. E. 18; Accident Ins. Co. of North America v. Bennett, 90 Tenn. 256, 16 S. W. 723, where it was held that an instruction that the jury might find any fact proven which might rightfully and reasonably be inferred from the evidence was proper, since the nature, cause, or manner of the death of insured was directly and positively established where it was shown that he was found dead with a pistol-shot wound through the heart.

98. Konrad v. Union Casualty, etc., Co., 49 La. Ann. 636, 21 So. 721; Preferred Acc. Ins. Co. v. Barker, 93 Fed. 158, 35 C. C. A. 250.

Eye-witnesses unnecessary.— The testimony of eye-witnesses as to the cause of the accident or death is not required. Preferred Acc. Ins. Co. v. Barker, 93 Fed. 158, 35 C. C. A. 250; Wright v. Sun Mut. L. Ins. Co., 29 U. C. C. P. 221.

99. Preferred Acc. Ins. Co. v. Gray, (Ala. 1899) 26 So. 517.

1. Lyon v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 46 Iowa 631.

2. McMahon v. Supreme Council, etc., 54 Mo. App. 463.

3. Mallory v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 47 N. Y. 52, 7 Am. Rep. 410. In this case the defense was that insured was guilty of a fraudulent concealment of material facts which vitiated the policy. It appeared that some time previous to the issuance of the policy insured had been a canvasser for applications for insurance with insurer; that in a conversation with the president of the insurer he stated that he could procure a great number of applications; and that the president then told him that he must be cautious, as the company did not wish to insure insane persons. It also appeared that some years previous insured had been insane and had been sent to an asylum for about three months and had been discharged as cured, and had been sane ever since. It was held that this conversation was inadmissible as tending to show that there was a fraudulent misrepresentation of material facts.

4. Follette v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 107 N. C. 240, 12 S. E. 370, 22 Am. St. Rep. 878, 12 L. R. A. 315.

d. As to Customs and Usages — (I) Of Insurer. Testimony of a witness that he heard an agent of an accident company say that the company took orders on employers for the payment of premiums and held them until the employee had money to his credit is inadmissible to show a custom of insurer to take such orders, it not being shown that such agent, at the time of making the statement, was acting as agent of the company in question.[5]

(II) Of Particular Occupation. Insured may show the common practice among people of a certain occupation, where, under the policy, he is permitted to do the acts customary in such occupation.[6]

e. As to Death or Disappearance of Insured. Evidence that insured and his wife lived happily together up to the time of his disappearance is admissible on an issue as to whether he is dead or has disappeared merely;[7] but the fact that insured's family recognize his death, testimony of a witness that there is nothing to lead her to believe that insured is alive, or evidence as to character of the wife, is inadmissible on such issue.[8]

f. As to Identity of Beneficiary. Where the name of the beneficiary and his relationship to the insured is stated in the policy, and a person bearing such name and claiming such relationship exists, parol evidence that a person having the same name, but bearing a different relationship to insured, was intended as a beneficiary, is inadmissible.[9]

g. As to Membership in Relief Association. On an issue as to claimant's membership in a relief association, an agent, officer, or servant of the association may testify that claimant had never been accepted as a member.[10]

h. As to Payment of Premium. Where the policy recites that the premium has been paid, proof that it has not is inadmissible,[11] except in case of fraud in obtaining the policy.[12] That insured continued to work for his employer, a railroad company, is not evidence tending to show that he left the amount of an order on his employer in the hands of the paymaster of the company.[13]

i. To Avoid Release — (I) Insured's Ignorance of Language. Insured

5. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Walker, 67 Ark. 147, 53 S. W. 675.

6. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co. v. Snowden, 12 U. S. App. 704, 58 Fed. 342, 7 C. C. A. 264, where insured was permitted by his policy to attend cattle in transit on cars and to do whatever was customary among reasonably prudent cattle-dealers under like circumstances, and evidence of this character was held admissible in an action for injuries received while looking after cattle at a way-station.

7. Travelers Ins. Co. v. Sheppard, 85 Ga. 751, 12 S. E. 18, where this evidence was held admissible on the theory that, there being nothing unhappy in the domestic life of insured, he would be more likely to return, if he had disappeared, than if his domestic life had been unhappy.

8. Travelers Ins. Co. v. Sheppard, 85 Ga. 751, 12 S. E. 18.

9. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Taylor, 12 Tex. Civ. App. 386, 34 S. W. 781.

10. Baltimore, etc., Employees' Relief Assoc. v. Post, 122 Pa. St. 579, 15 Atl. 885, 9 Am. St. Rep. 147, 2 L. R. A. 44, where, on such an issue, testimony of a medical examiner of the association was held admissible; but, it being claimed that such membership was established from the fact that a part of claimant's wages had been deducted from the amount due him from his employer, a railroad company, in payment of the dues required by the association, the declarations of the paymaster of the railroad company that a deduction had been made from claimant's wages for dues owing to the association were held inadmissible, the paymaster having no express authority to make such declarations or to make the deduction, he not being an agent, officer, or servant of the association, even though the constitution and by-laws of the association authorized the company to deduct dues from members.

11. Provident L. Ins. Co. v. Fennell, 49 Ill. 180.

12. In Standard Acc. Ins. Co. v. Friedenthal, 1 Colo. App. 5, 27 Pac. 88, it was held that a policy, signed and delivered to insured by an agent of the company, which read that the policy, "in consideration of the representations in the application . . . and of thirty-seven dollars and fifty hundredths, does hereby insure," etc., imputed the payment of the premium prior to its delivery as the consideration therefor, and could be impeached only by showing that it had been obtained improperly or fraudulently in such a manner as to negative the fact of its legal and voluntary delivery by the company.

13. Farrell v. American Employers' Liability Ins. Co., 68 Vt. 136, 34 Atl. 478, where the policy required the insured to leave money in the hands of the company's paymaster to satisfy an order on the company accepted in lieu of a cash premium.

may show by parol evidence that he can neither read nor write the English language, for the purpose of avoiding a release of claims signed by him in ignorance of their contents.[14]

(II) Letters of Insured and Agent. A letter written by insured to an agent of the company, inquiring as to his right to recover for a total disability, and the agent's reply stating that he thought the company would not allow the claim, but that he would forward it, and would be glad if the company would allow it, are admissible in evidence on the question as to whether effect shall be given to a release.[15]

j. Admission of Company in Answer. Where the answer admits due proof of death, but desires that such proofs establish that death was caused by accident, the plaintiff may read the admissions to the jury without reading the denial.[16]

k. By-Laws. Where the loss is payable by assessments, the articles and by-laws of the association may be introduced in evidence for the purpose of showing the amount assessable against each member and the method of collecting such assessments.[17] But where a statute requires a copy of the by-laws to be attached to the policy or application, the by-laws cannot be put in evidence, over plaintiff's objection, when not so attached.[18]

l. Conversation between Insured and Officer of Company. Evidence of an alleged conversation between insured and the secretary of the insurer, in which insured claimed to have given a verbal notice of his injury, is admissible under an allegation in the complaint of a waiver of the condition requiring written notice of the injury to be given to the secretary of the insurer at the home office.[19]

m. Declarations — (I) Of Insured — (A) As to Cause of Injury — (1) In General. Declarations or statements of insured, made at or near the time or place of the injury, are admissible as a part of the res gestæ.[20] Usually such declarations or statements must be contemporaneous with the accident or injury,[21] but it has been said that under certain circumstances they may form a part of the res gestæ, although made some time after the occurrence of the accident or injury.[22] Even if they are not admissible as a part of the res gestæ, yet where the insurer introduces them in evidence it cannot claim that the introduction by the claimant of the same declarations made to other parties is erroneous.[23]

(2) To Physician. Statements by insured as to the cause of the injury, made to his physician in the course of his professional treatment, are admissible as part of the res gestæ.[24]

(B) As to Present Condition. Declarations by insured as to his present condition, ills, pains, and symptoms, to whomsoever made, are competent.[25]

14. Lord v. American Mut. Acc. Assoc., 89 Wis. 19, 61 N. W. 293, 46 Am. St. Rep. 815, 26 L. R. A. 741.

15. Sheanon v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 83 Wis. 507, 53 N. W. 878.

16. Jones v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 92 Iowa 652, 61 N. W. 485.

17. Columbian Acc. Co. v. Sanford, 50 Ill. App. 424.

18. Pickett v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 144 Pa. St. 79, 22 Atl. 871, 27 Am. St. Rep. 618, 13 L. R. A. 661, 28 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 453.

19. Commercial Travelers Mut. Acc. Assoc. v. Springsteen, 23 Ind. App. 657, 55 N. E. 973.

20. Ten Broeck v. Traveler's Ins. Co., 6 N. Y. St. 100; Travellers' Ins. Co. v. Mosley, 8 Wall. (U. S.) 397, 19 L. ed. 437; North American Acc. Assoc. v. Woodson, 64 Fed. 689, 24 U. S. App. 364, 12 C. C. A. 392.

21. Globe Acc. Ins. Co. v. Gerisch, 163 Ill. 625, 45 N. E. 563, 54 Am. St. Rep. 486; Hall v. American Masonic Acc. Assoc., 86 Wis. 518, 57 N. W. 366; National Masonic Acc. Assoc. v. Shryock, 73 Fed. 774, 36 U. S. App. 658, 20 C. C. A. 3.

22. Travellers' Ins. Co. v. Mosley, 8 Wall. (U. S.) 397, 19 L. ed. 437.

23. Modern Woodman Acc. Assoc. v. Shryock, 54 Nebr. 250, 74 N. W. 607, 39 L. R. A. 826.

24. Equitable Mut. Acc. Assoc. v. McCluskey, 1 Colo. App. 473, 29 Pac. 383; Omberg v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 101 Ky. 303, 40 S. W. 909, 72 Am. St. Rep. 413; Dabbert v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 2 Cinc. Super. Ct. (Ohio) 98. Contra, Globe Ins. Co. v. Gerisch, 163 Ill. 625, 45 N. E. 563, 54 Am. St. Rep. 486 [affirming 61 Ill. App. 140].

25. Globe Acc. Ins. Co. v. Gerisch, 163 Ill. 625, 45 N. E. 563, 54 Am. St. Rep. 486 [affirming 61 Ill. App. 140]; Hall v. American Masonic Acc. Assoc., 86 Wis. 518, 57 N. W. 366; Travellers' Ins. Co. v. Mosley, 8 Wall. (U. S.) 397, 19 L. ed. 437.

(c) As to Physical Ailments. Declarations of insured as to his physical ailments, made subsequent to the issuance of the policy, are admissible against the beneficiary.[26]

(d) Of Intention to Commit Suicide. The declarations of insured, made within a short time preceding his death, which tend to show an intent to commit suicide, are admissible.[27]

(ii) Of Insurer. Declarations made by the insurer to a third person, denying liability on the policy, are admissible to show a waiver of the notice required by the policy.[28]

(iii) Of Third Person—(a) In General. Where it is contended on the one hand that insured is dead, and on the other that he has disappeared merely, declarations and acts of third persons, who were with insured at the time of his death or disappearance, are admissible as a part of the res gestæ, but statements made after they have abandoned their search for his body are not so admissible.[29]

(b) As to Killing Insured. Evidence as to what a certain person said the day after insured's death, as to his having killed him, is inadmissible as being too remote.[30]

(c) Of Intention to Kill Insured. Declarations of a third person, made on the night insured was killed, to the effect that he intended to kill insured if he found him at his house, are admissible to show an intentional killing of insured, where insured was found dead near the house of the defendant.[31]

n. Mortality Tables. Mortality tables are inadmissible to show the amount of weekly benefits recoverable on account of an inability to work.[32]

o. Policy without Application. A policy attached to the petition is admissible in evidence without the application on which it was issued, although the policy refers to such application and makes it a part thereof, and although the application contains matters not in the policy which are declared therein to be warranties.[33]

p. Proofs of Injury or Death. Proofs of injury or death are admissible in evidence for no purpose other than to show their sufficiency, or that they have been furnished as required. They are not evidence of any facts stated therein, such as the cause of death.[34]

In Hall v. American Masonic Acc. Assoc., 86 Wis. 518, 57 N. W. 366, where the question was whether a fall from a wagon was the sole cause of death, it was held that a statement, "It was a hard one," made by insured to a witness when getting up after having fallen from the wagon, and meaning that he was badly hurt, and also a statement made by insured to a customer at his store the same evening, "I am feeling badly," and a statement to his wife, made on returning home, that "his head was terrible," were admissible as part of the res gestæ.

26. Steinhausen v. Preferred Mut. Acc. Assoc., 59 Hun (N. Y.) 336, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 36.

27. Rens v. Northwestern Mut. Relief Assoc., 100 Wis. 266, 75 N. W. 991.

28. Employer's Liability Assur. Corp. v. Rochelle, 13 Tex. Civ. App. 232, 35 S. W. 869.

29. Travelers Ins. Co. v. Sheppard, 85 Ga. 751, 12 S. E. 18, where it was shown that insured and two of the witnesses were on a hunt; that the witnesses left insured to go down the river in a boat while they went by land, and that one witness shortly after heard a gunshot, and, on running to the boat, found that insured had disappeared, whereupon he called the other witness and they both began to search for insured. It was held that the spontaneous declarations of the first witness to the other, when informing him of the disappearance of insured, and also while prosecuting the search, and evidence that first witness looked "wild and excited," were admissible as a part of the res gestæ.

30. Masons' Fraternal Acc. Assoc. v. Riley, 65 Ark. 261, 45 S. W. 684.

31. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Askew, 11 Tex. Civ. App. 59, 32 S. W. 31.

32. Baltimore, etc., Employees' Relief Assoc. v. Post, 122 Pa. St. 579, 15 Atl. 885, 9 Am. St. Rep. 147, 2 L. R. A. 44.

33. Travelers Ins. Co. v. Sheppard, 85 Ga. 751, 12 S. E. 18.

34. Georgia.— Travelers Ins. Co. v. Sheppard, 85 Ga. 751, 12 S. E. 18.

Maryland.— Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Nicklas, 88 Md. 470, 41 Atl. 906.

Michigan.— Cook v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 84 Mich. 12, 47 N. W. 568.

Missouri.— Crenshaw v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 63 Mo. App. 678.

Pennsylvania.— Peoples Mut. Assoc. v. Smith, 126 Pa. St. 317, 17 Atl. 605, 12 Am. St. Rep. 870, 24 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 33.

Wisconsin.— Foster v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 99 Wis. 447, 75 N. W. 69, 40 L. R. A. 833.

q. Receipt for Benefits. The knowledge of insured as to the meaning of the phrase "total disability to labor" cannot be shown by receipts for benefits given by insured when a former member of the association.[35]

r. Written Statement of Family Physician. The statement of insured's family physician as to insured's physical condition, procured and sent to the insurer at its request, is admissible in evidence to show a waiver by the insurer of the formal proofs of loss entitling insured to the full amount of the policy for the loss of both legs.[36]

4. Weight and Sufficiency. The plaintiff is not required to make out his case by evidence establishing it beyond a reasonable doubt. A fair preponderance of evidence is sufficient to show either that death was the result of accident;[37] that the policy was duly executed;[38] that the proofs of loss required by the policy have been forwarded;[39] or the occupation of insured.[40] The same rule is applicable to a defense put forward by the insurer,[41] as that the policy has been cancelled,[42]

35. Baltimore, etc., Employees' Relief Assoc. v. Post, 122 Pa. St. 579, 15 Atl. 885, 9 Am. St. Rep. 147, 2 L. R. A. 44.

36. Sheanon v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 83 Wis. 507, 53 N. W. 878.

37. Death result of accident.— Thus in the following cases there was held to be sufficient evidence to show that death was caused by accidental means:

Stout v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., (Cal. 1900) 62 Pac. 732, where insured came to his death in an overturned boat, and his son, who was with him at the time, testified that, as the boat turned over, his father was struck a blow on the head, which experts testified might cause death, even though the coroner's inquest resulted in a verdict of death from heart disease.

Prader v. National Masonic Acc. Assoc., 95 Iowa 149, 63 N. W. 601, where insured broke his leg, which turned black, the discoloration extending finally to the whole body, insured being in great pain at the time of his death.

Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Thomas, (Ky. 1891) 17 S. W. 275, where insured, a well and strong man, became sick immediately after his injury and never recovered from the sickness or the wound, although the physicians attending him testified that he died of typhoid fever, which could not be produced by a bruise, and his nurse, while stating that he did not have typhoid fever, admitted that he had some other fever which it was admitted might be produced by a bruise.

Landon v. Preferred Acc. Ins. Co., 43 N. Y. App. Div. 487, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 188, where insured, having started for a certain place to do some collecting, disappeared and was never seen again until his dead body was found floating in the water.

Ætna L. Ins. Co. v. Hicks, (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 56 S. W. 87, where insured, having had symptoms of typhoid fever, and having taken a railroad trip, contrary to the advice of his physician, and hurt his back, suffered the following day from internal symptoms and died two days afterward, two physicians testifying that there were no symptoms of typhoid fever after the accident, and that death was caused wholly by the injury.

Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Egbert, 84 Fed. 410, 55 U. S. App. 200, 28 C. C. A. 281, where the insured, being in good health, took his pistol and left the house before daylight in his night-shirt, telling his wife that he was going down to settle those dogs, and his dead body was found in a lot near the gate with two pistol-shot or gunshot wounds, around which his shirt was burned with powder.

Mere hypothesis of medical expert insufficient.— The mere hypothesis of a medical expert that the death of insured, which occurred some time after the alleged injury, was indirectly caused thereby, is insufficient to establish the fact that death was so caused. Thurber v. Commercial Travelers' Mut. Acc. Assoc., 32 N. Y. App. Div. 636, 52 N. Y. Suppl. 1071.

38. Due execution of policy.— Thus in Bickford v. Travelers Ins. Co., 67 Vt. 418, 32 Atl. 230, under a rule of court providing that, in an action on an instrument purporting to have been signed by defendant, no proof of its execution is necessary unless defendant denies such execution by filing notice, it was held that in the absence of such denial the possession of a policy was prima facie proof of its execution.

39. That proofs of loss were forwarded.— Thus in Lampkin v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 11 Colo. App. 249, 52 Pac. 1040, it was held that the testimony of plaintiff that the proofs of loss required by the policy had been forwarded made a prima facie case on that issue.

40. Occupation of insured.— In Murphey v. American Mut. Acc. Assoc., 90 Wis. 206, 62 N. W. 1057, where insured testified that at the time he was "cutting cord-wood," and that afterward he was "framing timbers — framing sets and caps," and other witnesses testified that he was not a carpenter, the evidence was held insufficient to sustain a finding that such was his occupation.

41. Butero v. Travelers' Acc. Ins. Co., 96 Wis. 536, 71 N. W. 811; New York Acc. Ins. Co. v. Clayton, 19 U. S. App. 304, 59 Fed. 559, 8 C. C. A. 213.

42. Cancellation of policy.— But a receipt for indemnity giving the number of the policy and stating that it is in full satisfaction and final settlement of any and all claims for loss resulting from injuries received on a certain date under the policy, "which is hereby surrendered," is not sufficient to show or that death resulted from disease,[43] intentional injury,[44] intoxication,[45] suicide,[46] or voluntary exposure to unnecessary danger.[47]

H. Trial — 1. Nonsuit. A nonsuit on the ground of forfeiture should not be granted.[48] a cancellation thereof. Martin v. Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co., 151 N. Y. 94, 45 N. E. 377 [affirming 60 Hun (N. Y.) 535, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 309].

43. Death resulting from disease.— Thus in Tennant v. Travellers' Ins. Co., 31 Fed. 322, where insured, who was subject to epileptic fits, was found in a plunge-bath in an almost standing position, the water having a temperature of about one hundred degrees, with an abrasion between his eyes and a bruise on one side of his head, testimony of his physician that the entrance into the bath of one in his then condition would be likely to result in an epileptic attack, and that the fall or blow which caused the abrasion or bruise was not sufficient to have caused death, is sufficient to show that death was not caused by external, violent, or accidental means. But evidence of sudden deafness immediately preceding a fall does not conclusively show that the fall was caused by fits or vertigo. Interstate Casualty Co. v. Bird, 18 Ohio Cir. Ct. 488. Nor does evidence that just prior to the fall deceased was seen to stagger. Meyer v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 96 Iowa 378, 65 N. W. 328, 59 Am. St. Rep. 374. And a defense that the hernia which caused death existed previous to the accident is not established by testimony of insured's physician that the insured stated to him, after the accident, that he never before to his knowledge had a rupture or any such trouble, but that he had "noticed a little lump there" at times for about eight years back, where the insured's mother and brother testify that they had never seen any indication of hernia on insured, and the weight of evidence is clearly against the possibility of his having been afflicted with hernia previous to the injury. Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Murray, 16 Colo. 296, 26 Pac. 774, 25 Am. St. Rep. 267.

44. Death from intentional injury.— Thus in Butero v. Travelers' Acc. Ins. Co., 96 Wis. 536, 71 N. W. 811, the evidence was held sufficient to show that insured was murdered, and that the murderer knew his victim when he fired, where it appeared that insured was shot from behind and from so near as to burn his clothes while working on a dark night with two lights burning near him.

45. Death from intoxication.— In Prader v. National Masonic Acc. Assoc., 95 Iowa 149, 63 N. W. 601, however, the evidence was insufficient to show that the injury resulted from intoxication, where it appeared that insured and two companions started on a hunting-trip with a quart bottle of whisky; that each drank some of the whisky, but that there was some left in the bottle when they returned home; that insured drank two glasses of wine at the house of a friend, but that he did not appear to be intoxicated.

46. Suicide.— Thus in Rens v. Northwestern Mut. Relief Assoc., 100 Wis. 266, 75 N. W. 991, the evidence was held sufficient to show suicide where it showed that insured frequently threatened to kill himself when intoxicated, and that the day prior to his death, being intoxicated, he attempted to cut his throat, saying to his mother "Good-bye, for the last time;" that on the following day he attempted to borrow firearms, but, failing, purchased a revolver, which he took to his home, saying that he would never see another sun rise; that he resisted an attempt to take the revolver from him, and shortly afterward was found dead. But the mere fact that insured was found dead with a pistol-shot wound is not sufficient to establish the fact of suicide. Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Nicklas, 88 Md. 470, 41 Atl. 906.

47. Voluntary exposure to danger.— In De Greayer v. Fidelity, etc., Co., (Cal. 1899) 58 Pac. 390, the evidence was held insufficient to establish the fact that insured voluntarily exposed himself to unnecessary danger, it appearing that he, on being overtaken by a policeman while driving, was shot and killed in a quarrel which ensued; that after being shot he fired his pistol at the policeman, it not being positively shown that he took the pistol from his pocket until after he had been shot, one witness testifying that he saw insured take something from his pocket, and another testifying that he saw nothing in insured's hand.

Evidence is insufficient to justify the conclusion that the insured was engaged at the time of the injury in a more hazardous occupation, where it is merely shown that insured classified as an extra conductor and was performing work as a brakeman. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Koen, 11 Tex. Civ. App. 273, 33 S. W. 133.

Evidence that the insured continued to work for his employer after the period the instalment for which remained unpaid has been held to be insufficient to show that he had left sufficient money with his employer to pay the instalment. Farrell v. American Employers' Liability Ins. Co., 68 Vt. 136, 34 Atl. 478.

Evidence is sufficient which shows that the death was caused in some other way than that alleged, where the effect of the injury as shown by the evidence is much the same as would have resulted from the injury alleged. Ætna L. Ins. Co. v. Hicks, (Tex. Civ. App. 1900) 56 S. W. 87.

Prima facie evidence of payment of premium is shown by the possession of the policy by the insured. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Chambers, 93 Va. 138, 24 S. E. 896.

48. Carpenter v. American Acc. Co., 46 S. C. 541, 24 S. E. 500, holding that such a nonsuit would be erroneous, even though

2. INSTRUCTIONS — a. In General. An instruction asked upon the trial of an action on an accident-insurance policy, as in other trials, may be erroneous as being argumentative, confusing, and misleading,[49] as being too sweeping in its terms,[50] or as relating to questions not raised by the evidence in the case.[51] Likewise the refusal to give a proper instruction may constitute a harmless error.[52]

b. As to Accidental or Intentional Injury. Whether the wound causing death was inflicted accidentally or intentionally being a matter of inference from equivocal circumstances, it is proper to instruct that a recovery can be had unless the killing of insured was the intentional act of another.[53] And the court may properly cite instances of death by the accidental discharge of a gun to illustrate the meaning of accidental death.[54] Where the jury has been charged that the burden of proof is on the plaintiff to satisfy them, by a fair preponderance of evidence, that insured's death was accidental, and that if the evidence did not fairly and reasonably satisfy them of that fact their verdict should be for the insurer, it is not error to refuse an instruction that if, upon the whole case, they find the evidence evenly balanced, they must find for the insurer.[55] plaintiff's evidence tended to show the forfeiture of the policy, as in any case he would have been entitled to introduce further evidence showing a waiver of forfeiture on the part of the insurer.

49. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Jones, 94 Ala. 434, 10 So. 530, where insured, while in the discharge of his duties, was killed while attempting to descend from a moving engine in the night-time, an instruction that it was the duty of insured to exercise a greater degree of care in getting off a moving engine at night than is necessary by day is bad as being argumentative, confusing, and misleading.

50. Mulville v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 19 Mont. 95, 47 Pac. 650, where an instruction that there can be no recovery if insured, by any act of negligence, contributed to his death, is erroneous as being too sweeping in its terms.

51. Thus in Cram v. Equitable Acc. Assoc., 58 Hun (N. Y.) 11, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 462, the certificate provided that the association would pay to the heirs of insured "the principal sum, not exceeding four thousand dollars, realized upon an assessment," in accordance with the provisions of the by-laws as printed on the back of the certificate. In an action on the certificate it was held that in the absence of evidence showing what amount would have resulted from the making of an assessment in accordance with the by-laws, an instruction to find in favor of plaintiff for the full amount was erroneous.

As to agent's knowledge of insured's occupation.— Where insured is killed while engaged in a different calling from that followed at the time of insurance, an instruction that if the agent knew that insured did other things, and the proof fails to show any wilful intention on the part of insured to conceal the same from him, the amount recoverable under the policy will not be reduced, is erroneous. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Taylor, 12 Tex. Civ. App. 386, 34 S. W. 781.

As to contributory negligence of insured.— An instruction as to the contributory negligence of insured is properly refused where there is no evidence of the cause of insured's fall or of his acts proximate to his death. Badenfeld v. Massachusetts Mut. Acc. Assoc., 154 Mass. 77, 27 N. E. 769, 13 L. R. A. 263.

As to delay in giving notice of injury.— Where no excuse is shown for a delay in giving the notice of injury required by the policy, an instruction that the jury may consider circumstances excusing such delay is improper. Railway Pass. Assur. Co. v. Burwell, 44 Ind. 460.

As to violation of rules of company.— The rule of the company which it is claimed has been violated not being in evidence, an instruction is improper which states that if insured received injuries which caused his death while in the act or attempt to violate the rules of any company or corporation knowingly, then the defendant is not liable. Mulville v. Pacific Mut. L. Ins. Co., 19 Mont. 95, 47 Pac. 650.

52. Freeman v. Travelers Ins. Co., 144 Mass. 572, 12 N. E. 372, wherein it was held that the refusal of an instruction that there was not sufficient evidence to warrant the jury in finding that insured used due diligence for his personal safety and protection is harmless, since the burden of proof is on the insurer to show such fact.

53. Railway Officials, etc., Acc. Assoc. v. Drummond, 56 Nebr. 235, 76 N. W. 562.

Manner of use of weapon.— In Travelers Ins. Co. v. Wyness, 107 Ga. 584, 34 S. E. 113, the issue was as to whether or not insured had been intentionally killed by a third person. It was held that an instruction to the effect that the use of a weapon likely to produce death raised a presumption that he who used it upon another intended to kill, was properly refused, since in order to create such a presumption the weapon must have been used in a manner calculated to cause death.

54. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Egbert, 84 Fed. 410, 55 U. S. App. 200, 28 C. C. A. 281.

55. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Egbert, 84 Fed. 410, 55 U. S. App. 200, 28 C. C. A. 281.

c. As to Voluntary Exposure to Unnecessary Danger. An instruction that the question of whether the circumstances of a particular accident bring it within one of the exceptions by which the company has guarded itself against an accident resulting from voluntary exposure to unnecessary danger is not a question whether the person insured has exercised reasonable care and caution, or whether he has been guilty of negligence or of unlawful acts, but is a question whether or not the insurance company has shown that insured voluntarily exposed himself to unnecessary danger, and that the death resulted in consequence thereof, is proper.[56] Such instruction should point out the necessity of knowledge of, and reasonable cause to apprehend, danger on the part of insured.[57]

3. Questions of Law and Fact — a. Cause of Accident — (I) In General. Where the evidence is conflicting it is for the jury to determine whether the injury was caused by accidental or other means.[58]

(II) Proximate Cause of Death. The question of the proximate cause of death is usually one for the jury,[59] unless from an admitted state of facts the same conclusion would be arrived at by reasonable men, when it becomes a question for the court.[60]

(III) Excepted Risk. It is for the jury to decide whether the injury resulted from some cause excepted in the policy,[61] as that insured had not exercised due diligence for his personal safety and protection,[62] had voluntarily exposed himself

56. De Greayer v. Fidelity, etc., Co., (Cal. 1899) 58 Pac. 390.

57. Carpenter v. American Acc. Co., 46 S. C. 541, 24 S. E. 500. See also Union Casualty, etc., Co. v. Harroll, 98 Tenn. 591, 40 S. W. 1080, 60 Am. St. Rep. 873, where, the defense being that insured came to his death by a voluntary exposure to unnecessary danger, it was held that an instruction that if insured approached the person who shot him, cursing him, and that such person retreated, but that insured continued to advance with threatening demonstrations, although warned not to approach, and that then such person shot insured, his death was not covered by the policy, was erroneous, since it ignored the hypothesis presenting the element of knowledge or reasonable apprehension by insured of the fact that such person was armed and on his continued approach would shoot to kill.

58. Georgia.— Atlanta Acc. Assoc. v. Alexander, 104 Ga. 709, 30 S. E. 939, 42 L. R. A. 188.

Illinois.— Railway Officials, etc., Acc. Assoc. v. Coady, 80 Ill. App. 563.

Missouri.— Hester v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 69 Mo. App. 186.

New York.— Williams v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 60 Hun (N. Y.) 580, 14 N. Y. Suppl. 728; Washburn v. National Acc. Soc., 57 Hun (N. Y.) 585, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 366; Thurber v. Commercial Travelers' Mut. Acc. Assoc., 32 N. Y. App. Div. 636, 52 N. Y. Suppl. 1071; Duncan v. Preferred Mut. Acc. Assoc., 59 N. Y. Super. Ct. 145, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 620; Bailey v. Interstate Casualty Co., 8 N. Y. App. Div. 127, 40 N. Y. Suppl. 513 [affirmed in 158 N. Y. 723, 53 N. E. 1123]; Guldenkirch v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 5 N. Y. Suppl. 428.

United States.— Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Thornton, 100 Fed. 582, 40 C. C. A. 564; Commercial Travelers' Mut. Acc. Assoc. v. Fulton, 93 Fed. 621, 35 C. C. A. 493; Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co. v. Dorgan, 58 Fed. 945, 16 U. S. App. 290, 7 C. C. A. 581, 22 L. R. A. 620.

England.— Trew v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 6 H. & N. 839 [reversing 5 H. & N. 211].

59. Modern Woodman Acc. Assoc. v. Shryock, 54 Nebr. 250, 74 N. W. 607, 39 L. R. A. 826; Martin v. Equitable Acc. Assoc., 61 Hun (N. Y.) 467, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 279. See also Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Melick, 65 Fed. 178, 27 U. S. App. 547, 12 C. C. A. 544, 27 L. R. A. 629, where, insured having accidentally shot himself in the foot, the wound resulting in tetanus or lockjaw, and on the eighteenth day after the accident having been found with his throat cut and a scalpel in his hand, having also evidently been in the embrace of tetanic spasms causing intense agony at the time of his death, there being evidence that either the tetanic spasms or the cut would have sufficed to cause insured's death, and experts differing as to which did cause it, it was held to be a question for the jury to determine.

60. Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Melick, 65 Fed. 178, 27 U. S. App. 547, 12 C. C. A. 544, 27 L. R. A. 629.

61. Myler v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 92 Fed. 861, 63 U. S. App. 352, 35 C. C. A. 55.

62. Illinois.— Columbian Acc. Co. v. Sanford, 50 Ill. App. 424.

Kentucky.— Kentucky L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Franklin, (Ky. 1897) 43 S. W. 709.

New Jersey.— Stone v. U. S. Casualty Co., 34 N. J. L. 371.

New York.— Duncan v. Preferred Mut. Acc. Assoc., 59 N. Y. Super. Ct. 145, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 620, 36 N. Y. St. 928; Pratt v. Travelers' Ins. Co., (N. Y. 1871) 8 Alb. L. J. 88, 7 Am. L. Rev. 595.

United States.— Travelers, etc., Acc. Co. v. Wagley, 74 Fed. 457, 45 U. S. App. 39, 20 C. C. A. 588.

to unnecessary danger,[63] or had been injured while violating the law,[64] while intoxicated,[65] or while engaged in an occupation other or more hazardous than that in which he was engaged when insured.[66] But where the question of voluntary exposure arises on a demurrer to the evidence it is for the trial judge to determine.[67]

b. Extent of Disability. The question as to whether insured has suffered a total or partial disability[68] or the loss of a member is for the jury.[69]

c. Materiality and Truth of Statements in Application. The materiality and truth of the statements in the application is usually a question for the jury to determine.[70]

d. Time of Receiving Assessment. The question whether an assessment has been received by the insurer before or after the happening of an injury is one for the jury.[71]

e. Waiver of Notice and Proofs of Accident. Whether or not there has been a waiver of a clause requiring notice and proofs of accident within a certain time is a question for the jury.[72]

f. Whether Notice Given in Proper Time. Whether or not the notice of injury or death has been furnished within the time prescribed by the policy is a question for the jury;[73] as is also, where the policy requires immediate notice, the question whether or not such a notice has been given within a reasonable time,[74] unless the facts are not in dispute and the inferences certain,[75] or the delay has

63. Illinois.— Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Sittig, 181 Ill. 111, 54 N. E. 903, 48 L. R. A. 359 [affirming 79 Ill. App. 245]; Columbian Acc. Co. v. Sanford, 50 Ill. App. 424.

Iowa.— Follis v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 94 Iowa 435, 62 N. W. 807, 58 Am. St. Rep. 408, 28 L. R. A. 78.

Nebraska.— Rustin v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 58 Nebr. 792, 79 N. W. 712.

New York.— Keeffe v. National Acc. Soc., 4 N. Y. App. Div. 392, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 854; Duncan v. Preferred Mut. Acc. Assoc., 59 N. Y. Super. Ct. 145, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 620, 36 N. Y. St. 928; Hess v. Van Auken, 11 Misc. (N. Y.) 422, 32 N. Y. Suppl. 126.

United States.— Ashenfelter v. Employers' Liability Assur. Corp., 87 Fed. 682, 59 U. S. App. 479, 31 C. C. A. 193; Travelers' Ins. Co. v. Randolph, 78 Fed. 754, 47 U. S. App. 260, 24 C. C. A. 305; Cotten v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 41 Fed. 506.

64. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Fraser, 76 Fed. 705, 44 U. S. App. 694, 22 C. C. A. 499.

65. Follis v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 94 Iowa 435, 62 N. W. 807, 58 Am. St. Rep. 408, 28 L. R. A. 78; Couadeau v. American Acc. Co., 95 Ky. 280, 25 S. W. 6; De Van v. Commercial Travelers' Mut. Acc. Assoc., 92 Hun (N. Y.) 256, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 931 [affirmed in 157 N. Y. 690, 51 N. E. 1090]; Johanns v. National Acc. Soc., 16 N. Y. App. Div. 104, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 117.

66. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Martin, 133 Ind. 376, 33 N. E. 105; Johnson v. London Guarantee, etc., Co., 115 Mich. 86, 72 N. W. 1115, 69 Am. St. Rep. 549, 40 L. R. A. 440; Fox v. Masons' Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 96 Wis. 390, 71 N. W. 363; Hall v. American Masonic Acc. Assoc., 86 Wis. 518, 57 N. W. 366; Standard L., etc., Ins. Co. v. Fraser, 76 Fed. 705, 44 U. S. App. 694, 22 C. C. A. 499.

67. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Chambers, 93 Va. 138, 24 S. E. 896.

68. Sneck v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 88 Hun (N. Y.) 94, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 545.

69. Lord v. American Mut. Acc. Assoc., 89 Wis. 19, 61 N. W. 293, 46 Am. St. Rep. 815, 26 L. R. A. 741.

70. Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Alpert, 67 Fed. 460, 28 U. S. App. 393, 14 C. C. A. 474; Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co. v. Dorgan, 58 Fed. 945, 16 U. S. App. 290, 7 C. C. A. 581, 22 L. R. A. 620.

71. National Masonic Acc. Assoc. v. Burr, 44 Nebr. 256, 62 N. W. 466.

72. American Acc. Co. v. Fidler, (Ky. 1896) 35 S. W. 905; Reynolds v. Equitable Acc. Assoc., 59 Hun (N. Y.) 13, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 738, 17 N. Y. St. 337.

73. Providence L. Ins., etc., Co. v. Martin, 32 Md. 310; Moore v. Wildey Casualty Co., (Mass. 1900) 57 N. E. 673; McFarland v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 124 Mo. 204, 27 S. W. 436; Brown v. Fraternal Acc. Assoc., 18 Utah 265, 55 Pac. 63.

74. Illinois.— Fidelity, etc., Co. v. Weise, 80 Ill. App. 499.

Iowa.— Lyon v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 46 Iowa 631.

Maryland.— Providence L. Ins., etc., Co. v. Martin, 32 Md. 310.

Ohio.— American Acc. Co. v. Card, 13 Ohio Cir. Ct. 154; Crane v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 6 Ohio Dec. 118; Manufacturers' Acc. Indemnity Co. v. Fletcher, 5 Ohio Cir. Ct. 633.

Pennsylvania.— Peoples Mut. Acc. Assoc. v. Smith, 126 Pa. St. 317, 17 Atl. 605, 12 Am. St. Rep. 870, 24 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 33.

Wisconsin.— Foster v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 99 Wis. 447, 75 N. W. 69, 40 L. R. A. 833.

Contra, McFarland v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 124 Mo. 204, 27 S. W. 436.

75. Foster v. Fidelity, etc., Co., 99 Wis. 447, 75 N. W. 69, 40 L. R. A. 833.

been so great that, as a matter of law, it can be said to be unreasonable, in which cases it is a question of law for the court.[76]

g. Whether Refusal or Delay of Payment Vexatious. The question whether there has been a vexatious refusal or delay on the part of the insurer in the payment of a loss should be submitted to the jury.[77]

I. Amount Recoverable — 1. Under Special Provision of Policy — a. In General. The amount of weekly benefits recoverable for inability to labor, being fixed by the charter or by-laws of the association, is not a question of what the jury may deem just.[78]

b. Amount Limited by Income. Where the policy stipulates that the amount of indemnity to which insured shall be entitled "shall be governed and paid in the same ratio that my weekly income bears to the amount of weekly indemnity insured for," the amount of indemnity recoverable is limited to the weekly income of insured, and the fact that the agent of the insurer stated insured's income to be greater than it actually was will not affect the rule.[79]

c. Amount Proportioned on Death or Injury. Under a policy providing for the payment of a certain sum in the event of death, and of a proportionate part of the whole in case of injury, insured is entitled to recover for the expense and suffering occasioned by the injury, but not for his loss of time or profit.[80]

d. Injury Leaving No Visible Mark. Where the policy provides for the payment of a certain sum for injuries or death caused by external, violent, and accidental means leaving a visible mark upon the body, and in an independent paragraph for the payment of one tenth of the face of the policy for injuries or death leaving no visible external mark upon the body, or for injury or death resulting from the intentional act of any person other than insured,— where the death of insured is caused by an injury inflicted by the intentional act of a third person, leaving its visible mark upon his body, the face value of the policy is recoverable.[81]

e. Relating to Assessment. Under a policy stipulating for the payment of a sum dependent upon the amount raised by an assessment upon members of the association, the insurer, where the right to recover has been shown, is prima facie bound to pay the maximum amount of its liability as specified by the policy.[82]

f. Weekly Indemnity — (I) And Loss of Foot. Where the policy provides for the payment of a weekly indemnity in case of disability, and for the payment of a certain sum for the loss of a foot, insured is entitled to recover not only the weekly indemnity for disability, but also the sum for the loss of his foot.[83]

(II) Benefit Accruing after Action Commenced. In assumpsit to recover weekly benefits for inability to labor no recovery can be had for benefits accruing after the commencement of the action.[84]

(III) Dependent on Money Value of Time. Under a policy providing for the payment of a weekly indemnity for loss of time, not to exceed the money value of insured's time, it is not essential that insured prove the money value of his time in the occupation named in the policy. He may recover the money

76. Peoples Mut. Acc. Assoc. v. Smith, 126 Pa. St. 317, 17 Atl. 605, 12 Am. St. Rep. 870, 24 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 23.

77. Brown v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 45 Mo. 221.

78. Baltimore, etc., Employees' Relief Assoc. v. Post, 122 Pa. St. 579, 15 Atl. 885, 9 Am. St. Rep. 147, 2 L. R. A. 44.

79. Howe v. Provident Fund Soc., 7 Ind. App. 586, 595, 34 N. E. 830.

80. Theobald v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 10 Exch. 45.

81. Stephens v. Railway Officials, etc., Acc. Assoc., 75 Miss. 84, 21 So. 710.

82. Arkansas.— Masons' Fraternal Acc. Assoc. v. Riley, 65 Ark. 261, 45 S. W. 684.

Iowa.— Matthes v. Imperial Acc. Assoc., (Iowa 1900) 81 N. W. 484; Hart v. National Masonic Acc. Assoc., 105 Iowa 717, 75 N. W. 508.

Missouri.— McFarland v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 124 Mo. 204, 27 S. W. 436.

Nebraska.— Modern Woodman Acc. Assoc. v. Shryock, 54 Nebr. 250, 74 N. W. 607, 39 L. R. A. 826.

United States.— U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc. v. Barry, 131 U. S. 100, 9 S. Ct. 755, 33 L. ed. 60.

83. Hart v. National Masonic Acc. Assoc., 105 Iowa 717, 75 N. W. 508.

84. Baltimore, etc., Employees' Relief Assoc. v. Post, 122 Pa. St. 579, 15 Atl. 885, 9 Am. St. Rep. 147, 2 L. R. A. 44.

value of his time, not to exceed the stipulated sum, in the occupation in which he was engaged at the time of the accident, provided such occupation is not more hazardous than the one he was insured in.[85]

(iv) Injury Not Fatal in Ninety Days. Where the policy provides for the payment of a certain sum for injuries occasioning death within ninety days from the date of the accident, and for the payment of a certain sum per week not to exceed twenty-six weeks "for any single accident by which the assured shall sustain any personal injury which shall not be fatal," the weekly indemnity is recoverable for an accidental injury which does not occasion death within ninety days, although it finally proves fatal.[86]

(v) No Recovery for Death. No recovery can be had for the death of insured under a policy which provides only for the payment of a weekly indemnity.[87]

2. Upon Vexatious Refusal to Pay Claim. If, upon a full consideration of all the facts and circumstances, the jury conclude that a refusal to pay a loss is unjustifiable and vexatious, the law authorizes them to assess damages therefor,[88] and, it being the duty of the insurer, when a liability has accrued, to pay the same upon receiving the proper notification thereof, interest is payable thereon from the time of the refusal to pay it.[89]

3. Deductions and Offsets — a. Allowance for Injury. Under a certificate providing that sums paid on account of disability resulting from an accident shall be deducted from the principal sum payable in case of death, all allowances made to insured for an injury sustained should be deducted from the amount recoverable in case of death.[90]

b. Wages Received by Insured. Where insured has sustained an injury he is entitled to recover the money value of his loss of time without any deduction for wages paid him by his employer during his disability.[91]

4. Effect of Filing Final Proof of Claim. Where the final proof of claim is filed before the expiration of the time for which indemnity can be recovered under the policy, insured cannot recover for any loss of time after the claim is filed.[92]

J. Verdict and Special Finding. A general verdict for plaintiff, with a special finding that death was caused by a bullet penetrating the heart, is conclusive that death was due to violent and accidental means.[93]

K. Decree Directing Payment of Assessment. A decree, requiring the officers of an accident association, who have not been made parties to the action, to collect and pay an assessment adjudged to be due, is not improper, since it

85. Bean v. Travelers Ins. Co., 94 Cal. 581, 29 Pac. 1113.

86. Perry v. Provident L. Ins., etc., Co., 103 Mass. 242.

87. Dawson v. Accident Ins. Co. of North America, 38 Mo. App. 355.

88. Brown v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 45 Mo. 221.

89. Brown v. Railway Pass. Assur. Co., 45 Mo. 221.

90. Prader v. National Masonic Acc. Assoc., 95 Iowa 149, 63 N. W. 601.

91. Globe Acc. Ins. Co. v. Helwig, 13 Ind. App. 539, 41 N. E. 976, 55 Am. St. Rep. 247.

92. Thus in Bickford v. Travelers' Ins. Co., 67 Vt. 418, 32 Atl. 230, the policy required proof of insured's claim to be filed within seven months after the injury, and the limited time for which insured could recover was fixed at twenty-six consecutive weeks, and it was held that where the final proof of claim was made before the expiration of the twenty-six weeks, no recovery could be had for any time after the claim was filed. But see Hohn v. Inter-State Casualty Co., 115 Mich. 79, 72 N. W. 1105, where it was held that the fact that the proofs of disability covered a period of five weeks only would not prevent a recovery for nine weeks, where the additional proofs were sent long before the expiration of the term within which proofs of duration of disability could be furnished, and the insurer had denied all liability.

93. Warner v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 8 Utah 431, 32 Pac. 696, 22 Ins. L. J. 704.

Special finding that whether insured was killed by a shot fired by himself or by an assassin was unknown must be construed to refer to accidental and not a suicidal shot by insured. Warner v. U. S. Mutual Acc. Assoc., 8 Utah 431, 32 Pac. 696, 22 Ins. L. J. 704.

adds nothing to the force and effect thereof, being merely directory, as to the manner in which the amount found due shall be raised.[94]

L. Appeal. In determining the sufficiency of the complaint the policy cannot be considered as a part thereof when it is not filed therewith and is used only as evidence on the trial, and the evidence is not made a part of the record by bill of exceptions.[95]

ACCIDERE. To come to hand.[1]

ACCOMENDA. A contract whereby a person intrusts property to the master of a vessel to be sold for their joint profit.[2]

ACCOMMODATION. In mercantile language "accommodation" is used for a loan of money.[3] It also signifies a friendly agreement or composition of differences.[4]

ACCOMMODATION LANDS. Lands bought by a builder or speculator who erects houses thereon, and then leases portions thereof, upon an improved ground-rent.[5]

ACCOMMODATION PAPER. See BILLS AND NOTES.

ACCOMMODATION WORKS. Works which a railway company is required to make and maintain for the accommodation of the owners or occupiers of land adjoining the railway, such as gates, culverts, etc.[6]

ACCOMMODATUM. A loan for use without pay where the thing is to be returned in specie.[7] (See also BAILMENTS.)

ACCOMPLIAMENTUM. In old English pleading, an accomplishment.[8]

ACCOMPLICES. See CRIMINAL LAW; INDICTMENTS AND INFORMATIONS.

ACCORD. See ACCORD AND SATISFACTION; ACCORDANT.

94. Prader v. National Masonic Acc. Assoc., 95 Iowa 149, 63 N. W. 601.

95. Travelers' Protective Assoc. v. Gilbert, 101 Fed. 46.

1. Anderson L. Dict.

Used in the expressions quando acciderent (Wilson v. Hurst, Pet. C. C. (U. S.) 441, 442, note, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 17,809) and quando acciderint (Greer v. Willis, 67 Ga. 43, 49; Trimmier v. Thomson, 19 S. C. 247, 251),— when they come to hand.

2. Wharton L. Lex.

3. Rice v. McLarren, 42 Me. 157, 163 [citing Webster Dict.].

"Terms to be accommodating."— By the use of the expression "terms to be accommodating," in a contract for the sale of an article, it is to be understood that the purchase money, or some part of it, should be permitted to remain in the purchaser's hands, as if a loan, for his convenience. Rice v. McLarren, 42 Me. 157, 163.

4. Abbott L. Dict.

5. Wharton L. Lex.

6. Wharton L. Lex. [citing 8 Vict. c. 20, § 68].

7. Anderson L. Dict.

8. Burrill L. Dict. [citing Coke Entr. 227].

ACCORD AND SATISFACTION

EDITED BY SEYMOUR D. THOMPSON*

* Author of "Commentaries on the Law of Private Corporations," "The Law of Negligence," "A Treatise on the Law of Trials," etc., etc.

CROSS-REFERENCES

For the Discharge of Contracts or the Satisfaction of Claims by:
Arbitration, see ARBITRATION AND AWARD.
Composition Agreements, see COMPOSITIONS WITH CREDITORS.
Compromise, see COMPROMISE AND SETTLEMENT.
Release, see RELEASE.
Stated Account, see ACCOUNTS AND ACCOUNTING.
Substitution of New Contract, see NOVATION.
Tender, see TENDER.

I. GENERAL NATURE AND EFFECT.

A. Definition. An "accord" is an agreement whereby one of the parties undertakes to give or perform, and the other to accept in satisfaction of a claim, liquidated or in dispute, and arising either from contract or from tort, something other than or different from what he is or considers himself entitled to; and "satisfaction" is the execution of such agreement.[1]

1. In Hennessy v. St. Paul City R. Co., 65 Minn. 13, 67 N. W. 635, it is held that an accord and satisfaction is the discharge of a contract or cause of action or a disputed claim arising either from a contract or from a tort by the substitution of an agreement between the parties in satisfaction of such contract, cause of action, or disputed claim, and the execution of that agreement.

For other definitions see 3 Bl. Comm. 15; Rapalje & L. L. Dict.; Black L. Dict.; and the following cases:

B. Bars Action on Original Claim. Where an accord has been executed it operates as a complete bar to an action on the original claim,[2] in the absence of fraud, mistake,[3] or duress.[4] If parties accept something different from what they are entitled to they are bound by the acceptance;[5] and a subsequent promise by the debtor to perform or give anything further in satisfaction of the claim is without consideration and void.[6]

An accord and satisfaction does not, however, operate as a bar in regard to matters not contemplated by the agreement.[7]

Connecticut.— Bull v. Bull, 43 Conn. 455.
Illinois.— Ætna Ins. Co. v. Stevens, 48 Ill. 31.
Iowa.— Hall v. Smith, 10 Iowa 45.
Missouri.— Swofford Bros. Dry Goods Co. v. Goss, 65 Mo. App. 55.
New York.— Foersch v. Blackwell, 14 Barb. (N. Y.) 607; City Sav. Bank v. Stevens, 59 N. Y. Super. Ct. 549, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 139; Elkan v. Hitchcock, 15 Misc. (N. Y.) 218, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 788.
Pennsylvania.— Hosler v. Hursh, 151 Pa. St. 415, 25 Atl. 52.
United States.— Way v. Russell, 33 Fed. 5.

Distinguished from compromise.— Defendants, who were owners of timber land, made a contract with certain persons for cutting the timber. Subsequently the contractors assigned their interest in the contract to plaintiff, who proceeded with the work. After he had been engaged thereon for some time defendants claimed that he was violating the contract in such manner as to entitle them to rescind, and they took possession of the land by force. Plaintiff, on the other hand, claimed that he was pursuing his contract rights, and in turn he forcibly ousted defendants. The parties then came together and agreed upon a settlement, put its terms into writing, and partly carried it out. It was held that such an agreement was not an accord, but a compromise, and was a binding contract. Flegal v. Hoover, 156 Pa. St. 276, 27 Atl. 162.

Distinguished from payment or performance.— Payment implies the delivery of value and that it is the value called for by the engagement to be discharged. Abbott L. Dict. Herein it differs from accord and satisfaction, for the latter transaction is a discharge of the obligation by the giving and acceptance of something else than that which the creditor or claimant is entitled to. For cases illustrating this difference see Carter v. Sheriff, 8 N. C. 483; City Sav. Bank v. Stevens, 59 N. Y. Super. Ct. 549, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 139. Accord and satisfaction differs from performance in the same particulars. The latter implies a discharge of the obligation by an exact fulfilment thereof. Franklin F. Ins. Co. v. Hamill, 5 Md. 170.

2. Colorado.— Guldager v. Rockwell, 14 Colo. 459, 24 Pac. 556.
Georgia.— Glaze v. Western, etc., R. Co., 67 Ga. 761; Byrd v. Byrd, 44 Ga. 258.
Kansas.—Kansas City, etc., R. Co. v. Hicks, 30 Kan. 288, 1 Pac. 396.
Massachusetts.— Alden v. Thurber, 149 Mass. 271, 21 N. E. 312; Curley v. Harris, 11 Allen (Mass.) 112.
Michigan.— Allison v. Connor, 36 Mich. 283.
New Jersey.— Oliver v. Phelps, 20 N. J. L. 180.
New York.— Harrison v. Close, 2 Johns. (N. Y.) 448, 3 Am. Dec. 444.
Pennsylvania.— Hosler v. Hursh, 151 Pa. St. 415, 25 Atl. 52; Currier v. Bilger, 149 Pa. St. 109, 24 Atl. 168; Miller v. Second Jefferson Bldg. Assoc., 50 Pa. St. 32; Hisa v. Lucas, 14 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 209.
United States.— Morris's Case, 14 Ct. Cl. 354.
England.— Lane v. Applegate, 1 Stark. 78; Nicklin v. Williams, 10 Exch. 259; Rideal v. Great Western R. Co., 1 F. & F. 706.

3. Guldager v. Rockwell, 14 Colo. 459, 24 Pac. 556; Curley v. Harris, 11 Allen (Mass.) 112.

4. See infra, VII.

5. Onderdonk v. Gray, 19 N. J. Eq. 65.

6. Phelps v. Dennett, 57 Me. 491; Mason v. Campbell, 27 Minn. 54, 6 N. W. 405; Stafford v. Bacon, 1 Hill (N. Y.) 532, 37 Am. Dec. 366 [affirmed in 2 Hill (N. Y.) 353].

Thus, where there has been an accord and satisfaction by the payment and acceptance of a smaller sum (composition with an insolvent debtor), a note given by the debtor to one of the creditors is void for want of consideration. Grant v. Porter, 63 N. H. 229.

7. Illinois.— St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Hurst, 25 Ill. App. 98.
New York.— Bates v. Cobb, 5 Bosw. (N. Y.) 29; Littell v. Ellison, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 294.
Vermont.— Rowell v. Marcy, 47 Vt. 627.
United States.— Scully v. Delamater, 28 Fed. 114.
England.— See also Roberts v. Eastern Counties R. Co., 1 F. & F. 460.

Matters not contemplated in agreement.— A contract of services between plaintiff and decedent provided that if plaintiff and his wife did certain work and spent a certain amount of money in improving decedent's farm he would deed or will the farm to plaintiff. Six months before decedent's death the parties exchanged receipts "in full of all claims, debts, and demands of every name and nature up to this date," and in which plaintiff accepted a lease of the dwelling-house on the farm for four months from that date. It was held that this transaction did not include plaintiff's claim to have the farm on the testator's death, because the time had not elapsed during which that agreement was by its terms to be performed on the part of deceased, and no claim for damages for its

C. Waiver of Condition of Accord. A condition of an accord or agreement may, like that of any other contract, be waived by the parties.[8]

II. Subject-Matter.

A. Actions Arising Ex Contractu — 1. In General. An accord and satisfaction is a good plea in actions upon simple contracts,[9] or in debt for rent upon a lease for years.[10]

2. Judgments. The authorities are conflicting as to whether accord and satisfaction is a good plea to an action on a judgment. At common law actual payment of a debt of record could not be pleaded in bar of an action for the recovery of the debt;[11] and, a fortiori, a parol accord and satisfaction would not be a good plea. This has been either held or said in a number of decisions.[12] But by 4 Anne, c. 16, § 12, the common-law rule was changed. Under the statute, payment of a debt of record might be pleaded in bar of an action thereon, and it is said that accord and satisfaction also might be so pleaded.[13]

In a number of states it is now held that a parol accord and satisfaction of a judgment is good. In most of these decisions no statutory authorization is mentioned,[14] but in one the court seems to have adopted the English statute as a part of the common law of the state.[15] So it has been said in a recent decision, "The rule has been much broken in upon by statutes and by decisions upon equitable grounds in modern times."[16]

3. Obligations under Seal. An obligation under seal, where such obligation is required to be under seal, can be dissolved only by an instrument of equal dignity; hence a parol accord and satisfaction of such obligation is bad.[17] But non-performance had arisen. Littell v. Ellison, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 294.

8. Cary v. McIntyre, 7 Colo. 173, 2 Pac. 916. In this case it is held that where a contract to deliver lumber has been broken, and a new agreement is entered into founded upon sufficient consideration, the party who is to deliver the lumber may waive performance, on the part of the party who is to accept it, of some of the conditions of the new agreement.

9. See, generally, infra, V, A, B, C.

10. Oliver v. Phelps, 20 N. J. L. 180; Com. Dig. tit. Accord, 196; Peytoe's Case, 9 Coke 77*b*.

11. See Boffinger v. Tuyes, 120 U. S. 198, 7 S. Ct. 529, 30 L. ed. 649.

12. Weber v. Couch, 134 Mass. 26, 45 Am. Rep. 274; Riley v. Riley, 20 N. J. L. 114; Mitchell v. Hawley, 4 Den. (N. Y.) 414, 47 Am. Dec. 260; Garvey v. Jarvis, 54 Barb. (N. Y.) 179.

13. Boffinger v. Tuyes, 120 U. S. 198, 7 S. Ct. 529, 30 L. ed. 649.

14. Indiana.— Jones v. Ransom, 3 Ind. 327.

Maryland.— McCullough v. Franklin Coal Co., 21 Md. 256.

Pennsylvania.— See Mason v. Wickersham, 4 Watts & S. (Pa.) 100.

Vermont.— Cobb v. Cowdery, 40 Vt. 25, 94 Am. Dec. 370.

Wisconsin.— Reid v. Hibbard, 6 Wis. 175.

15. Savage v. Everman, 70 Pa. St. 315, 10 Am. Rep. 676.

16. Savage v. Blanchard, 148 Mass. 348, 19 N. E. 396. In this case it appeared that an oral agreement was made in open court between counsel that if plaintiff's attorney, who had indorsed the writ, would allow an indorser for costs to be ordered, he should be relieved when the order was passed. The order was subsequently made with a nonsuit as an alternative, but the attorney was not released of record or his name stricken from the writ, and a new suit was afterward granted. It was held, in an action where the original defendant, the attorney, recovered costs, that the plaintiff could not rely on the nonsuit and repudiate the agreement; that the agreement formed a good defense to the action by way of accord and satisfaction, though by parol.

17. Arkansas.— Levy v. Very, 12 Ark. 148; Miller v. Hemphill, 9 Ark. 488.

Indiana.— Milnes v. Vanhorn, 8 Blackf. (Ind.) 198; Woodruff v. Dobbins, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 582.

Kentucky.— McWaters v. Draper, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 494. But compare Savage v. Carter, 2 B. Mon. (Ky.) 512.

Maryland.— Harper v. Hampton, 1 Har. & J. (Md.) 622.

Massachusetts.— Batchelder v. Sturgis, 3 Cush. (Mass.) 201.

North Carolina.— Smith v. Brown, 10 N. C. 580; Cabe v. Jameson, 32 N. C. 193, 51 Am. Dec. 386; State v. Cordon, 30 N. C. 179; Ligon v. Dunn, 28 N. C. 133; State Bank v. Littlejohn, 18 N. C. 563.

England.— Rogers v. Payn, 2 Wils. C. P. 376; Snow v. Franklin, 1 Lutw. 358; Neal v. Sheaffield, Cro. Jac. 254; Noyes v. Hopgood, Cro. Jac. 649; Alden v. Blague, Cro. Jac. 99; Preston v. Christmas, 2 Wils. C. P. 86; Worthington v. Wigley, 3 Bing. N. Cas. 454; Spence v. Healey, 8 Exch. 668; West v. Blakeway, 2 Man. & G. 729; Berwick-upon-Tweed v. Oswald, 1 E. & B. 295, 72 E. C. L. 295; Kaye v. Waghorn, 1 Taunt. 428; after a breach of the covenant has accrued, an accord executed is a good plea in discharge of the damages accruing by reason of the breach.[18] Where, however, money is due by the condition of the instrument, and defendant has by statute a right to be discharged by bringing the principal and interest into court, an accord and satisfaction by parol is good.[19] So a parol accord and satisfaction has been held good where it has induced the breach for which plaintiff seeks to recover. He will not be permitted to recover on a technical fraud thus produced.[20] It has also been held that although such an agreement is not operative at law it would nevertheless be enforceable in equity[21] on the ground that in a court of equity the agreements of parties are respected without regard to their being under seal or not,[22] and that it will constitute a good defense in an action at law, in jurisdictions where, by virtue of statutory authorization, equitable defenses may be pleaded in actions at law.[23]

B. Actions Arising Ex Delicto. An accord and satisfaction is a good plea in all actions founded upon torts,— actions in which damages only are sought to be recovered,[24] as in actions of trespass,[25] mayhem,[26] conspiracy,[27] maintenance,[28] libel,[29] detinue,[30] or ravishment of ward.[31]

C. Real Actions. Accord and satisfaction is no plea in a real action where Parker v. Ramsbottom, 3 B. & C. 257; Lowe v. Eginton, 7 Price 604; Cordwent v. Hunt, 8 Taunt. 596; Covill v. Geffery, 2 Rolle 96.

Canada.— Robison v. Flanigan, 22 U. C. Q. B. 417; Prindle v. McCann, 4 U. C. Q. B. 228.

Compare Barelli v. O'Conner, 6 Ala. 617.

See also, generally, RELEASE.

Deed only can be pleaded in accord and satisfaction to a bond. Levy v. Very, 12 Ark. 148; Ligon v. Dunn, 28 N. C. 133.

Note under seal.— If an intestate at his death is indebted on a note under seal, and the administrator renews the note, signing his name "A. B., Administrator of C. D., Dec'd.," the renewed note is an accord and satisfaction of the old note, and the debt becomes the debt of the administrator. The latter note, being under seal, is of as high dignity as the former. Erwin v. Carroll, 1 Yerg. (Tenn.) 145.

The rule in New York.— The rule stated in the text does not seem to obtain in New York. It is there held that an executed parol agreement upon a sufficient consideration may operate to discharge the stipulations of a contract under seal. Dearborn v. Cross, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 48; Lawrence v. Barker, 9 Daly (N. Y.) 140; Townsend v. Empire Stone Dressing Co., 6 Duer (N. Y.) 208. See also Fleming v. Gilbert, 3 Johns. (N. Y.) 528.

18. Arkansas.— Levy v. Very, 12 Ark. 148.

Illinois.— Capital City Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Detwiler, 23 Ill. App. 656.

Indiana.— Cutler v. Cox, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 178, 18 Am. Dec. 152.

Kentucky.— Payne v. Barnet, 2 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 312.

Maryland.— Franklin F. Ins. Co. v. Hamill, 5 Md. 170; Harper v. Hampton, 1 Har. & J. (Md.) 622.

New Hampshire.— Moody v. Leavitt, 2 N. H. 171.

New Jersey.— Neldon v. Smith, 36 N. J. L. 148.

New York.— Mitchell v. Hawley, 4 Den. (N. Y.) 414, 47 Am. Dec. 260.

North Carolina.— Smith v. Brown, 10 N. C. 580; Cabe v. Jameson, 32 N. C. 193, 51 Am. Dec. 386; State v. Cordon, 30 N. C. 179.

United States.— Boffinger v. Tuyes, 120 U. S. 198, 7 S. Ct. 529, 30 L. ed. 649.

England.— Alden v. Blague, Cro. Jac. 99; Kaye v. Waghorn, 1 Taunt. 428; Snow v. Franklin, 1 Lutw. 358.

Canada.— Boyard v. Partridge, Taylor (U. C.) 406; Greene v. Harris, 24 N. Brunsw. 496. Compare McIntyre v. Kingston, 4 U. C. Q. B. 471.

Actions against sureties on bond.— Accord and satisfaction may be pleaded to the damages in an action against the surety on an employee's bond for faithful performance of duty (Morris Canal, etc., Co. v. Van Vorst, 21 N. J. L. 100), or in an action against the surety on an appeal bond (Boffinger v. Tuyes, 120 U. S. 198, 7 S. Ct. 529, 30 L. ed. 649).

19. Keeler v. Salisbury, 33 N. Y. 648 [affirming 27 Barb. (N. Y.) 485]; Strang v. Holmes, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 224.

20. Leavitt v. Savage, 16 Me. 72; Herzog v. Sawyer, 61 Md. 344.

21. Smitherman v. Kidd, 36 N. C. 86; Steeds v. Steeds, 22 Q. B. D. 537.

22. Smitherman v. Kidd, 36 N. C. 86.

23. Steeds v. Steeds, 22 Q. B. D. 537.

24. Andrew v. Boughey, 1 Dyer 75*b*; Peytoe's Case, 9 Coke 77*b*.

25. Oliver v. Phelps, 20 N. J. L. 180; Andrew v. Boughey, 1 Dyer 75*b*; Peytoe's Case, 9 Coke 77*b*.

Ejectment.— Accord and satisfaction is a good plea in ejectment. "The trespass and ejectment are so woven and mixed together that they cannot be severed." Peytoe's Case, 9 Coke 77*b*, 78*b*.

26. Peytoe's Case, 9 Coke 77*b*.

27. Andrew v. Boughey, 1 Dyer 75*b*; Peytoe's Case, 9 Coke 77*b*.

28. Andrew v. Boughey, 1 Dyer 75*b*; Peytoe's Case, 9 Coke 77*b*.

29. Boosey v. Wood, 3 H. & C. 484.

30. Peytoe's Case, 9 Coke 77*b*.

31. Peytoe's Case, 9 Coke 77*b*.

the inheritance or freehold is to be recovered, although the satisfaction is of as high a nature as the right of freehold.[32]

D. Writs of Error. An accord and satisfaction has been held to be a good plea in bar of a writ of error.[33]

III. Elements and Requisites.

A. The Agreement. As is the case with other contracts an accord and satisfaction requires an agreement — an aggregatio mentium.[34] If the obligation sought to be extinguished arises from contract it requires the substitution of a new agreement in place of the old one,[35] and if the obligation arises in tort, the substitution of an original agreement in its place. The agreement may be either express or implied.[36]

B. Consideration — 1. Necessity. A consideration is necessary to render the accord and satisfaction valid. Without consideration it is nudum pactum.[37]

2. Sufficiency. The consideration may present itself in many different shapes, but in some form or other it must be found. There must be some advantage, or presumed or assumed advantage, accruing to the party who yields his claim, or some detriment to the other party.[38] If, however, there is a new consideration, the

32. Vernon's Case, 4 Coke 1*a*; Peytoe's Case, 9 Coke 77*b*.

33. Salmon v. Pixlee, 2 Day (Conn.) 242 [four judges dissenting]; Atlanta, etc., R. Co. v. Blanton, 80 Ga. 563, 6 S. E. 584. Compare Potter v. Smith, 14 Johns. (N. Y.) 444, 445, in which it is said "it is doubtful at least whether an accord and satisfaction can be pleaded in bar of a writ of error, notwithstanding the case of Salmon v. Pixlee, 2 Day (Conn.) 242."

34. Fuller v. Kemp, 138 N. Y. 231, 33 N. E. 1034, 20 L. R. A. 785; Hennessy v. St. Paul City R. Co., 65 Minn. 13, 67 N. W. 635.

A compromise is not a necessary element of an accord and satisfaction. Goodrich v. Sanderson, 35 N. Y. App. Div. 546, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 881.

See, generally, Compromise and Settlement.

35. Nassoiy v. Tomlinson, 148 N. Y. 326, 42 N. E. 715, 51 Am. St. Rep. 695 [reversing 75 Hun (N. Y.) 613]; Jaffray v. Davis, 124 N. Y. 164, 26 N. E. 351, 11 L. R. A. 710; Darnall v. Morehouse, 36 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 511. See also Bidder v. Bridges, 37 Ch. D. 406.

36. Griffin v. Petty, 101 N. C. 380, 7 S. E. 729; Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Gordon, 70 Tex. 80, 86, 7 S. W. 695, wherein the court say: "That an accord may be based on an implied contract we do not doubt, but before a right will be deemed to have been so surrendered the implication must be one necessarily arising."

37. Alabama.— Logan v. Austin, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 476.

Arkansas.— Levy v. Very, 12 Ark. 148.

Connecticut.—Goodrich v. Stanley, 24 Conn. 613.

Florida.— Sanford v. Abrams, 24 Fla. 181, 2 So. 373; May v. Gamble, 14 Fla. 467.

Georgia.— Richmond, etc., R. Co. v. Walker, 92 Ga. 485, 17 S. E. 604.

Indiana.— Ritenour v. Mathews, 42 Ind. 7; Stone v. Lewman, 28 Ind. 97; Bright v. Coffman, 15 Ind. 371, 77 Am. Dec. 96.

Kentucky.—Wriston v. Lacy, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 219; Commonwealth Bank v. Letcher, 3 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 195; Davis v. Noaks, 3 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 494.

Massachusetts.— Bragg v. Danielson, 141 Mass. 195, 4 N. E. 622; Stevens v. Hathorne, 12 Allen (Mass.) 402.

Michigan.— Hewitt v. Flint, etc., R. Co., 67 Mich. 61, 34 N. W. 659.

New York.— Nassoiy v. Tomlinson, 148 N. Y. 326, 42 N. E. 715, 51 Am. St. Rep. 695 [reversing 75 Hun (N. Y.) 613]; Fuller v. Kemp, 138 N. Y. 231, 33 N. E. 1034, 20 L. R. A. 785; Foersch v. Blackwell, 14 Barb. (N. Y.) 607.

Pennsylvania.— Martin v. Frantz, 127 Pa. St. 389, 18 Atl. 20, 14 Am. St. Rep. 859; Diller v. Brubaker, 52 Pa. St. 498, 91 Am. Dec. 177; Mt. Holly Water Co. v. Mt. Holly Springs, 10 Pa. Super. Ct. 162.

Rhode Island.— Rose v. Daniels, 8 R. I. 381.

South Carolina.— Smith v. Keels, 15 Rich. (S. C.) 318.

Vermont.— French v. Raymond, 39 Vt. 623.

United States.— Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Clark, 92 Fed. 968.

England.— White v. Bluett, 23 L. J. Exch. 36.

Thus, if one wrongfully dispossesses another of his chattels and land, and then restores them on a promise from the other that he will not bring action, the promise will not be binding, as it is without consideration. Foersch v. Blackwell, 14 Barb. (N. Y.) 607. To the same effect see Smith v. McCall, 48 Vt. 422; Keeler v. Neal, 2 Watts (Pa.) 424.

38. Davis v. Noaks, 3 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 494; Keeler v. Neal, 2 Watts (Pa.) 424; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Clark, 92 Fed. 968; Andrew v. Boughey, 1 Dyer 75*a*.

New consideration held sufficient.— Where a deed made in consideration of an existing debt is void for undue influence, such debt and further advances are a sufficient consideration to support an agreement of accord and satisfaction made between the grantee and the court will in no case inquire into its reasonableness [39] or undertake to interfere with the estimate of the value placed on the consideration by the parties themselves.[40] Mere inadequacy of consideration constitutes no ground of impeachment more than in other classes of contracts. It is enough if it appears that the creditor receives any distinct benefit from the substituted contract which otherwise he would not have had.[41]

C. Giving and Acceptance in Satisfaction. To constitute a valid accord and satisfaction it is also essential that what is given or agreed to be performed should be offered as a satisfaction and extinction of the original demand; that the debtor shall intend it as a satisfaction of such obligation,[42] and it is equally essential that the creditor should have accepted it with the intention that it should operate as a satisfaction.[43] Both the giving and acceptance in satisfac-grantor's heirs after her death. German Sav., etc., Soc. v. De Lashmutt, 83 Fed. 33. So an agreement by a debtor, at a creditor's request and for his accommodation, to give new notes for smaller sums, so as to enable the creditor to sue before a justice of the peace, operates as an accord and satisfaction of the original note for which they were exchanged and is supported by sufficient consideration. In re Dixon, 2 McCrary (U. S.) 556. For other specific instances in which the consideration was held sufficient see infra, V.

39. Alabama.— Singleton v. Thomas, 73 Ala. 205.

Connecticut.— Bull v. Bull, 43 Conn. 455.

Maryland.— Stockton v. Frey, 4 Gill (Md.) 406, 45 Am. Dec. 138.

Pennsylvania.— Tucker v. Murray, 2 Pa. Dist. 497.

Wisconsin.— Palmer v. Yager, 20 Wis. 91; Williams v. Phelps, 16 Wis. 80.

England.— Pinnel's Case, 5 Coke 117*a*; Curlewis v. Clark, 3 Exch. 375. Contra, Cumber v. Wane, 1 Str. 426.

Canada.— Weldon v. Vaughan, 18 N. Brunsw. 70.

40. Singleton v. Thomas, 73 Ala. 205.

41. Pope v. Tunstall, 2 Ark. 209; Palmer v. Yager, 20 Wis. 91.

42. California.— Hogan v. Burns, (Cal. 1893) 33 Pac. 631.

Indiana.— Hancock v. Yaden, 121 Ind. 366, 23 N. E. 253, 16 Am. St. Rep. 396, 6 L. R. A. 576; Dupay v. Robbins, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 473.

Kentucky.— Com. v. Miller, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 205.

Maine.— Cushing v. Wyman, 44 Me. 121.

Massachusetts.— Rindge v. Coleraine, 11 Gray (Mass.) 157; Howe v. Mackay, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 44.

Ohio.— Detroit F. & M. Ins. Co. v. Commercial Ins. Co., 1 Clev. L. Rec. 81.

Rhode Island.— Heath v. Doyle, 18 R. I. 252, 27 Atl. 333.

South Carolina.— Watson v. Owens, 1 Rich. (S. C.) 111.

Vermont.— Preston v. Grant, 34 Vt. 201.

United States.— Maze v. Miller, 1 Wash. (U. S.) 328, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,362.

England.— Paine v. Masters, 1 Str. 573; Graham v. Gibson, 4 Exch. 768.

43. Arkansas.— Ballard v. Noaks, 2 Ark. 45; Blunt v. Williams, 27 Ark. 374.

California.— Hogan v. Burns, (Cal. 1893) 33 Pac. 631.

Colorado.— Barnum v. Green, 13 Colo. App. 254, 57 Pac. 757.

Georgia.— Georgia R. Co. v. Olds, 77 Ga. 673.

Illinois.—American v. Rimpert, 75 Ill. 228; Allen v. Breusing, 32 Ill. 505.

Indiana.— Frick v. Algeier, 87 Ind. 255; Western Union Tel. Co. v. Buchanan, 35 Ind. 429, 9 Am. Rep. 744; Jones v. Mills, 14 Ind. 436.

Iowa.— Jones v. Fennimore, 1 Greene (Iowa) 134.

Kentucky.— Reed v. Hipple, (Ky. 1897) 40 S. W. 251; Donnelly v. Pepper, 91 Ky. 363, 15 S. W. 879; McDonald v. Patton, Ky. Dec. 295; Payne v. Barnet, 2 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 312; Peace v. Stennet, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 449; Com. v. Miller, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 205; Haggin v. Williamson, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 8.

Maine.— Young v. Jones, 64 Me. 563; Cushing v. Wyman, 44 Me. 121.

Massachusetts.— Weddigen v. Boston Elastic Fabric Co., 100 Mass. 422; Rindge v. Coleraine, 11 Gray (Mass.) 157; Howe v. Mackay, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 44.

Minnesota.— Duluth Chamber of Commerce v. Knowlton, 42 Minn. 229, 44 N. W. 2; Sobieski v. St. Paul, etc., R. Co., 41 Minn. 169, 42 N. W. 863; Washburn v. Winslow, 16 Minn. 33.

Mississippi.— Burrus v. Gordon, 57 Miss. 93.

Missouri.— Wilkerson v. Bruce, 37 Mo. App. 156; Shaw v. Burton, 5 Mo. 478.

Nebraska.—Van Housen v. Broehl, 58 Nebr. 348, 78 N. W. 628.

New Hampshire.— Gowing v. Thomas, 67 N. H. 399, 40 Atl. 184; Brown v. Spaulding, 63 N. H. 622, 4 Atl. 394; Watson v. Elliott, 57 N. H. 511; Clark v. Dinsmore, 5 N. H. 136.

New Jersey.— Morris Canal, etc., Co. v. Van Vorst, 21 N. J. L. 100.

New York.— Elkan v. Hitchcock, 15 Misc. (N. Y.) 218, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 788; Levenson v. Gillen Pub. Co., 30 Misc. (N. Y.) 454, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 472; Platts v. Walrath, Lalor (N. Y.) 59.

North Carolina.— State Bank v. Littlejohn, 18 N. C. 563.

Ohio.— Detroit F. & M. Ins. Co. v. Commercial Ins. Co., 1 Clev. L. Rec. 81.

Pennsylvania.— Krauser v. McCurdy, 174 Pa. St. 174, 34 Atl. 518; Stone v. Miller, 16 Pa. St. 450; Tucker v. Murray, 2 Pa. Dist.

tion are essential elements, and if they be lacking there can be no accord and satisfaction.[44]

D. Execution of the Accord — 1. NECESSITY. To constitute a bar to an action on the original claim or demand the accord must be fully executed[45] unless the agreement or promise, instead of the performance thereof, is accepted in sat-

497; Spruneberger v. Dentler, 4 Watts (Pa.) 126.

Rhode Island.— Heath v. Doyle, 18 R. I. 252, 27 Atl. 333.

South Carolina.— Smith v. Keels, 15 Rich. (S. C.) 318; Watson v. Owens, 1 Rich. (S. C.) 111.

Texas.— Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Gordon, 70 Tex. 80, 7 S. W. 695; Erath County v. Robinson, 30 Tex. 435.

Vermont.— Miller v. Holden, 18 Vt. 337.

Washington.— Rogers v. Spokane, 9 Wash. 168, 37 Pac. 300.

West Virginia.— Wellsburg First Nat. Bank v. Kimberlands, 16 W. Va. 555.

United States.— Arkansas City First Nat. Bank v. Leech, 94 Fed. 310; Maze v. Miller, 1 Wash. (U. S.) 328, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,362.

England.— Hardman v. Bellhouse, 9 M. & W. 596; Emes v. Widdowson, 4 C. & P. 151; Drake v. Mitchell, 3 East 251; Paine v. Masters, 1 Str. 573; Hall v. Flockton, 20 L. J. Q. B. 208, 16 Q. B. 1039.

Presumption as to acceptance in satisfaction.— The security for the debt, given by different parties for a different sum, will, in the absence of proof of intention of the parties, be presumed to be accepted only as collateral security and not in satisfaction of the debt. Jones v. Johnson, 3 Watts & S. (Pa.) 276, 38 Am. Dec. 760.

44. See supra, cases cited in the two preceding notes.

45. Alabama.— Smith v. Elrod, (Ala. 1898) 24 So. 994; Cobb v. Malone, 86 Ala. 571, 6 So. 6.

Arkansas.— Heaslet v. Spratlin, 54 Ark. 185, 15 S. W. 461; Pope v. Tunstall, 2 Ark. 209; Ballard v. Noaks, 2 Ark. 45.

California.—Simmons v. Oullahan, 75 Cal. 508, 17 Pac. 543; Simmons v. Hamilton, 56 Cal. 493.

Connecticut.— Francis v. Deming, 59 Conn. 108, 21 Atl. 1006; Scutt's Appeal, 43 Conn. 108.

Florida.— Sanford v. Abrams, 24 Fla. 181, 2 So. 373; May v. Gamble, 14 Fla. 467.

Georgia.— Chamblee v. Davie, 88 Ga. 205, 14 S. E. 195; Brunswick, etc., R. Co. v. Clem, 80 Ga. 534, 7 S. E. 84; English v. Reid, 55 Ga. 240; Molyneaux v. Collier, 13 Ga. 406.

Illinois.— Jacobs v. Marks, 183 Ill. 533, 56 N. E. 154; Harding v. Commercial Loan Co., 84 Ill. 251; Spire v. Lovell, 17 Ill. App. 559; Irwin v. Atkins, 7 Ill. App. 17.

Indiana.— Anderson v. Scholey, 114 Ind. 553, 17 N. E. 125; Eichholtz v. Taylor, 88 Ind. 38; Jackson v. Olmstead, 87 Ind. 92; Deweese v. Cheek, 35 Ind. 514; Coquillard v. French, 19 Ind. 274; Harbor v. Morgan, 4 Ind. 158; Woodruff v. Dobbins, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 582.

Iowa.— Bradley v. Palen, 78 Iowa 126, 42 N. W. 623; Merry v. Allen, 39 Iowa 235; Woodward v. Willard, 33 Iowa 542; Hall v. Smith, 10 Iowa 45; Prentress v. Markle, 2 Greene (Iowa) 553; Jones v. Fennimore, 1 Greene (Iowa) 134.

Kentucky.— Elliott v. Dazey, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 268; Groshon v. Grant, Ky. Dec. 268.

Maine.— White v. Gray, 68 Me. 579; Young v. Jones, 64 Me. 563; Dudley v. Kennedy, 63 Me. 465; Webb v. Stuart, 59 Me. 356; Mansur v. Keaton, 46 Me. 346; Cushing v. Wyman, 44 Me. 121.

Maryland.— Flack v. Garland, 8 Md. 188.

Massachusetts.— Field v. Aldrich, 162 Mass. 587, 39 N. E. 288; Herrmann v. Orcutt, 152 Mass. 405, 25 N. E. 735; Dooley v. Potter, 146 Mass. 148, 15 N. E. 499; Stults v. Newhall, 118 Mass. 98; Costello v. Cady, 102 Mass. 140; Cary v. Bancroft, 14 Pick. (Mass.) 315, 25 Am. Dec. 393; Dehon v. Stetson, 9 Metc. (Mass.) 341.

Michigan.— Browning v. Crouse, 43 Mich. 489, 5 N. W. 664.

Minnesota.—Marion v. Heimbach, 62 Minn. 214, 64 N. W. 386; Cannon River Manufacturers' Assoc. v. Rogers, 46 Minn. 376, 49 N. W. 128.

Mississippi.— Burrus v. Gordon, 57 Miss. 93; Whitney v. Cook, 53 Miss. 551; Guion v. Doherty, 43 Miss. 538; Heirn v. Carron, 11 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 361, 49 Am. Dec. 65; Barnes v. Lloyd, 1 How. (Miss.) 584; Starling v. Wyatt, (Miss. 1900) 27 So. 526.

Missouri.— Goff v. Mulholland, 28 Mo. 397; Barton v. Hunter, 59 Mo. App. 610; Giboney v. German Ins. Co., 48 Mo. App. 185.

Nebraska.— Omaha F. Ins. Co. v. Thompson, 50 Nebr. 580, 70 N. W. 30.

New Hampshire.— Kidder v. Kidder, 53 N. H. 561; Kenniston v. Bartlett, 46 N. H. 517; Woodward v. Miles, 24 N. H. 289; Ranlett v. Moore, 21 N. H. 336; Clark v. Dinsmore, 5 N. H. 136.

New Mexico.— Armijo v. Abeytia, 5 N. Mex. 533, 25 Pac. 777; Frick v. Joseph, 2 N. Mex. 138.

New York.— Osborn v. Robbins, 37 Barb. (N. Y.) 481; Mitchell v. Hawley, 4 Den. (N. Y.) 414, 47 Am. Dec. 260; Campbell v. Hurd, 74 Hun (N. Y.) 235, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 458; Smith v. Cranford, 84 Hun (N. Y.) 318, 32 N. Y. Suppl. 375; Panzerbeiter v. Waydell, 21 Hun (N. Y.) 161; Dolsen v. Arnold, 10 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 528; Watkinson v. Inglesby, 5 Johns. (N. Y.) 386; Brooklyn Bank v. De Grauw, 23 Wend. (N. Y.) 342; Daniels v. Hallenbeck, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 408; Hawley v. Foote, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 516; Russell v. Lytle, 6 Wend. (N. Y.) 390, 22 Am. Dec. 537; Day v. Roth. 18 N. Y. 448; Clough v. Murray, 3 Rob. (N. Y.) 7.

Ohio.— Frost v. Johnson, 8 Ohio 393; Ellis v. Bitzer, 2 Ohio 89, 15 Am. Dec. 534.

Pennsylvania.— Hosler v. Hursh, 151 Pa.

isfaction.[46] An accord without satisfaction is no bar, because there is no consideration and no mutuality to support it; the creditor has no means of obtaining satisfaction by enforcing it, and of course derives no satisfaction directly or indirectly from it.[47]

2. Sufficiency — a. In General. An accord is executory so long as something remains to be done in the future.[48] It is sufficiently executed only when all is done which the party agrees to accept in satisfaction of the pre-existing obligation.[49] All that is required, however, is that the debtor should have executed the new contract to that point where it was to operate as a satisfaction of the pre-existing liability.[50] The precise thing agreed to be accepted in satisfaction must be performed. Performance of something not contemplated by the agreement will not suffice.[51]

b. Time of Performance. If no time is fixed for performance, performance within a reasonable time will be sufficient.[52] If time of performance is fixed by the agreement it must be performed at that time;[53] if not, suit may be brought on the original demand[54] unless the time of performance be enlarged by consent of the creditor.[55]

c. Readiness to Perform or Tender of Performance. Mere readiness to perform is insufficient;[56] and while there are a few decisions which seemingly hold

St. 415, 25 Atl. 52; Braunn v. Keally, 146 Pa. St. 519, 23 Atl. 389, 28 Am. St. Rep. 811; Kerr v. O'Connor, 63 Pa. St. 341; Keen v. Vaughan, 48 Pa. St. 477; Schilling v. Durst, 42 Pa. St. 126; Blackburn v. Ormsby, 41 Pa. St. 97; Hearn v. Kiehl, 38 Pa. St. 147, 80 Am. Dec. 472; Reed v. Martin, 29 Pa. St. 179; Brenner v. Herr, 8 Pa. St. 106; Ellison v. Jones, 1 Kulp (Pa.) 273; Alderfer v. Boyer, 7 Montg. Co. Rep. (Pa.) 53; Hieskell v. O'Donnell, 12 Phila. (Pa.) 306; Sprunebergeer v. Dentler, 4 Watts (Pa.) 126; Lance v. Ashton, 2 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 305; Philadelphia v. Devine, 1 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 358.

Rhode Island.— Pettis v. Ray, 12 R. I. 344; Clarke v. Hawkins, 5 R. I. 219.

Texas.— Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Harriett, 80 Tex. 73, 15 S. W. 556; Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Gordon, 70 Tex. 80, 7 S. W. 695; Overton v. Conner, 50 Tex. 113; McGehee v. Shafer, 15 Tex. 198.

Utah.— Whitney v. Richards, 17 Utah 226, 53 Pac. 1122.

Vermont.— Rising v. Cummings, 47 Vt. 345; Gleason v. Allen, 27 Vt. 364.

Washington.— Rogers v. Spokane, 9 Wash. 168, 37 Pac. 300.

Wisconsin.— Ball v. McGeoch, 81 Wis. 160, 47 N. W. 610; Sieber v. Amunson, 78 Wis. 679, 47 N. W. 1126; Schlitz v. Meyer, 61 Wis. 418, 21 N. W. 243; Otto v. Klauber, 23 Wis. 471; Palmer v. Yager, 20 Wis. 91.

United States.— Way v. Russell, 33 Fed. 5; U. S. v. Clarke, Hempst. (U. S.) 315, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,812; Latapee v. Pecholier, 2 Wash. (U. S.) 180, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 8,101.

England.— Evans v. Powis, 1 Exch. 601; Heathcote v. Crookshanks, 2 T. R. 24; Allen v. Harris, 1 Ld. Raym. 122; Lynn v. Bruce, 2 H. Bl. 317; Andrew v. Boughey, 1 Dyer 75*a*; Cock v. Honeychurch, T. Raym. 203, 2 Keb. 690; Case v. Barber, T. Raym. 450; Bree v. Sayler, 2 Keb. 332; Reeves v. Hearne, 1 M. & W. 323; Balston v. Baxter, Cro. Eliz. 304; Stracy v. Bank of England, 6 Bing. 754.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Accord and Satisfaction," §§ 116–122.

Application of rule.— The defense of accord and satisfaction is not made out by showing that plaintiff promised to accept, for labor performed by him, a deed of land from a third person in satisfaction, the deed being executed but not delivered. Burgess v. Denison Paper Mfg. Co., 79 Me. 266, 9 Atl. 726. So where, pending an action of replevin, it was agreed between the parties that plaintiff should dismiss the suit and defendant should deliver to plaintiff certain property in controversy therein, it was held that the agreement did not amount to an accord and satisfaction which would bar the action until delivery was actually made. Ogilvie v. Hallam, 58 Iowa 714, 12 N. W. 730.

46. As showing that the promise itself may be accepted in satisfaction see infra, V, D. See also Coit v. Houston, 3 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 243; White v. Gray, 68 Me. 579; Hosler v. Hursh, 151 Pa. St. 415, 25 Atl. 52, — to the effect that where a new promise or agreement has been accepted in satisfaction of the original claim, a tender of performance of such new promise or agreement is a sufficient execution of the accord to constitute satisfaction in such a case.

47. Bryant v. Gale, 5 Vt. 416.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Accord and Satisfaction," § 123.

48. Bragg v. Pierce, 53 Me. 65.

49. Therasson v. Peterson, 2 Keyes (N. Y.) 636; Babcock v. Hawkins, 23 Vt. 561. See also Edwards v. Bryan, 88 Ga. 248, 14 S. E. 595.

50. Babcock v. Hawkins, 23 Vt. 561.

51. Clark v. Rowling, Lalor (N. Y.) 105. See also Rising v. Cummings, 47 Vt. 345.

52. Jones v. Peet, 1 Swan (Tenn.) 293.

53. Makepeace v. Harvard College, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 298; Piper v. Kingsbury, 48 Vt. 480; Robertson v. Campbell, 2 Call (Va.) 421.

54. Piper v. Kingsbury, 48 Vt. 480.

55. Robertson v. Campbell, 2 Call (Va.) 421.

56. Dudley v. Kennedy, 63 Me. 465; Hearn v. Kiehl, 38 Pa. St. 147, 80 Am. Dec. 472; Blackburn v. Ormsby, 41 Pa. St. 97; Thomas v. Mallory, 6 U. C. Q. B. 521.

that an accord with tender of performance and refusal to accept is equivalent to satisfaction, and may be so pleaded in bar of the action on the original claim,[57] the great weight of authority is directly to the contrary. The majority of decisions are to the effect that tender of performance is in no case equivalent to performance, and therefore not a satisfaction of the original obligation. This rule, however, would not apply in a case where the new agreement or promise, instead of the performance thereof, is accepted in satisfaction, as has been pointed out above in speaking of the necessity of an execution of the accord.[58]

d. Part Performance. Accord and part performance do not constitute a satisfaction.[59] It is merely executory so long as by its terms something remains to be done in the future.[60]

e. Part Performance, Readiness to Perform, or Tender of Performance of Balance. Performance of part and readiness to perform the balance,[61] or per-

57. Heirn v. Carron, 11 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 361, 49 Am. Dec. 65. Compare also Tucker v. Edwards, 7 Colo. 209, 3 Pac. 233, in which it does not appear from the facts set out in the report of the case whether the agreement referred to was itself accepted in satisfaction, or whether the performance of the agreement was to be accepted in satisfaction.

Where debtor uses property after tender.— Where a creditor offers to receive payment in cotton at a certain price, and the debtor tenders it accordingly, and the tender is refused by the creditor, and the debtor retains it and disposes of it as his own, there is no satisfaction. Mayfield v. Cotton, 21 Tex. 1.

58. Illinois.— Spire v. Lovell, 17 Ill. App. 559.

Indiana.— Harbor v. Morgan, 4 Ind. 158.

Kentucky.—McKean v. Reed, Litt. Sel. Cas. (Ky.) 395, 12 Am. Dec. 318.

Maine.— White v. Gray, 68 Me. 579; Young v. Jones, 64 Me. 563.

Massachusetts.— Clifton v. Litchfield, 106 Mass. 34.

Minnesota.— Cannon Rivers Manufacturers' Assoc. v. Rogers, 46 Minn. 376, 49 N. W. 128.

Missouri.— Giboney v. German Ins. Co., 48 Mo. App. 185.

New York.— Noe v. Christie, 51 N. Y. 270; Day v. Roth, 18 N. Y. 448; Hammond v. Christie, 5 Rob. (N. Y.) 160; Tilton v. Alcott, 16 Barb. (N. Y.) 598; Smith v. Cranford, 84 Hun (N. Y.) 318, 32 N. Y. Suppl. 375; Brooklyn Bank v. De Grauw, 23 Wend. (N. Y.) 342; Russell v. Lytle, 6 Wend. (N. Y.) 390, 22 Am. Dec. 537.

North Carolina.— State Bank v. Littlejohn, 18 N. C. 563.

Pennsylvania.— Hosler v. Hursh, 151 Pa. St. 415, 25 Atl. 52; Hearn v. Kiehl, 38 Pa. St. 147, 80 Am. Dec. 472; Klett v. Claridge, 31 Pa. St. 106.

Rhode Island.— Clarke v. Hawkins, 5 R. I. 219.

South Dakota.— Carpenter v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 7 S. D. 584, 64 N. W. 1120.

Texas.— Southern Nat. Bank v. Curtis, (Tex. Civ. App. 1896) 36 S. W. 911.

Vermont.— Gleason v. Allen, 27 Vt. 364; Bryant v. Gale, 5 Vt. 416.

Canada.— Stewart v. Hawson, 7 U. C. C. P. 168.

Application of the rule.— Where the creditor agrees with the debtor to accept a horse in satisfaction of his claim, but refuses to accept the horse when tendered by the debtor, this does not amount to an accord and satisfaction. Harbor v. Morgan, 4 Ind. 158. So an agreement by a creditor to accept stone in satisfaction of his claim is only an accord without satisfaction where he refuses to accept the stone tendered. Gleason v. Allen, 27 Vt. 364.

Specific performance not decreed.— Where a tender is made under the terms of an accord, but the creditor refuses acceptance, equity will not decree specific performance. McKean v. Reed, Litt. Sel. Cas. (Ky.) 395, 12 Am. Dec. 318.

But as to the rights of the parties as under a contract generally see CONTRACTS.

59. Georgia.— Brunswick, etc., R. Co. v. Clem, 80 Ga. 534, 7 S. E. 84.

Kentucky.— Patteson v. Garret, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 112.

Maine.— Bragg v. Pierce, 53 Me. 65.

New York.— Kromer v. Heim, 75 N. Y. 574, 31 Am. Rep. 491; Oliwill v. Verdenhalven, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 94; Van Allen v. Jones, 10 Bosw. (N. Y.) 369; Brennan v. Ostrander, 50 N. Y. Super. Ct. 426.

Vermont.— Bryant v. Gale, 5 Vt. 416.

United States.— Memphis v. Brown, 20 Wall. (U. S.) 289, 22 L. ed. 264 [reversing 1 Flipp. (U. S.) 188, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,415].

England.— Peytoe's Case, 9 Coke 77*b*; Rayne v. Orton, Cro. Eliz. 305.

Complete extinguishment of debt necessary. — To constitute an accord and satisfaction there must be a satisfaction of the entire debt so as to completely extinguish it. Line v. Nelson, 38 N. J. L. 358.

Effect of receiving part performance.— Receiving part of the articles agreed to be delivered in satisfaction of a claim is not a waiver per se of a right to such as were never offered. Patteson v. Garret, 7 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 112.

60. Bragg v. Pierce, 53 Me. 65.

Application of the rule.— Where, under an agreement to discontinue a suit and release a cause of action in consideration of defendant's paying costs and the fees of plaintiff's counsel, if such fees are paid and a tender of costs made this is a simple unexecuted accord and satisfaction. Noe v. Christie, 51 N. Y. 270.

61. Hearn v. Kiehl, 38 Pa. St. 147, 80 Am. Dec. 472; Brown v. Wade, 2 Keb. 851.

formance in part and tender of performance of the balance, are likewise insufficient to constitute a satisfaction.[62]

3. Effect of Unexecuted Accord. An unexecuted accord is not enforceable by action,[63] and inasmuch as there is no satisfaction of the original obligation it remains in force and the creditor's remedy is by action to enforce it.[64]

E. Legality of Subject-Matter. While an accord and satisfaction may be founded on an untenable claim if demanded in good faith and with color of right,[65] it cannot be founded upon an illegal agreement or claim [66] or one in contravention of public policy.[67]

IV. Persons between Whom Made.

A. In General. As regards the power to enter into contracts of accord and satisfaction it is apprehended that there is nothing in the nature of this class of contracts which differentiates them from any other kind of contracts. In other words, any person possessing contractual capacity may enter into a contract of this character.[68]

B. Satisfaction by Stranger — 1. In General. A number of the earlier decisions, both English and American, lay down the rule without qualification that satisfaction moving from a stranger cannot be pleaded in bar of the debtor's obligation.[69] At the present time this is not the law, either in England or in those 62. Kromer v. Heim, 75 N. Y. 574, 31 Am. Rep. 491; Shepard v. Lewis, T. Jones 6; Hall v. Seabright, 2 Keb. 534.

63. Brennan v. Ostrander, 50 N. Y. Super. Ct. 426; Reeves v. Hearne, 1 M. & W. 323.

64. Piper v. Kingsbury, 48 Vt. 480; Crow v. Kimball Lumber Co., 69 Fed. 61, 30 U. S. App. 354, 16 C. C. A. 127; Clark v. Bowen, 22 How. (U. S.) 270, 16 L. ed. 337; Reeves v. Hearne, 1 M. & W. 323.

Applications of rule.— Where there is an agreement to give and accept a smaller sum in satisfaction of a note, provided the claimant would perform certain conditions precedent, and the claimant performs the conditions precedent and the debtor repudiates the agreement, the claimants have the right to treat the agreement as rescinded and sue on the note. Wilson v. Wilson, 30 Ohio St. 365.

It was agreed between a portion of the members of a partnership and their creditors that the former should assign to a trustee and should confess judgment for the creditors, who would thereupon give a receipt in full and cancel the firm's notes. All this was done except the canceling of the notes. Subsequently a solvent partner, who was absent and joined in neither the assignment nor confession, had the judgment vacated as to himself for want of authority in the copartners to bind him by the confession. Afterward the judgment was vacated as to all, and the property was taken from the assignee by a prior claim. It was held that, the whole arrangement having been annulled, the creditor might sue on the notes. Clark v. Bowen, 22 How. (U. S.) 270, 16 L. ed. 337.

65. Fisher v. May, 2 Bibb (Ky.) 448, 5 Am. Dec. 626; Pitkin v. Noyes, 48 N. H. 294, 97 Am. Dec. 615, 2 Am. Rep. 218; Goodrich v. Sanderson, 35 N. Y. App. Div. 546, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 881; Wilder v. St. Johnsbury, etc., R. Co., 65 Vt. 43, 25 Atl. 896.

66. Georgia.— Penitentiary Co. No. 2 v. Gordon, 85 Ga. 159, 11 S. E. 584; Gordon v. Mitchell, 68 Ga. 11.

Iowa.— Smith v. Grable, 14 Iowa 429.

Kentucky.— Martin v. U. S., 4 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 487.

Massachusetts.— Walan v. Kerby, 99 Mass. 1.

New Hampshire.— Kidder v. Blake, 45 N. H. 530.

New York.— Goodrich v. Sanderson, 35 N. Y. App. Div. 546, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 881.

Wisconsin.— Rettinghouse v. Ashland, (Wis. 1900) 82 N. W. 555.

England.— See Edgcombe v. Rodd, 5 East 294.

67. Barber v. State, 24 Md. 383.

68. Accord operative only between parties. — Where the grantor and grantee in a conveyance of land agree that a deduction shall be made from the purchase-price if paid within a certain time, and the grantee conveys the land subject to the debt, the agreement relating to the deduction does not enure to the benefit of his grantee. Harding v. Commercial Loan Co., 84 Ill. 251.

Settlement between owner and bailee for injuries to a third person.— The right of action by the owner of a chattel for injuries done to it while in the bailee's possession is not barred by a settlement between the owner and bailee accompanied by an agreement that the bailee may bring a suit in the owner's name, but at his own risk and expense and for his own benefit. Rindge v. Coleraine, 11 Gray (Mass.) 157.

69. Kentucky.— Groshon v. Grant, 2 Ky. Dec. 268; Owsley v. Thurman, 5 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 127; Stark v. Thompson, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 296.

Maine.— See Brown v. Chesterville, 63 Me. 241.

Missouri.— See Armstrong v. School Dist. No. 3, 28 Mo. App. 169.

New York.— Blum v. Hartman, 3 Daly (N. Y.) 47; Clow v. Borst, 6 Johns. (N. Y.) 37; Bleakley v. White, 4 Paige (N. Y.) 654; states where the decisions were made. It cannot be doubted that if what is given by the stranger is accepted in satisfaction by the creditor and his act is authorized or subsequently ratified by the debtor, there will be a complete accord and satisfaction of the debt or demand.[70]

2. Ratification of Stranger's Act. But in order that the act of the stranger operate as a satisfaction of the debt or demand it must have been authorized by the debtor or subsequently ratified by him.[71] As regards the sufficiency of the ratification it has been held that ratification, even subsequent to the commencement of the suit[72] or at the time of the trial,[73] is sufficient. Any act by which a debtor evinces an intention to ratify will be sufficient. A formal adoption of the third person's act is not necessary. The mere act of setting up by plea a stranger's act as a satisfaction is of itself a ratification.[74]

C. Satisfaction by One of Several Joint Wrongdoers — 1. Statement of the Rule. As a person who has received an injury from the wrongful act of others is entitled to receive but one satisfaction therefor,[75] it necessarily follows that an accord and satisfaction from one of several joint wrongdoers is a satisfaction as to all.[76]

Daniels v. Hallenbeck, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 408; Russell v. Lytle, 6 Wend. (N. Y.) 390, 22 Am. Dec. 537.

England.— Grymes v. Blofield, Cro. Eliz. 541; Edgcombe v. Rodd, 5 East 294.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Accord and Satisfaction," § 22.

Injunctive relief.— An accord and satisfaction moving from a stranger is not pleadable at law, but may constitute ground for injunction and relief in equity. Stark v. Thompson, 3 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 296.

Right of stranger who has paid debt.— A voluntary payment of another's debt by a stranger will give no right of action in the name of the stranger against the debtor. Brown v. Chesterville, 63 Me. 241.

70. Alabama.— Webster v. Wyser, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 184.

Indiana.— Ritenour v. Mathews, 42 Ind. 7.

Iowa.— Harvey v. Tama County, 53 Iowa 228, 5 N. W. 130.

Kentucky.— Woolfolk v. McDowell, 9 Dana (Ky.) 268.

Minnesota.— Schmidt v. Ludwig, 26 Minn. 35, 1 N. W. 803.

New York.— Atlantic Dock Co. v. New York, 53 N. Y. 64; Fowler v. Moller, 10 Bosw. (N. Y.) 374; Rusk v. Soutter, 67 Barb. (N. Y.) 371.

Ohio.— Leavitt v. Morrow, 6 Ohio St. 71, 67 Am. Dec. 334.

Rhode Island.— Bennett v. Hill, 14 R. I. 322.

West Virginia.— Crumlish v. Central Imp. Co., 38 W. Va. 390, 18 S. E. 456, 45 Am. St. Rep. 872, 23 L. R. A. 120.

United States.— Snyder v. Pharo, 25 Fed. 398.

England.— Simpson v. Eggington, 10 Exch. 845; Belshaw v. Bush, 11 C. B. 191; Jones v. Broadhurst, 9 C. B. 173, 67 E. C. L. 173; Welby v. Drake, 1 C. & P. 557.

Canada.— Lynch v. Wilson, 22 U. C. Q. B. 226.

See also, supporting this doctrine, infra, V. A, 1, b, (IV), (IX).

71. Ohio.— Leavitt v. Morrow, 6 Ohio St. 71, 67 Am. Dec. 334.

United States.— Snyder v. Pharo, 25 Fed. 398.

England.—James v. Isaacs, 22 L. J. C. P. 73; Kemp v. Balls, 10 Exch. 607; Goodwin v. Cremer, 22 L. J. Q. B. 30; Simpson v. Eggington, 10 Exch. 845.

72. Belshaw v. Bush, 11 C. B. 191.

73. Simpson v. Eggington, 10 Exch. 845.

74. Leavitt v. Morrow, 6 Ohio St. 71, 67 Am. Dec. 334; Bennett v. Hill, 14 R. I. 322; Snyder v. Pharo, 25 Fed. 398.

75. Stevens v. Hathorne, 12 Allen (Mass.) 402; Arnett v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 64 Mo. App. 368; Barrett v. Third Ave. R. Co., 45 N. Y. 628.

76. Alabama.— Cobb v. Malone, 86 Ala. 571, 6 So. 6; Smith v. Gayle, 58 Ala. 600.

California.— Urton v. Price, 57 Cal. 270; Ransom v. Farish, 4 Cal. 386.

Connecticut.— Ayer v. Ashmead, 31 Conn. 447, 83 Am. Dec. 154.

Georgia.— Donaldson v. Carmichael, 102 Ga. 40, 29 S. E. 135.

Illinois.— Chicago v. Babcock, 143 Ill. 358, 32 N. E. 271; Wagner v. Union Stock Yards, etc., Co., 41 Ill. App. 408.

Iowa.— Metz v. Soule, 40 Iowa 236.

Maine.— Lunt v. Stevens, 24 Me. 534.

Massachusetts.— Goss v. Ellison, 136 Mass. 503; Stevens v. Hathorne, 12 Allen (Mass.) 402; Brown v. Cambridge, 3 Allen (Mass.) 474.

Missouri.— Arnett v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 64 Mo. App. 368.

New Jersey.— Spurr v. North Hudson County R. Co., 56 N. J. L. 346, 28 Atl. 582.

New York.— Barrett v. Third Ave. R. Co., 45 N. Y. 628; Sistare v. Olcott, 15 N. Y. St. Rep. 248; Comstock v. Hopkins, 61 Hun (N. Y.) 189, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 908; Merchants' Bank v. Curtiss, 37 Barb. (N. Y.) 317; Knickerbacker v. Colver, 8 Cow. (N. Y.) 111; Strang v. Holmes, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 224.

Ohio.— Ellis v. Bitzer, 2 Ohio 89, 15 Am. Dec. 534.

Tennessee.— Brown v. Kencheloe, 3 Coldw. (Tenn.) 192; Snyder v. Witt, 99 Tenn. 618, 42 S. W. 441.

2. Extent and Limits of the Rule. This rule is in no way affected by the fact that it is agreed between the parties that the discharge shall be operative only as to the party from whom the satisfaction moved.[77] The person injured and one of the joint wrongdoers cannot make any agreement impairing the legal rights of the others.[78] In order to discharge all the wrongdoers, however, the consideration accepted from one must be accepted in full satisfaction of the injury (so far as he is concerned).[79]

Acceptance of a partial satisfaction from one, and a receipt or release to that extent, while available to the other wrongdoers as partial satisfaction,[80] is available only as such.[81]

So the rule that satisfaction by one of two or more joint wrongdoers discharges all has no application where the person from whom the satisfaction as a joint wrongdoer moves is not in fact liable.[82] Nor does it apply where the person injured is an infant.[83]

D. Satisfaction by One of Several Joint Obligors. An accord and satisfaction by one of several joint obligors is good;[84] but a release of one joint obligor must be a technical release and be under seal, where such releases are required to be sealed, in order to effect a discharge of the others.[85]

E. Satisfaction of One of Several Joint Creditors. Accord and satisfaction with one of several plaintiffs or joint creditors is a complete extinction of the claim,[86] and is a good accord and satisfaction without showing that the one Vermont.— Eastman v. Grant, 34 Vt. 387; Brown v. Marsh, 7 Vt. 320.

Virginia.— Ruble v. Turner, 2 Hen. & M. (Va.) 38.

England.— Dufresne v. Hutchinson, 3 Taunt. 117; Thurman v. Wild, 11 A. & E. 453.

Application of the rule.— Payment of a sum of money "in full payment and satisfaction for all claim for damages and costs," in a suit against a corporation for an injury sustained by plaintiff by reason of falling into a trench alleged to have been dug by its servant in the public highway, bars a subsequent action for the same injury against the town which was bound to keep the highway in repair. Brown v. Cambridge, 3 Allen (Mass.) 474.

77. Ayer v. Ashmead, 31 Conn. 447, 83 Am. Dec. 154; Arnett v. Missouri Pac. R. Co., 64 Mo. App. 368; Brown v. Kencheloe, 3 Coldw. (Tenn.) 192; Ruble v. Turner, 2 Hen. & M. (Va.) 38.

78. Ellis v. Bitzer, 2 Ohio 89, 15 Am. Dec. 534.

79. Smith v. Gayle, 62 Ala. 446, 58 Ala. 600; Chicago v. Babcock, 143 Ill. 358, 32 N. E. 271; Wagner v. Union Stock Yards, etc., Co., 41 Ill. App. 408.

Thus, where a person who is injured by the negligence of two or more persons accepts a sum in consideration of his agreement not to sue the party paying, not in satisfaction of the damages, but only in part payment thereof, the transaction is not an accord and satisfaction and does not bar a suit against the other parties. Chicago v. Babcock, 143 Ill. 358, 32 N. E. 271.

80. Merchants' Bank v. Curtiss, 37 Barb. (N. Y.) 317.

81. Smith v. Gayle, 58 Ala. 600.

82. Wagner v. Union Stock Yards, etc., Co., 41 Ill. App. 408; Turner v. Hitchcock, 20 Iowa 310. See also Sieber v. Amunson, 78 Wis. 679, 47 S. W. 1126. In this case it was held that where, through the fault of the owner of a team and not that of the driver, a collision occurs, and the owner gives the attorney of the person injured five dollars, and agrees to give fifty dollars which he owes the driver, but never does so, there is no accord and satisfaction so as to bar an action for the injury. It was said that even if the fifty dollars had been paid it would have been a mere gratuity, since the driver was not a joint wrongdoer.

83. Baker v. Lovett, 6 Mass. 78, 4 Am. Dec. 88.

84. Strang v. Holmes, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 224, 2 Chitty Contr. (11th Am. ed.) p. 113.

85. See, generally, Release.

86. Kentucky.— Morrow v. Starke, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 367.

Mississippi.— State v. Story, 57 Miss. 738.

New York.— Austin v. Hall, 13 Johns. (N. Y.) 286, 7 Am. Dec. 376.

Pennsylvania.— Salmon v. Davis, 4 Binn. (Pa.) 375.

Tennessee.— Erwin v. Rutherford, 1 Yerg. (Tenn.) 169.

England.— Wallace v. Kelsall, 7 M. & W. 264; Husband v. Davis, 10 C. B. 645.

Effect of death of creditor making agreement.— Where one of four partners in trade accepts a surrender of land by the debtor to the partnership in satisfaction of a debt due the partnership, and he dies, the other partners cannot maintain an action for the recovery of such debt; it not being alleged on the part of defendant that the deceased partner had authority to do what he did, and on the other hand there being no allegation on the part of plaintiffs that there was any fraud in the transaction. Crowe v. Lysaght, 12 Ir. C. L. 481.

who made the settlement had authority from the others to do so.[87] Nevertheless, to render the transaction a bar to any further action on the demand, what was given must have been accepted as satisfaction of the whole demand; a settlement with one plaintiff or joint creditor for his share only will not suffice.[88]

F. Persons Acting in a Representative Capacity — 1. Administrator. Payment of a sum to a person before his appointment as administrator, in satisfaction of a claim for damages for the wrongful death of his intestate, and his release of such claim, cannot be pleaded as an accord and satisfaction thereof.[89]

2. Agent or Attorney. Delivery of what is agreed to be accepted as satisfaction to one whom the claimant has appointed to receive it is a good accord and satisfaction. An act done by or to the agent of a party, of a matter resting in pais, is equivalent to its being done by or to the principal.[90] But an attorney at law, as such, has no authority to settle his client's claim by an accord and satisfaction.[91] Express authorization or subsequent ratification by the client after a full knowledge of the facts is necessary to render the transaction binding.[92]

3. Next Friend. An infant is not bound by an accord and satisfaction of his claim accepted by his next friend.[93]

V. Methods of Accord and Satisfaction.

A. Part Payment — 1. Of Liquidated Debt — a. Necessity of New Consideration — (I) Statement of General Rule. Where the debt or demand is liquidated or certain and is due, payment by the debtor and receipt by the creditor of a less sum is not a satisfaction thereof, although the creditor agrees to accept it as such, if there be no release under seal or no new consideration given.[94]

87. State v. Story, 57 Miss. 738; Wallace v. Kelsall, 7 M. & W. 264.

88. Clark v. Dinsmore, 5 N. H. 136.

89. Stuber v. McEntee, 142 N. Y. 200, 36 N. E. 878.

90. Anderson v. Highland Turnpike Co., 16 Johns. (N. Y.) 86.

Right to withdraw satisfaction from agent. — After what is agreed to be accepted in satisfaction is, in accordance with the terms of the agreement, delivered to a third person for the creditor, the debtor has no right to withdraw his authority from such person to deliver the property to the creditor. Creager v. Link, 7 Md. 259.

Satisfaction with revenue collector. — In an action by the United States on a bond given to secure revenue a plea of accord with the collector and delivery to him of whisky in satisfaction is not a defense, as the collector has no authority to make any such agreement. Martin v. U. S., 4 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 487.

91. Jones v. Ransom, 3 Ind. 327; Maddux v. Bevan, 39 Md. 485; Rohr v. Anderson, 51 Md. 205; Barrett v. Third Ave. R. Co., 45 N. Y. 628.

92. Maddux v. Bevan, 39 Md. 485.

Express authorization sufficient. — An accord and satisfaction entered into by an expressly authorized attorney is good. Small v. Sumner, 6 Gray (Mass.) 239.

Ratification by accepting benefit of agent's act. — Where the principal, with full knowledge of all the facts, receives and appropriates the avails of a transaction made on his behalf by the agent, he cannot afterward be permitted to repudiate the transaction by denying the authority of the agent. Reid v. Hibbard, 6 Wis. 175.

93. Burt v. McBain, 29 Mich. 260.

94. Alabama.—Holloway v. Talbot, 70 Ala. 389; Goodman v. Walker, 30 Ala. 482, 68 Am. Dec. 134; Pearson v. Thomason, 15 Ala. 700, 50 Am. Dec. 159. [This rule has been partially abrogated by statute. See infra, V, A, 1, a, (IV)].

Arkansas.— Reynolds v. Reynolds, 55 Ark. 369, 18 S. W. 377; Cavaness v. Ross, 33 Ark. 572; Pope v. Tunstall, 2 Ark. 209.

California.— Rued v. Cooper, 119 Cal. 463, 51 Pac. 704. [The rule is to some extent modified by statute. See infra, V, A, 1, a, (IV)].

Colorado.— Barnum v. Green, 13 Colo. App. 254, 57 Pac. 757.

Connecticut.—Mitchell v. Wheaton, 46 Conn. 315, 33 Am. Rep. 24; Scutt's Appeal, 43 Conn. 108; Warren v. Skinner, 20 Conn. 559; Williams v. Stanton, 1 Root (Conn.) 426.

Georgia.— Stovall v. Hairston, 55 Ga. 9; Molyneaux v. Collier, 13 Ga. 406. [The rule is to some extent modified by statute. See infra, V, A, 1, a, (IV)].

Illinois.— Hayes v. Massachusetts Mut. L. Ins. Co., 125 Ill. 626, 18 N. E. 222, 1 L. R. A. 303; Flaningham v. Hogue, 59 Ill. App. 315; Heintz v. Pratt, 54 Ill. App. 616; Titsworth v. Hyde, 54 Ill. 386; Martin v. White, 40 Ill. App. 281; Curtiss v. Martin, 20 Ill. 557.

Indiana.— Miller v. Eldridge, 126 Ind. 461, 27 N. E. 132; Fletcher v. Wurgler, 97 Ind. 223; Longworth v. Higham, 89 Ind. 352; Smith v. Tyler, 51 Ind. 512; Markel v. Spitler, 28 Ind. 488; Stone v. Lewman, 28 Ind. 97; Sheets v. Russell, 12 Ind. App. 677, 40 N. E. 30; Swope v. Bier, 10 Ind. App. 613, 38 N. E. 340; Jennings v. Durflinger, 23 Ind. App. 673, 55 N. E. 979; Hodges v. Truax, 19 Ind. App. 651, 49 N. E. 1079.

Iowa.—Bryan v. Brazil, 52 Iowa 350;

Payment of a less amount than is due operates only as a discharge of the amount paid, leaving the balance still due, and the creditor may sue therefor notwith-

Works v. Hershey, 35 Iowa 340; Myers v. Byington, 34 Iowa 205; Rea v. Owens, 37 Iowa 262; Sullivan v. Finn, 4 Greene (Iowa) 544; Keller v. Strong, 104 Iowa 585, 73 N. W. 1071.

Kansas.— St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Davis, 35 Kan. 464, 11 Pac. 421; American Bridge Co. v. Murphy, 13 Kan. 35.

Kentucky.— Robert v. Barnum, 80 Ky. 28; Akers v. Central Kentucky L. Asylum, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 817; Rackers v. National Bank, 9 Ky. L. Rep. 400; Newman v. Evans, 5 Ky. L. Rep. 603; De Coursey v. Dicken, 1 Ky. L. Rep. 260; Williams v. Langford, 15 B. Mon. (Ky.) 566; Bryant v. Proctor, 14 B. Mon. (Ky.) 451; Vance v. Lukenbill, 9 B. Mon. (Ky.) 249; Cutter v. Reynolds, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 596; Tomlin v. McChord, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 1; Jones v. Bullitt, 2 Litt. (Ky.) 49; Fenwick v. Phillips, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 87; Cox v. Adelsdorf, (Ky. 1899) 51 S. W. 616.

Maine.— Lee v. Oppenheimer, 32 Me. 253 [the rule now is entirely abrogated by statute. See infra, V, A, 1, a, (IV)]; White v. Jordan, 27 Me. 370; Bailey v. Day, 26 Me. 88.

Maryland.— Rohr v. Anderson, 51 Md. 205; Maddux v. Bevan, 39 Md. 485; Booth v. Campbell, 15 Md. 569; Campbell v. Booth, 8 Md. 107; Jones v. Ricketts, 7 Md. 108; Hardey v. Coe, 5 Gill (Md.) 189; Geiser v. Kershner, 4 Gill & J. (Md.) 305, 23 Am. Dec. 566.

Massachusetts.— Lathrop v. Page, 129 Mass. 19; Smith v. Bartholomew, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 276, 35 Am. Dec. 365; Twitchell v. Shaw, 10 Cush. (Mass.) 46, 57 Am. Dec. 80.

Michigan.— Leeson v. Anderson, 99 Mich. 247, 58 N. W. 72, 41 Am. St. Rep. 597.

Minnesota.— Sage v. Valentine, 23 Minn. 102; Johnson v. Simmons, 76 Minn. 34, 78 N. W. 863.

Missouri.—Swofford Bros. Dry Goods Co. v. Goss, 65 Mo. App. 55; Helling v. United Order of Honor, 29 Mo. App. 309; Wetmore v. Crouch, 150 Mo. 671, 51 S. W. 738.

Nebraska.— McIntosh v. Johnson, 51 Nebr. 33, 70 N. W. 522.

New Hampshire.— Fisher v. Willard, 20 N. H. 421; Blanchard v. Noyes, 3 N. H. 518; Colburn v. Gould, 1 N. H. 279.

New Jersey.— Murphy v. Kastner, 50 N. J. Eq. 214, 24 Atl. 564; Day v. Gardner, 42 N. J. Eq. 199, 7 Atl. 365; Watts v. Frenche, 19 N. J. Eq. 407; Daniels v. Hatch, 21 N. J. L. 391, 47 Am. Dec. 169; Chambers v. Niagara F. Ins. Co., 58 N. J. L. 216, 33 Atl. 283; Line v. Nelson, 38 N. J. L. 358.

New York.— Allison v. Abendroth, 108 N. Y. 470, 15 N. E. 606; Keeler v. Salisbury, 33 N. Y. 648; Von Gerhard v. Lighte, 13 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 101; Brooks v. Moore, 67 Barb. (N. Y.) 393; Howard v. Norton, 65 Barb. (N. Y.) 161; Garvey v. Jarvis, 54 Barb. (N. Y.) 179; Beardsley v. Davis, 52 Barb. (N. Y.) 159; Blum v. Hartman, 3 Daly (N. Y.) 47; Williams v. Carrington, 1 Hilt. (N. Y.) 515; Williams v. Irving, 47 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 440; Scott v. Hunt, 2 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 58; Seymour v. Minturn, 17 Johns. (N. Y.) 169, 8 Am. Dec. 380; Albrecht v. Johnson, 2 N. Y. City Ct. 350; Dean v. Gilmore, 30 Misc. (N. Y.) 783, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 757; Elkan v. Hitchcock, 15 Misc. (N. Y.) 218, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 788; Bradt v. Scott, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 507; Bunge v. Koop, 5 Rob. (N. Y.) 1 [affirmed in 48 N. Y. 225, 8 Am. Rep. 546]; Acker v. Phœnix, 4 Paige (N. Y.) 305.

North Carolina.— Mitchell v. Sawyer, 71 N. C. 70; Hayes v. Davidson, 70 N. C. 573; Bryan v. Foy, 69 N. C. 45; McKenzie v. Culbreath, 66 N. C. 534; Gunn v. McAden, 37 N. C. 79. [The rule is abrogated by statute. See infra, V, A, 1, a, (IV)].

Ohio.— Toledo v. Sanwald, 13 Ohio Cir. Ct. 496.

Pennsylvania.— Com. v. Cummins, 155 Pa. St. 30, 25 Atl. 996; Martin v. Frantz, 127 Pa. St. 389, 18 Atl. 20, 14 Am. St. Rep. 859; Brockley v. Brockley, 122 Pa. St. 1, 15 Atl. 646; Laird v. Campbell, 92 Pa. St. 470; Tucker v. Murray, 2 Pa. Dist. 497; Mt. Holly Water Co. v. Mt. Holly Springs, 10 Pa. Super. Ct. 162; Mechanics' Bank v. Huston, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 389; Rice v. Morris, 4 Whart. (Pa.) 249.

South Carolina.— Hope v. Johnston, 11 Rich. (S. C.) 135; McElwee v. Hutchinson, 10 S. C. 436; Eve v. Mosely, 2 Strobh. (S. C.) 203.

Texas.— Bowdon v. Robinson, 4 Tex. Civ. App. 626, 23 S. W. 816; Clifton v. Foster, (Tex. Civ. App. 1892) 20 S. W. 1005.

Vermont.— Bowker v. Harris, 30 Vt. 424; Wheeler v. Wheeler, 11 Vt. 60; Shaw v. Clark, 6 Vt. 507, 27 Am. Dec. 578.

Virginia.— Smith v. Phillips, 77 Va. 548; Lee v. Harlow, 75 Va. 22; Smith v. Chilton, 84 Va. 840, 6 S. E. 142; Seymour v. Goodrich, 80 Va. 303. [The rule is abrogated by statute. See infra, V, A, 1, a, (IV)].

Wisconsin.— Otto v. Klauber, 23 Wis. 471; Palmer v. Yager, 20 Wis. 91.

United States.— Fire Ins. Assoc. v. Wickham, 141 U. S. 564, 12 S. Ct. 84, 35 L. ed. 860; U. S. v. Bostwick, 94 U. S. 53, 24 L. ed. 65; Murdock v. District of Columbia, 22 Ct. Cl. 464; Baldwin's Case, 15 Ct. Cl. 297; Latapee v. Pecholier, 2 Wash. (U. S.) 180, 14 Fed. Cas. No. 8,101.

England.— Thomas v. Heathorn, 2 B. & C. 477; Pinnel's Case, 5 Coke 117*a*; Steinman v. Magnus, 11 East 390; Fitch v. Sutton, 5 East 230; Adams v. Tapling, 4 Mod. 88; Cumber v. Wane, 1 Str. 426.

Canada.— Holmes v. McDonell, 12 U. C. Q. B. 469; Ritchey v. Montreal Bank, 4 U. C. Q. B. 222.

Absence of agreement to accept as payment. — If payment of a less sum for a debt already due is no satisfaction although the creditor has agreed to accept it as such, still less will it operate as a satisfaction when he has not so agreed to accept it. People v. Hamilton County, 56 Hun (N. Y.) 459, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 88.

standing the agreement.[95] A court of equity has no power to enjoin collection of the balance.[96]

(II) Reason for Rule. The reason for the rule is that the agreement is without consideration and void,[97] as the debtor is under an obligation to pay the whole debt at the time and the creditor is entitled to receive the whole.[98] This doctrine has been freely criticised in most of the courts which have had occasion to consider it; but with one exception[99] they have nevertheless adhered to it, unless, as is the case in some jurisdictions, it has been abrogated by express statutory provisions.[1]

(III) Extent of Rule. The general rule is not affected by the fact that the debtor has a surety and that the debt is due by bond,[2] nor by the fact that payment of a less sum is made by depositing it in the bank and giving a check thereon, as this does not change the character of the payment or give it an effect other than if the money had been paid directly.[3] So, also, the rule is not affected by the fact that the debt is a judgment debt.[4] The desire of the parties to avoid trouble and contention is not recognized as constituting a legal consideration for such agreement.[5] Neither does the fact that the debtor borrowed the money to make the settlement at the creditor's request affect the rule.[6]

Executory agreement.— Nor is an executory agreement of this character binding and enforceable. Makepeace v. Harvard College, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 298; Pettis v. Ray, 12 R. I. 344; Arkansas City First Nat. Bank v. Leech, 94 Fed. 310.

95. Miller v. Eldridge, 126 Ind. 461, 27 N. E. 132; Vance v. Lukenbill, 9 B. Mon. (Ky.) 249; Leeson v. Anderson, 99 Mich. 247, 58 N. W. 72, 41 Am. St. Rep. 597; Goodwin v. Follett, 25 Vt. 386; Wheeler v. Wheeler, 11 Vt. 60.

96. Vance v. Lukenbill, 9 B. Mon. (Ky.) 249.

97. Georgia.— Stovall v. Hairston, 55 Ga. 9; Molyneaux v. Collier, 13 Ga. 406.

Kentucky.— Jones v. Bullitt, 2 Litt. (Ky.) 49.

Massachusetts.— Curran v. Rummell, 118 Mass. 482; Smith v. Bartholomew, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 276, 35 Am. Dec. 365.

Minnesota.— Sonnenberg v. Riedel, 16 Minn. 83.

New York.— Fuller v. Kemp, 138 N. Y. 231, 33 N. E. 1034, 20 L. R. A. 785; Pennell v. Bucki, 84 Hun (N. Y.) 432, 32 N. Y. Suppl. 407; Foersch v. Blackwell, 14 Barb. (N. Y.) 607.

United States.— Fire Ins. Assoc. v. Wickham, 141 U. S. 564, 12 S. Ct. 84, 35 L. ed. 860; Ramsdell's Case, 2 Ct. Cl. 508.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Accord and Satisfaction," § 61.

98. Jones v. Bullitt, 2 Litt. (Ky.) 49.

99. In Mississippi the court in a very recent decision has broken away from the long-established rule and holds that the payment of a less sum of money for a liquidated debt, and acceptance as satisfaction of the whole, operates to extinguish the whole debt. The holding as applied to the precise facts of the case was that the acceptance from the maker, by the payee of a note, of a sum less than the amount due, with an agreement that it be received as full satisfaction, accompanied by the surrender of the note, extinguishes the whole debt. Clayton v. Clark, 74 Miss. 499, 21 So. 565, 22 So. 189, 60 Am. St. Rep. 521, 37 L. R. A. 771 [expressly overruling Burrus v. Gordon, 57 Miss. 93, and disapproving the dicta in Jones v. Perkins, 29 Miss. 139, 64 Am. Dec. 136; Pulliam v. Taylor, 50 Miss. 251].

1. See infra, V, A, 1, a, (IV).

2. Bryan v. Foy, 69 N. C. 45.

3. Tucker v. Murray, 2 Pa. Dist. 497.

4. Coblentz v. Wheeler, etc., Mfg. Co., 40 Ark. 180; Deland v. Hiett, 27 Cal. 611, 87 Am. Dec. 102; Fletcher v. Wurgler, 97 Ind. 223. See also Tucker v. Murray, 2 Pa. Dist. 497.

Contra, Reynolds v. Pinhowe, Cro. Eliz. 429, and compare Clay v. Hoysradt, 8 Kan. 74, in which it was held [Judge Brewer delivering the opinion] that where the right to appeal from a judgment has not lapsed, and the debtor is in a condition and about to take such appeal, but at the instance of the creditor, and with money borrowed from third parties, with the knowledge and at the request of the creditor, pays him a portion of the amount of the judgment under an agreement that it shall be in full, the entire judgment is satisfied.

Agreement as affecting right to collect interest on judgment.— An agreement between a judgment debtor and creditor, that in consideration of the debtor paying down part of the judgment debt and costs, and on condition of his paying to the creditor the residue by installments the creditor will not take any proceedings on the judgment, is without consideration and does not prevent the creditor, after payment of the whole debt and costs, from proceeding to enforce payment of the interest from the judgment. Foakes v. Beer, 9 App. Cas. 605.

5. Fletcher v. Wurgler, 97 Ind. 223.

6. Bunge v. Koop, 5 Rob. (N. Y.) 1 [affirmed in 48 N. Y. 225, 8 Am. Rep. 546]; Albrecht v. Johnson, 2 N. Y. City Ct. 350. Compare Dalrymple v. Craig, 149 Mo. 345, 50 S. W. 884, in which it was held that where, by a new agreement, a creditor was paid a portion of his debt out of a fund otherwise unattainable,— an amount bor-

(IV) Statutory Exceptions to Rule. In a number of jurisdictions the rule discussed in the preceding sections[7] has been either entirely abrogated or materially modified by statute.[8]

(V) Rule, How Affected by Giving Receipt in Full. In the absence of statute providing otherwise[9] the rule is settled, except in one state,[10] that the rowed for the express purpose of paying the claim,— the agreement is supported by a sufficient consideration.

7. See V, A, 1, a, (I)-(III).

8. In Alabama the statute [Code (1876), § 3039] provides that "all receipts, releases, and discharges in writing, whether of a debt of record, or a contract under seal, or otherwise, must have effect according to the intention of the parties to the same." Under this statute acceptance of less than the full amount of a debt liquidated and due may amount to a full satisfaction. Cowan v. Sapp, 74 Ala. 44, 50. But it does not have this effect where a receipt in full was executed under mistake or misapprehension. McArthur v. Dane, 61 Ala. 539. Nor can it operate to convert the indorsement of a creditor of a check given him by the debtor into a receipt in full by implication, and give it effect as such, where the indorsement was made only for the purpose of collecting the check as a partial payment and without any intention that it should operate as a receipt in full. Hodges v. Tennessee Implement Co., (Ala. 1899) 26 So. 490.

The California statute [Code (1899), § 1524] provides that part performance of an obligation, either before or after a breach thereof, and expressly accepted by the creditor in writing in satisfaction, or rendered in pursuance of an agreement in writing to that purpose, though without any new consideration, extinguishes the obligation. Under this statute an obligation cannot be extinguished by part payment unless accepted in writing in satisfaction. Dobinson v. McDonald, 92 Cal. 33, 27 Pac. 1098.

The Georgia statute [Code, § 2881] providing that an agreement for less than the amount of the debt cannot be pleaded as an accord and satisfaction unless it be actually executed by payment of the money, an executed agreement to receive less than the amount of the debt due, by actual payment of the money agreed, can be pleaded as an accord and satisfaction. Tyler Cotton Press Co. v. Chevalier, 56 Ga. 494; Rogers v. Ball, 54 Ga. 15. But the agreement must be executed in order to be binding. Negotiations for that purpose are inadmissible to show satisfaction. English v. Reid, 55 Ga. 240. Part performance is likewise insufficient. Troutman v. Lucas, 63 Ga. 466. The Georgia statute is apparently a declaration of the rule on this subject laid down in the early decision of Evans v. Pollock, Ga. Dec. Pt. I, 33.

The Maine statute [Rev. Stat. (1871), c. 82, § 38] provides that no action shall be maintained on a demand settled by a creditor or his attorney intrusted to collect it, in full discharge of it, by the receipt of money or other valuable consideration, however small. Under this statute the settlement or discharge of a demand or claim by the payment of any sum less than the amount due thereon is binding unless vitiated by fraud. Bisbee v. Ham, 47 Me. 543; Fogg v. Sanborn, 48 Me. 432; Weymouth v. Babcock, 42 Me. 42; Phelps v. Dennett, 57 Me. 491. But in order to render payment of part an extinguishment of the whole debt under this statute, both parties must concur in the understanding that the amount paid is paid and received as and for the whole debt. Part payment of a debt with an agreement that the debtor shall have his own time to pay the balance is not within the statute. Mayo v. Stevens, 61 Me. 562; Austin v. Smith, 39 Me. 203.

The North Carolina statute [Code (1883), § 574] provides that acceptance of a less amount than that claimed in satisfaction thereof is a complete discharge of the same. This statute completely abrogates the common-law rule (Fickey v. Merrimon, 79 N. C. 585; Tiddy v. Harris, 101 N. C. 589, 8 S. E. 227), and is operative where a person has accepted a check marked in full for services, although he attempted to qualify the acceptance by writing over his signature on the back thereof, "Accepted for one month's services." Kerr v. Sanders, 122 N. C. 635, 29 S. E. 943.

Tennessee.— It has been held at circuit that the Tennessee statute [Code, §§ 3789, 3790] providing that all compositions with creditors and releases of all contracts shall operate according to the intention of the parties abolishes the common-law rule. Memphis v. Brown, 1 Flipp. (U. S.) 188, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,415.

In Virginia the statute [Code (1887), § 2858] provides that part performance of an obligation or undertaking, either before or after breach, when accepted by the creditor in satisfaction and rendered in pursuance of an agreement for that purpose, though without any new consideration, will extinguish such obligation, promise, or undertaking. So far as the reports show there has been no construction of this statute by the court of last resort.

9. For a discussion of the Alabama statutes relating to receipts in full see supra, V, A, 1, a, (IV).

10. In Connecticut a receipt in full, given upon a part payment of a debt, in the absence of any impeachment of it for fraud or mistake, is valid in discharge of the whole debt. In this case the court said: "The general principle laid down with regard to receipts in full has long been the settled law in this state, whatever it may be elsewhere." Aborn v. Rathbone, 54 Conn. 444, 446, 8 Atl. 677. To the same effect see Ford v. Hubinger, 64 Conn. 129, 29 Atl. 129.

giving of a receipt in full does not in any way affect the rule that payment of a less sum in discharge of a greater sum presently due is not a satisfaction thereof though accepted as such;[11] and it is immaterial that the debtor knew that there was error or fraud.[12]

(VI) Rule, How Affected by Release under Seal. A less sum may constitute a satisfaction of a greater sum presently due if the balance is released by a formal instrument which must be under seal, except, of course, in those jurisdictions where the distinction between sealed and unsealed instruments has been abolished;[13] but the terms of the instrument must so provide.[14] So it has been held that payment and acceptance of less than the face value of a note in full satisfaction thereof, and surrender of the note to the debtor for cancellation, amount to an accord and satisfaction, as a surrender is equivalent to a release under seal.[15]

b. Sufficiency of New Consideration — (I) In General. While, as already shown in the preceding sections, payment of part of a debt presently due does not extinguish the debt, although it is agreed that the payment shall so operate, any new consideration moving from the debtor toward the creditor will take the agreement out of the operation of this rule. In other words, if the debtor, in addition to payment of a part of the debt, gives the creditor anything which in judgment of law may be considered a benefit to him, there will be a sufficient consideration to support the agreement to accept the lesser sum in full payment, and the transaction will constitute a valid accord and satisfaction.[16] It is enough

11. Kansas.— St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Davis, 35 Kan. 464, 11 Pac. 421.

Maryland.— Jones v. Ricketts, 7 Md. 108.

Massachusetts.— Walan v. Kerby, 99 Mass. 1; Harriman v. Harriman, 12 Gray (Mass.) 341; Brooks v. White, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 283, 37 Am. Dec. 95.

Missouri.— Riley v. Kershaw, 52 Mo. 224.

New Jersey.— Murphy v. Kastner, 50 N. J. Eq. 214, 24 Atl. 564.

New York.—Fuller v. Kemp, 138 N. Y. 231, 33 N. E. 1034, 20 L. R. A. 785; Miller v. Coates, 66 N. Y. 609; Ryan v. Ward, 48 N. Y. 204, 8 Am. Rep. 539; Williams v. Irving, 47 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 440; Forest v. Davis, 20 Misc. (N. Y.) 1, 44 N. Y. Suppl. 907; Jones v. Rice, 19 Misc. (N. Y.) 357, 43 N. Y. Suppl. 491; Howe v. Robinson, 13 Misc. (N. Y.) 256, 34 N. Y. Suppl. 85; Albrecht v. Johnson, 2 N. Y. City Ct. 350.

United States.— Baldwin's Case, 15 Ct. Cl. 297; Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Clark, 92 Fed. 968, 35 C. C. A. 120.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Accord and Satisfaction," §§ 92–95.

12. Ryan v. Ward, 48 N. Y. 204, 8 Am. Rep. 539.

13. Arkansas.— Gordon v. Moore, 44 Ark. 349, 51 Am. Rep. 606.

Massachusetts.— Blake v. Blake, 110 Mass. 202.

New York.— Von Gerhard v. Lighte, 13 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 101; Inman v. Griswold, 1 Cow. (N. Y.) 199; Williams v. Carrington, 1 Hilt. (N. Y.) 515; Acker v. Phœnix, 4 Paige (N. Y.) 305.

Pennsylvania.— Hosler v. Hursh, 151 Pa. St. 415, 25 Atl. 52.

England.— Adams v. Tapling, 4 Mod. 88.

Failure to pay at designated time.— An agreement under seal that on payment, by a given day, of a less sum than the real debt mentioned in the condition of a bond and warrant of attorney to confess judgment, the bond shall be void, does not operate as a discharge of the debt where the less sum is not paid on the stipulated day. Inman v. Griswold, 1 Cow. (N. Y.) 199.

14. Blake v. Blake, 110 Mass. 202.

15. Minnesota.— Stewart v. Hidden, 13 Minn. 43, in which case the court reached the same conclusion but assigned another reason.

Mississippi.— See also Clayton v. Clark, 74 Miss. 499, 21 So. 565, 22 So. 189, 60 Am. St. Rep. 521, 37 L. R. A. 771.

New Jersey.— Silvers v. Reynolds, 17 N. J. L. 275.

New York.— Babcock v. Bonnell, 44 N. Y. Super. Ct. 568.

Vermont.— Draper v. Hitt, 43 Vt. 439, 5 Am. Rep. 292; Ellsworth v. Fogg, 35 Vt. 355.

16. Indiana.— Fletcher v. Wurgler, 97 Ind. 223.

New York.— Jaffray v. Davis, 124 N. Y. 164, 26 N. E. 351, 11 L. R. A. 710; Allison v. Abendroth, 108 N. Y. 470, 15 N. E. 606; Douglass v. White, 3 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 621.

Vermont.— Bowker v. Harris, 30 Vt. 424.

England.— Bidder v. Bridges, 37 Ch. D. 406; Curlewis v. Clark, 3 Exch. 375.

Acceptance of bills of exchange and goods. — An agreement to accept payment of a smaller sum in place of a larger one, payable partly in bills of exchange, partly in goods on hand, and partly in goods to be manufactured by defendant for that purpose, is supported by a sufficient consideration. Rose v. Hall, 26 Conn. 392, 68 Am. Dec. 402.

Acceptance of note payable unconditionally in place of a note for a larger sum payable only on a certain contingency constitutes a good accord and satisfaction. Winslow v. Hardin, 3 Dana (Ky.) 543.

to take the case out of the rule, that something substantial which one party is not bound by law to do has been done by him, or that something which he has the right to do he abstains from doing at the request of the other party.[17] Any additional consideration, however small, will support a promise to accept payment of a less sum for a greater sum already due.[18] Such additional consideration may consist of anything which might be a burden to the one party or a benefit to the other.[19]

(II) Payment before Due. Payment and acceptance in satisfaction of a lesser sum for a greater liquidated sum not yet due constitutes an accord and satisfaction.[20] The payment of a debt or any part of a debt before it is due is what the debtor is not under legal obligation to do, and therefore is a legal consideration for a contract by the creditor, which contract may be to release or cancel his debt as well as any other contract.[21] The creditor has his advantage in the earlier payment of the money.[22]

(III) Payment at Another Place. It has been held that payment of a less sum for a greater liquidated sum already due may constitute an accord and satisfaction when the payment is made at a place other than that at which the debtor was legally bound to make payment.[23]

Agreement not to take advantage of bankrupt laws.— An agreement by a debtor not to go into bankruptcy and thereby be discharged from a certain debt or at least impair its collection furnishes a sufficient consideration to support a contract by the creditor to take less for the debt than the full amount thereof. Dawson v. Beall, 68 Ga. 328. To the same effect see Hinckley v. Arey, 27 Me. 362.

Supposed insolvency of debtor's estate.— Where it is supposed that the estate of an intestate is insolvent and a judgment creditor accepts a less amount in full satisfaction, there is sufficient consideration for such accord and satisfaction though it turns out that the estate is not insolvent. Rice v. London, etc., Mortg. Co., 70 Minn. 77, 72 N. W. 826.

17. Watson v. Elliott, 57 N. H. 511; Jaffray v. Davis, 124 N. Y. 164, 26 N. E. 351, 11 L. R. A. 710; Bowker v. Harris, 30 Vt. 424.

18. Fletcher v. Wurgler, 97 Ind. 223.

19. Maddux v. Bevan, 39 Md. 485.

20. Arkansas.— Dictum in Cavaness v. Ross, 33 Ark. 572; Pope v. Tunstall, 2 Ark. 209.

Indiana.— Hutton v. Stoddart, 83 Ind. 539.

Iowa.— Boyd v. Moats, 75 Iowa 151, 39 N. W. 237.

Kansas.— Dictum in St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Davis, 35 Kan. 464, 11 Pac. 421.

Kentucky.— Bryant v. Proctor, 14 B. Mon. (Ky.) 451; dictum in Arnold v. Park, 8 Bush (Ky.) 3; Ricketts v. Hall, 2 Bush (Ky.) 249; Waller v. Martin, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 587; Jones v. Bullitt, 2 Litt. (Ky.) 49; dictum in Fenwick v. Phillips, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 87.

Massachusetts.— Bowker v. Childs, 3 Allen (Mass.) 434; Brooks v. White, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 283, 37 Am. Dec. 95.

Minnesota.— Schweider v. Lang, 29 Minn. 254, 13 N. W. 33, 43 Am. Rep. 202; Sonnenberg v. Riedel, 16 Minn. 83.

Mississippi.— Jones v. Perkins, 29 Miss. 139, 64 Am. Dec. 136.

Missouri.— Dictum in Dalrymple v. Craig, 149 Mo. 345, 50 S. W. 884.

North Carolina.— Dictum in McKenzie v. Culbreth, 66 N. C. 534; dictum in Smith v. Brown, 10 N. C. 580.

Pennsylvania.— Mullen v. Second Jefferson Bldg. Assoc., 50 Pa. St. 32.

Texas.— Kirchoff v. Voss, 67 Tex. 320, 3 S. W. 548.

Vermont.— Dictum in Wheeler v. Wheeler, 11 Vt. 60.

Virginia.— Dictum in Seymour v. Goodrich, 80 Va. 303.

Wisconsin.— Palmer v. Yager, 20 Wis. 91.

United States.— Fire Ins. Assoc. v. Wickham, 141 U. S. 564, 12 S. Ct. 84, 35 L. ed. 860.

England.— Smith v. Trowsdale, 3 E. & B. 83; Adams v. Tapling, 4 Mod. 88.

Payment by assignee.— Payment of part in satisfaction of the whole by an assignee to whom the debtor has assigned his assets for payment of his debts, and who is acting as his agent to procure his discharge from them, is payment by a third person within the rule. Pettigrew Mach. Co. v. Harmon, 45 Ark. 290.

21. Bryant v. Proctor, 14 B. Mon. (Ky.) 451; Wheeler v. Wheeler, 11 Vt. 60; Fire Ins. Assoc. v. Wickham, 141 U. S. 564, 12 S. Ct. 84, 35 L. ed. 860.

22. Palmer v. Yager, 20 Wis. 91.

Necessity of execution.— Where a party having a debt payable to him in three years gives a debtor a written agreement to accept a less sum in satisfaction if paid within sixty days, this will be a mere option or privilege to the debtor which, to be availed of, must be promptly complied with. Harding v. Commercial Loan Co., 84 Ill. 251.

23. Cavaness v. Ross, 33 Ark. 572; Pope v. Tunstall, 2 Ark. 209; Fenwick v. Phillips, 3 Metc. (Ky.) 87; Jones v. Perkins, 29 Miss. 139, 64 Am. Dec. 136; McKenzie v. Culbreth, 66 N. C. 534; Smith v. Brown, 10 N. C. 580.

Application of the rule.— A contract to pay $1,500 in New York in discharge of the sum of $2,000 payable in Mississippi is a

(IV) Payment by Third Person. Payment by a third person of a sum less than the amount due, with the understanding that it should be in full satisfaction thereof, is a valid accord and satisfaction,[24] and no action will lie against the debtor to recover the balance.[25] In such case there is a new consideration from a new party, and the general rule that the receipt of a smaller sum is not a good accord and satisfaction of a larger one does not apply.[26]

(V) Abandonment of Defense. Payment of a smaller sum with an agreement to abandon a defense and pay costs may be pleaded in satisfaction of a larger demand, whether liquidated or unliquidated.[27]

(VI) Payment of Principal without Interest. Payment and acceptance of the principal of a debt without the interest due thereon, if received by the creditor in full satisfaction, is a good accord and satisfaction,[28] and it is immaterial whether the debt be past due or running to maturity.[29]

(VII) Payment of Less Sum and Costs. Where suit is brought upon a liquidated debt, an agreement to accept a less sum and payment of costs in satisfaction and the performance thereof is a valid accord and satisfaction. The payment of costs is a sufficient additional consideration for the agreement.[30]

(VIII) Composition of Creditors with Insolvent Debtor — (A) Statement of Rule. The rule that payment of a less sum in satisfaction of a greater liquidated sum is no satisfaction thereof, though accepted as such, has no application in the case of composition agreements between the debtor and his creditors. Where a composition deed is entered into between a debtor and his creditors, whereby they agree to receive, and do receive, in money or effects or in securities from third persons, a part of the whole debt, there is a valid accord and satisfaction of such debt,[31] and it is not essential that the agreement between the sufficient consideration to bind the creditor if an offer was made to perform the contract in New York before notice of the withdrawal of the proposition reached the debtor. Jones v. Perkins, 29 Miss. 139, 64 Am. Dec. 136.

24. Arkansas.— Wilks v. Slaughter, 49 Ark. 235, 4 S. W. 766; Pettigrew Mach. Co. v. Harmon, 45 Ark. 290; Gordon v. Moore, 44 Ark. 349, 51 Am. Rep. 606; Pope v. Tunstall, 2 Ark. 209.

Kentucky.— Ricketts v. Hall, 2 Bush (Ky.) 249.

Minnesota.— Clark v. Abbott, 53 Minn. 88, 55 N. W. 542, 39 Am. St. Rep. 577.

New Hampshire.— Grant v. Porter, 63 N. H. 229; Blanchard v. Noyes, 3 N. H. 518.

Pennsylvania — Fowler v. Smith, 153 Pa. St. 639, 25 Atl. 744.

Virginia.— Seymour v. Goodrich, 80 Va. 303.

25. Clark v. Abbott, 53 Minn. 88, 55 N. W. 542, 39 Am. St. Rep. 577.

26. Fowler v. Smith, 153 Pa. St. 639, 25 Atl. 744.

27. Connecticut River Lumber Co. v. Brown, 68 Vt. 239, 35 Atl. 56; Cooper v. Parker, 15 C. B. 822, 80 E. C. L. 822.

Thus, withdrawal by defendant of the plea of infancy, whether true or false, is a sufficient consideration on the part of plaintiff to accept a smaller sum in consideration of a greater sum. Cooper v. Parker, 14 C. B. 118, 78 E. C. L. 118.

28. Wescott v. Waller, 47 Ala. 492; Johnston v. Brannan, 5 Johns. (N. Y.) 268; Tenth Nat. Bank v. New York, 4 Hun (N. Y.) 429.

In Johnston v. Brannan, 5 Johns. (N. Y.) 268, 271, it was said that in many cases interest is uncertain damages and ought not to be considered as a part of the debt within the purview of that "rather unreasonable rule of the old law."

29. Wescott v. Waller, 47 Ala. 492.

30. Mitchell v. Wheaton, 46 Conn. 315, 33 Am. Rep. 24; Baum v. Bantyn, 62 Miss. 110.

31. Illinois.— Gillfillan v. Farrington, 12 Ill. App. 101.

Indiana.— Pontious v. Durflinger, 59 Ind. 27; Devou v. Ham, 17 Ind. 472.

Iowa.— Murray v. Snow, 37 Iowa, 410.

Kentucky.— Robert v. Barnum, 80 Ky. 28; Cutter v. Reynolds, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 596.

Massachusetts.— Perkins v. Lockwood, 100 Mass. 249, 1 Am. Rep. 103; Bigelow v. Baldwin, 1 Gray (Mass.) 245; Tuckerman v. Newhall, 17 Mass. 581. See also Curran v. Rummell, 118 Mass. 482.

Minnesota.— Sage v. Valentine, 23 Minn. 102.

Missouri.— Hill v. Wertheimer-Swarts Shoe Co., 150 Mo. 483, 51 S. W. 702; Mullin v. Martin, 23 Mo. App. 537.

New Hampshire.— Bartlett v. Woodworth-Mason Co., 69 N. H. 316, 41 Atl. 264; Gage v. De Courcey, 68 N. H. 579, 41 Atl. 183; Allen v. Cheever, 61 N. H. 32.

New Jersey.— Daniels v. Hatch, 21 N. J. L. 391, 47 Am. Dec. 169; Morris Canal, etc., Co. v. Van Vorst, 21 N. J. L. 100.

North Carolina.— Hayes v. Davidson, 70 N. C. 573; McKenzie v. Culbreth, 66 N. C. 534.

Ohio.— Way v. Langley, 15 Ohio St. 392.

Pennsylvania.— Laird v. Campbell, 92 Pa. St. 470.

Vermont.— Paddleford v. Thacher, 48 Vt. 574; Wheeler v. Wheeler, 11 Vt. 60.

England.— Steinman v. Magnus, 11 East debtor and his creditors, whereby the latter agree to thus receive a part of the whole debt, be under seal.[32]

(B) Reasons for Rule. The consideration which supports the agreement of each creditor is the undertaking of the creditors to release their common debtor from a portion of their respective claims. The agreement of each creditor with the other creditors of the common debtor constitutes a good and valid consideration.[33] After a creditor has thus agreed to relinquish part of his claim and induced others to become parties to the composition it would be a fraud on them to annul the agreement and collect the full amount of his claim.[34]

(C) Extent and Limits of Rule. So where a debtor assigns and delivers his property to trustees for the use of his creditors, under an agreement signed by the creditors whereby they accept the property in full satisfaction and discharge of their several demands, there is a valid accord and satisfaction,[35] and a creditor who joins in the composition will be barred though he refuses to accept his dividend from the assignee.[36]

Mutuality between the creditors as respects the consideration is essential to the validity of the agreement of composition. The creditors must join together;[37] but it is not necessary to the validity of the composition that all the creditors should have joined in it, unless it was so stipulated in the composition. Not even a majority, or any particular number more than two, need sign it to make it binding on all who sign it.[38]

390; Norman v. Thompson, 4 Exch. 755; Bradley v. Gregory, 2 Campb. 383; Boothbey v. Sowden, 3 Campb. 174.

See also COMPOSITIONS WITH CREDITORS.

Acceptance, by a creditor, of a dividend under a voluntary assignment made by the debtor without the concurrence of the creditor, and without an agreement by him to accept the assignment in satisfaction of his debt, is no bar to an action for the balance of the debt. It is a mere agreement to pay the debts of the insolvent as far as his property will go, taking out the expenses of converting it into money. Allen v. Roosevelt, 14 Wend. (N. Y.) 100.

32. Paddleford v. Thacher, 48 Vt. 574; Steinman v. Magnus, 11 East 390.

33. California.— Pierson v. McCahill, 21 Cal. 123.

Kentucky.— Robert v. Barnum, 80 Ky. 28.

Massachusetts.— Bigelow v. Baldwin, 1 Gray (Mass.) 245.

Minnesota.— Sage v. Valentine, 23 Minn. 102.

New Hampshire.— Gage v. De Courcey, 68 N. H. 579, 41 Atl. 183.

New Jersey.— Daniels v. Hatch, 21 N. J. L. 391, 47 Am. Dec. 169.

Pennsylvania.— Laird v. Campbell, 92 Pa. St. 470.

Vermont.— Paddleford v. Thacher, 48 Vt. 574.

Wisconsin.— Continental Nat. Bank v. McGeoch, 92 Wis. 286, 66 N. W. 606.

England.— Good v. Cheesman, 2 B. & Ad. 328; Norman v. Thompson, 4 Exch. 755.

34. Illinois.— Gillfillan v. Farrington, 12 Ill. App. 101.

Kentucky.— Cutter v. Reynolds, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 596.

New Hampshire.— Allen v. Cheever, 61 N. H. 32.

New Jersey.— Daniels v. Hatch, 21 N. J. L. 391, 47 Am. Dec. 169.

North Carolina.— Hayes v. Davidson, 70 N. C. 573.

Pennsylvania.— Laird v. Campbell, 92 Pa. St. 470.

Vermont.— Wheeler v. Wheeler, 11 Vt. 60.

England.— Steinman v. Magnus, 11 East 390.

35. Massachusetts.— Eaton v. Lincoln, 13 Mass. 424; Bigelow v. Baldwin, 1 Gray (Mass.) 245.

New Jersey.— Daniels v. Hatch, 21 N. J. L. 391, 47 Am. Dec. 169.

New York.—Therasson v. Peterson, 2 Keyes (N. Y.) 636.

United States.— Bartlett v. Rogers, 3 Sawy. (U. S.) 62, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 1,079.

England.— See Good v. Cheesman, 2 B. & Ad. 328.

36. Daniels v. Hatch, 21 N. J. L. 391, 47 Am. Dec. 169.

Assignment not in accordance with agreement.— Where the assignment differs from that provided for by the composition (as by reserving to the debtor the surplus of the estate after payment of creditors instead of conveying it unconditionally to the trustees) it does not operate as a satisfaction. Clark v. Rowling, Lalor (N. Y.) 105.

37. Cutter v. Reynolds, 8 B. Mon. (Ky.) 596; Perkins v. Lockwood, 100 Mass. 249, 1 Am. Rep. 103; Sage v. Valentine, 23 Minn. 102.

Thus an agreement of a creditor with his debtor to accept a certain percentage of the debt in full satisfaction thereof, provided that no other creditor shall receive more than the same percentage of his claim, is void for want of consideration. To support such agreement there should be a mutual agreement between the creditors. Perkins v. Lockwood, 100 Mass. 249, 1 Am. Rep. 103.

38. Illinois.— Gillfillan v. Farrington, 12 Ill. App. 101.

Indiana.— Devou v. Ham, 17 Ind. 472.

Prior payment in full of some of the creditors will not affect the validity of the composition if made with knowledge of all the creditors.[39] A composition agreement between debtor and creditor does not, unless it is performed, discharge the debtor from the residue of the debt,[40] and if the debtor has procured creditors to accept the composition by fraudulent representations as to his situation it is not binding.[41] If a creditor who signs a composition agreement, and thereby induces others to sign it, makes any private bargain the effect of which is to place himself in a better situation than the other creditors, he commits a fraud upon them and the private bargain is void.[42]

(IX) GIVING NEW SECURITY — (A) In General. Acceptance of a less sum secured in satisfaction of the whole debt is a good accord and satisfaction. Where the creditor is given security for part of an unsecured debt, or new and better security for part of a secured debt, there is a sufficient consideration on which to base a release of the balance.[43] Nevertheless the acceptance of a new security for an existing debt does not operate as a payment unless so intended by the parties.[44]

Massachusetts.— Eaton v. Lincoln, 13 Mass. 424.

Pennsylvania.— Laird v. Campbell, 92 Pa. St. 470.

Wisconsin.— Continental Nat. Bank v. McGeoch, 92 Wis. 286, 66 N. W. 606.

England.— Constantein v. Blache, 1 Cox Ch. 287; Lewis v. Jones, 4 B. & C. 506; Norman v. Thompson, 4 Exch. 755.

39. Gage v. De Courcey, 68 N. H. 579, 41 Atl. 183.

40. Illinois.— McMannomy v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 167 Ill. 497, 47 N. E. 712.

Michigan.— Harrison v. Gamble, 69 Mich. 96, 36 N. W. 682.

Missouri.— Mullin v. Martin, 23 Mo. App. 537.

New York.— Clark v. Rowling, Lalor (N. Y.) 105.

Vermont.— Wheeler v. Wheeler, 11 Vt. 60.

England.— Heathcote v. Crookshanks, 2 T. R. 24.

Where creditors of an insolvent debtor agree to accept a composition of three shillings in the pound, payable by instalments at three, six, and twelve months, and that the security of a third person should be accepted for the whole composition, and joint and several notes of the debtor and the third person were given the creditors, and receipts signed expressed to be "in discharge of their debts," it was held that the mere giving of the notes without payment was not satisfaction within the terms of the resolution or the receipt, and that, the notes having been presented at maturity and dishonored, the creditors were remitted to their right to sue for the original debt. Edwards v. Hancher, 1 C. P. D. 111.

Conditional execution of composition.— Where an insolvent debtor assigns his property to a trustee for the benefit of creditors who shall execute the assignment and thereby release their demands, a creditor may execute it upon a condition precedent which, if not performed, will render the execution inoperative. Thus, where a creditor executed a deed of assignment on condition that the property assigned has not been attached by any valid trustee process, it was held that the trustee process served upon the assignee as trustee, in which there was a misnomer as to his christian name, was nevertheless a valid trustee process, and that consequently the signature of the creditor was not operative. American Bank v. Doolittle, 14 Pick. (Mass.) 123.

41. Richards v. Hunt, 6 Vt. 251, 27 Am. Dec. 545; Cooling v. Noyes, 6 T. R. 263.

42. Lewis v. Jones, 4 B. & C. 506. See also Bank of Commerce v. Hoeber, 11 Mo. App. 475 [affirmed in 88 Mo. 37], where such a composition, in its entirety, was held to be invalid as to the other creditors.

43. Arkansas.— Pope v. Tunstall, 2 Ark. 209.

Illinois.— Post v. Springfield First Nat. Bank, 138 Ill. 559, 28 N. E. 978; Kemmerer v. Kokendifer, 65 Ill. App. 31.

Maryland.— Booth v. Campbell, 15 Md. 569.

Minnesota.— Schmidt v. Ludwig, 26 Minn. 85, 1 N. W. 803.

Mississippi.— Pulliam v. Taylor, 50 Miss. 251.

New Hampshire.— Colburn v. Gould, 1 N. H. 279.

New Jersey.— Day v. Gardner, 42 N. J. Eq. 199, 7 Atl. 365; Daniels v. Hatch, 21 N. J. L. 391, 47 Am. Dec. 169.

New York.— Howard v. Norton, 65 Barb. (N. Y.) 161.

North Carolina.— Gunn v. McAden, 37 N. C. 79.

England.— Steinman v. Magnus, 11 East 390.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Accord and Satisfaction," §§ 88–91.

Execution in favor of debtor against third person.— The delivery and acceptance of an execution in favor of the debtor against a third person in satisfaction of a draft accepted by the debtor operates as an accord and satisfaction. Thatcher v. Dudley, 2 Root (Conn.) 169.

44. Kemmerer's Appeal, 102 Pa. St. 558.

Thus the acceptance, by the holder of a protested note, from the maker, of a note with a new indorser, on the express agreement that it shall be additional security only and

(B) Note of Third Person. The acceptance, by a creditor, of the note of a third person, in full satisfaction of an existing debt, is an extinguishment of the original indebtedness though the note so taken is for a less sum than the whole debt.[45] The mere acceptance of such note, however, will not have this effect unless there is an express agreement that it shall so operate.[46] The agreement must be fully executed.[47]

(C) Bills of Exchange, Drafts, Checks, and Orders on Third Person. The acceptance of bills of exchange[48] or checks of a third person[49] for a less amount than that due, in satisfaction thereof, operates as an accord and satisfaction. So the giving and acceptance of an order on a third person for less than the amount due, which order is duly paid, operates as an accord and satisfaction.[50] Otherwise where such third person refuses to honor the order.[51] So, also, it has been held that the acceptance of a draft for less than the amount of the debt may be good as an accord and satisfaction thereof.[52] But the acceptance of a draft from the agent of the debtor in satisfaction of the claim does not render the transaction a good accord and satisfaction on the ground that the consideration was paid by a third person.[53]

(D) Note of Debtor Indorsed by Third Person. If a debtor gives his note, indorsed by a third person, as security for a part of the debt, which is accepted shall not release the parties liable on the original note, does not operate to release the indorser on the original note. Kemmerer's Appeal, 102 Pa. St. 558.

45. Alabama.— Brasselle v. Williams, 51 Ala. 349; Pearson v. Thomason, 15 Ala. 700, 50 Am. Dec. 159; Abercrombie v. Mosely, 9 Port. (Ala.) 145.

Arkansas.— Pettigrew Mach. Co. v. Harmon, 45 Ark. 290.

Illinois.— Gillfillan v. Farrington, 12 Ill. App. 101.

Indiana.— Wipperman v. Hardy, 17 Ind. App. 142, 46 N. E. 537; Jones v. Ransom, 3 Ind. 327.

Iowa.— Bower v. Metz, 54 Iowa 394, 6 N. W. 551.

Kentucky.— Hardesty v. Graham, (Ky. 1887) 3 S. W. 909; Woolfolk v. McDowell, 9 Dana (Ky.) 268; Letcher v. Commonwealth Bank, 1 Dana (Ky.) 82.

Maine.— Varney v. Conery, 77 Me. 527, 1 Atl. 683; Lee v. Oppenheimer, 32 Me. 253.

Massachusetts.— Brooks v. White, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 283, 37 Am. Dec. 95.

New Hampshire.— Wright v. First Crockery Ware Co., 1 N. H. 281.

New York.— Howard v. Norton, 65 Barb. (N. Y.) 161; Bliss v. Schwarts, 64 Barb. (N. Y.) 215; Conkling v. King, 10 Barb. (N. Y.) 372; Roberts v. Brandies, 44 Hun (N. Y.) 468; Booth v. Smith, 3 Wend. (N. Y.) 66; Webb v. Goldsmith, 2 Duer (N. Y.) 413; Kellogg v. Richards, 14 Wend. (N. Y.) 116; Frisbie v. Larned, 21 Wend. (N. Y.) 450.

North Carolina.— Currie v. Kennedy, 78 N. C. 91.

Rhode Island.—Smith v. Ballou, 1 R. I. 496.

West Virginia.— Dryden v. Stephens, 19 W. Va. 1.

England.— Lewis v. Jones, 4 B. & C. 506; Curlewis v. Clark, 3 Exch. 375.

Canada.— Hanscombe v. Macdonald, 4 U. C. C. P. 190.

Invalid note.— A being indebted to B, the latter agreed to receive and did receive the note of a third person, an infant, in satisfaction of the debt. It was held that, the note received being of no value, the agreement to receive it in satisfaction was void. Wentworth v. Wentworth, 5 N. H. 410.

Note of third person for larger amount.— Where the note of a third person for a larger amount than the account sued on is accepted in satisfaction thereof, it will operate as a valid accord and satisfaction if no false representations were made concerning it, and it is immaterial that the note turned out to be worthless. Carriere v. Ticknor, 26 Ala. 571.

Note of third person in satisfaction of judgment.— A judgment may be discharged by the receipt of a third person's notes for a less amount than the judgment in satisfaction thereof. Jones v. Ransom, 3 Ind. 327; Sanders v. Branch Bank, 13 Ala. 353.

46. Hunter v. Moul, 98 Pa. St. 13, 42 Am. Rep. 610; Darnall v. Morehouse, 36 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 511; infra, V, D.

47. Arkansas City First Nat. Bank v. Leech, 94 Fed. 310.

Agreement to accept if paid at maturity.— If a creditor receives the note of a third person upon an agreement that it shall be a full satisfaction of a larger debt if paid at maturity, but not otherwise, and he accepts payment of it when overdue, it is a discharge of the original debt. Conkling v. King, 10 N. Y. 440 [affirming 10 Barb. (N. Y.) 372].

48. Thompson v. Percival, 5 B. & Ad. 925.

49. Guild v. Butler, 127 Mass. 386; Bidder v. Bridges, 37 Ch. D. 406.

50. Nevins v. Depierries, 1 Edm. Sel. Cas. (N. Y.) 196.

51. Geiser v. Kershner, 4 Gill & J. (Md.) 305, 23 Am. Dec. 566; Schlitz v. Meyer, 61 Wis. 418, 21 N. W. 243. See also Hawley v. Foote, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 516.

52. Reid v. Hibbard, 6 Wis. 175.

53. Bliss v. Schwarts, 65 N. Y. 444 [reversing 64 Barb. (N. Y.) 215, 7 Lans. (N. Y.) 186].

by the creditor in full satisfaction, it is a valid discharge of the whole of the original debt.[54]

(E) Note of Debtor Secured by Mortgage. Where a debtor gives his creditor notes for one half of the debt, secured by chattel mortgage on his property, on an agreement that the creditor will accept the same in full satisfaction, there is a sufficient consideration to support this agreement and it constitutes an accord and satisfaction.[55]

(F) Individual Note of One of Several Joint Debtors. The acceptance in satisfaction, by a creditor, of an individual note of one of several joint debtors, for a less amount than the whole debt, operates as a valid accord and satisfaction,[56] because the sole liability of one of several joint debtors may be more beneficial than the general liability of all, either in respect to the solvency of the parties or the convenience of the remedy,[57] or in various other ways; and whether it was actually more beneficial in each particular case cannot be made the subject of inquiry.[58]

(X) Unsecured Note of Debtor. According to a number of decisions the acceptance by the creditor of the debtor's unsecured negotiable note for a less sum than due does not operate as a satisfaction of the debt, though accepted as such;[59] but other decisions maintain the contrary view.[60]

2. Of Unliquidated or Disputed Claims — a. Sufficiency of Payment and Acceptance of Smaller Sum than Demanded. Where a claim is unliquidated or in dispute, payment and acceptance of a less sum than claimed, in satisfaction, operates as an accord and satisfaction,[61] as the rule that the receiving of a part of

54. Alabama.— Singleton v. Thomas, 73 Ala. 205.

Connecticut.— Argall v. Cook, 43 Conn. 160.

Kentucky.— See also Hanson v. Cowan, 7 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 574.

Maine.— Jenness v. Lane, 26 Me. 475.

Minnesota.— Mason v. Campbell, 27 Minn. 54, 6 N. W. 405.

New York.— Allison v. Abendroth, 108 N. Y. 470, 15 N. E. 606; Van Etten v. Troudden, 1 Hun (N. Y.) 432; Boyd v. Hitchcock, 20 Johns. (N. Y.) 76, 11 Am. Dec. 247.

Canada.— Watts v. Robinson, 32 U. C. Q. B. 362.

The statute of frauds has no application to a transaction of this character. Singleton v. Thomas, 73 Ala. 205.

55. Jaffray v. Davis, 124 N. Y. 164, 26 N. E. 351, 11 L. R. A. 710 [reversing 48 Hun (N. Y.) 500, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 814]. See also Allen v. Alexander, 11 U. C. C. P. 541.

56. Allison v. Abendroth, 108 N. Y. 470, 15 N. E. 606; Ludington v. Bell, 77 N. Y. 138, 33 Am. Rep. 601; Lytle v. Ault, 7 Exch. 669; Thompson v. Percival, 5 B. & Ad. 925 [criticising Lodge v. Dicas, 3 B. & Ald. 611; David v. Ellice, 5 B. & C. 196]. But see Waydell v. Luer, 5 Hill (N. Y.) 448.

57. Allison v. Abendroth, 108 N. Y. 470, 15 N. E. 606.

58. Thompson v. Percival, 5 B. & Ad. 925.

Agreement to accept necessary.— A note for a debt of a firm, given by one partner after dissolution, is not an extinguishment or satisfaction of the original debt so as to discharge the other partner, unless such was the agreement when the note was given, and this is a fact for the determination of a jury. Mason v. Wickersham, 4 Watts & S. (Pa.) 100.

59. Jenness v. Lane, 26 Me. 475; Person v. Civer, 29 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 432. Dicta in Conkling v. King, 10 Barb. (N. Y.) 372; Booth v. Smith, 3 Wend. (N. Y.) 66; Hooker v. Hyde, 61 Wis. 204, 21 N. W. 52.

60. Tucker v. Murray, 2 Pa. Dist. 497; Mechanics' Bank v. Huston, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 389; Sibree v. Tripp, 15 M. & W. 23.

Reason for contrary view.— In support of this holding it was said by Judge Sharswood: "The acceptance of a collateral thing without regard to its value is a good accord and satisfaction. The promissory note of a debtor is such a collateral thing. It is a decided advantage in the creditor in two ways: First, the greater facility of a recovery upon it. It requires no evidence of consideration in the first instance. It imports prima facie a sufficient consideration. Second, it may be disposed of in the market at once before it falls due, and the bona fide purchaser of it takes it clear of all equities between the original parties. Thus the creditor may often find that such a note for part of his debt [is] of great and immediate advantage to him by raising the money upon it." Mechanics' Bank v. Huston, 11 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 389, 390.

Acceptance of debtor's check.— A, being indebted to B to the extent of £125, gave B a check drawn by himself for £100 payable on demand, which B accepted in satisfaction. This was held a good accord and satisfaction. Goddard v. O'Brien, 9 Q. B. D. 37 [following the reasoning in Sibree v. Tripp, 15 M. & W. 23].

61. Arkansas.— Reynolds v. Reynolds, 55 Ark. 369, 18 S. W. 377.

Colorado.— Union Pac. R. Co. v. Anderson, 11 Colo. 293, 18 Pac. 24.

the debt due, under an agreement that the same shall be in full satisfaction, is no bar to an action to recover the balance, does not apply where the plaintiff's claim

Connecticut.— Gates v. Steele, 58 Conn. 316, 20 Atl. 474, 18 Am. St. Rep. 268; Potter v. Douglass, 44 Conn. 541; Bull v. Bull, 43 Conn. 455.

Florida.— Sanford v. Abrams, 24 Fla. 181, 2 So. 373; Fuller v. Fuller, 23 Fla. 236, 2 So. 426.

Georgia.— Tyler Cotton Press Co. v. Chevalier, 56 Ga. 494; dictum in Molyneaux v. Collier, 13 Ga. 406.

Illinois.— Rosenmueller v. Lampe, 89 Ill. 212, 31 Am. Rep. 74; Nichols v. Bradsby, 78 Ill. 44; Martin v. White, 40 Ill. App. 281; Capital City Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Detweiler, 23 Ill. App. 656.

Indiana.— Kistler v. Indianapolis, etc., R. Co., 88 Ind. 460; Ogborn v. Hoffman, 52 Ind. 439; Bateman v. Daniels, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 71.

Iowa.— Keck v. Hotel Owners' Mut. F. Ins. Co., 89 Iowa 200, 56 N. W. 438; Shaw v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 82 Iowa 199, 47 N. W. 1004; Potts v. Polk County, 80 Iowa 401, 45 N. W. 775; Evarts v. Rose Grove Dist. Tp., 77 Iowa 37, 41 N. W. 478, 14 Am. St. Rep. 264; Cool v. Stone, 4 Iowa 219; Wapello County v. Sinnaman, 1 Greene (Iowa) 413.

Kansas.— Storch v. Dewey, 57 Kan. 370, 46 Pac. 698.

Kentucky.— Pepper v. Aiken, 2 Bush (Ky.) 251.

Maryland.— Stockton v. Frey, 4 Gill (Md.) 406, 45 Am. Dec. 138.

Massachusetts.— Stimpson v. Poole, 141 Mass. 502, 6 N. E. 705; Simmons v. Almy, 103 Mass. 33; Barry v. Goodrich, 98 Mass. 335; Donohue v. Woodbury, 6 Cush. (Mass.) 148; Barlow v. Ocean Ins. Co., 4 Metc. (Mass.) 270.

Michigan.— Tanner v. Merrill, 108 Mich. 58, 65 N. W. 664, 62 Am. St. Rep. 687, 31 L. R. A. 171; Nash v. Manistee Lumber Co., 75 Mich. 346, 42 N. W. 840; Perry v. Cheboygan, 55 Mich. 250, 21 N. W. 333.

Minnesota.— Neibles v. Minneapolis, etc., R. Co., 37 Minn. 151, 33 N. W. 332; Truax v. Miller, 48 Minn. 62, 50 N. W. 935.

Mississippi.— State v. Story, 57 Miss. 738; McCall v. Nave, 52 Miss. 494.

Missouri.— Brink v. Garland, 58 Mo. App. 356; Maack v. Schneider, 51 Mo. App. 92; Deutmann v. Kilpatrick, 46 Mo. App. 624; Helling v. United Order of Honor, 29 Mo. App. 309.

Nebraska.— Treat v. Price, 47 Nebr. 875, 66 N. W. 834; Slade v. Swedeburg Elevator Co., 39 Nebr. 600, 58 N. W. 191.

New Hampshire.— Hilliard v. Noyes, 58 N. H. 312; Watson v. Elliott, 57 N. H. 511.

New York.— Nassoiy v. Tomlinson, 148 N. Y. 326, 42 N. E. 715, 51 Am. St. Rep. 695 [reversing 75 Hun (N. Y.) 613]; Fuller v. Kemp, 138 N. Y. 231, 23 N. E. 1034, 20 L. R. A. 785; Howard v. Norton, 65 Barb. (N. Y.) 161; Brett v. First Universalist Soc., 63 Barb. (N. Y.) 610; Powell v. Jones, 44 Barb. (N. Y.) 521; Pierce v. Pierce, 25 Barb. (N. Y.) 243; Harris v. Story, 2 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 363; Neary v. Bostwick, 2 Hilt. (N. Y.) 514; O'Conor v. Philipsen, 74 Hun (N. Y.) 68, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 359; Lesson v. Massachusetts Ben. Assoc., 3 Misc. (N. Y.) 415, 23 N. Y. Suppl. 294; Komp v. Raymond, 42 N. Y. App. Div. 32, 58 N. Y. Suppl. 909; Wisner v. Schopp, 34 N. Y. App. Div. 199, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 543.

North Carolina.— Mathis v. Bryson, 49 N. C. 508.

Pennsylvania.— Harlow v. Wilkinsburg, 189 Pa. St. 443, 42 Atl. 135; Brockley v. Brockley, 122 Pa. St. 1, 15 Atl. 646.

South Carolina.— McElwee v. Hutchinson, 10 S. C. 436.

Tennessee.— Hussey v. Crass, (Tenn. Ch. 1899) 53 S. W. 986; State v. Crutchfield, 3 Head (Tenn.) 113.

Texas.— Jennings v. Ft. Worth, 7 Tex. Civ. App. 329, 26 S. W. 927.

Utah.— Roach v. Gilmer, 3 Utah 389, 4 Pac. 221.

Vermont.— Wilder v. St. Johnsbury, etc., R. Co., 65 Vt. 43, 25 Atl. 896.

Virginia.—American Manganese Co. v. Virginia Manganese Co., 91 Va. 272, 21 S. E. 466.

Wisconsin.—Woodford v. Marshall, 72 Wis. 129, 39 N. W. 376; Harris v. Kennedy, 48 Wis. 500, 4 N. W. 651; Turner v. Burnell, 48 Wis. 221, 4 N. W. 30; Massing v. State, 14 Wis. 502; Pulling v. Columbia County, 3 Wis. 337.

United States.— Murphy v. U. S., 104 U. S. 464, 26 L. ed. 833; Baird v. U. S., 96 U. S. 430, 24 L. ed. 703; Brice v. U. S., 32 Ct. Cl. 23; Oliver v. Vernon, 4 Mason (U. S.) 275, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,501.

England.— Wilkinson v. Byers, 1 A. & E. 106; Watters v. Smith, 2 B. & Ad. 889; Longridge v. Dorville, 5 B. & Ald. 117.

Canada.— Lane v. Kingsmill, 6 U. C. Q. B. 579.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Accord and Satisfaction," § 67.

Application of rule.—The rule stated in the text has been applied to the following claims:

Claims against municipalities, including villages (Perry v. Cheboygan, 55 Mich. 250, 21 N. W. 333), counties (People v. Cayuga County, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 314 [affirming 16 N. Y. Suppl. 254]; Wapello County v. Sinnaman, 1 Greene (Iowa) 413; Brick v. Plymouth County, 63 Iowa 462, 19 N. W. 304; People v. Cayuga County, 63 Hun (N. Y.) 625, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 314; Pulling v. Columbia County, 3 Wis. 337 [the rule of course not applying where there has been no acceptance in satisfaction (People v. Hamilton County, 56 Hun (N. Y.) 459, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 88); and where a claim against a county is allowed in part, a mere acceptance of the part allowed creates no presumption of an acceptance in full satisfaction where the claimant had no knowledge that the balance of his claim had been rejected (Fulton v. Monona County, 47 Iowa 622)]), and cities (Callahan v. New York, 6 Daly (N. Y.) 230; is disputed or unliquidated.[62] In such case the concession made by one is a good consideration for the concession made by the other.[63] The fact that the creditor was not legally bound to make any abatement of his claim,[64] or that the amount accepted was much less than the creditor was entitled to receive and would have recovered had he brought action,[65] does not in any way affect the rule. And where two persons, being doubtful as to facts, compromise their rights, the mere fact that they were in error as to the facts does not entitle the party whose duty it was to have known and furnished the other with the exact facts to alter the compromise agreement.[66] Within the rule stated, payment to a person to whom the creditor owes money will operate as a satisfaction.[67]

b. Necessity of Acceptance, and What Constitutes. In order that the payment of a smaller sum than demanded shall operate as a satisfaction of the claim it must be accepted as such.[68] Where a person accepts a tender, but not in full Harlow v. Wilkinsburg, 189 Pa. St. 443, 42 Atl. 135; Evans v. Olmstead, 31 Misc. (N. Y.) 692, 66 N. Y. Suppl. 63).

Claims against states. Massing v. State, 14 Wis. 502; Calkins v. State, 13 Wis. 389; Sholes v. State, 2 Pin. (Wis.) 499, 2 Chand. (Wis.) 182; Hemingway v. Stansell, 106 U. S. 399, 1 S. Ct. 473, 27 L. ed. 245. Thus, where an act of the legislature makes an appropriation as in full payment of a demand some portion of which was controverted or disallowed, the acceptance of the money bars further claim on account of the payment except where there was fraud, accident, or mistake. Massing v. State, 14 Wis. 502.

Claims against the federal government. Merrick v. Giddings, 115 U. S. 300, 6 S. Ct. 65, 29 L. ed. 403; Murphy v. U. S., 104 U. S. 464, 26 L. ed. 833; U. S. v. Martin, 94 U. S. 400, 24 L. ed. 128 [affirming 10 Ct. Cl. 276]; Cruger's Case, 11 Ct. Cl. 766; Case's Case, 11 Ct. Cl. 712; Gilman's Case, 8 Ct. Cl. 520; Rush's Case, 2 Ct. Cl. 167; Chouteau v. U. S., 95 U. S. 61; Sweeny v. U. S., 17 Wall. (U. S.) 75, 21 L. ed. 575; Mason v. U. S., 17 Wall. (U. S.) 67, 21 L. ed. 564; U. S. v. Justice, 14 Wall. (U. S.) 535, 20 L. ed. 753; U. S. v. Clyde, 13 Wall. (U. S.) 35, 20 L. ed. 479; U. S. v. Adams, 7 Wall. (U. S.) 463, 19 L. ed. 249. The law governing this class of cases is well expressed as follows in a recent federal decision: "There is a group of decisions of the United States supreme court where claimants for supplies furnished to the government were held foreclosed by receipt in full and acceptance of part of their original claims. It should be remembered that the United States treasury pays only out of appropriations and upon audit. There being many claims for military stores furnished during the civil war, congress created a special board to pass upon their validity and amount. No one was required to bring his claim before such board, but, if he did, payment was at once secured to him of whatever amount the board might find due out of a special appropriation made for the purpose. Payment on all these claims out of the ordinary appropriations had been suspended by order of the treasury department. From the time the secretary issued his order suspending the payment . . . they must be regarded as claims disputed (that is, the whole claim) by the government, and, unless the board had been constituted, could have been adjusted only by congress or the court of claims. U. S. v. Adams, 7 Wall. (U. S.) 463, 19 L. ed. 249. In all these cases the amounts paid in settlement were unliquidated, since, but for the finding of the board, the government could have liquidated them all in good faith, and, in giving up resort to the court, at the same time going to the expense of constituting a special tribunal to adjust the claims and securing the more expeditious payment of what might be found due, there was certainly abundant consideration to sustain the settlements." Chicago, etc., R. Co. v. Clark, 92 Fed. 968, 977.

Claims for personal injuries. Chicago, etc., Coal Co. v. Peterson, 39 Ill. App. 114; Hinkle v. Minneapolis, etc., R. Co., 31 Minn. 434, 18 N. W. 275; Jennings v. Ft. Worth, 7 Tex. Civ. App. 329, 26 S. W. 927.

Claims for the destruction of property. Neibles v. Minneapolis, etc., R. Co., 37 Minn. 151, 33 N. W. 332.

Giving check for smaller sum in payment of notes.— The giving and acceptance of a check for a less sum than the face value of notes of third persons held by the seller is a good accord and satisfaction. The notes were not necessarily worth the precise amount indicated on their face, and therefore there is no prevailing inference that the larger sum was attempted to be satisfied by the payment of a smaller. Rockwell v. Taylor, 41 Conn. 55.

62. Cool v. Stone, 4 Iowa 219; Shaw v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 82 Iowa 199, 47 N. W. 1004; People v. Buffalo State Asylum, 96 N. Y. 640; Palmerton v. Huxford, 4 Den. (N. Y.) 166; McDaniels v. Lapham, 21 Vt. 222; Baird v. U. S., 96 U. S. 430, 24 L. ed. 703.

63. Harland v. Staples, 79 Ill. App. 72; Truax v. Miller, 48 Minn. 62, 50 N. W. 935; Nassoiy v. Tomlinson, 148 N. Y. 326, 42 N. E. 715, 51 Am. St. Rep. 695 [reversing 75 Hun (N. Y.) 613]; Lestienne v. Ernst, 5 N. Y. App. Div. 373, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 199. See also McElwee v. Hutchinson, 10 S. C. 436.

64. Taylor v. Nussbaum, 2 Duer (N. Y.) 302.

65. Roach v. Gilmer, 3 Utah 389, 4 Pac. 221.

66. Fuller v. Fuller, 23 Fla. 236, 2 So. 426.

67. Mitchell v. Knight, 7 Ohio Cir. Ct. 204.

68. Arizona.— Simms v. Hampson, (Ariz. 1887) 12 Pac. 686.

Georgia.— McLendon v. Wilson, 52 Ga. 41.

of all demands, this acceptance will not conclude him from claiming more.[69] The nature of the offer or tender by the debtor is an important consideration in determining whether there has been an acceptance and satisfaction. To constitute an accord and satisfaction it is necessary that the money should be offered in full satisfaction of the demand, and be accompanied by such acts and declarations as amount to a condition that the money, if accepted, is accepted in satisfaction; and it must be such that the party to whom it is offered is bound to understand therefrom that, if he takes it, he takes it subject to such conditions.[70] The mere fact Illinois.—Economy Coal, etc., Co. v. Bracewell, 78 Ill. App. 335; Richelieu Hotel Co. v. International Military Encampment Co., 41 Ill. App. 268; Higgins v. Halligan, 46 Ill. 173.

Indiana.— Kistler v. Indianapolis, etc., R. Co., 88 Ind. 460.

Iowa.— Fulton v. Monona County, 47 Iowa 622.

Louisiana.— See Albert v. Citizens' Bank, 5 La. Ann. 720.

Massachusetts.— Grinnell v. Spink, 128 Mass. 25; Donohue v. Woodbury, 6 Cush. (Mass.) 148; Harriman v. Harriman, 12 Gray (Mass.) 341; Tuttle v. Tuttle, 12 Metc. (Mass.) 551, 46 Am. Dec. 701.

Minnesota.— Marion v. Heimbach, 62 Minn. 214, 64 N. W. 386.

New York.— People v. Cortland County, 58 Barb. (N. Y.) 139; People v. Cortland County, 40 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 53; Serat v. Smith, 61 Hun (N. Y.) 36, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 330.

Vermont.— Preston v. Grant, 34 Vt. 201; Willey v. Warden, 27 Vt. 655.

United States.— McKeen v. Morse, 1 U. S. App. 7, 49 Fed. 253, 1 C. C. A. 237.

Tender back of amount received.— Where the board of supervisors of a county allows a claimant so much in full of his claim, which is tendered to him, and he takes it, but refuses to take it in full, and tenders it back and the board refuses to receive it, there is no accord and satisfaction. People v. Cortland County, 40 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 53.

When acceptance a question for jury.— Where, in an action for the balance due on account to which a settlement is pleaded, it appears that plaintiff accepted without objection a draft for the amount which defendant's agent said was due; that he had not then claimed more because he was afraid defendant's agent would hold all the money until he signed a receipt in full; and that, some hours after, the agent did ask for a receipt in full, which was refused,— it was held that a settlement was not conclusively shown and that it was a question for the jury. Sicotte v. Barber, 83 Wis. 431, 53 N. W. 697. See also Mortlock v. Williams, 76 Mich. 568, 43 N. W. 592.

69. Higgins v. Halligan, 46 Ill. 173.

Leaving balance with creditor.— If a person, on being discharged by his employer before the expiration of the period for which he had contracted to serve, asks for a statement of his account; which being furnished to him he draws out the amount due to him up to that time, except a small balance which, under legal advice, he allows to remain, "saying nothing to defendant at the time about said settlement or his reason for leaving said balance, and keeps said account in his possession, this is not a waiver of his rights under the contract; it is not a release, nor an accord and satisfaction." Burkham v. Daniel, 56 Ala. 604, 605.

70. Illinois.— Kingsville Preserving Co. v. Frank, 87 Ill. App. 586; De Kalb Implement Works v. White, 59 Ill. App. 171.

Indiana.—Pottlitzer v. Wesson, 8 Ind. App. 472, 35 N. E. 1030.

Iowa.— Fulton v. Monona County, 47 Iowa 622.

Michigan.— Cooley v. Kinney, 119 Mich. 377, 78 N. W. 332.

Missouri.—Perkins v. Headley, 49 Mo. App. 556.

Nebraska.— Beckman v. Birchard, 48 Nebr. 805, 67 N. W. 784.

New York.— Kruger v. Geer, 26 Misc. (N. Y.) 772, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 1015.

Vermont.— Van Dyke v. Wilder, 66 Vt. 579, 29 Atl. 1016; Boston Rubber Co. v. Peerless Wringer Co., 58 Vt. 551, 5 Atl. 407; Preston v. Grant, 34 Vt. 201; Brigham v. Dana, 29 Vt. 1; Gassett v. Andover, 21 Vt. 342.

See also McLendon v. Wilson, 52 Ga. 41.

Offers held not within the rule.— Where a person sent a draft to another for a less sum than was claimed to be owing, suggesting that the same be accepted in settlement, and stating that if the other returned it he should not trouble himself to send again, it was held that the draft might be accepted for the undisputed portion of the claim and a suit maintained for the balance. In this case the debtor did not expressly state that if the draft were accepted it should be accepted in full satisfaction of the claim. De Kalb Implement Works v. White, 59 Ill. App. 171. And where the debtor incloses in a letter a check for the amount which he claims to be due, stating, "We claim this to be in full settlement of account, but admit that you did not allow the claim," and the creditor retains the check and gives the defendant credit on account, there is no satisfaction. Van Dyke v. Wilder, 66 Vt. 579, 29 Atl. 1016. Where a debtor, making a tender upon a promissory note, merely said that he tendered the sum offered as the balance due upon the note, it was held that there was nothing in this language that could fairly convey the idea to the party to whom the tender was made that it was offered upon the condition that if he took it he did so in satisfaction of the note. Preston v. Grant, 34 Vt. 201.

Failure to dissent from offer to accept as part payment.— If a debtor tenders to his creditor a sum of money in full of all legal that the creditor receives less than the amount of his claim, with knowledge that the debtor claims to be indebted to him only to the extent of the payment made, does not necessarily establish an accord and satisfaction.[71] Where, however, a sum of money is tendered in satisfaction of the claim, and the tender is accompanied with such acts and declarations as amount to a condition that if the money is accepted it is accepted in satisfaction, and such that the party to whom it is offered is bound to understand therefrom that if he takes it he takes it subject to such condition, an acceptance of the money offered constitutes an accord and satisfaction.[72] This is true although the creditor protests at the time that the amount paid is not all that is due, or that he does not accept it in full satisfaction of his claims which the creditor may have against him upon account, and the creditor receives the money protesting that it is not sufficient, but saying that he will take it and pass it to the debtor's credit upon the account, and the debtor does not express any dissent to this course, the acceptance of the tender is no bar to the recovery of such sum as may be found due him exceeding the amount of the tender. Gassett v. Andover, 21 Vt. 342.

Receipt of money paid into court.— If money paid into court is not accompanied with the condition that it must be accepted in full settlement of the claim in suit, the acceptance of it does not bar the right to prosecute a suit for the balance. Cooley v. Kinney, 119 Mich. 377, 78 N. W. 332.

Instructing agent to pay only if receipt given.— Defendants made a deposit in bank, to be placed to plaintiff's credit, saying in their letter: "Don't place this to credit until he sends receipt in full." The bank, nevertheless, placed the amount to plaintiff's credit. The cashier told plaintiff, when he asked for a statement of his account, that defendants required a receipt in full. He declined to give one, insisting that there was more due him. He then drew out his balance. It was held that there was no satisfaction of the debt. Simms v. Hampson, (Ariz. 1887) 12 Pac. 686. Compare Cole v. Champlain Transp. Co., 26 Vt. 87, which on practically the same state of facts reached the opposite conclusion.

71. Perkins v. Headley, 49 Mo. App. 556.

72. Arkansas.— Springfield, etc., R. Co. v. Allen, 46 Ark. 217.

Colorado.— Berdell v. Bissell, 6 Colo. 162.

Connecticut.— Potter v. Douglass, 44 Conn. 541; Bull v. Bull, 43 Conn. 455.

Illinois.— Lapp v. Smith, 183 Ill. 179, 55 N. E. 717; Ostrander v. Scott, 161 Ill. 339, 43 N. E. 1089.

Indiana.— Hutton v. Stoddart, 83 Ind. 539.

Iowa.— Keck v. Hotel Owners' Mut. F. Ins. Co., 89 Iowa 200, 56 N. W. 438.

Minnesota.— Truax v. Miller, 48 Minn. 62, 50 N. W. 935.

Missouri.—Perkins v. Headley, 49 Mo. App. 556; Deutmann v. Kilpatrick, 46 Mo. App. 624.

Nebraska.— Treat v. Price, 47 Nebr. 875, 66 N. W. 834.

New York.— Nassoiy v. Tomlinson, 148 N. Y. 326, 42 N. E. 715, 51 Am. St. Rep. 695 [reversing 75 Hun (N. Y.) 613]; Fuller v. Kemp, 138 N. Y. 231, 33 N. E. 1034, 20 L. R. A. 785; Freiberg v. Moffett, 91 Hun (N. Y.) 17, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 95; Reynolds v. Empire Lumber Co., 85 Hun (N. Y.) 470, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 111; Hills v. Sommer, 53 Hun (N. Y.) 392, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 469; Logan v. Davidson, 18 N. Y. App. Div. 353, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 961. But see Geary v. Page, 9 Bosw. (N. Y.) 290; Vorhis v. Elias, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 134; Brown v. Symes, 83 Hun (N. Y.) 159, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 629.

Pennsylvania.— Smith v. Cohn, 170 Pa. St. 132, 32 Atl. 565; Washington Natural Gas Co. v. Johnson, 123 Pa. St. 576, 16 Atl. 799, 10 Am. St. Rep. 553.

Utah.— Roach v. Gilmer, 3 Utah 389, 4 Pac. 221.

Vermont.— Childs v. Millville Mut. M. & F. Ins. Co., 56 Vt. 609; Bromley v. School Dist. No. 5, 47 Vt. 381; Towslee v. Healey, 39 Vt. 522; Preston v. Grant, 34 Vt. 201; McDaniels v. Rutland Bank, 29 Vt. 230, 70 Am. Dec. 406; Cole v. Champlain Transp. Co., 26 Vt. 87; McGlynn v. Billings, 16 Vt. 329; Vermont State Baptist Convention v. Ladd, 58 Vt. 95, 4 Atl. 634.

Canada.— Nash v. Dever, 11 N. Brunsw. 404.

Retaining check declared to be in full payment.— According to the weight of authority, where a claim is in dispute and the debtor sends or gives the creditor a check for a less sum, which he declares to be in full payment of all demands, the retention thereof by the creditor constitutes an accord and satisfaction. Ostrander v. Scott, 161 Ill. 339, 43 N. E. 1089 [reversing 60 Ill. App. 322]; Golden v. Bartlett Illuminating Co., 114 Mich. 625, 72 N. W. 622; Eames Vacuum Brake Co. v. Prosser, 157 N. Y. 289, 51 N. E. 986; Logan v. Davidson, 18 N. Y. App. Div. 353, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 961; Reynolds v. Empire Lumber Co., 85 Hun (N. Y.) 470, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 111; Vorhis v. Elias, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 134; Brown v. Symes, 83 Hun (N. Y.) 159, 31 N. Y. Suppl. 629; Washington Natural Gas Co. v. Johnson, 123 Pa. St. 576, 16 Atl. 799, 10 Am. St. Rep. 553; Hull v. Johnson, (R. I. 1900) 46 Atl. 182. (But compare Day v. McLea, 58 L. J. Q. B. 293, in which it was held that the mere retention of a check sent "in full of all demands" is not conclusive evidence from which an accord and satisfaction is to be presumed; and Robinson v. Detroit, etc., R. Co., 84 Mich. 658, 48 N. W. 205, in which it was held that where a party received a check for the amount claimed by the debtor to be due, and receipted for it, but on the same day sent the debtor a protest against the inspection claim.[73] Where the tender or offer is thus made, the party to whom it is made has no alternative but to refuse it or accept it upon such condition.[74] If he accepts it, he accepts the condition also, notwithstanding any protest he may make to the contrary.[75]

3. What Are Liquidated Claims. The word "liquidated" means that the amount due has been ascertained and agreed upon by the parties or is fixed by operation of law.[76] A claim, any part of which is in dispute, cannot be said to be liquidated within the rules governing an accord and satisfaction;[77] and where it on which the account was based, it was a question for the jury whether there had been a binding settlement.)

So, where the debtor sends a check, stating it to be in full, and asking that it be returned if not satisfactory, and the creditor retains it, there is an accord and satisfaction. Hutton v. Stoddart, 83 Ind. 539; Freiberg v. Moffett, 91 Hun (N. Y.) 17, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 95; Fuller v. Kemp, 138 N. Y. 231, 33 N. E. 1034, 20 L. R. A. 785; Nash v. Dever, 11 N. Brunsw. 404; and where the debtor sends a check which he says is "in full settlement of all demands to date. If this is refused by you we shall make the tender in a legal way," and the creditor retains the check, this will constitute an accord and satisfaction. Connecticut River Lumber Co. v. Brown, 68 Vt. 239, 35 Atl. 56. So it has been held that where the debtor sends the creditor a check for a sum which he considers to be due, with an unsigned receipt in full, and requests that he sign and return the voucher, the offer of payment is to be deemed made upon the demand of its acceptance in satisfaction of the debt. Nassoiy v. Tomlinson, 148 N. Y. 326, 42 N. E. 715, 51 Am. St. Rep. 695 [reversing 75 Hun (N. Y.) 613].

Indorsing draft for collection.— Where a claim is in dispute and the debtor tenders a draft to the creditor to be taken by him on signing a receipt that such amount was "in full payment and compromise settlement of all claims and demands," the creditor's indorsement of the draft on leaving it with the bank for collection is in effect an acceptance thereof upon the condition under which it was tendered, although the receipt was not signed. Keck v. Hotel Owners' Mut. F. Ins. Co., 89 Iowa 200, 56 N. W. 438.

Reservation of right to apply for reconsideration of claim.— Where a claim is in dispute and the debtor tenders a less amount, which is accepted and a receipt in full given, this constitutes an accord and satisfaction, although at the time of such transaction the creditor asked if he might apply to the full board of the debtor's directors for a further allowance, and was told that he might. Green v. Rochester Iron Mfg. Co., 1 Thomps. & C. (N. Y.) 5.

Conditional acceptance.— Where a debtor offers a certain sum in full satisfaction, which was taken by one of the creditors to be accepted as full payment if his partner approved, otherwise to be returned, and the creditor retains the money, only crediting it as part payment, there is nevertheless an accord and satisfaction and an extinguishment of the claim. Bernard v. Henry Werner Co., 19 Misc. (N. Y.) 173, 43 N. Y. Suppl. 220.

Acceptance of part of consideration tendered.— Where the debtor offers a check and notes in satisfaction of a disputed claim, acceptance by the creditor of the check carries with it the acceptance of the notes. The creditor cannot retain the check and return the notes, and sue for the balance of his claim. Lapp v. Smith, 183 Ill. 179, 55 N. E. 717 [reversing 83 Ill. App. 203].

73. Connecticut.— Potter v. Douglass, 44 Conn. 541.

Minnesota.— Truax v. Miller, 48 Minn. 62, 50 N. W. 935.

Nebraska.— Treat v. Price, 47 Nebr. 875, 66 N. W. 834.

New York.— Callahan v. New York, 6 Daly (N. Y.) 230; Freiberg v. Moffett, 91 Hun (N. Y.) 17, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 95.

Utah.— Roach v. Gilmer, 3 Utah 389, 4 Pac. 221.

Vermont.— Bromley v. School Dist. No. 5, 47 Vt. 381.

Inattention of creditor to terms of offer.— Where the creditor accepts the sum which the debtor declares to be in full payment of his claim, the acceptance is a full discharge of the demand, although the words spoken by the debtor are not heard by the creditor through inattention or carelessness, provided they were so spoken that with ordinary care they might have been heard by him. Donohue v. Woodbury, 6 Cush. (Mass.) 148.

74. Bull v. Bull, 43 Conn. 455; Deutmann v. Kilpatrick, 46 Mo. App. 624; Treat v. Price, 47 Nebr. 875, 66 N. W. 834; Fuller v. Kemp, 138 N. Y. 231, 33 N. E. 1034, 20 L. R. A. 785.

75. Treat v. Price, 47 Nebr. 875, 66 N. W. 834.

76. Treat v. Price, 47 Nebr. 875, 66 N. W. 834.

Amount ascertained by arithmetical calculation.— If the amount due can be ascertained by arithmetical calculation it cannot be said to be unliquidated. Cincinnati v. Cincinnati St. R. Co., 6 Ohio N. P. 140.

77. Ostrander v. Scott, 161 Ill. 339, 43 N. E. 1089; Tanner v. Merrill, 158 Mich. 58, 65 N. W. 664, 62 Am. St. Rep. 687, 31 L. R. A. 171; Nassoiy v. Tomlinson, 148 N. Y. 326, 42 N. E. 715, 51 Am. St. Rep. 695 [reversing 75 Hun (N. Y.) 613].

Application of rule, generally.— Where defendant deducted from plaintiff's wages the amount paid by him as railway fare due plaintiff, which sum was claimed by plaintiff, but payment thereof denied by defendant, and plaintiff accepted the amount so paid is admitted that one of two specific sums is due, but there is a dispute as to what is the proper amount, the demand is regarded as unliquidated within the meaning of that term as applied to the subject of accord and satisfaction.[78]

B. Acceptance of Property in Satisfaction. The principle that a liability cannot be discharged by payment and acceptance of a less sum applies only to a payment in money. A valid accord and satisfaction takes place where some specific article of personal property[79] or a conveyance of real property[80] is accepted in satisfaction of the demand. This is true irrespective of the and receipted in full therefor, he was precluded from maintaining an action for the amount so deducted. Tanner v. Merrill, 108 Mich. 58, 65 N. W. 664, 62 Am. St. Rep. 687, 31 L. R. A. 171.

Controversy as to set-off.— An account cannot be considered as liquidated, so as to prevent the receipt of a less amount as payment from operating as a satisfaction, where there is a controversy over a set-off and amount of the balance. Ostrander v. Scott, 161 Ill. 339, 43 N. E. 1089; Pollman, etc., Coal, etc., Co. v. St. Louis, 145 Mo. 651, 47 S. W. 563.

78. Nassoiy v. Tomlinson, 148 N. Y. 326, 42 N. E. 715, 51 Am. St. Rep. 695 [reversing 75 Hun (N. Y.) 613].

79. Alabama.— Brassell v. Williams, 51 Ala. 349.

Arkansas.— Levy v. Very, 12 Ark. 148.

California.— Gavin v. Annan, 2 Cal. 494.

Connecticut.— Bull v. Bull, 43 Conn. 455.

Illinois.— Martin v. White, 40 Ill. App. 281.

Indiana.— Bateman v. Daniels, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 71.

Iowa.— Hasted v. Dodge, (Iowa 1887) 35 N. W. 462.

Kentucky.— Waller v. Martin, 7 Ky. L. Rep. 587; Arnold v. Park, 8 Bush (Ky.) 3; Tomlin v. McChord, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 1; Peace v. Stennet, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 449.

Maryland.— McCreary v. McCreary, 5 Gill & J. (Md.) 147.

Massachusetts.— Brooks v. White, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 283, 37 Am. Dec. 95.

Missouri.— Griffith v. Creighton, 61 Mo. App. 1.

New Jersey.— State Bank v. Chetwood, 8 N. J. L. 1.

New York.— Howard v. Norton, 65 Barb. (N. Y.) 161; Strang v. Holmes, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 224; Weeks v. Zimmerman, 15 Daly (N. Y.) 226, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 609; Gaffney v. Chapman, 4 Rob. (N. Y.) 275; Brown v. Feeter, 7 Wend. (N. Y.) 301.

Pennsylvania.— Christie v. Craige, 20 Pa. St. 430; Tucker v. Murray, 2 Pa. Dist. 497.

Tennessee.— Jones v. Peet, 1 Swan (Tenn.) 293.

Texas.— Overton v. Conner, 50 Tex. 113.

Vermont.— Ridlon v. Davis, 51 Vt. 457.

Wisconsin.— Palmer v. Yager, 20 Wis. 91; Williams v. Phelps, 16 Wis. 80.

United States.— Musgrove v. Gibbs, 1 Dall. (U. S.) 216, 1 L. ed. 107.

England.— Jones v. Sawkins, 5 C. B. 142, 57 E. C. L. 142.

Application of rule, generally.— The principle that personal property, though of less value than the claim, may be accepted in full satisfaction thereof, has been applied in the case of merchandise (Bateman v. Daniels, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 71; Hart v. Crawford, 41 Ind. 197; Gaffney v. Chapman, 4 Rob. (N. Y.) 275; Watkinson v. Inglesby, 5 Johns. (N. Y.) 386), horses (Musgrove v. Gibbs, 1 Dall. (U. S.) 216, 1 L. ed. 107; Arnold v. Park, 8 Bush (Ky.) 3), and other chattels (see cases cited above in this note).

Satisfaction partly in money and partly in property.— A liquidated claim may be satisfied by the giving and acceptance of a sum of money for part and property for the balance. Neal v. Handley, 116 Ill. 418, 6 N. E. 45, 56 Am. Rep. 784; Stearns v. Johnson, 17 Minn. 142. Thus, where a party pays $100 and gives an ox in satisfaction of a debt of $200, which is accepted as such, this constitutes a good accord and satisfaction. Neal v. Handley, 116 Ill. 418, 6 N. E. 45, 56 Am. Rep. 784.

80. Howe v. Mackay, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 44; Strang v. Holmes, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 224; Eckford v. De Kay, 26 Wend. (N. Y.) 29; Smitherman v. Smith, 20 N. C. 89; Savage v. Everman, 70 Pa. St. 315, 10 Am. Rep. 676.

Conveyance of equity of redemption.— The release of an equity of redemption in land may be accepted in satisfaction of the demand and may be pleaded as an accord and satisfaction. Bailey v. Cowles, 86 Ill. 333. But see Preston v. Christmas, 2 Wils. C. P. 86, which holds the contrary doctrine on the singular theory that an equity of redemption is of no value in the eye of the law.

Conveyance of expectant interest.— On appeal from a decree of the probate court distributing one seventh of an estate to plaintiffs, who claimed as children and heirs at law of C, a deceased daughter of the intestate, it appeared that, while the intestate and C were both living, C and her husband executed to the intestate a writing without seal purporting, in consideration of a deed then executed to her and her husband by the intestate, to release her and her heirs' claim to her share in the intestate's estate. It was held that the writing could not operate as an accord and satisfaction, as, when given, C had an expectancy only. Buck v. Kittle, 49 Vt. 288.

Mortgage.— A mortgage given and accepted in settlement of a claim on which an action is pending is a good accord and satisfaction. Cobb v. Malone, 86 Ala. 571, 6 So. 6.

Effect of invalidity of title.— Where, under an agreement between a debtor and his creditor, the debtor procured a conveyance to the creditor, from a third person, of all his title to lands specified in the deed, and the creditor accepted the same as payment in full, but it subsequently appeared that the debtor intrinsic value of the property.[81] The fact that the property was of less value than the demand, or that it is of very small value as compared with the claim for which it was accepted, is immaterial.[82] Where other articles than money are received and agreed to be accepted in full satisfaction of a demand, the court will not estimate their value in money's worth[83] or undertake to interfere with the parties' estimate of value.[84] The delivery of something other than money is what the debtor is under no legal obligation to make, and therefore may be a legal consideration for a contract of discharge by the creditor as well as for any other promise he might make.[85] So the fact that after the property has been received and accepted in satisfaction it again comes into the debtor's possession under some other contract with which the debtor has not complied, and that by reason thereof the creditor has derived no benefit, does not make the transaction any the less one of accord and satisfaction.[86] The rule stated has no application where the parties fixed a price on the property given in satisfaction as such, and delivery is in law equivalent to a payment of so much money.[87]

C. Acceptance of Services in Satisfaction. The rule that payment and acceptance of a smaller sum do not extinguish a claim for a larger has no application to an executed agreement whereby the creditor accepts the personal labor of the debtor in satisfaction of his claim.[88] Such an agreement is based on a new consideration and is valid.[89]

D. Acceptance of Promise in Satisfaction. It has been shown in another section that a mere accord which is not followed by execution or satisfaction is, as a general rule, no bar to an action on the original obligation.[90] This rule, however, presupposes that the agreement of the creditor is to accept the performance of the debtor's promise or agreement, and not the promise or agreement itself. There is a well-defined and easily recognized distinction between these two classes of agreements.[91] It is too well settled to admit of doubt that if the had no title to any such land, it was held that in the absence of fraud on the part of the debtor the claim of the creditor was discharged. Reed v. Bartlett, 19 Pick. (Mass.) 273.

81. Griffith v. Creighton, 61 Mo. App. 1.

82. Alabama.— Brassell v. Williams, 51 Ala. 349.

Connecticut.— Bull v. Bull, 43 Conn. 455.

Kentucky.— Jones v. Bullitt, 2 Litt. (Ky.) 49.

Massachusetts.— Howe v. Mackay, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 44; Brooks v. White, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 283, 37 Am. Dec. 95.

Missouri.— Griffith v. Creighton, 61 Mo. App. 1.

New York.— Strang v. Holmes, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 224.

Pennsylvania.— Tucker v. Murray, 2 Pa. Dist. 497.

Wisconsin.— Palmer v. Yager, 20 Wis. 91; Williams v. Phelps, 16 Wis. 80.

83. Brooks v. White, 2 Metc. (Mass.) 283, 37 Am. Dec. 95.

84. Singleton v. Thomas, 73 Ala. 205.

85. Wheeler v. Wheeler, 11 Vt. 60. See also Jones v. Bullitt, 2 Litt. (Ky.) 49.

86. Overton v. Conner, 50 Tex. 113.

87. Morrill v. Baggott, 157 Ill. 240, 41 N. E. 639; Griffith v. Creighton, 61 Mo. App. 1; Howard v. Norton, 65 Barb. (N. Y.) 161; Mitchell v. Cragg, 10 M. & W. 367. But see Jones v. Bullitt, 2 Litt. (Ky.) 49, and Hasted v. Dodge, (Iowa 1887) 35 N. W. 462, in each of which cases it appeared that the parties had fixed a definite cash value for the property, and in which the transaction was nevertheless held a good accord and satisfaction.

88. Blein v. Chester, 5 Day (Conn.) 359; Molyneaux v. Collier, 13 Ga. 406; Merchants' Bank v. Davis, 3 Ga. 112; Palmer v. Yager, 20 Wis. 91. See also Traphagen v. Voorhees, 44 N. J. Eq. 21, 12 Atl. 895.

Acceptance of support in satisfaction.— A father made, as trustee for his minor son, a deposit in a savings bank. After coming of age the son demanded the deposit of his father, who said, "I never want to hear of this matter again. I made the change of investment supposing that it was for the best, but it was not. If you are not satisfied and want the $500, take it and go; but if you remain here I do not want to hear of it again." The son, after this, remained at home and was supported by his father. In an action for the $500, brought by the son against the father's executors, it was held that the facts showed a complete accord and satisfaction. Thurber v. Sprague, 17 R. I. 634, 24 Atl. 48.

Erecting new dam in place of one destroyed.— Where, in constructing a road, a dam has been taken down by the board of public roads, the erection of a new dam by the board, and the acceptance thereof by the party injured in satisfaction of the injury, operates as an accord and satisfaction. Wheeler v. Essex Public Road Board, 42 N. J. L. 138.

89. Molyneaux v. Collier, 13 Ga. 406.

90. See supra, III, D, 1.

91. Bennett v. Hill, 14 R. I. 322; Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Harriett, 80 Tex. 73, 15 S. W. 556.

promise or agreement itself, and not the performance thereof, is accepted in satisfaction of the demand, and the agreement to accept is based on a sufficient consideration, the demand is extinguished and cannot be the foundation of an action.[92] Under these circumstances there is a valid accord and satisfaction even though the promise or agreement is not performed.[93] The sole remedy of either party in case of non-performance is by action for breach of the new agreement.[94] The

92. Alabama.— Smith v. Elrod, (Ala. 1898) 24 So. 994.

Arkansas.— Pope v. Tunstall, 2 Ark. 209.

California.— Treadwell v. Himmelmann, 50 Cal. 9.

Colorado.— Whitsett v. Clayton, 5 Colo. 476.

Connecticut.— Goodrich v. Stanley, 24 Conn. 613.

Georgia.— Brunswick, etc., R. Co. v. Clem, 80 Ga. 534, 7 S. E. 84.

Illinois.— Simmons v. Clark, 56 Ill. 96.

Iowa.— Merry v. Allen, 39 Iowa 235; Hall v. Smith, 15 Iowa 584; Hall v. Smith, 10 Iowa 45.

Kentucky.— Bullen v. McGillicuddy, 2 Dana (Ky.) 90; Tomlin v. McChord, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 1.

Maine.— White v. Gray, 68 Me. 579; Doyle v. Donnelly, 56 Me. 26.

Massachusetts.— Field v. Aldrich, 162 Mass. 587, 39 N. E. 288; Stults v. Newhall, 118 Mass. 98; Apthorp v. Shepard, Quincy (Mass.) 298, 1 Am. Dec. 6.

Mississippi.— Yazoo, etc., R. Co. v. Fulton, 71 Miss. 385, 14 So. 271; Whitney v. Cook, 53 Miss. 551.

Missouri.— Curtis v. Browne, 63 Mo. App. 431.

New Hampshire.— Woodward v. Miles, 24 N. H. 289; Ranlett v. Moore, 21 N. H. 336.

New York.— Allison v. Abendroth, 108 N. Y. 470, 15 N. E. 606; Morehouse v. Oswego Second Nat. Bank, 98 N. Y. 503; Kromer v. Heim, 75 N. Y. 574, 31 Am. Rep. 491; Billings v. Vanderbeck, 23 Barb. (N. Y.) 546; Bicknell v. Speir, 7 Misc. (N. Y.) 108, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 386; Kellogg v. Richards, 15 Wend. (N. Y.) 116.

Pennsylvania.— Hart v. Boller, 15 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 162, 16 Am. Dec. 536; Christie v. Craige, 20 Pa. St. 430.

Rhode Island.— Bennett v. Hill, 14 R. I. 322.

South Carolina.— Kinsler v. Pope, 5 Strobh. (S. C.) 126.

Tennessee.— Foster v. Collins, 6 Heisk. (Tenn.) 1.

Texas.— Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Harriett, 80 Tex. 73, 15 S. W. 556; Bradshaw v. Davis, 12 Tex. 336; Jennings v. Ft. Worth, 7 Tex. Civ. App. 329, 26 S. W. 927. See also Fort v. Barnett, 23 Tex. 460.

Utah.— Whitney v. Richards, 17 Utah 226, 53 Pac. 1122.

Vermont.— Draper v. Hitt, 43 Vt. 439, 5 Am. Rep. 292; Buchanan v. Paddleford, 43 Vt. 64; Babcock v. Hawkins, 23 Vt. 561; Bryant v. Gale, 5 Vt. 416.

Wisconsin.— Palmer v. Yager, 20 Wis. 91.

England.— Taylor v. Hilary, 1 C. M. & R. 741; Evans v. Powis, 1 Exch. 601; Case v. Barber, T. Raym. 450; Good v. Cheesman, 2 B. & Ad. 328; Crowther v. Farrer, 15 Q. B. 677; Cartwright v. Cooke, 3 B. & Ad. 701; Page v. Meek, 3 B. & S. 259, 113 E. C. L. 259.

Canada.— Clark v. Ring, 13 U. C. Q. B. 185; McHugh v. Grear, 18 U. C. C. P. 488; Thomas v. Mallory, 6 U. C. Q. B. 521.

Thus an agreement by which A promises to deliver to B certain property mentioned therein at a specified time and place, and B agrees to accept the property at the time and place specified and to deliver a certain promissory note of A to him, is valid, the mutual stipulations constituting a sufficient consideration. And if A tenders performance on his part on the day and at the place, and B fails to accept or perform on his part, a cause of action arises in favor of A for such damages as are caused by the breach of the agreement. Billings v. Vanderbeck, 23 Barb. (N. Y.) 546.

What is not an agreement to accept promise illustrated.— A judgment creditor and his debtor entered into a written agreement by which the latter was to pay the former $500 in six months, and give his note for $3,500 payable in two years, and the note was given accordingly. The contract provided that when the debtor should have paid the said sums of money with interest, the same were to be paid in full settlement of the judgment, which was for $8,000; and the creditor further agreed and bound himself to release said judgment upon payment of the sum mentioned in said promissory note by the maker thereof. It was held that the payment of $4,000 was to operate as a satisfaction of the judgment, and not that the mere promise of payment was to have that effect. Simmons v. Clark, 56 Ill. 96.

93. Alabama.— Smith v. Elrod, (Ala. 1898) 24 So. 994.

Connecticut.— Goodrich v. Stanley, 24 Conn. 613.

Mississippi.— Whitney v. Cook, 53 Miss. 551.

New Hampshire.— Woodward v. Miles, 24 N. H. 289; Ranlett v. Moore, 21 N. H. 336.

New York.— Allison v. Abendroth, 108 N. Y. 470, 15 N. E. 606.

Ohio.— Contra, Frost v. Johnson, 8 Ohio 393.

Texas.— Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Harriett, 80 Tex. 73, 15 S. W. 556; Bradshaw v. Davis, 12 Tex. 336.

Wisconsin.— Palmer v. Yager, 20 Wis. 91.

England.— Cartwright v. Cooke, 3 B. & Ad. 701.

94. Iowa.— Merry v. Allen, 39 Iowa 235.

Maine.— White v. Gray, 68 Me. 579.

New York.— Billings v. Vanderbeck, 23 Barb. (N. Y.) 546.

Texas.— Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Harriett, 80 Tex. 73, 15 S. W. 556.

Vermont.— Babcock v. Hawkins, 23 Vt. 561.

promise or agreement will not operate as a satisfaction of the debt or demand unless the claimant intended to accept it as such,[95] and such intention must be clearly shown.[96] In some decisions it has been said that an express agreement that the promise shall operate as satisfaction is necessary.[97] In others it has been said that it will be sufficient if the intention of the creditor to accept the promise in satisfaction appears either expressly or by implication, and this is probably a more correct statement of the rule.[98] Whether the promise has been accepted in satisfaction must be determined from the circumstances of each case.[99]

E. Release of Mutual Claims. A release of mutual claims or discontinuance of mutual actions constitutes a mutual accord and satisfaction and bars any further recourse to such claims or the further prosecution of such actions.[1] It has been said, though, that in order to make this transaction effectual as to mutual actions the release must be under seal;[2] but of course this cannot be the law in those states where seals have been dispensed with by statute.

VI. Rescission by Mutual Consent.

Parties to an accord and satisfaction may by a subsequent agreement rescind the same and restore the debt to its original status.[3]

VII. Impeaching and Setting Aside.

A. Grounds — 1. In General. Where persons have voluntarily settled their existing differences by accord and satisfaction the courts will not reopen the controversy without a sufficient showing to invalidate the accord.[4]

2. Fraud. If, however, the accord and satisfaction is procured by fraud on the debtor's part,— as, for instance, by false representations or by the suppression of material facts,— it is not binding, since fraud vitiates all contracts; and hence, in an action on the original obligation, the effect of the accord and satisfaction may be avoided by showing these facts,[5] or a suit may be brought in equity

95. Connecticut.— Goodrich v. Stanley, 24 Conn. 613.

Georgia.— Brunswick, etc., R. Co. v. Clem, 80 Ga. 534, 7 S. E. 84; Molyneaux v. Collier, 13 Ga. 406.

Illinois.— Simmons v. Clark, 56 Ill. 96.

Kansas.— St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Davis, 35 Kan. 464, 11 Pac. 421.

Maine.— White v. Gray, 68 Me. 579.

Mississippi.— Yazoo, etc., R. Co. v. Fulton, 71 Miss. 385, 14 So. 271; Whitney v. Cook, 53 Miss. 551.

Missouri.— Briscoe v. Callahan, 77 Mo. 134; Curtis v. Browne, 63 Mo. App. 431.

New Mexico.— Frick v. Joseph, 2 N. Mex. 138.

Pennsylvania.— Hart v. Boller, 15 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 162, 16 Am. Dec. 536.

Texas.— Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Gordon, 70 Tex. 80, 7 S. W. 695; Overton v. Conner, 50 Tex. 113.

Wisconsin.— Eastman v. Porter, 14 Wis. 39.

96. Curtis v. Browne, 63 Mo. App. 431; Gulf, etc., R. Co. v. Gordon, 70 Tex. 80, 7 S. W. 695; Overton v. Conner, 50 Tex. 113.

97. Brunswick, etc., R. Co. v. Clem, 80 Ga. 534, 7 S. E. 84; Eastman v. Porter, 14 Wis. 39.

98. Morehouse v. Oswego Second Nat. Bank, 98 N. Y. 503; Hall v. Smith, 15 Iowa 584, 589, in which it was said: "We suppose that ordinarily no rule is violated in holding that it is sufficient if this intention or purpose is evidenced by any unequivocal act or in any clear manner."

99. Hall v. Smith, 15 Iowa 584.

1. Vedder v. Vedder, 1 Den. (N. Y.) 257; Foster v. Trull, 12 Johns. (N. Y.) 456. See also, as sustaining this doctrine, Williams v. London Commercial Exch. Co., 10 Exch. 569. But compare Dighton v. Whiting, 1 Lutw. 51, and Davis v. Ockham, Style 245, which are apparently in direct conflict therewith.

2. 2 Parsons Contr. (8th ed.) 685, 686.

3. Heavenrich v. Steele, 57 Minn. 221, 58 N. W. 982.

4. Rawlins v. Rawlins, 102 Mo. 563, 15 S. W. 78.

5. California.— Dobinson v. McDonald, 92 Cal. 33, 27 Pac. 1098.

Illinois.— National Syrup Co. v. Carlson, 47 Ill. App. 178.

Kentucky.— Stratton v. McMakin, 8 Ky. L. Rep. 766.

Massachusetts.— Bliss v. New York Cent., etc., R. Co., 160 Mass. 447, 36 N. E. 65, 39 Am. St. Rep. 504; O'Donnell v. Clinton, 145 Mass. 461, 14 N. E. 747.

Missouri.— Helling v. United Order of Honor, 29 Mo. App. 309.

New Hampshire.— Wright v. First Crockery Ware Co., 1 N. H. 281.

New York.— Stafford v. Bacon, 1 Hill (N. Y.) 532, 37 Am. Dec. 366; Pierce v. Drake, 15 Johns. (N. Y.) 475; Willson v. Foree, 6 Johns. (N. Y.) 110; Dolsen v. Arnold, 10 How. Pr.

to rescind the agreement.[6] It has been held that where the claimant executes a release under seal his only remedy is to go into equity to obtain the rescission of it; that he cannot attack it for fraud in an action at law on the original agreement.[7]

3. MISTAKE OR DURESS. An accord and satisfaction entered into and executed through mutual mistake of fact is not binding and may be rescinded,[8] and the same is the case where an accord and satisfaction has been procured through duress.[9]

But where a creditor, without force or intimidation, and with a full knowledge of all the facts, accepts in satisfaction of his claim, which is unliquidated, a less sum than he claims is due, he cannot rescind the agreement on the ground that this constitutes duress.[10]

B. Placing Party In Statu Quo. As a general rule, one who seeks to avoid the effect of an accord and satisfaction on the ground of fraud,[11] mis-

(N. Y.) 528; Oliwill v. Verdenhalven, 15 N. Y. Suppl. 94.

Pennsylvania.— Staub v. Wolfe, 4 Pennyp. (Pa.) 280.

Tennessee.— Fisk v. Spain, 1 Overt. (Tenn.) 391.

Vermont.— Reynolds v. French, 8 Vt. 85, 30 Am. Dec. 456.

Wisconsin.— Ball v. McGeoch, 81 Wis. 160, 47 N. W. 610; Leslie v. Keepers, 68 Wis. 123, 31 N. W. 486.

Applications of rule, generally.— If a debtor, by false and fraudulent representations as to his condition, induces his creditor to deliver to him promissory notes upon payment of part only of what is due, the creditor may, upon proof of the fraud, recover the balance of what is due in an action on the note. Reynolds v. French, 8 Vt. 85, 30 Am. Dec. 456. So if a debtor, through wilful misrepresentations or suppression of material facts in respect to the state of his affairs, induces his creditor to accept a note from a third person for part of the demand, in full payment and discharge of the whole, the accord and satisfaction is void. Stafford v. Bacon, 1 Hill (N. Y.) 532, 37 Am. Dec. 366.

Fraudulent representations as to matters within claimant's knowledge.— Where a person has released a claim for personal injuries he cannot avoid the effect of the release by showing that he was induced to execute it through the fraudulent act of its superintendent and physician in causing him to believe that his injury would not be permanent; no artifice or trick having been used to prevent him from ascertaining the true nature of the injuries and their probable duration, and these matters lying as much within his knowledge or means of knowledge as within the knowledge of defendant, its officers or agents. Hayes v. East Tennessee, etc., R. Co., 89 Ga. 264, 15 S. E. 361. See also King v. Williams, 71 Iowa 74, 32 N. W. 178.

6. Vandervelden v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 61 Fed. 54.

7. Vandervelden v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 61 Fed. 54.

8. Stengel v. Preston, 89 Ky. 616, 13 S. W. 839; Wiswall v. Harriman, 62 N. H. 671; Belt v. American Cent. Ins. Co., 148 N. Y. 624, 43 N. E. 64; Bensen v. Perry, 17 Hun (N. Y.) 16; Calkins v. Griswold, 11 Hun (N. Y.) 208; Galoupeau v. Ketchum, 3 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 175. See also McKay v. Myers, 168 Mass. 312, 47 N. E. 98.

Thus, where a creditor has received in payment several notes held by his debtor against third persons, and one of them, though worthless, was represented by the debtor and believed by both parties to be secured by mortgage, the creditor may rescind his acceptance on the ground of mistake. Wiswall v. Harriman, 62 N. H. 671.

9. Green v. Frank, 63 Ga. 78; Rogers v. Ball, 54 Ga. 15; Grayson v. Lilly, 7 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 6; Conway v. Barber, 6 Misc. (N. Y.) 627, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 136; Jacobs v. Day, 5 Misc. (N. Y.) 410, 25 N. Y. Suppl. 763; Thomas v. McDaniel, 14 Johns. (N. Y.) 185.

Thus, where some of a quantity of goods purchased by sample did not correspond with the sample, and the seller refuses the buyer's offer to return them, and the buyer accepts the return of a part of the purchase money, this does not constitute an accord and satisfaction, as the buyer had no alternative but to keep the goods. Jacobs v. Day, 5 Misc. (N. Y.) 410, 25 N. Y. Suppl. 763.

Usury.— So the mere deduction by a creditor, at the time a debt is settled, of a part of the usury included in the debt, does not amount to an accord and satisfaction, though it be agreed by the parties that the deduction is in satisfaction of the borrower's rights founded on the usury. The borrower is still, in the eye of the law, in duress when such agreement is made. Rogers v. Ball, 54 Ga. 15. In order for a settlement of admitted usury to be conclusive by way of accord and satisfaction it must leave the debtor in duress to the creditor. Green v. Frank, 63 Ga. 78.

10. U. S. v. Child, 12 Wall. (U. S.) 232, 20 L. ed. 360.

11. California.— Dobinson v. McDonald, 92 Cal. 33, 27 Pac. 1098.

Georgia.— Strodder v. Southern Granite Co., 99 Ga. 595, 27 S. E. 174, 94 Ga. 626, 19 S. E. 1022; East Tennessee, etc., R. Co. v. Hayes, 83 Ga. 558, 10 S. E. 350.

Maine.— Potter v. Monmouth Mut. F. Ins. Co., 63 Me. 440; Bisbee v. Ham, 47 Me. 543.

Michigan.— Pangborn v. Continental Ins. Co., 67 Mich. 683, 35 N. W. 814.

Missouri.— Alexander v. Grand Ave. R. Co., 54 Mo. App. 66; Jarrett v. Morton, 44 Mo. 275.

New York.— Gould v. Cayuga County Nat. Bank, 86 N. Y. 75.

take[12] or for any other reason (it is apprehended) must restore or offer to restore to the other party whatever he has received by virtue of the transaction.

The rule, however, is subject to some limitations and exceptions. It does not apply where the agreement is absolutely void,[13] or where the other party has failed to comply with other material obligations which were of the essence of the agreement,[14] or where defendant admits that what was paid was justly due under the contract sued on.[15] So, where the claimant executes a release for two distinct claims, on the understanding (superinduced by the other party's fraud) that it applies only to one of them, he need not tender back the consideration received before suing on the other.[16] It has also been urged that another exception should be made in case of the party's mental incapacity or financial inability to meet this requirement; but it was held that, even if the rule admitted of any such exception, the exception cannot obtain unless the fraud remained undiscovered or the mental incapacity continued until after the consideration for the agreement had been expended or otherwise put beyond plaintiff's control.[17]

VIII. PLEADING.

A. Nature and Effect of Plea. Pleas of accord and satisfaction are pleas in confession and avoidance, and belong to that division of the last-named plea known as pleas in discharge. The effect of a plea of accord and satisfaction is to show that although the plaintiff once had a cause of action it has been discharged by some subsequent act or matter.[18] Herein it differs from the other branch of pleas in confes-

United States.— Vandervelden v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 61 Fed. 54.

Reason for rule.— The reason is that to attack the contract on the ground of fraud involves an admission that such a contract was made and also the intent to rescind it; and the rule of rescission is that the opposite party must be placed in statu quo. Butler v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 88 Ga. 594, 15 S. E. 668.

12. Bensen v. Perry, 17 Hun (N. Y.) 16.

13. Springfield F. & M. Ins. Co. v. Hull, 51 Ohio St. 270, 37 N. E. 1116, 25 L. R. A. 37. See also Alexander v. Grand Ave. R. Co., 54 Mo. App. 66.

14. Long v. Scanlan, 105 Ga. 424, 31 S. E. 436.

15. Leeson v. Anderson, 99 Mich. 247, 58 N. W. 72, 41 Am. St. Rep. 597; Leslie v. Keepers, 68 Wis. 123, 31 N. W. 486. To the same effect see Butler v. Richmond, etc., R. Co., 88 Ga. 594, 15 S. E. 668, in which it was held that a return or offer to return the consideration is unnecessary where the claimant has received nothing which he ought not to have had independently of any agreement, fraudulent or otherwise, in regard to the claim in suit.

16. Bliss v. New York Cent., etc., R. Co., 160 Mass. 447, 36 N. E. 65, 39 Am. St. Rep. 504.

17. Strodder v. Southern Granite Co., 99 Ga. 595, 27 S. E. 174, 94 Ga. 626, 19 S. E. 1022.

18. Martin Civ. Proc. § 292.

For form of a plea of accord and satisfaction with one of several plaintiffs see Wallace v. Kelsall, 7 M. & W. 264.

Forms of this plea in particular actions may be found in the following cases:

Account stated. Lifth v. Ault, 11 Eng. L. & Eq. 580.

Assumpsit for goods sold. Boyd v. Hitchcock, 20 Johns. (N. Y.) 76, 11 Am. Dec. 247.

Breach of covenant. 2 Chit. Pl. (3d Am. ed. from 2d Lond. ed.) *545.

Libel. Boosey v. Wood, 3 H. & C. 484.

Trespass. Bainbridge v. Lax, 9 Q. B. 819; Heirn v. Carron, 11 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 361, 49 Am. Dec. 65.

Forms of this plea in which particular kinds of satisfaction were pleaded may be found in the following cases:

Satisfaction by acceptance of a less sum than claimed where the claim is unliquidated. Page v. Meek, 3 B. & S. 259.

Satisfaction by acceptance of judgment in satisfaction of bond. Seaman v. Haskins, 2 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 195.

Satisfaction by agreement to abide by an award to be made on a submission to arbitration of the matters in dispute. Williams v. London Commercial Exch. Co., 29 Eng. L. & Eq. 430.

Satisfaction by delivery of chattels. 2 Chit. Pl. (16th Am. ed.) 289, 290.

Satisfaction by delivery of deed of land. Pontious v. Durflinger, 59 Ind. 27; Baldwin v. Massilon Bank, 1 Ohio St. 141; Deut v. Coleman, 10 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 83.

Satisfaction by giving, and acceptance in satisfaction, of note of third person. Booth v. Smith, 3 Wend. (N. Y.) 66.

Satisfaction by giving and acceptance of services. 2 Chit. Pl. (16th Am. ed.) 290.

Satisfaction by giving bill of exchange accepted by third person. Curlewis v. Clark, 3 Exch. 375; 2 Chit. Pl. (16th Am. ed.) 293.

Satisfaction by giving guaranty of third person. Pope v. Andrews, 9 C. & P. 564; 2 Chit. Pl. (16th Am. ed.) 291.

Satisfaction by giving note indorsed by third person. Boyd v. Hitchcock, 20 Johns. (N. Y.) 76, 11 Am. Dec. 247.

sion and avoidance, that is, pleas in justification or excuse, for this latter plea sets up new matter showing that by reason thereof plaintiff never had a cause of action.[19]

B. Necessity of Pleading Specially— 1. ADMISSIBILITY UNDER GENERAL ISSUE. At common law, in actions of assumpsit,[20] case,[21] and debt on simple contract,[22] accord and satisfaction may be shown under the general issue. In actions of debt on specialties,[23] judgments or recognizances,[24] and in actions of covenant,[25] and trespass vi et armis,[26] it must be specially pleaded. So a consideration of the general nature of pleas in actions of account render, detinue, and replevin, will, it is conceived, demonstrate clearly the necessity of pleading accord and satisfaction specially in these classes of actions.[27] It has been said that accord and satisfaction must be pleaded in all cases when made after suit brought,[28] and this, it is apprehended, is, as a general rule, correct.[29] In those states which have adopted the code system of pleading, accord and satisfaction must in all cases be pleaded specially;[30] but notwithstanding this requirement the weight of authority is that Satisfaction by payment of smaller sum and abandonment of defense. Cooper v. Parker, 15 C. B. 822.

Satisfaction by payment of smaller sum by third person. 2 Chit. Pl. (16th Am. ed.) 293.

Admissions by plea illustrated.— In an action on bonds alleged to have been executed to plaintiff, defendant admits that the bonds were so executed by a plea of accord and satisfaction, and cannot be permitted to show that they were executed to plaintiff and another person. Dickinson v. Burr, 7 Ark. 34.

Pleading with general issue.— A plea of accord and satisfaction is not an admission of the cause of action when the general issue is also pleaded. Prince v. Puckett, 12 Ala. 832.

19. Martin Civ. Proc. § 293.

20. Indiana.— Burge v. Dishman, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 272.

Massachusetts.— Baylies v. Fettyplace, 7 Mass. 325.

New Hampshire.— Curtis v. Egan, 53 N. H. 511.

New York.— Bird v. Caritat, 2 Johns. (N. Y.) 342, 3 Am. Dec. 433.

Ohio.— Chappell v. Phillips, Wright (Ohio) 372; Stewart v. Saybrook Tp., Wright (Ohio) 374.

West Virginia.— Wellsburg First Nat. Bank v. Kimberlands, 16 W. Va. 555.

England.— Paramour v. Johnson, 12 Mod. 376; Bird v. Randall, 3 Burr. 1345; Kearslake v. Morgan, 5 T. R. 513.

21. Lane v. Applegate, 1 Stark. 78; Martin v. Thornton, 4 Esp. 180; Bird v. Randall, 3 Burr. 1345. Contra, Gilman v. Noyes, 57 N. H. 627.

Trover is a species of action on the case, and accord and satisfaction would be admissible under the general issue in that form of action. See Martin Civ. Proc. § 266.

22. Page v. Prentice, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 322. Dictum in Bailey v. Cowles, 86 Ill. 333.

23. Martin Civ. Proc. § 260; Saunders Pl. & Ev. 23; Bailey v. Cowles, 86 Ill. 333.

24. Martin Civ. Proc. § 260.

25. Martin Civ. Proc. § 261; Saunders Pl. & Ev. 23.

26. Alabama.— Phillips v. Kelly, 29 Ala. 628.

Illinois.— Kenyon v. Sutherland, 8 Ill. 99.

New Jersey.— Longstreet v. Ketcham, 1 N. J. L. 170.

England.— Doe v. Leo, 4 Taunt. 459; Bird v. Randall, 3 Burr. 1345.

27. See Martin Civ. Proc. §§ 263, 267, 268.

28. Saunders Pl. & Ev. 23.

29. See infra, VIII, F.

30. Sweet v. Burdett, 40 Cal. 97; Coles v. Soulsby, 21 Cal. 47 [overruling Gavin v. Annan, 2 Cal. 494]; Berdell v. Bissell, 6 Colo. 162; Barnum v. Green, 13 Colo. App. 254, 57 Pac. 757; Combs v. Smith, 78 Mo. 32; Jacobs v. Day, 5 Misc. (N. Y.) 410, 25 N. Y. Suppl. 763.

See 1 Cent. Dig. tit. "Accord and Satisfaction," § 153.

"New matter" or "affirmative defense."— Accord and satisfaction is "new matter" (Coles v. Soulsby, 21 Cal. 47) or an "affirmative defense" (Jacobs v. Day, 5 Misc. (N. Y.) 410, 25 N. Y. Suppl. 763) within provisions requiring "new matter" or "affirmative defenses" to be pleaded.

Effect of the "Hilary rules."— Under the "Hilary rules" enacted in 1834 it became necessary to plead accord and satisfaction specially, no matter what the form of the action was. See Hil. T. 4 W. IV; Martin Civ. Proc. § 292; Alexander v. Strong, 9 M. & W. 733. [The form of action here was assumpsit.]

Effect of rules of court and statutes.— In Connecticut rules of court require accord and satisfaction to be specially pleaded. Atchison v. Atchison, 67 Conn. 35, 34 Atl. 761. In Vermont it is by statute made special matter of defense, not available unless specially pleaded, or unless, when pleading the general issue, defendant gives notice in writing that he will give it in evidence under the general issue and rely on it as a defense. Seaver v. Wilder, 68 Vt. 423, 35 Atl. 351. In Massachusetts, under Gen. Stat., c. 129, § 20, accord and satisfaction is not available, in an action on an account annexed, under an answer containing a general denial and alleging payment. Grinnell v. Spink, 128 Mass. 25. In Georgia, Code, § 5051, abolishes the general issue and requires that each paragraph of complaint be distinctly answered. Under this statute accord and satisfaction must be pleaded. Ingram v. Hilton, etc., Lumber Co., 108 Ga. 194, 33 S. E. 961.

any objection to the failure of defendant to plead it specially is waived by not objecting to evidence of it because of such failure,[31] and where the plaintiff, as a part of his own case, shows facts amounting to an accord and satisfaction, defendant may rely on these facts as constituting an accord and satisfaction, though he has not pleaded them as such.[32]

2. ADMISSIBILITY UNDER PLEA OF PAYMENT OR SET-OFF. While it has been held in one case that evidence of an accord and satisfaction is admissible under a plea of payment,[33] and said in another that evidence of this character would probably be admissible if a bill of particulars showing the character of the payment were filed with such a plea,[34] the weight of authority (and of reason, too, it is believed) is to the contrary,[35] nor is evidence of accord and satisfaction admissible under a plea of set-off.[36]

C. Admissibility under General Issue as Affecting Right to Plead Specially. Even in those classes of actions in which accord and satisfaction may be shown under the general issue it may nevertheless be pleaded specially.[37] Such a plea is not bad as amounting to the general issue, because it confesses the cause of action and avoids it by setting up new matter.[38]

D. Pleading in Connection with Other Pleas. So the plea may be pleaded with the general issue[39] or together with the pleas of payment and nul tiel record.[40] As the plea of accord and satisfaction and nul tiel record present entirely dissimilar issues, defendant, by going to trial on one, does not waive his objection to a ruling on demurrer to the other.[41]

E. Allegations and Requisites of Plea — 1. AS REGARDS FULLNESS. According to rules governing pleas in general, a plea of accord and satisfaction, which professes to be an answer to the whole declaration, but which in fact is an answer to a part only, is bad. The plea must be so framed as to afford a complete answer to the whole of the demand it professes to answer.[42]

2. THE NECESSARY ALLEGATIONS — a. The Agreement. According to the earlier

31. Berdell v. Bissell, 6 Colo. 162; Looby v. West Troy, 24 Hun (N. Y.) 78; Brett v. First Universalist Soc., 63 Barb. (N. Y.) 610. Contra, Smith v. Owens, 21 Cal. 11.

Offer of evidence not objected to.— Although accord and satisfaction is not pleaded, but an offer of evidence to show such defense is not objected to, and the court rules that the plea cannot be so amended as to set up this defense, it is error to reject such evidence. Donaldson v. Carmichael, 102 Ga. 40, 29 S. E. 135.

32. Looby v. West Troy, 24 Hun (N. Y.) 78.

33. Howe v. Mackay, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 44. See also Henderson v. Moore, 5 Cranch (U. S.) 11, 3 L. ed. 22.

34. Wellsburg First Nat. Bank v. Kimberlands, 16 W. Va. 555.

35. Alabama.— Smith v. Elrod, (Ala. 1898) 24 So. 994.

Arkansas.— Owens v. Chandler, 16 Ark. 651.

Colorado.— Barnum v. Green, 13 Colo. App. 254, 57 Pac. 757.

Connecticut.— Kisham v. Nichols, 1 Root (Conn.) 75.

Kentucky.— Hamilton v. Coons, 5 Dana (Ky.) 317.

36. McCreary v. McCreary, 5 Gill & J. (Md.) 147.

37. Alabama.— Dunham v. Ridgel, 2 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 402.

Illinois.— Gillfillan v. Farrington, 12 Ill. App. 101.

New York.— Bird v. Caritat, 2 Johns. (N. Y.) 342, 3 Am. Dec. 433.

West Virginia.— Wellsburg First Nat. Bank v. Kimberlands, 16 W. Va. 555.

England.— Kearslake v. Morgan, 5 T. R. 513; Norman v. Thompson, 4 Exch. 755; Paramour v. Johnson, 12 Mod. 376; Hayselden v. Staff, 5 A. & E. 153.

38. Page v. Prentice, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 322; Paramour v. Johnson, 12 Mod. 376.

Plea amounting to the general issue defined. —"A plea amounting to the general issue is a plea alleging matter which is in effect a denial of the whole or the principal part of the allegations in the declaration." Page v. Prentice, 7 Blackf. (Ind.) 322, 323.

39. Wellsburg First Nat. Bank v. Kimberlands, 16 W. Va. 555; Saunders Pl. & Ev. 23.

40. Kershaw v. Robinson, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 380, in which it was said, however, that defendant should perhaps be required to show by affidavit that the additional pleas were necessary to his defense.

Statutes authorizing several defenses.— Under a statute authorizing defendant to plead as many matters of fact in several pleas as he may deem necessary to his defense, he may file nul tiel record together with a plea of accord and satisfaction. Tucker v. Edwards, 7 Colo. 209, 3 Pac. 233.

41. Tucker v. Edwards, 7 Colo. 209, 3 Pac. 233.

42. Thomas v. Heathorn, 2 B. & C. 477; Hopkinson v. Tahourdin, 2 Chit. 303.

authorities the best way of pleading this defense is to omit a statement of the agreement or accord and plead it by way of satisfaction only;[43] for if it is pleaded by way of accord a precise execution thereof in every part must be pleaded, and if there be a failure in any part the plea will be insufficient; but if it is pleaded by way of satisfaction it will be sufficient to allege that defendant gave and plaintiff accepted a certain thing in satisfaction of the cause of action alleged.[44] While in the absence of statutes requiring a more specific form of pleading this may be true in regard to an accord and satisfaction by the delivery of chattels, and perhaps in a few other cases,[45] it is obvious that some kinds of accord and satisfaction cannot be pleaded without alleging the agreement and its terms,[46] and a number of the American decisions state without qualification that a clear agreement or accord must be alleged[47] and the material provisions thereof set out with precision.[48] An examination of the decisions in which this defense was made will show that in the majority of cases the agreement or accord was set forth, and, inasmuch as it is never erroneous to plead it, it seems that in order to be on the safe side it would be better to do so.

b. Consideration. The plea must show some consideration moving toward plaintiff,[49] or, in other words, that plaintiff obtained something of value by the new agreement.[50] A plea which on its face shows want of consideration is bad after verdict, and plaintiff is entitled to judgment non obstante veredicto.[51]

c. Performance, Acceptance in Satisfaction, and Execution. The plea must allege that what was done or given was in satisfaction of the cause of action,[52]

43. Daniels v. Hallenbeck, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 408; Peytoe's Case, 9 Coke 77*b*; Bacon's Abr. tit. "Accord and Satisfaction, C;" Saunders Pl. & Ev. 24; Comyns's Digest, tit. "Accord and Satisfaction, C."

44. Peytoe's Case, 9 Coke, 77*b*; Bacon's Abr. tit. "Accord and Satisfaction, C."

45. It is to be noted that in several of the United States there are statutory forms of pleading an accord and satisfaction by the delivery and acceptance of chattels, by way of satisfaction, without pleading the accord.

46. Take, for instance, an accord and satisfaction arising out of a composition by creditors with an insolvent debtor, or satisfaction of a liquidated or certain demand by the giving of a less sum and some new consideration.

47. Smith v. Mechanics' Nat. Bank, 108 Ga. 211, 33 S. E. 857; Burnsides v. Smith, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 464; Young v. Jones, 64 Me. 563; Hearn v. Kiehl, 38 Pa. St. 147, 80 Am. Dec. 472.

Under the code of Colorado the parties are bound to plead the facts by which the accord may be established. Barnum v. Green, 13 Colo. App. 254, 57 Pac. 757, and this is probably true under all or most of the codes.

48. Burnsides v. Smith, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 464; Smith v. Mechanics' Nat. Bank, 108 Ga. 211, 33 S. E. 857. See also Simon v. Kendig, 4 Kulp (Pa.) 493, in which it was held that where an accord and satisfaction is evidenced by a written agreement in defendant's hands, the material provisions of the instrument, and not merely his construction of them, ought to be set forth.

49. Torrey v. U. S., 42 Fed. 207; Bayley v. Homan, 3 Bing. N. Cas. 915; Down v. Hatcher, 10 A. & E. 121. See also cases cited infra, in the following note:

Plea of payment of less sum in satisfaction of greater.— Probably one of the best illustrations of the rule stated in the text occurs where defendant pleads payment and acceptance of a smaller sum in satisfaction of a larger liquidated or undisputed sum. As this does not constitute an accord and satisfaction without some new consideration it is of course necessary to allege such consideration. Williams v. Langford, 15 B. Mon. (Ky.) 566; Akers v. Central Kentucky L. Asylum, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 817; Young v. Neal, 10 Ky. L. Rep. 404; Torrey v. U. S., 42 Fed. 207; Evans v. Powis, 1 Exch. 601; Thomas v. Heathorn, 2 B. & C. 477; Down v. Hatcher, 10 A. & E. 121.

Showing that satisfaction was of some value.— A plea of accord and satisfaction must show that what was received in satisfaction was of some value. Davis v. Noaks, 3 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 494; Commonwealth Bank v. Letcher, 3 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 195; Com. v. Miller, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 205.

50. Bayley v. Homan, 3 Bing. N. Cas. 915.

51. Down v. Hatcher, 10 A. & E. 121.

52. California.— Hogan v. Burns, (Cal. 1893) 33 Pac. 631.

Indiana.— Hancock v. Yaden, 121 Ind. 366, 23 N. E. 253, 16 Am. St. Rep. 396, 6 L. R. A. 576; Sheets v. Russell, 12 Ind. App. 677, 40 N. E. 30; Sinard v. Patterson, 3 Blackf. (Ind.) 353; Dupay v. Robbins, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 473.

Massachusetts.— Howe v. Mackay, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 44.

Ohio.— Detroit F. & M. Ins. Co. v. Commercial Ins. Co., 1 Clev. L. Rec. 81.

Rhode Island.— Heath v. Doyle, 18 R. I. 252, 27 Atl. 333.

England.— Paine v. Masters, 1 Str. 573; Pinnel's Case, 5 Coke 117*a*; Graham v. Gibson, 4 Exch. 768; Hawkshaw v. Rawlings, 1 Str. 23 [cited in Paine v. Masters, 1 Str. 573].

For form of plea sufficiently showing deand also that what was done or given was accepted in satisfaction.[53] So if the agreement itself, and not the performance, is relied on as satisfaction, the plea must allege that the agreement was accepted in satisfaction.[54] The plea must show that the accord or agreement has been fully executed.[55] Thus it will be insufficient to allege an agreement to accept in satisfaction without alleging livery in satisfaction see Hooker v. Hyde, 61 Wis. 204, 21 N. W. 52.

Allegation of acceptance in satisfaction by itself is insufficient. Pinnel's Case, 5 Coke 117*a*.

53. California.— Hogan v. Burns, (Cal. 1893) 33 Pac. 631.

Colorado.— Barnum v. Green, 13 Colo. App. 254, 57 Pac. 757.

Illinois.— Allen v. Preusing, 32 Ill. 505.

Indiana.— Renihan v. Wright, 125 Ind. 536, 25 N. E. 822, 21 Am. St. Rep. 249, 9 L. R. A. 514; Hancock v. Yaden, 121 Ind. 366, 23 N. E. 253, 16 Am. St. Rep. 396, 6 L. R. A. 576; Louden v. Birt, 4 Ind. 566; Harbor v. Morgan, 4 Ind. 158; Sinard v. Patterson, 3 Blackf. (Ind.) 353; Dupay v. Robbins, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 473; Sheets v. Russell, 12 Ind. App. 677, 40 N. E. 30.

Iowa.— Jones v. Fennimore, 1 Greene (Iowa) 134.

Kentucky.— Johnson v. Hunt, 81 Ky. 321; McDonald v. Patton, Ky. Dec. 295; Payne v. Barnet, 2 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 312; Haggin v. Williamson, 5 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 8.

Maine.— Young v. Jones, 64 Me. 563.

Massachusetts.— Howe v. Mackay, 5 Pick. (Mass.) 44.

Mississippi.—Burrus v. Gordon, 57 Miss. 93.

Missouri.— Shaw v. Burton, 5 Mo. 478; Wilkerson v. Bruce, 37 Mo. App. 156; German Bank v. Mulhall, 8 Mo. App. 558.

Nebraska.— Van Housen v. Broehl, 58 Nebr. 348, 78 N. W. 624.

New Jersey.— Morris Canal, etc., Co. v. Van Vorst, 21 N. J. L. 100.

North Carolina.— State Bank v. Littlejohn, 18 N. C. 563.

Ohio.— Detroit F. & M. Ins. Co. v. Commercial Ins. Co., 1 Clev. L. Rec. 81.

Pennsylvania.— Diller v. Brubaker, 52 Pa. St. 498, 91 Am. Dec. 177; Ellison v. Jones, 1 Kulp (Pa.) 273.

Rhode Island.— Heath v. Doyle, 18 R. I. 252, 27 Atl. 333.

West Virginia.— Dictum in Wellsburg First Nat. Bank v. Kimberlands, 16 W. Va. 555.

United States.— Arkansas City First Nat. Bank v. Leech, 94 Fed. 310; Maze v. Miller, 1 Wash. (U. S.) 328, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,362.

England.— Graham v. Gibson, 4 Exch. 768; Paine v. Masters, 1 Str. 573; Drake v. Mitchell, 3 East 251; Hall v. Flockton, 20 L. J. Q. B. 208, 16 Q. B. 1039; Barclay v. New South Wales Bank, 5 App. Cas. 371.

Canada.— Brown v. Jones, 17 U. C. Q. B. 50; Macfarlane v. Ryan, 24 U. C. Q. B. 474; Fralick v. Lafferty, 3 U. C. Q. B. 159.

Contra, in McCullough v. Franklin Coal Co., 21 Md. 256, wherein it was held that a plea which alleges an agreement to compromise a pending suit for valuable consideration upon performance of certain conditions, and which avers the payment of the consideration and the performance of the conditions, is good; that the omission of the averment that the acts done were received and accepted in satisfaction is immaterial; and that this is necessarily implied in the other averments of the plea.

New York rule in case of unliquidated claim.— In New York it has been held that in an action on an unliquidated claim a plea alleging that defendant paid plaintiff a certain sum of money "as a full and final settlement" thereof, and that plaintiff accepted and retained it with knowledge that it was paid in full of the claim, is sufficient without alleging that he accepted it in satisfaction of the claim. The court said that the facts stated constitute all the elements necessary to the defense of accord and satisfaction as applied to an unliquidated claim, and that it was sufficient under Code Civ. Proc. § 519, providing that the allegations of a pleading must be liberally construed with a view to substantial justice between the parties. Lindsay v. Gager, 11 N. Y. App. Div. 93, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 851 [Bartlett, J., dissenting].

Waiving objection for failure to allege acceptance.— Where plaintiff does not demur for failure of defendant to allege acceptance in satisfaction, the objection is waived. Oil Well Supply Co. v. Wolfe, 127 Mo. 616, 30 S. W. 145.

For form of plea sufficiently alleging acceptance in satisfaction see Hart v. Crawford, 41 Ind. 198; Troy Min. Co. v. White, 10 S. D. 475, 74 N. W. 236; Hooker v. Hyde, 61 Wis. 204, 21 N. W. 52.

54. Brunswick, etc., R. Co. v. Clem, 80 Ga. 534, 7 S. E. 84; Clough v. Murray, 3 Rob. (N. Y.) 7; Hall v. Flockton, 20 L. J. Q. B. 208, 16 Q. B. 1039.

55. Arkansas.— West v. Carolina L. Ins. Co., 31 Ark. 476.

California.— Holton v. Noble, 83 Cal. 7, 23 Pac. 58; Simmons v. Oullahan, 75 Cal. 508, 17 Pac. 543.

Georgia.— Patterson v. Green, 81 Ga. 808, 10 S. E. 390.

Illinois.— Fitch v. Haight, 5 Ill. 51.

Indiana.— Eichholtz v. Taylor, 88 Ind. 38; Jackson v. Olmstead, 87 Ind. 92; Deweese v. Cheek, 35 Ind. 514; Coquillard v. French, 19 Ind. 274.

Kentucky.— Groshon v. Grant, Ky. Dec. 268; Hale v. Grogan, 99 Ky. 170, 35 S. W. 282; Payne v. Barnet, 2 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 312.

Maine.— Young v. Jones, 64 Me. 563.

Mississippi.—Guion v. Doherty, 43 Miss. 538.

Nebraska.— Goble v. American Nat. Bank, 46 Nebr. 891, 65 N. W. 1062.

New Mexico.—Armijo v. Abeytia, 5 N. Mex. 533, 25 Pac. 777.

North Carolina.— State Bank v. Littlejohn, 18 N. C. 563.

actual performance.[56] So a mere allegation of readiness to perform,[57] or tender of performance,[58] or part performance and tender of performance as to the rest, is insufficient;[59] and a plea which shows on its face that the accord has not been executed is fatally defective.[60]

d. Other Allegations Rendered Necessary by Character of Satisfaction. If the action is on an agreement under seal, a plea of accord and satisfaction must allege an acquittance under seal.[61] A plea of accord and satisfaction by a stranger need not allege that it was made by authority of the debtor or subsequently ratified by him. The mere fact of pleading it will of itself show sufficient ratification.[62] In an action by the indorsees against the acceptor of a bill, a plea stating that after the indorsement, and before suit brought, the plaintiffs accepted certain Pennsylvania.— Hearn v. Kiehl, 38 Pa. St. 147, 80 Am. Dec. 472; Philadelphia v. Devine, 1 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 358.

Washington.— Rogers v. Spokane, 9 Wash. 168, 37 Pac. 300.

England.— Gabriel v. Dresser, 15 C. B. 622; Shephard v. Lewis, T. Jones 6; Allen v. Harris, 1 Ld. Raym. 122.

Delivery to third person for plaintiff.— If the plea alleges the delivery of a note of a third person for and on behalf of the plaintiff it should show that such person was plaintiff's agent. Bird v. Caritat, 2 Johns. (N. Y.) 342, 3 Am. Dec. 433.

Giving draft of third person.— A plea of accord and satisfaction alleging the giving and acceptance in satisfaction of a third person's draft is sufficient without alleging that such draft was negotiable, since the plea in the absence of such allegation is sufficient to admit proof of a negotiable instrument. Salomon v. Pioneer Co-operative Co., 21 Fla. 374, 58 Am. Rep. 667.

Quantity of articles delivered in satisfaction.— It was agreed between A and B that the former should furnish the latter with a specified quantity of various enumerated articles, and that the latter should pay the former $200 for them at a future day. A brought action for the money, alleging delivery of the kinds of articles agreed on to the value of $200 and their receipt by B in full satisfaction of the agreement. It was held that the plea was sufficient without stating the particular quantity furnished; that the uncertainty as to the quantity was rendered immaterial by the averment of their value. Richards v. Carl, 1 Blackf. (Ind.) 313.

Showing person to whom satisfaction made. — In an action by the indorsee of a note against the maker and a surety thereon, an answer by the surety merely alleging that the maker "had fully discharged and satisfied the same" is insufficient for failure to show to whom the payment or satisfaction was made; and if to the payee, the plea should have averred that the payment of satisfaction was made before notice of the indorsement of the note to the plaintiff. Nill v. Comparet, 15 Ind. 243.

Time of performance or execution.— The decisions are not harmonious as to the necessity for alleging time of performance, but it is apprehended that the question must depend to some extent at least on the particular facts and circumstances of the agreement or accord. In Strang v. Holmes, 7 Cow. (N. Y.) 224, it was held that time of accord and satisfaction is not material and may be departed from in evidence. In Pence v. Smock, 2 Blackf. (Ind.) 315, it is held that failure to allege time of performance renders the plea bad on special demurrer. In Evans v. Powis, 1 Exch. 601, it is held that if by the terms of a new agreement performance is to consist of payment in designated sums on designated days, the plea will be bad if it fails to allege that the payments were made at the precise days agreed on.

56. Johnson v. Hunt, 81 Ky. 321; Guion v. Doherty, 43 Miss. 538.

57. Hearn v. Kiehl, 38 Pa. St. 147, 80 Am. Dec. 472; Carter v. Wormald, 1 Exch. 81; Allies v. Probyn, 2 C. M. & R. 408.

58. Gabriel v. Dresser, 15 C. B. 622, 80 E. C. L. 622; Hearn v. Kiehl, 38 Pa. St. 147, 80 Am. Dec. 472; Stewart v. Hawson, 7 U. C. C. P. 168. See also supra, III, D, 2. Contra, Heirn v. Carron, 11 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 361, 49 Am. Dec. 65; Tucker v. Edwards, 7 Colo. 209, 3 Pac. 233, which cases seem to hold that accord and tender of performance and refusal of acceptance is equivalent to satisfaction. And this being so, a plea alleging tender of performance would be sufficient. The great weight of authority, however, is to the effect that tender of performance, so far as accord and satisfaction is concerned, is not equivalent to performance; hence the rule stated in the text is the correct one.

For form of plea in which tender was held sufficient see Heirn v. Carron, 11 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 361, 49 Am. Dec. 65.

59. Shephard v. Lewis, T. Jones 6. See also Hearn v. Kiehl, 38 Pa. St. 147, 80 Am. Dec. 472.

60. Fitch v. Haight, 5 Ill. 51; Rogers v. Spokane, 9 Wash. 168, 37 Pac. 300.

61. Ligon v. Dunn, 28 N. C. 133; Preston v. Christmas, 2 Wils. C. P. 86. See also Neal v. Sheaffield, Cro. Jac. 254. Compare Bailey v. Cowles, 86 Ill. 333, in which it was held that where a defendant pleads a release and quitclaim of his equity of redemption in real estate to the plaintiff, and the acceptance thereof by the plaintiff as an accord and satisfaction, it is not necessary that the plea should allege that such release and quitclaim were under seal. The court said that in pleading a release it is not necessary that it should be alleged to be under seal, because a release imports a seal.

62. Snyder v. Pharo, 25 Fed. 398.

goods from the drawer in full satisfaction of the bill and of all damages and causes of action in respect thereof, is bad; since satisfaction of a bill, as between a drawer and an indorser, does not necessarily enure as a satisfaction on behalf of the acceptor or operate to discharge him from liability to the indorsee.[63] A plea alleging satisfaction by the giving and acceptance of a bond must allege that the bond was assigned.[64]

3. EFFECT OF REPUGNANCY TO BILL OF PARTICULARS. Where a bill of particulars filed with and as a part of a plea is inconsistent with and repugnant to it the plea must fail.[65]

F. Pleas Puis Darrein Continuance — 1. MATTERS PLEADED. It is well settled that matters constituting an accord and satisfaction arising after the last continuance may be pleaded puis darrein continuance,[66] and, as a general rule, to render such matters available, they must be so pleaded.[67] A plea setting up matters of defense which arose before the last continuance before plea pleaded is objectionable as a plea puis darrein continuance.[68] If the accord and satisfaction takes place after suit brought, the plea must allege, and it must be proved, that it was a satisfaction of the costs and damages sustained by the breach of contract.[69]

2. WHEN PLEADED. This plea must be pleaded before the next continuance after the facts or events have occurred and become known to the party, and it is within the discretion of the court to allow or refuse such plea if not pleaded at such time.[70]

3. AMENDMENT OF PLEA. These pleas are amendable at any time before trial, and the amended plea may be entitled as of the term when the original plea was filed.[71]

4. EFFECT OF PLEA. The effect of these pleas is to waive all previous defenses.[72]

63. Jones v. Broadhurst, 9 C. B. 173, 67 E. C. L. 173.

64. Hence a plea alleging that defendant gave to plaintiff bonds which were received by plaintiff in satisfaction of a debt is insufficient for failing to allege that the bonds were assigned. The reason of this is that if they were not the plaintiff could not maintain an action in his own name. Nave v. Fletcher, 4 Litt. (Ky.) 242.

65. Snyder v. Pharo, 25 Fed. 398.

66. Taylor v. Frink, 2 Iowa 84; Heirn v. Carron, 11 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 361, 49 Am. Dec. 65; Watkinson v. Inglesby, 5 Johns. (N. Y.) 386.

For forms of pleas puis darrein continuance see Webster v. Wyser, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 184; Evans v. Collier, 79 Ga. 319, 4 S. E. 266; Heirn v. Carron, 11 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 361, 49 Am. Dec. 65.

67. Evans v. Cincinnati, etc., R. Co., 78 Ala. 341; Washington v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 136 Ill. 49, 26 N. E. 653; Chicago v. Babcock, 143 Ill. 358, 32 N. E. 271; Good v. Davis, Hempst. (U. S.) 16, 10 Fed. Cas. No. 5,530*a*.

Exceptions to rule.— Actions on the case, it has been held, constitute an exception to the rule stated in the text. In such actions it has been held that the defendant is permitted under the general issue to give in evidence satisfaction or any other matter ex post facto which shows that the cause of action has been discharged. Chicago v. Babcock, 143 Ill. 358, 32 N. E. 271. So it has been held that another exception arises where the parties seek not only to adjust the amount of the claim but also to have judgment entered for such amount. In this case it was said that on motion of defendants based on the agreement the court could properly inquire whether the agreement had been executed; and if it was claimed that the agreement was obtained by fraud it was the duty of the court to determine that question, and if the court should find that the agreement had been properly executed it should enter judgment according to its terms. Washington v. Louisville, etc., R. Co., 136 Ill. 49, 26 N. E. 653.

68. Kenyon v. Sutherland, 8 Ill. 99.

69. Francis v. Crywell, 5 B. & Ald. 886, 1 D. & R. 546; Goodwin v. Cremer, 18 Q. B. 757; Ash v. Pouppeville, L. R. 3 Q. B. 86.

70. Tilton v. Morgaridge, 12 Ohio St. 98. Compare Robinson v. Burkell, 3 Ill. 278, in which it was held that a plea of matters happening since the last continuance may be filed at any time before trial.

Pleas filed after judgment in justice's court. — While the proceeding by appeal from a justice's court is in the nature of a new trial to which defendant may plead matter arising since the last continuance, yet where, after a judgment in the justice's court and previous to an appeal, the suit between the parties is settled, and defendant, notwithstanding, prosecutes an appeal, plaintiff cannot allege the accord and satisfaction by way of plea puis darrein continuance. His proper course is to apply by motion to dismiss the appeal. On a new trial plaintiff is not entitled to interpose a plea in bar of the defense. Schenck v. Lincoln, 17 Wend. (N. Y.) 506.

71. Webster v. Wyser, 1 Stew. (Ala.) 184.

72. Taylor v. Hogan, Hempst. (U. S.) 16, 23 Fed. Cas. No. 13,794*a*.

G. Sham Pleas. The court will not permit a plea of accord and satisfaction to be pleaded as a sham plea for the purpose of delay.[73]

H. Demurrer to Plea. Defects of form in a plea of accord and satisfaction must be taken advantage of by special demurrer,[74] and if such demurrer is not filed within the time required by law it may properly be overruled, notwithstanding it is based on good grounds.[75]

I. Replications — 1. Traversing Plea. In accordance with the well-settled rules of pleading all traversable matters of the plea not traversed by the replication are admitted.[76] The replication may deny the delivery or performance in satisfaction,[77] or it may deny acceptance,[78] or it may deny both the delivery or performance and the acceptance in satisfaction.[79] Although, by virtue of statute, the plaintiff may show under a general denial that there was no acceptance in satisfaction, this does not prevent him from pleading such fact specially.[80] If the replication denies that the plaintiff received in satisfaction it must conclude to the country.[81] Where the plea states the agreement or accord instead of pleading it by way of satisfaction, it will be sufficient to traverse the agreement without noticing the allegations of performance or acceptance in satisfaction.[82]

2. By Way of Confession and Avoidance. The replication may also allege new matter in confession and avoidance. Thus it is a sufficient answer to the plea that the thing given and accepted in satisfaction (a deed) was rendered worthless by defendant's own act,[83] or that the acceptance was procured by fraud on the defendant's part.[84] Such fraud, however, must be pleaded, to be available,[85]

73. Richley v. Proone, 1 B. & C. 286.

74. Woods v. Harris, 5 Blackf. (Ind.) 585.

75. Brantley Co. v. Lee, 106 Ga. 313, 32 S. E. 101.

Ambiguous plea.— Where the plea is ambiguous, but is capable of being so construed as to make it a good answer, it will be held good if plaintiff pleads over instead of demurring. Stead v. Poyer, 1 C. B. 782, 50 E. C. L. 782.

76. Capital City Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Detwiler, 23 Ill. App. 656; Reichel v. Jeffrey, 9 Wash. 250; 37 Pac. 296.

For form of replication to plea setting up an accord and satisfaction by deed see Turner v. Browne, 3 C. B. 157.

77. State Bank v. Littlejohn, 18 N. C. 563; 1 Chit. Pl. (16th Am. ed.) 608; Saunders Pl. & Ev. 24; Young v. Rudd, 5 Mod. 86.

78. Berdell v. Bissell, 6 Colo. 162; State Bank v. Littlejohn, 18 N. C. 563; O'Riley v. Wilson, 4 Oreg. 96; Cruikshank v. McAvity, 20 N. Brunsw. 352; 1 Chit. Pl. (16th Am. ed.) 608; Saunders Pl. & Ev. 214; Young v. Rudd, 5 Mod. 86. Compare Hawkshaw v. Rawlings, 1 Str. 23, in which it was held that, where defendant pleads payment and acceptance in satisfaction, a replication that plaintiff did not accept such payment in satisfaction, though an argumentative denial of payment, is good after verdict.

For form of plea denying acceptance see Saund. Pl. & Ev. 26.

Traversing immaterial allegations.— A replication which traverses immaterial allegations and leaves unanswered the acceptance in satisfaction is bad. Jones v. Sawkins, 5 C. B. 142, 57 E. C. L. 142.

79. Deut v. Coleman, 10 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 83 [this case contains a form of the replication mentioned in the text]; Baldwin v. Massilon Bank, 1 Ohio St. 141; Webb v. Weatherby, 1 Bing. N. Cas. 502; 1 Chit. Pl. (16th Am. ed.) 608.

Replication not bad for duplicity.— A plea which denies both the giving and acceptance in satisfaction is neither double nor uncertain. Deut v. Coleman, 10 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 83.

80. Pottlitzer v. Wesson, 8 Ind. App. 472, 35 N. E. 1030; and see also Burns' Annot. Rev. Stat. (1894), § 380.

81. Hayman v. Gerrard, 1 Saund. 102.

82. Bainbridge v. Lax, 9 Q. B. 819, 58 E. C. L. 819 [this case contains a form of a replication traversing the agreement].

Reason for rule.— Where the satisfaction is pleaded as made in pursuance of an agreement, the agreement is material and traversable. Bainbridge v. Lax, 9 Q. B. 819, 58 E. C. L. 819.

Plea setting up account stated.—Where the plea sets up an account stated between plaintiff and defendant, and an acceptance by plaintiff of defendant's agreement to pay the sum found due, plaintiff may traverse both the accounting and the acceptance. Light v. Woodstock, etc., R., etc., Co., 13 U. C. Q. B. 201.

Denying existence of subject-matter of agreement.— A denial of the existence of the subject-matter of the agreement set forth in the plea is a sufficient denial of the agreement, since no agreement could be made with respect to something that did not exist. Learmonth v. Grandine, 4 M. & W. 658.

83. Turner v. Browne, 3 C. B. 157, 54 E. C. L. 157 [this case contains a form of replication setting up new matter].

84. Stears v. South Essex Gas-Light, etc., Co., 9 C. B. N. S. 180, 99 E. C. L. 180.

85. Capital City Mut. F. Ins. Co. v. Detwiler, 23 Ill. App. 656; Brainard v. Van Dyke, 71 Vt. 359, 45 Atl. 758; Currey v. Lawler, 29 W. Va. 111, 11 S. E. 897.

and the facts relied on as constituting fraud set out.[86] The replication should also allege the return or tender back of the consideration;[87] but it has been held that tender is waived by joining issue, and that even in case of a formal objection for want of tender the replication may be amended so as to make a formal tender.[88]

3. SETTING UP ACCORD AND SATISFACTION. If an accord and satisfaction is set up by the replication it must, like a plea setting up this defense, allege a giving and acceptance in satisfaction.[89]

IX. EVIDENCE.

A. Burden of Proof. Where an accord and satisfaction is relied on as a defense, the burden of proving it is on the defendant;[90] but where plaintiff, in making out his own case, is compelled to establish an accord, he must produce at least prima facie evidence that there has been no satisfaction.[91] So, if the plaintiff wishes to avoid the effects of an accord and satisfaction on the ground of fraud, the burden is on him to show fraud.[92]

B. Admissibility — 1. IN GENERAL. Where the terms of a written agreement leave it in doubt whether the claim assigned was intended to operate as full satisfaction or only on account of the claim in suit, parol evidence is admissible to remove this doubt.[93] Although an accord and satisfaction is pleaded, an order given by defendant to plaintiff is not admissible in evidence unless other evidence is offered to show that it was intended and accepted as satisfaction of the claim, or that it had been paid.[94] Where the amount of a claim is disputed, evidence of the retention by plaintiff of a check expressed to be in full of the claim is admissible to show an accord and satisfaction although indorsed by plaintiff as received on account.[95]

2. VARIANCE. The allegations and proof must correspond.[96] Hence evidence to establish an accord and satisfaction of a different character from that pleaded is inadmissible,[97] and so is evidence of an accord with a person other than the one mentioned in the plea.[98] Where a plea of accord and satisfaction is sufficient, the exclusion of evidence which would tend to support it is reversible error.[99]

C. Sufficiency — 1. DEGREE OF PROOF. To establish a plea of accord and sat-

86. Brainard v. Van Dyke, 71 Vt. 359, 45 Atl. 758.

87. Brainard v. Van Dyke, 71 Vt. 359, 45 Atl. 758; Knoxville, etc., R. Co. v. Acuff, 92 Tenn. 26, 20 S. W. 348.

88. Knoxville, etc., R. Co. v. Acuff, 92 Tenn. 26, 20 S. W. 348.

89. Heath v. Doyle, 18 R. I. 252, 27 Atl. 333.

90. Alabama.— Johnson v. Collins, 20 Ala. 435.

Arkansas.— Dickinson v. Burr, 7 Ark. 34.

California.— Simmons v. Oullahan, 75 Cal. 508, 17 Pac. 543.

Illinois.— McDavitt v. McNay, 78 Ill. App. 396; American v. Rimpert, 75 Ill. 228.

Michigan.— Browning v. Crouse, 43 Mich. 489, 5 N. W. 664.

Missouri.— Oil Well Supply Co. v. Wolfe, 127 Mo. 616, 30 S. W. 145.

New York.— Noe v. Christie, 51 N. Y. 270; Rosenfeld v. New, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 232; Dolsen v. Arnold, 10 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 528.

91. Browning v. Crouse, 43 Mich. 489, 5 N. W. 664.

92. Helling v. United Order of Honor, 29 Mo. App. 309; Currey v. Lawler, 29 W. Va. 111, 11 S. E. 897; Rowe v. Grand Trunk R. Co., 16 U. C. C. P. 500.

93. Selser's Assigned Estate, 7 Pa. Co. Ct. 417.

94. Hogan v. Burns, (Cal. 1893) 33 Pac. 631.

95. King v. Dorman, 26 Misc. (N. Y.) 133, 55 N. Y. Suppl. 876.

96. Smith v. Elrod, (Ala. 1898) 24 So. 994; Walker v. Reese, (Ga. 1900) 35 S. E. 771.

What is not a variance illustrated:—Where, upon the indorsement of a note, it was agreed by parol between the indorser and indorsee that, if the former would execute to the latter a deed for a tract of land, the latter would strike out the indorsement and release the indorser from liability thereon, and the indorser had afterward executed a deed for the land which was accepted by the indorsee, it was held that proof of these facts was not evidence tending to show a contract variant from that contained in the written indorsement and was competent to show an accord and satisfaction. Smitherman v. Smith, 20 N. C. 89.

97. Walker v. Reese, (Ga. 1900) 35 S. E. 771.

98. Chappell v. Phillips, Wright (Ohio) 372.

99. McNamara v. Babcock, 3 N. Y. Suppl. 700.

isfaction no clearer or stronger degree of proof than in ordinary civil cases is necessary. A mere preponderance of evidence will be sufficient.[100]

2. Documents and Record Entries. A receipt expressed to be in satisfaction of all claims and demands is evidence of an accord and satisfaction.[101] So discontinuance of a suit and an agreement not again to assert the claim in consideration of defendant's paying costs sufficiently shows an accord and satisfaction.[102] On the other hand an entry of payment of costs by defendant on dismissal of a suit is not prima facie evidence of an accord and satisfaction;[103] neither is an entry that costs are to be paid by the defendant.[104] So, where defendant pleaded that plaintiff has agreed to accept and did accept the covenant of a third party in full satisfaction of the note in suit, and the only evidence to support the plea was an indorsement signed by the third party in these words, "I am to pay the within note May 13th, 1822," and a credit on the same date still legible, though lines had been drawn through it, for a sum paid by the third party,—it was held that this was no evidence of an accord and satisfaction of the note.[105]

3. Lapse of Time. Lapse of time after the breach of the contract may tend to support a plea of accord and satisfaction to an action for damages sustained by reason of such breach.[106]

D. Questions of Law and Fact. Where the facts in respect to an accord and satisfaction have been ascertained, their effect is purely a question of law and is not to be submitted to the jury.[107] But if the evidence is conflicting as to whether there has been an acceptance in satisfaction, the question is to be determined by the jury,[108] and it is error to instruct the jury that there was an acceptance.[109] So, where the evidence is conflicting as to whether an account sued on was included in the award out of which the accord and satisfaction grew, the question is properly left to the jury.[110]

ACCORDANT. Agreeing; concurring. The word is abbreviated "Acc." and "Accord."[1]

ACCOUCHEMENT. Delivery in childbed; parturition.[2]

ACCOUNT. See Accounts and Accounting.

ACCOUNTABLE. Subject to pay; responsible; liable for.[3]

100. Cheeves v. Danielly, 74 Ga. 712.

101. Grumley v. Webb, 48 Mo. 562.

102. Dana v. Taylor, 150 Mass. 25, 22 N. E. 65.

103. Carter v. Wilson, 19 N. C. 276.

104. Bond v. McNider, 25 N. C. 440.

105. Bruce v. Bruce, 4 Dana (Ky.) 530.

106. Thus, in Jenkins v. Hopkins, 9 Pick. (Mass.) 543, it was held that the lapse of twenty years after damages sustained by breach of a covenant against encumbrances on land is prima facie sufficient to support a plea of accord and satisfaction to an action on the covenant, but the lapse of eleven years after breach of contract without calling for payment is not sufficient evidence of accord and satisfaction. Austin v. Moore, 7 Metc. (Mass.) 116. See also Siboni v. Kirkman, 1 M. & W. 418, in which it was held that the lapse of twenty years from the time of making a contract to be performed in the future is not of itself evidence of a new contract alleged to have been performed and pleaded as an accord and satisfaction of the original contract; that such new contract must be proved specifically.

107. Colorado.— Gibbs v. Wall, 10 Colo. 153, 14 Pac. 216.

Florida.— Sanford v. Abrams, 24 Fla. 181.

Minnesota.— Washburn v. Winslow, 16 Minn. 33.

Missouri.— Helling v. United Order of Honor, 29 Mo. App. 309.

New York.— Logan v. Davidson, 18 N. Y. App. Div. 353, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 961.

108. Oil Well Supply Co. v. Wolfe, 127 Mo. 616, 30 S. W. 145; Stone v. Miller, 16 Pa. St. 450. See also Shewell v. Meredith, 3 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 13; Greenwood v. Foley, 22 U. C. C. P. 352.

109. Oil Well Supply Co. v. Wolfe, 127 Mo. 616, 30 S. W. 145.

110. Madden v. Blain, 66 Ga. 49.

1. Burrill L. Dict.

Frequently used in the reports to denote the accordance or agreement between one adjudged case and another in establishing or confirming the same doctrine. Burrill L. Dict. And sometimes the accordance of opinion of judges in the same case, as in the expressions "Holt, C. J., accordant," "Powys, J., accord." Clerk v. Withers, 6 Mod. 290, 298.

2. Century Dict.

3. Furber v. Caverly, 42 N. H. 74, 76; Breton v. Mockett, 9 Ch. D. 95.

ACCOUNTABLE RECEIPT. A written acknowledgment of the receipt, by the maker thereof, of money or other personal property, coupled with a promise or obligation to account for or pay to some person the whole or some part thereof.[4] (Accountable Receipt, Forgery of, see FORGERY.)

ACCOUNTANT. One whose vocation or function it is to keep or adjust accounts;[5] also a person who renders an account in a particular case.[6]

ACCOUNTANT-GENERAL. An officer in the court of chancery, appointed by act of parliament[7] to receive all money lodged in court, and to place the same in the Bank of England and withdraw it by order.[8]

ACCOUNT-BOOK. A book kept by a merchant, trader, mechanic, or other person, in which from time to time are entered the transactions of his trade or business.[9]

ACCOUNTING. See ACCOUNTS AND ACCOUNTING.

ACCOUNTING OFFICER. An officer who may lawfully pass upon and allow a claim against a municipal corporation, upon the authority of which allowance the comptroller may issue his warrant upon the treasurer.[10]

ACCOUNT RENDER. See ACCOUNTS AND ACCOUNTING.

4. State v. Riebe, 27 Minn. 315, 7 N. W. 262; Clark v. Newsam, 1 Exch. 131, 138. See also Com. v. Lawless, 101 Mass. 32, where the instrument which defendant was charged with forging was not an accountable receipt, since it did not acknowledge that anything had been received which was to be accounted for.

Such receipt may be in legal effect, though not in form, a promissory note. State v. Riebe, 27 Minn. 315, 317, 7 N. W. 262.

5. Abbott L. Dict.

6. Burrill L. Dict.

7. 12 Geo. I, c. 32.

8. Jacob L. Dict.

This officer has been superseded, under 35 & 36 Vict. c. 44, by an officer called the paymaster-general of England. Brown L. Dict.

9. Bouvier L. Dict.

10. Hauck v. State, 45 Ohio St. 439, 443, construing Ohio Rev. Stat. § 7075.

ACCOUNTS AND ACCOUNTING

By John Lehman

CROSS-REFERENCES

For Abatement of Actions for Accounting, see ABATEMENT AND REVIVAL.
Accounting between:
Joint Tenants, see JOINT TENANCY.
Landlord and Tenant, see LANDLORD AND TENANT.
Master and Servant, see MASTER AND SERVANT.
Partners, see PARTNERSHIP.
Persons Engaged in Joint Adventures, see JOINT ADVENTURES.
Tenants in Common, see TENANCY IN COMMON.
Accounting by:
Agents, see ATTORNEY AND CLIENT; CORPORATIONS; FACTORS AND BROKERS; PRINCIPAL AND AGENT.
Assignees, see ASSIGNMENTS FOR BENEFIT OF CREDITORS; BANKRUPTCY; INSOLVENCY.
Auctioneers, see AUCTIONS AND AUCTIONEERS.
Corporations, see BUILDING AND LOAN SOCIETIES; CORPORATIONS and the particular corporation titles.
Guardians, see INFANTS; INSANE PERSONS.
Mortgages, see CHATTEL MORTGAGES; MORTGAGES.
Officers, see CORPORATIONS; OFFICERS.
Personal Representatives, see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.
Pledgees, see PLEDGES.
Receivers, see RECEIVERS.
Trustees, see TRUSTS.

For Accounting for Profits and Royalties, see COPYRIGHT; PATENTS; TRADE-MARKS AND TRADE-NAMES.
Accounting upon Redemption, see EXECUTIONS; MORTGAGES.
Accounts as Evidence, see EVIDENCE.
Alteration of Accounts, see ALTERATIONS OF INSTRUMENTS.
Annexation of Accounts to Pleadings, see PLEADING.
Assignment of Accounts, see ASSIGNMENTS.
Bills of Particulars in Actions Involving Accounts, see PLEADING.
Inspection of Accounts, see DISCOVERY.
Interest on Accounts, see INTEREST.
Payment or Part Payment of Accounts, see PAYMENT.
Reference of Proceedings Involving Accounts, see REFERENCES.
See also ACCORD AND SATISFACTION; COMPOSITIONS WITH CREDITORS; COMPROMISE AND SETTLEMENT; RELEASE.

I. TERMINOLOGY.

A. Account. An account is, strictly, no more than a list or catalogue of items, whether of debits or credits;[1] an exhibit of charges and credits growing out of mutual dealings, in such form as to facilitate the determination of the balance due by simple calculation, though also used to indicate the demand or right of action for the balance which appears to be due upon the statement of the items.[2] While it is said that the term has no very clearly defined legal meaning,[3] the primary idea of account, computatio, is some matter of debt and credit, and it implies that one is responsible to another on the score either of contract or of some fiduciary relation of a public or private nature, created by law or otherwise.[4] It is not necessarily restricted, however, to several distinct items,[5] nor is it the less an account that all the items of charge are by one person against another,

1. Rensselaer Glass Factory Co. v. Reid, 5 Cow. (N. Y.) 587.

A detailed statement of items of debt and credit arising out of contract. Furgeon v. Cote, 88 Me. 108, 33 Atl. 787.

Entry of debits and credits in a book or upon paper, of things bought and sold or services performed, with date and prices or value. Dowdney v. Volkening, 37 N. Y. Super. Ct. 313.

2. Abbott L. Dict.

"Balance" distinguished.—A balance is but the conclusion or result of the debit and credit sides of the account. McWilliams v. Allan, 45 Mo. 573.

"Bank account" applies to the statement of amounts deposited in and drawn out of a bank, which is kept in duplicate, one in the depositor's bank-book and the other in the books of the bank. Bouvier L. Dict.

3. Watson v. Penn, 108 Ind. 21, 8 N. E. 636.

4. Indiana.— Watson v. Penn, 108 Ind. 21, 8 N. E. 636, holding that rents accruing from and issuing out of real estate are in the nature of real chattels and cannot be assimilated to or accurately described as accounts until they have accrued or become due; Nelson v. Posey County, 105 Ind. 287, 4 N. E. 703.

Massachusetts.— Whitwell v. Willard, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 216.

Missouri.— McWilliams v. Allan, 45 Mo. 573.

New Hampshire.— Gale v. Drake, 51 N. H. 78, 84, holding that a bequest of "all my accounts" does not include a savings-bank account.

New York.— People v. Peck, 57 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 315, wherein it is held that goods sold and delivered and work and labor performed are matters of account, whether their value is fixed by an agreement, written or oral, or is to be ascertained by proof.

Wisconsin.— Stringham v. Winnebago County, 24 Wis. 594, holding that the term "account" cannot include a claim to have taxes on land refunded on the ground that they were excessive through the wrongful and illegal conduct of the assessor.

"Concerns" and "accounts" — Mercantile import.— Where a party agreed in writing "to account with the said B., and to pay to him or order any balance which may eventually be due on settling my concerns and accounts," etc., it was held that the words "concerns" and "accounts" were mercantile terms and had an appropriate technical import; that, the subject-matter in this case in reference to which they were used being merchandise on consignment, they meant in this instance nothing more or less than the ordinary incident of the sale of the consigned goods, and could not be perverted so as to include any other right, interest, or duty. Bruce v. Burdet, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 80, 81.

5. Cave v. Burns, 6 Ala. 780; Dowdney v. Volkening, 37 N. Y. Super. Ct. 313; Hunter v. Anderson, 1 Heisk. (Tenn.) 1.

instead of being a statement of mutual demands of debit and credit, provided the charges arise out of contract, express or implied, or from some duty imposed by law.[6]

B. Mutual Accounts. Mutual accounts are such as consist of a reciprocity of dealing between the parties and do not embrace those having items on one side only, though made up of debits and credits.[7] But the account may be kept by one person against himself, and at the same time against another, and be a mutual account in the sense of the legal expression.[8]

C. Merchants' Accounts. This term means accounts between merchant and merchant concerning the trade of merchants or items of merchandise.[9]

D. Open Account. An open account is one which is continuous or current, uninterrupted or unclosed by settlement or otherwise, consisting of a series of transactions;[10] also one in which some item in the contract is left open and undetermined by the parties,[11] in which sense it may exist whether there be but one item or many;[12] but if a single claim or contract is certain and fixed in all its terms it cannot be said to be an open account.[13]

E. Account Current. An account current is an open or running account between two or more parties,[14] or an account which contains items between the parties from which the balance due to one of them is or can be ascertained,[15] from which it follows that such an account comes under the terms of an open account in so far as it is running, unsettled, or unclosed.[16]

F. Account Rendered. An account rendered is one which is drawn up in form and delivered by the creditor to the debtor as an exhibition of the former's demand.[17]

6. Nelson v. Posey County, 105 Ind. 287, 4 N. E. 703.

7. Alabama.— Wilson v. Calvert, 18 Ala. 274; Todd v. Todd, 15 Ala. 743.

Arkansas.— McNeil v. Garland, 27 Ark. 343.

California.— Adams v. Patterson, 35 Cal. 122; Fraylor v. Sonora Min. Co., 17 Cal. 594; Weatherwax v. Cosumnes Valley Mill Co., 17 Cal. 344.

Indiana.— Prenatt v. Runyon, 12 Ind. 174.

Maine.— Dyer v. Walker, 51 Me. 104; Theobald v. Stinson, 38 Me. 149.

Massachusetts.— Union Bank v. Knapp, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 96, 15 Am. Dec. 181.

Michigan.—Nash v. Burchard, 87 Mich. 85, 49 N. W. 492.

New York.— Green v. Disbrow, 79 N. Y. 1, 35 Am. Rep. 496; Peck v. New York, etc., U. S. Mail Steamship Co., 5 Bosw. (N. Y.) 226.

Pennsylvania.—Lowber v. Smith, 7 Pa. St. 381; Ingram v. Sherard, 17 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 347.

South Carolina.— Turnbull v. Strohecker, 4 McCord (S. C.) 210.

England.— Phillips v. Phillips, 9 Hare, 471; Cotes v. Harris, Buller N. P. 149; Catling v. Skoulding, 6 T. R. 189; Cottam v. Partridge, 4 M. & G. 271.

The balance only is the debt due in the case of mutual accounts. Dee v. Morgan, 10 Hawaii 651; Kingsley v. Delano, 169 Mass. 285, 47 N. E. 1013; Green v. Disbrow, 79 N. Y. 1, 35 Am. Rep. 496.

8. State v. Churchill, 48 Ark. 426, 3 S. W. 352. 880.

9. Fox v. Fisk, 6 How. (Miss.) 328. This is in connection with provisions in statutes of limitations excepting such accounts. See LIMITATIONS OF ACTIONS; also supra, I, B.

10. Tucker v. Quimby, 37 Iowa 17.

Form not conclusive.— Whether an account as a whole is one and the same transaction will depend upon the facts rather than the form. If it is all one transaction in fact, it should be so regarded, although for convenience or taste it is stated with one or more balances. Lamb v. Hanneman, 40 Iowa 41.

11. Loventhal v. Morris, 103 Ala. 332, 15 So. 672; Gayle v. Johnston, 72 Ala. 254, 47 Am. Rep. 405; Battle v. Reid, 68 Ala. 149; Mims v. Sturtevant, 18 Ala. 359; Sheppard v. Wilkins, 1 Ala. 62.

12. See cases cited supra, note 11.

13. Bradford v. Barclay, 39 Ala. 33; Carville v. Reynolds, 9 Ala. 969; Caruthers v. Mardis, 3 Ala. 599; Maury v. Mason, 8 Port. (Ala.) 211.

14. Edwards v. Hoeffinghoff, 38 Fed. 635; Bouvier L. Dict.

15. Wilson v. Calvert, 18 Ala. 274.

16. Not open account current when items have been drawn up and paid. Lancey v. Maine Cent. R. Co., 72 Me. 34.

When an account is stated it ceases to be an account current. Fox v. Fisk, 6 How. (Miss.) 328; Davis v. Tiernan, 2 How. (Miss.) 786. And an account is no longer open when a definite amount is admitted. Drinkwater v. Holliday, 11 Ala. 134; Webber v. Tivill, 2 Saund. 124. As to the effect of adjusting balances and continuing the accounts with new items see LIMITATIONS OF ACTIONS; and as to extinguishment by execution of note see NOVATION; PAYMENT.

17. Abbott L. Dict.

G. Account Stated. An account stated is an agreement between persons who have had previous transactions, fixing the amount due in respect of such transactions.[18]

H. Settled Account. A settled account is one the balance of which, having been stated, is paid;[19] though it has been said that the terms "stated" and "settled" accounts are equivalent expressions.[20]

I. First, Partial, and Final Account. A "partial,"[21] "first," or "final" account refers to the number or completeness of accounts presented to a court for confirmation.[22]

J. Accounting. Accounting is the rendering or delivering a formal statement of one's dealings.[23]

K. Book-Debt or Book-Account. A statutory remedy provided in some states for the collection of a balance due upon an account.[24]

II. ACCOUNTING.

A. Manner of Accounting. At common law there were two ways by which one might be called on to render an account. One was to bring him to account before the party himself who was entitled to the accounting, or before auditors assigned by himself; the other was by the original writ of account summoning him into court to make his account there.[25] To these may be added now a suit in equity for an account, in a proper case.[26]

B. Account Stated — 1. NATURE AND ELEMENTS — a. In General. In general terms, where an account is rendered by one person to another, showing a balance due from the one to the other, and the indebtedness thus expressed is acknowledged to be due by the person against whom the balance appears, or where parties having previous transactions agree upon a definite balance as due from one to the other, this will constitute an account stated.[27]

18. Ware v. Manning, 86 Ala. 238, 5 So. 682; Anding v. Levy, 57 Miss. 51, 34 Am. Rep. 435; Hendrix v. Kirkpatrick, 48 Nebr. 670, 67 N. W. 759; McKinster v. Hitchcock, 19 Nebr. 100, 26 N. W. 705; Claire v. Claire, 10 Nebr. 54, 4 N. W. 411; Lockwood v. Thorne, 18 N. Y. 285. See infra, II, B, 1.

19. Bruen v. Hone, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 586; Bailey v. Westcott, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 525, 25 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 173.

20. Liscomb v. Agate, 67 Hun (N. Y.) 388, 22 N. Y. Suppl. 126; Gibson v. Sumner, 6 Vt. 163.

The word "settled" has been held to have an established legal meaning, implying the mutual adjustment of accounts between different parties, and an agreement upon the balance. Kronenberger v. Binz, 56 Mo. 121; Baxter v. State, 9 Wis. 38; Murray v. Moffat, 19 N. Brunsw. 481.

21. Leslie's Appeal, 63 Pa. St. 355, holding that a partial account implies ipso facto that nothing is settled by it but those matters constituting the items in question in the statement itself. See also EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

22. Anderson L. Dict.

23. Abbott L. Dict. See also infra, II, A.

24. Abbott L. Dict. See also infra, III, I.

Referring to manner of proof.— The term "book-debt" also refers to the particular matters which are the subject of book-account, the evidence of which on the part of plaintiff consists of entries in the original book. Hamill v. O'Donnell, 2 Miles (Pa.) 101.

25. If a person himself took the account of his receiver or bailiff, who was found in arrears, he had no further remedy but an action of debt for these arrears; if the account was passed before auditors assigned, he might have his action of debt under the Statute of Westminster II, c. 11; and the accountant, if falsely charged, might have his writ of ex parti talis to re-examine the account in the exchequer as directed by that act. 3 Reeves' Hist. Eng. L. 276.

26. See infra, II, E.

27. Alabama.— Comer v. Way, 107 Ala. 300, 19 So. 966, 54 Am. St. Rep. 93; Loventhal v. Morris, 103 Ala. 332, 15 So. 672; Ware v. Manning, 86 Ala. 238, 5 So. 682; Burns v. Campbell, 71 Ala. 271; Ware v. Dudley, 16 Ala. 742; Langdon v. Roane, 6 Ala. 518, 41 Am. Dec. 60.

Arkansas.— Thurmond v. Sanders, 21 Ark. 255.

California.— Auzerais v. Naglee, 74 Cal. 60, 15 Pac. 371.

Connecticut.— Zacarino v. Pallotti, 49 Conn. 36.

Maine.— McLellan v. Crofton, 6 Me. 307.

Massachusetts.— Union Bank v. Knapp, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 96, 15 Am. Dec. 181.

Mississippi.— Hardy v. Pilcher, 57 Miss. 18, 34 Am. Rep. 432; Stebbins v. Niles, 25 Miss. 267; Fox v. Fisk, 6 How. (Miss.) 328; Davis v. Tiernan, 2 How. (Miss.) 786.

b. Nature of Account Subject to Doctrine. The doctrine of account stated is said to have been founded originally on the practice of merchants,[28] and not to have applied to a single sum under an express contract, but only to cases where an account had been stated with reference to former transactions.[29] And while the rule is retained that, in order to constitute an account stated, there must have been some anterior transaction,[30] the scope of the doctrine has been extended in other respects so as to embrace an account with items on one side only, or consisting of but a single item and where there are no mutual dealings,[31] and when the transaction has no relation to trade.[32]

c. Relation of Debtor and Creditor. To make a stated account there must be two parties, a debtor and a creditor.[33]

d. Subsisting Debt — (1) In General. In order to make a stated account, the admission of indebtedness must refer to a past transaction or subsisting debt.[34] It does not arise by reason of the original transaction alone, which itself creates the debt,[35] notwithstanding the proposition, as often laid down, that an admission

Nebraska.— Jorgenson v. Kingsley, (Nebr. 1900) 82 N. W. 104.

New York.— Volkening v. De Graaf, 81 N. Y. 268; Beach v. Kidder, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 587; Vernon v. Simmons, 15 Daly (N. Y.) 399, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 649; Lawson v. Douglass, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 4, 43 N. Y. St. 356; Lockwood v. Thorne, 12 Barb. (N. Y.) 487; Pierce v. Delamater, 3 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 162.

Oregon.— Holmes v. Page, 19 Oreg. 232, 23 Pac. 961; Truman v. Owens, 17 Oreg. 523, 21 Pac. 665.

Tennessee.— Bussey v. Gant, 10 Humphr. (Tenn.) 238.

Texas.— Heidenheimer v. Ellis, 67 Tex. 426, 3 S. W. 666.

United States.—Toland v. Sprague, 12 Pet. (U. S.) 300, 9 L. ed. 1093.

England.— Lane v. Hill, 18 Q. B. 252; Knowles v. Michel, 13 East 249; Porter v. Cooper, 1 C. M. & R. 387.

Canada.— Hea v. Jones, 7 N. Brunsw. 646.

Accord and satisfaction distinguished.— In Stevens v. Barss, 74 Hun (N. Y.) 388, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 461, two parties had an accounting upon which there appeared to be due from one to the other $1,125, and the latter agreed to take $1,000, for which notes were executed and afterward paid. It was held that while, upon the accounting, one of the parties said something which might have indicated a claim for interest by him, yet, as there was no real dispute or controversy, the transaction was not an accord and satisfaction, but a stated account.

28. Schutz v. Morette, 146 N. Y. 137, 40 N. E. 780.

29. Wharton v. Cain, 50 Ala. 408.

30. See infra, II, B, 1, d.

31. Alabama.— Ware v. Manning, 86 Ala. 238, 5 So. 682; Wharton v. Cain, 50 Ala. 408.

Missouri.— Rutledge v. Moore, 9 Mo. 537.

New Jersey.—Weigel v. Hartman Steel Co., 51 N. J. L. 446, 20 Atl. 67.

New York.— Schutz v. Morette, 146 N. Y. 137, 40 N. E. 780; Kock v. Bonitz, 4 Daly (N. Y.) 117.

Vermont.— Powers v. New England F. Ins. Co., 68 Vt. 390, 35 Atl. 331.

Wisconsin.— Cobb v. Arundell, 26 Wis. 553.

United States.— Martin v. Acker, Blatchf. & H. Adm. 279, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 9,155.

England.—Knowles v. Michel, 13 East 249; Highmore v. Primrose, 5 M. & S. 65; Porter v. Cooper, 4 Tyrw. 456, 1 C. M. & R. 387; Styart v. Rowland, 1 Show. 215.

Same rule in other terms.— In other words, the rule is that if a fixed and certain sum is admitted to be due for which an action would lie this would be evidence to support a count upon an account stated. Porter v. Cooper, 4 Tyrw. 456, and see cases cited supra, this note.

32. Schutz v. Morette, 146 N. Y. 137, 40 N. E. 780; Fleischner v. Kubli, 20 Oreg. 328, 25 Pac. 1086.

33. Stenton v. Jerome, 54 N. Y. 480; Austin v. Wilson, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 565; Vanbebber v. Plunkett, 26 Oreg. 562, 38 Pac. 707, 27 L. R. A. 811; Truman v. Owens, 17 Oreg. 523, 21 Pac. 665.

34. Connecticut.— Zacarino v. Pallotti, 49 Conn. 36.

Nebraska.— Jorgensen v. Kingsley, (Nebr. 1900) 82 N. W. 104.

New York.— Schutz v. Morette, 146 N. Y. 137, 40 N. E. 780; Austin v. Wilson, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 565.

Oregon.— Vanbebber v. Plunkett, 26 Oreg. 562, 38 Pac. 707, 27 L. R. A. 811; Truman v. Owens, 17 Oreg. 523, 21 Pac. 665.

Pennsylvania.— Mellon v. Campbell, 11 Pa. St. 415.

Vermont.— Powers v. New England F. Ins. Co., 68 Vt. 390, 35 Atl. 331.

Washington.— Davis v. Seattle Nat. Bank, 19 Wash. 65, 52 Pac. 526.

England.— Hopkins v. Logan, 5 M. & W. 241; Clarke v. Webb, 2 Dowl. 671; Allen v. Cook, 2 Dowl. 546; Whitehead v. Howard, 5 Moore K. B. 105, 2 Ball & B. 372; Lemaire v. Elliott, 7 Jur. N. S. 1206; Lubbock v. Tribe, 3 M. & W. 607; Petch v. Lyon, 9 Q. B. 147; Wayman v. Hilliard, 7 Bing. 101; Baker v. Heard, 5 Exch. 959; Tucker v. Barrow, 7 B. & C. 623; French v. French, 2 M. & G. 644.

Canada.— Toms v. Sills, 29 U. C. Q. B. 497; Grant v. Young, 23 U. C. Q. B. 387; Kennedy v. Adams, 15 N. Brunsw. 162.

35. Zacarino v. Pallotti, 49 Conn. 36, wherein it is said that if one person agrees of a certain sum being due in respect of a demand for which an action would lie is evidence sufficient to support an account on an account stated,[36] and a promise by an executor, made upon the supposition of a debt which in fact was not due, is not sufficient.[37] But on the other hand it is held that where there are mutual accounts and a balance is struck by the parties it is not necessary that all the debts should be in præsenti, or that they should be legal debts.[38]

(II) Unliquidated Damages. It is held that an unliquidated claim for damages cannot form the basis of an account stated.[39]

(III) As between Original Parties. The mere promise to pay the debt of another will not make an account stated as between the promisor and the creditor,[40] nor will the acknowledgment of a debtor, upon an order of his creditor, of the correctness of the debt, create an account stated as between the debtor and the holder of the order.[41]

e. Illegal Transactions. An illegal transaction is not sufficient to support an account stated.[42]

f. Finality of Accounting. An account may be the foundation of an account stated though it does not cover all the dealings between the parties.[43] But the rule that an account may become a stated account without including all the dealings between the parties is confined to an account on one side, and while a stated account in such a case would be evidence of the correctness of the demand on the one side, it would not be conclusive against a demand on the other side,[44] for to support a plea of a stated account so as to conclude the parties in relation to all the dealings between them, the accounting must be shown to have been to pay another a certain amount for a chattel, this cannot be called an account stated; Truman v. Owens, 17 Oreg. 523, 21 Pac. 665.

36. This means "that the simple promise, if it stand unexplained and uncontradicted, is evidence to go to a jury that plaintiff claims that sum to be due and that there are matters of account between the parties; it does not go further than that; and it is only when you come to look at the facts on which the promise was made that you are enabled to see whether it is an account stated or not." Lubbock v. Tribe, 3 M. & W. 607, 613.

37. Gough v. Findon, 7 Exch. 48.

38. Laycock v. Pickles, 4 B. & S. 497. See also Jugla v. Trouttet, 120 N. Y. 21, 23 N. E. 1066.

39. Vanbebber v. Plunkett, 26 Oreg. 562, 38 Pac. 707, 27 L. R. A. 811, upon the principle that to make an account stated there must be a subsisting debt.

Adjustment and part payment.— Plaintiff placed a quantity of cigars in defendant's hands, to be sold at a certain price, and not to be delivered until they had been paid for. In violation of instructions defendant sold the cigars on credit and delivered them without receiving payment. The agent afterward brought a suit in his own name against the purchaser for fraud in obtaining the goods, obtained a judgment, and settled judgment by taking the purchaser's note payable to the agent's order. After the commencement of the suit against the purchaser, and before judgment, the agent promised his principal to pay for the cigars, and afterward paid him a certain amount on account, and it was held that the nature of the claim was such that an action on account would have been plaintiff's appropriate remedy, and that when the parties met and defendant made the promise to pay, and had, in fact, paid plaintiff, the account might be regarded as adjusted; that that which before the agreement was indefinite and unsettled became settled and liquidated, and that there was sufficient to support an action upon an account stated. Mitchell v. Allen, 38 Conn. 188.

40. French v. French, 2 M. & G. 644. See infra, II, B, 1, h; II, B, 2, l, (II), (J).

Debt included in contract.— But where the purchaser of timber agreed, as a part of the consideration, to pay the debt of another to the vendor, and paid one half and promised to pay the other half on the following day, it was held that this would support an account stated for the half remaining unpaid. Ferguson v. Kerr, 5 U. C. Q. B. 261.

41. Kennedy v. Adams, 15 N. Brunsw. 162, where B drew upon A a written order requesting him to pay K "the amount of my account furnished," upon which, on presentment, A wrote "Correct for say $75," and it was held that there was no consideration to support an account stated.

42. See II, G, 4, f, (III), (E).

43. Graham v. Chubb, 39 Mich. 417; Filer v. Peebles, 8 N. H. 226; Pierce v. Delamater, 3 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 162. See infra, II, G, 4, b.

44. Graham v. Chubb, 39 Mich. 417; Pierce v. Delamater, 3 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 162, holding that where an account showing a balance due is rendered to the debtor, who admits the correctness of the balance, but claims to have a set-off, this is sufficient to entitle plaintiff to recover such balance in the absence of proof making out a set-off in favor of defendant.

final.[45] Hence the binding force of an account stated will not be given to the mere furnishing of an account or other transaction which was not with a view to asserting a claim, establishing a balance due, or finally adjusting the matters of account between the parties.[46]

g. Form — (I) No Particular Form Necessary. It is not necessary that an account should be in the form of an account current, or in any particular form, in order that it may become an account stated,[47] nor need there be any precise form of words in order to constitute the acknowledgment of debt or liability,[48] but if the account purports to be in the form of a regular account in the ordinary acceptance of the term it should be something more than a mere memorandum and should indicate that a final settlement is intended.[49]

(II) Statement of Balance Unaccompanied by Items. The bare statement of a balance due, if accepted, may constitute a stated account, even though the demand is not accompanied by an account of the items,[50] under the rule that if a fixed and certain sum is admitted to be due for which an action would lie, that will be evidence to support a count on an account stated.[51]

(III) Account Including Former Balance. Where an account rendered contains, as an item thereof, a balance of an account previously rendered, the

45. Hughes v. Smither, 23 N. Y. App. Div. 590, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 115; Rehill v. McTague, 114 Pa. St. 82, 7 Atl. 224, 60 Am. Rep. 341; Schmidt v. Lebby, 11 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 329; Bussey v. Gant, 10 Humphr. (Tenn.) 238. See also infra, II, B, 2, b.

Mere furnishing of an account, therefore, will not be sufficient where the relation of the parties is such that this cannot be taken to be an accounting in itself, as between partners. Prentice v. Elliott, 72 Ga. 154; Burden v. McElmoyle, Bailey Eq. (S. C.) 375, which was a rough statement of the estimate of the condition of a copartnership prepared by one partner. See also infra, II, B, 3, h.

Statement by surviving partners to the administrator of a deceased partner will not constitute an account stated so as to prevent an accounting. McCarthy v. Wood, (Ky. 1890) 13 S. W. 792. But see Ogden v. Astor, 4 Sandf. (N. Y.) 311.

Periodical settlements shown by books.— Where partnership books exhibit statements of accounts and entries of periodical settlement and partial divisions of assets, but there has been no final accounting, this will not constitute a settlement or account stated so as to preclude a revision of the accounts. Rhyne v. Love, 98 N. C. 486, 4 S. E. 536.

46. Arkansas.— Glasscock v. Rosengrant, 55 Ark. 376, 18 S. W. 379, mere rendition of an account.

California.— Coffee v. Williams, 103 Cal. 550, 37 Pac. 504, mere rendition of an account.

Illinois.— Peterson v. Wachowski, 86 Ill. App. 661, where the amount of profits in which the party was entitled to share could not be known at the time of the rendition of the account.

Michigan.— Raymond v. Leavitt, 46 Mich. 447, 9 N. W. 525, 41 Am. Rep. 170.

Minnesota.— Scase v. Gillette-Herzog Mfg. Co., 55 Minn. 349, 57 N. W. 58, the acceptance of a part of profits under a contract of employment.

New York.— Harvey v. West-Side El. R. Co., 13 Hun (N. Y.) 392 (where the account was furnished upon request, not for the purpose of asserting a claim); Vetter v. Kane, 15 N. Y. St. 666; Pickard v. Simpson, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 93 (where only one side of an account was gone over).

Rhode Island.— Allen v. Woonsocket Co., 11 R. I. 288.

47. Ogden v. Astor, 4 Sandf. (N. Y.) 311; Bevan v. Cullen, 7 Pa. St. 281.

Account without vouchers.— If a party accepts an account without vouchers and does not call for a more detailed statement this will not prevent its operation as a stated account. Ogden v. Astor, 4 Sandf. (N. Y.) 311.

48. Tyke v. Cosford, 14 U. C. C. P. 64.

49. Coffee v. Williams, 103 Cal. 550, 37 Pac. 504; Thomlinson v. Earnshaw, 14 Ill. App. 593; Sturm v. Boker, 150 U. S. 312, 14 S. Ct. 99, 37 L. ed. 1093.

Prices omitted.— Where daily bills are rendered under an executory contract for the delivery of lumber without designating the prices, the retention of such bills will not be regarded as giving them the effect of accounts stated. Robson v. Bohn, 22 Minn. 410.

50. May v. Kloss, 44 Mo. 300; Hatch v. Von Taube, 31 Misc. (N. Y.) 468, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 393; Robbins v. Downey, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 100, 45 N. Y. St. 279.

Omission of items of account — Waiver.— Although an account rendered is wanting in many particulars, as in the statement of weights, quantities, and prices, important in determining the accuracy of the account presented, the party to whom it is presented may waive these particulars, and if he asks for no information upon these matters in which the papers are not on their face defective it will not change the character of the stated account. Ogden v. Astor, 4 Sandf. (N. Y.) 311.

51. Robbins v. Downey, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 100, 45 N. Y. St. 279.

former may become an account stated without giving the items from which such balance arose.[52]

(IV) Writing. It is not necessary that the transaction shown in support of an account stated should be in writing,[53] and it is no objection that a part thereof is in writing and a part oral.[54] Nor is it necessary, in order to make an account stated, that the assent or an admission of the party should be in writing or signed.[55]

h. Promise within Statute of Frauds. On the other hand, when the promise or admission is one which under the statute of frauds must be in writing, the statute operates notwithstanding the admission or promise is set up as a stated account.[56] But it has been held that though the original transaction is void under the statute of frauds, if the whole consideration is executed, a subsequent admission of indebtedness will make an account stated.[57]

i. Recovery of Purchase-Money against Recital in Deed. Where the receipt of purchase-money is admitted in a deed under seal, such purchase-money cannot be proved in an action therefor by an admission inconsistent therewith as an account stated.[58]

j. Balance Struck on Specialty— (I) In General. When a debt is secured by deed and a balance is struck for the purpose of ascertaining how much remains due thereon, and the obligor admits the correctness of the balance and promises to pay it, it is held on the one hand that an action will not lie on an insimul computassent, but must be brought upon the security.[59] But on the other hand it is held that if subsequently to and independently of the deed there is an admission of indebtedness the amount may be recovered upon an account stated,[60] and where the 52. Dows v. Durfee, 10 Barb. (N. Y.) 213; Fleischner v. Kubli, 20 Oreg. 328, 25 Pac. 1086.

53. Macfarlane v. Sumner, 1 Hawaii 364; Watkins v. Ford, 69 Mich. 357, 37 N. W. 300; Gross v. Bricker, 18 U. C. Q. B. 410; Pinchon v. Chilcot, 3 C. & P. 236; Knowles v. Michel, 13 East 249. Contra, Wood v. Gault, 2 Md. Ch. 433; Heath v. Doyle, 18 R. I. 252, 27 Atl. 333, holding that a replication intending to set up an account stated to a plea of set-off is bad if it does not allege that the account was in writing; Burk v. Brown, 2 Atk. 397. This, however, is not necessarily inconsistent with the rule stated in the text, but is a rule applied in equity where the accounting is resisted upon the ground that the party who was under legal obligation to render an account had before accounted. In such a case, oral statements not amounting to such a final accounting as the plaintiff was entitled to, the rule is applied that to amount to a stated account the account rendered should be in writing. Buel v. Selz, 5 Ill. App. 116.

54. Watkins v. Ford, 69 Mich. 357, 37 N. W. 300.

55. Connecticut.— Mitchell v. Allen, 38 Conn. 188.

Louisiana.— Darby v. Lastrapes, 28 La. Ann. 605; James v. Fellowes, 20 La. Ann. 116; Freeman v. Howell, 4 La. Ann. 196, 50 Am. Dec. 561.

Maryland.— Wood v. Gault, 2 Md. Ch. 433.

Minnesota.— Swain v. Knapp, 34 Minn. 232, 25 N. W. 397.

New Jersey.— Brown v. Vandyke, 8 N. J. Eq. 795, 55 Am. Dec. 250.

New York.— Lockwood v. Thorne, 11 N. Y. 170, 62 Am. Dec. 81; Bruen v. Hone, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 586; Heartt v. Corning, 3 Paige (N. Y.) 566.

United States.— York v. Wistar, 16 Haz. Reg. (Pa.) 153, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,141.

England.— Willis v. Jernegan, 2 Atk. 251.

See also infra, II, B, 2, c.

56. Martyn v. Arnold, 36 Fla. 446, 18 So. 791 (as to the admission of liability for the debt of a third person); Falmouth v. Thomas, 1 C. & M. 89, 3 Tyrw. 26 (holding that in an action on a stated account, under a plea that before the taking of an account there was a verbal agreement for the sale of certain crops growing on plaintiff's land, etc., that the money so to be paid for the crops, etc., was that concerning which the account was stated, and that there was no agreement in writing, the plaintiff could not recover because the contract came within the statute of frauds).

57. Cocking v. Ward, 1 C. B. 858, wherein there was a contract for the transfer of a leasehold interest in land by parol, void by the statute of frauds, but defendant was placed in possession and given full enjoyment of that for which he had bargained, and thereafter admitted that he owed the consideration-money to plaintiff and promised to pay. To the same effect, Knowles v. Michel, 13 East 249.

58. Sparling v. Savage, 25 U. C. Q. B. 259.

59. Young v. Hill, 67 N. Y. 162, 23 Am. Rep. 99; Gilson v. Stewart, 7 Watts (Pa.) 100; Middleditch v. Ellis, 2 Exch. 623.

60. Gross v. Bricker, 18 U. C. Q. B. 410.

In Foster v. Allanson, 2 T. R. 479, articles of partnership under seal were entered into between the parties, containing a covenant to account annually and make a final settlement at the end of the partnership, and upon a account consists of items, part of which are recoverable in covenant and the residue are not recoverable in such action, and a general balance is struck, assumpsit on an account stated may be brought for the recovery of the whole balance.[61] Where the instrument under seal is not a contract to pay money, but is merely a release of mutual demands except such as are enumerated in the instrument, a final balance struck between the parties will support an account on an insimul computassent.[62]

(II) Independent Indebtedness. Where one induces another to enter into a lease by promise to contribute a certain amount of money for repairs, and afterward refuses to carry out such agreement, he may be liable on an account stated upon admissions made by him that he owed the amount, upon the ground that the matter of such admissions is distinct from the lease.[63]

2. Striking Balance and Admission of Correctness — a. In General. To constitute an account stated, the correctness of the balance must receive the assent of both parties. A certain fixed sum must be admitted by the one party to be due to the other, and where there are mutual or cross demands there must be an adjustment, a balance struck, and an assent to the correctness of the balance.[64] A dissolution the parties accounted and struck a balance which was in favor of plaintiff and included items not connected with the partnership, which defendant promised to pay. It was held by the court that assumpsit lay on such promise. Mr. Justice Buller gave it as his opinion that the action might have been maintained though the account had included no other items than those of the partnership; but in Gibson v. Stewart, 7 Watts (Pa.) 100, this was said to carry the principle beyond any judicial determination in which the question was raised. In another case, however (Moravia v. Lery, 2 T. R. 483, note a) the same learned judge (Buller) distinctly held that upon the balance struck under such articles of partnership the express promise to pay the balance was sufficient ground for the action. In New York (Cartledge v. West, 5 Hill (N. Y.) 488) it was held that a landlord could recover under a count upon an insimul computassent, though the accounting concerned rents secured by deed; but the opinion in this case was based upon the statement of Mr. Justice Buller first above referred to. In Danforth, etc., Township Road Co., 12 Johns. (N. Y.) 227, assumpsit on an implied promise to pay a balance due under a covenant to pay money, a part of which had been paid, was sustained, but apparently upon the ground that no objection was made on the argument to the form of the action, in which case the court considered that the covenant was set out only as inducement, and relied upon Moravia v. Lery, 2 T. R. 483, note a.

61. State v. Jennings, 10 Ark. 428; Spangler v. Springer, 22 Pa. St. 454; Gilson v. Stewart, 7 Watts (Pa.) 100; Foster v. Allanson, 2 T. R. 479.

62. Hoyt v. Wilkinson, 10 Pick. (Mass.) 31, wherein the parties drew up an account and executed an instrument under seal, in which they agreed that the paper contained every claim that either had against the other, and that when the account should be balanced all other securities against each other should be canceled.

63. Seagoe v. Dean, 3 C. & P. 170.

64. Alabama.— Loventhal v. Morris, 103 Ala. 332, 15 So. 672; Ware v. Manning, 86 Ala. 238, 5 So. 682; Ryan v. Gross, 48 Ala. 370; Watson v. Byers, 6 Ala. 393.

Arkansas.— Glasscock v. Rosengrant, 55 Ark. 376, 18 S. W. 379.

Delaware.— Shea v. Kerr, 1 Pennew. (Del.) 198, 40 Atl. 241.

Georgia.— Prentice v. Elliott, 72 Ga. 154.

Hawaii.— Macfarlane v. Sumner, 1 Hawaii 364.

Illinois.— Peterson v. Wachowski, 86 Ill. App. 661.

Kansas.— Clark v. Marbourg, 33 Kan. 471, 6 Pac. 548; Treadway v. Ryan, 3 Kan. 437.

Louisiana.— Blanc v. Forgay, 5 La. Ann. 695.

Michigan.— McColl v. Jackson Iron Co., 98 Mich. 482, 57 N. W. 578; Tioga Mfg. Co. v. Stimson, 48 Mich. 213, 12 N. W. 173; Stevens v. Tuller, 4 Mich. 387.

Mississippi.— Reinhardt v. Hines, 51 Miss. 344; Miller v. Northern Bank, 28 Miss. 81; Stebbins v. Niles, 25 Miss. 267.

Missouri.— Cape Girardeau, etc., R. Co. v. Kimmel, 58 Mo. 83.

New Jersey.— Weigel v. Hartman Steel Co., 51 N. J. L. 446, 20 Atl. 67.

New York.— Eames Vacuum Brake Co. v. Prosser, 157 N. Y. 289, 51 N. E. 986; Stenton v. Jerome, 54 N. Y. 480; Lockwood v. Thorne, 18 N. Y. 285; Tinney v. Pierrepont, 18 N. Y. App. Div. 627, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 977; Stephens v. Ayers, 57 Hun (N. Y.) 51, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 502; Murphy v. Ross, 26 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 124; Smith v. Harris, 26 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 323; Pickard v. Simpson, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 93.

Rhode Island.— Allen v. Woonsocket Co., 11 R. I. 288.

Tennessee.— Bussey v. Gant, 10 Humphr. (Tenn.) 238.

Virginia.— Robertson v. Wright, 17 Gratt. (Va.) 534.

England.— Hughes v. Thorpe, 5 M. & W. 656; Teall v. Auty, 4 Moore K. B. 542; Bernasconi v. Anderson, M. & M. 183; Lane v.

mere admission of something indefinite due has been held to be insufficient even for nominal damages.[65] The exact amount need not necessarily be mentioned, however,[66] and when there is an admission of the items composing the mutual demands it is not necessary that one side of the account should be actually subtracted from the other. It is sufficient if the balance becomes a mere matter of subtraction.[67] But a mere request that a correct account be rendered is not an admission that the account will, when rendered, be correct,[68] and the admission of the correctness of one side only of the account does not make a stated account.[69]

b. Rendition of Account — (I) In General. The rendering of an account is not of itself sufficient to make an account stated; after such rendition it may be impeached or corrected within a reasonable time;[70] but under the rule requiring an examination of the account, and ascertainment of the balance and an admission of its correctness, some statement of the account must be rendered,[71] and an account-book,[72] or the mere balancing of an account in a book of accounts, will not of itself constitute an account stated,[73] though it is otherwise where the parties go over the account and assent to its correctness.[74] An account which fails to contain debits and credits and a balance, sent with a letter which indicates an unsettled controversy between the parties, cannot be construed into an account stated.[75]

(II) Effect upon Party Rendering — (A) In General. While the rule that silence without objection within a reasonable time after the rendition of an account may supply the prima facie evidence of assent necessary to bind one as upon an account stated is usually laid down in comprehensive terms which would Hill, 18 Q. B. 252; Kirton v. Wood, 1 Mood. & R. 253.

Canada.— Harley v. Goodfellow, 12 N. Brunsw. 335.

Memorandum not affecting admission.— Where there is an unqualified acknowledgment of indebtedness to plaintiff's assignor, an added memorandum that the account is subject to an attachment in the suit of a third person does not affect the acknowledgment when the attachment had been discharged at the time the plaintiff's suit was brought. Halliburton v. Clapp, 1 N. Y. App. Div. 71, 36 N. Y. Suppl. 1041.

65. Kirton v. Wood, 1 Mood. & R. 253. To the same effect is Lane v. Hill, 18 Q. B. 252.

66. Exact amount need not be mentioned in admission.— The actual amount assented to need not be expressly stated. A promise to pay "the bill," "that bill," "the balance," and the like, each party knowing exactly what is referred to, implies the sum as certainly as if spoken. Goodrich v. Coffin, 83 Me. 324, 22 Atl. 217. See also infra, II, B, 7, b, (III), (A).

Certain amount less deductions.— An instrument reciting a settlement and an agreement that plaintiff is to receive a specified amount after certain deductions is sufficient to support an action on an account stated. Millikin v. Ferguson, 56 Mich. 189, 22 N. W. 278.

67. Ware v. Manning, 86 Ala. 238, 5 So. 682; Treadway v. Ryan, 3 Kan. 437; Jaques v. Hulit, 16 N. J. L. 38.

68. Shannon v. Starkey, 5 Phila. (Pa.) 153, 20 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 141.

69. Harley v. Goodfellow, 12 N. Brunsw. 335.

70. Rowland v. Donovan, 16 Mo. App. 554; Guernsey v. Rexford, 63 N. Y. 631; Champion v. Joslyn, 44 N. Y. 653; Rehill v. McTague, 114 Pa. St. 82, 7 Atl. 224, 60 Am. Rep. 341; Toland v. Sprague, 12 Pet. (U. S.) 300, 9 L. ed. 1093; Charlotte Oil, etc., Co. v. Hartog, 85 Fed. 150, 42 U. S. App. 716, 29 C. C. A. 56.

71. Where an account is closed by reason of the cessation of dealings between parties, it is not thereby made a stated account. Bevan v. Cullen, 7 Pa. St. 281; Mandeville v. Wilson, 5 Cranch (U. S.) 15, 3 L. ed. 23.

Death of a party to an account will not create an account stated. Bass v. Bass, 8 Pick. (Mass.) 187.

72. Bee v. Tierney, 58 Ill. App. 552; Spellman v. Muehlfeld, 48 N. Y. App. Div. 265, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 746.

73. Nostrand v. Ditmis, 127 N. Y. 355, 28 N. E. 27; Spellman v. Muehlfeld, 48 N. Y. App. Div. 265, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 746; Loeb v. Keyes, 86 Hun (N. Y.) 353, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 491; Rhyne v. Love, 98 N. C. 486, 4 S. E. 536; Gibson v. Sumner, 6 Vt. 163.

Transfer of account in book.— Where the balance of an account against a firm was transferred in a ledger to the private account of one of the members of the firm, without knowledge on the part of any of the members of the firm, it was held that such balance could be recharged to the firm, as there was no accounting such as would support a new promise, which is the foundation of liability on an account stated. Barker v. Blake, 11 Mass. 16.

74. Tennessee Brewing Co. v. Hendricks, 77 Miss. 491, 27 So. 526; Gibson v. Sumner, 6 Vt. 163.

75. Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. B. F. Coombs, etc., Commission Co., 71 Mo. App. 299. See II, B, 1, f.

seem to include both parties,[76] it has been held that it does not apply to the party who furnishes the account; that as to him the account is open to explanation for any omission or mistake,[77] though it is regarded as prima facie correct, casting upon him the burden of showing it to be otherwise;[78] and where there was no express agreement to treat an account rendered as a final settlement of the transactions between the parties, and on the trial the party who received it did not treat it as conclusive upon himself, it was held that he could not thereafter insist that his failure to object to it made it an account stated where the person who rendered it made no such claim.[79] For some purposes, however, and to a certain extent, it is held that the rendition of an account may conclude the parties rendering it whether an account stated results from such rendition or not, as in the case of consolidating different items of debt and applying credits in part extinguishment of the account, in which case the party is precluded from separating the items.[80]

(B) Unascertained Value of Services. The rendition of a bill for services, the value of which has not been ascertained by the agreement of the parties, cannot be converted into an account stated by such rendition so as to preclude plaintiff in an action for such services from recovering a greater sum than that fixed in the bill rendered as the value thereof,[81] and this notwithstanding the bill is retained

76. See infra, II, B, 2, l, (II).

Assent implied from other circumstances.— In Spellman v. Muehlfeld, 166 N. Y. 245, 59 N. E. 817, it was held that the fact that the book-keeper of a corporation made entries on the corporation ledger in the account of the president of the corporation, some of the entries having been made by the direction of the president and others always being open to his inspection, and the further fact that the president of the corporation subsequently made a written statement in proceedings for the dissolution of the corporation that a sum corresponding with the balance struck on the ledger account was due from him to the corporation, is sufficient evidence from which the jury may find a stated account and that the court could not decide as a matter of law that such circumstances are not sufficient for that purpose. This was upon the principle that an express assent is not necessary to make a stated account.

77. Schettler v. Smith, 34 N. Y. Super. Ct. 17.

78. Wilson v. Dowse, 140 Ill. 18, 29 N. E. 726; Rayburn v. Mason Lumber Co., 57 Mich. 273, 23 N. W. 811, wherein advances had been made according to rates of charges contained in a statement rendered; Smith v. Tucker, 2 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 193; Fox v. Sturm, 21 Tex. 406.

Where plaintiff sent gold and drafts to defendant to be sold for currency, and defendant sold them and rendered an account showing that a certain sum was due plaintiff in currency, this is prima facie evidence that such sum was due plaintiff in current funds, and to excuse defendant from liability he must show that he paid the same or offered to do so, and an offer to pay in depreciated currency on demand would not excuse defendant from liability. Webster v. Pierce, 35 Ill. 158.

Estoppel.— In Cannon v. Sanford, 20 Mo. App. 590, it was held that in an action for a balance due upon a final account and settlement according to the account rendered by an attorney to his client, defendant could not set up, as an equitable defense, mistakes made by him in favor of his client where he had failed for several years after the rendition of the account to pay the balance. By his laches and negligence it was held that he was estopped.

79. Glasscock v. Rosengrant, 55 Ark. 376, 18 S. W. 379.

80. Marks v. Ballance, 113 N. C. 28, 18 S. E. 75; Hawkins v. Long, 74 N. C. 781; Kehl v. Smith, 87 Wis. 212, 58 N. W. 244. See also Dubose v. O'Bryan, 11 Rob. (La.) 514. But in Morris v. Hurst, 1 Wash. (U. S.) 433, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,832, plaintiff in an action in assumpsit had delivered to defendant, before bringing the action, an account wherein many years' transactions between the parties were included. Plaintiff proved only one item, to the amount of £230, and defendant attempted to meet this demand by selecting out of an account a credit to a larger amount, but without attempting to prove it, relying on the account as an admission by plaintiff. It was held that defendant could not rely on the items on the credit side without also admitting the debit side as proved by the account.

As to applications of payments generally see PAYMENT.

Note as item.— Where a note was given as a part payment of an account, and was credited on the account at less than its face, it was held that the payee was not precluded from bringing an action on the note separately from the other items of the account because he had stated the note as an item in his account. Robson v. McKoin, 18 La. Ann. 544.

81. Romeyn v. Campau, 17 Mich. 327; Wilson v. Minneapolis, etc., R. Co., 31 Minn. 481, 18 N. W. 291; Allis v. Day, 14 Minn. 516; Stryker v. Cassidy, 76 N. Y. 50, 32 Am. Rep. 262; Williams v. Glenny, 16 N. Y. 389; Burlingame v. Shelmire, 59 Hun (N. Y.) 615, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 655; Harrison v. Ayers, 18 Hun (N. Y.) 336; Bradt v. Scott, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 507; Brauns v. Green Bay, 78 Wis. 81, for a sufficient length of time to permit the principle of an account stated to be applied in other cases in which the nature of the claim would justify its application.[82] Even the stating of an account will not make it necessary to declare upon the account stated, but plaintiff may still recover upon the original account.[83] On the other hand it is held that the rendition of an account in such a case furnishes so strong a presumption of the real value of the services that it will absolutely conclude the party rendering it unless he shows the services to be of greater value[84] or that the first account was made in error.[85]

c. Actual Striking or Admission of Balance. Where the parties meet and go over their accounts, and strike a balance in favor of one of them, to which the other assents as correct, this is sufficient to show an account stated,[86] and the same result is brought about where the person to whom an account is rendered subsequently acknowledges the receipt of it and promises to pay it.[87] An account may become stated where the statement of dealings between two persons is made out by one of them and submitted to the other, who acquiesces in its correctness;[88] and if the acknowledgment in writing is not in fact stronger evidence of a statement of the account,[89] it is at any rate sufficient to make the account a stated one, where the other elements concur.[90]

46 N. W. 889; Nauman v. Zoerhlaut, 21 Wis. 466.

Settlement and part payment of liquidated claim.— Where one having a claim for work, amount of which was unliquidated and in dispute, came to an agreement with the debtor, by way of settlement, under which a certain amount was fixed as due, and a part thereof was paid, whereupon the creditor gave the debtor a receipt on account of the agreement and "for all special work done" and "as in full of all claims to date, save only fifty dollars," it was held that this constituted an account stated notwithstanding there was only a partial payment of the amount agreed upon as due. Hanley v. Noyes, 35 Minn. 174, 175, 28 N. W. 189.

82. Burlingame v. Shelmire, 59 Hun (N. Y.) 615, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 655; Harrison v. Ayers, 18 Hun (N. Y.) 336.

83. Cross v. Moore, 23 Vt. 482. But there is an intimation in Nauman v. Zoerhlaut, 21 Wis. 466, that one rendering an account for professional services would be bound if there is proof of acquiescence.

84. Daniels v. Wilber, 60 Ill. 526; Walsh v. Hettinger, 58 Ill. App. 619.

85. Flower's Succession, 3 La. Ann. 292, which was a claim for professional services by an attorney.

Itemized bill for work.— Where one rendered a bill for work which had been completed and afterward itemized the bill and increased it in amount without any explanation of why the bill was made larger, and without testimony on his part showing a mistake in rendering the original bill, it was held that plaintiff would be confined in his recovery to the amount of the original bill. Ayland v. Rice, 23 La. Ann. 75; Nicholson v. Pelanne, 14 La. Ann. 508; Spinrad v. Finelite, 6 Misc. (N. Y.) 259, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 761.

86. Alabama.— Ware v. Manning, 86 Ala. 238, 5 So. 682.

District of Columbia.— Gordon v. Frazer, 13 App. Cas. (D. C.) 382.

Michigan.— Albrecht v. Gies, 33 Mich. 389.

Minnesota.— Swain v. Knapp, 34 Minn. 232, 25 N. W. 397, holding that the fact that parties who had gone over their accounts and written out a final settlement did not make entries in their books showing the settlement or pass receipts is unimportant.

Missouri.— Silver v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 5 Mo. App. 381.

Pennsylvania.— Anderson v. Best, 176 Pa. St. 498, 35 Atl. 194; Darlington v. Taylor, 3 Grant (Pa.) 195.

Vermont.— Gibson v. Sumner, 6 Vt. 163.

87. Mackay v. Kahn, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 503, 44 N. Y. St. 286; Vernon v. Simmons, 15 Daly (N. Y.) 399, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 649.

88. Concord Apartment House Co. v. Alaska Refrigerator Co., 78 Ill. App. 682; Fitch v. Leitch, 11 Leigh (Va.) 471.

89. See supra, II, B, 1, g.

90. Acknowledgment on foot of account.— The subscription by a debtor, on the foot of an open account, of an acknowledgment of its correctness, changes the open account to an account stated. Tennessee Brewing Co. v. Hendricks, 77 Miss. 491, 27 So. 526.

Admission by letter.— Aylsworth v. Gallagher, 52 Hun (N. Y.) 610, 4 N. Y. Suppl. 853; Beach v. Kidder, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 587; Powell v. Noye, 23 Barb. (N. Y.) 184.

Audited account.— Where the section foreman of a railroad company is authorized to give laborers under his control a statement of the amount which has been ascertained to be due for services rendered, in accordance with the printed form furnished him by the company for that purpose, which statement is intended to be presented to the roadmaster, who has authority to finally audit the accounts and put them in shape for payment by the company's paymaster, the auditing of the account by the roadmaster and the acceptance of the statement by the laborer make an account stated. St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Camden Bank, 47 Ark. 541, 1 S. W. 704.

d. Admission of Smaller Balance Than Claimed. Where defendant admits a debt to a smaller amount than that claimed, the admission is evidence of an account stated, even though the suit be for the larger amount.[91]

e. Admission of Garnishee. The answer of a garnishee is competent as an admission to constitute a stated account.[92]

f. Admission of Receipt of Money on Account of Bankrupt. But as there must be an admission of a subsisting debt,[93] an admission of one examined before commissioners of bankruptcy that he had received money on account of the bankrupt does not make an account stated with the assignee.[94]

g. Award — Balance Struck by Third Person by Consent. Where, for the purpose of ascertaining the correct balance of accounts between parties, they refer their accounts to a third person to strike a balance, and the balance so struck is acquiesced in by them, this will constitute a stated account,[95] and an award under a parol submission is held sufficient to support a stated account.[96] But there must be an agreement that the result is to be used as a final settlement,[97] and a mere submission to third persons to make a statement of accounts will not conclude the parties.[98]

h. Note, Due-Bill, or Acceptance — (I) In General. A note, due-bill, or acceptance may sufficiently show the admission of a balance to constitute an account stated.[99]

(II) Offer to Settle by Note. An offer to settle an account presented by executing a note for the balance due is equivalent to an admission that the account as presented is correct.[1]

i. Report on Claim. A claim against the government cannot be converted into an account stated by the report of an officer made in pursuance of directions to examine the facts and report on the claim.[2]

j. Duress — Threat to Sue. An agreement to pay induced by threatening to sue for the debt is not induced by duress.[3]

91. Chisman v. Count, 2 M. & G. 307. The fact that a suit brought for the larger amount was stayed, and plaintiff thereupon brought a second action for the sum admitted, is no reason, under the objection that by the first action plaintiff showed that he did not accept the admission, why the admission is not sufficient for a recovery on the account stated. Grundy v. Townsend, 36 Wkly. Rep. 531.

92. American Brewing Co. v. Berner-Mayer Co., 83 Ill. App. 446.

Answer of garnishee admitted in agreed case.— On a rule to quash an attachment, a case was stated agreeing to the admission of the garnishee of funds in his hands, and it was held that this amounted to a stated account. McDowell v. Smith, 21 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 558.

93. See II, B, 1, d.

94. Tucker v. Barrow, 7 B. & C. 623.

95. Tompkins v. Gerry, 52 Ill. App. 592; Stevens v. Barss, 74 Hun (N. Y.) 388, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 461.

96. Buschman v. Morling, 30 Md. 384; Bates v. Curtis, 21 Pick. (Mass.) 247; Gooding v. Hingston, 20 Mich. 439; Henniken v. Brown, 4 Baxt. (Tenn.) 397.

Account stated is distinguished from arbitration and award in this, that in the case of a balance struck in the manner above stated there must be an acquiescence in the result. Stage v. Gorich, 107 Ill. 361; Tompkins v. Gerry, 52 Ill. App. 592; Bates v. Townley, 2 Exch. 152, 12 Jur. 606; Keen v. Batshore, 1 Esp. 195.

97. Holmes v. Morse, 50 Me. 102.

After expiration of time for making award. — After the time for making an award has expired, arbitrators cannot make a binding award without the concurrence of both parties, and such an award is not evidence under a count on an account stated, because the arbitrators cannot be said to be proceeding with defendant's assent or to be stating an account as his agent after the expiration of such authority. Ruthven v. Ruthven, 8 U. C. Q. B. 12.

98. Whitehead v. Darling, (Ky. 1887) 5 S. W. 356.

99. See infra, II, B, 7, b, (VII), (B).

1. I. L. Elwood Mfg. Co. v. Betcher, 72 Minn. 103, 75 N. W. 113.

2. Nutt v. U. S., 23 Ct. Cl. 68.

Claim against state.— Where, in pursuance of an order of the governor, the solicitor-general made a statement of the amount of a claim against the commonwealth without claimant's consent, it was held that this would not bind claimant even though payments have been made to him. Com. v. Beaumarchais, 3 Call (Va.) 122. So the decision of the secretary of state upon a claim against the state is held not to constitute an account stated. State v. Brown, 10 Oreg. 215.

3. Dunham v. Griswold, 100 N. Y. 224, 3 N. E. 76.

k. By and between Original or Third Parties — (I) Admission to Third Persons in General. An admission of the correctness of a balance or an account should be made to the opposite party or his authorized agent, and a casual admission to a third person, who is not plaintiff's agent, is not sufficient to bind the party making it as upon an account stated.[4] But on the other hand it has been held that such admission is admissible to prove an accounting, especially where there is evidence of the performance of the services by plaintiff,[5] like other evidence of admissions to go to the jury upon the question of the accounting, though not itself constituting an account stated.[6]

(II) Acts of Authorized Persons for Original Parties — (A) In General. There is no rule which forbids the statement of an account except between the original parties,[7] and the transactions which result in the statement of an account need not be between the debtor and creditor in person.[8]

(B) Necessity of Competent Authority or Ratification. But the person whose acts are thus sought to be made binding upon one as principal must have

4. Arkansas.— Thurmond v. Sanders, 21 Ark. 255.

Illinois.— Bee v. Tierney, 58 Ill. App. 552.

Maryland.— Hoffar v. Dement, 5 Gill (Md.) 132, 46 Am. Dec. 628.

England.— Breckon v. Smith, 1 A. & E. 488; Bates v. Townley, 2 Exch. 152.

Canada.— Curtis v. Flindall, 3 U. C. Q. B. 323; Green v. Burtch, 1 U. C. C. P. 313.

5. Wharton v. Cain, 50 Ala. 408 (wherein the court refers to Breckon v. Smith, 1 A. & E. 488, as the case upon which the authorities for the rule first stated in the text are founded, and indicates that it does not support the broad proposition. The case referred to, however, fully supports the proposition laid down in the text, and further is distinguishable from Wharton v. Cain, 50 Ala. 408, by the facts of that case. Those facts show that defendant had in his possession a promissory note a three-quarter interest in which belonged to parties who were debtors to plaintiff, and that defendant, at the request of such persons, promised to pay plaintiff the amount due to them out of the proceeds of such note when collected,— a promise altogether different from the loose admission made to strangers as contemplated by the rule first stated in the text); Cunningham v. Subletts, 4 Mo. 224 (which seems to be contrary to the rule in the last preceding text).

6. Bloomley v. Grinton, 1 U. C. C. P. 309.

7. Assignee.— An account is properly rendered to an assignee, who alone has authority to reject or confirm it. Thompson v. Fisher, 13 Pa. St. 310.

8. Thus, if either party is represented by an agent authorized to act in his behalf, the elements of assent or agreement may appear sufficiently to show an account stated.

Alabama.— Ware v. Manning, 86 Ala. 238, 5 So. 682.

Arkansas.— Southwestern Tel., etc., Co. v. Benson, 63 Ark. 283, 38 S. W. 341.

Illinois.— Bee v. Tierney, 58 Ill. App. 552.

New York.— Field v. Knapp, 108 N. Y. 87, 14 N. E. 829; Martine v. Huyler, 55 Hun (N. Y.) 611, 8 N. Y. Suppl. 734; Wiley v. Brigham, 16 Hun (N. Y.) 106.

Pennsylvania.— Thompson v. Fisher, 13 Pa. St. 310.

England.— Grundy v. Townsend, 36 Wkly. Rep. 531.

Canada.—Rhodes v. Crawford, 1 U. C. Q. B. 257 (note given to agent).

Clerk of firm acting for one partner.— Where, after the dissolution of a partnership, one of the clerks of the firm, acting for one of the partners, went over the accounts with another of the partners, and the latter made no objection to particular charges, it sufficiently appeared that there was a stated account. Lloyd v. Carrier, 2 Lans. (N. Y.) 364.

Note signed by husband for wife.— McCormick v. Altneave, 73 Miss. 86, 19 So. 198. Where a wife is not liable except for items shown to have enured to the benefit of her separate estate, she cannot be held liable, as on an account stated, upon an account rendered to her husband, in whose name it was kept, though she made no objection to the account when rendered. Powell v. Hopson, 13 La. Ann. 626.

Knowledge on part of debtor.—A statement of an account sent to the agent of a debtor will not bind the debtor unless he had knowledge of the rendition of the account. Knapp v. Smith, 97 Wis. 111, 72 N. W. 349.

Implied admission to auditors appointed to examine account.— In St. John v. Lockhart, 23 N. Brunsw. 430, defendant was chairman of water commissioners of the city of St. John, and as such kept the cash-book showing his receipts and disbursements. When the balance between his receipts and outlays was ascertained by auditors appointed by the corporation, defendant was informed of such balance, the correctness of which he did not dispute. On being asked if he could explain the balance against him, he said he could not and being then told that it would have to be reported to the corporation he replied, "Well, you will just have to report it." It was held that this was sufficient evidence to enable plaintiffs to recover the balance on an account stated.

competent authority to act in the matter,[9] or there must be a ratification of his acts by the principal.[10]

1. Implied Promise and Assent — (I) Promise Inferred from Adjustment of Accounts. It is not necessary that there should be an express promise to pay a balance due in order to convert an account into an account stated. Such promise may be implied by law from an adjustment of an account by the parties and the ascertainment or admission of a balance due from one of them.[11] But where an account is stated and as a part of the transaction there is an express promise to pay upon a condition different from that which otherwise the law would imply from the mere adjustment of the account, such implied promise is excluded.[12]

(II) Assent Inferred from Silence after Rendition — (A) General Rule. Evidence of assent to the correctness of an account may be found in circumstances from which such assent may be inferred, as where one party presents an account to another, which the latter retains without making objection within a reasonable time.[13]

9. Mink v. Morrison, 42 Mich. 567, 4 N. W. 302; Harvey v. West-Side El. R. Co., 13 Hun (N. Y.) 392; Verrier v. Guillou, 97 Pa. St. 63.

Express and special authority.— In Louisiana it was held, where a merchant's bookkeeper rendered an account showing a balance due from his employer, that this would not be binding upon the employer without evidence of an express and special authority in the bookkeeper. Spears v. Turpin, 9 Rob. (La.) 293.

Authorized representative of lunatic.— Where A kept cash with B, a banker, and the balance to his credit was stated from time to time in a pass-book, and A became a lunatic, and the account continued to be kept with his family in the pass-book, the entries of which were written by B, it was held that this was not evidence to support an account stated with A in an action brought by his representatives against B. Tarbuck v. Bispham, 2 M. & W. 2.

10. Mink v. Morrison, 42 Mich. 567, 4 N. W. 302.

11. Indiana.— Bouslog v. Garrett, 39 Ind. 338.

Michigan.— Watkins v. Ford, 69 Mich. 357, 37 N. W. 300.

Missouri.— Koegel v. Givens, 79 Mo. 77; Burger v. Burger, 34 Mo. App. 153.

Nebraska.— Hendrix v. Kirkpatrick, 48 Nebr. 670, 67 N. W. 759; Claire v. Claire, 10 Nebr. 54, 4 N. W. 411.

New Hampshire.— Cochrane v. Allen, 58 N. H. 250.

New Jersey.— Weigel v. Hartman Steel Co., 51 N. J. L. 446, 20 Atl. 67; Jaques v. Hulit, 16 N. J. L. 38.

New York.—Kock v. Bonitz, 4 Daly (N. Y.) 117.

Pennsylvania.— Tassey v. Church, 4 Watts & S. (Pa.) 141, 39 Am. Dec. 65.

United States.— York v. Wistar, 16 Haz. Reg. (Pa.) 153, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,141.

England.— Rackstraw v. Imber, 1 Holt N. P. 368.

Canada.— Hea v. Jones, 7 N. Brunsw. 646.

Therefore it is held that an instruction which purports to give the elements of an account stated is not erroneous because it omits the element of a promise to pay. Burger v. Burger, 34 Mo. App. 153.

12. Work v. Beach, 53 Hun (N. Y.) 7, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 27. See also infra, II, B, 7, b, (VIII).

13. Alabama.— Ware v. Manning, 86 Ala. 238, 5 So. 682.

California.— Mayberry v. Cook, 121 Cal. 588, 54 Pac. 95.

Louisiana.—Brodnax v. Steinhardt, 48 La. Ann. 682, 19 So. 572; Irving v. Edrington, 41 La. Ann. 671, 6 So. 177, holding that such conduct dispenses with the necessity of afterward itemizing the account.

Michigan.—Raub v. Nisbett, 118 Mich. 248, 76 N. W. 393; Pabst Brewing Co. v. Lueders, 107 Mich. 41, 64 N. W. 872.

Minnesota.— I. L. Elwood Mfg. Co. v. Betcher, 72 Minn. 103, 75 N. W. 113.

Mississippi.—McCall v. Nave, 52 Miss. 494.

New Hampshire.— Austin v. Ricker, 61 N. H. 97; Rich v. Eldredge, 42 N. H. 153.

New York.— Spellman v. Muehlfeld, 166 N. Y. 245, 59 N. E. 817; Lockwood v. Thorne, 18 N. Y. 285; Dows v. Durfee, 10 Barb. (N. Y.) 213.

Tennessee.— Johnson v. McCampbell, 11 Heisk. (Tenn.) 27.

Washington.— Ault v. Interstate Sav., etc., Assoc., 15 Wash. 627, 47 Pac. 13.

United States.— Wittkowski v. Harris, 64 Fed. 712; Eichel v. Sawyer, 44 Fed. 845; Bradley v. Richardson, 2 Blatchf. (U. S.) 343, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,786.

Offering excuse for delay.— Where one party renders his account to another, admits credits, and offers to settle any other credits than those given if claimed and indicated, to which account and offer there is no answer except one in which the debtor excuses himself from present payment on account of his pecuniary inability at the time, it is held that this is decisive of liability. Lawrence v. Ellsworth, 41 Ark. 502.

Bank — Effect of suspension of business.— The fact that a bank receiving an account has suspended business will not operate against the presumption of acquiescence in the correctness of the account from failure to object, where the bank was engaged in settling up its business. Union Bank v. Planters' Bank, 9 Gill & J. (Md.) 439, 31 Am. Dec. 113.

(B) Extent of Rule — Differences in Application. The rule as to assent implied by silence is not always applied to the same extent; that is, while the effect of such acquiescence as prima facie evidence seems to be undoubted, greater strength is accorded to it in some cases than in others. It may be premised that the prima facie force of such proof shifts the burden from the party whose interest it is to establish the account,[14] though it does not necessarily constitute a new and independent agreement.[15] In many cases, however, this implied assent is sufficient to supply, prima facie, the ingredient of assent which is necessary to constitute an account stated.[16] On the other hand a mere silence after the

14. Goldsmith v. Latz, 96 Va. 680, 32 S. E. 483; Baxter v. Waite, 2 Wash. Terr. 228, 6 Pac. 429; Wiggins v. Burkham, 10 Wall. (U. S.) 129, 19 L. ed. 884.

15. Buxton v. Edwards, 134 Mass. 567.

16. Alabama.— Hunt v. Stockton Lumber Co., 113 Ala. 387, 21 So. 454; Joseph v. Southwark Foundry, etc., Co., 99 Ala. 47, 10 So. 327; Ware v. Manning, 86 Ala. 238, 5 So. 682; Sloan v. Guice, 77 Ala. 394; Burns v. Campbell, 71 Ala. 271; Hirschfelder v. Levy, 69 Ala. 351; Langdon v. Roane, 6 Ala. 518, 41 Am. Dec. 60.

Arkansas.—Lawrence v. Ellsworth, 41 Ark. 502.

California.— Mayberry v. Cook, 121 Cal. 588, 54 Pac. 95; Hendy v. March, 75 Cal. 566, 17 Pac. 702; Auzerais v. Naglee, 74 Cal. 60, 15 Pac. 371; Terry v. Sickles, 13 Cal. 427.

Florida.— Martyn v. Arnold, 36 Fla. 446, 18 So. 791.

Hawaii.— Dudoit v. Spencer, 1 Hawaii 493.

Illinois.— King v. Rhoads, etc., Co., 68 Ill. App. 441; House v. Beak, 43 Ill. App. 615; Mackin v. O'Brien, 33 Ill. App. 474.

Louisiana.— Brodnax v. Steinhardt, 48 La. Ann. 682, 19 So. 572; Darby v. Lastrapes, 28 La. Ann. 605; Blanc v. Scruggs, 26 La. Ann. 208; Mansell v. Payne, 18 La. Ann. 124; Freeman v. Howell, 4 La. Ann. 196, 50 Am. Dec. 561.

Mississippi.—Coopwood v. Bolton, 26 Miss. 212; Stebbins v. Niles, 25 Miss. 267.

Missouri.— Brown v. Kimmel, 67 Mo. 430; Powell v. Pacific R. Co., 65 Mo. 658; McKeen v. Boatmen's Bank, 74 Mo. App. 281; Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. B. F. Coombs, etc., Commission Co., 71 Mo. App. 299.

New Hampshire.— Austin v. Ricker, 61 N. H. 97; Rich v. Eldredge, 42 N. H. 153.

New York.— Shipman v. State Bank, 126 N. Y. 318, 27 N. E. 371, 22 Am. St. Rep. 821, 12 L. R. A. 791; Knickerbocker v. Gould, 115 N. Y. 533, 22 N. E. 573; Manchester Paper Co. v. Moore, 104 N. Y. 680, 10 N. E. 861; Samson v. Freedman, 102 N. Y. 699, 7 N. E. 419; Lockwood v. Thorne, 18 N. Y. 285; Lockwood v. Thorne, 11 N. Y. 170, 62 Am. Dec. 81; Donald v. Gardner, 44 N. Y. App. Div. 235, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 668; Hutchinson v. Market Bank, 48 Barb. (N. Y.) 302; Bruen v. Hone, 2 Barb. (N. Y.) 586; Carpenter v. Nickerson, 7 Daly (N. Y.) 424; Case v. Hotchkiss, 37 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 283; Murray v. Toland, 3 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 569; Ogden v. Astor, 4 Sandf. (N. Y.) 311.

North Carolina.— Marks v. Ballance, 113 N. C. 28, 18 S. E. 75; Gooch v. Vaughan, 92 N. C. 610; Webb v. Chambers, 25 N. C. 374.

Ohio.— Dyer v. Isham, 4 Ohio Cir. Ct. 429.

Oregon.—Fleischner v. Kubli, 20 Oreg. 328, 25 Pac. 1086; Holmes v. Page, 19 Oreg. 232, 23 Pac. 961. In a case in which plaintiff was not suing upon a stated account, evidence of the sending of a letter by him to defendant, inclosing an account, was admitted over the objection that an account stated had not been pleaded, upon the ground that the evidence was at most admissible to show an admission or acknowledgment. Foster v. Standard L., etc., Ins. Co., 34 Oreg. 125, 54 Pac. 811.

Pennsylvania.— Bevan v. Cullen, 7 Pa. St. 281; Hall v. Sloan, 9 Phila. (Pa.) 138, 30 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 232; Colket v. Ellis, 1 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 246, 32 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 82.

Tennessee.— Johnson v. McCampbell, 11 Heisk. (Tenn.) 27.

Utah.— Benites v. Hampton, 3 Utah 369, 3 Pac. 206.

Vermont.— Tharp v. Tharp, 15 Vt. 105.

Washington.—Ault v. Interstate Sav., etc., Assoc., 15 Wash. 627, 47 Pac. 13.

United States.— Standard Oil Co. v. Van Etten, 107 U. S. 325, 1 S. Ct. 178, 27 L. ed. 319; Wiggins v. Burkham, 10 Wall. (U. S.) 129, 19 L. ed. 884; Allen-West Commission Co. v. Patillo, 90 Fed. 628, 61 U. S. App. 94, 33 C. C. A. 194; Porter v. Price, 80 Fed. 655, 49 U. S. App. 295, 26 C. C. A. 70; Talcott v. Chew, 27 Fed. 273; Baker v. Biddle, Baldw. (U. S.) 394, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 764; Bainbridge v. Wilcocks, Baldw. (U. S.) 536, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 755; Hopkirk v. Page, 2 Brock. (U. S.) 20, 12 Fed. Cas. No. 6,697; Richmond Mfg. Co. v. Starks, 4 Mason (U. S.) 296, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,802.

England.— Willis v. Jernegan, 2 Atk. 251; Holstcomb v. Rivers, 1 Ch. Cas. 127.

Goods delivered before abandonment of contract.— Where an executory contract for the delivery of lumber was abandoned by the parties before the completion thereof, daily bills stating the quantities delivered, but not the prices, were held not to be evidence of an account stated as to the prices, though they might be so regarded as to the quantities, because the prices were not stated in the bills and the original contract had been abandoned. Robson v. Bohn, 22 Minn. 410.

receipt of an account is held to be admissible as tending to show acquiescence, but the determination whether the silence amounts to an admission is left for the jury in the particular case,[17] and in this aspect such circumstances seem to be regarded, not as creating an account stated, but as furnishing evidence merely of the correctness of the account, the weight and sufficiency of which is to be determined by the jury.[18] In some of these cases, however, the character of the parties as merchants or otherwise would seem to control,[19] though others are not always clear and sometimes seem not altogether consistent.[20]

(c) As between Merchants or Others. The rule that the retention of an

17. Bertrand v. Taylor, 32 Ark. 470; Bailey v. Bensley, 87 Ill. 556; Miller v. Bruns, 41 Ill. 293; Peoria Grape Sugar Co. v. Turney, 58 Ill. App. 563; Moran v. Gordon, 33 Ill. App. 46; McCord v. Manson, 17 Ill. App. 118.

In Pennsylvania it was held that the rendition of an account and its retention without objection was only slight evidence of its correctness. Killam v. Preston, 4 Watts & S. (Pa.) 14; Spangler v. Springer, 22 Pa. St. 454. But these cases should perhaps be confined to the particular circumstances, for both before and since it has been there held that such conduct furnishes prima facie evidence of the correctness of the account. Verrier v. Guillou, 97 Pa. St. 63; Sergeant v. Ewing, 30 Pa. St. 75; Phillips v. Tapper, 2 Pa. St. 323.

18. Anding v. Levy, 57 Miss. 51, 34 Am. Rep. 435; Hendrix v. Kirkpatrick, 48 Nebr. 670, 67 N. W. 759; Pratt v. Boody, 55 N. J. Eq. 175, 35 Atl. 1113; Robertson v. Wright, 17 Gratt. (Va.) 534.

19. See infra, II, B, 2, l, (II), (C).

20. A review of several of the cases will illustrate this. In Hendrix v. Kirkpatrick, 48 Nebr. 670, 67 N. W. 759, it was said that while many cases went to the extent of holding that by a mere failure to object to an account rendered it became a liquidated unimpeachable demand, the sound rule is believed to be that such fact is admissible as evidence of an acknowledgment of the correctness of the demand, the weight and sufficiency of such proof being a question of fact for the jury. The court cited Chisman v. Count, 2 M. & G. 307; Toland v. Sprague, 12 Pet. (U. S.) 300, 9 L. ed. 1093; Guernsey v. Rexford, 63 N. Y. 631, and Sharkey v. Mansfield, 90 N. Y. 227, in all of which, however, the general rule is recognized that retention of an account for an unreasonable time without objection will furnish the ingredient of assent necessary to make an account stated. In addition to this, an account stated is not in the nature of an estoppel. See infra, II, G.

In Wiggins v. Burkham, 10 Wall. (U. S.) 129, 19 L. ed. 884, it was held that where an account was admitted in evidence by reason of the fact that it was retained without objection, the burden was on the party disputing it to show fraud, omission, or mistake, and that in these respects the party was in no wise concluded by the admission. In stating the rule that such acquiescence is merely prima facie evidence of assent the court cited Lockwood v. Thorne, 18 N. Y. 285, which supports that proposition in this sense, that the inference of assent may be repelled by showing facts inconsistent with it, as that the party was absent from home, etc., but still recognizes that in the absence of such evidence to repel the inference of assent, the element of assent necessary to make an account stated is sufficiently shown. This is different from the effect accorded to such silence in those cases which hold that by prima facie evidence of an admission is meant that the facts may go to the jury with the other evidence in the action which they may weigh as evidence of an admission.

Again, in Talcott v. Chew, 27 Fed. 273, it was held that silence for an unreasonable time would make an account rendered a stated account, but that the stated account would not be conclusive, but would merely throw the burden of proving its incorrectness upon the other party, and the court relied upon Wiggins v. Burkham, 10 Wall. (U. S.) 132, 19 L. ed. 884, and Perkins v. Hart, 11 Wheat. (U. S.) 237, 6 L. ed. 463.

So the cases above cited from Pennsylvania might be taken to refer to the effect of an account stated as prima facie evidence because it has been expressly held in that state that the statement of an account need not be by a meeting between the parties, but may equally grow out of a statement placed in the hands of one by the other, and acquiesced in and acted upon, as where statements in a pass-book are ratified by carrying the balance struck in such pass-book to others during a series of years, in which case such circumstances are held to be conclusive except for fraud or mistake. Ruch v. Fricke, 28 Pa. St. 241, in which case the character of defendant as a merchant was not considered, and in fact he was not a merchant but a coach-manufacturer. He was, however, a business man in such sense as to justify the presumption spoken of in other cases. See infra, II, B, l, (II), (C).

In Illinois, while it has been held that such silence is admissible in evidence to go to the jury, as above indicated, a stated account may arise from such conduct as between merchants, but even in this case the presumption is deemed to be conclusive, only until some fraud, omission, or inaccuracy is shown. B. S. Green Co. v. Smith, 52 Ill. App. 158.

account rendered without raising any objections thereto within a reasonable time will raise a presumption of assent arose out of the custom of merchants and was first applied to them.[21] It will therefore be found in some of the cases that the effect given to such acquiescence as an account stated is often applied especially to merchants, or great strength is accorded to such evidence in the case of merchants,[22] and in some the rule of presumption of assent from silence, in so far as assent may be supplied as an element of a stated account, is expressly confined to merchants, though evidence of such retention as between other parties than merchants may be given to show an implied admission of an acquiescence in its correctness, the weight of such testimony being for the consideration of the jury under all the circumstances of the case.[23] But with the enlarged needs of modern business the rule has been extended to others,[24] so that it may be properly applied to all classes of business men,[25] though especially applicable to accounts rendered between merchant and merchant,[26] and some presumption of assent to the correctness of an account rendered from the silence of the party arises with more or less force in the case of all persons who can be regarded as men of business.[27]

(D) Objection to or Admission of Particular Items. Where an account is rendered and only one item thereof is objected to at the time, this is an admission of the correctness of the other items to which no objections are made.[28] The same inference arises where there is an express admission as to a part of the

21. Anding v. Levy, 57 Miss. 51, 34 Am. Rep. 435; Fleischner v. Kubli, 20 Oreg. 328, 25 Pac. 1086; Sherman v. Sherman, 2 Vern. 276; Willis v. Jernegan, 2 Atk. 251.

22. Freas v. Truitt, 2 Colo. 489; Brown v. Vandyke, 8 N. J. Eq. 795, 55 Am. Dec. 250; Allen v. Stevens, 1 N. Y. Leg. Obs. 359; Willis v. Jernegan, 2 Atk. 251.

23. Anding v. Levy, 57 Miss. 51, 34 Am. Rep. 435; Rich v. Eldredge, 42 N. H. 153.

In Townes v. Birchet, 12 Leigh (Va.) 173, the rule seems to have been applied upon the assumption that the parties were merchants. One of the judges dissented upon the ground that the parties were not merchants, and this view was followed in Robertson v. Wright, 17 Gratt. (Va.) 534. These cases are relied on in Anding v. Levy, 57 Miss. 51, 34 Am. Rep. 435, but in Goldsmith v. Latz, 96 Va. 680, 32 S. E. 483, wherein the parties seem not to have been merchants, it was held that the acquiescence raises a strong presumption of correctness which requires rebuttal, thus going much further than Anding v. Levy, 57 Miss. 51, 34 Am. Rep. 435, supra.

24. Burns v. Campbell, 71 Ala. 271; Lawrence v. Ellsworth, 41 Ark. 502 (which was an account between physicians); Shepard v. State Bank, 15 Mo. 143; McKeen v. Boatmen's Bank, 74 Mo. App. 281.

So in Pennsylvania it has been said that nothing short of an estoppel, or that which rises no higher than mere evidence, should have more weight in mercantile transactions than accounts which are rendered to one man by another followed by acquiescence, and, above all, by subsequent dealings of the same nature. Payne v. Nicholas, 2 Phila. (Pa.) 220, 14 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 36. Compare with cases cited above in II, B, 2, l, (II), (B).

25. Joseph v. Southwark Foundry, etc., Co., 99 Ala. 47, 10 So. 327; Fleischner v. Kubli, 20 Oreg. 328, 25 Pac. 1086; Porter v. Price, 80 Fed. 655, 49 U. S. App. 295, 26 C. C. A. 70.

26. Porter v. Price, 80 Fed. 655, 49 U. S. App. 295, 26 C. C. A. 70.

27. Rich v. Eldredge, 42 N. H. 153, wherein it is said that such presumption arises with more or less force considering the nature of the business and education of the parties, their local situation, and other circumstances, and that such presumption applies with more force in cities and is slightly regarded in the country; Bradley v. Richardson, 2 Blatchf. (U. S.) 343; 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,786.

28. Joseph v. Southwark Foundry, etc., Co., 99 Ala. 47, 10 So. 327; Ware v. Manning, 86 Ala. 238, 5 So. 682; Sloan v. Guice, 77 Ala. 394; Burns v. Campbell, 71 Ala. 271.

Illinois.— Neagle v. Herbert, 73 Ill. App. 17.

Missouri.— Mulford v. Cæsar, 53 Mo. App. 263.

New Jersey.— But see, contra, Weigel v. Hartman Steel Co., 51 N. J. L. 446, 20 Atl. 67.

New York.— Power v. Root, 3 E. D. Smith (N. Y.) 70.

Ohio.—Dudley v. Geauga Iron Co., 13 Ohio St. 168, holding that where one item of an account was objected to, but the balance was carried through subsequent accounts and no further objection made, and the last account was settled with an agreement that the disputed items should remain open, such items should not be considered as a stated account.

United States.— Wiggins v. Burkham, 10 Wall. (U. S.) 129, 19 L. ed. 884.

England.— Chisman v. Count, 2 M. & G. 307.

claim[29] or where the objection is as to the price but not as to the quantity.[30] But such an admission must be certain, and where, upon the presentation of an account, defendant admits that the account is correct in part, this cannot avail the plaintiff, because of its uncertainty; under such circumstances defendant's silence cannot raise a presumption as to the correctness of the entire account in an action on the account.[31] The recovery in such cases should be confined to the items admitted to be due.[32]

(E) Receipt of Account and Acquiescence. In order that acquiescence in the correctness of an account may be presumed from silence, it must appear that the account has been received[33] and acquiesced in, and if the conduct of the party excludes the idea of acquiescence it cannot be converted into an account stated.[34]

(F) Effect of Silence upon Statute of Limitations. The doctrine that a new promise may take a claim out of the operation of the statute of limitations cannot be applied to an account made up by one man and sent to another, and retained

29. Tuggle v. Minor, 76 Cal. 96, 18 Pac. 131; Bee v. Tierney, 58 Ill. App. 552.

30. Dakin v. Walton, 85 Hun (N. Y.) 561, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 203.

31. Watson v. Byers, 6 Ala. 393.

Claim for larger credit.— Where defendant said nothing but to claim a greater credit, this was held not to be parallel with the case of the admission of an item. Ford v. Reid, 23 N. Brunsw. 589.

32. Tuggle v. Minor, 76 Cal. 96, 18 Pac. 131.

Admission of counterclaim.— Where defendant, in an action on an account, set up an account as a counterclaim, and plaintiff admitted the correctness of defendant's account, but at the same time set up a demand for further credits, it was held that plaintiff's admission would not preclude him from claiming the further credits so demanded. B. F. Coombs, etc., Commission Co. v. Block, 130 Mo. 668, 32 S. W. 1139.

33. Hall v. Morrison, 3 Bosw. (N. Y.) 520.

Custom of rendering.— The mere fact that it was the custom to render weekly bills is not sufficient unless the bills were actually received and acquiesced in. Davis v. Fromme, 23 N. Y. App. Div. 498, 48 N. Y. Suppl. 474.

Account exhibited but not left with party. — Where a claim is sued on as a stated account, and the statute of limitations is pleaded to a part of the claim, the fact that the account was exhibited to defendant is not sufficient where defendant remained quiet and the account was retained by plaintiff and not left with defendant. Payne v. Walker, 26 Mich. 60; White v. Campbell, 25 Mich. 463.

34. Lockwood v. Thorne, 18 N. Y. 285; Champion v. Recknagel, 6 N. Y. App. Div. 151, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 814; Hall v. Morrison, 3 Bosw. (N. Y.) 520; Carpenter v. Nickerson, 7 Daly (N. Y.) 424; Tully v. Felton, 177 Pa. St. 344, 36 Atl. 285; Valley Lumber Co. v. Smith, 71 Wis. 304, 37 N. W. 412, 5 Am. St. Rep. 216; McKenzie v. Poorman Silver Mines, 88 Fed. 111, 60 U. S. App. 1, 31 C. C. A. 409; Charlotte Oil, etc., Co. v. Hartog, 85 Fed. 150, 42 U. S. App. 716, 29 C. C. A. 56.

Ignorance of delivery of goods not ordered. — So where goods were sent to a person without his authority, and thereafter several bills were sent to him, to which he paid no attention, not having ordered the goods and having no knowledge of their delivery, it was held that, having returned the goods as soon as he discovered that they had been placed on his premises, the failure to notice the bills which had been sent to him could not bind him, as there was no debt for which a bill could be rendered. Austin v. Wilson, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 565.

Mere silence after rendition of bill for goods not accepted.— Where goods are sent to a person without his authority, and his conduct is not such as to show that he accepted them, mere silence upon the subsequent rendition of a bill for the goods will not bind him as upon an account stated. Cobb v. Arundell, 26 Wis. 553, in which case the party refused to receive the goods as his own, but consented to store them temporarily at the request of the person delivering them, and it was held that he was not under necessity of objecting to the bill subsequently sent to him or otherwise expressing his non-acceptance of the goods.

Retaining after objection at instance of creditor.— Where there is no evidence of acquiescence, but, on the contrary, the party to whom a bill is rendered, though retaining it six months, in the meantime objects, and at the instance of the creditor retains the bill after the objection until the return of a clerk who had knowledge of the disputed item, is not estopped to question the account. Porter v. Lobach, 2 Bosw. (N. Y.) 188.

Retention after disagreement of parties.— The rule that acquiescence may constitute an account stated does not apply if, when the account is sent, the parties had already come to a disagreement, as in such a case the assent from silence cannot be reasonably inferred. Engfer v. Roemer, 71 Wis. 11, 36 N. W. 618; Edwards v. Hoeffinghoff, 38 Fed. 635.

Seeking information after receipt of account.— The presumption of assent is not warranted where, twenty days after the receipt by a client of a bill from an attorney, the client wrote to the attorney asking for by the latter without objection,[35] and retaining an account without objection will not preclude the debtor from pleading the statute.[36]

(G) Silence in Proceedings on Trials of Controversies. The doctrine of acquiescence does not apply to the proceedings on the trials of controversies.[37]

(H) Claim Subject to Special Contract. The rule that assent to the correctness of an account will be implied from the retention of the account without objection does not apply when the claim is subject to special contract.[38]

(I) Claim for Damages. The rule that a merchant's account which has been retained without objection may be treated as an account stated does not apply to a distinct and independent claim for damages.[39]

(J) Where There Is No Direct Obligation. Where there is no direct obligation to pay an account, the rendering to one who keeps it without objection does not make it an account stated,[40] and where one is sought to be charged as by an implied admission such an admission will not be available to charge him with the debt of another.[41]

m. Usage. An account may become stated by transactions which are according to long usage,[42] or at least such usage may be sufficient to justify the inference by the jury of acquiescence in the correctness of the account.[43]

n. Payment and Receiving Payment — (I) In General. Receiving pay-information to enable him to determine the justness of the account, and the attorney failed to give the information. Failure to deny the correctness of the bill would not show acquiescence in its correctness under these circumstances. Ault v. Interstate Sav., etc., Assoc., 15 Wash. 627, 47 Pac. 13, wherein it was also held that where, upon receipt of an account, the debtor writes for information to which he receives no reply, the fact that he afterward retains the account is not sufficient to show assent, and the presumption that a letter furnishing the information mailed to him was received by him will have but little weight against his positive testimony that the information was never received.

35. Bryan v. Ware, 20 Ala. 687. See also LIMITATIONS OF ACTIONS.

As against executor.— Where a claim on its face, and in connection with other facts averred in the complaint, shows that a part of the claim was barred by the statute of limitations at the death of a testator, the presumption of acquiescence from retaining the claim without objection, if applicable at all to the case of an executor, is rebutted. Schutz v. Morette, 146 N. Y. 137, 40 N. E. 780.

36. Bucklin v. Chapin, 1 Lans. (N. Y.) 443; Verrier v. Guillou, 97 Pa. St. 63.

37. The reason for this rule is said to be because it is no right or duty of a party to interrupt the order of proceedings in such cases by denials or contradictions, and therefore his silence under such circumstances cannot be deemed an admission. Wilkins v. Stidger, 22 Cal. 231, 83 Am. Dec. 64, relating to the statements of a witness during the trial of a cause.

38. Kusterer Brewing Co. v. Triar, 99 Mich. 190, 58 N. W. 52; Valley Lumber Co. v. Smith, 71 Wis. 304, 37 N. W. 412, 5 Am. St. Rep. 216; Gallinger v. Lake Shore Traffic Co., 67 Wis. 529, 30 N. W. 790. See also Donald v. Gardner, 44 N. Y. App. Div. 235, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 668.

39. Fraley v. Bispham, 10 Pa. St. 320, 51 Am. Dec. 486; Charnley v. Sibley, 73 Fed. 980, 34 U. S. App. 705, 20 C. C. A. 157.

40. Davis v. Seattle Nat. Bank, 19 Wash. 65, 52 Pac. 526, holding that an account stated only determines the amount of a debt where liability exists, and does not create the liability. See also supra, II, B, 1, d. But in Avery v. Leach, 9 Hun (N. Y.) 106, it was held that after a long acquiescence in an account rendered the party will not be permitted to set up that the goods were furnished to another,— in this case, his son.

41. Spangler v. Springer, 22 Pa. St. 454.

42. King v. Rhoads, etc., Co., 68 Ill. App. 441. Thus, where an employer gives to his workman orders on a merchant for goods, and the latter receives his pay by presenting such orders to the employer, the amount being fixed by the orders and deducted from the workman's wages, the arrangement is evidence of an account stated. Bull v. Brockway, 48 Mich. 523, 12 N. W. 685.

43. Union Bank v. Planters' Bank, 9 Gill & J. (Md.) 439, 31 Am. Dec. 113, holding that where it was according to a proved usage between two banks that they rendered accounts to each other, and that the objecting bank gave notice to the other of any objections to an account rendered, from absence of such objection the jury might infer acquiescence by the bank receiving the account.

The usage of trade which may control the stating of accounts between the parties must have been continued for such a time as to have become generally known to those engaged in the particular trade, and to have become the settled rule of commercial intercourse in the absence of a special policy or special course of dealing between the parties. York v. Wistar, 16 Haz. Reg. (Pa.) 153, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,141.

ment and executing a receipt in full is not necessarily an account stated,[44] but where a balance is ascertained or where a statement of an account is rendered and retained without objection, acceptance of payment by the party in whose favor the balance appears, or payment of the balance by the other party, furnishes sufficient evidence of a stated account.[45] So where one acquiesces in and draws for the balance of an account rendered, this is strong evidence of an account stated.[46] Payment of part of an amount shown to be due, or receiving payment in part, together with other acts by the parties which tend to show assent to the correctness of the balance, may be sufficient to make an account stated,[47] as by payment of a part and a promise to pay the balance.[48]

(II) Must Be in Final Settlement. Where, however, the payment is not accepted[49] or made as a final settlement it will not operate as an account stated so as to conclude the parties,[50] and to charge one as on an account stated by reason of his acceptance and payment on a bill rendered, the bill must be unambiguous to show the nature and extent of the demand.[51]

(III) Payment under Duress. Where a balance is paid for the sole purpose of procuring, from one claiming such balance, property which the latter refuses to give up except upon such payment, this is not such acquiescence as will constitute an account stated.[52]

o. Conditional or Qualified Assent or Promise. It has been held that in order to constitute an account stated the promise to pay must be absolute and unqualified.[53] This rule is one of pleading and proof relating to the necessity in general of declaring specially on a conditional promise,[54] or else refers to a qualified admission of liability rather than to a condition which merely postpones the time of payment or provides for payment out of a particular fund. The mere

44. Ingraham v. Lukens, 30 S. C. 616, 9 S. E. 348. See infra, II, G, 5, b.

45. Pynchon v. Day, 118 Ill. 9, 7 N. E. 65; McClain v. Schofield, 74 Hun (N. Y.) 437, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 700; Schuyler v. Ross, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 944; Fleischner v. Kubli, 20 Oreg. 328, 25 Pac. 1086.

Balance of preceding statement included.— Where several monthly statements are rendered, each succeeding statement including as an item the balance of the last preceding one, acquiescence in the last balance and accepting payment thereof will make the account a stated account at that date and supersede those rendered before, notwithstanding an objection might have been made to a balance shown by one of the prior statements. McClain v. Schofield, 74 Hun (N. Y.) 437, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 700.

46. Lockwood v. Thorne, 18 N. Y. 285; Woodward v. Suydam, 11 Ohio 360; Hall v. Sloan, 9 Phila. (Pa.) 138, 30 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 232; Charlotte Oil, etc., Co. v. Hartog, 85 Fed. 150, 42 U. S. App. 716, 29 C. C. A. 56; Richmond Mfg. Co. v. Starks, 4 Mason (U. S.) 296, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,802.

47. Samson v. Freedman, 102 N. Y. 699, 7 N. E. 419.

Where the debtor retains an account rendered to him, and, after some time has elapsed without objection, writes on the back of the account "balance," and pays a portion thereof, it is held that this will constitute an account stated. Holler v. Apa, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 504.

48. Hendrix v. Kirkpatrick, 48 Nebr. 670, 67 N. W. 759; Hatch v. Von Taube, 31 Misc. (N. Y.) 468, 64 N. Y. Suppl. 393. See also Mulford v. Cæsar, 53 Mo. App. 263.

49. Scase v. Gillette-Herzog Mfg. Co., 55 Minn. 349, 57 N. W. 58; Elliott v. Walker, 1 Rawle (Pa.) 126.

Receipt "on account."— Where the party receiving payment receipts "on account," this shows that he did not consider the payment as one made in final settlement. Fickett v. Cohu, 14 Daly (N. Y.) 550, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 436.

Receiving under protest part payment of an amount claimed to be due will not constitute the receipt an account stated. Smith v. Drew, 10 Ben. (U. S.) 614, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,038.

50. Where a tenant in common received all the rents and profits of the estate and accounted to his cotenant, and on one occasion paid to the latter a larger amount than he was entitled to, such account and payment, being voluntary and without mistake of fact, was held not to operate as an account stated. Schettler v. Smith, 34 N. Y. Super. Ct. 17.

51. Manion Blacksmith, etc., Co. v. Carreras, 26 Mo. App. 229.

52. Stenton v. Jerome, 54 N. Y. 480.

53. Rutledge v. Moore, 9 Mo. 537; Evans v. Verity, R. & M. 239, wherein it appeared that plaintiff, in conversation with defendant, said, "Pay me the ten pounds you owe me," and defendant said he would, provided plaintiff had moved the grates, which he considered as fixtures; plaintiff in reply denied that they were fixtures. It was held that this qualified acknowledgment of a sum due would not support a count on an account stated.

54. See Assumpsit; also infra, II, B, 6, a, (VI), (B); and II, B, 7, b, (VIII).

fact that a debtor reserves the right to pay an admitted debt at a future day,[55] or promises to pay if he is able to do so, after an admission of indebtedness,[56] or promises to pay when he procures the money from a particular source, will not render it the less a stated account.[57] And when the promise to pay is accompanied with a designation of a particular fund out of which the payment is to be made, it is held that resort must be had to that fund in the first instance, and that if there is no such fund or it is insufficient the promise will support an insimul computassent.[58] But in any event it is error to instruct that one of the elements of an account stated is an unconditional promise to pay when such a promise is not in issue, for the reason that the law implies a promise from the adjustment of an account, and no express promise is necessary in such a case.[59]

p. Errors Excepted. In the settlement of an account the mere insertion of the expression that errors are excepted will render the settlement none the less a stated account subject to all rules applicable to such accounts.[60]

q. Knowledge of Facts. An account stated must be made with knowledge or with opportunity of knowledge on the part of the debtor of all the circumstances,[61]

55. Baird v. Crank, 98 Cal. 293, 33 Pac. 63, in which case it is further held that if the deferred time is to be ascertained by the happening of a contingency, and the action is brought before the contingency arises, the only defense which could be interposed on this ground is that the action was prematurely brought; Coughlin v. Gutta Percha, etc., Mfg. Co., 33 Ill. App. 71; McQueen v. McQueen, 9 U. C. Q. B. 536.

In Rutledge v. Moore, 9 Mo. 537, it was held that where a wood-boat had been sunk by the mismanagement of a steamboat captain, who promised to replace the wood-boat with another, or, failing to do so, to pay a certain sum as its value, this would not sustain a count upon an account stated. In holding that the evidence of the promise was properly excluded the court added that there was no evidence in the case that defendant had not complied with his agreement to replace the boat.

Promise to pay in instalments as convenient.— In Bottum v. Moore, 13 Daly (N. Y.) 464, an agreement to pay in instalments as defendant found it convenient was held to be a promise to pay within a reasonable time.

56. McCormack v. Sawyer, 104 Mo. 36, 15 S. W. 998; Powell v. Noye, 23 Barb. (N. Y.) 184.

57. Robbins v. Downey, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 100, 45 N. Y. St. 279.

58. Montgomerie v. Ivers, 17 Johns. (N. Y.) 38, holding that a clause added to a promise to pay, to the effect that the sum was to be paid out of the parties' interest in certain proceeds, was a qualified assignment of those proceeds.

Out of funds as assignee.— The promise to pay as soon as defendant should have the funds as assignee will not support an action in the absence of proof that such funds have been received. Cartledge v. West, 2 Den. (N. Y.) 377.

59. Claire v. Claire, 10 Nebr. 54, 4 N. W. 411.

60. Alabama.— Langdon v. Roane, 6 Ala. 518, 41 Am. Dec. 60.

Arkansas.— Weed v. Dyer, 53 Ark. 155, 13 S. W. 592.

California.— Branger v. Chevalier, 9 Cal. 353.

Missouri.— Marmon v. Waller, 53 Mo. App. 610; Kent v. Highleyman, 28 Mo. App. 614.

New York.— Young v. Hill, 67 N. Y. 162, 23 Am. Rep. 99.

Oregon.— Fleischner v. Kubli, 20 Oreg. 328, 25 Pac. 1086.

Texas.— McKay v. Overton, 65 Tex. 82.

England.— Johnson v. Curtis, 3 Bro. Ch. 266.

The reason for this rule is that there is an implication in every stated account that the settlement is subject to such correction (Young v. Hill, 67 N. Y. 162, 23 Am. Rep. 99), and such reservation at most can make the settlement subject to the right to correct (Hale v. Church, 11 N. Y. St. 864).

Duty to examine and correct.— Where a statement of an account is presented to one who approves it subject to future examination and correction, it becomes the duty of the latter to examine the statement and give notice of errors within a reasonable time, and a failure to do so will be deemed a ratification of the prior approval, and the account stated cannot be impeached except for fraud or mistake. Weed v. Dyer, 53 Ark. 155, 13 S. W. 592.

61. Illinois.— Follansbee v. Parker, 70 Ill. 11.

Louisiana.— Where one who could not read permitted his employer to invest his wages for him, it was held that accounts rendered by the employer, the contents of which the employee could not know, would not bind the latter as an account stated. Guenivet v. Perret, 18 La. Ann. 356.

Ohio.— Under an ordinance that a street railway shall pay into the city treasury annually, on the first day of January, in advance, for and upon each car run by said railway, a certain sum per lineal foot of every such car, etc., statements rendered and payments made are to be considered as payments on account, because it cannot be determined in advance what amounts will be due the city and the rule that retaining an account without objection makes an account stated cannot be applied to cases in which the party to whom the account is rendered has no knowledge of his own interests in the matters contained in the account.[62] So, where a party renders an account under a mistake of facts, it is held that the rule that acquiescence in an account rendered will make it an account stated does not apply.[63]

r. Objection or Acquiescence — (I) In General. It is not necessary that the objection should be made at the time of striking the balance or receiving the account. The rule simply requires an objection within a reasonable time.[64] Less indulgence is permitted, however, where the parties meet and scrutinize their accounts.[65]

(II) Prompt Objection. Where a balance is promptly, or within a reasonable time, objected to, it cannot be considered an account stated.[66]

(III) Refusal to Pay. A refusal to pay or to settle an account is a sufficiently certain manner of objecting thereto,[67] as well as by meeting the account with an express denial and pronouncing it false in every particular.[68]

(IV) Denial of Liability. If one to whom an account is presented disclaims all liability therefor, the account cannot be said to be stated by reason of his failure to examine the items thereof,[69] nor is it sufficient that the correctness of the items is admitted at the same time there is a refusal to admit liability therefor.[70] And even a naked promise to pay, after a denial of liability on the account, upon the ground that another is responsible therefor, may not be sufficient to conclude the promisor as upon an account stated.[71]

for the succeeding year. The city had a right at the end of each year to demand payment for the actual number of cars run, and to constitute an account settled the parties must settle the accounts upon a full view of all the transactions. Cincinnati v. Cincinnati St. R. Co., 6 Ohio N. P. 140.

Oregon.— Kinney v. Heatley, 13 Oreg. 35, 7 Pac. 359.

Pennsylvania.— Tully v. Felton, 177 Pa. St. 344, 36 Atl. 285.

62. Thus where one conveys his property to a trustee in trust for certain purposes designated, and thereafter to convey the legal title to the property to the children of the grantor, the rule stated in the text will not apply where the trustee renders an account to the grantor, who is an illiterate man, where the account casually falls into the hands of the grantor's son, who examines it solely with a view of informing his father of its contents and without being aware at the time that his own interests were involved in their accuracy. Andrew v. Hobson, 23 Ala. 219.

63. Polhemus v. Heiman, 50 Cal. 438.

Perhaps a better statement is that it is not necessary that the consent or agreement to the correctness of the account be given with knowledge of the items comprising the account, but that a want of knowledge might be the groundwork of such mistake as to justify the impeachment of the stated account. Martyn v. Arnold, 36 Fla. 446, 18 So. 791.

64. Lockwood v. Thorne, 18 N. Y. 285; Darlington v. Taylor, 3 Grant (Pa.) 195; Shrewsbury v. Tufts, 41 W. Va. 212, 23 S. E. 692.

65. Darlington v. Taylor, 3 Grant (Pa.) 195, holding that the rule that objection may be made within a reasonable time after an account is presented is not applied where two persons who have accounts between them meet on a set purpose to scrutinize and adjust them, for the reason that it is presumed that a man who undertakes to settle his own business knows what he is about, and that he will call for an explanation of every item which he does not understand or remember, and is ready to detect and dispose of every material error or attempt at imposition.

66. Illinois.— Peoria Grape Sugar Co. v. Turney, 58 Ill. App. 563.

Michigan.— McColl v. Jackson Iron Co., 98 Mich. 482, 57 N. W. 578.

Mississippi.— Reinhardt v. Hines, 51 Miss. 344, holding that where a party insisted that upon a fair settlement there would be nothing due from him, whereupon both parties agreed that the balance might be ascertained by referees, but the matter was permitted to remain unadjusted up to the time of the bringing of the action, there was no account stated.

New York.— Eames Vacuum Brake Co. v. Prosser, 157 N. Y. 289, 51 N. E. 986; Fickett v. Cohu, 14 Daly (N. Y.) 550, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 436; Schneider v. Irving Bank, 1 Daly (N. Y.) 500; Hall v. Morrison, 3 Bosw. (N. Y.) 520.

West Virginia.— Shrewsbury v. Tufts, 41 W. Va. 212, 23 S. E. 692.

67. Peoria Grape Sugar Co. v. Turney, 58 Ill. App. 563.

68. Shannon v. Starkey, 5 Phila. (Pa.) 153, 20 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 141.

69. Ryan v. Gross, 48 Ala. 370; Quincey v. White, 63 N. Y. 370.

70. Harris v. Woodard, 40 Mich. 408.

71. Stephens v. Ayers, 57 Hun (N. Y.) 51, 10 N. Y. Suppl. 502, holding that in an action against an administrator the evidence falls short of establishing such an account be-

(v) Control of Particular Facts in Each Case—(a) In General. Whether the operation by which an account is converted into an account stated has been performed or not in any instance must depend upon the particular facts.[72]

(b) Sufficiency of Acquiescence Depending upon Circumstances. So what will amount to a sufficient acquiescence to make an account an account stated depends upon the facts and circumstances of each particular case, the relation of the parties, and the particular course of dealing between them.[73] The more numerous the bills sent the stronger the inference of assent.[74] Various periods of silence under different circumstances have been held sufficient to show implied assent.[75]

(c) Giving Credit for Particular Items. Other acts besides retention without objection may strengthen the inference arising from such retention, as where the party retains the bill for some days and then renders a bill upon which he credits the account so rendered to him,[76] or where the party to whom a bill is rendered gives credit for the amount thereof on an account in his favor against the party so rendering it, and the latter proceeds to liquidate the balance shown by the delivery of articles in the course of his business.[77] Such conduct as just

tween plaintiff and deceased which shows that the witness who attempted to prove the account stated presented the claim to deceased, who first expressed surprise at the amount of the bill, next declared that another person ought to have paid it, then suggested a possible defense or counterclaim, and ended by a naked promise to pay to avoid trouble.

72. Hawkins v. Long, 74 N. C. 781.

73. Alabama.— Hirschfelder v. Levy, 69 Ala. 351.

Florida.— Martyn v. Arnold, 36 Fla. 446, 18 So. 791.

Iowa.—Hollenbeck v. Ristine, 105 Iowa 488, 75 N. W. 355, 67 Am. St. Rep. 306; White v. Hampton, 10 Iowa 238.

Louisiana.— Darby v. Lastrapes, 28 La. Ann. 605; Freeman v. Howell, 4 La. Ann. 196, 50 Am. Dec. 561.

Mississippi.— Miller v. Northern Bank, 28 Miss. 81.

New York.— Spellman v. Muehlfeld, 166 N. Y. 245, 59 N. E. 817; Lockwood v. Thorne, 11 N. Y. 170, 62 Am. Dec. 81.

Pennsylvania.— Darlington v. Taylor, 3 Grant (Pa.) 195.

Utah.— Benites v. Hampton, 3 Utah 369, 3 Pac. 206.

Washington.— Ault v. Interstate Sav., etc., Assoc., 15 Wash. 627, 47 Pac. 13.

74. Austin v. Wilson, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 565.

Between merchants living in different countries it is said that a longer time is given, but at best objection should be made within several opportunities of writing, else the silence will be considered an acquiescence.

Colorado.— Freas v. Truitt, 2 Colo. 489.

Mississippi.— Stebbins v. Niles, 25 Miss. 267.

New Jersey.— Brown v. Vandyke, 8 N. J. Eq. 795, 55 Am. Dec. 250.

New York.— Lockwood v. Thorne, 11 N. Y. 170, 62 Am. Dec. 81.

England.— Willis v. Jernegan, 2 Atk. 251.

75. Two years.— Freeland v. Heron, 7 Cranch (U. S.) 147, 3 L. ed. 297; Allen-West Commission Co. v. Patillo, 90 Fed. 628, 61 U. S. App. 94, 33 C. C. A. 194. So in Murray v. Toland, 3 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 569, 575, Chancellor Kent mentioned the rule: "It has been often held that if a party receives a stated account from abroad and keeps it by him for any length of time (one case says two years) without objection, he shall be bound by it" [citing Willis v. Jernegan, 2 Atk. 251, supra, and Tickel v. Short, 2 Ves. 239, in which last case Lord Hardwicke said that if one merchant sends an account current to another in a different country, on which a balance is made due to himself, and the other keeps it by him two years without objection, it is to be considered a stated account].

Several months.— In Standard Oil Co. v. Van Etten, 107 U. S. 325, 1 S. Ct. 178, 27 L. ed. 319, it was held that the court properly instructed the jury, as a question of law, that an account retained without objection from September, 1875, to January, 1876, became converted into a stated account which could not be impeached except for fraud or mistake. So where one receives a statement of an indebtedness and retains it without objection for nearly a year and until suit is brought he will be deemed to have acquiesced in its correctness. I. L. Elwood Mfg. Co. v. Betcher, 72 Minn. 103, 75 N. W. 113.

Date of service of summons.— Where the summons in action was dated as of the day after plaintiff sent and defendant received a statement of an account, but was not served until a month and a half thereafter, and defendant retained the account during this time without objection, this may make an account stated. Donald v. Gardner, 44 N. Y. App. Div. 235, 60 N. Y. Suppl. 668.

76. Bewick v. Butterfield, 60 Mich. 203, 26 N. W. 881, holding that such a credit is binding on the party making it, as an admission of the correctness of the other's bill.

77. Beals v. Wagener, 47 Minn. 489, 50 N. W. 535.

instanced, however, must be taken altogether, and cannot be made to operate as an admission against the party without giving effect to the accompanying claim in his favor.[78]

(D) Inference of Acquiescence Subject to Rebuttal. There is no arbitrary rule of law which renders an omission to object in a given time equivalent to an actual agreement or consent to the correctness of the bill. It is merely competent evidence subject to be rebutted by circumstances from which counter-inferences may be drawn,[79] and for this purpose the original transactions may be inquired into notwithstanding the general rule of conclusiveness of a stated account in the absence of fraud or mistake.[80]

3. Particular Parties and Accounts — a. Consignor and Consignee. The consignor of goods, being the legal owner thereof, is the proper party to whom the consignee should render his account of sales, and although another person may have an interest in the goods the rendition of an account of sales to the consignor will constitute an account stated.[81]

b. Corporation. A debt may be converted into a stated account though one of the parties to the transaction is a corporation,[82] as where a claim is allowed by the board of directors of a corporation,[83] or a certificate of wages earned by an employee is issued to him by competent authority and is audited and allowed by the proper officer of the corporation.[84] And there is no reason why the rule that assent may be inferred from silence after the rendition of an account should not be applied as against a private corporation.[85]

78. Hughes v. Smither, 23 N. Y. App. Div. 590, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 115, holding that where one to whom an account is rendered himself renders an account to the other party, upon which he gives credit for the amount of the balance of the account so rendered to him, which still leaves a balance in his favor, it will not be construed to make the account rendered to him an account stated, but that the whole transaction must be taken together. So in Spurr v. Allison, 8 N. Brunsw. 454, it was held that where, upon the rendition of an account, the party to whom it is rendered writes upon it a sum of money as a deduction from the balance claimed, there is no admission of the balance of the account without the deduction. But see Bewick v. Butterfield, 60 Mich. 203, 26 N. W. 881, cited supra, note 76.

79. Guernsey v. Rexford, 63 N. Y. 631; Lockwood v. Thorne, 18 N. Y. 285; Carpenter v. Nickerson, 7 Daly (N. Y.) 424; Engfer v. Roemer, 71 Wis. 11, 36 N. W. 618; Wiggins v. Burkham, 10 Wall. (U. S.) 129, 19 L. ed. 884.

Applications of rule.— In Lockwood v. Thorne, 18 N. Y. 285, it is pointed out that the inference arising from the retention of an account without objection may be rebutted by such evidence as that the party to whom the account was rendered was absent from home and could not make objection, or by other statements which might satisfactorily account for the omission to object in a given time, as that the party lived at a great distance and was expecting to see the person rendering the account in a few days, or that the expected meeting between the parties was prevented or delayed by some unforeseen casualty, or by proof of the course of dealings between the parties or of some understanding between them that no technical defaults should be insisted on.

In an action to recover for legal services plaintiff testified that, upon presenting his bill, defendant asked whether she should draw a check at once or whether plaintiff would call at a later day; and defendant testified that she was surprised at the amount of the bill rendered and told plaintiff that he should call at another time, when she would see him about it, and that her question whether she should draw a check, as testified to by plaintiff, was merely ironical. It was held that the proof failed to show an account stated. Tinney v. Pierrepont, 18 N. Y. App. Div. 627, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 977.

80. See infra, II, B, 7, b, (IX).

81. Bevan v. Cullen, 7 Pa. St. 281.

82. Bradley v. Richardson, 2 Blatchf. (U. S.) 343, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,786.

Agent of corporation.— An account rendered to a corporation must be delivered to an authorized agent in order to bind it as an account stated. Missouri Pac. R. Co. v. B. F. Coombs, etc., Commission Co., 71 Mo. App. 299.

Municipal corporation.—Public officers may bind a municipal corporation by way of an account stated. Cincinnati v. Cincinnati St. R. Co., 6 Ohio N. P. 140. See also St. Louis Gas Light Co. v. St. Louis, 84 Mo. 202.

83. Porter v. Chicago, etc., R. Co., 99 Iowa 351, 68 N. W. 724; St. Mary's Church v. Cagger, 6 Barb. (N. Y.) 576.

84. St. Louis, etc., R. Co. v. Camden Bank, 47 Ark. 541, 1 S. W. 704.

85. Bradley v. Richardson, 2 Blatchf. (U. S.) 343, 3 Fed. Cas. No. 1,786.

c. Executor or Administrator. An administrator or executor may state an account of dealings of the testator or intestate, and an action on an insimul computassent may be maintained by or against him,[86] unless such a course is precluded by the statutory method prescribed for the allowance of claims,[87] though it has been held that mere silence on the part of an executor when a claim against the estate is presented to him may not be regarded as an admission of the claim against the estate.[88]

d. Female. The mere fact that one to whom an account is rendered is a female is not a reason for keeping it open and subjecting the parties who might have had dealings with the female's testator or intestate to the necessity of affirmatively establishing the correctness of the account after the lapse of many years.[89]

e. Husband and Wife. The rule of account stated does not apply in favor of a husband against his wife.[90]

f. Infants. An infant cannot state an account, and consequently assumpsit on an account stated cannot be maintained against an infant, although the particulars of the account were for necessaries, because the only consideration for the promise is the stating of the account.[91] But an account stated by an infant may be ratified by him after coming of age.[92]

g. Joint Covenantees. Where one is bound under seal to pay, not to plaintiff alone, but to him jointly with another, the legal interest of the other party under the deed cannot be extinguished by an account stated with one of the two covenantees.[93]

h. Partners — (I) Between Themselves. The doctrine as to debtor and creditor on an implied promise resulting from presenting an account by one party, and the retention of it by the other in silence, cannot be reasonably applied to a partnership account,[94] though it may be when the account is rendered as a final adjustment of the whole of the partnership affairs.[95] And where there is a mutual statement and settlement of accounts upon the dissolution of a partnership the law will imply a promise to pay the balance found due.[96]

(II) With Others. One partner may bind the firm upon an account stated, and the admission of one partner is sufficient as an admission of the firm,[97] though

86. Chambers v. Fennemore, 4 Harr. (Del.) 368; McCormick v. Interstate Consol. Rapid-Transit R. Co., 154 Mo. 191, 55 S. W. 252; Schutz v. Morette, 146 N. Y. 137, 40 N. E. 780; Campbell v. Campbell, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 165; Wright v. Beirne, 2 Dem. Surr. (N. Y.) 539; Secar v. Atkinson, 1 H. Bl. 102; Powell v. Graham, 7 Taunt. 581; Ashby v. Ashby, 7 B. & C. 444; Smith v. Forty, 4 C. & P. 126.

87. Fish v. Morse, 8 Mich. 34. See also EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

88. Schutz v. Morette, 146 N. Y. 137, 40 N. E. 780.

As to the necessity for an express promise to pay in order to stop the statute of limitations from running against executors and administrators see EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

89. Ogden v. Astor, 4 Sandf. (N. Y.) 311.

90. Account rendered not prima facie evidence.— An account rendered by a husband to his wife, and received and kept by the latter for some time without objection, was held to be not even prima facie evidence of the correctness of the account against the wife in a suit by her against her husband to recover her money. Southwick v. Southwick, 1 Sweeny (N. Y.) 47.

91. Trueman v. Hurst, 1 T. R. 40; Bartlett v. Emery, 1 T. R. 42, note a.

92. Williams v. Moor, 11 M. & W. 256.

93. Zimmerman v. Woodruff, 17 U. C. Q. B. 584.

94. Hughes v. Smither, 23 N. Y. App. Div. 590, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 115; Rehill v. McTague, 114 Pa. St. 82, 7 Atl. 224, 60 Am. Rep. 341; Killam v. Preston, 4 Watts & S. (Pa.) 14; Schmidt v. Lebby, 11 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 329.

95. Ogden v. Astor, 4 Sandf. (N. Y.) 311; Atwater v. Fowler, 1 Edw. (N. Y.) 417.

96. Rackstraw v. Imber, 1 Holt N. P. 368.

97. Cady v. Kyle, 47 Mo. 346; Heidenheimer v. Ellis, 67 Tex. 426, 3 S. W. 666.

Partner not a party.— The admission of one partner has been held sufficient though the action is dismissed as to such partner because he has not been served with process. Cady v. Kyle, 47 Mo. 346. But mere retention by one without objection is not conclusive of partnership relations. Kemp v. Peck, 59 Hun (N. Y.) 118, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 112.

Account addressed to other members of firm.— In Benites v. Hampton, 3 Utah 369, 3 Pac. 206, it was held that an account made out in the name of two members of a firm, and sent to them by mail, would not bind a third member as an account stated, without an express admission on his part, where it is such an agreement will not operate to release the joint liability of the firm.[98] But where the original transaction is one in which one partner cannot bind others, a subsequent admission of a debt based thereon cannot bind the partners who did not join in the admission.[99]

i. Physicians and Attorneys. The rules as to accounts stated have been applied as between attorney and client[1] and physician and patient,[2] where there is proof of employment.[3]

j. Between Broker, Factor, or Commission-Merchant, and Principal or Customer. An account or account of sales rendered by a broker, factor, or commission-merchant to his principal or customer may become binding upon the parties as an account stated.[4]

k. Pass-Book — (I) In General. A pass-book being the book of the buyer or the debtor party, in which he allows the other party to enter their mutual transactions, the entries become in a great degree the written admission of both parties, and whatever is entered therein, being with the other's consent, becomes a stated account in the absence of fraud or mistake,[5] and a balance struck in a broker's pass-book may be an account stated.[6]

(II) Bank Pass-Book. The relation of a bank and its depositor is that of debtor and creditor so as to make a bank pass-book balance the subject of the rules applicable to stated account.[7] not shown that he knew of the account. This was upon the theory that when an account is sent by mail the party to be charged must be a party to the account, or it must be clearly made known to him and payment thereof demanded.

98. Martyn v. Arnold, 36 Fla. 446, 18 So. 791.

After dissolution of partnership.— So it has been held that one partner has authority, after the dissolution of his firm, to adjust and state a claim against the firm, and that such statement is sufficient to support an action on a stated account. Buxton v. Edwards, 134 Mass. 567. Contra, Walker v. Duberry, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 189. See also generally PARTNERSHIP.

99. Brettel v. Williams, 4 Exch. 623.

1. Pulliam v. Booth, 21 Ark. 420; King v. Rhoads, etc., Co., 68 Ill. App. 441; Case v. Hotchkiss, 37 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 283.

2. Lallande v. Brown, 121 Ala. 513, 25 So. 997.

3. Wharton v. Cain, 50 Ala. 408.

But the mere fact of a rendition of such an account will not create a cause of action. There must have been an actual employment to render the services mentioned in the account. Kellogg v. Rowland, 40 N. Y. App. Div. 416, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 1046.

Services rendered another.— Where a physician presented his bill to a woman for services rendered to her deceased husband, and she paid a part of it and offered to make further payments in settlement thereof, telling him that he had better accept such part than nothing, it was held that the evidence did not show a stated account, there being nothing in the evidence to prove that the services were rendered at the request of the woman, or that she had ever had any dealings with the physician before her husband's death. Callahan v. O'Rourke, 17 N. Y. App. Div. 277, 45 N. Y. Suppl. 764.

4. Mayberry v. Cook, 121 Cal. 588, 54 Pac. 95; Woodward v. Suydam, 11 Ohio 360; Bevan v. Cullen, 7 Pa. St. 281; Hall v. Sloan, 9 Phila. (Pa.) 138, 30 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 232.

Rule that the necessary assent may be inferred from the retention of an account rendered without objection is applied as between these parties:

Alabama.—Burns v. Campbell, 71 Ala. 271; Langdon v. Roane, 6 Ala. 518, 41 Am. Dec. 60.

Iowa.— Everingham v. Halsey, 108 Iowa 709, 78 N. W. 220.

Kentucky.— Phelps v. Plum, (Ky. 1895) 32 S. W. 753.

Louisiana.— Flower v. O'Bannon, 43 La. Ann. 1042, 10 So. 376; Allen v. Nettles, 39 La. Ann. 788, 2 So. 602.

New Hampshire.— Austin v. Ricker, 61 N. H. 97.

New York.— Knickerbocker v. Gould, 115 N. Y. 533, 22 N. E. 573; Quincey v. White, 63 N. Y. 370; Dows v. Durfee, 10 Barb. (N. Y.) 213.

Pennsylvania.— Smedley v. Williams, 1 Pars. Eq. Cas. (Pa.) 359.

United States.— Allen-West Commission Co. v. Patillo, 90 Fed. 628, 61 U. S. App. 94, 33 C. C. A. 194; Eichel v. Sawyer, 44 Fed. 845.

Or, as held in other cases, such silence is prima facie evidence of the correctness of the account. McCord v. Manson, 17 Ill. App. 118; Wittkowski v. Harris, 64 Fed. 712.

Two sales of same goods.— Where a principal has received an account of sales and has approved and recognized it, it is held that he is not bound to object to a second account of sales covering the same goods or run the risk of its being taken as a stated account. Cartwright v. Greene, 47 Barb. (N. Y.) 9.

5. Ruch v. Fricke, 28 Pa. St. 241.

6. Marye v. Strouse, 5 Fed. 483.

7. Iowa.— Schoonover v. Osborne, 108 Iowa 453, 79 N. W. 263; Benton County Bank v. Walker, 85 Iowa 728, 51 N. W. 241.

4. Effect of Subsequent Acts — a. Indulgence by Creditor. After an account has been stated the creditor may extend indulgence to the debtor by postponing the time of payment, without waiving the benefit of the prior settlement of the account.[8]

b. Ex Post Facto Promise. Where an account is stated the law implies a promise by the debtor to pay on request, and any ex post facto promise by him, differing in its nature from the promise implied by law, to pay on a particular day, will be nudum pactum unless made upon a new consideration.[9]

c. Sale of Securities. After the settlement of an account by an admission of the balance shown thereon and a promise to pay, plaintiff does not waive the stated account by selling collaterals in his hands, but the account remains stated and settled subject to credit for any amount realized from the sale of securities.[10]

5. Parties. Persons jointly liable on an account stated may be joined.[11] And where an account is stated by the survivor of joint creditors, action may be maintained by him, upon the theory that the statement of the account is in the nature of a new promise.[12] If it appears that the plaintiff in an action on a stated account had, before the action, made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors, the record may be amended by adding the name of the assignee as party plaintiff.[13]

6. Pleading — a. Declaration or Complaint — (1) Necessity to Declare on Account Stated. To recover on an account stated plaintiff must declare upon an account stated, and if he proceeds upon the original cause of action the rules of evidence governing an action on an account stated will not apply.[14] But Maryland.— Hardy v. Chesapeake Bank, 51 Md. 562, 34 Am. Rep. 325.

Missouri.— McKeen v. Boatmen's Bank, 74 Mo. App. 281.

New York.— Shipman v. State Bank, 126 N. Y. 318, 27 N. E. 371, 22 Am. St. Rep. 821, 12 L. R. A. 791; Harley v. Eleventh Ward Bank, 76 N. Y. 618; August v. New York Fourth Nat. Bank, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 139; Clark v. Mechanics' Nat. Bank, 11 Daly (N. Y.) 239; Hutchinson v. Market Bank, 48 Barb. (N. Y.) 302; Welsh v. German-American Bank, 42 N. Y. Super. Ct. 462.

United States.— Leather Manufacturers' Nat. Bank v. Morgan, 117 U. S. 96, 6 S. Ct. 657, 29 L. ed. 811.

The rule that assent to the correctness of a balance may be inferred from retaining an account rendered without objection within a reasonable time, so as to cast the burden of impeaching the correctness of the account, for fraud or mistake, upon the party complaining of the balance, applies to such cases. See last preceding note. Where a depositor's bank-book showed a balance due him, less certain checks for drafts which had been protested because of the failure of the bank, the fact that the depositor waited some time before objecting to the deduction in his account does not make the book an account stated, where it was afterward credited with unpaid drafts and his claim certified by the bank to be the original deposit. Dingley v. McDonald, 124 Cal. 90, 56 Pac. 790.

8. Lawson v. Douglass, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 4, 43 N. Y. St. 356.

9. Robbins v. Downey, 18 N. Y. Suppl. 100, 45 N. Y. St. 279; Hopkins v. Logan, 5 M. & W. 241.

10. Lawson v. Douglass, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 4, 43 N. Y. St. 356.

11. Throop v. Sherwood, 9 Ill. 92.

12. Holmes v. D'Camp, 1 Johns. (N. Y.) 34, 3 Am. Dec. 293.

13. Felty v. Deaven, 166 Pa. St. 640, 31 Atl. 333.

14. Thompson v. Thompson, 2 Harr. (Del.) 202; Bump v. Cooper, 20 Oreg. 527, 26 Pac. 848.

Inquiry into original debt.— If plaintiff declares upon an original debt without an amendment he cannot exclude evidence of a defense pertaining to such cause of action. Wilson v. Waldron, 12 Wash. 149, 40 Pac. 740, holding that where plaintiff merely declares on an indebtedness on an account for merchandise sold and delivered, evidence was admissible to disprove the sale and delivery. McCormick Harvesting-Mach. Co. v. Wilson, 39 Minn. 467, 40 N. W. 571; Northern Line Packet Co. v. Platt, 22 Minn. 413.

Accounting as one item of indebtedness.— Where a complaint alleged that under a contract plaintiffs cut and hauled a certain quantity of logs for defendant during one season, and that at the end of the season the parties had an accounting under which a certain amount was found due to plaintiffs, which defendants promised to pay, and that in the following season plaintiffs cut and hauled another quantity of logs under the settled contract upon which a balance was due, it was held that the allegations of the first accounting merely amounted to an admission of payment except as to such amount, and did not convert the pleading into an action on an account stated so as to make it necessary for plaintiffs to prove such accounting. Blewett v. Gaynor, 77 Wis. 378, 46 N. W. 547. To the same effect is Sichel v. Davies, 15 N. Y. St. 317.

Proceeding to trial without regard to form of pleading.— In New York, where the comit has been held under the code that a judgment may be rendered on an account stated notwithstanding there was no allegation of an account stated in the complaint.[15]

(II) Form of Declaration in General. Where parties have stated an account between them assumpsit is the proper form in which to declare.[16] The emphatic words of a technical count upon an account stated were insimul computassent, that they, plaintiff and defendant, accounted together.[17]

(III) Sufficiency in General. The essential elements of an account stated must be alleged, else the pleading will be fatally defective.[18] The essential requirement is that the declaration shall show that the account received the assent of both parties, and if this is shown it will not be demurrable on account of its generality;[19] and a complaint which alleges an accounting and the ascertainment of a balance due to plaintiff in a certain sum, and an agreement or promise to pay it, sufficiently states a cause of action.[20] But where, after the ascertainment of a balance due, such balance is reduced by payments, in an action to recover on the settlement the amount may be laid as that which finally remains due after crediting

plaint alleged an indebtedness upon an account of services rendered and for moneys paid out at defendant's request, this was held not to mean necessarily an indebtedness upon an account stated; and where the trial proceeded without much regard for pleading, and plaintiff elected to proceed upon an account stated, and the court at the close of the evidence allowed an amendment of the answer and the complaint so as to make it conform to the facts proved without making the record formally show what the amendment was and without exception on the part of defendant, there was no error. Dickerson v. Scheuer, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 419.

15. Sloan v. Westfield, 17 S. C. 589.

16. James v. Fellowes, 20 La. Ann. 116.

Forms of complaints, declarations, etc., in actions on accounts stated may be found set out in whole, in part, or in substance in the following cases:

Alabama.— Eslava v. Ames Plow Co., 47 Ala. 384; Chapman v. Lee, 47 Ala. 143.

California.— Mayberry v. Cook, 121 Cal. 588, 54 Pac. 95; De Witt v. Porter, 13 Cal. 171.

Georgia.— Ward v. Stewart, 103 Ga. 260, 29 S. E. 872.

Indiana.— Bouslog v. Garrett, 39 Ind. 338; McDowell v. North, 24 Ind. App. 435, 55 N. E. 789.

Massachusetts.— Buxton v. Edwards, 134 Mass. 567.

Missouri.— McCormack v. Sawyer, 104 Mo. 36, 15 S. W. 998; Cape Girardeau, etc., R. Co. v. Kimmel, 58 Mo. 83.

Montana.— Voight v. Brooks, 19 Mont. 374, 48 Pac. 549; McFarland v. Cutter, 1 Mont. 383.

New York.— Volkening v. De Graaf, 81 N. Y. 268; Moss v. Lindblom, 39 N. Y. App. Div. 586, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 703; Hathaway v. Russell, 46 N. Y. Super. Ct. 103; Graham v. Camman, 13 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 360.

Vermont.— Powers v. New England F. Ins. Co., 68 Vt. 390, 35 Atl. 331.

Texas.— Neyland v. Neyland, 19 Tex. 423.

England.— Webber v. Tivill, 2 Saund. 124; Styart v. Rowland, 1 Show. 215.

Canada.— Tyke v. Cosford, 14 U. C. C. P. 64, being a special count.

17. Volkening v. De Graaf, 81 N. Y. 268.

18. Davis v. Boswell, 77 Mo. App. 294.

19. Carlisle v. Davis, 9 Ala. 858.

Accounting "between."— An allegation that the parties accounted "between" them was held to be sufficient over an objection that it should have been alleged that the account was stated "by and between" them. Debenhan v. Chambers, 3 M. & W. 128, 129, in which it was said that the ruling in Hooper v. Vestris, 5 Dowl. 710, that an affidavit of debt stating defendant to be indebted to deponent "as an account stated between them" was insufficient, seemed to overlook the word "indebted." Johnston v. Ferris, 14 Daly (N. Y.) 302, 12 N. Y. St. 666; Powers v. New England F. Ins. Co., 68 Vt. 390, 35 Atl. 331.

Complaint loosely drawn.— A complaint on an account stated is sufficient, though loosely drawn, to withstand a general demurrer. Graham v. Camman, 13 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 360.

20. Carlisle v. Davis, 9 Ala. 858; De Witt v. Porter, 13 Cal. 171, in which case a complaint which set up that defendant was justly indebted to plaintiff in the sum of, etc., for money laid out at his special instance, to wit, etc., on, etc., and in the sum of, etc., for money found to be due between, etc., on an account then stated between them, together with an allegation of an undertaking on the part of defendant to pay the sum ascertained to be due, was held to be sufficient, as upon an account stated, over the objection that it contained two causes of action, neither of which was complete in itself, and that one could not be looked to in aid of the other; McDowell v. North, 24 Ind. App. 435, 55 N. E. 789; McFarland v. Cutter, 1 Mont. 383.

Allegation of accounting not bad as a conclusion.— Where it is alleged that an account was stated between the parties, upon which a balance was found to be due, this is sufficient though it states a conclusion. Hatch v. Von Taube, 31 Misc. (N. Y.) 30, 62 N. Y. Suppl. 1031.

the payments, and such allegation will be sustained by proof of the larger amount ascertained on the settlement and of the subsequent payments by which it was reduced.[21] The mere statement of a conclusion, however, that accounts have been stated, without other allegations, as that the parties have actually accounted and that a balance was ascertained, is not sufficient.[22]

(IV) ALLEGATION AS TO TIME OF ACCOUNTING. The time when the account was stated must be alleged.[23]

(V) ALLEGATION OF ASSENT — (A) The Rule. An averment that plaintiff assented to the balance ascertained is essential.[24]

(B) Retention of Account. The mere allegation of retention of an account rendered without objection is an allegation of evidence which may or not lead to the conclusion that the parties agreed to the balance, and is not sufficient as an allegation of an account stated.[25]

(VI) ALLEGATION OF PROMISE — (A) In General. While an allegation of an express promise to pay may be proper, and a pleading containing it with other allegations of the essential elements of an account stated in general terms will be sufficient,[26] the better rule seems to be that it is sufficient to allege the accounting and the ascertainment of a balance due from one party to the other without alleging an express promise to pay such balance, because the law implies the promise from the accounting, and legal conclusions need not be alleged,[27] though there are cases which hold otherwise, notwithstanding it is recognized that proof of an express promise under such allegation is not necessary.[28] An additional allegation that for the balance due upon the account stated defendant executed a promissory note does not make the pleading state more than a single cause of action.[29]

(B) Express Promise Different from That Implied by Law. If the transaction consists of an adjustment of an account and a promise to liquidate the balance otherwise than by the payment of money,— that is, if there is an express promise other than the law implies from the mere adjustment of the account,— the declaration should count specially.[30]

21. Thompson v. Smith, 82 Iowa 598, 48 N. W. 988.

22. Ward v. Farrelly, 9 Mo. App. 370; Nicoll v. Haas, 5 N. Y. App. Div. 206, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 205.

23. Loventhal v. Morris, 103 Ala. 332, 15 So. 672, holding that a complaint without this averment would be as defective as a complaint upon a promissory note which failed to aver when the note was made.

Such time need not be proved strictly as laid, it not being of the essence of the promise. Loventhal v. Morris, 103 Ala. 332, 15 So. 672.

Time laid after commencement of suit.— Where the time was laid as after the commencement of a suit it was held not to render the declaration demurrable, as in such a case plaintiff would be confined in his proof to a time before the commencement of the action. Carlisle v. Davis, 9 Ala. 858.

24. Van Blarcom v. Donovan, 16 Mo. App. 535.

25. St. Louis Lager Beer Bottling Co. v. State Nat. Bank, 8 Colo. 70, 5 Pac. 800; Brown v. Kimmel, 67 Mo. 430; Schutz v. Morette, 146 N. Y. 137, 40 N. E. 780.

26. Approved form.— It seems that the technical count on an insimul computassent went on to say that on such accounting defendant was found in arrears and indebted to plaintiff in the sum named, and, being so in arrears, he undertook and promised to pay the same to plaintiff. Volkening v. De Graaf, 81 N. Y. 268 [citing 2 Chitty Pl. 90, 1 Chitty Pl. 358].

27. Georgia.— Ward v. Stewart, 103 Ga. 260, 29 S. E. 872.

Indiana.— Bouslog v. Garrett, 39 Ind. 338.

Minnesota.— Heinrich v. Englund, 34 Minn. 395, 26 N. W. 122.

Montana.— Voigt v. Brooks, 19 Mont. 374, 48 Pac. 549.

New York.— Moss v. Lindblom, 39 N. Y. App. Div. 586, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 703.

Ohio.— Dyer v. Isham, 4 Ohio Cir. Ct. 429.

Interest — Under statute.— In Matlock v. Purefoy, 18 Ark. 492, it was held, under the statute in that state, that a count upon a stated account which alleged a promise to pay the amount with ten per cent. interest, without alleging a promise to pay the interest to be in writing, was fatally defective, but that the defect could be considered as amended under the statute by striking out the words referring to the interest unless the objection was specifically pointed out as a cause of demurrer.

28. Kent v. Highleyman, 17 Mo. App. 9; Cape Girardeau, etc., R. Co. v. Kimmel, 58 Mo. 83, holding, however, that the omission is cured by verdict.

29. Claire v. Claire, 10 Nebr. 54, 4 N. W. 411.

30. Tyke v. Cosford, 14 U. C. C. P. 64; Hopkins v. Logan, 5 M. & W. 241. See infra, II, B, 7, b, (VIII).

(VII) ALLEGATION OF BREACH. An allegation, after setting out an accounting between the parties, that defendant had not paid any part of the balance found due, is a sufficient allegation of the breach.[31] So an allegation that upon the statement of an account a balance was found to be due sufficiently shows that there was a breach of contract.[32]

(VIII) ALLEGATION AS TO ORIGINAL DEBT. Upon the principle that the implied promise resulting from the accounting is the gist of the cause of action upon a stated account, the subject-matter of the original debt need not be set forth,[33] and therefore a bill of particulars need not be filed with the pleading,[34] and it need not allege that an indebtedness actually existed between the parties.[35] But where the parties are such that their right to sue and liability to be sued is restricted, it should be averred that the account was stated of certain moneys due by defendant to plaintiff for and by reason of some matter which can by law create a debt from the one to the other.[36] Even under an apparently stricter rule which requires some statement of the original items, a pleading which alleges the nature of the original indebtedness and a subsequent accounting is sufficient.[37]

(IX) ALLEGATION AS TO PARTIES. While an account need not be stated between the original parties,[38] yet where the account filed with the complaint purports to be an account between defendant and a person other than plaintiff, and there is nothing in the complaint to show that plaintiff has acquired the ownership, a judgment by default under a service by publication cannot be supported.[39]

(X) INTEREST OF WIFE JOINED WITH HUSBAND. A declaration by husband and wife on an account stated must show that the accounting was concerning matters in which the wife had an interest.[40]

(XI) ASSIGNEE CONFINED TO THEORY OF CASE. If the assignee of a claim sues upon it as upon an account stated, upon the theory that the relation of the original parties was that of principal and agent, he cannot recover if the relation was that of persons engaged in a joint adventure.[41]

(XII) JOINDER OF COUNTS—(A) In General. It is said to be advisable to insert a count on an account stated in all declarations in assumpsit for a recovery of a money demand,[42] and sometimes it is necessary, as in actions by or against

31. Debenhan v. Chambers, 3 M. & W. 128.

32. Johnston v. Ferris, 14 Daly (N. Y.) 302, 12 N. Y. St. 666.

33. McCall v. Nave, 52 Miss. 494; Schutz v. Morette, 146 N. Y. 137, 40 N. E. 780; Moss v. Lindblom, 39 N. Y. App. Div. 586, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 703; Powers v. New England F. Ins. Co., 68 Vt. 390, 35 Atl. 331. See also infra, II, G, 3.

But it has been held that where one counts on a parol statement of accounts he must set out the original accounts settled, by exhibits or otherwise, so that the opposite party may have notice of the matters alleged to have been adjusted. Neyland v. Neyland, 19 Tex. 423; Hill v. Newlee, 3 Tex. App. Civ. Cas. § 217.

34. See infra, II, G, 3, b.

35. Bouslog v. Garrett, 39 Ind. 338; McDowell v. North, 24 Ind. App. 435, 55 N. E. 789.

36. Huron Dist. Council v. London Dist. Council, 4 U. C. Q. B. 302, which was a case involving certain districts as parties.

37. Heidenheimer v. Ellis, 67 Tex. 426, 3 S. W. 666.

38. See supra, II, B, 2, k, (II).

39. Thompson v. Stetson, 15 Nebr. 112, 17 N. W. 368.

Demurrer admits accounting by defendant. — An objection to a complaint on the ground that it appears from an account attached to it that the statement of the account was not made between plaintiff and defendant, but that another than defendant appears to have signed it, cannot be raised on a general demurrer to the complaint, because such a demurrer admits the allegation of the complaint that the account was stated between the parties, and whether the person who signed the statement was authorized to do so is a mere matter of proof to be considered on the trial. Moss v. Lindblom, 39 N. Y. App. Div. 586, 57 N. Y. Suppl. 703.

40. Johnson v. Lucas, 1 E. & B. 659.

41. Hughes v. Smither, 23 N. Y. App. Div. 590, 49 N. Y. Suppl. 115, wherein it was said that had the suit been by the assignor, and the proof had deviated from the allegations so as to show an account stated of a joint adventure, an amendment could not have prejudiced defendant because he could have shown errors sufficient to warrant the opening of the account; but that as plaintiff was only an assignee of the claim set forth in the complaint, and the allegation was that the account was stated between principal and agent, and of an assignment of that claim, he must recover strictly upon the issues thus tendered.

42. 1 Chitty Pl. (16th Am. ed.) 371. See ASSUMPSIT, ACTION OF.

executors and administrators when it becomes material for plaintiff to rely upon a promise or acknowledgment since the death of the testator or intestate.[43]

(B) Joinder of Counts on Original Debt. A party may join a count for the original debt with a count upon an account stated, and, in such condition of the pleadings, should he fail upon the account stated, he may recover upon the original debt.[44] But if the pleadings are framed so that the party relies solely upon the account stated he cannot fall back upon the original account.[45]

(XIII) AMENDMENT. In an action on an account stated an amendment may be allowed adding a separate cause of action on a note included in the account.[46]

b. Plea or Answer[47]— (I) GENERAL ISSUE. In an action on an account stated the plea of the general issue puts the burden upon plaintiff to establish that there is a stated account,[48] and under the general issue[49] or general denial any evidence is admissible which shows that no account was stated, that being the thing upon which the recovery depends.[50]

(II) DENIAL OF ASSENT. Where defendant acknowledges the receipt of an account rendered, but denies the allegation that he assented to its correctness, this is sufficient to raise the issue as to the stating of an account.[51]

(III) DENIAL OF SIGNATURE. Where the name of a person is subscribed to an account without an acknowledgment of its correctness except such as may be inferred from the signature, he may show that the signature is not genuine without pleading non est factum under oath.[52]

43. 1 Saunders Pl. (2d Am. ed.) 30. See EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

44. Johnson v. Tyng, 1 N. Y. App. Div. 610, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 516; Goings v. Patten, 17 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 339.

In framing the pleading rules of Hil. T., 4 Wm. IV, it was considered that in assumpsit and debt on simple contract plaintiff should be at liberty to proceed as well for the original debt as upon any admission that the debt was due, and therefore the rule provided that a count for money due on the account stated might be joined with any other count for a money demand, though it may not be to establish a distinct subject-matter of complaint in respect of each of such counts. 1 Chitty Pl. (16th Am. ed.) 473.

45. See infra, II, B, 7, b, (II).

46. Oden v. Bonner, 93 Ala. 393, 9 So. 409, holding that in an action on a stated account against two persons as late copartners, it appearing that another firm consisting of one of the late copartners and another had succeeded the first firm without assuming its liabilities, the court properly permitted plaintiff to amend by dismissing as to the member of the first partnership who was not a member of the succeeding partnership, and adding, as a separate cause of action against the member of the succeeding firm who was a member of the old firm, notes of the new firm which were items of the original account, because a new cause of action was not thereby set up.

Amendment on appeal.— As plaintiff suing upon an account stated must recover thereon, if there is a failure of proof on account of which the complaint is dismissed, and no amendment is asked, an amendment will not be allowed on appeal for the purpose of reversing the judgment of dismissal, although it appears that something was due which would have justified an amendment in the court below. Volkening v. De Graaf, 81 N. Y. 268.

47. Forms of pleas in actions on stated accounts may be found set out in whole, in part, or in substance in Kennedy v. Broun, 13 C. B. N. S. 677; Webber v. Tivill, 2 Saund. 124.

Plea of illegal items in action on stated account is set out in Kennedy v. Broun, 13 C. B. N. S. 677.

48. Lallande v. Brown, 121 Ala. 513, 25 So. 997.

49. Plea bad as amounting to general issue. Under the general issue it may be shown that the accounts are not settled or adjusted, or that no balance was struck between plaintiff and defendant, and if defendant sets up facts which show this the plea will be bad as amounting to the general issue. Worrall v. Grayson, 1 M. & W. 166.

Failure of consideration.— Under the general issue "never indebted," defendant denies that he is indebted to plaintiff on an account stated, and if he pleads the facts, as a failure of consideration, which show that he is not indebted, the plea will be bad as amounting to the general issue. Jacobs v. Fisher, 1 C. B. 178.

50. Field v. Knapp, 108 N. Y. 87, 14 N. E. 829; Ensign v. Hooker, 6 N. Y. App. Div. 425, 39 N. Y. Suppl. 543.

Note not matured.— Where the evidence of an account stated is a note which had not matured when the action was brought, this may be shown under the general issue. Hill v. Lott, 13 U. C. Q. B. 465.

51. McKenzie v. Poorman Silver Mines, 88 Fed. 111, 60 U. S. App. 1, 31 C. C. A. 409, assigning as a reason for this that the mere rendition of an account is not of itself enough to make an account stated.

52. Ross v. Yeatman, 2 Swan (Tenn.) 144.

(IV) PLEA OF ACCOUNT STATED[53] — (A) In General. There is some confusion in the earlier cases upon the right to plead an accounting in an action on the original debt. At first it was held that a mutual accounting operated as a set-off and payment of the cross-demands, and the plea was allowed.[54] Afterward such a plea was held bad upon the ground that a simple-contract debt could not be discharged by an accounting.[55] These cases cannot be sustained upon the theory upon which they are decided, for it seems to be established that an accounting of mutual and cross-demands operates as a settlement and payment,[56] for it was determined even at this date that if cross-demands were set off against each other in the accounting it might be set up as a defense,— not by pleading the accounting as such, but by pleading it according to its legal operation, as payment.[57] Other cases, however, established the rule to be that in the case of an accounting involving cross-demands defendant could plead the accounting, setting up the cross-items as a set-off and alleging payment.[58] Under the statutory practice per-

53. Plea of account stated may be found set out in Callander v. Howard, 10 C. B. 290; Learmonth v. Grandine, 4 M. & W. 658; Beattie v. Hatch, 12 U. C. Q. B. 195; Melville v. Carpenter, 11 U. C. Q. B. 132.

54. Milward v. Ingram, 2 Mod. 43, wherein North, C. J., said that after such an account as that stated in the plea the plaintiff could never have recourse to the first contract. In this case there was no payment alleged, but merely that the defendant promised to pay the plaintiff the balance and that the plaintiff promised to release him.

54. Rolls v. Barnes, W. Bl. 65; Atherley v. Evans, Say. 269; Scarborough v. Butler, 3 Lev. 237. See also ACCORD AND SATISFACTION; COMPROMISE AND SETTLEMENT; RELEASE.

56. Callander v. Howard, 10 C. B. 290. The same view was taken in Ashby v. James, 11 M. & W. 542; Clark v. Alexander, 8 Scott N. R. 147; Pott v. Clegg, 16 M. & W. 321; Scholey v. Walton, 12 M. & W. 510; Hayford v. Andrews, Cro. Eliz. 697.

57. May v. King, 12 Mod. 537, 1 Ld. Raym. 680. In New York the same ruling was adhered to. Bump v. Phœnix, 6 Hill (N. Y.) 308.

Atherley v. Evans, Say. 269, in which it is held that a plea of an account stated is bad upon the ground that an accounting will not discharge a simple-contract debt, refers to May v. King, 12 Mod. 537, as a case wherein the authority of Milward v. Ingram, 2 Mod. 43, was denied, but if the authority of this last case was denied in May v. King, 12 Mod. 537, it was not upon the ground upon which the ruling seems to be based in Atherley v. Evans, Say. 269, but rather upon the ground that the defense should have been pleaded according to its legal operation and not as an account stated. And indeed in this last case the defendant not only pleaded the accounting but further pleaded that he had paid the balance found to be due.

58. Beattie v. Hatch, 12 U. C. Q. B. 195; Melville v. Carpenter, 11 U. C. Q. B. 132; Callander v. Howard, 10 C. B. 290 (which was assumpsit on three bills of exchange with a count for goods sold and delivered, money paid, and a count upon an account stated, and the defendant pleaded that after the accruing of the causes of action and before the commencement of the suit he and the plaintiff accounted together of and concerning said causes of action and of and concerning certain other claims and demands of the plaintiff against the defendant and certain other claims and demands of the defendant against the plaintiff, and that on this accounting a certain amount was found to be due to the plaintiff which the defendant promised to pay in consideration of the premises and which he afterward paid, and it was held that the plea amounted to an allegation of the allowance of the cross-demands upon an account stated, and payment of the balance, and that it was unexceptionable in form); Learmonth v. Grandine, 4 M. & W. 658 (wherein the same character of plea was pleaded, but the cross-items were pleaded in terms as a set-off); Smith v. Page, 15 M. & W. 683 (holding that a plea in an action of indebitatus assumpsit, that after the accruing of the causes of action in the declaration mentioned and before the commencement of the suit, defendant and plaintiff accounted together of and concerning said causes of action and all other claims and demands then being between plaintiff and defendant, and that on such accounting a certain sum was found to be due, which the defendant promised to pay and which before the commencement of the suit he did pay, was bad because it did not show that at the time of the second accounting any cross-demand existed in favor of the defendant against the plaintiff, etc.); Sutton v. Page, 3 C. B. 204 (wherein Tindal, C. J., said that the plea in that case alleged both an accounting and payment of a sum found due, but that if it had not alleged both, it would not have been good). But in two of the cases hereinbefore cited which hold that a plea of an account stated is bad (Rolls v. Barnes, W. Bl. 65, and Bump v. Phœnix, 6 Hill (N. Y.) 308), it was alleged in the pleas that the balance found due on the accounting was in favor of the defendant.

General issue.— Where, upon an account stated, a balance was found in favor of the plaintiff upon which assumpsit was brought, if the defendant wished to plead a second accounting between himself and the plaintiff upon which a balance was found due the demitting the pleading of the material facts necessary to constitute a cause of action or defense without averring their legal effect, as well as upon the theory that the promise to pay an amount found to be due on an accounting is a discharge of the items on each side, a plea setting up an accounting between the parties and a balance found due to plaintiff in full settlement to a date specified is good.[59]

(B) General Issue with Notice. In assumpsit on common counts other than insimul computassent defendant may, under the general issue and notice of a set-off, show a balance due to him on an account stated of more than sufficient to extinguish plaintiff's claim.[60]

(C) Affirmative Defense under Code. It has been held under the code, however, that an account stated is an affirmative defense, and as such must be affirmatively pleaded in the answer.[61]

(V) Duplicity. Where other common counts are joined with a count for the same amount on an account stated, plaintiff claims two sums, and the account stated must be understood to have been stated of sums other than that separately demanded in the other counts, whether it be so expressed in the counts or not, and the plea must go to separate claims of distinct amounts.[62]

c. Replication or Reply[63]—(I) Of Stated Account. In a suit for the recovery of the balance of an account, to a counterclaim setting up a verified account plaintiff may file a verified reply of an account stated, which is a sufficient denial of the verified account.[64]

(II) New Promise. Although plaintiff need not allege an express promise in order to recover on an account stated, yet when he declares upon the implied promise, but relies upon a new promise to take the original debt out of the operation of the statute, which is pleaded, he must set up the express promise by way of reply.[65]

(III) Never Indebted. Where a defendant in an action of assumpsit pleads an accounting and set-off of cross-demands resulting in a full discharge and satisfaction of the promises declared on, plaintiff may reply "never indebted" in the manner and form, etc., and it is not necessary to traverse the accounting.[66]

(IV) Denial of Accounting. And where a plea alleges an accounting covering the causes of action in the declaration mentioned and all other claims and demands then being between plaintiff and defendant, and payment of the balance found due, a replication denying the accounting as broadly as it is laid in the plea is good.[67]

fendant, it was held that under the rules of Hil. T., 4 Wm. IV, such second account must be taken to be either a payment or a set-off, and in neither case could the defendant avail himself of these defenses under the general issue. Fidgett v. Penny, 1 C. M. & R. 108. See also Evans v. Downes, 2 Jur. 1066.

59. Rand v. Wright, 129 Mass. 50.

60. Nichols v. Alsop, 6 Conn. 477.

61. Rishel v. Weil, 31 Misc. (N. Y.) 70, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 178.

Immaterial variance, under N. Y. Code Civ. Proc. § 2943, where defendant in an action to recover a balance on an account proved a stated account and payment of the balance ascertained, though his answer did not technically set up an account stated. Schuyler v. Ross, 13 N. Y. Suppl. 944.

62. Foot v. Baker, 5 M. & G. 335; Rawlinson v. Shand, 5 M. & W. 468; Mee v. Tomlinson, 4 A. & E. 262.

But where the bill of particulars does not indicate to which count it applies, and the ad damnum is too small to cover both counts if intended for different demands, it is held that an answer which covers the whole of plaintiff's case is good. Rundlett v. Weeber, 3 Gray (Mass.) 263.

63. Replication in action on account stated may be found set out in Webber v. Tivill, 2 Saund. 124.

64. Complaint and reply construed together. — Molino v. Blake, (Ariz. 1898) 52 Pac. 366, holding that the complaint and reply in such a case, not being repugnant, should be construed together, and that where defendant chooses to go to trial on the pleadings as they thus stand, the only issue is the fact whether or not there had been an adjustment and settlement of the accounts of the parties.

65. Dyer v. Isham, 4 Ohio Cir. Ct. 429, holding further that where the parties go to trial without objecting on these points, and the case is tried as if the issue were properly made by the pleadings, it will be too late to object thereafter.

66. Learmonth v. Grandine, 4 M. & W. 658.

67. Sutton v. Page, 3 C. B. 204.

7. EVIDENCE — a. Burden of Proof. In an action upon a stated account the burden is upon plaintiff to prove an account stated in accordance with the principles already laid down, and nothing less will support his allegations.[68] In like manner, where defendant relies upon a stated account, the burden is on him to prove the fact.[69]

b. Admissibility and Sufficiency — (I) In General. An account stated being a confession that there is a fixed and definite sum due from one person to another at the date of the alleged accounting, any facts which show that this is a necessary result of the transactions involved are competent on the trial of such an issue,[70] as that the parties made and agreed upon the balance.[71] Inferences against items as proper charges may be overcome by the presumption of assent arising from the rendition of an account, its examination, correctness in certain particulars, and return.[72] But the action on a stated account is not extended to the case of such compulsory adjustments of demands as the law may make against the will of the party.[73]

(II) ORIGINAL INDEBTEDNESS — (A) In General. Mere proof of indebtedness is not sufficient to authorize a recovery on or to sustain an account stated,[74] nor can the party fall back upon the original account[75] unless the pleadings are so framed as to show that he does not rely solely upon a stated account.[76] And even if a count for the original debt is joined, but the issue at the trial is confined to the account stated, judgment cannot be rendered for an item of the account upon failure to prove the stated account.[77] Where the transactions upon the result of which the balance is sought to be recovered are not pleaded as an account stated, it is permissible for either party to show the nature of such transactions.[78]

(B) Proof without Regard to Original Items. An action on an account stated being upon the new promise, and not upon the original debt or items of account,

68. Alabama.— Christian v. Hill, 122 Ala. 490, 26 So. 149; Comer v. Way, 107 Ala. 300, 19 So. 966, 54 Am. St. Rep. 93; Loventhal v. Morris, 103 Ala. 332, 15 So. 672.

Arkansas.— Thurmond v. Sanders, 21 Ark. 255.

Illinois.— Pick v. Slimmer, 70 Ill. App. 358.

Michigan.— Stevens v. Tuller, 4 Mich. 387.

Missouri.— Koegel v. Givens, 79 Mo. 77; Davis v. Boswell, 77 Mo. App. 294.

New York.— Volkening v. De Graaf, 81 N. Y. 268.

Oregon.— Truman v. Owens, 17 Oreg. 523, 21 Pac. 665.

69. White v. Campbell, 25 Mich. 463, holding that where the statute of limitations is relied upon by defendant, upon the ground that a claim has been converted into a stated account by his assent, such assent must be proved.

70. Chapman v. Lee, 47 Ala. 143; Gooding v. Hingston, 20 Mich. 439; Montgomerie v. Ivers, 17 Johns. (N. Y.) 38; Fitch v. Leitch, 11 Leigh (Va.) 471.

In an action on a stated account evidence of an admission by defendants that they were doing business as partners, though not confined to the exact time within which the account accrued, is admissible. Sager v. Tupper, 38 Mich. 258.

71. Albrecht v. Gies, 33 Mich. 389.

72. Sergeant v. Ewing, 36 Pa. St. 156.

73. Cooley, J., in Gooding v. Hingston, 20 Mich. 439, in which case it was held that a foreign judgment is not admissible in support of the common counts of assumpsit, including the count on an account stated.

74. Loventhal v. Morris, 103 Ala. 332, 15 So. 672; Koegel v. Givens, 79 Mo. 77.

Account inadmissible.— In an action upon the promise to pay the balance struck on an account rendered, the account itself is not competent evidence, and therefore it is error to permit the jury, over the objection of defendant, to take it out with them. Watson v. Davis, 52 N. C. 178. It is held that the admission of an account between parties tending to show dealings between them in an action on a stated account is erroneous where other evidence shows that a balance was agreed upon, upon an examination of such dealings. Albrecht v. Gies, 33 Mich. 389.

Harmless error.— The admission of an open account is not prejudicial, even if erroneous, where the cause was submitted to the jury on the issue whether there was an account stated, and the recovery was based upon the ground that there was such an account. Warder, etc., Co. v. Angell, 99 Wis. 298, 74 N. W. 789.

75. Koegel v. Givens, 79 Mo. 77.

76. Goings v. Patten, 1 Daly (N. Y.) 168, holding that defendant may fall back upon the accounts and prove a balance due to him, though he relies upon a stated account, unless his pleadings show a sole reliance upon the stated account.

77. Johnson v. Tyng, 1 N. Y. App. Div. 610, 37 N. Y. Suppl. 516.

78. Northern Line Packet Co. v. Platt, 22 Minn. 413. See also II, B, 6, a, (XII), (B).

such action is sufficiently supported by showing an account stated in accordance with the principles already enunciated, and it is not necessary to give evidence of the original character of the debt or of the several items constituting the account.[79] And where an account is rendered and retained without objection, the implied acquiescence from such silence is prima facie sufficient evidence of the debt shown by the account.[80]

(III) Admission— (A) Of Amount. The mere admission of indebtedness without reference to any specific amount will not support a count on an account stated,[81] yet, as it is only necessary that the parties should agree upon a certain amount, evidence that they agreed to the amount without naming it, but alluding to it as "the bill," is sufficient.[82]

(B) Answer of Garnishee. An answer of a garnishee in prior garnishee proceedings is competent evidence to prove the admission of a debt under a count on an account stated.[83]

(C) Admission of Corporation. The admission of a corporation may be shown by the approval of its authorized officers without reference to minute or record entries of such action.[84]

(D) Books of Account as Admission. Where the person to whom an account is rendered examined the book from which it was taken, and made no objection to its correctness, the book was held to be admissible as in the nature of an admission.[85]

(E) Pass-Book in Defendant's Possession. In an action on an account stated plaintiff may prove the statement of the account by a pass-book in the possession of defendant.[86]

(F) Conversation with Third Person. While the admission of one who is not defendant's agent, out of defendant's presence, will not bind him, a conversation

79. Alabama.— Loventhal v. Morris, 103 Ala. 332, 15 So. 672; Ware v. Manning, 86 Ala. 238, 5 So. 682; Ware v. Dudley, 16 Ala. 742; Johnson v. Kelly, 2 Stew. (Ala.) 490.

Arkansas.— State v. Jennings, 10 Ark. 428.

California.— Coffee v. Williams, 103 Cal. 550, 37 Pac. 504; Auzerais v. Naglee, 74 Cal. 60, 15 Pac. 371.

Delaware.— Gregory v. Bailey, 4 Harr. (Del.) 256; Parkin v. Bennington, 1 Harr. (Del.) 209.

Florida.— Jacksonville, etc., R., etc., Co. v. Warriner, 35 Fla. 197, 16 So. 898.

Illinois.— Throop v. Sherwood, 9 Ill. 92; American Brewing Co. v. Berner-Mayer Co., 83 Ill. App. 446.

Louisiana.— Irving v. Edrington, 41 La. Ann. 671, 6 So. 177; Oakey v. Weil, 7 La. Ann. 169.

Maryland.— Clemens v. Baltimore, 16 Md. 208.

Massachusetts.— Chace v. Trafford, 116 Mass. 529, 17 Am. Rep. 171; Union Bank v. Knapp, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 96, 15 Am. Dec. 181.

Mississippi.— Reinhardt v. Hines, 51 Miss. 344.

New York.— Field v. Knapp, 108 N. Y. 87, 14 N. E. 829; Wiley v. Brigham, 16 Hun (N. Y.) 106.

Utah.— Benites v. Hampton, 3 Utah 369, 3 Pac. 206.

Vermont.— Powers v. New England F. Ins. Co., 68 Vt. 390, 35 Atl. 331.

United States.— Marye v. Strouse, 5 Fed. 483.

England.— Bartlett v. Emery, 1 T. R. 42, note a.

Books of original entry.— The gist of an action on a stated account being the agreement to or acquiescence in the correctness of the account, it is not necessary, in proving the cause of action, first to show the books of original entry from which the account was made up. Jacksonville, etc., R., etc., Co. v. Warriner, 35 Fla. 197, 16 So. 898.

80. As to implied assent see supra, II, B, 2, l, (II).

81. Bernasconi v. Anderson, M. & M. 183; Kirton v. Wood, 1 Mood. & R. 253. In Lane v. Hill, 18 Q. B. 252, it was held that plaintiff could not recover on an account stated upon evidence of a letter in which defendant wrote to plaintiff, "Oblige [me] by holding my check till Monday, and in the interim [I] will send you the amount in cash," — the check being post-dated and not admissible in evidence, and there being no further evidence of the amount admitted to be due.

82. Goodrich v. Coffin, 83 Me. 324, 22 Atl. 217.

83. See supra, II, B, 2, e.

84. Jacksonville, etc., R., etc., Co. v. Warriner, 35 Fla. 197, 16 So. 898.

Unrecorded approval.— In an action on a stated account against a corporation the cause may be supported by a resolution of the board of trustees notwithstanding the board omitted to record its vote upon the resolution. St. Mary's Church v. Cagger, 6 Barb. (N. Y.) 576.

85. Raub v. Nisbett, 118 Mich. 248, 76 N. W. 393.

86. Ruch v. Fricke, 28 Pa. St. 241.

between the creditor and such other person in the presence of the debtor is admissible as tending to prove an account stated.[87]

(IV) Competency of Third Person. A party relying on a stated account may show by the person who stated the account that it was made upon items admitted by the parties,[88] or by plaintiff's attorney who presented the account and to whom the admission of its correctness and the promise to pay were made.[89]

(V) Written Acknowledgment. A written acknowledgment, whether it be construed to be a promissory note or otherwise, is good evidence in support of a count on an account stated.[90]

(VI) Written Settlement. And where the settlement of the account is reduced to writing, the written instrument is the best evidence of the fact.[91]

(VII) Instruments Importing Past Consideration and Privity— (A) In General. Where an instrument sufficiently raises the inference of an executed consideration passed and received, a recovery may be had thereon under a count on an account stated.[92]

(B) Note, Due-Bill, or Acceptance— (1) In General. The execution of a note or due-bill is such evidence of a settlement as to raise the prima facie presumption of a final settlement of all matters of debit and credit between the parties, and is sufficient to support an action on an account stated.[93] In like man-

87. Lallande v. Brown, 121 Ala. 513, 25 So. 997, holding that the admission of evidence of a conversation between plaintiff and defendant's brother in the presence of defendant was proper, though defendant was very ill at the time; and that an objection on account of the illness of defendant, and the probability of his not having heard the conversation, went to the weight rather than to the admissibility of the testimony.

Admissions by attorney in presence of principal.— Where an attorney becomes a mere agent of the party employing him for the purpose of adjusting the account, and as such agent makes statements in the presence of the principal as to the condition of the account, such statements are admissible as tending to support defendant's plea of an account stated in an action brought by the principal. Burraston v. Nephi First Nat. Bank, (Utah 1900) 62 Pac. 425.

88. Walker v. Driver, 7 Ala. 679.

89. Lawson v. Douglass, 17 N. Y. Suppl. 4, 43 N. Y. St. 356, wherein it is said, however, that such testimony is subject to some criticism.

90. Montgomerie v. Ivers, 17 Johns. (N. Y.) 38.

91. Walker v. Driver, 7 Ala. 679.

Oral promise to pay money due under written instrument.—In an action for use and occupation and on an account stated, evidence that upon application to defendant for payment of the rent he said he would pay it in a week, was held to be admissible as proof of an account stated, although it appeared on cross-examination that the premises were occupied under a written instrument which was not produced, as the case was upon the oral promise to pay, no matter from what cause arising. Arthur v. Dartch, 9 Jur. 118.

92. Barry v. White, 59 Pa. St. 172, holding that a writing certifying that the party signing it would pay a certain amount for a town lot on or before a certain date, and that if he should sell said lot before that time for more than a designated amount the payee should have the benefit of the excess, was sufficient evidence of an account stated, as embracing an executed consideration passed and received.

93. Alabama.— Mills v. Geron, 22 Ala. 669.

District of Columbia.— Marmion v. McClellan, 11 App. Cas. (D. C.) 467.

Iowa.— Everingham v. Halsey, 108 Iowa 709, 78 N. W. 220; Frost v. Clark, 82 Iowa 298, 48 N. W. 82; Remsey v. Duke, Morr. (Iowa) 385.

Massachusetts.— Greenwood v. Curtis, 6 Mass. 358, 4 Am. Dec. 145.

Michigan.— Maybury v. Berkery, 102 Mich. 126, 60 N. W. 699.

Mississippi.— McCormick v. Altneam, 73 Miss. 86, 19 So. 198.

Missouri.—McCormick v. Interstate Consol. Rapid Transit R. Co., 154 Mo. 191, 55 S. W. 252.

New Mexico.— Orr v. Hopkins, 3 N. M. 45, 1 Pac. 181.

New York.— Wright v. Wright, 74 Hun (N. Y.) 138, 26 N. Y. Suppl. 238; Lake v. Tysen, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 461; Davis v. Gallagher, 55 Hun (N. Y.) 593, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 11; Treadwell v. Abrams, 15 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 219; De Freest v. Bloomingdale, 5 Den. (N. Y.) 304.

Pennsylvania.— Fairchild v. Dennison, 4 Watts (Pa.) 258.

Canada.— Palmer v. McLennan, 22 U. C. C. P. 258, 565; Ritchie v. Prout, 16 U. C. C. P. 426.

Proof of execution.— In Matlock v. Purefoy, 18 Ark. 492, it was held that a count upon a stated account not alleged to have been signed by defendant is not founded upon an instrument in writing charged to have been executed by the other party, and that a promissory note is not admissible in evidence until its execution is proved.

After alteration.—Where a promissory note was delivered up to one of the makers upon the death of a co-maker, for the purpose of ner an acceptance is admissible in support of an account stated between the drawer and acceptor,[94] but not between an indorsee and acceptor, because the acceptance does not import a prior debt as between these parties.[95] And where evidence of the settlement is conflicting, the fact that defendant executed the due bill for the balance may be sufficient to establish the settlement of the account.[96]

(2) INSTRUMENT NOT ADMISSIBLE UNDER SPECIAL COUNT. Though a writing is not technically a promissory note, or for other reasons may not be admissible under a special count, it may nevertheless be evidence of a stated account if it sufficiently admits a prior indebtedness,[97] and where there is a variance between the note declared on in a special count and that introduced, this will not affect its admissibility in support of a count on an account stated.[98]

(c) Instrument Not Payable to Plaintiff in Terms — (1) IN GENERAL. The instrument need not be payable in terms to plaintiff, if it is such an instrument as may import an admission of indebtedness to him from the maker.[99]

(2) I O U. An I O U is sufficient evidence that the account was stated with plaintiff.[1]

(VIII) PROMISE OTHER THAN IMPLIED BY LAW. If the promise upon the adjustment of an account is different from that which the law implies from the bare statement of an account, such promise will not be sufficient to support a general count on an account stated,[2] but it will be sufficient to support a special count, and the promise to pay will import a consideration.[3] having the former procure the signature of an additional party, and at the time of such delivery two of the makers signed an I O U for the amount of the note, it was held that whether or not the addition of another name to the note was such a material alteration as to avoid it, as the note was free from objection at the time the I O U was executed, it was admissible in evidence in support of a count on an account stated by the I O U. Gould v. Coombs, 1 C. B. 543.

Joint payees.— Where a note is executed to two persons for the price of land it is immaterial whether the land was owned by one of the payees alone, or by both. The note is prima facie evidence of a debt between the parties. McQueen v. McQueen, 10 U. C. Q. B. 359.

94. Anthony v. Savage, 3 Utah 277, 3 Pac. 546, holding that, under an allegation that defendant admitted in writing and promised to pay, evidence of bills of exchange drawn by plaintiffs and accepted by defendant is admissible together with proof showing that the indebtedness represented by the bills of exchange was the same which defendant promised to pay, as tending to show an indebtedness as the consideration of the new promise. Stewart v. Kirk, 10 N. Brunsw. 131.

95. Stephens v. Berry, 15 U. C. C. P. 548; Calvert v. Baker, 4 M. & W. 417.

96. Frost v. Clark, 82 Iowa 298, 48 N. W. 82.

97. Grant v. Young, 23 U. C. Q. B. 387; Reed v. Reed, 11 U. C. Q. B. 26; Hogan v. McSherry, 6 U. C. Q. B. O. S. 633; Crooks v. Law, 5 U. C. Q. B. O. S. 306; Russell v. Wells, 5 U. C. Q. B. O. S. 725; Palmer v. McLennan, 22 U. C. C. P. 258, 565; Young v. Fluke, 15 U. C. C. P. 360; Casey v. Hanington, 19 N. Brunsw. 282; Emerson v. Gardiner, 6 N. Brunsw. 451.

Illustration.— "Good to Mr. Palmer for $850 on demand," though not a promissory note, was prima facie evidence of an account stated. Palmer v. McLennan, 22 U. C. C. P. 258, 565, 566.

Valid note replaced by void note.— Where a note is given up and replaced by another, and the latter is void because not stamped, so that a recovery could not be had on it, the note for which it was given in renewal may be introduced to prove an account stated. Ritchie v. Prout, 16 U. C. C. P. 426.

98. Oden v. Bonner, 93 Ala. 393, 9 So. 409; Orr v. Hopkins, 3 N. M. 45, 1 Pac. 181; Merritt v. Woods, 2 N. Brunsw. 409.

As to bills of particulars, generally, see PLEADING.

99. Payable to maker and indorsed.— The production of an instrument which was a promise to pay a certain sum of money to the order of the maker, signed and indorsed by the maker, is prima facie evidence of an account stated between the maker and the party who sues on an account stated. Wood v. Young, 14 U. C. C. P. 250.

1. Curtis v. Rickards, 1 M. & G. 46; Fesenmayer v. Adcock, 16 M. & W. 449; Buck v. Hurst, L. R. 1 C. P. 297,— holding that if defendant wishes to rebut the presumption arising from the production of an I O U he should show that it had been in the hands of some other party.

2. Tyke v. Cosford, 14 U. C. C. P. 64; Hopkins v. Logan, 5 M. & W. 241.

3. Davies v. Wilkinson, 10 A. & E. 98.

"$300 — Good to T. T. to the amount of $300, to be paid to him, or his order, at E. C.'s mill . . . in lumber at cash price," is a sufficient acknowledgment and promise to pay, and imports a consideration sufficient to sustain a special count on an account stated. Tyke v. Cosford, 14 U. C. C. P. 64, 65.

(IX) Where Existence of Account Stated Is in Issue. In an action on a stated account defendant may introduce evidence which tends to show that there is no account stated, or plaintiff may prove earlier transactions as a foundation for the settlement, notwithstanding for other purposes the court will not inquire into the character of the original items in the absence of fraud or mistake,[4] and in an action on a stated account for goods sold, evidence of a third person to whom they had been formerly offered is admissible for the purpose of identifying the goods.[5]

(X) Proof of Receipt of Account Sent. Where accounts are sent by the regular vehicles of communication they will be presumed to have been received, in the absence of evidence rebutting such presumption.[6]

(XI) Account Stated after Action Brought. As a plaintiff is not confined, in the introduction of an account stated, to the count on an account stated, but may introduce it under any of the common counts in assumpsit, if the parties take and state an account after the action is brought it may be given in evidence on the trial.[7] But there must be a debt subsisting at the time the action is brought.[8]

c. Evidence Opposed to Stated Account. As any evidence is admissible which tends to prove statement of an account in accordance with the requirements as to the elements of such an account, so any evidence which would tend to defeat liability on a stated account in accordance with the rules which permit the impeachment thereof is admissible for this purpose.[9] The evidence of a stated account which may be afforded by a note may be overcome by evidence of the usage and dealings of the parties of such character as to show that the note does not repre-

4. Illinois.— Pick v. Slimmer, 70 Ill. App. 358.

Indiana.— Binford v. Miner, 101 Ind. 147.

Missouri.— Koegel v. Givens, 79 Mo. 77.

New York.— Field v. Knapp, 108 N. Y. 87, 14 N. E. 829, in which case it was held that defendant might show that while there was an account on his books in plaintiff's name it was not plaintiff's account, but the account of another represented by such name, and that all the dealings were with such other person. Kaminsky v. Mendelson, 25 Misc. (N. Y.) 500, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 1010.

Pennsylvania.— Mead v. White, (Pa. 1887) 8 Atl. 913.

To the same effect is Coffee v. Williams, 103 Cal. 550, 37 Pac. 504.

5. Sager v. Tupper, 38 Mich. 258.

6. Darby v. Lastrapes, 28 La. Ann. 605; New York Cab Co. v. Crow, 23 Misc. (N. Y.) 340, 51 N. Y. Suppl. 252. Contra, Rowland v. Donovan, 16 Mo. App. 554, holding, upon the principle that an account must be received and acquiesced in, in order to make it a stated account, that proof of the mailing of an account by a creditor to a debtor does not of itself show an account stated.

7. Stowe v. Sewall, 3 Stew. & P. (Ala.) 67.

8. Allen v. Cook, 2 Dowl. 546. And a note not due at the commencement of the action has been held to be inadmissible to prove an account stated. Hill v. Lott, 13 U. C. Q. B. 465. See also supra, II, B, 1, d.

9. McCall v. Nave, 52 Miss. 494.

Against admission by corporation.— Where the statement of the account is proved by minute entries of corporate directors, other minute entries made by the directors on the same day, in which the vote approving the account in question does not appear, are admissible. Goodwin v. U. S. Annuity, etc., Ins. Co., 24 Conn. 591.

Denial of authority by corporate officer.— The denial, by the officer of the corporation, of his authority to acknowledge the correctness of the debt, may be admissible, but it is not conclusive where there is other evidence upon the subject. Concord Apartment House Co. v. Alaska Refrigerator Co., 78 Ill. App. 682.

Judgment as credit.— A judgment in another action by plaintiff against defendant is not admissible to show a credit under an allegation of payment as a defense on an action on an account stated, unless it is shown that the judgment was recovered on some of the items in the account. Traitel v. Dwyer, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 1100.

Contradiction by former testimony of plaintiff.— Where one party sets up fraud or misrepresentation as the inducement to the stated account, he may show evidence given by the other on examination before trial which contradicted the account stated where the latter was subpœnaed to produce the books containing the account and failed to do so. Upton v. Bedlow, 4 Daly (N. Y.) 216.

Instrument referred to in written settlement.— When the settlement of an account is written on the back of an instrument to which the settlement referred, the party against whom the settlement is read may introduce the instrument in order to explain the settlement without proving the execution of the instrument. Walker v. Driver, 7 Ala. 679.

sent an ascertained balance.[10] So there is no rule of law which requires any particular method of proving a mistake of fact upon which an account stated is based. Whatever naturally and legitimately tends to establish the fact is competent evidence.[11]

8. Province of Court and Jury — a. In General. How far the decision as to the existence or non-existence of an account stated from particular facts rests with the court or jury, the authorities are not in harmony. In some cases it is held that the question is one of fact for the determination of the jury,[12] though of these some recognize the propriety of the court's instructing the jury upon the hypotheses presented by the evidence of the facts.[13] In others, while the question is considered one for the jury in any event where the evidence is contradictory,[14] where the evidence is clear and undisputed it is reserved to the court to say, as a matter of law, whether there is a stated account.[15] Where there is sufficient evidence to form a legitimate basis for a finding by the jury of the existence of a stated account the verdict will not be disturbed.[16]

b. Assent Implied from Silence. It has been held that whether or not timely objection has been made to an account rendered is a question for the jury,[17] and where the mere retention of an account without objection furnishes evidence admissible as tending to show acquiescence in the correctness of the account, whether silence under the particular circumstances amounts to an admission of correctness, and whether the delay was unreasonable, are held to be questions of fact for the jury.[18] But in other cases, where assent from silence is implied so as to furnish the necessary element to bind the parties as upon an account stated, the question what is a reasonable time within which an account will be presumed to become stated is a question of law when the facts are agreed upon;[19] though, 10. Hill v. Durand, 58 Wis. 160, 15 N. W. 390, holding that where one was in the habit of giving notes which did not represent an actual debt, but was intended to stand as security, the execution of a note at a particular time is not prima facie evidence that the amount thereof represented a balance due upon a stated account.

11. Standard Oil Co. v. Van Etten, 107 U. S. 325, 1 S. Ct. 178, 27 L. ed. 319.

Admission by plaintiff after assignment of claim.— But evidence relative to admissions tending to prove a mistake in the settlement, made by plaintiff after he had transferred his interests in an account to the person for whose use the suit is brought, was held inadmissible as against the beneficial party when made after the transfer. State v. Jennings, 10 Ark. 428.

12. McLellan v. Crofton, 6 Me. 307; Rosenfield v. Fortier, 94 Mich. 29, 53 N. W. 930; Burritt v. Villenuve, 92 Mich. 282, 52 N. W. 614; Davis v. Tiernan, 2 How. (Miss.) 786; Tassey v. Church, 4 Watts & S. (Pa.) 141, 39 Am. Dec. 65.

Where an objection to an account was made either on the day after its rendition or not for three years thereafter or within the lifetime of the other party, it was held that an instruction that a failure to make objection to the account within thirty days was an admission of its correctness as a matter of law was harmless if inaccurate, no error in the account having been shown. Raub v. Nisbett, 118 Mich. 248, 76 N. W. 393.

Trial without jury.— Where the trial is by the court, the question is to be decided by the court as a question of fact. Pick v. Slimmer, 70 Ill. App. 358.

13. Davis v. Tiernan, 2 How. (Miss.) 786; Sergeant v. Ewing, 36 Pa. St. 156.

14. Kronenberger v. Binz, 56 Mo. 121; Meyer v. Marshall, 34 W. Va. 42, 11 S. E. 730.

Denial of facts by defendant.— Where the evidence tending to show an account stated is denied by defendant, the question is one of fact for the jury. Spellman v. Muehlfeld, 166 N. Y. 245, 59 N. E. 817; Robbins v. Downey, 16 N. Y. Suppl. 205, 41 N. Y. St. 95; Vernon v. Simmons, 15 Daly (N. Y.) 399, 7 N. Y. Suppl. 649; Watson v. Davis, 52 N. C. 178.

15. Lockwood v. Thorne, 11 N. Y. 170, 62 Am. Dec. 81.

16. Warder, etc., Co. v. Angell, 99 Wis. 298, 74 N. W. 789.

17. Peter v. Thickstun, 51 Mich. 589, 17 N. W. 68; Druse v. Wheeler, 26 Mich. 189; Porter v. Patterson, 15 Pa. St. 229; Bevan v. Cullen, 7 Pa. St. 281.

18. Miller v. Bruns, 41 Ill. 293; Moran v. Gordon, 33 Ill. App. 46; Hollenbeck v. Ristine, 105 Iowa 488, 75 N. W. 355, 67 Am. St. Rep. 306.

Trial without jury.— Where the court takes the place of the jury its finding upon these questions has the same effect as the finding of the jury. Moran v. Gordon, 33 Ill. App. 46.

19. McKeen v. Boatmen's Bank, 74 Mo. App. 281; Fleischner v. Kubli, 20 Oreg. 328, 25 Pac. 1086; Ault v. Interstate Savings, etc., Assoc., 15 Wash. 627, 47 Pac. 13; Standard Oil Co. v. Van Etten, 107 U. S. 325, 1 S. Ct.

where the evidence is conflicting, whether there was any assent,[20] or the reasonableness of time within which objection is made, becomes a question of fact for the jury,[21] as where the presumption of correctness arising from the retention of a bill without objection is met by proof of mistake undiscovered while the account was so retained,[22] or where the time at which the account was rendered or when objections were made is in controversy.[23] These questions, however, are to be determined under proper instructions from the court, in which aspect it is perhaps more accurately stated that when the facts are disputed or the evidence is not clear the question is a mixed one of law and fact.[24]

c. Construction of Account. An account stated which is unambiguous in its terms is to be construed by the court.[25] Where a settlement consists of names and figures which are not self-explanatory, and do not show the transactions covered, it is for the jury to determine whether the settlement covered the debt in suit.[26]

9. Directing Verdict. Where defendant does not deny the accuracy of the account or that it was rendered, there is nothing to submit to the jury and the court is justified in directing a verdict for plaintiff.[27]

C. Action of Account — 1. The Remedy and Its Application — a. General Nature at Common Law. Account is an ancient common-law action by means of which certain persons who were under a legal duty to account for property or money of another were compelled to render such account, the common way of charging defendant being either as bailiff or receiver.[28] It was the proper remedy where plaintiff wanted an account and could not give evidence of his right without it.[29] It is generally said to have extended to bailiffs, receivers, guardians in socage, and to merchants in favor of trade, being confined strictly to these,[30] though in its earliest use it seems to have been more circumscribed.[31]

178, 27 L. ed. 319; Wiggins v. Burkham, 10 Wall. (U. S.) 129, 19 L. ed. 884; Toland v. Sprague, 12 Pet. (U. S.) 300, 9 L. ed. 1093; Long-Bell Lumber Co. v. Stump, 86 Fed. 574, 57 U. S. App. 546, 30 C. C. A. 260; Talcott v. Chew, 27 Fed. 273.

20. Lockwood v. Thorne, 18 N. Y. 285; Dickerson v. Scheuer, 1 N. Y. Suppl. 419.

21. Hutchinson v. Market Bank, 48 Barb. (N. Y.) 302; Fleischner v. Kubli, 20 Oreg. 328, 25 Pac. 1086.

22. Sharkey v. Mansfield, 90 N. Y. 227, 43 Am. Rep. 161.

23. Fleischner v. Kubli, 20 Oreg. 328, 25 Pac. 1086.

24. Martyn v. Arnold, 36 Fla. 446, 18 So. 791; Ault v. Interstate Sav., etc., Assoc., 15 Wash. 627, 47 Pac. 13; Wiggins v. Burkham, 10 Wall. (U. S.) 129, 19 L. ed. 884, wherein it is said that when the proofs are conflicting the court should instruct the jury as to the law on the several hypotheses of fact insisted upon by the parties.

25. Gem Chemical Co. v. Youngblood, (S. C. 1900), 36 S. E. 437.

26. Ferguson v. Davidson, 147 Mo. 664, 49 S. W. 859.

27. Knickerbocker v. Gould, 115 N. Y. 533, 22 N. E. 573.

28. 3 Reeves Hist. Eng. L. 277.

"Bill for account" and "account render" were formerly employed in common-law practice to denote the procedure by which an account was secured. Field v. Brown, 146 Ind. 293, 45 N. E. 464.

The earliest known instance of this action dates from 1232. It was a new action as late as 1259. Most of its efficiency in later times was due to the statutes of 1267 and 1285 (Stat. Marlb. c. 23; Stat. West. II, c. 11). 2 Pollock & M. Hist. Eng. L. 219, 1 Pollock & M. Hist. Eng. L. 303 note.

29. Tomkins v. Willshear, 5 Taunt. 431.

30. Appleby v. Brown, 24 N. Y. 143; Thouron v. Paul, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 615 [citing 1 Bacon Abr. tit. Accompt, (A.) 32; Coke Litt. 172*a*; 2 Inst. 379; 1 Rolle Abr. 117, l. 43; 1 Comyns' Dig. tit. Accompt (A.) 1; Buller N. P. 127]; 3 Reeves Hist. Eng. L. 55.

31. Guardian in socage.— "In Bracton's day no distinction in this respect seems drawn between the guardian in chivalry and the guardian in socage. Neither one nor the other need account to the heir for the profits of the land; the one, like the other, can sell the ward's marriage. This was so until the eve of the Barons' War, when one of the Provisions of Westminster, afterward confirmed by the Statute of Marlborough, laid down the rule that the guardian in socage must, when the heir has attained majority, account to him or her for the profits of the land, and is not to give or sell the ward in marriage save to the profit of the ward." 1 Pollock & M. Hist. Eng. L. 303, wherein the authors say that Coke, 2 Inst. 135, regards the chapter of the Statute of Marlborough about guardianship in socage as a "declaration of the common law," but that he did not know the Provisions of Westminster and had no warrant for his doctrine.

Partners.— "It was denied in the Year-Book (11 Hen. IV. fol. 79) that where two merchants have goods in common the one can

b. Later Use and Abandonment. In several of the states the action of account has been a recognized remedy and applied under similar circumstances as the action at common law as aided by the several English and American statutes.[32] But the action began to be abandoned at an early day in cases where assumpsit could be brought, so as to preclude defendant of his wager of law,[33] and though it was still used where wager of law was not allowed, yet it fell by degrees into what eventually amounted to almost total disuse, on account of its dilatory and expensive nature,[34] and became supplanted by other remedies, as by assumpsit where the circumstances admitted of such remedy, or by the broader remedy afforded by a bill in a court of equity, which court began at an early day to assume jurisdiction in matters of account.[35] The question whether or not assumpsit will lie has been raised not only with reference to the propriety of that bring account against the other; and Rolle adopts the remark as law (1 Rolle Abr. 118, Account E). He was probably right as to the strict common-law rule; for it will be seen both by Coke Litt. 172*a* and Fitzherbert Nat. Brev. 267 D., that the action is expressly referred, both in principle and the form of the writ, to the law merchant. This is indeed a part of the common law, and it may in that sense be said that account lies between partners at the common law." Cowen, J., in McMurray v. Rawson, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 59, 63.

32. Connecticut.— Griggs v. Dodge, 2 Day (Conn.) 28, 2 Am. Dec. 82; Beach v. Hotchkiss, 2 Conn. 425.

Illinois.— Garrity v. Hamburger Co., 136 Ill. 499, 27 N. E. 11; Lee v. Abrams, 12 Ill. 111; Hawley v. Burd, 6 Ill. App. 454.

Maine.— Black v. Nichols, 68 Me. 227; Closson v. Means, 40 Me. 337.

Maryland.— Hamilton v. Conine, 28 Md. 635, 92 Am. Dec. 724.

New York.— Kelly v. Kelly, 3 Barb. (N. Y.) 419; Jacobs v. Fountain, 19 Wend. (N. Y.) 121.

Pennsylvania.— Bitterling v. Deshler, 160 Pa. St. 1, 28 Atl. 445; Reeside v. Reeside, 49 Pa. St. 322, 88 Am. Dec. 503; Long v. Fitzimmons, 1 Watts & S. (Pa.) 530; Thouron v. Paul, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 615; Bredin v. Dwen, 2 Watts (Pa.) 95.

Vermont.— Hayden v. Merrill, 44 Vt. 336, 8 Am. Rep. 372; Woodward v. Harlow, 28 Vt. 338; Tobias v. McGregor, 19 Vt. 113; Mattocks v. Lyman, 16 Vt. 113.

Equitable relief where no court of chancery. In Pennsylvania it was held that in general the action of account render lies whenever one man has received moneys as the agent of another, and although an attorney intrusted to collect money for his client may not be included in the strict words of the definition of a bailiff, yet by an equitable construction, there being no court of chancery in that state, it may be enlarged to embrace such a case, and as relief could have been had in chancery it will be granted in this action. Bredin v. Kingland, 4 Watts (Pa.) 420. By the same equitable construction the action was extended to joint partners. James v. Browne, 1 Dall. (Pa.) 339.

Trial adapted to particular circumstances. — In Illinois a statute relating to an action of account permits the court to adapt the trial to the particular circumstances if it shall appear that an action of account is proper, and it may change the form of action to an action of account. Garrity v. Hamburger Co., 136 Ill. 499, 27 N. E. 11. But an amendment of the form of action from assumpsit to account render will not be allowed when the motion is not made until six months after the judgment of nonsuit and until after the statute of limitations has barred the action. Bitterling v. Deshler, 160 Pa. St. 1, 28 Atl. 445.

33. Reeves says that debt and accompt lost ground in proportion as assumpsit grew more into fashion; that the principal inducement to recur to assumpsit instead of these writs was to preclude defendant from his wager of law; that when, therefore, a transaction was so circumstanced that the law would not allow this privilege there was no reason for going out of the ancient track, and if the case was such as to be within the compass of these remedies it was still usual to bring debt and accompt. 3 Reeves Hist. Eng. L. 534.

34. McMurray v. Rawson, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 59; Carlisle v. Wilson, 13 Ves. Jr. 276.

35. Iowa.— Stuart v. Kerr, Morr. (Iowa) 240, wherein it appears that all the old forms were abolished by statute, and it was held that account could not be brought.

Kentucky.— Neal v. Keel, 4 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 162.

Massachusetts.— Robinson v. Robinson, 173 Mass. 233; Fanning v. Chadwick, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 420, 15 Am. Dec. 233 (holding that justice could be determined in a form more simple and less expensive by an action of assumpsit, especially since the court was authorized to appoint auditors); Sargent v. Parsons, 12 Mass. 149 (wherein it appears from the reporter's note that account was abolished by statute in that state, though in other cases it appears that, irrespective of statute, assumpsit was considered an appropriate remedy where account might have been brought at common law). See Badger v. Holmes, 6 Gray (Mass.) 118; Shepard v. Richards, 2 Gray (Mass.) 424; Jones v. Harraden, 9 Mass. 540 note; Brigham v. Eveleth, 9 Mass. 538.

Tennessee.— Blanton v. Vanzant, 2 Swan (Tenn.) 276.

Vermont.— Hall v. Peck, 10 Vt. 474, 477.

England.— Carlisle v. Wilson, 13 Ves. Jr. 276; Ex p. Bax, 2 Ves. 388.

remedy as compared with the action of account, but also as compared with the remedy by bill in equity in the cases of particular relations, as where the parties were tenants in common or partners,[36] and while assumpsit has been held to have superseded the remedy by account in general terms, though applying the rule to the relation of tenants in common,[37] when the former is resorted to by tenants in common it is restricted to cases where the action of account would lie, that is, as to the liability by and between such parties;[38] and this is true where the action between such parties is not technically in form assumpsit, but is an action under the statutory system of practice.[39] On the other hand it is held that assumpsit is not a proper remedy between such parties in the absence of an express promise to pay a balance, the remedy being, from the nature of the relation of the parties, by action of account or bill in equity,[40] and in some of the earlier cases the reason usually assigned for resorting either to assumpsit or a bill in equity — namely, the expensive and dilatory character of the common-law action — has been vigorously disputed.[41] The fact remains, however, that notwithstanding the remedy has been used, it may be gathered, not only from cases in which the general statement is made, but from those in which equitable jurisdiction has been assumed, that the remedy by an action of account has in practice fallen into comparative disuse.[42]

c. Necessity of Privity. To maintain an action of account there must be either a privity in deed by consent of the party,— for against a disseizor or

36. See TENANCY IN COMMON; PARTNERSHIP.

37. Maine.— Hudson v. Coe, 79 Me. 83, 8 Atl. 249, 1 Am. St. Rep. 288; Cutler v. Currier, 54 Me. 81.

Massachusetts.— Badger v. Holmes, 6 Gray (Mass.) 118; Shepard v. Richards, 2 Gray (Mass.) 424; Munroe v. Luke, 1 Metc. (Mass.) 459; Miller v. Miller, 7 Pick. (Mass.) 133, 19 Am. Dec. 264, 9 Pick. (Mass.) 34; Fanning v. Chadwick, 3 Pick. (Mass.) 420, 15 Am. Dec. 233; Jones v. Harraden, 9 Mass. 540 note; Brigham v. Eveleth, 9 Mass. 538.

New York.— Cochran v. Carrington, 25 Wend. (N. Y.) 409.

Pennsylvania.— Winton Coal Co. v. Pancoast Coal Co., 170 Pa. St. 437, 33 Atl. 110; Borrell v. Borrell, 33 Pa. St. 492; Gillis v. McKinney, 6 Watts & S. (Pa.) 78, in which case, however, there was an express promise on the part of the tenant receiving the rents to pay the other tenant his share.

Tennessee.— Blanton v. Vanzant, 2 Swan (Tenn.) 276.

38. Hudson v. Coe, 79 Me. 83, 8 Atl. 249, 1 Am. St. Rep. 288; Richardson v. Richardson, 72 Me. 403; Cutler v. Currier, 54 Me. 81; Gowen v. Shaw, 40 Me. 56; Peck v. Carpenter, 7 Gray (Mass.) 283, 66 Am. Dec. 477; Sargent v. Parsons, 12 Mass. 149; Blanton v. Vanzant, 2 Swan (Tenn.) 276.

39. Pico v. Columbet, 12 Cal. 414, 73 Am. Dec. 550; Ragan v. McCoy, 29 Mo. 356; Woolever v. Knapp, 18 Barb. (N. Y.) 265. See TENANCY IN COMMON.

40. Illinois.— Crow v. Mark, 52 Ill. 332.

Maine.— Maguire v. Pingree, 30 Me. 508.

Maryland.— Hamilton v. Conine, 28 Md. 635, 92 Am. Dec. 724; Milburn v. Guyther, 8 Gill (Md.) 92, 50 Am. Dec. 681.

New York.— Sherman v. Ballou, 8 Cow. (N. Y.) 304.

Pennsylvania.— Ozeas v. Johnson, 1 Binn. (Pa.) 191.

Tennessee.— Terrell v. Murray, 2 Yerg. (Tenn.) 384.

England.— Thomas v. Thomas, 5 Exch. 28.

41. Beach v. Hotchkiss, 2 Conn. 425, in which case Hosmer, J., said that the difficulty attending the action was not intrinsic, but adventitious, resulting from the old mode of practice, and that under the more simple practice prevailing in that state the action was not more objectionable on the ground of expense or protracted litigation than any other action. In McMurray v. Rawson, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 59, it was said that there had been only one case of account in that state before that time, and that the present experiment would probably be the last, and the court instanced Godfrey v. Saunders, 3 Wils. C. P. 73, as a case showing the dilatoriness of this remedy. But in a later case in New York (Kelly v. Kelly, 3 Barb. (N. Y.) 419, 423) it was held, as in Beach v. Hotchkiss, 2 Conn. 425, supra, that under the practice as established by the revised statutes in New York at that time there was "no more difficulty in prosecuting an action of account after a judgment quod computet than in prosecuting an action of assumpsit involving the examination of a long account." A case earlier than either of these in this state recognized the propriety of an action and failed to notice the objection made in the first case mentioned. See Duncan v. Lyon, 3 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 351, 8 Am. Dec. 513. So in Hamilton v. Conine, 28 Md. 635, 92 Am. Dec. 724, the court relied upon Godfrey v. Saunders, 3 Wils. C. P. 73, as illustrating the advantages of the action of account over a bill in equity, pointing out that the matter involved therein was examined before auditors and determined in the course of two years, though they had previously been pending in chancery upward of twelve years.

42. See infra, II, E, 1.

wrongdoer no account will lie,— or a privity in law, ex provisione legis, made by the law as against a guardian, etc.[43] As an exception to this rule an infant tenant in socage may maintain an action of account render against a stranger who enters into his land and receives the profits thereof.[44]

d. Against Bailiff or Receiver — (I) Character of Bailiff or Receiver. A bailiff is one who has charge of lands, goods, and chattels of another to make the best profit for the owner;[45] a receiver, one who has received money or property of another for which he ought to account.[46] In the latter case the party should be charged as receiver and not as bailiff,[47] for a bailiff is accountable for the profits he may reasonably have made, and is entitled to his reasonable charges and expenses, and in this he is distinguishable from a receiver.[48] Therefore a guardian should be charged as bailiff and not as receiver, otherwise he would lose his costs and expenses.[49]

(II) Appointment. A bailiff can only be one who is appointed such or who is made such by law; but the latter instance applies only to a guardian who is bailiff of his ward.[50] But there is no necessity that there should have been any special appointment in order to charge one as receiver.[51]

e. By Cotenants — (I) Necessity of Appointment of Bailiff. — (A) At Common Law. As a bailiff at common law could only be such by appointment, one tenant in common or joint tenant could not have an action of account against his cotenant unless the latter had been appointed bailiff of the former.[52]

(B) Under Statute. This defect of the common law was remedied by the statute of 4 Anne whereby one joint tenant or tenant in common may have an account against his cotenant as bailiff for receiving more than his share of profit, though there be no appointment of the latter as receiver,[53] and in the United States similar statutes have been adopted. Under these statutes, however, while the tenant is made liable as bailiff for receiving, etc., without the appointment, the liability

43. Anonymous, 2 N. C. 259; Portsmouth v. Donaldson, 32 Pa. St. 202, 72 Am. Dec. 782; Conklin v. Bush, 8 Pa. St. 514; Thouron v. Paul, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 615; Whelen v. Watmough, 15 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 153; Kelley v. Kelley, 13 Phila. (Pa.) 179, 36 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 284; Brinsmaid v. Mayo, 9 Vt. 31; Coke Litt. 172*a*.

44. Thouron v. Paul, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 615 [citing Fitzherbert Nat. Brev. 117, note a; Coke Litt. 89*b*; Hughs v. Harrys, Cro. Car. 229].

45. Bredin v. Kingland, 4 Watts (Pa.) 420, Coke Litt. 172*a*.

46. Wood v. Merrow, 25 Vt. 340; Coke Litt. 172*a*.

47. Wood v. Merrow, 25 Vt. 340.

48. Bredin v. Kingland, 4 Watts (Pa.) 420; Gibbs v. Sleeper, 45 Vt. 409; Cilley v. Tenny, 31 Vt. 401; Swift v. Raymond, 11 Vt. 317; Sturton v. Richardson, 13 M. & W. 17, Coke Litt. 172*a*.

The distinction, however, has been held not to be universally applicable. In Pennsylvania it was held that an attorney who had received money for his client would be compelled to account as bailiff, though an attorney might not come within the strict definition of bailiff; that the relief was such as a court of chancery would have afforded at common law in England and in this country in order to accomplish justice; that the distinction between a bailiff and receiver is that the former is entitled to reasonable expenses, while the latter is not, but that the distinction is not universally true, as it does not apply to partners. Bredin v. Kingland, 4 Watts (Pa.) 420.

49. Coke Litt. 89*a*, 172*a*.

50. Sargent v. Parsons, 12 Mass. 149.

51. Kelly v. Kelly, 3 Barb. (N. Y.) 419 [citing Anonymous, 12 Mod. 509].

52. Lacon v. Davenport, 16 Conn. 331; Hayden v. Merrill, 44 Vt. 336, 8 Am. Rep. 372; Brinsmaid v. Mayo, 9 Vt. 31; Coke Litt. 200*b*.

53. 4 Anne, c. 16, § 27, provides that "actions of account shall and may be brought and maintained against the executors and administrators of every guardian, bailiff, and receiver; and also by one joint tenant and tenant in common, his executors and administrators, against the other as bailiff for receiving more than comes to his just share or proportion, and against the executor and administrator of such joint tenant or tenant in common; and the auditors appointed by the court where such action shall be depending shall be and are hereby empowered to administer an oath and examine the parties touching the matter in question, and for their pains and trouble in auditing and taking such account have such allowance as the court shall adjudge to be reasonable, to be paid by the party on whose side the balance of the account shall appear to be." Hayden v. Merrill, 44 Vt. 336, 340, 8 Am. Rep. 372; Coke Litt. 172*a*.

is not that of a common-law bailiff, but one for the actual receipt of more than his just share.[54] Under express statutory provisions the liability has been sometimes extended further than this.[55]

(II) Purchaser of Interest of Cotenant. Where one cotenant sells his interest, the purchaser thereof becomes a tenant in common with the other owner, and in such a case there exists that privity which is said to be essential to sustain an action of account.[56]

f. Under Lease to Farm upon Shares. Under a farm lease whereby the produce of the farm is to be divided in specific proportions between the lessor and the lessee, account is the proper remedy against the lessee after demand and refusal to account.[57] But an accounting against one as bailiff and receiver under such a contract will not be compelled until the expiration of the time specified therein.[58]

g. By Partners. Where parties sustain to each other the relation of partners, account is an available remedy, where the remedy exists, to compel an accounting,[59] and where, by statute, an action may be brought against a partner, it is held that the remedy is not confined to mercantile partners.[60]

h. Remedy Restricted to Two Partners or Tenants. The action was restricted to cases where there were only two partners or tenants in common, the remedy in others being by bill in equity, because of the inability of a court of law to render distinct and several judgments in one action,[61] unless it may be done by statute,[62] or the action is extended because of the absence of a court of chancery to grant appropriate relief in such cases.[63] But it has been held that where several parties 54. Irvine v. Hanlin, 10 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 219; Kelley v. Kelley, 13 Phila. (Pa.) 179, 36 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 284; Henderson v. Eason, 17 Q. B. 701; Wheeler v. Horne, Willes 208. See infra, II, C, 6, a, (III), (B).

Action upon the statute.— It is said that an action by a tenant in common under the statute of Anne is not an action of account, but is an action upon the statute or upon the particular circumstances which give the action. Sargent v. Parsons, 12 Mass. 149 [citing Wheeler v. Horne, Willes 208].

Question for jury.— Where the character of a tenant in common as bailiff is established, and there is evidence that defendant had received more than his just share, it is proper to leave it to the jury to say whether or not defendant had received more than his just share. Beer v. Beer, 12 C. B. 60.

55. Knowles v. Harris, 5 R. I. 402, 73 Am. Dec. 77; Hayden v. Merrill, 44 Vt. 336, 8 Am. Rep. 372.

56. Oviatt v. Sage, 7 Conn. 95, holding, upon the principle stated, that testimony of the assent of the vendor's cotenant to the sale, and of the agreement of the purchaser to consider such cotenant as a tenant in common with him, is admissible, and its exclusion erroneous; Aiken v. Smith, 21 Vt. 172.

57. La Point v. Scott, 36 Vt. 603; Cilley v. Tenny, 31 Vt. 401; Aiken v. Smith, 21 Vt. 172; Stedman v. Gassett, 18 Vt. 346; Ganaway v. Miller, 15 Vt. 152; Albee v. Fairbanks, 10 Vt. 314.

Reason for rule.— This does not depend upon the language of the statute alone, permitting the action by one tenant in common against another, but also rests upon the doctrine of the common law that by such contract defendant is bailiff of the landlord. Cilley v. Tenny, 31 Vt. 401; Stedman v. Gassett, 18 Vt. 346; Albee v. Fairbanks, 10 Vt. 314.

58. Ganaway v. Miller, 15 Vt. 152.

59. Duncan v. Lyon, 3 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 351, 8 Am. Dec. 513; Thouron v. Paul, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 615; Griffith v. Willing, 3 Binn. (Pa.) 317; James v. Browne, 1 Dall. (Pa.) 339; Newell v. Humphrey, 37 Vt. 265; Wood v. Merrow, 25 Vt. 340. See, generally, PARTNERSHIP.

60. Kelly v. Kelly, 3 Barb. (N. Y.) 419, holding that there is no reason for driving partners in any other business than mercantile into a court of chancery.

61. Beach v. Hotchkiss, 2 Conn. 425; McMurray v. Rawson, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 59; Stevens v. Coburn, 71 Vt. 261, 44 Atl. 354; Newell v. Humphrey, 37 Vt. 265; Wood v. Merrow, 25 Vt. 340; Brinsmaid v. Mayo, 9 Vt. 31.

A writ of account render will not be quashed on motion upon the ground that defendant was summoned to answer to individuals who have no community of interest. Clarke v. Ballou, 12 Pa. Co. Ct. 369.

62. In Vermont, by statute, the action of account was extended to cases where more than two parties had separate and distinct interests. Newell v. Humphrey, 37 Vt. 265. But as before the statute the remedy in such a case was in equity, and the statute conferred equitable powers upon a particular court to meet the exigency, jurisdiction was confined to this court. Stevens v. Coburn, 71 Vt. 261, 44 Atl. 354; La Point v. Scott, 36 Vt. 633.

63. James v. Browne, 1 Dall. (Pa.) 339.

Necessity of joint liability.— An action of account render can be maintained only where there is a contract express or implied; and have one joint interest as against another it is the same as if there were only two parties and the action will lie.[64]

i. Husband and Wife — (I) By Both for Account of Wife's Property. Husband and wife may join in an action of account for rents and profits of the wife's land arising during coverture.[65]

(II) By Wife after Coverture. And after coverture a woman may affirm her former proceedings and continue one her bailiff whom she had appointed during coverture, so as to make him accountable to her as bailiff after coverture.[66]

j. Remainder Interest in Personalty. Where personal property is limited over by way of remainder, account will lie to recover the property upon the termination of the particular estate as against the holder of the intermediate estate.[67]

k. Against Trustee in Will. Where a trustee named in a will has been the receiver of the effects charged in the declaration, account render is the proper remedy to compel him to account for his receipts and expenses.[68]

l. Account for Notes. Where notes are put into the hands of a bailiff or receiver under a contract, he may be called upon to account in a common-law action of account,[69] even under such circumstances that a suit on the note itself could not be maintained in the name of the plaintiff.[70]

2. Propriety as Compared with Other Remedies in Particular Cases — a. In General. Where evidence can be given of the receipt of money, assumpsit or debt is substituted for the action of account,[71] and in cases where assumpsit or as each partner of the firm contracts with the other for himself alone, one partner cannot maintain an action of account against two others without showing a joint liability to account to him. Portsmouth v. Donaldson, 32 Pa. St. 202, 72 Am. Dec. 782; Whelen v. Watmough, 15 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 153.

64. Stevens v. Coburn, 71 Vt. 261, 44 Atl. 354; Wiswell v. Wilkins, 4 Vt. 137.

In Connecticut it was held that a statute providing that a suit against two or more defendants to compel them to render an account should be brought by bill in equity had reference to cases where the defendants were sued severally and not as joint bailiffs or partners. Barnum v. Landon, 25 Conn. 137.

65. Lewis v. Martin, 1 Day (Conn.) 263.

66. Smith v. Woods, 3 Vt. 485, in which case notes were executed by a husband to a third person for the benefit of his wife, and placed in escrow not to be binding upon the maker until after a divorce obtained by the wife against the husband. In an action of account against the nominal payee of the notes it was objected that the plaintiff, being a feme covert, was destitute of the power to constitute defendant her bailiff at the time the notes were executed; but it was held that as the divorce was obtained and the woman then affirmed her former proceedings it was immaterial that she was a feme covert when the notes were signed, as that difficulty was over before they had any binding force upon the signers.

67. Griggs v. Dodge, 2 Day (Conn.) 28, 2 Am. Dec. 82.

68. Bredin v. Dwen, 2 Watts (Pa.) 95, under a statute giving assumpsit, debt, detinue, or account render, as the case may require, for any legacy or bequest of money, goods, or chattels.

69. Woodward v. Harlow, 28 Vt. 338. See also Spalding v. Dunlap, 1 Root (Conn.) 319.

70. Rule as in trover.— Where a note is payable to defendant, but was executed for the sole benefit of plaintiff, account may be maintained by plaintiff against defendant as bailiff, and parol evidence may be admitted to show that defendant received it as bailiff, upon the same principle that permits a person having such beneficial interest in a note of this kind to bring trover for its conversion. Smith v. Woods, 3 Vt. 485.

71. Linton v. Walker, 8 Fla. 144 [citing 1 Archbold N. P. 197]; Thompson v. Babcock, Brayt. (Vt.) 24.

Receipt of money presumed.— It is not necessary to prove the actual receipt of money in order to justify recovery in an action for money had and received to plaintiff's use, and if, after a reasonable time has elapsed, defendant does not account, it may be presumed that he has received money for the goods of plaintiff, or plaintiff may proceed against him for an accounting. Hunter v. Welsh, 1 Stark. 178. This may not be true, however, if defendant tied himself down to proof of a sale, by a positive averment of that fact. Elbourn v. Upjohn, 1 C. & P. 572.

Election.— Action of account at common law is concurrent in many cases with assumpsit. Hall v. Peck, 10 Vt. 474. It lies in every case where a person has received money to the use of another, but plaintiff may waive this remedy and bring assumpsit on the promise. Mumford v. Avery, Kirby (Conn.) 163; Wetmore v. Woodbridge, Kirby (Conn.) 164. But he cannot do so to the prejudice of defendant. Tousey v. Preston, 1 Conn. 175. And he cannot convert the latter action into account and have auditors after the issue is found against him on the promise. Wetmore v. Woodbridge, Kirby (Conn.) 164.

debt will not lie it is usually necessary to bring an action of account or file a bill in equity.[72]

b. Simple Relation of Debtor and Creditor. Where the relation of the parties is simply that of debtor and creditor, and the amount of the debt is certain or ascertainable by simple calculation, account is not the proper remedy, but the claim should be enforced in the ordinary forms of action according to the nature of the demand, as where assumpsit[73] or covenant is the proper remedy.[74] And the mere fact that there are several items on both sides of an account, when by subtracting one side from the other a balance is easily ascertainable, will not drive plaintiff from assumpsit to account.[75]

c. Rents Reserved Unascertained. It is a general rule that account will not lie for rent reserved on a lease, but this must be understood of a certain rent, and not where the amount is uncertain and an account on oath may be necessary to ascertain the amount received.[76]

d. Interest in Profits. Under a contract whereby a person is to have a share in the profits of a transaction, whether his remedy may be assumpsit or must be account depends upon whether he had any property in the chattels, and so in the specific money for which they are sold, or whether the form of contract is only a mode of determining compensation for labor. In the latter case the remedy is by an action of assumpsit; in the former, account would be proper.[77]

e. Nature of Agent's Duty. The nature of the duty to be performed by an agent determines the form of action in which he is to be sued. If the trust is to pay to the principal directly, assumpsit is proper; but if it is only one of outlay requiring an exhibit of sums expended, assumpsit is not proper until it is ascertained by an action of account that a balance is due.[78]

f. Equitable Title. The action of account will not lie upon mere equitable title to recover rents and profits, and the rule is applied where it is sought to recover for the avails of lands sold.[79]

72. Linton v. Walker, 8 Fla. 144 [citing 1 Archbold N. P. 197].

73. Richey v. Hathaway, 149 Pa. St. 207, 24 Atl. 191.

No discovery necessary.— Thouron v. Paul, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 615, in which case, as there was no court of chancery to resort to, the doctrine applied in a court of chancery that equitable jurisdiction will not be entertained where the accounts are all on one side and no discovery is needed was applied to an action of account render.

Items of book account.— In an action of account, items of book account are properly excluded, and the statute which allows items of account to be adjusted in book account does not operate vice versa to allow the adjustment of items of book account in account. Cilley v. Tenny, 31 Vt. 401; Tobias v. McGregor, 19 Vt. 113; Swift v. Raymond, 11 Vt. 317.

In Illinois the action was enlarged by statute so that it could be brought on book account. Garrity v. Hamburger Co., 136 Ill. 499, 27 N. E. 11.

74. Addams v. Tutton, 39 Pa. St. 447, wherein it is said that notwithstanding action of account render and the action of covenant for breach of a partnership contract may practically overreach each other at some points, they have theoretically different provinces; that for a breach of contract of partnership in wrongfully dissolving the partnership, and for wrongful acts which embarrass its operations, covenant is the proper remedy.

75. Tomkins v. Willshear, 5 Taunt. 431, wherein it was said that Scott v. McIntosh, 2 Campb. 238, decided at nisi prius, could not be used as an authority to the contrary, as that case involved so great a number of items between merchants as that it would have been impossible to have tried it before a jury, and it was therefore necessary to take an account.

76. Long v. Fitzimmons, 1 Watts & S. (Pa.) 530, where defendants agreed to account for a certain proportion of tolls and profits which they should receive from a grist-mill demised, which they had refused to do.

77. Mattocks v. Lyman, 16 Vt. 113. But as to the right of persons claiming an interest in profits see PARTNERS.

78. Richey v. Hathaway, 149 Pa. St. 207, 24 Atl. 191; Reeside v. Reeside, 49 Pa. St. 322, 88 Am. Dec. 503; Hartup v. Wardlove, 2 Show. 301.

79. Cearnes v. Irving, 31 Vt. 604.

Assignment for use of assignee.— Where plaintiff made an assignment of a policy of insurance and a bill of lading in consideration of an indebtedness to the assignee and to secure the latter for services in a particular business, and constituted the assignee his attorney to collect claims thereunder for the use of the assignee, he cannot bring an action of account against the assignee as bailiff, because by the assignment he parted with all his legal interest. Dexter v. Hitchcock, 10 Conn. 209.

Bailiff by appointment.— But in Connecti-

3. Demand. Before bringing an action of account against one to account as bailiff and receiver there should be a demand of defendant to render an account.[80]

4. Damages. In an action of account plaintiff may recover damages as laid in his declaration, or the amount of value as found by auditors, and also costs under the name of damages.[81] And plaintiff's claim for damages arising out of a breach of a lease to cultivate land and for the division of the avails of the products, which damages affect the proper settlement, may be brought into the accounting.[82] But a breach of contract whereby the making of profits has been prevented need not necessarily be brought into an account, but may be sued independently.[83] In the case of the letting of a farm upon shares there should be an express contract shown in order to create an independent cause of action for articles received by the landlord.[84]

5. Jurisdiction of Justice of Peace. It has been held that a justice of the peace has no jurisdiction of an action of account,[85] though in other jurisdictions the contrary rule has prevailed.[86]

6. Pleading — a. Declaration[87] — (1) In General. A declaration in an action of account should set forth enough to show that plaintiff is entitled to both the judgments which are incident to such an action: namely, judgment that defendant do account; and judgment, after the account, for the balance found due;[88] cut it was held that where the tenant was bailiff by appointment as at common law, and by agreement was to account to plaintiff during a particular time, it was immaterial in whom the legal title to the property rested. Lacon v. Davenport, 16 Conn. 331.

80. Barnum v. Landon, 25 Conn. 137; Chadwick v. Divol, 12 Vt. 499; Topham v. Braddick, 1 Taunt. 572. But see Sturges v. Bush, 5 Day (Conn.) 452.

Demand of return and denial of right.— Where a tenant in common with defendant of property of which defendant had obtained possession demanded the return of the property or payment for it, and defendant denied that the plaintiff had any right to the property, it was held that this was sufficient to sustain the issue on the part of plaintiff upon a plea that there was no special demand upon defendant to render his account. Aiken v. Smith, 21 Vt. 172.

Demand before expiration of lease.— The demand upon a lessee for a division of crops, made after the crops had been stored and before the expiration of the time limited for the continuance of the lease, is sufficient in case the lessee fails to account after the expiration of such time, and the lessor may maintain an action of account without waiting until the crops are consumed or disposed of by the lessee, and then demanding an account. Stedman v. Gassett, 18 Vt. 346.

81. Gratz v. Phillips, 5 Binn. (Pa.) 564, 568 [quoting from Bacon Abr. that "if the defendant resists the plaintiff's claim by pleading, or where an increase is received by the receiver ad merchandizandum, there shall be judgment for damages"]; Collet v. Robston, 2 Leon. 118.

82. La Point v. Scott, 36 Vt. 603; Cilley v. Tenny, 31 Vt. 401, holding that under such a contract the recovery by defendant for plaintiff's neglect to keep up fences, etc., as provided by the contract, are no less the proper subjects of an accounting because they are called damages.

83. La Point v. Scott, 36 Vt. 603.

84. La Point v. Scott, 36 Vt. 603.

85. Crow v. Mark, 52 Ill. 332.

86. Bulkly v. Lewis, 1 Root (Conn.) 217; Chadwick v. Divol, 12 Vt. 499, 502, holding that under the statute relating to the action of account the course of proceeding mentioned in the act was by no means adapted to a justice's court, but that by the terms of the act the course prescribed was clearly made applicable to "any action of account pending in any court in this state," and that therefore the action of account might be brought before a justice of the peace where the question of jurisdiction did not arise in reference to the amount in controversy.

Equity powers conferred upon particular court.— But in Vermont, under a statute conferring equitable jurisdiction upon a particular court in cases involving an accounting between more than two persons having distinct interests, it was held that this jurisdiction could not be extended to a justice of the peace. La Point v. Scott, 36 Vt. 633.

87. Forms of declarations in actions of account may be found set out in whole, in part, or in substance in the following cases:

Connecticut.— Sturges v. Bush, 5 Day (Conn.) 452; Griggs v. Dodge, 2 Day (Conn.) 28, 2 Am. Dec. 82; Lewis v. Martin, 1 Day (Conn.) 263.

Missouri.— Hughes v. Woosley, 15 Mo. 492.

Pennsylvania.— McLean v. Wade, 53 Pa. St. 146; Bredin v. Dwen, 2 Watts (Pa.) 95; Long v. Fitzimmons, 1 Watts & S. (Pa.) 530; Gratz v. Phillips, 5 Binn. (Pa.) 564.

Vermont.— Joy v. Walker, 29 Vt. 257; Field v. Torrey, 7 Vt. 372.

England.— Henderson v. Eason, 17 Q. B. 701; Baxter v. Hozier, 5 Bing. N. Cas. 288; Beer v. Beer, 12 C. B. 60; Gorely v. Gorely, 1 H. & N. 144; Topham v. Braddick, 1 Taunt. 572; Godfrey v. Saunders, 3 Wils. C. P. 73.

88. Travers v. Dyer, 16 Blatchf. (U. S.) 178, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,150, holding that on general demurrer the only question is whether and defendant should be charged in the particular character in which he is liable.[89]

(II) Allegation as to Privity. The declaration must show the existence of that privity upon which the right to an account depends.[90]

(III) Against Cotenant—(A) As Bailiff at Common Law. Where a cotenant is charged as bailiff at common law it is not necessary to allege that he received more than his share of the rents and profits.[91]

(B) Under Statute—(1) Receipt of Rents, etc. Under the statutes heretofore mentioned, giving the action of account to cotenants, a declaration must allege the relation of the parties as cotenants and that defendant had received more than his share of the rents and profits.[92] In the absence of an allegation of such relation of the parties it will be intended that defendant was bailiff by appointment, in which event the appointment must be proved, and recovery cannot be had under the statute,[93] and any allegation of the receipt of rents and profits by defendant not inconsistent with his having received more than his just share is not sufficient.[94]

(2) Interests of Tenants. The declaration should not only allege the tenancy in common or joint tenancy of plaintiff and defendant, but should set out the proportions in which they severally hold, so that the particular relation of the parties in regard to their respective interests may be seen by the court.[95]

(IV) Receipt of Money. In account against a receiver the declaration should show from whom the money was received,[96] where the privity between the parties does not arise from such a relation that money may be presumed to the count is sufficient in substance without regard to form, though enough must be stated in some form to constitute a cause of action according to the principle stated in the text.

Demand before justice of the peace.— Where the action could be brought before a justice of the peace it was held that plaintiff should demand in his writ the defendant's reasonable account as well as his damages. Bulkly v. Lewis, 1 Root (Conn.) 217.

89. Wood v. Merrow, 25 Vt. 340; Bishop v. Eagle, 11 Mod. 186.

90. Wood v. Merrow, 25 Vt. 340; Travers v. Dyer, 16 Blatchf. (U. S.) 178, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,150.

91. Barnum v. Landon, 25 Conn. 137.

92. The reason for this is that if not thus brought within the terms of the statute it cannot be shown upon what rule of liability defendant is to account. Irvine v. Hanlin, 10 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 219; Hayden v. Merrill, 44 Vt. 336, 8 Am. Rep. 372; Cearnes v. Irving, 31 Vt. 604; Brinsmaid v. Mayo, 9 Vt. 31; Wheeler v. Horne, Willes 208; Sturton v. Richardson, 13 M. & W. 17.

93. Irvine v. Hanlin, 10 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 219; Wheeler v. Horne, Willes 208.

Charge as bailiff and cotenant.— Where the declaration charged defendant as bailiff, and it was further to be gathered from the declaration that the parties were tenants in common, evidence tending to show that they were co-owners and that defendant had received more than his share of the proceeds of the property will sustain the declaration. Onion v. Fullerton, 17 Vt. 359.

94. Strong v. Richardson, 19 Vt. 194; Brinsmaid v. Mayo, 9 Vt. 31.

Waiver of objection.— The objection for a defect in this respect must be taken by demurrer, and if defendant pleads in bar and the issue is tried the objection will be waived. Strong v. Richardson, 19 Vt. 194.

95. Cearnes v. Irving, 31 Vt. 604; Strong v. Richardson, 19 Vt. 194; Brinsmaid v. Mayo, 9 Vt. 31, holding that where the declaration alleged that defendant was seized of one moiety as tenant in common with plaintiff, but did not allege that plaintiff was seized of the other moiety, it was bad because for aught that appeared there may have been numerous owners of the other moiety, in which event account would not lie, but the remedy was in chancery.

Waiver of objection by pleading in bar instead of demurring, see Strong v. Richardson, 19 Vt. 194.

96. New York.— McMurray v. Rawson, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 59.

Pennsylvania.— Demmy v. Dougherty, 1 Pearson (Pa.) 236.

Vermont.— May v. Williams, 3 Vt. 239.

United States.—Jordan v. Wilkins, 2 Wash. (U. S.) 482, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,526.

England.— Bishop v. Eagle, 11 Mod. 186; Coke Litt. 172*a*; 3 Reeves Hist. Eng. L. 279.

The reason given for the rule is that if it were by the hands of plaintiff, defendant might wage his law. Buller N. P. 127 [cited in McMurray v. Rawson, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 59]. See also Bishop v. Eagle, 11 Mod. 186. But it was held not to dispense with the rule though wage of law is abolished. McMurray v. Rawson, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 59. And so the reason seems also to rest upon the ground of general uncertainty. See Moore v. Wilson, 2 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 91, cited infra, note 97; Jordan v. Wilkins, 2 Wash. (U. S.) 482, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,526; Bishop v. Eagle, 11 Mod. 186.

have been received by the one for which he is accountable to the other;[97] or, in the case of goods belonging to partners, that there was a receipt for the joint benefit of the partners.[98] A count against one as receiver should allege what moneys were received,[99] but in the case of a bailiff it is not necessary to charge by whose hands money was received.[1]

(v) Property of Which Defendant Is Bailiff. In an action of account against one as bailiff a declaration should state the goods. An omission in this respect is at least a defect of form which is reached by a special demurrer,[2] and a variance to the extent of showing a different liability from that charged will be fatal.[3] But it is no objection that one is called upon as bailiff to account for a part only of the property in his hands.[4]

(vi) Specification of Items. In an action of account against defendant as plaintiff's bailiff it is not necessary that all the items for which defendant is accountable under the contract should be specified in the declaration.[5]

(vii) Time. It appears that to charge one as bailiff in proper form the time during which he acted as bailiff should be set up,[6] but where the time is left in blank the defect will be cured by verdict.[7] If defendant was bailiff of plaintiff for any time during the period laid in the declaration it is held that plaintiff may recover,[8] but evidence cannot be given of the receipt of moneys before the time laid in the declaration.[9]

97. The distinction is made as between parties occupying such relation as is stated in the text, as partners, and such as between whom the privity depends upon or is created by the receipt of money. Moore v. Wilson, 2 D. Chipm. (Vt.) 91. But see McMurray v. Rawson, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 59.

98. McFadden v. Sallada, 6 Pa. St. 283; Thouron v. Paul, 6 Whart. (Pa.) 615; James v. Browne, 1 Dall. (Pa.) 339; Demmy v. Dougherty, 1 Pearson (Pa.) 236.

Variance.— Where the declaration charged defendant as bailiff of certain goods belonging to plaintiff to make a profit for plaintiff and as receiver of certain sums by the hands of certain persons, being the money of plaintiff, and the evidence was of money received from a person not named and on the partnership account of plaintiff and defendant, it was held that the variance was fatal; that the declaration stated a cause of action at common law and the case proved was that of one tenant in common suing another; that if plaintiff meant to proceed upon the statute he should have stated his case truly and that the money was received on joint account by the hands of the person who really received it. Jordan v. Wilkins, 2 Wash. (U. S.) 482, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,526.

99. May v. Williams, 3 Vt. 239.

1. Hughes v. Woosley, 15 Mo. 492; Robinson v. Wright, Brayt. (Vt.) 22; Coke Litt. 172*a*; 3 Reeves Hist. Eng. L. 279.

2. McMurray v. Rawson, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 59.

But in Bishop v. Eagle, 11 Mod. 186, it was said that particulars need not be set up in account between merchants. And in Robinson v. Wright, Brayt. (Vt.) 22, it was held, in an action by an administrator against a surviving partner as bailiff and receiver, that the declaration need not aver of what defendant was bailiff.

Description of note.— In account against one as bailiff and receiver of a note described as in the name and in favor of plaintiff, a note executed to selectmen for the use and benefit of plaintiff was held to support the issue under the plea of "never bailiff." Spalding v. Dunlap, 1 Root (Conn.) 319.

3. Under a declaration charging defendant as bailiff of certain enumerated articles as the proper goods of plaintiff, evidence in the shape of a writing to plaintiff by defendant which shows the receipt by defendant of the whole cargo of which the parties were joint owners, and of the whole of which plaintiff was entitled to one sixth of the avails, is not admissible because the liability and the property as shown by such evidence are different from those alleged in the declaration. Hughes v. Barney, 2 Conn. 704.

4. Lacon v. Davenport, 16 Conn. 331; Sturges v. Bush, 5 Day (Conn.) 452.

5. The reason is that defendant has no occasion to know the items of the account in order to enable him to make his defense, for it is not the separate items or the separate release of items to which defendant can plead in bar, but it is to the contract or relation out of which the account is claimed that such a plea must apply. The items are to be met and answered before the auditor. Joy v. Walker, 29 Vt. 257 [overruling in effect Ganaway v. Miller, 15 Vt. 152].

6. See Lacon v. Davenport, 16 Conn. 331; Stedman v. Gassett, 18 Vt. 346; Ganaway v. Miller, 15 Vt. 152; Godfrey v. Saunders, 3 Wils. C. P. 73. But see Hughes v. Woosley, 15 Mo. 492, in which case the form approved as one in accord with the precedents contained blanks for the time during which defendant was alleged to have acted as bailiff.

7. Wright v. Guy, 10 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 227.

8. Lacon v. Davenport, 16 Conn. 331.

9. Sweigart v. Lowmarter, 14 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 200.

(VIII) DEMAND. A general averment that, though requested, defendant had not rendered his reasonable account, is a sufficient allegation of demand,[10] and while an action of account by one cotenant against another is proper only after demand and at reasonable periods,[11] an averment that a reasonable time had elapsed after defendant had been required to account and before the commencement of the action is not necessary.[12]

(IX) DUPLICITY. A declaration containing matters of account is not double because it sets up an express contract showing how the money should have been applied.[13]

(X) JOINDER — (A) In General. Two claims which are entirely dissimilar in their nature cannot be joined. This was applied to the subject-matter of account as bailiff and receiver and items of book account.[14] But it is no ground for defeating an action of account that defendant is called upon in several counts to account for several distinct trusts when there is in fact but one trust,[15] and a count charging defendant as bailiff may be joined with one charging him as tenant in common.[16]

(B) Adding Count by Amendment. A declaration charging defendant as bailiff may be amended by adding a count charging him as tenant in common.[17]

b. Plea[18] — (I) IN GENERAL. The only plea in bar to an action of account is one which shows that defendant is not liable to account,[19] and it is not the separate items of account or the release of separate items to which defendant can plead.[20]

(II) GENERAL ISSUE. While it has been said that there is no general issue in such an action, but that defendant must plead specifically to the cardinal points upon which the account is claimed,[21] "never bailiff or receiver," in an action charging defendant as bailiff or receiver, has been considered to be a general-issue plea because it goes to the root of the action.[22]

(III) FACTS SHOWING NO LIABILITY TO ACCOUNT — (A) In General. The preliminary judgment in an action of account can be barred only by proof of a former accounting or by a denial of the existence of such relation between the parties as entitles the plaintiff to such relief.[23] It is therefore proper to plead to such action any facts which show that defendant is not in law accountable,[24] though it is said he cannot pay money into court.[25]

10. Hughes v. Woosley, 15 Mo. 492.

11. Barnum v. Landon, 25 Conn. 137.

12. Beer v. Beer, 12 C. B. 60, where it is said that Eason v. Henderson, 12 Q. B. 986, is the only modern case in which such averment can be found.

13. Smith v. Smith, 2 Root (Conn.) 42.

14. May v. Williams, 3 Vt. 239.

15. Lacon v. Davenport, 16 Conn. 331.

16. McAdam v. Orr, 4 Watts & S. (Pa.) 550.

17. McAdam v. Orr, 4 Watts & S. (Pa.) 550.

After the report of auditors, however, the declaration cannot be amended so as to introduce a new claim without first setting aside the report, in which case defendant should be allowed to plead de novo. Joy v. Walker, 28 Vt. 442.

18. Forms of pleas in actions of account may be found set out in whole, in part, or in substance in the following cases: Field v. Torrey, 7 Vt. 372; Ricketts v. Loftus, 14 Q. B. 482; Beer v. Beer, 12 C. B. 60; Gorely v. Gorely, 1 H. & M. 144; Godfrey v. Saunders, 3 Wils. C. P. 73.

Form of plea and new assignment in action of account is set out in McDowall v. Boyd, 17 L. J. Q. B. 295.

Forms of replications in actions of account may be found set out in Field v. Torrey, 7 Vt. 372; Godfrey v. Saunders, 3 Wils. C. P. 73.

Form of rejoinder in action of account is set out in Godfrey v. Saunders, 3 Wils. C. P. 73.

Form of surrejoinder in action of account is set out in Godfrey v. Saunders, 3 Wils. C. P. 73.

19. Garrity v. Hamburger Co., 136 Ill. 499, 27 N. E. 11.

20. Mott v. Downer, 1 Root (Conn.) 425; Joy v. Walker, 29 Vt. 257.

21. Cearnes v. Irving, 31 Vt. 604; Bishop v. Baldwin, 14 Vt. 145.

22. Whelen v. Watmough, 15 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 153; Godfrey v. Saunders, 3 Wils. C. P. 94.

23. McPherson v. McPherson, 33 N. C. 391, 53 Am. Dec. 416.

24. Ricketts v. Loftus, 14 Q. B. 482, 2 Chitty Pl. (16th Am. ed.) 294; 3 Reeves Hist. Eng. L. 279.

25. 2 Chitty Pl. (16th Am. ed.) 294 [citing Buller N. P. 128].

(B) Denial of Relation as Tenant. Thus defendant may plead that he was not tenant in common with plaintiff.[26]

(C) "Never Bailiff or Receiver." Where defendant is charged as bailiff or receiver the existence of this relation is the gist of the cause of action, and defendant may plead "never bailiff" or "never receiver" in bar of the account.[27] But the issue raised by this plea will be confined to the existence of the relation, and plaintiff will not be required to show other matters not bearing upon this point,[28] and, if defendant received any of the property mentioned in the declaration, the jury will be warranted in finding a general verdict that defendant was bailiff and receiver.[29]

(D) Plene Computavit — (1) IN GENERAL. As the action is grounded upon the refusal of defendant to account, that defendant has fully accounted is a good plea in bar of the action.[30]

(2) SUFFICIENCY OF ACCOUNTING TO SUPPORT. The accounting may be with plaintiff himself or before auditors assigned by plaintiff, and the reason is that after such an accounting plaintiff's remedy is by an action of debt for the arrears or balance, and the action of account is gone,[31] but it must be the rendering of an account to the satisfaction of plaintiff, or an account which shows an agreed balance between the parties, as nothing short of this will alter the nature of the demand and give plaintiff an action of debt for the balance.[32]

(E) Release. The defendant in an action of account may plead a release of all receipts.[33]

(F) Infancy. A defendant in an action of account may plead infancy.[34]

(IV) JOINDER OF PLEAS. If defendant is charged as receiver and also with goods bailed to him, he may plead to the first non receptor and to the second that

26. Bishop v. Baldwin, 14 Vt. 145.

Hence it is proper to plead any facts which show that he and plaintiff did not sustain this relation to each other. Brinsmaid v. Mayo, 9 Vt. 31; Ricketts v. Loftus, 14 Q. B. 482, in which case the declaration stated that by deed land had been settled to such uses as the grantor should appoint, and, in default of appointment, to certain specified uses in the declaration; that the grantor died without appointing, whereby the limitations in default of appointment took effect under which plaintiff and defendant became tenants in common. Defendant, for plea, set out the deed and alleged that the grantor did appoint, and set out the appointment, which showed that plaintiff and defendant were not tenants in common, concluding with the verification. It was held that the plea was good, for that the fact of this appointment ought not to have been pleaded as a traverse of the allegation of non-appointment, such allegation in the count being unnecessary.

27. McMurray v. Rawson, 3 Hill (N. Y.) 59; Whelen v. Watmough, 15 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 153; 3 Reeves Hist. Eng. L. 56. See also Lacon v. Davenport, 16 Conn. 331; Bishop v. Baldwin, 14 Vt. 145; Wiswell v. Wilkins, 4 Vt. 137.

28. Chadwick v. Divol, 12 Vt. 499, holding that a plea of "never bailiff" does not involve the question of demand, and under the issue thereby raised plaintiff need not prove such demand.

29. Sturges v. Bush, 5 Day (Conn.) 452.

30. Godfrey v. Saunders, 3 Wils. C. P. 94; 3 Reeves Hist. Eng. L. 279.

Payment — Question for jury.— Where defendant pleads payment to an action under the code for an account and settlement, and introduces evidence in support of the defense, the jury's attention should be called thereto. Teasley v. Bradley, 110 Ga. 497, 35 S. E. 782.

31. Baxter v. Hozier, 5 Bing. N. Cas. 288; Godfrey v. Saunders, 3 Wils. C. P. 94.

Settlement set aside.— But where a settlement between partners has been set aside in a legal proceeding, the parties are restored to their original position, and an action of account will lie. Leonard v. Leonard, 1 Watts & S. (Pa.) 342.

32. Lee v. Abrams, 12 Ill. 111; Woodward v. Francis, 19 Vt. 434; Read v. Bertrand, 4 Wash. (U. S.) 556, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,602; Baxter v. Hozier, 5 Bing. N. Cas. 288.

33. Godfrey v. Saunders, 3 Wils. C. P. 94; 3 Reeves Hist. Eng. L. 279.

Averment of performance of conditions.— A deed of assignment for the benefit of creditors contained a provision that it should be void unless all the creditors agreed to receive their proportion of the proceeds of the property in discharge of their demands. A release executed by one of the creditors contained a proviso that it should be void if any of the other creditors should fail to comply with the provision of the deed above mentioned. It was held that a plea setting up the assignment and release was bad unless it averred the assent of the creditors according to the provision in the deed. Bakewell v. Dalton, 5 Day (Conn.) 489.

34. Bishop v. Baldwin, 14 Vt. 145; Coke Litt. 172*a*; 3 Reeves Hist. Eng. L. 279. See also INFANTS.

he had accounted,[35] and the plea of "fully accounted" may be added to that of "never bailiff;" the former will not operate to admit liability so as to make the latter inconsistent.[36]

(v) Pleading in Bar before Judgment to Account. As the only plea in bar in an action of account is one which goes to the liability of defendant to account, and the judgment to account is conclusive as to the mere liability to account, matter proper in such a plea should be pleaded before the interlocutory judgment to account.[37]

7. Judgment — a. In General — The Two Judgments. In an action of account there are two judgments: first, upon the preliminary trial of the right to the accounting, that the defendant do account; and second, final judgment upon the report of the auditors for the balance found due.[38] And where the action may be referred to arbitrators it is held that they should make an award quod computet before awarding a certain sum against defendant.[39]

b. Nature and Effect of Quod Computet[40] — (i) Interlocutory. The judgment quod computet is interlocutory.[41]

(ii) Determination of Liability to Account. The interlocutory judgment to account determines nothing beyond the liability of defendant to account,[42] even if defendant makes default;[43] but it does determine that defendant is liable to account, leaving such matters as are proper for consideration upon the taking of the account to the auditors before whom the parties are sent.[44] The adjudi-

35. 3 Reeves Hist. Eng. L. 56.

36. Whelen v. Watmough, 15 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 153, wherein it was held that "fully accounted," in such a case, was like plea of payment added to the general issue non est factum or non assumpsit. If defendant has paid over as trustee, and has thus executed his trust, this is in bar of an action and he was never accountable; but it could not be given in evidence on the general issue of ne unques bailiff, because it would contradict that issue. Godfrey v. Saunders, 3 Wils. C. P. 94.

37. The rule was that except in case of a release or plene computavit, if the party was once chargeable and accountable he could not plead in bar, but must plead before auditors, and these exceptions were because a release and full accounting were in total extinguishment of the right of action. Godfrey v. Saunders, 3 Wils. C. P. 94. See infra, II, C, 7, b.

38. Illinois.— Garrity v. Hamburger Co., 136 Ill. 499, 27 N. E. 11; Pardridge v. Ryan, 134 Ill. 247, 25 N. E. 627; Lee v. Abrams, 12 Ill. 111; Lee v. Yanaway, 52 Ill. App. 23.

Kentucky.— Neal v. Keel, 4 T. B. Mon. (Ky.) 162.

Maine.— Closson v. Means, 40 Me. 337.

North Carolina.— McPherson v. McPherson, 33 N. C. 391, 53 Am. Dec. 416.

United States.— Travers v. Dyer, 16 Blatchf. (U. S.) 178, 24 Fed. Cas. No. 14,150.

England.— Godfrey v. Saunders, 3 Wils. C. P. 73.

See also 3 Reeves Hist. Eng. L. 279.

Issue presented by pleadings.— In Connecticut no preliminary judgment was required unless the pleadings presented some issue proper to be determined by the court in the first instance. Spalding v. Day, 37 Conn. 427.

Change of form of action.— In Illinois it was provided by statute that the court might change the form of action from assumpsit to account. Under this statute an amendment allowed, changing the form of action to account and ordering an account to be taken, was virtually a judgment quod computet. Garrity v. Hamburger Co., 136 Ill. 499, 27 N. E. 11.

Before justice of the peace.— In an action before a justice of the peace the justice must first render a judgment against defendant that he account, and then, as he is not empowered to appoint auditors, he must adjust the account as auditors would do, and give final judgment for the balance. Bulkly v. Lewis, 1 Root (Conn.) 217.

39. Deal v. Deal, 7 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 201.

40. Form of judgment quod computet in action of account is set out in Lee v. Yanaway, 52 Ill. App. 23; Hathaway v. Russell, 46 N. Y. Super. Ct. 103; Godfrey v. Saunders, 3 Wils. C. P. 73.

41. Lee v. Abrams, 12 Ill. 111; Lee v. Yanaway, 52 Ill. App. 23, holding that the judgment is not such as will support an appeal as from a final judgment; Beitler v. Zeigler, 1 Penr. & W. (Pa.) 135, holding that a writ of error does not lie.

42. Garrity v. Hamburger Co., 136 Ill. 499, 27 N. E. 11; Pardridge v. Ryan, 134 Ill. 247, 25 N. E. 627; Lee v. Abrams, 12 Ill. 111; Lee v. Yanaway, 52 Ill. App. 23.

Damages.— The judgment quod computet includes no damages, and if, upon the issue "never bailiff" or "receiver," the jury assess damages, no judgment can be given for them. Gratz v. Phillips, 5 Binn. (Pa.) 564. See also Lee v. Abrams, 12 Ill. 111.

43. Lee v. Abrams, 12 Ill. 111; Bishop v. Baldwin, 14 Vt. 145.

44. Mott v. Downer, 1 Root (Conn.) 425; Hawley v. Burd, 6 Ill. App. 454; Hayden v. Merrill, 44 Vt. 336, 8 Am. Rep. 372; Read v. Bertrand, 4 Wash. (U. S.) 556, 20 Fed. Cas. No. 11,602.

cation of this liability is conclusive upon the parties in the further progress of the cause,[45] and therefore, unless otherwise provided by statute,[46] all questions upon which the liability to account might have been contested must have been raised before the account was sent to the auditors, and nothing can be pleaded before the auditors which might have been pleaded in bar of the action.[47] Thus that defendant had fully accounted is a plea in bar and cannot be interposed before the auditors, though defendant may prove payment on the account, when the matter is before the auditors, without pleading it in bar.[48]

c. Appointment of Auditors by Consent. Auditors may be appointed by consent of the parties without a judgment to account, and this will operate as an admission that there are no matters in dispute except the statement of an account.[49]

45. Plaintiff's disability.— After judgment to account it is too late to object to the disability of the plaintiff. Bredin v. Dwen, 2 Watts (Pa.) 95.

46. Sturgis v. Hull, 48 Vt. 302, wherein it appeared that by statute in that state a judgment to account did not preclude defendant from making any defense before the auditor; but it was held that where the judgment to account was rendered and the auditor was appointed before the passage of the statute it was not operative in that case.

47. Connecticut.— Day v. Lockwood, 24 Conn. 185.

Illinois.— Garrity v. Hamburger Co., 136 Ill. 499, 27 N. E. 11; Lee v. Abrams, 12 Ill. 111.

Maine.— Black v. Nichols, 68 Me. 227; Closson v. Means, 40 Me. 337.

North Carolina.— McPherson v. McPherson, 33 N. C. 391, 53 Am. Dec. 416.

Vermont.— Hayden v. Merrill, 44 Vt. 336, 8 Am. Rep. 372; Porter v. Wheeler, 37 Vt. 281; Morgan v. Adams, 37 Vt. 233; Baxter v. Thompson, 26 Vt. 559; Pickett v. Pearsons, 17 Vt. 470; Bishop v. Baldwin, 14 Vt. 145.

United States.— Spear v. Newell, 2 Paine (U. S.) 267, 22 Fed. Cas. No. 13,224.

England.— Godfrey v. Saunders, 3 Wils. C. P. 94.

No pleading before referee, see Kelly v. Kelly, 3 Barb. (N. Y.) 419; REFERENCES.

Issue tried by jury.— Under the statute providing that the issue denying the right of the plaintiff to an accounting is to be tried by a jury, the issue is not whether, upon the final settlement, the account is balanced, but whether there should be an account made. Pardridge v. Ryan, 134 Ill. 247, 25 N. E. 627; Hawley v. Burd, 6 Ill. App. 454.

48. Lee v. Abrams, 12 Ill. 111; Godfrey v. Saunders, 3 Wils. C. P. 94; 3 Reeves Hist. Eng. L. 279.

Distinction between "plene computavit" and "nothing in arrear."— In Pickett v. Pearsons, 17 Vt. 470, it was said that whether defendant is in arrear at the time of the accounting before the auditor is almost precisely the same inquiry which might have been raised before a court and jury upon the plea of plene computavit, though perhaps not precisely the same; that a defense of plene computavit seemed to rest upon the ground of an express settlement, while that of "never in arrear" goes upon the ground that there is nothing now in the defendant's hands which he is liable to account for, and that the latter may be shown in various ways, as that it has been handed over to plaintiff, destroyed, or has perished without defendant's fault.

Account partly adjusted.— Where a portion of an account had been adjusted by partners before suit, defendant in an action of account need not plead such adjustment, and defendant may have the benefit thereof before the auditor, because, if he had pleaded plene computavit, the evidence of the partial settlement would not have supported the plea, and on the other hand a mere partial settlement would not go in bar of an action, but merely to the amount in arrear, and need not be specially pleaded. Morgan v. Adams, 37 Vt. 233.

Issues certified to court.— In Pennsylvania, in account render, the course was to take issue before the auditors upon all matters in discharge of the account which the auditors certified to the court and which were tried by the court or jury according as they were issues of law or fact. The account was regulated by the auditors according to the result of such trial. Little v. Stanton, 32 Pa. St. 299; Crousillat v. McCall, 5 Binn. (Pa.) 433.

49. Spalding v. Day, 37 Conn. 427.

General reference.— A general reference in an action of account may be entered by the consent of the parties instead of an appointment of auditors at common law. Barde v. Wilson, 3 Yeates (Pa.) 149. In Baxter v. Hozier, 5 Bing. N. Cas. 288, a verdict was entered for plaintiff and all the issues submitted to the award of the barrister who was, by the order of reference by consent of the parties, empowered to direct that the verdict should be entered for plaintiff or defendant and such judgment thereon for either of the parties as he should think proper. It was held that by such order of reference and consent of the parties it was intended that the arbitrator, after deciding that defendant should account, should take the account between the parties; that he should sit as an arbitrator to whom all matters in difference were referred, and not simply as an auditor assigned under the common-law judgment quod computet, notwithstanding judgment was ultimately to be entered in the action. See REFERENCES.

d. Damages. In an action of account it is held that defendant may have judgment for arrears to a greater amount than the damages laid in the declaration.[50]

D. Action under Reformed Procedure. The action to account may be said to have fallen into disuse also by reason of the adoption of reformed systems of procedure, exactly as under such systems other forms of action have lost their identity as distinctive forms. The rights of the parties are not altered by such change, however,[51] but the relief is administered under pleadings presenting facts to show a proper case therefor,[52] and the suit will not be dismissed because allegations appropriate to a legal cause of action are contained in the complaint.[53] When admittedly for an accounting, the action is essentially an equitable action,[54] though whether it is legal or equitable is often governed by the same considerations which control where law and equity are separately administered,[55] especially

Change of form of action.— Under statute in Illinois permitting the court to change the form of action from assumpsit to account, an order permitting the amendment without objection is conclusive as to the liability to account. Garrity v. Hamburger Co., 136 Ill. 499, 27 N. E. 11. And while it is irregular and arbitrary to change the form of an action to account over the plaintiff's objection after a second trial of the case had proceeded as far as the opening arguments of counsel, defendant, who did not complain of such action, cannot afterward complain, for he is bound as by consent to a judgment quod computet. Pardridge v. Ryan, 134 Ill. 247, 25 N. E. 627.

50. Lee v. Abrams, 12 Ill. 111; Gratz v. Phillips, 5 Binn. (Pa.) 564.

51. Pico v. Columbet, 12 Cal. 414, 73 Am. Dec. 550 (in which case the complaint attempted to set up a cause of action by one tenant in common against another for a share of rents and profits, but as neither the statute of Anne nor any similar statute was in force in that state it was held that the action was a common-law action of account, and that the complaint was fatally defective in not averring that defendant occupied the premises as plaintiff's bailiff under appointment); Ragan v. McCoy, 29 Mo. 356; Woolever v. Knapp, 18 Barb. (N. Y.) 265; Wright v. Wright, 59 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 176 (which was called an action of account or for money had and received, being against a cotenant for receiving more than his just proportion).

52. Colorado.—Kayser v. Maugham, 8 Colo. 232, 6 Pac. 803.

Georgia.— Teasley v. Bradley, 110 Ga. 497, 35 S. E. 782; Reid v. Wilson, 109 Ga. 424, 34 S. E. 608.

Nebraska.— Daugherty v. Gouff, 23 Nebr. 105, 36 N. W. 351.

New York.— Johnson v. Golder, 132 N. Y. 116, 30 N. E. 376; Williams v. Slote, 70 N. Y. 601; Darling v. Brewster, 55 N. Y. 667; Emery v. Pease, 20 N. Y. 62; Parker v. Pullman, 36 N. Y. App. Div. 208, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 734; Schuetz v. German-American Real Estate Co., 21 N. Y. App. Div. 163, 47 N. Y. Suppl. 500; Myers v. Bolton, 89 Hun (N. Y.) 342, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 577; Pickard v. Simpson, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 93; Walker v. Spencer, 45 N. Y. Super. Ct. 71; Redfield v. Middleton, 1 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 15.

North Carolina.— Dunn v. Johnson, 115 N. C. 249, 20 S. E. 390; Martin v. Wilbourne, 66 N. C. 321.

South Carolina.— Buist v. Melchers, 44 S. C. 46, 21 S. E. 449; National Bank v. Jennings, 38 S. C. 372, 17 S. E. 16.

Texas.—Santleben v. Froboese, 17 Tex. Civ. App. 626, 43 S. W. 571; Pfeiffer v. Maltby, 38 Tex. 523.

Washington.— Seattle Nat. Bank v. School Dist. No. 40, 20 Wash. 368, 55 Pac. 317.

Wisconsin.— Rippe v. Stogdill, 61 Wis. 38, 20 N. W. 645; Schwickerath v. Lohen, 48 Wis. 599, 4 N. W. 805.

Complaint not for money judgment.— In West v. Brewster, 1 Duer (N. Y.) 647, 55 N. Y. 667, the complaint against an attorney alleged that he had collected divers sums of money for plaintiff amounting to a certain sum specified, and had neglected and refused to pay it over, and prayed for an accounting and a judgment for the amount found to be due. It was held that from the particular relation of the parties the contract which that relation implied was not for the payment of money only, and that the notice in the summons that if defendant failed to answer plaintiff would apply to the court for the relief demanded was properly adapted to the relief demanded.

Action for accounting and on account stated.— In California, under a complaint seeking to recover against a partner on an account stated, and also an accounting of other partnership transactions, it was held that if the court should be of opinion that there was no account stated it should order an account to be taken de novo of all the partnership dealings. Coffee v. Williams, 103 Cal. 550, 37 Pac. 504.

53. Myers v. Bolton, 89 Hun (N. Y.) 342, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 577. See infra, II, E, 9, a, (x).

54. Smith v. Smith, 88 Cal. 572, 26 Pac. 356; Garner v. Reis, 25 Minn. 475.

Action ex contractu, see Chapman v. Charleston, 28 S. C. 373, 6 S. E. 158, 13 Am. St. Rep. 681.

55. Illustration.— Where an action was brought for an accounting by a pledgor against one to whom the pledgee had assigned the securities without making the pledgee a party, it was held that the action could not be maintained as an equitable action for an ac-where the subject-matter comes under well-recognized heads of chancery jurisdiction, as fraud,[56] trusts or other fiduciary relations,[57] partnership,[58] or the adjustment of rights and interests of part owners.[59] In some cases, however, the adequacy of the legal remedy under the code is made to exclude a resort to the method of trial incident to equitable actions, as a trial by the court without a jury, in cases which would be proper for equitable jurisdiction in a court of chancery. Thus the complicated character of the accounts and the need of discovery have been said to furnish but slight if any reason for a resort to equity under such code provisions as allow a reference of complicated accounts or an examination of adverse parties before trial,[60] though the jurisdiction over trusts and other fiduciary relations remains.[61] A mere asking for an accounting will not have the effect of changing the form of action so as to require a trial by the court exclusively, or by a referee in a case for the recovery of money had and received or on an account stated.[62]

E. Accounting in Equity — 1. Jurisdiction — a. In General. Originally, matters of account proper for an action of account were cognizable exclusively at law,[63] but, the ancient common-law action of account being considered imperfect in its processes and inadequate in its remedies, jurisdiction in such matters was assumed by courts of equity because the common-law courts could not afford any remedy or because the remedy was not as complete as that furnished by the court counting in the absence of such a party, and that the court could not convert it into an action at law and give judgment as in an action for a tort, because this involved a different mode of trial and took away from defendant the right of trial by jury which was secured to him by the constitution, and if the parties had not waived that mode of trial the action as one for the recovery of damages could be tried in no other way. Lewis v. Varnum, 12 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 305.

Code cases are included in the citation of cases in support of the various principles of equitable jurisdiction. See infra, II, E, 1.

56. Johnson v. Golder, 132 N. Y. 116, 30 N. E. 376; Bird v. Lanphear, 11 N. Y. App. Div. 613, 42 N. Y. Suppl. 623.

57. Getty v. Devlin, 70 N. Y. 504; West v. Brewster, 1 Duer (N. Y.) 647; Walker v. Spencer, 45 N. Y. Super. Ct. 71; Dunn v. Johnson, 115 N. C. 249, 20 S. E. 390; Martin v. Wilbourne, 66 N. C. 321; Rippe v. Stogdill, 61 Wis. 38, 20 N. W. 645. See also National Bank v. Jennings, 38 S. C. 372, 17 S. E. 16.

58. Daugherty v. Gouff, 23 Nebr. 105, 36 N. W. 351; King v. Barnes, 109 N. Y. 267, 16 N. E. 332; Williams v. Slote, 70 N. Y. 601.

59. Whiton v. Spring, 74 N. Y. 169; Dyckman v. Valiente, 42 N. Y. 549.

60. Kuhl v. Pierce County, 44 Nebr. 584, 62 N. W. 1066; Lamaster v. Scofield, 5 Nebr. 148; Uhlman v. New York L. Ins. Co., 109 N. Y. 421, 17 N. E. 363, 4 Am. St. Rep. 482; Marvin v. Brooks, 94 N. Y. 71; Smith v. Bodine, 74 N. Y. 30; Williams v. Slote, 70 N. Y. 601; Hackett v. Equitable L. Assur. Soc., 30 Misc. (N. Y.) 523, 63 N. Y. Suppl. 847; Howell v. Crosby, 89 Hun (N. Y.) 355, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 328. To the same effect, Oglesby v. State, 73 Tex. 658, 11 S. W. 873. But in Wisconsin, under a complaint alleging that plaintiff was not in possession of any books, papers, or memoranda by which the amount of the moneys to be accounted for could be ascertained, it was held that, notwithstanding a statute which superseded the proceeding by a bill in equity for discovery in aid of another action, the complaint stated a cause of action in equity, as such statute did not affect the jurisdiction of equity in matters of accounting. Schwickerath v. Lohen, 48 Wis. 599, 4 N. W. 805.

Duty to account imposed by law.—But notwithstanding the cases above cited from New York, it is held there that where a corporation is under an obligation imposed by law to pay a percentage of its earnings to the city an equitable action for an accounting may be maintained against the corporation. New York v. Manhattan R. Co., 25 N. Y. Suppl. 860, which was put upon the ground that where an accounting is necessary to determine the amount due to the city of the city's money in possession of defendant such a remedy is proper, upon the authority of New York v. Twenty-third St. R. Co., 113 N. Y. 311, 21 N. E. 60, where the action was of this character and an interlocutory judgment for an accounting was affirmed without discussing the question of the remedy.

61. Marvin v. Brooks, 94 N. Y. 71. See Schantz v. Oakman, 163 N. Y. 148, 57 N. E. 288, where the facts were held not to show confidential relations.

62. Silver v. St. Louis, etc., R. Co., 5 Mo. App. 381. See infra, II, E, 9, a, (x).

Accounting or on account stated.— So in New York it seems the court may determine from the complaint whether the action is for an accounting or is an action for a stated account. Pickard v. Simpson, 6 N. Y. Suppl. 93.

63. Church v. Anti-Kalsomine Co., 118 Mich. 219, 76 N. W. 383.

of chancery.[64] This jurisdiction is generally based upon the grounds of the complicated character of the accounts, the need of discovery, and the existence of a trust or fiduciary relation.[65] It has been extended to cases in which the remedy at law was never applied,[66] and is said to be among the most comprehensive of those which equity has assumed.[67]

b. Ordinary Heads of Equity Jurisdiction—(1) In General. In many cases it appears that the equitable jurisdiction over matters of account is exercised not primarily upon the ground of account alone, but because there is involved some recognized head of equitable jurisdiction, as in the instance of the jurisdiction which such courts possess and exercise over express, implied, and constructive trusts,[68] frauds,[69] the rescission of contracts,[70] the enforcement of rights under the doctrine of subrogation,[71] over partnerships and accounting between partners,[72] tenants in common, part owners of vessels, and the like, and where a party is interested with others so that he would be in the position of both plaintiff and defendant in an action at law,[73] for the enforcement of a purely equitable title or demand[74] as incidental to a bill to stay waste[75] or the enforcement of a lien for which an action at law affords no adequate remedy.[76] So cases arise where the 64. Alabama.— Beggs v. Edison Electric Illuminating Co., 96 Ala. 295, 11 So. 381, 38 Am. St. Rep. 94.

Florida.— Broome v. Alston, 8 Fla. 307.

Indiana.— Field v. Brown, 146 Ind. 293, 45 N. E. 464.

Kentucky.—Bruce v. Burdet, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 80.

Tennessee.—Nelson v. Allen, 1 Yerg. (Tenn.) 360.

England.— Carlisle v. Wilson, 13 Ves. Jr. 276.

65. Bellingham v. Palmer, 54 N. J. Eq. 136, 33 Atl. 199; Marvin v. Brooks, 94 N. Y. 71; Story Eq. Jur. § 459.

66. Church v. Anti-Kalsomine Co., 118 Mich. 219, 76 N. W. 383.

67. Tillar v. Cook, 77 Va. 477.

68. See infra, II, E, 1, i.

As to compensation and damages see EQUITY.

69. Georgia.— Wood v. Tompkins, 28 Ga. 159, holding that equity will entertain jurisdiction of a bill by the surety of a defendant in an action of trover, who had paid the judgment, to have an account from persons to whom the property was delivered, during the pendency of the action, under a collusive agreement to defraud the surety.

Hawaii.— Chave v. Dowsett, 6 Hawaii 221.

Illinois.— Higgs v. French, 16 Ill. 343; Bunn v. Schnellbacher, 59 Ill. App. 222.

Massachusetts.— Dole v. Wooldredge, 135 Mass. 140.

Michigan.—Tompkins v. Hollister, 60 Mich. 470, 27 N. W. 651.

New Jersey.— Scudder v. Stout, 10 N. J. Eq. 377.

Pennsylvania.—Bierbower's Appeal, 107 Pa. St. 14; Hubert Oil Co. v. Riddle, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 495, 25 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 12.

70. Fulton v. Woodman, 40 Miss. 593. See also CONTRACTS.

71. Wood v. Tompkins, 28 Ga. 159. See also SUBROGATION.

72. Tillar v. Cook, 77 Va. 477, holding that where partnership is involved, outside of the jurisdiction which equity generally assumes in matters of accounting, the partnership relation of the parties is plainly a ground of equity jurisdiction, and that if a dissolution as well as the account be sought, common-law jurisdiction is altogether excluded. So in Gillett v. Hall, 13 Conn. 426, it was said that while the rule at law was that an action for a settlement of a copartnership account would not lie where the number of copartners exceeded two, it does not follow and is not the law that the remedy is exclusively at law where there are only two partners, though jurisdiction was sustained upon a different ground, to wit, the necessity for the exercise of extraordinary powers of the court of chancery under allegations that some of the defendants had by force and fraud seized upon notes and accounts, etc., belonging to the copartnership, in addition to which the bill had called for the production of these papers and prayed for injunction. See also PARTNERSHIP.

73. Kirkman v. Vanlier, 7 Ala. 217; Mustard v. Robinson, 52 Me. 54; Maguire v. Pingree, 30 Me. 508; Milburn v. Guyther, 8 Gill (Md.) 92, 50 Am. Dec. 681; Penniman v. Jones, 58 N. H. 447. See also TENANCY IN COMMON.

Obligor of bond interested in debts collected.— If the obligor of a bond conditioned upon his accounting for moneys to be collected is personally interested in the collections, suit on the bond for an accounting against the obligor is properly brought in equity. Rush v. Rush, 53 Ill. App. 454.

74. Trammell v. Craddock, 100 Ala. 266, 13 So. 911; Plumkett v. Carew, 1 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 169; Miller v. Trevilian, 2 Rob. (Va.) 1; Root v. Lake Shore, etc., R. Co., 105 U. S. 189, 26 L. ed. 975.

75. Jenks v. Langdon, 21 Ohio St. 362. See also WASTE.

76. Cook County v. Davis, 143 Ill. 151, 32 N. E. 176; Brower v. Brower, 29 Fed. 485. See also LIENS.

right to an accounting is considered in connection with one or more of these independent grounds of jurisdiction and the remedy of course sustained.[77]

(II) Retaining Cause for Complete Relief. Another general principle, to be hereafter more particularly applied,[78] closely connected with the last preceding section, may be here stated, namely, when a court of equity once acquires jurisdiction upon equitable grounds it will proceed to do complete justice and administer full relief. To this end it will order an accounting,[79] and will settle the whole controversy even to the extent of adjudicating matters of purely legal cognizance.[80] And on the other hand, where defendant is called on to account in a proper case, the court, having obtained jurisdiction for this purpose, will take cognizance of the whole matter involved,[81] and necessary incidental relief will be granted.[82] If, however, the allegations of the bill creating equitable cognizance are not sustained, the jurisdiction will fall, and a mere demand for an account, in the absence of other or equitable circumstances, will not be enough to require the retention of the cause.[83]

(III) To Prevent Multiplicity of Suits. Equity assumes jurisdiction in matters of account to prevent a multiplicity of suits,[84] which principle extends into the other subdivisions of this title.

c. Concurrent Jurisdiction — (I) The General Rule. So uniformly have courts of equity assumed jurisdiction of matters of account, that the rule in general terms is now established that they have concurrent jurisdiction with courts of law in all matters of account,[85] especially in cases where, in addition to the ordinary jurisdiction which equity assumes over accounts, property involved in the suit is encumbered by mortgages.[86] On the other hand a court of law is not necessarily ousted of its jurisdiction simply because an account is involved,[87] and the court which first acquires jurisdiction will retain it to the exclusion of the other,[88] though a court of equity may enjoin an action at law, on account of the complicated character of the accounts, if complete justice cannot be done in the lawsuit, 77. Kirkman v. Vanlier, 7 Ala. 217; Shaw v. Chase, 77 Mich. 436, 43 N. W. 883.

78. See infra, II, E, 1, e.

79. Trammell v. Craddock, 100 Ala. 266, 13 So. 911; Lott v. Mobile County, 79 Ala. 69; Patterson v. Glassmire, 166 Pa. St. 230, 31 Atl. 40. See also EQUITY.

80. Virginia, etc., Min., etc., Co. v. Hale, 93 Ala. 542, 9 So. 256; Cook County v. Davis, 143 Ill. 151, 32 N. E. 176; Patterson v. Glassmire, 166 Pa. St. 230, 31 Atl. 40.

81. Rathbone v. Warren, 10 Johns. (N. Y.) 587.

82. Laeber v. Langhor, 45 Md. 477; Davis v. Grove, 2 Rob. (N. Y.) 134.

83. Tecumseh Iron Co. v. Camp, 93 Ala. 572, 9 So. 343; Cook County v. Davis, 143 Ill. 151, 32 N. E. 176; Hodges v. Pingree, 10 Gray (Mass.) 14; Randolph v. Kinney, 3 Rand. (Va.) 394.

84. McLaren v. Steapp, 1 Ga. 376; White v. Hampton, 10 Iowa 238; U. S. Bank v. Biddle, 2 Pars. Eq. Cas. (Pa.) 31; Tyler v. Nelson, 14 Gratt. (Va.) 214.

85. Alabama.— Beggs v. Edison Electric Illuminating Co., 96 Ala. 295, 11 So. 381, 38 Am. St. Rep. 94; Bradford v. Spyker, 32 Ala. 134.

Delaware.— Davis v. Davis, 1 Del. Ch. 256.

Kentucky.—Bruce v. Burdet, 1 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 80; Breckenridge v. Brooks, 2 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 335, 12 Am. Dec. 401.

Maine.— McKim v. Odom, 12 Me. 94.

New Jersey.— Jewett v. Bowman, 29 N. J. Eq. 174; Seymour v. Long Dock Co., 20 N. J. Eq. 396.

New York.— Hawley v. Cramer, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 717; Post v. Kimberly, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 470; Ludlow v. Simond, 2 Cai. Cas. (N. Y.) 1, 2 Am. Dec. 291.

North Carolina.— Jones v. Bullock, 17 N. C. 368.

Pennsylvania.— Adams's Appeal, 113 Pa. St. 449, 6 Atl. 100; Baugher v. Conn, 1 Pa. Co. Ct. 184.

Tennessee.—Nelson v. Allen, 1 Yerg. (Tenn.) 360.

United States.— Mitchell v. Great Works Milling, etc., Co., 2 Story (U. S.) 648, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,662.

England.—North-Eastern R. Co. v. Martin, Phil. 758; Carlisle v. Wilson, 13 Ves. Jr. 276; Lewes v. Sutton, 5 Ves. Jr. 683; Shepard v. Brown, 4 Giff. 208.

86. Broome v. Alston, 8 Fla. 307; Cullen v. Queensberry, 1 Bro. Ch. 101.

87. Church v. Anti-Kalsomine Co., 118 Mich. 219, 76 N. W. 383.

In Jaques v. Hulit, 16 N. J. L. 38, it was held that a covenant to divide the proceeds of certain property when sold terminated as soon as the property was sold, and that an action would lie for the recovery of a balance due from one of the parties to the other, without resorting to an action of account render.

88. Meyer v. Saul, 82 Md. 459, 33 Atl. 539; Scott v. Liverpool, 5 Jur. N. S. 105.

but not otherwise.[89] But if plaintiff elects to proceed at law and fails to establish his claim in that court, he cannot ordinarily then turn to a court of equity to have the same accounts reëxamined.[90]

(II) Under Contract. In cases arising ex contractu or quasi ex contractu, but involving accounts, courts of equity have exercised a general jurisdiction; among which, arising from the cognizance of this court, are agencies, claims against attorneys, consignees, receivers, and stewards.[91] Where the contract fixes no time for its termination it will be construed as requiring an accounting at reasonable periods, and the reasonableness of such periods will be determined by the previous acts of the parties.[92] If the contract is one which is not enforceable under the statute of frauds, equity will not decree an accounting under it.[93] Nor can an accounting be decreed under a contract unless the party seeking it comes strictly within the terms of the contract under which he might be entitled to an accounting.[94] The contract must be so certain that it is capable of enforcement, as the court will not attempt to interject by construction that upon which the minds of the parties had not met.[95]

(III) In Cases Proper for Action of Account. In all cases in which an action of account would have been a proper remedy at law the jurisdiction of a court of equity over the matters involved seems to be undoubted.[96]

(IV) Remedy Confined. Other cases would seem to confine the jurisdiction, holding in general terms that a bill for an accounting will not lie except when an action of account at common law would be proper, or when the case comes under some appropriate head of equity jurisdiction.[97] And so, while a court of chancery is said to have jurisdiction in matters of account, it is not every account

89. Ely v. Crane, 37 N. J. Eq. 157, holding that on a motion to dissolve an injunction in such a case the bill and answer will be taken together, and therefore on such a motion the court may act notwithstanding the bill alone does not show the necessity therefor.

90. Southgate v. Montgomery, 1 Paige (N. Y.) 41.

As to equitable relief against judgments see JUDGMENTS.

91. U. S. Bank v. Biddle, 2 Pars. Eq. Cas. (Pa.) 31; Dabbs v. Nugent, 11 Jur. N. S. 943; Shepard v. Brown, 4 Giff. 208. A suit for an accounting is not barred by a prior recovery in an action at law of an amount then due under the contract. Montrose v. Wanamaker, 11 N. Y. Suppl. 106.

92. Luce v. Hartshorn, 56 N. Y. 621.

93. Black v. Black, 15 Ga. 445.

94. Tartar v. Finch, 9 Cal. 276, in which case plaintiff, who kept a ferry under a license which had expired, lost his boat, and thereupon agreed with defendant that the latter should furnish and run a boat under complainant's license, which complainant was to renew, until defendant should be repaid his advances. Plaintiff neglected to renew his license, and after several months defendant obtained a license for himself, and it was held that complainant, in a suit for an account and return of the ferry, could not recover.

Election pending contract.— Under an agreement between plaintiff and defendant, the latter was to pay plaintiff a stipulated weekly sum for his services in a particular business until the business had paid for itself, after which plaintiff might have an election to take one half of the profits in lieu of such weekly payments, and it was held that if plaintiff did not make his election before quitting the employment he could not maintain a suit for an accounting. Hart v. Wilder, 3 N. Y. App. Div. 356, 38 N. Y. Suppl. 288.

95. Young v. Farwell, 146 Ill. 466, 34 N. E. 373.

96. Arkansas.— Trapnall v. Hill, 31 Ark. 345.

Indiana.— Field v. Brown, 146 Ind. 293, 45 N. E. 464.

Pennsylvania.— Adams's Appeal, 113 Pa. St. 449, 6 Atl. 100; Persch v. Quiggle, 57 Pa. St. 247; Shriver v. Nimick, 41 Pa. St. 80; Baugher v. Conn, 1 Pa. Co. Ct. 184. In this state, in an action of account render begun by foreign attachment, upon a rule to show cause why plaintiff should not have leave to file a bill in equity with the same effect as if the proceeding had been begun ordinarily by bill in equity, the rule was made absolute. Crowe v. Davis, 33 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 552.

Vermont.— Sanborn v. Braley, 47 Vt. 170.

Virginia.— Hunter v. Spotswood, 1 Wash. (Va.) 145.

United States.— Fowle v. Lawrason, 5 Pet. (U. S.) 495, 8 L. ed. 204.

England.— Leake v. Cordeaux, 4 Wkly. Rep. 806.

Contra, Stannard v. Whittlesey, 9 Conn. 556; Staniford v. Dewit, 1 Root (Conn.) 317.

97. Fowle v. Lawrason, 5 Pet. (U. S.) 495, 8 L. ed. 204; Hunton v. Equitable L. Assur. Soc., 45 Fed. 661; Baker v. Biddle, Baldw. (U. S.) 394, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 764.

which will entitle it to interfere, but it must be such as cannot be justly and fairly taken in a court of law.[98]

d. Adequacy of Legal Remedy — (I) In General. It has been said that matters of account are per se within the scope of equitable jurisdiction.[99] This broad statement, however, must be taken to rest within certain general prescribed limits, and confined to cases which do not fall without the pale of equity jurisdiction, for in the latter event the mere existence of an account would not confer jurisdiction.[1] No precise rule can be laid down as to when the concurrent jurisdiction of equity will be exercised, as the court of equity seems to reserve to itself a large discretion upon the bare question of the adequacy of the legal remedy.[2] A decision as to the proper tribunal must be governed by considerations of evidence and adequacy, to be determined by the facts of each particular case and the relief sought.[3]

(II) Where Legal Remedy Embarrassed — Discovery. Consistently with what has been said, as well as with general principles upon which courts of equity assume jurisdiction, where the party has no legal remedy or where the remedy at law is inadequate or embarrassed, either from a defect of proof or through some impediment, a court of equity has jurisdiction of matters of account.[4] And such equities may arise out of and inhere in the nature of the account itself, springing from special and peculiar circumstances which disable the party from resorting to his legal remedy, or which render such remedy difficult, inadequate, and incomplete.[5]

(III) On Ground of Greater Convenience of Equity. The mere fact of the existence of a legal remedy which may be made available is not a sufficient

98. Printup v. Mitchell, 17 Ga. 558, 63 Am. Dec. 258; Bowen v. Johnson, 12 Ga. 9; Powers v. Cray, 7 Ga. 206; Craig v. McKinney, 72 Ill. 305; Darthez v. Clemens, 6 Beav. 165.

99. Tillar v. Cook, 77 Va. 477. In Porter v. Spencer, 2 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 169, it was held that though plaintiff might sue at law for the balance of an account and hold the party to bail, yet, as chancery holds a concurrent jurisdiction upon the head of account, plaintiff might have a writ of ne exeat on the positive affidavit of a threat, etc. In this case the demand was clearly a single item or transaction on one side, and while the chancellor doubted that the bill was such as to justify equitable jurisdiction, he placed his interference on the necessity of the case, as it appeared from the facts charged that the remedy in the pending suit at law would be absolutely defeated without equitable interposition.

1. This will appear from what has been said as well as from the succeeding paragraphs of this section.

2. Devereux v. McCrady, 46 S. C. 133, 24 S. E. 77; Petty v. Fogle, 16 W. Va. 497; North-eastern R. Co. v. Martin, 2 Phil. 758, wherein it is said that the infinitely varied transactions of mankind would be found continually to baffle such rules and to escape from any definitions which might be laid down.

Exercise of discretion.— Where the court cannot do complete justice between the parties because it cannot enforce the agreement in all its parts, the discretion will be exercised against the taking of the account in equity. Kernot v. Potter, 3 De G. F. & J. 447.

3. Beggs v. Edison Electric Illuminating Co., 96 Ala. 295, 11 So. 381, 38 Am. St. Rep. 94.

4. Alabama.— Jackson v. King, 82 Ala. 432, 3 So. 232.

Arkansas.— Witter v. Arnett, 8 Ark. 57.

District of Columbia.— Reynolds v. Smith, 6 Mackey (D. C.) 497.

Georgia.— Printup v. Fort, 40 Ga. 276; McLaren v. Steapp, 1 Ga. 376.

Kentucky.— Dunwidie v. Kerley, 6 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 501.

Massachusetts.— Dole v. Wooldredge, 135 Mass. 140.

New Jersey.— North Plainfield Tp. v. Colthar, 41 N. J. Eq. 348, 7 Atl. 641.

Tennessee.— Pearl v. Nashville, 10 Yerg. (Tenn.) 179.

Vermont.— Holt v. Daniels, 61 Vt. 89, 17 Atl. 786.

Virginia.—Johnson v. Roanoke Land, etc., Co., 82 Va. 284; Townes v. Birchett, 12 Leigh (Va.) 173.

United States.— Kilbourn v. Sunderland, 130 U. S. 505, 9 S. Ct. 594, 32 L. ed. 1005; Root v. Lake Shore, etc., R. Co., 105 U. S. 189, 26 L. ed. 975; Ames Iron Works v. West, 24 Fed. 313.

Obstruction of legal remedy by party.— Where defendant had obstructed plaintiff's legal remedy by withholding from him a copy of a contract, so that he was not able to frame his declaration, it was held that plaintiff might dismiss his action and bring a bill in equity for an accounting. Sturtevant v. Goode, 5 Leigh (Va.) 83, 27 Am. Dec. 586.

5. Root v. Lake Shore, etc., R. Co., 105 U. S. 189, 26 L. ed. 975; Colonial, etc., Mortg. Co. v. Hutchinson Mortg. Co., 44 Fed. 219.

objection to the more convenient remedy in equity, and in many cases the latter court assumes jurisdiction on the ground of the greater convenience and adaptability of its peculiar machinery.[6] Upon this ground jurisdiction has been exercised notwithstanding a cumulative statutory remedy,[7] or that courts of law had adopted equitable principles,[8] and upon the ground of convenience this jurisdiction has been upheld, even admitting the remedy at law to be perfect and complete.[9]

e. Discovery — (1) In General. Though discovery is not the sole ground of equity jurisdiction in matters of account,[10] it was one of the sources thereof where there was a want of power to draw out the proofs from the consciences of the parties.[11] And where plaintiff is entitled to a discovery, a bill for an account is proper, and relief will be granted if the case is one for which the discovery is necessary, notwithstanding the account is on one side or the matters involved are purely legal. The court, having acquired jurisdiction, will retain it for complete relief and to prevent a multiplicity of suits.[12] The right to discovery carries with

6. Alabama.— Dallas County v. Timberlake, 54 Ala. 403.

Arkansas.— State v. Churchill, 48 Ark. 426, 3 S. W. 352, 880.

Delaware.— Davis v. Davis, 1 Del. Ch. 256.

Illinois.— Crown Coal, etc., Co. v. Thomas, 73 Ill. App. 679, holding that in a case of complicated accounts involving the rights of third parties equity jurisdiction did not depend upon an entire absence of a legal remedy, but rather upon its adequacy and practicability.

Iowa.— White v. Hampton, 10 Iowa 238.

Massachusetts.— Hallett v. Cumston, 110 Mass. 32; Massachusetts General Hospital v. State Mut. L. Assur. Co., 4 Gray (Mass.) 227; Bartlett v. Parks, 1 Cush. (Mass.) 82. Under the statute in this state it was provided that equity should have jurisdiction where the account could be more conveniently taken than at law, and in the last case above cited it was said that while an auditor and reference allowed in assumpsit might have relieved some of the difficulties, it did not supersede the equity jurisdiction, as accounts generally can be more conveniently taken in chancery, and in this case plaintiff was entitled to discovery and production of books and papers.

Mississippi.— Watt v. Conger, 13 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 412.

New York.— Ludlow v. Simond, 2 Cai. Cas. (N. Y.) 1, 2 Am. Dec. 291; Rathbone v. Warren, 10 Johns. (N. Y.) 587; Post v. Kimberly, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 470; Duncan v. Lyon, 3 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 351, 8 Am. Dec. 513.

Pennsylvania.— Bierbower's Appeal, 107 Pa. St. 14; Long v. Cochran, 9 Phila. (Pa.) 267, 30 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 37.

Tennessee.—Nelson v. Allen, 1 Yerg. (Tenn.) 360.

Virginia.—Tyler v. Nelson, 14 Gratt. (Va.) 214; Hickman v. Stout, 2 Leigh (Va.) 6.

England.— Plunkett v. Dublin, 1 Bligh N. S. 312; Carlisle v. Wilson, 13 Ves. Jr. 276; Mackenzie v. Johnston, 4 Madd. 373; Barker v. Dacie, 6 Ves. Jr. 681.

7. Dallas County v. Timberlake, 54 Ala. 403; State v. Wilmington Bridge Co., 2 Del. Ch. 58.

8. Berry v. Whidden, 62 N. H. 473.

9. Post v. Kimberly, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 470; Hawley v. Cramer, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 717.

10. Ludlow v. Simond, 2 Cai. Cas. (N. Y.) 1, 2 Am. Dec. 291.

11. Plunkett v. Dublin, 1 Bligh N. S. 312.

12. Alabama.— Virginia, etc., Min., etc., Co. v. Hale, 93 Ala. 542, 9 So. 256; Bullock v. Governor, 2 Port. (Ala.) 484.

Arkansas.— Witter v. Arnett, 8 Ark. 57.

Florida.— Gordon v. Clarke, 10 Fla. 179.

Georgia.— McLaren v. Steapp, 1 Ga. 376.

Illinois.— Cook County v. Davis, 143 Ill. 151, 32 N. E. 176.

Kentucky.— Handley v. Fitzhugh, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 24.

New Hampshire.— Brooks v. Goodwin, (N. H. 1900) 47 Atl. 255; Berry v. Whidden, 62 N. H. 473.

New Jersey.— Alpaugh v. Wood, 45 N. J. Eq. 153, 16 Atl. 676.

New York.— King v. Baldwin, 17 Johns. (N. Y.) 384, 8 Am. Dec. 415; Rathbone v. Warren, 10 Johns. (N. Y.) 587; Armstrong v. Gilchrist, 2 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 424; Ludlow v. Simond, 2 Cai. Cas. (N. Y.) 1, 2 Am. Dec. 291; Hawley v. Cramer, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 717.

Pennsylvania.— Gloninger v. Hazard, 42 Pa. St. 389; U. S. Bank v. Biddle, 2 Pars. Eq. Cas. (Pa.) 31; Oil Co. v. Adams, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 182, 23 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 349, 113 Pa. St. 449, 6 Atl. 100.

Tennessee.— Taylor v. Tompkins, 2 Heisk. (Tenn.) 89; Pearl v. Nashville, 10 Yerg. (Tenn.) 179.

Vermont.— Lynde v. Wright, 1 Aik. (Vt.) 383.

Virginia.— Sturtevant v. Goode, 5 Leigh (Va.) 83, 27 Am. Dec. 586.

West Virginia.— Petty v. Fogle, 16 W. Va. 497; Lafever v. Billmyer, 5 W. Va. 33.

Wisconsin.— Meyer v. Garthwaite, 92 Wis. 571, 66 N. W. 704.

United States.— Kelsey v. Hobby, 16 Pet. (U. S.) 269, 10 L. ed. 961. But in Babbott v. Tewksbury, 46 Fed. 86, it was held that the necessity for a discovery was not sufficient to make a suit in equity proper for the enforcement of the contract to pay commissions on sales, because defendant might be subpœnaed duces tecum if within a hundred it the right to relief, because, when the relief is sought in the shape of an account, courts of law and equity have concurrent jurisdiction.[13] The fact that the acts complained of in a bill impute to defendant the commission of a crime, and that, if compelled to render an account, evidence might be adduced which might form the basis of a criminal accusation, will not defeat the jurisdiction of the court.[14]

(II) When Not Sufficient Ground. Jurisdiction on the ground of discovery, however, cannot be invoked where the discovery is a mere pretext for resorting to equity.[15] Upon the principle that discovery is merely incidental to some other main relief, and that the right to the latter must appear in order to support the former, discovery and account, as incidental to other main relief, cannot be granted when the right to such main relief is not established,[16] and this principle has been applied when the accounting is the main relief sought and the case is one in which there is no right to an accounting in equity.[17]

f. Mutual and Complicated Accounts—(I) General Rule. Courts of equity have for a long time exercised a general jurisdiction in cases of mutual account founded in privity, upon the ground of the inadequacy of the remedy afforded by the common law, and this may be said to be the established rule,[18] miles, or his testimony might be taken if he lived beyond that distance.

England.—Adley v. Whitstable Co., 17 Ves. Jr. 315; Barker v. Dacie, 6 Ves. Jr. 681; Weymouth v. Boyer, 1 Ves. Jr. 416; Lee v. Alston, 1 Bro. Ch. 194; Ryle v. Haggie, 1 Jac. & W. 234; Shepard v. Brown, 4 Giff. 208.

As to discovery under reformed procedure see supra, II, D.

13. Shepard v. Brown, 4 Giff. 208; Adley v. Whitstable Co., 17 Ves. Jr. 315; Ryle v. Haggie, 1 Jac. & W. 234.

14. Warren v. Holbrook, 95 Mich. 185, 54 N. W. 712, 35 Am. St. Rep. 554, holding that while defendant could not, of course, be compelled to discover any facts tending to incriminate him, this did not prevent the trial of the issues made by the pleadings under the rules of evidence in civil actions.

15. Wilson v. Mallett, 4 Sandf. (N. Y.) 112 (holding that an assignee stands in the shoes of the assignor, and that if the latter could not maintain a bill because all of the particulars of the account between him and defendant were within his knowledge, the assignee would be chargeable with the same knowledge); Nesbit v. St. Patrick's Church, 9 N. J. Eq. 76 (where a contractor under a written contract did work and provided materials and had been partially paid, but did not know the amount of the payments, and this was held not sufficient ground for equitable jurisdiction, for the reason that there was nothing intricate in the accounts and the case was not one in which complainant was entitled to or needed a discovery, as, if the payments could not be proved by defendant in an action at law by complainant for the whole amount, the loss would fall on defendant); Dinwiddie v. Bailey, 6 Ves. Jr. 136; King v. Rossett, 2 Y. & J. 33.

Where, in the progress of a cause, it appears by plaintiff's own showing that he could have proved his account by witnesses, the jurisdiction will not be sustained simply because he came into equity on the ground that he could not prove the items of his account without the aid of an answer. Meze v. Mayse, 6 Rand. (Va.) 658.

16. Jewett v. Bowman, 29 N. J. Eq. 174.

17. Connecticut.— Norwich, etc., R. Co. v. Storey, 17 Conn. 364.

New Jersey.— Bellingham v. Palmer, 54 N. J. Eq. 136, 33 Atl. 199.

New York.— Lynch v. Willard, 6 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 342.

United States.— Everson v. Equitable L. Assur. Soc., 71 Fed. 570, 39 U. S. App. 34, 18 C. C. A. 251.

England.— Smith v. Leveaux, 2 De G. J. & S. 1; King v. Rossett, 2 Y. & J. 33; Dinwiddie v. Bailey, 6 Ves. Jr. 136. And it has been held that if plaintiff is entitled to discovery he should frame his bill for discovery alone and not for discovery and relief. Phillips v. Phillips, 9 Hare 471; Padwick v. Stanley, 9 Hare 627. This would seem to be a stricter rule than is recognized in the cases cited above. See supra, II, E, 1, d, (III), and II, E, 1, e, (I). And see also PRINCIPAL AND AGENT.

But it has been held, even while recognizing the propriety of the rule stated in the text, that where a bill is brought for a discovery in a case which is not the proper subject of an accounting, but the relief ultimately to be rendered is the payment of damages, and a discovery is needed, and the ascertainment of damages is intricate, and an action at law is not adequate, equity will assume jurisdiction of the whole cause and proceed to a final decree on the merits. Magic Ruffle Co. v. Elm City Co., 14 Blatchf. (U. S.) 109, 16 Fed. Cas. No. 8,950. See, generally, upon the question when equity will retain a cause for complete relief, EQUITY.

18. Alabama.— Beggs v. Edison Electric Illuminating Co., 96 Ala. 295, 11 So. 381, 38 Am. St. Rep. 94.

Arkansas.— Rogers v. Yarnell, 51 Ark. 198, 10 S. W. 622.

Illinois.— Bracken v. Kennedy, 4 Ill. 558.

Indiana.— Cummins v. White, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 356.

even where the accounts consist of items of a purely legal character.[19] A fortiori, though the accounts may not be strictly mutual,[20] where they have become so complicated as to embarrass the remedy at law, equity has jurisdiction.[21] This rule is applied where the account is made up of many items for and against each party,[22] or the items are numerous and extend over a long period of time.[23]

(II) EXTENT — (A) In General. Beyond certain limits the cases furnish but an uncertain guide for the application of any rule to particular circumstances. Each case seems to stand upon its own facts.[24] The jurisdiction in the case of complicated accounts is based upon the inadequacy of the legal remedy, as where there is an embarrassment in making proof, the necessity for a discovery or the

Iowa.— White v. Hampton, 10 Iowa 238.
Kentucky.— Power v. Reeder, 9 Dana (Ky.) 6.
New Jersey.— Woolley v. Osborne, 39 N. J. Eq. 54.
New York.— Ludlow v. Simond, 2 Cai. Cas. (N. Y.) 1, 2 Am. Dec. 291; Hawley v. Cramer, 4 Cow. (N. Y.) 717; King v. Baldwin, 17 Johns. (N. Y.) 384, 8 Am. Dec. 415; Rathbone v. Warren, 10 Johns. (N. Y.) 587; Post v. Kimberly, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 470; Armstrong v. Gilchrist, 2 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 424; Porter v. Spencer, 2 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 169; Wilson v. Mallett, 4 Sandf. (N. Y.) 112.
Pennsylvania.— Gloninger v. Hazard, 42 Pa. St. 389.
Virginia.— Hickman v. Stout, 2 Leigh (Va.) 6.
West Virginia.— Petty v. Fogle, 16 W. Va. 497; Lafever v. Billmyer, 5 W. Va. 33.
England.— Courteney v. Godschall, 9 Ves. Jr. 473; Dinwiddie v. Bailey, 6 Ves. Jr. 136.
Transfer of action.— In Arkansas, upon the motion of defendant, an action to recover a disputed balance on a complicated mutual account extending through a long period was held to be properly transferred to equity. Rogers v. Yarnell, 51 Ark. 198, 10 S. W. 622. See also Sturm v. Boker, 150 U. S. 312.

19. Cummins v. White, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 356.

20. Blodgett v. Foster, 114 Mich. 688, 72 N. W. 1000, 68 Am. St. Rep. 504; Taff Vale R. Co. v. Nixon, 1 H. L. Cas. 110. But where the account is on one side only, a strong case must be shown before the court will exercise its jurisdiction. Fowle v. Lawrason, 5 Pet. (U. S.) 495, 8 L. ed. 204; Phillips v. Phillips, 9 Hare 471.

21. Alabama.— Kirkman v. Vanlier, 7 Ala. 217.
Arkansas.— Lawrence v. Ellsworth, 41 Ark. 502.
Delaware.— Farmers, etc., Bank v. Polk, 1 Del. Ch. 167.
Illinois.— Gleason, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Hoffman, 168 Ill. 25, 48 N. E. 143; Crown Coal, etc., Co. v. Thomas, 73 Ill. App. 679.
Indiana.— Cummins v. White, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 356.
Iowa.— Burt v. Harrah, 65 Iowa 643, 22 N. W. 910; Blair Town Lot, etc., Co. v. Walker, 50 Iowa 376.
Massachusetts.— Badger v. McNamara, 123 Mass. 117.
Michigan.— Blodgett v. Foster, 114 Mich. 688, 72 N. W. 1000, 68 Am. St. Rep. 504.
Mississippi.— Watt v. Conger, 13 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 412.
North Carolina.—Jones v. Bullock, 17 N. C. 368.
Pennsylvania.— Christy's Appeal, 92 Pa. St. 157; Baugher v. Conn, 1 Pa. Co. Ct. 184.
South Carolina.— Devereux v. McCrady, 46 S. C. 133, 24 S. E. 77; Taylor v. Smith, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 230.
Tennessee.— Taylor v. Tompkins, 2 Heisk. (Tenn.) 89; Hay v. Marshall, 3 Humphr. (Tenn.) 623; Stothart v. Burnet, Cooke (Tenn.) 417.
Virginia.— Hickman v. Stout, 2 Leigh (Va.) 6.
West Virginia.— Lafever v. Billmyer, 5 W. Va. 33.
United States.— Gunn v. Brinkley Car Works, etc., Co., 66 Fed. 382, 27 U. S. App. 779, 13 C. C. A. 529; Pacific R. Co. v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 20 Fed. 277; Crossley v. New Orleans, 20 Fed. 352; Gaines v. New Orleans, 17 Fed. 16; Mitchell v. Great Works Milling, etc., Co., 2 Story (U. S.) 648, 17 Fed. Cas. No. 9,662.
England.— Kimberley v. Dick, L. R. 13 Eq. 1; Watford, etc., R. Co. v. London, etc., R. Co., L. R. 8 Eq. 231; O'Connor v. Spaight, 1 Sch. & Lef. 305; Kennington v. Houghton, 2 Y. & C. Ch. 620; Dabbs v. Nugent, 11 Jur. N. S. 943. But under a statute the effect of which is that full force must be given by a court of equity to any agreement for arbitration, etc., it was held that complication of accounts would not confer jurisdiction where there was such an agreement. Watford, etc., R. Co. v. London, etc., R. Co., L. R. 8 Eq. 231.

22. Alabama.— Kirkman v. Vanlier, 7 Ala. 217.
North Carolina.— McLin v. McNamara, 22 N. C. 82.
South Carolina.— Devereux v. McCrady, 46 S. C. 133, 24 S. E. 77.
Virginia.— Hickman v. Stout, 2 Leigh (Va.) 6.
United States.— Gaines v. New Orleans, 17 Fed. 16.

23. Watt v. Conger, 13 Sm. & M. (Miss.) 412; Woolley v. Osborne, 39 N. J. Eq. 54; Taylor v. Smith, 1 Brev. (S. C.) 230; Hay v. Marshall, 3 Humphr. (Tenn.) 623.

24. North-Eastern R. Co. v. Martin, 2 Phil. 758.

production of books and papers,[25] or where it would be difficult, if not impossible, for a jury to unravel the numerous transactions involved, and justice could not be done except by employing the methods of investigation peculiar to courts of equity.[26] This would seem to be the true foundation and spirit of the rule, for while the cases lay it down in general terms that mere complication of accounts confers jurisdiction,[27] and there need be no necessity for a discovery,[28] or an entire absence of legal remedy,[29] the complexity, if the accounts are not mutual, or if the case does not come within a peculiar class over which the court has undoubted jurisdiction, must be substantial and material.[30] Where these conditions exist, however, no other equitable element need be involved, the jurisdiction being founded upon the very necessity of the case.[31]

(B) Mere Matter of Payment or Set-Off. No such complication of accounts is shown as to justify equitable interference where the account consists merely of matters of charge on the one side and payments or set-off on the other,[32] where no discovery is necessary or proper.[33] This is upon the principle that such

25. Reid v. Wilson, 109 Ga. 424, 34 S. E. 608; McLaren v. Steapp, 1 Ga. 376; Handley v. Fitzhugh, 1 A. K. Marsh. (Ky.) 24; U. S. Bank v. Biddle, 2 Pars. Eq. Cas. (Pa.) 31; Taylor v. Tompkins, 2 Heisk. (Tenn.) 89.

26. Channon v. Stewart, 103 Ill. 541; Buel v. Selz, 5 Ill. App. 116; Kirby v. Lake Shore, etc., R. Co., 120 U. S. 130, 7 S. Ct. 430, 30 L. ed. 569; Colonial, etc., Mortg. Co. v. Hutchinson Mortg. Co., 44 Fed. 219; Harrington v. Churchward, 6 Jur. N. S. 576.

27. See supra, II, E, 1, f, (I).

In Uhlman v. New York L. Ins. Co., 109 N. Y. 421, 17 N. E. 363, 4 Am. St. Rep. 482, it was said that while there were many cases in which the statement had been made as indicated in the text, in most of them it would seem that there were added other grounds which made it proper for equity to assume jurisdiction.

28. Devereux v. McCrady, 46 S. C. 133, 24 S. E. 77; Kerr v. Camden Steamboat Co., Cheves Eq. (S. C.) 189.

29. Crown Coal, etc., Co. v. Thomas, 177 Ill. 534, 52 N. E. 1042; Post v. Kimberly, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 470.

30. Alabama.—Dargin v. Hewlitt, 115 Ala. 510, 22 So. 128; Attalla Min., etc., Co. v. Winchester, 102 Ala. 184, 14 So. 565; Beggs v. Edison Electric Illuminating Co., 96 Ala. 295, 11 So. 381, 38 Am. St. Rep. 94.

Connecticut.— Norwich, etc., R. Co. v. Storey, 17 Conn. 364.

Hawaii.— Hawaiian Government v. Brown, 6 Hawaii, 750.

Iowa.— Des Moines Sav. Bank v. Colfax Hotel Co., 88 Iowa 4, 55 N. W. 67.

Kentucky.— Blight v. Alexander, 4 J. J. Marsh. (Ky.) 96, holding that the fact that accounts are very complicated is not sufficient where the remedy at law is ample.

New Jersey.— Crane v. Ely, 37 N. J. Eq. 564, 157. In this state it was held that in determining whether courts of law could adequately deal with an account, the present and not the past method of legal procedure should be regarded, and therefore, under the proceedings which could have been had at law, it was held that discovery was not sufficient ground for retaining a suit for an account which was complicated. Bellingham v. Palmer, 54 N. J. Eq. 136, 33 Atl. 199. But a strong case against this theory is Shepard v. Brown, 4 Giff. 208, and the rule applied seems stricter than that which recognizes a broad equitable jurisdiction in matters of account.

England.— The jurisdiction has been denied in a suit to investigate an ordinary builder's account against which fraud could not be established, unless no relief could be obtained at law. Flockton v. Peake, 12 Wkly. Rep. 464.

31. Ely v. Crane, 37 N. J. Eq. 157; Seymour v. Long Dock Co., 20 N. J. Eq. 396.

32. Alabama.— State v. Bradshaw, 60 Ala. 239; Dallas County v. Timberlake, 54 Ala. 403; Dickinson v. Lewis, 34 Ala. 638; Crothers v. Lee, 29 Ala. 337.

Arkansas.— Trapnall v. Hill, 31 Ark. 345.

Maryland.— Oliver v. Palmer, 11 Gill & J. (Md.) 426.

Massachusetts.— Frue v. Loring, 120 Mass. 507.

Mississippi.— Kelly v. Weaver, 37 Miss. 631.

New Jersey.— Nesbit v. St. Patrick's Church, 9 N. J. Eq. 76.

New York.— Durant v. Einstein, 5 Rob. (N. Y.) 423; Porter v. Spencer, 2 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 169.

North Carolina.— Haywood v. Hutchins, 65 N. C. 574; McLin v. McNamara, 22 N. C. 82.

Pennsylvania.— Passyunk Bldg. Assoc.'s Appeal, 83 Pa. St. 441; Gloninger v. Hazard, 42 Pa. St. 389; Ingram v. Sherard, 17 Serg. & R. (Pa.) 347.

Rhode Island.— McCulla v. Beadleston, 17 R. I. 20, 20 Atl. 11.

Tennessee.— Smith v. Bell, Mart. & Y. (Tenn.) 101.

Virginia.— Richmond First Presb. Church v. Manson, 4 Rand. (Va.) 197; Poage v. Willson, 2 Leigh (Va.) 490; Smith v. Marks, 2 Rand. (Va.) 449.

West Virginia.— Petty v. Fogle, 16 W. Va. 497; Lafever v. Billmyer, 5 W. Va. 33.

United States.—Blakeley v. Biscoe, Hempst. (U. S.) 114, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,239.

England.— Moses v. Lewis, 12 Price 502; King v. Rossett, 2 Y. & J. 33; Smith v. Leveaux, 2 De G. J. & S. 1.

33. See infra, II, E, 1, f, (II), (C).

accounts are not mutual within the meaning of the term when applied to the independent jurisdiction of a court of equity over mutual accounts.[34] But it must be taken with some qualification, as the question resolves itself, under the strictest construction, into a determination whether there is an adequate remedy at law;[35] in other words, though the accounts are not technically mutual if the complication is such as to distinguish the transactions from a debt on the one side and a set-off on the other, equity may have jurisdiction.[36]

(c) Accounts on One Side or Simple Legal Demand. Where the accounts are on one side only, or the claim is a simple legal demand, conditions must exist which show the necessity for the exercise of equitable jurisdiction. There must either be shown such complication in the matters that a common-law court is unable to ferret them out, or other equitable grounds must exist, as fiduciary relations or the necessity for a discovery.[37] Such jurisdiction will not be assumed

34. Nash v. Burchard, 87 Mich. 85, 49 N. W. 492; Fowle v. Lawrason, 5 Pet. (U. S.) 495, 8 L. ed. 204; Phillips v. Phillips, 9 Hare 471.

35. Kerr v. Camden Steamboat Co., Cheves Eq. (S. C.) 189; Phillips v. Phillips, 9 Hare 471, wherein it is said that a case of mere receipts and payments may become so complicated, as indicated in Taff Vale R. Co. v. Nixon, 1 H. L. Cas. 110, that the account cannot be taken at law and may become properly the subject of equity jurisdiction, but that a strong case must be shown before such jurisdiction will be exercised. To the same point are State v. Bradshaw, 60 Ala. 239; Fowle v. Lawrason, 5 Pet. (U. S.) 495, 18 L. ed. 204.

36. State v. Churchill, 48 Ark. 426, 3 S. W. 352, 880, wherein it is stated that it is safe to say that in all cases where mutuality of accounts is claimed to be the basis of equitable jurisdiction, mutuality is only an essential element in this, that it indicates intricacy and complication; Trapnall v. Hill, 31 Ark. 345; Porter v. Spencer, 2 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 169; Blakeley v. Biscoe, Hempst. (U. S.) 114, 30 Fed. Cas. No. 18,239.

A series of consignments on the one side and payments on the other is held to constitute such an account as may be settled in equity. McLin v. McNamara, 22 N. C. 82.

37. Alabama.— Johnson v. National Bldg., etc., Assoc., (Ala. 1900) 28 So. 2; Beggs v. Edison Electric Illuminating Co., 96 Ala. 295, 11 So. 381, 38 Am. St. Rep. 94; Tecumseh Iron Co. v. Camp, 93 Ala. 572, 9 So. 343; Avery v. Ware, 58 Ala. 475; Dallas County v. Timberlake, 54 Ala. 403; Crothers v. Lee, 29 Ala. 337; May v. Lewis, 22 Ala. 646; Cullum v. Bloodgood, 15 Ala. 34; Knotts v. Tarver, 8 Ala. 743.

Connecticut.— Berlin v. New-Britain, 9 Conn. 175.

Illinois.— Fuller v. John S. Davis' Sons Co., 184 Ill. 505, 56 N. E. 791; Clinton County v. Schuster, 82 Ill. 137; Logan v. Lucas, 59 Ill. 237.

Indiana.— Cummins v. White, 4 Blackf. (Ind.) 356.

Iowa.— Des Moines Sav. Bank v. Colfax Hotel Co., 88 Iowa 4, 55 N. W. 67; Galliers v. Peppers, 76 Iowa 521, 41 N. W. 205; Upton v. Paxton, 72 Iowa 295, 33 N. W. 773.

Maine.— Carter v. Bailey, 64 Me. 458, 18 Am. Rep. 273.

Massachusetts.— Walker v. Brooks, 125 Mass. 241; Badger v. McNamara, 123 Mass. 117; Frue v. Loring, 120 Mass. 507.

Mississippi.— Fulton v. Woodman, 40 Miss. 593.

New Hampshire.— Walker v. Cheever, 35 N. H. 339.

New Jersey.— Rutherford v. Alyea, 54 N. J. Eq. 411, 34 Atl. 1078; Olds v. Regan, (N. J. 1895) 32 Atl. 827; Nesbit v. St. Patrick's Church, 9 N. J. Eq. 76.

New Mexico.— Lewis v. Baca, 5 N. M. 289, 21 Pac. 343.

New York.— Dyckman v. Valiente, 42 N. Y. 549; Lynch v. Willard, 6 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 342; Porter v. Spencer, 2 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 169.

Oregon.— Duclos v. Walton, 21 Oreg. 323, 28 Pac. 1.

Pennsylvania.— Winton Coal Co. v. Pancoast Coal Co., 170 Pa. St. 437, 33 Atl. 110; Paton v. Clark, 156 Pa. St. 49, 27 Atl. 116; Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co.'s Appeal, 99 Pa. St. 177; Grubb's Appeal, 90 Pa. St. 228; Passyunk Bldg. Assoc.'s Appeal, 83 Pa. St. 441; Gloninger v. Hazard, 42 Pa. St. 389; Shollenberger's Appeal, 21 Pa. St. 337; Long v. Cochran, 9 Phila. (Pa.) 267, 30 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 37; U. S. Bank v. Biddle, 2 Pars. Eq. Cas. (Pa.) 31; Mather's Appeal, (Pa. 1885) 1 Atl. 531; McGowin v. Remington, 12 Pa. St. 56, 51 Am. Dec. 584.

South Carolina.— Latham v. Harby, 50 S. C. 428, 27 S. E. 862; Nix v. Harley, 3 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 379.

Tennessee.— Pearl v. Nashville, 10 Yerg. (Tenn.) 179.

Virginia.— Goddin v. Bland, 87 Va. 706, 13 S. E. 145, 24 Am. St. Rep. 678; Poage v. Willson, 2 Leigh (Va.) 490.

Washington.— Seattle Nat. Bank v. School District No. 40, 20 Wash. 368, 55 Pac. 317.

West Virginia.—Van Dorn v. Lewis County Ct., 38 W. Va. 267, 18 S. E. 579; Hoke v. Davis, 33 W. Va. 485, 10 S. E. 820; Lafever v. Billmyer, 5 W. Va. 33.

Wisconsin.— Ellis v. Southwestern Land Co., 102 Wis. 409, 78 N. W. 583; Blake v. Blake, 56 Wis. 392, 14 N. W. 173.

United States.— French v. Hay, 22 Wall. (U. S.) 231, 22 L. ed. 799.

where the amount of recovery to which the party is entitled is ascertained and admitted by both parties,[38] or where an exact sum is claimed and defendant admits it less certain unliquidated damages.[39] And equity will not assume jurisdiction upon the ground of account where the case presents merely a legal claim for damages[40] unless other and equitable relief is necessary, as an injunction,[41] or plaintiff is for other reasons entitled to equitable interference, though an action might also lie.[42] But where the relation of the parties is of a nature to invoke equitable jurisdiction, the fact that defendant admits liability in his answer to the amount of the items constituting the account as set forth by plaintiff will not defeat the jurisdiction.[43]

g. Complication Involving Different Parties. Where different persons are involved in the accounting so that the remedy at law would not be adequate by a separate action on behalf of each of such persons,[44] or the settlement involves a complicated account between different persons whose interests are so interwoven that complete justice cannot be done without having all of them before the court,[45] or where proportionate liability of different parties is sought to be enforced, which can be determined only by an accounting, a suit in equity is proper.[46]

h. Action on Bond — Different Sets of Sureties. Where the default of a principal has not been established, a bill for an accounting against a surety is not proper.[47] Equitable jurisdiction cannot be substituted for a mere action on a bond.[48] It has been held, however, that in a proper case for an accounting against the principal on a bond, or his representatives, the sureties may be joined, upon the ground that a decree against the principal would bind the surety as to the England.— Hoare v. Contencin, 1 Bro. Ch. 27; Navulshaw v. Brownrigg, 2 De G. M. & G. 441; King v. Rossett, 2 Y. & J. 33; Smith v. Leveaux, 2 De G. J. & S. 1.

38. McArthur v. McArthur, (N. J. 1890) 19 Atl. 1094.

39. Hagenbeck v. Hagenbeck Zoological Arena Co., 59 Fed. 14.

40. Michigan.— Linn v. Gunn, 56 Mich. 447, 23 N. W. 84.

Mississippi.— Planters' Compress Assoc. v. Hanes, 52 Miss. 469.

New York.— McLellan v. Goodwin, 43 N. Y. App. Div. 148, 59 N. Y. Suppl. 290; Lafond v. Lassere, 26 Misc. (N. Y.) 77, 56 N. Y. Suppl. 459; Durant v. Einstein, 5 Rob. (N. Y.) 423; Monk v. Harper, 3 Edw. (N. Y.) 109.

North Carolina.— Buncombe Turnpike Co. v. Allen, 22 N. C. 115.

Pennsylvania.— Paton v. Clark, 156 Pa. St. 49, 27 Atl. 116; Pittsburgh, etc., R. Co.'s Appeal, 99 Pa. St. 177; Koch's Appeal, 9 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 343.

United States.— Willson v. Winchester, etc., R. Co., 99 Fed. 642, 41 C. C. A. 215; Washburn, etc., Mfg. Co. v. Freeman Wire Co., 41 Fed. 410; Baker v. Biddle, Baldw. (U. S.) 394, 2 Fed. Cas. No. 764.

Specific performance.— Where an obligation is not the subject of a decree for specific performance the suit will not be retained in the absence of other grounds on the score of account where the remedy is at law for damages. Bradford, etc., R. Co. v. New York, etc., R. Co., 123 N. Y. 316, 25 N. E. 499, 11 L. R. A. 116; Tonawanda Valley, etc., R. Co. v. New York, etc., R. Co., 123 N. Y. 641, 25 N. E. 503; Campbell v. Rust, 85 Va. 653, 8 S. E. 664.

41. See, for example, Patterson v. Glassmire, 166 Pa. St. 230, 31 Atl. 40; Root v. Lake Shore, etc., R. Co., 105 U. S. 189, 26 L. ed. 975.

42. Ramsay v. Sims, 12 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 430, holding that where a debtor's property is, by consent, sold at private sale by the oldest judgment creditor, and he receives the money and warrants the title to the purchaser, and the property is afterward sold at sheriff's sale, and the warrantor receives the proceeds, a bill in equity lies by the purchaser at the private sale, against the warrantor, to compel him to account for the proceeds of the sheriff's sale.

43. Ross v. Willett, 76 Hun (N. Y.) 211, 27 N. Y. Suppl. 785.

44. Norton v. Ladd, 22 Conn. 203.

45. Hunter v. Spotswood, 1 Wash. (Va.) 145.

46. Buist v. Melchers, 44 S. C. 46, 21 S. E. 449. To the same point see Brinckerhoff v. Bostwick, 105 N. Y. 567, 12 N. E. 58; Stone v. Chisolm, 113 U. S. 302, 5 S. Ct. 497, 28 L. ed. 991; Hornor v. Henning, 93 U. S. 228, 23 L. ed. 879. See, further, CORPORATIONS.

47. Bissell v. Ames, 17 Conn. 121; Grady v. Hughes, 80 Mich. 184, 44 N. W. 1050.

48. State v. Bradshaw, 60 Ala. 239 [disapproving Norton v. Hixon, 25 Ill. 439, 79 Am. Dec. 338, which was a proceeding against a sheriff to make him account for moneys which had come to him by virtue of his office, in that it rested in a false analogy to cases of executors and administrators; the vice of this position being that while a sheriff is a public officer executors and the like are merely invested with a trust over which chancery has always maintained jurisdiction]; Cook County v. Davis, 143 Ill. 151, 32 N. E. 176.

amount due on the bond, but that no decree for payment could be made against the surety in that suit.[49] So cases involving the liability of several sets of sureties have been held to present no ground for equitable jurisdiction,[50] even where the officer has failed to keep his accounts so that it can be ascertained under which of the bonds the defalcation occurred,[51] though it has also been held otherwise.[52]

i. Trusts and Fiduciary Relations. Courts of equity have jurisdiction over all trusts for the purpose of compelling an accounting, and the existence of any confidential or fiduciary relation is sufficient to invoke such jurisdiction whenever the duty arising out of such relation rests upon one of the parties to render an account to the other.[53] This embraces not only the supervisory power of such courts over

49. Rutherford v. Alyea, 53 N. J. Eq. 580, 32 Atl. 70; Dorsheimer v. Rorback, 23 N. J. Eq. 46, 25 N. J. Eq. 516.

50. Rutherford v. Alyea, 53 N. J. Eq. 580, 32 Atl. 70; Oglesby v. State, 73 Tex. 658, 11 S. W. 873; Grafton v. Reed, 26 W. Va. 437.

51. Kuhl v. Pierce County, 44 Nebr. 584, 62 N. W. 1066, in which case it appears, however, that discovery was not a ground for equitable jurisdiction, and that such jurisdiction was confined to cases having their origin in confidential or trust relations.

52. Dallas County v. Timberlake, 54 Ala. 403; State v. Churchill, 48 Ark. 426, 3 S. W. 352, 880; Governor v. McEwen, 5 Humphr. (Tenn.) 241; Tyler v. Nelson, 14 Gratt. (Va.) 214.

53. Alabama.— Donovan v. Haynie, 67 Ala. 51; Dallas County v. Timberlake, 54 Ala. 403; Halsted v. Rabb, 8 Port. (Ala.) 63; Bullock v. Governor, 2 Port. (Ala.) 484.

California.— San Pedro Lumber Co. v. Reynolds, 111 Cal. 588, 44 Pac. 309; Green v. Brooks, 81 Cal. 328, 22 Pac. 849; Wooster v. Nevills, 73 Cal. 58, 14 Pac. 390; Sanderson v. McIntosh, 65 Cal. 36, 2 Pac. 728, holding that equity had jurisdiction to compel an assignee in insolvency to execute his trust and to account, the remedy afforded creditors under the insolvency laws not being exclusive.

Illinois.— Clapp v. Emery, 98 Ill. 523; Smith v. Sackett, 15 Ill. 528; Gillett v. Hickling, 16 Ill. App. 392, holding that where a mortgagee sold mortgaged premises by an agreement with the mortgagor, and took promissory notes in payment of the purchase-money, and refused to collect the last of said notes, which represented a surplus due the mortgagor, equity would interfere in the latter's favor notwithstanding he might have a remedy at law.

Indiana.— Coquillard v. Suydam, 8 Blackf. (Ind.) 24.

Maine.— Doyle v. Whalen, 87 Me. 414, 32 Atl. 1022, 31 L. R. A. 118; Webb v. Fuller, 77 Me. 568, 1 Atl. 737.

Maryland.— Laeber v. Langhor, 45 Md. 477; Dillon v. Connecticut Mut. L. Ins. Co., 44 Md. 386; Williams v. West, 2 Md. 174.

Massachusetts.— Pratt v. Tuttle, 136 Mass. 233; Dole v. Wooldredge, 135 Mass. 140; Badger v. McNamara, 123 Mass. 117; Hobart v. Andrews, 21 Pick. (Mass.) 526.

Michigan.— Warren v. Holbrook, 95 Mich. 185, 54 N. W. 712, 35 Am. St. Rep. 554; Holmes v. Malcolm McDonald Lumber Co., 95 Mich. 606, 55 N. W. 450; Petrie v. Torrent, 88 Mich. 43, 49 N. W. 1076; Shaw v. Chase, 77 Mich. 436, 43 N. W. 883; Darrah v. Boyce, 62 Mich. 480, 29 N. W. 102; Clarke v. Pierce, 52 Mich. 157, 17 N. W. 780; Cochrane v. Adams, 50 Mich. 16, 14 N. W. 681.

Minnesota.— Smith v. Glover, 44 Minn. 260, 46 N. W. 406.

Mississippi.— Philips v. Hines, 33 Miss. 163.

Missouri.— Berlien v. Bieler, 96 Mo. 491, 9 S. W. 916; Hubbard v. Lucas, 71 Mo. 505; Jones v. Real Estate Sav. Inst., 67 Mo. 109.

New Hampshire.— Brooks v. Goodwin, (N. H. 1900) 47 Atl. 255.

New Jersey.— Fay v. Fay, (N. J. 1894) 29 Atl. 356.

New York.— Brinckerhoff v. Bostwick, 105 N. Y. 567, 12 N. E. 58; Marvin v. Brooks, 94 N. Y. 71; Getty v. Devlin, 70 N. Y. 504; Frethey v. Durrant, 24 N. Y. App. Div. 58, 48 N. Y. Suppl. 839, 44 N. Y. App. Div. 381, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 15; Gould v. Seney, 5 N. Y. Suppl. 928, 9 N. Y. Suppl. 818; Walker v. Spencer, 45 N. Y. Super. Ct. 71; Long v. Majestre, 1 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 305; Ellas v. Lockwood, Clarke (N. Y.) 311.

North Carolina.— Dunn v. Johnson, 115 N. C. 249, 20 S. E. 390; Martin v. Wilbourne, 66 N. C. 321.

Pennsylvania.— Yeaney v. Keck, 183 Pa. St. 532, 38 Atl. 1041; Reeder v. Trullinger, 151 Pa. St. 287, 24 Atl. 1104; Bierbower's Appeal, 107 Pa. St. 14; Steinruck's Appeal, 70 Pa. St. 289; U. S. Bank v. Biddle, 2 Pars. Eq. Cas. (Pa.) 31.

Tennessee.— Mann v. Bamberger, 4 Heisk. (Tenn.) 486; Dillard v. Harris, 2 Tenn. Ch. 196; Hale v. Hale, 4 Humphr. (Tenn.) 183.

Virginia.— Vilwig v. Baltimore, etc., R. Co., 79 Va. 449; Simmons v. Simmons, 33 Gratt. (Va.) 451; Thornton v. Thornton, 31 Gratt. (Va.) 212; Coffman v. Sangston, 21 Gratt. (Va.) 263; Berkshire v. Evans, 4 Leigh (Va.) 223.

Wisconsin.— Rippe v. Stogdill, 61 Wis. 38, 20 N. W. 645.

United States.— Central Nat. Bank v. Connecticut Mut. L. Ins. Co., 104 U. S. 54, 26 L. ed. 693; Seymour v. Freer, 8 Wall. (U. S.) 202, 19 L. ed. 306; Fowle v. Lawrason, 5 Pet. (U. S.) 495, 8 L. ed. 204; U. S. v. National Bank, 73 Fed. 379; Colonial, etc., Mortg. Co. v. Hutchinson Mortg. Co., 44 Fed. 219; Pacific R. Co. v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 20 Fed. 277; Bischoffsheim v. Baltzer, 20 Fed. 890.

England.— Mackenzie v. Johnston, 4 Madd. 373; Moxon v. Bright, L. R. 4 Ch. 292; Power trust estates generally, but over acts amounting to a breach of trust and fraudulent conduct on the part of persons occupying relations of confidence.[54] In such cases it is not necessary that the accounts should be mutual,[55] or that the bill should be framed for discovery.[56] And it is no objection that an action at law sounding in damages may be brought for the breach; the legal and equitable remedies are concurrent, and complainant has his election.[57]

j. Determination of Legal Title. Account by itself is not sufficient to confer jurisdiction where plaintiff must first establish his legal title, as in the case of a suit to try the title to land and for an account of rents and profits.[58]

k. Objections to Jurisdiction. Matters of account are so far within the pale of equity jurisdiction as to draw to them the application of the general rule that where the subject-matter is not altogether foreign to the court a plea to the jurisdiction ought to be interposed at the very earliest opportunity, and the parties should not be suffered to wade through a tedious and expensive litigation and then make objection that the remedy is at law.[59]

v. Power, 13 L. R. Ir. 281; Makepeace v. Rogers, 13 Wkly. Rep. 450.

Upon application of trustee.— There is no good reason why a trustee who desires to have his account settled should not be at liberty to call the cestui que trust into a court of equity for that purpose. Ludlow v. Simond, 2 Cai. Cas. (N. Y.) 1, 2 Am. Dec. 291. And it has been held that an agent intrusted with funds of his principal may come into equity to render his account, and have it allowed, and have himself discharged, though he is not without a remedy at law. Kerr v. Camden Steamboat Co., Cheves Eq. (S. C.) 189.

54. Michigan.— Tompkins v. Hollister, 60 Mich. 470, 27 N. W. 651.

New York.— Jones v. Butler, 20 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 189.

Pennsylvania.— Steinruck's Appeal, 70 Pa. St. 289.

Wisconsin.— Rippe v. Stogdill, 61 Wis. 38, 20 N. W. 645.

United States.— Colonial, etc., Mortg. Co. v. Hutchinson Mortg. Co., 44 Fed. 219.

55. Rippe v. Stogdill, 61 Wis. 38, 20 N. W. 645.

56. Cochrane v. Adams, 50 Mich. 16, 14 N. W. 681.

Production of books.— In such a case, although complainant may be unwilling to take defendant's answer under oath, yet the jurisdiction may rest upon other grounds,— the production of the books in the possession of defendant, by which alone may be elucidated the subject in controversy and the alleged frauds exposed. Dallas County v. Timberlake, 54 Ala. 403.

Against corporate officer after expiration of term.— In Bay City Bridge Co. v. Van Etten, 36 Mich. 210, it was held that the reasons for seeking the aid of equity which commonly exist in cases of breach of trust are wholly wanting in a suit by a corporation to call to account, as trustees, persons who had ceased to be officers of the corporation, for an appropriation of the corporate funds, where no discovery is sought.

57. Dillon v. Connecticut Mut. L. Ins. Co., 44 Md. 386; Petrie v. Torrent, 88 Mich. 43, 49 N. W. 1076; Warren v. Holbrook, 95 Mich. 185, 54 N. W. 712, 35 Am. St. Rep. 554; Tompkins v. Hollister, 60 Mich. 470, 27 N. W. 651; Seymour v. Freer, 8 Wall. (U. S.) 202, 19 L. ed. 306.

58. Tecumseh Iron Co. v. Camp, 93 Ala. 572, 9 So. 343; Ashley v. Little Rock, 56 Ark. 391, 19 S. W. 1058; Barry v. Shelby, 4 Hayw. (Tenn.) 228. See also EJECTMENT.

In 1 Fonblanque Eq. b. 1, ch. 3, § 3, note (k) it is said that courts of equity, when resorted to for the purpose of an account of mesne profits, will in many cases consult the principle of convenience and sometimes decree it where the party has not already established his right at law. But Mr. Justice Story says that while this is to some extent borne out by authority, as in the case of shareholders in real property of a peculiar nature (such as shareholders in the New River Water Works in England) there is great reason to question whether the doctrine is generally admissible as a rule in equity resulting from mere convenience, but that it seems rather to result from the peculiar character of the property where there are many proprietors in the nature of partners having a common title to the profits, and therefore the whole becomes appropriately a matter of account. Story Eq. Jur. § 509 [citing Townsend v. Ash, 3 Atk. 336; Adley v. Whitstable Co., 17 Ves. Jr. 315; Lorimer v. Lorimer, 5 Madd. 363].

59. Connecticut.— Smith v. Lawrence, 26 Conn. 468.

Illinois.— Crawford v. Schmitz, 139 Ill. 564, 29 N. E. 40.

New Jersey.— Seymour v. Long Dock Co., 20 N. J. Eq. 396.

New York.— Schuetz v. German-American Real Estate Co., 21 N. Y. App. Div. 163, 47 N. Y. Suppl. 500; Post v. Kimberly, 9 Johns. (N. Y.) 470; Ludlow v. Simond, 2 Cai. Cas. (N. Y.) 1, 2 Am. Dec. 291.

North Carolina.— Dickens v. Ashe, 3 N. C. 381 note.

Ohio.— Nicholson v. Pim, 5 Ohio St. 25.

Pennsylvania.— Drake v. Lacoe, 157 Pa. St. 17, 27 Atl. 538; Evans v. Goodwin, 132 Pa. St. 136, 19 Atl. 49.

Virginia.— Hickman v. Stout, 2 Leigh (Va.) 6.

After evidence before master.— And where

2. Demand. Where an accounting party is not necessarily in default simply by reason of his ultimate liability to account, a demand should be made before bringing a suit in equity for an accounting.[60]

3. Necessity for or Present Liability to Account — a. In General. Generally, when one party calls upon another for an accounting, it must be made to appear that the accounting will be available to complainant, as that there is something in the hands of defendant due to complainant.[61] On the other hand an accounting may be proper notwithstanding the fact that the balance which might be found due upon such accounting should not be turned over to complainant, the right to call for the accounting depending upon the peculiar relation of the parties and the particular circumstances of the transaction,[62] or at least, if defendant has made the suit necessary, the complaint need not be dismissed because nothing is shown to be due.[63] In the same way an accounting may be sought against a trustee, and it is not necessary, to entitle complainant to relief, that there should be something due if he is entitled to know in such a proceeding whether anything is due,[64] unless the answer, in response to the bill, shows an accounting to be unnecessary.[65]

b. Confined to Particular Interest. A reversioner who has no interest in the income of the property, but only in the corpus of the estate, is concerned only in the bill shows that an accounting is proper because the accounts are complicated, running through many years, the bill will not be dismissed after evidence before the master discloses that no such accounting was in fact necessary, and that a remedy at law was adequate. Drake v. Lacoe, 157 Pa. St. 17, 27 Atl. 538. But where the master and the court find against plaintiff upon the matters which are the basis of the jurisdiction on the ground of account, the appeal will be dismissed. Ahl's Appeal, 129 Pa. St. 49, 18 Atl. 475, 477; Passyunk Bldg. Assoc.'s Appeal, 83 Pa. St. 441; Silvis v. Clous, 1 Pa. Super. Ct. 41; 37 Wkly. Notes Cas. (Pa.) 346.

A decree by consent ordering an account is a waiver of objection to the jurisdiction of the court to order an account. Dillard v. Harris, 2 Tenn. Ch. 196.

60. Smith v. Lawrence, 26 Conn. 468. See also II, E, 9, a, (v).

61. In other words there must be something to be accounted for before a reference will be ordered. Graham Paper Co. v. Pembroke, 124 Cal. 117, 56 Pac. 627, 44 L. R. A. 632; Hunt v. Gorden, 52 Miss. 144; Stamps v. Bracy, 1 How. (Miss.) 312; Hargrave v. Conroy, 19 N. J. Eq. 281; Metz v. Farnham, 8 Phila. (Pa.) 267.

Complaint by accounting party.— Where the accounting party under a contract shows in his complaint that there is nothing to account for, but proceeds to seek to have the account stated for the purpose of preventing defendant from declaring a forfeiture of the contract, and asks for time to pay whatever may be found due defendant, there is no case for an accounting. Safety Electric Constr. Co. v. Creamer, 84 Hun (N. Y.) 570, 33 N. Y. Suppl. 411.

Receipt of proceeds of notes not matured. — Where one is entitled to an accounting from another for a share of proceeds of notes, it is immaterial that some of the notes have not matured when defendant has in fact received the proceeds thereof. Purslow v. Jackson, 93 Iowa 694, 62 N. W. 12.

62. Thomas v. Hartshorne, 45 N. J. Eq. 215, 16 Atl. 916, 3 L. R. A. 381, wherein money was advanced to a person for the purpose of being used in raising a sunken vessel containing treasure, upon his promise to return a large sum if the venture was successful. He undertook the work, and prosecuted it for some time, during which additional advances were made. It was held that while parties who made the advances might not, under the contract, be entitled to a repayment of the money advanced, yet they were entitled to know how the money was being disposed of, though where the further prosecution of the work had become impossible on account of the government rescinding its permission to defendant to pursue it, the parties who had advanced the money were entitled to an accounting for the purpose of recovering back what was left unexpended in the work.

63. Knapp v. Edwards, 57 Wis. 191, 15 N. W. 140.

64. Green v. Brooks, 81 Cal. 328, 22 Pac. 849; Frethey v. Durant, 24 N. Y. App. Div. 58, 48 N. Y. Suppl. 839, 44 N. Y. App. Div. 381, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 15; Long v. Perdue, 83 Pa. St. 214.

Sale by trustee on a credit.— But where land is conveyed merely as security, and defendant makes a sale thereof upon credit and without authority, the trustee becomes immediately accountable to the cestui que trust for the proceeds or its value, ascertained by the note of the purchaser and the mortgage executed to secure the same. Burlingame v. Hobbs, 12 Gray (Mass.) 367. See, further, Trusts.

65. Stamps v. Bracy, 1 How. (Miss.) 312, wherein the answer, directly responsive to the discovery sought, showed that defendant had disposed of the property, as far as it went, in discharging the debts which he undertook to discharge under the obligation under which the bill sought to charge him.

the allowance of the indebtedness of the property, therefore he will not be entitled to an account further than this.[66]

4. Lapse of Time — Laches. The lapse of a long time (twenty years) balances the account of all antecedent transactions, in the absence of disability or some act or admission of liability to account,[67] and an accounting will not be decreed after a great lapse of time, especially after the party has by his conduct acquiesced in the construction of his rights which, if correct, would make an account unnecessary,[68] or when, on account of complainant's delay, the transactions have become so obscured by the lapse of time, death of parties and witnesses, and loss of papers and evidence, that a just and accurate account cannot be stated.[69] But there is no certain and definite rule on this subject. Each case must depend upon the exercise of a sound discretion arising out of the particular facts.[70] Fortuitous circumstances will not stand in the way of an accounting, even though the statement of the account may be attended with great embarrassment.[71] On the other hand, mere staleness of demand is not an available objection where periods of limitation are prescribed for both legal and equitable actions.[72]

5. Rents and Profits — Period of Accounting Restricted by Acquiescence. Where one receives income or revenue without knowledge of any accountability to another therefor, and with full knowledge on the part of the latter, but tacitly by his consent or acquiescence, there can be no accounting beyond the filing of

66. Patterson v. Johnson, 113 Ill. 559.

67. Weatherford v. Tate, 2 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 27.

68. Bell v. Hudson, 73 Cal. 285, 14 Pac. 791, 2 Am. St. Rep. 791; Bolling v. Bolling, 5 Munf. (Va.) 334.

69. Delaware.— Hall v. Walker, 1 Del. Ch. 241.

Michigan.— German American Seminary v. Kiefer, 43 Mich. 105, 4 N. W. 636.

Mississippi.— Clayton v. Boyce, 62 Miss. 390.

New Jersey.— Osborne v. O'Reilly, 43 N. J. Eq. 647, 12 Atl. 377.

New York.— Rayner v. Pearsall, 3 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 578; Ellison v. Moffatt, 1 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 46; Ray v. Bogart, 2 Johns. Cas. (N. Y.) 432.

Virginia.— Harrison v. Gibson, 23 Gratt. (Va.) 212; Caruthers v. Lexington, 12 Leigh (Va.) 610; Carr v. Chapman, 5 Leigh (Va.) 164.

Statute governing legal action.— In matters over which courts of chancery have concurrent jurisdiction with courts of law (as, for example, partnership account), the statute of limitations governing the legal action is applied. Bradford v. Spyker, 32 Ala. 134; Atwater v. Fowler, 1 Edw. (N. Y.) 417. See Limitations of Actions.

In analogy to limitation at law.— Where suit on a mere constructive trust has been delayed until many of the persons concerned in the transaction are dead, and the recollection of others is such that the court must be in doubt whether the case established by the evidence is not partial and misleading, equity will not interfere. In such a case an equitable action of assumpsit will be outlawed by the same lapse of time as bars an action at law. In this case it was held that the suit was merely a suit in equity to recover a sum of money had and received to complainant's use, the jurisdiction being based upon a constructive trust. German American Seminary v. Kiefer, 43 Mich. 105, 4 N. W. 636. See Equity.

70. Rayner v. Pearsall, 3 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 578. Where defendant admits, under oath, property in his hands at a time before the filing of the bill which will not show a sufficient period to have elapsed to invoke the rule as to stale demands, he cannot escape liability. Kerr v. Webb, 9 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 369.

71. Johnson v. Diversey, 82 Ill. 446, in which case the administratrix of a deceased partner filed a bill against the surviving partner for an account of the partnership, and shortly afterward, on account of the breaking out of the civil war, complainant, being a resident of one of the Confederate states, was unable to communicate with her counsel. Defendant, who resided in the county where the suit was pending, did nothing to bring the cause to a hearing, and no steps were taken therein for seven years, when defendant died and complainant revived the suit. From that time the suit was actively prosecuted until the record had become voluminous and was destroyed by the Chicago fire. It being impracticable to supply the lost record, the suit was dismissed, and another instituted, being in reality a revival of the original suit. It was held that complications and difficulties arising out of war and the destruction of records being the chief causes of delay, such delay could not be imputed to complainant as laches; that the difficulties in the way of taking accurate accounts in consequence of the default of the parties and witnesses may be embarrassing to both parties, but constitute no insuperable objection to adjusting accounts of trust funds which should have been adjusted sooner, and that the cause should be heard on the merits.

72. Derby v. Yale, 13 Hun (N. Y.) 273.

the bill,[73] as in the case of mere adverse possession. Where such circumstances do not exist, however, complainant is entitled to an account from the time of the accrual of his title, as if complainant was delayed by the fraud of the other party, or if the party in possession is a trustee or bailiff.[74]

6. Parties Left In Statu Quo. Where an account is impossible of statement because of an absence of evidence upon which any result can be based, the court will leave the parties as they are found,[75] and where complainant was so at fault in the course of the transactions involved as to render an accurate statement of the accounts impossible, a court of equity will not interfere.[76]

7. Parties to Suit[77] — a. In General. One seeking an account must have such an interest in the fund of which the accounting is sought as will justify him in demanding such relief.[78]

b. All Parties Interested — (i) General Rule. In a suit for an accounting the general equity rule in regard to parties applies, namely, that all persons interested in the subject-matter — that is, in the accounting — should be before the court, to the end that complete justice may be administered,[79] notwithstanding they are not 73. Roosevelt v. Post, 1 Edw. (N. Y.) 579; Pettiward v. Prescott, 7 Ves. Jr. 541; Pulteney v. Warren, 6 Ves. Jr. 72; Edwards v. Morgan, 13 Price 782; Bowes v. East London Water-works, 3 Madd. 375; Dormer v. Fortescue, 3 Atk. 124. In Rowland v. Best, 2 McCord Eq. (S. C.) 317, the account was restricted to four years before the filing of the bill. In Hercy v. Ballard, 4 Bro. Ch. 468, the account was restricted to six years in consideration of the application of the statute of limitations, and in Reade v. Reade, 5 Ves. Jr. 744, it was confined to six years by analogy to an action for mesne profits.

74. Roosevelt v. Post, 1 Edw. (N. Y.) 579 [citing Pearce v. Newlyn, 3 Madd. 186; Atty.-Gen. v. Stafford, 1 Russ. 547]; Hicks v. Sallitt, 3 De G. M. & G. 782; Bolton v. Deane, Prec. Ch. 516. Where there is a trust, and complainant brings his bill upon a mere equitable title, he shall recover the estate, and the court will give him an account of the rents and profits from the time the title accrued, in the absence of special circumstances requiring it to restrain the accounting to the time of bringing the bill. Dormer v. Fortescue, 3 Atk. 124; Dean v. Wade, 1 Ch. Rep. 48.

By infant. — In the case of a bill brought by an infant for the possession of an estate and an account of rents and profits, the court will decree an account from the time the infant's title accrued, because every person who enters on the estate of an infant does so as guardian or bailiff for the infant. Dormer v. Fortescue, 3 Atk. 124.

75. Slater v. Arnett, 81 Va. 432.

76. Macauley v. Elrod, (Ky. 1894) 28 S. W. 782; Nightingale v. Milwaukee Furniture Co., 71 Fed. 234.

77. As to the necessity of making sureties parties in cases of collateral liability see supra, II, E, 1, h.

78. Nicholas v. Anderson, 8 Wheat. (U. S.) 365, 5 L. ed. 637, holding that the state could not call on a surveyor to account for fees received on delivering warrants toward raising a fund for paying contingent expenses, under an act for the locating of lands given to Revolutionary soldiers, because it was not shown that there were no private parties in esse entitled to claim the fund.

A reversioner cannot file a bill for an accounting beyond the allowance of indebtednesses affecting the corpus of the estate, because he has no present interest in the subject-matter. Patterson v. Johnson, 113 Ill. 559.

79. California.— Wright v. Ward, 65 Cal. 525, 4 Pac. 534; Young v. Hoglan, 52 Cal. 466; McPherson v. Parker, 30 Cal. 455, 89 Am. Dec. 129; Wilson v. Lassen, 5 Cal. 114.

Connecticut.— Bissell v. Ames, 17 Conn. 121.

Georgia.— Pearce v. Bruce, 38 Ga. 444; Wells v. Strange, 5 Ga. 22.

Hawaii.— Waterhouse v. Hitchcock, 6 Hawaii 131.

Kentucky.— Dozier v. Edwards, 3 Litt. (Ky.) 67.

Maine.— Beal v. Bass, 86 Me. 325, 29 Atl. 1088; Mudgett v. Gager, 52 Me. 541; Fuller v. Benjamin, 23 Me. 255.

Maryland.— Kunkel v. Markell, 26 Md. 390.

Massachusetts.— McCabe v. Bellows, 1 Allen (Mass.) 269; Hobart v. Andrews, 21 Pick. (Mass.) 526.

Minnesota.— Fish v. Berkey, 10 Minn. 199.

New Jersey.— Speakman v. Tatem, 45 N. J. Eq. 388, 17 Atl. 818; Keeler v. Keeler, 11 N. J. Eq. 458.

New York.—Petrie v. Petrie, 7 Lans. (N. Y.) 90; Warth v. Radde, 18 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 396; Lewis v. Varnum, 12 Abb. Pr. (N. Y.) 305.

Pennsylvania.— Petitt v. Baird, 10 Phila. (Pa.) 57, 30 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 208; Potter v. Hoppin, 10 Phila. (Pa.) 396, 32 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 66; Hughes v. McMurray, 6 Phila. (Pa.) 200, 24 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 44.

Rhode Island.— New England Commercial Bank v. Newport Steam Factory, 6 R. I. 154, 73 Am. Dec. 688; D'Wolf v. D'Wolf, 4 R. I. 450.

South Carolina.—Jewell v. Jewell, 11 Rich. Eq. (S. C.) 296.

Virginia.— Sheppard v. Stark, 3 Munf. (Va.) 29.

joined in the same right,[80] and if, after an interlocutory order to account against two, one of them dies, the action survives, and the executor and representatives of the deceased party should be brought in.[81]

(II) Application of Rule. The application of the rule requiring the presence of all parties interested usually arises upon a suit for a general accounting, where the shares of some in a fund cannot be determined until the ascertainment of the rights of all parties interested,[82] or where a party may become liable upon some contingency.[83] And where defendant in such a bill may have an interest in requiring an omitted party or his legal representative to be brought before the court, because of the latter's ultimate liability to defendant,[84] or for the purpose of discharging defendant from further liability to the omitted party in matters involved, an objection to the further progress of the cause in the absence of the omitted party will be sustained.[85]

United States.— Bell v. Donohoe, 8 Sawy. (U. S.) 435, 17 Fed. 710; Vose v. Philbrook, 3 Story (U. S.) 335, 28 Fed. Cas. No. 17,010; Parsons v. Howard, 2 Woods (U. S.) 1, 18 Fed. Cas. No. 10,777.

England.— Evans v. Stokes, 1 Keen 24; Ireton v. Lewes, Finch 96; Richardson v. Hastings, 7 Beav. 301; Hills v. Nash, 1 Phil. 594; Palk v. Clinton, 12 Ves. Jr. 48; Sherrit v. Birch, 3 Bro. Ch. 229.

The reason of the rule is that otherwise the accounting party may be harassed with successive suits for the same purpose by each party. D'Wolf v. D'Wolf, 4 R. I. 450.

Exceptions.— As to exceptions to the general rule when the parties are numerous or some are out of the jurisdiction see EQUITY.

Under the code providing that an objection for want of parties shall be taken by demurrer if the defect appears upon the face of the complaint, or by answer if the defect does not so appear, it is held that in a suit for an accounting by a trustee the objection cannot be made for the first time after the order to account, and that if other persons interested are omitted the referee can make provision in his report for their protection. Rose v. Durant, 44 N. Y. App. Div. 381, 61 N. Y. Suppl. 15.

80. Skidmore v. Collier, 8 Hun (N. Y.) 50; Smith v. Sheppar, 3 N. C. 349; Hindmarsh v. Southgate, 3 Russ. 324; Holland v. Prior, 1 Myl. & K. 237; Palk v. Clinton, 12 Ves. Jr. 48; Hobart v. Abbott, 2 P. Wms. 643. See EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS; MORTGAGES.

81. See ABATEMENT AND REVIVAL.

82. McPherson v. Parker, 30 Cal. 455, 89 Am. Dec. 129; Speakman v. Tatem, 45 N. J. Eq. 388, 17 Atl. 818; Hallett v. Hallett, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 15; Eldredge v. Putnam, 46 Wis. 205, 50 N. W. 595.

Assignee and creditors.— A creditor secured by a trust deed cannot maintain a bill for an account of the trust fund without making all creditors who are preferred and in the same class with him parties either as plaintiffs or defendants. Murphy v. Jackson, 58 N. C. 11; Fisher v. Worth, 45 N. C. 63; Waterhouse v. Hitchcock, 6 Hawaii 131. So the assignor is a proper if not a necessary party. Noyes v. Wernberg, 15 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 72.

Several trustees.— Where a bill is brought for an accounting and settlement of a trust, all the trustees must be made parties. Petrie v. Petrie, 7 Lans. (N. Y.) 90; Conolly v. Wells, 33 Fed. 205; Howth v. Owens, 29 Fed. 722; Scurry v. Morse, 9 Mod. 89. And if one of them, who was an actual trustee, previously dies, his representative must be made a party. Howth v. Owens, 29 Fed. 722. But the representative of a deceased co-trustee is not a necessary party where the trustee represented in the suit had the exclusive possession and control of the trust property. Fleming v. Gilmer, 35 Ala. 62.

As to breach of trust see TRUSTS.

83. Hobart v. Andrews, 21 Pick. (Mass.) 526.

84. Bailey v. Inglee, 2 Paige (N. Y.) 278, holding that where the bill seeks to enjoin an action already begun at law by defendants against complainants and others, defendants in the bill have a right to insist that one of the defendants in the action at law, who was sued as jointly liable with complainant in the bill, should be made a party to the bill, and that defendants in the bill have such an interest in having such person before the court as entitles them to make objection if he is not a party; Petitt v. Baird, 10 Phila. (Pa.) 57, 30 Leg. Int. (Pa.) 208; Hills v. Nash, 1 Phil. 594; Devaynes v. Robinson, 24 Beav. 86.

85. Keeler v. Keeler, 11 N. J. Eq. 458.

Secured creditors.— Where property is conveyed in trust for the purpose of applying the proceeds thereof to the payment of certain claims, and it does not appear that such claims have been satisfied, in a suit for an accounting against the trustee by the debtor the secured creditors are necessary parties. Fish v. Berkey, 10 Minn. 199. So in Berlien v. Bieler, 96 Mo. 491, 9 S. W. 916, wherein a creditor of one occupying land under a contract of purchase purchased it at a tax-sale under an agreement to convey it to the debtor upon the payment by the latter of the debt, but instead conveyed it to a third person who had notice of the agreement, it was held that upon offering to perform his part of the agreement the debtor might sue for an accounting, but that the creditor should be made a party defendant in order to a complete and final adjudication

c. Suit Not for General Accounting and Distribution. Where the account sought is not a general one for the distribution of the fund, but only for the protection of a contingent liability, and the rights of defendants before the court cannot be prejudiced by the omission of another party, though the latter might be a proper party he is not a necessary one;[86] and the same is true where the suit is for the purpose of enforcing a preferred claim against a fund in the hands of one representing all parties interested therein,[87] as well as in other cases in which the parties in interest are legally represented by persons acting for them as a class and where distribution of the fund is not an object of the suit.[88]

d. Persons without Interest — (I) In General. Whatever may be the relation between the complainant seeking an accounting and a third person as between themselves, the latter is not a necessary party if he has no interest in the result, and defendant's liability is in no wise affected by his absence.[89] The same is true where the interest of one of the parties has ceased or he has been accounted with and satisfied; he is not a necessary party[90] unless the defendant before the court, for the purpose of having his own rights finally settled, is still interested in having the omitted party before the court, and the settlement with such party is not conclusive upon defendant before the court.[91]

(II) Agent of Accounting Party. A mere agent of one who is under liability to account is not, it seems, a proper party to a bill for an accounting against the principal,[92] though the character of the agency and the transactions may be of the whole matter. The decree for an account was made upon condition that such creditor be made a party.

86. Stringfield v. Graff, 22 Iowa 438, which was a suit by a surety, without joining the principal, against an attorney who had received notes in satisfaction of a judgment against complainant and his principal, for an accounting and cancellation of the judgment.

87. Pritchard v. Hicks, 1 Paige (N. Y.) 270; Patton v. Bencini, 41 N. C. 204.

Suits for distribution.— See generally, as to the recovery of an aliquot part of an estate for the enforcement of claims having priority, EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS; TRUSTS.

88. Richardson v. Hastings, 7 Beav. 301. As where the suit is brought by one in his representative character to recover funds belonging to the estate. Sturgeon v. Burrall, 1 Ill. App. 537. See also, generally, EQUITY; EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS; TRUSTS.

Corporation and stockholders.— Under a lease, by one railroad corporation, of its railroad and equipment to another railroad corporation, one of the provisions of which was that dividends should be paid to the stockholders of the lessor corporation, said stockholders are not necessary parties to a bill for an accounting by the lessor against the lessee. The corporation is composed of the stockholders and fully represents their interest. Pacific R. Co. v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 20 Fed. 277. See also CORPORATIONS.

89. Burlingame v. Hobbs, 12 Gray (Mass.) 367 (which was a bill for an accounting as to advances made by defendant to a third person for which plaintiff had given security and which had been disposed of unauthorizedly); Palmer v. Stevens, 100 Mass. 461 (holding that where the liability of defendant to account is based upon his fraudulent conduct, no other person who was not privy to the fraud, though he may have derived some ultimate advantage from it,— in this case the omitted parties became the purchasers of the plaintiff's interest in a partnership through the fraudulent conduct of the defendant,— is a necessary party); Muir v. Leake, etc., Orphan House, 3 Barb. Ch. (N. Y.) 477. On a bill by an administrator against a defendant who had purchased claims allowed against the estate with money of the estate advanced by the administrator, a third person who was interested, as surety, together with defendant, on some of the notes so purchased, is not a necessary party, the agreement being with defendant himself that he should account for the money advanced. McLane v. Johnson, 59 Vt. 237, 9 Atl. 837.

90. Hobart v. Andrews, 21 Pick. (Mass.) 526; Smith v. Glover, 44 Minn. 260, 46 N. W. 406; D'Wolf v. D'Wolf, 4 R. I. 450; Carpenter v. Robinson, Holmes (U. S.) 67, 5 Fed. Cas. No. 2,431.

91. Hills v. Nash, 1 Phil. 594.

A bill is not defective for want of parties when the only defect is one such as that if plaintiff cannot establish his case by proof as to particular items, because they are chargeable against another with whom plaintiff and defendant have had mutual dealings, the suit must fail. Darthez v. Clemens, 6 Beav. 165.

92. Lockwood v. Abdy, 14 Sim. 437, holding that it is not proper to join in a bill against a trustee one who has received some of the trust property merely as the agent of the trustee.

Agent dealt with as principal.— Where plaintiff had mistakenly dealt with one as principal in several matters, and had made payments to him and his agent, and it turned out that in some of the matters the supposed principal was in fact but agent himself of another, without authority to employ a sub-such as to create sufficient privity to make the agent a proper accounting party.[93]

(III) JOINDER OF PERSONS WITHOUT INTEREST IN ACCOUNT. The mere fact that one who has no interest in the accounting is joined as a party defendant will not necessarily subject a complaint to an objection for misjoinder of parties,[94] and where an injunction is sought against a threatened sale, the prospective purchaser may be made a party in order to make effectual the other relief sought.[95]

e. Assignment of Part of Joint Interest. Where the relation of two parties under a contract is such as to entitle the one to call for an account from the other of the dealings thereunder, and the former assigns a part of his interest in the contract to a stranger, such assignment will not deprive the assignor of his right to call for an accounting and settlement of the transactions, and the assignee is a proper if not a necessary party to such a proceeding.[96]

f. Joinder of One of Two Accounting Parties as Defendant with Stranger. Where the suit is properly one for equitable cognizance on account of the relation and rights of the parties, a third person who was party to the particular transaction complained of, or who is charged with fraud therein, may be joined.[97]

8. ATTITUDE OF PARTIES AS ACTORS — a. General Rule. In matters of account both parties are actors.[98] Hence, after a decree to account, a defendant may revive the suit.[99] But where the suit is brought for the purpose of recovering a specific sum of money, it is held that a mere reference to state an account is not a decree to account so as to make both parties actors.[1] agent, it was held that a bill for an account of funds misappropriated by the subagent should be brought against the supposed principal, and not against the real principal whom the subagent had no authority to represent. Reynolds v. Smith, 6 Mackey (D. C.) 497.

93. Agent acting for trustee by authorized appointment.— Where trustees were authorized to appoint agents, and one was appointed and managed the trust for some time, and after his death another was appointed, there is sufficient privity to sustain a bill by the administrators of the first agent against the second agent for an account of moneys which had been advanced by the first agent and confirmed to him by the trustees, and of a further sum which had been awarded to his estate for his services. Williams v. West, 2 Md. 174.

94. Buie v. Mechanics' Bldg., etc., Assoc., 74 N. C. 117.

95. Mills v. Hurd, 32 Fed. 127.

96. Wilcox v. Pratt, 125 N. Y. 688, 25 N. E. 1091. See also PARTNERSHIP.

97. Hoyt v. Smith, 27 Conn. 63, 468; Penniman v. Jones, 58 N. H. 447. In Bartlett v. Parks, 1 Cush. (Mass.) 82, one of two partners, after the dissolution of the partnership, assigned partnership property to an agent for sale and to apply the proceeds to a partnership debt, and it was held that the other partner could sue for an accounting without joining his copartner, who had become insolvent, as plaintiff, but might join him as a defendant, as the interests of defendants and complainant were opposed, as well as because of the general rule which permits such joinder where one person cannot compel another to join with him as plaintiff. And so in Jewett v. Cunard, 3 Woodb. & M. (U. S.) 277, 13 Fed. Cas. No. 7,310, it was held that where a part owner of property which had been conveyed to a third person to secure debts of the co-owners, and of one of the co-owners alone, charged misconduct in the management of the property on the part of the creditor as well as on the part of his co-owner, the latter is properly made a co-defendant in a bill for an accounting, though plaintiff can recover only the proportion which his interest bears to the whole property, and the co-owner who is made a defendant may by proper plea against the other respondent obtain his proportionate share.

Effect of amendment of bill.— Where a bill is held to be fatally defective for the purpose of requiring an accounting of particular matters, a defendant who has been joined upon the ground of his having fraudulently received some of the funds which plaintiff is claiming from a co-defendant cannot relieve himself by paying over such funds to his co-defendant before the allowance of an amendment of the bill. If the bill is amended, the party who was joined on the ground of conspiracy and fraud will be held responsible for the moneys in his hands, as of the time of the commencement of the suit. Hoyt v. Smith, 27 Conn. 63, 468.

98. Glenn v. Smith, 17 Md. 260, wherein it was held that after a decree to account both parties are called upon to be active; Ludlow v. Simond, 2 Cai. Cas. (N. Y.) 1, 2 Am. Dec. 291; Cozzens v. Sisson, 5 R. I. 489; Done's Case, 1 P. Wms. 263.

Where both parties seek an account both have a right to an accounting. Fairchild v. Valentine, 7 Rob. (N. Y.) 564.

99. See ante, ABATEMENT AND REVIVAL, III, B, 7, a, (III), (B), (2).

1. Frieze v. Glenn, 2 Md. Ch. 361. To the same effect Pullman Palace Car Co. v. Central Transp. Co., 34 Fed. 357.

b. Application of Rule — (I) Dismissal of Bill by Complainant. Likewise, after a decree to account, complainant cannot dismiss his bill to defendant's prejudice and without his consent.[2]

On the other hand, if an accounting and other relief is sought, and defendant has not become an actor by cross-bill, the accounting may be abandoned by plaintiff, and defendant cannot require a reference.[3]

(II) Defendant's Claim Not Independent. Defendant's claim is not an independent one, but is admitted and asserted by plaintiff so far as defendant can prove his items, and provided they exceed those on plaintiff's side, because the court, having acquired jurisdiction of the cause, will dispose of the entire matter and decree for one or other of the parties as the account may stand.[4]

(III) Both Parties Required to Account. And where an account is sought by one party, both may be required to account when justice requires it in order to a true statement of the accounts.[5]

(IV) As between Defendants. An order that defendants should account among themselves is unusual and ought not to be made except when it becomes necessary to a final settlement, and where at least one of the parties interested requests it;[6] but to the rule that a decree shall not be entered in favor of one defendant against co-defendants, except upon a cross-bill,[7] the case of a suit for general distribution of a fund is an exception.[8]

9. Pleading — a. The Bill — (I) In General. As in other cases, the rule of certainty applies to a bill for an accounting, requiring it to show upon its face that complainant is entitled to the relief demanded, that he is the proper party and invested with the right to maintain the suit.[9]

2. Wyatt v. Sweet, 48 Mich. 539, 13 N. W. 525, 12 N. W. 692; Cozzens v. Sisson, 5 R. I. 489; Hutchinson v. Paige, 67 Wis. 206, 29 N. W. 908.

3. Schulz v. Schulz, 138 Ill. 665, 28 N. E. 808.

4. Arkansas.— Saunders v. Wood, 15 Ark. 24.

Iowa.— McGregor v. McGregor, 21 Iowa 441.

Massachusetts.— Goldthwait v. Day, 149 Mass. 185, 21 N. E. 359.

New Hampshire.— Raymond v. Caine, 45 N. H. 201.

New York.— Scott v. Pinkerton, 3 Edw. (N. Y.) 70.

Rhode Island.— Cozzens v. Sisson, 5 R. I. 489.

South Carolina.— Page v. Street, Speers Eq. (S. C.) 159.

Tennessee.— Allen v. Allen, 11 Heisk. (Tenn.) 387.

Virginia.— Payne v. Graves, 5 Leigh (Va.) 561; Fitzgerald v. Jones, 1 Munf. (Va.) 150; Hill v. Southerland, 1 Wash. (Va.) 128.

England.— Bodkin v. Clancy, 1 Ball & B. 216. In Hollis v. Bulpett, 13 Wkly. Rep. 492, it was held that where a mortgagor obtained a decree for an account, but neither the bill nor the decree contained the usual offer by plaintiff to pay any balance found due to defendant if the balance is found due, the court cannot order the payment.

See also infra, II, E, 9, b, (II). As to the extent of accounting as including all matters down to the time of stating the account see References.

5. Both parties required to account.— Where two stockholders of a company, with others, had called another stockholder, as general agent of the company, to account, and it appeared that the two complainant stockholders had managed extensive transactions for the company an account of which defendant was entitled to in order that he might render an account of his general agency, it was held that defendant was entitled to an order that such parties should account for those transactions. Williams v. Gregg, 2 Strobh. Eq. (S. C.) 297. Where a defendant prays in his answer for an account from plaintiff it is held that the former is bound to render an account to the latter, though the bill does not pray for an account. Terry v. Hopkins, 1 Hill Eq. (S. C.) 1.

6. Craig v. Craig, Bailey Eq. (S. C.) 102.

7. See Equity.

8. As where the suit is by one distributee against an administrator and co-distributees, or by a legatee against an executor and co-legatees, in which case the administrator or executor may have a decree settling and distributing the entire fund. Caldwell v. Kinkead, 1 B. Mon. (Ky.) 228.

9. Nicholas v. Anderson, 8 Wheat. (U. S.) 365, 5 L. ed. 637; Hubbard v. Urton, 67 Fed. 419.

Forms of bills, complaints, or petitions for account may be found set out in the following cases:

Arkansas.—State v. Churchill, 48 Ark. 426, 3 S. W. 352, 880.

California.—San Pedro Lumber Co. v. Reynolds, 111 Cal. 588, 44 Pac. 309; More v. Calkins, 85 Cal. 177, 24 Pac. 729; Millard v. Hathaway, 27 Cal. 119.

Colorado.— Lawrence v. Robinson, 4 Colo. 567.

Connecticut.— Hoyt v. Smith, 27 Conn. 468.

(II) Showing Proper Case for Equity Jurisdiction—(A) Mutual or Complicated Accounts. The bill should show a proper case for equitable interference, as that the accounts are mutual or complicated,[10] and in order to maintain a suit in equity on the ground that the account is so complicated that it cannot be conveniently taken in an action at law, facts which show the existence of this ground should be alleged, and the general allegation that the account is of such a character is not sufficient.[11]

(B) Necessity for Discovery. Where the jurisdiction is invoked upon the ground of the necessity of a discovery, the bill must be so framed as to disclose that necessity, and a discovery must be prayed for,[12] and the oath to the answer should not be waived.[13] Where, however, the right to an account does not depend upon discovery, but upon independent matter of equitable jurisdiction, the answer under oath may be waived.[14]

(III) Facts for Relief—(A) In General. The bill must state the facts upon which complainant is entitled to call upon defendants to render an account, and which make defendants liable to do so.[15] But it is sufficient to show the relation of the parties which entitles complainant to the relief, and the general statement of the matters pertaining to which the account is sought will be sufficient.[16] The items of the account need not be stated,[17] and where the issues neces-

Georgia.— Teasley v. Bradley, 110 Ga. 497, 35 S. E. 782.

Illinois.— Craig v. McKinney, 72 Ill. 305.

Nebraska.— Daugherty v. Gouff, 23 Nebr. 105, 36 N. W. 351.

New Jersey.— Pace v. Bartles, 45 N. J. Eq. 371, 17 Atl. 636.

New York.—Gillespie v. Davidge Fertilizer Co., 20 N. Y. Suppl. 833.

North Carolina.—Buie v. Mechanics' Bldg., etc., Assoc., 74 N. C. 117.

Pennsylvania.—Brotherton v. Reynolds, 164 Pa. St. 134, 30 Atl. 234.

South Carolina.— Chapman v. Charleston, 28 S. C. 373, 6 S. E. 158, 13 Am. St. Rep. 681.

Tennessee.— Henderson v. Mathews, 1 Lea (Tenn.) 34.

Virginia.— Miller v. Trevilian, 2 Rob. (Va.) 1.

United States.— McGahan v. Rondout Nat. Bank, 156 U. S. 218, 15 S. Ct. 347, 39 L. ed. 403; Conery v. Sweeney, 81 Fed. 14, 41 U. S. App. 691, 26 C. C. A. 309; Mills v. Hurd, 32 Fed. 127; Pacific R. Co. v. Atlantic, etc., R. Co., 20 Fed. 277.

England.— Taff Vale R. Co. v. Nixon, 1 H. L. Cas. 110.

10. Trapnall v. Hill, 31 Ark. 345; Van Dorn v. Lewis County Ct., 38 W. Va. 267, 18 S. E. 579.

11. Alabama.— Attalla Min., etc., Co. v. Winchester, 102 Ala. 184, 14 So. 565.

Arkansas.— Trapnall v. Hill, 31 Ark. 345.

Massachusetts.—Badger v. McNamara, 123 Mass. 117.

New Jersey.— Olds v. Regan, (N. J. 1895) 32 Atl. 827.

Rhode Island.— McCulla v. Beadleston, 17 R. I. 20, 20 Atl. 11.

West Virginia.— Lafever v. Billmyer, 5 W. Va. 33.

England.— Where plaintiff took upon himself to state what was the result of the accounting, and thus apparently removed all difficulty in the way of a legal remedy, it was said that it was as bold an experiment as he could have made, but upon the real nature of the case the court held that it was only intended to state that there was an account and that plaintiff had collected the result of it at this sum, and that this manner of stating it was to take it out of the statute of limitations. Barker v. Dacie, 6 Ves. Jr. 681.

12. Beggs v. Edison Electric Illuminating Co., 96 Ala. 295, 11 So. 381, 38 Am. St. Rep. 94; Crothers v. Lee, 29 Ala. 337; Cook County v. Davis, 143 Ill. 151, 32 N. E. 176; Van Dorn v. Lewis County Ct., 38 W. Va. 267, 18 S. E. 579; Frietas v. Dos Santos, 1 Y. & J. 574.

13. Ward v. Peck, 114 Mass. 121.

14. Cochrane v. Adams, 50 Mich. 16, 14 N. W. 681.

Partial discovery.— If plaintiff calls upon defendant to state on oath an account of money collected by him for plaintiff, and waives the oath as to all other matters, the objection cannot be raised by a motion to dismiss the bill for want of equity where the bill shows complainant to be entitled to an accounting. Henderson v. Mathews, 1 Lea (Tenn.) 34.

15. Southworth v. Smith, 27 Conn. 355, 71 Am. Dec. 72; Gutsch Brewing Co. v. Fischbeck, 41 Ill. App. 400; Kennicott v. Leavitt, 37 Ill. App. 435; Berry v. Pierson, 1 Gill (Md.) 234; Smith v. Gill, 52 Miss. 607.

16. McRaven v. Dameron, 82 Cal. 57, 23 Pac. 33; North Plainfield Tp. v. Colthar, 41 N. J. Eq. 348, 7 Atl. 641; Ludington v. Taft, 10 Barb. (N. Y.) 447.

Omission of date of agency.—And if the bill shows a liability to account on the ground of agency or mutual accounts, a mere omission to state the date of the creation of the agency, though it may be a defect, will not justify the dismissal of the bill on motion. Henderson v. Mathews, 1 Lea (Tenn.) 34.

17. San Pedro Lumber Co. v. Reynolds, 111 Cal. 588, 44 Pac. 309; West v. Brewster, 1 Duer (N. Y.) 647.

sarily involve a general accounting the evidence need not be confined to the claims set up by either party.[18] But where complainant was under the duty, as trustee or under contract, to keep and render accounts, and files a bill seeking an account, he should present his account with his bill.[19]

(B) Under Contract. And where the right to an accounting depends upon a contract between the parties, the bill must show such a state of facts as will bring the case within its provisions, so as to entitle plaintiff to an account and make defendant liable to render it.[20] A bill seeking an accounting under a contract may allege the contract according to its legal effect.[21]

(IV) Theory of Case. The complainant must recover upon the theory of his bill,[22] and cannot have an accounting of matters not embraced in the transactions set up as the basis of the bill.[23] Where an accounting is sought on the ground of partnership, and the proof fails to show such relation, it has been held that the variance is fatal.[24] On the other hand it seems to be the better rule that though the exact relation of the parties may be improperly characterized, an accounting will be proper if they sustain such relation to each other as that equity may assume jurisdiction,[25] or if there are other equitable grounds than

18. Northern Grain Co. v. Pierce, 13 S. D. 265, 83 N. W. 256.

Account brought forward in answer.— An account which is brought forward in the answer increases the demand of plaintiff, which, though not mentioned in the bill, may be allowed under the general demand for a just account. Dozier v. Edwards, 3 Litt. (Ky.) 67.

19. Morgan v. Morgan, 48 N. J. Eq. 399, 22 Atl. 545, holding that if complainant in such a case fails to present his account, the court will suspend the hearing, after the taking of testimony and upon an application for a reference, until he makes his account, because in such a case it would be unjust to impose the labor upon the court or the master; Wood v. Boney, (N. J. 1891) 21 Atl. 574.

20. Galliers v. Peppers, 76 Iowa 521, 41 N. W. 205; Meyer v. Saul, 82 Md. 459, 33 Atl. 539; Kunkel v. Markell, 26 Md. 390.

Applications of rule.— In an action for an accounting it appeared that plaintiff entered into a contract with one of the defendants to sell and deliver to him logs which defendant agreed to saw and sell, and out of the proceeds pay certain expenses and a mortgage on the logs held by a co-defendant. The contract was not set up, nor was there any allegation showing a delivery of logs by plaintiff or that he had in any manner complied with his contract, nor was it alleged that any logs had been sawed or any money realized from the sale of lumber, or that the mortgagee had any of plaintiff's property in his possession, and it was held that the complaint did not state a cause of action. Runyan v. Russell, 3 Wash. 665, 29 Pac. 348. Where a controversy over the infringement of a patent was settled under an agreement that defendant and those to whom he had sold the patented machinery should be released from liability, that defendant might sell the machinery in the United States for the remaining time of the patent, collecting a license-fee therefor from the parties to whom the machinery should be sold, and that the license-fee should be collected by defendant, who should retain one half thereof and render a quarterly account to plaintiff, a complaint seeking an account failed to aver that defendant ever collected any license-fee or that he owed plaintiff for anything, but stated on information and belief that defendant had furnished persons with the patented machinery, it was held that there was no foundation shown for an accounting in equity. Richards v. Allis, 82 Wis. 509, 52 N. W. 593.

21. Dargin v. Hewlitt, 115 Ala. 510, 22 So. 128.

22. Alabama.— Crothers v. Lee, 29 Ala. 337, holding that where a bill charged that complainant's debtor placed claims in the hands of defendant as trustee for the benefit of complainant, and the proof showed that complainant received the claim as payment pro tanto of his debt and placed it in the hands of defendant as an attorney, the variance is fatal.

Illinois.— Craig v. McKinney, 72 Ill. 305.

Missouri.— Matthews v. Wilson, 27 Mo. 155.

New Jersey.— McAndrew v. Walsh, 31 N. J. Eq. 331.

New York.— Manning v. Manning, 89 Hun (N. Y.) 471, 35 N. Y. Suppl. 333.

23. Hunt v. Stockton Lumber Co., 113 Ala. 387, 21 So. 454; Arnett v. Welch, 46 N. J. Eq. 543, 20 Atl. 48; Ormsby v. Low, 24 Vt. 436.

Matters properly included by waiver of objection.— But where, in a suit for an accounting under a contract, the decree included an account which had accrued before the contract was made and in pursuance of the same kind of business, and which had been carried forward in the statement made to defendants, to which they never objected, it was held that no error could be predicated of this action. Moore v. Swanton Tanning Co., 60 Vt. 459, 15 Atl. 114.

24. Arnold v. Angell, 62 N. Y. 508; Salter v. Ham, 31 N. Y. 321.

25. California.— Coward v. Clanton, 122 Cal. 451, 55 Pac. 147.

Nevada.— Mitchell v. O'Neale, 4 Nev. 504.

those which come strictly under the allegations and theory of the bill and upon which relief can be granted.[26]

(v) Demand. A bill or complaint for an accounting should show a demand and refusal to account.[27]

(vi) Allegation of Balance Due. As ordinarily a court of equity will not decree an accounting if it is apparent that nothing can be found to be due upon the accounting,[28] the bill should allege that there is an indebtedness due from defendant to plaintiff.[29] But as the right of the beneficiary of a trust to enforce an account does not depend upon the fact that any amount has been realized by the trustee, the allegation is not necessary in such a case.[30]

(vii) Offer to Do Equity. A bill for an accounting of mutual accounts implies that there are items on both sides and that the balance is unascertained until it is ascertained by the aid of the court, and imports an offer on the part of plaintiff, which was formerly required to be expressed, to pay the balance if it should turn out against him, and no such offer to do equity is necessary.[31] When the accounting is incidental to the main relief, and a tender or offer in the bill is prerequisite to obtaining such relief, the bill will not be sustained on the ground of an account alone and in the absence of such tender or offer.[32]

(viii) Surplusage. Mere surplusage will not invalidate a bill for an accounting.[33]

(ix) Multifariousness and Misjoinder. A bill having the single object of an accounting will not be rendered multifarious because it embraces various matters or parties which all tend to, and are involved in, the one end sought.[34] And a Oregon.— Shirley v. Goodnough, 15 Oreg. 642, 16 Pac. 871.

Wisconsin.— Driggs v. Morely, 2 Pinn. (Wis.) 403.

United States.— Kahn v. Central Smelting Co., 102 U. S. 641, 26 L. ed. 266.

26. Brower v. Brower, 29 Fed. 485. Where the bill proceeds upon the theory that there was a trust fund held by defendant for the benefit of plaintiff which entitles him to an accounting, if no objection is taken to the form of the bill the court will proceed to consider whether upon any other grounds than that strictly of trust the bill can be maintained for an account. Pierce v. Equitable L. Assur. Soc., 145 Mass. 56, 12 N. E. 858, 1 Am. St. Rep. 433.

27. Southworth v. Smith, 27 Conn. 355, 71 Am. Dec. 72; Kennicott v. Leavitt, 37 Ill. App. 435; Magauran v. Tiffany, 62 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 251.

28. See supra, II, E, 3.

29. Gutsch Brewing Co. v. Fischbeck, 41 Ill. App. 400; Metz v. Farnham, 8 Phila. (Pa.) 267; Volmer v. McCauley, 7 Phila. (Pa.) 382.

30. Green v. Brooks, 81 Cal. 328, 22 Pac. 849; Reading v. Haggin, 58 Hun (N. Y.) 450, 12 N. Y. Suppl. 368.

31. Alabama.— Nelson v. Dunn, 15 Ala. 501.

Colorado.— Craig v. Chandler, 6 Colo. 543.

Georgia.— Wells v. Strange, 5 Ga. 22.

Massachusetts.— Goldthwait v. Day, 149 Mass. 185, 21 N. E. 359.

England.— Colombian Government v. Rothschild, 1 Sim. 94; Clarke v. Tipping, 4 Beav. 588.

Applied to a cross-bill, the court, in Nelson v. Dunn, 15 Ala. 501, laid down the rule as stated in the text and further held that if an offer to pay what may be found due is necessary an allegation that cross-complainant is ready and willing to pay such sum is in substantial compliance with the requirements, because action on the part of the court is necessary in order to ascertain the sum which was due.

32. American Freehold Land, etc., Co. v. Jefferson, 69 Miss. 770, 12 So. 464. See Usury.

33. Sturgeon v. Burrall, 1 Ill. App. 537; Silver King Min. Co. v. Knowlton, 26 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 241.

34. Alabama.— Fleming v. Gilmer, 35 Ala. 62.

California.— Garr v. Pedman, 6 Cal. 574.

Georgia.— Burchard v. Boyce, 21 Ga. 6, which was the investigation of the accounts of two firms; Wells v. Strange, 5 Ga. 22.

Minnesota.— Fish v. Berkey, 10 Minn. 199.

New Jersey.— Olds v. Regan, (N. J. 1895) 32 Atl. 827.

New York.— Logan v. Moore, 27 N. Y. Civ. Proc. 241, 54 N. Y. Suppl. 462; Walker v. Spencer, 45 N. Y. Super. Ct. 71; Day v. Stone, 15 Abb. Pr. N. S. (N. Y.) 137.

Pennsylvania.— Persch v. Quiggle, 57 Pa. St. 247.

Wisconsin.—McLachlan v. Staples, 13 Wis. 448.

Application of general rule.— In bills for accounting the general rule is applied that the bill is multifarious only when it contains distinct and separate claims by one plaintiff against the same defendant, or by the same plaintiff against several defendants requiring distinct relief, or by several plaintiffs against one defendant requiring separate relief against him. Wells v. Strange, 5 Ga. 22. See also, generally, Equity.

bill is not multifarious for containing distinct matters of account between the same parties, all of which matters are due in the same right,[35] as where an accounting is sought of the acts of one person covering the administration of the same estate during successive periods but in different capacities.[36] So an averment made to show complainant's title will not render the bill multifarious,[37] nor will this result follow if one of the grounds for relief is not sustainable.[38] Several parties interested in a trust fund may join in a bill to compel an accounting on the part of the trustee, though their complaints are not strictly joint, where the trustee will not be embarrassed and a multiplicity of suits will be thereby avoided.[39] But it is held that when two plaintiffs are jointly concerned in one of the charges of the bill, and one of the plaintiffs is solely interested in the other charges, they cannot join in one bill for such causes of action.[40] The gist of the suit is a failure to account, and an additional allegation that defendant converted the money to his own use will not change the nature of the suit.[41] On the other hand it is held that the blending of legal and equitable jurisdictions has not worked such a confusion of remedies as to permit a complaint to set up a cause of action for an accounting between the parties, joining therewith another cause for the conversion and wrongful detention of the property.[42]

(x) Prayer. A general prayer for an accounting is sufficient to call defendant to account in the character in which he is charged and for the matters embraced within the relief made proper by the allegations of the bill.[43] And so, if a proper case is presented for an accounting of particular matters, the account may be taken under a general prayer for relief.[44] But the prayer for an accounting cannot authorize an accounting of other matters than such as come within the frame of

35. Graves v. Hull, 27 Miss. 419. Under contracts with different municipalities the contractor employed one party under an agreement providing that the employee should receive a per cent. of the profits of the undertaking. The employee brought a bill for an accounting and it was held that while the objection of multifariousness might be raised by one of the municipalities because of the joinder of these different contracts the contractor could raise no such objection. Olds v. Regan, (N. J. 1895) 32 Atl. 827.

36. Williams v. West, 2 Md. 174, wherein the bill sought an accounting of defendant as trustee under an appointment as the successor of the original trustee, who had died, as well for his acts in this capacity as for his acts as agent of the first trustee whom he had succeeded. In North Carolina it was held that where several accounts against one as executor, guardian and trustee were so united that they could not be conveniently separated they might be embraced in the same complaint. Oliver v. Wiley, 75 N. C. 320. See also McLachlan v. Staples, 13 Wis. 448.

37. Phillips v. Allen, 5 Allen (Mass.) 85, which was an averment, in a bill by the administrator of a cestui que trust for an account and payment of moneys received by a trustee, that complainant is also the sole owner of the land involved.

38. Pleasants v. Glasscock, Sm. & M. Ch. (Miss.) 17.

39. Morris v. Hassler, 22 Fed. 401.

A leading case on this subject is Brinkerhoff v. Brown, 6 Johns. Ch. (N. Y.) 139, which was a bill by several judgment creditors claiming by distinct judgments for a discovery and account, the aid sought being based upon alleged fraudulent acts of a judgment debtor equally affecting all of them, and it was held that the bill was not multifarious. See Creditors' Suits; Fraudulent Conveyances.

40. Harrison v. Hogg, 2 Ves. Jr. 323.

Where parties become part owners at different times, a bill by one against the others for that period during which all were owners is properly brought; otherwise it would be multifarious. McLellan v. Osborne, 51 Me. 118.

41. Silver King Min. Co. v. Knowlton, 26 N. Y. Wkly. Dig. 241; State v. Chadwick, 10 Oreg. 423, holding that such an allegation unsupported by proof will not prevent a recovery for an amount shown to have been received and not accounted for.

42. Thompson v. St. Nicholas Nat. Bank, 61 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 163; McDonald v. Kountze, 58 How. Pr. (N. Y.) 152.

Joinder in separate paragraphs — Separate trials.— In Indiana a legal cause of action for the recovery of money in one paragraph of a complaint may be joined with an equitable cause in another paragraph, and such causes may be severed and that of the legal character may be tried by jury. Field v. Brown, 146 Ind. 293, 45 N. E. 464.

43. Buffalow v. Buffalow, 37 N. C. 113; Humphrey v. Foster, 13 Gratt. (Va.) 653. See also Equity.

44. Haworth v. Taylor, 108 Ill. 275.

